person is not listening. Because when you start a discussion or dialogue, initially I start for the sake of knowledge, but soon my ego takes over and therefore I don't want to accept my ignorance, I don't want to accept my deficiency. And that is why they say often arguments or discussions produce more heat than light, that is why we use the expression, lighted argument we never say, but heated argument. So वादः means a discussion which never produces heat which never invokes my ego, I am all the time interested in knowing the truth, and I am ready to accept I am wrong if it is very clear to me. That means that I should be able to set aside my ego and that is why when they come to Vedantic dialogue, the शिष्य is asked to do नमस्कार. Doing नमस्कार is symbolically declaring to the teacher that "Oh teacher, I am ready to set aside my ego, I will listen without any prejudice, if I have got wrong notions I am ready to drop the notion." If I listen with ego I will never drop my notion, whenever I contradict you, in those case you reject my mine, and whenever I agree with you, you accept immediately. What that means: are you able to understand, carefully listen again, whenever I contradict you you reject me, whenever I am in agreement with you you accept me, which means what: you hold on to your view alone. This is called filtered listening. Whichever is convenient you take and the other things you are not able to drop. That means I lack intellectual honesty. Therefore a discussion wherein I set aside my ego, wherein I am ready to openly accept, not mentally but verbally accept my mistake and I am interested in listening to other persons, it is the most difficult thing in any discussion or dialogue, our mind is itching to talk and we are waiting for that person to take a breath, at that time you enter and you finish off your arguments. So if I can relaxedly listen to the other person and Similarly, I talk, that is called वादः or संवादः, that alone will lead to discovery of truth and therefore कृष्ण claims that I am वादः. So जल्प, वितण्डा etc., are there, for each one they give a definition, in one type of discussion I am interested only in establishing my view, I am not interested in listening to the other. That is one type of wrong dialogue. In another one, I never establish my view because I don't have, my only aim is demolishing your view, whatever it is and why I want to demolish, only one reason, you are holding that view therefore it is wrong. If the same view I hold it is right, but if you hold that is wrong. So thus varieties of discussions are said, for each one, one one definition is given and I don't want to get into those details. वादः or संवादः I am. Continuing;

अहमेवाक्षयः कालो धाताहं विश्वतोमुखः ॥ १०-३३॥

अक्षराणाम् अकारः अस्मि द्रुण्डः सामासिकस्य च ।

अहम् एव अक्षयः कालः धाता अहम् विश्वतोमुखः ॥ १०-३३॥

अक्षराणाम् अकारः, सामासिकस्य च द्रुण्डः, अक्षयः कालः अहम् एव, विश्वतोमुखः धाता (च) अहम् अस्मि ।

So among the letters, what all things कृष्ण takes you see, among the alphabetical letters I am the letter अ. In any Indian language (in English language अ doesn't exist, you see - it starts with A, B, C, E, F, G..... Z no अ in the 26 characters, when you are pronouncing a word then you may say अ as in 'other' you say अ. But in alphabetical letters अ doesn't exist at all, whereas in any Indian language you take, अ is the first letter, अ आ, इ, ई is the way it starts. That must be the right thing because अ is the most fundamental letter or the most fundamental sound. And why do we say that it is the most fundamental sound? Because when you open your mouth and allow the wind to pass out, what will be the sound, what will come? अ. When you open the mouth and allow the sound to come, let anyone Chinese, Russian, Japanese, let them open the mouth clearly and allow the sound to come, it will be अ alone and that is why when we want the children to open the mouth, what we say, you say show अ, you don't say show a, or e, not u, not i, but show अ, which means open the mouth, therefore अ is the basic sound and according to the science of phonetics all the other letters are modified versions of अ alone. So अ is the pliable chappathi dough like thing, you know that wheat dough, it is a basic lump which can be shaped into any form, Similarly, अ is the basic sound and by changing your mouth and its position etc., you produce other sounds. For example, you allow the sound to come and show your teeth, what will happen, it will become E. So when a dentist wants you to show your teeth, he asks you to show E. So therefore you allow the sound and show your teeth, E. So thus उ, क, ख, any alphabetic letter is अ modified by the appropriate positioning of the अष्टस्थानानि, I said in शीक्षावल्ली. Eight positions are there, to modify all of them like a flute, the wind allowed pass out is the same but pressing the holes appropriately, one sound is modified in स, रि, ग, म, it is not a different wind, but same wind, same playing, watch his mouth, it is only उ, but by pressing that one sound is modified. Similarly, अ is the कारण अक्षरम्, all the others are कार्य अक्षराणि, अ is the उपादान कारणम् for all alphabetic letters and do you know who says this, वेद itself says this. The details in the next class.

CHAPTER 10, VERSES 33-35

Lord कृष्ण continues with the enumeration of the विभूतिस of the Lord and we have seen up to verse no.32 and in the 33rd verse Lord कृष्ण said अक्षराणाम् अकारः अस्मि. अक्षर means the alphabetic letters. And we look upon the alphabetic letters as sacred expression of सरस्वती herself,

अपर्णाम् नामरूपेण त्रिवर्णाम् प्राणवात्मिकाम् ।

लिप्यात्मना एकपञ्चाशत् वर्णाम् वन्दे सरस्वतीम् ॥

I worship सरस्वती देवी who is in the form of the alphabetic letters. लिप्यात्मना एकपञ्चाशत् वर्णाम्. So we look up all the alphabetic letters as Goddess सरस्वती herself and even among the alphabetic letters Lord कृष्ण says, the most sacred letter is letter अ. And as I said in the last class, the letter अ is supposed to be sacred because that is the basic letter which emerges from your mouth when you open the mouth without doing anything. To produce any other sound, इ, उ, ए etc., you have to do something with your mouth. To say इ, you have to show your teeth. Say इ without showing the teeth, you will not be able to. To say उ, you have to spout your mouth, so or all other letters a particular effort is required, but effortless sound which you can produce by just opening the mouth is अ. And therefore according to the science of phonetics, अकार is the basic sound which is a flexible sound which alone is modified into all other letters. Just as a pliable lump of clay is the basic cause out of which you can shape varieties of things, Similarly, the letter अ is like a pliable lump of clay which can be converted into इ, उ, ए etc., therefore अ आकार is कारण अक्षराणाम् and all other letters are its products, modifications, कार्यम्. And since the cause alone manifests in the form of all effects, just as clay alone manifests as all the products, according to वेद the letter alone manifests as all the other alphabetic letters and therefore there is a वैदिक statement,

अकारो वै सर्वा वाक् ॥ ऐतरेय आरण्यकम् २-३-६ ॥

The letter अ alone is in the form of the alphabetic letters and the alphabetic letters rearranged alone is all the dictionary words, therefore अ multiplies into alphabetic letters, alphabetic letters rearranged are all the words of the dictionary. Therefore extending, you can say अ alone is every word, therefore वेद says अकारः वै सर्वा वाक्, all the words are nothing but the modification of the basic sound. And in our tradition every alphabetic letter has got a presiding deity, every alphabetic letter a presiding deity and for the letter अ, the अधिष्ठान देवता is ब्रह्माजि, the creator himself.

अम् ब्रह्मणे पद्महस्ताय लोकाधिपतये हंसवाहनाय सांगाय सायुधाय सशक्तिपरिवाराय उमामहेश्वर नमः । अम् ब्रह्मणे नमः ।

So letter अ is ब्रह्माजि. In महान्यास मन्त्र this occurs. And why do we have ब्रह्माजि as the presiding deity? Because ब्रह्माजि is the creator of all the objects of the world, the letter अ is the cause of all the other alphabetical letters and therefore अ stands for ब्रह्माजि and therefore कृष्ण says अक्षराणाम् मध्ये, among all alphabetical letters I am letter अ. Continuing, then the next line says: द्रुढः सामासिकस्य च. In संस्कृत grammar especially we have a particular usage called सामासः. सामासः means formation of compound words by joining simple words. So you take two simple words and join them together by adding a hyphen in between, then it becomes a compound word and therefore it is called सामासः, सम्यक् आस्यते इति सामासः, that which is properly and beautifully arranged is called सामासः. Of course, in English language also and in other languages also we have got simple compound words, but in संस्कृत grammar it is a well-developed usage and by forming this compound words the advantage is use save some preposition. For example, suppose somebody says: I have brought पूजा materials, पूजा is one word, material is another word, you want to say: I have brought material for पूजा, but you don't want to say the word 'for' and you want to save some time and energy. And therefore what do you do, you say पूजा-material, पूजा-material become a compound word, the syntactical between them is through the preposition 'for', you save the preposition 'for' by adding hyphen. I went to शिव temple, शिव-temple. Now what you really want to say is I went to a temple in which Lord शिव is worshipped, but you don't want to say so many words, therefore शिव-temple, I have brought गङ्गा -water, गङ्गा is one word and water is another word, you want to say I have brought water from गङ्गा, you swallow the preposition 'from' by adding a hyphen. Are you attending Adayar-classes? Adayar classes, you put a hyphen, the classes conducted in Adayar. So thus we can form a compound word by joining two simple words and adding a hyphen in between, the hyphen indicates it is a compound word and by forming a compound you swallow preposition and that by that you save time and energy. So recently they had Agra-summit. So Agra-summit means a summit in Agra. Then suppose I ask, do you know Agra-summit-episode? Then it becomes Agra hyphen summit hyphen episode. An episode which took place during the summit in Agra. Instead of writing this lengthy sentence, Agra-summit-episode, it becomes a सामासः, a compound. Thus a compound can be formed by forming two words, by joining three words and the advantage is you save preposition. And how do you know what preposition is to be used. From the context you know, गङ्गा-water means water from गङ्गा, पूजा-material if you say, 'material from' we won't say, we say material 'for' पूजा. And Adayar-classes means not classes 'from' Adayar or 'for' Adayar, but classes conducted 'in' Adayar. So in which place what preposition is to be used we get to know from the context. I went to शिव-मन्दिर, you know temple in which शिव is worshipped. I went to विष्णु-मन्दिर. I went to Birla-मन्दिर, what is the meaning? A मन्दिर in which Birla is installed? No, there you know, a मन्दिर which is built by Birla. So context you have to use. I have told you often, when you say turmeric powder – powder of turmeric, Chilli powder – powder of chilli, tooth powder – powder of teeth? No, powder for brushing the teeth. So thus the resolution of a compound is one of the beautiful exercises we have in संस्कृत grammar and this compound formation is very systematically done as a science and we have got several such compounds, four basic compounds are enumerated and this four are later expanded into 7 types of compound, then these types of compound are further expanded into 35 types of compounds. Thus we have got many compounds called सामासः and these group of compounds are called सामासिकम्, सामासिकम् means सामासानाम् समूहः, the group of compounds, तत्पुरुष सामासः, बहुव्रीहि सामासः, कर्मधारय सामासः, द्विगु सामासः, द्वन्द्व सामासः, अव्ययीभाव सामासः. So when we were studying we used to make fun, samosa, samosa, we used to tell. It is not samosa, it is सामासः. And in संस्कृत we can form compounds which can contain tens of words joined together. And in संस्कृत literature like कादम्बरी etc., a word will start in the beginning of a page and it will go on and on and on and the word (not sentence) will end at the end of that page. So कालिदास writes श्यामलादण्डकम्, full of such beautiful compounds,

तारकाराजिनीकाशहारावलिस्मेर-चारुस्तनाभोगभारानमन्मध्य
-वल्लीवलिच्छेद-विचीसमुद्यत्समुल्लाससन्दर्शिताकारसौन्दर्यरत्नाकरे
(one word)

प्रोल्लसद्-वाळिका-मौक्तिकश्रेणिका-चन्द्रिका-मण्डलोद्भासि- गण्डस्थलन्यस्त-कस्तूरिका-पत्ररेखा-समुद्भूत-सौरभ्यसम्भ्रान्त-भृङ्गाङ्गनागीत-सान्द्रीभवन्मन्दतन्त्रीस्वरे महाकविश्रीकालिदासकृतम् श्यामलादण्डकम् ॥ another word. So like that संस्कृत can have innumerable compounds and therefore कृष्ण doesn't want to leave it out. Therefore He says among compounds, there is a particular type of compound called द्वन्द्व सामासः. I don't want to get into the details of द्वन्द्व सामास, it will become a grammar class. Therefore I am leaving from that part, द्वन्द्व is the name of a particular type of सामासः and कृष्ण says I am द्रव्य compound among the compounds. And then अहम् एव अक्षयः कालः – and I am the काल तत्त्वम् which puts an end to everything, but which itself does not have an end. So therefore अक्षयः कालः means inexhaustible time. So everything else gets exhausted in time, but the time continues throughout. In fact, even during प्रलय कालम् everything is resolved, but काल is there working potentially. And because of the continuity of काल alone the next cycle of सृष्टि is possible. So therefore कृष्ण says I am the काल तत्त्वम् which is inexhaustible, अक्षयः कालः. And धाता अहम्, धाता means कर्म-फल धाता – the one who gives appropriate result for appropriate action to the appropriate person at the appropriate time. So I have got a cosmic computer which cannot have (what virus, Code Red) which will never be struck by any virus, a computer which has got in records all the कर्म of all the जीव done during all the time. The कर्म of ant, plant, animals, birds, living beings, देव, असुर, everything I have got and at the right time I give the कर्म-फलम् and therefore अहम् कर्म-फल धाता अस्मि, the ordainer. And therefore only विश्वतोमुखः – my face is turned in all the 10 directions, because I have to see who is doing what कर्म, who is doing the mischief, so I observe all the कर्म of all the people, register them and give the result at the appropriate time, therefore विश्वतोमुखः, the face turned in all directions.

सम् बाहुभ्याम् नमति सम् पतत्रैर्द्यावापृथिवी जनयन् देव एकः । तन्मे मनः शिवसङ्कल्पमस्तु ॥ याज्ञिक्युपनिषत् ॥

So विश्वतः चक्षुः, विश्वतोमुखः, I see everywhere. Continuing;

Verse No .34

मृत्युः सर्वहरश्चाहमुद्भवश्च भविष्यताम् ।

कीर्तिः श्रीर्वाक्च नारीणां स्मृतिर्मेधा धृतिः क्षमा ॥ १०-३४॥

मृत्युः सर्व-हरः च अहम् उद्भवः च भविष्यताम् ।

कीर्तिः श्रीः वाक् च नारीणाम् स्मृतिः मेधा धृतिः क्षमा ॥ १०-३४॥

सर्व-हरः मृत्युः, भविष्यताम् उद्धवः च अहम् नारीणाम् च कीर्तिः श्रीः वाक् स्मृतिः मेधा धृतिः क्षमा च (अहम् अस्मि)।

अहम् सर्व-हरः मृत्युः अस्मि – so I am the greatest robber, as it were, who will take away everything from a जीव. So a robber may take away so of the things, but काल is one which snatches everything from us, because we can never carry anything with us at the time of death. There is a beautiful श्लोक, I forget, you drop all your property at home and all the relations come up to the street (like the one in तमिळ्: ‘The relatives stay behind in the house, the wife comes up to the street, the son accompanies you to the ground, but who comes with you till the end?’ Like that one is there in संस्कृत. So one by one you drop and when you leave this body you cannot carry anything, what is that, what you carry is your own पुण्यम् and पापम्, other than that nothing can you carry. It is taken away by whom? मृत्युः, therefore मृत्युः, यमधर्मराज is called सर्व-हरः – the one who takes away everything from you. That is why they tell that story, a person had a challenge, a competition it seems, he had a lot of property, landed property, therefore he called people who are interested in acquiring and he said it seems from morning 6 a.m. sunrise up to evening sunset you run and whatever be the distance that you run the whole land up to that distance will be yours. A particular width we have to understand, the whole land up to that, who will leave that offer, free. You will have to only run. So this person thought I will acquire maximum and started running, running, running, covered lot of miles and he was seeing the sun setting and 5-10 minutes more or there and therefore he took all his energy and strength and mustered and ran and at the time of the sunset he had that extra energy and then he ran and fell down and died. Now tell me, what happened to all the properties he had by running, मृत्युः सर्व-हरः. So whatever you acquire, यमधर्मराज takes away at the time of death and therefore कृष्ण says, I am that destroyer, संहार तत्त्वम् also. उद्धवः च

भविष्यताम् – and I am the उद्भवः, the resource or source of all the future prosperity or future wealth, because if you have to produce anything in future they all must be there potentially, we can never generate anything if that provision is not there and कृष्ण says that provision is myself. Therefore उद्भवः means I am the source or womb of all future prosperity, so भविष्यताम्, शङ्कराचार्य says: भाविकल्याणानाम् अहम् उद्भवः उत्पत्ति स्थानम्. Then कीर्तिः श्रीः वाक् नारीणाम्, नारीणाम् means among various देवताs, the female देवताs are here referred to as नारीs and we have got देवताs presiding over various thing. And as I said, we have got लक्ष्मीदेवी presiding over wealth, we have got सरस्वती देवी presiding over knowledge, we have got पार्वती देवी presiding over शक्ति, thus we have got presiding deities called अधिष्ठान देवता and not only we have got अधिष्ठान देवता for these things, in fact, anything in the creation has got an अधिष्ठान देवता. Why we have like this? Because anything in the creation is governed by certain laws of creation. If you take the earth in general, earth is governed by so many laws, because of those laws alone earth is going round its own axis and earth is going round the sun also, that means earth is governed by so many universal laws. Similarly, every organ of ours is governed by so many laws. Thunder, lightening, gravitation, anything you mention, anything within creation must be governed by inexorable laws of the Lord and if those laws are functioning it is only because of an intelligence principle governing those laws. Because any law can function perfectly only when there is a governing principle and that is why whenever government introduces a law, an officer is required to take care of that. Once there are traffic laws you require traffic police, only then that law will be maintained. Any law can exist only if there is a law governing intelligence principle. And therefore any object in creation is governed by laws and any law is governed by an intelligent principle and adding these two together, we require an intelligent principle to preside over every object. It is in two steps.

From object to the law governing the object, and from that law to the intelligence governing that law. Joining these two together we say, every object is governed by an अधिष्ठान देवता. So भूमि has got भूमि देवता, जलम् has got जल देवता. And I told you that every alphabetic letter has got its देवता, every organ in our body has a देवता and if you invent a new thing, radio invented, radio देवता, means what: radio is functioning because a certain set of laws and intelligence governing that is called देवता. So every देवता is an aspect of ईश्वर or God only. So every देवता is nothing but an aspect of, a facet of the lord, the total intelligence. And therefore we have got देवता for what, कीर्तिः, कीर्तिः means fame, name and fame we say, that fame also is governed by certain principles and the deity presiding over the fame principle is called कीर्तिः देवता, Similarly, वाक् देवता.

श्रीमहासरस्वतीसहस्रनामस्तोत्रम् ॥

वाग्देवी is वाक् देवता. Then स्मृतिः – memory is another power or faculty which is governed by again another set of neurological laws. If some of the wires are not properly connected, memory gone, amnesia, that word you will forget, amnesia is the problem of loss of memory. When he went to the doctor saying I have amnesia, the doctor said: first pay my fees, thereafter I will treat because you will forget that, like that. So memory power is a very important faculty which is again governed by the laws in the brain. Then मेधा – intelligence principle, we don't know why brains are very intelligent, we don't know why some brains are very close to clay. We do not know. So there are, again it is not accidents, there are laws governing that and that देवता is called मेधा देवता and we have got in वैद prayers directed to each one, मेधासूक्तम्, a special prayer for मेधादेवी,

ॐ मेधादेवी जुषमाणा न आगादिश्वाची भद्रा सुमनस्यमाना ॥ मेधां म इन्द्रो ददातु मेधां देवी सरस्वती । मयि मेधां मयि प्रजां मय्यग्निस्तेजो दधातु । मयि मेधां ॥

मेधादेवी is very important, therefore मेधा देवता. Then धृतिः, धृतिः means perseverance, fortitude, willpower is called धृतिः. It is that faculty of a person by which a person continues the effort even if there is failure repeatedly. That capacity by which a person continues in spite of repeated failures, that capacity is called, that resilience, to get up again after each fall, the rubber-ball like resilience.

तथा त्वनार्यः पतति मृत्पिण्डपतनम् यथा ॥ भर्तृहरिकृत नीतिशतकम् ॥

Suppose a wet clay-lump is dropped down, clay-lump, what समासम्, lump of clay, clay-lump, षष्ठी तत्पुरुष समासम्. So when clay lump falls, it stays there, it will never get up, you have to push. Whereas when rubber ball falls, what is the समासम् of rubber-ball, a ball made of rubber, not for the sake of rubber, made of rubber, we have so many compound in English, we don't think that is all, when rubber ball falls what happens, again it comes up, again how forcibly it comes, as forcibly as it falls it comes up. Similarly, we have two types of people, one when fails he renounces, त्यागेनैके, so this kind of संन्यास becomes problem-संन्यास. There is another person, even if there is a failure again he attempts, again he attempts, that capacity is called धृतिः. And there also we have a देवता called धृतिः देवता and therefore कृष्ण says among all the देवताs, नारीणाम् मध्ये, देवतानाम् मध्ये, I am all these देवताs, which are noble faculties of the mind. And क्षमा, क्षमा is also another देवता. The word क्षमा has several meanings, we can take it as patience, forbearance, the capacity to wait where you have to wait, when the red signal comes they have written something, recently they have introduced, it is relax. If you don't have that, what do we do? Inch by inch we proceed and we are in the middle of the road, by the time green signal comes we are already on the other side. If you are behind a car the moment green signal comes, you hoot along with all the cars. OK, let the front car start, it takes half a second. There is no क्षमा. So therefore you watch yourselves if you are driving the traffic signal, whether you have क्षमा or not. That is also a faculty, कृष्ण says I am क्षमा देवता, Continuing;

Verse No .35

बृहत्साम तथा साम्नां गायत्री छन्दसामहम् ।

मासानां मार्गशीर्षोऽहमृतूनां कुसुमाकरः ॥ १०-३५॥

बृहत्-साम तथा साम्नाम् गायत्री छन्दसाम् अहम् ।

मासानाम् मार्गशीर्षः अहम् ऋतूनाम् कुसुमाकरः ॥ १०-३५॥

साम्नाम् बृहत्-साम, तथा छन्दसाम् गायत्री अहम्, मासानाम् मार्गशीर्षः, ऋतूनाम् कुसुमाकरः अहम् (अस्मि) ।

साम्नाम् मध्ये – among all the साम मन्त्रs, i.e., the मन्त्रs of the साम वेद, साम मन्त्रs, again a compound, मन्त्रs of साम वेद. So there is one मन्त्र, known as बृहत्-साम. बृहत्-साम is the proper name of a साम मन्त्र, it is supposed to be a very auspicious मन्त्र: it starts with औ ओ हि त्वामिद्धि हवामहे, which is glorification of the Lord and the Lord being great and since this मन्त्र is glorified the great Lord it is called बृहत्-साम. It is not the मन्त्र is big, मन्त्र is relatively small only. Only 2 minutes or 3 minutes chanting, even though the मन्त्र is smaller, मन्त्र is glorifying the Lord, who is the infinite one and therefore it is called बृहत्-साम, बृहदीश्वर स्तवन साम, बृहदीश्वर temple you have heard. Why called बृहदीश्वर, huge one, so this मन्त्र glorifies the infinite Lord, it is called बृहत्-साम, a very popular one, among साम वेदीs. So therefore कृष्ण says, I am the बृहत्-साम मन्त्र. Then the next one, गायत्री छन्दसाम् अहम् – so I am the गायत्री मन्त्र among all the वेद मन्त्रs. The word छन्दस् has two meanings, one meaning is a वैदिक meter is called छन्दस्, a वैदिक मन्त्र is also called छन्दस्. So you know what is वैदिक meter, not meter, centimeter, meter means the law by which a line of poetry is governed, in poetry writing there are rules as to how many words can be there in one verse and one line whom many letters can be there and that arrangement of the poem is called metre. And in संस्कृत, we have got hundreds of meters, अनुष्टुप्, त्रिष्टुप्. In सन्ध्यावन्दनम् itself we say. गायत्री उष्णिक् अनुष्टुप् बृहती पङ्क्ती त्रिष्टुप् जगत्यः छन्दांसि, so गायत्री, उष्णिक्, अनुष्टुप्, बृहती (it will not enter the mouth itself, like cursing someone). So in that meter list also गायत्री is enumerated first. So thus a वैदिक meter is called छन्दस्, or a वैदिक मन्त्र is also called छन्दस्, both meanings can be taken. But for convenience, I am taking the meaning as वैदिक मन्त्र. So among the वैदिक मन्त्रs I am गायत्री. The word गायत्री also two meanings, one is a particular type of meter is called गायत्री meter. So what type of meter? A meter in which 3 lines are there and in each line 8 letters are there. So अष्टाक्षरा त्रिपाद गायत्री, 3 पादम्s (3 lines) and 8 letters in each, is called गायत्री meter. And also there is a second meaning, गायत्री refers to a particular मन्त्र also, गायत्री मन्त्र which is very very popular, today happens to be गायत्री जपम् for some people in which they do गायत्री जप आवृत्ति, and therefore कृष्ण says among वैदिक मन्त्रs I am गायत्री मन्त्र. And गायत्री महिमा is very elaborately said in scriptures. There is a book itself, entire book deals with only गायत्री महिमा. To just tell you a few, because गायत्री जप and it is a popular मन्त्र. The main glory of गायत्री is that it is supposed to be वेद सारः. So ब्रह्माजि wanted to take the essence of the वेद, not all the वेदs, because people don't have time to chant the whole वेद and therefore what did ब्रह्माजि do,

तदित्युचोऽस्याः सावित्र्याः परमेष्ठी प्रजापतिः ॥ मनुस्मृति २-७७ ॥

परमेष्ठी प्रजापति ब्रह्माजि took the main three वेदs. So three वेदs are considered to be main ones, because they are predominantly used in rituals, अथर्वण वेद is not much used in rituals and therefore they don't include in the three वेदs and what did ब्रह्माजि do, he wanted to take out the सारः, because the वेदs are voluminous, therefore what did he do, he took a mixi and put the वेद and grinded it and then the वेद was crushed and the ऋग्वेद सार came and you know what is the ऋग्वेद सारः, तत् सवितुः वरेण्यम् – the first line of गायत्री is ऋग्वेद सारः. And then he took out the यजुर्वेद and put in the mixi and then crushed and took the essence, यजुर्वेद सारः he got, what is that, भर्गः देवस्य धीमहि, then he put the साम वेद in the mixi, mixi is nothing but तपस्, he performed the तपस् for taking out the essence and then he got धियः यः नः प्रचोदयात्, therefore this verse says, त्रिभ्य एव तु वेदेभ्यः पादम् पादम् अदूदुहत्, अदूदुहत्, means what? ब्रह्माजि extracted one one पाद of गायत्री, पाद means the line, from the three वेदs and he got the मन्त्र which is originally called सावित्री मन्त्रः. It is called सावित्री मन्त्र because the presiding deity is सूर्य भगवान् and in संस्कृत सूर्य is called सविता देवता, that is why we say,

सविता विश्वामित्रः निवृत्-गायत्री छन्दः सविता देवता ।

Since सविता, the Sun is the देवता it is called सावित्री मन्त्रः and since the मन्त्र it is said in गायत्री meter, it is also called गायत्री मन्त्रः, from the stand point of meter it is called गायत्री मन्त्र, from the stand point of the देवता worshipped it is called सावित्री मन्त्रः. At the time of उपनयनम् ceremony, the ब्रह्मचारि prostrates in front of his father, गुरु and he only says: सावित्रीम् भो अनुब्रूहि. There सावित्री means गायत्री मन्त्रः and since गायत्री is the essence of the वेद, गायत्री is called वेद itself and therefore when the father wants to initiate the boy into वेद, he teaches him गायत्री मन्त्रः, so that whenever he chants गायत्री, he has repeated the whole वेद. So if you are repeating गायत्री, you can say that daily you are chanting the entire वेद, but don't tell the secret. I daily chant the entire वेद, you can say because गायत्री is the essence.

कण्- दृष्टि गणपति (कण् means eye in Tamil) is just spreading like wild fire, in every house it is hanging, the name is कण्- दृष्टि गणपति. So, we are all worried that our life is affected by दृष्टि, all the time we are worried about all the invisible evil forces like पाप, for invisible negative forces your protecting armor must be also invisible and that invisible armor is generated by गायत्री. Then people ask, how all the people are not allowed to chant गायत्री, if गायत्री is so great and how come many are not allowed to chant? It is not like that, I have told you I think. We have two types of गायत्री, श्रौत गायत्री and स्मार्त गायत्री, श्रौत गायत्री occurs in the वेदs, primary scriptures, स्मार्त गायत्री occurs in the स्मृतिs, the secondary scriptures. श्रौत गायत्री can be chanted by anyone who has been initiated into the उपनयनम् ceremony and if a person has not been initiated, male or female, he also can chant गायत्री, he or she also can chant गायत्री, but the prescribed गायत्री is स्मार्त गायत्री. Therefore everybody has got this two, one of these two गायत्रीs, श्रौत गायत्री is perhaps I will get it written on the board, anybody can chant this, sacred thread is not necessary at all, male or female. But श्रौत गायत्री one has to go through the purificatory rite, this is the convention. And what is the essence of this गायत्री मन्त्रः? The meaning is very simple: सवितुः देवस्य तत् वरेण्यम् भर्गः वयम् धीमहि, वयम् धीमहि – we are meditating upon. तत् वरेण्यम् भर्गः – that glorious effulgence, भर्गः means effulgence, वरेण्यम् means glorious, sacred, better sacred. Of whom? सवितुः देवस्य – of Sun God. So we are meditating upon the sacred effulgence of Sun God. And why are we meditating and worshipping? What do we get out of it, what will I get? यः नः धियः प्रचोदयात् – which effulgence activates our intelligence, धियः means बुद्धि. So therefore, I worship the solar effulgence, because it is supposed to active my brain, मेधा शक्ति increases, memory power increases and that is why ब्रह्मचारिः, the students, गायत्री was emphasized, because it gives every student, one is ब्रह्मचारि or not, student means memory power should be there or else in the next class whether it is गीता or उपनिषत् a doubt will arise, in that also, whether it is the 9th or 10th chapter of the गीता! Minimum memory should be there. So therefore, गायत्री activates बुद्धि शक्ति and therefore कृष्ण says, I am गायत्री मन्त्रः. If a person does not chant the गायत्री, he loses all the advantages of being a वैदिक पुरुषः. And it is said in tradition, without chanting गायत्री whatever other मन्त्रs he chants they all will not be that effective, on the other hand, if he chants गायत्री then no other मन्त्रः is required at all. Thus गायत्री महिमा is said, it is very much elaborated in various शास्त्र ग्रन्थs. Therefore कृष्ण says, I am गायत्री. And there also the गायत्री itself is divided into two, तत् सवितुः वरेण्यम् one reading, तत् सवितुः वरेणीयम् is another reading. If you split it and say वरेणीयम् there will be 24 letters, if you join and say तत् सवितुः वरेण्यम् it will have 23 letters. 24 lettered गायत्री is called गायत्री, 23 lettered गायत्री is called निवृत्-गायत्री and during सन्ध्यावन्दनम् one is supposed to chant निवृत्-गायत्री. That is why they say

ॐ भूर्भुवस्वः is not part of गायत्री, गायत्री begins from तत् सवितुः वरेण्यम्, but for the purpose of जप, ॐ भूः भुवः सुवः is added. So this is श्रौत गायत्री and स्मार्त गायत्री is,

यो देवः सवितास्माकं धियो धर्मादिजोचराः । प्रेक्षेत् तस्य यद्गर्भः तत्तवरेण्यम् उपारमहे ॥

then you have to say वरेण्यम्. For जप निवृत्-गायत्री is used, for होमम् गायत्री is used. Those rules are said in the scripture, any way that is an aside. Then मासानाम् मार्गशीर्षः अहम् – among the 12 months of a year, I am मार्गशीर्ष month, the December 15 to January 15, whether it is true for others or not, for चेन्नै it is true because it is the only month in which the temperature is relatively tolerable and all other times we have only three - hot, hotter and hottest and that is why all the people come only during that period only, foreigners also visit and we have also that music and all those things we keep at that time, so मार्गशीर्ष month is supposed to be the sacred month, that is why so many religious rituals activities are kept at that time. More we will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 10, VERSES 35-42

Enumerating the glories of the Lord, कृष्ण said in the 35th verse बृहत्-साम तथा साम्नाम् गायत्री छन्दसाम् अहम्, I am the बृहत्-साम मन्त्र among the साम मन्त्रs, and among the वैदिक मन्त्रs in general I am गायत्री मन्त्र and I said that गायत्री is considered to be a representative of the entire वेद and that is why when वेद उपदेश has to be done they do गायत्री उपदेश at the time of उपनयनम् and वेद is otherwise called ब्रह्म. And therefore गायत्री उपदेश is called ब्रह्म उपदेश, that is why even now when they have the sacred thread ceremony they write ब्रह्मोपदेशम्. ब्रह्मोपदेशम् is equal to वेद उपदेश, वेदोपदेशम् is equal to गायत्री उपदेश, because गायत्री is equal to वेद. Not only that in छान्दोग्योपनिषत्, गायत्री itself is presented for meditation as ब्रह्मन्, not only गायत्री is considered to be वेद, गायत्री is considered परम् ब्रह्म itself, because such an उपासना is prescribed in छान्दोग्योपनिषत् and it is analyzed in ब्रह्मसूत्र also. In short गायत्री is very very sacred and it occurs in the ऋग्वेद originally and it occurs in the यजुर्वेद also and it occurs even in साम वेद, in all the three वेदs गायत्री मन्त्र occurs. And then कृष्ण said मासानाम् मार्गशीर्षः अहम्, among all the months I am the मार्गशीर्ष month, i.e., the month between December 15-January 15, मार्गळि मासम् in तमिळ् and कृष्ण chooses this month, according to some commentators because that is the month when the earth is rich with varieties of grains and the फलम्s, सस्यफलाढ्यत्वात्, because after the rainy season the earth must be ready for sowing the seed and lot of grains can be harvested at that time and therefore because of prosperity or richness of the earth, सस्यफलाढ्यत्वात् मार्गशीर्षः इति उच्यते. And there are some other commentators who point out that that is the time which is considered to be the dawn of the early morning of the देवs. For the देवs or देवताs, our one year is equal to one day, because their scale is different and देवs day is supposed to begin from the 15th January i.e., the सङ्क्रमण day is supposed to be the beginning of the day for the देवs and just before the beginning of the day, the time is called ब्राह्म मुहूर्त, सात्त्विक time, early morning between 4-30-6.00 is considered to be ब्राह्म मुहूर्त. If देव's day begins with January 15, just before the 15th January, that duration must be ब्राह्म मुहूर्त for the देवताs and ब्राह्म मुहूर्त is supposed to be a सात्त्विक period and therefore that month is considered is very good for all types of spiritual साधन, all types of religious practices. Because of that reason also, कृष्ण chooses मार्गशीर्ष month. Then ऋतूनाम् कुसुमाकरः – among the six seasons, वसन्त, वर्षा, शरद्, हेमन्त, शिशिर and the ग्रीष्म, six seasons are there, one year is divided into six seasons or in संस्कृत six ऋतु, ऋतु means a season and one season last for 2 months. So ग्रीष्म ऋतु is summer, then वसन्त, once upon a time that calendar was popular. Now we follow only English calendar, therefore we don't know पक्ष, we don't know ऋतु, we do not know अयनम् and therefore I have to tell all these things, ग्रीष्म and then वसन्त and then वर्षा, then शरद् and हेमन्त and शिशिर. In English we have got only four seasons, words for four seasons, summer, spring, autumn, winter, the rainy season and pre-winter season is called हेमन्त. The six ऋतुs are there, of the six ऋतुs I am the वसन्त ऋतु, because that is the season when all the flower plants blossom and because all the flowers blossom during spring season the people are all happy, it is the most pleasant season. And therefore कृष्ण says that I am the spring season, कुसुम आकर. What is beautiful name for spring season! कृष्ण doesn't use the word वसन्त, he uses the word कुसुम आकर, आकर means abundance, store house, rich, कुसुम means flower, कुसुमानाम् आकरः, it is a season which has abundance of flowers and therefore people are happy.

जयोऽस्मि व्यवसायोऽस्मि सत्त्वं सत्त्ववतामहम् ॥ १०-३६॥

द्यूतम् छलयताम् अस्मि तेजः तेजस्विनाम् अहम् ।

जयः अस्मि व्यवसायः अस्मि सत्त्वम् सत्त्ववताम् अहम् ॥ १०-३६॥

छलयताम् द्यूताम्, तेजस्विनाम् तेजः अहम् अस्मि, जयः अहम् अस्मि, व्यवसायः (अहम्) अस्मि, सत्त्ववताम् सत्त्वम् (अहम् अस्मि)।

छलयताम् – among those activities which will rob our discriminative power, among those activities which will take a human being for a ride, among those activities I am the gambling activity. Because all forms of gambling will take a human being for a ride, because once a person enters into that, like alcohol or drug a person will be completely addicted to that and like any other addiction, gambling like card games or racing etc., like dice all come under gambling. In भागवतम् it is said, in कलियुग, the कलि देवता resides in a few places, कलि देवता means that देवता which will take a person for spiritual downfall. In भागवतम् a story is elaborately said, so कलि was to be driven out, then कलि देवता was to reside in some places and delude the human mind and I want to take them for a spiritual downfall. Then भगवान् allows कलि देवता to remain in a few places and if a human places goes to such places he will be sucked by, pulled down by कलि देवता and कलि देवता means quarrel, fighting, shouting, drinking, all those things will come and therefore कृष्ण says, I am द्यूताम्. In fact, in the entire महाभारत, one important lesson is to be learned is if we are not very careful that gambling or such activities can suck us also down. And what is the example, धर्मपुत्र who was an embodiment of धर्म even that धर्मपुत्र got hooked to that and when धर्मपुत्र got hooked he lost all the sense of propriety and he lost even his wife and brothers. Can any person think of keeping the wife and brothers as a stake there? धर्मपुत्र is an embodiment of धर्म, he knows धर्मशास्त्रम् and even he lost his balance. If धर्मपुत्र can lose his balance, what to talk of we ordinary people? That is why when we were young, our parents never allowed us to touch the card, people say we play card only for fun, no money is involved, but our parents say even for fun don't play the cards. Why because there is a strong pull there, कृष्ण himself warns द्यूतम् अहम् अस्मि, among the deceiving activities, pulling down activities, taking for a ride activities, addicting activities I am the gambling principle. So द्यूतम्, literally द्यूतम् means dice and here dice means any form of gambling. Then तेजः तेजस्विनाम् अहम् – I am the brilliance, the internal brilliance, the intelligence among all the intelligent or brilliant people. Perhaps we can define the brilliance as that by which a person resists the temptation for द्यूतम्, gambling. Because in all of them first time saying No is much easier, whether it is alcohol, whether it is cigarette or whether it is drug or whether it is card game or whether it is gambling, first time saying No is very easy, but if first time one succumbs then the downslide is so powerful that it will be very difficult to get out of that and therefore I am that brilliant discrimination which resists such a temptation. Then जयः अस्मि व्यवसायः अस्मि सत्त्वम् सत्त्ववताम् अहम् – I am the सत्त्वगुण in the सात्त्विक people. So सत्त्वम्, I am the सत्त्वगुण which represents spiritual inclination, रजोगुण represents materialistic inclination, अर्थ-काम inclination is caused by रजोगुण, धर्म-मोक्ष inclination is caused by सत्त्वगुण and तमोगुण obstructs our inclination for both of them, तमोगुण makes a person lazy, neither materialistic inclination nor spiritual inclination. As I have often said ‘after eating lie down and after sleeping eat.’ This is तामसिक. And the general advice of the scriptures is a तामसिक person should initially cultivate a materialistic desire and thereafter gradually refine the materialistic desires to spiritual desire and that spiritual desire represented by सत्त्वगुण I am in all the सात्त्विक people and once there is the spiritual inclination, it expresses in what form, व्यवसायः. व्यवसायः means the effort required for the fulfillment of spiritual desire. Just as effort is required for the fulfillment of materialistic desires, you should remember, equal or more effort is required for the fulfillment of spiritual desire like doing पञ्च महायज्ञ, all the noble activities for चित्तशुद्धि, it requires effort. So here the word व्यवसायः means प्रयत्नः, perseverance, industry, effort, not तमिक् व्यवसायम्, in तमिक् व्यवसायम् means agriculture. So in मलयाळम् व्यवसायम् means industry, that is closer to संस्कृत, in संस्कृत व्यवसाय means industry, but industry as the character of the mind, we use the expression he is an industrious person, that perseverance or effort is called व्यवसायः. And once there is व्यवसायः or spiritual effort, what will it lead to? जयः अस्मि, जयः means victory, success. So that is why I took in the reverse order, सत्त्वगुण to व्यवसायः to जयः, सत्त्वगुण means spiritual inclination, व्यवसायः means spiritual effort, जयः means spiritual success or victory, all of them I am. And from this what are to learn, if we get spiritual success we should not become arrogant because of that, we should remember that is also because of the grace of the Lord only. One should not forget that, all the time remember every step forward is because of the push of ईश्वर अनुग्रह. The pull of free-will should be backed by the push of ईश्वर अनुग्रह; will and grace should go hand-in-hand. Continuing;

वृष्णीनां वासुदेवोऽस्मि पाण्डवानां धनञ्जयः ।

मुनीनामप्यहं व्यासः कवीनामुशना कविः ॥ १०-३७॥

वृष्णीनाम् वासुदेवः अस्मि पाण्डवानाम् धनञ्जयः ।

मुनीनाम् अपि अहम् व्यासः कवीनाम् उशना कविः ॥ १०-३७॥

वृष्णीनाम् वासुदेवः, पाण्डवानाम् धनञ्जयः अस्मि, मुनीनाम् अपि व्यासः (अहम्), कवीनाम् उशना कविः (अहम् अस्मि)।

वृष्णीनाम् – among the descendants of वृष्णि वंश, वृष्णि वंश is यदु वंश or the यादव वंश to which Lord कृष्ण belonged. Therefore among the descendants of वृष्णि वंश, who am I, कृष्ण says, I am Myself, I am वासुदेवः. वासुदेवः means वसुदेवस्य पुत्र, देवकी पुत्रः, I am Lord कृष्ण and that is why one of the name of कृष्ण is वार्ष्णेय, we have seen that word elsewhere, वार्ष्णेयः means वृष्णि वंश समुद्भूतः. And why do we or कृष्ण Himself claims that कृष्ण himself is the greatest among the वार्ष्णेय, why should be कृष्ण graeatest one? One reason is that कृष्ण Himself is the अवतार of the Lord Himself, He is not an ordinary mortal जीव but He is ईश्वर अवतार भूतः. Then the next question comes, there are many अवतारs and why should we say कृष्णावतार is the most glorious among them? We can give several reasons but according to me the primary reason is for the glory of कृष्णावतार is, in कृष्णावतार alone Lord functions as ब्रह्मविद्या आचार्य, a liberating preceptor, in all other अवतारs Lord destroyed असुरs and disappeared, but in कृष्ण अवतार alone,

देवकीपरमानन्दम् कृष्णम् वन्दे जगद्गुरुम् ॥

And that is why कृष्ण's teaching of the भगवद्गीता is considered as one of the three main text books of वेदान्तशास्त्र. The वेदान्तशास्त्र has got innumerable text books, perhaps thousands or lakhs, among all the वेदान्तशास्त्र ग्रन्थs, three are considered to be pillars of वेदान्त, they are called प्रस्थान त्रयम्, the foundation ग्रन्थs and what are they: number one the उपनिषत्s called the श्रुति प्रस्थानम्, the second one is भगवद्गीता called the स्मृति प्रस्थानम् and the third one is ब्रह्मसूत्रs the न्याय प्रस्थानम्. So thus श्रुति, स्मृति and न्याय. Among these three-pillar Vedantic texts one of them is भगवद्गीता and it is given out by कृष्ण and that is why even after millennia, भगवद्गीता in the 21st century also, it is alive and kicking and even now when we take भगवद्गीता classes, thank God, people are coming indicating what, it is even now fresh and valid, it is not obsolete text book, but it is a valid teaching and since कृष्ण is गीताचार्यः, He is the greatest one. पाण्डवानाम् धनञ्जयः – among the पञ्चपाण्डवs, कृष्ण is very smart, He doesn't want to get अर्जुन's anger, as such he is having the bow and arrow! Therefore among the पाण्डवs, (he is flattering) I am the अर्जुन himself, पाण्डवानाम् धनञ्जयः. And why is the अर्जुन the greatest and why can't He say धर्मपुत्र? He is the eldest one as well as the embodiment of धर्म, why should अर्जुन be taken as the greatest one? Very simple, if गीता is the greatest शास्त्र, अर्जुन being the first receiver of the गीताशास्त्रम्, सर्वोपनिषदो गावो दोग्धा गोपालनन्दनः, then पार्थो वत्सः, where it comes, गीता ध्यान श्लोक, so पार्थो वत्सः, अर्जुन is the first one to receive the गीताशास्त्रम् and he is the blessed one and we are getting only the second hand teaching from the local गुरुः, but अर्जुन got from साक्षात् नारायणेन स्वयम्, where it comes, पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम् भगवता नारायणेन स्वयम्, he was lucky enough to get the teaching straight from कृष्ण's mouth. And why did कृष्ण choose अर्जुन for giving this teaching? It is another big debate. Why should कृष्ण choose अर्जुन for giving the गीता? Several people give several reason, but the reason is very simple, कृष्ण gave अर्जुन because अर्जुन asked for it. Don't break your head, धर्मपुत्र never said

भीम never said, अर्जुन asked and कृष्ण gave. So that अर्जुन asked makes him a great person and therefore पाण्डवानाम् धनञ्जयः. So कृष्ण is great, अर्जुन is great. Now व्यास feels how can I leave out myself, therefore मुनीनाम् अपि अहम् व्यासः – so among the ऋषिः I am व्यासाचार्य. And why do we व्यासाचार्य is the greatest? The same reason alone, कृष्ण is the greatest अवतार because he is ब्रह्मविद्या आचार्यः and व्यास is the greatest ऋषि because व्यास is also ब्रह्मविद्या आचार्यः, he is one of the ब्रह्मविद्या आचार्यः in the tradition. And not only that, among the प्रस्थानत्रयम्, the same foundation ग्रन्थः one was the contribution of कृष्ण another is the contribution of व्यास, because ब्रह्मसूत्रः, which is one of the foundation ग्रन्थः, that ब्रह्मसूत्र is given by व्यास. And not only that, even in the compilation of the गीता, व्यास has a role. कृष्ण taught अर्जुन alright, but remember the compilation has been done by व्यासाचार्य. Therefore महाभारतम् is written by whom? व्यास. So भगवद्गीता is part of महाभारतम् and therefore the teaching is कृष्ण's but the presentation is व्यास's. So व्यास's contribution is for two प्रस्थानम्, in गीता प्रस्थानम् also व्यास is there, in ब्रह्मसूत्र प्रस्थानम् also व्यास is there, that is why we have great reverence for व्यास. That is why during श्रावणी पौर्णिमा also there is a special तर्पणम् called काण्ड ऋषि तर्पणम्,

कृष्णद्वैपायनादयो ये ऋषयस्तान् ऋषींस्तर्पयामि ।

I am expressing my gratitude to all the ऋषिs beginning with whom not with any ऋषि, but कृष्ण द्वैपायन. Who is he? He is व्यास. We don't mention the name of any other ऋषिs, all other ऋषिs are included in etc., आदयः. Only one name is mentioned and that is व्यास's.

कृष्णद्वैपायनादयो ये ऋषयस्तान् ऋषींस्तर्पयामि । सर्वान् ऋषींस्तर्पयामि ।

सर्व ऋषिगणान्स्तर्पयामि । सर्व ऋषिपत्नीस्तर्पयामि । सर्व ऋषिगणपत्नीस्तर्पयामि । in that ऋषि तर्पणम् the first person is व्यास. And therefore कृष्ण says among the मुनिs or ऋषिs I am व्यासः. And he got the name व्यास because he compiled and rearranged the वेदs also. So when he found that the people cannot remember all the वेदs, the entire वेदs people could not remember, he called four disciples and he asked each disciple to preserve a particular वेद. So therefore this arrangement for वैदिक preservation is also done by व्यास, So

विव्यास वेदान् यस्मात् स तस्माद् व्यास इति स्मृतः ।

व्यास means to compile and rearrange. And what is his original name? Not व्यास, but कृष्ण द्वैपायन is the original name and because of the compilation and arrangement of वेदs, he got the name वेदव्यास, Then वेदव्यास got shortened to वि. व्यास. OK. वि means वेद. कृष्ण dropped the initials. Then कवीनाम् उशना कविः – among the great seers, those who can see all the three कालs, त्रिकाल दर्शिs, त्रिकाल ज्ञानिs I am शुक्र कवि, उशना means शुक्राचार्य, the असुर गुरु. शुक्राचार्यः is a great ऋषि and therefore कृष्ण says I am उशना कविः. And here the word कवि does not mean a poet, the word कवि means क्रान्त दर्शि, the one who can see the future that is going to come, the one who has got ESP - Extra Sensory Perception. Not only he can see the future he can see the past also, therefore क्रान्त दर्शि, क्रान्त means that which is beyond our range of our sense organs, beyond the limit, beyond the range and one who can see that is शुक्राचार्यः. Continuing;

दण्डो दमयतामस्मि नीतिरस्मि जिगीषताम् ।

मौनं वैवास्मि गुह्यानां ज्ञानं ज्ञानवतामहम् ॥ १०-३८॥

दण्डः दमयताम् अस्मि नीतिः अस्मि जिगीषताम् ।

मौनम् च एव अस्मि गुह्यानाम् ज्ञानम् ज्ञानवताम् अहम् ॥ १०-३८॥

दमयताम् दण्डः अस्मि, जिगीषताम् नीतिः अस्मि । गुह्यानाम् मौनम्, ज्ञानवताम् ज्ञानम् च एव अहम् अस्मि ।

दण्डः दमयताम् अस्मि – among the disciplinarians, among the causes of discipline or orderliness I am दण्डः, दण्डः means the rod of punishment. Because the discipline can be caused by several methods, one method is requesting, kindly follow the rule, request; another is educating so that a person follows because of understanding and the third method is दण्ड, the method of punishment. कृष्ण says generally people are immature, generally the people are gross and therefore good words, education, etc., won't work, generally what works is दण्डः, punishment. So साम, दान, भेद, दण्ड, among them दण्ड alone is the most powerful which gives instantaneous result. And that is why parents also often the method of corporal punishment, corporal punishment means beating. In Schools also the teachers use this, now-a-days they have banned it, because they say it is highly damaging to the psyche of the child, but still many people are not happy banning it because if you don't use punishment, you require lot of क्षमा, using good words to change one needs lot of क्षमा, but one beating serves the purpose. कृष्ण also knows that so I am the punishing rod among the causes of discipline. नीतिः अस्मि जिगीषताम् – among the causes of victory or among the victors, among the victorious one I am नीतिः, नीतिः means diplomacy, this is from the stand point of the rulers or kings. For the kings to be successful in the statesmen I am in the form of diplomacy, because that is responsible for success, so I am नीतिः. Then मौनम् च एव अस्मि गुह्यानाम् – among all the secrets I am मौनम्. मौनम् is the greatest secret because the moment you reveal that secret, it is no more secret. So therefore I am मौनम्. The word मौनम् represents ब्रह्मन् also,

अमात्रः चतुर्थः अव्यवहार्यः ॥ माण्डूक्योपनिषत् १२॥

So in वेदान्त, silence has the meaning of ब्रह्मन्, because in silence there is nothing except Consciousness. In silence what is there, we generally say nothing, but silence is that state in which nothing is there, which nothingness is witnessed by the Consciousness and therefore in माण्डूक्योपनिषत्, ब्रह्मन् is called silence and therefore we can मौनम् as ब्रह्मन् also, I am ब्रह्मन् among the secrets. That is why it was called राज-विद्या राज-गुह्यम्, गुह्यम् means secret. Then ज्ञानम् ज्ञानवताम् अहम् – among the wise people or in the wise people I am the wisdom. So therefore the glory of the wise people is because of the wisdom and wisdom belongs to the Lord. Therefore when you do नमस्कार to a ज्ञानि, the नमस्कार does not go to that ज्ञानि, but it goes to the wisdom which makes a ज्ञानि and that wisdom is what: भगवान् says I am that. Therefore no genuine ज्ञानि accepts the नमस्कार for himself, so whenever anybody does नमस्कार, he intelligently hands over the नमस्कार to the Lord, because Lord is the wisdom. Continuing;

न तदस्ति विना यत्स्यान्मया भूतं चराचरम् ॥ १०-३९॥

यत् च अपि सर्व-भूतानाम् बीजम् तत् अहम् अर्जुन ।

न तत् अस्ति विना यत् स्यात् मया भूतम् चर-अचरम् ॥ १०-३९॥

हे अर्जुन! च सर्व-भूतानाम् यत् बीजम् तत् अपि अहम् (अस्मि), यत् चर-अचरम् भूतम् स्यात् तत् मया विना न अस्ति ।

So here कृष्ण concludes the enumeration of His glories and कृष्ण says in fact, हे अर्जुन! I am the very seed or material cause out of which the entire creation has emerged. So अहम् सर्व-भूतानाम् बीजम् अस्मि, बीजम् means उपादान कारणम्, just as the clay is the material cause of all the earthen wares, just as gold is the material cause of all ornaments, just as wood is the material cause of all furniture, I am the material cause of the entire creation. And the material cause always expresses in the effect in the form of the very existence. When you say an ornament 'is', the very is-ness or existence does not belong to the ornament, the existence actually belongs to what: the gold alone. Ornament is nothing but नाम and रूप, it is a non-substantial entity, if you say नाम-रूप 'is' that is-ness is borrowed from where, the gold. How do you prove that? Remove the gold from the ornament, ornament loses its very existence. And therefore कृष्ण says I am the material cause who lend existence to every product in the creation. Therefore when you say wall is, is-ness belongs to Me, when you say: fan is, is-ness belongs to Me, In short, I am the सत् in the creation. What did he say in the beginning? He started with अहम् आत्मा गुडाकेश. There the word आत्मा means that I am the very Consciousness in every being, and while ending He says, I am the very existence in every being. I am सत्-चित् स्वरूपः obtaining in the entire creation. And therefore मया विना यत् चर-अचरम् भूतम् स्यात् तत् न अस्ति – there is nothing in the creation, moving or stationary, which can exist without my blessings. Just as gold can say there is no ornament in the creation, no golden ornament in the creation which can exist without my blessings (who can say? gold can say), similarly, भगवान् says: I am the material cause without which nothing in the creation, moving or non-moving can exist. And therefore if somebody asks, who is God? we say, who "Is", is God. What does that mean? That Is-ness is the God, all others are नाम-रूप only. So यत् चर-अचरम् भूतम् मया विना अस्ति तत् न – there is nothing which can exist without me. Thus he started with चित्, ended with सत्, चित् and सत् are निर्गुण ईश्वर विभूतिः and all others are सगुण ईश्वर विभूतिः, विभूतिः means महिमा.

नान्तोऽस्ति मम दिव्यानां विभूतीनां परन्तप ।
 एष तूद्देशतः प्रोक्तो विभूतेर्विस्तरः मया ॥ १०-४०॥
 न अन्तः अस्ति मम दिव्यानाम् विभूतीनाम् परन्तप ।
 एषः तु उद्देशतः प्रोक्तः विभूतेः विस्तरः मया ॥ १०-४०॥
 हे परन्तप! मम दिव्यानाम् विभूतीनाम् अन्तः न अस्ति, एषः तु विभूतेः विस्तरः मया उद्देशतः प्रोक्तः ।

Here कृष्ण says हे अर्जुन! I have stopped the enumeration of My glories, not because my glories have been exhausted. If I have to enumerate all the glories the list is inexhaustible, I can never complete the 10th chapter. Time is running out. And therefore, my intention is only to give a few sample glories, don't think that this is an exhaustive list. Therefore कृष्ण says: मम दिव्यानाम् विभूतीनाम् अन्तः न अस्ति – there is no end to My divine glory. It can be never be exhausted by Me, हे परन्तप! हे अर्जुन! Then why should कृष्ण enumerate? If there is no end why should He enumerate? कृष्ण says: एषः तु विभूतेः विस्तरः उद्देशतः प्रोक्तः – this enumeration of My glories is only as a sample, a random sample is given. When you go shopping especially for eatables, the shopkeeper will just give a piece of it to taste the quality of it, like that, just a random items, there are some people who just eat different of samples items and come away. So I have given this उद्देशतः – only a random sample or as an illustration I have given this much enumeration. Then how to extend this list? कृष्ण says, I will tell you the method of extending the list, therefore you can yourselves do as a home work, of course the 10th chapter must be continued at home by you yourselves. How to do that? He is going to say that:

Verse No .41

यद्यद्विभूतिमत्सत्त्वं श्रीमदूर्जितमेव वा ।
 ततदेवावगच्छ त्वं मम तेजोऽशसम्भवम् ॥ १०-४१॥
 यत् यत् विभूतिमत् सत्त्वम् श्रीमत् ऊर्जितम् एव वा ।

तत् तत् एव अवगच्छ त्वम् मम तेजः अंश-सम्भवम् ॥ १०-४१॥

यत् यत् सत्त्वम् विभूतिमत्, श्रीमत् ऊर्जितम् एव वा (अस्ति), तत् तत् मम तेजः अंश-सम्भवम् (अस्ति इति) त्वम् अवगच्छ ।

कृष्ण says you can make your own list. What is that? So when you are confronting various things and beings in the creation, if you see anything that is wonderful which makes you wonderstruck, so any such glorious living being or inert thing. They talk about the wonders of the universe, 7 wonders, 8 wonders, they enumerate, anything natural or artificial, anything that you see, विभूतिमत् – glorious, which makes your mouth open, which makes you awestruck, whatever it is, it may be the minutest insect or the greatest mountain, यत् यत् or श्रीमत् – whichever is rich or abundant, whichever is full of riches or abundance, श्रीमत्. Abundance means most valuable or invaluable diamond, they discover and they keep somewhere and they say it costs millions of dollars, it is श्रीमत्. So anything rich or ऊर्जितम् – anything powerful, take the energy of the Sun, which has been giving energy for us. Imagine you have to light up the entire earth for 12 hours with some electric power, day-night matches, how much money they have to spend? The Sun has been doing that, how long and it is still the reservoir of energy. Therefore you take the Sun, you take the stars, you take the lightening, you take a water fall, which are all powerful, anything and you can add anything beautiful, attractive, all of them when you see remember me. That is the indication of a religious person. A religious person whenever he sees an extraordinary thing he does नमस्कारम् to that and even if he discovers some such thing, he never keeps it - in the olden days, he hands over to the temple, I don't deserve to possess that, anything extraordinary it is given to the temple, because we see the Lord in that. Therefore कृष्ण says, तत् तत् अवगच्छ – may you understand that that extraordinary powerful rich thing or being is only an infinitesimal glory of Mine. Not My total glory, the highest glorious thing is only a part of a wee bit of My glory. मम तेजः

अंश, तेजः here means महिमा, अंश means a part, a speck of My विभूतिः and that is why we worship nature. Then कृष्ण concludes;

Verse No .42

अथवा बहुनैतेन किं ज्ञातेन तवार्जुन ।

विष्टभ्याहमिदं कृत्स्नमेकांशेन स्थितो जगत् ॥ १०-४२॥

अथवा बहुना एतेन किम् ज्ञातेन तव अर्जुन ।

विष्टभ्य अहम् इदम् कृत्स्नम् एक-अंशेन स्थितः जगत् ॥ १०-४२॥

हे अर्जुन! अथवा एतेन बहुना ज्ञातेन तव किम्? अहम् इदम् कृत्स्नम् जगत् एक-अंशेन विष्टभ्य स्थितः (अस्मि इति त्वं विद्धि) ।

So here कृष्ण says, हे अर्जुन! you can look at the whole thing in a different perspective also. So previously to give an example, suppose I say water is present in every wave, water is present in every bubble, water is present in every drop, this is one way of looking at the water. Or there is another way, हे अर्जुन! it is not that I the water or the water is in bubble or wave, really speaking, all bubbles, all waves are in water. Therefore, instead of saying I am in the creation, I would like to reverse it and say, the whole creation is in Me. Therefore He says: अथवा – otherwise to put in a different form, बहुना एतेन ज्ञातेन किम्? – What is the use of this elaborate enumeration? I am in mountain, I am in intelligent people, I am in गङ्गा, I am in यमुना, instead of saying I am in everything, I would like to say everything is in Me. So अहम् इदम् कृत्स्नम् जगत् विष्टभ्य स्थितः – In fact, I remain supporting this entire creation or the entire creation is in Me. Space is not within this hall, that is not the correct statement, all the halls are in space. Similarly, भगवान् is not in the living beings but all living beings are in भगवान् and that too they don't occupy the whole भगवान्, I am only sustaining them in one corner of Me, एक-अंशेन. So the whole cosmos is only occupying a part of Me, so how big I am, so the whole cosmos is like a bubble in Me, the ocean. So with this कृष्ण concludes the description of His glories.

CHAPTER 10, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 10th chapter of the गीता. The 10th chapter of the गीता by its position is occurring in the मध्यम षट्कम् of the गीता. If you remember, the first six chapters of the गीता are called प्रथम षट्कम्, the first section consisting of six chapters. Then from the 7th to the 12th chapter, we call मध्यम षट्कम्, the middle section and the last six chapters together called चरम षट्कम् or the final section. And I had told you that in the प्रथम षट्कम्, the nature of the जीव, the individual is highlighted. In the मध्यम षट्कम्, that is the middle section, the nature of God or ईश्वर is highlighted and in the चरम षट्कम्, the essential oneness of जीव and ईश्वर, जीव ईश्वर स्वरूप ऐक्यम् is predominantly discussed, I had said, which means in the मध्य षट्कम् Lord कृष्ण is concentrating on ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, so that we will have a clear knowledge regarding the nature of God. And Lord कृष्ण started this topic from the very 7th chapter itself and he has been gradually developing it and the culmination will come in the 12th chapter of the गीता.

➤ And in all the scriptures, the general definition given to God is ईश्वरः जगत् कारणम्, the Lord is the creator of the world, the Lord is the maker of the World. In संस्कृत, we use the expression कर्ता, कर्ता means the creator. That is why in Christianity also the Lord is addressed as कर्तावे, (they add वे) कर्ता means the creator. When we learn that God is the maker or creator of this universe naturally we conceive of the Lord in our own way. So we get the first concept of God based on this definition, what definition: God is the maker or the creator.

➤ And when I know God as the creator, what will be my concept of God, how will I conceive? The first problem that we find here is generally whenever we see a product, any created product, we do not see the creator anywhere around. This is the first problem that we face, the created product is visible and I am not able to see the creator.

I know this mike has a maker but I am not seeing the maker around, I know the desk has a creator but I don't see the creator around, I know this hall has a creator but I don't see the creator around. Therefore generally creator is not perceived, the creator is inferred; creator is not perceived but creator is inferred. Therefore ईश्वर in my concept is अनुमित स्वरूपः, अनुमित स्वरूपः means what: the Lord is not perceived by me but Lord is inferred by me and since the Lord is not perceived but inferred, the ईश्वर that I conceive of is परोक्ष ईश्वरः, and not प्रत्यक्ष ईश्वरः. First I think that there is one ईश्वर and that ईश्वर is not seen anywhere nearby and somewhere he is there.

So therefore concept No.1: He is inferred; concept No.2 He is remote, not anywhere around. And since ईश्वर is the creator, only inferred and not seen around, the nature of God I do not know therefore I have to only imagine. So what will be the nature of the creator of this mike? Since I don't see the creator of mike, I have to only visualize, imagine. Therefore the creator has what nature: कल्पित रूपम्, कल्पितम् means imagine. I know this hall has a creator, but how he looks like I can only imagine. I know that all of you have got great grandfathers, no doubt about it, but how your great-grandfather looks like I have to only imagine. Often, not only I have to imagine, even you have to imagine, you won't see around. Therefore ईश्वर has got a nature which is imagined by me. So ईश्वरः is अनुमित, ईश्वरः is परोक्ष and ईश्वर is कल्पित रूपः, of an imagined form. If I have to imagine the form of ईश्वर, What will be my imagination? Suppose I have to imagine the creator of this desk, I know he is a sentient living being, the creator of this desk is certainly a sentient living being and I know that any animal does not have sufficient intelligence to conceive and create the desk and therefore I imagine the creator of the desk as only a human being, because in my experience, human beings alone have sufficient intelligence to conceive and create a product. And therefore when I visualize or imagine a God, what type of form I will imagine?

Certainly a human form. Is it perceived form or imagined form? It is certainly an imagined form, because I don't see the creator around and therefore I have an idea of God, as what: A very very intelligent human like being. And since I know the intelligence of the creator God must be much much much higher, because an ordinary human being can create only ordinary things, since God has created the whole universe, his intelligence must be much much much greater, therefore in my imagination, how to put the extra intelligence? You may add a few more heads, that only thing you can do. Because one head has got one unit of intelligence, भगवान् must have several units and therefore, draw heads all over, 100 heads this side and 100 heads that side, because Omniscience. Similarly, you want to imagine the Lord as very very powerful, because the Lord has created not an ordinary desk or an ordinary mike or fan or hall, but the entire cosmos, therefore the power must be infinite and how do you imagine infinite power, add a few more hands, hands in multiples of 2. So 4 hands, 6 or 10 or 12 or 20 or hundreds hands. Thus when I say God is the creator of the world, I only imagine a personal intelligent God who is very very similar to a human being, but I still don't know the details. Whether the Lord is black or white, (there are so many colors) yellow like Chinese, black like negro, white like the westerners or inbetween ones, like us. So what is the complexion of God? Whether the Lord is male or female, that is also a problem, all I have to imagine, it is a very very confused concept of God and to get some help I look into the scriptures, the confusion only increases because, instead of one form the scriptures give many forms. राम form, कृष्ण form, शिव form, विष्णु form, etc. So still my confusion continues. OK, there is a God, an inferred God, an omniscient, omnipotent God, not anywhere around God and that God must have some form like a human being, which form is the form of God, because there are so many gods mentioned in the scriptures, should I conclude that there are many gods, the scriptures say that there is only one God!

Thank God or else they(gods) will fight among themselves! Once I know that the creator God is only one, naturally the question will come, which one of the forms is the form of God? I cannot say all of them, because some description is that God is fair, in some description God is black, कृष्ण is described as मेघ श्यामल, so black. Black means is भगवान् a negro? We don't know. So we get that description also. What वर्ण I can take, what आकार I can take? Then you have to assume that only one form is the real form of God, and the all other forms are only वेषम्s, like cinema actors, he has got one form of his own and all other forms are वेषम्. Now the problem is: if भगवान् has got only one form and all the others are only temporary वेषम्s, what will be the question? Which one is the real form and which are the वेषम्s? If you ask a वैष्णव, he will say, विष्णु form is original one, शिव is वेषम्. You call a शिव भक्त, he will say शिव form is original, विष्णु is वेषम्. If you ask देवी भक्त he will say, the former two are not and only देवी form is the real, the others are all वेषम्s. Now my problem is what, what exactly is the form of God, because all of them are my imagination, because I don't see the Lord around. And the scriptures point out that Lord दर्शनम्, ईश्वर दर्शनम् alone gives you liberation, therefore I have to now work for ईश्वर दर्शनम्. Now I have got a serious anxiety, when will I see Lord शिव, when will I see Lord विष्णु, whether he will come or not? And if you read पुराणs they declare that some of the devotees had राम दर्शनम्, त्यागराज had seen राम, मीरा had seen कृष्ण. Now the question is will I ever see the Lord and if I don't see the Lord, will I get liberation? All these are various ideas hovering around in my mind, I only this much that there is God, but all other details are only vague, full of vagueness. Whether he will be like this or like that, whether he will come or not, whether if he comes he will go or not. Because we are equally interested in his going back also, because limited accommodation, what to do in a small house. So कृष्ण wants to transform our concept of God. It is very good to know God as the creator, but if you have to progress further in your साधन, you have to understand further regarding the nature of God, at present, God is inferred for you, God is remote, परोक्षम् for you and God is कल्पित रूप of imagined form. And how to transfer this concept, that alone is कृष्ण is trying in the मध्यम षट्कम् of the गीता and here कृष्ण says, if you understand God as only the creator of the world your understanding is incomplete. If you know God as only the creator of the world your understanding is incomplete and as long as you have this incomplete understanding you will always have confused ideas, vague ideas regarding God and your साधन also will not be crystallized, it will be groping in darkness. And therefore your understanding has to be enhanced. And how should we enhance? कृष्ण says, when you say God is the creator of the world, ask another question, what is the material out of which God created this world? As long as you don't ask this question, you will have confused understanding. When I say carpenter created the desk I know the wood is the material, when I say goldsmith created ornaments I know gold is the raw material, when I say God who was only one God without a second thing, this is very important, एकम् एव अद्वितीयम्. He alone was there, so when God alone is there to create the world, what is the material out of which God created? Unless you ask this question and find out the answer, your concept of God will be immature and vulnerable to logical attack and कृष्ण says when you ask the question what is the material out of which God made, the answer is what, God has to find the material also in himself, because there is no other second material. God is not only the creator, God is also the material part and therefore God has two aspects, one is the चैतन aspect and the other is the अचेतन aspect. The intelligence-principle also must be God, the raw material-principle also must be God alone. Thus God becomes a mixture of चैतन अचेतन तत्त्वम्, which we saw in the 7th chapter as परा-अपरा प्रकृति. He is matter and spirit put together is God. This is a very important breakthrough in the वैदिक teaching. Once I know that Lord is the material out of which the creation has come then we have to get some important corollaries, what is that? Once I know the material cause of the product I know that the material cause is never away from the product. Material cause is never away from the product, just as Gold is never away from ornaments, wood is never away from furniture, clay is never away from pots, कारणम् can never be away from कार्यम्. So the material cause is a perceived object or an inferred object. I have got the desk and what is the material cause, wood, whether wood should I have to infer or should I have to perceive it? Remember, the material cause need not be inferred, material cause is very much perceived in the product. Therefore ईश्वर is never an inferred object, a remote object, ईश्वर is a perceived object, ईश्वर is never remote. Therefore ईश्वर is परोक्षम् or प्रत्यक्षम्? My concept has very much drastically changed, ईश्वर is प्रत्यक्ष सिद्धः. Keeping the ornaments should you ask when you will get the gold दर्शनम्? What will one say? You will say: it is foolhardiness to question thus. Keeping the furniture when I will get wood दर्शनम् if I question, what will other say: that is wood-headed! Keeping pot if you are looking for the clay दर्शनम्, what will one say: Our answer is never work for clay दर्शनम्, never work for wood दर्शनम्, wood or clay or gold are all the time प्रत्यक्ष सिद्ध. Therefore ईश्वरः प्रत्यक्षः. So when you say ईश्वर is creator, ईश्वर become परोक्ष, but when you say ईश्वर is the very material out of which the creation has come, ईश्वर becomes प्रत्यक्षम्. Then the next question is, what is the form of ईश्वरः? If you ask, what is the form of gold, what will be the answer? All the ornamental forms - bangle form, chain form, ring form, all the ornamental visible forms are forms belonging to the gold alone. Therefore the bangle form of gold is an imagined form or perceived form? Bangle form of gold is perceived form or imagined form? It is a perceived form. And therefore कृष्ण says, all the forms of the products you get here they are all the forms of God only, which you need not imagine, which are all the time available. Therefore, ईश्वर doesn't have a कल्पित रूपम्, ईश्वर has got a प्रत्यक्ष रूपम् and what should I do, what तपस् should I do, to have ईश्वर दर्शनम्, for how many days should I have to do नामजपम्, how many days तपस् should I do? कृष्ण says the idea of striving for ईश्वर दर्शनम् is because of incomplete knowledge of ईश्वर. The very anxiety for ईश्वर दर्शनम् is born out of the incomplete understanding of ईश्वर and what is incomplete understanding, that you should understand completely, 'ईश्वर is the creator', is incomplete understanding, what is the complete understanding, 'ईश्वर is not only the creator, ईश्वर happens to be the very material cause also' and once I have the complete understanding I come to the conclusion that I need not be anxious for ईश्वर दर्शनम्, because I am all the time having ईश्वर दर्शनम् only. When I am seeing bangle, I am having gold दर्शनम्, I am seeing chain - gold दर्शनम्, ring - gold दर्शनम्, सर्वत्र gold दर्शनम् only. And if at all I should be anxious, my anxiety should be what, Oh Lord! let me not forget the fact that the entire creation is your manifestation only. This information should not be forgotten, that should be the only prayer. So my only anxiety must be Oh Lord: I should not forget the fact that whatever I am seeing is your form only and this दर्शनम् of ईश्वर is called विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्, अनेकरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्. And once I have this ईश्वर दर्शनम्, whatever glories I see in the creation they all will remind me of the glories of ईश्वर only. So thus, for a विश्वरूप भक्तः सर्वत्र ईश्वर विभूति दर्शनम् एव भवति. So for a विश्वरूप भक्तः, there is the appreciation of ईश्वर's glory in everything, he does not require a miraculous event. Now we are looking for miracles to take place. Somebody must be miraculously cured of some disease and then alone we will appreciate ईश्वर विभूति. कृष्ण says: you don't require miracles to appreciate ईश्वर विभूति, every event in creation is the glory of ईश्वर, that I am able to open my mouth and talk is ईश्वर विभूति and that you are able to hear is ईश्वर विभूति, transformation of the world, transformation of my perspective of the world and what is the transformation. Instead of looking the world as a world, I should learn to look at the world as the manifestation of ईश्वर. Just as I don't forget the goldness when I am appreciating different ornaments. I appreciate the beauty of the ornaments but in the back of my mind always gold, gold, gold (will I forget that, I never forget that) is there. Similarly, I should not forget this fact. This transformation कृष्ण wants to bring. Right from the 7th chapter onwards and in the विभूतियोग also, the same idea is continued.

i) And in the first eleven verses, कृष्ण gives the introduction to this idea, this definition of God. And what is the definition? As I said, don't say, God is creator and stop, say that God is the creator and also the material out of which the creation has come and I give you a example, not that I give you, the उपनिषत् gives an example, which I reminded, what is the Upanishadic example: यथोर्णनाभिः सृजते गृह्णते च, just as a spider is the intelligent cause of the web and the spider finds the raw material also in itself, Similarly, ईश्वर is both the परा प्रकृति, the intelligent cause and the अपरा प्रकृति, the material cause and in संस्कृत we use the technical word, अभिन्न निमित्त उपादान कारणम् and कृष्ण said, not only the external world is my manifestation, महर्षयः सप्त पूर्वे चत्वारः मनवः तथा, not only the external world is my manifestation, but also the internal world of thoughts are my manifestation only. Just as during the dream my own mind manifests as the चर-अचर स्वप्न प्रपञ्च, what is the mountain, my own mind is the mountain in the dream, that means I am the mountain, my mind means what: I am the mountain in dream and if somebody is climbing the mountain, I am the climber also and while climbing if I drink water I am the water also. Just as I myself manifest as everything in the dream world, Similarly, the Lord himself is both बाह्य and आन्तर प्रपञ्च. And कृष्ण said those who appreciate this fact is a विराट्

अहम् सर्वस्य प्रभवो मत्तः सर्वं प्रवर्तते ।

इति मत्वा भजन्ते मां बुधा भावसमन्विताः ॥ १०-८॥

मत्त्वित्ता मद्गतप्राणा बोधयन्तः परस्परम् । ॥ १०-९॥

So when the विशाट् भक्त looks at any head, he looks at the head of everyone as the head of the Lord only. All heads are Lord's heads, all hands are Lord's hands, so सहस्रशीर्षा पुरुषः. So सहस्रशीर्षा पुरुषः means what: don't imagine that there is a विष्णु standing there with many heads, सहस्रशीर्षा पुरुषः means all the heads that I see belong to the Lord, all the hands belong to the Lord, all the legs belong to the Lord and therefore anyone I see, my method of greeting is what: not hi, hi. That is not the method of greeting, not shaking the hand, you do all those things for modern days, but our traditional method of greeting is: नमः ते. Your superficial form is different from mine, but behind your form is ईश्वर, behind my form is ईश्वर, forms are many, ईश्वर is one. Therefore I say नमस्कारम् to everyone whatever be the character of the person, how is he, what is his character, I don't know, but whatever be the form, I know that the one behind is ईश्वरः. Therefore मत् चित्ताः मत् गत-प्राणाः, whatever they see they see as God and most importantly, whatever experiences come in their life they never resist, whatever comes comes from the Lord only, मत्तः सर्वम् प्रवर्तते, so painful experiences are God's gift, pleasurable experiences are God's gift, all are God's gift only,

मत् चित्ताः मत् गत-प्राणाः बोधयन्तः परस्परम् ।

Thus in the introduction कृष्ण talked about the विशाट् स्वरूपम् and the विशाट् भक्ति and then कृष्ण also said those people who remain in the विश्वरूप भक्ति after some time they will transcend the विश्वरूपम् also and ultimately come to निर्गुण or अरूप ईश्वरः. So the one who has transcended from एकरूप the one who has come to अनेकरूप, sooner or later, he will come to अरूप ईश्वर, which is beyond all forms and why should we come to अरूप ईश्वर, why can't we stop at अनेकरूप ईश्वर? अनेकरूप ईश्वर is incomplete because, wherever forms are there, there time and space also come. Therefore विश्वरूप ईश्वर is also within time, space and modification and therefore कृष्ण says: I will take you beyond name and form and I will take you to अरूप ईश्वर, which is beyond देश काल, which is called सत् वित् आनन्द स्वरूपम्.

I will give them अरूप ईश्वर ज्ञानम्. So thus कृष्ण introduces विराट् ईश्वर, विराट् भक्ति and also the विराट् भक्तिफलम्.

ii) Thereafter from verse no.12 to 18, अर्जुन presents a request to Lord कृष्ण, because अर्जुन feels that he is not yet ready for अरूप ईश्वरः. Because from एकरूप ईश्वर we can never directly go to the अरूप ईश्वर, it is such a big jump. So between एकरूप ईश्वर (एकरूप ईश्वर means God as a person), between एकरूप ईश्वर and अरूप ईश्वर we all require an intermediary stage, what is that stage, अनेकरूप ईश्वर, we have to learn to appreciate. I have to learn to see the creation as God. And only when I see creation as God, रागः and द्वेषः will become feebler, weaker and weaker, otherwise there will be strong राग-द्वेष and with strong राग-द्वेष one can never come to निर्गुण ईश्वर and therefore how to neutralize राग-द्वेष, everything is the manifestation of the Lord, how can I be attached to something and how can I be averse to something, how can I reject something. Nothing is rejectable in the creation, nothing I hate, hatred as an internal emotion, it does not mean that if there is a cobra you should take the cobra in hand, you can keep safe distance, but mentally I accept that also as an integral part of the creation. So mentally I don't reject anything or hate anything. So thus राग-द्वेष निवृत्तार्थम्, from एकरूप we have to go to अनेकरूप, therefore अर्जुन requests Lord कृष्ण, हे कृष्ण! please give me some more details regarding विश्वरूप ईश्वर or अनेकरूप ईश्वर and also his glories that we find, directly perceived or enumerated in the scriptures and therefore from verse no.12 to 18, we get अर्जुन's request for विश्वरूप ईश्वर वर्णनम् and the विश्वरूप ईश्वर विभूति वर्णनम्, विभूति means what: the glory. And why should अर्जुन asks for the glories of विश्वरूप ईश्वर? अर्जुन himself gives the logic also. I cannot visualize the विश्वरूप with my mind because the विश्वरूप ईश्वर is too vast for me to conceive of. I have got a limited mind and sense organs, that if I see in this direction I cannot see what is here. So with this limited sense organs how can I meditate upon the विश्वरूप, the totality. If I have to worship mother India, where will I put flowers, because it is such a vast country. So what is the best method? When it is too big you invent a symbol, like a flag, a भारतमाता देवी picture and in that form you invoke the entire country and salute. Similarly, अर्जुन wants to take any particular object in the creation as a symbol, symbol means आलम्बनम्, just as we take a piece of शालग्राम to invoke Lord विष्णु, a small flame to invoke देवी, a lump of turmeric powder to invoke गणपति, अर्जुन wants a few आलम्बनम्s, symbols to invoke. And therefore he says:

कथं विद्यामहं योगिंस्त्वां सदा परिचिन्तयन् ।

केषु केषु च भावेषु चिन्त्योऽसि भगवन्मया ॥ १०-१७॥

चिन्त्योऽसि means I can meditate upon you. This was अर्जुन's requests and कृष्ण accepts to fulfill अर्जुन request.

iii) And therefore we get from the 19th verse up to the 41st verse, कृष्ण's enumeration of some of His विभूतिस, विभूति means what: glories. So कृष्ण says any glorious thing in the creation is My glory. Our earth itself is surviving because of Sun, Sun can be taken as a symbol for worship and that is we have done also, daily morning we invoke the Lord in the सूर्य. But if Sun is not there, what to do? Light a lamp, fire is very important for my survival and therefore flame, अग्नि becomes a symbol, वायु becomes a symbol, भूमि becomes a symbol. And why, you take your own body, any organ is a glory of Lord, we can never create any organ, to maintain itself we are struggling with great difficulty, eye is a glory, so in the उपनिषत्s, इन्द्रो ह वै नामैष योऽयं दक्षिणेऽक्षन्पुरुषः ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-२-२ ॥

meditate upon your eye as ईश्वर. In which culture you can see that? Meditation upon your very eye as God, because the glory of the eye the more you think, the more wonderful it is. Thus कृष्ण enumerates a set of विभूतिs, some of the found in the scriptures, some of them found in the creation, I don't want to go into the details again, we have seen that in the class. But in the beginning and end कृष्ण mentions two important ones and what are they, in the beginning He says: the very Consciousness or the very life principle because of which your material body is a sentient one, not like one of the statues of Marina, there are many statues in Marina, but it cannot do anything, crow will be sitting on top of गान्धिजि and dropping, गान्धिजि has a stick and can he not drive the crow away with that stick, he cannot do that. So what makes the difference between that statue and this body? Both are made of chemicals, that is also chemical, this is also chemical, but this chemistry is called bio-chemistry, because of the unique invisible feature called चैतन्यम्, कृष्ण says that चैतन्यम् is the greatest glory of Mine and then at the end कृष्ण says, not only Consciousness is my glory, In fact, the very existence of the world really does not belong to the world, it is lent by Me. Like what, the very existence of the ornament does not belong to the ornament, it belongs to what: gold, how do you prove, remove the gold and try to keep the ornament. So when you say ornament 'is' the very existence comes from gold, when you say desk 'is' the existence comes from the wood, when you say world 'is' the existence come from the basic stuff of the creation called ईश्वर. Thus starting with the चित्, कृष्ण concludes with सत्, all are my glories, but the problem is चित् and सत् are निर्गुण स्वरूपम्, therefore meditating upon निर्गुण चित् is difficult, meditation on निर्गुण सत् is difficult and therefore you can take any सगुण स्वरूपम्. So you can take a river and worship, you can take a cow and worship, you can take anything and meditate upon that as God. And then in conclusion कृष्ण says हे अर्जुन! until now I said I am in the creation in the form of various glories, really speaking, I am not in the creation but the creation is in Me. Gold is not in the ornaments, gold is not in the ornaments, all the ornaments are नाम-रूपs resting on gold, all the ornaments are names and forms resting on one gold. Similarly, God is in the creation, on the other hand, creation is a bunch of names and forms, bunch of names and forms resting on the fundamental cause, that is Me. And if you are not satisfied with these glories, कृष्ण says you can add your own and He gives a clue, how to add to the list,

ततदेवावगच्छ त्वं मम तेजोऽशसम्भवम् ॥ १०-४१॥

Anything wonderful you see that is the glory of the Lord, anything powerful you see it is the glory of the Lord, the atom energy which was not discovered before, now that atom is what: again the glory of the Lord and कृष्ण says these glories can never be exhaustively mentioned because it is inexhaustible, because from the ant onwards everything has got its own glories, birds have its own glories, they say aerodynamics of the bird is never repeatable by any aero plane, even though aero plane is designed based on the bird. Even though we are trying to imitate a bird, they say we are not able to, the aerodynamics of the bird is Similarly, the spiders' web, they are trying to imitate, they have never been able to. Therefore you can take a web and meditate, instead of getting angry with spider. So one भक्त beautifully says:

असितगिरिसमम् स्यात् कज्जलम् सिन्धुपात्रे सुरतरुवर शाखा लेखनी पत्रमुर्वी ।

लिखति यदि ब्रह्मत्वा शारदा सर्वकालम् तदपि तव गुणानाम् ईश पारम् न याति ॥ शिवमहिम्न स्त्रोतम् ॥

So one भक्त beautifully writes, he says: Suppose सरस्वती देवी herself plans to write all the glories of the Lord, सरस्वती (we are only half baked in knowledge, but सरस्वती is the goddess is the learning) plans and what did she do, she took a pen and one pen is not enough, therefore she had hundreds of pens made out of all the heavenly trees, she thought that on earth no deforestation need not be made, she took all the heavenly trees she took, सुरतरुवर शाखा लेखनी, millions of pens she kept and what is the letter pad, local letter pad not enough, उर्वी, she took the entire surface of the earth as the letter pad and then she wanted ink, in those days one has to dip in the ink and write, the entire ocean was emptied and in the place of water, ink was kept and what is the weight of the ink, the weight of the हिमालय, असितगिरिसमम् स्यात्, हिमालय mountain, असितगिरिसमम् स्यात् कज्जलम् सिन्धुपात्रे सुरतरुवर शाखा लेखनी पत्रमुर्वी and सरस्वती started writing the glories of the Lord, when she started, long time back and continuously writing without going to sleep, without eating, लिखति यदि ब्रह्मत्वा शारदा सर्वकालम्, even if सरस्वती देवी keeps on writing all the time, this भक्त says, तदपि तव गुणानाम् ईश पारम् न याति, still सरस्वती will not be able to exhaust your glories. And therefore कृष्ण tells, हे अर्जुन! I cannot exhaust, the time is up and the 10th chapter will never end and therefore I have given you a sample, the rest you can build-up. And having said that I am in the world in the beginning, कृष्ण concluded saying I am not in the world, whereas the world is in Me and this last verse becomes the seed for विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः. So when we say God is in the world, it is called विभूतियोगः, when you say that world is in God, that is called विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः, both we must be able to appreciate. See the water in waves, that is also an appreciation. See all the waves in the water, that is also another form of appreciation. And since the glories of the Lord have been talked about in this chapter, this chapter gets the title विभूतियोगः, the chapter dealing ईश्वर's महिमा.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

अथ एकादशोऽध्यायः । विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः ।

ॐ सदाशिव समारम्भाम् शङ्कराचार्य मध्यमाम् अरमदाचार्य पर्यन्ताम्
वन्दे गुरु परम्पराम् ॐ ॥

Having completed the 10th chapter titled विभूतियोगः, now we are entering the 11th chapter, which is called विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः. And the word योगः coming at the end of every chapter refers to the topic or episode. When we have got a serial in the television they have got episode 1, episode 2, etc. Similarly, in the गीता also, each chapter refers to a topic. So विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः means the episode or topic which deals with विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. विश्वरूपदर्शनम् means the vision of the Lord as विश्वरूप. विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम् विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and विश्वरूप is the name of the Lord. Thus विश्वरूपदर्शनम् योगः means the vision of the Lord as विश्वरूप. What do you mean by the word विश्वरूप? रूप means a form and विश्व means the universe or form, विश्वरूप means विश्वम् एव रूपम् आकारः यस्य विश्वरूप, the Lord whose very form is the universe itself. The Lord whose form is nothing but the very universe itself. So the question is how can one can the दर्शनम् of the Lord in the form of the world, जगत् रूपिणे ईश्वरस्य दर्शनम् कथम् सम्भवति, how can we have the दर्शनम् of the Lord in the form of the world itself? When a devotee wants to have the दर्शनम् of the Lord in राम form or देवी form or in कृष्ण form, what should he do? The scriptures talk about the साधनs for getting राम दर्शनम्, कृष्ण दर्शनम्, देवी दर्शनम्, लक्ष्मी दर्शनम्, the scriptures talk about that. Such a दर्शनम् of the deity is called देवता साक्षात्कारः, the direct vision of the Lord as राम, as कृष्ण or as देवी. And to have such a दर्शनम्, राम दर्शनम्, कृष्ण दर्शनम्, the गणपति दर्शनम्, etc., the scriptures talk about the साधन in the form of तपस्. In the पुराणs, we hear the devotees performing तपस्, तपस् is nothing but concentration or meditation. And what the devotee should do is, he should first decide which दर्शनम् he wants, he has to decide which form. And if it is a particular form, then he has to concentrate on that particular form as described in the respective ध्यान श्लोक and that is how the ध्यान श्लोक becomes very very important, he has to learn that ध्यान श्लोक and he has to concentrate on that particular description.

पुण्योपेतम् पुण्डरीकायताक्षम् विष्णुम् वन्दे सर्वलोकैकनाथम् ॥
पाण्डवगीता ॥

He has to visualize that particular form and generally a मन्त्र is also taught, just as नारद taught मन्त्र to ध्रुव, प्रह्लाद etc. And the devotee has to the पुरश्चरणम् of that मन्त्र, पुरश्चरणम् means what: अक्षर लक्षम् or अक्षर कोटि. What do you mean by अक्षर लक्षम्? You find out how many letters are there in that मन्त्र, if there are six letters then you multiply it with as many lakhs - if it is अष्टाक्षर then 8 lakhs or to be more effective, 8 crores; if it is द्वादश अक्षरम् then 12 lakhs or preferably 12 crores; if it is गायत्री, you had it, 24 letters are there then 24 lakhs or 24 crores. So you do ध्यानम्, you do पुरश्चरणम् as described in the scriptures and if a person follows this kind of तपस्, the शास्त्रs prescribe that the devotee will have the दर्शनम् of the Lord in that particular form. Not that it is a mental projection, but the Lord Himself with His माया शक्ति will give दर्शनम् to the devotee in that particular form. And this exercise is called देवता साक्षात्कारः and we have got the stories of many devotees who had the दर्शनम् of the Lord and who had even talked to the Lord. And this देवता साक्षात्कारः is what? रामरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम् or कृष्ण रूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्, the vision of the Lord as राम, as कृष्ण, as देवी, as दक्षिणामूर्ति, as गणेश, etc. Now the question is: if you want to have the vision of the Lord as the world itself, what to do? If you want to have the vision of the Lord as the world itself, what should you do? You have to invite the Lord to come in the form of what? In the form of what? If you want to have राम रूप ईश्वर रूपदर्शनम्, you have to invite Lord to come in राम form. And if your इष्ट देवता is शिव and you want शिव दर्शनम्, you have to invite the Lord to come in the form of शिव. If you want विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्, you want to have the vision of the Lord in the form of the world and for that what should you do? Should you invite the Lord to come in the form of the world? Should you invite the Lord in the form of the world? What do you feel? If you say you have to invite the Lord to come in the form of world, that means I have not understood the meaning of the word विश्वरूप, this is the most confusing chapter. If I understand the significance of the word विश्वरूप, it means I want to have the दर्शनम् of the Lord in the form of the world and unfortunately I cannot invite the Lord to come in the form of the world, because the Lord is what: already Lord has arrived in the form of world! When? When even before our birth:

वायोरग्निः । अग्नेरापः । अद्भ्यः पृथिवी । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-१ ॥

The Lord in the form of विश्वरूप has already arrived. Now the question is what should I do to have the दर्शनम् of the Lord in the form of the world? What should I do to have the दर्शनम् of the Lord in the form of the world? There is only one answer possible, which you have to understand very clearly. If you want to have the दर्शनम् of the Lord in the form of the world, i.e., विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम् there is only one method and you know what is that method, that method is learning to see the world, learning to see the world in the form of the Lord is the only answer. I should train myself, I should learn to look at the very world as ईश्वर, when I learn to look at the world as ईश्वर then ईश्वर is giving दर्शनम् to me in the form of the world. Therefore विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is possible only by one method, not by पुरश्चरणम्, not by तपस्, not by कोटिरूप अवृत्ति, they are all meant for राम दर्शनम्, कृष्ण दर्शनम्. If you are interested in that you can do पुरश्चरणम्, but if you want विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम् there is only one method, I have to train my mind to look at the very world as the manifestation of the Lord. And how can I train myself and this training is possible only by one method and that method is I should clearly understand and assimilate the teaching, what teaching? That the Lord alone manifests in the form of the world. To put in technical language, Lord alone is the material cause of the universe, Lord alone evolves or manifests to appear as the universe and therefore every appearance obtaining in front of me is different versions of the Lord, just as every ornament is different versions of that one gold alone. Not only I should clearly receive this teaching, I should also assimilate this teaching and only by receiving and assimilating the teaching my perceptive or my vision will change. And this change of perspective or this new perspective that I receive through the teaching is called दिव्य चक्षुः or ज्ञान चक्षुः, the eye of wisdom, the eye of understanding and that understanding is that the Lord alone manifests as everything. And therefore it is not a physical eye, it is not a mystic vision that we are talking about, there is no mysticism involved in the 11th chapter, there is no mystery involved in the 11th chapter, it is only a new perspective that is developed by understanding the teaching which started from the 7th chapter. In the 7th chapter, 9th and 10th chapters, कृष्ण has been trying to give only this understanding. It is like somebody gives you a piece of candy or a piece of लड्डु and you like लड्डु very much. And therefore the moment you receive you are about to straightaway swallow. And that person says that this लड्डु comes from तिरुपति. Now you have got an additional information, which is purely an intellectual appreciation, that this piece of लड्डु is coming from तिरुपति. The moment you get this knowledge suddenly your perceptive changes, it is not a mere लड्डु with sugar and whatever be the material, it has some invisible factor which gives the status of प्रसाद. So this लड्डु enjoys the status of a प्रसाद, which status is not physically visible, but which is appreciated through the eye of understanding, what is the understanding, it is coming from तिरुपति. Now once this third eye which is developed through this understanding contacts the लड्डु, then I see प्रसादम्. And the moment I understand it is प्रसादम्, it doesn't go to the mouth directly, before going to the mouth it has to go to your eyes. How did this difference come about? Can you see the difference chemically, suppose you do chemical analysis, will there be some chemical called प्रसाद? No, it has nothing to do with physicality or material feature, it is something purely अदृष्टम्, which is born of understanding, this is called divinization of the लड्डु and it is brought out by a change in perspective and a change in perspective comes through the understanding or knowledge. Similarly, a नास्तिका also looks at the world, for him the world is a bundle of chemicals or elements or protons & neutrons & electrons in violent motions, that is the world for a नास्तिका. But for a person who has understood the कृष्ण's teaching, the world has got something more which is not scientifically detectable, but it can be only appreciable or appreciable through the eye of understanding. And therefore in the 11th chapter, कृष्ण wants to communicate this idea that if you assimilate this teaching a perspective change will take place, the world will have an extra feature which is non-physical and that feature is that it is divine. And once I learn to look at the very world as divine, I see that God is giving दर्शन all the time. I need not invite Lord to come in front of me as we read in पुराणis, शिव or विष्णु or any deity comes and blesses the devotee, shows the hand, oh भक्त! I am pleased, ask for a boon, invariably they ask for immortality and invariably the Lord says that is not possible, then something else he will ask and the Lord gives that and then:

तत्रैवान्तर्दधे प्रभुः, He came, He left. We don't criticize that दर्शनम्, but कृष्ण says better than that दर्शनम् is, better than this आया राम गया राम दर्शनम् is having the दर्शनम् of the Lord 24 hours,

रसः अहम् अप्सु कौन्तेय प्रभा अस्मि शशि-सूर्ययोः । ॥ ७-८॥

When I drink water, when I see the Sun, when I see the moon, when I am entering the river OK. (no rivers are there now) when I am entering the river or whatever I am doing I have got contact with the Lord which is नित्य ईश्वर सम्बन्ध. And if you want नित्य ईश्वर सम्बन्ध, प्रत्यक्ष ईश्वर सम्बन्ध, an ईश्वर who never comes and comes, but who is ever part of your life you should have विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम् and it is brought out by a change of perspective caused by the assimilation of this teaching. This is the important content of the 11th chapter. So therefore don't imagine विश्वरूपम् is another form of god like राम or कृष्ण and that विश्वरूप will appear for 2 minutes before you and then went away, don't think. विश्वरूप means the Lord available as the world all the time. 'God is in the pillar as well as in speck', 'Even the feather (due to its blackness) of the crow reminds me of you Oh कृष्ण' – A Tamil song, so see the Lord everywhere. This is the background of the important chapter, विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः. With this background, we will enter the chapter proper.

Verse No .01

अर्जुन उवाच ।

मदनुब्रूहाय परमं गुह्यमध्यात्मसंज्ञितम् ।

यत्त्वयोक्तं वचस्तेन मोहोऽयं विगतो मम ॥ ११-१॥

मत् अनुब्रूहाय परमम् गुह्यम् अध्यात्म-संज्ञितम् ।

यत् त्वया उक्तम् वचः तेन मोहः अयम् विगतः मम ॥ ११-१॥

त्वया मत् अनुब्रूहाय अध्यात्म-संज्ञितम् यत् परमम् गुह्यम् वचः उक्तम्, तेन मम अयम् मोहः विगतः ।

In the first eight verses, we get an introduction to this topic of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and it begins with the अर्जुन's summarization and what he has learned in the previous ten chapters. So he wants to summarize, to convey to the teacher that I have been closely listening to you, Oh Lord, I have not slept off. So therefore in two verses, he summarizes ten chapters. In this first verse, अर्जुन summarizes the first 6 chapters or to be precise, the five chapters beginning from the 2nd to the 6th. In the 1st chapter there is nothing to summarize, because the teaching starts from the 2nd only and therefore from the 2nd chapter 11th verse, which is the beginning of the गीता teaching, up to the end of the 6th chapter अर्जुन summarizes. And what is the essence of these five chapters? The essence is जीव स्वरूप वर्णनम्, so description of the essential nature of the individual जीव. And what is the essential nature of the individual जीव? Not the physical body, physical body is only a superficial vesture, if you remember the 2nd chapter,

वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय नवानि गृह्णाति नरोऽपराणि ॥ २-२२॥

The physical body is only a temporary dress which we have taken at the time of birth and which we will have to divest or shed at the time of death. Therefore body cannot be myself. Similarly, the mind also is also a temporary instrument I use in the waking and dream state and which I shed at the time of deep sleep state. Therefore neither body am I nor am I the mind, but I am of the nature of चैतन्यम्, the Consciousness-principle. And do you remember the description of Consciousness I have given.

- Consciousness is not a part, product or property of the body,
- Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body,
- Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body and
- Consciousness survives even after the fall of the body, that eternal all-pervading Consciousness is my nature. कृष्ण gave a brilliant description of this essential nature, in the 2nd chapter from the 12th verse up to verse no.25, He gave the description. Then he talked about that in the 3rd chapter also,

इन्द्रियाणि पराणि आहुः इन्द्रियेभ्यः परम् मनः ।

In the 4th chapter, in the 5th chapter (these are your home work, you can find out where the nature of the जीव is presented in 3, 4, 5 and 6). And अर्जुन says I have understood that well. And he is grateful also. So he says: मत् अनुग्रहाय त्वया वचः उक्तम् - so the teaching was given by you, वचः means the words of wisdom, was given to me, was imparted to me by you and for what purpose: मत् अनुग्रहाय - purely for blessing me, purely for saving me from the problem of sorrow, which was described in the first chapter. What is the title of the first chapter, अर्जुनविषादयोगः, there योगः doesn't mean spiritual साधन. So, sorrow is not a spiritual साधन, because even before we start साधन we are expert in sorrow. Therefore अर्जुनविषादयोगः means episode, it is an episode, the topic of अर्जुन विषाद. So to save अर्जुन, to lift अर्जुन from this sorrow, मत् अनुग्रहाय त्वया वचः उक्तम्. And what type of words they are? अर्जुन gives a description of भगवान्'s words, परमम् वचः - they are the most sacred words, they are supremely valuable words, because they are the words revealing the आत्मा, the reality, वचः परमत्वम् and not only it is the most supreme sacred holy words, गुह्यम् - and they are the greatest secret also which is not easily or ordinarily available in the world. Because such words can come from only ज्ञानि and ज्ञानि themselves are rare in the world,

यतताम् अपि सिद्धानाम् कश्चित् माम् वेति तत्त्वतः ॥ ७-३॥

A few people are interested in becoming a ज्ञानि and even among those few who are interested, actually only a very few become. Therefore ज्ञानि are therefore and therefore ज्ञानि's teachings also are rare, therefore गुह्यम् - most secret. Then अध्यात्म-संज्ञितम् - these words are called spiritual words, so अध्यात्म-संज्ञितम् called spiritual teaching, because it is dealing with the spirit, spiritual means that which deals with Spirit is called spiritual, spirit means not methane alcohol, ethane alcohol, not that, but Spirit is आत्मा. So that which is dealing with Spirit, that which is different from matter. So it is not a material science, but it is a spiritual teaching and by this wonderful teaching, त्वया उक्तम्, मम अयम् मोहः विगतः - my delusion is gone. So you should remember the context of the गीता teaching, अर्जुन surrendered to Lord कृष्ण uttering the words,

कार्पण्य-दोष-उपहत-स्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वाम् धर्म-सम्मूढ-चेताः ।

यत् श्रेयः स्यात् निश्चितम् ब्रूहि तत् मे शिष्यः ते अहम् शाधि माम् त्वाम् प्रपन्नम् ॥ २-७॥

one side my mind says, killing my गुरुs like भीष्म, द्रोण etc., is महापापम्, गुरु हत्या is a महापापम्, on the other side of my mind says that even हिंसा is OK for the protection of धर्म, because भगवान् himself destroys people:

परित्राणाय साधूनाम् विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् । ॥ ४-८॥

So हिंसा is OK - one corner of mind says, हिंसा is not OK - another corner of my mind says; my doubts are getting cleared as I listen to your teaching. Therefore अयम् मम मोहः, मोहः is two-fold,

- i) धर्म-अधर्म मोहः and
- ii) आत्म-अनात्मा मोहः, confusion regarding what is right and what is wrong, ethical conflict and philosophical confusion. And गीता is a unique teaching which is dealing with both the ethical conflict as well as philosophical confusion. Normally the वेदपूर्व भाग is meant to resolve ethical conflict, वेद-अन्त भाग is meant to resolve philosophical confusion. गीता is a unique शास्त्र which deals with ethical conflict as well as philosophical confusion. And therefore अर्जुन says, I am getting clearer and clearer. Having summarized the first six chapters, now अर्जुन wants to summarize the next four chapters, 7, 8, 9 and 10. That comes in the 2nd श्लोक.

Verse No .02

भवाप्ययौ हि भूतानां श्रुतौ विस्तरशो मया ।

त्वतः कमलपत्राक्ष माहात्म्यमपि चाव्ययम् ॥ ११-२॥

भव अपि अयौ हि भूतानाम् श्रुतौ विस्तरशः मया ।

त्वतः कमल-पत्र-अक्ष माहात्म्यम् अपि च अव्ययम् ॥ ११-२॥

हे कमल-पत्र-अक्ष! भूतानाम् भव अपि अयौ मया त्वतः विस्तरशः श्रुतौ हि, अव्ययम् माहात्म्यम् अपि च (श्रुतं) ।

अर्जुन's reverence for Lord कृष्ण is increasing chapter by chapter because of this valuable teaching and अर्जुन had never admired कृष्ण as a teacher, he had moved with कृष्ण and seen several other roles of कृष्ण, but here alone he sees कृष्ण as जगत् गुरुः. And therefore everytime he addressed, he uses beautiful words, कमलपत्राक्ष. So कमल-पत्र means lotus petal, अक्ष means eyes, Oh Lord who is so beautiful with eyes like the lotus petals. So here the description of the external beauty is more to show the inner beauty. Therefore कमल-पत्र means lotus petal, not lotus leaf, lotus leaf is very big, if your eyes are like that everybody will run away, lotus petal is beautiful, so कमल-पत्र. फुल्ल-अरविन्द-आयत-पत्र, there in the introduction I have told you, because it a long time ago so I am reminding you now! So नमोऽस्तु ते व्यास विशाल-बुद्धे फुल्ल-अरविन्द-आयत-पत्र, there पत्र means petal, not newspaper also. So कमल-पत्र-अक्ष, from the 7th chapter up to the 10th chapter You dealt with ईश्वर स्वरूपम्. So from 2nd to 5th it was the जीव स्वरूपम्, the nature of the individual and from 7th to 10th, especially 7, 9 and 10, the 8th chapter is an odd man out chapter, so in these chapters You described ईश्वर स्वरूपम्. And what was the description that you gave or definition that you gave? You defined the Lord as जगत् कारणम्, I knew that the Lord is the cause of the universe. And that too what type of cause? More importantly, Lord as the very material cause of the universe, which means the Lord is the basic stuff out of whom the universe has evolved. And if Lord is the material cause of the universe it means out of the Lord alone the universe has emerged, in the Lord alone the universe rests and back to the Lord alone the universe resolves, सृष्टि स्थिति लयम् कारणम्, उपादान कारणम्. One should remember the technical points, material cause is the cause of सृष्टि स्थिति लयम्, just as ocean is the material cause of the waves. So waves are born out of ocean, rests in the ocean and resolves in to the ocean. Therefore अर्जुन says, भूतानाम् त्वत्तः भव अपि अयौ, भव means उत्पत्तिः, सृष्टिः and अपि अयौ means लयः or प्रलयः. So भव अपि अयौ means सृष्टि and प्रलयम् and we have to supply the third one. When you say सृष्टि, प्रलयम्, what is the balance? स्थिति. Therefore भव अपि अयौ fianlly means सृष्टि स्थिति लय. Of whom? भूतानाम् – all the things and beings, चर-अचरात्मकम् जगत्, this whole creation of things and beings त्वत्तः – is from you alone as the very आधार, as the very आश्रय. That means what? If waves are born out of the ocean and resolves into the ocean, what is the conclusion I get, there are no waves separate from the ocean, in fact, waves is only an additional name given to the very ocean itself, Similarly, the whole creation is like a wave in the ocean of God. शङ्कराचार्य beautiful presents in आत्मबोध,

सर्गस्थितिलयान् यान्ति बुद्बुदानीव वारिणि ॥आत्मबोधः ८॥

So the entire cosmos of several billions of galaxies is nothing but bubbles. So each galaxy can be compared to a small bubble and all these bubbles of galaxies are rising from whom, उपादानेऽखिलाधारे and there are no bubbles separate from ocean. Similarly, there is no creation separate from God or to put in another language, God is in the form of world. I heard very clearly, श्रुतौ. श्रुतौ means this was heard by me, मया श्रुतौ. And how did you teach? विस्तरशः – very elaborately. The Upanishadic teachers are not that patient, they give the सृष्टि and all within only a few मन्त्रs, over, now you can go - they will say. Only a few lines and we are supposed to grasp by that time, otherwise they will send you to some tutorial college, you can go they will say. So the उपनिषत् assumes that the student needs only a crisp teaching, because the Upanishadic students are supposed to be उत्तम अधिकारिः, whereas in the भगवद्गीता अर्जुन represents मध्यम अधिकारि and therefore कृष्ण goes on repeating and therefore अर्जुन says, विस्तरशः, in the 7th chapter what is said He repeats in the 9th chapter, because कृष्ण knows and अर्जुन also knows that by the time we come to the 9th chapter, 7th chapter is forgotten, why 7th even the 8th itself is gone, it is too far away to remember. Therefore He teaches every time as though fresh. (I am not telling about YOU! I know you remember well.) So मया विस्तरशः श्रुतौ त्वत्तः. Not only you taught this, माहात्म्यम् अपि च अव्ययम्, so in the capping 10th chapter, in the culminating 10th chapter You also revealed Your glories, which are strewn or spread all over the universe. If you have to appreciate the glory of the Lord as कृष्ण, then they are particular individual glories which have to be found in the भागवतम् 10th chapter, there you read भगवान् killed this राक्षस or that one and he lifted the गोवर्धन पर्वतम्, etc., they are all particular description attributable to that particular form of Lord and if you want to see राम महिमा, then look in the रामायण; whereas if you want to appreciate विश्वरूप महिमा, which book you have to see, you need not see any book but only open the eyes, it is the विभूति. And therefore this विश्वरूप विभूति is अव्ययम्, अव्ययम् means inexhaustible. So एक रूप ईश्वर महिमा is व्ययम्, exhaustible, whereas विश्वरूप ईश्वर महिमा is अव्ययम्, limitless - that also you talked about in the 10th chapter. Therefore जीव स्वरूपम् has been talked about, ईश्वर स्वरूपम् has been talked about, ईश्वर माहात्म्यम्, माहात्म्यम् means another word for विभूति, विभूति and माहात्म्यम् are synonymous. All of them I have heard very well, I have also understood and what is the proof, my delusion is gone. Not totally, if it is totally gone, saying ॐ तत् सत् we all would have walked out. The very fact that the गीता continues, the 11th chapter comes, then comes the 12th, 13th indicates that the delusion is gone to a great extent, but still some more is there. Only in the 18th chapter it is completely gone, नष्टः मोहः स्मृतिः लब्धा. OK, if the delusion is gone, what is अर्जुन's next request? That he wants to hear hereafter:

पृथिव्या ओषधयः । ओषधीभ्योऽन्नम् । अन्नात्पुरुषाः । तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-१ ॥

Verse No .03

एवमेतद्यथात्थ त्वमात्मानं परमेश्वर ।

द्रष्टुमिच्छामि ते रूपमेश्वरं पुरुषोत्तम ॥ ११-३॥

एवम् एतत् यथा आत्थ त्वम् आत्मानं परमेश्वर ।

द्रष्टुम् इच्छामि ते रूपम् ऐश्वरम् पुरुषोत्तम ॥ ११-३॥

हे परमेश्वर! यथा एवम् त्वम् आत्मानं आत्थ, एतत् हे पुरुषोत्तम! ते ऐश्वरम् रूपम् द्रष्टुम् इच्छामि ।

So in every verse अर्जुन adds one or two words of the Lord's glory. So in the previous verse he said कमलपत्राक्ष, here he adds two words, परमेश्वर and पुरुषोत्तम. परमेश्वर means the supreme Lord, the controller, not only the one who has created the world but the one who sustains the world by maintaining the physical laws of the creation. Therefore परम ईश्वरः स्थिति कारणभूतः You are. And not only that, You are पुरुषोत्तम also, पुरुषोत्तम means the supreme Lord, the greatest Lord, the word पुरुषोत्तम has got a philosophical significance also, which कृष्ण Himself will teach in the 15th chapter, in fact, the entire chapter is titled पुरुषोत्तमयोग. There कृष्ण will point out पुरुषोत्तम is निर्गुण ब्रह्मन्. So those details we will see later, here we will take the simple word, the supreme Lord. Here the interesting thing is परमेश्वर word is generally used for Lord शिव, conventionally, even विष्णु is also परमेश्वर and पुरुषोत्तम is conventionally used for विष्णु, even though शिव is also पुरुषोत्तम, by using both these words व्यासाचार्य wants to make it clear that शिव and विष्णु are one and the same, don't quarrel! You can continue to have विभूति or नामम्, but don't compare and quarrel. So, both words are used. हे कृष्ण! एतत् यथा त्वम् आत्थ एवम् – whatever you are teaching me is perfectly understandable, I have no difficulty in accepting the teaching because it is a systematic teaching, if भगवान् is the cause and world is effect, the logical consequence is what: the effect cannot be separate from the cause, therefore the world cannot be separate from God. It is a very very logical conclusion and if the world is non-separate from God, all the glories of the world should naturally belong to the God, therefore, I have no resistance in accepting this teaching. Therefore यथा त्वम् आत्थ एतत् एवम् एव, एव means OK. So, अर्जुन is giving certificate to कृष्ण as though कृष्ण needs अर्जुन's certificate. Anyway कृष्ण must be smiling. आत्मानम्, here आत्मानम् means what? You are teaching or talking about Yourself. Because description of God means what: description of कृष्ण only, because कृष्ण is the Lord. Therefore what you say about Lord is perfectly acceptable. Then what is my problem? 'but' this is the problem. Everything is fine स्वामिजि, but ...!! That is why chapters should continue. As long as this but comes so long the next chapter, next chapter, continues. You have to say fine without but. So here also अर्जुन says but, what is the but? Now intellectually I am able to understand that the whole world must be divine, why because the whole world is the manifestation of God, therefore there is nothing that is unholy, everything is sacred, everything is holy, everything has to be worshipped. So there is nothing that I can accept and what you call reject, there is no question of dividing the world into acceptable and non-acceptable, because when the whole creation is God, how can I look down upon anything. Therefore if I have thoroughly assimilated this teaching I should be able to look at the world as divine. And if I am able to look at the world as divine I should never develop द्वेष towards anyone. But my problem is what, one side I say everything is God but when I come to interaction there is heavy राग-द्वेष. Therefore there is a discrepancy, a gap between what I know and what I am. My intellectual personality and emotional personality is not well harmonized and therefore You should help me in harmonization. That means what? Whenever I look at this world I should be able to have as much joy as I get in the दर्शनम् of any form of Lord, any temple, any form of Lord I see, what आनन्द I will get that I should have in the appreciation of this creation also, but that is not there. Now tell me, what I should do to bridge this gap? Therefore he asks the question, ते ऐश्वरम् रूपम् द्रष्टुम् इच्छामि – I would like to have the विश्वरूपदर्शनम् when I am interacting with the world. As दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully say, we do not have the sacred-secular division at all in our culture. In many other cultures, sacred means obtaining in one part of the creation i.e., in temple and outside the temple everything is secular, but for a हिन्दु or for a वैदिक there is nothing called secular, everything is sacred. Eating is पूजा, remember we are doing पूजा daily, eating is पूजा, brushing the teeth is पूजा, स्नानम् is पूजा, everything that I do is पूजा and that will come only if I remember that I am always in association with in the presence of the Lord. How can I have that ऐश्वरम् रूपम्, the दर्शनम्, what you call, the सम्पर्क or contact with that विश्वरूप ईश्वर, You should help me. This is अर्जुन's request. The details of which we will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 11, VERSES 04-06

This 11th chapter is dealing with विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्, the vision of the Lord as विश्वरूपम् and we should have a clear understanding about what is ईश्वर दर्शनम्, because in the scriptures ईश्वर दर्शनम् is talked about very often especially in the पुराणs we get the description of the devotees having the दर्शनम् of the Lord. And it is described as a thrilling extraordinary experience for a devotee. It is a fulfilling experience, it is an elevating experience, this is how the scriptures talk about the devotees' ईश्वर दर्शनम्, whether you take पुराणs or रामायणम् or महाभारतम्, we get the description, शबरी waiting for a glimpse of राम for several years and at last राम gives दर्शनम् to शबरी and the trilling experience that she goes through is described. Even त्यागराज sings about “How shall I describe the merit of शबरी” (एन्तनि नी शबरी भाग्यमु, whatever it is I don't know तेलुगु very well). त्यागराज is thrilled when he talks about शबरी's दर्शनम् of राम. And Similarly, we get the description of कृष्ण दर्शनम् by various devotees in the भागवतम्, in all of them it is described as a wonderful almost mystic type of experience. And here we should understand that experience involves two things - whether it is ईश्वर दर्शनम्, the experience of God or for that matter any experience involves two things

- i) One is the object of experience which should be available for me and it is not enough that the object of experience is available but
- ii) We require a subject of experience also, an experiencer who is prepared enough to appreciate the experience.

The importance of preparedness on the part of subject is very very important. Suppose I talk about the Carnatic music of a great musician and I say it is thrilling, fantastic experience. And we arrange the music program of that musician but remember even though the music program is there unless the listener has got some idea about what is Carnatic music, what are the रागs, what are the beauties of a राग if that person does not have the attuned, prepared mind the object of experience is available, but still he does not enjoy the experience, he does not get the impact and that is not because of the lack of object, but it is because of the lack of the sensitization, lack of the preparation on the part of the listener. So generally, we emphasize the object of experience but we do not focus on the importance of the preparedness on the part of the subject of experience. This is not only true with regard to any experience in the world, this is true with regard to ईश्वर दर्शनम् also. When राम gives दर्शनम् to शबरी and other devotees, they enjoy the thrill and happiness and we think that they got ईश्वर दर्शन आनन्द, because राम gave the दर्शनम्, but we forget that it is not राम's contribution alone but it is also the contribution of those devotees who have prepared their mind through साधन. How do you prove this? What is the logic for this? Everything should be logically well founded. Very simple. The very same राम was available for रावण also, the very same राम for whose one minute glimpse शबरी thirsted, craved and she got the दर्शनम् for a limited time only and she was thrilled but the very same राम was available for रावण and what happened to रावण by रामदर्शनम्, what happened, nothing happened. The object is available but there is no prepared mind to get the impact of the दर्शनम्. रावण did not get any impact, there is no question of मोक्ष for रावण, even his mind did not change. राम gave him a final chance also, 'go today & come tomorrow.' You please understand that what you have done is a grave अधर्म, kidnapping somebody else's wife is the gravest sin. रावण could not recognize the sin even after, even after what: राम दर्शनम्. He went back and he was convinced that he is right and again he came back for fighting with राम. That means what: if रामदर्शनम् should give an impact, contribution of राम alone is not enough, for रामदर्शनम् to give the thrill, to give that extraordinary impact there must be preparedness on the part of the person also and if the person is not prepared even God is helpless. Even राम is helpless because even though he gave दर्शनम् nothing happened to रावण. What happened to कंस through कृष्ण दर्शनम्? कंस had कृष्ण दर्शनम् all the time, he never had any impact, he never changed from अधर्म. And we hear the stories of राक्षसs doing तपस् and Lord appearing in front and not only is their mind does not change. Even that ईश्वर दर्शनम् they use for negative purposes. They ask for boons for what purpose, for destroying the people. भस्मासुर you know. What did he do? He again abused ईश्वर दर्शनम्. From this a very very important point should be remembered: for ईश्वर दर्शनम् to be ईश्वर दर्शनम् I should go through tremendous preparation. Without my preparation even if ईश्वर comes right in front of me, nothing will happen. Like the betel nut we will remain the same. In the same way, विश्वरूप ईश्वर has been described in chapters 7, 9, 10 and विश्वरूप ईश्वर is nothing but the Lord in the form of the very universe itself and therefore as I said in the last class, विश्वरूप ईश्वर is available in front of me or not? If you know the meaning of the word विश्वरूप, you should know विश्वरूप is right in front. That is why in the विष्णुसहस्रनाम, what is the first name? विश्वम्, then विष्णु वषट्कारः, the first नाम of the Lord is विश्वम्, विश्वम् means universe, the very universe is ईश्वरस्य रूपम्. Therefore the object of experience viz., विश्वरूप ईश्वर is already available in front of us, but if we do not get the impact of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, if we do not get the thrill of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, the problem is not with the विश्वरूप ईश्वर, He has come and is standing in front of us even before our birth, the Lord as universe is already available even before our birth, but if you don't feel the ईश्वर दर्शनम्, the problem is what: it is not with regard to the availability of ईश्वर, it is because of the non-preparedness of the seeker, the devotee. And that preparedness is nothing but purity of mind, preparedness is nothing but the purity of mind which is the reduction of the षड्रिपुs, काम-क्रोधः, लोभ-मोहः, मद-मात्सर्य, they are the cataract obstructing the vision of the already available Lord. When the cataract of, the obstacle of काम-क्रोधादि impurity, अहङ्कार-ममकारादि impurity, that scale which covers the vision is removed, God need not come, I begin to appreciate the already available विश्वरूपम्. So अर्जुन's problem is that alone. अर्जुन tells the Lord: Oh Lord I have understood very clearly from the 7th, 9th and 10th chapters, that You are the जगत् कारणम् and therefore You alone are manifesting as the world and just as gold, the कारणम् is available in and through all the ornaments, I can understand intellectually that You, the कारणम् are available in and through all the नाम-रूप of this universe, but I don't get the impact of ईश्वर दर्शनम्. And I think that I have not got विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम् at all, even though technically, logically the Lord is available in front. And therefore what must be missing, a prepared mind, an अहङ्कार-ममकार रहित mind and that prepared mind is called the third eye or दिव्य चक्षु. Just as the carnatic music program remaining the same, one person is thrilled by the music, the other person doesn't get any impact, there is no defect in the audibility, hearing is OK, therefore music program is audible, but nothing happens why, to appreciate you should have a musical ear. Similarly, अर्जुन is missing the दिव्य चक्षु which is nothing but mental purity and therefore अर्जुन requests कृष्ण whether he can help in getting the दर्शनम्. Therefore he asks in the third श्लोक, एवम् एतत् यथा आत्थ त्वम् आत्मानम् परमेश्वर, You are describing विश्वरूप not as an extraordinary from elsewhere, but विश्वरूप as what: भूः पादौ यस्य नाभिर्विन्दसुरनिलश्चन्द्र सूर्यो च नेत्रे, the whole universe is विश्वरूप You described, I am able to understand but nothing happens to me when I am looking at the world, in fact, I am getting only more angry with the way things are going and therefore where is the lacunae, where is the defect. Therefore अर्जुन says, ते रूपम् द्रष्टुम् इच्छामि – I would like to see Your रूपम्, which रूपम्: विश्वरूपम्, ऐश्वर्यम् रूपम् हे पुरुषोत्तम! Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing;

मन्यसे यदि तच्छक्यं मया द्रष्टुमिति प्रभो ।

योगेश्वर ततो मे त्वं दर्शयात्मानमव्ययम् ॥ ११-४॥

मन्यसे यदि तत् शक्यम् मया द्रष्टुम् इति प्रभो ।

योगेश्वर ततः मे त्वम् दर्शय आत्मानम् अव्ययम् ॥ ११-४॥

हे योगेश्वर प्रभो! मया तत् द्रष्टुम् शक्यम् इति त्वम् यदि मन्यसे, ततः मे अव्ययम् आत्मानम् दर्शय ।

So we have seen the object of perception is available, विश्वरूप and still if I don't see then the defect must be only in the observer. There must be some problem with me, that is why I don't feel divinity when I experience the world. And therefore हे कृष्ण! is it possible for me at all to have that divinity or विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, तत् द्रष्टुम् शक्यम् यदि मन्यसे – suppose you think that You can prepare me to have the दर्शन You please help me. Because normally purity of mind can never be brought out overnight. It is a tedious time consuming process which requires a lot of कर्मयोग, a lot of उपासना, it is not a revolutionary process but it is an evolution, gradual transformation. You cannot suddenly do that. And therefore अर्जुन asks, do I have any temporary method by which I will get a pure mind for the glimpse of विश्वरूप? Therefore he asks यदि तत् शक्यम् मन्यसे – if You think it is possible for me, हे योगेश्वर! So अर्जुन addresses कृष्ण properly. योगेश्वर means the Lord of miraculous powers, so You use your miraculous powers and temporarily remove the scales of impurity, the cover of impurity you remove from my eyes or mind and let me enjoy the विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. So हे योगेश्वर! ततः – then, मे आत्मानम् दर्शय – may You show the विश्वरूपम् to me. Here also we should be very careful, he says may You show the विश्वरूपम् really speaking there is no question of showing the विश्वरूपम् because विश्वरूपम् is available right in front. Therefore showing the विश्वरूप is nothing but, may You temporarily remove the obstacles of my eyes, so दर्शय आत्मानम्, आत्मानम् here means Yourself, reflexive pronoun, अव्ययम्, अव्ययम् means the form, the inexhaustible form, because विश्वरूप does not have एकरूपम्, but विश्वरूप is अनेकरूप ईश्वर and since the विश्वरूप ईश्वर has infinite forms, inexhaustible number of forms, अर्जुन uses the word अव्ययम् रूपम्. May You show. Continuing;

हे गुडाकेश! कृत्स्नम् सचर-अचरम् जगत्, यत् अन्यत् च द्रष्टुम् इच्छसि, (तत् अपि) इह मम देहे एकस्थम् अद्य पश्य ।

Even though विश्वरूप is right in front of me, if I should get the impact of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् I should have prepared the mind, which I called दिव्य चक्षु or purification and purification is a very slow and gradual process. It involves a long religious life and it also involves following धर्म or values of life. If devotion and values are not there, for such a mind the benefit of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् will not be available. But even though it is a gradual and time consuming process, अर्जुन was lucky enough because he had the Lord, कृष्ण अवतार in front of him and therefore he makes a request for a temporary purification of the mind. But the problem is when by a miraculous process we get the purification of mind it will be only temporary. It is like a person living with external support system, like dialysis machine, ventilator, heart purifier, it is an externally aided living, it cannot last long. Similarly, by the power of miracle, by the grace of the महात्मा or Lord, a person can get a temporary purification and get the impact of विश्वरूप, but it will be only temporary and we find अर्जुन getting that temporary benefit. And not only that since that purification of the mind is artificial, even the benefit is not fully appreciated. When it is an artificial process, that is भगवान् aided artificial purification the full impact is not gained. That is why we will find in the 11th chapter, अर्जुन gets the thrill initially, but later, अर्जुन is not at all happy with विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. Everyone says अर्जुन is lucky enough to get विश्वरूपदर्शनम् but अर्जुन himself is not able to withstand the impact and therefore at the end of this chapter, अर्जुन says: हे कृष्ण! विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is wonderful, but I don't want. So therefore when it is an artificial thing, first of all it will be temporarily, secondly it cannot be an assimilable experience. Only when we work hard and purify the mind then alone विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is permanent and we are able to take that विश्वरूपदर्शनम् also. However, because of अर्जुन's request, कृष्ण accepts and says that I am going to help you in getting the विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. As in 3D movies, 3D effect means they give you a special goggle, they say it has come, I have not seen it, 'My Dear Kuttichathan', I don't know whether anyone has seen, whatever it is, just as we require special goggle for that 3D effect, for विश्वरूप effect we require a special goggle called purification which is called दिव्य चक्षुः. कृष्ण says, I am blessing you with that and with that you will see what: पश्य मे पार्थ रूपाणि – अर्जुन may you see varieties of My form and colors, शतशः अथ सहस्रशः – in hundreds and in thousands, नाना-विधानि – which are all varieties, varied in nature, i.e., different colors and different forms and they are all दिव्यानि, दिव्य means divine, belonging to the Lord and the नाना-वर्ण-आकृतीनि च – with different shapes and colors. And here also we should carefully understand. When कृष्ण says may you see the विश्वरूप with varieties of colors and forms, what are we to understand? It is not that a particular god named विश्वरूप appeared with varieties of colors like in होति, like that it is not a particular form that appeared, but what does it mean, you have to learn to look at all the forms and colors of the universe as the beautiful colors of the विश्वरूप itself. Therefore different colors of the sun and moon they are all nothing but ईश्वर वर्ण, just as different forms of ornaments belong to whom: what we call the form of bangle, it is not at all the form belonging to the bangle but it is the form belonging to the gold only. So what I saw as bangle previously, because of my change in attitude I see as gold only. Similarly, when I see varieties of colors, असौ अरुण उत बभ्रुः सुमङ्गलः । ॥ श्रीरुद्रप्रश्नः १-७ ॥

So श्रीरुद्रम् describes Lord शिव with various hues and colors and what are different colors, ताम्रः, अरुणः, बभ्रुः, सुमङ्गलः. These are not the new colors that Lord शिव shows, but they are the colors of the Sun when it is rising. Because श्रीरुद्रम् says that all the early morning cowherd boys and girls who get up early in the morning, because others don't wake up and get up usually at 8 o'clock only and don't know that there is something called sunrise, उतैनं गोपा अदृशन्नदृशन्नुदहार्यः. This विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is available for गोपाः, cowherds boys, what does it mean, when they come out they see the rising Sun, which is red, thereafter it becomes golden, then it becomes slightly yellow, then it becomes white, they are not the colors of the Sun, but they are all the colors of the विश्वरूप शिव. The entire रुद्रम् is the description of विश्वरूप शिव. And it talks about the colors of the leaves, dry leaves and not so dry leaves and the green color, all of them are what: Lord शिव's color. हरिकेशायोपवीतिने पुष्टानाम् पतये नमो नमः, हरिकेशाय, the Lord with green hair. What do you mean green hair? We know different colors of hair, we know the black one, we know the white one and sometimes you dye and it becomes brown, so brown hair we know or in the west and all different other colors. Have you ever seen green hair, what do you mean by green hair of Lord शिव? It is nothing but all the leaves in the trees are Lord's शिव's hairs. So when I am seeing a forest or green tree my mind should appreciate it as विश्वरूप ईश्वर only. Therefore different colors are not new colors, but the old colors seen in different attitude. I gave you the example, you remember, when the लड्डु comes in your hands you only see the taste of it, straightaway you put it into your mouth, but before you put when somebody says that it is from तिरुपति, there is no change in the physical लड्डु, but it becomes divine and the divinity is not physically seen, it is appreciated by the mind which has got devotion. And therefore नाना-वर्णानि, when I look at all of you with different colors of dress, what I am seeing, नाना-वर्ण-आकृतीनि, wherever you see विश्वरूप, विश्वरूप has got how many heads, सहस्रशीर्षा पुरुषः. We think that one शिव or विष्णु will stand and 100s of heads will be standing side by side. No, it is not one body with hundreds or thousands of heads hanging, it is all the heads of the people are the heads of Lord, that is विश्वरूप. Therefore नाना-विधानि दिव्यानि नाना-वर्ण-आकृतीनि च. And पश्य आदित्यान् वसून् रुद्रान् अश्विनौ मरुताः तथा – and varieties of देवताs are in the creation in the form of various natural forces; every देवता represents one one natural phenomenon only. So पश्य आदित्यान् वसून् रुद्रान्, the अष्ट वसुs, 8 वसुs are said in the scriptures. We symbolize them as various देवताs with different forms, but in बृहदारण्यक a question is asked, what are the वसुs?

And बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् says:

अग्निश्च पृथिवी च वायुश्चान्तरिक्षम् चादित्यश्च द्यौश्च चन्द्रमाश्च नक्षत्राणि चैते वसव ... । ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ३-९-३ ॥

what are the eight वसुs? The eight natural principles you can understand, अग्निः च पृथिवी च, अग्नि तत्त्वम् & पृथिवी तत्त्वम्, and अन्तरिक्षम् च वायुश्च, अन्तरिक्षम् – intermediary लोक, आदित्यः च द्यौः च – the Sun and the upper heavens, and चन्द्रमाः च नक्षत्राणि च – the moon and the stars are the eight वसुs. And therefore कृष्ण says, may you see the eight वसुs in my विश्वरूपम्, so पश्य वसून्. And then आदित्यान्, what are the twelve आदित्यs? They are nothing but the Sun god obtaining in the 12 months of the year,

द्वादश वै मासाः संवत्सरस्य ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ३-९-७ ॥

द्वादश वै मासाः संवत्सरस्य एत आदित्याः. So this Sun god obtaining in 12 months, why we describe the Sun in 12 months? In each month the Sun God has got different power, the Sun of May and the Sun of January, there is a difference, they are the द्वादश आदित्य देवताs. May you see the आदित्यs, may you see the वसुs and may you see the रुद्रs, एकादश रुद्रs, बृहदारण्यक the question is asked, कतमे रुद्रा इति and बृहदारण्यक answers,

दशमे पुरुषे प्राणाः । आत्मैकादशः । ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ३-९-४ ॥

the ten sense organs along with the mind are called the रुद्र देवताs and all of them belong to whom, the विश्वरूप ईश्वर only. Therefore may you appreciate the आदित्यs, may you appreciate the वसुs, may you appreciate the रुद्रs, may you appreciate the अश्विनीकुमारs, अश्विनीकुमारs are the one presiding over the प्राण. So that principle and मरुताः तथा – the मरुतः देवs which are different forms of वायु, therefore may you see all the देवताs in the विश्वरूप of mine. And all of them are अष्ट-पूर्वाणि – which you have never noticed before, because where is the time for us to stand and stare, we are so busy with our personal life, our street, our wife, our husband, our children, that we never appreciate the विश्वरूपम्. Therefore अष्ट-पूर्वाणि, बहूनि and each one is a wonder, Sun is a wonder, rain is a wonder, which God alone can do, we are caught up and suffer you know, we can never create rain. They talk about artificial rain by putting silver iodite crystal, you can bring artificial rains. So I thought it is very great that scientists are able to produce the rain. They see you can produce the rain through silver iodite crystal if there are clouds, how is it, who will give the clouds? Will we take in aero plane from somewhere and bring it about above us and by using the sprinklers will rain pours? Half an hour what God gave we can never replace and therefore rain is a wonder, earth is a wonder, Sun is a wonder, anything you take it is a wonder which is the glory of the Lord. May you see that, temporarily drop your day-to-day business, temporarily keep your cell-phone somewhere. After its coming there is no time for anything, so wherever you go drop it and just watch the universe, therefore पश्य आश्चर्याणि भारत,

मम देहे गुडाकेश यच्चान्यद् द्रष्टुमिच्छसि ॥ ११-७॥

So इह – in Me the विश्वरूप ईश्वर, whose body is the very sky itself. Yesterday if you remember, आकाश शरीरम् ब्रह्म, the ईश्वर's body is the very आकाश itself, in the sky which is My body, कृत्स्नम् जगत् पश्य – see the entire universe,

अन्तःस्थम् यस्य विश्वम् सुरनरखगगोभोगिनन्धर्वदैत्यैः ... । ॥ श्रीविष्णुसहस्रनामस्तोत्रम् ॥

And that alone is symbolized in the पुराणs, when यशोदा asked कृष्ण to open the mouth she saw the whole universe and she is not able to withstand that, it requires preparation. Because she took कृष्ण as her baby, then when she saw all the fourteen लोकs, she said shut up, double meaning, OK, shut up. Therefore what does it mean, do you think that in the small mouth so many लोकs are floating like the tablets. It is a symbolism, कृष्ण represents the vast sky, vast sky is blue, Lord कृष्ण is blue, नीलमेघ श्यामल. What do you mean by blue color? Can you imagine anybody with blue skin? We have got blacks, we have got whites, we have got yellows, they say of four races and we have got inbetween one like us brown. Have you ever heard of blue Lord? What does it mean? we talk about green hair शिव, like that blue Lord कृष्ण means what: the vast blue sky is the form of Lord कृष्ण and all galaxies are floating in Him and therefore इह एकस्थम् – in Me, कृत्स्नम् जगत् – the entire universe, अद्य पश्य – and see the vastness of the universe and then alone you will understand the vastness of My body, because the whole universe is contained within My body. Last week or so some student, I don't remember who that student is, gave a cutting. So I just read through it, it is a very interesting write up. I will read only the first para of that. This is the description of the universe विश्वरूप वर्णनम्: “Awe stultifies.” So when we visualize the universe it is only wonder, thrill; he is a scientist, he is not a भक्त and all. Just a scientist (Peter Atkins). “Think of the universe as a puff of dust about a metre in diameter.” He says visualize a puff of dust which is one meter diameter, OK. About a meter in diameter. “Every dust grain,” in one meter how many grains will be there? “Every dust grain is a galaxy.” He says it is a galaxy, you know what is a galaxy? Galaxy is a cluster of stars which is millions of light years in distance. And you know what is a light year? It is the distance travelled by light in one year. And do you know what is the distance travelled by light in one second? Three lakhs kilometers, not miles, 3 lakhs kilometers in one second, so in one year, go and calculate and then like that so many light years is the distance of one galaxy, like that billions of galaxies are there, imagine that is a dust. “We live near a rather ordinary star” among millions of galaxies there is one galaxy called milky way and in milky way there are millions of stars and our Sun is one ordinary star, “which is a member of a rather ordinary galaxy somewhere insignificant in the puff of dust. Every night we are shown that the universe had a beginning, but most of us simply regret, use, or enjoy the dark without perceiving that it brings knowledge. If you are willing to learn from darkness,” he says, “even though so many stars are there, between the stars there is a vast emptiness is there. Then what must be the size of the universe which accommodates all these galaxies and stars? And this universe with vast emptiness and galaxies is accommodated in space.” So what must be size of the space and that space is the size of the Lord. Mediate upon it and see.

ईश्वर दर्शनम्, the vision of the Lord, requires two types of eyes. One is the regular, ordinary eye – the लौकिक चक्षुः and the other one, which is the more important one is a prepared mind; a purified mind, a mature mind, an informed mind, a religious mind is also equally important which is the second invisible eye, which is figuratively presented as the third eye and in the गीता 11th chapter it is called दिव्य चक्षुः. Therefore remember, दिव्य चक्षुः means the refined mind which is not a physical thing. Only when लौकिक चक्षुः and the दिव्य चक्षुः join together ईश्वर दर्शनम् is possible. If लौकिक चक्षुः is alone there without the दिव्य चक्षुः then ईश्वर दर्शनम् cannot take place. I gave you the example, even though राम was physically available for शबरी's लौकिक चक्षुः and रावण's लौकिक चक्षुः. So शबरी also could see राम with her eyes, रावण also could see राम with his eyes, but you know the difference in impact. For शबरी it was a great divine vision, which gave her a thrill whereas in the case of रावण nothing happens, even his character did not undergo any change. For रावण the physical दर्शनम् of राम was not at all different from any other physical दर्शनम्, including कुम्भकर्ण; for him, कुम्भकर्ण दर्शनम् and राम दर्शनम् was identical. Therefore what makes the difference? What makes the difference in the impact if you ask, there is nothing to do with the physical eyes because they are common to both, the only difference can be शबरी had worked on her inner eye called दिव्य चक्षुः, which रावण has not done. If you extend the same principle, Lord's विश्वरूप, Lord's universal form is available for all the people and it is available for लौकिक चक्षुः, with the physical eyes we are seeing the Lord who is in the form of the universe: भूः पादौ यस्य नाभिर्विदसुरनिलश्चन्द्र सूर्यौ च नेत्रे. Therefore our लौकिक चक्षुः is functioning, ईश्वर शरीरम् as विश्वरूप is available but even though the physical vision of विश्वरूप is available, all the people do not get the same impact. Eyes remaining the same, all the people do not get the same impact, most of the people do not feel that they are having ईश्वर दर्शनम् when they look around. ईश्वर दर्शनम्! I am only seeing plants and trees around. So if I don't feel like having ईश्वर दर्शनम्, the defect cannot be in लौकिक चक्षुः because it is already there, therefore the defect by पारिशेष न्याय, the defect can exist only in दिव्य चक्षुः, which is nothing but a refined mind. And as I said, refined mind can be defined in several ways, one of the ways is: कामक्रोधादि रहितम् मनः or you can say रागद्वेषादि रहितम् मनः or you can say अहङ्कार ममकारादि रहितम् मनः, a refined mind can be defined. And therefore Lord कृष्ण says, अर्जुन विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is the easiest thing because यम कृष्ण etc., they have to come and give you दर्शनम्, whereas विश्वरूप ईश्वर need not come, I am right in front of you, therefore you have no difficulty in seeing Me. He said इह एकस्थम् (the 7th verse which I said in the last class) इह एकस्थम्, so here in My body. What is the body? Not कृष्ण शरीरम्; but the entire universe, आकाश शरीरम् ब्रह्म. So I as the आकाश, having the आकाश as the body, am available in front of you and the whole creation is my शरीरम् alone you can see, इह एकस्थम् (एकस्मिन् आकाशरूपे शरीरम् स्थितम् एकस्थम्) कृत्स्नम् जगत् पश्य, you see the विश्वरूप right in front of you and what type of विश्वरूप, सचर-अचरम्, consisting of चरम् and अचरम्, चरम् means the moving objects and अचरम् means the non-moving, the स्थावर जङ्गमम्, all the inert things are called अचरम्; all the living beings are called चरम्,

अन्तःस्थम् यस्य विश्वम् सुरनरखगगोभोगिनन्धर्वदैत्यैः चित्रम् रंरम्यते तम् त्रिभुवन वपुषम् विष्णुमीशम् नमामि ॥ श्रीविष्णुसहस्रनामस्तोत्रम् २॥

वपुष् means शरीरम्. What is the body of the Lord? त्रिभुवनम्, the whole universe, भूलोक, भुवर्लोक, सुवर्लोक, so that you can see right in front of you, मम देहे – not कृष्ण देहे but आकाश देहे, विश्वरूप देहे, पश्य – may you see हे अर्जुन, गुडाकेशः. गुडाकेशः means सत्त्वगुण प्रधानः. अर्जुन you can, it only requires some refinement, polishing, it is possible for you. And not only you can see all these things, यत् च अन्यत् द्रष्टुम् इच्छसि – whatever else you want to see you can see in Me because everything has to rest in the body of the Lord only. So thus कृष्ण, कृष्ण offers to cooperate with अर्जुन for giving विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. Continuing;

न तु मां शक्यसे द्रष्टुमनेनैव स्वचक्षुषा ।

दिव्यं ददामि ते चक्षुः पश्य मे योगमैश्वरम् ॥ ११-८॥

न तु माम् शक्यसे द्रष्टुम् अनेन एव स्व-चक्षुषा ।

दिव्यम् ददामि ते चक्षुः पश्य मे योगम् ऐश्वरम् ॥ ११-८॥

अनेन एव स्व-चक्षुषा तु माम् द्रष्टुम् न शक्यसे, (अत एव) दिव्यम् चक्षुः ते ददामि, मे ऐश्वरम् योगम् पश्य ।

So herein कृष्ण introduces the requirement of two types of चक्षुः, two types of eyes, one is लौकिक चक्षुः, another is दिव्य चक्षुः and therefore कृष्ण warns, He tells अर्जुन, you cannot have ईश्वर दर्शनम् with the help of mere physical eyes, अनेन स्व-चक्षुषा, स्व-चक्षुस् means what लौकिक चक्षुः, the मांस चक्षुः, with the help of that माम् द्रष्टुम् न शक्यसे you will not see Me, even if you see Me you will not have the impact, remember the example, just as रावण didn't have any sense of ईश्वर दर्शनम् or fulfillment when he saw राम, when कंस saw कृष्ण nothing happened to him. So therefore स्व-चक्षुषा माम् द्रष्टुम् न शक्यसे, therefore you require an invisible eye. In fact, some people even interpret the तिलकम् as symbolic of the दिव्य चक्षुः. Different significances are given for तिलकम्, one significance given is the third eye of prepared mind, proper भावना, proper attitude, भावना चक्षुः. Therefore that eye is also required, it is like a tourist going to a temple with a camera and taking the pictures of various idols, for him and not Lord, various idols and he talks about the art and he asks the question whether it is AD or BC. If it is BC a few more pictures he will take, perhaps he may buy paying millions of rupees also, and he may exhibit also. There he can see only the age, the art, the metal, but he cannot never fold his hands, he can never do साष्टाङ्ग नमस्कार, he can never do this when the दिपाराधन is done. What makes that difference? How many of us really know what is the age of various idols in कपाली temple or पार्थसारथि temple or रत्नगिरीश्वर temple? They are all material work which we are not bothered, our eyes penetrate the superficial rock and see the Lord who has been invoked and worshipped and that eye is the भावना. We have to be born in India or we have to be exposed to this culture to do साष्टाङ्ग नमस्कार to a dead stone, to do नमस्कार to a lifeless stone and if somebody has to receive ash, which has no worth at all and applying ash on the forehead and even putting into the mouth without knowing how it is prepared, (now it is said that the ash is prepared using so many chemicals). So really speaking we are not even sure whether the ash is hygienically prepared, nothing a devotee cares, विभूति comes we don't even call it ash, विभूति comes, it goes to the forehead and for many people it goes to the mouth and many people preserve it to carry it home and also apply on their children's head and what is the worth of the ash, nothing, but it is your भावना चक्षुः, which is seeing more in the ash, which no chemical analysis will reveal. You test the ash in any lab in the world, it cannot never reveal its worth and what is that worth, it is a worth which can be seen only by दिव्य चक्षुः and therefore कृष्ण says विश्वरूपदर्शनम् requires दिव्य चक्षुः, to do नमस्कारम् to rivers requires दिव्य चक्षुः, to do the प्रोक्षणम् of the river water requires दिव्य चक्षुः, to do नमस्कारम् to the mountains requires दिव्य चक्षुः, without that it is not possible and अर्जुन I shall bless you with that दिव्य चक्षुः and once that attitudinal change comes, पश्य मे योगम् ऐश्वरम् and then relook the same world in front of you and what you see is मम ऐश्वरम् योगम् – you see my divine glory. Even पञ्च महा भूतs become Lord शिव, you will call it आकाश- लिङ्गम् as is worshipped in चिदम्बरम्, we will call it वायु-लिङ्गम् as is worshipped in कालहस्ति, it is called अग्नि-लिङ्गम् fire becomes Lord शिव as in तिरुवन्नामलै, water becomes God as जम्बूकेश्वरम् in तिरुवनैकवल and earth becomes God as एकाम्बेश्वर in काञ्चीपुरम्. And initially you worship the पञ्च भूतs only in those respective temples, but that is not enough, later I should see the same divinity in the पञ्च भूतs all over and the day I can revere the पञ्च भूतs then the products of the पञ्च भूतs, viz., the पाञ्च भौतिक प्रपञ्च, they are all divine for me. In fact, I can never go away from the Lord, where is the question of going near God. So for a विश्वरूप दर्शि going near God is a meaningless proposition, because there is no question of going away from God. अण्डाडम्बुलु पिण्डाडम्बुलु ब्रह्माण्डम्बुलु सर्वम् अन्ताराम मयम्, everything is राम मयम्, कृष्ण मयम्, शिव मयम्, some मयम्, भगवान् मयम्. Without that, it is all माया, only माया. Therefore, see विश्वरूप with this दिव्य चक्षुः which I am blessing. Now you have to imagine there is a silence, because कृष्ण is blessing अर्जुन with दिव्य चक्षुः. If it is a TV program, they will show कृष्ण's hand and from the hand a light will pass, and it will directly go into the face of अर्जुन and lot of background music, dun dun dun (some loud noise) because something miraculous and mysterious is taking place and also the pictures also they also show round and round, we can do all that with camera tricks and in अर्जुन's face sweat also is coming, you can imagine all kinds of things, so when there is the silence, कृष्ण doesn't speak, He is blessing through the hand, अर्जुन doesn't speak because he is receiving the mystic eye, therefore there is silence and therefore सञ्जय comes and tells something, (if everyone keeps quiet, what to do), therefore सञ्जय comes and fills up the blank, what is happening at that time,

सञ्जय उवाच ।

एवमुक्त्वा ततो राजन्महायोगेश्वरो हरिः ।

दर्शयामास पार्थाय परमं रूपमैश्वरम् ॥ ११-९॥

एवम् उक्त्वा ततः राजन् महा-योग-ईश्वरः हरिः ।

दर्शयामास पार्थाय परमम् रूपम् ऐश्वरम् ॥ ११-९॥

हे राजन्! एवम् उक्त्वा, ततः महा-योग-ईश्वरः हरिः पार्थाय परमम् ऐश्वर्यम् रूपम् दर्शयामास ।

So what happened during those silent moments, सञ्जय describes, सञ्जय उवाच, हे राजन्! Oh King. Whom is he addressing? सञ्जय is talking to धृतराष्ट्र you should remember. So oh King धृतराष्ट्र, हरिः एवम् उक्त्वा – Lord कृष्ण who is none other than Lord विष्णु, the विश्वरूप ईश्वर, that विष्णु, he uses the word हरिः instead of कृष्ण to indicate that he is none other than Lord विष्णु Himself and not only that the word हरिः is also a significant word,

हरिर्हरति पापानि दुष्टचित्तैरपि स्मृतः ।

अनिच्छयाऽपि संस्पृष्टो दहत्येव हि पावकः ॥ प्रह्लादकृतम् श्रीहर्यष्टकम् ॥

हरिः पापानि हरति, Lord विष्णु is called हरि becomes, the root √ह, हरति means to suck, to absorb, to withdraw all the पापम्s from the devotees mind; it is because of the impurities I don't see the divinity in front of me, only I have to remove that तिमिरम्, अज्ञान तिमिरम्, राग द्वेष तिमिरम् Lord विष्णु absorbs, therefore he is called हरिः. And what type of विष्णु He is? महा-योग-ईश्वरः – the one who has got great powers of purification. Normally purification is a very long process, it requires years of कर्मयोग, it requires years of पञ्च महा यज्ञाः. I hope you remember पञ्च महा यज्ञाः (do you still remember that). So years of पञ्च महा यज्ञाः is required to refine the mind, but Lord कृष्ण being a lord of miraculous powers, what could be achieved by elaborate and time consuming strenuous साधनंs Lord कृष्ण simply removed, but as I said, it is only a temporary gift given, just to show the value of अन्तःकरण शुद्धि, the benefit of अन्तःकरण शुद्धि, it is a trial, when they have certain machines and all, they will tell you take it and use and see and if it doesn't work your money will be returned, like that कृष्ण wants to temporarily give that refinement and see the benefit of looking at विश्वरूप. And therefore महा-योग-ईश्वरः हरिः एवम् उक्त्वा – addressed अर्जुन in this fashion, in this manner. In which manner? As said in the previous verses. What did He say in the previous verses? लौकिक चक्षु is not enough, you require दिव्य चक्षु which is mental purity, having said that: परमम् ऐश्वरम् रूपम् दर्शयामास – thereafter Lord कृष्ण showed this विश्वरूपम्. So ऐश्वरम् रूपम् means the body, the form of the Lord, ऐश्वरम् means ईश्वरस्य इदम् ऐश्वरम्, that which belongs to भगवान् is ऐश्वरम्. So ऐश्वरम् रूपम्, ईश्वर रूपम् दर्शयामास – He showed. And what type of ईश्वर रूपम्? परमम् – which is the greatest रूपम् and why do you say विश्वरूपम् is the greatest one, because all the other रूपम्s are finite in nature, whether it is राम रूपम्, कृष्ण रूपम्, देव रूपम्, गणेश रूपम्, they are all finite and all of them are mutually exclusive, if राम रूपम् comes then कृष्ण रूपम् has to disappear, if कृष्ण रूपम् comes then गणेश रूपम् has to disappear, they are finite, they are mutually exclusive. That means what: one displaces the other and finally, they are subject to arrival and departure, this is all रामकृष्णादि देवता रूपम्, whereas विश्वरूपम् is the most unique one, because

- i) it is all-pervading and
- ii) secondly it need not exclude any form, विश्वरूप includes राम रूपम्, includes कृष्ण रूपम्, शिव रूपम्, all the possible रूपम्s are included in विश्वरूपम्, therefore it is all inclusive and
- iii) finally विश्वरूपम् is not subject to arrival and departure, because it is right in front of me.

That is why even in सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, we are learning to practice

ॐ प्रात्त्यै दिशे नमः ॐ दक्षिणायै दिशे नमः ॐ प्रतीत्यै दिशे नमः ॐ उदीत्यै दिशे नमः

नमस्कारम् to the east, नमस्कारम् to the west, नमस्कारम् to the north, नमस्कारम् to the south,

ॐ ऊर्ध्वाय नमः ॐ अधराय नमः ॐ अन्तरिक्षाय नमः ... ।

so नमस्कारम् to the top, नमस्कारम् to the bottom, why do we do नमस्कारम् in all directions, because in other religions Lord may be in one place therefore always one should be looking at that direction, for us भगवान् being everywhere I do नमस्कारम् all over. These are all the training given right from our young age. In fact, all our trainings are meant for seeing the world itself as God. This is the culmination in व्यवहारिक ईश्वर दर्शनम्, not पारमार्थिकम्. In व्यवहारिक ईश्वर दर्शनम्, in the relative appreciation of the Lord the highest vision is to learning to see the very universe as the Lord. So our culture is oriented, is to give us the orientation and therefore परमम् ऐश्वर्यम् रूपम् दर्शयामास, to whom? पार्थाय, पार्थाय means अर्जुनाय. Continuing;

Verse No .10

अनेकवक्त्रनयनमनेकाद्भुतदर्शनम् ।

अनेकदिव्याभरणं दिव्यानेकोद्यतायुधम् ॥ ११-१०॥

अनेक-वक्त्र-नयनम् अनेक-अद्भुत-दर्शनम् ।

अनेक-दिव्य-आभरणम् दिव्य-अनेक-उद्यत-आयुधम् ॥ ११-१०॥

अनेक-वक्त्र-नयनम्, अनेक-अद्भुत-दर्शनम्, अनेक-दिव्य-आभरणम्, दिव्य-अनेक-उद्यत-आयुधम्,

So we get सञ्जय's description of विश्वरूप, सञ्जय describes and from this we come to know that सञ्जय also is getting विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, because of association with all, he also is getting. वक्त्रम् has two meanings: one is face, another is mouth, many faces and many mouths and नयनम् means many eyes. How are we to understand the Lord with many eyes, does it mean that eyes are sticking all over and if mouths are all over, how eyes will be all over? Therefore don't imagine a form with countless eyes and ears, अनेक-वक्त्रम् means what: अर्जुन learns to see all the mouths of all the people as the mouth of the Lord and suppose you say No No No, it is my mouth, that is called अहङ्कार, that is the problem, where is the question of my mouth when I myself am not there, because there is no individual separate from totality, there is no तमिळनाडु separate from India, there is no wave separate from ocean, there is no व्यक्ति separate from समष्टि. So when I myself don't exist where is the question of my mouth, my eyes, my land, तन मन धन सब कुछ तेरा, daily you say that! They are all beautiful prayers if we utter with the mind backing the words. As somebody said, it is better to have a prayer with a heart without words rather than words without heart behind them. If you have the भावना and you are not able to verbalize it doesn't matter, but if you have got the words without the heart behind, that also तन मन धन सब कुछ तेरा in kada kada you tell and नैवेद्यम् also is nearby and that is important, therefore kada kada you finish and eat the Peanut or something. And therefore that भावना is important, all the mouths are भगवान्'s mouth, all the eyes are भगवान्'s eyes. अनेक-अद्भुत-दर्शनम् – there are innumerable wonders, not seven wonders or fourteen wonders, there are innumerable wonders, all of them are भगवान्'s wonders, they belong to the Lord; अनेक-दिव्य-आभरणम् – so Lord is wearing countless ornaments, what does it mean, again don't imagine that in His neck, there are many kilos of ornaments, then He will get spondylosis and therefore अनेक-आभरणम् means all the आभरणम्s that you are wearing are भगवान्'s आभरणम्. If I say it is your आभरणम् it is लौकिक आभरणम्, if I look upon it as भगवान् it is दिव्य आभरणम्. Therefore अनेक-दिव्य-आभरणम्, that is why in our culture before wearing any ornament it is placed at the feet of the Lord; if you don't have that habit better you start. Any ornament or why ornament, even dress, turmeric and vermilion powder you apply and keep in front of the Lord to mention that, Oh Lord, this also belongs to You and I am taking for lease and I will return it and not like the local people tenant, after living for a certain number of years, the tenant becomes owner, not like that, I am a humble, simple devotee, I will use without claiming ownership, I will never develop ममकार with regard to any dress or ornaments, I will remember all belong to you and it will be returned with thanks at the appropriate time. Therefore all ornaments are his ornaments. दिव्य-अनेक-उद्यत-आयुधम् – and the Lord with hundreds of weapons held in the raised hand, with hundreds or countless, literally hundred is not there, अनेक – countless weapons held in the raised hand. Here also what should we understand, don't imagine a lord with thousands of hands hanging and in each one, one one weapon like the knife, sword, etc., the lord is standing like that; विश्वरूप picture is there, you have to see, they have to do that way because there is no other way. So how do you imagine भगवान् with countless weapons? Why सञ्जय particularly mentions weapons here, because the whole गीता discourse is taking place in the battle field, not विद्या मन्दिर, in the battle field. Here you have got books pens and other things, but there remember, 7 plus 11 अक्षौहिणीs, the armies of कौरवs and पाण्डवs, they have all come with what, not pen and books, each one has come with नाना-शस्त्र-प्रहरणाः सर्वे युद्ध-विशारदाः, each one has come with different, different weapons and all those weapons belong to whom, again विश्वरूप ईश्वर, therefore अनेक-उद्यत, उद्यत means raised weapon. And how do they become divine weapon? Any weapon is terrible, how can they become divine weapon? Because of two reasons: One reason is when the weapon is in the hand of a person it is लौकिक weapon, but when I see the very same weapon as the Lord's weapon it becomes divine. The difference between divine and not divine is association with the Lord. Like the प्रसाद and apple, apple from the shop is apple, once it has gone to the temple and comes, it becomes प्रसाद. Therefore a secular thing becomes sacred only when it is associated with the Lord, if I see everything belongs to the Lord I don't have anything secular at all. For a विश्वरूप भक्त, there is no secular thing, सर्वम् sacred मयम्. So this is one reason and the second reason is, all the weapons are दिव्यम् because, they are meant for धर्म संरक्षणम्,

The moment a weapon is associated with धर्म, it is associated with the Lord, धर्मः एव ईश्वरः, that is why we say रामो विब्रह्मवान् धर्मः. दयानन्द

स्वामिजी often says: भगवान् is in the form of Order in the creation, harmony in the creation. Therefore any weapon for धर्म is divine weapon, so with such weapons विश्वरूप ईश्वर is giving दर्शनम्.

Verse No .11

दिव्यमाल्याम्बरधरं दिव्यगन्धानुलेपनम् ।

सर्वाश्चर्यमयं देवमनन्तं विश्वतोमुखम् ॥ ११-११॥

दिव्य-माल्य-अम्बर-धरम् दिव्य-गन्ध-अनुलेपनम् ।

सर्व-आश्चर्यमयम् देवम् अनन्तम् विश्वतोमुखम् ॥ ११-११॥

दिव्य-माल्य-अम्बर-धरम्, दिव्य-गन्ध-अनुलेपनम्, सर्व-आश्चर्यमयम्, अनन्तम्, विश्वतोमुखम् देवम् (अर्जुनः अपश्यत्) ।

So in all these verses, the verb is not given. For संस्कृत students, these are all adjectives, which are the description of ऐश्वर्यम् रूपम्, which comes in verse no.9 second line, there the noun विश्वरूपम् is given, all these verses, No.10 and 11, they are all adjectives to विश्वरूप. Therefore दिव्य-माल्य-अम्बर-धरम् विश्वरूपम्, दिव्य-गन्ध-अनुलेपनम् विश्वरूपम् and what is the verb, दर्शयामास, Lord कृष्ण showed to अर्जुन. And here also you should note, when we say Lord कृष्ण showed to अर्जुन it creates a confusion, it appears as though विश्वरूप was not there before and after दिव्य चक्षुः विश्वरूप is brought forward, it is not so. the Lord showed विश्वरूप means भगवान् removed the obstacles for the appreciation of the universe as divine. If that भावना when given the obstacle is gone, which means what was seen as secular is now seen as sacred, therefore it is an attitudinal change, there is no physical event taking place, विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is not a physical event, it is an event of a attitudinal change and consequent perspective change, attitudinal and perspective change, nothing is happening outside. माल्य-अम्बर-धरम् – so the Lord is wearing माल्यम्, माल्यम् means what garlands, अम्बरम् means वस्त्रम् or dress, so दिव्यम् means divine, celestial. So the Lord is wearing many garlands and many types of dress. And here also how should you understand? Don't imagine a personal god with different मालाs, all the मालाs worn by all the people are भगवान्'s माला and all the dress which are worn by all the people are भगवान्'s dress; the moment I see them as भगवान्'s it becomes दिव्यम् we saw. दिव्य-गन्ध-अनुलेपनम् and a विश्वरूप which is smeared with lot of perfumes, गन्ध means perfume. So in those days also perfume was there, now-a-days all sorts spray they use all over, back, front, top, bottom. So in those days the modern spray was not there, their perfume was primarily चन्दनम् and a few other things were there and therefore गन्ध-अनुलेपनम्, a body which is smeared with the perfumes, which are all divine and again what does it mean, different perfumes used by different people they are all perfumes applied on the Lord and that is why when we apply also विभूति चन्दन, etc., we are supposed to utter the नाम of the Lord, विभूति धारण मन्त्र is there and for वैष्णवs when they apply the नाम on various parts they have to remember केशव, नारायण, माधव, गोविन्द, etc. It means what: I am not decorating my body, I am decorating the body of the Lord, Lord's body deserves decoration, my body doesn't deserve decoration, cremation only, OK, just a joke, it doesn't deserve anything. दिव्य-गन्ध-अनुलेपनम्. Then विश्वतोमुखम् – the Lord with faces, in all directions, omnidirectional, multi-directional faces the Lord has got, because there are people with faces which are facing all directions, विश्वतोमुखम्. And अनन्तम्, अनन्तम् means whose limit cannot be seen at all, even now we do not know the limit of the cosmos. Last class I told you, if you have got a dust of 1 meter diameter, each grain of dust is equal to one galaxy, so there are billions of galaxies and each galaxy having billions of stars, the outside limit of the universe even now the scientists do not know and not only that they say that the universe is expanding, as such the existing itself we don't know and over and above that they say it is expanding, all the stars are receding and the more distant they are the faster they are going, each star is getting farther and farther away from the other star. Imagine not in clusters, if each star gets farther and farther away from other stars, where is the limit of the universe,

पादोस्य विश्वा भूतानि त्रिपादस्य अमृतम् दिवि ॥ त्रिपाद् उर्ध्व उदैत् पुरुषः
पादोस्य इहा भवत्पुनः । ... ॥ पुरुषसूक्तम् ॥

पुरुषसूक्तम् says that this limitless universe occupies only an insignificant part of विश्वरूप, even this limitless universe itself is in भगवान्'s one corner, then what should be the size of the भगवान्, अनन्तम् – so limitless, both space-wise and time-wise. And therefore what I can say, सर्व-आश्चर्यमयम् – विश्वरूप ईश्वर is the greatest wonder. So सर्व-आश्चर्यमयम्, देवम्, देवम् means विश्वरूप ईश्वरम्, you have to connect दर्शयामास पार्थाय. Such a विश्वरूपम्, महा योगेश्वरो हरिः पार्थाय दर्शयामास इति नवम श्लोकेन अन्वयः. Continuing;

यदि दिवि सूर्य-सहस्रस्य भाः युगपत् उत्थिता भवेत्, (तर्हि) सा तस्य महात्मनः भासः सदृशी स्यात् ।

So what should be the brilliance of the Lord? It should be glaring brilliance, because I am not able to see the Sun itself in the morning. I am not able to look at even the Sun and our Sun is 9 crores or miles are so away. For the sunlight to reach the earth it takes 8 minutes or so, so far away is the Sun and the Sun is one of the ordinary stars, even that sunlight I am not able to withstand. Imagine I see all the lights of all the stars, how brilliant it will be, its brilliance cannot be imagined. And therefore सञ्जय gives an example. Suppose thousands of Suns arise in the horizon simultaneously, सूर्य-सहस्रस्य भाः, सूर्य सहस्र means thousands of sun, भाः means brilliance, suppose the brilliance of thousands of suns, उत्थिता – has arisen, has emerged in the sky simultaneously. This is the example which is supposed to have been given by one atomic physicist, when the atom bomb was exploded. So that brilliance of that explosion, that too ordinary atom bomb, bigger ones were not there, when that exploded the brilliance was indescribable, that one of those people quoted this line it seems, just see. So when we cannot imagine even the brilliance of one atom bomb explosion and we know every star is having thousands of atom bombs explosions every moment, that is how stars produce energy, imagine all of them appear. Now we don't have problem because they are safely far away, imagine they all come closer, even now चेन्नै in the month of September we are not able to withstand, युगपत् – simultaneously, suppose they emerge, what will be the brilliance, that is the comparison for the brilliance of विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, so तस्य महात्मानः भासः सदृशी स्यात् – so that will be the brilliance, that will be the comparison for the brilliance of the महात्मा, महात्मा means विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. So महान् अनन्तः आत्मा शरीरम् यस्य महात्मा, this place आत्मा doesn't mean सच्चिदानन्द आत्मा, here it means शरीरम्, महात्मा means infinite bodied Lord. So that is the brilliance, it is indescribable.

So सञ्जय continues with his description. अर्जुन in that infinite body of the Lord, it can be taken as the very space itself, so that the Lord for whom the infinite space is the very body in that Lord अर्जुन saw everything कृत्स्नम् जगत् एकस्थम् अपश्यत् – अर्जुन saw the entire universe resting upon that one infinite body of the Lord. And what type of universe? अनेकधा प्रविभक्तम् – which is divided in manifold forms. As I said in the form of galaxies at the macro level, then solar systems at the next level, planetary system at the next level, thereafter we have continents, we have countries. (Continents is भगवान्'s division, countries is our division, we draw the line and fight, so this line and that line and LOC.) So the whole universe divided in manifold form अर्जुन saw in the body of the Lord, as I said just as यशोदा in the पौराणिक story saw the universe in the mouth of कृष्ण. Remember it is only a symbolic presentation, a figurative presentation of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and therefore अपश्यत्. Where? देव-देवस्य शरीर – in the body of the Lord, देव-देवः means ईश्वरः and when we say शरीर don't take the five feet or six feet शरीर of कृष्ण, in कृष्ण's limited body the whole universe can never be accommodated, only the universal atlas can be accommodated. If you want to see the whole world in my limited body, how will you see? You stick the atlas on to your body, then you see here Europe, Antarctic, Arctic, and all. If you have to see the real universe, not Atlas universe, if you want to see the real universe, कृष्ण's शरीरम् should not be a personal limited शरीरम्, it should be the vast space itself. Therefore देव-देवस्य आकाशात्मक शरीर अनन्त शरीर, पाण्डवः – अर्जुन, तदा – at that time. At that time means at which time? At the time when दिव्य चक्षुः was given. Before that he saw the same world, but it was a persecuting world, problematic world, unfaceable world, burdensome world. Now the very same world has become totally different and therefore तदा दिव्य चक्षुः प्रदान अनन्तरम्, after being blessed with दिव्य चक्षु अर्जुन saw the विश्वरूप. Thus who is reporting? सञ्जय is reporting. More in the next class.

अर्जुन asked for विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and we saw that विश्वरूपदर्शनम् involves two things, one is the regular eye which looks at the world which is the विश्वम्, the universe and we require a special perceptive of mind by which the very same विश्वम्, the universe, is seen as the body of the Lord. To see the world we require the ordinary eye. To see the world as the manifestation of the Lord we require a special attitude, which is born out of the study of the 7th, 9th, etc., chapters, as well as a prepared mind. And if that proper attitude is not there I will see the विश्वम् but it will be seen as the विश्वरूप ईश्वर. And therefore I am seeing the Lord, but for me there is no question of ईश्वर दर्शनम् exactly like रावण seeing राम, physical eyes will see राम, but for रावण it is not ईश्वर दर्शनम्, कंस will continue to see कृष्ण physically with physical eyes but he doesn't have ईश्वर दर्शनम् because कंस doesn't have the prepared attitude. Similarly, here also the विश्व is available, but if विश्व दर्शनम् should be converted into विश्वरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्, what I require is a changed attitude, which is not only appropriate knowledge, what is the knowledge? The Lord alone manifests as the creation, that knowledge is required, a cognitive factor is involved. And in addition to this cognitive factor, i.e., the understanding, there should be the purity of mind also, a mind which is free from राग-द्वेष, a mind which is free from काम-क्रोध, a mind which is free from अहङ्कार-ममकार. Therefore a pure mind plus an enlightened intellect, both put together is called दिव्य चक्षुः, if the दिव्य चक्षुः is there behind the मांस चक्षुः, what is मांस चक्षुः? the fleshy physical eyes, when they combine together I look at the world as ईश्वर. And it is the दिव्य चक्षुः that the अर्जुन was lacking and विश्वरूपम् is already in front, but what अर्जुन was missing was दिव्य चक्षुः and Lord कृष्ण blessed अर्जुन with this दिव्य चक्षुः and then there is a transformation, अर्जुन looks at the same world alright, but there has been attitudinal change and therefore he has the विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and when अर्जुन has got such a vision the impact is so much that he is dumbfounded as it were, and therefore there is a silence for a few minutes and during that silence, सञ्जय is waiting for an opportunity. Because many people want to come to the stage and talk on the mike as in the functions and once they get the mike, you had it, they will never leave it, last but not the least, they will go on and on. Like that, सञ्जय never got an opportunity, therefore now he comes and he also has the benefit of the विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and therefore he gives the description of विश्वरूप as seen by अर्जुन. And how did सञ्जय know that अर्जुन had विश्वरूपदर्शनम्? Remember, सञ्जय was given a special ESP, special power by व्यासाचार्य by the special power सञ्जय could remain in the palace with धृतराष्ट्र and he could like closed circuit TV or satellite channel, he could have the total vision of the battlefield and not only he could see the people, it was a special satellite TV that सञ्जय could read even the mind of the people. And therefore अर्जुन's feelings and emotions also सञ्जय is able to recognize and therefore सञ्जय gives the description here, which we are seeing now in the 13th verse:

अपश्यदेवदेवस्य शरीरि पाण्डवस्तदा ॥ ११-१३॥

The शरीरम् of the Lord is not a few feet height शरीरम्, but the very आकाशम् is the शरीरम् of the Lord. अकाश शरीरम् ब्रह्म. And in the अकाश शरीरम् of the Lord, he saw the whole universe which has been divided in manifold ways, in the form of galaxies and solar systems and planets and continents and island, therefore अनेकधा प्रविभक्तम् अपश्यत् पाण्डवः, अर्जुन saw, thus सञ्जय saw. सञ्जय saw अर्जुन seeing. Up to this we saw in the last class, in this way we saw. We saw that सञ्जय saw that अर्जुन saw.

Verse No .14

ततः स विस्मयाविष्टो हृष्टरोमा धनञ्जयः ।

प्रणम्य शिरसा देवं कृताञ्जलिरभाषत ॥ ११-१४॥

ततः सः विस्मय-आविष्टः हृष्ट-रोमा धनञ्जयः ।

प्रणम्य शिरसा देवम् कृत-अञ्जलिः अभाषत ॥ ११-१४॥

ततः विस्मय-आविष्टः हृष्ट-रोमा सः धनञ्जयः, देवम् शिरसा प्रणम्य, कृत-अञ्जलिः अभाषत ।

So because of the change of perspective अर्जुन had a great impact and this impact सञ्जय wants to bring out and after all he has to describe the impact only through word-pen. If it is a TV program there are several method of showing the impact, you can have a background, with da da da daa sound, you can show the whole world going round, or you can show अर्जुन's face coming forward-backward, close-up and you can see perspiration appearing, etc., all can be done but poor व्यासाचार्य has a pen and book and therefore he has got a poetic description, to reveal the impact. Therefore he says, ततः सः विस्मय-आविष्टः – so अर्जुन was struck by wonder, not because he is seeing a new thing, but he has a new perspective towards an ordinary thing. It is not an extraordinary sight, but it is an extraordinary attitude towards the ordinary word available and because of this attitudinal change, विस्मय-आविष्टः – he was wonderstruck and this wonderment was so intense and deep that it began to express at the physical level also, because extreme emotions flow out to the physical body, because mind and body has connections. We had in the 1st chapter, सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि मुखं च परिशुष्यति, in the 11th chapter also, because of extreme wonderment, हृष्ट-रोमा – his hairs were standing on end, he was thrilled, so had horripilation or he had रोमाञ्चः, हृष्ट-रोमा धनञ्जयः, अर्जुन and when he appreciated the Lord in the very form of the universe itself. The magnitude of the Lord is so vast and in front of this Lord we the ordinary people are speck of dust, so how do we express that feeling, प्रणम्य शिरसा, Oh Lord, in front of you we are speck of dust. As I told you the other day, if the whole cosmos is the body of the Lord, even solar systems are specks in that planets are still 'specker' or still smaller specks (I don't know how to say that) and when planets are invisible things, what to talk of we ordinary dust? And our smallness how do we express? By नमस्कार, therefore प्रणम्य, Oh Lord, I am nothing in front of you, so शिरसा प्रणम्य – he bowed his head, देवम् – the Lord, कृत-अञ्जलिः – so with prostration अञ्जलिः मुद्रा, with नमस्कार मुद्रा, that is joining the palm together is called अञ्जलिः, with नमस्कार मुद्रा, अभिषत. So it took a few minutes for अर्जुन to collect himself, because he could not speak. So now अर्जुन is going to speak, he is ready, therefore सञ्जय quietly withdraws to the green room. Now comes अर्जुन with a changed dress, I don't know, we will read.

Verse No .15

अर्जुन उवाच ।

पश्यामि देवांस्तव देव देहे सर्वास्तथा भूतविशेषसङ्घान् ।

ब्रह्माणमीशं कमलासनस्थमृषींश्च सर्वानुरगांश्च दिव्यान् ॥ ११-१७॥

पश्यामि देवान् तव देव देहे सर्वान् तथा भूत-विशेष-सङ्घान् ।

ब्रह्माणम् ईशम् कमल-आसनस्थं ऋषीन् च सर्वान् उरगान् च दिव्यान् ॥ ११-१७॥

हे देव! (अहम्) तव देहे सर्वान् देवान्, तथा भूत-विशेष-सङ्घान्, कमल-आसनस्थं ईशम् ब्रह्माणम् च, सर्वान् ऋषीन्, दिव्यान् उरगान् च पश्यामि ।

So now अर्जुन takes over and he is describing the विश्वरूप as seen by him and व्यासाचार्य wants to highlight the description of the विश्वरूप. So how to highlight? If it is in written form you can have highlighter pen, color pen, you can print in bold letters, you can underscore, you can put in italics, varieties of methods are there. But in the olden days only the palm leaves were there, what can be done in that, all those things are not there. So whenever they want to highlight something the method used is to change the meter of the श्लोक. So you will be reading in one meter and when the meter itself is changed, there is a jerk, if you sleep off you will be woken up; because try to read this verse in the previous meter, it won't come properly, so you have to change the very tune, that is method of capturing the attention. And when अर्जुन experiences the विश्वरूप he goes through several emotional faces, his responses are different and we find three stages in अर्जुन's response to विश्वरूप. The first and foremost reaction or response is विस्मयः or आश्चर्यम्. In fact, the world is an आश्चर्यम् if you learn to objectively appreciate the world, the world loses its आश्चर्यत्वम् the moment you look at the world from your own private standpoint. So, you have a program and rain is going to come, then what will you say, even though चेन्नै needs rain, suppose you have arranged the program, you cannot look at rain as a wonderful phenomenon of nature, In fact, you will pray specially: rain rain go away. So therefore rain becomes inimical to you because you look at the rain from your personal requirement mentally and this private vision is called in the शास्त्र as जीव सृष्टि, subjective colored vision and the जीव सृष्टि alone expresses in the form of राग and द्वेष, काम and क्रोधः, अहङ्कार and ममकार and therefore world can never give you wonderment. It can never give you the sense that अर्जुन is getting now, and since कृष्ण has removed the obstacle from अर्जुन's mind, अर्जुन is no more in जीव सृष्टि, he is in the public ईश्वर's world which is wonderful. Then you may ask: स्वामिजी, do you say that the world is wonderful even after the terrorist attack? How can you say that the world is wonderful? I will say still the world is wonderful, you know why, because when you talk about the world, you are looking into only the earth and there also only the land and there also only the few human beings and that too those who have got, what you call, आसुरीक thinking. If you are going to look at the totality of cosmos, all these devilry are nothing but a mosquito bite only. Even if the entire earth is blown up, it is nothing from the standpoint of total cosmos, a blot appears big if you are taking a square inch but the very same blot is nothing if you have got a larger vision. So we are all the time looking at a few negative people and especially unfortunately in the newspaper the only news worth reporting is negative, any robbery it has to be reported, any murder it has to be reported, any terrorist act it should be reported, only news is negative news. So many wonderful things happen they are not worth reporting and therefore we concentratedly read this alone and we don't have the total perspective, therefore it looks that the whole world is consisting of this only. If you look at the totality, even a world war is nothing but a small pin-prick in the cosmos. And therefore when you look at the world not from जीव सृष्टि, अहङ्कार ममकार भाव, ईश्वर सृष्टि, as it is wonderful, in spite of all the so-called evils taking place and अर्जुन has got such an ईश्वर दर्शनम् and therefore he is wonderstruck, this आश्चर्य भाव is expressed from verse no.15 up to 22, 15 to 22 and thereafter from 23 onwards the response or emotion undergoes a change, which we will see when we study that verse. So the first response is wonderment, anything in huge magnitude creates wonderment, whether it is ocean or sky or mountain or even water falls. Why Niagara waterfalls is wonderful? Who has not seen water? Who has not seen water falls? But still it is considered wonderment only because of the only qualification it has is what: the hugeness alone, anything huge is wonderful and what to talk of विश्वरूपम्? The more you look at it, it is a wonder. Therefore अर्जुन says, हे देव – Oh Lord, तव देहे – in your body, अहम् देवान् पश्यामि – I am seeing all the gods, here the word देहे means not कृष्ण शरीरम्, remember अकाश शरीर, विश्वरूप शरीर I see all the gods, सर्वान् देवान् तथा भूत-विशेष-सङ्घान् – multitudes of different living beings, भूत means living beings, विशेष means different species, right from the smallest microorganisms to the most evolved human beings, भूत-विशेष-सङ्घान्, सङ्घान् means multitude. Not only I see all of them, ईशम् ब्रह्माणम् – I also see god ब्रह्मा, the creator, who is कमल-आसनस्थम् – who is seated on a lotus which is according to पुराणs, the lotus is born out of Lord विष्णु's naval, पद्मनाभ and upon the lotus. So that is all symbolic, Lord विष्णु represents समष्टि कारण शरीरम् and lotus represents समष्टि सूक्ष्म शरीरम् and ब्रह्माजि represents समष्टि सूक्ष्म शरीर प्रतिबिम्बित चैतन्यम्. So Vedantic technical aspect are symbolically represented, if you say समष्टि सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, प्रतिबिम्बित चैतन्यम् etc., a lay person won't understand, therefore have a beautifully lotus and ब्रह्माजि sitting on it, you should not ask how can a person sit on a lotus, thus the whole thing is symbolic. So ब्रह्माणम् ईशम्, here ईश is adjective to ब्रह्मा, ईशम् ब्रह्माणम् means lord ब्रह्मा, here ईश does not mean शिव, he is god ब्रह्मा who is seated on the lotus, सर्वान् ऋषीन् च – as well as all the ऋषिः, celestial ऋषिः, दिव्यान्, दिव्यान् means celestial, and not only I see the ऋषिः, the उरगान् च – the divine serpents like वासुकि, अनन्त, etc., indicating I see all the fourteen लोकs in your body. OK, now this will lead to a question, when अर्जुन saw विश्वरूपम् did he see only the physical world that is perceptible or did he see other higher लोकs like भुवर्लोक, सुवर्लोक, महर्लोक etc., because ब्रह्माणम् ऋषीन् दिव्यान् etc., is said. Therefore did he see only the भूलोक or did he see the celestial world also? You can look at it in two different ways, here the verse says that अर्जुन saw all the लोकs because the word ब्रह्मा is mentioned, सर्वान् देवान् is mentioned, देवs are not certainly here around, they are in स्वर्गलोक only. Therefore did अर्जुन see स्वर्गलोकs in विश्वरूप? One thing we can see is he did not see the स्वर्गलोकs etc., but व्यासाचार्य is poetically describing that अर्जुन saw everything, it can be taken as a poetic description of the विश्वरूप. How do you know it is a poetic description? Why can't it be taken literally? We saw we can take it as a poetic description because, later in the विश्वरूप वर्णनम् itself it is said अर्जुन saw भीष्म द्रोण etc., entering the mouth of विष्णु and getting crushed. In विश्वरूप वर्णनम् itself it is said, all these

वक्त्राणि ते त्वरमाणा विशन्ति दंष्ट्राकरालानि भयानकानि ।

केचिद्विलग्ना दशनान्तरेषु सन्दृश्यन्ते चूर्णितैरुत्तमाङ्गैः ॥ ११-२७॥

भीष्म, द्रोण, कर्ण etc., entering the mouth of the Lord and getting crushed and killed. Now, is it a literal event or a poetic description? If it is a clear actual event, भीष्म द्रोण etc., have actually got crushed, then where is the question अर्जुन killing भीष्म द्रोण etc. Since we know that भीष्म द्रोण etc., were killed by अर्जुन, so their entering the mouth of विश्वरूपम् is only poetic description. Similarly, व्यासाचार्य describes अर्जुन saw all the लोकs, it need not be physically true, it is the uniqueness of अर्जुन's vision, he looked at this लोक as ईश्वर's शरीरम्. Or suppose you want to say, no no no, it is not poetic description, some people will get disappointed, because they want to attribute something mystic, people want mysticism. Therefore, they want to say that no no no, अर्जुन saw the higher लोकs also. Then even if you say अर्जुन saw the higher लोकs then remember seeing higher लोकs is not the real important part of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. We don't want to give importance to seeing higher लोकs, because seeing higher लोकs will not guarantee liberation. If seeing higher लोकs will give liberation then कृष्ण need not criticize the higher लोकs at all in the 2nd chapter. Therefore remember even if अर्जुन saw higher लोकs, we don't want to give importance to that aspect. What is more important in विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is not seeing extraordinary things, but seeing the ordinary world itself as the विश्वरूपम्, the body of ईश्वर. Therefore remember: what अर्जुन sees is not important but how we see is. In विश्वरूपम् दर्शनम् the manner of seeing is highlighted and not the object of seeing. So whether it is ordinary thing or extraordinary thing, what you see doesn't give you spiritual growth but how you see that, that alone guarantees spiritual growth and that is why इन्द्र is seeing स्वर्गलोक all the time but that doesn't guarantee liberation to इन्द्र, इन्द्र is also महासंसारि only, all the time afraid of people doing तपस्. Therefore seeing extraordinary लोकs in विश्वरूप is not important but seeing the ordinary लोकs as the very body of the Lord, that is to be emphasized here. Therefore ऋषीन् च सर्वान् उरगान् च दिव्यान्, he saw everything as the Lord, that is to be highlighted.

अनेकबाहूदशवक्त्रनेत्रं पश्यामि त्वां सर्वतोऽनन्तरूपम् ।

नान्तं न मध्यं न पुनस्तवादिं पश्यामि विश्वेश्वर विश्वरूप ॥ ११-१६॥

अनेक-बाहु-उदर-वक्त्र-नेत्रम् पश्यामि त्वाम् सर्वतः अनन्त-रूपम् ।

न अन्तम् न मध्यम् न पुनः तव आदिम् पश्यामि विश्वेश्वर विश्वरूप ॥ ११-१६॥

(अहम्) त्वाम् अनेक-बाहु-उदर-वक्त्र-नेत्रम् सर्वतः अनन्त-रूपम् पश्यामि ।
हे विश्वरूप विश्वेश्वर! पुनः तव अन्तम् मध्यम् आदिम् न पश्यामि ।

Here things become clear. विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is not an extraordinary vision, but an extraordinary attitude towards the ordinary things of the creation. And that is here beautifully pointed out, अनेक-बाहु-उदर-वक्त्र-नेत्रम् विश्वरूपम् पश्यामि – I see the विश्वरूप of you the Lord, त्वाम्, which has got countless बाहु – arms, hands, उदरम् – stomachs, वक्त्रम् – faces and नेत्रम् – eyes. I see countless hands and stomachs and faces and eyes. वक्त्रम् can be translated as face or mouth. So what does it mean, again remember what I told you in the last class, don't imagine one Lord standing and eyes all over the body, mouth all over the body (how will it be) stomach all over, it is not, the idea is what: all the hands of all the people, all the stomachs of all the people, all the mouth of all the people, they are all विश्वरूप ईश्वरस्य अङ्गानि, it is that attitudinal change that is to be noted. And therefore only अनन्त-रूपम् – so Oh Lord you have limitless forms. What a wonderful creation they say, one thumb impression will not be the same as another and one denture, teeth alignment will not be the same as another, in forensic department they use this information and once skull joint will not be like another, what is the population of the world, each one is unique, you know what, each one is विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, therefore अनन्त-रूपम्, eyes are different, earlobes are different. So पश्यामि त्वाम् सर्वतः अनन्त-रूपम् and न अन्तम् न मध्यम् न आदिम् पश्यामि – I don't see the middle, end or the beginning. Because the beginning, middle and end are the beginning, middle and end of the cosmos. Scientists have not yet found the edge of the cosmos, still they are struggling. Since we have not seen outer periphery of the cosmos we don't know the physical up and physical down and if we don't know the beginning and end, how can you talk about the middle? Because to talk about the middle, what is the middle of the hall, how can you fix, first you have to see the two ends, otherwise you can never fix up the middle. So if आदि and अन्त are unknown, मध्यम् is also unknown, therefore Oh Lord, you are limitless. पुनः तव आदिम् पश्यामि हे विश्वेश्वर! Oh Lord of the universe, विश्वरूप, Oh Lord whose body is the universe. That विश्वरूपम् derivation if you remember then the teaching will be clear, the derivation of the word विश्वरूपम् is: विश्वम् एव रूपम् शरीरम् यस्य – the one whose body is the world itself, the world-bodied भगवान्. So विश्वरूप.

त्वाम् किरीटिनम्, गदिनम्, चक्रिणम्, तेजो-राशिम् सर्वतः दीप्तिमन्तम्, समन्तात् दीप्त-अनल-अर्क-द्युतिम् अप्रमेयम् दुर्निरीक्ष्यम् च पश्यामि ।

किरीटिनम् – you have got thousands of किरीटम्, किरीटम् means crown. And how come भगवान् has thousands of किरीटम्? Again don't imagine anything extraordinary or mystic, all the किरीटम्s on the heads of all the kings, they are all the किरीटम्s of विश्वरूप, because all the heads are भगवान्'s heads and therefore all किरीटम्s are भगवान्'s किरीटम्s. सहस्र शीर्षा पुरुषः ... I, therefore किरीटिनम्, गदिनम्, because battlefield, all of them have come with गदा and therefore I see You with thousands of गदाs, चक्रिणम् च – with thousands of चक्रs, चक्रायुधम् and तेजो-राशिम् – you are an mass of effulgence, naturally because the Lord consists of millions of stars, each one is a mass of effulgence. Then सर्वतः दीप्तिमन्तम् – shining in all directions and directions are meaningless in the cosmos. If you look from the earth you can talk about east, west, etc., keeping our ordinary Sun as the standard. If you are standing on the Sun (hypothetically; you cannot), what is the east? Wherever the Sun rise standing on the Sun!!! Therefore all the east, west, etc., will go haywire, all the dates, etc., will go haywire. Remember, they are all imaginations by a petty mind. In विश्वरूप all these do not exist at all, therefore you shine all over and therefore only दुर्निरीक्ष्यम् समन्तात् – so your effulgence is so dazzling, so glaring, that I am not even able to open my eyes completely. If you have any doubt, tomorrow afternoon when the Sun is in the middle try to look at the Sun, which is 9 crores miles away. If that itself is impossible then where else are you going to see. Therefore दुर्निरीक्ष्यम्, when the mountaineers go into the upper ranges of mountains it is all over, you know, capped by snow that anywhere you look there is snow and the Sun reflects and there is a dazzle that if you don't have special goggles you may lose your eyesight it seems. We are not able to see even the प्रतिबिम्ब प्रकाशम्, the reflected sunlight, then what to talk of the original? And remember all of them are विश्वरूप. And having developed this attitude, go to बद्रीनाथ, go to केदारनाथ and see your enjoyment gets a totally different dimension. I took the people to अमरनाथ by mistake, I didn't know it was a risk, ignorance was bliss. Nearly 90 to 100 people, by idiocracy, I took the people and all are on the wrong side of 60 years. So later we used to tell अमरनाथ should not become मरनाथ, मर means मरणम् and I warned, I told all the people that it is an ice लिङ्गम् so purely at the mercy of the weather. If the temperature increases due to the warmth of the visitors, it is a cave, therefore the लिङ्गम् can melt. So we take all the trouble and there you may not get the दर्शन, I kept warning and many people came, at the time they nodded OK OK, no problem they said and unfortunately, what we did not want happened and then these people struggling, going in all kinds of vehicles, mules, etc., and falling from them, struggling and running and all we see निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म. That is how I consoled myself, because we are all साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्नः अधिकारिः. So but I had planned to enjoy the whole 48 miles or kilometers route which is one of the most wonderful विश्वरूप of Lord, therefore I never had disappointment, but those who were only looking for लिङ्गम्, and suppose after climbing on the donkey or the mule and you cannot enjoy the site because your whole attention is balancing and unfortunately that person who has to guide he doesn't like to walk along with the donkey, he always go somewhere and then you are frightened and then you don't know the language and you scold him in तमिळ्, sitting on the donkey you scold the other person as donkey, donkey, etc., but he doesn't understand anything so therefore neither they had विश्वरूपदर्शनम्; I walked, so I enjoyed thoroughly, therefore I did not miss. What I am saying is after appreciating the विश्वरूप go to any one of the shrines, in fact, we have installed deities there only for developing विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. That is why we have temples in all unreachable places, otherwise why should there be a shrine in अमरनाथ, we could have had in somewhere in Adayar, why should they choose, after all God is everywhere? The purpose is gradually change your vision, to see the very nature as भगवान्. Anyway, तेजो-राशिम् सर्वतः दीप्तिमन्तम् why this example came to me is towards the अमरनाथ last few kms, maybe one or two kms is only frozen snow, you only walk over the frozen snow, therefore if there is a sunlight then the dazzling sunlight comes, so सर्वतः दीप्तिमन्तम्, that reminded me of अमरनाथ and therefore दुर्निरीक्ष्यम् – so dazzling therefore cannot see and दीप्त-अनल-अर्क-द्युतिम् अप्रमेयम्, the Lord's whose effulgence is like the effulgence of the well kindled or blazing fire, दीप्त-अनलम् means blazing fire and अर्क means blazing Sun, द्युति means effulgence, the विश्वरूप whose effulgence is like that of the blazing fire and Sun and अप्रमेयम् – matchless, incomparable, such a विश्वरूप I see Oh Lord. Continuing;

त्वमव्ययः शाश्वतधर्मगोप्ता सनातनस्त्वं पुरुषो मतो मे ॥ ११-१८॥

त्वम् अक्षरम् परमम् वेदितव्यम् त्वम् अस्य विश्वस्य परम् निधानम् ।

त्वम् अव्ययः शाश्वत-धर्म-गोप्ता सनातनः त्वम् पुरुषः मतः मे ॥ ११-१८॥

त्वम् वेदितव्यम् परमम् अक्षरम्, त्वम् अस्य विश्वस्य परम् निधानम्, त्वम् अव्ययः शाश्वत-धर्म-गोप्ता, त्वम् सनातनः पुरुषः मे मतः ।

अर्जुन's reverence for Lord कृष्ण is gradually increasing. It is not कृष्ण's divinity is increasing, अर्जुन's appreciation of the Lord's divinity is gradually increasing, therefore he glorifies, Oh lord, त्वम् परमम् वेदितव्यम् अक्षरम् असि – you are the imperishable God, eternal God, both from the standpoint of सगुण as well as निर्गुण, सगुण ईश्वर is eternal because remember creation is always there either in manifest form or in unmanifest form and that is why in the पुराणs and all it is said during प्रलय काल Lord कृष्ण will be floating on that leaf.

वटस्य पत्रस्य पुटे शयानम् बालम् मुकुन्दम् मनसा स्मरामि ॥ बाल मुकुन्दाष्टकम् ॥

You know what is वट पत्रम्, समष्टि कारण शरीरम् is वट पत्रम् and lying on that means what, तत्र प्रतिबिम्ब or अवच्छिन्न चैतन्यम्. So माया, माया is वट पत्रम्, वट पत्रम् means not a leaf on which vada is there, वट पत्रम् means banyan tree, symbolic. So there on the माया the Lord has withheld the whole creation which is called योग-निद्रा of the Lord, anyway what I want to say here is: the world is eternal, during प्रलय it is unmanifest, during सृष्टि it is manifest, therefore even the विश्वरूप ईश्वर eternally exists in अव्यक्त or व्यक्त रूप and therefore विश्वरूप is eternal and of course निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म is also eternal, अक्षरम् and here you can take as निर्गुणम् also because the adjective परमम् is there, You are the highest eternal principle, the निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म and वेदितव्यम् – which is to be known by all,

so when we say वेदितव्यम् one should come to निर्गुणम्, therefore you are the तुरीयम् ब्रह्म, ज्ञेयम् ब्रह्म, निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म which is to be known by all, त्वम् अस्य विश्वस्य परम् निधानम् – you are the ultimate basis or substratum of the entire creation, विश्वाधारम् गगनसदृशम् मेघवर्णम् शुभाङ्गम् सर्व-आधारम्. So निधानम् means what निधीयते अस्मिन् इति निधानम्, the support on which everything rests is called निधानम्, परम् means the ultimate support. Why do you add the adjective ultimate support? Is it not enough if we say just support? We have got two supports, one is relative support and another is ultimate support. For example, when I keep the book on the desk, the desk becomes what, the support of the book. But what type of support? It is a relative support, because the desk itself is supported by something else, the stage, the dais. Can you say the stage is the ultimate? No, because that itself is supported by something else. Therefore, relative support is a support which itself is supported by something else. And what is the definition of ultimate support? Ultimate support is that which supports everything and which itself is not supported by anything. And according to वेदान्त, अकाश, the space is supporting everything, वेदान्त says even space is not the ultimate support, because the space itself is supported by चैतन्यम्, for that one has to go to वेदान्त, I am not going to those details, because the space itself is subject to arrival and departure. Therefore there is a locus for space, try to conceive of this, everything has got a locus in space but space itself has a locus, if you say how to conceive of it, that is called वेदान्त, Conceiving The Inconceivable! Therefore चैतन्यम् is the support of even अकाश. परम् निधानम् you are; त्वम् अव्ययः – you are inexhaustible, unchangeable, unaffected by the onslaught of time. So अव्ययः means कालातीतः. So in all this अर्जुन is describing निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, even though what he is seeing is सगुण विश्वरूप, he is describing निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म here. A question may come, how does अर्जुन know निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म? He is learning निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, he is in the learning process. So for that we should know अर्जुन does not know निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म but the निर्गुण description found in the scriptures he is rattling out. This is called परोक्ष ज्ञानम्, he has just like we do अर्चना, सत्-चित्-आनन्दाय नमः, सत्-चित्-आनन्द means what: that is not known, but we do सत्-चित्-आनन्दाय नमः daily. So निर्गुणा, निष्कला, नित्या, निरपाया, निरञ्जना, so निर्गुणा etc., in ललितासहस्रनाम we chant. Therefore without knowing the meaning we can use the expression. Similarly, अर्जुन is using these expressions even though he is in the process of learning only. So त्वम् अव्ययः. More in the next class.

I pointed out that to have विश्वरूपदर्शनम् we require two things, one is the physical eyes, which looks at the universe, which is the very body of the Lord, विश्वरूपम् means the universe as the body of the Lord. To see the universe which is the body of the Lord we require the physical eye and fortunately we are all gifted with the physical eye. But this is not enough, we require another factor also and what is that, the attitude or the perspective by which I look upon this world as the very body of the Lord, which requires the Vedantic teaching that the Lord is the material cause of the universe and therefore being the material cause the Lord himself is manifesting as the universe and therefore I should not look upon the universe as mere dead matter, but I should learn to train my mind to look upon this universe as the body of the Lord. This inner training born out of this scriptural study and the consequent perspective change is the second factor required which we call by the name दिव्य चक्षुः. And I gave you the example, remember, when I get प्रसादम् from the temple, the physical eyes sees the fruit, the banana, the apple or the लड्डू and the eyes only reports that it is a food item which has to directly enter the mouth, but since I look upon it as a प्रसादम् coming from the Lord, there is a perspective change by which there is no additional weight in the object but it gets a holiness, a sacredness, which is discerned by the inner eye called दिव्य चक्षुः. And when the दिव्य चक्षुः tells me that this is a प्रसादम्, before directly putting into the mouth first I place it on my eyes. So what brings about this change, it is not caused by the physical eye, it is caused by the inner attitude born of understanding and this दिव्य चक्षुः has been temporarily blessed, gifted by the Lord to अर्जुन and therefore अर्जुन looks at the universe with a totally different perspective and therefore what was previously seen as a mere matter bundle revolving is now seen as the live and vibrant body of the Lord. And when this change takes place अर्जुन goes through several emotional transformations, because of the perspective change and I said that अर्जुन goes through three levels of inner transformation, the first one is विस्मयः, आश्चर्यम् or wonder in seeing the totality, which totality is all the time available but because of my अहङ्कार and ममकार, I never look at the totality, I have only a fragmented vision. So this fragmented vision is temporarily set aside by the grace of कृष्ण and he has got one God for whom the entire creation – planets, stars all of them are several organs or अवयवम्s. And अर्जुन is expressing the wonderment from verse no.15 and which runs up to verse no.22 and in this portion we are seeing the 18th verse, where अर्जुन's reverence for Lord कृष्ण increases. अर्जुन was looking upon कृष्ण as Mr V. कृष्ण, V is fathers name वासुदेव, so V. कृष्ण who was born the other day, whose birthday was celebrated with सिडै and मुरुवकु (spicy snack recipes), so he was looking upon कृष्ण as a contemporary and friend but not as the macrocosm and now with this appreciation अर्जुन's reverence shoots up and therefore अर्जुन glorifies कृष्ण with all the words he has heard in the उपनिषत्s. Remember अर्जुन also had गुरुकुलम् वासम्, in keeping with the tradition ब्राह्मणः, क्षत्रियः and वैश्यः, all of them had to study the वेदः. And therefore the वैदिक description of the Lord is remembered by अर्जुन and he rattles out in these verses which we started in the last class: त्वम् अक्षरम्. So in मुण्डकोपनिषत्, ब्रह्मन् is known by the name अक्षरम्, so

अक्षरम् means निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म. So, हे कृष्ण! you are not this mere विश्वरूप, you are one even superior to that, not only you are एकरूप ईश्वरः, not only you are अनेकरूप ईश्वरः but you are also अरूप ईश्वरः, the formless ब्रह्मन्, which is परमम्, परमम् means the absolute one, not confined to time, space and properties, देश- काल-वस्तु परिच्छेद शून्यम्, unlimited by time, space and properties and वेदितव्यम् – you the निर्गुण ब्रह्म alone are the ultimate truth, which has to be known by everyone. In the 13th chapter, कृष्ण will use the word,

In माण्डूक्य उपनिषत् the word used is:

निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म is the thing to be known by everyone ultimately, therefore you are वेदितव्यम्, to be known and त्वम् अस्य विश्वस्य परम् निधानम् – you are the ultimate support, base for the entire cosmos, you are the स्थिति कारणम् of the universe. And what do you mean by the ultimate support? I explained in the last class, ultimate support is that which supports everything and which itself is not supported by anything. To put in simple language, supportless support. Supportless support is called परम् निधानम्. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now we will go to the third line, त्वम् अव्ययः – Oh Lord you are the decayless or changeless reality or ब्रह्मन्, व्ययरहितः, without decay and death. So from this it is very clear that कृष्ण is not a personal god with a body, if you look upon कृष्ण as a personal god with body that body has got अस्ति, जायते, वर्धते, विपरिणमते, अपक्षीयते, that is called व्यय, so therefore you are the changeless reality and शाश्वत-धर्म-गोप्ता – you are the one who maintains the harmony of the creation, the whole creation is governed by a set of physical laws as well as moral laws and Lord is maintaining the universe through the physical and moral laws and we are only falling within these laws, we have neither created them and therefore we cannot maintain them also. So the gravitational law I have not created - I am subject to gravitational law, I am not the creator. And since I am not the creator I cannot be the maintainer also, the creator has alone has to be the maintainer and therefore you are the धर्म-गोप्ता, गोप्ता means the one who maintains and these laws of the universe are the eternal laws which are natural, which will not be generally disturbed and if at all these laws are disturbed, there is only one cause which disturbs and do you know who is the disturbing factor, the human being. Wherever the human beings enter they violate the harmony. Let them enter the ocean, ocean will be polluted and destroyed; let them enter the sky, ozone holes they will create and destroy; let them enter the forest, they will destroy. So human beings alone endowed with free-will can destroy and whenever such human beings are born भगवान् maintains the law by

Whoever be the cause of the disturbance of the universal rhythm, the rhythm disturbing factors भगवान् quietly amputates, eliminates. भगवान् need not create the rhythm because it is already there. Just like health, you need not produce health in the body, because health is natural. So what you have to do is if there is any cause which disturbs the health then the cause has to be eliminated, once the cause is eliminated I am in my natural condition which is called health and that is why in संस्कृत, health is called स्वस्थता, स्व स्थ ता means स्वस्मिन् स्वरूपे तिष्ठति इति स्वस्थः, तस्य भावः स्वस्थता. So therefore भगवान् takes अवतार. I discuss the अवतार in the 4th chapter, what is the principle अवतार, we have got an inbuilt system in our body that whenever there is a disturbance, immediately immunity, that force comes. Like what? If something enters my nostrils, some impurity, some toxin, immediately health principle takes the अवतारम् and what is the अवतार called sneezing अवतार, if something poisonous enters my stomach immediately what is activated, purging अवतार, if something enters my eyes what अवतार comes, tears अवतार, they are inbuilt in the system, they won't come normally, whenever there is a threat that comes. Similarly, भगवान् is the total order, total harmony, total rhythm, total health of the universe. Whenever human beings become a toxin to the universe भगवान् comes as a sneezing अवतार or tears अवतार, purging अवतार and finishes off them. And therefore he is called शाश्वत-धर्म-गोप्ता, गोप्ता means protector, धर्म means the cosmic rhythm, cosmic harmony and शाश्वत means the eternal. Eternal is adjective to धर्म also, eternal is adjective to the Lord also. You are the eternal God who protects the eternal धर्म. And therefore सनातन – you are always there, ever present, सनातनः त्वम्, पुरुषः मतः मे, पुरुषः means the all-pervading one, being the universal form You are everywhere because the very अकाश is seen as the body of the Lord. Can you tell a place where space is not there? If you say that in this place अकाश is not there, it is a contradiction in terms, 'in this place' when you say that is called अकाश, therefore अकाश-less place is not there, Godless place is not there and that is why somebody wrote: God is nowhere, God is No Where. Then what did another man do, he made a slight change, how do you spell nowhere? NOWHERE. So after w, he put a comma. What happened? Nowhere becomes now, here. 'God is in the pillar as well as in speck', anyway you are सर्वगत पुरुषः, मतः मे – this is my understanding, Continuing;

अनादिमध्यान्तमनन्तवीर्यमनन्तबाहुं शशिसूर्यनेत्रम् ।

पश्यामि त्वां दीप्तहुताशवक्त्रं स्वतेजसा विश्वमिदं तपन्तम् ॥ ११-१९॥

अनादि-मध्य-अन्तम् अनन्त-वीर्यम् अनन्त-बाहुम् शशि-सूर्य-नेत्रम् ।

पश्यामि त्वाम् दीप्त-हुताश-वक्त्रम् स्व-तेजसा विश्वम् इदम् तपन्तम् ॥ ११-१९॥

अनादि-मध्य-अन्तम्, अनन्त-वीर्यम्, अनन्त-बाहुम्, शशि-सूर्य-नेत्रम्, दीप्त-हुताश-वक्त्रम्, स्व-तेजसा इदम् विश्वम् तपन्तम्, त्वाम् पश्यामि ।

अनादि-मध्य-अन्तम्, you can understand, आदि means beginning, मध्यम् means middle, अन्तम् means end. So अनादि-मध्य-अन्तम् means without beginning, middle or end, आदि-मध्य-अन्त रहितम्. So based on this only a great संस्कृत poet, a great scholar but he was extremely poor also, generally where सरस्वती is there, generally लक्ष्मी doesn't go along with her, there seems to be some tiff between them! So this person is a great scholar सरस्वती is there, लक्ष्मी, money is not there. So he was wearing only rags, tattered clothes and being poet, everything he can put in verse form, he was looking at the tattered rags and he was chanting this verse,

वस्त्र-सदृशम् हरिम् ॥

I offer my prostrations to the Lord, who is comparable to my clothes. How his cloth and Lord be compared? He says आदिमध्यान्तरहितम्, being tattered rags you cannot find out which is beginning, middle or end; दशाहीनम्, the word दशा has two meanings, one is the end of the cloth is called दशा and the various conditions like old age, disease etc., is also called दशा or even astrological शनि दशा, राहु दशा, that is also दशा. So this poet says, my cloth is also दशाहीनम्, everything is torn and Lord also is दशाहीनः, He doesn't have any दशा, शनि दशा, राहु दशा are not there. You are also दशाहीनम् Oh Lord and my dress is also दशाहीनम्; पुरातनम् – my dress is also the most ancient one and Oh Lord you are पुरातनः; then अद्वितीयम् – matchless, you are also matchless and you can never find a cloth like mine, अद्वितीयम्; अहम् वन्दे मत्-वस्त्र-सदृशम् हरिम् – the Lord who is like my वस्त्रम् to that हरि I prostrate, नमस्कारम्. Anyway that is a different thing. So, here अनादि-मध्य-अन्तम्. अनन्त-वीर्यम् – you are the Lord of infinite power, अनन्त-वीर्यम्, अनन्त-शक्तिमान्, Omnipotent, by which you are able to create this universe itself. Then अनन्त-बाहुम् – with endless hands or arms, अनन्ताः बाहवः यस्य, अनन्त-बाहुम्. And here also you should remember don't imagine one god standing with countless hands hanging all over. That is not the picture, the idea is what all the hands belonging to all the people really belong to the Lord alone and therefore all the hands that I see are भगवान्'s hands, therefore अनन्त-बाहुम्. Then शशि-सूर्य-नेत्रम्, an important one, Oh Lord, your eyes are nothing but the Sun and the moon, शशि means moon, सूर्यः means the Sun, because eyes are capable of making things visible, known, because of the eyes alone things are visible. And similarly, because of Sun and moon alone, the world during the day becomes visible and therefore for me these are the eyes, for the विश्वरूप Sun and the Moon are the eyes and from this it becomes very clear that विश्वरूप is not again another form, it is not a special form which appeared in front but विश्वरूप is what, the very universe itself for which the Sun and the moon are the illuminating principles.

सूर्यो यथा सर्वलोकस्य चक्षुः न लिप्यते चाक्षुषैर्बाह्यदोषैः । ॥ कठोपनिषत्

We saw. Not only that, if you remember तत्त्वबोध, there we mentioned that every sense organ has got a presiding deity, every sense organ has a presiding deity. For example what is the presiding deity of the eyes? चक्षुषः सूर्य. And since the Sun is the presiding deity of the eye the Sun becomes the eye of the Lord. So therefore the approach is what, whatever be the presiding deity of my organ, that presiding deity becomes the organ of the Lord. So रसनाय वरुणः, वरुण देवता is the presiding deity of the tasting tongue and वरुण becomes the tongue of the Lord. So therefore here it is said that सूर्य is the eye of the Lord, शशि-सूर्य-नेत्रम्. And next one also you can see, दीप्त-हुताश-वक्त्रम् – अग्नि or the fire देवता, अग्नि देवता is the mouth of the Lord. And why do we say अग्नि is the mouth of the Lord? Two reasons; first reason, in तत्त्वबोध we have seen वाचः देवता वह्निः, I don't know whether you remember, वाचः देवता वह्निः, the presiding deity of the वाक् इन्द्रियम् is अग्नि देवता, therefore अग्नि देवता becomes the mouth of the Lord. This is one reason and the second reason is what, mouth swallows everything, स्वाहा, whatever put in the mouth it just disappears. Therefore it is a great swallower of the oblations you put all the time, right from the morning, स्वाहा, स्वाहा, स्वाहा. So just as the mouth swallows everything, अग्नि, the fire principle also swallows everything especially during the rituals and therefore अग्नि becomes the mouth of the Lord. And we are going to focus the fiery mouth of the Lord later, so you can keep it aside, we will bring this topic again. And therefore अर्जुन says, Oh Lord, I am looking at your mouth which is nothing but fire, so वक्त्रम् means mouth and हुताश means fire. It is called हुताश because हुतम् अश्नाति इति हुताशः – that which consumes all the oblations, हुतम् means oblations, अश means the consumer, the consumer of oblations. And that too what type of अग्नि? दीप्तहुताश, दीप्त means well kindled, it has become a huge conflagration. So this huge conflagration of fire is your mouth ever ready to take any number of things, ready to swallow anything and that mouth also I am seeing and when अर्जुन sees the fiery mouth of the Lord he is frightened and therefore turns his eyes away, he closes his eyes, because if you see it is frightening. Not only that, this fire is so huge, the fiery mouth is so big that it scorches the whole universe with its radiation. So अर्जुन says, स्व-तेजसा – with its radiation, with its heat, विश्वम् इदम् तपन्तम् – it is scorching the earth, don't we feel the heat of the Sun even during the night, after the Sun-set. Remember, that belongs to the Lord. The fire in the Sun belongs to the Lord, we will see in the 15th chapter, I am the light, fire in the Sun and how much heat it has got, not only during day time, even now those who are not under the fan (and even those who are under the fan) they will feel the scorching heat of the Sun, which is 9 crores miles away and which has already set and even after that we are feeling and what is that, विश्वरूप you are experiencing. Therefore whenever you are feeling the discomfort caused by humidity, describe Oh Lord I am intimately experiencing the विश्वरूप, then you won't complain, 'sho sho sho' you will not say and imagine the power goes, a few days before it happened and you can see the people running here and there, it is already 10 o'clock and AC is not working, fan is not working, therefore firing the TNEB all those things, why because विश्वरूप I cannot withstand. But if you make an attitudinal change you experience divinity, OK. So स्व-तेजसा विश्वम् इदम् तपन्तम्, Continuing;

द्यावापृथिव्योरिदमन्तरं हि व्याप्तं त्वयैकेन दिशश्च सर्वाः ।

दृष्ट्वाद्भुतं रूपमुग्रं तवेदं लोकत्रयं प्रव्यथितं महात्मन् ॥ ११-२०॥

द्यावा-पृथिव्योः इदम् अन्तरम् हि व्याप्तम् त्वया एकेन दिशः च सर्वाः ।

दृष्ट्वा अद्भुतम् रूपम् उग्रम् तव इदम् लोक-त्रयम् प्रव्यथितम् महात्मन् ॥

इदम् द्यावा-पृथिव्योः अन्तरम् त्वया व्याप्तम् – so the entire gap between the earth and the heavens, the intermediary space between the earth and the heavens, that means the whole place around is pervaded by you. That means what: the whole universe obtaining in between is Your very body. So that is why in विष्णुसहस्रनाम, भूः पादौ यस्य नाभिर्विन्दसुरनिलश्चन्द्र सूर्यो च नेत्रे कर्णावाशाः शिरो द्यौर्मुखमपि दहनो यस्य वास्तेयमब्धिः । The entire space is नाभिः, नाभिः means what: the central portion of the body is the entire universe, earth is the feet of the Lord and the upper sky is the head of the Lord. That is why Lord शिव is called blue-necked Lord, because the sky is blue, which is the neck of the Lord and all the planets and stars are the diamonds, the ornaments which are worn by the Lord, so when you are seeing the अकाश what are you to see, the अलङ्कृत नीलकण्ठः, I should see bedecked नीलकण्ठः ईश्वरः. Therefore द्यावा-पृथिव्योः अन्तरम् इदम् व्याप्तम्, by you एकेन, so एकेन means what: without a second thing, wholly pervaded by you, totally pervaded by you. And not only that दिशः च सर्वाः – all the 10 directions are your body, pervaded by you, 10 directions means, 4 main directions, cardinal ones and 4 intermediary ones, NE, NW, etc. and then up and down below, all of them are pervaded by you and इदम् अद्भुतम् रूपम् दृष्ट्वा – I am able to appreciate this wonderful form of yours, which was there before also. But before I could not enjoy this wonder because I was looking at the universe from my personal angle, the moment I look at the universe as a person then immediately the world is fragmented, I just divide a certain portion as favorable, therefore राग विषय and another portion as unfavorable द्वेष विषय and once that private colored vision comes I can never enjoy, I will be worried about my future, अहङ्कार ममकार etc., everything will come. Therefore, previously I could never stand and stare at the stars and appreciate You, but now I have forgotten myself as अर्जुन and I don't remember anything as my possession, I and mine are not there, therefore You alone are. Therefore अद्भुतम्, but at the same time, अर्जुन has seen the fiery mouth of the Lord. Everything else is beautiful, all the other areas are wonderful, but he has seen the fiery mouth of the Lord which is capable of swallowing everything, Lord as a destroying principle. Lord as the creative principle, we all enjoy, Lord as the sustaining principle we all admire, but there is a third facet of Lord, not only सृष्टि कारणम्, not only स्थिति कारणम्, but the very same Lord is the लय कारणम्, which is represented by the fiery mouth. When अर्जुन saw the Lord as the death principle, the destroyer principle, अर्जुन has got fear also. Therefore now अर्जुन has got a mixed feeling, one side is wonder, another side is fear also and therefore he adds both words, अद्भुतम् and उग्रम् – it is wonderful and also frightening. So उग्रम् means भयङ्करम्, I am seeing the terrible, destructive form of Yours and seeing that aspect of destruction, Oh Lord लोकत्रयम् प्रव्यथितम् – the whole world is frightened. If we are afraid of one thing, what is that, death, if there is any news of any terrible event anywhere in the world, immediately you phone your relative to check that they are alright, let 5,000 die or 10,000 die, my cousin is alright in Chicago, enough. So one thing we don't want anything around is death, either for me or for a few people around. This is the fundamental insecurity and everybody has got this running sense of insecurity constantly throughout and therefore अर्जुन says, लोकत्रयम् – all the लोकs, even the animals have got instinctive fear of death, therefore all the three लोकs including देवs, असुरs, मनुष्यs, पशुs, पक्षिs, insects, even an ant, they are all frightened of You, the death principle, represented by the fiery mouth, हे महात्मन्, महात्मन् means विश्वरूप, महान् आत्मा शरीरम् यस्य महात्मा, सम्बोधना is हे महात्मन्, Continuing;

अमी हि त्वां सुरसङ्घा विशन्ति केचिद्भीताः प्राञ्जलयो गृणन्ति ।

अमी हि त्वाम् सुर-सङ्घाः विशन्ति केचित् भीताः प्राञ्जलयः गृणन्ति ।
स्वस्ति इति उक्त्वा महर्षि-सिद्ध-सङ्घाः स्तुवन्ति त्वाम् स्तुतिभिः पुष्कलाभिः॥ ११-२१॥

अमी हि सुर-सङ्घाः त्वाम् विशन्ति, केचित् भीताः प्राञ्जलयः गृणन्ति, महर्षि-सिद्ध-सङ्घाः स्वस्ति इति उक्त्वा पुष्कलाभिः स्तुतिभिः त्वाम् स्तुवन्ति ।

How do different people respond to the विश्वरूप ईश्वरः? So that is described here, सुर-सङ्घाः अमी विशन्ति – all the देव्स who are all informed people, relatively enlightened people, they appreciate the विश्वरूप ईश्वर and they approach You with prayers, therefore सुर-सङ्घाः – groups of gods, Your devotees, त्वाम् विशन्ति – they approach You. Even though You have got a frightening form, they have understood that भगवान्'s destruction is धार्मिक destruction and it is constructive destruction and once that is understood properly it is not frightening. Maturity is required to face death, to face destruction and the देव्स being mature they approach You with prayers, केचित् भीताः – there are some other people, they also approach you, not out of admiration or devotion or reverence, but out of sheer fear. Different people approach God with different attitudes, wise people approach the Lord because of understanding and immature, ignorant people approach the Lord out of fear. In fact, religion is often practiced because of fear. So if somebody has been doing a पूजा and I do it, स्वामिजि I find it very difficult, but if I drop I am worried, भगवान् will get angry. That is what we have told our children, भगवान् will cut the nose and put chilli powder there. So therefore they have to do, that is why if there are several photos in the पूजा room, you carefully show दीपाशयन to everyone or else कार्तिकेय will come and That is how religion is generally practiced. It is OK. Fear is required to keep a person in धार्मिक path until maturity comes. So mother has to use sometimes, even government has to use fear, if you don't follow the law you will be imprisoned, but it is used until a person becomes discriminative, but later the fear should be replaced by wisdom based appreciation. So in the first line, the mature ones approach with wisdom-based appreciation, the second line we are talking about immature people approaching because of fear, therefore केचित् भीताः प्राञ्जलयः – with prostrations, अञ्जलिः means a मुद्रा joining the palms together, that मुद्रा is called अञ्जलिः, प्राञ्जलयः गृणन्ति and there are several prayers to get out of fear. So भय निवारक श्लोकः, so they approach with that. In केरल, they have a prayer which they say one should chant before going to bed. So for 'अलतुर्' हनुमान् it is addressed, 'I should not have frightening dreams and even if such dreams come, I should not suddenly get up with fright'. Whenever fear comes हनुमान् is addressed. So, 'I should not have frightening dreams and even if such dreams come, I should not suddenly get up with fright' it is not good for health. Many people get heart-attack and die because of that. So therefore we have got fear removing prayers, so some people approach with those prayers, गृणन्ति means they chant prayers and there are some other people महर्षि-सिद्ध-सङ्घाः – groups of ऋषि who are enlightened, who know the Lord very well and nature of the Lord, so महर्षि and सिद्धः, सिद्धः means again great ऋषि, who have got great miraculous powers, those born with natural सिद्धि are called सिद्ध and all such people also स्वस्ति इति उक्त्वा – they declare aloud, they chant, let there be auspiciousness to the world, मङ्गलम् अस्तु, भद्रम् अस्तु and especially such a prayer is required because a huge war is going to take place. Now also the situation is going to be like that, in महाभारत also a war is about to start, now also it appears as though a war is supposed to start, therefore भद्रम्. Even if such a war happens let it be the destruction of अमङ्गलम्, let it be the destruction of evil, let the good be protected and that is said by the word स्वस्ति, स्वस्ति means मङ्गलम् and स्तुवन्ति त्वम् स्तुतिभिः – these महर्षिs and सिद्धs glorify you, praise You with स्तोत्रम्, hymns or prayers which are पुष्कलाभिः – which are complete and comprehensive, comprehensive means the prayers which talk about all the glories of the Lord.

गन्धर्वयक्षासुरसिद्धसङ्घा वीक्षन्ते त्वां विस्मिताश्चैव सर्वे ॥ ११-२२॥

रुद्र-आदित्याः वसवः ये च साध्याः विश्वे अश्विनौ मरुतः च उष्मपाः च ।

गन्धर्व-यक्ष-असुर-सिद्ध-सङ्घाः वीक्षन्ते त्वाम् विस्मिताः च एव सर्वे ॥ ११-२२॥

रुद्र-आदित्याः, वसवः, ये च साध्याः, विश्वे अश्विनौ च, मरुतः, उष्मपाः च, गन्धर्व-यक्ष-असुर-सिद्ध-सङ्घाः च सर्वे विस्मिताः एव त्वाम् वीक्षन्ते ।

So अर्जुन says, Oh Lord this विश्वरूपम् is accessible not only to me but it is available for all the people who have got the दिव्य चक्षुः. As I said, the Lord as the universe is already there right from the moment of creation. विश्वरूपम् comes into being the moment the world is created, because the world is विश्वरूपम् and therefore the availability of विश्वरूपम् is universal and if there are some people who are missing it is not because of the non-availability of the विश्वरूप but it is because the cataract vision, it is because of my अहङ्कार and ममकार, it is my private projection which is denying me the विश्वरूपम्. Therefore, wherever अहङ्कार and ममकार are subdued or reduced विश्वरूप is available and therefore those who have got lesser अहम्-मम, they are already appreciating and who are they, big list is given, रुद्राः – the 11 रुद्रs, these are all various groups of celestials in the higher लोकs. I have told you before, in स्वर्गलोक also several colonies are there, some of them with better facilities, more पुण्यम् whoever has done and then lesser facilities, इन्द्र has got some special facilities and these various groups are known by different names, रुद्राः is one group, 11 in number, आदित्याः, द्वादश 12 आदित्यः, वसवः – the 8 वसुः. They are supposed to be the prominent ones like cabinet ministers, others are like ordinary MLAs and MPs, but these रुद्रः, वसुः and आदित्यः have special right to receive oblations in rituals, they are all called हुतभुक् देवताः, then साध्याः – another group of देवताः are called साध्याः, then विश्वे another group of देवताः which is very big, many in number, countless, so विश्वेदेवः, generally known as विश्वेदेवः, then अश्विनौ – another group of two members, अश्विनीकुमारौ, then मरुतः – another group of देवताः, 49 in number, don't ask me, you are telling as though you have counted them, these are all said in scriptures, scriptures say 49, but if you say No No No, only 48, OK, you can take 48. whatever you take you take, set of देवताः, उष्मपाः च, उष्मपाः means पितृ देवताः, then गन्धर्व-यक्ष-असुर-सिद्ध-सङ्घाः – groups of गन्धर्वः, यक्षः, असुरः, सिद्धः (and सङ्घः you should not say) सङ्घः means groups, therefore the सङ्घः is not the name of देवता, सङ्घः means group. So all of them सर्वे वीक्षन्ते – they are all appreciating the विश्वरूप and not only they all see, they are also in wonderment, like me. They are all wonderstruck, like me, विस्मिताः means आश्चर्यचरिताः, stunned. More in the next class.

Blessed by Lord कृष्ण with दिव्य चक्षुः, that means an appropriate mind by which a person can appreciate the whole universe as the body of the Lord, अर्जुन is having विश्वरूपदर्शनम् of the Lord. And I pointed out that अर्जुन goes through three phases and in each phase, अर्जुन response is different and of these three phases, the first stage is one of wonder, because anything you appreciate in totality, in mass scale it produces wonderment. Even though you see water all the time but when the same water flows in a huge quantity, as Niagara waterfalls, then it becomes one of the wonders of the world. There is nothing new, water you know and the mountain you know and waterfalls also you know, but still when it happens in a huge magnitude, there are five million people or so visiting that every year or something. So what is the difference, anything in mass scale produces wonderment. When you appreciate विश्वरूप everything is in a huge magnitude and therefore विस्मयः or आश्चर्यम् is the first response and that is described very beautifully and poetically by व्यासाचार्य from the 15th verse up to the 22nd verse and we were seeing the 22nd verse in the last class wherein अर्जुन says not only I am appreciating the विश्वरूप and all those mature minded people, they are also having विश्वरूपदर्शनम् all the time, रुद्र-आदित्याः वसवः साध्याः, later गन्धर्व-यक्ष-असुर-सिद्ध-सङ्घाः, all of them are वीक्षन्ते, they are appreciating. And one advantage is: for this विश्वरूप appreciation you need not stand in a long queue, buying Rs.100, Rs.200 tickets, all those things are not required, there is no crowd at all, anywhere you can stand without anybody saying: 'Move On', without anybody saying 'Move On' you can appreciate without any competition. Therefore सर्वे वीक्षन्ते, for this I told, सर्वे वीक्षन्ते, without any difficulty and the uniform appreciation of all the people is: विस्मिताः च एव – all the people are wonderstruck. Now we are going to the next stage where अर्जुन's response changes and that is going to be described hereafter, from the next verse we will read:

Verse No .23

रूपं महते बहुवक्त्रनेत्रं महाबाहो बहुबाहूरूपादम् ।

बहूदरं बहुदंष्ट्राकरालं दृष्ट्वा लोकाः प्रव्यथितास्तथाहम् ॥ ११-२३॥

रूपम् महत् ते बहु-वक्त्र-नेत्रम् महा-बाहो बहु-बाहु-ऊरु-पादम् ।

बहु-उदरम् बहु-दंष्ट्रा-करालम् दृष्ट्वा लोकाः प्रव्यथिताः तथा अहम् ॥ ११-२३॥

हे महा-बाहो! बहु-वक्त्र-नेत्रम्, बहु-बाहु-ऊरु-पादम्, बहु-उदरम्, बहु-दंष्ट्रा-करालम् ते महत् रूपम् दृष्ट्वा लोकाः प्रव्यथिताः, तथा अहम् (अपि व्यथितः अस्मि)।

While appreciating विश्वरूप, अर्जुन happens to see the mouth of the Lord, the विश्वरूप, which was briefly mentioned in one of the previous verses, in the 19th verse, पश्यामि त्वाम् दीप्त-हुताश-वक्त्रम्, Lord's mouth was described as a huge conflagration of fire. And here the Lord's mouth represents the time principle. It is not the physical mouth that is being talked about but the mouth represents the time principle and the time not as the creator principle but the time as the destructive aspect. Because काल has got all the three functions, काल the time is responsible for the origination of thing, the very same time is responsible for the continued existence of a thing and the very same time principle is responsible for the destruction also. And when you look at the Lord as काल, the creative principle, the Lord is called ब्रह्मा, when the very same God is looked upon the काल, the sustaining principle, then the same Lord is called विष्णु and when you look upon God as काल, the destroying principle, कालाग्निरुद्राय He is called शिव,

कालाय कालाग्निरुद्राय नीलकण्ठाय मृत्युञ्जयाय सर्वेश्वराय सदाशिवाय श्रीमन्महादेवाय नमः ॥

When Lord शिव is described in श्रीरुद्रम्, one of the नाम is कालाग्निरुद्राय. Here अर्जुन happens to see the mouth of the Lord which represents the कालाग्नि, the destructive principle. And when a person looks at the destructive principle one is not going to be happy about it. So naturally the emotion is what, one of fear. So भगवान् as सृष्टि कर्ता everybody loves, भगवान् as स्थिति कर्ता everybody loves more, but भगवान् as लय कर्ता everybody is frightened. And अर्जुन happens to see that लय, the destroyer and therefore he is frightened and this represents the principle that the विश्वरूप consists of pairs of opposites. So if you have to worship विश्वरूप, you have to worship both aspect of विश्वरूप, accepting one aspect of the Lord and rejecting the other aspect is a lopsided vision. Therefore Lord as विश्वरूप has opposite principles and if you understand them as inseparable or complimentary features you will not be frightened. If you see them as pairs of opposites it will frighten you, if you look upon them as a complimentary whole it will not frighten you and what is the first and most important pair of opposite, birth and death are the two sides of विश्वरूप. If you look at the creation every moment things are Born - Is - Gone, Born - Is - Gone, 'Born' is ब्रह्मा, 'Is' is विष्णु, 'Gone' is शिव तत्त्वम्. Even during this moment in our body itself several cells are appearing, existing and disappearing. So if I should appreciate born aspect of the Lord, I should prepare the mind to accept the gone aspect also. Our problem is what, we are happy that we are born, but we want to eternally remain. We don't mind other people dying, that is OK for me. When other people die we quote गीता, we are experts in भगवद्गीता, जातस्य हि ध्रुवः मृत्युः ध्रुवम् जन्म मृतस्य च. Birth and death are two sides of the same coin, the one who is born will have to die, but the question is: are we ready to accept it when the very same death is going to come near us. Even sometimes we are happy to accept our death, but we don't want death happening around to near and dear ones. So विश्वरूप appreciation means, I should accept birth and death both as मङ्गलम्. I should not look upon one as मङ्गलम् and the other as अमङ्गलम्, that means I have a lopsided vision; birth is मङ्गलम्, death is also मङ्गलम्. Similarly, growth is मङ्गलम्, decay is also मङ्गलम्; health is मङ्गलम्, disease also मङ्गलम्; union is मङ्गलम्, people coming together and separation is also मङ्गलम्; day is मङ्गलम्, night is also मङ्गलम्. Thus everything we should see as integral part of विश्वरूप, there is nothing undivine to me, nothing that is unacceptable to me. This attitude is maturity. And if this maturity is not there भगवान् will appear to be compassionate at some time and the very same भगवान् will appear to be cruel at another time. The cruelty that I see in भगवान् is not the cruelty in भगवान्, it indicates my immaturity. And in the case of अर्जुन, he is not totally mature and therefore he is not able to withstand the other side of भगवान् which represents destruction, disease, etc. And that भयम् aspect is described from verse no.23 up to 30. विश्वरूप as a source of fear for immature people, ignorant people, अहङ्कार ममकार युक्त people. So he says here, ते रूपम् महत् – Oh Lord Your विश्वरूपम् is indeed infinite, wonderful, बहु-वक्त्र-नेत्रम् – which has got countless number of faces and eyes, वक्त्रम् means face or mouth, नेत्रम् means eyes, they are infinite in number, not only they are many, बहु-बाहु-ऊरु-पादम् – Your hands are many, ऊरु, ऊरु means thighs, thighs are many, पादम् – feet are many, हे महा-बाहो! – Oh Lord with innumerable hands and बहु-उदरम् – your stomachs are also many, Your bellies are innumerable, why because every belly is Your belly, remember, not one Lord sitting with many bellies, every belly is Your belly. But only one part of you I don't want to see, if that comes I will close the eyes, like some people going to the movie and if there is any bloodshed or violence they close the eyes and then they ask the neighbor whether such a scene is over, Similarly, अर्जुन has come to a horror movie as it were and what is the terrible aspect, the mouth of the Lord. Therefore अर्जुन says, बहु-दंष्ट्रा-कण्ठम् – Your mouth is frightening with many protruding teeth, protruding canines like the sharp teeth of the tiger, when the tiger opens the mouth we can see the sharp longer ones, Oh Lord You also have that protruding tusk, the sharp teeth, which is called दंष्ट्रा and when I look that, I thought they are only for रक्षस, but I am in seeing in Your mouth also and I have read in all the scriptures also that You are compassionate, You are सौम्यः, You are pleasant to look, all of them are falsified, because I am seeing a frightening mouth and not one or two, tiger may have 2 above and 2 below, but for You, बाहु – countless and दृष्ट्वा – when I look at that mouth with the protruding canines, लोकाः प्रव्यथिताः – all the people are frightened of that terrible aspect of Yours, प्रव्यथिताः – means frightened. So, अर्जुन says the whole world is frightened. What about him? He feels ashamed to tell that, he is also frightened, but अर्जुन is known for his valor, known for his courage and therefore he doesn't want to openly admit. Therefore he says the whole world is frightened (that he is telling very loudly) and thereafter in a silent murmur he says: तथा अहम् – I am also. Like in big function when they are serving पायसम्, you love that पायसम् and that person is going all around except coming to you. Now you feel shy to call that person, so what do you do? Please come, this person wants पायसम्, you call him and ask him, the other person doesn't need it, but after serving him, quietly you say, please give me also a little bit, that is without the other people knowing, Similarly, अर्जुन uses that trick, the whole world is frightened, तथा अहम्, I am also frightened. That he is going to describe further.

Verse No .24

नभःस्पृशं दीप्तमनेकवर्णं व्यात्ताननं दीप्तविशालनेत्रम् ।

दृष्ट्वा हि त्वां प्रव्यथितान्तरात्मा धृतिं न विन्दामि शमं च विष्णो ॥ ११-२४॥

नभः-स्पृशम् दीप्तम् अनेक-वर्णम् व्यात्त-आननम् दीप्त-विशाल-नेत्रम् ।

दृष्ट्वा हि त्वाम् प्रव्यथित-अन्तर-आत्मा धृतिम् न विन्दामि शमम् च विष्णो ॥ ११-२४॥

हे विष्णो! त्वाम् नभः-स्पृशम्, दीप्तम्, अनेक-वर्णम्, व्यात-आननम्, दीप्त-विशाल-नेत्रम्, दृष्ट्वा हि (अहम्) प्रव्यथित-अन्तर-आत्मा (भूत्वा) धृतिम् शमम् च न विन्दामि ।

So one side अर्जुन is appreciating the wonderful form, but even if he doesn't want to look at the mouth keeps coming, like a frightening movie if you have seen, the picture comes repeatedly, like that, it has given such a tremendous impact, अर्जुन is going on describing that frightening mouth, which symbolizes time principle. Therefore first he describes, Oh Lord indeed You are wonderful, नभः-स्पृशम् – Your form is touching the sky, so You pervade all over the world, नभः means sky, in विष्णुसहस्रनाम,

दिवःस्पृक् सर्वदृग्व्यासो वाचस्पतिर्योनिजः ॥ श्रीविष्णुसहस्रनामस्तोत्रम् ६१ ॥

दिवःस्पृक् or दिविस्पृक् that is the word here, नभःस्पृक्, दिवःस्पृक् etc., means touching the sky, दीप्तम् अनेक-वर्णम् – You are effulgent, with millions of stars and planets, You are effulgent दीप्तम्, अनेक-वर्णम्, you have got manifold colors, because all colors are Your colors only and again अर्जुन's eye goes to व्यात-आननम्, he is trying to avoid but again and again it comes, भगवान् should have kept the mouth closed, so therefore he sees the mouth which is व्यातम्, व्यातम् means fully विवृतम्, fully open. So व्यात-आननम् – I see the mouth which has got fire inside as well as sharp teeth also and दीप्त-विशाल-नेत्रम् – I see Your eyes also which are very large and which are very shining, Your shining and large eyes also I see and for the विश्वरूप ईश्वर the Sun and the Moon are the eyes, सूर्यं चन्द्राग्निं लोचनः, so I see the large eyes in the form of the Sun and the Moon and त्वाम् दृष्ट्वा – seeing this form of Yours and especially the mouth of Yours, प्रव्यथित-अन्तर-आत्मा – my innermost heart is frightened, disturbed, tormented, afflicted, अन्तरात्मा means the mind here, not the आत्मा, अन्तरात्मा here means अन्तःकरणम्, it reaches the innermost heart of mine, धृतिम् न विन्दामि – I have lost the steadiness of heart, I am disturbed, I am weakened, शमम् च विष्णो – I have lost my peace of mind, my tranquility is disturbed, I have become restless. Because कालम् has got several negative aspects, old age itself is frightening and in old age everything becomes weaker and everything against me becomes stronger. So, now we have got immunity against all diseases, systematically immunity will be taken. Every disease around will become stronger, any disease traveling anywhere, I will become very hospitable person for the disease, if somebody somewhere sneezes then I catch the cold and systematically भगवान् robes the immunity, one by one the diseases comes, and loneliness comes, and one by one people go away, as long as I am not thinking about all these, it is OK, but once I start thinking what happens, प्रव्यथित-अन्तर-आत्मा, all because of कालम् and कालम् is an integral part of विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. In भागवतम् Lord is often named कालः, in विष्णुसहस्रनाम also the word कालः occurs. Therefore I have lost my peace of mind. Continuing;

Verse No .25

दंष्ट्राकरालानि च ते मुखानि दृष्ट्वैव कालानलसन्निभानि ।

दिशो न जाने न लभे च शर्म प्रसीद देवेश जगन्निवास ॥ ११-२५॥

दंष्ट्रा-करालानि च ते मुखानि दृष्ट्वा एव काल-अनल-सन्निभानि ।

दिशः न जाने न लभे च शर्म प्रसीद देवेश जगत्-निवास ॥ ११-२५॥

हे देवेश! हे जगत्-निवास! काल-अनल-सन्निभानि दंष्ट्रा-करालानि च ते मुखानि दृष्ट्वा एव (अहम्) दिशः न जाने, शर्म च न लभे, (अतः त्वं) प्रसीद ।

अर्जुन's mind again goes to the mouth of the Lord, he is not seeing anything other than the mouth, so ते मुखानि – Your mouths which are frightening with the protruding teeth, protruding teeth symbolizes the pain that is caused to the individual, काल as the cause of pain, that is symbolized by sharp teeth. So your mouth is frightening with the sharp teeth and which are comparable to काल-अनल-सन्निभानि – which are comparable to प्रलयकाल अग्नि. Because according to the scriptures at the time of प्रलय the whole creation is gradually dissolved and there are five elements, अकाश, वायु, अग्नि, जलम्, पृथिवी, these five elements are created in a particular order, अकाश, वायु, अग्नि, जलम्, पृथिवी, at the time of प्रलयम् the resolution takes place in a reverse order. So विपर्ययः अतः, that means what everything is supposed to be in पृथिवी तत्त्वम्, पृथिवी the earth principle is dissolved in जल तत्त्वम्, that is the प्रलय and जलम् is supposed to be resolved in अग्नि तत्त्वम् and that अग्नि is called प्रलयकाल अग्नि which absorbs everything including the fourteen लोकs and that काल-अनल-सन्निभानि, similar to that प्रलयकाल अग्नि is Your mouth and when I look at that mouth, दिशः न जाने – that seems to be pervading all over, that I have lost the sense of the direction. Directions you can talk about only when you look at from the stand point of one Sun, when you look at the totality of creation, east, west and all of them are meaningless, even time is meaningless, even date is meaningless, the date in our country is not the date in some other country. If you cross the dateline, date changes, all of them changes. Suppose you are standing on the dateline, of course imaginary line, then all becomes meaningless from the angle of totality. Therefore दिशः न जाने – I cannot think of the directions, न लभे च शर्म – I am greatly disturbed. So I wonder whether you are a compassionate Lord or whether you are cruel Lord. When you see suffering all over, that is why many people become atheistic seeing the suffering. They all love God as long as things are going fine, when a tragedy strikes them or tragedy strikes some innocent people, some earthquake, now you have to include that in चैन्नै also, why भगवान् creates earthquakes? Why can't everything be fine! Why भगवान् creates cyclones? So when you see suffering then our opinion regarding God gradually get revised and some people even turn atheistic. Maturity is required to accept both aspect equally.

Therefore अर्जुन himself is reconsidering, I am greatly disturbed Oh Lord, न लभे च शर्म, शर्म means peace of mind, I have lost; प्रसीद देवेश जगत्-निवास – Oh Lord, be gracious to me, at least don't open the mouth, everything is fine at least close Your mouth, प्रसीद, be gracious to me, हे जगत्-निवास – Oh Lord who is the abode of the whole cosmos. Continuing;

Verse No .26

अमी च त्वां धृतराष्ट्रस्य पुत्राः सर्वे सहैवावनिपालसङ्घैः ।

भीष्मो द्रोणः सूतपुत्रस्तथासौ सहास्मदीयैरपि योधमुख्यैः ॥ ११-२६॥

अमी च त्वाम् धृतराष्ट्रस्य पुत्राः सर्वे सह एव अवनिपाल-सङ्घैः ।

भीष्मः द्रोणः सूत-पुत्रः तथा असौ सह अस्मदीयैः अपि योध-मुख्यैः ॥ ११-२६॥

So this is the irony of the situation. When you try to avoid certain thoughts, what you very intensely try to avoid that alone keeps coming. Similarly, what अर्जुन doesn't want to see भगवान्'s mouth, but what is happening is: the mouth becomes more and more prominent and now he is getting a zoom vision. You know what is zoom vision? Previously he saw only from distance, now he is getting a close up दर्शनम् of Lord's mouth. Again remember, here Lord's mouth is what, symbolic of कालम् and if you look upon कालम् as the mouth of the Lord, what is the job of कालम्, the mouth, keep on swallowing things, कालः जगत् भक्षकः । लक्ष्मीः तोय तरंगभंग चपला जीवितम् विद्युत् चलम् जीवितम् ।... ॥ शिवापराधक्षमापणस्तोत्रम् १३ ॥

कालः is जगत् भक्षकः. How does भगवान् eat or काल eat? There also it takes place gradually, the dishes are in the kitchen, it is going to be a destroyed by you but it is there in the kitchen. From the kitchen it is served on the leaf and even after being served on the leaf immediately they are not destroyed, after chanting the 15th chapter, ब्रह्मार्पणम् chanting and there also all items you don't simultaneously eat, you cannot, some of them remains in the leaf and then they enter into your mouth and they are destroyed. Similarly, all of us are eatables for भगवान्. And some of us are in the kitchen and some of us depending upon the age, already served on the leaf of the Lord and some of us भगवान् has not yet seen (big leaf you see, the items like pachadi, kichadi, pickle, पायसम्, etc). So some of us भगवान् has not observed, some of us have been already taken (first heart attack, second heart attack like that cases) and some of us already in the mouth of the Lord (we say that I went into the jaws of the death and I came out) and some of us, OK, don't say "us" if you are afraid, some other people have been already partially bitten by Lord. All these descriptions are coming be ready for these details. You should get out of the fear of old age, death, disease, all of them by understanding that these are all integral part of life. The more we try to avoid the more frightening it will be, better you meditate upon that aspect and understand that and get out of it. Now you are getting more description. So what is happening? So many people are entering into the mouth of the Lord. Because sooner or later what is going to take place here? Remember, the whole विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is in महाभारत battle field and अर्जुन is going to start the war and in a battle thousands of people have to die, therefore भगवान्'s mouth is going to become busier and busier and that is symbolically presented here, अर्जुन says many soldiers, Oh Lord, are entering into your mouth. So this is poetic description, don't imagine that these people are flying into the mouth of the Lord, it is a symbolic expression, soon war is going to begin and thousands are going to die. And he has got a zoom lens and therefore he is getting a vision of who are the people entering, who have not entered all these things अर्जुन sees. Who are the entering ones? He says, धृतराष्ट्रस्य पुत्राः – all the धार्तराष्ट्राः, कौरवाः they are entering Your mouth, indicating they are going to be destroyed very soon. So धृतराष्ट्रस्य पुत्राः, कौरवाः, अमी, these people who are right in front of me, there is no verb in this verse, you have to supply the verb collected from the next verse, in the next verse वक्त्राणि विशन्ति is there, that has to be supplied here, वक्त्राणि विशन्ति means they are entering your mouth, वक्त्रम् means mouth, विशन्ति means enter, who are entering, धृतराष्ट्रस्य पुत्राः वक्त्राणि विशन्ति. And not only the कौरव्स are entering, I see many soldiers from our side also. It seems after महाभारत war very few people survived, 7 members of 8 members, all of them finished. Therefore सर्वे सह एव अविनिपाल-सङ्घैः – with multitudes of kings, अविनिपालाः means kings, because in the olden days there were small kingdoms and each kingdom had a king, small king, big king, etc. So अविनिपालाः means राजानः, सङ्घ means in groups, all of them simultaneously, because they had powerful weapons, some people say that these weapons can be compared to atomic bomb, because when the ब्रह्मास्त्रम् description etc., we read in the पुराणs they seem to be some kind of a powerful bomb only, therefore in one weapon hundreds and thousands die and therefore अर्जुन says, सह एव – simultaneously hundreds and thousands are entering Your mouth. And the tragedy is अर्जुन asked for गीता wisdom only because of one reason. The primary reason was what? He could not accept the death of भीष्म, द्रोण, etc. He could not even face the imaginary death of them, what to talk of actual death? अर्जुन was trying to avoid. And here in विश्वरूपदर्शन he is seeing the death of all those near and dear ones, भीष्मः, so भीष्म whom I love the most, on whose lap I grew, that भीष्म is also entering Your mouth, then द्रोणः, my गुरु, he is also entering even though he is the most powerful warrior, he is also entering, then there is a good news: कर्ण. अर्जुन's no.1 enemy is कर्ण. So he sees कर्ण is also entering, then अर्जुन seems to be elated thinking very good, he deserves etc., therefore सूत-पुत्रः कर्ण is entering, तथा असौ सूत-पुत्रः and along with all of them, अस्मदीयैः अपि योध-मुख्यैः – many powerful warriors, अर्जुन's own son अभिमन्यु is going to have a very very tragic death, which अर्जुन cannot imagine at all, all these people are entering, हे कृष्ण! I cannot accept this fact. And what is the most important thing is accept this fact, it is a fact of life which we refuse to accept. As long as we refuse to a fact life is going to be miserable, that is why in the 2nd chapter itself कृष्ण said तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि. Intelligence is learning to accept choice-less situations in life, as long as we cannot accept choice-less situation life will be miserable, in fact, education is strengthening the mind to accept the choice-less and अर्जुन is not ready, therefore विश्वरूप is frightening. Therefore योध-मुख्यैः वक्त्राणि विशन्ति. Continuing;

केचिद्विलग्ना दशनान्तरेषु सन्दृश्यन्ते चूर्णितैरुत्तमाङ्गैः ॥ ११-२७॥

वक्त्राणि ते त्वरमाणाः विशन्ति दंष्ट्रा-करालानि भयानकानि ।

अमी च सर्वे धृतराष्ट्रस्य पुत्राः अवनिपाल-सङ्घैः सह एव, तथा भीष्मः द्रोणः असौ सूत-पुत्रः अस्मदीयैः अपि योध-मुख्यैः सह त्वाम् विशन्ति । ते दंष्ट्रा-करालानि भयानकानि वक्त्राणि त्वरमाणाः (विशन्ति), केचित् दशन-अन्तरेषु विलग्नाः चूर्णितैः उत्तम-अङ्गैः (युक्ताः) सन्दृश्यन्ते ।

अर्जुन continues to see the frightening mouth of the Lord. I hope that you will not have terrible dream tonight. So ते वक्त्राणि विशन्ति – all these people are entering your mouth and that too how, त्वरमाणाः – (can they not go little slow) they are all rushing not knowing, like the python, it keeps the mouth open and all the preys, it doesn't know that it is python, therefore they enter the mouth and the python closes the mouth and स्वाहा, over. Those creatures do not know that. Similarly, भगवान्'s mouth is like the python's mouth all these people not knowing they are entering Your mouth and what type of mouth, दंष्ट्रा-करालानि – which frighteningly protruding teeth or canine, therefore भयानकानि – it is terrible and then when I look into Your mouth, what is happening many have entered, like some people eat this peanut, you know, some people eat one at a time, there are some others who don't have patience, some 15-20 they gulp together and all of them you don't bite simultaneously, some of them are there in different part of the mouth and some of them are crushed. Similarly, like peanut many are entering भगवान्'s mouth and some of them have been bitten. I am not saying this, अर्जुन is describing, केचित् विलग्नाः – some people are caught in between, दशन-अन्तरेषु – between the teeth of the Lord, सन्दृश्यन्ते – I am seeing them and how, चूर्णितैः उत्तम-अङ्गैः – they have been partly bitten by the Lord, head alone is crushed, leg alone is crushed, stomach alone is crushed, they are all symbolic, again what do they symbolize different types of diseases taking away different parts, kidney failure, heart failure, pancreas failure, what is diabetics, pancreas failure, कालम् has bitten kidney, कालम् has bitten pancreas, all these are happening and nobody can stop all these things, in spite of medical advances none of them can be stopped, therefore better learn to accept them as part of life. So सन्दृश्यन्ते चूर्णितैः, चूर्णितैः means crushed, उत्तम-अङ्गम् means head, उत्तम-अङ्गैः चूर्णितैः सन्दृश्यन्ते. Continuing;

तथा तवामी नरलोकवीरा विशन्ति वक्त्राण्यभिविज्वलन्ति ॥ ११-२८॥

यथा नदीनाम् बहवः अम्बु-वेगाः समुद्रम् एव अभिमुखाः द्रवन्ति ।

तथा तव अमी नर-लोक-वीराः विशन्ति वक्त्राणि अभिविज्वलन्ति ॥ ११-२८॥

यथा नदीनाम् बहवः अम्बु-वेगाः अभिमुखाः समुद्रम् एव द्रवन्ति, तथा अमी नर-लोक-वीराः तव अभिविज्वलन्ति वक्त्राणि विशन्ति ।

So this is not the lot of the soldiers alone but this is the lot of all the living beings, because all of them will have to be ultimately resolved, because life is nothing but अव्यक्त अवस्था and व्यक्त अवस्था. We have all come, we have to go back to the Lord and again पुनरपि

जननम् and पुनरपि मरणम्. This is the very course of life. Therefore all of them are entering and अर्जुन wants to give an example, the example is that of the rivers. So there are countless rivers, innumerable rivers on the land, all of them are rushing towards only one destination, even though they may travel in zigzag motion, ultimately, आकाशात् पतितम् तोयम् यथा गच्छति सागरम् । Why they have to enter सागरम्? सागरम् means समुद्र, because they have all originated from the ocean only. Even though it appears they are originating from the mountains, remember that from the ocean alone water evaporates, becomes clouds, becomes rains and becomes rivers originating from mountains. So ultimately rivers come from ocean, they have to go back to ocean. All of us are like rivers, we have come from the Lord and we have to go back to the Lord and therefore he gives the example नदीनाम् अम्बु-वेगाः, अम्बु-वेगाः means streams or tributaries, so various streams of river, बहवः – many in number, नदीनाम् – of rivers, समुद्रम् एव अभिमुखाः द्रवन्ति – they are all flowing only in one direction and what is the direction, समुद्रम् अभिमुखाः – they are all going towards the ocean only, even though in a particular place it may appear to be flowing in opposite direction, but ultimately they will go to the ocean alone, therefore समुद्रम् एव अभिमुखाः – facing the ocean they are all rushing. In the same way, all of us, तथा अमी नर-लोक-वीराः – all these great warriors with protective gaurd and all those things, bullet proof, arrow proof, all of them they are wearing, but in spite of all of them, what is the protection we only saw, we thought America is the most secure and safest country and they were talking about defense against extra terrestrial attack, if somebody attacks from Mars how to send the rockets, so they were readying themselves for Mars attack but it comes from their own soil, what security? No security will work, when काल comes nobody can stop. Therefore all नर-लोक-वीराः अपि विशन्ति वक्त्राणि – they are all entering your mouth, what type of mouth, अभिविज्वलन्ति – which are blazing with अग्नि. Continuing;

Verse No .29

यथा प्रदीप्तं ज्वलनं पतङ्गा विशन्ति नाशाय समृद्धवेगाः ।

तथैव नाशाय विशन्ति लोकास्तवापि वक्त्राणि समृद्धवेगाः ॥ ११-२९॥

यथा प्रदीप्तम् ज्वलनम् पतङ्गाः विशन्ति नाशाय समृद्ध-वेगाः ।

तथा एव नाशाय विशन्ति लोकाः तव अपि वक्त्राणि समृद्ध-वेगाः ॥ ११-२९॥

यथा पतङ्गाः समृद्ध-वेगाः नाशाय प्रदीप्तम् ज्वलनम् विशन्ति, तथा एव लोकाः समृद्ध-वेगाः नाशाय तव अपि वक्त्राणि विशन्ति ।

So here another example is given to show how all living beings are rushing towards the mouth of the Lord. And here the example is that of small insects and other flies. So when there is a flame, an oil lamp is there, especially if the power goes and you have got an oil lamp you can watch, all the insects they will rush towards the flame, even though flame is going to be their destruction, they don't know, they are attracted by the brightness of the flame and therefore they rush towards the flame, either they get burned or they get into the oil and die. So they themselves rush towards their own destruction, Similarly, here the Lord's mouth is like the oil lamp and there is the blazing fire and we are all what, winged white-ant insect, like insects we are all rushing towards the flame which is inside the mouth of the Lord. So अर्जुन says पतङ्गाः ज्वलनम् विशन्ति, पतङ्गाः means insects or moth. So those insects which are attracted by bright object and generally insects are attracted by the light. That is why even when the winged white-ant comes, once in a while it comes, it came here also, whoever is sitting under the tube-light had it, it will rush towards that light only. Similarly, we are all like insects, पतङ्गाः ज्वलनम् विशन्ति – just as the moths rush towards the flame, ज्वलनम् means flame, which is प्रदीप्तम् – blazing and for what purpose they go, their own destruction, नाशाय, they invite their own destruction by rushing towards the flame, समृद्ध-वेगाः – with increased speed they rush towards the flame, तथा

एव – in the same way, लोकाः तव वक्त्राणि विशन्ति – all the living beings are rushing towards You only knowingly or unknowingly, समृद्ध-वेगाः – with increased speed, as we grow older the speed also increases as it were, for what, नाशाय – for the destruction of themselves. So thus काल तत्त्वम् is described in these verses as an integral part of विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. Therefore accept काल without resistance, if you want to avoid काल there is only one way out, we have to just as मार्कण्डेय embraced शिवलिङ्ग and then he was saved from काल, यमधर्मराज, Similarly, if you want to be saved from the mouth of the Lord, you should also embrace शिव and what is that शिव, आत्मा is the only place where देश and काल are absent. Therefore आत्म-शरणागति, आत्मज्ञानम् alone takes you.

अथ स्वभावात् अमृतेषु तेषु कथम् पुनः मृत्युधियः अवकाशः ॥ सदृशनम् २

The one who surrenders to मृत्युञ्जय शिवः, शिवः means आत्मतत्त्वम्, only in that place there is no देश and काल and as long as we are away from आत्मा we have to accept देश and काल as integral part. That is the तत्त्वम्, details of which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुद्व्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

While appreciating the विश्वरूप of the Lord blessed by a दिव्य चक्षुः, अर्जुन initially expresses wonderment seeing the magnitude of विश्वरूप, which consists of the whole creation along with time which is an integral part of विश्वरूप. We should always remember that time and space are an integral part of the creation. In fact, they are the property of the creation. It is not that time and space existed before and thereafter creation came in time and space, it is not. Time and space can never be separated from the creation. In fact, time and space arise along with the creation and once the creation is resolved, you can never conceive of time and space separate from creation. And this we can very very clearly see in our sleep experience. When the whole world is resolved in deep sleep state, not only the objects of the creation resolves, once the objects go away we don't experience time and space also. And again when we wake up, either to the dream world or waker's world, along with the creation time and space also come. From this it is very very clear time and space are an intrinsic property of the creation. And therefore naturally when अर्जुन experiences विश्वरूप, he experiences the time aspect of the creation also as an integral part of भगवान्, the विश्वरूप. And this time principle is symbolized by the, or as the mouth of the Lord. The time principle as the principle of creation or manifestation and the very time principle which is cause of unmanifestation or resolution. In fact, time is very much integrally there in every object and that time which is intrinsic in the object alone, makes the object arrive in the creation, makes the object grow old as the body grows old and make the object decay and make the object die also. This invisible, all-pervading, integral काल तत्त्वम् is symbolized as the mouth of the Lord. And this काल तत्त्वम् has two-fold शक्ति, one is the creative, as well as the destructive power and if अर्जुन had seen the creative aspect of the time he would not have faced any serious problems, he would have only seen the baby boom, you know TV, sometime they put the increase in population, every second or every minute a few members are added to the world population and the primary contributor is our country. Whether we contribute in any other field or not, we are contributing to one thing, what is that, population tick, they will show 1, 2, 3, etc. Therefore the creative power of time is contributing to the boom of the living beings. If अर्जुन had experienced that perhaps he would have seen it as a मङ्गल कर्म, if baby is born they will give sweets, only those things will be distributed if it is considered मङ्गलम्, but since अर्जुन was in the battle field and महाभारत war was to start soon, it is the destructive aspect of काल, which is prominent in the battle field. And therefore अर्जुन sees काल तत्त्वम् represented by the mouth of the Lord devouring or swallowing a number of living beings including the soldiers in the battlefield. If अर्जुन had the totality of vision, if अर्जुन had seen the विश्वरूप as an integral part having both birth and death as two sides of विश्वरूप, he will have seen both of them as मङ्गलम्. If I have got the totality of vision, since both are aspects of भगवान्, I can never accept one and reject one, I should say birth is also भगवान्, मङ्गल स्वरूपि, death is also भगवान् मङ्गल स्वरूपि. Union also is भगवान् मङ्गल स्वरूपि, departure is also; association is मङ्गलम्, disassociation is मङ्गलम्; growth is मङ्गलम्, decay is also equally मङ्गलम्; health is मङ्गलम् and ill-health is also मङ्गलम्. Thus if I accept the whole thing as मङ्गलम्, विश्वरूप will not be frightening. So this is one choice you have, what is that, accept everything as मङ्गलम्. Otherwise there is an alternative choice. What is that? See everything as अमङ्गलम्. OK, death is अमङ्गलम्, birth is also अमङ्गलम्. In fact, this is the Vedantic approach, जन्म is seen as संसार,

इह संसारे बहुदुस्तारे कृपायाऽपारे पाहि मुरारे ॥ भजगोविन्दम् २१ ॥

In this verse शङ्कराचार्य has included in संसार not only death, he has included पुनरपि जननम् as also संसार, as दुःखम्, as अमङ्गलम्. And in that vision you should see the association as अमङ्गलम्, so marriage also must be seen as अमङ्गलम्, कल्याणम् you should not say, because everything is अमङ्गलम्. So therefore see people coming together as also अमङ्गलम् and of course people going away also as अमङ्गलम्, then it is a uniform vision, see hell also as अमङ्गलम् and also see heaven as अमङ्गलम्. That is what ईशावास्योपनिषत् says:

अन्धम् तमः प्रविशन्ति येऽविद्यामुपासते ।

ततो भूय इव ते तमो य उ विद्यायाँ रताः॥ ईशावास्योपनिषत् ९ ॥

According to वेदान्त, स्वर्ग is also अमङ्गल संसार. And therefore we have only two options, either accept the whole as मङ्गलम् or reject the whole as अमङ्गलम्. But what is our problem? We want to see birth as मङ्गलम्, but we don't want to accept death, that is the problem. We want to accept the head of the coin, we don't want to accept the tail of the coin. We want the obverse of the coin and we don't want the reverse of the coin. As long as we have this narrow attitude world will be a cause of terror. Either totally embrace the world or totally renounce the world. As long as you want one segment of the world and reject another segment, world will be a terror for you. And अर्जुन's problem is he wants to accept one part of the Lord, the creative principle, he doesn't want to accept the other part, the destructive principle. And there also he is willing to accept the death of everyone, except a few members! Let everyone go no problem, but भीष्म should not die, द्रोण should not die, कर्ण should die immediately, कर्ण is arch rival of अर्जुन, let him go, it is good news, but these near and dear ones should not grow old, they should not get disease at all, and we should be always together healthy healthy healthy healthy together and together we should go to heaven, and together we should go to ब्रह्मलोक, together we should go to वैकुण्ठ. Even if it नरक, together we should go to नरक! कृष्ण says this is not the law of creation and therefore अर्जुन has problem. Therefore we get the description here, यथा प्रदीप्तं ज्वलनं पतङ्गा विशन्ति नाशाय समूहवेगाः ।

अर्जुन sees the काल तत्त्वम् active and the mouth of the Lord is busy swallowing all the people and they are rushing into the mouth of the Lord like the rivers gushing into the ocean or the moths flying into the flame of the lamp. Up to this we saw. Continuing; verse no.30;

Verse No .30

लेलिह्यसे ब्रसमानः समन्तात्-लोकान्समग्रान्वदनैर्ज्वलद्भिः ।

तेजोभिरापूर्य जगत्समग्रं भासस्तवोद्भाः प्रतपन्ति विष्णो ॥ ११-३०॥

लेलिह्यसे ब्रसमानः समन्तात् लोकान् समग्रान् वदनैः ज्वलद्भिः ।

तेजोभिः आपूर्य जगत् समग्रम् भासः तव उद्भाः प्रतपन्ति विष्णो ॥ ११-३०॥

हे विष्णो! समन्तात् ज्वलद्भिः वदनैः समग्रान् लोकान् ब्रसमानः (त्वं) लेलिह्यसे, तव उद्भाः भासः तेजोभिः समग्रम् जगत् आपूर्य प्रतपन्ति ।

So what is भगवान्'s response, when he is swallowing people? All the near and dear ones in the world are hitting their chest and crying, all the other people are crying and what is भगवान्'s attitude, does he feel sympathy for those people who are crying because of the death of near and dear ones, भगवान् doesn't seem to have any sympathy at all. It looks as though भगवान् wants to tell all the people, if you did not understand the law of birth and death and if you did not become mature enough to accept birth and death, it is your problem that you are suffering, don't blame Me at all. By giving you an intelligent brain, by giving you scriptures which will give you maturity I have given you an opportunity to understand the death before people die away. In fact, before we die we should very clearly know what is death. And scriptures have provided enough input for assimilating that and if we are closing our eyes saying don't talk about that, don't talk about that. You know in the villages and all, they will not like to talk about insurance policy, because insurance policy means you have to imagine suppose someone dies, they say don't bring that one, that is अमङ्गलम्. Don't even utter the words 'suppose I die.' That means what: we don't want to even talk about death, imagining death we don't want. By closing our eyes to the death principle we are losing the opportunity to face it and understand it. Scriptures never say that, they say you have to thoroughly understand that and if we do not grow in maturity and if we cry for our death or somebody else's death, भगवान् will have no sympathy at all, "I have given you enough scope for wisdom, you did not get that." Therefore भगवान् doesn't seem to bother about that. On the other hand, अर्जुन says भगवान् seems to enjoy swallowing these people. For him, it appears to be a wonderful पञ्च भक्ष्य परमान्नम्. So अर्जुन says: समग्रान् लोकान् समन्तात् ग्रसमानः – like a good eater, who has got a huge leaf in front of him and in a big feast varieties of materials, dishes are served. So He looks at the kichadi or pachadi on the right hand corner, he tastes it and to balance that he takes the पायसम् from the lower right side corner and then in between he takes the pickle a little bit and licks and he says, it is really wonderful. Just as a good eater enjoys a wonderful feast, the whole space seems to be the leaf of the Lord and every object in the creation seems to be a food item because भगवान् swallows everything. Therefore समन्तात्, समन्तात् means on all sides stretching his hands and eating, so समन्तात् – stretching all over, लोकान् समग्रान् – all the people of the world, ग्रसमानः – the Lord devolves, with what, ज्वलद्भिः वदनैः – with his huge mouth which are blazing with काल अग्निः and what are you doing, तेलिह्यसे, तेलिह्यसे means what: You are relishing it, You are licking Your own lips, that is तेलिह्यसे, licking the lips and not only You are destroying people are who are inside Your mouth, समग्रम् जगत् आपूर्य – so the heat, the radiation of the fire in Your mouth seems to spread all over the world, so समग्रम् जगत् – the entire universe, तेजोभिः आपूर्य – You pervade with Your radiation and उग्रः भासः – the heat of the radiation; these are symbolic, the काल तत्त्वम् does not affect you in old age only, काल तत्त्वम् is affecting even right now, because every moment we are growing old. That is why we ask the question: how many years young you don't ask, but how many years old are you. Between the beginning of the class and the end of the class you are one hour old. Not only you are but we are, why should I put only you in the list, so we are one hour older and that is all what, the heat of the काल is cooking, we are all cooked by काल and when the cooking has taken place to the appropriate level भगवान् will have his lunch. And how many years of cooking? It varies, some dishes you have to cook for long time, some of them for short time, some of them we just show and take, like that we are all being cooked by भगवान् and स्वाहा and therefore he says तव उग्राः भासः – fierce heat of Your radiation, प्रतपन्ति – is scorching, is tormenting all the people Oh Lord, विष्णो, what an appropriate name, विष्णु means the one who pervades all, सर्वम् विवेष्टि इति विष्णुः, विश्व means to surround, from that only the word वेष्टि has come, वेष्टि means what: that which surrounds the body, so हे विष्णु! that is your work. Then अर्जुन has begun to doubt the nature of God, because all the time he has heard भगवान् is all sympathy, all compassion, all beauty, all smiles, this is what his picture of भगवान् and when we see here what is He doing, He is eating everyone. So अर्जुन is wondering whether भगवान् is करुणामूर्ति or भगवान् is extremely cruel. So that doubt has come. Whenever we suffer in life we all will get this doubt: Is भगवान् really compassionate or not? Or still worse question is: Is there a भगवान् at all? That is the next step. 'Is the भगवान् really compassionate?' is the first question and the next question 'Is there a भगवान् at all?' So अर्जुन also gets into that problem and therefore he is raising a question to Lord कृष्ण in the next verse, we will read.

आख्याहि मे को भवानुग्ररूपो नमोऽस्तु ते देववर प्रसीद ।

विज्ञातुमिच्छामि भवन्तमाद्यं न हि प्रजानामि तव प्रवृत्तिम् ॥ ११-३१॥

आख्याहि मे को भवानुग्ररूपो नमः अस्तु ते देववर प्रसीद ।

विज्ञातुम् इच्छामि भवन्तम् आद्यम् न हि प्रजानामि तव प्रवृत्तिम् ॥ ११-३१॥
हे देववर! ते नमः अस्तु, (त्वं) प्रसीद, भवान् उग्र-रूपः कः (अस्ति)? (तत्)
मे आख्याहि । (अहम्) आद्यम् भवन्तम् विज्ञातुम् इच्छामि । तव प्रवृत्तिम् हि (अहम्)न प्रजानामि ।

अर्जुन asks fundamental questions: Oh Lord clearly tell me, Who are You? Are You सौम्य ईश्वरः, the pleasant compassionate one or the उग्र-रूपः, the terrible one? So first he asks: उग्र-रूपः भवान् कः – who are You, the fierce formed one, the frightening one, the terrorizing one? You seem to be worse than even a terrorist, so who are You, the terror causing one? आख्याहि मे - may you tell. Because now I have got fundamental doubts. Whenever problems come in life we all will become philosophers. Till that time गीता will not be thought of! Only when problems torments fundamental questions arises. What for भगवान् created? Till now these thoughts didn't arise, because we were regularly sleeping and eating. A small biting from a mosquito or some problem comes, why did भगवान् create this world, couldn't He remained silent? If at all He created the word He being omniscient and omnipotent, He could have created a wonderful world. All are साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्नाः, how nice it will be! (Why only साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्नः, why not मुक्तः, why can't we take that way. Why should there be half-kingdom in the मनो-राज्यम्.) So why can't all be gems, wonderful people and the whole world is wonderful, no mosquitoes, no diseases. Why should भगवान् create and if at all He should create, why should He create suffering also along with the enjoyment. Why can't He create only merry merry merry merry and then suddenly die, not slow death but impulsive death, pop off, in sleep preferably. So these are all the nature of human beings, problems brings thought of गीता, thought of उपनिषत्, thought of गुरु, after two days you forget, again back to square one, is called स्मशान वैराग्यम्. Anyway, उग्र-रूपः भवान् कः इति आख्याहि – may You tell, and I am not able to withstand this frightening form, therefore नमः अस्तु – my नमस्कारम् to You, ते, Oh

Lord, हे देववर! – the greatest among gods You are, देव-श्रेष्ठ, देव-देवोत्तमः You are. प्रसीद – may You be gracious, may You cool down and may You show me a pleasant form of Yours and not only I am not able to decipher Your form, I want to also know what is Your job. All these things we ask: “Who are you? What are you?” These two questions. “Who are you? What are you?” What are you means what, the designation - I am GM, I am the vice-president, I am clerk, I am secretary, etc., as they say. Similarly, Oh Lord what is Your designation? So You seem to have only one job. Eating seems to be Your only job. What is your designation? भवन्तम् आद्यम् विज्ञातुम् इच्छामि – I would like to clearly know You, who is the cause of this universe. आद्यम् means सृष्टि कर्तारम् who existed even before the सृष्टि and not only I would like to know who You are clearly, तव प्रवृत्तिम् न हि प्रजानामि – I do not know Your function also. प्रवृत्ति means function, because Your present function seems to be only a frightening function. Is this alone your function or something else? Do You do any other good work or you keep only swallowing? So much is there for human being to grow. How we never think in these lines at all, we are busy narrow mindedly doing a few things and we never try to understand ourselves, the creation, the destination. At least now अर्जुन seems to be asking the fundamental question. So भगवान् is very happy, therefore He gives the answer. So with this the second phase of अर्जुन's response is over. I had told you long before, I don't know whether you remember, when अर्जुन appreciates the विश्वरूप he goes through three stages of response I said. The first response is one of wonderment, आश्चर्यम् or विस्मयः. Thereafter the second stage especially when you looked into the mouth of the Lord it was fear or भयम्. Now we have to enter into the third stage, but before that, कृष्ण is going to answer अर्जुन's question.

Verse No .32

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

कालोऽस्मि लोकक्षयकृत्प्रवृद्धो लोकान्समाहर्तुमिह प्रवृत्तः ।

ऋतेऽपि त्वां न भविष्यन्ति सर्वे येऽवस्थिताः प्रत्यनीकेषु योधाः ॥ ११-३२॥

कालः अस्मि लोक-क्षय-कृत् प्रवृद्धः लोकान् समाहर्तुम् इह प्रवृत्तः ।

ऋते अपि त्वाम् न भविष्यन्ति सर्वे ये अवस्थिताः प्रत्यनीकेषु योधाः ॥ ११-३२॥

(अहम्) लोक-क्षय-कृत् प्रवृद्धः कालः अस्मि, इह लोकान् समाहर्तुम् प्रवृत्तः (अस्मि), त्वाम् ऋते अपि प्रत्यनीकेषु ये योधाः अवस्थिताः, (ते) सर्वे न भविष्यन्ति ।

श्रीभगवान् उवाच – the Lord answered अर्जुन's question asked in the previous verse. So he asked two questions: who are You and what is Your function? He answered the first question, कालः अस्मि – I am the काल तत्त्वम् also, which is an integral part of the relative world. That is why in वेदान्त, we talk about two planes of reality, one is called व्यावहारिक सत्यम् and other is called पारमार्थिक सत्यम्. व्यावहारिक सत्यम् is a plane in which time principle is integral, intrinsic, inherent feature or aspect and therefore in व्यावहारिक plane everything will have corresponding opposite. So arrival-departure, growth-decay, birth-death, union-disassociation, it is an integral part which is called व्यावहारिक सत्यम्. And Vedantins advice is what, with regard to व्यावहारिक सत्यम् we have only two option, either you accept it totally or you reject it totally. It seems in one aircraft, aeroplane, in Indian Airlines or Air India, a personal was traveling. He used to travel in all other flights which are all very advanced and they give varieties of food in the flight and they ask for varieties of choices also, do you want this or that and whatever he names they give and in this flight this air-hostess brought the food and asked the passenger, “This is the food, would you like to take?” Then that passenger asked, “Do we have choice?” Then the air-hostess said, “Yes, you have choice.” “What choice”, he asked. “Yes or No.” So unlike choosing bring idli or dosa or veg or non-veg etc., ‘Do you want or not,’ that is your choice. Like that, with regard to the world you have got only one choice, the whole thing should be accepted as one piece as divine or the whole thing should be rejected. So this is called व्यावहारिक सत्यम् and the other one is called पारमार्थिक सत्यम् where there is no time, there is no space and therefore there is no pairs of opposite also,

job of destruction, so लोक-क्षय-कृत् means the destructive principle, प्रवृद्धः – which has been activated now, because in महाभारत battlefield destruction is going to take place in a mass magnitude. And therefore प्रवृद्धः means activated destroying principle, because in lakhs, like in earthquake, not one or two but a few thousands स्वाहा; cyclone - another a few thousands, therefore there काल तत्त्व is what, प्रवृद्धः, activated time principle and why have I come here, कृष्ण says: इह प्रवृत्तः – here I have come and engaged myself in the job of लोकान् समाहर्तुम् – in the job of destroying all these people, eleven अक्षौहिणीs of कौरव army and seven अक्षौहिणीs of पाण्डव army, thousands and millions and only a few people are going to survive, who can be counted, one digit, seven or eight, in महाभारत the list is given of how many survived. So I am engaged in that activity. And then कृष्ण gives the warning, अर्जुन, this is going to happen whether you decide to start the war or whether you decide against the war. Because I have decided to destroy, whether you want to cooperate with Me or not; if you are not there, like if one tyre is punctured what do you do, you don't stop the journey, put another tyre. So therefore कृष्ण gives a warning to अर्जुन, ऋते अपि त्वाम् – अर्जुन even if you are not there, even without your involvement in the महाभारत battle, सर्वे न भविष्यन्ति – all these people have to disappear. The time has come for the world to be vacated of a huge mass of people and who are they? ये अवस्थिताः – all the people, the ocean of humanity that is in front of you, belonging to प्रति अनीकेषु योधाः, योधाः means soldiers who are present in both the armies. No doubt your army is standing for धर्म and the opposite army is standing for अधर्म, it is धर्माधर्म युद्धम् only but still even on the धार्मिक side, in spite of धर्म being with you, many people in your army also will have to die. That is why प्रति अनीकेषु, अनीकम् means army, प्रति means on both sides, soldiers have to perish, there is no way out, their प्रारब्ध is over. And therefore what, अर्जुन carefully note.

तस्मात्त्वमुत्तिष्ठ यशो लभस्व जित्वा शत्रून् भुङ्क्व राज्यं समृद्धम् ।

मयैवैते निहताः पूर्वमेव निमित्तमात्रं भव सव्यसाचिन् ॥ ११-३३॥

तस्मात् त्वम् उत्तिष्ठ यशः लभस्व जित्वा शत्रून् भुङ्क्व राज्यम् समृद्धम् ।

मया एव एते निहताः पूर्वम् एव निमित्त-मात्रम् भव सव्य-साचिन् ॥ ११-३३॥

तस्मात् हे सव्य-साचिन्! त्वम् उत्तिष्ठ, यशः लभस्व, शत्रून् जित्वा समृद्धम् राज्यम् भुङ्क्व । मया एव एते पूर्वम् एव निहताः, (त्वं) निमित्त-मात्रम् भव ।

Therefore अर्जुन whether you are going to get involved in this battle or not the time has come for all these people to perish. If you are going to be involved the advantage is you will get the name and fame for fighting on the side of धर्म. The name and fame will not come to the Lord, but people will say अर्जुन fought for धर्म and अर्जुन established धर्म. You will get name and fame if you fight this battle. And if you run away, anyway the result is going to be the end of these people in one way or the other. भगवान् has got other methods of destruction. It is not a very big deal at all for भगवान्. If you run away also, these people will have to die in one form or the other and the result will be what? for your running away you will get a bad name, because a क्षत्रिय has relinquished his duty, which is called a प्रत्यवाय दोष, omission, you will have ill fame and you will even have पापम्. But either way these people are going to be destroyed. Therefore which is better? You join and do your duty. Therefore he says, तस्मात् – therefore, therefore means wherefore? Since the time has come for these people to disappear from earth and since I am going to remove them anyway from the face of the earth, त्वम् उत्तिष्ठ – you get up and cooperate with Me, त्वम् उत्तिष्ठ and not only that, यशः लभस्व, I am not interested in name and fame. भगवान् wants to get the things done. So I am not interested, you can take the name and fame, how, शत्रून् जित्वा – so by winning over, by becoming victorious, by defeating your enemies,

जित्वा means defeating your enemies and not only you will defeat your enemies and get name and fame, समृद्धम् राज्यम् भुङ्क्ष्व – you can enjoy the prosperous kingdom which you have lost and you were struggling in the forest without even proper bedding, no mosquito net, no A/c, all suffering you are undergoing, you can enjoy the kingdom and मया एव एते निहताः पूर्वम् एव – all these people have been already destroyed by Me, because their प्रारब्ध कर्म is over and therefore the means of destruction alone can vary, but the end of destruction is going to anyway happen, which is My department. Therefore एते पूर्वम् एव निहताः, therefore you don't require a big ब्रह्मास्त्रम्, simple bow and arrow which we played in the childhood in dramas etc, with the coconut leaf stick material, that is enough. So रावण will be standing there and राम will be there with the bow and arrow made of coconut leaf stick and instruction has been given that the moment राम releases, रावण has to fall down. Therefore instructions are very clear, when this boy shoots and that arrow falls down only and whether it goes or not, रावण has to fall suddenly. Similarly, अर्जुन, you don't require पाशुपतास्त्रम्, ब्रह्मास्त्रम् and all those things, you have to go through the motions and these people will go away. So मया एव एते, एते means all these soldiers, पूर्वम् एव निहताः – they have been destroyed and therefore हे सव्य-साविन्! सव्य-साविन् means अर्जुन, so the one who can shoot the arrows with the left hand also, सव्यम् means left hand. So सव्येन हस्तेन क्षेपात् शीलम् अस्य अस्ति इति सव्य-साविन्, that means what he can shoot with right hand also and left hand also, ambidextrous, the one who can use both hands equally well and therefore even if you use your right hand it doesn't matter, you just act through left hand and they will all fall. Like that Mulla, Nasuruddin Mulla have you heard, Mulla was telling, he had invited some guest and he had shown some trophies. So various parts of the wild animals, some animal's nails, that nails he had kept, various parts he had kept. So then this person went through and saw and he asked, I saw various parts of the body of the animals, but I don't see the head at all, you are a great hunter, you seems to have destroyed all these animals, but I don't see at all. Then Mulla said: I could have done that, but when I went for hunting the head was already taken by somebody. What is the meaning, he has not killed a single animal. Like that, you have to be only like Mulla, I have already finished them and therefore your job is what, निमित्त-मात्रम् हे सव्य-साविन् भव – may you become a simple instrument in My hands. Don't protest, don't run away from the battlefield, don't be frightened, you can never escape from this eventuality, therefore better you become My instrument for the destruction. So निमित्तम् means instrument. And this line is a very very often quoted line, निमित्त मात्रम् भव, निमित्त मात्रम् भव, but this line is often quoted in a different context and therefore we have to understand this line properly. When we read in this context, it look as though अर्जुन is only an instrument in the handस् of the Lord, he seems to be only a puppet in the hands of the Lord and it looks as though the Lord is getting everything done even in advance. Because he says, there is a expression also, मया एव एते निहताः पूर्वम् एव, that पूर्वम् is an important word, पूर्वम् एव means what: earlier itself it is written on their heads, that they have to die I have already decided. And therefore it looks as though everything is predetermined by the Lord, which we call as destiny, that means at the end of the class we should reach home or not also has been already predetermined by the Lord and it looks as though human beings do not have any choice at all and then we have got enough श्लोकs and statements that everything is destined, everything is already written,

It is all destiny-oriented श्लोकs. तलाटलिखिता रेखा means what: what is written on your head or what is in your जातकम् or what is on your palm, all these are predetermined, even हरि cannot change, हरि means विष्णु cannot change the destiny, हरेणापि – शिव cannot change destiny, ब्रह्मणापि – ब्रह्माजि cannot change destiny, सुरैः अपि – even gods cannot change the destiny. That means the fundamental question is what: if even they cannot change the destiny where is the question of I changing the destiny. So thus these two lines of the 11th chapter will give a big boost to the fatalistic people. Already they are fatalistic, this line is halwa for them! What is there in our hands sir, everything has been predetermined, we are all humble simple puppets in the hands of the Lord. He is कपट-नाटक सूत्र धारि and He is pulling the string and we are dancing on the stage and therefore the conclusion will be what: there is no free-will at all. There is no free-will at all, it appears. Therefore is only one doer, who is the doer, भगवान् alone is the doer of everything, भगवान् determines everything, there is nothing in our hands at all. This will be the wrong conclusion which can come out of these two lines. And therefore I have to spend some time to eliminate this false idea of fatalism and we have to reinstate the free-will. Human beings do have the free-will to handle things. And how to do that and if you don't accept the free-will, what all will be the consequences we should carefully understand, which we will do in the next class.

Appreciating the विश्वरूप of the Lord, अर्जुन went through two emotions, the first emotion was one of wonder, आश्चर्यम् or विस्मयः and the second was fear or भयम्, because he saw the Lord destroying everything. And seeing the destructive aspect of the Lord, अर्जुन had a fundamental question, whether the Lord is really compassionate at all, as He is described in the scriptures and therefore he puts a question to the Lord, Who are you? What is your function? And Lord कृष्ण is answering अर्जुन's questions in these verses beginning with the 32nd up to verse no.34, three verses and there Lord कृष्ण said in the 32nd verse we saw: That I am the काल तत्त्वम्, because काल or time is non-separate from the universe, if universe is My body, time is also an integral aspect of Mine and therefore from the standpoint of time I am called कालः, I am called यमः, the one who controls the movement or controls all the processes of the creation, यमः means यच्छति नियच्छति इति यमः, the all controller is called यमः,

यमाय धर्मराजाय मृत्यवे चान्तकाय च ।

In daily सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, यम नमस्कार is a part because यम or the Lord as काल तत्त्वम् is called यम. यम controls everything perfectly according to the universal laws. Therefore he is called यमाय धर्मराजाय, यम never knows injustice and therefore Oh Lord who are You when he asked, Lord कृष्ण said that I am that काल तत्त्वम्, यम तत्त्वम्. And then he said now I am going to destroy all the warriors or soldiers belonging to both the sides because there कालम् has come, their प्रारब्ध is over and therefore they have to die according to the law of कर्म. And when भगवान् has to kill the people according to the law of कर्म, He does not come with pistol or sword, He finds some means or the other, “Even a grass is a powerful weapon for a wise man.” So He can use anything to destroy. And अर्जुन, I thought I will give you an opportunity to become My instrument and if you become an instrument the advantage is: I will get my job done and you will get परमवीर चक्र, महावीर चक्र, and all those. I have already सुदर्शन चक्र, that is enough for me and I don't need any other चक्र. Therefore He made a crucial statement which we have to analyze, निमित्त-मात्रम् भव – may you simply become my instrument. These people are already dead and gone and if we superficially study these two lines we will get this idea that everything is already determined by God, because भगवान् clearly says I have killed them, which means destruction has already taken place, even before अर्जुन's started the war, therefore the idea of predeterminism, that everything being determined in advance that seems to be one idea conveyed, which is otherwise called fatalism. Everything is already determined, we do not do anything at all, this is one thing and the second idea that is conveyed is कृष्ण uses the word निमित्त-मात्रम्, be only an instrument in my hands, from which we get the idea that we are all only puppets or instruments, भगवान् is the ultimate controller and we have also the words like कपट नाटक सूत्र धारि, so भगवान् holds the strings of the puppets and our hands and legs move, 'As I move, the whole world moves hey human, is your arrogance worth something?' – movie song, so all these lines also come handy, so therefore, 'Without His consent nothing moves', we are all puppets in the hands of the Lord, we are instruments, 'Thou art the operator and I am the machine.' So this fatalistic idea, the idea of determinism comes and therefore we have to be very careful in reading this. And we should mainly understand our शास्त्र does not accept fatalism. Our शास्त्रs totally reject fatalism, our शास्त्रs do not look upon ourselves as puppets in the hands of the Lord, because to say that we are puppets means we do not have a free-will at all. Therefore the theory of fatalism is the rejection of free-will for the human being and this is totally against the teachings of the शास्त्रम्. Therefore remember, fatalism is to be rejected outright. But we should be very careful, when we reject fatalism we are not rejecting fate, we are making a very subtle difference, when we are rejecting fatalism we are not rejecting fate, what is the difference, I am going to tell you. Fate is very much accepted by शास्त्रs. Fate is defined as the result of the actions that we have done in the past, in the past of this जन्म as well as the past of the previous जन्मs, all those कर्म-फलम् is called fate. शास्त्रs accepts fate as कर्म-फलम्, which is otherwise known as destiny, which is otherwise called प्रारब्धम्, which is otherwise called दैवम्, which according to our tradition is indicated by our horoscope. Therefore the planetary position at the time of birth, they are indicators of our प्रारब्ध, which प्रारब्ध influences our life. We never say planets influence our life, very careful! Planets do not influence our life, stars do not influence, the Sun does not influence, then what influences, प्रारब्धम् influences, which प्रारब्धम् is indicated by the planetary position. Like if you have got a fuel meter in the car, it has got green shade, yellow and red and that indicates whether your fuel is sufficient or it is about to get over or zero. Now that fuel meter is not responsible for the running of the car! It is not the meter is pushing the car, the fuel-meter is the indicator of the petrol, which petrol alone is responsible for the movement of the car, the meter is the indicator but not the influencer. Similarly, stars or indicators of the प्रारब्ध, they are not influencers of your life. And who influences, प्रारब्ध influences, this प्रारब्ध is fate, it is accepted. And what is the difference between fate and fatalism. According to our शास्त्र, fate is one the factors which influences your life, fate is not the only influencer of your life. If you say fate alone determines everything it is called fatalism, if you say fate alone determines everything it is fatalism. But what does शास्त्र say fate is one of the factors, in addition to fate there is another factor which influences your life, that is called free-will or पुरुषार्थ. Therefore if you say fate and free-will together defines your future it is शास्त्र. If you say fate and free-will together decides your future it is शास्त्र. If you say fate alone decides it is called fatalism. In fatalism, free-will is rejected. In fatalism, free-will is rejected and by rejecting the free-will the fatalistic people say that everything is determined by destiny in advance or they use the expression everything is predetermined by God's will. He has written everything before itself. Now what are the problems if you accept this theory, we should know. Suppose we say 'everything is decided by God and you say God's will alone exist and all of us are only instruments in the hands of the Lord,' what will be the problem in this theory. There are certain minor advantages that we will see first, the problems we can see later, there are certain minor advantages in this theory.

➤ The great advantage is, you need not take responsibility for your atrocities. As somebody nicely said, "To err is human, to put the blame on someone else is more human." Therefore when we are facing problems and when we don't want to take responsibility for our mistake and when we are looking for some scapegoat on whose head we can put the अक्षता that this theory is very nice and saying that He has done all the अक्रमम्s, you can put the blame on God, it becomes an escapist route. For the fatalistic people there is a beautiful route of escapism, they can avoid guilt. That is one thing and that is incidental.

➤ And there is another minor positive advantage, which is useful and what is that? When you say everything is done by God and we have got reverence for God and since we know that God is always just only, God cannot never be unjust at any time, this theory is useful to accept the sufferings of life. It is a useful technique to accept the suffering and therefore in शास्त्र fatalism is sometimes temporarily employed to help in accepting the problem. And you tell that भगवान् has got some purpose in giving the suffering, it must be meant for my purification. As a very nice saying goes: भगवान् brings you underwater often, not for drowning, but for cleansing and therefore, 'You put me in the fire of sorrow that purifies and made me pure', Oh Lord You are giving me suffering only for purifying me. Thus the fatalism is with a limited purpose employed on occasions. In fact, राम himself employs this method when he has to go to forest and लक्ष्मण is fuming with anger. He has taken his sword out and he says I want to cutoff the head of the old man. You know who is the old man, मातृ देवो भव । पितृ देवो भव । are all out, लक्ष्मण is so wild. So when a person is so wild and incapable of accepting the choice-less situation, temporarily it is applied often. Even in the scriptures राम himself talks as though fatalism. So these are all temporary advantages by this fatalism, but we should remember, on real enquiry fatalism is not accepted by शास्त्र. शङ्कराचार्य also repeatedly tells in his commentary, any perspective which dismisses free-will we should not accept. Any perspective, any interpretation which rejects free-will should not be accepted. शङ्कराचार्य discusses this in his commentary on in 3rd chapter, there in two verses शङ्कराचार्य also tells. If you reject free-will and you say everything is God's will what are the problems, we are coming to that. I am going to mention 6 problems.

1) The first problem is this. If you say God is doing everything and we are only instruments, God becomes कर्ता and we are all only करणम्, करणम् means instrument. And according to the Law of कर्म, the rule is यः कर्ता भवति, can you fill up the blanks, यः कर्ता भवति सः एव भोक्ता भवति, whoever is the doer of any action he and he alone must reap the कर्म-फलम् in the form of पुण्यम् and पापम्. Therefore if you say भगवान् is the ultimate doer of all actions, all the पुण्यम्s and पापम्s will go to भगवान्. And not the action of one person but all the actions including the WTC attack, all the पापम्s, murder, stealing, all of them are all His actions. We just told that, 'All of them are HIS workings', so said, all the सञ्चित, आगामि, प्रारब्ध कर्मs will go to भगवान्. And whoever has got पुण्य-पाप कर्म is a संसारि. And therefore what is the first absurdity of this theory, भगवान् will become महाऽऽ-संसारि, because all the कर्म's happening all over the creation will go to the poor भगवान्. This is absurdity no.1.

2) And the second thing is what: whether it is absurdity or advantage I don't know. Since we are all instruments only, instruments will never get any कर्म-फलम्, the instruments will never get the कर्म-फलम्, because it is only करणम् and not कर्ता. If a car hits a person and he is injured or dies, who will be arrested, car or driver? Car is being arrested! We don't do that, why? Even though actual hitting and killing is done by the car, we go behind the car to the person on the wheels only and car is never responsible, knife is never responsible, instrument is never arrested. In the same way, if I am only the instrument in the hands of the Lord, for all the actions I do I will not get कर्म-फलम्, पुण्य's or पापम्'s, therefore all the जीव's will be free from what: पुण्य-पापम्'s. And freedom from पुण्य-पापम् is called what, मोक्ष. Therefore the greatest advantage is what, all are free, not need to come to the class. Why we require मोक्ष. If at all to come to the class who should come then? भगवान्!!! Because the poor भगवान् who is संसारि, he alone should work for मोक्ष, all of you are here and now free from all the सञ्चित आगामि प्रारब्ध कर्म's. Therefore the second contradiction, जीव's असंसारित्वम्. All the जीव's will be free, नित्य मुक्त's. Whereas what is our contention, जीव's are संसारि's and not भगवान्. Therefore first दोषम् is ईश्वरस्य संसारित्वम्, second दोषम् is जीवस्य असंसारित्वम्.

3) Then what is the third दोषम्? If भगवान् alone does everything, nothing is in our hands, all the sufferings undergone by all the people must be caused by whom, भगवान् only. Because we don't do anything, all the suffering caused by war or bombing, whether it is caused by diseases, whether it is caused by congenital deficiencies, all the sufferings caused in the world, who must be responsible, भगवान्. If God is responsible for all sufferings, that God is compassionate God or sadistic God? The one who causes suffering He or She must be the cruel God. He can never be called करुणामूर्तिः. How many people are today still suffering because of some third degree torture done by some person in some jail in some country, you cannot imagine those suffering, by listening itself you will lose your sleep. Go to the hospitals, emergency ward, all the sufferings who is responsible? Not you, not me, not that person, because we are all instruments, therefore who must be responsible, God. Therefore God can never be said to be compassionate, He will become an embodiment of sadism. This दोषम् is called नैर्घृण्य दोषम्. In ब्रह्मसूत्र, व्यासाचार्य has mentioned this. नैर्घृण्य दोषम् means God will be subject to the charge of cruelty. घृण means compassion, निर्घृण means compassionless, नैर्घृण्यम् means compassionlessness, means what: cruelty. This is the third दोषम्, if you say भगवान् is responsible for the suffering. And you cannot say भगवान् is helpless because, भगवान् is said to be omnipotent, omniscient, in spite of being omniscient and omnipotent why can't He put an end to all the suffering? Just by showing the hand and giving dress to द्रौपदी, let भगवान् with thousands of hands, after all we saw in the 11th chapter itself, with thousands of hands let Him go to all the hospitals and just wave the hands and it should cure whether it is cancer or AIDS cured, headache cured, kidney trouble cured, why can't He cure, you cannot say that He is incapable because He is omnipotent, you cannot say He doesn't know, because He is omniscient and He is also supposed to be compassionate, why can't the compassionate God put an end to all the suffering. So in the theory of fatalism which says God does everything, God will be subject to the charge of cruelty.

4) Then what is the fourth दोषम्? God is becoming villain, in fatalism God becomes villain. Remember, He will never be hero, He will be zero. They do not know the consequence of fatalism, they are dumping God into the wastepaper basket by the theory of fatalism and in fact, it will make, if you deeply think, you hate God. These are the consequences of fatalism. Then the fourth दोषम् is what? OK, God has made every people suffer, He has made many people enjoy also. So many people are enjoying, there also the problem, all the people are not uniformly enjoying. Even in the enjoyment some people are happy, some people are (you know there are three degrees) happier, some people are happiest. You have got an ambassador car, some people have got a benz car, even though everyone may have a car, there is a तारतम्यम् even in happiness, तारतम्यम् means gradation. So who is responsible? According to the theory of fatalism, since भगवान् alone determines who should be happy, who should be happier, who should be happiest..est, then भगवान् will be subject to the charge of what, partiality, this is the fourth दोषम्. Previous दोषम् is cruelty with regard to the sufferers; partiality with regard to enjoyers, because all the people do not uniformly enjoy. Some laugh, some cry, some cryingly laugh (such group is also there, isn't it?). Therefore this दोषम् is called वैषम्य दोषम्. Partiality, this is the fourth problem with regard to the theory of fatalism, the rejection of free-will. Two more are there.

5) Then the fifth दोषम् is the following. Since the भगवान् is the doer of all actions and according to this theory we are only instruments. The instruments need not know what is proper action and what is improper action. The traffic rules must be learned by the car or driver? Traffic rules who should learn? Should car attend? No, the instrument need not know what is धर्म and what is अधर्म, what is proper and what is improper. Then the one who is behind the instrument, the operator of the instrument, the कर्ता alone should should learn all the rules. That means धर्मशास्त्र must be meant for whom, we need not learn at all. According to the theory of fatalism, we need not study धर्मशास्त्र, as we saw it yesterday,

All those things we need not study because we are all only instrument निमित्त, therefore who should study धर्मशास्त्रम्? भगवान् has to go to गुरुकुलम् and find out what are the rules. So for us great advantage is no need to study ethics, morals, the constitutional rules, the traffic rules we need not study all those, who should study the traffic rules? The Indian traffic rules, भगवान् should learn, American traffic rules, भगवान् should learn and should not get mixed up. He should know which driver in which country should drive the car in which road, because Americans, Indians, we are all what, instrument. What an absurdity you arrive at and therefore what is the next दोषम्, धर्मशास्त्र वैयर्थ्यम्. Our study of धर्मशास्त्र is futile, it is not required at all according to the theory of fatalism. You should not ask 'then why can't भगवान् study?' भगवान् need not study, because he is the very author of धर्मशास्त्र. So the fifth दोषम् is this.

6) And the sixth and final दोषम् is this. If we don't have free-will, if we are only instruments in the hands of someone then we will never have a conflict in life, because an instrument need not choose a course of action, an instrument need not choose a course of action. And since we need not choose a course of action we will never have conflict in life, all the conflicts will go to whom, again the original operator, the Lord alone. Therefore, if we do not have free-will, we will never have choice and if we never have choice we will never have conflicts in life. When do you get conflicts? Suppose to go to your house there is only one road, there is only one road you need not think and choose because availability is only one. But if there are two roads then there is a choice, one road is longer but the road is good. Another road is shorter and full of potholes, then you have a conflict which road to choose. Therefore wherever choice is there there is conflict, wherever free-will is there there is choice, therefore these three will always go together - free-will, choice and conflict. Wherever one is there, the other two are automatically there. What are the three, free-will, choice and conflict.

So whether human beings have free-will or not, how to find out? Ask the question whether human beings have conflict or not. In fact, every moment, दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, early morning waking up itself is a big conflict, the alarm has gone, then you have to wake up, then you look for excuses which excuse you can find out and postpone getting up, getting up is a conflict, whether to take bath or not is a conflict, because water problem, whether to take coffee or not is a conflict, whether to attend this class now or not is a conflict. In fact, human life is a series of conflicts. And very presence of conflict indicates it is because we have a choice and we have a choice, because we have a free-will. And that is why suppose you have employed a driver and both of you get into the car. Now the driver will never have a conflict at all, why, because driver is only your instrument, he is only an employee, he need not think when to start and in which direction to go, he has no conflict, you have to decide and say start now, then he should start when you say start, you say go to Adayar, go to theatre or go to a hotel, the driver who is only your instrument will never have a conflict, the conflict will be for whom, the person, the owner who is sitting behind., Similarly, if भगवान् is what you call the यजमान and I am the simple driver in the hands of भगवान्, I will never have faced any conflict, but the very fact that I am facing conflict every moment indicates that I have a choice and choice indicates that I have a free-will and therefore in the case of the absence of free-will for human beings there will be no conflict at all. So मोह अभावः, विकल्प अभावः will be the consequence, if we have no free-will. But what is our experience, we have got conflict. And suppose the person argues, स्वामिजि, I don't have conflict at all. I don't feel the choice at all, conflict at all, free-will at all, if anybody claims! then what will we do you know, we will never talk to that person thereafter, because according to the शास्त्र, only animals are free from will, choice and conflicts. Animals never face conflicts in life because they go by instincts, they don't go by free-will. A cow doesn't have a conflict whether I should be a vegetarian or non-vegetarian after going to America. Wherever a cow is it eats grass, it is inbuilt, it doesn't have choice, it doesn't have conflict also, a tiger has never a conflict or choice whether I should be a vegetarian? But human beings, there is no regulation as to what to eat and what not to eat. So therefore if a human being claims that I don't have conflict and therefore I don't have choice or free-will, according to शास्त्र that person comes under animal category and we can never talk to that person, we can only pray that at least in next birth this person must be a real human being. And therefore what is our conclusion: we have a free-will. Then do we say that our future is determined by free-will alone? No. We say free-will plus fate, these are two factors which contribute to human future. In the case of animals only fate will contribute, because they do not have free-will, but in the case of human beings there are two forces, if you know the physics they say, the resultant force, the force of the free-will is there, the force of fate is there, every second of the future is caused by the interaction between fate and free-will. In one particular context free-will may be prominent, it will suppress the fate, in another particular context, it may be like one day match, one match India defeats South Africa, which is fate, which is free-will you can decide. In another match, it is the other way round, because that is the day. Similarly, every moment is a one day match between fate and free-will. Sometimes it is a tie also, very rarely it can end up in a tie also, this is in the case of a human being. And therefore what does शास्त्र say, never vote for fatalism, accept fate, accept free-will and understand that your future is determined by fate and free-will together. You are one of the contributory factors in addition to the fate. By our prayer we try to influence the fate and by our planning we try to contribute to our will.

Then comes the final question. Then why did कृष्ण say निमित्त-मात्रम् भव सव्य-साविन्, why did He say be an instrument in the hand of the Lord? What do you mean by becoming an instrument? In the case of a human being, becoming the instrument in the hands of the Lord is following a धार्मिक course of action, because भगवान् controls the world through धर्म. भगवान् harmonies the world through धर्म and when I use my free-will to be in alignment with धर्म, because every time I have to choose, I can go either by धर्म or I can go by my राग-द्वेष. राग-द्वेष tells you do that or you don't that, pay tax or don't pay tax or violate the traffic rules or do this. Therefore everytime we have a choice, we can go according to our राग-द्वेष or we can go according to the धर्मशास्त्र. When my life is governed by धर्मशास्त्र, when my free-will is in alignment with धर्मशास्त्र I become the instrument of the Lord. And therefore अर्जुन himself is facing a conflict. धर्मशास्त्र says अर्जुन has to fight this war:

धर्म्यात् हि युद्धात् श्रेयः अन्यत् क्षत्रियस्य न विद्यते ॥ २-३१॥

According to धर्म, अर्जुन's duty is fight the war, because क्षत्रिय has to fight for the sake of धर्म. And दुर्योधन has explicitly taken to अधर्म, therefore धर्म tells अर्जुन fight. In fact, because of that alone अर्जुन has to battlefield. But before he started the fight his राग-द्वेष came. And राग-द्वेष tells after all, भीष्म, द्रोण, etc., are my kith and kin,

कथम् भीष्मम् अहम् सङ्ख्ये द्रोणम् च मधुसूदन ।

कार्पण्य-दोष-उपहत-स्वभावः पृच्छामि त्वाम् धर्म-सम्मूढ-चेताः । ॥ २-७॥

अर्जुन faces conflict because he has a free-will, he has a choice, he has to choose between what and what, his धर्म knowledge tells that you have to fight the war but his attachment tells you don't fight the war, his conscience tells fight the war, his attachment tells don't fight. Therefore there is a conflict. And what is becoming the instrument of the Lord, कृष्ण tells: don't go by your राग-द्वेष. Then what you go by? You go by धर्म and when you go by धर्म you are going by the will of the Lord, because धर्म is God's will. So my free-will is now aligned to धर्म, my free-will is not gone, my free-will is aligned with धर्म, my free-will has aligned with God's will and when my free-will is in alignment with God's will I become an instrument in the hands of the Lord. Therefore this statement is not saying: you don't have will, this statement tells: अर्जुन, may you align your will to My will. In short, follow धर्म. I hope you have no conflict now. Continuing;

द्रोणं च भीष्मं च जयद्रथं च कर्णं तथान्यान्पि योधवीरान् ।

मया हतांस्त्वं जहि मा व्यथिष्ठा युध्यस्व जेतासि रणे सपत्नान् ॥ ११-३४॥

द्रोणम् च भीष्मम् च जयद्रथम् च कर्णम् तथा अन्यान् अपि योध-वीरान् ।

मया हतान् त्वम् जहि मा व्यथिष्ठाः युध्यस्व जेता असि रणे सपत्नान् ॥ ११-३४॥

त्वम् द्रोणम् च भीष्मम् च जयद्रथम् च कर्णम् तथा मया हतान् अन्यान् अपि योध-वीरान् जहि, मा व्यथिष्ठाः, युध्यस्व, रणे सपत्नान् जेता असि ।

So here कृष्ण tells what is the course of the creation in keeping with the law of कर्म or the law of धर्म, which अर्जुन has to align himself with. He says all these people's time has come. According to धर्म or law of कर्म they require disappearance from the earth. Who are they? द्रोण, भीष्म, जयद्रथ, कर्ण, all these people योध-वीरान् – as well as the others belonging to both sides of the army, मया हतान् – they are already dead, which means the law of कर्म or the law of धर्म has indicated their death but in the case of अर्जुन, the Lord is here to come and tell what has to happen, what is according to the law of कर्म, the time of death has come, भगवान् comes and tells, but imagine somebody is seriously sick in the family, I do not know whether their प्रारब्ध end has come or not. It will be convenient if भगवान् informs beforehand. Suppose भगवान् comes and tells their प्रारब्ध is to survive, then also you need not spend money, because he will survive somehow. Suppose भगवान् comes and tells their प्रारब्ध is to die, then also you need not spend money, how nice it will be. But unfortunately we do not know, therefore in such cases we can only go by what is appropriate, we can give the necessary treatment which is धार्मिक course of action, which is your free-will and the free-will and the fate will have to interact and the result may be operation success and patient collapse may happen or that person may survive also. Therefore here the difference is in the case of अर्जुन, भगवान् is here to come and tell what is the fate but in our life our fate is never known or knowable. That is why it is called अदृष्टम्. Therefore we can never know clearly what is our fate and therefore we know only what is the free-will or our capacity. Therefore do your action as though everything is in your hands, receive the result as though everything is in God's hands. This is the working approach. Because when you do the action you don't know the power of fate. Therefore what to do, advance letter if He gives it would have been better. That is why they try to read the fate through astrology, so astrology is supposed to indicate the direction of the fate and they give प्रायश्चित्त etc., also. But there also a person may read it properly or it may be improper and especially if you go to two astrologers you had it. So even if you want to make use of astrology, confine to one. Otherwise this astrologer will say this is the best जातकम् in the world for your daughter and another astrologer equally famous will say don't touch it at all. Therefore we may get some indication from astrology, there is nothing wrong, but for everything you should not go to him, whether to go to the class or not, so then you will have to stay in astrologer's house all the time, therefore there is nothing wrong, but for very important and major cases you see, otherwise have surrender to Lord, do your best and leave the rest.

Lord कृष्ण gave an important advice to अर्जुन and that advice is whenever an individual acts according to धर्म, then his individual will he has surrendered to धर्म. So acting according to धर्म is surrendering the individual will to धर्म. And धर्म is the teaching given by the Lord and therefore धर्म can be taken as the will of the Lord. And therefore acting according to धर्म is surrendering the individual will to धर्म and since धर्म is the will of God, we can say that surrendering to धर्म is surrendering to the will of the Lord and when you are surrendering your will to the will of the Lord, you have not lost your will, you still have got your own will, you can chose to act according to your राग-द्वेष and when you are going by your राग-द्वेष, without bothering about धर्म, the individual will is not in alignment with धर्म and then it is not in alignment with God's will and therefore the teaching here is you do have a will, you do have a free-will and that free-will can choose a course of action based on राग-द्वेष or based on धर्म-अधर्म. अर्जुन's राग-द्वेष tells run away from the battle, because he is attached to भीष्म-द्रोण. अर्जुन's free-will has got two aspects, his राग-द्वेष tells him, don't fight the battle, it is better to go to the forest and live on भिक्षा. We saw in the 2nd chapter. At the same time his धर्म-ज्ञानम् tells that the धार्मिक course of action is fighting the धर्म युद्धम्. So thus his free-will has got two courses of action, राग-द्वेष based renunciation of the war or धर्म-based fighting of the war. What कृष्ण advices is: If you are going by your राग-द्वेष, you are not using your will properly, In fact, you are abusing your free-will, which will lead to your downfall. Which is your choice? भगवान् cannot help if a person has decided to have a downfall. रावण chose downfall, कंस chose downfall, अर्जुन can choose. And therefore कृष्ण is requesting अर्जुन, अर्जुन do you want to abuse your free-will and choose a spiritual downfall or are you going to use your free-will properly which means even though this war is a bitter war, even though the duty is an unpleasant duty, even though the duty involves destruction of your own kith and kin, still you don't go by your attachment, but you go by what is धर्म,

If because of your intellectual conviction, you suppress your emotions and you go by your intellectual conviction and choose the painful duty, even though the duty is painful, then your धार्मिक course of action will be equal to surrendering your will to the will of Lord. And if you surrender your free-will to the will of Lord, which means choosing a धार्मिक course of action even though it is painful then it will lead you to spiritual growth. So धार्मिक course of action is using the free-will and अधार्मिक course of action is abusing your free-will. राग-द्वेष based action is the abuse of free-will, धर्म-अधर्म based action is use of free-will, which is in another language called surrendering to the will of the Lord. And this is real devotion. Here you will find कर्मयोग and भक्ति merging because a true कर्मयोगि has to act according to धर्म, which means every कर्मयोगि has surrendered his free-will to the will of the Lord. When it is a forced surrender, it is suppression. But when it is a surrender with maturity, like there is a traffic signal and there is no one around and I have got a freedom to violate the signal, if police stops me it is suppression. But if I choose that even though it is easier to violate but I don't want to do that, this voluntary surrender is called the real भक्ति. Thus there is no true कर्मयोगि without being a भक्त, because a कर्मयोगि is all the time following धर्म, which means surrendering his will and राग-द्वेष to धर्म. धर्म means God and therefore every कर्मयोगि is a real भक्त. And therefore अर्जुन become a भक्त and do what: द्रोणं च भीष्मं च जयद्रथं च कर्णं तथान्यानपि योधवीरान् । त्वम् जहि. It is very difficult, but you have to do that, what: shoot at sight order as it were, द्रोण, your own गुरु alright, but unfortunately he is in the अधार्मिक side, therefore it is bitter, it is painful, but you should never go by emotions, you should not go by मनोमय कोश, you have to go by विज्ञानमय कोश. Discrimination should dominate your action, not impulse. Therefore द्रोण you have to finish, भीष्म you have to finish, you have to cut - shatak, shatak, shatak, though painful. जयद्रथ you have to kill and कृष्ण himself loves all of them, it is not that they are third people. Remember, whoever is related to अर्जुन is related to कृष्ण also. In fact, कृष्ण had to kill his own uncle कंस. So therefore अर्जुन sometimes duties are painful but you should transcend. Then कर्ण, which is very easy for you. Because you are waiting to get an opportunity, कर्ण you have to finish, तथा अन्यान् अपि योध-वीरान् – and in the process you have to lose many on your side also. And therefore जहि and the time has come for them to die, because their प्रारब्ध is over. मया हतान् – I have already closed their file. Their next जन्म is ready. So therefore मया हतान्, those people who are already destroyed by Me, you have to kill, मा व्यथिष्ठाः - don't be upset over this, don't be depressed over this, these are all facts of life. Many things you have to do in life even though you don't like to. मा व्यथिष्ठाः, don't grieve, युध्यस्व – may you take to this battle, because you are a born क्षत्रिय. If you are a ब्राह्मण, silently you can sit somewhere, you do जप and get away from all these things. A क्षत्रिय 's duty is what, policeman. He cannot say I won't touch gun or baton; army people if they do that it won't work. As a क्षत्रिय your duty is क्षतात् त्रायते is क्षत्रिय, saving the society from अधर्म is the duty of क्षत्रिय, क्षतम् means अधर्म. And therefore युध्यस्व जेता असि – certainly you will defeat your enemies, सपत्नान्, सपत्न means enemy. So certainly you will defeat your enemies in the war, because अर्जुन in the 2nd chapter has expressed a doubt, whether

यान् एव हत्वा न जिजीविषामः ते अवस्थिताः प्रमुखे धार्तराष्ट्राः ॥ २-६॥

I don't even know whether we will defeat them or they will defeat us. Here, कृष्ण says certainly you are going to win the war, not because you are powerful but because धर्म is on your side. Continuing;

Verse No .35

सञ्जय उवाच ।

एतच्छ्रुत्वा वचनं केशवस्य कृताञ्जलिर्वेपमानः किरीटी ।

नमस्कृत्वा भूय एवाह कृष्णं सगद्गदं भीतभीतः प्रणम्य ॥ ११-३५॥

एतत् श्रुत्वा वचनम् केशवस्य कृत-अञ्जलिः वेपमानः किरीटी ।

नमस्कृत्वा भूयः एव आह कृष्णम् सगद्गदम् भीत-भीतः प्रणम्य ॥ ११-३५॥

केशवस्य एतत् वचनम् श्रुत्वा, वेपमानः किरीटी कृत-अञ्जलिः कृष्णम् नमः कृत्वा, भीत-भीतः प्रणम्य (च) भूयः एव सगद्गदम् आह ।

So when कृष्ण answered अर्जुन's question, how did अर्जुन respond. Because अर्जुन has now understood that कृष्ण is not responsible for the sufferings or enjoyments of people. कृष्ण is only कर्म-फल धाता, exactly like a judge, judge is not responsible for the enjoyment or suffering of the people, if a person suffers punishment in the jail, that suffering is not caused by the judge, but the suffering is the result of his own action. भगवान् has only worked for the कर्म-फलम् to reach him, just as the judge's role is to make the law the कर्म work properly. And therefore Lord's compassion does not mean He will alter the कर्म-फलम्, Lord's compassion is in the form of the maintenance of the law of कर्म and therefore if a person has to receive पापफलम् a person has to certainly receive it, भगवान् is compassionate alright, but where पापफलम् has to go, भगवान् will have to give that. If out of compassion, भगवान् is not going to कर्मफल, then the moral order of creation will be disturbed. Imagine भगवान् changes the law of कर्म, because a person has to suffer then what will be the problem. He will have to change the very laws which maintains the orderliness of the creation. Then a single individual may benefit alright, but the world at large will have to suffer and therefore when you look from short-sighted angle, it is like when a person is falling down, he says let the law of gravitation stop, because he is falling down. Then what will happen? OK, भगवान् says OK for 10 minutes, the law of gravitation will not function, because this fellow is falling. What will happen? We all will start flying! Remember, if the law of gravitation stops we will not be on the earth, like the cosmonauts and astronauts, we will be floating all over suddenly, somebody in T. Nagar is falling down and he prayed the Lord: Oh Lord for two minutes the law of gravitation should stop. भगवान् comes and out of compassion, says that let the law of gravitation stop. You will all hit the fan. Therefore, remember that it is shortsightedness to complain to the Lord and ask Him to change the course of the law for the sake of our personal benefit. The law of कर्म should go on for the survival of the world. Just as the traffic signals should be functioning even though one person may miss the train because of the traffic signal. Just because a person is going to miss the train, only for him switch off the signal, if you say, it won't work and therefore अर्जुन understood, the Lord is not partial or cruel, the job of the Lord is the maintenance of law of कर्म. Therefore, if my पाप कर्म brings suffering to me, I should change my attitude to accept the suffering without, what you call, getting frustrated, without complaining against the Lord, without cursing the Lord as unjust or cruel, I should change my attitude in accepting the suffering. And what is the best method of accepting? There is a method, the trick I will teach you, what is that? Every time I am suffering, it is the result of what: पुण्यम् or पापम्, the suffering is the result of पापम्. That means, every time I am suffering, one पाप has produced the result, that means what: in our sin-bundle the weight is reduced. Therefore instead of saying I am suffering, learn to say, I am becoming purer, because sin-bundle is becoming lesser means what: I am becoming purer and that is why we say: 'You put me in the fire of sorrow that purifies and made me pure, / God tests us through problems to bring out the best in us.' And in fact, when you are enjoying you should not be happy. In fact, your पुण्यम् is becoming less. Anyway, we need not see that, when you are enjoying, enjoy. At least when suffering comes, tell yourself one पापम् gone. So thus, change the attitude when suffering comes. That is the only way. This अर्जुन seems to understand and therefore Oh Lord, Your ways are inscrutable, You love everyone, alright, You are embodiment of compassion alright, but Your compassion expresses in the form of maintaining the law of कर्म. OK, this will lead to an aside question. Even though it is not the topic of the गीता, I will raise that question and answer that also. So if भगवान् is going to make the law of कर्म function, then does it mean that प्रायश्चित्त कर्मs are waste or useless? Because law of कर्म has to take its own course of action, so if कर्म-फलम् has necessarily to fructify, why should we pray? Why should we do प्रायश्चित्त कर्म, will it not be a waste? No, प्रायश्चित्त कर्म will never be a waste, because प्रायश्चित्त कर्म also functions according to the law of कर्म only. How does it function? By प्रायश्चित्त कर्म I am producing another पुण्यम्, which is exactly opposite to the पापम्. It is just like I have thrown a stone upwards and by the law of कर्म the stone is coming down straight towards my head and that too my head. Does it mean that I should suffer? No, I can throw another stone, which is again within the law of forces, one force is coming down, I produce another force which will go up and that force and this force will hit and it is capable of neutralization. I have taken some food which does not suit my system and therefore allergic reaction has come. That is according to the law of my system, that does not mean I have to suffer, I can take another medicine which will act exactly counter to that. Therefore प्रायश्चित्त कर्म are based on the law of resultant forces. In physics it is called the law of resultant forces. So प्रायश्चित्त will produce an आगामि and that आगामि can neutralize what? प्रारब्धम्. And suppose somebody asks, स्वामिजि I have done प्रायश्चित्तम्, but still I could not neutralize. Then what does it mean? The force of आगामि is lesser compared to the force of प्रारब्धम् and therefore naturally, imagine a huge meteorite is coming down and I take a pebble and throw up. I cannot stop it and therefore whether प्रायश्चित्त will neutralize प्रारब्धम् will depend upon the relative strength of प्रायश्चित्त and प्रारब्ध. If प्रारब्धम् is very powerful then प्रायश्चित्त cannot do much. That is why I have talked about this before, suppose you go to a doctor and ask, “Doctor can you cure my disease?” What will the doctor say, if he is an intelligent doctor, he will say, my reply will depend upon the type of disease. Certain diseases I can outright cure, if it is an allergic reaction to eggplant or something like that, I may give you an injection and remove it and if it is an appendicitis problem I may do appendectomy and remove. So for certain types of diseases there is total cure. Then for certain types of diseases not total cure, I will give tablets, like for BP, sugar etc., you will have to lifelong continue and then the disease can be controlled. You won’t be a total victim and you cannot be totally cured, but you will be able to manage. This is a medium type, total cure one type, manage second type and there are certain cases, third degree cancer, advanced AIDS or something, then the doctor says 3 months, 6 months or a few years; doctor says there is no remedy. Therefore I cannot say a disease cannot be cured, I can never say the disease can be cured, it all depends upon the individual cases and there are three possibilities, total cure, management or helplessness. Similarly, every प्रारब्ध that comes to us can be of three types, medium, weak or powerfull. Every प्रारब्ध has got an individual tag, I can never give a uniform answer that प्रारब्ध can be changed or not, because the प्रारब्ध is so many कर्मs have been done and therefore it is not one प्रारब्ध, but it is a flow of several individual प्रारब्ध. And each individual प्रारब्ध is either प्रबलम् or दुर्बलम् or मध्यमम्. In the case of दुर्बल प्रारब्ध, प्रायश्चित्त will completely remove, in the case of मध्यम प्रारब्ध, प्रायश्चित्त will help in what, managing and in the case of प्रबल प्रारब्ध, प्रायश्चित्त will not be able to do anything. But the greatest tragedy is when the प्रारब्ध comes, you don’t know which category it belongs to, if it comes and tells you this is प्रबल प्रारब्ध we can remain quietly. But प्रारब्ध being अदृष्टम्, you never know it is प्रबलम्, मध्यमम् or दुर्बलम्, your job is what, if you want to do प्रायश्चित्त, you do. Whether it is प्रबलम्, दुर्बलम् or मध्यमम्, how do you know? After doing प्रायश्चित्तम्, see how it works, then you will know what type of प्रारब्ध it is. Therefore प्रायश्चित्त कर्म also falls within the law of कर्म. So this is an aside topic. Incidentally here, भीष्म, द्रोण etc cannot be saved by any प्रायश्चित्त, हे अर्जुन! in their case the death is प्रबल प्रारब्धम् and therefore you finish them. So when अर्जुन recognized the Lord as the कर्म-फल धाता then अर्जुन's attitude changes totally. So now the attitude of आश्चर्यम् and भयम्, both of them are replaced by the attitude of surrender or भक्ति. This is called the surrender of the free-will to the law of कर्म. दयानन्द स्वामिजि defines the Lord, as the Order of the Creation. So surrender your will to the order of the creation, the laws of the Lord. So that transformation सञ्जय is reporting first, thereafter अर्जुन will come. So सञ्जय उवाच, सञ्जय reports, केशवस्य एतत् वचनम् श्रुत्वा, so अर्जुन understood the law very clearly, you cannot say Lord is cruel or compassionate, that is our judgment, Lord is neither cruel nor compassionate,

I am neither cruel nor compassionate, I run the world according to the law of कर्म, किरीटी means अर्जुनः and वेपमानः – he has trembling, because as an individual I am subject to the laws of कर्म, I can never escape, just as within the earth or on the earth I can never escape gravitation. Similarly, the law of कर्म is as inexorable as the law of gravitation, there is no question of whether you like it or not, if you don't like it better become mature enough to like the law. Because if you dislike it the law will not change, you have to suffer. You cannot say gravitation is pulling, gravitation is pulling, better learn to like it, that is called surrender. So surrender is a physical expression of the intellectual appreciation and the intellectual acceptance of the law of कर्म. Therefore वेपमानः, so trembling अर्जुन did नमस्कार to Lord कृष्ण. And भूयः एव कृष्णम् नमः कृत्वा, so the नमस्कार indicates the surrender of the will to the law of कर्म. So having done this नमस्कार, भूयः एव – again and again, भीत-भीतः, अर्जुन was extremely frightened, because the law of कर्म is so powerful and in front of the law of कर्म I am a puny little creature. Seeing the smallness of the individuality and seeing the inescapability from the law of कर्म, अर्जुन was trembling. Initially this will happen, the more I grow mature the more it will become natural and that is called भक्ति, the ripeness of भक्ति is what: that भयम् is gone, not because problems are gone but because I have learned go along with these problems. People come by law of कर्म and by the same law of कर्म people are separated. By the law of कर्म the body grows, by the law of कर्म the body weakens. So all these I learn to accept, which is indicated by नमस्कार. Therefore भीत-भीतः – with extreme fear, सगद्गदम् – with choked voice, because he is not able to swallow or assimilate, because remember अर्जुन's maturity is an artificial maturity caused by कृष्ण, like ripening the fruit in naphthalene box or something, so there is a difference in taste, natural ripening and artificial ripening there is a difference. अर्जुन's appreciation of विश्वरूप is not borne out of natural ripening. कृष्ण has artificially blessed him with this दिव्य चक्षुः, artificial दिव्य चक्षुः will not work for long as you see. But if naturally we get the दिव्य चक्षुः, which is nothing but कर्मयोग, then this fear will not there, therefore with a choked voice, with extreme panic, अर्जुन repeatedly did नमस्कार and addressed the Lord in the following verses:

Verse No .36

अर्जुन उवाच ।

स्थाने हृषीकेश तव प्रकीर्त्या जगत्प्रहृष्यत्यनुरज्यते च ।

रक्षांसि भीतानि दिशो द्रवन्ति सर्वे नमस्यन्ति च सिद्धसङ्घाः ॥ ११-३६॥

स्थाने हृषीकेश तव प्रकीर्त्या जगत् प्रहृष्यति अनुरज्यते च ।

रक्षांसि भीतानि दिशः द्रवन्ति सर्वे नमस्यन्ति च सिद्ध-सङ्घाः ॥ ११-३६॥

हे हृषीकेश! स्थाने, तव प्रकीर्त्या जगत् प्रहृष्यति, अनुरज्यते च, भीतानि रक्षांसि दिशः द्रवन्ति, सर्वे च सिद्ध-सङ्घाः नमस्यन्ति ।

So अर्जुन begins his response. So this is the third stage of अर्जुन's response, which is one of devotion or surrender. आश्चर्यम् or wonderment is over, and the second stage is भयम् or fear. Now it has given away to the surrender, शरणागतिः. But still the fear part is lingering in the background, that we will see later, the fear never goes. Because as long as we are narrow minded the creation will be a source of fear, only when we expand our mind to appreciate the totality and the laws of the creation, then only the fear and insecurity will go. In fact, according to वेदान्त, only through विश्वरूप appreciation we can go to निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, from एकरूप भक्ति, one has to necessarily come to the विश्वरूप appreciation, the universal law of कर्म, the law of धर्म-अधर्म. There is no question of skirting that and अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि story will not work and even if you avoid that and come to वेदान्त and repeat अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि, अहम् शुद्धोऽस्मि, बुद्धोऽस्मि, etc., you will find that on the lips अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि will be there, in the heart fear will be there. If you want to conquer fear, if you want to conquer insecurity, you have to necessarily expand your mind, appreciate the totality and see the laws of the creation, not only the physical laws but also the moral laws, which extent not only to the present जन्म, but which extends to the past जन्मs and innumerable future जन्मs and you should see that as an individual you cannot escape the law. If you want to escape the laws it is only by transcending the अहङ्कार and going to निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, but you transcend the अहङ्कार only by going through the विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. अहङ्कार should grow, then it should fall. Just like the skin of a banana, it is required for the growth of the banana, then alone it can escape. You can escape from your अहङ्कार, only after the ripening of the अहङ्कार and the अहङ्कार ripens only through विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and once विश्वरूपदर्शनम् has ripened the अहङ्कार, वेदान्त will quietly pluck the अहङ्कार. In fact, it will be easy, just by the touch of वेदान्त, उर्वारुकमिव बन्धनान्मृत्योर्मुक्षीय माऽमृतात्. You can never escape from अहङ्कार without ripening it and that ripening method is विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. And therefore अर्जुन here says, हे कृष्ण! now I understand why great महात्माs appreciate the विश्वरूपम् of Yours, the mature ones, the ones who have got the infinite vision of the totality, why they appreciate the विश्वरूपम् I can understand. I also can understand how the narrow minded people are afraid of विश्वरूपम् and In fact, when I am narrow minded, the problem is even religion becomes the cause of fear, even भगवान् becomes the source of fear, if I do this mistake He will cut my nose, if I do that mistake He will cut my tongue, etc., etc. When we are children that is the fear given - He will cut the nose and put chilli powder. So even the religion becomes the source of fear, even God becomes the source of fear if my अहङ्कार doesn't ripen. And therefore अर्जुन tells both, कृष्ण I understand how immature people are frightened of You and how mature people are enamored, charmed by You. So हे हृषीकेश! तव प्रकीर्त्या – by glorifying You, the विश्वरूप, तव विश्वरूपस्य प्रकीर्त्या, स्तोत्रेण, जगत् प्रहस्यति the mature people प्रहस्यति – they revel, they enjoy, because the beauty of totality is far superior to the petty pleasures that we get through attachment to a few people around. So always when we are attached to a few people, children, or wife, or husband, there is a joy, 'Flute is sweet, lute is sweet', etc., they say. Certainly there is an enjoyment, but there is always a fear also what will happen to the children, what will happen. So narrow minded attachment will give you kicks and pleasures but along with that there is a constant anxiety and concern also. But the pleasure which is born out of non-attachment to a few and the appreciation of the totality, that आनन्द is of a totally different dimension and that आनन्द a few people have and I am able to appreciate why they have. Therefore, जगत् – the mature people प्रहस्यति – they revel, अनुज्यते च – and they are attached to you as विश्वरूपम्. The narrow attachment they are not interested in. There is one beautiful मलयाळम् composition called हरिनाम कीर्तनम्, it is a very popular one in केरल, in that the author writes 'Jnaanenna bhaavamatu tonnayka venamiha Tonnunnatakkil akhilam jnaan itenna vazhi Tonnenname varada naaraayanaaya nama.' Jnaanenna bhaavamatu tonnayka - 'Oh Lord, I should never have the idea of individuality', as I related to a few people, this man's uncle, this man's grandpa, this man's father, etc., etc., that is called Jnaanenna bhaavam. Then he says Tonnunnatakkil – even if that I should rise in me, akhilam jnaan itenna vazhi Tonnenname varada naaraayanaaya nama', - If I should develop an I, let that I be identified with akhilam jnaan. Either I should never have identification, zero identification or total identification. If zero identification, you are ब्रह्मन्, if total identification, you are ईश्वर, in both you have no संसार. But our problem is neither zero identification nor total identification, tied to a select few we suffer with them. So that a few identifications makes me a miserable in between जीव. ईश्वर has no संसार, ब्रह्मन् has no संसार, जीव has got महा संसार. And therefore जगत् प्रहृष्यति अनुरज्यते च. And रक्षांसि – all the रक्षायस who do not appreciate the धर्म of the Lord. They are afraid of You, Oh Lord. Who is afraid of the police? Why should I be afraid of the police if I am following the rule of law? So therefore the विश्वरूप God becomes a source of fear and panic, for whom रक्षांसि, that means अधार्मिक people are भीतानि – frightened of you Oh Lord and they try to escape from the law of कर्म, how can you escape, दिशः द्रवन्ति – they run helter-skelter, they run all over, you can escape from the local police but you can never escape from the law of कर्म. So दिशः द्रवन्ति and सिद्ध-सङ्घाः सर्वे – all the सिद्ध पुरुषs, all the ज्ञानिs, who know what is what, सर्वे नमस्यन्ति – they do नमस्कारम् to You, because they are willing to accept whatever comes according to the law of कर्म and if at all they pray, their prayer is what, "Oh Lord, You need not change the law for my sake, but give the attitude to accept what cannot be changed, if things can be changed to प्रायश्चित्तम्, give me the knowledge and strength to do the necessary प्रायश्चित्तम्, nothing wrong, but whatever is choice-less and irremediable, तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे, let me accept the choice-less situation.” So that is called नमस्कार, सर्वे सिद्ध-सङ्घाः – groups of wise people do नमस्कार to You. Continuing;

Verse No .37

कस्मात्त्वं ते न नमस्कृतमहात्मन् गरीयसे ब्रह्मणोऽप्यादिकर्त्रे ।

अनन्त देवेश जगन्निवास त्वमक्षरं सदसत्तत्परं यत् ॥ ११-३७॥

कस्मात् च ते न नमस्कृतमहात्मन् गरीयसे ब्रह्मणः अपि आदि-कर्त्रे ।

अनन्त देवेश जगत् निवास त्वम् अक्षरम् सत् असत् तत् परं यत् ॥ ११-३७॥

हे महात्मन्! अनन्त, देवेश! ब्रह्मणः अपि गरीयसे आदि-कर्त्रे(तुभ्यं) ते कस्मात् च न नमस्कृतं, हे जगत्-निवास! यत् सत् असत् (अस्ति) तत् परं अक्षरम् त्वम्

So here अर्जुन says, anyone who appreciates your glory as विश्वरूप, the totality, doing नमस्कार to You is very very natural and instinctive. Like those scientists who discover more and more the uniqueness and glory of creation. As Einstein said, the more I am studying the creation I cannot but surrender or appreciate the glory of Lord. In fact, more you see the totality, विनयः, humility is very very natural. And therefore अर्जुन asks, why won't people do नमस्कार. So if they are doing नमस्कार there is no आश्चर्यम्, if they don't do नमस्कार alone is आश्चर्यम्, because so wonderful is the totality and that is why to develop भक्ति, even studying any aspect of creation, after विश्वरूप reading, you read any science, read biology, read entomology - the study of insects, insects will make you wonder, astronomy will make you wonder, any science you take and go in depth, see Discovery Channel, see National Geography, anything you see, wonderment cannot be avoided. If you are mere scientists, it will stop with wonderment, if you are a भक्त, the wonderment will express in the form of devotion and therefore any aspect of creation makes me do नमस्कार to You. Therefore अर्जुन says who will not do नमस्कार and if a person cannot do नमस्कार, it only shows his smallness of the mind. So what that person requires is only sympathy, because he is missing something greater. Like if a child cannot appreciate music, it is because of what, the child has not reached that level of sensitivity to appreciate the music. Therefore child is missing a dimension. Similarly, whoever is नास्तिका and whoever has not understood the scriptures properly, we don't get angry with them, our attitude is what, they are missing a totally different dimension. They have to sensitize the mind to enjoy music, otherwise, it is like donkey life only, somebody said:

तृणम् न खादन्नपि जीवमानस्तद्भागधेयम् परमम् पशूनाम् ॥

The one who cannot appreciate literature and music which requires a sensitive mind, that person is साक्षात् पशुः, only difference is what, पुच्छ-विषाण-हीनः – tails and horns are missing and the only difference from the cows is तृणम् न खादन् – he lives without eating grass, what is that, तत् भागधेयम् परमम् पशूनाम् – In fact, पशुs feel happy because one competitor is less. So therefore if I don't have music, it is not the music is absent it is only I don't have that faculty which can sense the music. Similarly, if I say there is no God, it is not absence of God but I don't have the extra antenna, शिखा, I don't that extra antenna to sense the विश्वरूप harmony. Anyway, कस्मात् च ते न नमेरन् – why won't people become devotee, if they are sensitive they will certainly become devotees and how great You are. So this shows his sensitivity, he talks about the glory of the Lord, गरीयसे Oh Lord the greatest one, because macro is always the greatest compared to any micro. गरीयसे ब्रह्मणः अपि आदि-कर्त्रे – You are the creator of even ब्रह्माजि. In पुराणs we hear from विष्णु's navel only lotus came, पद्मनाभ he is called and there on the lotus ब्रह्माजि appears. This is the पौराणिक approach, what is the Vedantic approach? ईश्वर is समष्टि कारण शरीर सहित चैतन्यम्, ब्रह्माजि is समष्टि सूक्ष्म शरीर सहित चैतन्यम्, समष्टि सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is born out of समष्टि कारण शरीरम्. If you have forgotten सूक्ष्म शरीरम् and कारण शरीरम् etc., never mind; You are the creator of ब्रह्मा, आदि-कर्त्रे. ब्रह्मणः here is not सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम्, but ब्रह्म means ब्रह्माजि. अनन्त – You are the infinite one, because time and space exist in You, You don't exist in time and space, देवेश – one who is the Lord of all gods, जगत्-निवास – You are the abode of the universe, You don't live in the universe but the universe lives in You. त्वम् अक्षरम् सत् असत् परम् यत् – You are the cause, You are the effect, You are beyond both also, You are कार्य रूपः, कारण रूपः, कार्यकारण विलक्षणम् च, suddenly he comes to वेदान्त. The details in the next class.

अर्जुन was overpowered by fear when he looked at the Lord as the काल तत्त्वम् and that too as the destructive काल तत्त्वम्, swallowing all the people, especially his near and dear ones. And then अर्जुन asked the question: Oh! Lord who are You, I thought that You are a compassionate one, but now I have doubts regarding that, because you seem to enjoy destroying everything. When अर्जुन asked such a question, Lord कृष्ण answered, He said there is no question of having compassion or not having compassion. As we saw in the 9th chapter, भगवान् has neither likes towards something or dislike towards something else. समः अहम् सर्व-भूतेषु न मे द्वेष्यः अस्ति न प्रियः, My job is only maintaining the order of the creation and the maintaining the order of the creation involves my role of the maintenance of the law of कर्म also and by way of maintaining the law of कर्म, I have to give कर्म-फलम् to every जीव. And my compassion is giving the कर्म-फलम्, it is not looking into what type of कर्म-फलम् it is, giving the कर्म-फलम् is my compassion and when the कर्म-फलम् happens to be painful, it appears as though the Lord is cruel, you have to change your attitude and look at it in a positive manner. When suffering comes you take it as the exhaustion of the negative कर्म-फलम्, पापफल अपक्षय, exhaustion is taking place and therefore instead of seeing it as suffering process you learn to look at it as purifying process. When a doctor gives a painful treatment you can look at it in two different ways, one is the doctor is giving me pain, that is the superficial approach and if I have got some maturity I can look at it differently, doctor is giving me health, he is curing me, he is removing the negativities or toxins from me. So the doctor removes the gross impurities, whereas भगवान्, the वैद्यनाथ removes the inner diseases, पापम् is a form of spiritual disease only. And therefore look at every suffering as spiritual purification. And if I do not have the strength to have that attitude, I pray to the Lord, Oh Lord, give me the change in my perspective. So that I will say, 'You put me in the fire of sorrow that purifies and made me pure, / God tests us through problems to bring out the best in us.' This should come from my innermost heart: Oh Lord You are purifying me by removing the पापs that I have done. So when this understanding came to अर्जुन, in the place of fear, he gets devotion to the Lord, even though Lord appears to be cruel, like a doctor appears to be cruel for a child, because it is paining, but if I understand the doctor properly I won't look at him as a cruel person. That is why भगवान् is often described as वैद्यनाथः and therefore अर्जुन's fear is replaced by devotion. And therefore in the later verses, beginning from the 36th onwards, अर्जुन expresses devotion to the Lord, the Lord as कर्म-फल धाता. And there we are seeing, we completed the 37th verse, wherein अर्जुन said

Immature people do not understand You. Therefore they think You are unjust and cruel, whereas mature people understand You properly and they know that Lord can never be unjust. I am not able to understand certain experiences in my life, not because the experiences are unjust, but I don't have the totality of the picture. Whoever has got complaint against God they always say that I have never harmed anyone. Why should भगवान् give me trouble, let Him give to the neighbor OK. Let the cyclone go to आन्ध्र. So when we say that we have not done any harm, any पापम्, we are only talking of our limited life period of a few years before. We don't even know what we have done as children and how are we going to remember what we have done in our previous birth. Therefore when we look at ourselves we look at with a very very narrow mind, whereas when भगवान् looks at ourselves, it is from the totality of all the कर्मs done in the past जन्मs also. Therefore we have no right to pass judgment when we go through varieties of experience. Our only attitude is God knows best. And that is they give the stories of धर्मपुत्र who is supposed to be an embodiment of धर्म but goes through all types of problem. And धर्मपुत्र himself gets doubt, how come I go through all these suffering, He is धर्मपुत्र, why me, this approach is called why me, that means anybody else OK, good, but why me. So धर्मपुत्र gets the doubt in the forest, he gets frustrated, he gets angry with Lord, he thinks that there is full of injustice alone in the world. Then ऋषिs come and tell him stories, धर्मपुत्र himself has to be consoled. In those stories what the ऋषिs point out is that nobody can escape the कर्म-फलम्, even gods when they take the अवतार, even they go through the difficult situations,

If all the sufferings in life have got cure, then राम wouldn't have suffered, युधिष्ठिर wouldn't have suffered. The very fact that even they suffered indicates that there are many curable पापम्s and there are many incurable पापम्s also. If that comes what to do? Suffer silently, we should learn to accept. And that mental preparation we can never try to get when the suffering comes. If you want to develop immunity and you want to do exercise, when should you do exercise? Not when you are sick, the immunity should be developed when you are healthy, do exercise or do walking, etc. Similarly, this mental preparation we have to do not at the time of suffering but when things are relatively better, we have to say to our own mind then itself that Lord is never unjust, Lord gives every experience according to my कर्म only. There is no injustice in the world. This we have to persistently remind ourselves for many years and if tomorrow something comes that वासना, acceptance वासना will work. But our problem is when everything is fine we don't want to think of these things. Because enjoy, so that preparation we have to do when everything is fine. Oh Lord, give me the strength to accept my प्रारब्धम्. And once that maturity comes, they only surrender to the Lord, they can never criticize the Lord. So कस्मात् च ते न नमेरन् महात्मन्, so the mature people will certainly do नमस्कार, why won't they do नमस्कार. Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing;

Verse No .38

त्वमादिदेवः पुरुषः पुराणस्- त्वमस्य विश्वस्य परं निधानम् ।

वेतासि वेद्यं च परं च धाम त्वया ततं विश्वमनन्तरूप ॥ ११-३८॥

त्वम् आदिदेवः पुरुषः पुराणः त्वम् अस्य विश्वस्य परम् निधानम् ।

वेता असि वेद्यम् च परम् च धाम त्वया ततम् विश्वम् अनन्त-रूप ॥ ११-३८॥

So Lord's कृष्ण stature is increasing in the vision of अर्जुन. Even though the Lord has been great all the time, अर्जुन begins to understand that now only, therefore his devotion also becomes deeper and deeper. Previously his नमस्कार was a mere mechanical act, because we have been taught to do नमस्कार in front of the Lord right from the childhood and since we have mechanically practiced it, it is only a physical exercise, but for an enlightened person, every नमस्कार is a very very significant inner expression of his attitude. The Lord represents the law of कर्म and my नमस्कार represents, I will never question the law of कर्म and that unquestioned acceptance is indicated by a physical action and therefore अर्जुन expresses that devotion here, त्वम् आदिदेवः – Oh Lord, You are the first and foremost God, So आदिदेवः, because ब्रह्मा is also considered god only, but ब्रह्मा is आदिदेवः because even before ब्रह्मा originated or emerged Lord विष्णु was there and therefore he is called आदिदेवः. पुरुषः – You are the all-pervading one and also You are in-dweller in every human body. पुरुषः has two meanings, पूरयति सर्वम् इति पुरुषः, the one who is all-pervading and the second meaning is: the one who resides in the body, पुरु means body, शः ('ष' कार आदेश) means in-dweller. So पुरु-षः means body resident, body in-dweller. And पुराणः – You are the most ancient one, without a beginning, पुराणः; then त्वम् अस्य विश्वस्य परम् निधानम्, निधानम् means the ground of dissolution or destruction and You are the ultimate ground into which the whole creation dissolves or resolves, लय स्थानम्, प्रलय स्थानम्. And why do we say the Lord is the ultimate resolution ground? Because when the scriptures describe प्रलयम्, they describe it as a gradual process. All the living beings are resolved into पृथिवी. Therefore earth becomes the लय स्थानम् for all the plants and animals, insects all of them. Then the earth itself dissolves into जलम्, of the five elements जलम् is the next one and the जलम् itself is supposed to resolve into the अग्नि तत्त्वम्, अग्नि into वायु तत्त्वम्, वायु into अकाश तत्त्वम् and अकाश into ब्रह्म तत्त्वम् and ब्रह्मन् resolves into? (I am just seeing whether you are listening). So all these things resolve into something else, but ब्रह्मन् doesn't resolve into anything and therefore it is called the ultimate resolution ground, whereas पृथिवी, जलम्, अग्नि etc., are relative resolution ground and therefore the adjective परम् निधानम्. So परम् निधानम्, वेत्ता असि वेद्यम् च – You are the knower of everything, that means that you are every living being, which is the experiencer of the world. So वेत्ता means भोक्तृ जीवः, the sentient experiencing living beings are called here वेत्ता and वेद्यम् means the insentient object of experience. So one is प्रमाता and another is प्रमेयम्, one is भोक्ता and another is भोग्यम्, one is subject, the other is object; one is sentient, the other is insentient. In fact, the whole creation is only a mixture of the चैतन-अचैतन and अर्जुन says you are both the चैतन तत्त्वम् as well as the अचैतन. And not only you are भोक्ता and भोग्यम् and परम् च धाम – You are beyond both of them also, you are the ultimate reality also, who is neither the experiencer nor the experienced. प्रमातृ प्रमेयम् अतीतः अपि त्वम् एव, that means the absolute Consciousness. So here the idea is conveyed is माण्डूक्य idea, so वेत्ता refers to विश्व, तैजस, प्रज्ञ and वेद्यम् refers to the स्थूल, सूक्ष्म, कारण प्रपञ्च; three pairs and परम् च धाम means that which is beyond the three pairs, that is the तुरीय तत्त्वम्, a philosophical idea is conveyed here, परम् च धाम, धाम means चैतन्यम्, the तुरीयम् चैतन्यम् You are, in which all the knowers as well as the object of knowledge rest, परम् च धाम. In short, त्वया ततम् विश्वम् अनन्त-रूप – Oh Lord, the entire universe is pervaded by You, as तुरीयम् You are the substratum upon which the relative world rests, त्वया – by You the तुरीयम्, the absolute विश्वम् ततम् – the universe is pervaded. So this you can clearly understand if you only remember the Upanishadic teaching, therefore those who don't know माण्डुक्य you can leave it aside. You note this much that वेत्ता and वेद्यम् represents the relative world and परम् means the absolute. You are both the relative as well as the absolute, so त्वया ततम् विश्वम्, हे अनन्त-रूप! Oh विश्वरूप ईश्वर. Continuing;

वायुर्यमोऽग्निर्वरुणः शशाङ्कः प्रजापतिस्त्वं प्रपितामहश्च ।

नमो नमस्तेऽस्तु सहस्रकृत्वः पुनश्च भूयोऽपि नमो नमस्ते ॥ ११-३९॥

वायुः यमः अग्निः वरुणः शशाङ्कः प्रजापतिः त्वम् प्रपितामहः च ।

नमः नमः ते अस्तु सहस्र-कृत्वः पुनः च भूयः अपि नमः नमः ते ॥ ११-३९॥

त्वम् वायुः यमः अग्निः वरुणः शशाङ्कः प्रजापतिः च प्रपितामहः (असि) ते सहस्र-कृत्वः, नमः नमः, पुनः च भूयः अपि ते नमः नमः अस्तु ।

So You are everything, that is the essence of the verse, त्वम् वायुः यमः अग्निः वरुणः शशाङ्कः – all You alone are, वायुः means वायु देवता, the wind or air, यमः means काल देवता, (Yamaha not the motor bike - see what a name). So यमः is the काल तत्त्वम् and अग्निः means the fire principle, वरुणः means the water, शशाङ्कः means the moon. So वायुः यमः अग्निः वरुणः शशाङ्कः, You are all of them. You should know the logic behind it also, what is the logic, in the 7th chapter itself कृष्ण has introduced that भगवान् is the कारणम् and the whole creation is the कार्यम् and we know the fundamental law that the कारणम् alone appears in the form of manifold कार्यम्, cause alone with different names and forms appears as various effects, just as one gold alone with different नामs and रूपs appears as different forms of ornaments. There are no ornaments separate from gold, there are no furniture separate from wood, there are no waves and oceans separate from water, generalizing, there are no products separate from cause. And the cause being God, there are no creations other than God. Therefore God alone is in the form of अकाश, वायुः, अग्नि, आपः, that logic you should remember. It is given in one particular section of ब्रह्मसूत्र. So this logic is a powerful अधिकरणम्,

It is called आरम्भणाधिकरणम् न्याय. So what is the logic? Effects do not exist separate from cause. Or to put in another language, cause alone appears as manifold effects. And applying this principle अर्जुन says Oh Lord, You the cause alone are in the form of all the जीवs, वायुः, यमः, अग्निः, वरुणः, शशाङ्कः, प्रजापतिः, there are fourteen प्रजापतिs, whose department is the expansion of the population, that is why they are called प्रजापतिs. Therefore they all will have many wives, each one has got three wives, four wives and all and one family will be forty-fifty people will be there, that is true in the case of प्रजापतिः, कश्यप प्रजापतिः, दक्ष प्रजापतिः etc. They are all described in the पुराणs, विष्णु creates ब्रह्मा and ब्रह्मा creates fourteen प्रजापतिs and from the fourteen प्रजापतिs all the other human beings are born. And therefore अर्जुन says all those प्रजापतिs also You alone are. And then पितामहः, so all the fourteen प्रजापतिः are born out of पितामहः. पितामहः means ब्रह्माजि. That is not there in the verse, we have to supply. प्रजापतिः You are, ब्रह्मा You are, not fourteen, one ब्रह्मा and ब्रह्माजि himself is born out of विष्णु's navel. So ब्रह्माजि is पितामहः, विष्णु becomes what: प्रपितामहः च – so You are the father of even ब्रह्मा. So You are प्रजापतिः, You are ब्रह्मा, You are विष्णु. And therefore what do I want to do, what can I do? नमः नमः ते अस्तु – I offer my नमस्कारम्s, how many times? सहस्र-कृत्वः – thousands of times I offer नमस्कारम्s to You, still I am not satisfied, पुनः च भूयः अपि नमः

नमः ते – again and again I offer नमस्कारम् to you, because the more I think of Your great the more I feel like offering नमस्कार to You. Continuing;

नमः पुरस्तादथ पृष्ठतस्ते नमोऽस्तु ते सर्वत एव सर्व ।

अनन्तवीर्यामितविक्रमस्त्वं सर्वं समाप्नोषि ततोऽसि सर्वः ॥ ११-४०॥

नमः पुरस्तात् अथ पृष्ठतः ते नमः अस्तु ते सर्वतः एव सर्व ।

अनन्त-वीर्य-अमित-विक्रमः त्वम् सर्वम् समाप्नोषि ततः असि सर्वः ॥ ११-४०॥

अर्जुन is still not satisfied, he has offered thousand नमस्कारम्, verbal, not physical, he would have lost his leg otherwise, verbally he said, सहस्र-कृत्वः नमः. And still he is not satisfied and therefore he says, my नमस्कारम् to You in front of You, my नमस्कारम् to You behind, my नमस्कारम् to You to Your right side, my नमस्कारम् to You to Your left, all over and all sides I offer नमस्कारम्, so ते पुरस्तात् नमः – in front of You, पृष्ठतः – behind You, because really speaking there is no front or behind, because Lord's face is all over and facing all the directions. So पृष्ठतः means behind You, to Your back I offer नमस्कार and in short, instead of describing each direction, north east, north south, etc., therefore he says, सर्वतः एव नमस्कार – so all around You I offer नमस्कार, सर्वतः एव ते नमः अस्तु; सर्व रूपः – who is not in the form of कृष्ण alone, who is not in the form of राम alone, but who is in the form of everything in the creation and that is why we have got पञ्च भूत लिङ्ग also, you should remember, there are all based on this teaching only. अकाश रूपेण You alone are, in the form of वायु You are, अग्नि You are, therefore I do नमस्कारम् to the पञ्च भूतs also, because You are everything. And how great You are? अनन्त-वीर्य! अमित-विक्रमः-त्वम् –

You have got infinite strength or power, omnipotent You are, अनन्तम् वीर्यम् यस्य, because any power that is anywhere belongs to You only. In one lightening itself so much electricity is there, they say that if we know how to tap the electricity from one flash of lightening, we can burn, we can provide electricity to a city for one year. But the problem is that we don't have the technology to tap and how many flashes of lightening are coming, every second somewhere in the world, lightening is striking, every second, how much power should be there. And all these power belongs to whom, to You alone. Therefore अनन्त-वीर्य, like that you can take, so much power in the creation all You alone have. And अमित-विक्रमः – You have got enormous valor, courage also. Some people have power but no courage. So they have the power but they are terrified, some people have got courage but no power; You have got both, अनन्त-वीर्यः, अमित-विक्रमः, अमितः विक्रमः यस्य अमित-विक्रमः, अनन्त-वीर्यः च अयम् अमित-विक्रमः च विशेषण उभयपद कर्मधारयसमासः. For grammar students, others can be blissfully ignorant. अनन्त-वीर्यः अमित-विक्रमः त्वम्; सर्वम् समाप्नोषि – You pervade everything. So the idea of traveling and reaching God should go out of our mind. So when we start religion, our idea is we have to reach God, we have to reach God and after death and that too we have to travel, परम् पदम् अवाप्नोति, शिव पदम् अवाप्नोति, विष्णु पदम् अवाप्नोति. We have got a conditioning that we have to travel and reach God, the 11th chapter should demolish that conditioning, there is no question of reaching God, because we are never away from the Lord to reach him. Then why do scriptures talk about reaching God? Reaching God is dropping the notion that we are away from God. Are you getting it? Reaching God is only dropping the notion, dropping the conditioning that we have to reach God. For the one who has got विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, his feeling is I have got my birth, my movement, my death, everything on the lap of the Lord only. How many kilometers the wave should travel to reach the ocean? So there is no question of travel, the idea of travel and the idea of distance is born out of ignorance, it is a notional distance, it is neither time-wise distance nor space-wise distance, it is purely ignorance-wise distance. If space-wise distance is there you have to travel, if time-wise distance is there you have to wait. What is time-wise distance? A child wants to become a major, minor wants to become major, the distance between the minor and major is determined by what? Time. So what should you do? Wait. Whereas in the case of reaching Lord there is no question of space-wise distance, we need not travel, there is no question of time-wise distance, if we continue like this we will reach God one day that concept is also not there, the distance is purely ignorance-wise. How do you remove the ignorance-distance? Only by knowledge. And therefore विश्वरूपदर्शनम् should remove the idea of reaching God because you are सर्वम् समाप्नोषि, are all-pervading and therefore ततः असि सर्वः – and therefore You are everything. First I say You pervade everything then I say You are everything. Like saying Gold pervades all the ornaments, that is statement No.1. Then the next statement is there is no question of gold pervading all ornaments, in fact, gold is in the form of all ornaments, therefore ततः असि सर्वः. Continuing; verse no.41;

अजानता महिमानं तवेदं मया प्रमादात्प्रणयेन वापि ॥ ११-४१॥

सखा इति मत्वा प्रसभम् यत् उक्तम् हे कृष्ण हे यादव हे सखा इति ।

अजानता महिमानम् तव इदम् मया प्रमादात् प्रणयेन वा अपि ॥ ११-४१॥

Now अर्जुन looks back, because now he has understood that कृष्ण is not an ordinary जीव, but कृष्ण is भगवान् Himself. So who deserves all the नमस्कारs, all the reverence the Lord requires. So now he knows how to treat the Lord, how to respect the Lord, but he looks back and he remembers that before knowing this he has never treated the Lord as the Lord, he has treated Him only as a friend. And therefore he has never given the respect the Lord deserves and therefore he feels very bad about it. Even though Lord कृष्ण doesn't feel, but he feels that he has insulted Him and therefore he asks for forgiveness in these verses. हे कृष्ण! सखा इति मत्वा – I thought You are an ordinary human being and that too You are a friend of mine, सखा means a friend, especially a friend of equal age. And therefore I have used very very irreverent words. प्रसभम् यत् उक्तम्, प्रसभम् means rudely, irreverently, without respect, impolitely I have used many words, I should have addressed You as हे भगवान्, but what did I do, as हे कृष्ण I have addressed You. In some cultures, they have got the first name, second name, who can be called with the first name, who can be called with second name, like that. So therefore I have addressed You in a very very impolite manner as हे कृष्ण. In संस्कृत, हे is disrespect. Then, हे यादव – I have addressed as यादव and हे सखा – as Oh friend, in this manner I have impolitely address You. But it is not because of my disrespect to You, but because of sheer ignorance, तव महिमानम् अजानता. In fact, it is Your mistake, You have taken an ordinary human form. If You had come with a few more extra heads, extra hands, at least I will have known that You are an extra-ordinary person, but You have come with only an ordinary human form, therefore तव महिमानम् – Your real glory अजानता – I did not know. तव इमम्, that is another reading also, इदम्, इदम् महिमानम् or इमम् महिमानम् both readings are there, इदम् महिमानम् is grammatically incorrect, because महिमानम् is masculine gender and इदम् is neuter gender, therefore they don't go together. So if it is इदम् महिमानम्, it is grammatically wrong, but we cannot say व्यास is wrong, so therefore we say it is poetic license and we justify somehow, if it is taken as इमम् महिमानम्, then grammatically it is appropriate and therefore I have taken the इमम् महिमानम् reading, which is grammatically appropriate. So without knowing Your real glory I have done that. Or मया प्रमादात्, प्रमादात् means inadvertently, casually, carelessly, I have used such expression, because we have been very very close and therefore when I speak and I don't think (generally itself we don't think, but when we are moving with friends, where are we going to think) I might have used such words प्रमादात्, inadvertently, unwittingly or प्रणयेन – because of my closeness to You, because of our intimate friendship I would have used such expressions. We are not going to use reverentially expression when a friend comes, therefore don't take it to Your heart, don't take it seriously.

एकोऽथवाप्यच्युत तत्समक्षं तत्क्षामये त्वामहमप्रमेयम् ॥ ११-४२॥

यत् च अवहासार्थम् असत् कृतः असि विहार-शय्या-आसन-भोजनेषु ।

एकः अथवा अपि अच्युत तत् समक्षम् तत् क्षामये त्वाम् अहम् अप्रमेयम् ॥ ११-४२॥

तव इदम् महिमानम् अजानता मया सखा इति मत्वा, 'हे कृष्ण! हे यादव, हे सखा!' इति प्रमादात् प्रणयेन वा अपि प्रसभम् यत् उक्तम्; हे अच्युत! यत् च विहार-शय्या-आसन-भोजनेषु, अवहासार्थम् एकः अथवा तत् समक्षम् अपि, असत् कृतः असि तत् अहम् अप्रमेयम् त्वाम् क्षामये ।

Not only that, अर्जुन says, I might have insulted You several times for the sake of fun, अवहासार्थम् – for the sake of fun I might have disrespected you (as they say 'I might have pulled your legs', in that meaning), असत् कृतः असि – because You are a friend I might have played many pranks, friendly pranks I might have done during several occasions like विहार-शय्या-आसन-भोजनेषु. Because you should अर्जुन and कृष्ण were very intimate friends and therefore they have been together during several occasions, like what? विहार – while playing, शय्या – on the bed, when sleeping together, शय्या, आसन – while sitting together on the आसन or भोजन – while eating. During all these occasions I might have played several pranks and thus I might have insulted You. And sometimes I might have insulted You when we only were there, but sometimes I might have done that in front of others also. So playing fun. Therefore एकः – when we were alone, in private or तत् समक्षम् – publicly in front of others also I might have made fun of You. For all of them You should give me forgiveness. तत् क्षामये त्वाम् अहम् – You please pardon me, please excuse me for such a treatment. And I know You will do that because you are अप्रमेयम्, You are unlike the worldly people, worldly people will keep that in mind but You are extraordinary, अप्रमेयम् means matchless, incomparable, unlike the worldly people.

न त्वत्समोऽस्त्यभ्यधिकः कुतोऽन्यो लोकत्रयेऽप्यप्रतिमप्रभाव ॥ ११-४३॥

पिता असि लोकस्य चर-अचरस्य त्वम् अस्य पूज्यः च गुरुः गरीयान् ।

न त्वत् समः अस्ति अभ्यधिकः कुतः अन्यः लोक-त्रये अपि अप्रतिम-प्रभाव ॥ ११-४३॥

हे अप्रतिम-प्रभाव! त्वम् अस्य चर-अचरस्य लोकस्य पिता, गरीयान् पूज्यः गुरुः च असि, लोक-त्रये अपि त्वत् समः न अस्ति, कुतः अभ्यधिकः अन्यः?

Some tongue twisters. OK. अस्य चर-अचरस्य लोकस्य पिता असि – You are the father, You are the कारणम् of the entire creation. And what about mother? Mother also You are. Because in the वैदिक teaching father and mother are inseparable, one is ब्रह्म तत्त्वम् another is माया तत्त्वम्, ब्रह्मन् and माया are inseparable and that is why विष्णु and लक्ष्मी are inseparable, लक्ष्मी always occupies the chest of the Lord. We also keep लक्ष्मी देवी in our pockets, now we are keeping somewhere back, that is a different thing, that is not supposed to be the right thing because लक्ष्मी देवी is sacred, you cannot keep it behind, therefore you are supposed to keep here(chest), that is what विष्णु is teaching, वक्षःस्थल स्थिता लक्ष्मी. And ब्रह्माजि keeps सरस्वती where? In the tongue itself and शिव still further, half of the body is occupied. Therefore all the trinity we find, the father and mother they cannot be separated, the philosophical significance is ब्रह्मन् and माया are inseparate. That is why when you worship mother, father is included, when you worship the father, mother is included, you need not even separately do. Therefore पिता असि means You are both the father and mother. We saw it before, माता, धाता, पितामहः. So अस्य लोकस्य, what type of लोक? चर-अचरस्य – the world consisting of the moving and non-moving things. So the moving referring to the चेतन, the living being and the non-moving referring to the अचेतन. And not only that, त्वम् अस्य पूज्यः च – and You are the one to be worshiped by the entire creation, the ultimate object of worship. And that is why even if anyone else receives worship, suppose we receive worship, our children do नमस्कार to us for example, whether they will do is doubtful! Suppose the children do नमस्कार to us or we are teachers therefore शिष्यः do नमस्कार to us or anyone does नमस्कार to us, what are we supposed to do? We never deserve नमस्कार, that is the basic truth. But they do नमस्कार because they have a duty to do नमस्कार because मातृ देवो भव । पितृ देवो भव ।, it is there and therefore they have to do नमस्कार, therefore as parents we cannot stop them from doing and as a गुरु we cannot stop the शिष्यः, therefore what we do? We get the नमस्कार, we don't deserve it, therefore how to solve the problem? Quietly hand over the नमस्कार to the Lord. So therefore Oh Lord I am receiving it and without keeping it for long time, I immediately pass on to my गुरु, one is shortcut, like relay race, I give to my गुरु and he gives to his गुरु and then सदाशिव समारम्भाम् it will go there or if our children are doing नमस्कार, we hand over to our parents, they will hand over to their parents. Therefore there is only one who deserves all the पूजा and who is that, त्वम् एव पूज्यः. If you remember this, नमस्कार to us will not create problem, otherwise according to शास्त्र, if we don't handover the नमस्कार to the Lord it will cause spiritual downfall. We are not supposed to receive नमस्कार, when we receive our ego gets bloated and it can lead to our downfall. That is why there are some स्वामिः, they will not allow anyone to do नमस्कार. I remember when I was in आश्रम, one स्वामि had come, he even before coming to the place, he sends the instructions, 'nobody should do नमस्कार to him' and then he got down from the car and somebody who had newly come, he did not get the advanced instructions, so he fell flat at his feet, that स्वामि was very much disturbed. So there are many people who refuse to receive नमस्कार because according to शास्त्र, receiving नमस्कार is supposed to cause downfall because we do not deserve it and therefore what to do, handover to God. More in the next class.

Lord कृष्ण while answering अर्जुन's question pointed out that I am the काल तत्त्वम् and we should remember that the time is not separate from the creation and therefore when I appreciate the Lord as कालः, I simultaneously appreciate the Lord as देशः also, because time and space are inseparable entities and once I appreciate देश and काल as ईश्वर, then everything existing in time and space also must be ईश्वर because the world cannot exist separate from देश and काल. As I said the other day, previously it was thought that time and space are separate and the creation is separate, this was the thinking under Newtonian physics. But later we have revised our opinion, creation cannot be separated from time and space or time and space cannot be separated from creation. That is why शङ्कराचार्य said in दक्षिणामूर्तिस्तोत्रम्,

मायाकल्पित देशकालकलना वैविध्यचित्रीकृतम् । दक्षिणामूर्तिस्तोत्रम् २

It is not time and space existed before and भगवान् thought in time one day to create the universe, that is not the idea, भगवान् created the world means भगवान् created time, place and the world and that is why we get into a logical problem, it is an aside topic, not part of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, once I know भगवान् creates time and space and world, we will have difficulty in answering the question, when did भगवान् create time? What will be your answer. When did भगवान् create time, you try to find out an answer intellectually that question can never be answered. If I say भगवान् created time at 8 o'clock. Then what does it mean? The time was existing before, 7.50, 7.51. 7.52 and 7.59, like the TV news, 7.59 time created, does it happen? You can never answer the question when time arrived. Similarly, the next logical knot is where does space exist? And the last and most difficult question is how did the cause effect principle come into being? How did the cause effect principle come when I ask, (this is the subject of माण्डुक्य), the question is what is the cause of the cause-effect principle. These three questions, you can never answer, that is why we use the word माया. माया does not mean we do not how to answer, माया means intellectually these questions are undecipherable. So that is an aside, we will see the details in माण्डुक्य. So here what I want to say is when भगवान् says I am time, we should understand that भगवान् is time, भगवान् is space, भगवान् is the objects also. And once I know भगवान् is time, space and objects, it includes भगवान् is all the events also. Because time and space includes events, including the event of the गीता Class. गीता class is not an object but it is an event. Therefore Lord is time, Lord is space, Lord is objects, Lord is events and finally and most importantly, Lord is the Order or the laws, Lord is the all laws also which govern all the events. Therefore a particular event happens because of a particular law, when you boil water to make coffee, the boiling of water is an event which is governed by one law. What is that? Water boils at such and such temperature when it is in TP, in normal temperate and pressure the pure water, not our local water, the pure water boils at such and such temperature. This is universal law for everyone. That means what every event is governed by a set of physical laws as well as moral laws. Those laws are also integral part of the creation, which दयानन्द स्वामिजि calls the Order, with capital O, which governs the music of the creation, which governs the orchestra of the creation, all of them भगवान् is. So, देश, काल, वस्तु, सम्भवः, सम्भवः means events as well as नियतिः or नियामः, all of them are भगवान् himself. So instead of saying भगवान् created all of them, we have progressed a little bit, we say भगवान् is all of them, by which we mean whenever I experience anyone of them, I am experiencing भगवान् intimately. The other day one person was asking: Can I have the दर्शनम् of the Lord? In fact, many devotees have this question, can I have the दर्शनम् of Lord. What does the गीता say is the question itself is meaningless because you are having the दर्शनम् of God only, you are only not aware of the fact that you are having सर्वदा ईश्वर दर्शनम्. So our problem is not ईश्वर दर्शनम्, our problem is that we are not aware of the fact that we are having ईश्वर दर्शनम् all the time and the moment we become aware of that we have got a mature mind. When you look for ईश्वर दर्शनम् you are अधम भक्तः, when you are aware of the fact that I need not work for ईश्वर दर्शनम्, because ईश्वर is देश, काल, वस्तु, सम्भवः, as well as नियमः then I am मध्यम भक्तः. उत्तम भक्त is above that, I am ईश्वर, we need not say: I am ईश्वरः, but it is enough if we are aware of the fact that I am not experiencing anything other than ईश्वर. And therefore this विश्वरूप भक्त is the greatest appreciator of the nature. So he is a great nature lover, but when he appreciates the nature he appreciates it not as nature but as भगवान्. And अर्जुन also gets a glimpse of this appreciation and therefore his mind is overwhelmed by devotion and therefore he says: I do नमस्कारम् to You from all directions because You are facing all directions:

सम् बाहुभ्याम् नमति सम्पतत्रैः द्यावा पृथिवी जनयन् देव एकः तन्मे मनः शिवसंकल्पमस्तु ॥

So there is a शिव सङ्कल्प मन्त्र occurring in the महान्यास which is chanted generally before एकादश रुद्र अभिषेक, that शिव सङ्कल्प मन्त्रs are so beautiful, let my mind have auspicious thought and one of the auspicious thought is what, all the legs, all the eyes, all the faces are the faces of the Lord alone and when अर्जुन appreciates this, he looks back and as I was telling you in the last class, अर्जुन feels a great deep guilt in his mind, because I should have worshiped Lord कृष्ण as विश्वरूप ईश्वर, I should have addressed Him properly. In fact, I should not have sat along with Him on the same table even, I should have sat down with great respect and humbleness, but I never treated कृष्ण properly, I insulted Him, even though कृष्ण doesn't feel that, अर्जुन is feeling a deep guilt in Him and therefore he surrendering to the Lord and he says “Oh Lord, please forgive me for all the insults, for all the offenses that I have done to You.” And that is why in our culture we say, we should not disrespect the earth because everything is भगवान्, because earth is also विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, we should not disrespect water also,

नाप्सु मूत्रपुरीषं कुर्यात् । न निष्ठीवेत् । न विवसनः स्नायात् । ॥ कृष्णयजुर्वेदीय तैत्तिरीयारण्यक १- २६ ॥

So never disrespect water, don't spit in water, don't take bath in the river without clothes, all these advices are given by the वेदs. Why so much respect? वर्षति न धावेत् – when it is raining you don't run; it has two meanings: वर्षति सति न धावेत्, generally what do we do, we run, we want to protect us from the rain. So don't run two meanings, if you run during rain, generally the place will be wet and slippery we will fall, that is the practical advice, the second thing is: why do you try to escape from rain which is nothing but भगवान् Himself. It says soak yourselves in rain and not only we run, if we are not able to run we protect ourselves with the गीता book. That is still verse. So the भगवद्गीता whether it is useful for anything, if it is raining you can protect yourselves from rain. So therefore rain is one of the best gifts, वर्षति न धावेत्. In सूर्य नमस्कार it comes. Here अर्जुन says:

पितासि लोकस्य चराचरस्य त्वमस्य पूज्यश्च गुरुर्गरीयान् ।

This is the verse I introduced in the last class. Oh Lord: You are the father of the universe. Here we have to see both the stages. In Vedantic teaching, three stages are there, I have told you before, philosophically first we say:

- भगवान् creates the world, i.e., stage one;
- the stage two is भगवान् himself becomes as the world, therefore the world is world भगवान् himself, this is the next stage and

➤ the last stage is भगवान् appears as the world without undergoing change.

❖ First stage is called निमित्त कारण ईश्वरः or एकरूप ईश्वरः,

❖ the second stage is called उपादान कारण ईश्वरः or अनेकरूप ईश्वरः,

❖ the third stage is called विवर्त उपादान ईश्वरः or अरूप ईश्वरः.

अर्जुन is here doing both, he is says You are the Father of the world and You are the world. Therefore पिता असि लोकस्य, the entire creation consisting of चर-अचरस्य, the mobile and immobile, the moving and the non-moving and त्वम् पूज्यः, because in the वेद it is said, मातृ देवो भव । पितृ देवो भव । just now we saw, father has to be respected and the God is the universal father and therefore पूज्यः and not only the Lord is the creator of the world, Lord is the creator of the scriptural teaching tradition also. So the teaching tradition also is initiated by the Lord. Therefore Lord is आदिगुरुः also, that is why, सदाशिव समारम्भाम् शङ्कराचार्य मध्यमाम् or if you are विष्णु भक्त. नारायण समारम्भाम्, you can use anything, but भगवान् is not only पिता, but also गुरुः, so पूज्यः गुरुः and गरीयान् and you are a greater गुरुः, superior to all other गुरुs. In short you are the greatest गुरु compared to all other गुरुs. Why? What is the logic? Just saying is not enough, one has to give logic. Why is भगवान् the greatest गुरु? You know the answer, because all the other गुरुs while they are गुरुs now, they have been शिष्यs before learning under someone else, शङ्कराचार्य is a great गुरु alright but himself was a शिष्य. गोविन्द भगवत्पाद was a great गुरु but he himself was a शिष्य. So everyone is a relative गुरु, whereas भगवान् is the absolute गुरु, because He is the only गुरु who was never a शिष्य, who never had His गुरु. Therefore, He is not only fatherless father, but also गुरु-less गुरु, गुरु-less गुरु is here called गरीयान्, गुरु तमः, आदिगुरुः and therefore त्वत् समः न अस्ति, so the 3rd line, you have to split it properly, न त्वत् समः अस्ति अभ्यधिकः कुतः अन्यः, so त्वत्

समः न अस्ति means there is no one equal to You. You are matchless, You are incomparable. Because infinite can never have a match because there is no second infinity and when there is nobody equal to You, where is the question of somebody being greater than You. When I say that there is no second infinite, you ask whether there is something infiniter, infiniter is not possible, therefore, there is neither someone equal to You, nor someone superior to You, कुतः अन्यः and therefore Oh Lord, लोक-त्रये अपि अप्रतिमः, therefore in all the three world You are the matchless one. अप्रतिमः means उपमान रहितः, प्रतिम means उपमान, comparison, अप्रतिमः means matchless one and not only You are matchless, प्रभावः, प्रभावः means glory, so You are the Lord of matchless glory. So अप्रतिमः प्रभावः यस्य सः, बहुव्रीहि, अप्रतिमः प्रभावः यस्य सः and its सम्बोधना विभक्ति, हे अप्रतिम-प्रभाव, Oh Lord of matchless glory. Continuing;

Verse No .44

तस्मात्प्रणम्य प्रणिधाय कायं प्रसादये त्वामहमीशमीड्यम् ।

पितेव पुत्रस्य सखेव सख्युः प्रियः प्रियायार्हसि देव सोढुम् ॥ ११-४४॥

तस्मात् प्रणम्य प्रणिधाय कायम् प्रसादये त्वाम् अहम् ईशम् ईड्यम् ।

पिता इव पुत्रस्य सखा इव सख्युः प्रियः प्रियायाः अर्हसि देव सोढुम् ॥ ११-४४॥

हे देव! तस्मात् कायम् प्रणिधाय, प्रणम्य, अहम् ईड्यम् ईशम् त्वाम् प्रसादये, पुत्रस्य (अपराधं) पिता इव सख्युः (अपराधं) सखा, प्रियायाः (अपराधं) प्रियः (इव) (मम अपराधान्) सोढुम् अर्हसि ।

अर्जुन's guilt does not leave him, even though he has not done any serious offense, he has only treated कृष्ण as a friend. He has not hurt Him or harmed Him, but even कृष्ण as a friend अर्जुन feels is a very great insult. How can I treat कृष्ण as a friend? In fact, treating the God as a friend is a form of भक्ति accepted in the भक्ति literature, which is called सख्य भक्ति,

श्रवणम् कीर्तनम् विष्णोः स्मरणम् पादसेवनम् ।

Treating the Lord as a friend is acceptable but still अर्जुन feels bad, guilty and therefore again he says: तस्मात्, because I have offended You, insulted You, belittled You, प्रणम्य – I offer extra प्रायश्चित्त नमस्कार and what kind of प्रणामः, not the shortcut प्रणाम, just by joining the palms and still shorter ones, so therefore it is not a shortcut नमस्कार, कायम् प्रणिधाय, so कायम् means शरीरम्, प्रणिधाय – falling prostrate, falling down, दण्डवत् प्रणामः, साष्टङ्ग प्रणामः. So having done साष्टङ्ग प्रणामः to You, त्वाम् अहम् प्रसादये – I propitiate You as a compensation for the insult I have done, I want to cool You down, भगवान् has not got heated up at all, but this अर्जुन feels so and says that I am cooling You, त्वाम् प्रसादये. And what type of You? ईशम् ईड्यम्, ईशः means the Lord of the whole creation, सर्वस्य जगतः ईष्टे इति ईशः, ईश् means to rule over. So, ईशम् same as ईश्वरः. So, त्वाम् अहम् ईशम्, you have to split properly, it is अहम् ईशम्, then ईड्यम्, ईड्य means the adorable one, the only one who deserves नमस्कार, other than भगवान् nobody deserves नमस्कार, because any honor belonging to anyone ultimately comes from the Lord only, remember the केनोपनिषत् story, इन्द्र took glory, अग्नि took glory and they got censure from the Lord. So nobody in the world deserves नमस्कार and that is why I told you in the last class, even if you do नमस्कार to a ज्ञानि, a गुरु or a संन्यासि, what does he do, he doesn't put it in his pocket. That will cause his downfall, therefore immediately he should hand over to the Lord, through the गुरु परम्परा. And therefore ईड्यम् means ईड् means to worship, to honor, अग्निम् ईडे पुरोहितम्, ईड् to worship, ईड्यम् means worshipful, adorable God I propitiate and for what purpose I do this, so that You will forgive me and forget all the offenses, all the insults that I have done to you. And Oh Lord, You have to forgive and forget the offenses like the following examples. He gives three examples for forgiveness.

i) The first one is पिता, a father with regard to the offenses of the children. So अर्जुन says just as a parent or father forgives the children even though they commit mistakes because of immaturity. So from this example what are we suppose to learn indirectly? We have to forgive our children when they commit mistakes. We should not say, don't step on the sill. So that child without stepping will jump over it. So you said not to step only, I can jump. So now-a-days children do all kinds of things because they are exposed to the culture from all over the world. In village life they had only one culture, now we have got all kinds of culture, which is coming to your पूजा room and drawing room, children are attracted by that and therefore they are bound to commit mistake. Here अर्जुन says, the parents are supposed to forgive the children. Oh Lord, you being a parent, you should forgive Me.

ii) Then the second example is a husband forgiving the wife for her mistake, offenses, insults, when the husband was elder and wife was younger and husband is considered to be a गुरु and the wife is considered to be a शिष्य, even though no wife is willing to become a शिष्य, because husbands do not have that status, that is a different problem. So therefore just as the husband forgives the wife, that is प्रियः प्रियायाः, प्रियः means wife, literally प्रियः does not mean wife, प्रिय means dear one, So here wife is called प्रियः means, wife is supposed to be dearer, OK. If she is not dear, make her dear. I am not saying all these, गीता is saying, what do I know? So I am the wrong person to talk about these issues and you should not be merely letter writing, letter writing I don't know how you address, whether you use dear I don't know, so therefore both should be dear to each other.

iii) Then finally, सखा इव सख्युः, just as a friend forgives the offenses, the insults of the friend. So similarly, Oh Lord, You are like father and You are like husband also, In fact, that is also a form of भक्ति called मधुर भक्ति, where the devotee looks upon himself as गोपी or राधा and Lord is the only पुरुषः and that kind of भक्ति is called मधुर भक्ति and therefore Oh Lord You are like the husband and You are of course my friend also, from whatever angle You see, You have to forgive and forget. So, प्रियायाः plus अहंसि, प्रियाया अहंसि, then सन्धि is made even though it is not permitted by grammar rule, a grammar violation is here, but व्यासाचार्य's poetic license, it is allowed. So it should be प्रियायाः अहंसि and then you have supply a word: अपराधान् - the offenses. So, पिता अपराधान् सोढुम् अहंसि, सखा सख्युः अपराधान् सोढुम् अहंसि or सहते and प्रियः प्रियायाः अपराधान् सोढुम् अहंसि, similarly, you also. Continuing;

Verse No .45

अदृष्टपूर्वं हृषितोऽस्मि दृष्ट्वा भयेन च प्रव्यथितं मनो मे ।

तदेव मे दर्शय देव रूपं प्रसीद देवेश जगन्निवास ॥ ११-४५॥

अदृष्ट-पूर्वम् हृषितः अस्मि दृष्ट्वा भयेन च प्रव्यथितम् मनः मे ।

तत् एव मे दर्शय देव रूपम् प्रसीद देवेश जगत्-निवास ॥ ११-४५॥

हे देवेश! हे जगत्-निवास! अदृष्ट-पूर्वम् (विश्वरूपं त्वां) दृष्ट्वा (अहम्) हृषितः अस्मि, मे मनः भयेन प्रव्यथितम् (अस्ति, अतः) हे देव! (त्वं) प्रसीद च तत् एव (पूर्वं) रूपम् मे दर्शय ।

So here अर्जुन expresses his two-fold emotions which are simultaneously occupying the mind, अर्जुन says I am in a conflict now, one part of mind says, I am one of the few lucky ones, blessed ones, because भगवान् gave me दिव्य चक्षुः, which is not easily available for others. So because of the special दिव्य चक्षुः gift, I have got this rare विश्वरूपम् दर्शनम् and since it is a very very rare one, In fact, people are going to glorify अर्जुन, telling you are lucky, you are lucky, people are going to be even envious of अर्जुन and therefore from that angle I feel like continuously seeing the विश्वरूपम् because I have a got a rare दर्शनम्, but at the same time, one corner of my mind is only looking into the mouth of the Lord, into which all these near and dear ones are entering and some are crushed, remember that's how the people are entering and Lord is ruthlessly killing all of them, looks like cruel God, from that angle of Lord as the destroyer my mind is extremely in the grip of भयम्. So one part of my mind is happy, another part of my mind is distressed with fear and since one part of my mind is happy it tells, “continue to see it” and the other part of mind with fear says, “close your eyes, don’t see.” ‘Niether I am not able to swallow nor am able to spit.’ It is bitter therefore I am not able to swallow, at the same time it is also sweet, bitter sweet, therefore I am not able to spit it out also’, but अर्जुन feels between these two भयम् is more dominant. It is only because दिव्य चक्षुः is a artificial one given by भगवान्, दिव्य चक्षुः must be claimed by us by our own साधन. So by sufficient कर्मयोग साधन when राग द्वेष, अहङ्कार ममकार comes down that mind has got naturally developed दिव्य चक्षुः and when we have got naturally developed दिव्य चक्षुः, विश्वरूप will not be frightening, but in the case of अर्जुन it is artificially given and therefore अर्जुन is not able to totally enjoy and therefore he says, Oh Lord! world is congratulating me but I am not able to withstand. And therefore what is my request, enough is enough, please withdraw the विश्वरूपम्. Who asked for विश्वरूपम्? अर्जुन only. The very same अर्जुन who said I would like to have विश्वरूप, the very same अर्जुन says I cannot withstand, which means from एकरूप भक्ति if I have to go to अनेकरूप भक्ति, राग द्वेष must be tremendously decreased. निर्गुण भक्ति is later, that is not necessary now. एकरूप to अनेकरूप भक्ति I have to go, I have to reduce राग द्वेष tremendously. Or to put in another language, अहङ्कार ममकार must be reduced, ‘Me & Mine’ these two must come down, when they come down विश्वरूप will be enjoyable. So here अर्जुन says अदृष्ट-पूर्वम् दृष्ट्वा – I have seen something which is unique which I have not experienced before, because विश्वरूप experience is for the first time and therefore it is unique. So अदृष्ट-पूर्वम् means अपूर्वम्. This is अपूर्व दर्शनम्. And having seen this अस्मि हर्षितः – I am extremely elated. Because especially when we have something rare and the neighbor doesn’t have it we have that extra happiness, anything including dress, they ask you from where did you purchase it? Hearing that question itself it is as though like मोक्षानन्द! So then you say that (you don't want to say because if they also purchase that your importance will be lost. But because they asked you say that) I got it from that shop and that person goes there, enquires and comes to know that it is no more available and he comes and tells that it is no more available and my god! you get ब्रह्मानन्दम्. So Similarly, here also अर्जुन feels that nobody has it and I have got it, therefore I am extremely happy. But the problem is internally, I am terribly frightened also, भयेन च. Because of the mouth, remember it, भयेन च मे मनः प्रव्यथितम्. So with fear my mind is afflicted, tortured, tormented, distressed, प्रव्यथितम्. So it is like the experience, I also like to share this experience. In the village we have got the village function, temple function and in केरल for any festival elephant is a must. So we have two three elephants and the middle elephant will carry the Lord and there is a प्रदक्षिणम् of the whole village and when the elephant goes people would like to get on the top of the elephant because we have to hold the umbrella, the Lord, a few items have to be held along with the Lord. So there is big contest, lot of people trying to get into. And then one time I also got on the elephant. Now, in the village and all on the top of the elephant they don't spread anything, now in the movies and all they show with beautiful clothes, cushion, etc., in the villages it is not so. So you don't know what it is all about. So on top of the elephant there is the backbone, it is really the hardest stuff in the world, perhaps harder than even diamond and not only that the hair of the elephant also is like a needle sharp. So when you get on the elephant and look around, all the other children will be envious of me and therefore all smile for 10 minutes, thereafter, it will be like: When I am going to get down and you don't want to let it out because others are envious of you. So why to let out that secret, you put a smile outwards and inside you wait for the 'Elephant Vahana function' to end. When I read this श्लोक of अर्जुन, I only get that remembrance. So very happy, but miserable also. So like wearing coat in चैन्नै, in summer season, you wear coat and everybody appreciates the coat, but inside, not suitable to India you know, in चैन्नै in the month of May at 43 degrees, what coat, you don't want even a vest. So often we experience that. For the sake of the world you feel like smiling, but inside you are miserable. So similarly, भयेन च मे मनः प्रव्यथितम्. And between these two which is dominating? भयम् alone is dominating and therefore कृष्ण, तत् एव रूपम् मे दर्शय हे देव! – Oh Lord! I would like to have the good-old कृष्ण, my कोट्टु गुरुवायूरप्पन्, they say you know, so that Lord कृष्ण, the smiling, beautiful, अधरम् मधुरम् वदनम् मधुरम् नयनम् मधुरम् कृष्ण alone I want. So तत् एव means what एकरूप ईश्वरः. So from this we come to know that graduating to अनेकरूप ईश्वर itself is not an easy job and only if I have graduated and remained in अनेकरूप ईश्वर, विश्वरूप ईश्वर for sufficient length of time, thereafter only अरूप ईश्वर will get inside you. But we try to jump from एकरूप to अरूप and that is why वेदान्त appears to be, the उपनिषत् appears to be more academic, it doesn't seem to help because उपनिषत् is talking about:

So साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति means विश्वरूप ईश्वर भक्तः, if it is there only one can go to अरूप ईश्वर. Therefore तत् एव रूपम्, that is एकरूप ईश्वरम् दर्शय – may You show me. प्रसीद देवेश जगत्-निवास. कृष्ण can argue: you only wanted therefore I will not withdraw. If He says so what to do? Therefore अर्जुन says, प्रसीद – be gracious to me. हे देवेश! – Oh Lord of all gods, जगत्-निवास – Oh Lord who is the abode of the universe, विश्वाधारः. So जगत्-निवास means the Lord in whom the whole universe is resting, जगताम् निवासः, षष्ठीतत्पुरुष, बहुव्रीहि also can justify, but in this context, षष्ठीतत्पुरुष will be good and this idea alone is symbolically presented when यशोदा asks Lord कृष्ण to open the mouth. When कृष्ण ate mud, you know the story, यशोदा scolded and said, open your mouth. She thought that she will see some mud but instead of mud, the whole cosmos with all the अखिलाण्ड कोटिs are there and just as अर्जुन could not withstand the विश्वरूप, even यशोदा could not. Therefore instead of saying, I am not able to, she commanded कृष्ण to Shut Up. Shut Up, means what, only it seems to be a command, but inside it is all fear. It is not to be literally taken, how come all the cosmos will be inside the कृष्ण's mouth, even the तिरुपति लड्डु we are not able to put inside as a whole into our mouth, so don't take it literally. This symbolizes the Lord as the विश्वाधारम् गगन सदृशम्, Continuing;

Verse No .46

किरीटिनं गदिनं चक्रहस्तं इच्छामि त्वां द्रष्टुमहं तथैव ।

तेनैव रूपेण चतुर्भुजेन सहस्रबाहो भव विश्वमूर्ते ॥ ११-४६॥

किरीटिनम् गदिनम् चक्र-हस्तम् इच्छामि त्वाम् द्रष्टुम् अहम् तथा एव ।

तेन एव रूपेण चतुः-भुजेन सहस्र-बाहो भव विश्व-मूर्ते ॥ ११-४६॥

हे सहस्र-बाहो! हे विश्व-मूर्ते! अहम् त्वाम् किरीटिनम् गदिनम् (च) तथा एव चक्र-हस्तम् द्रष्टुम् इच्छामि, (तरमात्) तेन एव चतुः-भुजेन रूपेण (युक्तः) भव ।

So अर्जुन concludes his prayer. That is the third stage of appreciation.

- No.1 आश्चर्यम्,
- No.2 भयम्,
- No.3 भक्तिः.

The third stage of भक्ति expression is being concluded here with अर्जुन's request to the Lord to get back to his own एकरूप, Therefore he says, त्वाम् अहम् द्रष्टुम् इच्छामि – I would like to see You, तेन एव रूपेण – with Your old form only, एक रूपेण, कृष्ण रूपेण अहम् द्रष्टुम् इच्छामि. And what is that old रूपम्? अर्जुन wonders whether कृष्ण remembers or not, therefore better I tell Him what was His old form.

Therefore किरीटिनम् – so with किरीटम्, गदिनम् – with गदा, चक्र-हस्तम् – with चक्र, with all these चतुर्भुजेन – in Your own चतुर्भुज रूप, so चतुर्भुजम् means Lord with four hands, previously it was अनेक-हस्तम्, now it is चतुर्भुजम्. So he himself says, सहस्र-बाहो – now You are सहस्र-बाहो, thousand armed one, I want You to be four-armed one, हे सहस्र-बाहो! चतुर्बाहुः भव. There are people who make a very big analysis here. Anyway I am not going to say. How does अर्जुन say चतुर्भुजेन. So before ईश्वर रूप दर्शनम्, कृष्ण was moving with अर्जुन alright, but was कृष्ण with four hands or two hands? How do we know. We have no idea at all. Our general thinking is what, कृष्ण was moving with अर्जुन only an ordinary मनुष्य, therefore he had only द्विबाहुः, how come अर्जुन says here चतुर्भुजम्? And different people giving different explanations, ingenious explanation and all, we need not go into that, we can conclude that कृष्ण might have had four hands or still easier, अर्जुन is confused because of overwhelming and changing emotions he was confused between two and four and therefore he said चतुर्भुजेन, you can take it that way. Don't break your head on that. So तेन एव रूपेण चतुर्भुजेन सहस्र-बाहो भव, Oh Lord may You appear. विश्वमूर्ते, विश्वमूर्ति means विश्वरूप सम्बोधना प्रथमा, addressing the Lord, Oh विश्वरूप ईश्वर. So, I don't want विश्वमूर्ति, I want कृष्णमूर्ति, so कृष्ण रूपम्, I don't want विश्वरूपम्, but I want only कृष्ण रूपम्. So with this अर्जुन's response to विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is over. The last phase is from verse no.35 up to this verse. Now the ball is in Lord कृष्ण's court. So there is some silence, because अर्जुन has made his request and Lord कृष्ण has to do respond. What is the Lord going to do is given in the next verse, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

From verse no.35, up to verse no.45, which we completed in the last class, अर्जुन expresses his appreciation of विश्वरूप and he surrenders at the feet of the Lord. Even though he is very happy to have विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, because of the special blessings of the Lord, अर्जुन is not mature enough to withstand the विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. Because विश्वरूपदर्शनम् means learning to look at the whole creation as the Lord, whether we like it or not, the creation is a relative entity consisting of pairs of opposite and therefore I am going to see the universe as the Lord, I should be able to accept the both the pairs of opposite equally. I should have a reverential attitude of acceptance with regard to every event in the creation, not only the things consist of pairs of opposite, even events are pairs of opposites. As I had said often, if birth is an integral part of भगवान्, death is also integral part of भगवान् only. Therefore, to become a विश्वरूप भक्त, I should be able to accept any death of anyone without any complaint, which means tremendous inner maturity is required to look at that also as an integral part of भगवान् and therefore it requires a reverence rather than complaint. That is why in सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, we regularly worship यम as भगवान्, यमाय धर्मराजाय मृत्यवे चान्तकाय च ।

सर्वभूतक्षयाय means the one who is the cause of old age and death, क्षयम् means old age, अपक्षीयते, अपक्षयः, which culminates in मरणम्. यम is the cause of old age and death and if we should reverentially worship यमधर्मराज daily, we should be able to accept these two as an integral of भगवान्. We need not even develop a reverential attitude, at least if we can have a non-critical, non-complaining attitude that itself is a maturity. Similarly, every association I have to accept and I have to equally accept every disassociation also without grumbling. Similarly, health and sickness. Similarly, war and peace. As long as human free-will is there, there will be राग and द्वेष, which means there will be war even in heaven, देवs and असुरs will be quarreling and therefore most of the things are integral part of विश्वरूप, I should be able to accept them without grumbling, which means I should have a very very very rarefied mind which sees the totality and therefore for an immature mind, विश्वरूपम् can be a threat and अर्जुन proves that his mind is immature because he says I am not able to withstand. Then the question is how can I make myself mature. Until I get the maturity to accept भगवान्, the अनेकरूप ईश्वर as the Lord, the only alternative I have is to accept the एकरूप ईश्वर as the Lord, that is why we start with इष्ट देवता भक्ति so that I will be able to accept the situation by feeling the presence of my इष्ट देवता in my heart, this is how I begin. शङ्कराचार्य writes a beautiful स्तोत्रम् called शिवशङ्करस्तोत्रम्:

अतिभीषण कटुभाषण यमकिङ्करपट्टी कृतताडन
परिपीडनमरणानगमसमये ।

उमया सह मम चेतसि यमशासन निवसन् हरशङ्कर शिवशङ्कर हर मे
कर दुरितम् ॥ श्रीशिवशङ्कर अथवा यमभय निवारण स्तोत्रम् १ ॥

Oh Lord, I will also have old age and I will also have to face death and how death is going to come I don't know. They say we do not know, that they will be seeing the यमकिङ्करs coming, यमदूतs coming, some people have told also, I don't know. That it seems this old man will be saying 'it appears as though somebody is coming.' All the other people won't but this person sees. So they say they are all messengers of यम and they come threatening because this person doesn't want to leave the earth and the family and near and dear ones and new great grandson, etc., so leaving that I don't want to go and therefore whipping their whips they come and at that time, I should not be frightened of all these people, यमदूतs, I want Oh Lord शिव you should come, because you are the right person because you have kicked यमधर्मराज in his chest. You remember मार्कण्डेय story and all you know and therefore when such a frightening occasion comes I should not be affected by anyone of these things, even the family members may be standing around and weeping, my attention should not go to those people who are temporary, my attention should be on You and You should come and don't come alone, come with पार्वती also and I am giving You a program, advanced booking and what is that program, a beautiful ताण्डवम् along with पार्वती's लास्यम्, शिव ताण्डवम् and पार्वती's लास्यम् on the stage of my heart You should give me a program and I should be so much observed in that program, that I should not even know the arrival and departure. शङ्कराचार्य has written all these for us, he doesn't have those problems, because he is नित्य मुक्त. So अतिभीषण, भीषण means भयङ्कर, कटुभाषण – they are not going to politely request, 'Will you come?' If they request, we will say we are not coming, you go. Therefore they will only say pack up, कटुभाषण यमकिङ्करपटली – the group of यम's messengers when they come, कृतताडन परिपीडनमरणागमसमये – so they beat me and they torture me, torment me, physically or even psychologically and when such a death comes, what should you do, उमया सह – along with पार्वती देवी, मम चेतसि – in my heart, यमशासन, what an address, see. Oh Lord शिव you are यमशासन, the one who punishes even यमधर्मराज, निवसन्, हरशङ्कर शिवशङ्कर हर मे कर दुरितम्; शिवशङ्कराष्टकम् consists of 8 श्लोकs. So this very thought of your इष्ट देवता can give you great relief when pain comes, diseases come, people disappear, people die or we ourselves die, इष्ट देवता भक्ति also can relieve our pain, only thing is we have to develop that भक्ति by अभ्यासः. I will start that भक्ति when I am 93 years old, that will not work; start your training right now, feel the presence of your इष्ट देवता right now and this इष्ट देवता भक्ति or एकरूप भक्ति will give you sufficient strength to expand your vision to विश्वरूप भक्ति and when it is getting converted to विश्वरूप भक्ति, इष्ट देवता भक्ति need not go away, I see the इष्ट देवता itself as all the रूपम्, if कृष्ण is my इष्ट देवता, all people are कृष्ण in different वेषम् and even if I go to शिव temple, कृष्ण is शिव वेषम्, then the whole creation becomes ब्रह्माण्डव्याप्तदेह भषित-हिमरुच. My own इष्ट देवता is the शिवलिङ्गम्, the whole cosmos becomes शिवलिङ्गम्. Therefore if I am not ready for अनेकरूप भक्ति, I need not feel bad, I can continue in एकरूप भक्ति. That will also give tremendous inner strength. I can say let everyone go away, 'all of you get lost, I don't depend on any one of blessed you, my support comes from somewhere'. It is a wonderful training that we can have. So anyway, अर्जुन proves he is not yet ready for विश्वरूप भक्ति itself. After remaining in विश्वरूप भक्ति for sufficiently long time and thereafter only we have to get ready for अरूप ईश्वर. That doesn't matter, whatever be your level, take to appropriate भक्ति and therefore अर्जुन confesses to Lord कृष्ण and says तेन एव रूपेण चतुर्भुजेन सहस्रबाहो भव, I don't want to see thousand hands, it is all confusing, beautiful two or maximum four hands enough, more than that I won't be able to see कृष्ण. I want simple a कृष्ण. Up to this we saw. Continuing;

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

मया प्रसन्नेन तवार्जुनेदं रूपं परं दर्शितमात्मयोगात् ।

तेजोमयं विश्वमनन्तमाद्यं यन्मे त्वदन्येन न दृष्टपूर्वम् ॥ ११-४७॥

मया प्रसन्नेन तव अर्जुन इदम् रूपम् परम् दर्शितम् आत्म-योगात् ।

तेजोमयम् विश्वम् अनन्तम् आद्यम् यत् मे त्वत् अन्येन न दृष्ट-पूर्वम् ॥ ११-४७॥

हे अर्जुन! यत् त्वत् अन्येन दृष्ट-पूर्वम् न, (तत्) इदम् मे तेजोमयम् विश्वम् अनन्तम् आद्यम् परम् रूपम् प्रसन्नेन मया आत्म-योगात् तव दर्शितम् ।

So when अर्जुन made this request, Lord कृष्ण says: अर्जुन I am not responsible for showing this विश्वरूपम्. In fact, I know you are not yet ready, but since you made a special request I choose to show you and now that you don't want विश्वरूप, I will bless you accordingly. Therefore He says: श्रीभगवान् उवाच. हे अर्जुन! तव इदम् रूपम् दर्शितम्, so इदम् रूपम् means इदम् विश्वरूपम् – this universal form of Mine has been shown to you. How? आत्म-योगात् – because of My मायाशक्ति, योगः means माया. So the word योगः has several meanings. According to context we have to take. In this context, योगः means an assembly, and माया is called योगः because it is an assembly of त्रिगुणs, सत्त्व रजस् तमो गुणानाम् संयोगः योगः शब्देन उच्यते and therefore योगः means माया and this माया represents भगवान्'s मायाशक्ति. And word आत्मा is reflexive pronoun and not सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, आत्मा means My own योगशक्ति, My own मायाशक्ति I used for showing the विश्वरूप. And why I chose to do that? प्रसन्नेन – because I was pleased with your devotion, I was pleased with your sincerity and therefore I showed this. And how did I show you? By giving you this special चक्षु called दिव्य चक्षु. And what type of विश्वरूपम् it is? कृष्ण says, विश्वरूपम् remaining the same, if you are mature you will enjoy it, if you are not mature the same विश्वरूप will frighten you. What is enjoyment to one, is a fright to another person. Just like this roller coaster ride, so one person may be thrilled and he may go up and down repeatedly, whereas for some other people seeing itself gives giddiness. So by itself it is neither good nor bad, it all depends upon the candidate. Similarly, here कृष्ण says, विश्वरूप is really wonderful अर्जुन, because it is तेजोमयम् – it is the most brilliant form, which consists of galaxies, which consists of billions of stars and all of them are included in विश्वरूप, तेजोमयम्, विश्वम् – which consists of everything, विविध प्रत्यय गम्यम् विश्वम्, so which is cognized in manifold form, शब्द रूपेण, स्पर्श रूपेण, रस रूपेण, गन्ध रूपेण, it can be appreciated. And अनन्तम् – which is limitless, both spatially as well as time-wise, अनन्तम्; आद्यम् – so which is the first born, which is created first, तस्मात् विराडजायत विराजो अधिपूरुषः ।

So विश्वरूप is born first and thereafter alone पश्चाद् भूमिः, अथः पुरः, पुरः means शरीराणि – individual bodies, everything is born later only and therefore विराट् is आद्यः, the first born, ब्रह्मा देवानाम् प्रथमः संबभूव, etc., we have seen. Not only that अर्जुन you are a blessed devotee because nobody else had the good fortune of seeing this. So त्वत् अन्येन – other than you, the rare one, blessed one, nobody else has seen. Of course nobody else has seen is an exaggeration, it is not that अर्जुन alone has seen, some other people also have seen, in महाभारत itself we find कृष्ण shows विश्वरूप in two or three occasions. And therefore here to highlight it is said that nobody else has seen, it is not literally true, it is a figurative expression. Continuing;

Verse No .48

न वेदयज्ञाध्ययनैर्न दानैर्- न च क्रियाभिर्न तपोभिरुग्रैः ।

एवं रूपः शक्य अहं नृलोके द्रष्टुं त्वदन्येन कुरुप्रवीर ॥ ११-४८॥

न वेद-यज्ञ-अध्ययनैः न दानैः न च क्रियाभिः न तपोभिः उग्रैः ।

एवम् रूपः शक्यः अहम् नृ-लोके द्रष्टुम् त्वत् अन्येन कुरु-प्रवीर ॥ ११-४८॥

हे कुरु-प्रवीर! अहम् एवम् रूपः नृ-लोके न वेद-यज्ञ-अध्ययनैः न, दानैः न, क्रियाभिः न, उग्रैः तपोभिः च न त्वत् अन्येन द्रष्टुम् शक्यः ।

Here Lord कृष्ण wants to point out that अर्जुन could see the विश्वरूपम् because of his devotion, भक्ति. Therefore कृष्ण wants to highlight भक्ति or sincere desire to appreciate विश्वरूपम् as an important साधन and when कृष्ण wants to highlight the भक्ति साधन, for the sake of underlining, underscoring भक्ति He brings down all the other साधन. This is a methodology used in the scriptures, which has to be very carefully understood. All spiritual साधनs are equally important, whether it is सत्यम्, or तपः, or यज्ञः or वेद-अध्ययनम्. All साधनs are equally important, but in a particular context the scriptures highlight a particular साधन and in that context the scriptures will bring down the other साधनs. So there we should look down upon the other साधनs, we have to only focus on the importance of a particular साधनs, highlighting the साधनs is important, not bringing down the other साधनs. This particular law is called 'न हि निन्दा न्यायः', न हि निन्दा न्यायः means scriptures themselves criticize certain साधनs, there the value is not on criticism but the value is on highlighting something else. In तैत्तिरीय शीक्षावल्ली we saw various values highlighted and there it was said, स्वाध्याय प्रवचनम्, the study of scriptures is the most important value,

And thereafter the उपनिषत् itself asks the question, what is the highest तपस्? Then several आचार्यs, ऋषिs give different opinion and the उपनिषत् says: the greatest तपस् or साधन is स्वाध्याय प्रवचन only. Therefore if you read that portion स्वाध्याय will be highlighted and all the others will be brought down. But here you find कृष्ण says all the other साधनs are useless, but भक्ति is important. Now we will be confused, which one we should take? शीक्षावल्ली if you see it says स्वाध्याय is highest. If you see this portion it says भक्ति is greatest, therefore what should be the conclusion? One person concluded nothing is important. Very convenient. So from that portion I come to know that भक्ति is not important, because in शीक्षावल्ली भक्ति is not mentioned, here स्वाध्याय is criticized. In different portions different values are brought down and therefore no value is important, he concluded that way. Or we can say all values are equally important. So what should be our right conclusions. All values are equally important. But here कृष्ण is highlighting भक्ति and for that purpose He is criticizing all the other साधन, criticism is not literally meant, very important, it is not meant literally. So, here कृष्ण says, वेद-अध्ययन is not a great साधन at all. It cannot give you विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. Therefore वेद-अध्ययनम् is an inferior साधन. Then what about यज्ञ? यज्ञ-अध्ययनैः – the study of यज्ञs, i.e., rituals. What is the difference between वेद-अध्ययन and यज्ञ-अध्ययन? वेद-अध्ययन is learning to chant the वेदs and यज्ञ-अध्ययन means analysis of the वेदs and learning how to do the rituals. कृष्ण says वेद-अध्ययनम् is useless, यज्ञ अध्ययन is useless, all of them will not give you विश्वरूपदर्शनम् न दानैः, what about दानम्, useless, in fact, we note it very carefully. Since भगवान् himself has said that दानम् is useless, therefore I am not giving! As such giving is problem, over and above that, if श्लोकs are like this, they will highlight it by quoting. So here कृष्ण says दानम् is also an inferior साधन, whereas in शीक्षावल्ली what did we see,

श्रद्धया देयम् । अश्रद्धयाऽदेयम् । श्रिया देयम् । ह्रिया देयम् । भिया देयम् । संविदा देयम् ।

It is repeatedly emphasized, whereas here कृष्ण says दानम् is also useless. From that it is clear that कृष्ण's aim is not criticism but highlighting something else. Then what about other various activities, लौकिक कर्माणि, न च क्रियाभिः, all the worldly activities are also useless, because they cannot help you in getting विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. So यज्ञ can be taken as शास्त्रीय कर्म and क्रिया can be taken as लौकिक कर्म. So वैदिक कर्म is useless, लौकिक कर्म also is useless. And what about various form of तपस्, like एकादशि उपवास etc., also useless, न तपोभिः. So therefore we can again conclude that therefore I don't fast at all, because कृष्ण has said उपवासम् is useless. And even उग्रैः तपोभिः, even very big or severe austerities intense or severe austerities also are useless, because through all these साधनs, एवम् रूपः द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः, एवम् रूपः means विश्वरूप ईश्वर can never be seen by all these साधनs. So each time you have to read, वेद-यज्ञ-अध्ययनैः एवम् रूपः द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः, दानैः एवम् रूपः द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः, क्रियाभिः एवम् रूपः द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः, in each of them न is there. द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः नृ-लोके, among the human beings or in this human world, it can be seen only by those people who are like you, कृष्ण is coddling अर्जुन. So it cannot be seen by anyone other than you, because you alone have got that special qualification, unique qualification meant for विश्वरूपदर्शन and therefore by other people it is not possible. Now कृष्ण doesn't say what is that unique qualification, very important and what is that, कृष्ण himself answers that later, so that we can supply here and that unique qualification is भक्तिः. So भक्ति alone will alone help in विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and that too what भक्ति, that also we have to note, because in the 7th chapter, कृष्ण has talked about four types of भक्ति, आर्त भक्ति, अर्थार्थी भक्ति, जिज्ञासु भक्ति and ज्ञानि भक्ति. आर्त भक्ति will not help, because आर्त is a person in crisis, a person in crisis doesn't want विश्वरूपदर्शन. When there is no water at all in the home, is he going to ask the Lord for विश्वरूपदर्शनम्? He will only ask for water. If Lord asks shall I come, this man will reply as such there is no water for the already existing people, so you don't come, You be where you are, send water only, so let the local कृष्ण come (Are you understanding?) let this कृष्ण come, not that कृष्ण. Similarly, when a person is craving for wealth and भगवान् says I will give you विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, who wants, therefore he will not, therefore by भक्ति He means not आर्त or अर्थार्थी भक्ति, but जिज्ञासु भक्तिः. जिज्ञासु भक्ति means a devotion through which a person wants अनेकरूप ईश्वर दर्शनम्. I should know the value of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, and such a mature भक्ति alone can help you see, हे कुरु-प्रवीर! हे अर्जुन! you asked for that and therefore I gave you that. So don't blame upon Me, I didn't want to threaten you, you asked for it. Continuing;

Verse No .49

मा ते व्यथा मा च विमूढभावो दृष्ट्वा रूपं घोरमीदृक्ममेदम् ।

व्यपेतभीः प्रीतमनाः पुनस्तु तदेव मे रूपमिदं प्रपश्य ॥ ११-४९॥

मा ते व्यथा मा च विमूढ-भावः दृष्ट्वा रूपम् घोरम् ईदृक् मम इदम् ।

व्यपेत-भीः प्रीत-मनाः पुनः त्वम् तत् एव मे रूपम् इदम् प्रपश्य ॥ ११-४९॥

मम इदम् ईदृक् घोरम् रूपम् दृष्ट्वा ते व्यथा मा (अस्तु), विमूढ-भावः च मा (अस्तु) । त्वम् व्यपेत-भीः प्रीत-मनाः (भूत्वा) पुनः तत् एव इदम् मे रूपम् प्रपश्य ।

So here कृष्ण says अर्जुन if you are not ready for विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, I don't want to impose that upon you. This is the most unique aspect of our वैदिक teaching. We never impose anything upon a seeker. There are many people who are very clear that they don't want मोक्ष, because either they have not understood मोक्ष or they are frightened of मोक्ष, because मोक्ष is defined as अद्वैतम्. अद्वैतम् means if I stay alone, what should I do, I will like to have people around, that is only nice, even though some disturbance problem will be there, it is nice to have people around and मोक्ष means I should be free from all these things, I don't want freedom, even if there are problems I will like to be amongst people. So therefore remember, appreciating the value of मोक्ष itself requires a tremendous maturity and therefore वेद says if you don't feel or appreciate the value of मोक्ष, you need not work for मोक्ष. You work for अर्थ, you work for काम, fulfill your desires. So one lady asked, स्वामिजि I want to become one of the गोपीs and want to have रास-क्रीडा dance with कृष्ण, that desire is there, if मोक्ष is coming before that, I don't want it because rebirth is not possible. If I get मोक्ष I will not have an opportunity to get गोपी शरीरम्, I would like to have that and another person said I would like to visit स्वर्गलोक once. At least put a साधन camp there, just have atleast 7-8 days camp there and drink a little bit of the अमृतम् etc., witness some dance of रम्भा and उर्वशी etc. वेद says, if you have any such desires, don't hurry, मोक्ष can wait because it is eternal. So therefore if you are not even ready for विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, I don't want to impose, have एकरूप भक्ति, ask for अर्थ, ask for काम, only one condition is follow धर्म. And whatever you get legitimately take it as भगवान्'s gift. That is the only साधन we request you to practice. You need not study उपनिषत्, you follow only कर्मकाण्ड, you follow only कर्मयोगः by which we mean fulfill your desires legitimately and take whatever you get as ईश्वर प्रसाद. Start there, it will lead you up to मोक्ष. In fact, कृष्ण himself is going to tell this beautifully in the next chapter. So I don't want to tell too much, then in the next chapter I will have nothing to say. So therefore there will we will see, how we can start from the lowest rung of the ladder and therefore कृष्ण says don't worry, we can come back to एकरूप ईश्वर. So मा ते व्यथा – may you not be mentally pained, may you not feel the pained looking at my mouth which is crushing all the people, the crushing mill. मा च विमूढ-भावः – may you not have any mental confusion also. So here विमूढत्वम् means स्तब्धता, mentally being overpowered, immobilization. Suddenly you see behind, imagine, there is a huge wild elephant standing, wild elephant without mahout standing behind, what we say, the mind gets stunned, it is not able to think or do anything, that stultified condition, immobilized condition of the mind is called विमूढ-भावः. अर्जुन is experiencing that now and therefore कृष्ण says “May you not suffer from that, I will cooperate with you.” दृष्ट्वा रूपम् – by seeing My रूपम् and what type of रूपम्, घोरम् ईदृक् रूपम् – which is घोरम् frightening according to you, for mature people it is not frightening, तेजोमयम् विश्वम् अनन्तम् आद्यम्, that is the description for mature people, but for you it appears to be घोरम्, like even seeing blood, many people cannot see blood, they will swoon. Imagine a doctor has that problem. Will it work? Therefore it is a mental preparation, a few drops some people cannot even visualize. Similarly, for you it appears to be घोरम्. And therefore what should you do? 4th line, मे इदम् तत् एव रूपम् प्रपश्य – now may you see My good old ordinary कृष्ण form, तत् एव रूपम् means कृष्ण रूपम्, एकरूपम्, may you see, पुनः – once again. So let us change the channel. This button is there: you have to press the appropriate button, let us change the channel from अनेकरूप ईश्वर to एकरूप ईश्वर. Therefore may you see, how, व्यपेत-भीः – without any fear, without any tension, व्यपेत-भीः, भय रहित and प्रीत-मनाः – with a pleasant mind, relaxed mind, stress-free mind, may you again see the एकरूपम्, why again word is used, because up to the 10th chapter it was only एकरूप ईश्वर, in the 11th only channel was changed. So again let us go back to the old channel itself. Continuing;

Verse No .50

सञ्जय उवाच ।

इत्यर्जुनं वासुदेवस्तथोक्त्वा स्वकं रूपं दर्शयामास भूयः ।

आश्वासयामास च भीतमेनं भूत्वा पुनः सौम्यवपुर्महात्मा ॥ ११-५०॥

इति अर्जुनम् वासुदेवः तथा उक्त्वा स्वकम् रूपम् दर्शयामास भूयः ।

आश्वासयामास च भीतम् एनम् भूत्वा पुनः सौम्य-वपुः महात्मा ॥ ११-५०॥

महात्मा वासुदेवः इति तथा अर्जुनम् उक्त्वा भूयः स्वकम् रूपम् दर्शयामास । पुनः च सौम्य-वपुः भूत्वा, भीतम् एनम् आश्वासयामास ।

So अर्जुन requested the Lord to change the form and Lord कृष्ण has also agreed to change the form and now that is a silent period, wherein the transformation is taking place, from अनेकरूप to एकरूप and since there is silence, neither कृष्ण talks nor अर्जुन talks, you have to imagine, if it is a TV program, some background music will be there and they will be showing, that advantage will be there but here it is not there and therefore सञ्जय comes and gives a running commentary. So what is happening in the battle field. So सञ्जय reports: सञ्जयः उवाच, वासुदेवः अर्जुनम् इति उक्त्वा, वासुदेवः – Lord कृष्ण. So here the word also is appropriately put, वासुदेव has come, so वासुदेवः means वसुदेवस्य पुत्रः. So whether it is एकरूप or अनेकरूप? वासुदेवः means कृष्ण, Lord कृष्ण uttered these words to अर्जुन, uttered these words and then स्वकम् रूपम् दर्शयामास – so once again He showed the एकरूप कृष्ण form to अर्जुन, so स्वकम् रूपम् means एकरूपम्, कृष्ण रूपम्, भूयः दर्शयामास. As I said, changed the channel and having changed the form, आश्वासयामास भीतम् एनम् – even after changing the form from अनेकरूप to एकरूपम्, अर्जुन's fear continues for some more time. Like a child, if the child has missed the mother and cried for hours and the mother has come and the child is on the body of the mother, but the child continues to cry, but the mother will say, I have come, please therefore keep quite, but still the child will recollects that and continues the crying or if you have a nightmarish dream, after waking up you know it is dream, but still that fear continues, sweat continues, palpitation continues. Similarly, अर्जुन continues to be disturbed, like a baby and कृष्ण like a mother is consoling अर्जुन. So भीतम् एनम् अर्जुनम् – so this अर्जुन who is frightened, आश्वासयामास – Lord कृष्ण consoled, how, सौम्य-वपुः भूत्वा, previously it was said घोर रूपम्, now the घोर रूपम् is replaced by सौम्य रूपम्, अधरम् मधुरम् वदनम् मधुरम् नयनम् मधुरम्, मधुरम् means सौम्यम्, sweet, like sweetie pie, So like that कृष्ण again became the so sweetie pie! सौम्य-वपुः भूत्वा महात्मा, महात्मा means what: अनेकरूप ईश्वरः, महान् विश्वम् एव आत्मा शरीरम् यस्य सः, महा-आत्मा means one who is having a huge body, विश्वरूपम् and that अनेकरूपः ईश्वरः सौम्य-वपुः means having taken sweet form, आश्वासयामास, consoled. So here also we have to make a note, what do you mean by withdrawing the विश्वरूपम्? Does it mean Lord कृष्ण removed the विश्वरूपम् and then brought in कृष्ण रूपम्? If भगवान् is going to remove the विश्वरूपम्, what will happen? The world itself will disappear because, I have repeatedly told you that विश्वरूप ईश्वरः means what: the very world itself as the body of the Lord. Therefore since विश्वरूप ईश्वरः is equal to the universe, there is no question of arrival of विश्वरूप ईश्वर, because it is already arrived and there is no question of departure also, because if विश्वरूप departs, the world itself will disappear, it will become प्रलयम्, कुरुक्षेत्र will not be there, अर्जुन will not be there, भीष्म द्रोण will not be there, In fact, the 12th chapter of गीता itself will not be there. So what do you mean by withdrawal of विश्वरूप? As I said before, कृष्ण withdrew the दिव्य चक्षुः from अर्जुन, it is only change, bringing about a change in the mind of अर्जुन. And what is दिव्य चक्षुः? I have defined दिव्य चक्षुः in the beginning, now you should remember once again, there I told you how दिव्य चक्षुः was given, now here how दिव्य चक्षुः was removed, so you should remember what is दिव्य चक्षुः, दिव्य चक्षुः means a mind which is not overpowered अहङ्कार and ममकार. As long as the mind is in the grip of अहम् and मम, विश्वरूपदर्शनम् will not be there, I will not see the totality, my mind will be narrow only. When अहम् and मम goes away, विश्वरूप comes. So it is like again I gave you an example, a person is standing, in the background there is a mountain range, snow peaked mountain, you have got a camera, now you want to take the picture of your friend and the mountain, the mountain is far away, now you face a problem, what is that, if you focus the person, the mountain range gets defocused, if you adjust to the mountain range, the person is defocused. So if अहम्-मम are dominant, my focus is never on विश्वरूपम्, it will be one segment of the creation alone, but when अहम् and मम, I and mine come down, then and then alone विश्वरूप appreciation will come. I will give you another example. In school, they will have the drama program for the yearly anniversary. And this drama there will be several scenes and it is generally played by the children themselves and you will find that children are playing various role, the parents will come and with a camera also. In the program whoever walks with the camera this side and that side, assume that their child is in the program, after every scene you will find 4-5 people, 4-5 people disappear. Why is that, their children's scene is over. Now, do you think that they are interested in the drama? They come and their child may be only the द्धारपालक without a dialogue, only with a spear and you have keep it across and when the राज passes you have to lift it and put it back when he has gone inside or outside, this is the only role played by this child, for that particular two minutes role, mother and father come with a camera and all the time they will be watching whom, only द्धारपालक दृष्टि, other members are not seen, in the story there is no focus, there is no विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, there is no दर्शनम् of the totality of the character or drama, because myyyy son is there, myyyy daughter is there, that photo we have to take and frame it and send it across the whole world and that too should be shown to the स्वामिजि!! Otherwise how do I know? Did I go and took the photo? This is how I come to know. Therefore, द्धारपाल दृष्ट्या drama त्यागः. If you are interested in the totality of drama, you are not going to focus on a particular child, the whole universe is the drama of भगवान्, but we can never see that, a few uncles & aunties and wives and children, they have contracted our Consciousness into a dot. We are all trapped in enclosed Consciousness, we don't have a rarefied Consciousness to appreciate the totality. So दिव्य चक्षु was gone, that means अर्जुन has come back to my भीष्म, my द्रोण, he has come back to the old story. More in the next.

By the grace of Lord कृष्ण, अर्जुन gets an opportunity for विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and he was extremely happy about that, but at the same time because of his mental immaturity he is not able to appreciate विश्वरूप in its totality, because विश्वरूपम् is a picture of both positive and negative things. Because as long as we are in the relative world everything has got its opposites. Therefore whether you like or not, the world is full of द्वन्द्व, which means विश्वरूप itself is द्वन्द्व. So if Lord has to be the सृष्टि कारणम्, the very same Lord will be लय कारणम् also. If Lord gives you the पुण्य कर्म-फलम्, the very same Lord will give पाप कर्म-फलम् also. So if I learn to appreciate it in its totality, I will not see them as pairs of opposites, but I will see them as complimentary. Therefore I understand, I should either accept them both or reject them both. But an immature mind only wants the positive aspect of the creation, it doesn't want the negative aspect, it is interested in the birth but not willing to accept the death, the mind is interested in association but it doesn't want disassociation, the mind which is willing to have growth but cannot accept decay or death, such a mind is an immature mind. So अर्जुन is able to accept everything in विश्वरूप but when he sees his own kith and kin dying by the law of creation, he is not able to swallow that and therefore he says: I don't want this विश्वरूपम् and therefore he requested Lord कृष्ण, please withdraw the विश्वरूप and I will like to have एकरूप कृष्णः only and कृष्ण also accepts that and कृष्ण shows the good old कृष्ण रूपम्, सौम्य रूपम् to अर्जुन and that is being reported by सञ्जय to धृतराष्ट्र, which verse we are seeing now,

महात्मा means विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, अनेकरूप ईश्वरः, He became सौम्य-वपुः means एकरूप ईश्वरः He became and thus consoled अर्जुन, अर्जुन don't worry, I will not impose विश्वरूपदर्शनम् on you. Up to this we saw. But we have to understand the significance of this verse, what does कृष्ण means by withdrawal of विश्वरूप? As I said in the last class, विश्वरूपम् cannot be withdrawn physically because विश्वरूपम् means the very world itself as ईश्वर. So if विश्वरूप has to be withdrawn it means the world itself has to be withdrawn, which means प्रलयम् should come, but that is not possible. Therefore what do you mean by withdrawal of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्? It is nothing but removal of the दिव्य चक्षुः, which Lord कृष्ण blessed अर्जुन with. That दिव्य चक्षुः taking away alone is withdrawal of विश्वरूपम्. What do you mean by taking away the दिव्य चक्षुः? I said दिव्य चक्षुः means freedom from अहङ्कार and ममकार. As long as I have got अहङ्कार and ममकार my mind will be preoccupied with small little things that I will not be able to enjoy the विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. Therefore अहङ्कार-ममकार is obstacle to विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and दिव्य चक्षुः is freedom from अहङ्कार and ममकार. And withdrawal of दिव्य चक्षुः is nothing but अर्जुन getting back his own अहङ्कार and ममकार. And I gave you the example, that is the nice example. That when you have a got a camera and a friend is standing and behind a beautiful scenery is there, you can focus only upon one thing, when you focus the person the background scenery, i.e., विश्वरूप, that is gone, on the other hand if you focus the scenery, then naturally, the friend is out of focus. Similarly, as long as you have strong अहङ्कार and ममकार, your mind will be preoccupied with that private personal world only, that भगवान् public world will not be available. Even though you are in the beach, wonderful ocean is there, stars are there, moon is there, विश्वरूपम् is in front, but you will be preoccupied with your family problem or eating peanut. So preoccupation with peanut is अहङ्कार-ममकार and you miss the beautiful ocean which is विश्वरूप and therefore अर्जुन got back his petty little mind, which means he lost this beautiful universe from his sight. That is how it has to be understood. Continuing;

Verse No .51

अर्जुन उवाच ।

दृष्ट्वेदं मानुषं रूपं तव सौम्यं जनार्दन ।

इदानीमस्मि संवृतः सचेताः प्रकृतिं गतः ॥ ११-५१॥

दृष्ट्वा इदम् मानुषम् रूपम् तव सौम्यम् जनार्दन ।

इदानीम् अस्मि संवृतः सचेताः प्रकृतिम् गतः ॥ ११-५१॥

हे जनार्दन! तव इदम् मानुषम् सौम्यम् रूपम् दृष्ट्वा (अहम्) इदानीम् सचेताः संवृतः अस्मि प्रकृतिम् गतः (अस्मि) ।

So when अर्जुन got his own original अहङ्कार-ममकार and naturally he missed the विश्वरूप beauty of the Lord. Of course for him it is not a beauty but a terrible thing, now he looks at कृष्ण as personal God, from अनेकरूप भक्ति He again comes back to एकरूप भक्ति. From this it is very clear, for अनेकरूप भक्ति my mind has to become mature, otherwise अनेकरूप भक्ति will be a frightening thing. It will not be enjoyable at all. When अनेकरूप भक्ति itself is frightening then what to talk of अरूप, for an immature mind अरूपम् ब्रह्म will not appeal at all, निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म will not appeal at all. It will be bland, when the food is without spicy and salt, you say it is bland, like that, who wants that निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म which doesn't have शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, nothing is there. So when the mind is immature, अनेकरूप भक्ति also will not appeal, अरूप भक्ति also will not appeal. It doesn't matter, better we confine to एकरूप. And therefore अर्जुन says, हे कृष्ण! I love this God only, हे जनार्दन! हे कृष्ण! Literally the word जनार्दन means the tormenting one, the one who hurts the people, जनान् अर्दयति इति जनार्दनः. So here अर्जुन is addressing that way because till now he saw a कृष्ण who was eating everyone, tormenting everyone and that is why he got frightened also, हे जनार्दन! I don't want the tormenting form of Yours, I want सौम्य-वपुः, so सौम्यम् रूपम् दृष्ट्वा, this pleasing form, which is मानुषम् रूपम् – which is human form, अधरम् मधुरम् वदनम् मधुरम् नयनम् मधुरम् हसितम् मधुरम्, if I see that I am at home, इदानीम्

अस्मि संवृतः – now I have come back to my normal state of mind.
 सचेताः – I have got back my mind. So previously, my mind was stunned by the vision of विश्वरूप, that I had lost my mind, now only I have got back my mind, सचेताः, चेतः means mind, सचेताः, I have got back my mind as it were and प्रकृतिम् गतः – now I am my natural self,
 I am at home, I am normal, seeing the एकरूप ईश्वर. Continuing;

Verse No .52

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

सुदुर्दर्शमिदं रूपं दृष्टवानसि यन्मम ।

देवा अप्यस्य रूपस्य नित्यं दर्शनकाङ्क्षिणः ॥ ११-५२॥

सुदुर्दर्शम् इदम् रूपम् दृष्टवान् असि यत् मम ।

देवाः अपि अस्य रूपस्य नित्यम् दर्शन-काङ्क्षिणः ॥ ११-५२॥

यत् मम सुदुर्दर्शम् इदम् रूपम् दृष्टवान् असि, अस्य रूपस्य देवाः अपि नित्यम् दर्शन-काङ्क्षिणः (सन्ति)।

Now Lord कृष्ण winds up by glorifying the विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, even though अर्जुन was happy about विश्वरूप. कृष्ण says: हे अर्जुन!
 what you got was very very rare thing, इदम् रूपम् सुदुर्दर्शम्. So this form means विश्वरूप, अनेकरूपम्, दृष्टवान् असि यत् मम – which you saw just now, not because you deserve it, not because you are fully qualified, but because of My grace and your surrender I gave you this दर्शनम्, which is सुदर्शनम् – which is extremely difficult, so सुदर्शनम्, which is extremely difficult to have this दर्शनम्. And why it is extremely difficult? देवाः अपि अस्य रूपस्य दर्शन-काङ्क्षिणः – even gods are eagerly craving for getting this विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, अनेकरूप दर्शनम्, when it is rarely available for gods themselves what to talk of ordinary human beings and therefore it is a glorious thing, so देवाः अपि अस्य रूपस्य means अस्य विश्वरूपस्य दर्शन-काङ्क्षिणः – they are eagerly waiting, नित्यम् – regularly praying for that and I have not given them, I have chosen you for giving this दर्शनम्. Continuing;

Verse No .53

नाहं वेदैर्न तपसा न दानेन न चेज्यया ।

शक्त्य एवविधो द्रष्टुं दृष्टवानसि मां यथा ॥ ११-५३॥

न अहम् वेदैः न तपसा न दानेन न च इज्यया ।

शक्त्यः एवम्-विधः द्रष्टुम् दृष्टवान् असि माम् यथा ॥ ११-५३॥

(त्वं) यथा माम् दृष्टवान् असि, एवम्-विधः अहम् न वेदैः, न तपसा, न दानेन, न च इज्यया द्रष्टुम् शक्त्यः (अस्मि)

In the previous verse Lord कृष्ण said that विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is a rare rare thing. So naturally the question will come, if it is a very rare thing what is the means of getting the विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, because even देवस has not been able to get that, then what is the means of getting विश्वरूपदर्शनम्? And कृष्ण wants to give the means, विश्वरूपदर्शन साधनम्. He wants to give in these two verses, 53 and 54. And the means that Lord कृष्ण wants to mention is भक्तिः. So eagerness, a sincere desire or craving called तीव्र भक्ति alone is the साधनम् for विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and कृष्ण wants to glorify this तीव्र भक्ति and as I said in the other day, in the scriptures to glorify one साधन there is a practice of putting down all the other साधन. But we should be very careful, not that the other साधनस are inferior they are also equally important and extremely important, but to focus one साधन the other साधनस are निन्दितम् and what is that न्याय called, न हि निन्दा न्यायः. So literally it is not bringing down but this is to be focused. And therefore in this verse, कृष्ण is saying all the other साधनस are inferior, of no consequence at all, भक्ति alone is the most important साधन. And what are the other साधनस mentioned here? वेदैः एवम्-विधः अहम् द्रष्टुम् न शक्त्यः – even if you are a great वैदिक scholar and even if you can chant the entire वेदः and you can even be a जटा-वल्लभः घनपाठी, even if you are such a great वैदिक scholar that will not give you विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. So एवम्-विधः अहम् means विश्वरूपः अहम्, विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is not possible even by वेद-अध्ययनम्. Then तपसा

एवम्-विधः अहम् द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः, so you have to add to in each one, तपसा एवम्-विधः अहम् द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः – even if you practice elaborate and intense तपस्, all types of व्रतम्, austerities one practices, even through तपस् one cannot get विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. So वेदs will not help you, तपस् will not help you, but what we should remember is if you are doing any such things it does not mean that you have to drop all of them. As I said it is not meant for dropping, but glorifying something else. Then न दानेन, here one has to be careful, दानेन एवम्-विधः अहम् द्रष्टुम् न शक्यः – by charity also विश्वरूपदर्शनम् cannot be attained. This we will note very well. भगवान् has said charity is useless, that is only the reason why I am not giving at all. So, already giving is a problem, these lines can mislead, be very careful. Charity is also important. In बृहदारण्यक,

in शीक्षावल्ली also it is said,

श्रद्धया देयम् । अश्रद्धयाऽदेयम् । etc.

दानम् is important but in this context it is put down. Then न च इज्याया, so the next one, इज्या means यज्ञ, rituals, so even by performing rituals one cannot have विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, that is also an inferior साधन only and such a rare विश्वरूप which cannot be attained even through all these साधनs, such a rare विश्वरूप अर्जुन you got and the irony is what, you wanted Me to withdraw. So शक्यः एवम्-विधः द्रष्टुम्, एवम्-विधः means विश्वरूपः, please remember, so like this means विश्वरूप, दृष्टवान् असि माम् यथा – as you had seen me just a few minutes before, such a विश्वरूप cannot be attained easily. So if all these साधनs cannot help, now the question is which साधन will really help, which will be said in the next verse, we will see. Continuing;

Verse No .54

भक्त्या त्वनन्यया शक्य अहमेवंविधोऽर्जुन ।

ज्ञातुं द्रष्टुं च तत्त्वेन प्रवेष्टुं च परन्तप ॥ ११-५४॥

भवत्या तु अनन्यया शक्यः अहम् एवम्-विधः अर्जुन ।

ज्ञातुम् द्रष्टुम् च तत्त्वेन प्रवेष्टुम् च परन्तप ॥ ११-५४॥

हे परन्तप अर्जुन! अहम् एवम्-विधः तत्त्वेन ज्ञातुम् च द्रष्टुम् प्रवेष्टुम् च अनन्यया भवत्या तु शक्यः ।

So here कृष्ण gives the means of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and that means is भक्ति alone, भक्ति means devotion or love for the Lord. Now the question comes what type of भक्ति is indicated here? So कृष्ण adds an adjective अनन्यया भवत्या एवम्-विधः द्रष्टुम् शक्यः, not ordinary भक्ति but अनन्य भक्तिः. So now the question is what is अनन्य भक्तिः? You have to go back to the 7th chapter of the गीता, where we have talked about four levels of भक्ति, आर्तः, अर्थार्थी, जिज्ञासुः and ज्ञानि, which can be reduced into three levels. So this four levels can be understood in three levels, आर्तः and अर्थार्थी is one level, जिज्ञासु is another level, a ज्ञानि is the third and final level. So what are these three levels, I hope you remember, I will remind you in this context.

i) Initially, our devotion to Lord is only for the benefit of worldly goals, which is otherwise called सकाम भक्ति. I am devoted to the Lord, I go to the temple, I do पूजा, everything I do, but I use ईश्वर only as a साधन, only as a means for the sake of worldly ends. Which means if I get such and such thing done then I will do this to You, this is called business भक्ति, purely commercial भक्ति. You do this and for You I will do that. There also we are very intelligent, we will not do that in the beginning, I will just keep one rupee as a token, that means what: I am not even willing to trust God. You do that and after that only I will do and that too what, we offer the cheapest thing that we have, our hair or something like that, no cost at all, we will only become lighter. So this is called business भक्ति, सकाम भक्ति where God is the means, worldly things are the ends and once a person practices this for some time, even though it is a सकाम भक्ति there is some भक्ति, it is better than no भक्ति, सकाम भक्ति is certainly better than no भक्ति at all.

ii) And because of his भक्ति the mind gets purer and purer and then he begins to understand that it is better to have God, not as a means, but as the end itself. Because he has become mature enough to understand that everything in the world has got the three-fold दोष, so you remember what we have seen in the उपनिषत् class. What are the three-fold दोषs?

- दुःख मिश्रितत्वम्, everything in the creation is mixed with pain also,
- Then अतृप्तिकरत्वम्, whatever get I will never get total fulfillment, I will seek more and more only and
- Finally बन्धकरत्वम् and I will only get only addicted to them, I will be only enslaved by them.

So this दोष or defect of the worldly finite things I understand and I know that God is the only reliable one, which is free from all these three दोषs,

शश्वन्नश्वरमेव विश्वमखिलम् निश्चित्य वाचागुरोः

नित्यम् ब्रह्म निरन्तरम् विमृशता निर्व्याज शान्तात्मना । ॥ मनीषापञ्चकम् ३ ॥

I get नित्य-अनित्य विवेकः. So जगत् is अनित्यम्, ईश्वर alone is शाश्वतम्, therefore reliable and once this विवेक comes to me, the direction changes, instead of looking upon the world as the end and God as means, it is reversed, the world becomes means, all the activities become means, even गृहस्थ आश्रम becomes means, all the people coming and going also becomes means, the only end is what, ईश्वरः becomes the end. Which in वेदान्त language we call ब्रह्मन्, in the religious language we call ईश्वरः. Now ईश्वरः is साध्यम् and world is साधनम्, this is the second level of भक्ति, which कृष्ण calls the iii) If this अनन्य भक्ति is there, then विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is possible and this will lead to the highest भक्ति, it is not mentioned here. But to complete the discussion, what is the third and final level of भक्ति? It is a भक्ति in which God is neither the means nor the end, then what is God, it is neither साधन or साध्यम्, but it is I the सिद्ध वस्तु itself. Because as long as I look upon the Lord as the means or the end, Lord is different from me. So when I look upon Lord as साधन I am in द्वैतम्, when I look upon God as goal then also I am in द्वैतम्, in the third level, I come to अद्वैतम्, wherein God is neither the means nor the end, God is not destination, God is the traveler himself, God is not the sought, but the God is the very seeker himself. That is the final stage, that we need not see now.

Here we are talking about अनन्य भक्ति, where God is the goal itself. Therefore अनन्यया भक्त्या अहम् एवम्-विधः द्रष्टुम् शक्यः. And this will lead to what, तत्त्वेन ज्ञातुम् शक्यः – and in due course, you will know the Lord in his real nature. And what is the real nature of God? It is neither the साधनम् or साध्यम्, neither the means nor the end, but the Lord is I myself, अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि, so तत्त्वेन द्रष्टुम् means अद्वैत ज्ञानम् प्राप्तुम्. A person can come to that and through that ज्ञानम् प्रवेष्टुम् च शक्यः – and through this knowledge the devotee merges into the Lord, He becomes one with the Lord, the wisdom that the Lord is never different from me, the notion of division is removed. The removal of the notion of division is called merger. It is purely a cognitive process, there is no question of any change outwardly. All these are possible. You start with भक्ति, that is the idea and that is summed up in the next and final verse of this chapter.

मत्कर्मकृन्मत्परमो मद्भक्तः सङ्गवर्जितः ।

निर्वैरः सर्वभूतेषु यः स मामेति पाण्डव ॥ ११-७७॥

मत्-कर्म-कृत् मत्-परमः मत्-भक्तः सङ्ग-वर्जितः ।

निर्वैरः सर्वभूतेषु यः सः माम् एति पाण्डव ॥ ११-७७॥

हे पाण्डव! यः मत्-कर्म-कृत्, मत्-परमः, सङ्ग-वर्जितः सर्वभूतेषु निर्वैरः मत्-भक्तः (अस्ति), सः माम् एति ।

So this is a capsule verse. This is a seed verse, which will be expanded in the next chapter. It is the definition of भक्ति. So we will be seeing this elaborately in the next chapter, but however, here I will give you a bird's eye-view of the idea contained. According to कृष्ण, भक्ति is not a particular साधन, भक्ति is not a particular साधन, but it is the name of the entire range of spiritual साधनs. It is not one साधन, but it is the common name for the entire range of spiritual साधनs which will take a person to मोक्ष. And the entire range of spiritual साधन is broadly divided into three in the शास्त्रs, which कृष्ण will divide into five in the next chapter. The वेदs it is divided into three, in the 12th chapter it will be made into five. That five we will see in the next chapter, because if I tell now it will leave me with nothing in that Chapter to tell you. So I will present you the three levels.

i) The first level of साधन is called कर्म लक्षणा भक्तिः, भक्ति which is in the form of कर्मयोग. भक्ति which is expressed in the form of कर्मयोग. How can you call कर्मयोग as an expression of भक्ति, because कर्मयोग is only कर्म? How can you call कर्मयोग as a form of भक्ति, if you ask, कृष्ण's answer is कर्मयोग can be called भक्ति, because कर्मयोग requires intense भक्ति to the Lord. Without devotion to the Lord कर्मयोग is impossible and therefore कर्मयोग is a form of भक्ति. Now the next question is how do you say that कर्मयोग involves भक्ति? All these we have seen before, I am just putting them together. Because कर्मयोग involves two stages.

a) In the first stage I am a कर्ता, as a कर्ता I am doing various actions and whatever actions I do they will be converted into कर्म-फलम् and this कर्म-फलम् I have to necessarily receive and when I am receiving the कर्म-फलम्, I become a भोक्ता. So, कर्मकर्ता I am initially, फलभोक्ता I am later. And the फलम् can be anything, favorable result, unfavorable result, terrible result, disappointing result, anytime of फलम् is possible. Now in कर्मयोग most important thing is as a कर्ता, कर्मकर्ता, I have to dedicate all actions at the feet of the Lord by a सङ्कल्प, सङ्कल्प means a thought, ममोपात्त समस्त दुरितक्षयद्वारा श्रीपरमेश्वर प्रीत्यर्थम् अहम् इदम् कर्म करिष्ये, I need not all the time keep the hand joined like this, that is there in the mind. Therefore as a कर्ता I have to dedicate all the कर्मस to ईश्वरः. This is called ईश्वरार्पण भावना and ईश्वरार्पण भावना requires what, भक्ति.

b) And these कर्मस are going to come tomorrow, tomorrow means in the future. They are going produce the फलम् and I have to pay through my nose, I have to face the music. In fact, every experience you get in life is your own कर्म-फलम्, including the mosquito bite, if there are mosquitoes and they are biting you. That is also what कर्म-फलम् only. Every experience is कर्म-फलम्. And when I receive the कर्म-फलम्, the bitterest to the happy experience, I have to accept without resistance, as what, ईश्वर प्रसाद भावनया.

So as a कर्ता I have got ईश्वरार्पण भावना, as a भोक्ता, भोक्ता means what, the enjoyer of the result, I have got the ईश्वर प्रसाद भावना and because of this भावना कर्मयोग becomes what, a form of भक्ति.

ii) And once I follow this कर्मयोग sufficiently, I will graduate myself to the next level of साधन, which is called उपासना रूप भक्तिः, भक्ति in the form of meditation or ध्यानम्. And why this level of भक्ति is required? This is required because a कर्मयोगि is always extrovert, because he is all the time a कर्ता, a भोक्ता, therefore he is interacting with the world all the time, therefore his mind is extrovert. Whereas as a Vedantic teacher, ultimately he has to discover the Lord, not outside, but the Lord has to be and can be discovered only in ourselves. In तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्, we are going to see that,

सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्म ।

So the real God is not outside, the real God is in my own heart. So an extrovert mind can never discover the real God and therefore one has to convert the extrovert mind into an introvert or non-extrovert mind, that is the second level of साधन called उपासना लक्षणा भक्ति, that is also a form of भक्ति. And here I visualize the Lord within myself so that I learn to turn my mind inward. So शान्ताकारम् भुजगशयनम् पद्मनाभम् सुरेशम् when I chant I try to visualize the Lord within my mind itself, an extrovert mind cannot do that, शान्ताकारम् before you chant it will go somewhere. Therefore we train the mind. There also एकरूप ईश्वरः, अनेकरूप ईश्वरः, etc., but the main idea of उपासना is what: turning the mind inward. This is called उपासना लक्षणा भक्तिः.

iii) And then comes the final stage, called ज्ञान लक्षणा भक्तिः, which is the study of scriptures to discover the real nature of God, which is called वेदान्त विचारः, which is called ज्ञानयोगः and that is also a form of भक्ति only. That is why it is called ज्ञान यज्ञ, all the गीता discourses स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द named गीता ज्ञान यज्ञ, which means study of scriptures also is a form of पूजा only. For what you are doing now is what, a form of पूजा, a form of भक्ति only.

So thus कर्म लक्षणा भक्तिः, उपासना लक्षणा भक्तिः, ज्ञान लक्षणा भक्तिः, भक्ति in these three-fold form a person has to practice and ultimately become one with the Lord. These three stages कृष्ण will present in the next chapter. कर्म लक्षणा भक्ति itself He divides into two, उपासना itself He divides into two, ज्ञान one, so 2+2+1, five is going to come. This is trailer, you know in the movies and all they have trailers, and in the TV also so the next week what will be there, like that a trailer Lord कृष्ण is presenting here. Therefore भक्तियोग is not a particular साधन, but it is कर्म plus उपासनाम् plus ज्ञानम्. Therefore He says: मत्-कर्म-कृत् भव – हे अर्जुन! first become a कर्मयोगि, as a कर्ता whatever you do,

यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदखिलम् शम्भो तवाराधनम् ॥ शिवमानसपूजा ४ ॥

कायेन वाचा मनसेन्द्रियैर्वा । बुद्ध्यात्मना वा प्रकृतिस्वभावात् ।

करोमि यद्यत्सकलम् परस्मै । नारायणायेति समर्पयामि ॥ ॥

श्रीमद्भागवतम् ११-२-३६॥

Need not be religious action whether it is secular or sacred everything you dedicate and as a भोक्ता never protest, whatever comes welcome, all these in the 2nd and 3rd chapter, with a mental balance accepting all the experiences in life is कर्मयोग रूप भक्ति, may you follow that, मत्-कर्म-कृत् भव and then मत्-भक्तः भव. I am changing the order for the sake of convenience. मत्-भक्तः भव – may you become My devotee. That is slowly convert your goal as God himself, you take your own time, initially nobody will choose God as the goal or मोक्ष as goal, it is not there in the list at all and even if it is in the list it is the last item and we have got an excuse also, God can wait, because it is eternal, whereas all the other things are important and immediate, भगवान् says doesn't matter and therefore initially you might have worldly desires, fulfill them, of course legitimately, enjoy them also and understand their limitations and gradually convert your goal from अर्थ-काम to मोक्ष, from प्रेयस् to श्रेयस् let your goal become. So मत्-भक्तः भव means तीव्र मुमुक्षुः भव, be a desirer of मोक्ष. Seek the eternal not the ephemeral, seek the reliable and not the unreliable object. Remember the cardboard chair, a chair made out of cardboard and it is well decorated, it is wonderful, you can keep it in cupboard and showcase and all. You can do everything except one, what is that, don't sit over that, already you are 95 kgs. What will happen if I sit? Try and see. Similarly, the entire world is a cardboard chair, because it is subject time, therefore perishable. Therefore don't lean upon the perishable world, if at all you want to lean, don't lean on anyone, but if at all you want to lean, learn to lean upon God. I have told you before: World-dependence to God-dependence and discover God within yourselves and then it becomes Self-dependence. Therefore मत्-भक्तः भव means gradually learn to depend on God and if anybody asks what is your security, never name any local ones, if anybody asks what is security, only say

Train all the time by saying: My support is God, the people are around me, therefore I will interact them, I will help them, I will do everything, but for my leaning security and support, I want only rely upon God. So therefore, मत्-भक्तः भव and then मत्-परमः भव – gradually become a तीव्र मुमुक्षुः, मोक्ष must be the only goal. It is not one of the goals, it is the only goal and any other thing that I seek also should be only a means for that end alone, whether I earn money, or whether I work somewhere, whatever I do they are all means for that, so मत्-परमः भव means become a तीव्र मुमुक्षुः. In short, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्नः भव and then सङ्ग-वर्जितः and as you learn to lean and depend more and more on higher things then your attachment to other things will gradually drop, as we grow, as children we have used so many toys and we were so much attached to toys and one toy is taken by the neighbors child and we scream, a balloon or a toy. What about now? We have got higher attachments, so previously it was ordinary biscuit, now gold biscuit, but different biscuit. So when I have got higher attachment (previously it was ordinary biscuits now it is gold biscuits, biscuit only but different biscuit!) the lower attachment gradually dented. If for the birthday today somebody presents a balloon, you are not going to be enamored by that, similarly, your desire for मोक्ष should swallow all the other desires and therefore सङ्ग-वर्जितः भव – be detached from all the other perishable things, which is राग रहितत्वम्. And कृष्ण warns here, निर्वैरः सर्व-भूतेषु, freedom from राग does not mean development of द्वेष. So hatred of the world is not prescribed, hatred of family members is not prescribed, no राग also, no द्वेष also. So सर्व-भूतेषु – with regard to every being - human being, animals, plants everything, निर्वैरः – freedom from enmity or द्वेष. In short राग-द्वेष अतीतत्वम् is maturity. So real maturity is this उदासीन भावना, it is called औदासीन्यम्, औदासीन्यम् means neither राग nor द्वेष. And what is freedom from राग and द्वेष? How to know that? The presence also should not make a difference, absence also should not make a difference, such a state of mind is called राग-द्वेष अतीतत्वम्, which is otherwise called वैराग्यम्. So in short develop विवेक, develop वैराग्यम्, develop मुमुक्षुत्वम्, that is real भक्ति. And if you have got all these things, सः माम् एति पाण्डव – such a person will certainly attain Me because I will provide him with all the necessary conditions to attain मोक्ष. Developing साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति alone is the aim of the साधक, the rest of the things have to take place by God's grace only. Because to get ज्ञानम् I require गुरु and I never know who is a गुरु, because गुरु is one who has got ज्ञानम्. Whether a person has got ज्ञानम् or not how do I know? So therefore, a blind man can never know whether another person is blind or not. Therefore an अज्ञानि can never find who a ज्ञानि is. Therefore if I develop साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, भगवान् says I will send you a गुरु. For that I have got a department. So भगवान् has got a गुरु department, when a person gets ready he will send a गुरु and such a person will ultimately get गुरु, ज्ञानम् and मोक्ष, सः माम् एति पाण्डव – he becomes one with Me. So this is the capsule श्लोक, this will be elaborated in the 12th chapter, which will be titled भक्तियोगः.

ॐ तत्सदिति श्रीमद्भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायां योगशास्त्रे श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगो नाम एकादशोऽध्यायः ॥ ११॥

So the 11th chapter of the गीता is over which is titled विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 11, SUMMARY

I will give you a summary of the 11th chapter, विश्वरूपदर्शनयोगः. The significance of this chapter can be fully grasped only if a person has the background of the previous chapters of the गीता, especially from the 7th chapter up to the 10th chapter. Because this chapter is a development based on the foundation of the previous four chapters. In those four chapters, Lord कृष्ण has talked about ईश्वरः स्वरूपम् very elaborately, the definition and the nature of God. And therein कृष्ण has mentioned that the definition of God is ईश्वरः जगत् कारणम्, God is the cause of the universe. Naturally the question comes what type of cause is God, because we know that the cause is two-fold, the intelligent cause and the other is the material cause out of which an effect is born. Just as a carpenter is the intelligent cause of the furniture and the wood is the material cause of the furniture and any product requires both the intelligent as well as the material causes. So naturally our question will be: God is which type of cause? And कृष्ण has pointed out, God is both the intelligent as well as the material cause of the universe. In संस्कृत we say अभिन्न-निमित्त-उपादान-कारणम् ईश्वरः. Of these two causes, we focus upon one cause, that is the material cause aspect in these four chapters and when we focus on this material cause aspect, we come to know that the material cause alone modifies or transforms to become various effects. Of course blessed by, backed by the intelligent cause, the material cause alone manifests as manifold effect, which we clearly see in day-to-day experiences. One gold alone evolves or manifests into varieties of ornaments, one wood alone becomes varieties of furniture. Thus we find that cause alone manifests in the form of effect. In fact, there is no effect at all separate from the material cause. So स्वर्ण व्यतिरिक्त आभरणानि न सन्ति, there are no ornaments separate from gold, there are no furniture separate from wood, there are no products separate from the material cause. To put in another language, one material cause alone appears as manifold effect by assuming different names and forms. Thus behind all the names and forms of the product, there is only one material cause. So behind bangle name and form, chain name and form, ring name and form, what I am experiencing is the material cause, the gold alone. That means if I should have the दर्शनम् of gold, I need not separately attempt, when I am seeing the ornaments I am seeing the causal gold alone. I need not dismiss the ornaments and separately work for the दर्शनम् of the gold. All these are ornaments only, I am fed with seeing the ornaments (though it will not happen to us; at least imagine like that) I am tired of ornaments, I am interested in gold दर्शनम् and therefore I will close my eyes and turn away from the ornaments and meditate for स्वर्ण दर्शनम्, if anyone says like that, what an idiot he must be. When you are seeing the ornaments, you are directly in contact with the material cause alone with varieties of नाम-रूप. Therefore कार्य दर्शनम् is essentially the material कारण दर्शनम् only. This is a very very important fact which we should remember when we see these four chapters. And Lord कृष्ण applies this principle and points out, हे अर्जुन! I am the material cause of the creation, not a few ornaments or a few furniture, I am the material cause of this whole universe, consisting of परा and अपरा प्रकृति, I don't know whether you remember, if you remember it is very good otherwise it doesn't matter, परा प्रकृति युक्त ईश्वरः एव this universe. Which means what: the universe is nothing but God evolved with different नाम and रूप. Therefore ईश्वरस्य अवस्था भेद एव प्रपञ्च, one gold which is called gold in the कारण अवस्था, अवस्था means condition, the very same gold is called ornaments in the कार्य अवस्था. So कारणम् and कार्यम् are one and the same material only, one is with potential नाम and रूप, whereas the कार्यम् is with the manifest नाम and रूप. And therefore कृष्ण wants to say that ईश्वर and the world can never be different, when all the names and forms are resolved, like resolving the ornaments, what obtains called अव्यक्त नाम and रूप, we called ईश्वर and when the very same ईश्वर available with evolved नाम-रूप that is called प्रपञ्चः. So ईश्वरः एव प्रपञ्चः, प्रपञ्चः एव ईश्वरः, which means there is no difference between प्रपञ्चः दर्शनम् and ईश्वरः दर्शनम्. Therefore whenever I am looking at the universe, I am only looking at the Lord with infinite varieties of नाम-रूप. In short, the world is the very embodiment of the Lord. If I don't have this understanding I will call it the world, but if I have the understanding I will call it as the form or the embodiment of ईश्वरः. When I look at the world as the embodiment of ईश्वरः it is called विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, when I look at the very world, not a new extraordinary object but the very same ordinary universe itself when I look upon as the embodiment of the Lord, as the very body of the Lord, that new perception based on the new understanding, that understanding is called the दिव्य चक्षुः, based on this new understanding when I have got a new attitude towards the ordinary universe, that new attitude is extraordinary attitude. The world is the ordinary world but we are developing an extraordinary attitude born out of understanding and what is the new attitude, this which I thought to be world is nothing but ईश्वरस्य शरीरम्, विश्वम् एव रूपम् शरीरम् यस्य and therefore विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is not an extraordinary object, but an extraordinary attitude towards an ordinary regularly available universe. And this is not unknown to us, very many ordinary things when it is associated with some great people or great place that very same ordinary thing becomes extraordinary. I have told you before, when you get लड्डु, you see it as an embodiment of sugar, especially if you have got sugar problem and you are not going to have respect for लड्डु. Then you even reject and somebody says, this is तिरुपति लड्डु. Now you have got a new understanding and therefore a new attitude also, because you happen to be a बालाजि भक्त, that also should be there. If you call an African tribal and say तिरुपति, he will ask what पति, he will not have an extraordinary attitude because he doesn't know the value of बालाजि. Therefore when I take the very same लड्डु and put it into my eyes, that means what: it is not a physical appreciation, it is a non-physical value, which can never be understood by chemical analysis or physical analysis, the लड्डू will be the same, but the appreciation, the extra value is not the physical but it is the attitudinal born out of understanding. This attitude born out of understanding is called दिव्य चक्षुः. Imagine you meet a friend and he says that I have got something extremely valuable I would like to show and he takes to some room inside and then he brings some objects and it is covered in several pieces of cloth. And he opens it up very carefully and then he says I got it for 5 million rupees and you see that it is a broken guitar, a broken guitar, pop music instrument and this person says, this is Harrison's guitar. So स्वामिजी should be up to date! Always बालाजी बालाजी if I say, you people won't come. Now here itself many people wonder, who is this Harrison? Because many of our students are in Vedantic plane, they don't read newspapers and all!! Only I am the one reading newspapers regularly perhaps. And then I ask the question, who is this blessed Harrison? He is a Beatle it was said. OK, that it still verse. In school I have learned about it as creepy-crawly. So therefore as long as I don't know what Beatle means, what Harrison means, this is a piece of broken wood which is not even worth five and half rupees. But this person pays 5 million rupees and buys. Now tell me what is this extraordinary value? It is for that person because behind the physical wood, which doesn't have any value, he sees that this has the association with one of the Beatles and there was a time when the whole world, not India perhaps, was going crazy. If people were asked, you want to see God, not present movie stars, whether you want to see God or the cinema actor? They used to fall for these Beatles. Now what is the difference between my perception of this guitar and the other person's perception? That person has got दिव्य चक्षुः. In this context, I should not use that word, but within quotes for the sake of understanding. When he looks at that ordinary object through the physical eye he has got an extraordinary attitude, because he sees the value of the person behind. Similarly, some Bradman's bat or Tendulkar's bat, somebody else's sandals, somebody else's dress and the tooth of बुद्ध (I think it is in श्रीलङ्का), the hair of prophet etc. But we say that if we touch the hair, it is अशौचम्, we have to take bath, but that is very carefully preserved. And therefore we should remember appreciation is two-fold, one is physical and the other is attitudinal. Attitudinal appreciation comes out of training and understanding. I should have been the fan of that Beatle for several years, then alone I can appreciate the value of the guitar. I should know all the exploits of Tendulkar, I should have been a परम भक्त, knowing all the statistics, how many centuries, how many catches behind the wickets, all these statistics are there, if I study all that and if I become a भक्त, then an ordinary bat associated with him will have an extraordinary value. Extending this to this universe. This universe is also something ordinary because we have been contacting it all the time, I should have भक्ति for ईश्वरः first, which requires lot of training and having developed भक्ति for the Lord, later I should be able to associate this universe as the embodiment associated with ईश्वरः. Then appreciation of ईश्वरः should be there and understanding that this world is connected with ईश्वरः and therefore this world is also not 5 million rupees worth or 5 billion rupees worth it is something immeasurable and it is extraordinarily divine. This requires tremendous intellectual drill and mental refinement because we are not seeing anything new but we are seeing something old with a new attitude. And only then विश्वरूपदर्शनम् can be understood properly and that is why कृष्ण gives four chapters of training and then in the 11th chapter we get the culmination. This is the background we have to keep in mind. And then coming to the text proper.

- 1) The first eight verses happens to be the introductory verses, wherein अर्जुन asks the question: How can I get विश्वरूपदर्शनम्? How can I get विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, is it possible for me to have विश्वरूपदर्शनम् at all? For which Lord कृष्ण answers, unfortunately or fortunately, विश्वरूप is not one of the forms of the Lord, In fact, if it is one of the forms of the Lord then it is easier. He can come like this and smile and show the hand and bless and then disappear. So therefore seeing a particular form as ईश्वरः is relatively easier but an attitudinal change by which I learn to see this world itself as ईश्वरः requires tremendous change and therefore Lord कृष्ण says it is possible but it requires a special type of mind and that attitude which I call दिव्य चक्षुः, कृष्ण says I will bless you with that attitudinal change. If you want to put in technical language, it is nothing but a mind free from अहङ्कार and ममकार. Because to have विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, I should see everything as belonging to the Lord, nothing belongs to me. That means all my relatives are really not my people, they all belong to ईश्वरः and what about my house, स्वामिजि, that is mine alone, I have got documental evidence. No, your house is also भगवान्'s. What about the body? तन-मन-धन सब कुछ तेरा, even the body is not yours, that also belongs to the Lord, only if you see everything as belonging to the Lord it is विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, if you have to see everything as belonging to the Lord, nothing should belong to you which means I should be free from अहङ्कार and ममकार. This अहङ्कार ममकार रहितम् मनः is the दिव्य चक्षुः, कृष्ण says I will bless you with.

2) Then what happens, there is this transformation in अर्जुन's mind and अर्जुन is stunned by this, not a new form of the Lord, but the new appreciation of this विश्वरूप and when अर्जुन is stunned and dumbfound, सञ्जय comes and gives a brief description from verse no.9 to 14, is सञ्जय's description of विश्वरूप, which means सञ्जय must have the दिव्य चक्षुः. Either कृष्ण must have blessed सञ्जय also or सञ्जय must have already such a mind. In fact, some commentators say the very word सञ्जय itself means the one who has won over, conquered the enemies of अहङ्कार and ममकार. That is why it is called सञ्जय, therefore he already has दिव्य चक्षुः, no problem and therefore सञ्जय gives the description of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् from verse no.9 to 14. And what is विश्वरूपदर्शनम्? The Lord has got hundreds of hands, thousands of legs, thousands of heads, thousands of stomachs, etc. And how should we understand? Very careful, don't imagine that कृष्ण came in front with thousands hands hanging, thousands of legs hanging. I tell you that will be the most horrible form, don't imagine, that is all OK for the picture, विश्वरूप picture you might have seen, so many heads glued together. So, don't imagine any such extraordinary picture of the Lord. Thousands of hands and legs means what: all the hands and legs of all the people previously I saw as belonging to You and I, now I see all of them as भगवान्'s only. That is why in the रुद्रम् towards the end it comes,

अयं मे विश्वभेषजोऽयं शिवाभिमर्शनः ॥ श्रीरुद्रप्रश्नः ॥

a) The first stage of appreciation is given from verse no.15 to 22 wherein अर्जुन is wonderstruck, because the creation is wonderful. But we don't appreciate it because we are all the time preoccupied with अहम् and मम, as they say, there is no time to stand and stare. Especially after the channels have come, you have to see the discovery channel, national geography channel, every fish, every animal, every ant, every bee, the more you study, any scientists belonging to any branch is wonderstruck by the nature or creation, an entomologist who studies the insect is wonderstruck by every insect, which is what, ईश्वरः विभूति and they are doing research in the cobweb created by the spider, we get angry with that and we brush aside, but they say that it is the most unique kind of thing which the scientists are not able to create, research is going, books and books are coming, regarding the uniqueness of the thread of that. Thus any aspect you take, you are wonderstruck and if you are an ईश्वरः भक्त that wonder belongs to ईश्वरः. In Australia some ants are there it seems, they can create an anthill which is temperature controlled. So even when the temperature is very high outside or very low, there is some kind, some method of doing that, they do not know that temperature control is there. So where did the ants go to study? What engineering did they study? Inbuilt instinctive! Thus anything you see, I tell you, you will be wonderstruck and what the scientists call wonder of nature, a भक्त calls a wonder of ईश्वरः. And that is why a Vedantic person gets interested in all the sciences, whether it is astronomy or whether it is biology or zoology or botany or thermodynamics or any science, because he sees all the sciences as revealing the glory of ईश्वरः as the wonderful universe. And this आश्चर्यम् is described beautifully from verse no.15 to 22.

b) And then comes from 23 to 30th verse. अर्जुन sees the mouth of the Lord. So here also don't imagine कृष्ण standing with a big mouth and all, that is also symbolic representation of काल तत्त्वम्. So व्यासाचार्य has used the language of symbolism also while describing विश्वरूप and all the soldiers in both the armies they are going to die and the death is symbolically presented as the soldiers entering into the mouth of the Lord, which represents the काल तत्त्वम्, swallowing everything. Because काल is सृष्टि कारणम्, काल is स्थिति कारणम्, काल alone is लय कारणम् and that काल is an aspect of विश्वरूप only. यमाय धर्मराजाय, first नमस्कार to him, यमाय धर्मराजाय मृत्यवे चान्तकाय च । So that we are trained to be not to be afraid of मरणम्. When one says मरणम्, we think that it is अमङ्गलम् word and tell others not to utter it, it is not मङ्गलम्, मरणम् is also महा मङ्गलम् for the next generation! OK, for us it is अमङ्गलम्, but unless we vacate, if everyone continues to stay what happens to the next generation. So remember what is the so called अमङ्गलम् for us is the मङ्गलम् for the next generation and अर्जुन also he could easily appreciate the मरणम् of all the people but the problem was what भीष्म, द्रोण, all these people are also dying. So if he had been totally free from अहङ्कार and ममकार, it would not have created the problem, but अर्जुन is not totally free, because his दिव्य चक्षु is borrowed दिव्य चक्षु, borrowing is problem, it will not last longer, it is an artificial one like ripening any fruit artificially, it will not be tasty. Similarly, अर्जुन has not ripened in the normal method, it is borrowed from the Lord and therefore there was अहङ्कार and ममकार. Therefore he could easily say everyone born should die, that philosophy is well-known, but everybody born should die except a few members around, we two and ours two or one as the case may be and therefore this fear born out of अहङ्कार and ममकार अर्जुन intensely experiences which is described very very pictorially by व्यासाचार्य, by pointing out that they are entering the mouth and भगवान् is biting them, someone's leg is bitten, means paralysis, or kidney failure or heart or missing a beat, lub ub lub lub dub, or teeth are going away, all these things are what: भगवान् biting and the tragedy is what, भगवान् seems to enjoy, लेलिहसे ब्रसमानः समन्तात्.

And therefore naturally when you have got strong अहङ्कार ममकार, you will get angry with the Lord, you will feel Lord is very cruel, he is not दया सागरः, it is शुद्ध lie, and a person may turn to even a नास्तिका when suffering comes. So अर्जुन also goes through the problem and therefore he asks the question, कृष्ण please tell me who are you? So my picture of God is totally different, therefore tell me what exactly you are and कृष्ण answers that is the portion from verse no.31 to 34, अर्जुन question and कृष्ण's answer. कृष्ण says I am the काल तत्त्वम्, especially the destructive काल तत्त्वम् in the battle field, if it has been that maternity ward, then भगवान् will say I am the creative काल तत्त्वम् because constantly children are produced. But in the battle field I am certainly not creative काल तत्त्वम् but destructive काल तत्त्वम्. Therefore अर्जुन विश्वरूपदर्शनम् involves accepting भगवान् as सृष्टि, स्थिति and त्वय कारणम्. All these three you should be able to accept and assimilate, that is called विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. And then he says निमित्त-मात्रम् भव, when you appreciate the totality and appreciate the orderliness and harmony of the creation as an integral part of the Lord, you will use your free-will also in accordance with the universal harmony which is called धर्म. Therefore when the free-will has alignment with धर्म, the universal order, the विश्वरूप's order, that alignment is called surrender. So imagine there is an orchestra and there are 20 violins or 30 violins, so every violinist should play in keeping with the total श्रुति and तालम्. If a person says that I want to show my individuality, if he plays in another श्रुति, then the whole orchestra is destroyed. Therefore I should do that, I should not make my individuality prominent or dominant, my individuality should be in alignment, that is called surrender. It is born out of wisdom, it is born out of understanding of the total harmony, which requires tremendous maturity and when maturity is there the surrender is natural, just like if you know what is the श्रुति, you come and join the गीता chanting, if you know what is the श्रुति, automatically you will chant in keeping with the श्रुति. Suppose you don't know what is श्रुति at all, it is called toned deaf, what श्रुति is he doesn't understand, then that person will be अपश्रुति, off the key, but if you know what is श्रुति you will be incapable of violating the श्रुति. Even if you want to chant off you cannot do that. Similarly, if my mind is trained to appreciate the total harmony, it is called धर्म appreciation, I cannot go off धर्म, I do have a free-will but my free-will is in alignment. This is called निमित्त-मात्रत्वम् or शरणागति, विश्वरूपदर्शनम् makes शरणागति natural. Therefore अर्जुन you also surrender, follow the धर्म which means you have to kill all these people, it is in keeping with the requirement of धर्म. When this was taught अर्जुन becomes little more wiser and then he goes to the next stage of appreciation of धर्म, the Order, like appreciation of श्रुति and naturally the surrender comes.

c) And that is given as the third stage from verse no.35 to 45 is the surrender which is purely a mental state. But this alignment of the free-will to धर्म how will I express physically? Like expressing love or welcome. So it is mental, therefore I have to express physically by a smile or by greeting or shaking hand, similarly, how do I express my attitude of surrender? In our tradition that is done in the form of नमस्कार. So नमस्कार is a natural event, which happens mentally to a mature mind and therefore अर्जुन also says नमः पुरस्तात् अथ पृष्ठतः ते नमः अस्तु ते सर्वतः एव सर्व । Why does अर्जुन says I do prostrations, your front, back etc., because the Orderliness is everywhere in the universe, the श्रुति is everywhere. If you go to America and there is a गीता chanting, there also it will be the same श्रुति. So therefore my नमस्कार to all parts of you means, I see the order, the harmony, the rhythm, In fact, that alone maintains this universe.

धर्मेण पापमपनुदति । धर्मे सर्वम् प्रतिष्ठितम् । तस्मात् धर्मम् परमम् वदन्ति ।

This invisible harmony is called धर्म. So thus अर्जुन surrenders his will, which is from 35 to 45. Even though अर्जुन expresses his भक्ति he has gone through all the three stages mentally. But of these three only one remains prominent. So आश्चर्यम्, भक्ति and भयम्, three are there. आश्चर्यम् recedes to the background, भक्ति also recedes to the background, but भयम् alone remains. Because as long as अहङ्कार and ममकार are there, fear is unavoidable. Fear of death, fear of old age, fear of separation, all this will be unavoidable. If I don't have अहङ्कार and ममकार, all these will appear as the लीला of God. we all come together - लीला of ईश्वरः, we all get separated - लीला of ईश्वरः, we all grow old - लीला of ईश्वरः. But when अहम् मम are there, they are terrible thing, therefore अर्जुन is frightened, therefore he says हे कृष्ण! I only asked for विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, but now I am changing my mind. Like returning some objects to the shop, he says I don't want this विश्वरूपदर्शनम्, it is wonderful but I would like to return it with thanks. So thus अर्जुन requests and Lord कृष्ण also understands that an immature mind cannot have विश्वरूपदर्शनम्. Then what to do, nothing to fear, you confine to एकरूप ईश्वरः, so let the Lord be in the temple or let the Lord be in the पूजा room, Lord is inside, world is outside, doesn't matter, start with एकरूप ईश्वरः, reduce अहङ्कार and ममकार. In fact, our culture is designed for that only. So when we build a new house and enter first thing that we do is hang the photo of the Lord. What does it mean? Oh भगवान्, this is not my house but Yours, and please allow me to use. I will give You a place, under the staircase, remember, some useless place, doesn't matter भगवान् is adjustable, but that attitude is important, it is Your house and then the next higher stage is what, I look upon this house also as a temple belonging to the Lord, this body, देहो देवालय प्रोक्तः, therefore see not only God is in the house, therefore house belongs to the Lord, invoke God inside your heart and learn to see the body also as a property of ईश्वरः. Then the attachment will drop. तन-मन-धन सब कुछ तेरा will not be a mere lip service. As दयानन्द स्वामिजि says: daily you sing, भगवान् itself gets confused, yesterday he gave Me the body, today also he says he is giving the body. He has got only one body, how come daily he gives? Then only भगवान् knows that it is all lip service only. The one who really gives can give only once. That is over. But the idea is what, when you daily sing hopefully one day that word will come from the inner most heart and we mean what we say. Until then तन मन धन तन मन धन we will sing, at least for the sake of vadai, peanut and chickpea. So therefore come to एकरूप ईश्वरः if you are not ready for विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. That कृष्ण accepts and then again comes back to एकरूप which means what अर्जुन दिव्य चक्षुः is gone and therefore the world is no more the body of the Lord, world is world, लड्डु is not प्रसाद, लड्डु becomes लड्डु. So that is withdrawn which is given from 35 to 45.

d) From 46 to 55 is the उपसंहार or the conclusion of this teaching, wherein Lord कृष्ण points out that अर्जुन you had the rare opportunity of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् because of your भक्ति. So thus भक्ति as a साधन for evolution is pointed out. What evolution? From एकरूप दर्शनम् to अनेकरूप दर्शनम् to अरूप दर्शनम्, for all these three levels भक्ति is an important साधन. And what type of भक्ति? That is also very important. A भक्ति which भगवान् is not a means for worldly ends, but भगवान् is an end-in-itself, which means a person should have वैराग्यम्. So only when वैराग्यम् increases the भक्ति becomes the अनन्य भक्ति, अव्यभिचारिणी भक्ति: it becomes. Therefore कृष्ण said

ज्ञातुं द्रष्टुं च तत्त्वेन प्रवेष्टुं च परन्तप ॥ ११-५४॥

And then He concludes the whole thing in the last verse which is very beautiful,

मत्कर्मकृन्मत्परमो मद्भक्तः सङ्गवर्जितः ।

So wherein Lord कृष्ण says initially you confine to एकरूप भक्ति and सकाम भक्ति, which is OK. Nobody can think भगवान् is the end initially, end means the goal initially, because we have got so many other local goals, so many agendas, big list we have. Therefore भगवान् says initially you can have worldly goals, use भगवान् as a means to achieve those goals, nothing wrong, it is called सकाम भक्ति, perfectly OK. And let the Lord be also a personal God, have an इष्ट देवता, it is OK. And then gradually you will get विवेक, then you will know the ephemerality of the worldly goal, once you know the limitation, God will become the end, then एकरूप भक्ति also will gradually become अनेकरूप भक्ति and ultimately you will attain Me. Thus by the glorification of भक्ति, कृष्ण concludes and the benefit of this विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is very high, we get several benefits of this विश्वरूप appreciation. Some of them I will point out. This is the benefit of both विभूतियोग as well as the विश्वरूपदर्शनयोग.

i) The first advantage of विश्वरूप appreciation is द्वेष परिहारः. We do not hate anything in the creation, because everything is part of the Lord only. So I don't divide the world into राग विषय and द्वेष विषय, everything has got its place, including a cockroach, including a mosquito, even poison has got its role to play and therefore द्वेष becomes lesser and lesser.

ii) Then the next benefit is अमानित्वम्. Once I know everything is Lord, any glory in any part of the world belongs to the Lord alone, therefore if I enjoy any faculty, any excellence in me, in music or dance or knowledge or intelligence or beauty, I don't claim it as mine, all of them belongs to the Lord. And therefore freedom from conceit, Self-conceit or humility is the benefit of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्.

iii) And then the next benefit is I look upon everything as sacred. There is no secular, sacred division, for a विश्वरूप द्रष्टा, there is nothing called secular, everything is sacred. Therefore when he gets up in the early morning,

समुद्र वसने देवि पर्वतस्तनमण्डले ।

विष्णुपतिं नमस्तुभ्यम् पादस्पर्शम् क्षमस्व मे ॥

The earth is also भूमादेवी, I should revere and then I take water and see

आपो वा इदं सर्वम् विश्वा भूतान्यापः प्राणा वा आपः पशव आपो

Water is Lord. Then I light the flame, the lamp, अग्नि is Lord. Then नमो ब्रह्मणे नमस्ते वायो, वायु is Lord, आकाश also:

ॐ प्राच्यै दिशे नमः ॐ दक्षिणायै दिशे नमः ॐ प्रतीच्यै दिशे नमः ॐ उदीच्यै दिशे नमः

ॐ ऊर्ध्वाय नमः ॐ अधराय नमः ॐ अन्तरिक्षाय नमः ॐ भूम्यै नमः

In सन्ध्यावन्दनम् all the directions are worshipped, that means nature itself is पूज्यम्, which is sacred or holy. So सर्वत्र पूज्यत्व भावना.

iv) And then the next benefit of विश्वरूप भावना is I have respect for all forms of worship, all forms of God. I may be attracted to one form of Lord, I may have विष्णु as my इष्ट देवता, but I know that any form is Lord's form, therefore I don't look down upon शिव, I don't compare one form or the other, all forms are OK. Therefore all religions also are OK for me, सर्व-मत-सम भावः.

v) And finally, the benefit of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is the expansion of the mind. The narrowness of the mind, the shortsighted of the mind will go away, because I appreciate the totality. That is why in सन्ध्यावन्दनम् also:

आदित्यम् तर्पयामि । सोमम् तर्पयामि । अङ्गारकम् तर्पयामि । बुधम् तर्पयामि ।...

Remember the planets, remember the Sun, remember the moon. Therefore the totality the more I see the more my mind expands. Thus चित्त विशालता. These are the benefits of विश्वरूपदर्शनम्.

अथ द्वादशोऽध्यायः । भक्तियोगः ।

ॐ सदाशिव समारम्भाम् शङ्कराचार्य मध्यमाम् अरमदाचार्य पर्यन्ताम्
वन्दे गुरु परम्पराम् ॐ ॥

Now we will take up the 12th chapter of the गीता, a small chapter consisting of only twenty verses but a very significant chapter which gives a comprehensive picture of entire वैदिक teaching. So 12th chapter is the essence of the वेदs, वेद सार is contained in this portion. And in this chapter the first part deals with the topic of भक्तियोगः as a means of मोक्ष. And by way of discussing this topic, the 12th chapter removes many confusions regarding भक्तियोगः. And this is discussed up to 12th verse of this chapter and then in the 2nd part beginning from the 13th up to 20th भक्तियोगफलम्, namely मोक्ष is talked about, thus भक्तियोगः and भक्तियोगफलम् these are the two topic discussed and before entering into the actual verses, I will like to give you a bird's eye-view of भक्तियोगः which is discussed in this chapter. What we come to know by the study of this chapter is that भक्तियोगः is not a particular साधन. It is not a particular distinct साधन but it is the name of the entire range of spiritual साधनs culminating in मोक्ष. So भक्तियोगः is not a साधन but it is a group of spiritual साधनs and these spiritual साधनs are three in number which are discussed in the वेदs. And भगवद्गीता being the essence of the वेदs, the three साधनs of the वेद alone are given in this chapter and those three साधनs are कर्मयोगः, then उपासनायोगः and ज्ञानयोगः. In fact, in the वेदs and in the उपनिषत्s the word भक्ति is practically not used at all. So this वैदिक कर्मयोग plus उपासना plus ज्ञानयोग all these three put together is renamed as भक्तियोगः and why do we name these three साधनs as भक्तियोगः? Because कृष्ण feels all these three levels of साधन should be practiced only in the atmosphere of ईश्वर भक्ति. Without ईश्वर भक्ति these three साधनs cannot be called साधनs at all. So it is in the atmosphere of ईश्वर भक्ति that these exercises become योग. And therefore everyone is called भक्तियोगः. Therefore if you have to differentiate, we can say भक्तियोगः level 1, भक्तियोगः level 2 and भक्तियोगः level 3.

- Level 1 is कर्मयोग लक्षण भक्तियोगः,
- Level 2 is उपासनायोग लक्षण भक्तियोगः, लक्षण means in the form of and
- Level 3 is ज्ञानयोग लक्षण भक्तियोगः.

And for the sake of the benefit of all seekers, these three levels of साधन itself कृष्ण subdivides into five levels. Because sometimes, certain staircases you will find that there are two steep, some olden staircases you find that they are very big, then what do you do, you make into two. So that everybody can walk up, similarly, कृष्ण subdivides these three levels themselves into five. And how does कृष्ण divides?

- i) कर्मयोग itself is subdivided into first level of कर्मयोग and the second level of कर्मयोग, कर्मयोग level 1, कर्मयोग level 2.
- ii) Similarly, उपासनायोग itself is subdivided into two levels, उपासनायोग level 1 and उपासनायोग level 2. So 2+2 is four.
- iii) And ज्ञानयोग is not divided into two, it is only one level.

Thus we have 2 + 2 + one is 5.

Now the next question is: what is the difference between कर्मयोग level 1 and कर्मयोग level 2?

- i) In कर्मयोग level one, कृष्ण wants to accommodate all materialistic people who are not really interested in मोक्ष, who are not really interested in serving the society, utterly selfish materialistic people also कृष्ण wants to accommodate. And कृष्ण says: Let the materialistic selfish people follow or pursue their worldly desires, they need not give up their worldly desires, because suppression of desires is a dangerous thing. Because when a person suppresses a desires the mind continues fantasizing the fulfillment of those desires. And then gradually they mount up like a volcano and then later a person can completely go astray and therefore the वेदs as well as कृष्ण says that even if you are not interested in भगवान्, doesn't matter, even if you are not interested in मोक्ष, doesn't matter, you might be interested in अर्थ and काम, means what money and entertainment, कृष्ण says continue and still you can be a कर्मयोगि, a spiritual साधक provided you follow one or two conditions. The first condition is make sure that you fulfill your worldly materialistic desires, selfish desires only by legitimate methods, don't do अक्रमम्. That is condition No.1.

ii) And the second and more important condition is when you pursue your worldly pleasures, desires and you succeed and get them, before you enjoy those फलम्s, those pleasures, don't claim them as your accomplishments, look upon them as gift from the Lord, ईश्वरस्य प्रसादः. Start there, whether you buy a house or car or you buy a new dress, anything you want to get, you get it, but before enjoying them, even the food that you eat don't name it as your accomplishment, take it as ईश्वर प्रसाद. And when you buy a new house also, it is your desire to buy the house and you want to enjoy the benefit of the house, but कृष्ण makes only one request, look upon the house as the temple of God. And imagine that you are living in the temple which is a gift from the Lord, कृष्ण प्रसादः. राम प्रसादः, even children are named राम प्रसाद, etc., means what: look upon even your children, not as your children but as a gift from the Lord. Thus this level of कर्मयोग can be defined as प्रसाद बुद्ध्या सकाम कर्म अनुष्ठानम्. You may follow काम्य कर्मs, you may not do निष्काम कर्मs, you may not do परोपकाराय कर्मs, doesn't matter, even if you do it for yourself enjoy it as ईश्वर प्रसाद.

So what is the first level of कर्मयोग, प्रसाद भावनया सकाम कर्म अनुष्ठानम्, सकाम कर्म means what: selfish activities for my own benefit. Then what will happen? If I continue to accept everything as ईश्वर प्रसाद, because of the very attitude the mind becomes purer and purer. And as the mind becomes purer and purer, I begin to question: Can I spend my entire life for my own personal benefit? Shouldn't I contribute something to the world? So this kind of questions gradually comes which is an indication of purity, desire for पर उपकार. In सकाम कर्म I have a desire only for taking, in निष्काम कर्म I develop a desire for giving also. Life is not mere taking, life is giving also. Previously I measure my success in terms of how much I have taken. Now my mind changes, I ask the question how much I have given, success is not proportional to taking, success is directly proportional to giving,

कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

This is the difference between materialistic approach and spiritual approach. In materialistic approach, success is directly proportional to acquisition. In spiritual approach, success is directly proportional to sharing or त्याग and therefore in the second level of कर्मयोग, the सकाम कर्म will become lesser and lesser, selfish attitude becomes lesser and lesser, my awareness and consideration of other people becomes more and more. And therefore naturally परोपकार कर्माणि, निष्काम कर्माणि or पञ्च महायज्ञ रूप कर्माणि, I find time. Previously selfish activities were occupying the whole time, I never had time for any contribution. Now I find that I do fulfill my selfish desires, but I should also find time for some contribution or other. And even when I find time for giving, giving need not be all the time money alone, remember, giving time, giving nice words, consoling words to others, giving knowledge to others, all these are giving and when I give to others, not with arrogance, the giving is done as ईश्वर अर्पण रूपेण. Therefore the second level of कर्मयोग is ईश्वर अर्पण भावनया निष्काम कर्म अनुष्ठानम्, परा उपकार अनुष्ठानम्. So in the first level I am very selfish, in the second level, selfishness has come down. In first level, I have a very narrow mind, in the second level, I am aware of the need of others' also and these two levels together is called कर्मयोग. So प्रसाद भावनया सकाम कर्म अनुष्ठानम्, then ईश्वरार्पण भावनया निष्काम कर्म अनुष्ठानम्. In the first level of कर्मयोग will give purity, the second level of कर्मयोग will give purity at a faster rate, because in सकाम कर्म purity is in trickles, because in निष्काम कर्म purity is more. That is why it is said परोपकार पुण्याय पापाय परपीडनम् and once a person has gone through these two levels of कर्मयोग, he is ready to graduate to the third level.

iii) The third level is उपासनायोग, which means ईश्वर ध्यानम्, meditation upon ईश्वर, that too सगुण ईश्वर ध्यानम्. And why do we prescribe this साधन as the next stage? कर्मयोग is very important for the purity of mind, for spiritual elevation, कर्मयोग is a must. And therefore कर्मयोग is extremely useful, but it has got certain disadvantages also, which has to be neutralized. What is that, when a person is a कर्मयोगि, he is busy involved in either सकाम कर्म, if he is in the first level or he is busy in निष्काम कर्म. One is busy serving himself, another is busy serving the society, both are busy. And in both levels of कर्म, whether it is सकाम or निष्काम, a person is extrovert in nature, is more and more world-oriented, is more and more बहिर्मुखः and this बहिर्मुखत्वम् or extrovertedness is an obstacle for ज्ञानयोग. Because ज्ञानयोग involves enquiring into the inner Self as we saw yesterday, यो वेद निहितम् गुहाया परमे व्योमेन् । Self-enquiry or पञ्चकोश विवेक etc., requires not an extrovert mind, it requires a mind which is turned towards oneself. पराञ्चि खानि व्यतृणत् स्वयंभूस्तस्मात्पराङ् पश्यति नान्तरात्मन् । extroverted people will miss Self-knowledge. And therefore उपासना is ईश्वर ध्यानम्. So in उपासना I turn my attention inwards and I invoke the Lord in my heart, which means I train my mind towards my own inner nature, which is a very very important training required and without that training a person can never come to ब्रह्मज्ञानम्. And therefore comes the third level of उपासनाम् and कृष्ण divides this meditation itself into two types: one is iv) And once a person has practiced this sufficiently, कृष्ण asks us to replace this एकरूप ईश्वर with अनेकरूप, as we have seen in the 11th chapter, कृष्ण is not a person located in one place. If भगवान् is looked upon as a person located in one place, that भगवान् also will be limited, subject to जन्म, subject to मरणम्, etc. Therefore for initial meditation purposes, we can have एकरूप, but we have to expand our mind. First उपासनाम् helps in focusing, the next उपासनाम् helps in expanding the mind. And therefore the first level of उपासनाम् is एकरूप ईश्वर ध्यानम् and the next level is अनेकरूप or विश्वरूप ईश्वर ध्यानम्. And both of them come under सगुण ईश्वर ध्यानम् only, सगुण means with attributes or properties. एकरूप ईश्वर also has attributes, विश्वरूप ईश्वर also has got innumerable attributes. So thus we have got two levels of कर्मयोग, two levels of उपासना.

v) And Once a person has gone through all these four levels, this person has got ज्ञानयोग्यता, he is eligible to enter the fifth and final level which is ज्ञानयोगः, which is enquiry into निर्गुण ईश्वर, otherwise known as ब्रह्मन्, ब्रह्मन् is none other than ईश्वर in his higher nature. In the 7th chapter it was called परा प्रकृति, परा प्रकृति रूप अरूप ईश्वर enquiry which consists of वेदान्त श्रवणम्, वेदान्त मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्.

a) श्रवणम् meaning consistent and systematic study of the Upanishadic scriptures which deal with निर्गुण ईश्वर. And not only I study that, the culmination of that study should be that the निर्गुण ईश्वर is non-different from my own higher nature - अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. So when I come to निर्गुण level, the difference between ईश्वर and the जीव disappears. At सगुण level, the difference is maintained. When I come to निर्गुण level, अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि.

b) And having gained this knowledge I go to मननम् to remove all the doubts in accepting this knowledge. Thus all the intellectual obstacles in the form of doubts are removed which is called मननम्, which is also part of ज्ञानयोग only.

c) And finally comes निदिध्यासनम्, which is the removal of all the emotional obstacles, all the psychological traumas that I have gone through before, various problems we have gone through in our life, they all remain in our inner heart, which do not allow us to enjoy the benefit of knowledge. All the psychological hang ups should be removed which is called निदिध्यासनम्.

श्रवणम् plus मननम् plus निदिध्यासनम् put together is called ज्ञानयोगः, not in सगुण form but in His निर्गुण form. In fact, in 'His' word will not come, because in निर्गुण there is no male or female:

नासन्न सन्न सदसन्न महसन्नचाणु न स्त्री पुमान्न च नपुंसकमेकबीजम् । ... ॥ धन्याष्टकम् ६ ॥

अशब्दम् अस्पर्शम् अरूपम् अव्ययम् तथा अरसम् नित्यम् अगन्धवत् च
यत् । ... ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-३-१५ ॥

No form, no color, no smell, no taste, no touch. This ज्ञानयोग is the fifth and final level of साधन and all the five levels put together is called भक्तियोगः.

Therefore never ask the question do you follow भक्तियोगः or ज्ञानयोग. Remember ज्ञानयोग is also a level of भक्तियोगः, उपासना is also a level of भक्तियोगः, कर्मयोग is also a level of भक्तियोगः. Everyone has to go through all the five levels, because nobody is born with a desire for God from birth. We are all born with so many worldly desires. So, we have to start with सकाम कर्म, that is why वेद itself is full of many सकाम कर्मs. वेद never says we should work for मोक्ष in the beginning itself. He says you work for पुत्र, you work for money, पुत्रकामेष्टि याग and याग for money, याग for health, all these are what, worldly desires, start with सकाम कर्म and go through all the stages and gain the knowledge, अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि, which is the culmination of भक्तियोगः. This is the topic of the first twelve verses.

And then in the last 8 verses, कृष्ण talks about the nature of a person, the character of a person who had gone through all these five stages, successfully and we call such a person, परा भक्त or पर भक्तः, who is in अद्वैतम्, who is a ज्ञानि, who has discovered अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि, such a ज्ञानि is called पर भक्तः and कृष्ण clearly says this पर भक्त alone is my dearest devotee. And the other people are dear people or dearer people but the dearest one is only the निर्गुण भक्त because there is no distance between Me and him. He has become one with Me and I have become one with him which कृष्ण said in the 7th chapter, ज्ञानि तु आत्मैव मे मतम्, a ज्ञानि doesn't stand even separate from me. So this पर भक्त लक्षणानि, the characteristic of पर भक्त is the final topic. With this background we will enter into the chapter proper.

Verse No .01

अथ द्वादशोऽध्यायः ।

अर्जुन उवाच ।

एवं सततयुक्ता ये भक्तास्त्वां पर्युपासते ।

ये चाप्यक्षरमव्यक्तं तेषां के योगवित्तमाः ॥ १२-१॥

एवम् सतत-युक्ताः ये भक्ताः त्वाम् पर्युपासते ।

ये च अपि अक्षरम् अव्यक्तम् तेषाम् के योग-वित्तमाः ॥ १२-१॥

(हे भगवन्) एवम् सतत-युक्ताः ये भक्ताः त्वाम् पर्युपासते, ये च अपि अव्यक्तम् अक्षरम् (पर्युपासते) तेषाम् (मध्ये) के योग-वित्तमाः (सन्ति)?

So the chapter begins with a question from अर्जुन based on the previous teaching. Such a question is called अनुप्रश्नः, प्रश्नः means an independent question, अनुप्रश्नः means a question based on previous teaching. And in this question अर्जुन asks: Is सगुण भक्त superior or is निर्गुण भक्त superior? So the one who is associated with सगुण ईश्वर and the one who is committed to निर्गुण ईश्वर, between these two, which one is superior? A very important question! First he describes सगुण भक्त in the first line, भक्ताः त्वाम् पर्युपासते – there are certain सगुण भक्तs who regularly meditate upon सगुण ईश्वरः and how do they meditate, सतत-युक्ताः – with constant commitment, sincerely, steadfastly, there are some people who meditate upon सगुण ईश्वर and what type of सगुण ईश्वर. Because सगुण ईश्वर of two types, do you remember, एकरूप सगुण ईश्वर or अनेकरूप सगुण ईश्वर, which one अर्जुन is referring to, एवम् – a सगुण ईश्वर as described in the previous chapter. So एवम् means एकादश अध्याये उक्त प्रकारेण and in the 11th chapter, which ईश्वर was talked about, it is विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, अनेकरूप ईश्वरः, i.e., the Lord as the entire cosmos itself, as described in the पुरुषसूक्तम्, as described in रुद्रम्, रुद्र is श्रीरुद्रम् which is talking about विश्वरूप ईश्वर, पुरुषसूक्तम् is talking about विश्वरूप ईश्वर only. Therefore एवम् means एकादश अध्याये उक्त प्रकारेण केचन भक्ताः विश्वरूप सगुण ईश्वरम् उपासते, this is one group of people. And then अर्जुन introduces the निर्गुण भक्तs in the next line, ये च अपि – there are some other people what do they do, अव्यक्तम् अक्षरम् पर्युपासते, पर्युपासते you have to supply from the first line, the verb is not given, we have to supply ये च अपि अक्षरम् अव्यक्तम् पर्युपासते, they are meditating upon अक्षर ईश्वरः. And who is अक्षर ईश्वरः? If you remember the 8th chapter, अक्षरम् ब्रह्म परमम् स्वभावः अध्यात्मम् उच्यते, परम् ब्रह्म is called अक्षर ईश्वर and परम् ब्रह्म is free from all attributes. So अक्षरम् means निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म and because this अक्षर ईश्वर is निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, अव्यक्तम्, that attributeless ईश्वर is not perceptible to any sense organ, because if the Lord doesn't have any form eyes cannot see, if there is no sound, no flute and all, music is not there, therefore you cannot hear, you cannot smell तुलसी माला, चन्दन etc., because body itself is not there, where is माला, therefore no smell, no touch, you cannot touch that निर्गुण ईश्वर. In short not objectifiable through any one of the sense organs, therefore अव्यक्तम् means सर्व इन्द्रिय अगोचरम्. And this निर्गुणम् अव्यक्तम् ब्रह्म some people meditate upon. If निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म is not objectifiable then how can they meditate upon? There is only one way of meditation, an unobjectifiable ब्रह्मन् can be meditated only in one thing, quiz question: 'Who Will Become A Millionaire!' How can you meditate unobjectifiable ब्रह्मन्, there is only method, to see the unobjectifiable ब्रह्मन् as the subject, I, the meditator. So निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म उपासना is a meditation upon the meditator. It is आत्मध्यानम् alone. Thus there are some people who are meditating upon निर्गुण ब्रह्म. So this is the second clue and अर्जुन's question is what: who is superior, तेषाम् तयोर्मध्ये (निर्धारणे षष्ठी), between these two groups of people, के योग-वित्तमाः, सगुण ध्याता is superior or निर्गुण ध्याता is superior, ध्याता means what: meditator and indirectly the question means सगुण ब्रह्म is superior or सगुण ईश्वर is superior or निर्गुण ईश्वर is superior, what a question! Now कृष्ण has to answer this which He is doing in the following verses:

Verse No .02

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

मय्यावेश्य मनो ये मां नित्ययुक्ता उपासते ।

श्रद्धया परयोपेताः ते मे युक्ततमा मताः ॥ १२-२॥

मयि आवेश्य मनः ये माम् नित्य-युक्ताः उपासते ।

श्रद्धया परया उपेताः ते मे युक्ततमाः मताः ॥ १२-२॥

(हे अर्जुन!) मयि मनः आवेश्य नित्य-युक्ताः (सन्तः) ये परया श्रद्धया उपेताः माम् उपासते, ते युक्ततमाः मे मताः ।

So what is the answer? Is सगुण भक्ति superior or is निर्गुण भक्ति superior? Generally our tendency will be to vote for सगुण भक्ति, because in सगुण भक्ति alone there is variety, there is beauty, अधरम् मधुरम् वदनम् मधुरम् नयनम् मधुरम् all these are there. Who will like a निर्गुण ईश्वर, so no sound, no form, no touch, no taste, like bland food, no sweet, no pungent, no chilli, which is insipid, like that who will like that निर्गुण ईश्वर. In fact, many philosophers say निर्गुण ईश्वर doesn't exist, they outrightly negate it and even among those who accept it, they say, many people say it is not worth knowing or teaching, it is useless. Now what is the real answer? The real answer is that the question is wrong. The real answer is that the question is wrong and for a wrong question, there is no right answer. So how many kilometers is the weight of this clip, let me see, how many centimeters is the weight of this clip? You will look at me, because you cannot answer that question, because centimeter has nothing to do with weight, centigram is OK, centimeter refers to distance. So therefore whenever you try to compare two things to find out which is superior, you remember that comparison comes only when you have to choose between two. The very question of comparison comes only when you have to choose between two things, you ask the question whether this is better or that is better, so that you can choose the better one and the choice can come, very carefully understand, choice can come only between two similar things, there is no question of choice between two dissimilar things. I will explain it, don't worry. When there are two similars there is a choice and when I have to choose the question will come which one is better. Suppose you want to drink something, somebody has come as a guest, so they ask the question, what will you drink, do you want coffee or tea or milk or so many things are there, among different drinks you can have comparison and you can choose one of them. So the choice is among various drinks or you can have choice with regard to the container, people ask, स्वामिजि whether you want in glass or cup or tumbler. So among various containers, you can ask which one you would like and I can choose one of them. Now suppose somebody asks, स्वामिजि do you want tumbler or drink? What can you answer, there is no choice between the container and the content. Similarly, between two roads, you can have comparison, between two destinations you can have comparison but you can never compare between road and destination, do you want road or destination? What will you answer, it is not right; between two types of pants you can have comparison, between two types of shirts you can have comparison. Do you want to put on pant or shirt? What will you answer? Therefore remember, comparison is only among similars and सगुण भक्ति and निर्गुण भक्ति can never be compared because one is the means and the other is the end, सगुण भक्ति is the साधनम्, the means, the stepping stone and only through सगुण भक्ति one has to reach निर्गुण भक्ति which is अद्वैतम्; सगुण भक्ति is द्वैतम्, निर्गुण भक्ति is अद्वैतम्; सगुण भक्ति is भेदः, भेदः means what: difference, निर्गुण भक्ति is अभेदः, one is means the other is end. Therefore you do not have a choice between them. So everyone has to go through सगुण भक्ति and everyone has to end in the discovery of निर्गुण भक्ति, which is अभेद अद्वैत ज्ञानम्. Without सगुण भक्ति, निर्गुण भक्ति is impossible and without निर्गुण भक्ति, सगुण भक्ति is incomplete, without सगुण भक्ति, निर्गुण भक्ति is impossible and without निर्गुण भक्ति, सगुण भक्ति is incomplete. Therefore everyone has to go through सगुण भक्ति come to निर्गुण भक्ति which is the culmination of साधन. But कृष्ण doesn't want to tell अर्जुन that the question is wrong, because the student will feel insulted, humiliated, already the student has got many complexes, generally whenever they ask the question, they always give an introduction - स्वामिजि the question may be silly. Has one to say that to understand! OK, just joke, any question appears silly after you know the answer. But until you know the answer, question is extremely important and relevant, therefore the student has the problem, teacher doesn't want to add insult to injury and therefore कृष्ण doesn't say you are wrong and but he gives an intelligent answer. He says सगुण भक्तः are superior, निर्गुण भक्तः attain Me. It is कृष्ण's mischief, it is not only during childhood days, even in गीता in the philosophical text also He continues His mischief. So the idea is there is no question of choice. And therefore He says, सगुण भक्तः is indeed great so that everyone will take to सगुण भक्ति in the beginning. Once a person has sufficiently practiced he can be slowly absorbed into, sucked into निर्गुण भक्ति, which is otherwise ज्ञानम्, the details we will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 12, VERSES 02-05

The 12th chapter begins with a question from अर्जुन in which अर्जुन asks whether सगुण ध्यानम् is superior or निर्गुण ध्यानम् is superior. सगुण ध्यानम् means meditation upon the Lord with various attributes, as described in the ध्यान श्लोक,

मेघश्यामम् पीतकौशेयवासम् श्रीवत्साङ्कम् कौस्तुभोद्भासिताङ्गम् । ॥

All these descriptions are called गुण and सगुण ध्यानम् means meditation upon the Lord with various features. Whereas निर्गुण ध्यानम् upon the Lord who is absolutely free from all features, featureless ईश्वरः, अशब्दम्, अस्पर्शम्, अरूपम्, अरसम्, अगन्धम्. This is निर्गुण ध्यानम्. Between these two which one is superior? And between the two sets of people who are greater devotees? And this question came in the first verse, for which कृष्ण gave the answer and I introduced the answer in the last class. We cannot give an answer to this question because the question itself is wrong. The question of which is superior comes only when you have to choose one of the two. Wherever choice is there comparison is inevitable and where there is no choice there is no question of comparison. Between सगुण ध्यानम् and निर्गुण ध्यानम् according to कृष्ण, there is no question of comparison at all because there is no choice. What do you mean by there is no choice? What we mean is everyone has to necessarily go through both, everyone has to necessarily go through both, because both साधनसः have to contribute its own benefit to the seeker. It is like different types of dishes what we consume, one dish gives carbohydrates and another gives proteins and therefore we have to consume different, because each one helps the body in its own unique way. Similarly, what सगुण ध्यानम् can give, निर्गुण ध्यानम् cannot give and what निर्गुण ध्यानम् gives सगुण ध्यानम् cannot and therefore both are compulsory. And once you say both of them are compulsory, how are we to practice that? That कृष्ण himself will clarify later. They cannot be simultaneously practiced and therefore they have to be practiced one graded manner, just like going to primary school and secondary school and college, if you have to become a graduate, should I go to the primary school or college? What answer you will give, you will have through primary school, you have to qualify yourselves to enter the college and then you have to go through the college to become a graduate. Therefore both are required, schools as well as colleges. Ok, if both are required then I will go to both simultaneously, morning to school and evening to college. So we had one ब्रह्मचारि in our आश्रम and he used to attend three levels of संस्कृत classes at the same time, we had one lower level, where alphabet is taught, we had one medium level where Antoine, Bhandarkar etc., was taught and then a higher level where पाणिनि सूत्राः was taught, he will sit in all the three. You cannot do, they have to be in a graded manner and once you know that they are to be in a graded order, what should be the order. First I will go to college and then to school you cannot say, it should be in a proper order. Therefore, सगुण ध्यानम् prepares for the निर्गुण ध्यानम्, सगुण ध्यानम् chastens the mind for निर्गुण ध्यानम् and therefore everyone has to start with सगुण, grow and then come to निर्गुण and be free. And therefore अर्जुन don't ask which is better, your question is wrong. As I said in the last class, कृष्ण doesn't want to say you are wrong, because already शिष्य has lot of inferiority complex and गुरु doesn't want to add. And therefore what does he do, nicely he says सगुण ध्यान कर्ताः are superior, निर्गुण ध्यान कर्ताः will reach Me. So, therefore everyone is satisfied. Therefore He says in the second verse, मयि आवेश्य मनः ये माम् उपासते – there are some people who practice meditation upon Me, माम् उपासते and what type of माम्, we have to supply, सगुणम् माम् – the सगुण कृष्ण either in the form of एकरूप कृष्ण, as a personal God or the विश्वरूप कृष्ण, as described in the 11th chapter, remember विश्वरूप ईश्वर is also सगुण ईश्वर only. Thus there are some people who meditate upon Me in सगुण form, with attributes, how, मयि आवेश्य – focusing their mind upon Me, fixing their mind upon Me, there are some people who practice सगुण कृष्ण ध्यानम्. And they are not, they do not practice in fits and starts, on inspiration they follow one day and thereafter they forget like in New Year resolutions, it is not, नित्य-युक्ताः – ever steadfast, ever committed, consistently, without fail, so नित्य-युक्ताः means steadfastly, some people practice सगुण ईश्वर ध्यानम् and they are endowed with परया श्रद्धया उपेताः – they are endowed with intense faith in Me. Because the benefit of सगुण ध्यानम् is not in the material plane, God does not promise any material benefit, the benefit presented is inner growth, expansion of mind, purity of mind, sensitivity of mind, refinement of mind, they are all non-tangible, non-quantifiable results and therefore we do not see the result physically. Therefore we have to have faith in that result and therefore कृष्ण says: with intense faith that they will transform my inner personality, this meditation will transform my inner personality with the श्रद्धा, some people practice सगुण ध्यानम्. And then कृष्ण says ते मे युक्ततमाः मताः – so those people who practice such a सगुण ध्यानम् they are indeed superior, they are indeed great people. So thus सगुण people have been glorified now. Now कृष्ण will confuse you in the next verses saying that निर्गुण people reach Me. So in short, the idea is don't compare. Continuing;

ये त्वक्षरमनिर्देश्यमव्यक्तं पर्युपासते ।

सर्वत्रगमचिन्त्यं च कूटस्थमचलं ध्रुवम् ॥ १२-३॥

ये तु अक्षरम् अनिर्देश्यम् अव्यक्तम् पर्युपासते ।

सर्वत्रगम् अचिन्त्यम् च कूटस्थम् अचलम् ध्रुवम् ॥ १२-३॥

Whereas there are some other people who follow निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम्, otherwise called निर्गुण ब्रह्म ध्यानम्, as a part of ज्ञानयोग साधन and this ज्ञानयोग alone I said in my introduction as the fifth and highest stage of भक्तियोगः. Therefore in these three verses, कृष्ण is introducing ज्ञानयोग साधन which is the practice of निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम्. निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम् is an integral part of ज्ञानयोग साधन. And in technical language this निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम् is called निदिध्यासनम्. So thus there are some people who practice निदिध्यासनम् which is meditating upon my highest nature. So ये तु अक्षरम् पर्युपासते – there some others who meditate upon अक्षरम्, अक्षरम् means the absolute ब्रह्म, अक्षरम् ब्रह्म परमम्, the निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म. And what is the description of निर्गुण ईश्वर? Several words कृष्ण uses, all these are the Upanishadic words, each word is a significant word, I will rearrange the verse for the sake of communication. First description we will take up is अव्यक्तम्. निर्गुण ईश्वर, ईश्वर in His highest form or highest nature is अव्यक्तः, अव्यक्तः means सर्व इन्द्रिय अगोचरः, not perceptible to any sense organ. And we have five sense organs and each sense organ is capable of perceiving one one attribute, one sense organ perceives शब्द - the sound, another perceives स्पर्श - the touch, another perceives the रूपम् - the form and color, another perceives रस - the taste and the fifth one perceives गन्ध - the smell. Thus we have five sense organs objectifying five-fold attributes - शब्द स्पर्श रूप रस गन्धः. In fact, the whole universe, physical universe is nothing but a blend of शब्द स्पर्श रूप रस गन्धः. That is why it is called प्रपञ्चः, प्रपञ्चः means what? The world consisting of five segments in the form of शब्द स्पर्श रूप रस गन्धः and that is why you close the five sense organs, the whole segmented world disappears. And our निर्गुण कृष्ण ईश्वर doesn't have all the five attributes. Therefore he is called what अव्यक्तम्. That means what: the original कृष्ण cannot be seen, original कृष्ण cannot be heard, smelt, tasted or touched. So what about this अधरम् मधुरम्, वदनम् मधुरम् and all, so beautiful lipped कृष्ण, what about that कृष्ण, according to कृष्ण himself, they are all non-original कृष्णs, they are अपरा प्रकृतिः, they are माया मानुष वेष. You start with माया वेषः, but you have to transcend the माया वेष. And there are some people who meditate upon अव्यक्तम्, OK. There are many things which cannot be perceived by the sense organs but they can be conceived by the mind, there are so many emotions, love, anger, happiness, etc., they are not perceptible, many mathematical scientific concepts and laws, you don't see, but they are ideas. Ideas cannot be perceived by the sense organs, but they can be conceived by the mind, that is why they are called concepts. OK, can you say निर्गुण कृष्ण can be conceived by the mind? कृष्ण puts another bomb-shell, अविन्यम् – I cannot be conceived nor be delivered; if conceived delivery is assured. Therefore I am not one of the concepts of the mind, it is not a mathematical theorem or idea, therefore I am unobjectifiable by your mind also, अविन्यम्, inconceivable. In संस्कृत, मनो अगोचरम्. First one is what, इन्द्रिय अगोचरम्, now मनो अगोचरम्. And if the Lord cannot be perceived or conceived how can you talk about that Lord, because words are sound symbols used to communicate the objects which are either perceived by you or conceived by you. So you see this when this was invented for the first time, there is an object perceived and therefore for transactional purposes you want to invent a word. So you invent the word 'clip', so the word 'clip' came only a sound symbol to communicate an object which is sensorially perceived or mentally conceived. When God is, God means the निर्गुण God is neither sensorially perceived nor mentally conceived, how you can have a word to talk about that and therefore the Lord cannot be described also. Therefore, अनिर्देश्यम् – indescribable. So imperceptible, inconceivable, indescribable. So fundamental doubt will arise whether there is such a thing, is there any possibility at all of the existence of such a thing. As somebody said, it appears to be a big bloated bladder of bluff. So there are some philosophers who say that निर्गुण ब्रह्मन् doesn't exist at all, it is like the emperor's robe. So we go on the talking and the परमानन्द शिष्यs out of respect for the teacher, they nod, they nod their head, it is not possible, that is what it appears, because it is imperceptible, inconceivable and indescribable. So we may think, in fact, all put together in one word we can say: it is unobjectifiable, because these are different प्रमाणम्s. Sense organs are called प्रत्यक्ष प्रमाणम्, mental concepts are अनुमान अर्थापत्ति etc., words are शब्द प्रमाणम्, सर्व प्रमाण अगोचरम्, unobjectifiable, one technical word we use for this is: अप्रमेयम्. Therefore निर्गुण ईश्वर is अप्रमेयः. That is why in विष्णुसहस्रनाम, one of the नाम is अप्रमेयो हृषीकेशः पद्मनाभोऽमरप्रभुः । They say somebody had confusion it seems: whether it is पद्मनाभो मरप्रभुः or पद्मनाभो अमरप्रभुः? So somebody said both are correct, because in विश्वरूपदर्शनम् we have said that everything is Lord, therefore Lord is मरम् also, so पद्मनाभो अमरप्रभुः – the eternal one, पद्मनाभो मरप्रभुः – the tree also. Anyway that is a different aside point, what I want to say is: अप्रमेयः. Now once we say the Lord is unobjectifiable at all, we will conclude that such a God cannot exist and therefore कृष्ण puts another bomb-shell, He says: Do you say that निर्गुण ईश्वर is not there? I say He is everywhere, सर्वत्रगम् निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म not only exists but “He” within quotes, because for निर्गुणम्, we cannot use, He/She/It we cannot use, but we have to use some pronoun, so निर्गुण कृष्ण is everywhere. That is why when somebody wrote God is nowhere, What did he do, he put a comma, after w in nowhere, nowhere becomes now here and when you look around वेदान्त will say तत् त्वम् असि. That is secret, later. सर्वत्रगम् means all-pervading. And if that Lord is all-pervading, अचलम्, you can understand, अचलम् means what: that which doesn't move, a सगुण कृष्ण, a personal कृष्ण can move from मथुरा to द्वारका, द्वारका to battlefield, this place to that place, all are possible because सगुण ईश्वर is finite, but निर्गुण ईश्वर being formless, whatever doesn't have form is all-pervading. Because form always gives the periphery of an object. I have talked about this before I think, whether this hall is square or rectangular how will you decide, you look at the periphery. Therefore to have to form is to have a boundary, you can never talk about a form without talking about boundary. Therefore यत्र यत्र form तत्र तत्र boundary. If the Lord does not have the attribute of a form, that Lord cannot have a boundary. Therefore अकाशवत् सर्वगत, like the space the Lord has to be all-pervading and therefore just as the space cannot move from one place to another, निर्गुण कृष्ण also doesn't come and go. Then what about our षोडश उपचार पूजा, in which we invite the Lord and not only invite the Lord and feed, at the end we say: गच्छ, यथा स्थानम् प्रतिष्ठापयामि. Therefore the Lord that we worship is subject to arrival and departure, whereas the highest Lord is non-arriving, non-departing ईश्वरः. Therefore अचलम्. Thus the word सर्वत्रगम् and अचलम् indicate देश परिच्छेद रहितः, free from spatial limitation, as we saw in तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्, अनन्तम्. And then the next word we will take up is कूटस्थम्, कूटस्थम् means निर्विकारम् – free from all modifications. We have seen six modifications on the part of the physical body, do you remember, अस्ति – potentially existent, जायते – born, वर्धते – grows, विपरिणमते – metamorphoses, अपक्षीयते – declines, विनश्यति – dies. These are the six-fold modifications caused by what, काल तत्त्वम्, the time principle. So anything that exists within time, anything that is influenced by the time, with grow what, all the six-fold modification. The higher कृष्ण, the निर्गुण कृष्ण is कूटस्थः, means free from all the six modifications, निर्विकारः. In संस्कृत, काल परिच्छेद रहितः, uninfluenced by time principle. And this word is beautiful, the word कूटस्थः has several meanings, one of the meanings is this - कूटः means the anvil used by a goldsmith or an ironsmith, or any smith. This anvil is used as a support, it steadily remains and upon the anvil, this smith keeps the hot metal and when it is hot he strikes it and shapes the metal and when he is shaping the metal, that red hot metal undergoes change whereas the anvil underneath, it supports all the changes but itself remains changeless. And suppose the anvil itself is shaky, in some house that wooden pallet they use for food or पूजा and since it is made of wood during the weather change it is susceptible to mould and then you sit, you will be moving, you cannot do any job.

Therefore, if the metal should get shaped the bottom one should remain changeless, a changeless substratum is required for all the changes to happen. Violent changes happening at the family level, at the physical level, body is getting shaped in different ways, going out of shape, sometimes coming in shape, and not only the body undergoes violent changes, the mind also undergoes so many changes. And if all these changes are happening, there must be a changeless principle, which remains as the substratum not only allowing all the changes to happen, but also witnessing all the changes. The witness of the changes should not be changing. Suppose I say that the morning class students are different from evening class and evening class are students different from morning class, what do you know, that the students change but the teacher is अवस्थात्रय साक्षि. If morning class teacher is different and evening class teacher is different, I will never be able to say that the morning class students are different and evening class students are different. And therefore the knower of changes should not be subject to change. And therefore the witness, Consciousness-principle is compared to कूटः – an anvil, upon which the body-metal and the mind-metal is hammered, hammered by what, the various experiences of life, every letter you received, every phone call you get, they are all hammering on your head, when all these hammerings takes place, your body changes, your mind changes, but there is the changeless one. And therefore निर्गुण कृष्ण is called the changeless substratum which remains like an anvil, कूटवत् तिष्ठति इति कूटस्थः that which remains changeless like an anvil. And since this कृष्ण is changeless निर्विकारः, ध्रुवम्, ध्रुवम् means eternal, काल अतीतः. So thus, सर्वत्रगम् and अचलम् indicate देश अतीतः, कूटस्थः and ध्रुवम् represent काल अतीतः. These four words put together means that Lord कृष्ण is कालदेशावधिभ्याम् निर्मुक्तम् नित्यमुक्तम् नारायणीयम् of भट्टतिरि begins with this only,

सान्द्रानन्दावबोधात्मकम् अनुपमितन् कालदेशावधिभ्याम् निर्मुक्तम् ॥
नारायणीयम् १-१ ॥

And the interesting aspect there is that all-pervading Lord is in गुरुवायूर! How do you understand to resolve the contradiction? How do you resolve the contradiction, by adding “also”. The all-pervading गुरुवायूरप्पन् is in गुरुवायूर also. So कूटस्थम् अवलम् ध्रुवम्. Such a निर्गुण ब्रह्म some people meditate as a part of ज्ञानयोग, as a part of श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्. And naturally, as we hear this description we wonder how can we meditate upon such featureless ब्रह्मन्. And therefore कृष्ण says: to come to this level of meditation a person must have prepared, qualified himself. So the next question is what are those qualifications. कृष्ण mentions in the next verse.

Verse No .04

सन्नियम्येन्द्रियग्रामं सर्वत्र समबुद्धयः ।

ते प्राप्नुवन्ति मामेव सर्वभूतहिते रताः ॥ १२-४॥

सन्नियम्य इन्द्रिय-ग्रामम् सर्वत्र सम-बुद्धयः ।

ते प्राप्नुवन्ति माम् एव सर्वभूत-हिते रताः ॥ १२-४॥

ये तु सर्वभूत-हिते रताः सर्वत्र सम-बुद्धयः (सन्तः) इन्द्रिय-ग्रामम् संनियम्य, अव्यक्तम्, अचिन्त्यम्, अनिर्देश्यम्, सर्वत्रगम्, कूटस्थम्, अवलम्, ध्रुवम् अक्षरम् च पर्युपासते ते माम् एव प्राप्नुवन्ति ।

The preparatory qualifications for this निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम् are presented the उपनिषत्s very clearly and normally they are enumerated as the four-fold qualifications, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्तिः, which we have seen long long long before in तत्त्वबोध. I am not going to the details, I will just enumerate them for my satisfaction - discrimination, dispassion, discipline and desire, Four Ds. OK, Don't say I have heard only 3D. It is a different Ds. Those who have not gone through तत्त्वबोध or introduction to वेदान्त should go through them necessarily and those four-fold qualifications alone are presented in a brief manner in this particular verse.

a) So one qualification that कृष्ण emphasizes is इन्द्रिय-ग्रामम् सन्नियम्य – one has to master the extrovert sense organs, one has to master the extrovert sense organs which are the all the time wandering. And if the sense organs are wandering out it doesn't matter, they carry the mind also along with. And that is why when there is a lizard in the middle of the class, class out, because the eyes see the lizard and the mind also goes behind. And why should we master the extrovert sense organs? What is the reason? I will give you a clue here. Previously कृष्ण has described His higher nature, निर्गुण ईश्वरः as unobjectifiable one, unobjectifiable means not experienceable as an object. And if निर्गुण ईश्वर is not objectifiable and still such an ईश्वर exists, that Lord can exist only in one way. There is only one thing in the creation which is unobjectifiable. Can you guess what it is? There is only thing which exists in an unobjectifiable manner, with your eyes, powerful eyes, you can see everything except one thing, what: the eyes cannot see themselves, a very very peculiar situation. So the unobjectifiable entity is the subject I alone, the unobservable principle is the observer alone, the unexperienceable principle is the experiencer alone and therefore the higher कृष्ण is non-different from Me, the observing Consciousness. So निर्गुण ध्यानम् is आत्मध्यानम्. Meditating upon निर्गुण ईश्वर is meditating upon Myself. Myself means not the body, because body is objectifiable, we are talking about the unobjectifiable thing and therefore निर्गुण ध्यानम् is equal to आत्मध्यानम् or as दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says, meditation upon the meditator, mediator-meditation, anyway I am not going to the details, when some other occasion comes we can dwell on that topic. And since I am not objectifying anything, my sense organs cannot afford to be extrovert, a extrovert sense organs will dwell upon an objectifiable thing, whereas I have to meditate upon what, I the subject and therefore the sense organs should be the non-extrovert. If you remember the 6th chapter of the गीता, we have talked about meditation, where कृष्ण said you withdraw all the sense organs and what should you do with the eyes, do you remember, He said, let your eyes be focused on the tip of your nose, not nose ध्यानम्, so the focus on the tip of the nose means let it not focus on any external object and therefore इन्द्रिय निग्रहः is one qualification required. इन्द्रिय-ग्रामम्, ग्राम means not village here, ग्राम means समूहम्, the group, village is called ग्राम because it is a group of houses, any group is ग्रामम्. So इन्द्रिय-ग्रामम् means the group of five sense organs.

b) And next qualification is सर्वत्र सम-बुद्धयः – so maintaining equanimity under all circumstances, सम-बुद्धिः means an equanimous mind, a balanced mind, a poised mind, which means a mind which does not have strong राग-द्वेष, if there is a strong attachment, the mind will run after that object. If there is a strong hatred also, the mind will run after, for cursing. So whenever there is strong राग or द्वेष mind will not have balance, such a mind cannot meditate and therefore may you reduce the intensity of राग-द्वेष, राग means attachment, द्वेष means aversion, likes and dislikes. This is the second qualification.

c) Then the third qualification mentioned here is सर्व-भूत-हिते रताः – being committed to the well being of all the creatures, all the living beings, universal love, interest in the well being of the entire universe, that means not a narrow mind but an expanded mind, that is why our prayers are so beautiful, सर्वे भवन्तु सुखिनः, there the pronoun alone is used, सर्वे मनुष्यः is not said, सर्वे हिन्दवाः (hindus) is not said, सर्वे Indians not said, सर्वे means what all creatures,

तच्छम् योरावृणीमहे । गातुम् यज्ञाय । गातुम् यज्ञपतये । दैवी स्वस्तिरस्तु नः ।

स्वस्तिर्मानुषेभ्यः । ऊर्ध्वम् जिगातु भेषजम् । शन्नो अस्तु द्रविपदे । शम् चतुष्पदे ।

All two legged creatures, all four-legged creatures, six legged creatures, eight legged creates, all of them. So therefore I should sensitize the mind to feel the pains of other people. It requires a mind with empathy, a mind which can feel the difficulties of others and being interested in the well-being. Now the question is: How can I be interested in the well-being of all the creatures, I am not be able to take care of well-being of my family, in that itself thousands of complaints. So if you interview the children, husband or wife, you will know, so where is the question सर्व-भूत-हिते रतत्वम्, very simple, you can be सर्व-भूत-हिते रताः, very simple thing. Daily at least chant one prayer and chanting of the prayer will produce some amount of पुण्यम् and that पुण्यम् I say, whatever the amount of पुण्यम्, I am distributing to the whole cosmos. If I am able to chant one prayer for one minute and say that the पुण्यम् I am gifting to all the living beings, wherever whatever suffering is there, let there be some benefit. This prayer itself makes my mind sensitive, this is called दया, empathy, compassion. Without such a sensitive mind one cannot come to ब्रह्म ध्यानम्. So it requires a highly refined mind, a narrow mind cannot appreciate ब्रह्मन्. Therefore सर्व-भूत-हिते रताः means interested in the well being of all the living beings. This is the qualification for what: ज्ञानयोगः or निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम्, which is supposed to be the highest level of भक्ति and those people who have these qualification, we will call this ज्ञानयोग्यता. So those people who have ज्ञानयोग्यता or ध्यान योग्यता practice this निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम्. And what will happen to them? What is the benefit of such a meditation? ते माम् एव प्राप्नुवन्ति – such people will attain Me alone, such people means what: such meditators, निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यान कर्तारः, they attain Me alone, that means what: they attain मोक्ष, माम् एव, that एव you have to read thrice, ते एव माम् प्राप्नुवन्ति, they alone will attain मोक्ष, then, ते माम् एव प्राप्नुवन्ति, they will attain मोक्ष alone, no other inferior result and ते प्राप्नुवन्ति एव, they will necessarily attain मोक्ष. So you compare with the first answer and second answer. First He said सगुण meditators are superior and here He says निर्गुण meditators will attain Me. From this what is clear, everyone requires both. Continuing;

Verse No .05

वलेशोऽधिकतरस्तेषामव्यक्तासक्तचेतसाम् ॥

अव्यक्ता हि गतिर्दुःखं देहवद्भिस्त्वाप्यते ॥ १२-७॥

वलेशः अधिकतरः तेषाम् अव्यक्त-आसक्त-चेतसाम् ॥

अव्यक्ता हि गतिः दुःखम् देहवद्धिः अवाप्यते ॥ १२-७॥

अव्यक्त-आसक्त-चेतसाम् तेषाम् अधिकतरः वलेशः (अस्ति तैः) देहवद्धिः अव्यक्ता गतिः दुःखम् अवाप्यते हि ।

So in this verse, कृष्ण openly admits that निर्गुण ध्यानम् is extremely difficult, Which indirectly means ज्ञानयोग is extremely difficult because निर्गुण ध्यानम् is part of ज्ञानयोग only, ज्ञानयोग consists of three disciplines, श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम् and निदिध्यासनम् is called निर्गुण ध्यानम् and therefore कृष्ण says: वलेशः अधिकतरः – difficulties abound, obstacles are innumerable, for whom, अव्यक्त-आसक्त-चेतसाम् – for those people who are committed to the formless God. अव्यक्तम् we have seen before, इन्द्रिय-अगोचरम्, not perceptible, the invisible, formless principle, आसक्त means committed, चेतसा means mind, for those people who are committed to निर्गुण ईश्वर ध्यानम् difficulties are very intense, they are almost insurmountable and कठोपनिषत् even uses the word

it is walking on razor's edge, क्षुरस्य धारा. So कृष्ण says ज्ञानयोग is difficult, what is the reason, because अव्यक्ता गतिः दुःखम्. So अव्यक्ता गतिः – the destination of the formless one, गतिः means the destination of अव्यक्ता the formless is indeed दुःखम्, दुःखम् means difficult to reach. So निर्गुण ध्यानम् is extremely difficult to practice for whom, देहवद्धिः – for the ordinary people, normal people, for the majority and what is the common obstacle for all the people, for the majority, कृष्ण says the common obstacle is देहाभिमानः. The biggest and commonest obstacle to वेदान्त is strong attachment to one's own physical body which makes the mind grossest mind, because we are identified with our grossest personality. To remember yesterday's class, grossest अन्नमय कोश अभिमानः, he doesn't have even time to think of improving the mind, because where is the time of think of improving the mind when I am all the time busy improving the body and therefore I am obsessed with the body, I am obsessed with the protection of the body, therefore I am obsessed with the procurement for food, clothing and shelter and I am obsessed with the procurement of these three after retirement, that also has to be seen for there will be no income and the inflation, and if some diseases come who will pay for the medical bill, and are the children reliable, seeing them it does not seem so, they may be reliable but what type of daughter-in-law will come I don't know. Therefore all the time worried about my physical security and such a mind cannot think of anything beyond the physical body and once I am attached to the physical body, through the body I will be attached to the people around, directly proportional to the physical attachment is: attachment to various relations because every relation is through the body. And therefore I have a very strong individuality localizing me, limiting me and therefore such a person cannot imagine the unlocalized formless, it cannot transform itself. Transform is transcending the form is transformation and therefore कृष्ण says, stronger the bodily attachment more difficult is ज्ञानयोगः. The details in the next class.

I had pointed out that in the 12th chapter of the गीता, Lord कृष्ण is presenting भक्तियोगः in five levels. And the fifth and the final level of भक्ति योग is nothing but ज्ञानयोग itself. So we should remember ज्ञानयोग is the highest and the final level of भक्तियोगः. And here the Lord that is worshipped by me through this level of भक्ति is not the सगुण ईश्वरः, but ईश्वरः in his original nature, which is निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म. So in ज्ञानयोग, I am worshipping निर्गुण ईश्वरः. And the worship of निर्गुण ईश्वरः is also a unique worship. It is not a physical worship of आसनम् समर्पयामि, अर्घ्यम् समर्पयामि, पादम् समर्पयामि, etc., because for निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म where is the question of अर्घ्यम्, पादम्, etc. अर्घ्यम् means water for washing the hands, पादम् means water for washing the feet, आचमनीयम् water for washing the mouth. And निर्गुण ईश्वरः doesn't have hands, doesn't have feet, doesn't have the mouth, where is the question of अर्घ्य, पाद आचमनीयमादि? And therefore worship is in the form of the very study about निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, the very enquiry is a form of worship, the enquiry consisting of श्रवण, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्, systematic study, gaining the knowledge, converting it into conviction and assimilating this wisdom that alone is the पूजा and what I am offering is offering my ignorance into the fire of knowledge and therefore ज्ञानयोग itself is the form of worship I have to practice. And this ज्ञानयोग form of worship which is the fifth and final stage of भक्तियोगः is presented by the Lord in three verses, verse no.3, 4 and 5. It is ज्ञानयोग form of भक्तियोगः and the word that Lord कृष्ण is using here is अक्षरोपासना. For ज्ञानयोग the technical word used here is अक्षरोपासना, अक्षरम् means निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म and उपासनाम् means श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्. अक्षरोपासनम् is निर्गुण ब्रह्म विषय श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनानि. And the ज्ञानयोगis are called अक्षर उपासकs. And having talked about the अक्षर उपासना or निर्गुण ब्रह्म विचार, Lord कृष्ण openly admits and confesses that ज्ञानयोग is extremely difficult, वलेशोऽधिकतरस्तेषामव्यक्तासक्तचेतसाम् ॥

अव्यक्ता हि गतिर्दुःखम् देहवद्भिस्त्वाप्यते ॥ १२-५॥

And I said in the last class, the उपनिषत् itself compares ज्ञानयोग to walking on a razor's edge.

And why ज्ञानयोग is difficult is the reason that the Lord I want here to worship is not available for objectification. And the Lord is not available for mental conception. It is imperceptible, unconceivable and how can I worship or even study. Because my intellect is used to objectification and therefore an objectifying instrument will find it difficult to conceive of an unobjectifiable ब्रह्मन्. And it can be ultimately received only in one form and what is that form, that ब्रह्मन् the निर्गुण वस्तु is not objectifiable, not because it is non-existent, but because it is in the form of myself, सोऽहम्, that is called सोऽहम् ज्ञानम्, सः means what: that निर्गुणम् ब्रह्मन्, अहम् means I am. सोऽहम्, very carefully you should write, if you are writing in तमिळ्, you may later read as शोकम्, it is not शोकम् (if you don't understand it then it is शोकम्), but it is सोऽहम्, अहम् सः and that alone got shortened and came to be known as हंस मन्त्र, हंस गायत्री is the shortened version of अहम् सः. Anyway, that is a different thing. So the first problem is what, it is unobjectifiable. And the second problem we face is it requires lot of qualifications like विवेक, वैराग्यम्, समाधि षट्क सम्पत्ति, मुमुक्षुत्वम्, etc., and therefore also it appears to be difficult and therefore कृष्ण says वलेशः अधिकतरः. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now the question is: if ज्ञानयोग is extremely difficult what am I supposed to do, because I am a spiritual seeker and I am interested in मोक्ष, but I am not able to follow ज्ञानयोग, what should I do? Here alone we should be extremely careful, here alone people get into problems, majority of people give an answer which is totally non-वैदिक. What is the answer generally given? If ज्ञानयोग is difficult, leave it. Then what do you do, try alternative paths - there is कर्मयोग, there is भक्तियोगः, there is राजयोग, there is नाद योग, music season is now, there is नाद योग, there is कुण्डलिनी योग, so many योगs are there, therefore the general answer given is since ज्ञानयोग is difficult for majority, it is better to follow a simpler योग. And generally they conclude भक्तियोगः is simpler योग because you have to shed tears, in which we are experts! So this is missing the संप्रदाय. If a person gives such an answer, it means one has deviated from the संप्रदाय, संप्रदाय will never give such an answer. संप्रदाय means what: traditional teaching. What is wrong with this answer? You should understand that we have already established through the वेदs and the उपनिषत्s that for मोक्ष several मार्गs are not there,

पुरुषसूक्तम् १७ ॥

वेदs clearly says only ज्ञानम् will lead a person to मोक्ष, other than ज्ञानम् alternative मार्गs are not there. Because if ignorance is the problem knowledge is the only solution, if darkness is the problem bringing light is the only solution. Imagine the room is dark and you want to remove darkness from the room. How many मार्गs are there to remove darkness, one person says I don't have light at all and please bring the broomstick and I will sweep away darkness. Another person says I will do शिर्षासनम् in the room, another person says I will chant विष्णुसहस्रनाम. Remember, विष्णुसहस्रनाम is good but it cannot remove darkness, योगासन is very good but it cannot remove darkness, sweeping the floor is wonderful but it cannot remove darkness.

अविरोधितया कर्म नाविद्याम् विनिवर्तयेत् ।

विद्याविद्याम् निहन्त्येव तेजस्तिमिरसङ्घवत् ॥ आत्मबोधः ३ ॥

शङ्कराचार्य tells very clearly in his आत्मबोधः very clearly that darkness can go only by light, ignorance can go only by knowledge. संसार is because of ignorance, therefore मोक्ष can be only through knowledge. And if I firmly assert that knowledge is the only means, you should not conclude I am a fanatic because when I have to ascertain a fact you cannot call me a fanatic. That means what if I should not be a fanatic I should admit alternative methods for removing darkness. Even if you call me a fanatic I would like to be a fanatic, as दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, I say light alone removes darkness, if you call me a fanatic better I will be a fanatic rather than a lunatic. So you call me by whatever name I have to tell ignorance goes by knowledge alone. And the वेदs repeatedly ascertain ज्ञानात् एव तु कैवल्यम्. And therefore to say that ज्ञानम् is difficult and therefore I will take alternative method is born out of confusion regarding spirituality. And again we should remember darkness or ignorance goes only by knowledge and knowledge comes only by enquiry or study. Any knowledge will come only by studying the relevant literature. If I want physics knowledge I have no other method other than studying the physics literature, how many methods are there, I have no choice. If there are alternative methods of getting knowledge, like meditation, you go on saying what is physics, what is physics, $(a + b)^2$ is equal to what. You want to know, therefore you mediate $(a + b)^2$, $(a + b)^2$ what do you get? You cannot get the knowledge by simply doing पादपूजा to mathematics teacher, by chanting some मन्त्रs, by going to some temples, knowledge requires the relevant study. Any knowledge requires consistent and systematic study. That should be extended this knowledge also, that also requires अथातो ब्रह्म जिज्ञासा. व्यासाचार्य begins with this सूत्र, जिज्ञासा means systematic study of the relevant literature. I want to know physics and I read stardust, not only you should study but I should study the appropriate literature. And this systematic study is called ज्ञानयोगः. Therefore ज्ञानयोग alone gives ज्ञानम् and ज्ञानम् alone removes ignorance and removal of ignorance alone gives मोक्ष. This foundation we should very carefully have. This is the traditional teaching. To study any commentary of शङ्कराचार्य on any book, these fundamentals he will make clear and if this is not clear we will do lot of spiritual साधनs without knowing what exactly I am in for. And if there is alternative method of getting knowledge, like touching the head, स्पर्श दीक्षा, दृष्टि दीक्षा or touching on the back, no, root of your back, if by doing any such thing knowledge can be given कृष्ण will have used that shortcut in the battle ground. Isn't it? Because battle ground is the most inconvenient place for teaching. Therefore कृष्ण must have handed over the knowledge by any other simpler method. The very fact that कृष्ण himself did not adopt indicates there are no alternative methods. Go through systematic study, gain knowledge and be free. This is ज्ञानयोग. So therefore never say ज्ञानयोग is difficult and therefore I will take to alternative method. Not possible. Then what should I do? Because कृष्ण himself says ज्ञानयोग is difficult and you say I have to necessarily go through ज्ञानयोग, what should I do, the answer is very simple. If ज्ञानयोग is difficult, make ज्ञानयोग easy. If ज्ञानयोग is difficult, make ज्ञानयोग easy. So what is the next question? How to make ज्ञानयोग easy? Very simple. You prepare yourselves for ज्ञानयोग, you qualify yourselves for ज्ञानयोग, by getting ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्तिः and once I am qualified, ज्ञानयोग is कृष्ण tells that:

Lord himself says ज्ञानयोग is the easiest provided you have prepared yourselves. In fact, this is not with regard to ज्ञानयोग only, anything is difficult if you are not prepared and anything is easy if you have prepared and practiced. Have you gone to a कैरल teashop and you see him how he mixes the tea. You will find that the davara and glass, it will just expand and contract and you will the tea also expands and contracts and it is not even vertical, it is almost horizontal. All the law of gravitation seems to have failed in his case. It is wonderful sight to see, if you have not better see that, and he doesn't even look at the tea. He is talking politics to the person there and then tuk one sound and he keeps there with all the froth, it will be there in front. And because he is doing this effortless, you try. At the end only davara will there but no tea. So even mixing the coffee is also difficult. Therefore ज्ञानयोग is easy or difficult, we never answer, we ask the question for whom? For the unprepared it is difficult, for the prepared it is easy and therefore prepare, come to ज्ञानयोग, attain ज्ञानम् and be free. This is the traditional answer. Then what is the next question. How to prepare myself for ज्ञानयोग? And that preparation alone Lord कृष्ण himself presents in the following श्लोक, ज्ञानयोग is the fifth and final step, if you find the fifth step very difficult go to the fourth, if you find fourth is difficult to reach go to the third, if third is difficult go to the second, if second is difficult go to the first, if first is difficult (I don't want to go to hell and all. If the first is difficult) better luck, next birth. So we have a beautiful flight of stairs. Saturday class also a staircase of five steps, Sunday class also a staircase of five steps. Now कृष्ण wants to come down from the fifth level to the fourth level, which is given in the next three verses. We will read. Verse no.6;

Verse No .06

ये तु सर्वाणि कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य मत्पराः ।

अनन्येनैव योगेन मां ध्यायन्त उपासते ॥ १२-६॥

ये तु सर्वाणि कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य मत्पराः ।

अनन्येन एव योगेन माम् ध्यायन्तः उपासते ॥ १२-६॥

ये तु मत्पराः (सन्तः), सर्वाणि कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य, माम् ध्यायन्तः अनन्येन योगेन एव उपासते ।

So in verse no.6, 7 and 8, Lord कृष्ण is coming one step lower, from the 5th step to the 4th step. And what is that? If निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम् is difficult for you, come down to सगुण ईश्वर उपासना. Come down to सगुण ईश्वर उपासना, meditation upon ईश्वर with attributes. And there also I divided सगुण ईश्वर into two types, I don't know whether you remember, one सगुण ईश्वर is the Lord as the entire universe called the विश्वरूप ईश्वर, the विराट् ईश्वर described in the 11th chapter, which we get in the विष्णुसहस्रनाम ध्यान श्लोक,

भूः पादौ यस्य नाभिर्वियदसुरनिलश्चन्द्र सूर्यो च नेत्रे
कर्णावाशाः शिरो द्यौर्मुखमपि दहनो यस्य वास्तेयमब्धिः ।
अन्तःस्थम् यस्य विश्वम् सुरनरखगनोभोगिनन्धर्वदैत्यैः
चित्रम् रंरम्यते तम् त्रिभुवन वपुषम् विष्णुमीशम् नमामि ॥ २॥

The Lord whose body consists of all the three लोकs, विष्णुम् ईशम् नमामि which is the विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, may you practice विश्वरूप ध्यानम्. And not only you practice the विश्वरूप ध्यानम्, even when you are in the worldly transactions, dedicate all your actions to the विश्वरूप ईश्वरः.

जगतः ईशधी युक्त सेवनम् । अष्टमूर्तिभृत् देवपूजनम् ॥ उपदेशसारम् ॥

And therefore कृष्ण tells here, ये तु – there are some other seekers who are in the 4th rung of the ladder and what do they do, सर्वाणि कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य – so they dedicate all the actions at my feet and where are the feet of the Lord,

सर्वतः पाणि-पादम् तत् सर्वतः अक्षि-शिरः-मुखम् । ॥ १३-१३॥

Lord's feet are everywhere. So when I am doing an action this action goes to the world and it is acted upon by the laws of the universe and all these are done by whom, the Lord whose hands are nothing but the laws of कर्म. Therefore when I say, the laws of कर्म shape the result, for me the devotee, the laws of कर्म are the hands of the Lord. Every law is the hands of the lord, so Lord is shaping the result through His hands in the form of the law of कर्म. And therefore I dedicate to the laws of कर्म, to the hands of the lord, सर्वाणि कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य. Here the word संन्यास is not renouncing. Normally the word संन्यास means renunciation, in this context, संन्यास means dedicating, offering. And now the question is how can I offer the कर्म to the Lord? Imagine I am going to sweep or I going to write a letter or I am going to do a project in the computer. How am I suppose to dedicate? So what do you mean by dedication? Dedication is nothing but a particular attitude and what is the attitude, until I complete my action, I have got a control over the action, कर्मणि एव अधिकारः मे and once I have completed the action, the action has become part of this universe. And universe is none other than God, because विश्वरूप ईश्वरः and this action will be reshaped in this universe by the Lord and according to the law of कर्म an appropriate and just result is going to come and I am mentally prepared to accept any consequence according to the law, not fancies of the Lord but the result is going to be perfectly according to the laws of कर्म. That means I am going to get what I legitimately deserve. And it is given to me by whom, the Lord himself, because the world is not a world for me, world is for me विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. And therefore I mentally think, my action is going to the Lord and Lord is giving to give me the कर्म-फलम् and whatever be the consequence I will accept without murmuring, without grumbling, without cursing, without hesitating, I will receive. This inner receptivity is called dedication. This inner receptivity with regard to what, the consequences of any action I do. And that is called here ईश्वरः अर्पण भावना, so मयि संन्यस्य. And then मत्-पराः and when you are practicing this ईश्वरः अर्पणम् you must always remember in the mind that my aim is to qualify myself for the fifth step. I have come to the fourth step only for qualifying myself for the fifth step and therefore I should remember this fact, मत्-पराः – all the time committed to the goal of निर्गुण ईश्वरः, all the time committed to the goal of निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम्, which is the ultimate reality and अनन्येन एव योगेन – and taking to a spiritual life in which he never gets distracted from the goal, because initially we might be very clear about the goal but as we get into the worldly activities, the responsibilities increase, the family members increase, the primary family, the secondary family (relations' relations) and then we are involved in so many activities, the chances are we forget for what purpose we have come. So this forgetfulness of the goal is possible, distraction is possible and therefore कृष्ण wants this विश्वरूप उपासक constantly reminds my aim is qualifying myself for this knowledge. And that is called अनन्य योगः – unswerving commitment to the spiritual path. I have given you the example in the 8th chapter, when we go to some place in a train, maybe दिल्ली and कोलकाता, in between there are so many intermediary station, we may get down, we may buy newspapers, we may buy eatables, we may do all transactions but in and through all the transactions you are aware that this is not the destination but this is an intermediary stop; the vadai may be very tasty but if you get in the vadai the train may go, enjoy the vadai without forgetting that you are in the midst of a bigger journey. And that is called अनन्य योगः and with that माम् ध्यायन्तः उपासते – so they worship me through this meditation. So विश्वरूप ध्यानेन ते माम् पूजयन्ति and that is what all the prayers:

कायेन वाचा मनसेन्द्रियैर्वा । बुद्ध्यात्मना वा प्रकृतिस्वभावात् ।

करोमि यद्यत्सकलम् परस्मै । नारायणायेति समर्पयामि ॥ ॥
श्रीमद्भागवतम् ११-२-३६॥

All these are inbuilt in our culture, but the problem is we learn these श्लोकs mechanically and kada pada chant and run to office or in front of the TV, one of the place. So these are in our culture. Then what will happen to them. That is said in the next verse.

Verse No .07

तेषामहं समुद्धर्ता मृत्युसंसारसागरात् ।

भवामि न चिरात्पार्थ मर्यावेशितचेतसाम् ॥ १२-७॥

तेषाम् अहम् समुद्धर्ता मृत्यु-संसार-सागरात् ।

भवामि न चिरात् पार्थ मयि आवेशित-चेतसाम् ॥ १२-७॥

हे पार्थ! मयि आवेशित-चेतसाम् तेषाम् मृत्यु-संसार-सागरात् न चिरात् अहम् समुद्धर्ता भवामि ।

So कृष्ण says हे अर्जुन! these विश्वरूप उपासकs are special for Me, because their main goal is discovering my true nature and since they are committed to My pursuit I will give them special attention,

अनन्याः चिन्तयन्तः माम् ये जनाः पर्युपासते ।

तेषाम् नित्य-अभियुक्तानाम् योग-क्षेमम् वहामि अहम् ॥ ९-२२॥

And therefore they are special people, मयि आवेशित-चेतसाम्, so they look upon me not as a means for materialistic ends, they look upon Me as an end-in-itself. ईश्वरे न तु साधन बुद्धि परन्तु ईश्वरे साध्य बुद्धिः, two types of devotion, in सकाम भक्ति God is means, materialistic things are the end. In निष्काम भक्ति God is the means, God is the end also and those people were called in the 7th chapter, जिज्ञासु भक्ताः, अनन्य भक्ताः and they are called here मयि आवेशित-चेतसाम्. And what will I do them, तेषाम् अहम् समुद्धर्ता – I will rescue them, I will save them, I will function as their savior. We also have got savior, so we need not some other place, we have got our own savior, so समुद्धर्ता – I will be their savior, savior from what, मृत्यु-संसार सागरात् – from the ocean of संसार which has got several problems and what is the most or the worst problem of संसार? मृत्युः, मृत्युः means मरणम्, so मरणम् is the most terrible thing, because everything near and dear to me I have to lose and that is why any fear is called mortal fear, mortality is the greatest fear. And therefore मृत्यु-संसार means a संसार which has the problem of mortality. And from that I will rescue them. And how long it will take? कृष्ण doesn't want to commit, because it all depends upon the level of the student and therefore he says: न चिरात् – before long I will rescue those people who are विश्वरूप उपासकs, who are in the fourth rung of भक्तियोगः. And how will the Lord rescue them, will the Lord give मोक्ष straightaway from the fourth rung of the ladder? Remember that is not possible, I have told you that मोक्ष requires ज्ञानम् and ज्ञानम् requires ज्ञानयोग and therefore when भगवान् says I will rescue them, what भगवान् means is I will make them fit for the fifth rung of ladder, I will give the necessary conditions to go through ज्ञानयोग, if they require the qualifications, I will supply and if they require गुरु, no problem, I have got plenty of गुरुs, I will send them and if no गुरु is available, what, I myself will become the गुरु, हे अर्जुन! as I have become गुरु to you and therefore : न विरात् हे पार्थ! अहम् समुद्धर्ता भवामि, and therefore forget ज्ञानयोग for the time being, commit yourselves to विश्वरूप उपासना. That कृष्ण summaries in the next verse no.8;

Verse No .08

मय्येव मन आधत्स्व मयि बुद्धिं निवेशय ।

निवसिष्यसि मय्येव अत ऊर्ध्वं न संशयः ॥ १२-८॥

मयि एव मनः आधत्स्व मयि बुद्धिम् निवेशय ।

निवसिष्यसि मयि एव अतः ऊर्ध्वम् न संशयः ॥ १२-८॥

मयि एव मनः आधत्स्व, मयि बुद्धिम् निवेशय, अतः ऊर्ध्वम् मयि एव निवसिष्यसि, (अत्र) संशयः न ।

So कृष्ण concludes that second or the fourth rung of the ladder discussion, therefore अर्जुन forget ज्ञानयोग for the time being and concentrate on सगुण विश्वरूप उपासना. Therefore मयि means what विश्वरूप ईश्वरे, in Me the विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, you need not think of the निर्गुण Me, but think of विश्वरूप Me. मयि मनः आधत्स्व – fix your emotional mind in Me, that means all your emotional needs may you derive from the Lord himself. Because Lord being the totality, whatever be your emotional needs it is an inexhaustible UPS - uninterrupted power supply, भगवान् can give. If you ask any local people, they may give, they may not. For some time they will say I love you, then they will say I allow you, all unpredictable. They may give me security, they may not. So therefore कृष्ण says, don't seek anything from the world or people. You use the world for only giving, whether it is security or love or care or help, you use the world and people for the rehearsal of giving and whatever be your requirement, you take from Me, the Lord. And the advantage is if it is any person that person has to be around me and older I become the more I want the children to be around and they are in some other country and they cannot come whenever you want, can anyone come from America as you wish! So I feel more and more insecure and even if when they are around I don't want them to go to the office, I want them near the bed all the time. How is it possible? Everybody has got his own, her own duties. If it is विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, he is all the time with me, I never miss the Lord and therefore कृष्ण says emotionally learn to depend on Me, the विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. And not only that, मयि बुद्धिम् निवेशय – and your intellect also must be convinced of the विश्वरूप nature of God, blindly saying Lord विश्वरूप, Lord विश्वरूप is not enough, after all we are rational being, we are thinking being and therefore intellect always will question. How can I look upon the whole universe as ईश्वरः? So when intellect raises that question, you should have a convincing answer and that is why we say scriptural study is important, without scriptures study when I have got devotion to the Lord it is always a shaky devotion, it can always be threatened. But when the devotion is based on understanding, out of conviction it can never be shaken. And how to get that conviction? Go back to the teaching, भगवान् has given in the 7th chapter, in the 9th chapter, in the 10th and 11th. And what was the teaching given, there the Lord was defined as जगत् कारणम्, both the निमित्त and उपादान कारणम्, I don't want to get into that, if I do that I will be going back to the 7th chapter, therefore I am resisting temptation to get lost. So भगवान् is कारणम् and the whole universe is कार्यम्, an effect and we know that a product is non-different from the cause. So if ईश्वरः is कारणम् and जगत् is कार्यम्, कार्य रूपम् जगत् कारण रूपात् ईश्वरात् भिन्नम् भवितुम् न अर्हति, no effect can be separate from the cause. So when I am handling the ornaments, I am handling the cause, the gold alone. When I am handling the furniture, I am handling the cause, the wood alone. When I am handling the pots, I am handling the cause, clay alone. When I am handling the world, I am handling the cause, ईश्वरः alone. Therefore अकाश is ईश्वरः, वायु is ईश्वरः, अग्नि is ईश्वरः, सर्वम् ईश्वर मयम् जगत्. This is called conviction born out of the scriptural study. And therefore कृष्ण says मयि बुद्धिम् निवेशय – may your intellect also be convinced of what you are doing. And if you are not convinced, continue the study and still you are not convinced, continue the study, still you are not convinced, continue the study, how long, until you are convinced. And if you are not able to be convinced in this जन्म, continue in the next जन्म. स्वामिजि you yourselves will come to teach? You should not ask, in fact, you require a better teacher! The very fact that you are still not convinced means that I am inefficient teacher. So therefore better look for a better teacher, OK, It is all joke, I know that you are all understanding. मयि बुद्धिम् निवेशय and if you do that, निवसिष्यसि मयि एव, the glory of विश्वरूप भक्ति is I am never away from the Lord, there is no question of separation and विरह गीतम् and again joining back, worrying that the Lord will run away from me and He will go to another devotee, that is what I cannot stand, even if He leaves me it is OK, but how can He go to someone else. “In tidal waves in sunlight come and to enjoy me like another flute. Should I have to wail and call? And you will enjoy with other women? Is it proper? Is it the method? My mind sways like the dancing ear rings when you play the flute!” What is all these, you limit the Lord, when the Lord is विश्वरूप, Lord is simultaneously with everyone and therefore निवसिष्यसि मयि एव – you will remain in Me alone all the time, just as the wave is never away from the ocean. अतः ऊर्ध्वम्, after this practice, which practice, विश्वरूप उपासना practice, you will never miss me, न संशयः – there is no doubt at all. Therefore अर्जुन come to the fourth rung of the ladder, then go to the fifth and be free. But suppose you say, विश्वरूप उपासना is also difficult, because it requires an expanded mind, I have to expand my mind to accommodate the whole universe as ईश्वरः, which means I should never have राग or द्वेष, I should be willing to accept every part of creation as divine.

Therefore I should not complain against anything, it is extremely difficult, we will say that I am ready to look upon everyone as God, except a few people, a list of which is there स्वामिजि, everyone has a list, except them everyone is God, if everybody has an excepts a few people God will not have anything left away. Therefore विश्वरूप उपासना itself may be difficult, then what to do, कृष्ण says, no worry, you come to the third rung of the ladder, how, verse no.9;

Verse No .09

अथ चित्तं समाधातुं न शक्नोषि मयि स्थिरम् ।

अभ्यासयोगेन ततो मामिच्छासुं धनञ्जय ॥ १२-९॥

अथ चित्तम् समाधातुम् न शक्नोषि मयि स्थिरम् ।

अभ्यास-योगेन ततः माम् इच्छ आप्तुम् धनञ्जय ॥ १२-९॥

हे धनञ्जय! अथ मयि स्थिरम् चित्तम् समाधातुम् न शक्नोषि, ततः अभ्यास-योगेन माम् आप्तुम् इच्छ ।

अथ, on the other hand, if you find yourselves unfit for the fourth rung of the ladder also, that means मयि चित्तम् समाधातुम् न शक्नोषि, मयि means what: in Me, the विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, चित्तम् समाधातुम् means उपासनाम् कर्तुम्, to practice the meditation, स्थिरम् – steadily, consistently, unswervingly, न शक्नोषि – if you are not able to do that. If विश्वरूप ईश्वरः is not appealing to you, then कृष्ण says don't bother, come down to the third rung of the ladder, which is एकरूप ईश्वरः उपासना. Instead of taking the totality, come to any particular personal form of God, which is called इष्ट देवता उपासना and we have got so many personal forms for the Lord, which is unique to Hinduism. In no other religion they have such a variety of form, we have got the biggest departmental store of gods and we have got राम, we have got कृष्ण, we have got देवी, we have got विनयक, we have वेङ्कटाचलपति, we have got अय्यप्पा and they don't mind if you add a few more, अन्नै वेलांकन्नी, keep that all also. After all are stepping stones none of them is the ultimate, therefore for a stepping stone any form is perfectly OK and even in one form itself, कृष्ण itself we have got गोपी कृष्ण, यथा कृष्ण, flute कृष्ण, Baby कृष्ण, all varieties are there, choose any particular form and even among varieties of relationships, any particular relationship you want you can strike, वात्सल्य भक्ति, you want to show affection to the Lord as a baby, like यशोदा etc. And you want to have a love, as a friend, as अर्जुन, उद्धव etc., like father, any particular relationship you want you can take to that. And how to develop इष्ट देवता भक्ति, इष्ट देवता भक्ति is developed only through the पुराण श्रवण, because in the पुराणम्, the personal God comes alive. And the personal gods are involved in varieties of activities. They call it ईश्वरः लीला and as you dwell upon the activities, even a fictitious character becomes more and more real. This is psychology, any fictitious character you go on dwelling, it becomes more real. And therefore if you want to make शिव alive, read शिव पुराणम्. If you want to make देवी alive read देवी भागवतम्, you need not read, all the पौराणिकs are only doing that and therefore develop इष्ट देवता भक्ति and practice इष्ट देवता उपासनाम्, which is एकरूप सगुण ईश्वरः and कृष्ण calls it अभ्यास योगः. Details in the next class.

By way of answering अर्जुन's question, Lord कृष्ण is presenting the important teaching of भक्तियोगः and as I said in the last few classes भक्तियोगः is not a particular साधन but it is the name of the entire range of साधनs everyone has to necessarily go through. And these range of साधनs Lord कृष्ण is presenting in five levels and by going through all these five levels of भक्तियोगः a person gets liberation or मोक्ष. And कृष्ण is presenting all the five levels of भक्तियोगः in this chapter and therefore this is a very important chapter and this portion is also very important. And while dealing with the five steps of भक्तियोगः, Lord कृष्ण starts with the highest step in the beginning and gradually He is coming down to the lower steps. So instead of going from first, second, third stages, He starts with the fifth and final step and if a person is not ready for the fifth, let him come down to the fourth, if that is also not possible the third, or second and the first step. And the fifth and final step which is the proximate step to liberation was presented as ज्ञानयोग साधन, consisting of वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्, which is otherwise called here as अक्षर उपासना. अक्षर उपासना is the technical word in the 12th chapter which means ज्ञानयोग, which means निर्गुण ब्रह्म श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्, which was dealt with in verses 3, 4 and 5 and therefore we come to know that ज्ञानयोग is the name of the भक्तियोगः itself at the highest level. And this alone शङ्कराचार्य also mentions in the विवेकचूडामणि, मोक्षकारण सामग्र्याम् भक्तिरेव गरीयसी । स्वस्वरूपानुसन्धानम् भक्तिरित्यभिधीयते ॥ ३१ ॥

भक्ति is the final stage of liberation and in the final stage, भक्ति is defined as Self-enquiry, ब्रह्मन् enquiry, निर्गुण ईश्वर विचारः. And कृष्ण himself admitted that this ज्ञानयोग form of भक्तियोग is not easy for the majority and they need not feel bad about it, let them try the fourth step and the fourth level of भक्तियोग was discussed in verse no.6, 7 and 8. And this fourth level of भक्तियोग consists of सगुण ईश्वर

उपासना because निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम् is not easy for an unprepared mind. And therefore let that person come down to सगुण ईश्वर उपासना and that सगुण ईश्वरः also is presented as विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, Lord as the very universe itself, is called अष्टमूर्ति ईश्वरः,

भूर्भवांस्यनलोऽनिलोम्बरमहर्नाथो हिमांशुः पुमान्
इत्याभाति चराचरात्मकमिदम् यस्यैव मूर्त्यष्टकम् । ॥ दक्षिणामूर्तिस्तोत्रम्

अष्टमूर्ति ईश्वरः is विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, the eight faceted ईश्वरः, विश्वरूप ईश्वरः has got eight factors. What are the eight factors? The five elements are the पञ्च मूर्ति, भूः अम्भासि अनलः अनिलः अम्बरम्, the पञ्चभूतs are the five मूर्तिs of the Lord. Then अहर्नाथः हिमांशुः, अहर्नाथः means the सूर्य, which stands for all the stars and हिमांशुः means the moon which stands for all the planets and satellites. We have five elements as पञ्च मूर्तिs, all the stars the sixth मूर्तिs, all the planets and satellites the seventh मूर्ति. What is the eighth मूर्ति? मूर्ति means a factor or facet, and the eighth is पुमान्, पुमान् means all the जीवराशिs. All the living beings put together is अष्टमूर्ति ईश्वरः, otherwise called विराट् ईश्वरः, otherwise called विश्वरूप ईश्वरः described in the 11th chapter of the गीता. And कृष्ण says may you learn to meditate upon this विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. And suppose a person says, Oh Lord my mind is not expanded enough to visualize the विश्वरूप, it is not subtle enough to conceive of that विश्वरूप, कृष्ण says doesn't matter, you need not feel inferior, I will come down one more step. And what is that step, the third step of भक्तियोगः? Instead of अनेकरूप ईश्वर उपासनाम्, instead of विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, you reduce the Lord to एकरूपः, choose a personal God and we have got in our culture the biggest choice, the most varied choice is available only in our हिन्दु departmental store. In other religions we don't have much choice. So we have got 33 crore देवताs. Of them you choose any blessed देवता and even if you are not interested in human form you take animal form, we have got कामधेनु, if you don't like animal form you take tree form, we have got choose any tree you like, may it be तुलसी or any tree. If you don't like any particular tree, you want a mixture, some people like always mixture, then we have got mixture gods also, नरसिंह, हयग्रीव, हयग्रीव means human body horse head, नरसिंह – human body lion head, we have got all varieties, choose any one. And for each इष्ट देवताs, we have got पुराणम्s also to give elaborate description of the देवता and the अवतार रहस्यम्, their activities and their exploits, we have got 36 पुराणs, 18 पुराणम्s and 18 उप पुराणम्s, they will give the description of एकरूप ईश्वरः, which includes their body, how many hands they have, how many heads they have and how many weapons they wield, what type of dress they wear, all these are there, choose an इष्ट देवता and then practice इष्ट देवता उपासना, otherwise called एकरूप उपासना, which कृष्ण called अभ्यास योग. So the fifth step is अरूप ईश्वरः, fourth step is अनेकरूप ईश्वरः, the third step is एकरूप ईश्वरः and the meditation is called अभ्यास योगः. Therefore कृष्ण discusses the third step in the 9th verse, which I introduced in the last class. There in the 9th verse कृष्ण says: अथ हे अर्जुन! on the other hand, if you are not able to meditate upon विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, मयि, मयि means विश्वरूप ईश्वरे, upon Me the विश्वरूप Lord, चित्तम् समाधातुम् – to fix the mind, to practice the meditation, स्थिरम् – firmly, undistractedly, unswervingly if you are not able to fix the mind, न शक्नोषि. And generally विश्वरूप उपासना will become extremely difficult when a person has got strong राग-द्वेष. Stronger the राग-द्वेष more crystallized the individuality will be. And therefore all the time the mind will be either thinking of the object of hatred or the mind will be thinking of the object of attachment and therefore the mind is confined to a few objects of रागः or द्वेषः. And that mind cannot enjoy the ocean, enjoy the sky, enjoy the stars, enjoy the trees, enjoy the mountains, because the mind is narrow. कृष्ण says doesn't matter, I will give you a narrow God. So न शक्नोषि चेत्, what should you do, अभ्यास-योगेन – may you take to अभ्यास योगः which means इष्ट देवता उपासना. And if you cannot love a personal God, we have got मन्त्र, यन्त्र, तन्त्र, so we have got श्रीचक्र, it is not a person but a symbol which you can visualize, we have got सूर्य देवता, which is not a person, but a symbol, which is called प्रतीक उपासना. Either a प्रतिमा उपासना or प्रतीक उपासना, प्रतिमा means God as a person with limbs like yours and mine, that is called anthropomorphism. Anthropomorphism means visualizing God as a human being, like you and I. And God is also hungry, God is also thirsty and therefore अन्नम् समर्पयामि, पाद्यम् समर्पयामि and three times you have to bathe Him. And then you attach even राग-द्वेष to God. I think God is angry with me, because we have got that and put that in God also and also we have justification, yesterday while showing दिपाराधन I didn't show there, rest of the photos I had shown and this photo was missed. Therefore this God must be angry and therefore whatever weakness we have that also we comfortably attribute to the Lord. Are you angry? It is also OK. This is called anthropomorphic approach to Lord, which is also acceptable and what is it called, it is अभ्यास योग and by this अभ्यासयोगेन माम् आसुम् इच्छ – may you strive to reach Me. So by इष्ट देवता उपासना may you strive to reach Me, may you strive to attain liberation, reaching Me means attainment of मोक्ष. Can a person attain liberation through इष्ट देवता उपासना? So what will be the answer? Can a person attain liberation through इष्ट देवता उपासना if they ask, the answer both Yes and No. How do you say yes and how do you say no? No means by इष्ट देवता उपासना one cannot directly attain liberation. By इष्ट देवता उपासना, one cannot directly attain मोक्ष and therefore the answer is No. And at the same time yes is also the answer, which means, by इष्ट देवता उपासना one can indirectly attain मोक्ष. What do you mean by indirectly attaining मोक्ष? इष्ट देवता उपासना will gradually help him to come to विश्वरूप उपासना, so that very इष्ट देवता will gradually lift the devotee and bring him to विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. अण्डाडम्बुलु पिण्डाडम्बुलु ब्रह्माण्डम्बुलु

सर्वम् अन्ताराम मयम्. So त्यागराज was worshipping राम in his idol also and he was so much attached to that idol. You know the story, so when he lost he was extremely upset, he cries for losing his राम and later again gets back and he is extremely happy, thus for त्यागराज राम represented an idol also and the very same त्यागराज sang, अण्डाडम् पिण्डाडम् ब्रह्माण्डम् सर्वम् अन्ता. That means what: एकरूप you start, अनेकरूप you come to and you need not bother how to come, the इष्ट देवता itself will lift you to विश्वरूप उपासना and once we come up to विश्वरूप उपासना, the विश्वरूप उपासना will naturally uplift you to निर्गुण उपासना, which is वेदान्त विचार. Therefore इष्ट देवता उपासना via विश्वरूप उपासना and निर्गुण ज्ञानम् will take a person to liberation. Therefore इष्ट देवता उपासना is परम्परा कारणम् for मोक्ष. It is not साक्षात् कारणम्, it is not direct means but it is called परम्परा कारणम्, means विश्वरूप उपासना via निर्गुण ज्ञानम्, it will take you to the destination. Therefore अर्जुन, you come to इष्ट देवता उपासना. Suppose a person says हे कृष्ण! I am not fit for एकरूप उपासना also, because उपासना is a mental activity. उपासना is visualizing the Lord within myself, purely with the help of the mind, उपासना is defined as मानसम् कर्म, which means the physical body has to be passive, this is the technical definition, many people define पूजा as उपासना. Remember physical पूजा cannot be called उपासना, because उपासना by definition is मानसम् कर्म. I should be seated in a place, I should not use any of my ज्ञानेन्द्रियs or कर्मेन्द्रियs, I have to withdraw all my sense organs and it should be a purely mental activity, which means a person should not be an extrovert person. उपासना is possible only when a person is ready to withdraw the mind away from the external world, make it अन्तर्मुखम्, turn inwards and within my heart I should be able to visualize my इष्ट देवता. And therefore, if a person is extrovert, if a person is रजोगुण प्रधान, that person will find it difficult even to sit in a place for five minutes, meditation is next stage, even to sit in a place for five minutes, a राजसिक person will find extremely difficult because he is an embodiment of dynamism and therefore he wants to be active. And therefore कृष्ण I am not ready for meditation and if I do meditation, it will end up as 'mad'-itation. For a restless person, sitting quiet is extremely difficult, that is why many people after retirement get into lot of problems. Not only problem for themselves, the primary sufferer is the wife and family. Generally she recommends take up another job, if you leave me alone it is OK, because it is extremely difficult. And if अर्जुन you feel you are so extrovert then you need not sit in meditation, it is not compulsory, I will come down to the second step in which I will ask you to be highly active. From उपासना I will ask you to come down to कर्म, a life of activity, a life of dynamism. And what is that, that is going to be given in the 10th verse. So 9th verse gives the third step, 10th verse gives the second step, so from five, four, three, now two we have reached.

अभ्यासे अपि असमर्थः असि मत्-कर्म-परमः भव ।

मत्-अर्थम् अपि कर्माणि कुर्वन् सिद्धिम् अवाप्स्यसि ॥ १२-१०॥

(त्वं) अभ्यासे अपि असमर्थः असि (चेत्), मत्-कर्म-परमः भव, मत्-अर्थम् कर्माणि कुर्वन् अपि सिद्धिम् अवाप्स्यसि ।

So हे अर्जुन! अभ्यासे अपि असमर्थः – if you are unfit for अभ्यास योग also, अभ्यास योग means इष्ट देवता उपासना, एकरूप उपासना. In short, you are too extrovert a person. That doesn't matter. What do you do, कर्म-परमः भव – may you be committed to a life of activity and the activities also are divided into two in our शास्त्र, one is निष्काम कर्माणि or परोपकार कर्माणि, activities dedicated to the service of the society. Taking the very society as ईश्वरः,

जगतः ईशधी युक्त सेवनम् । अष्टमूर्तिभूतं देवपूजनम् ॥ उपदेशसारम् ७॥

Take to पञ्च महायज्ञ and through these five-fold यज्ञs, dedicate your life to contribute to the society.

परोपकाराय फलन्ति वृक्षाः परोपकाराय दुहन्ति गावः ।

परोपकाराय वहन्ति नद्यः परोपकारार्थमिदम् शरीरम् ॥

परोपकाराय वहन्ति नद्यः – all the rivers run down the plains from the हिमालयs for what purpose, to serve the humanity, परोपकाराय फलन्ति वृक्षाः – trees produce fruits not for their consumption and they give it to others, and even if you throw stones in return they give fruits and परोपकाराय दुहन्ति गावः – the cows give milk not for their own purpose, In fact, the calf gets only limited milk, all are used for our coffee. So we find in the nature, every one gives more and takes less. Any living being, if you take a balance sheet at the end of the life, you find they have given more and taken less. May you also be like a वृक्षः, सञ्चरणम् अन्वेषणम् छायामन्यस्य कुर्वन्ति तिष्ठन्ति स्वयमातपे ।

फलान्यपि परार्थाय वृक्षाः सत्पुरुषा इव ॥ सुभाषितसङ्ग्रहः ॥

What do the trees do, छायाम् अन्यस्य कुर्वन्ति – they give shade to others, छायाम् means not tea, छाया, they give shade to others, but they themselves stand in the hot sun, तिष्ठन्ति स्वयम् आतपे, फलान्यपि परार्थाय वृक्षाः सत्पुरुषाः इव – every tree is like a महात्मा and what is the proof, everybody says ‘Let us grow trees’. Let your entire life be a life of त्याग, a life of dedication, a life like the other भक्ति, which destroys itself and in the process it gives fragrance to the surroundings. So thus may your life be one of contribution and when you contribute to the society, if you don’t have proper attitude it may lead to arrogance, I have done this much, I have done this much and therefore when you contribute to the society, look upon the society as ईश्वरः,

They say नर सेवा, नारायण सेवा, मानव सेवा is माधव सेवा, all these indicate what, I consider it as an opportunity to worship विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. So be selflessly active, be desirelessly active, this is the second step.

Therefore कृष्ण says मत्-कर्म-परमः भव, मत्-कर्म means what: ईश्वरार्पण कर्म, निष्काम कर्म, चितशुद्धि प्रधान कर्म, कर्मs which will give you spiritual purity, which will make you qualified for इष्ट देवता उपासनाम् and मत्-अर्थम् अपि कर्माणि कुर्वन् – and when you lead a life of service, contribution, परोपकार, what will happen, सिद्धिम् अवाप्स्यसि – you will certainly attain liberation. So by निष्काम कर्म, otherwise called निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोगः, if you look at the life of every freedom fighter, read their biography, they had sacrificed everything, their health, wealth, family and what they wanted was freedom and many of them did not even live to see the freedom and they sacrificed and we enjoy the freedom and make the country a worst place. They sacrificed and we get the benefit. Therefore सिद्धिम् अवाप्स्यसि – you will certainly attain liberation. How will you attain liberation, careful, this service will not directly lead to liberation, I am never tired of repeating it, because these are all confusing श्लोकs, if one is not careful. This निष्काम कर्म will make the mind ready for एकरूप उपासना which will make the mind ready for अनेकरूप उपासना, which will make the mind ready for अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि ज्ञानम्, which will make you free and therefore अर्जुन, take to a life of निष्काम कर्म, selfless activity. This is the second step. Now a person may argue, Lord, I cannot commit myself to निष्काम कर्म, it is very nice to hear, but I cannot practice निष्काम कर्म because I have got plenty of तमस्. I have got countless desires in the world, many of them are desires for myself, I will like to have a global tour, I will like to have a house, I will like to have a car, I have got many desires for my own personal happiness. And not only for my own sake, I have got desires with regard to my family members, I want my children to get 99.99% in 12th examination, so निष्काम कर्म or चितशुद्धि we can see later! Now I want admission for the child. स्वामिजि, you can talk about निष्काम कर्म, you don't have anyone, wife or children and you can talk and go, but for me I have to educate my children, get admission in the engineering college and the grandchild has got some problem, because not one generation, two, three generations are to be looked after! And therefore that problem should go and there is some house in litigation and that should be solved, so when I have got so many desires connected to me, my family members, I have to fulfill my duties, therefore how can I give up my काम. After completing all my duties, I will come to you, you set-up an आश्रम before that. That means your problem will be solved and my problem will start, I should keep an आश्रम ready and after all duties are over and when you are good for nothing, because no hand and legs and eyes, then you plan to come to the आश्रम!! So therefore after I complete my duties, I will think of निष्काम कर्म. Let me pray for my child, my grandchild, my wife and my neighbor, because he also should be fine only then I will have a peaceful life, if they are quarreling I cannot step, how many कामs I have got, that is why in English also it is called coma!! coma, coma, no full stop. So काम is that which has no full stop. So what am I supposed to do, Oh Lord, कृष्ण says: OK you have world desires, you fulfill your personal desires, nothing wrong, if you are interested in the education of your children, in the marriage of your children, the health of the grandchildren, there is nothing wrong, after all, you want to fulfill your duty, as a family person. It is not wrong, you need not feel bad about it, so may you have कामs and therefore you can do सकाम कर्म also. And वेद itself prescribes many काम्य कर्म for children's education, children's health, children's marriage, for all of them वेद itself prescribes कर्म,

पशुमान्भवति । वृष्टिकामश्चिन्वीत । आमयावी चिन्वीत । ॥ तैत्तिरीय-आरण्यकम् ॥

Any desire you have fulfill that, because when the unfulfilled desires are within and I try to come to वेदान्त, close my eyes, only that will hover around in my mind and such a person कृष्ण calls मिथ्याचारः स उच्यते,

कर्मेन्द्रियाणि संयम्य य आस्ते मनसा स्मरन् ।

इन्द्रियार्थान्विमूढात्मा मिथ्याचारः स उच्यते ॥ ३-६॥

Any legitimate unfulfilled desire is in the mind, it will permanently create a bug, therefore fulfill them, tour whatever you want to tour, eat whatever you want to eat, of course do legitimately. So what is the last step, कृष्ण says may you be committed to सकाम कर्म. Let your कर्मयोग be सकाम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग, doesn't matter and how should you practice that कर्मयोग. That I will tell you which is the lower most step, which is given in the 11th verse. We will read,

Verse No .11

अथैतदप्यशक्तोऽसि कर्तुं मद्योगमाश्रितः ।

सर्वकर्मफलत्यागं ततः कुरु यतात्मवान् ॥ १२-११॥

अथ एतत् अपि अशक्तः असि कर्तुम् मत्-योगम् आश्रितः ।

सर्व-कर्म-फल-त्यागम् ततः कुरु यत-आत्मवान् ॥ १२-११॥

अथ एतत् अपि कर्तुम् अशक्तः असि (चेत्), ततः यत-आत्मवान् मत्-योगम् आश्रितः (सन्) सर्व-कर्म-फल-त्यागम् कुरु ।

So the second step presented was निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग, a कर्मयोग in which life is dedicated to निष्काम कर्म, परोपकार कर्म and if you are not able to serve anyone, doesn't matter, you serve yourselves. So कृष्ण says, अथ एतत् अपि कर्तुम् अशक्तः असि – if you are not able to commit yourselves to serving others, serving the society, by taking to मत्-योगम्, मत्-योगम् means ईश्वरार्पण बुद्धि, as ईश्वरार्पणम्, by taking to that attitude, if you are not able to do that, then may you take to सकाम कर्म. And शङ्कराचार्य says: somewhere, he goes one more extreme, in extremely rare cases, even निषिद्ध कर्म also, शङ्कराचार्य says OK, that is why in some places animal sacrifices also were permitted because OK, at least even if you are interested in that doesn't matter, but let it be as an offering to the Lord and slowly get out and that is why there are certain तमसिक rituals prescribed in the शास्त्र in which मद्य पानम्, taking to liquor etc., also was permitted, the idea was even though it is banned, if a person is helpless let him convert into पूजा and gradually get out of it. But I should be very careful, some will be waiting for this only who will say OK, wonderful; I should not have told. So निषिद्ध कर्माणि अपि, as an exceptional case शङ्कराचार्य adds, but it is better to give them up, but legitimate worldly desires you fulfill. There is nothing wrong, it is not पापम्. And what should you do? When you are doing सकाम कर्म, what should be your attitude? When a person does सकाम कर्म, सकाम कर्म means a selfish activity, he certainly expects a worldly result out of it, he is not doing it as a service, he is not doing it for वित्तशुद्धि, he is certainly doing it for worldly benefit only and personal benefit only, you do, but what should you do, you dedicate that सकाम कर्म also as ईश्वर अर्पणम् and when the फलम् comes you can certainly take the फलम् to yourselves, you need not give to the society, be selfish, you enjoy the result, selfishness is also permitted, you need not give to others, you need not share with others, you enjoy. But कृष्ण gives a warning, when you are enjoying the benefit of your selfish action don't call it कर्म-फलम्, don't call the accomplishment of yours, you take it as ईश्वर प्रसादः. Change the name, even if a child is born, there are many children who have got the name, कृष्ण प्रसाद, राम प्रसाद, देवी प्रसाद or mere प्रसाद, children are also called प्रसाद, because we look upon our children as gift from the Lord. And once you take everything as ईश्वर प्रसाद, even the selfish action will have the capacity to purify the mind. A regular selfish action cannot purify the mind, because selfishness is impurity, but here even a selfish action can purify if you take the result as भगवान्'s gift. When you build a house not for donating to anyone but for your own living, it is a clean काम्य कर्म, this house has been built for my sake, कृष्ण says: doesn't matter, you want a house, you own the house, you use the house, but what will I suggest is, when you do the गृह प्रवेश, look upon the house not as yours, you live there, but you look upon the house as the Lord's house. Therefore when you step in you take along with you the picture of the Lord, your इष्ट देवता and then you install the Lord anywhere, at least under the staircase and you dedicate the house to the Lord, then don't afraid, if it is Lord's should I get out, don't ask, you dedicate the house to the Lord and request the Lord, Oh Lord permit me also to be a co-tenant or tenant of your temple. Then गृहम् becomes an आलयम् and I am living in the temple of the Lord. And in this there are so many advantages, your personal desire to get a house has been fulfilled, a home to call my own. Everybody asks, therefore you have a house. So your personal desire is fulfilled at the same time that काम्य कर्म gets the capacity to purify your mind. In fact, that house will be a pure house free from all forms of inauspiciousness, even though it has not been built according to what: वास्तुशास्त्रम् condition. If you are able to observe OK, wonderful, but if you are not able to, plot is like that what to do, so therefore it becomes Lord's house, and it becomes Lord's responsibility to drive away all the evil forces and therefore you are living under the care of the Lord. So this lifestyle is called सकाम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोगः. And such a person has no time to serve the society because all the time he has to bother about either children or grandchildren, where is the time to do any service to anyone, doesn't matter. Therefore कृष्ण says सर्व-कर्म-फल-त्यागम् – dedicate the result of all the कर्मस, which includes काम्य कर्मस and which includes the inevitable निषिद्ध कर्मस, like when you are cleaning the house by using insecticide, for mosquito etc., certainly हिंसा is involved, you are doing हिंसा for keeping the house clean, you use all kinds of things for cockroach. And isn't it पापम्? These are in all inevitable पापम्, they are called,

They are called सूना, सूना means inevitable पापम्s to be done by a गृहस्थ and even if such पापम्s are there, निषिद्ध कर्मs are there, even those निषिद्ध कर्मs will not affect you. At the time of cooking so many insects may be killed, especially in the olden days there was no electricity, while grinding using mortar and pestle not only dal, spices, insect will also be included. What to do, so offer नैवेद्यम् to the Lord and saying कृष्ण कृष्ण do स्वाहा. So therefore even inevitable निषिद्ध कर्मs will not affect you, it will purify you. ततः कुरु यत-आत्मवान् – with your effort, with commitment, with sincerity. So this is called what: सकाम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग. And what will happen if I do that? If I practice this कर्मयोग for a length of time I will graduate to the second step, in which my life will become निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग, which means by personal desires will come down, which will be replaced by spiritual desire, which will be replaced by मुमुक्षुत्वम्, all the glammers of the world will not appeal to you, in short you will transcend finite desires, not suppressing, you will transcend petty desires. It will appear big for others. दयानन्द स्वामिजि gives a beautiful example, as children you are interested in balloons and it was very important, you played and when the balloon burst you were upset also, balloon was very important. But during the 25th year, somebody brings birthday gift, what? balloon, you are not going to be enamored by that. Biscuit, previously local biscuit, after some time gold biscuit, this is called growing out of petty things. Even the heaven will look like a balloon, that is called maturity. Heaven should become a balloon and once कामs come down, thereafter the life will be what, निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग, whatever कर्म I do will be meant for वित्तशुद्धि and once I go through निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग, I will be elevated to एकरूप उपासना and then elevated to अनेकरूप and then elevated to ज्ञानयोग. And this is the five stages, the first and the lowest stage has been given in the 11th verse. And suppose a person says, ‘Oh Lord I cannot practice this also', if a person says that 'I cannot do this also', I will not say: Go to hell. If a person says that 'I cannot do this also' the only advice is better luck, next birth. This is the lowest the शास्त्र can give, fulfill your desires, be materialistic, be materialistic person, doesn't matter, but whatever materials you have take as God's gift. So with this all the five stages have been talked about and all the five stages put together is called भक्तियोगः and a person has to take the appropriate step according to his spiritual evolution, if a person is born advanced person he can take straightaway go to the fourth or fifth step, they are called spiritual prodigies. There are straightaway ready for ज्ञानयोग. How come they are straightaway ready, because they have gone through the first four stages in the previous जन्म, the law is not violated, we don't know their previous जन्म, there they have done and therefore brought forward so the straightaway go to the fifth, otherwise we will start from 1,2,3,4 and 5 and this is going to be wound up in the next verse, which we will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 12, VERSES 12-13

In the 12th chapter from verse no.3 up to verse no.11, Lord कृष्ण talked about five stages of भक्तियोगः. And as I said, you should remember that भक्तियोगः is a separate and exclusive साधन, but it is the common name for all the five stages of साधन and this includes the practice of कर्म, this includes उपासना or meditation and finally भक्ति includes वेदान्त विचार, which is enquiry into the real nature of God. And all these five steps कृष्ण talked about, beginning from the fifth step and ending with the first step. And the first step which was given in the 11th verse talks about the सकाम कर्म itself utilized as a way of साधन. And in this lowest stage of भक्तियोगः, Lord कृष्ण doesn't even expect us to be even a spiritual person. Lord कृष्ण says that you can be a materialist person, you can use even religion for finite worldly benefit, only you have to observe two important points.

i) The first is make sure that when you fulfill your worldly desires, you do not adopt immoral or unrighteous methods, that cannot become part of भक्तियोगः. Therefore condition No.1 is it should be a धार्मिक method of fulfilling your worldly desires.

ii) And the second condition that कृष्ण prescribes is when you do something to fulfill your worldly desire and when you are accomplishing that desire and when you are about to enjoy the benefit of your effort, don't go all out and get lost in the enjoyment, just one benefit before close your eyes and thank the Lord and take the enjoyment as a gift of Lord. You don't call it कर्म-फलम्, change the name and consequentially change your attitude also and take it as ईश्वर प्रसाद. And once a person practices this stage of भक्तियोगः which is the beginning, which itself will start the purification of the mind, because I am enjoying even worldly sensory pleasures as gift from the Lord, ईश्वर सम्बन्ध is involved. The very ईश्वर सम्बन्ध, association with the Lord is capable of purifying the mind and if a person follows this stage for sufficiently long time the mind will become more and more mature and the maturity of the mind is indicated by the refinement of the desire.

So initially it is the grossest form of desire, but gradually the desire itself will get refined, instead of grossest physical pleasures it is subtle and more sensitive. And then gradually the desire it is desire to serve others, which is also a desire but it is a सात्त्विक desire. I want to contribute something to the world which is a desire but it is a सात्त्विक desire. And the most सात्त्विक desire is the desire for the knowledge of the truth itself. So मोक्ष इच्छा becomes the most refined desire. Thus the refinement of desire takes place because of the first level. And once I just graduate to the second level my सकाम कर्मs are converted into निष्काम कर्मs. My desire is instead of selfish desire they become selfless desires, my action should not only benefit me but it should benefit more number of people. The awareness of the society, the awareness of the environment, the awareness of the fellow human beings, awareness of even animals and plants, there is an expanded mind. And that will lead to पञ्च महायज्ञ रूप कर्मs, all my कर्मs will be for the well being of others, I am a beneficiary alright but it benefits others also. This is the second stage of कर्मयोगम् which is called निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग. Then gradually my mind becomes purer and quieter and I am able to get interested in the next level of, what is the next level, इष्ट देवता उपासना रूप भक्तियोगः, my mind is refined, refined sufficiently to withdraw from extrovertedness; extrovertedness itself is an obstacle for spiritual pursuits and once the mind becomes less and less extrovert or more and more introvert, turn towards oneself, I am ready for एक रूप ईश्वर उपासना, which will take me to विश्वरूप ईश्वर उपासना. I don't want to again get into the rut, you remember that and from विश्वरूप ईश्वर उपासना I finally come to निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम्. And निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम् which is otherwise called अद्वैत ज्ञानम् is the highest level of भक्तियोगः. And if I successfully pass through all the five levels of भक्तियोगः I have become a ब्रह्म

ज्ञानि, I have become a स्थिरप्रज्ञः, I have become an अद्वैत भक्तः. So these are the five stages of भक्तियोगः. Now कृष्ण wants to conclude this discussion of साधन in the next verse, i.e., the 12th verse. We will read.

Verse No .12

श्रेयो हि ज्ञानमभ्यासाज्ज्ञानाद्ध्यानं विशिष्यते ।

ध्यानात्कर्मफलत्यागस्त्यागाच्छान्तिरनन्तरम् ॥ १२-१२॥

श्रेयः हि ज्ञानम् अभ्यासात् ज्ञानात् ध्यानम् विशिष्यते ।

ध्यानात् कर्म-फल-त्यागः त्यागात् शान्तिः अनन्तरम् ॥ १२-१२॥

अभ्यासात् ज्ञानम् हि श्रेयः (अस्ति) ज्ञानात् ध्यानम् विशिष्यते, ध्यानात् कर्म-फल-त्यागः (विशिष्यते), अनन्तरम् त्यागात् शान्तिः (भवति) हि ।

So in this verse, Lord कृष्ण talks about four types of साधनसः. And having talked about four types of साधनसः, Lord कृष्ण grades them, from the lowest to the highest, four levels of साधन. And what are the four साधनसः

- i) अभ्यासः,
- ii) ज्ञानम्,
- iii) ध्यानम् and
- iv) कर्म-फल-त्यागः.

These are the four साधनसः enumerated, अभ्यासः, ज्ञानम्, ध्यानम् and कर्म-फल-त्यागः. And what is the meaning of each one of them?

- i) अभ्यासः means meditation upon God. So ईश्वर चिन्तनम् or meditation upon God is called अभ्यासः. And what type of meditation? A meditation which is not backed by knowledge, that is a mechanical meditation without understanding what God is. So I have read some books and I have heard something and I have seen some pictures of God and I don't know what God is, I don't even know whether God exists or not, because there are atheist people who don't believe in God and I don't have a clear answer to them also, but out of blind belief without understanding what God stands for I practice meditation upon God in one form or the other. May be राम form or कृष्ण form or a cross or a crescent, some symbol or the other I take and I practice. This mechanical meditation or knowledge-less meditation is here called अभ्यासः.

ii) Then the second thing is ज्ञानम्, ज्ञानम् means by the thorough study of scriptures. Suppose a person clearly knows what God is. It is possible by systematic study of scriptures to get a very very clear understanding of ईश्वर and this knowledge is called ज्ञानम्. And here by the word ज्ञानम् what कृष्ण means is a knowledge without the practice of meditation. This person has the knowledge of God but he doesn't practice meditation upon the God to internalize the knowledge and therefore what is the second thing, knowledge without meditation; what is the first thing? Meditation without knowledge. So knowledge-less meditation is अभ्यास and meditation-less knowledge is ज्ञानम्. This is the second thing.

iii) The third thing is a combination of both. A person studies the scriptures thoroughly, he understands what God is, what God stands for and not only that he has got clear knowledge but after gaining knowledge he dwells upon the Lord as understood from the scriptures. Therefore what is the third stage: ध्यानम्, ध्यानम् means a mixture of both knowledge and meditation. So you can call it knowledge with meditation or meditation with knowledge, the mixture is called ध्यानम्. So अभ्यासः is knowledge-less meditation, ज्ञानम् is meditation-less knowledge, ध्यानम् is meditation-cum-knowledge, pair or mixture.

iv) And the fourth साधन is कर्म-फल-त्यागः, which कृष्ण has already talked about in the eleventh verse. And what is कर्म-फल-त्यागः: dedicating all the कर्म-फलम्s to the Lord and then again taking back from the Lord, you don't gift to the Lord, because you want it, taking it back from the Lord as ईश्वर प्रसाद, the gift. It is called कर्म-फल-त्यागः.

So अभ्यासः, ज्ञानम्, ध्यानम्, कर्म-फल-त्यागः, this is the present list. And this कर्म-फल-त्यागः साधन is there in the previous list also (previous list of five साधनs, OK), in that five साधन list कर्म-फल-त्यागः is given as the lowest one. We started from third and then He gave ज्ञानयोग and then विश्वरूप उपासना is the next lowest साधन, एकरूप उपासना is the next lower one, then निष्काम कर्म प्रधान योग next lower one, the lowest one is what कर्म-फल-त्यागः. So in the previous list कर्म-फल-त्यागः is given as the lowest and कृष्ण plays mischief in this श्लोक and He gives this list here and He places कर्म-फल-त्यागः as the highest one. That is why this is the most confusing श्लोक of the 12th chapter. In fact, we can eliminate this श्लोक, because it is problematic, because कृष्ण openly contradicts what he has done in the previous श्लोकs. So in the previous portion a list of five साधनs are given and in the list कर्म-फल-त्यागः is the lowest and now He gives a list of four साधन and in this कर्म-फल-त्यागः is the highest. So we may not notice that. But शङ्कराचार्य who is supposed to help us in understanding the शास्त्र, he comes to our rescue and he says: of course it is an open contradiction but you should understand what is Lord कृष्ण's intention. Certainly as given in the previous list, कर्म-फल-त्यागः is only the lowest stage of साधन, that is the fact, because from that only a person has to go to ज्ञानम् and then later go to ध्यानम् and therefore they are higher steps, कर्म-फल-त्यागः is the lowest step only. But unfortunately, majority of people are ready for the lowest step only, because we all have got various worldly desires and therefore we cannot think of निष्काम कर्मs now, we have got so many सकाम कर्मs, children's admission waiting and they have to get married and for that I have to go to that temple at तिरुमाननचेरी. So you just do a कल्याण उत्सवम् and the daughter/son will get married and go to गुरुवायूर and put a cradle, you get a child, when we have got so many such desires how can we talk of निष्काम कर्म. Therefore we are ready or majority is ready for the lowest stage only and if कृष्ण presents that as the lowest, we may feel an inferiority complex and therefore to encourage the people कृष्ण is just transporting this lowest साधन to the highest stage. It is like saying that small is beautiful, you know you work for the big one and you are not able to get the big one and you get the small one and how do you reconcile yourselves, small is beautiful, by exactly like that कर्म-फल-त्याग कृष्ण glorifies. It is called अतिशयोक्ति, exaggeration of a साधन, so that the people will not feel bad to practice that. And therefore this whole श्लोक is called अर्थवाद श्लोकः, अर्थवाद श्लोक means exaggerating the value of a साधन to encourage the people to practice that. And therefore कृष्ण grades these four साधन here. Of these four, what are these four now: अभ्यास, that is knowledge-less meditation, ज्ञानम् – meditation-less knowledge, then ध्यानम् – meditation-cum-knowledge and कर्म-फल-त्यागः and what is the grade that कृष्ण gives here?

i) Here He says the lowest one is अभ्यासः – mechanical meditation, mechanical पूजा, mechanical साधन is the lowest one in this list. Of course mechanical साधन is better than no साधन, very careful, mechanical साधन is better than no साधन. But in the list, mechanical साधन like meditation, सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, which we have learnt in the seventh or eighth year or tenth year, now it is practiced, of course nobody practices now, even if it is practiced they don't even know what is the meaning of गायत्री, it is not known, but they practice it out of fear, because father has said that 'or else भगवान् will punish'. Therefore many people practice, कृष्ण says mechanical meditation is the worst or the lowest.

ii) Then what is the next higher thing, अभ्यासात् ज्ञानम् श्रेयः – better than mechanical meditation of God is the knowledge of God, which is ज्ञानम् and what is the definition of ज्ञानम्, meditation-less knowledge, So meditation-less knowledge is certainly better than knowledge-less meditation. OK. I hope I am not confusing you. It is कृष्ण's job, therefore I cannot escape.

iii) Therefore what is the next better one, ज्ञानात् ध्यानम् विशिष्यते – better than meditation-less knowledge is what: ध्यानम्. What is the meaning of ध्यानम्, I have given you in the beginning, it is meditation practiced after gaining knowledge. So, when I meditate upon God I have a clear idea of what God is, this informed meditation, enlightened meditation is superior to the previous ones, ज्ञानात् ध्यानम् विशिष्यते.

iv) Up to this कृष्ण travels smoothly and now suddenly कृष्ण says, ध्यानात् कर्म-फल-त्यागः – better than all these three साधनs is what, कर्म-फल-त्यागः, which means कर्म-फल-त्यागः is the highest साधन, superior to all the other three. So here alone कृष्ण is doing this mischief, the previous list कर्म-फल-त्यागः is the lowest, here कर्म-फल-त्यागः is elevated to the highest साधन, but we should remember this elevation is not fact-based elevation, this elevation is a compromise that कृष्ण does for the sake of encouraging the people to practice सकाम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग. Therefore ध्यानात् कर्म-फल-त्यागः.

And then what will it lead to, कृष्ण says, त्यागात्, if you practice this कर्मफलत्यागः and what is कर्म-फल-त्यागः you remember, before enjoying any कर्म-फलम् you dedicate it to the Lord and enjoy it as Lord's gift. This is very very intrinsic in our culture, even the illiterate villagers who do not know anything about शास्त्र even they practice it, even when they buy a new dress it is kept in front of the Lord, they put चन्दन, हरिद्रा or something and thereafter only they wear, the dress is not given to the Lord, Lord also knows and we also know, we keep in front and immediately take and we prepare pongal and all those things we keep in front of the Lord and why do we keep because Lord is not going to take it, if Lord also is going to ask for a share, then we will not give all of them and now we are freely offering everything because we know God doesn't want anything, it is only an acknowledgment. In fact, the word निवेदनम् means informing the Lord and what am I informing, ‘Oh Lord, whatever I am going to enjoy has been made possible only because of your grace, even though I have put forth effort, my capacity to work is also a gift from You and therefore I am grateful to You.’ With this awareness when I take, that is called कर्म-फल-त्यागः. And if you practice this, what is the greatest advantage, whatever you get as कर्म-फलम् you can accept without mental agitation. There is no resistance in accepting anything and that is why it is called प्रसादः. In fact, in संस्कृत do you know what is the meaning of the word प्रसादः? Normally when I say प्रसाद what thought comes to your mind? Vadai, chickpea, peanut, तड़ुडु. Remember the meaning of the word प्रसादः is tranquility of mind, equanimity of mind. It is derived from the root, प्र+√सद्, सद् is the root, प्र is the prefix, प्रसादः means मनः शान्ति. So when I take every experience in my life, every object that comes to me, every person that comes to me as children, children are born, husband comes, wife comes, everything is प्रसाद. The greatest risk is what: marriage. And remember in our culture you cannot exchange, no change, what type of children are born to me I don’t know; by calling them प्रसाद what I mean is I have no resistance, the moment the mental resistance stops the mind becomes प्रसादः and that is why त्यागात् – by giving up resistance, because of the awareness that whatever God gives me is welcome, आगते स्वागतम् कुर्यात् and then what is the consequence, शान्ति; समत्वम् योग उच्यते,

So त्यागात् शान्तिः अनन्तरम्, अनन्तरम् means what immediately शान्ति comes. So with this कृष्ण concludes the भक्तियोगः साधनानि and with this verse the first part of 12th chapter is over. And now we are entering the second part of the 12th chapter, which is from verse no.13 up to the end. We will enter into that:

Verse No .13

अद्वेष्टा सर्वभूतानां मैत्रः करुण एव च ।

निर्ममो निरहङ्कारः समदुःखसुखः क्षमी ॥ १२-१३॥

अद्वेष्टा सर्व-भूतानां मैत्रः करुणः एव च ।

निर्ममः निरहङ्कारः सम-दुःख-सुखः-दुःख-सुखः क्षमी ॥ १२-१३॥

So सुखः and क्षमी, when the two dots followed by the letter क्ष the rule of pronunciation should be that the two dots should be completely pronounced, that means what सुखः क्षमी, we should not chant सुखक्षमी, but we should chant सुखः क्षमी, that is the rule of chanting. पाणिनि has written a special सूत्र for this,

शर्पे विसर्जनीयः ॥ अष्टाध्यायी ८-३-३७ ॥

Therefore पाणिनि has taken so much trouble, so we should take a little bit trouble to follow that. Now what is the second portion of the 12th chapter? Now let us imagine a person goes through all the five stages of भक्तियोगः,

- i) सकाम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग,
- ii) निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग,
- iii) इष्ट देवता उपासना,
- iv) विश्वरूप उपासना and
- v) निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम्.

All these five steps a person goes through successfully. How much time it will take? We don't know. It may be possible in one life or it may be carried forward to next life, it may take even several lives, it doesn't matter, let us imagine a person goes through all the five stages, he becomes what? A ज्ञानि, otherwise called a पर भक्तः, a भक्त who has successful gone through all the five. Therefore पर भक्तः means the highest भक्त and this पर भक्त should necessarily have ज्ञानम्, because the fifth stage involves निर्गुण ईश्वर enquiry. And therefore as we are seeing in the तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्, he will first know एकरूप ईश्वर,

Lord with one form, later he will understand God as विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, as the very universe itself and finally he will recognize God has neither one form nor many forms, God is the formless truth behind the formed universe. God is the formless truth behind the formed universe. And the beauty is once I know God as the formless truth the peculiar fact that I discover is that formless truth God is no more an object of knowledge, is no more an object of knowledge, that Lord is the very I, the subject, the observer. Therefore the knowledge is in the form of अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि or सः अहम् अस्मि, सोऽहम्. In fact, in सन्ध्यावन्दनम् itself this has been incorporated so that we will remember the goal, असावादित्यो ब्रह्म, he pours some water, touches the water and then असावादित्यो ब्रह्म, ब्रह्मैव अहम् अस्मि. So this he practices right from the seventh or eighth year, but what type of practice it is, knowledge-less practice, we will chant kada kada. Later alone it becomes a meaningful statement that Lord is non-different from me. Therefore the highest भक्त should necessarily be an अद्वैत ज्ञानि and what is the अद्वैतम्, Lord and me, परमात्मा and जीवात्मा are not two entities, परमात्मा and जीवात्मा are two words for one and the same truth. Just as wave and ocean are not two entities, but they are two different names for one and the same, one and the same water. There is no substance called wave, there is no substance called ocean, there is only one substance called water. Similarly, जीवात्मा and परमात्मा are नाम द्वयम्, but नामि, the वस्तु is only one and therefore the highest भक्त is अद्वैत ज्ञानि, अभेद ज्ञानि. And this highest भक्त or अभेद ज्ञानि has been already mentioned in the 2nd chapter of the गीता as स्थिरप्रज्ञः, स्थिरप्रज्ञः means the one who has got conviction regarding the अद्वैत ज्ञानम्. And now in the following verses what कृष्ण wants to talk about is: How does such a भक्त, that is the highest भक्त or how does such an अद्वैत ज्ञानि conduct himself in the world? How does he face different situations in life? Does he face problems at all and if he faces problems, how does he respond to the situation? In संस्कृत, पर भक्त लक्षणानि, लक्षण means the characteristics, the behavior, the conduct of this अद्वैत ज्ञानि. कृष्ण wants to talk about such a भक्त's लक्षणम् and what is the purpose of talking about his conduct? It is two-fold benefit.

i) The first benefit is once I know the benefit of this knowledge I will be tempted to follow the साधन. It is a clean marketing method. So what is marketing strategy? They talk about the product and if you have this product, what are the advantages and what is the cost of the product they will not say that or it will be there in the bottom in small letters, or they will write thousand rupees and then below they write and thereafter for 20 years monthly installment of Rs.500. That too in small letters, lifelong. Like that person who was regularly paying in installments for the cradle and the last installment is over and the banker asked, “you have got this money for the baby (the cradle is for the baby only), so how is the baby?” He said “I am the baby”; because installments was for so many years. Like that the whole thing is in installment but the thing is what somehow or the other by our TV, by our what you call air conditioner, fridge, etc. So that is marketing strategy has been started by Lord कृष्ण himself in the भगवद्गीता. So He talks about the glory, the benefits of becoming an अद्वैत ज्ञानि. So the first benefit is, you will have incentive, using the carrot method, incentive. Remember the free spoon: you buy the soap power and you get a plastic spoon and they would have included that price in the soap powder, but we buy it, anything free if it is there we have to buy, that is our weakness.

ii) Then the second benefit is, whatever be the natural traits of the ज्ञानि they should become a साधन for me to be deliberately practiced. Whatever is a natural trait of a realized person they should be taken by me as a साधन to be deliberately practiced. So यानि अज्ञानिनः साधनानि or यानि ज्ञानिनः लक्षणानि तानि अज्ञानिनः साधनानि भवन्ति. So whatever be his natural trait they should be taken as a list of साधन which I should deliberately and gradually practice. Therefore we can take this as a list of virtues to be cultivated.

And from this we come to know another important thing also. And that is when a person practices spiritual साधन and attains liberation he is going to survive in this world. So मोक्ष is not a benefit which is promised after death. If मोक्ष is a posthumous benefit that you are going to get after death you will not vote for मोक्ष right now, because you want to survive. So if I say ज्ञान will give you मोक्ष and मोक्ष is giving to वैकुण्ठ or कैलास, what will you say, I don't need ज्ञानम् now, I don't want to वैकुण्ठ or कैलास now, I have got lot of duties to be completed and after everything is over, when I am about to die, give me the knowledge, so that I am ready for traveling. So here कृष्ण makes it very clear, मोक्ष is a state of mind that you will enjoy while you are living in this world. Therefore you can test वेदान्त, if I promise after death what is the proof whether I am telling, what I am telling is correct or not, because nobody can come and question me after death - you promised मोक्ष but I didn't get it. Therefore it is something which we can verify here and now. And therefore our मोक्ष is called जीवन्मुक्तिः, therefore the description that we get is जीवन्मुक्तिः, जीवन्मुक्त लक्षणानि, स्थिर प्रज्ञान लक्षणानि, पर भक्त लक्षणानि, is the topic now. And this is from this verse, thirteen verse and up to the end, i.e., the 19th verse and 20th verse is the conclusion. Now we will see the trait of a ज्ञानि. And this is also useful in another way. Suppose you have a doubt, whether I come under a ज्ञानि list or an अज्ञानि list, because after all I have been studying, attending the classes for so long a time, so how do I know or whether I am जीवन्मुक्त or not? स्वामिजि will you give a certificate: To whomsoever it may concern, the bearer of the certificate is a जीवन्मुक्त, who deserves a garland and a पाद पूजा also. So how am I to know, very easy and you can check up and if the traits are there, naturally we can say we are ज्ञानि, otherwise it means we have to still work and we have to still internalize. And what is the first virtue of a जीवन्मुक्त? First virtue itself you will be bowled, first ball bowled duck.

1) अद्वेषा सर्वभूतानाम्: The trait of a ज्ञानि a realized person is he/she does not hate any being in the universe; freedom from hatred is the first and the most powerful trait. So we should ask do I hate anyone. Anyone? We have got a very big list starting from neighbor onwards, there is a very very big list, bigger the list farther from मोक्ष I am. Therefore if I want to know how far away I am from मोक्ष, take a sheet and write the list, longer the list the more the distance is and when the list becomes smaller and smaller I am getting closer to closer to मोक्ष and the most interesting thing is whenever the शास्त्र says you should not hate anyone, our first immediate approach is we try to justify our hatred. So we give a big description of the person and what all negative traits he has got, what all अक्रमम् he is doing, स्वामिजि that is why I am hating, that means they expect स्वामिजि to OK, that person deserves hatred. So according to शास्त्र, there is no such thing called justified or justifiable hatred. Any form of hatred is unjustifiable. And why do we say so, why we say so, because according to शास्त्र every person is intrinsically a good divine and pure person. There is no impure person in the world, there is no evil character in the world, every single जीवात्मा is essentially none other than शुद्ध परमात्मा, नित्य शुद्ध बुद्ध मुक्त स्वभावः, that शुद्धम् ब्रह्म you are is the teaching of शास्त्र, therefore nobody deserves hatred. No person deserves hatred, because every person is a saint, the worst sinner is also a saint. Then where is the problem? A person's character or actions may be corrupt or wrong action, a person is saintly and pure and the actions which are not the intrinsic nature of the person, the action that a person does or a behavior of a person may be corrupt or wrong or unrighteous or immoral. So our next question is can I hate the action of the person? First one is I cannot hate the person, now the next question is can I hate the behavior or negative trait or wrong actions of a person. शास्त्र says a wrong action of a person also does not deserve hatred. A wrong behavior of a person also doesn't deserve hatred. Why? By hating the behavior you are not going to change the behavior. Hatred is never a remedy for the misbehavior of a person. If by hating a person you can change the character of a person then what we can do, we can hate; call each one and I am going to hate you for a half an hour, like that radiation treatment they do for half an hour 'I hate you', 'I hate you', 'I hate you'. And after half an hour radium treatment called hatred, you find that after 5 sittings, 6 sittings this person has become alright. Does it happen? No person can be, no action or character can be changed by hatred. And therefore person doesn't deserve hatred, behavior also doesn't deserve hatred, person doesn't deserve hatred because every person is innately good, behavior doesn't deserve hatred because behavior cannot be changed by hating a person. So therefore hatred is utterly useless tendency. And not only that according to शास्त्र, not only hatred is totally purposeless the hatred will damage the mind in which the hatred rests, not only it will not change the person who is the victim of the hatred but it will destroy the person in whom the hatred rests. So if I am going to hate someone that someone is not going to change at all, on the other hand hatred like an acid is going to corrode and destroy my mind. Therefore already I am affected by the other person's misbehavior and now I am adding to the damage, what is that, I develop hatred and increase the damage. What am I supposed to do, avoid or decrease or remedy? Instead of taking a remedy I am only making the situation worse. And therefore what does शास्त्र say, every person deserves love and if there is misbehavior on the part of a person, the misbehavior requires an appropriate action, an appropriate response; hatred is not going to solve the problem. Now the next question is, what is the appropriate response? Certainly, hatred is not the appropriate response, because hatred does not change the person, on the other hand it hurts more. Then what should be the appropriate response? शास्त्र says you use any method, साम, educating the person and transforming the thinking process. So साम, दान, भेद and if all of them fail, ultimately even दण्ड you can use if you want, but even when I use दण्ड, the attitude should not be hatred but even दण्ड must be with love alone, even दण्ड must be with love alone, that I am not able to change the person by nonviolence methods and I am forced to used violence or दण्ड, but still I am doing only for improving the person not for the sake of retaliation or hurt. And then the question is, Is it possible to give दण्ड to a loving person? Can you punish a person with love, is it possible? We think punishment and hatred goes together. According to शास्त्र again even punishment is possible with love, the best example is what, what is the best example we have: a mother beating the child. Now-a-days even that cannot be done. You are not supposed to beat the child in some countries, it comes under child abuse and children are given a phone number and the children can phone and the parents can be arrested. I don't know this rights business, human rights, husband rights (nobody is talking OK, I think they will start slowly), wife rights, children rights. Children are also informed of their rights, and therefore the children blackmail the patents. So before all these things come, so parents did some time beat or at least scold the child but even when mother uses violence, the mother can never hate the child and therefore it is possible to take appropriate step without hatred and therefore misbehavior require the appropriate action and the person requires love. None of them - neither the person nor misbehavior requires hate. Therefore even कृष्ण may choose to destroy कंस and He may ask अर्जुन to destroy दुर्योधन. Therefore whatever appropriate action is to be taken we should take, but the advice is it should not be motivated by hatred, but it must be motivated by love and to change or correct the person. Therefore अद्वेष्टा सर्वभूतानाम्, that २ must be very long indicating nobody should come in the list of hatred. This is the first qualification. Now we can check up ourselves and see, you should not ask: स्वामिजि can I have a few persons to keep in the hatred list, because you always say there are some people whom people “love to hate”, they have some such idiom also. I love to hate him, can I have at least a small list? No, no list is allowed. So freedom from hatred is the first trait of a ज्ञानि. More in the next class.

In the first twelve verses of the 12th chapter, Lord कृष्ण has talked about the entire range of साधनसु to be followed by every seeker, which range of साधनसु is called भक्तियोगः. And as I repeatedly said, भक्तियोगः includes the first two levels of कर्मयोग, भक्तियोगः includes the next two levels of उपासना and भक्तियोगः includes the last and final level of ज्ञानयोग also. And by ज्ञानयोग we mean वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम् and without this ज्ञानयोग, the भक्तियोगः series of साधन remains incomplete. भक्तियोगः has to be capped or culminated only through वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासन, which कृष्ण called अक्षरोपासना. And if a person follows all these five stages of भक्तियोग, certainly he would have gone through ज्ञानयोग also, it being the final stage and therefore he should have become a ज्ञानि. And by वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासन, the ज्ञानम् that he receives is that the Lord has never been away from me and the Lord can never be away from me, the distance between me and Lord has been felt by me only because of delusion. So the distance between me and the Lord is caused only by delusion, it is a notional distance and that notional distance is removed by this knowledge. And therefore I am not away from the Lord, Lord is not away from me, सः अहम् अस्मि and अहम् सः अस्मि and a person who has gained this knowledge is called परमहंसः, परमहंसः means अहम् सः and सः अहम्, the one who has clearly grasped is called परमहंसः. And that is why the मन्त्र is also called परमहंसः मन्त्र, सोऽहम् हंसः, अहम् सः सोऽहम् and therefore this culmination of भक्ति we called in the last class as अद्वैत भक्ति or ज्ञान निष्ठा and now from the 13th verse onwards up to the 19th verse of this chapter, कृष्ण wants to talk about the nature of a परमहंसः or the nature of this भक्त, a ज्ञानि भक्तः. कृष्ण has hinted this ज्ञानि भक्तः in the 7th chapter of the गीता when He said,

चतुः-विधाः भजन्ते माम् जनाः सुकृतिनः अर्जुन ।

आर्तः जिज्ञासुः अर्थार्थी ज्ञानी च भरतर्षभ ॥ ७-१६॥

तेषाम् ज्ञानी नित्य-युक्तः एक-भक्तिः विशिष्यते ।

प्रियः हि ज्ञानिनः अत्यर्थम् अहम् सः च मम प्रियः ॥ ७-१७॥

In fact, these two verses of the 7th chapter alone have been elaborated in these verses from 13 to 19. That means a ज्ञानि is the greatest भक्त, because between a ज्ञानि and Me there is no distance at all. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द beautifully says: When love or भक्ति increases the distance decreases and that is why we also say when we love someone very intensely, we have an expression he/she is very close to me. Don't we say that? That person is very close to me and another word is very intimate. So the greater the love lesser the distance or greater the intimacy. So extrapolating this, the greatest love must be that in which the distance must be zero. So infinite love is equal to zero distance. And that is why we try to reduce the distance. So to express intense love what do you do? Embrace and what is the attempt to embrace? By embracing I want to remove the distance me and the person that I love. Extending the same principle in अद्वैत alone the distance between जीवात्मा and परमात्मा is zero and therefore in अद्वैत alone, the love or devotion to the Lord is infinite. Who says? भगवान् says: ज्ञानि तु आत्मा एव मे मतम्, अर्जुन ज्ञानि is not close to Me, a ज्ञानि is Me and I am a ज्ञानि. And it is this highest भक्ति which is being explained in these verses, how he behaves in the world, how he faces the people, because even the greatest ज्ञानि has to exhaust his प्रारब्ध कर्म. And a ज्ञानि's प्रारब्धम् is also a mixture of पुण्यम् and पापम् and now a ज्ञानि may be a noble person, but previously even he has done अकर्मम् as an अज्ञानि and therefore even he is bound to have पुण्य and पाप. In his प्रारब्ध bundle and therefore a ज्ञानि will have to face favorable and unfavorable situations, favorable and unfavorable people and when he faces such situations, how does he take, how does he respond. This is what I said, पर भक्त लक्षणानि. And we saw the first लक्षणम् and what is the first लक्षणम्, सर्व-भूतानाम् अद्वेषा, the one who never justifies hatred, which is the biggest weakness, one who never justifies hatred because there is no justified or justifiable hatred. We may disagree with a person's behavior, we may disagree with a person's action and we may strongly condemn and criticize that behavior or action and we may take appropriate measures to involve even दण्ड, दण्ड means punishment, they are all allowed, but hatred is never allowed as a method of expressing your disapproval, hatred can never be the method of the expression of your disapproval, we can disapprove and disagree and strongly criticize but criticism cannot have even a tinge of hatred. And if I am a victim of somebody's misconduct, to save my skin and my mind I may even go away from that person, but even when I physically move away, mentally I reject none. And that means I should be able to include everyone in my prayers and I should be able to pray for the well-being of all. This capacity to include everyone in your prayers, this inner non-rejection of a person, even though physically you may have to distance but psychologically I don't reject anyone. If there is some weakness in that person, I silently pray Oh Lord, give him सत्-बुद्धि, let him change, I am not able to change him. Therefore Oh Lord, change his behavior, but there is no hatred and this should be natural to me and if I have got that I have assimilated the Vedantic teaching. This is test No.1. Test for whom, not others, very careful, never use this portion to judge the other person, this fellow not a ज्ञानि ticked off, that fellow, far away from ज्ञानम्. Never use this portion to judge other people, we are no one to judge others, these are all indications, parameters to judge myself. And self-judgment also must be appropriately used, because self-judgment can work positively as well as negatively. If I don't know how to intelligently use, self judgment can cause frustration, inferiority complex, I am not growing at all, the other person is spiritually growing very fast and thus it can lead to self-condemnation and guilt, if self-judgment leads to self condemnation and guilt better drop your judgment. Self-judgment must be used only as an inspiration for more effort, without comparing with others I find out where I stand and I put forth the appropriate effort, it must be an accelerating force not a retarding force. And therefore we should be extremely careful if we are using self-judgment. Therefore अद्वेष्टा सर्व-भूतानाम् is character No.1.

ii) Then the next one is मैत्रः – a ज्ञानि is a friend to all, he is a friend of everyone, not close to someone and away from another, he is a universal friend,

भोक्तारम् यज्ञ-तपसाम् सर्व-लोक-महेश्वरम् ।

सुहृदम् सर्व-भूतानाम् ज्ञात्वा माम् शान्तिम् ऋच्छति ॥ ५-२९॥

5th chapter, सर्व-भूतानाम् सुहृदम्. Now the question is what do you a friend? What is the definition of a friend? भर्तृहरि in his नीतिशतकम् gives the definition of a friend:

पापात् निवारयति योजयते हिताय गुह्यम् निगूहति गुणान् प्रकटीकरोति।
आपद्रुतम् च न जहाति ददाति काले सन्मित्रलक्षणमिदम् प्रवदन्ति सन्तः
॥ नीतिशतकम् ६५ ॥

So this is the indication of a friend. What all he does? पापात् निवारयति – so my friend will guide me and direct me if I going in a wrong track. So, my friend should be interested in guiding me, because my intimate weaknesses I will never know. That is why they tell, a lamp, the mud lamp will throw light everywhere but right underneath it is dark. Therefore our own intimate weakness we will never know, like our eyes can see everything but the eyes can never see the color of the eyes. So somebody has to see and therefore, I may not know what are my problems, therefore I should have a friend who tells me what my problems are and the one who does that is a मैत्रः, मित्रम्, therefore पापात् निवारयति – turns away from wrong actions; योजयते हिताय – and puts me in the righteous path; then गुह्यम् निगूहति – I share some of my intimate secrets also with friend, because we all require a confidant, very close person with him I can share everything, so with these surety that the friend will not tell it out, a swiss bank, you know,

Swiss bank account suppose to be secret, they won't reveal. Similarly, we all require a psychological Swiss bank for our mental health, we need someone to blurt our woes and cries. So the friend does that and he reveals my private life, गुह्यम् निगूहति, what is to be covered, kept confidential he keeps confidential; then गुणान् प्रकटीकरोति – all my wonderful character, so my गुणः, my virtues he shares with others. Normally we do the other way round, गुणान् निगूहति, गुह्यम् प्रकटीकरोति and the enjoyment which we derive from that is something great! Juicy news! And there is a pleasure and the people also sit around and induce you to come out and there are certain magazines which are meant only for this purposes, that is the not the right thing, गुह्यम् निगूहति गुणान् प्रकटीकरोति; then आपद्गतम् च न जहाति – so when the friend is in adversity, in crisis the general tendency of the people is to leave, if the friend is in poverty I would not like to be with him, if he asks for loan what to do, Therefore when I lose my money all the family people slowly will get away, because they are worried you may ask for loan, a friend is one who is a friend in need, a friend in need is a friend in deed, it is a beautiful saying and that is translated by भर्तृहरि, आपद्गतम् च न जहाति, in crisis he doesn't leave you; ददाति काते – by giving the help in terms of money or consolation or moral support or even prayer and time he is willing to give when the other person needs, whoever does all these things, सन्मित्र लक्षण इदम् प्रवदन्ति सन्तः. So भर्तृहरि, a very great saint, so he wrote नीतिशतकम्, a beautiful hundred verses on values, very rare and beautiful work and hundred verses on वैराग्यम्, वैराग्यम् शतकम्, very powerful, you read it you run away, thus he just straightaway punches your nose. Anyway, so he is मैत्रः.

iii) And then the next virtue is करुणः, करुणः means compassionate, helpful, when the other person is in distress he has compassion. And what do you mean compassion? Enjoying a sensitive mind which is capable of placing itself in the position of the other person and going through the emotions that the other person will go through. In fact, we do that when we watch a movie, so gradually we identify with the heroine or hero and when one of them dies, while the hero or heroine cries we also start crying and this spouse who is sitting nearby tells, I am here, I have not died, don't cry, but temporarily तादात्म्य भाव. So enjoying a sensitive mind to identify with another person and going through the emotions of the other person it is called mind having empathy. That is going through the feeling, when the other person is happy I also feel happy, when the other person feels angry I also feel. So having the same feeling of others is empathy and naturally when the other person goes through pain it is no more the pain of the other person, it becomes my pain, so

And the others' pain become my pain and I have pain I want to immediately find out a remedy. Similarly, I cannot withstand another's pain and therefore I go out help spontaneously, just as I help myself spontaneously, Similarly, spontaneously I go to the other person's help. And the help need not be always in terms of money, if I cannot do anything, I have told you one method which everybody can use, chant a prayer for one minute and say whatever पुण्यम् is generated by that prayer I am willing to donate, no money expenditure, one prayer, सर्वे भवन्तु सुखिनः सर्वे सन्तु निरामया, not in kada bada express mode, but sincerely, wholeheartedly I chant and I tell the Lord whatever पुण्यम् is generated by this prayer I am donating to God's relief fund, like PM relief fund, I donate to God's relief fund, that is also करुणा. It requires spending quality time for even one minute. The one who can do spontaneously, I think that there is a beautiful saying in तिरुवकुल्ल 'A true friend is a one who hastens to succour one from his misfortune just in the same way as the hand instinctively hurries to hold the slipping dress.’ It is wonderful example. Suppose the dress falls down in the crowd, then immediately hand, you need not deliberately command, spontaneously the hand goes and pulls the dress. In the same way, that person can spontaneously help others in trouble is called करुणः, कारुण्य वारांनिधिम् मीनाक्षीम् प्रणतोऽस्मि, these are all godly qualities. And since the ज्ञानि has become one with the Lord, he enjoys all the godly virtues and that is करुणा.

iv) Then the next one is निर्ममः, the one who is without ownership with regard to anything, the one who does not have any ममकार, ममकार means what: mine notion. The one who does not have any ownership. Don’t ask me what about ownership flats, ownership flat means what: when there is ownership, you are flat! OK, now anyway British English is going away gradually, once upon a time we had British English because they were ruling us, now slowly American English is picking up, so no more flats now they are all changed to apartments, no more lifts but elevators, so therefore ownership flats are all gone. So how you give up the ownership? There are two methods, one is the religious method, another is Vedantic method. Vedantic method you should have clear understanding, religious method is you relatively easier. Vedantic method is what: when I know I am the आत्मा, I come to know that आत्मा is असङ्गः, आत्मा is like space not related to or connected to anything. Therefore आत्मा is नित्य सम्बन्ध रहित, free from all relations and associations and since I am the असङ्ग आत्मा how can I be connected to anything, how can I claim anything as mine. And therefore निर्ममत्वम् means owning up the असङ्ग आत्मस्वरूपम्

न शास्ता न शास्त्रम् न शिष्यो न शिक्षा न च त्वम् न चाहम् न वायम्
प्रपञ्चः ॥ निर्वाण दशकम् ॥

So I am not related to anyone. So therefore I have no possessions, this is Vedantic. And the relatively simpler method is by understanding that everything that I possess is a temporary gift from the Lord so that I will use it properly and grow spiritually. Everything that I possess has been given only for temporary use and after using that I have to leave it back. Therefore whether they are people, children, mother, father, everything and every person is a gift, therefore I remember Oh Lord I am grateful to you for giving me everything and I will use them for my growth and when the appropriate time comes and when you choose to take them back I will not make any complaint against you, I will only add a note (what note is called, all American methods are being adopted) - thank you note, so you have to send it back with a thank you note, Oh Lord! Thank you for giving me my mother, father, the grandmother, grandfather, the spouse, children, anything ultimately including the body, therefore remembering that everything belongs to the Lord, तन मन धन सब कुछ तेरा. It is not a mere prayer but I mean that from my innermost heart and that is called निर्ममत्वम्. We need not physically give up anything, we can use everything with the awareness that they are meant for my use, they are not meant for my ownership. It has nothing to do with the physical possession.

v) And then the next virtue the ज्ञानि enjoys is निरहङ्कारः. When I have got ownership and identification with the external world it is called ममकारः and when I have got ownership and identification with my own शरीर त्रयम् - स्थूल, सूक्ष्म, कारण शरीरम्, that ownership is called अहङ्कारः. So शरीरत्रय अभिमानः अहङ्कारः, शरीरभिन्न विषय अभिमानः ममकारः. Can you understand the difference? Identification with the body-mind-complex is अहङ्कार, identification with everything external is ममकार. And how do you give up the अहङ्कार? There also the same method, even this body is a gift from the Lord. I told you भर्तृहरि wrote नीतिशतकम् and वैराग्य शतकम्, in his वैराग्य शतकम् in the end he writes a beautiful verse. This is the thank you note given by an enlightened person at the person of death. When everybody tries to cry and grieve, भर्तृहरि tells a wise person what will be his attitude. So that beautiful verse he says, this person address all the five elements, आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः, पृथिवी and addressing all of them he says: Oh Elements! you have all given a portion of yours for building up this body, body has got आकाश, a portion and it has got वायु, in the form of breath, it has got अग्नि in the form of temperature, 98.4 and it has got जलम् inside, water is there, we drink and it has got earth, all the weight is the earth. Therefore this physical body called पाञ्च भौतिक शरीरम् is a gift from the five elements given for me, so that I will use this body for attaining मोक्ष. And भर्तृहरि addresses the five elements and tells that I have intelligently made use of this body, now I am returning the body to you,

मातर्मैदिनि तात मारुत सखे तेजः सुबन्धो जल

भ्रातर्व्योम निबद्ध एव भवतामन्त्यः प्रणामाञ्जलिः ।

युष्मत् सङ्गवशोपजातसुकृत स्फारस्फुरान्निर्मल-

ज्ञानापास्त समस्तमोहमहिमा तीये परब्रह्मणि ॥ वैराग्यशतकम् १००॥

I am merging into ब्रह्मन्, I am handing over this body to you. This attitude is called निरहङ्कारः. So निर्ममः, निरहङ्कारः.

vi) Then सम-दुःख-सुखः – so the one who is equanimous, the one who is well poised, the one who has got the mental shock absorber when he travels through the road which is full of potholes, you will understand very well being in चैन्नै roads, so violent and so many holes are there and you cannot cover all the potholes, what best you can do, have a shock absorber in your vehicle, by using the shock absorber the jolt will not come down to zero level, but it is reduced to a great extent so that you can travel reasonably comfortably and Similarly, our life also has got roads, the पुण्यम् part of the road is plain and beautiful but now and then the potholes called पापम् comes and if you have to handle that, you require the shock absorber, the local Gabriel shock absorber will not function there, there is only one absorber that is called ज्ञानम्. So by enjoying the ज्ञानम्, सुख दुःख मिथ्यात्व दर्शनेन, गुरुणा अपि दुःखेन विचात्यते. Not that the jolt comes down to zero but it is reasonably poised without having any trauma in the mind and how to do that? Everywhere there is Vedantic method as well as religious method. Vedantic method is too high and what is that method, अहम् सत्यम्, everything else is मिथ्या, dream. Therefore सुखम् is dream, दुःखम् is dream, सर्व मिथ्यात्व दर्शनेन enjoying a poised mind is Vedantic method but it requires lot of assimilation and there is a simpler religious method also and what is that method, understanding that everything in the creation is given by the Lord and therefore everything in the creation is purposeful. Everything in the creation has got its own purpose. Some things I have known the purpose, in the case of certain other things they appear purposeless, not because they are purposeless but because I have not understood its purpose and therefore this conviction in the fact that भगवान् never creates anything purposelessly. This conviction, this श्रद्धा must be very strong, in fact, the more you study the creation the more you will understand that. Any science you take, the appreciation that we get is everything in the creation is purposeful. तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् we will be seeing later, तस्मात्तत् सुकृतम् उच्यत इति ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-७-२ ॥

The creation is called सुकृतम्, which means there is nothing purposeless and if this understood, we have to apply this to सुख-दुःखम् pair also, which is also an integral part of this creation. The सुख-दुःखम् pair also is an integral part of the creation, that is what we come to know from the पौराणिक study, whether it is राम or whether it is कृष्ण or whether it is धर्मपुत्र, whether it is नल महाराज, everyone goes through ups and down and my conviction is that the सुख-दुःखम् also have got their own purpose and the purpose is my own inner polishing or refinement. So therefore the conversion of my personality, refinement of my personality requires several processes and दुःखम् also is one of the process. Like converting a raw material into final product it has to go through so many procedures, heating is involved, hammering is involved, so many things are involved, similarly, I require all of them for my inner growth. Once I have this strong conviction, सुखम् वा दुःखम् वा, I will be able to accept without resistance or reaction and that is called mental balance. Therefore सम-दुःख-सुखः.

vii) Then the next virtue is, each one we have to test ourselves on and off, how are we fairing in that quality. Then the next one is क्षमी, क्षमी means the one who has got क्षमा, In fact, the best definition of क्षमा is that virtue which we don't have. क्षमा is the most difficult virtue, because the faster the pace of our life more tougher is the क्षमा, क्षमा also is a very very important word, otherwise called तितिक्षा, we have seen this very often, we can define in several ways. When I face a situation which I consider as unfavorable to me, my tendency is to change the situation to make it favorable to me. The situation need not be merely the set-up, even the behavior of a family member. So this family member has certain way of behaving, certain way of doing things, that is also a situation and when I find that a set-up or a behavior or a situation is not favorable, my tendency, spontaneous and natural tendency is changing the situation, converting the situation to make it favorable. And this conversion can be done in two ways, one is the employment of violent methods - either verbal violence immediate flaring up, impulsive flaring up, verbal or even physical violence, this is one method applied to change a set-up or situation. Your own child doesn't listen to you. And then another is a nonviolent method of changing the situation. Of these two which one naturally comes to us? The impulsive and immediate method is the flare-up violent method. And क्षमवान् is a person who always postpones this method, even though my impulsive reaction is to adopt this violent and seemingly quicker method of changing the situation, this क्षमवान् is a person who postpones this method and tries his best to adopt nonviolent methods and the violent method is used only as ‘Go and come again, tomorrow’ method it is called, even at the last moment a chance is given. The greater the postponement the more क्षमा you will have got. And if I should develop this क्षमा, I should have the understanding that violent method is natural and it is effective and it gives immediate benefit alright, that is why we adopt that, because it is natural, flaring up is most natural and definitely it is effective because the other person changes more out of fear rather than conviction, it is method of fear and the other is it is quick also, but this person has to understand even though it is easier, even though it is effective and quick the side effects are worse than the benefits. It is like a powerful drug whose side effects are often worse than the disease itself, the more I understand this very clearly, the more I am convinced of this fact, the more I will avoid this quicker method, for which I should understand the psychology, the functioning of the mind that whenever I use a violent method, the other person is greatly disturbed and if I use violent method, the victim of violence also becomes violent. And therefore not only I am violent, I am creating another violent person. And that person may not retaliate, because it is a child, the child cannot retaliate, when the child grows up and becomes a father, he becomes violent with regard to his children and that child becomes violent, thus we are producing violent people all over, every time I become violent, it is like a nuclear chain reaction. If I understand this very clearly I will try to avoid that method. Not that it should not be there, शास्त्र accepts दण्ड alright, but it is only the last resort and one who postpones that method is called क्षमी. Continuing;

सन्तुष्टः सततं योगी यतात्मा दृढनिश्चयः ।

मर्यापितमनोबुद्धिर्यो मद्भक्तः स मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१४॥

सन्तुष्टः सततम् योगी यत-आत्मा दृढ-निश्चयः ।

मयि अर्पित-मनः-बुद्धिः यः मत्-भक्तः सः मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१४॥

यः सर्व-भूतानां अद्वेष्टा, मैत्रः, करुणः च एव, निर्ममः, निरहङ्कारः, सम-
दुःख-सुखः क्षमी, सततम् सन्तुष्टः, योगी, यत-आत्मा, दृढ-निश्चयः, मयि अर्पित-मनः-बुद्धिः, सः मत्-भक्तः मे प्रियः (अस्ति)। viii) So सन्तुष्टः – the one who has discovered fullness, the one who does not lack anything in life, psychologically or intellectually, knowledge-wise or emotion-wise the one who does not lack anything and this inner पूर्णत्वम् is called सन्तोषः and the person who has got it is सन्तुष्टः. If you remember the स्थितप्रज्ञ portion,

प्रजहाति यदा कामान् सर्वान् पार्थ मनोगतान्।

So the one who is contented and why he is contented, because he has got the knowledge अहम् पूर्णः, पूर्णत्व ज्ञानेन. Then people ask if I already contented then how I will work in the world? If there is contentment then everybody will sit quiet, then nobody will work for the progress of the society, nobody will love to contribute. Our answer is: In fact, contented people alone can contribute. If I have discontentment I will work hard alright, I will earn alright but I can never contribute because whatever I get I will use for myself because any amount I take, I am not satisfied and therefore discontentment will not help in contribution, contented people alone can contribute to the society, because whatever he gets happily he can share with others. And therefore the entire life of a ज्ञानि is dedicated to what: contributing the others, the time is for others, energy is for others, knowledge is for others and therefore a ज्ञानि alone can really contribute. Therefore सन्तुष्टः and when he is सन्तुष्टः, because we also find सन्तोषः now and then, but the problem is contentment comes, the son has passed the 12th exam, crucial exam. So therefore I am so happy and contented, but next moment, which college to admit, which American university, comes the next. So, where is contentment? This transient contentment we are not talking, सततम् सन्तुष्टः – the eternal contentment the one who has he is this ज्ञानि.

ix) And योगी – so the one who is a great योगि. Once I say योगि you will think of शिर्षासनम् only, योग many people think either it is various आसन or the next thing they think is miracles. So here योगः means मोक्षः or ज्ञानम्. So योगि means the one who has got ज्ञानम्. How can the word योग mean ज्ञानम्? The word योग is derived from the root √युज् which means to combine, to unite, to bring together. ज्ञानम् is called योगः because through knowledge alone the distance between जीवात्मा and परमात्मा is removed. Because as I said before in the beginning of the class, the distance between जीवात्मा and परमात्मा is caused only by ignorance. Because In fact, there is no distance between जीवात्मा and परमात्मा. Why there is no distance, why there is no distance? भगवान् is in वैकुण्ठ, it is a great distance, if भगवान् is defined as all-pervading, what will be distance between all-pervading Lord and me. Suppose I say that the all-pervading Lord is in वैकुण्ठ only, what a contradiction, In fact, वैकुण्ठः means हृदयम्, always remember, वैकुण्ठ of पुराण is the symbolic representation of our own हृदयम् only. If Lord is all-pervading, there cannot be distance and if I still feel the distance, it is a notional distance caused by delusion. Like a child sleeping on the lap of the mother and getting a dream in which it misses the mother and the child cries thinking that it has lost the mother and then the mother wakes up the child and the child discovers that I have never lost the mother, In fact, I have been dreaming on the lap. Therefore distance is caused by ignorance, that distance is removed by knowledge, therefore knowledge alone unites जीवात्मा and परमात्मा and therefore it is called a uniting process, योगः means the means of union. जीवात्मा-परमात्मना युज्यते अनेन इति योगः. That with the help of which जीवात्मा gets united with परमात्मा. Therefore he is योगि, means a ज्ञानि. And what about miracles, miraculous powers? So this another confusion, people think that a ज्ञानि should have miraculous powers or else he is no ज्ञानि. I have told you before, there is no rule at all that a ज्ञानि should have miraculous powers, a ज्ञानि should have what: ज्ञानम्. So the very word ज्ञानि indicates ज्ञानम् अस्य अस्ति इति ज्ञानि, the wise man one who has wisdom. So I have told you four types of people, do you remember. The one who has neither miraculous powers nor knowledge, majority, no सिद्धि or ज्ञानम्, type No.4, we have to start from bottom. Type No.3 is the one who has सिद्धि but no knowledge, so ज्ञान रहित सिद्धि is the third variety and the second variety is, can you guess, सिद्धि रहित ज्ञानम्. Self-knowledge without any miraculous powers is the second. First one is the one who has both ज्ञानम् and the सिद्धि. Of these four types, who are the liberated ones? One, two, three and four, who are the liberated ones? The first one is liberated because he has got ज्ञानम्, सिद्धि: is there of course as bonus. The second one is also liberated, because he/she has ज्ञानम्, with though even an iota of सिद्धि: is there. And the third one has got all सिद्धि without ज्ञानम्. In fact, we get this category in छान्दोग्योपनिषत् 7th chapter, नारद tells I have got all सिद्धि, I can read the mind of others, I can know what is under the ground without digging, digging we also do, I can know what is underground without digging, I can read the future, even though all सिद्धि are there,

छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ७-१-३ ॥

So a person even if be the greatest सिद्धि:, if knowledge is not there he is a सिद्ध संसारि, miraculous संसारि. And the fourth one is also संसारि. Therefore remember, ज्ञानम् is primary, never focus on सिद्धि, सिद्धि is an obstacle to मोक्ष. And therefore योगि means ज्ञानि with or without सिद्धि. The next word is यतात्मा, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

In the second part of the 12th chapter of the गीता beginning from the 13th verse Lord कृष्ण talks about the characteristic of the highest भक्त. The highest भक्त being one who has gone through all the five levels of भक्तियोगः. And the final level of भक्तियोगः being nothing but ज्ञानयोगः and therefore the one who has successfully gone through all the five levels of भक्तियोगः will necessarily be a ज्ञानि, who was called a स्थिरप्रज्ञः in the 2nd chapter. And if you want to call him the greatest भक्त, we can call him पर भक्त and स्थिरप्रज्ञः are synonymous. And what are the characteristics of such a स्थिरप्रज्ञः that is the topic we are seeing now. We have covered the 13th verse and now we are seeing the 14th verse in which कृष्ण said सततम् सन्तुष्टः and this भक्त who is a ज्ञानि has understood that I am non-different from the पूर्ण ईश्वरः. If the Lord is पूर्णः, the infinite one, that पूर्ण ईश्वर cannot be away from me, because if the पूर्ण ईश्वर is away, minus me the ईश्वर will become अपूर्णः, because the infinite should include everything. And therefore the ultimate knowledge is पूर्ण ईश्वरः is not away from me, पूर्ण ईश्वरः is not different from me. In short I am पूर्ण ईश्वरः. पूर्णः means what: पूर्ण means सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम्. And when I discover the fact that I am पूर्णः, I do not lack anything in life, I do not miss anything in life, I never suffer from the problem of self-inadequacy. I can sing the well-known तमिळ् song, 'No regrets have I.' It is not a mere verbal expression, but I can tell from my own inner heart, I don't lack anything in life, I don't miss anything in life. And as long as I lack something or miss something, I cannot keep quiet, I will become restless. And therefore there is a constant struggle to make myself complete. And this struggle will continue eternally, until I discover that I don't lack anything and in the case of the ज्ञानि, he has discovered the fact I don't miss anything. And therefore आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. It was said in the 2nd chapter, the same idea is conveyed here as सन्तुष्टः, it is not English some tustah, it is संस्कृत सम्यक्

तुष्टः. I don't miss anything in life. If God suddenly appears in life in front of me and ask what do you miss in life, so that I can give that and you can die peacefully. In our head hundreds of things come, there are so many things, I don't have a son, I don't have a daughter, I don't have a grandchild, I don't have a house, I don't have this and then comes I don't have a good body, then I don't have a good nose, I don't have a good hair, I don't have hair at all, good later, so many things are there, physical lack, emotional lack, intellectual lack. Lack is three-fold, शारीरिक अपूर्णत्वम् means not being satisfied physically, in terms of height or weight or complexion or the length of the nose that is why plastic surgeons are thriving; so plastic surgery thrive because of this lack alone. Then there is emotional lack, my son doesn't talk to me every day from Washington DC, so daily they want to phone, what to talk, so therefore, that is emotional talk, nobody talks to me, nobody asks me how are you, I have got cold for the last three days and I want people to enquire. And then comes intellectual lack. There are many basic questions for which I don't have answer, the fundamental question being why at all भगवान् created this world. He could have kept quiet, Could he not kept quiet uttering शिव शिव, why did He create the world, if He is omniscient and omnipotent, why could He have created the world in a better way at least without the mosquitoes. I don't whether there are too many mosquitoes here. So thus सन्तुष्टः means physically, emotionally, intellectually I don't lack anything and when not during morning or night, or sunday or monday, सततम् सन्तुष्टः – I am ever free from all lack or want and that does not mean this person should not be active in the world. Such a contended ज्ञानि can also be active but the activity is not born out of incompleteness. When the activity is born out of incompleteness it is called a struggle, life becomes a drag, life becomes a burden, life becomes a struggle. What is the definition of struggle? Any activity you do which is backed by a sense of incompleteness, whereas in the case of a ज्ञानि not that he sits in a cave, he is also active like other people, as कृष्ण said in 3rd chapter,

कुर्यात् विद्वान् तथा असक्तः विकीर्षुः लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् ॥ ३-२५॥

He is involved in activities, perhaps he is more busy than a संसारि, but the difference is the activities do not come from a wanting mind, an incomplete mind. Therefore the activities are not at all a struggle, activities are called the लीला, a ज्ञानि's activities are called लीला, अज्ञानि's activities are called struggle and therefore सततम् सन्तुष्टः and योगी, योगी I told you in the last class is a ज्ञानि, the one who has accomplished the knowledge which is the ultimate योग, literally the word योग means that which combines two things, the जीवात्मा – the seeker and परमात्मा – the sought, these two are brought together by whatever means that means is called योगः. That is why कर्मयोग is called योगः, because that also helps; उपासनायोग is also called योगः, that also helps; but the योग which really brings जीवात्मा and परमात्मा together is the knowledge that we need not bring them together, the knowledge that we need not bring them together, because we have never been away. Therefore ज्ञानम् is the योग in its primary sense, कर्म and उपासनाs are called योग in the secondary sense, योगार्थत्वात् योगः इति लक्षणया उच्यते. He is योगि, up to this we saw in the last class.

x) Now the next word: यत-आत्मा, आत्मा in this context means body-mind-sense-organs-complex, स्थूल, सूक्ष्म, शरीर द्वयम्, otherwise the technical word used is कार्य करण सङ्घातः, consisting of the body, the sense organs and the अन्तःकरणम्, the mind all these three put together is called आत्मा in this context, not the सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, but body-mind-complex is called आत्मा here and यतः means regulated, well managed, well kept under control, mastered. Therefore यत-आत्मा means that person who has learned to manage or handle his own body- mind-sense-complex. That means he knows how to use them as his own instruments, he is not enslaved by the ज्ञानेन्द्रियs or कर्मोन्द्रिय, he is the master. To use the तत्त्वबोध language, शमादि षट्क सम्पत्ति, self-discipline is indicated by यत-आत्मत्वम्. And for this self-discipline alone, we have got a special science called the अष्टाङ्ग योगः of पतञ्जलि, it is a beautifully well-defined system, which takes care of our character through यम and नियम, I have talked about this in my introduction to the 6th chapter, यम, नियम takes care of my character integration, आसन takes care of my physical integration, प्राणायाम takes care of my energy integration, प्रत्याहार takes care of my sense organs integration, धारण ध्यान समाधि takes care of my mental integration. Thus discipline and integration, at all the levels is accomplished by अष्टाङ्ग योग and through that this person has become यत-आत्मा, an integrated person. And in fact, this self-integration is required before coming to वेदान्त itself and that is why it is one of the साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, I don't know whether you remember this word, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, that means become coming to वेदान्त one requires integration, during the study of वेदान्त one requires integration for reception, if you have to listen to one hour without distraction, it is a very very great accomplishment. I don't whether you are capable or not, only you know, my thing is only assumption that one hour you are listening without distraction. So श्रवणम् requires integration and ultimately after completing the श्रवणम्, the assimilation or निदिध्यासनम् also requires integration. And therefore self-discipline is required lifelong and a man or women without self-discipline cannot accomplish anything. Even reading a simple article in a magazine will be difficult because 5 lines I read, then I require a cup of coffee, you know, so much concentration I have done, then go round, then I read another 10 lines and watch a channel and then I read another 10 lines, it is like that, the attention span is very very limited. Therefore this person is यत-आत्मा, before as well as later and because of this self-disciple only, xi) दृढ-निश्चयः – be has been able to attain Self-knowledge. दृढ-निश्चयः means स्थिरप्रज्ञः, दृढ means स्थिर, निश्चयः means प्रज्ञ, दृढ-निश्चयः means स्थिरप्रज्ञः, दृढः निश्चयः यस्य सः, बहुव्रीहि, that means the one who has got knowledge with conviction. And that is why we have got two processes of Vedantic study, the first process is you listen to the entire Vedantic teaching systematically for some time without raising any question, like the cow eating the grass wandering all over, which is called श्रवणम्, even if you get some doubts in the middle you don't ask those doubts, you keep them aside and generally you find as even you listen more and more the doubts gets cleared. Generally people ask: स्वामिजि do you have any telepathy, because I came today with a doubt and you exactly dealt with that. I tell you, I don't have any pathy. This is how it is, this is how it works. Therefore for a length of time you do श्रवणम्, giving the benefit of the doubt to the teacher and the teaching, whatever doubts you get, you keep it aside. And once you complete the comprehensive listening generally much doubts don't remain, but if they are there, you start the second process called मननम्, when you eliminate your doubt and only when the doubts are removed, which are problems at the intellectual level, because fortunately or unfortunately we have an intellect. And the job of the intellect is always to raise questions and स्वामि विन्मयानन्द nicely says, longer the beard greater the doubt. So out of respect for the गुरु you may nod your head, but if the intellect is not convinced it will not swallow. Therefore until I am convinced I have to raise questions and answer and when I do श्रवणम् and मननम् I will get conviction, which is called दृढ-निश्चयः. From this it is very clear that the greatest भक्त must have clear Vedantic knowledge. How do you know, कृष्ण himself tells it very clearly, without Vedantic knowledge you will be a भक्त, but there will always be a distance between the Lord and the भक्त. Therefore भक्ति can reach its culmination only when the Vedantic study is done and assimilated, therefore दृढ-निश्चयः.

xii) And then the next characteristic of this पर भक्त is मयि अर्पित-मनः-बुद्धिः. I have told before, our appreciation of the Lord takes place at three levels, initially God is एकरूप ईश्वरः as a person who is the creator of the world and therefore I place him in वैकुण्ठ, कैलास, heaven or some place, called इष्ट देवता ईश्वरः. Then there is further elevation, I learned to look upon God as not only the creator, but Lord is one who is the very cause which has manifested in the form of universe and therefore विश्वरूप ईश्वरः is the next level and the final is the अरूप ईश्वरः, I had said. That is the Lord doesn't become the world, the Lord appears as the world. And the most important point that you should note here is the higher levels of भक्ति do not displace or destroy the lower levels of भक्ति. If the higher levels of भक्ति displaces or destroys the lower levels, that means he has not understood वेदान्त properly. So therefore a ज्ञानि who appreciates the formless God, he can still continue to have devotion to the formed Lord also and that is why you can have a शङ्कराचार्य, who talks about निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म in his ब्रह्मसूत्र and उपनिषत् भाष्यम्:

अशब्दम् अस्पर्शम् अरूपम् अव्ययम् ... ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-३-१७ ॥

he can brilliantly deal with the formless and then he can also write splendid and poetical श्लोकs on Lord शिव, on देवी, on सुब्रह्मण्य or on सरस्वती that means what अद्वैतम् cannot destroy द्वैत भक्ति and In fact, one आचार्य says, In fact, an अद्वैति can enjoy द्वैत भक्ति more than others,

द्वैतम् मोहाय बोधात् प्राक् बोधे अद्वैते मनीषया ।

बोधात् ऊर्ध्वम् तु तत् ज्ञेयम् अद्वैतात् अपि सुन्दरम् ॥

An अद्वैति never loses his इष्ट देवता भक्ति and therefore he has got now two channels or even three channels, एकरूप channel, अनेकरूप channel, अरूप channel. So when he is in a temple or in front of the deity, एकरूप channel he enjoys and when he travels around in बद्रीनाथ, केदारनाथ, हिमालय, Ganges, wonderful flowers all of them, that also he enjoys because nature for him is विश्वरूप ईश्वरः and then he can close his eyes and enjoy अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि, the अरूप. So when he has got emotional needs then personal God is ideal, when there is emotional need personal relationship is always ideal, because when we have emotional problems you always will like to pour out in front of someone. That is what they say, in the olden days when there was a joint-family system the children were more psychologically healthy, because whenever they had some problem there was someone or the other and in psychological language they say an empty lap was always there. You know what is an empty lap? Somebody's lap was there always so that we can go, lie over the lap and cry and mother says, doesn't matter or grandmother says, grandfather says, uncle says, aunty says, somebody or the other. Now the family is shrinking, therefore empty laps are becoming empty. Because it is a nuclear family, that is why there are explosions, nuclear means what happens, explosion. Therefore father is busy, mother is also working busy. So when the child goes to the school, I had a quarrel with a friend and he beat me, the mother is tired and therefore she also gives another and asks why did you quarrel with that child. As such he had got beating, now two more from the mother also. Therefore the other person need not do anything, we require only an intelligent listener to our problem and who will nod the head at the appropriate time, otherwise you don't know whether it is out of sleep or out of understanding. So personal relationship psychologically is supposed to be very important and इष्ट देवता becomes as a backup relationship. You can have relationship at home, but if all of them fail you can always cry in front of राम, त्यागराज did, मीरा did and all भक्तs did and अद्वैतs also can enjoy. शङ्कराचार्य does that in शिवानन्द लहरि, you can see he is pouring out as an individual person and that is called the surrender of the mind at the feet of the Lord, इष्टदेवता भक्ति. But there are times when our emotional personality lies low, but it is the intellectual personality that is dominant and therefore it begins to ask rational questions about God. Then personal God often doesn't satisfy or we have got questions why God created world with lot of difficulties, so many ticklish problems are there. So when intellect is dominant, then we have to know the real nature of God, God as the absolute reality which doesn't have any form but which is the substratum of all the forms. Therefore when the intellect is dominant we have got निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म and when the mind, emotional personality is dominant we have got सगुण ईश्वर. Thus keep shifting between सगुण and निर्गुण. शङ्कराचार्य says that

नागात्मकम् सगुण-निर्गुणम् अद्वितीयम् ... वाराणसीपुरपतिम् भज विश्वनाथम् ॥ विश्वनाथाष्टकम् ६ ॥

Almost in all श्लोकs शङ्कराचार्य will talk about सगुण निर्गुण अद्वितीयम्. Therefore use both of them and emotional level इष्ट देवता will be useful and at intellectual level God as ब्रह्मन्. And therefore कृष्ण says मयि अर्पित-मनः-बुद्धिः, the one whose emotional personality and the one whose rational-intellect, questioning-intellect, both of them are at the feet of the Lord. And इष्ट देवता भक्ति, devotion towards a personal God is always developed through पुराणs alone, for that only they have this gods are presented and the अवतार and their लीला and the more you read, that particular aspect of the Lord becomes more and more solid, concrete for you. As I have often said for त्यागराज that idol is not a piece of inert matter and that is why he was shattered when he lost that. We can argue rationally, after all some metal we can make another one and give donation. It is not so. And how can one develop? Only through that भगवद्गीता श्रवणम् it is called and therefore मयि अर्पित-मनः-बुद्धिः यः मत्-भक्तः and such a devotee who has the appreciation of एकरूप, अनेकरूप and अरूप ईश्वरः, that person is dearest to Me. In fact, dearest is not the word, he is Me, ज्ञानि तु, always the remember the 7th chapter, ज्ञानि तु आत्मा एव मे मतम्, I am he, he is Me. Continuing; Verse no.15;

Verse No .15

यस्मान्नोद्धिजते लोको लोकान्नोद्धिजते च यः ।

हर्षामर्षभयोद्वेगैर्मुक्तो यः स च मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१५॥

यस्मात् न उद्धिजते लोकः लोकात् न उद्धिजते च यः ।

हर्ष-अमर्ष-भय-उद्वेगैः मुक्तः यः सः च मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१५॥

लोकः यस्मात् न उद्धिजते, यः च लोकात् न उद्धिजते, यः च हर्ष-अमर्ष-भय-उद्वेगैः मुक्तः, सः मे प्रियः (अस्ति)।

There are two types of people. One type of person is he who has got a rock like heart, stone like heart and because his heart is like a rock whatever experience he gets he is not affected at all, because his heart is like a stone. Nothing affects him. In fact, it is wonderful to have such a firm rock like heart. In fact, we pray to the Lord to get such a heart. So during उपनयनम्, the ब्रह्मचारि is asked to stand on a rock, then standing on the rock, he says,

आतिष्ठेयम् अशमानम् अशमेव त्वम् स्थिरः भव /

आतिष्ठेममशमानमशमेव त्वम् स्थिरो भव ॥ हिरण्यकेशी गृह्य सूत्र ॥

So the आचार्य blesses the student, your heart must be strong enough to withstand the ups and downs, the vicissitudes of life, because you are becoming a responsible citizen, you are going to be a student, then you are come out, you are going to varieties of people, therefore you should have really well immunized heart and Similarly, the girl has to do the same thing at the time of her wedding, there also the same prayer is addressed, only thing the gender is changed,

आतिष्ठेयम् अशमानम् अशमेव त्वम् स्थिरा भव

There स्थिरो, here स्थिरा, because the girl is also entering the new family, new house and there is the mother-in-law, OK, I am not against mother-in-law and there is the sister-in-law or there is brother-in-law, father-in-law, unknown place and unknown people and unless you have got really rock like heart the marriage won't last for long. So it is very good to have a rock like heart and those people who enjoy such a heart and they have the advantage that they are not hurt by any situation. But the problem is they are not hurt by others, but since they have a rock like heart they keep on hurting every other person, because rock. So therefore such people they are not hurt, but they keep hurting every other sensitive person, they are inconsiderate, they are not very careful of their language, because they are not affected and therefore they think that others are also buffaloes skinned like them. This is one type of people who don't get hurt but who keeps hurting others. Now we have got a second variety of people, they have got a very very very tender rose like heart, therefore they are extremely sensitive people and therefore they are very considerate, therefore they can sense others' emotions, others' pain, they have got empathy. And therefore, they are always careful with regard to handling others, they never hurt other people, the sensitive people do not hurt others, because they are sensitive, they can sense the difficulties of others. But what is the problem, since I am too sensitive and since I am like a rose flower, I get very very easily hurt by others; any word, any casual thing happens this person doesn't sleep for days and that person did not mean anything, he only asked when did you come or why did you come and this fellow gives primary commentary, secondary commentary, perhaps he doesn't want me to come to the house, that is why he is asking like this, that he is so sensitive and most of the time he is hurt. Like in science we have got sensitive balance, science students will know, which is kept within a glass case because the pointer of the balance is easily disturbed by even a fine dirt or a slight breeze, that is why they have kept in glass case and even a part of hair falls on one of the balance, the pointer will not come to the center or rest. Therefore the definition of sensitive balance is that whose pointer never comes to rest. Similarly, a sensitive mind; it has to be kept in glass case, that means no transaction should take place, but how it is possible, I am in the wide and wild world and everybody talks in his own language. So being sensitive I don't hurt others but I am hurt most of the time. Then what to do, how to handle the situation? Either way I am in trouble, if I am gross I hurt others, if I am sensitive I am all the time hurt. Then who is a ज्ञानि? ज्ञानि कृष्ण tells: he is like a flower when he handles others and he is like a rock when he receives experiences from the world. So as a कर्ता he is like a flower, as a भोक्ता he is like rock. कर्ता means what: I contribute to the world, so when I work in the world I am sensitive, but at the same time the sensitivity must be supported by wisdom and maturity. Because the more sensitive you become the more gross you will see others. Like the musician, you know, a very very advanced musician, he will be adjusting the श्रुति of the तम्बुर for 45 minutes, concert is only 1 hour, but he takes 45 minutes, for us all श्रुति looks the same, he just adjusts and one string he moves a little, again he hears, one string down, he is so sensitive that the minutest अपश्रुति he can sense. And therefore the greater the sensitivity the more you are aware of insensitivity around and therefore I should learn to accommodate the immaturity of others if I have chosen to become sensitive. Like if I have a sensitive body I have to protect it very well, I should not drink any water, you know Indian people's health is so rough that you drink any water nothing will happen, but these people live abroad, so crystal clear water and they come to India and next day they never come out of bathroom, why, if you are so sensitive you should also have the protection. Therefore sensitivity should be supported by maturity, maturity means understanding that different people have different levels of maturity and sensitivity.

xiii) So therefore, यस्मात् लोकः न उद्धिजते – so a ज्ञानि is one who does not disturb the world. So he is so sensitive to the conditions of the people that he doesn't hurt others deliberately; unknowingly people may get hurt that is a different thing. So he is so sensitive to others' feeling, a considerate person, in simple language, अहिंसक, he doesn't do any हिंसा to others. So लोकः means the people of the world, न उद्धिजते means are not disturbed, उद्वेगः means disturbance, यस्मात् means because of this ज्ञानि; the world is not disturbed because of the ज्ञानि because he is always sensitive and aware of his surroundings. And at the same time, he is so tender like flower when it comes to receiving the experiences, people talking nonsense, insulting, criticizing, when such situation comes, he makes his heart hard like the rock of Gibraltar, they say, any amount of waves lashing is not hurt, therefore लोकात्, because of the various experiences that he receives, न उद्धिजते – he does not get disturbed, that is why there is a beautiful श्लोक on the glory of a ज्ञानि,

वज्रात् अपि कठोराणि मृदूनि कुसुमात् अपि । लोकोत्तराणाम् चेतांसि कः नु विज्ञातुम् अर्हति ॥

ज्ञानि's heart is harder than even a diamond. When it comes to receiving experiences he is so firm, he is not disturbed and at the same time, मृदूनि कुसुमात् अपि – he is more tender than even a flower when he is handling. But the problem is many people in the world are the other way round. When they handle others they are कठोराणि, when they receive experiences, मृदूनि, that is greater problem. Therefore, यस्मात् न – he doesn't hurt, in simple English, he doesn't hurt, he is not hurt. This is the glory of a ज्ञानि. And since he doesn't hurt, he doesn't have guilt also in life, only when we hurt others we develop guilt. Therefore a ज्ञानि is free from both hurt and the guilt which are too powerful mind disturbing emotions - hurt and guilt. A ज्ञानि is free from both.

xiv) Then हर्ष-अमर्ष-भय-उद्वेगैः मुक्तः, मुक्तः means free, liberated, released. So a ज्ञानि is मुक्तः, so that word is common, जीवन्मुक्तः we use. But generally our doubt is whenever we say a ज्ञानि is a liberated person, free person the question comes free from what? Does it mean free from family that he becomes a संन्यासि, that he is free from regular dress that he has got काषाय वस्त्रम्, what do mean by free, free means free from what the question comes. कृष्ण gives the definition, we are not talking of freedom from external things, that is not the primary thing, internal freedom alone we are talking, वेदान्त is bothered about your inner freedom, inner freedom from what, four items are enumerated here, हर्ष-अमर्ष-भय-उद्वेगः. These are the four terrible things which can make the mind a भारम्, a burden for me and what are those?

a) The first one is हर्षः, हर्षः means excitement, over-excitement, elation. What is difference between excitement and over-excitement? Over-excitement is that type of happiness in which I lose my discriminative power. Any emotion which clouds the discriminative power is inimical to us, because ultimately the greatest wealth भगवान् has given to us is विवेक शक्ति, the discriminative power. Come what, I should never allow emotions to rob my discriminative power. So even excitement or happiness if it goes beyond limits and I lose myself and I lose my discriminative power, then it is a danger. What is the danger? When I lose my discriminative power I forget the fact that the greatest excitement is also temporary, that is the fact and if I forget the fact that it is temporary I am not prepared to lose it, I expect that to be permanently with me which is a wrong expectation and wrong expectation is born out of what, indiscrimination and wrong expectation will always create shock in life because I expect things to be permanent and that goes away I am shattered and therefore हर्षः is also not good, even physically, even from the standpoint of health angle, elation or excitement is not good. You would have heard of people who died of heart attack by hearing good news. So one person contested election regularly and got defeated and after several times defeat, 27th time or 28th time, he was enjoying that and then one time he thought that I am not going to win, some mistake perhaps and he won and he was so happy that he died of heart attack and in cricket viewers also sometimes die out of over-excitement caused by not defeat, caused by victory. Therefore, over-excitement is not even good for heart and therefore what to talk of spirituality, therefore हर्षः.

b) Then the next problem is अमर्ष, अमर्ष means intolerance, restlessness, impatient, etc. And that is another problem that we face, the more dynamic and perfect a person is the more disturbed that person is, because he is used to getting things done in a day and half a day, because he is dynamic, immediately he goes there, makes a phone call, does this. So he has got such a way of doing things, that anybody is little slow he cannot stand. So you will find dynamic people are generally irritable and perfectionist also, perfectionism is very good, but we should remember perfectionism is very rare. Therefore when I become a perfectionist, I want the pen to be in its place and also how it should be, downside up or upside down and then generally they get the children who are just the opposite, you have to keep it properly. Perfectionism is very good, but if I don't have patience and accommodation, it can be really a problem because, generally I am irritable and if anybody is slow in doing things, at home he asks his wife for a cup of coffee and she says, coming, moment he says coffee, she should be in front with the coffee with the right temperature. Otherwise things will fly, many people they are very good achievers, but very very irritable. So therefore अमर्ष, perfectionism should go with tolerance, patience, because everybody has to grow in his own or her own pace, you cannot make everyone perfect overnight. That does not mean we should be loose everywhere, he need not be extreme. Therefore अमर्ष means irritability and that you can generally see in traffic signals. But many people don't believe in signals and they think that it is a road decoration, but there are some people who still follow, but what do they do is as even the time goes inch by inch, they have come almost in the middle of the road and if there are people behind, the moment green signal comes, honk, honk, honk, you can see even today you watch, the moment red turns green, there will be one driver who will immediately horn as though we are enjoying the stay there, we are going to start, when there are so many cars, each car has to start, cumulatively it will take half a minute, half a minute, because the IT people you know, the advancement is so much that in half a minute he can accomplish so much, therefore he is intolerant. Therefore inner leisure is called freedom from अमर्षः and constantly looking at the watch also. That is why I stop the class at 7 o'clock, OK, very time conscious, one minute excess they are intolerant. So, I don't want to disturb those people and anyway I will take 1-2 minutes and stop, I am aware of the time.

c) So the next one is: भयम्, so भयम् means insecurity, fear which is innate in everyone, right from the womb we have got the sense of insecurity, that is why the child clings to the mother all the time and if the mother is not there, I don't know whether you have watched the interesting thing, that child will keep the bit of mother's sari and walks around, that sari represents mother. And this continues even now, because unfortunately from physical plane we are vulnerable, it is a truth that physically we are never hundred percent secure, our physical body is fragile that any situation can affect our body, a little bit weather changes cough starts or this or that and above all, कालः is there. Therefore we should remember physically we are ever insecure, that is a fact, even if there is a great medical advancement they can never make the physical body immortal, there were आयुर्वेदिक वैद्यs who talked about कायकल्पम्, कायकल्पम् is system by which you make your body immortal and the authors of those works have died! Very clear.

After talking about the five stages भक्तियोगः, now Lord कृष्ण is talking about a person who has successfully gone through all the stages of भक्तियोगः and therefore he is the highest भक्त whom we call पर भक्तः or अद्वैत भक्त or अभेद भक्तः or a ज्ञानि भक्तः, a भक्त in the highest level is necessarily a ज्ञानि and the ज्ञानम् or knowledge that he enjoys is that the Lord in his original nature is not away from me and in fact, is not different from me in my original nature. And because of this wisdom and this अद्वैत भक्ति, this person enjoys a particular फलम् result or benefit, which the scriptures call जीवन्मुक्तिः or मोक्षः. And the first thing we have to note here is that this benefit is not something promised after death. If it is promised after death we will never know whether we will get or not, there is no way of verification at all. But here the benefit promised are here and now and all the benefits enjoyed by this जीवन्मुक्त are the benefits at the mental level. We are not talking about certain mystical benefits or certain types of miraculous powers etc. In fact, कृष्ण does not mention anything about सिद्धि or miraculous powers. जीवन्मुक्ति is enjoying a mind which is free from all the regular emotional disturbances. And what are those regular emotional disturbances which everyone goes through, which we put together called संसार. They are nothing but काम, basic self-inadequacy. Not being happy with the present as I am, leading to क्रोधः, leading to लोभः, leading to मोहः, leading to मद-मात्सर्यः. These are all the permanent disturbances which afflict us all during the waking hours. And therefore कृष्ण defines मोक्ष as freedom from these fundamental mental problems, fundamental problems. And that is what is enumerating in the fifteenth verse which we were seeing in the last class. कृष्ण mentioned four of the fundamental and chronic mental disturbances that we suffer from, they are हर्ष, अमर्ष, भय and उद्वेगः. This constant fluctuating emotion, at one time, I am very hyped, I am extremely elated, हर्षः and at another time, I am at the bottom of the world, आमर्षः, like a cricket match. So one wicket they take on the top and the other person hits a sixer on the bottom and again hopes are raised and again it comes down, this up-swinging mood all the time and if they win, the series is going to be dropped, if we win, I am really happy that so many students came to the class and I won't be surprised if a late comer is asked what is the latest score. So therefore this swinging up and down constantly and if this happens to according to my will and plan it is an enjoyable game. But all these are happening not with my control, I have to helplessly go through such situation, is called संसार. Therefore हर्ष we talked about. Then the next one is अमर्ष, which I talked about. अमर्ष means intolerance, intolerance at several levels and at the level of games intolerance is I cannot accept the success of the opposite party. If I cannot decently fail, decently succeeding is easy but decency in failure is the most difficult thing and that is called अमर्ष, envy, I cannot accept the उत्कर्ष or better situation of other people. Especially if that person is my rival, if Pakistan and Australia play cricket, I want Australia to win, you know why, it should be like that, पर उत्कर्षम् दृष्ट्वा जायमानः संतापः अमर्ष. When another person is thriving and I am not able to reach his level in that field I cannot stand it. The very topic disturbs my mind, In fact, I look for something to criticize. If somebody comes and tells that he is so great, then I add, do you know his private life. So always find something to put that person down. So this tendency, this jealousy, this envy is also called आमर्षः and there is no remedy for jealousy, perhaps for all other what you call weakness we might have a remedy, for jealousy, it is very very difficult to find a remedy and that is why in all fields even in spiritual field it can happen, I have got hundred devotees but the other one has got hundred and ten, problem. So jealousy is a problem at all levels, to be free from that and to admire another person's superiority and that too in my field, a doctor can admire the superiority of a cricketer, no problem, superiority of a musician, no problem, but in the same field when somebody is superior it is very very difficult to accept. That is why they tell, doctors don't misunderstand, doctor joke they say, a patient came and said "I have got this problem, I went to that particular doctor first" (so this doctor considers the other doctor an enemy). "So he is a foolish doctor, what advice did he give you?" "He asked me to come to you." What foolish advice he gave you? He asked me to come to you. Like that a musician cannot appreciate another musician, a स्वामि sometimes cannot accept another स्वामि, it is a very big problem. You know what is मोक्ष, freedom from this, what a wonderful state of mind, you have got a good word about everyone. Somebody asked what about that स्वामि, everybody has got some wonderful character, he is doing that job, one स्वामि may be serving the society, another स्वामि may be teaching, another स्वामि may be using miracles for good purposes also. So therefore, the capacity to admire and have a good word for everyone is a wonderful character, which a ज्ञानि enjoys,

कियन्तः ॥ नीतिशतकम् ७९॥

भर्तृहरि says: With a magnifying glass a noble person looks at the minutest plus points and their minus points he sees with a concave lense. We also have both these lenses, but the problem is where we use what, that is the problem. Whenever good virtues are there concave lense we use and minus minutest drawback, magnified. That is called संसार and therefore हर्षात् मुक्तः, अमर्षात् मुक्तः, free from envy. And next one is भयात् मुक्तः, so that word मुक्तः must be added to each one. So the next problem is what, भयम्, fundamental insecurity, innate fear which starts from our babyhood itself and which continues until the last moment, constant nagging fear and भर्तृहरि in one of his शतकम्s (वैराग्य शतकम्) talks about fear and says: The fear is because we hold on to wrong things and most of the things we hold on to, causes one form of fear or the other. And he gives a list of things which we generally hold on to and how they all cause fear,

भोगे रोग-भयम् कुले व्युति-भयम् वित्ते नृ-पातात् भयम्

माने दैन्य-भयम् बले रिपु-भयम् रूपे जराया भयम् ।

शास्त्रे वादि-भयम् गुणे खल-भयम् काये कृतान्तात् भयम्

सर्वम् वस्तु भय-अन्वितम् भुवि नृणाम् वैराग्यम् एव अभयम् ॥ वैराग्य

You can understand most of the words, भोगे रोग-भयम् – if you have a gala time, enjoying all sense pleasures then it leads to what, they say this will create pressure, that will create sugar, that will spoil your teeth, that will cause this, this will cause that, etc. In fact, all the items you like are generally not good for health. And only thing good for health, they will say is bitter-gourd, which is bitter or pumpkin, which doesn't have any taste, all those things they will say wonderful and whatever we like they say not good for health. So भोगे रोग-भयम्, it is nice to sit in front of TV and watch movie after movie all the time, but even though one may enjoy that it creates varieties of problem, भयम्, कुले व्युति-भयम् – so if I am very very proud of my family lineage, कुल गोत्र etc., that my father is घनपाठि, my grandfather is a जटा वटलभ, my great grandfather is an अग्निहोत्रि, etc., you belong to such a great family. So I am so much proud of the family that there is a constant fear that the children must protect the prestige of the family. What will they do I am afraid. When we were growing up we were under the control of the parents, but now they are all free without control like cattle left for grazing. Now we do not know what they will do tomorrow in the name of freedom, and they travel all over and the cultures are different, whom they are going to marry, who is going to come, how are they going to lead the life, whether they will keep the sacred thread at all, all those things I am worried and if they get married what type of family I will get related to. I want to be proud of my kinsmen also. And in the Indian society all these matters to maintain the prestige, often the choice of the bride or bridegroom is more for the maintenance of the prestige than other things. What will the society think? दयानन्द स्वामिजि says: our biggest problem is what will the others say. And therefore constant fear is there. And if the children do something I want to cover it up and unfortunately, this news will spread faster than fastest Concorde airplane. Whatever you do good that will not go but these things somehow will spread. Then I don't want to attend public functions, I cannot show my face outside, should I survive at all, all these things. So, कुले व्युत्ति-भयम् व्युत्ति means what: falling from grace or prestige. वित्ते नृ-पालात् भयम् – when I have plenty of money, tax भयम्, नृ-पाल means king or government and therefore I have to find out various methods of getting out of that problem and therefore I do this and I do that. And I put in some financial company, who promises 35% and then I don't get even 0%, all gone, money gone, वित्ते नृ-पालात् भयम्. माने दैन्य-भयम् – if I become famous it is really an enjoyable thing, getting fame is enjoyable, but the thing is the more honored I am the more I am worried about my dishonor. As an ordinary person I can come and sit in any crowd, anywhere no problem, but once I have become a VIP of some status I cannot go anywhere as I like, I should be properly welcomed, properly garlanded, taken to the stage, will they give a proper आसन for me? If that is not there what will happen to my honor? Therefore the more famous I become the more I have fear about dishonor and that is why people also can blackmail, 'I will write stories about you, so therefore do this, otherwise I will do this blackmailing also.' Therefore, माने दैन्य-भयम्, दैन्य means अपमानम्. As अर्जुन says:

A person who has been honored, losing that honor is worse than even death. Therefore मानम् is good or bad, मानम् is good, but अपमान

भयम् it brings in. So माने दैन्य-भयम्, बले रिपु-भयम् – if I am a king with a big army, I am all the time afraid of the neighboring kingdom which may attack. Therefore constantly there is a fear of a rival king, even if you take बलम् as power and position in life, then also we have got fear of rivals. If there is a possibility of an elevation in my power and position, there is always somebody who doesn't like that. In every company it will be there, they will tell some stories to the boss who has to give me the promotion. And then what happens, the rival, the competitor, whether he gets promotion or not, he doesn't want me to be promoted, then I am at loss. Therefore fear of competition and rivalry is natural if you go to any field of power and position. That is why they call it power politics; where power comes, politics comes, rivalry comes. Therefore that भयम् is natural, so माने दैन्य-भयम्, बले रिपु-भयम्, रिपुः means rival, competitor, enemy. Then रूपे जराया भयम् – so if I love my body and its beauty (doubtful whether it is there or not), I love my body, its figure, its height, its weight, its complexion and also the black hair, so all those things I have fallen in love with, because now-a-days your look matters. There are beauty parlors previously for females, now for males also. So hundreds and thousands of rupees are spent, just to give facial, etc. स्वामिजि, how do you know, don't ask! Therefore all those things, how to cover up wrinkles, somebody defined powder as that which will not allow the other people to read between lines! Reading between lines means your age, so therefore your age should not be shown and so many things are coming, it is a very big industry. And for all those people who are attached to the body, the greatest enemy is जरा, जरा means what: old age. How long you can cheat, it is impossible. Therefore व्याघ्री इव तिष्ठति जरा परितर्जयन्ती, the old age is waiting to deform the body, so रूपे जराया भयम्. Then what about शास्त्र, various sciences fields of various sciences either in our scriptural field or even in scientific field, शास्त्रे वादि-भयम् – when I am committed to various sciences and the theories

I am afraid of the other people in the field who have got rival theory, therefore वादि-भयम् means I am afraid of वादिस, challengers. Any theory I hold there is a challenger. You read the newspaper, somebody comes and tells coconut oil is bad and another does research and says, generally must be केरल I think, this coconut oil is good; coffee is bad, somebody comes and tell coffee is good, another person says liquor is bad, somebody says a little bit of liquor is good for heart. So any theory you have there is somebody to challenge that theory. Therefore शास्त्रे वादि-भयम्, fear of challengers. गुणे खल-भयम्, if I am a धार्मिक person, trying to follow some values, some religion, some spirituality, unfortunately maturity of people, others, they are not interested in that and therefore they begin to put me down, they laugh at me, they jeer, our children face this problem, they want to be traditional by applying विभूति कुङ्कुम, etc., but there are other friends who do not admire that, what is this you are a saint or something or what? Then children tell like that. And then our child you know, keeps the विभूति all the while but just before going to school he removes that, because the other children tease, peer pressure. The more you try to follow this path there are other people to distract, the other people to criticize, the other people to put you down and if I have go forward in spite of this obstacle it is an uphill task. Therefore गुणे खल-भयम्. For a धार्मिक person the अधार्मिक people are always there to do परिहास, so गुणे खल-भयम्. And काये कृतान्तात् भयम्. If I am attached to the physical body, previously we talked about attached to the shape and beauty of the body, then the fear is of old age but if I am attached to the body itself then the fear is from whom, काये कृतान्तात् भयम्, कृतान्त means what: यमधर्म राजः who comes without advance notice, should he not come with prior letter, he doesn't give any notice, and therefore I don't know when he will come. Therefore भर्तृहरि says that anything you hold on to in the perishable creation you had it and therefore what is the only source of fearlessness, वैराग्यम् एव अभयम्, वैराग्यम् means learn to depend on yourselves, Self-dependence, standing on your own foot, strengthening your own personality, so that you need not throw the world away but you handle them as long as they are available, enjoy them as long as they are available but you don't lean upon them. He does everything but he doesn't lean on anything, therefore there is no fear at all. I have given you the example, the 2nd chapter, two people using a stick. So, one person goes for an early morning walk, he also uses a stick, he doesn't call it a stick, but a baton, early morning usage. I don't know whether you have seen that, stylishly like an Inspector carries, stylishing walks, he holds that but he does not lean upon that. Therefore even if that stick falls down nothing happens to him, he can take and walk, but imagine there is another person who holds the stick and heavily leans upon the stick. When the stick falls, this person also falls. So one holds, another leans. Similarly, psychologically, you lean on anything, fear is inevitable, you hold on any number of things, no problem at all. So only ask the question am I holding, am I leaning? If I am leaning, भयम् is evitable, a ज्ञानि doesn't lean. So हर्ष, अमर्ष, भय, भय means fear.

d) And the next one is उद्वेगः, उद्वेगः means mental disturbance, sorrow, anxiety, caused by either अमर्ष or भयम् etc., all these negative emotions cause sorrow, mental disturbance, one who is free from the mental disturbances caused by all these things such a person is पर भक्तः, अद्वैत भक्तः. And how did this ज्ञानि achieve that? कृष्ण doesn't mention that here, but it is a very very gradual process, as I have said the 7th chapter, the travel is gradually from world-dependence to God-dependence to Self-dependence. First learn to switch the dependence from the world to God, which is a better and safer dependence because all the other things are subject to end but not God. And thereafter I discover that Lord in myself and once I discover the Lord in myself, God-dependence will become equal to Self-dependence. And Self-dependence is independence. So therefore मुक्तः, that person is dearest to me, Continuing;

Verse No .16

अनपेक्षः शुचिर्दक्ष उदासीनो गतव्यथः ।

सर्वारम्भपरित्यागी यो मद्भक्तः स मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१६॥

अनपेक्षः शुचिः दक्षः उदासीनः गत-व्यथः ।

सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी यः मत्-भक्तः सः मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१६॥

यः मत्-भक्तः अनपेक्षः, शुचिः, दक्षः, उदासीनः, गत-व्यथः, सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी सः मे प्रियः ।

xv) अनपेक्षः – the one who is not emotionally dependent on any external factors to be happy and since he is not dependent on external factors, absolutely there are no expectations also. Dependence expresses in the form of expectation. If you do not depend upon something, for example, cigarette, naturally, I don't have any expectation of a cigarette at a particular time, before food, after food, in the night time. For some people whenever they are in tension, OK, 'with the smoke the tension goes,' they believe, I don't know. When I depend on something naturally I have expectation. And freedom from dependence, freedom from expectations. And freedom from expectations means freedom from disappointments also. Therefore ultimately freedom frustrations in life is possible only when I do not have any form of expectations. I want the children to be like that. Expectation need not be on things only, even if I expect a person to behave in a particular way, that is a form of expectation. The children should get 99.99% in every subject. First rank all the time, is it possible? You are not sure, so even if your expectation is fulfilled in one field, it is not fulfilled in another field. Or if at all you want to have expectations, शास्त्र says have expectations, a comprise, first version is what: Don't have at all, then what is your expectation, आगते स्वागतम् कुर्यात्, whatever comes, स्वागतम्. If at all you want to have expectation, शास्त्र says let those expectations be non-binding expectations, by which what we mean is if it is fulfilled, wonderful, if it is not fulfilled also, I am willing to take that. Oh Lord, this is my preference, if this happens I will be very happy, if it doesn't happen also, I am willing to accept. Therefore developing the mental strength to hope for the best and be prepared for the worst also. As they talk about stoic philosopher, if the expectation doesn't happen, first he asks: What! Some terrible news he hears, some tragedy; W..h..a..t! because he expected something to happen, it didn't happen, the child's CA examination.... and the CA is one thing, So this person failed in CA for 28th time and he came out and there was that board: "Jesus Never Fails" and he wrote underneath, "Let him try CA." So frustrated he was he got angry with Jesus also. So natural 'what,' but the thing is शास्त्र says is 'ask what', but after a few minutes we should be able to ask: 'So What,' I will try again, I will change, there is always one way or another, this resilience of the mind is what is required. Not that we should be totally free from disappointment, disappointments are naturally, but the capacity to come out of it is inner strength. And therefore अनपेक्षः means one who is free from all expectations or one who is free from binding expectations. So अनपेक्षः.

xvi) Then the next word is शुचिः, शुचिः means the one who is clean externally and internally. So a ज्ञानि does not mean that he should be careless about things, so the one who is clean externally and internally, externally means the place he stays, the dress he wears, etc., and more than external cleanliness is internal cleanliness, that means thoughts are in keeping with धर्म, धार्मिक वृत्तयः is शुचिः.

xvii) Then the next word is उदासीनः, उदासीनः literally means indifferent. But this word has got a negative connotation. So we should not take in that sense, here उदासीनः or indifferent means the one who is not partial, an impartial person, the one who is not a पक्षपाति, the one who does not belong to any groupism. The society is full of groupism, politics, if there are 10 people then 3 people will join and form a group and often the topic is what: If this group talks about गीता it would have been good, but this group talks about the other group and the other group talks about this group and this politics is so natural, so उदासीनः means one who does not belong to any group at all, अपक्षपाति is उदासीनः, the one who does not belong to anyone and the one belongs to everyone, उदासीनः, neutral, impartial.

xviii) Then गत-व्यथः – the one who is free from sorrow, whatever be the type of experience that he faces. He knows that we don't have control over our experiences. Even the greatest ज्ञानि does not have control over his experiences because experiences are determined by देश, काल and प्रारब्ध. So in winter it will be cold, in summer it will be hot, during rainy season rains will be there. These are all depending upon देश and काल, nobody can control and there is the third factor called प्रारब्ध, even a ज्ञानि's life is governed by प्रारब्ध and therefore प्रारब्ध brings favorable as well as unfavorable situations. ज्ञानम् does not make all the situations favorable. So let us not have such an expectation: "After ज्ञानम् all situations will be converted into favorable situations." It is not. वेदान्त cannot change the world and situations, वेदान्त will help me in developing a healthy attitude towards all situations. So the change will not be external but the change will be in my attitude towards the situations. And what is the attitude, as I told you during the New Year talk, any experience that भगवान् gives me it is meant for my spiritual progress. This is one universal law. We have got one ultimate goal in life and that is spiritual growth and we all require different experiences for spiritual growth. Just as different seeds require different types of weather conditions for its growth, one seed requires lot of rain, another requires dry weather. It varies. Similarly, we all require different types of experience for our spiritual growth, sometimes health, sometimes sickness, sometimes addition in the family, sometimes deletion somebody dies. Every experience is specially chosen for me by the सर्वज्ञः सर्वशक्तिमान् ईश्वरः and an ईश्वर who never knows injustice. Therefore Lord can never be unjust, it is only for me certain things appear unjust because I have got only a limited vision. I am not omniscient, I am not sure of even the spelling of omniscient? Therefore how can I judge whether a particular experience is good or bad for me. It is only superficial judgment. Therefore let me not pass judgment upon what भगवान् sends to me. Therefore my philosophy is: “whatever experience भगवान् gives me, I have to learn something from that.” And therefore my question is why people are behaving like that is not question, why death happens is not questioned, why robbery happens is not the question, why people leave me is not the question. My question is: from such an experience what spiritual lesson have I to learn? I may ask hundreds of other questions, better not ask, even if you ask other questions, the final most important fundamental question is even if it is the most tragic experience, what valid spiritual lesson am I supposed to learn from this. And when I ask this question, I will find that from tragic experiences only really we learn more. In fact, अर्जुन himself learnt the lesson that he requires भगवद्गीता, when did he learn, only when he faced the tragic situation of killing his own kith and kin, that alone led to the wonderful भगवद्गीताशास्त्रम्. And that is why even sorrow becomes a spiritual साधन. The 1st chapter is titled अर्जुनविषादयोगः, we have heard of कर्मयोग and भक्तियोगः. What is the name of 1st chapter? It is called विषाद योग, that means what even sorrow is a spiritual साधन if I am willing to learn a spiritual lesson from even the most sorrowful experience and therefore from ज्ञानि's angle, no experience is unwelcome, he welcomes all experiences. Therefore गत-व्यथः he is free from negative reactions called “Why me?”, that is called “Why me?” reaction. All the other people are having gala time, you think they are having gala time, go and interview them. You will know that if your story is रामायणम्, their story is महाभारतम्, but we always feel that everybody is having a good time. भगवान् specially chooses me to give the experiences, so there is no why me, so गत-व्यथः.

xix) Then सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी – the one who has given up all the आरम्भ, आरम्भ means binding actions, कर्म, बन्धक कर्माणि. What are the binding actions? Any action that you do thinking that once the action becomes successful my life will become complete, once that कर्म produces successful result, my life will become पूर्णम्. With this attitude for the sake of पूर्णत्वम् when you do any कर्म it is a binding कर्म. Why? Because no कर्म or कर्म-फलम् can really give पूर्णत्वम्. All these we have discussed several times before, because action is finite, result is finite, I am already finite, finite plus finite is equal to: अपूर्णम् plus अपूर्णम् will it become पूर्णम्? Finite by an addition cannot become infinite and therefore if I am going to expect पूर्णत्वम्, that expectation is not going to be fulfilled, I will get the कर्म-फलम् and then further desire for something more, something more, something more:

उपदेशसारम् २ ॥

I will become a workaholic thinking that after this it will be over, after this it will be over. You will find that you will never be able to get out of that. And therefore the life becomes a struggle, any action for fulfillment is a struggle or bondage and a ज्ञानि has understood this fact. And therefore he never does anything for fulfillment and all actions come out of his fulfillment. So I am पूर्णः and I am taking up a new venture and as even I am taking up a venture, I am पूर्णः, the venture may succeed, I am पूर्णः, the venture may fail, I am पूर्णः. So पूर्णत्वम् becomes a way of life, it is no more a destination of life; पूर्णत्वम् as destination makes the life miserable, पूर्णत्वम् as a way of life makes life a लीला. Thus ज्ञानि enjoys doing things, सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी यः मत्-भक्तः and such a devotee of Mine is मे प्रियः, he is dearest to Me. More in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 12, VERSES 16-20

In the second part of the 12th chapter of the गीता beginning from the 13th verse, Lord कृष्ण talks about the characteristics of the highest भक्त. The highest भक्त being one who has gone through all the five levels of भक्तियोगः and the final level of भक्तियोग being nothing but ज्ञानयोगः. And therefore the one who has successfully gone through all the five levels of भक्तियोग will necessarily be a ज्ञानि, who was called a स्थिरप्रज्ञः in the 2nd chapter. And we were seeing the 16th verse:

अनपेक्षः शुचिर्दक्ष उदासीनो गतव्यथः ।

सर्वारम्भपरित्यागी यो मद्धक्तः स मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१६॥

अनपेक्षः – he is not emotionally dependent on any external factors, the one who is emotionally self-sufficient, the one who can freely give love to other people, but the one who does not seek love from others, if they love him, wonderful, if it is otherwise, their problem, as far as he is concerned his source of love is himself only. He has got an UPS system of love, an Uninterrupted Love Supply – ULS. Similarly, he is शुचिः, शुचिः means a master of his own mind, that he doesn't allow any thought which will disturb his mental health.

xx) Then दक्षः, I don't know whether I dealt with the word दक्षः in the last class, I think I left off. The word दक्षः means one who is efficient in all situations, the one who does take appropriate action at every situation. Generally a संसारि gets into two extremes,

i) One extreme is taking impulsive reaction when there are situations. When there is some problem or somebody misbehaves, this person is totally carried away and therefore without using any discriminative power, impulsively he takes action and often the steps that he takes happen to be unjust or inappropriate action. It will be inappropriate because in impulsive action discriminative power is not used and this impulsive response we call reaction, being carried away by the situation, this is one extreme.

ii) The other extreme is whatever be the situation, this person puts up with the all the problem that he faces, he allows other people to exploit him in the name of goodness and compassion. वेदान्त never says you should allow yourselves to be exploited by others. वेदान्त never says you should be a victim of injustice in the name of compassion and forgiveness. And this putting up with all nonsense, that is the other extreme, inaction, passivity.

So one is I become a door mat and the other is I punch everybody's nose. These are the two extremes. One I can call reaction, the other one I call inaction. वेदान्त says reaction is also wrong, inaction is also wrong. What is required is appropriate action. You need not put up with nonsense but that does not mean that you should impulsively take action, think very well, give enough time, if somebody has committed some wrong action, allow him to defend himself. We have no right to punish another person without asking for an explanation, even the worst criminal is allowed to defend himself in a court. Because everybody is innocent unless otherwise proved. Therefore just because I have got power over someone, I cannot depend on one-sided report and based on one-sided report I cannot punish another person. I have to enquire, I have to ask and if punishment has to be given as Lord कृष्ण tells अर्जुन, हे अर्जुन! if दुर्योधन requires punishment you have to give. अहिम्सा should not be abused, abuse of अहिम्सा is also wrong. If दुर्योधन requires punishment you should give but after proper enquiry and if दुर्योधन can be corrected through nonviolent method give a chance to a nonviolent remedy first and only when nonviolent remedies fail, you have a right to make use of violent remedy and if violent remedy has to be used you have to use it. And this capacity to think well and without any impulsiveness taking appropriate action is called दक्षत्वम्, शङ्कराचार्य translates it as प्रत्युत्पन्न मति. Taking appropriate steps in any situation and every situation, without being carried away by emotions, without being carried away by राग and द्वेष. So this appropriate response with the help of a mind which is unclouded by राग-द्वेष is called दक्षत्वम्. Appropriate response with the help of a mind which is unclouded by राग-द्वेष is दक्षत्वम्. And the later words I explained, उदासीनः – the one who is always impartial, गत-व्यथः – the one who is not concerned about future and सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी – the one who has given up all binding actions is called a पर भक्त. And such a भक्त is dear to Me. Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing;

यो न हृष्यति न द्वेष्टि न शोचति न काङ्क्षति ।

शुभाशुभपरित्यागी भक्तिमान्यः स मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१७॥

यः न हृष्यति न द्वेष्टि न शोचति न काङ्क्षति ।

शुभ-अशुभ-परित्यागी भक्तिमान् यः सः मे प्रियः ॥ १२-१७॥

यः न हृष्यति, न द्वेष्टि, न शोचति, न काङ्क्षति, यः शुभ-अशुभ-परित्यागी, भक्तिमान् (अस्ति), सः मे प्रियः (भवति) ।

xxi) The one who is free from extreme emotional reactions to situations, यः न हृष्यति and यः न शोचति, those two words should be read together, हृष्यति and शोचति. And Similarly, the word द्वेष्टि and काङ्क्षति should go together. So, न हृष्यति न शोचति means the one who is not overpowered by elation and depression. So when favorable situations come certainly we will be happy, nothing wrong, we are exited, very nice. Similarly, unfavorable situations come we are certainly disturbed. So these two conditions are natural but what कृष्ण says that these emotional responses should not be too intense to cloud your discriminative power. Because one thing that we have to remember is under all circumstances our intellect must be intact. The greatest wealth of a human being is discriminative power, विवेक शक्तिः. That is why शङ्कराचार्य calls it विवेकचूडामणि. It is this discriminative power which differentiates human beings from all others and therefore what वेदान्त says is emotional upheavals are natural, but these upheavals should not go beyond a limit to cloud your discriminative power. Like when दशरथ said that राम should go to forest, लक्ष्मण naturally got wild and angry because राम's पट्टाभिषेकम् was fixed and कैकेयी asked for some old boons and दशरथ became a temporarily a hen-pecked husband and he said OK, I will send राम to the forest and all the people were unhappy, लक्ष्मण also was unhappy and angry and you have to see लक्ष्मण's outburst at that time. He violently explodes and uses all kinds of language against his own father दशरथ and he says that at this moment I will cut off दशरथ's head. This is where emotional upheavals makes his intellect clouded and राम has to take lot of effort to cool down लक्ष्मण. Thus we also are bound to be angry at moments, but the anger should not cloud my discriminative power. Or at least I should have sufficient discriminative power to know that my discriminative power is getting clouded. So that I can tell now I am extremely angry, I feel like exploding and using language against people who are to be respected. Therefore I should have that much balance to postpone my response. So I am angry, I will not take any step now, I will postpone my response, that much balance, in psychological language, we call it inner space. Inner space means to have that much mental balance to know that my mind is going out of balance. So that I may take rest, like when a person is driving the car and he is having some giddiness, they say that if you feel giddy keep the car on one side, park for some time, but he must have sufficient self-control to keep the car on one side. If it has gone beyond his control he gets into accidents. So he doesn't have that much control to continue driving, but he has got sufficient control to keep the car on one side. Similarly, when I am driving in my life often we get emotional upheavals but I should have sufficient balance but now my mind is not sufficiently alright, let me be careful in my talking. If I feel like phoning up and blasting someone, don't phone up now, if you feel like sending a violent email then postpone it, that much balance if you have you are master of your mind. Nobody says you should be free from emotional disturbance, कृष्ण only says be aware of it when it comes and learn to be careful and that is called not being carried away by हर्ष and शोक. So यः न हृष्यति न शोचति.

xxii) And Similarly, न द्वेष्टि न काङ्क्षति, न द्वेष्टि means freedom from द्वेष, न काङ्क्षति means freedom from राग. So न द्वेष्टि न काङ्क्षति means freedom from binding राग-द्वेष, freedom from binding expectations. Here also we should be careful, nobody can be totally free from expectations, everybody has expectations. So what I will have through my business and how my children should grow up and what my health should be in my old age, we all have expectations, it is natural. कृष्ण himself tells in the 3rd chapter,

राग-द्वेष is natural, you can easily find out if you go to a buffet lunch or dinner. Varieties of dishes are there and everybody is given a plate, each one rushes to his own राग-द्वेष, one straightaway goes to gulabjamun, another goes to roti, another goes to idli, another goes to bun, another goes to something. In fact, if you take gods also, even they have got for each देवता they will say for this देवता पायसम् is favorite, for this देवता vadai is favorite. So even gods have favorite dishes,

पायसान्न-प्रिया त्वक्स्था पशुलोक भयङ्करी ॥
श्रीललितासहस्रनामस्तोत्रम् ९९ ॥

One of the ललितासहस्रनाम is पायस अन्न-प्रिया. That means what: ललिता also has got राग. So then where are we, what is wrong in having राग and द्वेष and therefore वेदान्त says have expectations but be prepared for their fulfillment as well as their non-fulfillment. Because only you can plan for the future, you can contribute to your future, but you cannot control your future and since future is not under your control you should be prepared for the non-fulfillment of the expectation. That is why we have a well-known saying “Hope for the best and be prepared for the worst.” This farsightedness, this mental preparedness, this shock absorber having that is here referred to as न द्वेष्टि न काङ्क्षति. So he is free from binding राग-द्वेष.

xxiii) Then शुभ-अशुभ-परित्यागी – the one who has given up पुण्यम् and पापम्, शुभम् means पुण्यम् and अशुभम् means पापम् because from Vedantic angle, पुण्यम् and पापम् both are bondage only. No doubt पुण्यम् will give स्वर्गलोकफलम्, higher लोकs and enjoyment. But even that is considered to be bondage because,

ते तम् भुक्त्वा स्वर्ग-लोकम् विशालम् क्षीणे पुण्ये मर्त्य-लोकम् विशन्ति ।
... ॥ ९-२१॥

Since पुण्यम् is finite in nature, after some time it will get exhausted, leaving us high and dry. So we say पुण्यम् is a golden shackle, पापम् is an iron shackle, both are shackles. Like in Saudi Arabia, I have heard, I don't how far it is true, they have capital punishment for some member of the royal family, sometimes they give capital punishment. Only difference is their head will be cut with a golden sword, because member of royal family. Tell me what is the difference whether the head goes off by golden sword or silver sword? So therefore पुण्यम् is a smiling villain, पापम् is a frowning villain, both are villains only. But that does not mean he doesn't do पुण्य कर्मs, these people will do पुण्य कर्मs but these पुण्य कर्मs are not done for the sake of पुण्यम्, पुण्य कर्मs are done for चित्तशुद्धि or ज्ञान निष्ठा. You can do the same कर्म, noble कर्म can be done for पुण्यम्, noble कर्म can be done for ज्ञानम् and निष्ठा. So these people never do कर्म for either पुण्यम् or पापम्. So शुभ-अशुभ-परित्यागी यः भक्तिमान्, such a भक्तिमान् is dear to Me. Continuing;

Verse No .18

समः शत्रौ च मित्रे च तथा मानापमानयोः ।

शीतोष्णसुखदुःखेषु समः सङ्गविवर्जितः ॥ १२-१८॥

समः शत्रौ च मित्रे च तथा मान-अपमानयोः ।

xxiv) शत्रौ च मित्रे च समः – so the one who has same attitude towards a friend and a foe. Of course a ज्ञानि does not look upon anyone as his enemy, a ज्ञानि does not have an enemy. That is why धर्मपुत्र was called अजातशत्रुः, न जातः शत्रुः यस्य सः अजातशत्रुः. So a ज्ञानि does not look upon anyone as inimical but the other people may consider a ज्ञानि as friend or enemy. कृष्ण may not look upon दुर्योधन as a शत्रु, but दुर्योधन looks upon दुर्योधन as a शत्रु. Thus there are two sets of people, some look upon the ज्ञानि as their friend and some look upon ज्ञानि as their enemy and the friendly people may do favorable things to ज्ञानि and this inimical people may harm the ज्ञानि. And whatever be their responses or action, समः, a ज्ञानि is समः. And what do you mean समत्वम्? A ज्ञानि does not develop राग or द्वेष towards them. He does not hate a person who is inimical to him and he does not get attached to a person just because the other person is friendly and therefore समत्वम् नाम राग-द्वेष वर्जितत्वम्. Then does that mean that the ज्ञानि will put up with the nonsensical action of the enemy? Very careful, even though ज्ञानि does not have द्वेष towards an inimical person it does not mean that the ज्ञानि should put up with his wrong actions. So a ज्ञानि will strongly criticize an action which is to be condemned, a disapprovable action he will disapprove and if an appropriate step should be taken he will take, but even the worst step is taken without even an iota of द्वेष in his mind. The aim is not the other person should suffer, the aim is not in suffering but the aim is that the other person has to be corrected. In fact, he feels bad that he has to correct him through violent methods. Remember the example of a mother punishing a child, mother is never going to happily punish, even when she punishes in the heart love alone is there. And therefore remember compassion does not mean putting up with wrong actions, let not compassion be misunderstood as putting up with nonsense. With compassion we can take appropriate steps and the ज्ञानि will take appropriate steps with compassion. And that is why when the Lord kills the असुरs, they generally use the word मोक्षः, instead of वधम्; पूतना मोक्षः. What is the idea conveyed? मोक्षः means through punishment the Lord is removing the impurity of those people. मोक्ष does not mean Vedantic मोक्ष, just because Lord kills पूतना, पूतना will not get मोक्ष. Remember, पूतना will get मोक्ष only through आत्मज्ञानम्, there मोक्षः means freedom from that पापम्, because भगवान् does that with compassion and love, not with a tinge or retaliation or hatred or anger. So समः शत्रौ च मित्रे च.

xxv) तथा मान-अपमानयोः – Similarly, one who is equanimous with respect to मानम्, honor and dishonor. This is another problem, wherever honor comes there is a possibility of dishonor also. And when you are an ordinary person dishonor will not felt very much, but when the honor goes higher and higher the dishonor also becomes more intent and whether you like or not honor and dishonor are not totally under our control. So any person can spread stories and any person can cavil and I cannot shut the mouth of other people. So राम faced अपमान, सीता faced अपमान, कृष्ण faced अपमान, so even gods have faced, therefore we can never totally avoid that and therefore we have to be mentally prepared, that is also a जातक situation. In जातकम्, horoscope they say that this person has to suffer अपमानम्. So better go through that, there is no other way, often such situations happen in our life. And the one who swallows both of them, so honor and dishonor the one who is equanimous.

xxvi) Then शीत-उष्ण-सुख-दुःखेषु, शीतम् means cold, उष्णम् means heat, सुखम् means favorable conditions, दुःखम् means unfavorable conditions, in short all the pairs of opposites. In fact, life is nothing but a series of pairs of opposites known as द्वन्द्वs, if there is birth there is death, if there is growth there is decay, if there is health there is ill-health, if there is gain there is loss, if there is union there is separation.

In fact, life is a series of दुःख's, nobody can escape. Therefore we can only prepare our mind to accept both of them equanimously. And therefore the one who is समः, the one who has got ज्ञानम् shock absorber. And until ज्ञानम् comes, the only shock absorber is भक्तिः, इष्ट देवता भक्ति, only our devotion to god in one form or the other, that alone has to strengthen us until ज्ञानम् comes. So these are two shock absorbers for the human being and here this person has got ज्ञानम् shock absorber.

xxvii) And therefore only समः सङ्ग-विवर्जितः – since he knows that the pairs of opposite will come and go, when a favorable situation comes he does enjoy that, but he remembers that this favorable situation need not last longer. So when everything is fine don't expect that to be permanent in nature. That does not mean that you should think of loss and cry, like that person who drinks Coco cola or Pepsi, he has got the straw. Therefore he drinks, now as the mouth is drinking and tasting the eyes are seeing the level of the drink. So therefore instead of enjoying the taste, he sees going down, going down, what to do, if you think. So how to avoid that, you should not drink, just keep and looking at it, so then you cannot enjoy, so enjoy the drink it will be over, when it is over allow that also. Similarly, as things come take it as भगवान्'s gift, enjoy your relationship, the children, your people, your wealth, your health and these are all भगवान्'s gift, but always remember, भगवान् gives it, भगवान् takes it and when भगवान् chooses to take, remember, 'Returned with thanks.' Don't curse भगवान्. So सङ्ग-विवर्जितः. This state of mind is called असङ्गत्वम्, enjoyment without attachment. Continuing;

Verse No .19

तुल्यनिन्दास्तुतिर्मौनी सन्तुष्टो येन केनचित् ।

अनिकेतः स्थिरमतिर्भक्तिमान्मे प्रियो नरः ॥ १२-१९॥

तुल्य-निन्दा-स्तुतिः मौनी सन्तुष्टः येन केनचित् ।

xxviii) So तुल्य-निन्दा-स्तुतिः, निन्दा means criticism, censure and स्तुतिः means glorification. Previously मान and अपमान were talked about, they are at the level of action. Here निन्दा and स्तुतिः are at the level of words. So मान-अपमान is कायिकम्, निन्दा स्तुतिः is वाचिकम् इति भेदः. What is कायिक मान and अपमान? Somebody garlands, that is मान and in another function somebody brings the garland and you stretch your head and they say it is not for you and honor the neighboring person. Therefore मान comes, अपमान also comes. So that is at the action level, this is at the वाक् level, this also you cannot avoid because whatever you do there will be somebody to criticize. Any blessed thing you do there will be somebody to criticize because criticism does not involve any expenditure. We have a got a free mouth and it is a free country, no tax for speaking and we have nothing else to do and people are around, therefore you go on commenting, gossiping. So in this gossip circle, everybody will come and you also cannot escape. In the class also, you might quietly come, there might be somebody commenting your dress, how you come, how you walk, how you nod or how you sleep. Some people you know, it happens. So what I am saying is you cannot escape from others' comments. And therefore if there are people who are willing to advise you with good intentions, they will directly tell you and whatever I can learn from others I learn and I do actions according to my common sense and I completely ignore others' comments. Somebody was preparing his ground for bringing up some crop, he wanted to raise some crops. He has already consulted experts and he has decided what to do, everybody comes and asks what are you going to do, then he says that I am going to raise tomatoes or something. You are going to raise that, he never asked for opinion, they come and pass them and he is not allowed to work at all, so what he did, he put a suggestion box, so that he can work and the suggestion box had only one peculiarity, the box didn't have any bottom and down-below there is a waste paper basket, whatever is put goes directly to the waste paper basket. So anything you do you will have so many suggestions. I know how many suggestions I get for my cough problem, if I take all medicines I will have died long before, allopathy, homeopathy, all things are suggested. And everybody says my medicine will immediately cure and it is harmless and suppose I say I am already taking some medicine, then they say this also you add, now the problem is if I take ten different medicines and it gets cured, how do I know which medicine cured. So every time I get I have to take all ten the medicines. I tell you, suggestions and comments are the cheapest thing in the world and therefore what do you do, be deaf all kinds of comments, world will be like that. If there are wise people they will never make comments in front of others, they will call you and give you proper advice and therefore this ज्ञानि तुल्य-निन्दा-स्तुतिः, let people glorify he will not be carried away, let people criticize he will not worry. In fact, one ज्ञानि nicely says:

श्रेयोऽर्थिनो हि पुरुषाः परितुष्टिहेतोः क्लेशार्जितान्यपि धनानि परित्यजन्ति ॥

If there are some people passing comments on me and enjoying, I am very happy, because indirectly I am becoming a cause for others enjoyment. There are people who are spending lot of money to please other people in the society. Now here I am without spending any money I am giving happiness to others. How? By being a victim of their criticism. Therefore by commenting upon me if they get happiness, I am happy only, I should not be upset by their comments.

xxix) Then सन्तुष्टः येन केनचित् – his mind is such that it can be very very easily pleased, the uniqueness of ज्ञानि's mind is it is a easily pleaseable mind. Whereas the more the sophisticated the mind is pleasing those people become extremely difficult, because they are so fastidious and so particular about everything. So if they say coffee, they are particular about how much milk, how much decoction, how much sugar, how hot it should be, etc., etc., whatever it is and then in what kind of cup it should be given, if slightly it is different, they throw away the coffee. The more sophisticated it is we have bought finer राग-द्वेष, finer our राग-द्वेष the most difficult it is to please and the most of the perfectionist people, perfectionist means what: they are very particular about everything, perfectionism is wonderful, how everything should be there, to have that is wonderful but the problem is if I am going to be disturbed by the slightest variation my life becomes miserable. You can see perfectionists are generally irritated, they are never happy whatever you do. You keep a kerchief there they say you have kept like this and not like that. Anything you do they will not be happy. A ज्ञानि is perfectionist, he does everything properly at the same time he is accommodative enough to put up with all the imperfections and therefore येन केनचित् सन्तुष्टः, the one who is happy with anything that comes and especially he is a संन्यासि he cannot choose anything. In fact, शङ्कराचार्य takes all these verses as the description of a संन्यासि only and once a person is a संन्यासि, when he asks for भीक्षा he cannot say: भवती DOSA देहि, भवती POORI देहि, he cannot ask. भवती भिक्षाम् देहि, you have eat what you get and be content. सन्तुष्टः येन केनचित्, one day भीक्षा not available that also is OK, so गृहस्थ life is slightly better off. So therefore learn to be happy with anything.

xxx) अनिकेतः, this is the word which indicates that he is a संन्यासि. अनिकेतः means the one who does not have a house of his own, don't ask about rented house, the one who is not a householder, निकेतः means house and अनिकेतः means the one who is a संन्यासि. And then where does he live,

सुर मन्दिर तरु मूल निवासः शय्या भूतल मजिनम् वासः ।

सर्वं परिब्रह्म भोगं त्यागः कस्य सुखम् न करोति विरागः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् १८॥

Wherever, whoever gives a place he lives there, that place may be a palatial house or it can be an ordinary hut, whatever is available he lives there, therefore अनिकेतः. And all these are possible, how does he enjoy such a mind, his mental strength he has derived from one source. What is that source?

xxxix) स्थिर-मतिः – it is Self-knowledge that has given him this mental strength. Remember, knowledge is power. In fact, knowledge alone is power. If at all humanity is so powerful it is only because of our knowledge and among various types of knowledge also, Self-knowledge is the most powerful thing,

आत्मना विन्दते वीर्यम् विद्या विन्दतेऽमृतम् ॥ केनोपनिषत् २-४॥

The greatest strength you derive is from Self-knowledge. Only such a ज्ञानि can say ‘What can the days do to me? What can the planet looking for me, do to me? What can the results of my past deeds do to me?’ – श्रीअरुणगिरिनाथर् विरचित कन्दर् अलङ्कारम्. So स्थिर-मतिः means the one who has got doubtless knowledge, मतिः means knowledge, स्थिर means firm, here firm means doubtless. Doubtless knowledge of what? अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि and such a ज्ञानि is dear to Me. So with this verse, कृष्ण concludes the description of a wise person’s conduct or characteristic. Now in the 20th verse, कृष्ण winds up his entire discourse.

Verse No .20

ये तु धर्म्यामृतमिदं यथोक्तं पर्युपासते ।

श्रद्धधाना मत्परमा भक्तास्तेऽतीव मे प्रियाः ॥ १२-२०॥

ये तु धर्म्य-अमृतम् इदम् यथा उक्तम् पर्युपासते ।

श्रद्धधानाः मत्-परमाः भक्ताः ते अतीव मे प्रियाः ॥ १२-२०॥

ये तु श्रद्धधानाः मत्-परमाः भक्ताः इदम् यथा उक्तम् धर्म्य-अमृतम् पर्युपासते, ते मे अतीव प्रियाः (सन्ति)।

So when he hears the description of such a ज्ञानि, naturally we will all love to enjoy such a state of mind. It is so alluring, it is so tempting that I am free from all hooks; nobody can threaten me. Naturally the question will come, how can I attain such a state of mind? Is there any shortcut or any treatment, electric shock or make some nervous adjustments? There is no shortcut to enjoy such a state of mind, one has to go through the भक्तियोगः consisting of the five levels. There is no other way, there is no shortcut, one has to necessarily go through the five staged भक्तियोगः. So therefore कृष्ण says, इदम् यथा उक्तम् पर्युपासते – suppose a seeker goes through the above mentioned भक्तियोगः. And what are the five levels of भक्तियोगः, do you remember?

- i) सकाम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग,
- ii) निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग,
- iii) एकरूप ईश्वर उपासना,
- iv) अनेकरूप ईश्वर उपासना,
- v) निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम्.

So these are the five stage, the first two stages are called कर्मयोग, the then next two stages are called उपासनायोग, the last one stage is called ज्ञानयोग. In short, कर्मयोग plus उपासनायोग plus ज्ञानयोग, all these levels put together is called भक्तियोगः. So this यथा उक्तम् भक्तियोगम् ये उपासते – suppose people practice and what type of भक्तियोगः it is? धर्म्य-अमृतम्, which is called अमृतम् because it leads to immortality, अमृतत्व हेतुभूतम् भक्तियोगम् इत्यर्थः, अमृतम् means which leads to immortality and not only that धर्म्यम्, धर्म्यम् means which is a teaching in keeping with the वेदs. Because remember, in our tradition, वेदs are considered to be the primary scriptures, the primary source of knowledge and therefore everyone has to necessarily follow the वैदिक tradition, anybody goes out of वैदिक tradition he will be called नास्तिकः and in India, the वैदिक teaching is so ingrained that even the greatest person will be rejected the moment he rejects वेद. The best example is Buddhism, बुद्ध is considered to be a very great महात्मा, so wonderful, so what you call rational, so compassionate, even though he is glorified all over the world in India it could not survive, it had to go out. You know one reason, because बुद्ध rejected the वेदs. So rejecting the वेद it is impossible to survive in our culture, because that is our foundation. Therefore every आचार्य makes sure that he is following the वैदिक tradition and कृष्ण himself wants to claim that हे अर्जुन! I am also not giving My philosophy. बुद्ध may be an अवतार, may be considered an अवतार, but even an अवतार is rejected if that अवतार rejects the वेदs. So कृष्ण also will be rejected if he goes against the वेद. Therefore कृष्ण says: हे अर्जुन! My teaching is धर्म्यम्, धर्म्यम् means वेद अविरुद्धम्. It is non-contradictory to the revelation given in the वेदs and that is why भगवद्गीता is called a स्मृति, स्मृति means any literature which goes along with the वैदिक teaching. So श्रुति अनुसारि शास्त्रम् is called स्मृति, भगवद्गीता is called a स्मृति ग्रन्थ and suppose a person follows entire भक्तियोगः and that too how, श्रद्धधानाः – so with faith in its efficacy, that it will bless me with that faith and मत्-परमाः – and keeping me as the ultimate goal, not materialistic goal but with spiritual goal the one who keeps, so मत्-परमाः means मुमुक्षु, being a spiritual seeker with faith if a person follows, ते भक्ताः अतीव मे प्रियाः, they will become ज्ञानि भक्तs, they will become greatest भक्तs and they all will be nearest to Me.

CHAPTER 12, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 12th chapter. The 12th chapter happens to be the culmination of middle section of the भगवद्गीता which is known as मध्यम षट्कम्. I had told you before that

- i) The first six chapters of the गीता are called प्रथम षट्कम्,
- ii) Then the next six chapters beginning from the 7th up to 12th is known as मध्यम षट्कम् and
- iii) The last six chapters are known as चरम षट्कम्.

And 12th chapter is the final chapter of the मध्यम षट्कम्. And in the previous five chapters beginning from the 7th up to the 11th, Lord कृष्ण has elaborately dealt with the topic of ईश्वर स्वरूपम्. While the first six chapters dealt with the जीव स्वरूपम्, from 7th to 11th chapters कृष्ण dealt with ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, the nature of God and naturally this topic of ईश्वर स्वरूपम् should culminate in भक्ति towards such an ईश्वर. भक्ति means love or devotion and love or devotion is possible only towards something or someone who is known. You can never have a positive or negative emotion towards an unknown person. When you meet an unknown person, your attitude is what, a neutral attitude only, only when you move with the person and come to know more and more about that person you develop either liking towards the person or dislike. And that is how locally also we hear of people moving together and falling in love, all because of what, the more the contact is the more a person comes to know and that knowledge is the basis for the attitude. You can never develop an attitude towards an unknown thing. If this is the general law, your attitude towards God also will depend upon your knowledge of God. I can never love an unknown God. And therefore if I expect you to develop love or devotion, I should never command you to love, because you can never develop love towards unknown, I have to give you knowledge and knowledge alone contribute to a healthy attitude. If I want you to develop love towards the country I have to talk about the glory of the country. You may ask is there any glory at all, that is a different thing, I can never force an attitude. An attitude is not command-based, an attitude is not will-based, an attitude is generated based on your understanding and कृष्ण knows this principle and therefore, five chapters कृष्ण or व्यासाचार्य devoted in giving you the knowledge of God and now that we know what that God will be, the consequence will be what, a healthy attitude towards the Lord and that attitude is called भक्तिः, ईश्वर ज्ञानम् विना ईश्वर भक्तिः न संभवति, अज्ञाता विषये भावना नैव संभवति. And therefore 12th chapter is natural consequence and culmination of the previous five chapters and this chapter even though a short one consisting of only twenty verses, it is a very very important chapter because in this chapter कृष्ण has condensed the essence of the entire वैदिक teaching. Not even the entire Vedantic teaching, it is an entire वैदिक teaching, both वेदपूर्व भाग as well as वेद-अन्त भाग, both are condensed in 20 pithy verses. And therefore only this chapter is considered important and of course people think this is important because it is small also. So easy to do पारायणम् and easy to by-heart also, that is practical reason. But the real reason is this is वेद सारः. And that is why at the end to the 12th chapter, कृष्ण Himself uses the word, ये तु धर्म्य-अमृतम् इदम्, the word धर्म्यम् indicates that this chapter is the essence of वैदिक धर्मः, वेद सारः. And this chapter has got mainly two topics,

- i) the first topic being भक्तियोगः and
- ii) the second topic is भक्तियोगफलम्, what is the benefit of, result of भक्तियोगः.

These are the two main topics. But before entering into this topic Lord कृष्ण incidentally answers a question raised by अर्जुन and therefore the chapter begins with a question from अर्जुन, which is based on the previous chapter. In the previous chapter, viz., 11th chapter, Lord कृष्ण has talked about सगुण ईश्वरः, otherwise known as विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, the Lord as the very universe itself is called विश्वरूप ईश्वरः.

विश्वरूप ईश्वर comes under सगुण ईश्वर, because the world is full of गुणs or attributes or properties and therefore विश्वरूप is सगुण ईश्वर. And अर्जुन has heard a lot about निर्गुण ईश्वर also and therefore अर्जुन gets a doubt regard the relative superiority of सगुण and निर्गुण ईश्वर and consequently another doubt is whether सगुण भक्त is superior or निर्गुण भक्त is superior. सगुण उपासक is superior, निर्गुण ध्याता is superior, अर्जुन gets a doubt. And generally we are attracted to सगुण ईश्वर alone, because निर्गुण we are not even able to conceive of. Therefore this chapter begins with अर्जुन's question,

सगुण ध्यानम् is better or निर्गुण ध्यानम् is better? And what was कृष्ण's answer, कृष्ण gives a peculiar and mischievous answer, but we should understand the implication of कृष्ण's answer. The implication is we should never ask which one is better, because this question is relevant only when you want to choose one of them, the question is relevant only when you want to choose and as far as कृष्ण is concerned there is no question of choosing one of them, because every seeker requires सगुण ध्यानम् also and every seeker ultimately has to come to निर्गुण also. Without सगुण ध्यानम् one can never come to निर्गुण ध्यानम्, because सगुण ध्यानम् is the stepping stone to arrive at निर्गुण ध्यानम्. So without सगुण ध्यानम् one cannot come to निर्गुण ध्यानम्. And without निर्गुण ध्यानम्, I hope you remember, without निर्गुण ध्यानम् सगुण ध्यानम् is an incomplete साधन. So therefore everybody has to go through सगुण first and everybody has to come to निर्गुण. One can postpone coming to निर्गुण, but one cannot avoid that. If a person feels that he is not ready he can postpone it and postponement can be one year, ten years, or even ten जन्मs, we don't care, but one has to come to निर्गुण, because निर्गुण ईश्वर is the ultimate reality, which is based on the well-known केनोपनिषत् saying, the सगुण ईश्वर that you meditate upon is never the ultimate reality. You should remember the ultimate reality is never a सगुण object of meditation. And therefore कृष्ण's answer is what, everybody has to go through both of them, both of them means what: सगुण and निर्गुण. After answering अर्जुन's question, कृष्ण enters the two topics, viz., भक्तियोग साधन and भक्तियोग साधनफलम्.

i) And what is भक्तियोग साधन? I have told you several times and I will repeat again, it is very important, भक्तियोग is not the name of a particular साधन but it is the name of a range of साधनस, everyone has to go through, it is a series, it is a package. Now you have to use these words, package and this package consists of how many levels? So the levels can be any number, depending upon the context, sometimes it is presented as two levels, some time it is presented as three levels but here कृष्ण presents भक्तियोग as a series consisting of five levels or five stages. And which is important? Everyone is important, remember a flight of stairs, a staircase which rung or which step is important you cannot ask, every step is important to go to the next step. And what are the five levels?

a) The first level is सकाम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोगः. We can call it कर्मयोग level No.1 or कर्मयोग 1, this is the beginning stage, which everyone can very easily start. In this level a person is allowed to do any कर्म to fulfill his personal desires, because very one is born with countless number of desires, which are carried from previous जन्म, whatever things you bring or not, you bring these,

मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-२-२ ॥

Because in this जन्म there are so many desires which are not fulfilled. One person used to tell, स्वामिजि I have one desire, very very strong desire, you know what, he likes a particular brand of car called Land cruiser, 60-70 lakhs or so, so स्वामिजि I need your special आशीर्वादम् for that, मोक्ष is there I want it, but, now if it is a simpler one it is OK, but it is 70 lakhs, so a person may die meditating on Land cruiser and he will cruise or go to the next जन्म and borns, he lands. So therefore he has to continue, therefore we carry forward not only the पुण्यम् पापम्, remember, we carry forward our desires also, our unfulfilled desires and therefore we cannot help it, therefore काम्य कर्मस are bound to be there and therefore शास्त्र says, let your initial stage of life be योग-क्षेम प्रधान life, योग-क्षेम in the 9th chapter I said, योग means what: acquisition, accumulating. Not only I acquire for me but for handing over to the next generation. Something to leave in the Will, therefore I have to acquire for them also, if there are girls, one type of acquisition, boys one type of acquisition, all of them, it is called योग and once I acquire the next desire is what, maintenance and holding on to it and that is called क्षेम; our initial stage of life is योग-क्षेम प्रधान, In fact, we have no time for anything. Until we marry it is only योग-क्षेम of myself and once we are married our brain is riddled with not only my योग-क्षेम but also the योग-क्षेम of my family. Many of the parents when they come and do नमस्कार now-a-days, they ask for only one thing “स्वामिजि public exams,” “how come you have public exam,” “not for me but for my children.” So they don’t have any boon to ask from me but they all for 10th or 12th or entrance or IIT, it is examination-आशीर्वाद season and tomorrow is examination so another extra नमस्कार! So what योग-क्षेम a parent is interested in, the children’s योग-क्षेम, husband’s योग-क्षेम. So this is called योग-क्षेम प्रधान life. कृष्ण says you do pray for that, but how to convert into कर्मयोग, you work for your योग-क्षेम but whatever happens learn to accept the consequence as God’s will or प्रसाद.

b) Then comes the next stage, after sometime a person becomes more and more mature and he understands that योग-क्षेम is an endless business and therefore he learns to transfer some of the योग-क्षेम to

It is an important skill that we have to develop, we have to learn to transfer a part of our योग-क्षेम concern to the Lord. Then only we will have time, that too quality time and relaxed mind for another set of activity which is meant for वित्तशुद्धि. Therefore the second stage of कर्मयोग is involvement in those activities which are meant for वित्तशुद्धि. We call वित्तशुद्धि प्रधान कर्म or निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग. So we do have time to pray to the Lord and also for the child's examination, also we will add give me a little वित्तशुद्धि. If the mind is too much concerned, we cannot think of वित्तशुद्धि, we will not even know that such a thing exists. We cannot think of any other goal of life at all, because our mind is occupied with the settlement of the children and settlement of the children will later get postponed to the grandchildren, that is later. So the second stage is निष्काम कर्म प्रधान कर्मयोग, otherwise called वित्तशुद्धि प्रधान कर्मयोग. So in this, I don't ask for योग, I don't ask for क्षेम. 'Oh Lord! whatever you give, I will learn to live with that and whatever stays with me, I will learn to live with that.' Very difficult stage but we have to come to that.

c) Then once we have crossed these two stages, together called कर्मयोग, we are ready for the third stage, which is called इष्टदेवता उपासना. And each one is called what, भक्तियोगः, remember, first is called भक्तियोगः, because devotion is required for the first stage for the sake of योग-क्षेम and second stage also I require भक्ति and in third stage I practice इष्टदेवता उपासनाम् and this is presented as the third stage because in the first stage, when my mind is full of योग-क्षेम concern, I cannot sit in meditation and even if sit in meditation, I will be either thinking of योग or क्षेम only, meditation simply doesn't happen. In fact, you continue your worry in sitting posture, normally you worry in other postures, now in पद्मासन you worry, that will be only difference. Therefore only we are able to transfer our योग-क्षेम concern to the Lord mind finds some inner leisure and only such a mind can spend some time forgetting the family, forgetting the future, forgetting the money, forgetting all those things, ‘for a while at the lotus feet of God’ is possible. So this is called इष्टदेवता उपासनाम्, which will equip me to turn my mind inwards. The extrovert mind will learn to withdraw and that withdrawal is the third stage of साधन, इष्टदेवता उपासनाम् and in the 12th chapter, it is called अभ्यास योग and which इष्टदेवता is good, you need not ask, any देवता is good enough, any particular form of the God is OK.

d) And once a person has gone through this stage, then he is ready for the fourth stage, I said before in the इष्टदेवता उपासनाम् there are advantages but there are limitations also, thus one problem is you may think that there are so many gods and you may begin to compare also, शिव is greater or विष्णु is greater, that idea of division etc., will be there and also the Lord or the deity that I visualize is bound by time and space that is also another limitation and therefore to break these limitations I have to learn to look at the इष्टदेवता as the very विश्वरूप ईश्वर. And once I look upon God as the total universe, you don’t have many gods at all, you have got only one God with many नाम. What is the difference between विश्वरूप शिव and विश्वरूप विष्णु? There cannot be any difference because विश्वरूप शिव includes all names and forms, विश्वरूप विष्णु includes all names and forms and therefore there is no division, there is no question of comparison also and also I understand that the Lord is not bound by forms and therefore this helps in the expansion of the mind, so it gives चित विशालता. This is the fourth stage called विश्वरूप ध्यानम् or अनेकरूप ध्यानम्.

e) And once a person has gone through these four stages, he is ready for the fifth stage and only when a person goes through these four stages he becomes साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्नः. So in तत्त्वबोध we said that वेदान्त begins, Self-knowledge begins only after acquiring साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति and this साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति is possible only by going through these four stages of भक्तियोगः. भक्ति I have explained in the तत्त्वबोध, you have to go through that, in simple language you can say that it is mental preparedness for Self-knowledge. And then for this Self-knowledge a person has to go through the fifth level of भक्तियोगः and the fifth and the final level of भक्तियोगः is called ज्ञानयोगः. Fifth and final of भक्तियोगः is ज्ञानयोग itself. This alone शङ्कराचार्य tells in his विवेकचूडामणि,

स्वस्वरूप-अनुसन्धानम् भक्तिः इति अभिधीयते ॥ विवेकचूडामणि ३१॥

The final level of भक्ति is Self-enquiry, स्वस्वरूप अनुसन्धानम्. And this ज्ञानयोग consists of वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनानि. So consistent and systematic study of Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent आचार्य, forgotten! Don't worry, no imposition! So श्रवणम् is consistent and systematic study of Vedantic scriptures, not पुराण, Vedantic scriptures which deal with निर्गुण ईश्वरः. The first four stages you could manage with सगुण ईश्वर, in the fifth level you have to come to निर्गुण ईश्वरः which is discussed only in the वेदान्त. Therefore consistent and systematic study of Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent आचार्य. And स्वामिजी how do you know this, कृष्ण doesn't say, you are adding whatever you like, कृष्ण himself has said this in the 4th chapter, I have only pulled out from the 4th chapter and I am putting here,

अर्जुन you have to necessarily go to a गुरु and open yourselves and ask for this teaching and consistently follow the श्रवणम्. But what about those people who never had गुरु, immediately the mind rushes there. Here we are talking about the general rules, but for every general rule there are exceptions also, because there are spiritual geniuses. In the case of spiritual genius a गुरु is not required, therefore in their case they gain knowledge in an exceptional way. Just as there was a रामानुजन्, a mathematics genius, he could do mathematics without the help of a teacher, the teacher himself could not understand the things, just because समानुजन् didn't require if you abolish all mathematics schools and teachers that becomes ridiculous. When we are talking about general rule never quote an exception and every one requires a गुरु and suppose you say “स्वामिजि I am a spiritual genius and therefore I am an exception,” then I will tell “you don't require. But our problem is what? In spite of a गुरु we don't understand, without गुरु what you will understand. Therefore श्रवणम् from गुरु is required. Then comes the मननम् which is the removal of all the doubts until my intellect is convinced that the निर्गुण ईश्वर is not different from me, the real me, तत् ब्रह्म अहम् अस्मि, अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि. Our intellect will not easily accept it, but until we accept we have to find out what is the intellectual obstacle for accepting this and whatever be the obstacle in the form of doubt we have to remove. It is a long process we have to go through, which is called मननम् and once a person has gone through श्रवणम् and मननम्, then he has to go through निदिध्यासनम्, by which we mean the assimilation of this teaching, by which we mean repeatedly reminding my higher nature to myself. So the nature that I know now is my lower nature, that I am so and so, that I am born on such and such a date, I have these qualification, I am so many years old, whatever, what you call, whatever bio-data I give now, they all belong to the incidental अहङ्कारः. I have to remind myself of my higher आत्मा nature, this Self-reminder is called निदिध्यासनम्. Thus by following श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम् I assimilate this teaching. And once the teaching is assimilated this intellectual knowledge will bring about an emotional transformation. Because most of our problems are at emotional level, राग, द्वेष, काम, क्रोध, भयम्, all these are emotional problems. संसार is experienced at emotional levels and therefore this knowledge has to transform my emotional personality. Until then I continue निदिध्यासनम्. And these three साधनs put together श्रवणम् मनन निदिध्यासन is called the fifth level of भक्तियोगः and once a person has gone through all the five levels of भक्तियोगः, he becomes a ज्ञानि, a स्थिरप्रज्ञः, to use the 2nd chapter expression.

So thus कृष्ण talks all the five levels, the first four levels belong the वेदपूर्व भाग and the fifth and final level belongs to वेद-अन्त भाग. And this is given from verse no.3 to 12, verse no.3 to verse no.12 is the five staged भक्तियोगः. And incidentally you should remember that these five levels are not clear cut divisions. Not that you follow one and complete it and you go to the second one and once you come to the second one, the first one is gone and once you go to the third level, the second level is gone, this is not a clear-cut division, everybody will be following all the साधनs but one will be predominant, therefore it is not a clear cut division, that we should remember.

ii) And now comes the second part of the 12th chapter, which is from verse no.13 to verse no.19. And that topic is भक्तियोगफलम्, the benefit of भक्तियोगः. You should remember, when a person has gone through all the stages of भक्तियोगः he has attained the knowledge अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. Therefore this direct benefit of भक्तियोगः is आत्मज्ञानम् अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि which means अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि. And what will any knowledge lead to, what is the benefit of any type of knowledge? The benefit of any knowledge is removal of ignorance. ज्ञानस्य फलम् अज्ञान निवृत्तिः, the benefit of knowledge is freedom from ignorance. And if I get physics knowledge, I will get freedom from what ignorance, chemistry ignorance? No, physics knowledge removes physic ignorance, english knowledge removes english ignorance, Self-knowledge will remove Self-ignorance. Therefore directly the benefit is experienced at the intellectual level only, because I have got Self-knowledge I am free from Self-ignorance. Therefore the direct benefit is only at the intellectual level, the emotional benefits are only indirect benefits, they are only corollary. And therefore you should know how removal of Self-ignorance gives me emotional benefit. What is the connection between intellectual knowledge and emotional benefit? The connection is not very direct, therefore we have to understand how. So what I am doing is an intellectual exercise, but the benefit presented is what: emotional benefit. How we should know? So this the fundamental of वेदान्त, I have not discussed this during the course of 12th chapter but being important I thought I will just mention it. The वेदान्त points out, it reveals that पूर्णत्वम् is our real nature, पूर्णत्वम् means completeness, self-sufficiency, self-adequacy is my real nature. But unfortunately, whatever be the reason, we do not know the fact that अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि, we don't know, because we are born with ignorance of everything and therefore ignorance of our real nature also. We are born with english ignorance, we are born with संस्कृत ignorance, we are born with mathematics ignorance, all ignorance we are born with, In fact, that is our capital, what capital, ignorance and as we learn one by one the ignorance goes away. When I learn english, english ignorance goes. Just as other ignorances, if I can use plural, other types of ignorance are there, Self-ignorance is also there, therefore I don't know अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि. If I had known, anybody asks who are you, I would have said अहम् सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्म. We never say, nobody introduces that way, that means it is very clear that we are ignorant and वेदान्त points out when I do not know I am पूर्णः, naturally I am going to mistake myself as I am अपूर्णः. Ignorance of पूर्णत्वम् leads to the mistake of अपूर्णत्वम्, when the fact is not known so many other things are imagined. To put in technical language, अज्ञानम् leads to अध्यास, ignorance leads to erroneous conclusions. And the erroneous conclusion is what, अहम् अपूर्णः. अपूर्णः means what: I am an incomplete person. And this erroneous conclusion is at what level, it is at the intellectual level, ignorance belongs to intellect, error also belongs to intellect. Up to this is intellectual problem. Then what happens. When I feel incomplete, naturally I have a desire to complete myself and therefore I gone on struggling in life to make myself पूर्णः

by various methods, As a child, I think a balloon or toy will make me complete one, बालस्तावत् क्रीडासक्तः. And once this person is an adult he think life will be incomplete if there is no wife or husband. He is going by the motorbike and there is nobody to sit behind, somebody has to sit behind and put the hand on the round tummy; joke, OK. So then I am complete now. So therefore this problem was for ब्रह्माजि himself it seems, बृहदारण्यक उपनिषत् says:

तस्माद् एकाकी न रमते । स द्वितीयम् ऐच्छत् । ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् १-४-३ ॥

ब्रह्माजि also wanted a Mrs. Therefore I gone on thinking this will complete me, this will complete me, this will complete me and the whole life is searching for something which will make my life complete. This is called कामः, this काम is a problem at the emotional level. So this अपूर्णत्वम् to कामः is the shifting of the problem from the intellectual to emotional and when I am not able to fulfill my काम or somebody obstructs the fulfillment then there is क्रोध, because of you only I could not do that. क्रोध is an emotional problem and when the काम is fulfilled then also I don't solve the problem because finite plus finite is equal to finite. Therefore fulfillment of desire will leads to more कामः, which is called लोभः; unfulfilled काम leads to क्रोधः, fulfilled काम leads to लोभः. Thus, we have got into the trap of काम, क्रोध, लोभ, मोह, मद, and मात्सर्य. In fact, all your emotional problems begin with this काम. And this काम is because of what, the erroneous conclusion that I am अपूर्णः. Therefore the root of the emotional problem is at the intellectual level, problem is emotional but the root is intellectual and therefore you have to study the scriptures and solve the problem at intellectual level, then it will gradually transform your emotional personality. Because when I am पूर्णः I know I am full and complete whether things are around or not,

Expectations are not there, frustrations are not there, complaints are not there and therefore all the benefits mentioned in this portion are the emotional benefits but the cause is what: at the intellectual knowledge. And therefore कृष्ण enumerates them from verse no.13 to 19. I am not going to each and everyone, but will present in a nutshell. All our transactions are from three different levels,

- i. I as a कर्ता in the world, as the doer of varieties of action, that is one role I play and
- ii. the second role I play is as a भोक्ता, receiving varieties of experiences and
- iii. the third is I as a प्रमत्ता, how I look at the world, my perspective as an observer.

And कृष्ण says at all these three levels there will be total transformation.

- i) As a कर्ता, what is the transformation? My actions are no more born out of a sense of incompleteness. It is not because I am अपूर्णः I am doing the action, because after knowledge I am पूर्णः, therefore all my actions are not meant for fulfillment but they are done with fulfillment and therefore there is no more any motive, if कर्म-फलम् comes अहम् पूर्णः only, if कर्म-फलम् does not come also अहम् पूर्णः only. Therefore there is a very great relief, there is no concern, there is no tension. So therefore I act from पूर्णत्वम् not from अपूर्णत्वम्, one change.
- ii) And when I am full and complete, a mind which has fullness will always express only love. Fullness expresses in the form of love and compassion. Therefore all the actions are born out of love and compassion for others. This is the second transformation.
- iii) And the third transformation is since the action comes from love, compassion without expectation and concern, the quality of the actions are excellent because the mind is undisturbed, the performance is always better and therefore every action is appropriate and sound action, दक्षः. Thus as a कर्ता, his motive is not fulfillment, but comes with fulfillment, love, compassion.

Similarly, as a भोक्ता कृष्ण says, since he operates from strength that अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि, he is not vulnerable to disturbance like anger, impulsive reactions etc., cannot come. He has got a shock absorber. And therefore patience, freedom from impulsive reaction, not vulnerable to emotional disturbances. In fact, he is an emotionally immunized person is from भोक्ता level. So emotional resistance is the second benefit.

And the third and final is as a प्रमाता, as an observer his perspective of the creation is समत्वम्, समत्वम् whatever be the type of experience, मान-अपमान, सुख-दुःख, शीत-उष्ण etc., his mind enjoys समत्वम् or equanimity which means he is not subject to राग and द्वेष. So these are the transformations which will take place as a result of this knowledge and then कृष्ण concludes by pointing that to get this particular benefit there is no shortcut at all, everyone has to go through all the five stages if a person has to attain this benefit.

श्रद्धधाना मत्परमा भक्तास्तेऽतीव मे प्रियाः ॥ १२-२०॥

One has to go all the five stages to attain this फलम् called जीवन्मुक्ति.

अथ त्रयोदशोऽध्यायः । क्षेत्रक्षेत्रज्ञविभागयोगः ।

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 01-02

In the last class I pointed out that the 12th chapter makes the end of the मध्यम षट्कम् of the भगवद्गीता. The भगवद्गीता is divided into three षट्कम्s, षट्कम् meaning a group of six chapters and the first षट्कम् consisting of the first six chapters is प्रथम षट्कम्, then from the 7th to the 12 is the मध्यम षट्कम् and from the 13th up to the 18th is चरम षट्कम् or अन्तिम षट्कम्. And I had also pointed out that in each षट्कम् certain topics are highlighted, predominantly certain topics are highlighted in each षट्कम्.

- 1) And we saw that in the प्रथम षट्कम् three topics are highlighted,
 - a) The first topic being जीव स्वरूपम्, the nature of the individual. In technical language we call it त्वम् पदार्थः. In the महावाक्यम् तत् त्वम् असि, the त्वम् part is called जीव स्वरूपम्, the nature of the individual was highlighted.
 - b) The second topic that is highlighted is the कर्मयोग as a साधन. So जीव स्वरूपम् or त्वम् पदार्थः and कर्मयोग साधन was the second topic and
 - c) The third topic highlighted in the प्रथम षट्कम् is the importance of the individual effort, otherwise called प्रयत्नः. So कृष्ण wants to point out that everything is not predetermined, everything is not totally the will of the God alone, you also do have a free-will. And therefore, never embrace fatalism, fatalistic approach is non-वैदिक approach. We don't say fate or destiny is not there, what we say by fatalism is when you think that fate alone determines everything, fate is the total contributor to our life, it is called fatalism. Whereas the वैदिक approach is fate is one of the contributors to our future. Through your horoscope or through नाडि ज्योतिषम्, which is more popular now, through various methods you may know your destiny, your कर्म, but you should remember that कर्म or fate is only one of the contributors of your future. In addition to fate, there is another important factor also, which contributes to your future and that important factor is your free-will or your पुरुषार्थ, otherwise called प्रयत्नः. And therefore Lord कृष्ण said that you have to contribute your might.

आत्मैव ह्यात्मनो बन्धुरात्मैव रिपुरात्मनः ॥ ६-१॥

You have to work for your upliftment and in fact, only when you work for your upliftment God will come to your rescue. Thus जीव स्वरूपम्, कर्मयोग and प्रयत्नः, these are the three topics in the प्रथम षट्कम्.

2) Then in the मध्यम षट्कम् from the 7th to 12th chapters, कृष्ण shifted the focus to another three important topics and they are:

a) ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, otherwise technically called तत् पदार्थः. In the महावाक्यम् तत् त्वम् असि, तत् refers to ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, त्वम् refers to the जीव स्वरूपम्. So ईश्वर स्वरूपम् is one topic,

b) The second topic highlighted is ईश्वर उपासनायोग. Meditation upon ईश्वर called ईश्वर ध्यानम् or उपासनाम् and this ईश्वर ध्यानम् can be in the form of इष्ट देवता उपासनाम्, which was called अभ्यास योग by Lord कृष्ण or it can be in the form of विश्वरूप उपासनाम्, meditation upon the Lord, looking upon him as the very universe itself. In fact, the entire 11th chapter is training for विश्वरूप उपासनाम्.

अनेकवक्त्रनयनमनेकाद्भुतदर्शनम्।

This is called उपासनाम् or उपासनायोगः. ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, उपासनायोग as साधन.

c) And the third topic that कृष्ण highlighted in the मध्यम षट्कम् is the importance of ईश्वर अनुग्रह or ईश्वर कृपा. Because even though प्रयत्न or effort is very important, the human effort will fructify only when there is ईश्वर कृपा or अनुग्रह also. And of course, ईश्वर अनुग्रह is always there, flowing, but we have to learn to tap the ईश्वर अनुग्रह which is there just as a waterfall has got electricity in potential form, but the electricity will be useful to us only when we learn to tap the electricity by the appropriate project. Similarly, solar energy is there all the time but we have to tap that energy. Similarly, ईश्वर अनुग्रह also we have to learn to tap and every prayer is like hydro-electric project, it is ईश्वर अनुग्रह project only. In fact, we start the भगवद्गीता with a prayer, it is only to tap अनुग्रह. And therefore, never underestimate the role of अनुग्रह. Generally people think अद्वैतिस who are committed to ज्ञानयोग, they do not have भक्ति at all, they think, they are all intellectuals, they are rational people, they think. But remember even the greatest अद्वैति values the role of ईश्वर अनुग्रह and therefore ईश्वर कृपा or अनुग्रह is the third topic in the मध्यम षट्कम् ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, ईश्वर ध्यानम् and ईश्वर अनुग्रह.

Thus six topics have been highlighted.

3) Now we have to enter the चरम षट्कम् or the अन्तिम षट्कम् and in this षट्कम् also we have three topics highlighted. And what are those topics?

a) जीव-ईश्वर स्वरूप ऐक्यम्. The essential oneness of जीव स्वरूपम् and ईश्वर स्वरूपम् which is technically called असि पदार्थः. तत् त्वम् असि. If you rearrange, त्वम् तत् असि. त्वम् is जीव स्वरूपम्, तत् is ईश्वर स्वरूपम् and असि is जीव-ईश्वर स्वरूप ऐक्यम्. And by using the word essential oneness we indirectly convey that there is a superficial difference between जीव and ईश्वर. And that is why we are using the word essential oneness and to understand this essential oneness, we generally take the example of a wave and the ocean. Wave and ocean are superficially different, that is why is called a wave and ocean is called an ocean. Definitely there is a difference. Ocean is vast, wave is small. Ocean is cause, wave is effect. Ocean is relatively eternal, wave is ephemeral. Thus between wave and ocean differences do exist, but all these differences are only superficial differences. If you find out the essential nature of wave, it is nothing but what? Water. If you take the wave, it is nothing but water: H₂O; सत्-चित्-आनन्द. Similarly, if you analyze the essential nature of ocean, it is nothing but water only. In fact, there is no wave other than water, there is no ocean other than water, there is only one water behind the wave and one water behind the ocean and if you shift your attention to the water aspect, if you shift your focus to the water then you can say wave and ocean are essentially one and the same. Similarly, वेदान्त says, जीवात्मा is essentially आत्मा. That is why it is called जीवात्मा. जीवात्मा is essentially the आत्मा, the चैतन्यम्. परमात्मा is essentially the आत्मा, the चैतन्यम्. Even though superficially they are different essentially both are one and the same, आत्मा the चैतन्यम् only. This understanding by proper enquiry is called जीवात्मा-परमात्मा स्वरूप ऐक्यम्, otherwise called असि पदार्थः. This is topic No.1 of the चरम षट्कम्.

b) Then the second topic that we find is ज्ञानयोग as meant as साधन which is meant to discover this essential oneness, known as अहम् ब्रह्म असि. Imagine the wave is a living being and the wave says that I am nothing but water. And the moment the wave understands I am water, the wave can say I don't have birth, because water doesn't have birth, I don't have death and I am all-pervading throughout the ocean. And this discovery is अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि, which is gathered through ज्ञानयोगः. So ज्ञानयोगः is understanding this महावाक्यम्, in English we called it the great equation. So the concept of equation is very beautiful. When do we have an equation? In mathematics or in physics or in chemistry when do we have an equation? When two things are totally different you cannot write an equation. $8 = 9$, nobody will write. Why because they are not the same. When two things are evidently equal, when two things are explicitly equal, then also you don't write an equation. $8 = 8$, or $9 = 9$, you don't write. Then when do we write an equation? When two things are equal, we don't write an equation. When two things are different, we don't write an equation. Then when do we write an equation? When two things are seemingly different but essentially one and the same, then we require an equation. Suppose, I write, $4+3$ is equal to $9-2$. Think. We have lost our skill by using the calculator. So, $4+3$ is equal to $9-2$ why do we write, because when you look at the two sides of the equation, what I see is different. Here the numbers are 4 and 3, there are numbers are 9 and 2. Even the diagrams are different, the way you write. So, the numbers are different. And what about the arithmetic sign? Here we have got $4 +$ is there, there we have got $9 -$. Therefore numbers are different, signs are different, therefore eyes report that they are different. And since superficially difference is experienced, I have to teach a child, the differences are superficial but essentially $4+3$ is equal to 7, $9-2$ is equal to 7 and therefore, both are 7 स्वरूपम्. So स्वरूप दृष्ट्या they are identical. Similarly, when you look at the जीव and when you look at the ईश्वर, they are very very different. One is omniscient, another doesn't even know the spelling of omniscient. सर्वज्ञः, अल्पज्ञः. सर्वशक्तिमान्, अल्पशक्तिमान्. सर्वज्ञः means omniscient. अल्पज्ञः means with limited knowledge. सर्वशक्तिमान् means omnipotent and अल्पशक्तिमान् means with limited power. सर्वगतः means omnipresent and अल्पगतः means limited pervasion. So जीव and ईश्वर seems to be totally different, even different is not the word, diagonally opposite. One is creator, the other is created, one is master, another is servant. But the उपनिषत्s say that the difference is only superficial like $4+3$ and $9-2$. If you make an enquiry and arrive at the essence of जीवात्मा and also arrive at the essence of परमात्मा or ईश्वर, which is called त्वम् पद शोधनम् and तत् पद शोधनम्, शोधनम् means विचारः. So you do जीव स्वरूप विचार and ईश्वर स्वरूप विचार in the lines taught by the teacher. Just as the mathematics teacher drives home the equation to the student. Similarly, महावाक्य उपदेश कर्ता गुरु has to help the student enquire into the जीव स्वरूप विचार and ईश्वर स्वरूप विचार. Then the thrilling discovery is what, अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. (ब्रह्म carefully write, or else you will write it as भ्रम - which means confusion. I am confusion अस्मि. For that discovery, Vedantic study is not required. It is a known fact.) अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. And this is called जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्यम्, otherwise called असि पदार्थः. And this enquiry you make to arrive at the oneness is called ज्ञानयोगः, otherwise called वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्. That is going to be highlighted in the 13th chapter, 14th chapter, 15th chapter.

c) Then the third topic; ऐक्यम् No.1, ज्ञानयोग, No.2, then the next topic is the importance of values. Developing सत्-गुणs, noble virtues are extremely important to enjoy a mind which will be capable of absorbing the teaching. Only a धार्मिक mind can absorb वेदान्त. In कठोपनिषत्, it is said:

नाविरतो दुश्चरितात् नाशान्तो नासमाहितः ।

नाशान्तमानसो वाऽपि प्रज्ञानैर्नमाप्नुयात् ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-२-२४ ॥

If the mind is not a धार्मिक mind, if it doesn't have healthy values, the mind is not a prepared mind and without a prepared mind if Vedantic knowledge is given, it is like sowing the seeds on sand. On dry, barren, sandy ground even if you sow the best of seeds nothing will happen. Therefore an intelligent person should prepare the ground before sowing the seed. Similarly, before sowing the महावाक्य seed, make sure that you have the virtues. Then the question is what are the virtues? कृष्ण will himself enumerate them. In 13th chapter we get, in 14th we get some of them, in 15th we get and in 16th and 17th fully we get virtues, we can call them सत्-गुणाः. In धर्मशास्त्र, they are आत्म-गुणाः. And if you want to present this values in Vedantic language, we can call them साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. So values is the third topic. So, ऐक्यम्, ज्ञानयोग and गुणs, these are the three topics highlighted in the चरम षट्कम्.

With this background, we will enter the चरम षट्कम्, viz., the 13th chapter of the गीता. In the 13th chapter, in some books, we find a verse in the form of अर्जुन's question. In some books 13th chapter begins with अर्जुन उवाच, whereas in some other books we get भगवान् उवाच. Perhaps that श्लोकs was not there before, later perhaps somebody added, we need not going to go into those details, but the question is useful and therefore I have incorporated that verse in our book and therefore we will start with अर्जुन's question. And if you include that 13th chapter will have 35 verses, otherwise they will only have 34 verses.

Verse No .01

अथ त्रयोदशोऽध्यायः ।

अर्जुन उवाच ।

प्रकृतिं पुरुषं चैव क्षेत्रं क्षेत्रज्ञमेव च ।

एतद्देदितुमिच्छामि ज्ञानं ज्ञेयं च केशव ॥ १३-१॥

प्रकृतिम् पुरुषम् च एव क्षेत्रम् क्षेत्रज्ञम् एव च ।

एतत् वेदितुम् इच्छामि ज्ञानम् ज्ञेयम् च केशव ॥ १३-१॥

हे केशव! प्रकृतिम् पुरुषम् च एव क्षेत्रम् क्षेत्रज्ञम् च एव ज्ञानम् ज्ञेयम् च एतत् वेदितुम् इच्छामि ।

अर्जुन asks this question and in this question अर्जुन gives six technical words, generally used in the वेदान्त. Technical words used in any parituclar science is called परिभाषा शब्दः. In English we use the word jargon; medical jargon, that jargon means a technical word used in that particular science. Like in economics they say inflation. Whereas when you talk of inflating your cycle tyre it has a different meaning. So we have got technical words, they are called परिभाषा शब्दः. अर्जुन introduces six परिभाषा शब्दs, technical words used in वेदान्त and he asks for clarification. I have heard them and I would like to know what exactly those concepts are. So what are those six words?

- No.1 प्रकृतिः,
- No.2 पुरुषः,
- No.3 क्षेत्रम्,
- No.4 क्षेत्रज्ञः,
- No.5 ज्ञानम्,
- No.6 ज्ञेयम्.

These are the 6 words. Generally they go in pairs, प्रकृति and पुरुषः makes one pair, क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः another, then ज्ञानम् and ज्ञेयम्. एतत् – this group of six technical words, वेदितुम् इच्छामि – I would like to know, हे केशव! केशव means Oh Lord कृष्ण. And here even though अर्जुन has used six words, some of the words are almost synonymous only. And still अर्जुन perhaps is not very clearly and he distinctly enumerate them. For our convenience, we can take them together.

➤ The word प्रकृति and the word क्षेत्रम् are almost synonymous, both of them mean the material universe which is the object of our experience. So the experienced objective material universe is known as प्रकृति and क्षेत्रम्. Even though there are subtle differences, at this moment we can take them as almost identical. And when I say material universe, it includes the invisible energies also, because even scientifically energy is another form of matter only. Matter can be converted into energy and energy can be converted into matter, that is why we have $E = MC^2$ equation. Therefore, when I say this matter it means the whole creation in visible and invisible form. And according to वेदान्त it includes our mind also, because according to शास्त्र, mind is also a product of the subtle five elements. Therefore mind is also a form of matter only and that is why the mind is influenced by matter. When there is a change in biochemistry, when there is a change in hormones, it changes your mind and emotions, from that it is very clear that mind is also another form of subtle matter only. Therefore, प्रकृति or क्षेत्रम् includes the world, the mind and also the body, all of them are called प्रकृति or क्षेत्रम्. कृष्ण will himself will elaborate that later. Here for our convenience we can remember matter.

➤ Then next we can take पुरुषः, क्षेत्रज्ञम् and ज्ञेयम्. All these are almost synonymous only, there is only a subtle superficial differences, essentially all these three being चैतन्यम् or Consciousness-principle. Thus प्रकृति and क्षेत्रम् means अचेतन तत्त्वम्, पुरुष, क्षेत्रज्ञ and ज्ञेयम् means चेतन तत्त्वम्. Matter and Spirit, inert and sentient. Thus five words we have reduced into two.

➤ Then what is left out? There is only one word, viz., ज्ञानम्. And the word ज्ञानम् has a popular meaning, it has several meanings. Popular meaning of the ज्ञानम् is knowledge but in the 13th chapter, the word ज्ञानम् is used in the meaning of virtues or values: सत्-गुणः. कृष्ण will enlist 20 virtues later, अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, अहिंसा, क्षान्तिः and कृष्ण says all these virtues put together are called एतत् ज्ञानम् इति प्रोक्तम् अज्ञानम् यत् अतः अन्यथा. Therefore ज्ञानम् means virtues or values.

These are going to be the six topics or three topics, which अर्जुन wants to know, which कृष्ण will elaborate later. This is the background of the question. So even कृष्ण is answering a question paper. Examination season. It is not only for our children, Lord कृष्ण also has got: write short notes on. I don't whether now it is there or not, we had it. Write short notes on. The only difference is we will have so many and choice will be given on any three, but poor कृष्ण doesn't have any choice, He has to write notes on all the six! And कृष्ण being a great student or master, He answers all of them beautifully! Now we will see कृष्ण's answer.

Verse No .02

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

इदं शरीरं कौन्तेय क्षेत्रमित्यभिधीयते ।

एतद्यो वेति तं प्राहुः क्षेत्रज्ञ इति तद्विदः ॥ १३-२॥

इदम् शरीरम् कौन्तेय क्षेत्रम् इति अभिधीयते ।

एतत् यः वेति तम् प्राहुः क्षेत्रज्ञः इति तत्-विदः ॥ १३-२॥

हे कौन्तेय! इदम् शरीरम् क्षेत्रम् इति अभिधीयते । यः एतत् वेति, तम् क्षेत्रज्ञः इति तत्-विदः प्राहुः ।

When we write answers to the questions, generally, we write the answers for those questions which we know thoroughly and wherever we want to bluff, wherever we are not sure we will keep it for the end. What we definitely know we write first. Similarly, perhaps कृष्ण also, not that कृष्ण wants to bluff or anything, he also rearranges the questions, perhaps for our convenience, even though अर्जुन's order is प्रकृति, पुरुषः, क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञ, कृष्ण starts with the third item, viz., क्षेत्रम्.

1) Of these six items the first one कृष्ण takes up is क्षेत्रम्. What is क्षेत्रम्? कृष्ण says, हे कौन्तेय! हे कुन्तीपुत्रः! अर्जुन, इदम् शरीरम् – this body that you are experiencing intimately, this शरीरम्, this body is called क्षेत्रम्. So this body is called क्षेत्रम्. And why is this body known by the word क्षेत्रम्? शङ्कराचार्य gives several meanings for the word क्षेत्रम्, out of that we will see two meanings which are relevant and beautiful.

a) The first meaning is that which is subject to decay and destruction. So क्षीयते इति क्षेत्रम् क्षतत्वात्, क्षीयमानत्वात् क्षेत्रम्, क्षि means that which disintegrates, that which decays and ultimately dies. In fact, the very word शरीरम् also means the same only. शरीरमान स्वभावत्वात् शरीरम्, शीर्यते means that which is decaying every moment. The cells, one set of cells are replaced by another and after 40 or 50, the replacement becomes slow or stops and ultimately it dies. All the words used for the physical body indicates that it is subject to decay and destruction. And even the word देहः is because that which is burned by, afflicted by, tormented by three-fold sorrows, त्रिविधैः तापैः दह्यते इति देहः. दह् means to burn. Burn means not in the physical sense, but in the figurative sense. What are the three-fold तापs?

i) One ताप is rising from inside in the form of varieties of diseases etc., that is it is internal suffering. And the other type of ताप comes from outside or the environment, like dust pollution, noise pollution, carbon monoxide pollution, so many varieties of pollution they talk about, any तापम् coming from the surrounding is one type of suffering, known as आधिभौतिक तापम्.

ii) What comes from inside is आध्यात्मिक तापम्, like BP, sugar, etc.

iii) And the third one is that which is not caused by the external or internal, that which is caused by the nature or the कर्म. So, आधिदैविक तापम् caused by supernatural forces like thunder, lightening, or floods, all these things are the third ones.

Through these three-fold तापम्s the body is constantly tormented and therefore त्रिविधैः तापैः दह्यते इति देहः. So, शरीरम् दह्यते इति देहः, क्षीयते इति क्षेत्रम्. And while living the three-fold तापs are burning and after death also the body is burned by another type of fire, what is that? The cremation fire. Therefore while living also it is burned, after death also it is burned, therefore it is called क्षेत्रम्. This is meaning No.1 given by शङ्कराचार्य.

b) Then the second meaning given for क्षेत्रम् is any agricultural land or field is called क्षेत्रम्. A wet land which is used for raising crops or plants is called क्षेत्रम्. And our physical body is comparable to a field. And why is the body compared to a field? शङ्कराचार्य says when we have got seeds in our hands, we can convert the seed into the plant. But that conversion requires a land. Only through the land, by sowing the seed, it can be converted into plants. If you are keeping the seed in your bureau and after a few days you see, it cannot grow into a plant and therefore we require what? An intermediary medium through which alone the seed is converted into plant which can bear fruits. Similarly, we have done lot of पुण्य-पाप कर्म in the past जन्म and all those कर्म are like seeds and every कर्म can fructify into सुखम् and दुःखम्. Just as seed can fructify into plant, कर्म can fructify into फलम् - पुण्यम् कर्म into सुखफलम्, पाप कर्म into दुःखफलम् but that conversion requires a medium. Just as seed requires the medium of the field to become a plant and fructify, our कर्म also requires a medium, what is the medium, the physical body is the medium only through the body we can reap पुण्यफलम्, we can reap पापफलम्. As long as you don't have a body, पुण्यम् will be there but it will never become सुखम्, पापम् will be there but it will never become दुःखम्. The conversion requires an intermediary. Therefore शङ्कराचार्य says क्षेत्रवत् क्षेत्रम्. Only one word शङ्कराचार्य says. He will not talk like me for half an hour. He is very precise, concise and brief. He writes only one word क्षेत्रवत् क्षेत्रम्. And therefore this physical body is called क्षेत्रम्.

Even though कृष्ण has defined the physical body as क्षेत्रम्, we have to include two more things, which कृष्ण will do later, but in this context we can add. The mind is also called क्षेत्रम्. And not only the body and mind, even the external world is called क्षेत्रम्. So three things: body, mind and the world. In short whatever you experience is क्षेत्रम्. Whatever you experience is क्षेत्रम्. The world is experienced by me, the body is experienced by me. Do you have any doubts? When the mosquito bites, you will know whether you experience your body or not. Even if you deliberately know the hand will know. The body and pain and pleasures are experienced, the world of course I experience. In the same way, the mind is also intimately experienced by me. I know the arrival of every emotion and I know the departure. I know the emotional problems. That's why counselors are having a gala time. If I don't know my emotional problem, how I will go to a psychiatrist.

So therefore, all the three, what is common to all the three?

- i) All of them are objects of experience and
- ii) All of them are matter, made up of matter, world is made up of matter, body is of course made up of matter, mind also is made up of matter. All the three are objects. All the three are matter.
- iii) And then all the three are subject to constant change also. The world changes all the time. There is nothing that is changeless. Some of them may change faster, some of them may change slowly, but the change is the law of nature. And not only the world, the body changes, अस्ति, जायते, वर्धते, विपरिणमते, अपक्षीयते, विनश्यति, इति षड्विकारवत् एतत् शरीरम्. Therefore the world is सविकारम्, body is सविकारम्. What about the mind, it changes or not? My God! That is the fastest changing thing. And thank god the mind changes also. Imagine I keep on talking and your mind remains still. If nothing happens in the mind then what a terrible lot will be mine? So I am expecting my words to enter your mind through your ears and I expect your mind, your thoughts to come. Every word should create a thought in your mind. Whether you understand or not, accept or not, mind has to undergo transformation. Thus क्षेत्रम् is object, क्षेत्रम् is matter, क्षेत्रम् is subject to change.

Even though क्षेत्रम् consists of body and world, कृष्ण here focuses upon the body only, because we have got maximum attachment to the body matter. World is also matter, body is also another small lump of matter, nothing but mud pack. Only like porcelain, it is a refined mud. Even though the world is also mud, body is also mud, unfortunately, our identification with this body is so deep and therefore कृष्ण wants to specifically remind that the body is also an object of experience. इति क्षेत्रम्. So topic No.1 temporarily over. कृष्ण will elaborate later.

2) Then what is the second topic. एतत् यः वेति तम् क्षेत्रज्ञः इति प्राहुः. Whatever illumines or experiences the क्षेत्रम्, if the क्षेत्रम् is an experienced object, every experienced object presupposes an experiencer, sentient subject. If my eyes are perceiving all of you, the very perception of every one of you presupposes the existence of the perceiver eye. Even though the eyes themselves are not perceived by me, I don't see my eyes, even though the eyes themselves are not perceived, there is no doubt regarding the perceiver eye, because without the perceiver eyes there cannot be perceived forms and colors. Like every photograph that you see presupposes what? A photographer or minimum a camera. Earlier I used to talk about photographer, now people talk about automatic camera. There is a camera. Every photo presupposes the existence of a camera, even though the camera itself is not in the picture. Similarly, if the entire क्षेत्रम् consisting of the world, body and mind is an object of experience, it presupposes what? a sentient, experiencer, illuminator, conscious-principle. And that conscious-principle which is called the subject, which is called the illuminator, which is called the enlivening principle, कृष्ण calls क्षेत्रज्ञः. And who says that तत्-विदः – the great ज्ञानिन्स who know about them they say that it is called क्षेत्रज्ञः. Therefore, in short क्षेत्रज्ञः means conscious-principle. क्षेत्रम् means matter-principle, क्षेत्रज्ञः means conscious-principle or Consciousness.

Now taking a little bit aside, what exactly is the nature of this Consciousness is a fundamental question, because it is a mysterious thing which everybody tries to understand, all the sciences are even now struggling to understand what is the phenomenon of Consciousness. According to वेदान्त, Consciousness has the following features: Do you remember:

- a) Consciousness is not a part of the body, is not a product of the body, is not a property of the body. Consciousness is an independent entity according to वेदान्त. So Consciousness is not a part, product or property of the body.
- b) Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades the body, which body? inert body and makes it sentient, चेतनम्. This is the second feature. देह विलक्षणम्. It is different and It pervades the body. देह व्यापिः.

c) The third feature is this Consciousness which is independent principle is not limited by the boundaries of the body, which means It extends beyond the peripheries of the body. व्यापि सर्वगतः. This is the third feature.

d) Then the fourth feature is this Consciousness will continue to exist even when the body perishes. It is eternal. Previously we said It is all-pervading. Now we say It is eternal.

e) The final point is the surviving Consciousness after the destruction of the body is not recognizable because there is no body through which it can manifest or express. So for want of a manifesting medium the surviving Consciousness is not recognizable. Details in the next class.

In the beginning of 13th chapter, अर्जुन introduced 6 technical words, परिभाषा शब्दाः used in the scriptures and अर्जुन asked for clarifications of these terms and from the 2nd verse, Lord कृष्ण begins to answer अर्जुन's question. The six terms that अर्जुन wanted to know are क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञः, प्रकृतिः, पुरुषः, ज्ञानम् and ज्ञेयम्. Of these six words, Lord कृष्ण takes up the first pair of words, viz., क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः and since these two terms are closely connected, कृष्ण deals with both of them simultaneously. And this is done from the 2nd verse up to 7. Verse no.2 to 7 is dealing with क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः. And the word क्षेत्रम्, literally and from the standpoint of वेदान्त means the entire objective universe which is experienced by us, which consists of the external world which is an object of experience, which includes the body, which is also an object of my experience and finally, it includes the mind also, which is an object of experience. Thus the world, plus the body, plus the mind, the whole thing is क्षेत्रम्. The only difference is among these three, the world is a little bit away from us, as it were and the body and mind are intimately associated with me, the observer and therefore, the body and mind appear to me to my integral part. I have given you the example before: When somebody asks me what are the things in front of me, I enumerate various things, all of you are in front of me, the mike, the book, the clip, the watch, the desk, this cloth on the desk, I will enumerate everything and I forgot to include one thing which is very much different from me, which is in front of me, which is very much an object and which is generally not enumerated, viz., what is that, my spectacles. The spectacles is very much part of this world, I have bought it from the shop, but once I put on the spectacles and once it becomes an instrument of observation, the instrument is generally included in the subject itself. From this we come to know an important law, "An object which serves as an instrument is generally taken as the subject itself." An object, which serves as an instrument is integrally connected with the subject and therefore generally we include the spectacles in the observer itself. But the fact is it is also an object only. In the same way, the वेदान्त says, the body is also an instrument for my observation of the world, the mind is also another instrument for the observation of the world, but both of them also are an object different from me, because instrument is different from the one who is behind the instrument. And that is why when I am using the body and mind during the waking and dream states I experience the external world, when in deep sleep state I am no more operating through the body-mind-complex, I don't experience the world. So body is one spectacle as it were, one glass of the spectacle, mind is another one, when both of them are used I experience the world, when both of them are kept aside, when do you keep aside? During sleep state, I don't function through them, there is no world of experience. And therefore वेदान्त says, body is also an object, mind is also an object, but both of them serve as an instrument and therefore they appear to be an integral part of the subject. And since body is also an object, mind is also an object, both of them should be included in क्षेत्रम्, the objective universe. Thus क्षेत्रम् consists of three portions, the world, the body and the mind. And of these three, कृष्ण enumerates the body alone in this verse, because our identification with the body is stronger and therefore कृष्ण highlights the body part in this verse. Later, कृष्ण himself will elaborate the क्षेत्रम् in which he will include the mind as well as the external world. And therefore brief क्षेत्रम् in this verse elaborate क्षेत्रम् in the later verses i.e., no.6 and 7, that is महा-भूतान् अहङ्कार and इच्छा द्वेषः सुखम् दुःखम्, their कृष्ण elaborates the क्षेत्रम्, here briefly enumerates only item, what is that? The body is क्षेत्रम्. And He also pointed out क्षेत्रज्ञः is something which is different from the body, which pervades the body and which makes the material body a live, living being. And that invisible principle, like the invisible electricity which makes the fan go around, which makes the bulb bright, which makes the mike magnify my sound, that invisible principle behind the visible mike, behind the visible fan, behind the visible radio, behind the visible electrical instrument, that is the electricity principle. In the same way, behind the physical material body the invisible principle is the चैतन्य तत्त्वम्. And that invisible चैतन्य तत्त्वम् is called क्षेत्रज्ञः, ज्ञः means the awaring principle, the experiencing principle, the observing principle, the sentient principle. And therefore, the first job in वेदान्त is understanding that the individual is a mixture of two things, the body and Consciousness. Just as recognizing the fan is a mixture of two principles, one is the visible fan part and the invisible electricity part. Mere electricity will not you give you breeze, if you have any doubt open the fan and see, mere fan cannot give you breeze, what gives you breeze is neither the fan nor the electricity but a mixture of both. Similarly, the functioning individual, the live individual is neither the mere body nor the mere Consciousness. Consciousness by itself cannot transact, body by itself cannot transact, the transacting entity is a mixture of body and Consciousness. And here कृष्ण calls them क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः. In the 2nd chapter of the भगवद्गीता they were called देह and देही. Do you remember?

न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचित् ॥ २-२०॥

etc., you have to remember all those verses, 2nd chapter verse no.12 to 25, go through the whole section. And this देह-देही mixture is otherwise called आत्मा and अनात्मा. And not only that, by using the word आत्मा, the scriptures convey an important idea.

i) Generally we tend to identify with the body only. So I am the body is our general approach, because the date of birth of the body I take as my date of birth, the growth of the body I take as my growth, therefore generally the word 'I' is used for the body.

ii) And after the study of वेदान्त, what we generally say is ‘now I know that I am the body and behind me there is an eternal Consciousness.’ We won’t be saying that earlier. Before Vedantic study, ‘I am the body alone’ is the understanding, after Vedantic study I add one more statement, ‘I am the body and in me there is an आत्मा.’

iii) कृष्ण says that is not the right approach. You should not say ‘I am the body and in me there is आत्मा.’ You have to train your mind, that is called निदिध्यासनम्, spend weeks, months and years and what should be the new training, I am the Consciousness because I am conscious-principle and body is an incidental medium through which I am transacting with the world. Therefore instead of saying ‘I am the body with an आत्मा,’ I should learn to say ‘I am the आत्मा with an incidental body.’ And since the body is only an incidental medium, I am willing to accept the fact that this medium is bound to go back to the क्षेत्रम्, the external world. It has come from the world, I am using it temporarily and I have to give it back to the world and even when I give the क्षेत्रम् back to the world, I the क्षेत्रज्ञः, the invisible Consciousness will continue to survive. This shift of the identification from क्षेत्रम् to क्षेत्रज्ञ is called अपरोक्षज्ञानम् or अपरोक्षिकरणम्. As long as I say ‘I have an आत्मा,’ it is called परोक्षज्ञानम्, the moment I say ‘I am the आत्मा,’ it is called अपरोक्षज्ञानम्. So, ‘have’ to ‘am’, is परोक्षज्ञानम् to अपरोक्षज्ञानम्. This is the essence of the 2nd verse. Now Continuing; Verse no.3;

Verse No .03

क्षेत्रज्ञं चापि मां विद्धि सर्वक्षेत्रेषु भारत ।

क्षेत्रक्षेत्रज्ञयोर्ज्ञानं यत्तज्ज्ञानं मतं मम ॥ १३-३॥

क्षेत्रज्ञम् च अपि माम् विद्धि सर्व-क्षेत्रेषु भारत ।

क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः ज्ञानम् यत् तत् ज्ञानम् मतम् मम ॥ १३-३॥

हे भारत! सर्व-क्षेत्रेषु माम् अपि च क्षेत्रज्ञम् विद्धि । यत् क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः ज्ञानम्, तत् ज्ञानम् (इति) मम मतम् (अस्ति)।

Now कृष्ण goes to the next step of knowledge. Each step is a solid step. We have to take years to assimilate. We will take only a minute to hear, but it will take years to assimilate. So what are the steps we have seen till now?

i) First I said I am the body, that is where we begin.

ii) Now what is the second step? I am the body backed by another principle called Consciousness, this is the second step.

iii) What is the third step? In fact, I am not the body with Consciousness, but I am the Consciousness with an incidental (whenever you say body, keep practicing saying it as 'incidental body.' Now itself learn saying incidental/leased body. So that we will not have ownership, भगवान् has allowed me to use it, he can take up, the modern law which is working – whoever lives in a house for 15 years that house becomes his own. That is the problem, how many people are struggling to vacate the tenets. You cannot apply that principle with God, He will forcibly vacate you from the tenement. Normally, He will say, if not listened He will also bring goons, called यमदूतs. He will forcibly take.) So therefore the third step of knowledge is 'I am the Consciousness with an incidental body.'

iv) Now we are going to the fourth step. Very important step. What is that? I have now known and hopefully assimilated that I am the Consciousness behind this body. So body is the container, I am the content, the tenant, the invisible Consciousness. If I look upon myself as Consciousness within my body, what should be you? If I am Consciousness within my body, what about you? You are the Consciousness in your body, so राम is the Consciousness in राम शरीरम्, कृष्ण is the देही in कृष्ण शरीरम्, any other person, लक्ष्मी is the Consciousness within लक्ष्मी शरीरम्, mosquito is the Consciousness within mosquito शरीरम्, इन्द्र is the Consciousness within इन्द्र शरीरम्, in fact, each one of us is nothing but the Consciousness in the respective body. Now the question is: How many Consciousnesses are there? This is the question: How many Consciousnesses are there? Generally our conclusion will be what, each one is the Consciousness in the body, therefore, within my body there is one Consciousness and within your body there is one Consciousness. Therefore as many bodies are there so many Consciousnesses also must be there. This will be our general conclusion. It is not only our conclusion, this is the conclusion of certain philosophers also like साङ्ख्य. साङ्ख्य philosopher says, each body has one one आत्मा. And therefore how many आत्मा are there? As many bodies are there so many आत्माs are there, the साङ्ख्य philosopher contents. Now here, Lord कृष्ण says you have to note the difference. What is the difference? The container bodies are many but the Consciousness within is the same in everyone. The bodies are many but the देही, the क्षेत्रज्ञ, the आत्मा, the Consciousness is the same in every one. And not only the Consciousness is in everybody, we should also know that the Consciousness is there in between the two bodies also. The only thing is Consciousness is recognizable in the body because life is manifest. In between Consciousness is existent but not recognizable. Why? The bodies are not there in between to manifest or recognize the Consciousness. Like electricity is recognizable in fan no.1, recognizable means what not physically visible, I can appreciate the presence of electricity in fan No.1 and also in fan no.2, in between through the electric cable, electricity is flowing but I don't have any instrument to recognize the electricity. Or to give you another example, you can recognize the light in my first finger, two fingers are there, you can recognize the light in the second finger. So finger no.1 is visible and though finger no.2 is visible, you recognize the light reflected in finger no.1 and you recognize the light reflected in finger no.2; between the two fingers light is there or not? Light is there or not? Here alone doubt pops up. It appears as though there is no light (I am not talking about the bulb, I mean the light is as though not there), but remember, the light principle, the प्रकाशः is in between also but not recognized because there is no object to reflect. Suppose I finger keep a finger between the two fingers, along with the reflecting medium the finger you will recognize the light. Above my head also light is there, the moment I keep my hand you can recognize. When I take away my hand the light above my head, you don't recognize, you recognize the light on the screen alone. Now वेदान्त says Consciousness pervades everywhere, wherever bodies are there Consciousness is manifest as life principle, where bodies are not there Consciousness is not manifested. And therefore, there is only one all-pervading Consciousness which is manifest in some places and which is unmanifest in some other places, manifest or unmanifest, the Consciousness is सर्वगतः. This is the challenge of science also. What is Consciousness? And where is Consciousness? वेदान्त gives the answer, Consciousness is different from matter and pervades all over, matter is only a medium for the expression of Consciousness. When matter goes away, Consciousness does not die, but its expression dies. OK.

v) Then the next step we have to go to understand this verse. Even though this Consciousness is all-pervading, this Consciousness is known by two different names based on the angle from which you look at the Consciousness. Just like one member of the family is known by different names based on the angle from which the person is seeing. Your own child will call you parent, whereas your own parents will not call you parent, they will call you child. So thus person remaining the same, one person looks at this person as husband, another as brother, another as son, another as father. Similarly, Consciousness has two names based on the angle from which it is looked at. When the Consciousness is looked from the standpoint of a single individual body, it is called जीवात्मा. आत्मा, the Consciousness, looked from the standpoint of the individual body, making enlivening my body, my mind, experiencing my surroundings, the Consciousness is called जीवात्मा. Whereas the very same Consciousness looked from the standpoint of all the bodies, otherwise called the समष्टि, the total, the very same आत्मा is called परम आत्मा or परमात्मा. So from microcosmic angle the Consciousness is called जीवात्मा, व्यष्टि दृष्ट्या जीवात्मा, from macrocosmic angle, समष्टि दृष्ट्या it is परमात्मा. And suppose you negate microcosm and macrocosm. Negate व्यष्टि and समष्टि. It is neither जीवात्मा nor परमात्मा. Then what is it? आत्मा. Therefore Consciousness is आत्मा, the adjective 'जीव' is looking at Consciousness from individual angle, the adjective 'परम' is given looking at it from the total angle. When the primeminister or the president of the country is looked from the standpoint of his family, he is called householder, but when the very same person occupies the presidential office, or primeminister's office, the very same person is called the primeminister or president. What is the difference in his weight? As a householder what is his weight? 75 kgs. And as the primeminister what is his weight? 75,000 tons? Because he is primeminister!! The person is the same, two names from the standpoint of the observation. Therefore, जीवात्मा is आत्मा, परमात्मा is आत्मा, both are essentially one and the same. This recognition is called जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्यम्. So what is my knowledge now? I am the आत्मा. So, when I, the Consciousness, am functioning through an individual body, I am called a जीवः and the very same I, the Consciousness, manifesting through the whole creation, I am called the परमात्मा and when I forget the body and forget the world also, when I forget the body and the world also, I am what? Neither जीवात्मा nor परमात्मा, but आत्मा. So this is called जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम्. And the example we generally give in the शास्त्र is like seeing the essential oneness of the wave and the ocean. When water is looked at from the standpoint of a small name and form it is called a wave, when the very same water is looked at from the standpoint of total name and form it is called ocean, but remove the wave name and form, remove the ocean name and form, what is the essence? Wave is water, ocean is water, there is only one water. This is called जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम् or आत्मा एकत्व ज्ञानम्.

And in this 3rd verse, कृष्ण is revealing this fact and therefore this verse is called महावाक्य श्लोकः. A very very very very important verse. शङ्कराचार्य a very elaborate commentary running to pages and the sub-commentators write still more elaborate commentary, if you take the commentaries and sub- commentaries this one verse itself you can make a voluminous book. What is the definition of महावाक्यम्? Any statement which reveals the essential oneness of जीवात्मा and परमात्मा. So जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्य बोधक वाक्यम् is महावाक्यम्. Now look at the verse. कृष्ण says, अर्जुन carefully understand and assimilate. What should you understand? क्षेत्रज्ञम् माम् विद्धि. क्षेत्रज्ञः means जीवात्मा, i.e., the Consciousness obtaining in one body and माम् विद्धि, who says? कृष्ण says माम्, माम् means Me, and here the word Me means the परमात्मा. Therefore, जीवात्मानम् परमात्मत्वेन विद्धि – may you know क्षेत्रज्ञ जीवात्मा as कृष्ण परमात्मा. You know the क्षेत्रज्ञ जीवात्मा as कृष्ण परमात्मा. The क्षेत्रज्ञ जीवात्मा's body is different, कृष्ण परमात्मा's body is different, containers are different but the content Consciousness is one and the same. The bulbs are different, one is the bedroom bulb, zero watts, another is the search light or whatever it is, bulbs are different, the electricity behind is only one. Don't ask me is आत्मा electricity? It is comparable to electricity, it is not exactly electricity. Therefore कृष्ण says क्षेत्रज्ञम् माम् विद्धि, know Me to be परमात्मा. And where is the परमात्मा? सर्व-क्षेत्रेषु भारत – which is the Consciousness obtaining in all the other bodies. And if I look at myself and yourself as Consciousness, I can say I am you and you are me. From body's standpoint I cannot say. My body is different, your body is different, from mind standpoint I can never say, my mind has got my own emotions, your mind has your emotions, from intellect standpoint also I cannot say, my knowledge and ignorance are different, your ignorance and knowledge are different, but when I come to the experiencer-Consciousness I can say I am you and you are me. सः अहम् अस्मि and अहम् सः अस्मि. That is the well-known सोऽहम् मन्त्र. सोऽहम् अहम् सः. That is why it got the name, हंस मन्त्र. हंसः means अहम् सः, I am that परमात्मा. अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि is the revelation. And then कृष्ण says: this knowledge is a very very useful knowledge and therefore this is the real knowledge to be acquired by all people. All other types of knowledge can be acquired but they are really worthless, because they don't improve the quality of life. Previously miserable BA, now miserable MA, now miserable PhD. The degrees go on changing, the misery continues to be same. Whereas this alone is 'the real knowledge' which changes the very quality of your life. Therefore कृष्ण says क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः ज्ञानम्, this knowledge regarding the क्षेत्र and क्षेत्रज्ञ, तत् ज्ञानम् – that alone is the real knowledge. In मुण्डकोपनिषत् this knowledge is called परा विद्या and all other types of knowledge are called अपरा विद्या. And शङ्कराचार्य tells elsewhere अपराविद्या हि अविद्या. अपरा विद्या all other forms of knowledge are as good as ignorance only. Known and unknown are one and the same. Now the question will be, how do you say that this knowledge will make or bring about a quality change in the life? How does it change my life? Again go back to the example. Imagine there are two waves, both of them are like waves, imagine they are living being waves, they can know, they can talk and one wave knows I am a wave. Whereas the other wave knows I am water. What difference this knowledge brings about in the second wave. You imagine. As long as the first wave considers I am a wave, its thinking will be what? I am just born out of the ocean and I am growing, because the wave becomes bigger and bigger, from देहिनः अस्मिन्, कौमारम्, यौवनम्, जरा, etc., like that ripple, wave, bigger wave. And as even the wave is growing, it is also aware of the fact that I am going to towards the shore and once I go I, as a wave, will be destroyed. Therefore, I am a mortal finite entity is the thought that the wave will have. As long as it thinks itself as a wave. As long as there is a conclusion that I am mortal the insecurity feeling is unavoidable. The wave, as long as it thinks it is a wave, it can never get out of insecurity and all its actions are driven by the sense of insecurity. In the same way, as long as I am going to think I am the body, I am a mortal individual, every moment of my life is driven by the sense of insecurity. In fact, the very admission to the school and my education is based on the career opportunity and all the counseling are based on what? In which you can earn more. If possible with minimum work or no work. I never bother about which subject I like. I don't want to take a course that I will enjoy. Enjoyment is not the consideration, my inclination is not the consideration, all my activities from LKG is based on the consideration which will give me a good job, with a five figure or six figure salary. Even after I enter into a job, I have served, wonderful rapport has been created, if there is another job which will give me more money, headhunters, I heard so, it was not there in our times. You know what is headhunters? There are people who are ready to pull you out for better salary. And therefore loyalty or relationship all I don't care, only consideration is which will give me better retirement benefits even before joining the job. What do you mean by that? I want security. And often we get children only as an investment that in future if I pay through my nose, the children will hopefully take care of me in the old age. And when that becomes doubtful I fix up old age home. Everything you see, all we are running after money, remember, money is seen is an equivalent of security. Money and security are synonymous for an ignorant person. Ignorant means Vedantically ignorant person. वेदान्त calls a person a संसारि, संसारि is defined as one, who sees money as security. And I will see the money as security because now I am insecure. Now I am insecure because I am the body. Whereas imagine the other way, the enlightened wave, the जीवन्मुक्त wave. It is not bothered because this wave is nothing but a name and a form, name and form is subject to destruction, nobody can hold on to that, I am not attached to the incidental नाम-रूप, I know I am water, I will be water, I was water and I the water am not destroyed. Even during summer when it is evaporated, when I become invisible to people then I exist in what form? In the form of steam, in the form of water vapor, I exist. And therefore, the difference between knowledge and ignorance here is the difference between security and insecurity. And according to वेदान्त, this knowledge alone will give security, other than this knowledge whatever you do there will be the lingering sense of insecurity. All the others will give a false sense of security, a fake sense of security, therefore if you want security gain this knowledge. If you think there are sources of security, वेदान्त doesn't want to contradict you, वेदान्त tells try and see. Go everywhere, either through money or status or position or possession or relationship. Try all of them and then when you know and you are convinced that none of them will give you real security then you come to वेदान्त. In fact, when you come to वेदान्त after such a maturity then your listening also will be intense. Or else, वेदान्त will be a hobby. In the home because of TV it is all noisy, and I can sleep peacefully in the वेदान्त class. I just joked and don't take seriously!! वेदान्त gives you a challenge, try to find security anywhere else. And still now the challenge is open and कृष्ण says this is the knowledge which removes the sense of insecurity. And just one more aside point. OK. You say that nothing else will give you security, then do you mean say that Vedantic knowledge will give me security? It is just a next step. Not very important in this context. But I could not by-pass. वेदान्त says, In fact, वेदान्त also doesn't give you security. In fact, वेदान्त also doesn't give you security. वेदान्त reveals the fact that you don't require any security from outside. In your real nature you are ever secure. Therefore, वेदान्त doesn't give security, वेदान्त removes the sense of insecurity. वेदान्त removes the sense of insecurity and that is why those ज्ञानिन्स and many of them are संन्यासिन्स and they don't have anything to hold on to, they don't have their own family, they don't have bank account, they don't have any other possession, they don't have a kitchen for food, they don't know from where the next meal will come. So they must be the most insecure people, but you look at those ज्ञानिन्स, they are more secure than all the others with possessions. In fact, greater the possession, you require more security guards. Therefore कृष्ण says: क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः यत् ज्ञानम्, this knowledge of the क्षेत्र and क्षेत्रज्ञ is the real knowledge. And this is called आत्मज्ञानम्. Continuing;

स च यो यत्प्रभावश्च तत्समासेन मे शृणु ॥ १३-४॥

तत् क्षेत्रम् यत् च यादृक् च यत् विकारि यतः च यत् ।

सः च यः यत् प्रभावः च तत् समासेन मे शृणु ॥ १३-४॥

तत् क्षेत्रम् यत् च, यादृक् च, यत् विकारि (च), यतः च यत्, सः च यः, यत् प्रभावः च (अस्ति) तत्, (त्वं) समासेन मे शृणु ।

कृष्ण says that in the previous two verses that is the 2nd and 3rd, अर्जुन I have briefly defined क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञ and it is too brief and therefore I will elaborate these two topics a little bit. And therefore कृष्ण gives an introduction for that in the 4th verse. हे अर्जुन! Listen to the following thing: यत् तत् क्षेत्रम्. What exactly is the क्षेत्र, which we have seen as what? The objective physical body. Very briefly said. Now he says I will give you a comprehensive list of what includes the क्षेत्रम्, what all are included in क्षेत्रम्? So यत् क्षेत्रम् and यादृक् च – what is the nature of क्षेत्रम्, the objective universe? क्षेत्रम्, you can roughly translate as the objective universe as different from the subjective experiencer. So what is क्षेत्रम्? First topic. Second topic what is the nature of that क्षेत्रम्? Then the next topic: यत् विकारि. यत् विकारि means what are the causes out of which various effects are born. So the details regarding the causes, कारणम्, यतः च यत् – what are the effects born out of various causes. यत् विकारि refers to कारणम्, यतः च यत् refers to कार्यम्. One refers to the cause and the other to the effect. The idea is the whole objective universe consists of cause-effect chain only. If you take any individual, I am the effect and my parents are the cause. And the parent themselves are the effect and their parents are the cause. Thus anything you take, it is an effect of something and it is the cause of something else. Therefore what are the causes and what are the effects, what is क्षेत्रम्, what is its nature, what are the causes included in the क्षेत्रम् and what are the effects included in the क्षेत्रम् - all these are details of the क्षेत्रम्. And not only that, some more details of the क्षेत्रज्ञ also कृष्ण wants to give. Therefore he says, सः च यः – what exactly is the क्षेत्रज्ञ? Some more features of क्षेत्रज्ञ. What is क्षेत्रज्ञ? The Consciousness-principle. Previously कृष्ण has only briefly defined Consciousness is what: the experiencer of the universe. This is a very brief definition. कृष्ण wants to deal with more details regarding Consciousness. Therefore, what is Consciousness or awareness. And यत् प्रभावः च – and what are the glories, the features, the great features of the क्षेत्रज्ञ. So that we will be seeing later, that Consciousness is indivisible, Consciousness is beyond time, Consciousness is beyond space, Consciousness is not subject to change, all these are different and important features. In fact, one scientist beautifully says: Consciousness is that which is not subject to the laws of the creation. All the physical and chemicals laws of the creation cannot influence the Consciousness-principle. And he says it cannot be located because it doesn't have a location, which means it is beyond time and space. Those features, I will give you later. कृष्ण introduces thus, तत् समासेन मे शृणु – may you listen to that, which we will see in the next class.

In the beginning of the 13th chapter, अर्जुन asked for clarification of six technical words used in the scriptures, प्रकृति, पुरुषः, क्षेत्रम् क्षेत्रज्ञः, ज्ञानम् and ज्ञेयम्. Of these six terms, Lord कृष्ण has taken up two terminologies, क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः, which starts from verse no.2 onwards and it continues up to verse no.7. First he defined the two words, क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः. क्षेत्रम् means the physical body which represents any experienced object in the creation. कृष्ण defined क्षेत्रम् as the body and the body represents any experienced object in the creation and then he defined क्षेत्रज्ञः as the experiencer subject. In short, I am क्षेत्रज्ञः and whatever I experience is क्षेत्रम्. And having defined क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः, now कृष्ण wants to give a simple elaboration of these two words, for which he gave the introduction in the 4th verse. In the 2nd and 3rd verse, he gave the definition of क्षेत्र and क्षेत्रज्ञः and now कृष्ण wants to give a simple elaboration of these two words for which कृष्ण gives an introduction in the 4th verse, which I introduced in the last class, तत् क्षेत्रम् यत् च यादृक् च यत् विकारि यतः च यत्. अर्जुन

- i) may you know what is objective universe,
- ii) may you know what is the nature of the objective universe,
- iii) may you know what are the products belonging to the objective universe and
- iv) may you also know the various causes which produce these effects.

- a) And therefore what is क्षेत्रम्?
- b) What is the nature of the क्षेत्रम्?
- c) What is that part of the क्षेत्रम् which is called effect?
- d) And what is that part of the क्षेत्रम् which is called the cause?

And from this we get a corollary that all the causes come under क्षेत्रम् and all the effects also come under क्षेत्रम्. So that means all the causes and effects, the entire कार्य कारण प्रपञ्च comes under क्षेत्रम्, from which we get a very important corollary, we कृष्ण does not mention but we have to note aside, what is that, if cause and effect come under क्षेत्रम् then क्षेत्रज्ञः, the Consciousness-principle should be other than cause and effect. That क्षेत्रज्ञः is कार्य कारण विलक्षणम् is an indirect hint that कृष्ण is giving here. Therefore यत् विकारि – what are the effects? यतः च यत् – what are the causes from which these effects come? All these different features of क्षेत्रम् I am going to mention now and in the 2nd line कृष्ण says, हे अर्जुन! not only I am going to briefly elaborate (I don't know what is brief elaboration) what is क्षेत्रम् and I am also going to elaborate on क्षेत्रज्ञः. So He tells in the 2nd line, सः च यः, सः here means क्षेत्रज्ञः. I will also tell you what is क्षेत्रज्ञः, because previously I have given only definition, hereafter I am going to give an explanation of the definition. Not only I will elaborate on क्षेत्रज्ञः, यत् प्रभावः च – and I will also talk about the प्रभावः of क्षेत्रज्ञः. प्रभावः means glory. विभूतिः, महिमा is called प्रभावः. So the glories of क्षेत्रज्ञः also I am going to elaborate in the following verses, अर्जुन may you learn it very carefully. And why should अर्जुन learn very carefully? The reason has been given in the 3rd verse, क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः ज्ञानम् यत् तत् ज्ञानम् मतम् मम – the knowledge of these two alone is the real knowledge. That is the liberating knowledge, all other disciples of knowledge are not really worthwhile, this knowledge alone is worthwhile and therefore may you listen to very carefully. So तत् समासेन. समासेन means briefly I am going to mention. शृणु – listen carefully. Having given the introduction, now कृष्ण wants to enter the elaboration and before that, one more verse कृष्ण uses to glorify the topic. Verse no.5;

Verse No .05

ऋषिभिर्बहुधा गीतं छन्दोभिर्विविधैः पृथक् ।

ब्रह्मसूत्रपदैश्चैव हेतुमद्भिर्विनिश्चितैः ॥ १३-५॥

ऋषिभिः बहुधा गीतम् छन्दोभिः विविधैः पृथक् ।

ब्रह्म-सूत्र-पदैः च एव हेतुमद्भिः विनिश्चितैः ॥ १३-७॥

(इदं ज्ञानं) ऋषिभिः बहुधा, (तथा) विविधैः छन्दोभिः पृथक् हेतुमद्भिः विनिश्चितैः ब्रह्म-सूत्र-पदैः च गीतम् एव ।

This topic of क्षेत्र and क्षेत्रज्ञः is so important is that all the scriptural texts have talked about these two topics because क्षेत्र includes the entire material universe, क्षेत्रज्ञः is Consciousness; the whole creation is a mixture of spirit and matter only. Therefore, if you have really understood what is matter, the inert-principle and if you have really understood what is the Spirit, the Consciousness-principle you have understood the whole creation. In fact, all the scientists claim that they are working for the theory of everything. They call it TOE and what is TOE, Theory of Everything, they want to come to one theory which will explain every phenomenon in the creation. Still this theory is eluding the scientists. वेदान्त has given the theory of everything. What is that? Everything is nothing but Consciousness plus matter. Therefore, scriptures deal with only these two topics. Therefore कृष्ण says ऋषिभिः गीतम् – all the ऋषिs through their various scriptural work have sung about or talked about only this topic. Which topic? क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञः विवेक ज्ञानम्. So through their literature, like पुराण, सूत्र, etc., they talk about this only. And not only they talk about, विविधैः छन्दोभिः – all the वैदिक मन्त्रs, छन्दः means मन्त्रः, through the various वैदिक मन्त्रs also only this subject matter has been dealt with. Therefore छन्दोभिः विविधैः पृथक् इदम्, we have to supply the verb इदम्, these two alone have been talked about in the वेदs also. Suppose they talk about various लोकs, it will come under what topic? क्षेत्रम् only. And all the material sciences like astronomy and atomic science again deal with क्षेत्रम् only. If you are talking about anatomy, physiology, etc., and various subdivisions of those sciences, again क्षेत्रम् only. If you deal with psychology, it is again क्षेत्रम् only. Therefore you have to talk about only one of these two. Therefore all the वेदs have talked about it only, how, distinctly, पृथक्. That पृथक् is important because science has not been able to understand the relationship between matter and Consciousness. So whether Consciousness is distinct from matter, is it identical with matter, is it part of the matter, is it a temporary phenomenon called epiphenomenon, epi means temporary, epiphenomenon of matter, still Consciousness-matter relationship is a mystery for all branches of science. In fact, the mystery is so deep that they even do not know in which branch of science this topic should come. Whether it should become part of psychology or neurology or this or that, they do not know, whereas वेदान्त has distinguished matter and Consciousness and they have distinctly talked about this. पृथक् means distinctly. What is this distinction? Consciousness सत्यम्, matter मिथ्या and I am (this is important) Consciousness सत्यम्, Consciousness is the reality, matter is मिथ्या, the unreal principle and who am I, I am the Consciousness-principle, this has been talked about in the वेदs. Not only this has been dealt with in the वेदs, ब्रह्म-सूत्र-पदैः च एव. ब्रह्मसूत्र is a literature written by व्यासाचार्य in which all the उपनिषत्s have been logically analyzed. So ब्रह्मसूत्र is logical analysis of the philosophical portion of the वेदs. Whereas we have a set of पूर्व मीमांस सूत्र, which is a logical analysis of the ritualistic portion of the वेदs, whereas ब्रह्मसूत्र is the logical analysis of the philosophical portion or the Upanishadic portion of the वेदs. The Upanishadic portion of the वेदs is called the वेद-अन्त portion. Therefore, ब्रह्मसूत्रs has got another name, वेदान्त सूत्राणि and since this is done by व्यासाचार्य, it is called व्यास सूत्राणि. They are called सूत्रम् because they are in the form of brief capsule statements called aphorisms. So सूत्रम् means aphorisms. An aphorism means brief packed statements. अथातो ब्रह्मजिज्ञासा is one सूत्रम्. जन्माद्यस्य यतः is another सूत्र. शास्त्रयोनित्वात्, तत्तु समन्वयात्, ईक्षतेर्नाशब्दम्. All brief statements. But it has got packed ideas. And through these सूत्रs, व्यासाचार्य logically analyzes the Upanishadic teachings, whether Consciousness is part of matter, different from matter or product of matter, because different systems of philosophy presents differently. व्यायशास्त्र says Consciousness is a property of matter, साङ्ख्य philosophers say Consciousness is a distinct entity from matter. Thus there are several views, व्यासाचार्य analyzes all of them and establishes the Vedantic conclusion. And therefore कृष्ण says that this is not an ordinary topic this is a very very significant topic. Therefore ब्रह्म-सूत्र-पदैः – through the words of ब्रह्मसूत्र. And what type of ब्रह्मसूत्रs they are, हेतुमद्भिः – which are full of reasoning, logical analysis of various views and विनिश्चितैः – and which is conclusive well ascertained logically established. There are 555 सूत्रs. In the ब्रह्मसूत्र, divided into four chapters, sixteen sections, one hundred and ninety two topics. And शङ्कराचार्य has written a pioneering commentary on it and we have got commentaries, sub commentaries, sub-sub commentaries, commentaries. Somebody gave me a four volume work on ब्रह्मसूत्र. I think I have told you. Each one like a pillow. And having 9 commentaries on ब्रह्मसूत्र and then I was wondering whether to keep it or not, already place problem and at the end of the 4th book, I saw what is written. It is written ‘thus ends the fourth सूत्र.’ So this is our tradition. You can study and study and study, you will never complete it,

यत्सारभूतम् तदुपासितव्यम् हंसो यथा क्षीरमिवाम्बुमिश्रम् ॥

We can never complete the scriptural study. Therefore generally they try to study four सूत्रs, that itself is a great task. Anyway that is all aside. Here ब्रह्म-सूत्र-पदैः च एव हेतुमद्भिः विनिश्चितैः. We have only one topic, क्षेत्र- क्षेत्रज्ञः विवेक. And therefore, अर्जुन carefully listen. Don't sleep He says. Verse no.6;

Verse No .06

महाभूतान्यहङ्कारो बुद्धिरव्यक्तमेव च ।

इन्द्रियाणि दशैकं च पञ्च चेन्द्रियगोचराः ॥ १३-६॥

महा-भूतानि अहङ्कारः बुद्धिः अव्यक्तम् एव च ।

इन्द्रियाणि दश--एकम् च पञ्च च इन्द्रिय-गोचराः ॥ १३-६॥

So here कृष्ण elaborates on the topic of क्षेत्रम्, viz., the material objective universe. And in our tradition, all the philosophers have analyzed the objective universe and categorized them into various divisions. In संस्कृत they are called तत्त्वानि. तत्त्व means category. Just as any study is done by dividing a particular science into various subject-matter, physic is subdivided into heat, electricity, magnetism, etc. Chemistry is divided into organic chemistry, inorganic chemistry, physical chemistry, etc. If you take mathematics, algebra, calculus, etc. Categorization is one of the methods for intellect to understand things clearly. And therefore all the philosophers, we have got mainly 12 branches of philosophy in our tradition, all of them try to categorize the universe into various तत्त्वम्s. वैशेषिक philosophy has divided the whole creation into 7 तत्त्वs. न्याय philosophy has divided into 16 तत्त्वs. साङ्ख्य philosophy has divided the whole objective universe into 24 तत्त्वs. And here व्यासाचार्य temporarily borrows from साङ्ख्य philosophy and he categories the universe into 24 तत्त्वम्s. And what are those 24 तत्त्वम्s. In तत्त्वबोध also, when we talked about the creation,

अथ चतुर्विंशति तत्त्व उत्पत्ति प्रकारम् वक्ष्यामः ॥

It is there, their categorization. There is no rule that the category should in this way only, it can be categorized according to our convenience. Suppose I want to divide the whole class into groups. I can divide into two groups, male and females or I can divide based on the between 10-20, 20-30; according to qualification, graduates, postgraduates, non-graduates; according to mother tongue I can categorize. Here we are borrowing the categorization of साङ्ख्य philosophy and they talk about the evolution of this universe in four stages, gradually increasing the number of तत्त्वम्s.

A. The first basic matter-principle they call प्रकृति. During प्रलय, before the evolution of the universe, before the emergence of the universe it was in potential form, that potential form of the universe they call प्रकृतिः. In वेदान्त also we use this term, in साङ्ख्य also they use. Then this प्रकृति is beginningless principle in साङ्ख्य and कृष्ण also borrows the same idea, प्रकृति does not have origination. प्रकृति is basic matter. If you want to understand in scientific language, the condition just before the Big Bang. The condition before Big Bang. Then they say, the प्रकृति evolves partially and the first stage of evolution they call महत् तत्त्वम्. प्रकृति, then महत्, so महत् is also total matter in the first stage of evolution.

B. Then from महत् the next stage of evolution they call अहङ्कारः. अहङ्कार, is the name of total matter, we are not talking about the individual ego. Individuals are not at all born, even before the birth of the individual, the total matter has evolved into महत् and the next one is the अहङ्कार, let us call it cosmic ego.

प्रकृति to महत् is stage 1,

महत् to अहङ्कार is stage 2.

C. In stage 3, from अहङ्कारः 15 तत्त्वम्s originate or emerge and what are those 15 तत्त्वम्s? No.1 the cosmic mind, मनः, not the individual mind of yours or mine, we are talking about the cosmic mind, मनः, then दश इन्द्रियाणि. So the ten sense organ principle or powers of perception, दश इन्द्रियाणि, one plus ten, eleven and then पञ्च सूक्ष्म भूतानि, five subtle elements. So $1+10+5$, ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि पञ्च, कर्मेन्द्रियाणि पञ्च, सूक्ष्म भूतानि पञ्च, $3 \times 5 = 15$ + and then mind. So in the third stage 16 principles come, प्रकृति, महत् and अहङ्कार, and the sixteen.

D. And then in the 4th stage from the subtle elements the five gross elements come, पञ्च स्थूल भूतानि. So now add total प्रकृति, महत्, अहङ्कार = 3, then 16 principles, 16+3, 19 and then at the 4th and final level, पञ्च स्थूल भूतानि, 19 +5 =24.

And all these 24 तत्त्वम्s put together is क्षेत्रम्, the inert material objective universe. And Consciousness is not the nature of any one of them. All of them are matter and that's what कृष्ण enumerates. Now look at the श्लोक. In the first line, you see the word अव्यक्तम्, the word अव्यक्तम् represents प्रकृति, the topmost one. Then the word बुद्धिः means the महत् तत्त्वम्, the 2nd stage. बुद्धिः careful note, not the individual intellect, but बुद्धिः is the cosmic intellect, the महत् तत्त्वम्, the 2nd stage. Then अहङ्कार is the cosmic ego the third stage. So, अव्यक्तम्, बुद्धिः, अहङ्कारः, (three) and then from अहङ्कार 16 items, what are they, महाभूतानि, महाभूतानि means the 5 subtle elements: आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः, पृथिवी, space, air, fire, water and earth, in their subtle form, subtle form means invisible form. In तत्त्वबोध we have dealt with this. And then इन्द्रियाणि, इन्द्रियाणि means the 10 sense organs, दश इन्द्रियाणि. कृष्ण himself says दश इन्द्रियाणि. महाभूतानि, how many? 15. एकम् च, एकम् means the mind, मनः तत्त्वम्, the cosmic mind. So महाभूतानि, दश इन्द्रियाणि, एकम्, these are the 16 तत्त्वम्s at the 3rd stage. And then comes the 4th stage, पञ्च च इन्द्रिय-गोचराः, इन्द्रिय-गोचराः means स्थूल भूतानि, the five gross elements. Thus 1+1+1+16+5, this is the addition. If you add it will be 24 तत्त्वम्s, all of them come under क्षेत्रम्. And not only that, these 24 तत्त्वम्s do not remain changeless, they constantly undergo change and as a result of their change and interaction various properties are generated. And they are called the various गुणs or विकारs of the क्षेत्रम् and what are the generated properties? कृष्ण enumerates them in the next श्लोक. This is the explanation of the यत् विकारि यतः च यत्. In the 4th verse, कृष्ण had promised यत् विकारि यतः च यत्, what are the various products of the क्षेत्रम् I will tell, now he gives the product and what are they:

Verse No .07

इच्छा द्वेषः सुखं दुःखं सङ्घातश्चेतना धृतिः ।

एतत्क्षेत्रं समासेन सविकारमुदाहृतम् ॥ १३-७॥

इच्छा द्वेषः सुखम् दुःखम् सङ्घातः चेतना धृतिः ।

एतत् क्षेत्रम् समासेन सविकारम् उदाहृतम् ॥ १३-७॥

महा-भूतानि, अहङ्कारः, बुद्धिः, अव्यक्तम् एव च, दश इन्द्रियाणि च, एकम् (मनः) इन्द्रिय-गोचराः पञ्च च, इच्छा, द्वेषः, सुखम्, दुःखम्, सङ्घातः, चेतना, धृतिः, एतत् सविकारम् क्षेत्रम् (मया) समासेन उदाहृतम् ।

Now we have got a material universe of 24 तत्त्वम्s and in that material universe our physical body is also one, because it is the modification of the five gross elements, we have seen in तत्त्वबोध and we have our mind also which is also a modification of the five subtle elements. Thus body is matter, mind is also matter, but mind is a peculiar form of matter. And what is the peculiarity of the mind? Even though mind is an inert matter, it has got a unique nature to manifest or reflect the Consciousness and appear as though sentient. Just like when electricity passes through water nothing happens, when electricity passes through water nothing happens but when the electricity passes through a filament in a bulb, tungsten filament, or whatever be the special filament, that is made up of such a material, that it is able to become bright and aglow. Why water doesn't glow when electricity is passed, because that is the nature of water. Why the tungsten filament glows, because that is the nature of the element, even though both of them are material in nature, they have got different capacity. So we have got wood, which does not allow electricity to pass through, why, because that is its nature, why metal allows, because that is its nature, similarly, mind like the tungsten filament, the body is like the bulb and mind like a tungsten filament, it has got a unique nature. Even though mind is made up of matter, what is the unique nature, it is able to absorb the Consciousness-principle, called क्षेत्रज्ञः and then the reflected Consciousness makes the mind seemingly sentient. This borrowed sentiency is called चेतनः. Now look at the श्लोक. सङ्घातः चेतना. सङ्घातः means what? The body-mind-complex is called सङ्घातः and चेतना means borrowed sentiency. And if you want another example, imagine you have a mirror in hand and up above the Sun is there during the day time, the mirror is able to reflect the sunlight and the non-luminous mirror, mirror does not have a light of its own, but with borrowed sunlight through reflection mirror itself becomes a luminous and a bright object and what is the uniqueness of its luminosity, it is not intrinsic luminosity, but it is borrowed, whereas the light of the sun is intrinsic but the light of the mirror is borrowed. Thus क्षेत्रज्ञः is like the Sun, mind is like the mirror and borrowed Consciousness is like the reflected Sun. And in वेदान्त it is called चिदाभास or चित् प्रतिबिम्ब or प्रतिबिम्ब चैतन्यम्. And this reflection also can exist where? Wherever the reflecting medium is there and reflecting medium is क्षेत्रम् and therefore the reflection also must be part of क्षेत्रम् only. Very careful, original Consciousness is not part of क्षेत्रम्, but the reflected Consciousness becomes part of the क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रम् means the material universe. And therefore कृष्ण says सङ्घातः – the body-mind-complex, चेतना – the borrowed Consciousness, therefore the mind has become a live mind and therefore the mind is able to experience the world and moment the mind becomes a live mind capable of experiencing the world, the job of the mind is to categorize. इच्छा द्वेषः. It has started. इच्छा means रागः, I develop attachment towards a segment of the universe. It is the job of what? The mind. What type of mind? The live mind. How has the mind become live? With borrowed Consciousness and therefore इच्छा, रागः has come. And not only रागः, the other side of the coin is what, द्वेषः, I will not like to see him at all with my eyes. Therefore, I don't like these people, I like those people, we divide the world. In fact, the objective-Lord-created-world is replaced by a subjective-private-world. भगवान् has created only a neutral world, but I cover the world with my coloration and I always see only a colored world, like a person wearing a dark glasses and he says that everything is dark. Similarly, रग and द्वेष are the colored glasses worn by the mind and it always lives in its own private world. And once the world is divided into desirable and undesirable, then what is the next consequence? सुखम् दुःखम्. The desirable world produces सुखम् दुःखम्. The undesirable world also produces सुखम् दुःखम्. In fact, every object in the public world does not produce सुखम् दुःखम्, but every object in my private world, every colored object is capable of producing सुखम् दुःखम्. How? A desirable object produces happiness when it comes towards me. Every desirable object produces joy by its arrival. And fill up the blanks, every desirable object produces sorrow by its departure. So what brings joy while it arrives, will surely give me sorrow while it leaves. So every desirable object is सुख कारणम् दुःख कारणम् च. Similarly, every undesirable object is सुख हेतु and दुःख हेतु. You can fill up. What is that? Every undesirable object is सुख हेतु when it goes away. Some people give happiness wherever they go, some people give happiness whenever they go. OK. Which category you belong to you can decide! Therefore, an undesirable object gives happiness by its departure and gives sorrow by arrival. And this capacity of the world is not intrinsic. The world has no capacity to give joy or sorrow. But when I classify the world as favorable and unfavorable, world gains the capacity. That is why in वेदान्त we have got two words. Suppose this clip is there. In वेदान्त it is called पदार्थः. पदार्थः is a neutral name for this. It is an object. But the moment I develop रगः or द्वेषः towards it, then the clip is capable of hurting me. The moment I label the clip as good or bad, it gains the unique capacity, blessed by me, it gets the unique capacity to hurt me or to please me. And the moment the object gets this capacity, वेदान्त calls this as a विषयः. विषयः means an object capable of binding me. Before that it was a पदार्थः, now it has become विषयः. Thus the whole world is a पदार्थः, but I convert the पदार्थः world into a विषयः, विषयः is derived from the root, वि+√सि, सि root 5th conjugation परस्मैपद, सिनोति, सिनुतः, सिन्वन्ति, इति रूपाणि, वि is the prefix, वि सिनोति इति विषयः, that which binds you is called विषयः. And thus what do we do? We convert the whole क्षेत्रम् into a विषयः by developing रागः and द्वेषः and making the world capable of giving सुखम् and दुःखम्. Thus इच्छा is क्षेत्रम्, द्वेषः is क्षेत्रम्, सुखम् is क्षेत्रम्, दुःखम् is क्षेत्रम्, सङ्घातः, the body-mind-complex is क्षेत्रम्, the चेतना, the reflected Consciousness is also क्षेत्रम्. Then धृतिः, धृतिः means willpower. Because once we have classified the world as the cause of sorrow and happiness then you use your willpower to acquire the so-called object of joy, which is called प्रवृत्ति, I want this, that, etc., you have got an increasing list. And you use your willpower to run after those objects. And similarly, you have got of list of objects to be removed, which is called निवृत्ति, one is run towards, another is running away. So प्रवृत्ति-निवृत्ति-हेतु-भूत- धृतिः or willpower. Thus the whole life is what? Making decision, what else has to come, what else to go and this list constantly changes and lifelong it is only a struggle to take care of this list. And therefore धृतिः. All these come under क्षेत्र विकार, 24 तत्त्वम्s are क्षेत्रम् and these are the क्षेत्र विकार, the properties born out of them. So कृष्ण says, एतत् क्षेत्रम् समासेन, एतत् means the 24 तत्त्वम्s mentioned in the sixth verse, is the क्षेत्रम् briefly, सविकारम् – along with its modifications and what are the modifications, इच्छा, द्वेषः, सुखम्, दुःखम् etc., described in the scriptures. Continuing;

Verse No .08

अमानित्वमदम्भित्वमहिम्सा क्षान्तिरार्जवम् ।

आचार्योपासनं शौचं स्थैर्यमात्मविनिग्रहः ॥ १३-८॥

अमानित्वम् अदम्भित्वम् अहिम्सा क्षान्तिः आर्जवम् ।

आचार्य-उपासनम् शौचम् स्थैर्यम् आत्म-विनिग्रहः ॥ १३-८॥

अमानित्वम् अदम्भित्वम् अहिम्सा, क्षान्तिः, आर्जवम्, आचार्य-उपासनम्, शौचम्, स्थैर्यम्, आत्म-विनिग्रहः,

With the previous verse, i.e., the 7th, कृष्ण concludes his analysis of क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः, which He started from verse no.2. But when we study this portion, we see that there is an incompleteness in कृष्ण's teaching. If you go back to verse no.4, in verse no.4, कृष्ण has promised: हे अर्जुन! I will talk about क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः, a little bit elaborately. That is His promise. In the 4th verse, 1st line He promised the discussion on क्षेत्रम्. In the 2nd line He promised discussion on क्षेत्रज्ञः. But in Verse no.6 and 7, कृष्ण has elaborated क्षेत्रम्, but He seems to have forgotten to elaborate क्षेत्रज्ञः. All these you will note only if you go back and forth. So कृष्ण has not kept up his promise. If कृष्ण himself forgets there is nothing wrong in my forgetting, we may feel so. So शङ्कराचार्य comes and he gives an explanation that कृष्ण is not an ordinary teacher and that He will not make a promise and break. शङ्कराचार्य gives an explanation, क्षेत्रज्ञः is identical with ज्ञेयम् and पुरुषः, I have said before, I don't know whether you remember, I said क्षेत्रज्ञः, ज्ञेयम् and पुरुषः all the three are identical, all the three represent the Spirit, Consciousness-principle. Even though they are identical, अर्जुन does not know this fact and therefore he separately asked for the explanation of each one. Like some people saying, स्वामिजि, I would like to learn वेदान्त and उपनिषत्s. If anybody says I want to learn वेदान्त and उपनिषत्s, it is like saying: 'I know what is the अञ्जनम् (the black dye used for the eye), it is white like turmeric powder.' What does that mean? He doesn't know all the three. Similarly, not knowing अर्जुन asked separately for all the three, but कृष्ण feels even though he leaves out क्षेत्रज्ञः now, he is going to elaborate that through the discussion on ज्ञेयम् later, as well as पुरुषः later. Therefore ज्ञेयम् and पुरुषः description is क्षेत्रज्ञः description.

Therefore शङ्कराचार्य says कृष्ण has not forgotten, He must get the full marks in the exam.

3) So having completed the topic of क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः, now कृष्ण comes to the third topic and the third topic कृष्ण takes up is ज्ञानम्. From verse no.8 up to verse no.12. When I giving the verse no's you should be very careful, because this is based on our book, the first verse is अर्जुन's question. If अर्जुन's question is not included, the second verse will become the first verse. Therefore you should appropriately calculate. If you include अर्जुन's question, it is from the 8th verse to 12th verse. What is the meaning of ज्ञानम्? In this chapter, in this portion, कृष्ण takes ज्ञानम् with a special meaning. Normally, ज्ञानम् means knowledge, any knowledge is called ज्ञानम् and in the context of philosophy, ज्ञानम् means spiritual knowledge. So generally ज्ञानम् means any knowledge and in the context of philosophy or वेदान्त it means आत्मज्ञानम् or ब्रह्मज्ञानम्, spiritual knowledge, but in this particular context, ज्ञानम् has got a still different meaning and that is all the values of life or all the virtues of a person is called सत्-गुणाः is called ज्ञानम्. गुणः means virtues. कृष्ण is going to enumerate twenty virtues in these verses and these twenty virtues are called ज्ञानम्. And शङ्कराचार्य gives the reason also for that, he says if these virtues are there knowledge is very very easy to gain. In fact, ज्ञानम् is as good as attained. Since these virtues promote Self-knowledge, these virtues themselves are called ज्ञानम्. So ज्ञान कारणत्वात् ज्ञानम् इति उच्यते. The details we will see in the next class.

CHAPTER 13, VERSE 08

Up to verse no.7, beginning from the 2nd verse, Lord कृष्ण dealt with two topics, viz., क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः which are nothing but अनात्मा and आत्मा only. This has been elaborately dealt with in the 2nd chapter in the form of देह and देही. In the 2nd chapter from the 12th verse up to 25th verse, Lord कृष्ण has elaborately dealt. Here the only difference is अनात्मा or देह is called क्षेत्रम् and आत्मा, the देही is called क्षेत्रज्ञः. That is the only difference. One is the matter-principle and the other is Consciousness-principle. And these two are two of the six topics that अर्जुन asked for clarification. Now from the 8th verse, which I introduced in the last class, up to 12th verse, in five verses, Lord कृष्ण is dealing with the third topic viz., ज्ञानम्. And in this context, as I said in the last class, the word ज्ञानम् is used in a peculiar meaning, the normal meaning of the word ज्ञानम् is knowledge, whereas in this context, the word ज्ञानम् means the group of mental virtues, the group of mental virtues required to enjoy a fit mind for gaining spiritual knowledge. So spiritual-knowledge-friendly virtues, like environment friendly paper, Similarly, spiritual-knowledge-friendly virtues, which means in the presence of these virtues mind will be ज्ञानयोग्य and in the absence of these virtues the mind will be ज्ञानअयोग्यम्. And in an unprepared, uncultivated, unfit mind if spiritual knowledge is injected by the गुरु, is imparted by the गुरु, then the unprepared mind will resist the knowledge, it will not receive the knowledge, even if it receives the knowledge it will not be assimilated. And unassimilated वेदान्त or for that any शास्त्र, unassimilated is like a poison, like the undigested food. Food is nourishing when it is digested, but if it remains undigested it is a poison and that is why it is said:

अनभ्यासे विषम् शास्त्रम् अजीर्णे भोजनम् विषम् ॥ सुभाषितानि ॥

Just as अजीर्णे भोजनम् is विषम् Similarly, अजीर्ण शास्त्रम् also can be counterproductive and therefore more than वेदान्त one has to focus on a वेदान्त-friendly virtues and this is otherwise called धर्मः. And that is why we repeatedly say धर्म is a stepping stone from मोक्ष पुरुषार्थ, without going through धर्म, the set of virtues a person cannot hope to attain ज्ञानम् or मोक्ष and therefore, these values are extremely important. Many virtues are enumerated throughout the गीता, many virtues are enumerated throughout the शास्त्रम्, one great आचार्य known as भर्तृहरि wrote a work called नीतिशतकम्, 100 verses on inner virtues. Thus it has been very elaborately dealt with. But here कृष्ण enumerates around 20 virtues. And कृष्ण will deal with the same topic again later, but this is the beginning of the introduction of this topic. We will take each virtue one by one and see its meaning and significance.

i) The first one given by Lord कृष्ण is अमानित्वम्, मानित्वम् means self-conceit, self-glorification, self-admiration is called मानित्वम्. In संस्कृत, आत्मनि पूज्यत्व भावना – looking upon oneself as a great person. This self-admiration is called मानित्वम्. And अमानित्वम् means freedom from self-conceit or in positive language, humility. विनयः or humility is the first virtue that कृष्ण emphasizes. And we should know why वेदान्त looks upon self-conceit as a big obstacle. When we accomplish something in our life, in any field, be it in education, or in our work field, or in social field we accomplish something, naturally the society admires. Because it is the duty of the society to recognize any accomplishment. The society has to recognize, the society has to reward with one award or the other. पद्म awards, we read in the newspapers about, पद्मश्री, पद्मभूषण, पद्मविभूषण. The King has to do that, the society has to do that and when we accomplish something then there is admiration. It often starts in the family itself, the parents admire when we do even a small thing. When we listen to this glorification, admiration of others, generally our tendency will be easily to join that group and along with the society we also start enjoying admiration of ourselves. When the society admires or rewards or awards, it is the duty of the society and it is perfectly OK, but unknowingly we also join the others and start admiring ourselves. This self-admiration is the beginning, the seed for self-conceit. What is the problem in the self-admiration? After all we all enjoy admiring ourselves, and when we consider even it as a पुण्यम्, but even though we tend to enjoy, relish the admiration from others and self-admiration, वेदान्त says it is a very big trap and it is a very big obstacle for a spiritual seeker. And therefore one has to be extremely careful, when there is a possibility of getting into the trap of self-admiration. What are the problems in self-admiration? Why do you consider it as an obstacle?

a) The first problem is once we have started enjoying admiration, from others as well as ourselves, it causes an addiction. Admiration is like an addiction-causing drug. An addiction-causing drug once we use we need it more and more. We look for more and more admiration from others and we tend towards self-admiration more and more and once we have got addicted to that, we want it all the time. And when we don't get that admiration from others and when we don't do that, the deprivation of this admiration causes lot of disturbance. Like a smoker, suffers deprivation symptoms when he decides to quit smoking, Similarly, a liquor addict who tries to stop it suffers, once we get addicted to the glorification of others the deprivation causes lot of problems and therefore, just as any other sense addition has to be carefully avoided, Similarly, admiration addiction one has to carefully avoid. Therefore the first problem is what? It causes addiction.

b) And the second problem is once we start enjoying admiration from others and also self-admiration joining the group and blowing our own trumpet. We get so excited by that because everybody talking about myself, I am the centre of attention and the focus of the whole world including the newspaper is on me. So once I get excited by this, any excitement is such that I will be carried away by that and my discriminative power gets robbed by name and fame. By glorification my discriminative power is lost. Once my discriminative power is lost by this excitement, I get into a delusion, which makes me forget important facts of life. Once discrimination is lost, I lose sight very significant and important facts. What are the important facts I lose sight of, which I am supposed not to lose sight of?

a) The first fact is whatever be my accomplishment, for which the society admires me, the fact is I can never take full credit for any accomplishment. Whatever be the accomplishment, my contribution is only one of the factors, for every accomplishment there are innumerable people involved, innumerable factors involved, I can never take full credit, but in excitement I lose sight of this fact and I claim and feel that “I”, with my full power, I have accomplished that. This is the forgetfulness caused by excitement. So I should remember that whatever be the name and fame I get, 99% of the credit goes to so many other factors, I can perhaps take a little credit. This is the first fact which is lost sight of by a self-conceited person.

b) And the second fact that is forgotten in self-conceit is, even if I have contributed something for an accomplishment, whatever it be, may be music, may be education, may be sports, according to the गीता which we have seen, even that little contribution from me is really speaking not my contribution, I find I am born with that talent, that talent is a gift from the Lord, which is a fact revealed in the 10th chapter of the गीता, called विभूतियोगः. I do not enjoy any विभूति, any credit, any glory, it is a ray of the Lord’s glory which is expressing, manifesting through me and therefore, so-called limited contribution I cannot claim. That is the fact, but in self conceit I forget this fact also. I forget others contribution, I forget Lord’s contribution. Self-conceit is an obstacle to devotion. Self-conceit and भक्ति cannot co-exist, because a self-conceited person forgets Lord’s contribution which is the only contribution.

This is the second fact forgotten in मानित्वम् or conceit.

c) And the third fact is however great I am I can never claim myself to be the greatest one. However great I am I can never claim myself to be the greatest one, because I live in a world where there are people, there were people and there will be people, who will be greater than me. It is a world of सातिशयत्वम्. It is a beautiful word used in शास्त्र. This is a world of सातिशयत्वम्. सातिशयत्वम् means anything can be bettered, anything can be improved. So if I have created a record, that record is a breakable record. Any record in any field can be improved and therefore, I should remember there are people who are either as great as me or greater than me. When self-conceit robs my discrimination, I get into a delusion that I lose sight of the fact that there are people who are as great as me or greater than me. And since I forget this fact, in fact, I love to forget this fact so that I can claim I am the greatest. Because of the forgetfulness of this fact what happens is I can never appreciate another person who is as great as me. I can never admire another person who is greater than me and when I find someone who is equally great or greater than me, my self-conceit does not allow the acknowledgment of that fact. A self-conceited person cannot admire another person, because he wants to be in the centre of all the admiration coming from all directions, it never allows any other person to be the centre of admiration. Either he avoids those people or he avoids the topic of those people and he develops jealousy, anger, etc. These are all the consequences of self-conceit. And when this self-conceit is extreme, a person can even tend to eliminate the other people from the field. Because my superiority goes, my glory is threatened by others and therefore that person has to be eliminated, thus anger, jealousy all these are consequences of this conceit. And if I have to find out whether I have self-conceit or not it is very easy I should ask a question, 'Can I comfortably admire the glory of other people?' The more conceited I am the more difficult it is to admire or glorify, especially if the other person is in my own field, I can never acknowledge. In our village, there was a temple नागस्वरम् person. He is an ordinary person, who has learnt and plays the pipe-instrument. I was told that he was so self-conceited that he thought he is the grteatest नागस्वरम् विद्वान्. And just to tease him somebody asked him: “Hello शिवराम, how is करैकुरिचि अरुणाचलम्?” (He was one of the greatest नागस्वरम् विद्वान्.) How is he? And you know what was his answer: “Ah, he will also blow air.” He cannot accept others greatness. That is the indication of self-conceit. And once this self-conceit comes the door of devotion is blocked and without भक्ति, ज्ञानम् is never possible. And therefore the scriptures say the first value you have to develop is अमानित्वम्, which translated positively means, humility or विनयः. Cultivate humility. In our उपनिषत्s and in पुराणs we find stories after stories where people get conceited, even देवs get into मानित्वम्, if you remember केनोपनिषत् story, even they have to be humbled by the Lord. Humiliation is called humbling experience. Every self-conceited person will be humiliated at one time or the other. What do you mean by humiliation? A lesson in humility is humiliation. Humiliation means the humility creation. And all our आचार्यs you find in any field they all were embodiments of humility. They were all great in their field and they were all embodiments of humility. If you read the works of कालिदास, he has written (he is supposed to be one of the or the greatest संस्कृत scholar) several poems and several dramas. In all of them he writes an introductory verse. And in all of them you can see how humble. And not only he expresses his humility, he teaches humility to others. In one work, he says:

प्रांशुलभ्ये फले लोभात् उद्धाहुरिव वामनः ॥ कालिदासकृतम् रघुवंशम् १-३

I am मन्दः. कालिदास, the greatest संस्कृत scholar says that I am मन्दः. What about us? So we learn राम शब्द up to 4th विभक्ति, not learnt fully, so having read up to रामाय, रामाभ्याम् we claim we are संस्कृत scholars. कालिदास who is the greatest scholar in history says that he is मन्दः; कवियशः प्रार्थी – through this poetry I seem to seek name and fame as a great poet and the whole world is going to laugh at me, गमिष्याम् उपहास्यताम्. And he gives an example, there he brings out his glory as a poet, उपमा कालिदासस्य. So his capacity to give simile is supposed to be fantastic, he says it is like what: there is a tall tree with lot of fruits hanging and it is so tall that there is a dwarf, a वामनः, a short person, he is standing on the ground and he is jumping up to pluck those fruits. When you see a dwarf, jumping up to pluck a fruit which is inaccessible, how you laugh, similarly, I am the dwarf who is trying to pluck the fruit of कवियशः. And in other work he says: वव सूर्यप्रभवो वंशः वव चाल्पविषया मतिः ।

तितीर्षुः दुस्तरम् मोहात् उडुपेन अस्मि सागरम् ॥ कालिदासकृतम् रघुवंशम् १-२ ॥

I am trying to write the रघुवंश, which is so great and where is the glory of रघुवंश and where is my capacity to express that glory and still foolishly I am trying to bring out the glory of रघु's family. मोहात् उडुपेन अस्मि सागरम्. It is like holding to a catamaran, a small float and if I am trying to cross the ocean, how it is impossible. Similarly, with a small raft of my fragile mind, uneducated mind, I am trying to write the story of रघुवंश. And in another work he says:

आ परितोषात् विदुषाम् न साधु मन्ये प्रयोग-विज्ञानम् ।

बलवत् अपि शिक्षितानाम् आत्मनि अप्रत्ययम् चेतः ॥ अभिज्ञानशाकुन्तलम् १-२ ॥

I have learnt some संस्कृत, who says? कालिदास, I have learnt some संस्कृत and I have tried to work something (I think it is in the introduction in his शाकुन्तलम्), I have tried, attempted to write something, but still I am not very confident that whether my writing is up to the mark and therefore I am offering this work to the great scholars and I wait for their validation. And only when scholars validate I consider I know some संस्कृत. So this is कालिदास. Similarly, शङ्कराचार्य, Similarly, सुश्रवणाचार्य, Similarly, मधुसूदन सरस्वती. All these people, you read their works, they are giants and they say I know a little bit of शास्त्रम्. From this we come to know how much importance is given to humility. And in one of the work known as षट्पदीस्तोत्रम्, शङ्कराचार्य's first prayer is: Oh Lord, अविनयम्-अपनय विष्णो – Oh Lord remove my self-conceit, make me humble. Humility is required in all the field, humility is particularly required for Vedantic seeker, because without humility भक्ति cannot come, without भक्ति ज्ञानम् cannot come. That is why all the राक्षस, हिरण्यकशिपु etc., what did they say, don't say ॐ नमो नारायणाय, they say ॐ हिरण्यकशिपवे नमः, हिरण्याक्षाय नमः. भक्ति and conceit can never go together. Therefore the first prayer is what: Oh Lord, give me अमानित्वम्, humility.

ii) Then the next virtue is अदम्भित्वम्. दम्भित्वम् is physically expressed version of मानित्वम्. मानित्वम् is an inner feeling, I think I am wonderful, I am great, I am learned, nobody is equal to me, this inner sense or भावना is called मानित्वम्. When that मानित्वम् is physically expressed outside through various means, that expressed व्यक्त मानित्वम् is दम्भित्वम्. अव्यक्त दम्भित्वम् is मानित्वम्. That means what? At the physical level also I want admiration. Because I consider that I am great, all the people should look at me and talk about me. Physically also I conduct myself beginning from the very dress onwards, वेषः. I want to have body attractive dress and my aim is I should be a head-turner. Have you heard this expression? Head turner means what? When that person walks every head turns. And therefore, self-decoration all beauty parlors become important. I should be the centre of attention. So through dress and through my walking and always coming to the centre stage, there will be no work, he will come and tap the mike and go, so the whole audience thinks that he is behind the whole program. He hasn't done anything and till yesterday he was nowhere and somehow he gets a volunteer badge and then comes to the stage does like this and goes. So therefore all these are attention seeking expression, so ornamentation, pretensions. So दम्भित्वम् means all forms of pretensions through वेषम्, through आभरणम्, through actions, that is called दम्भित्वम् and अदम्भित्वम् means what? Just the opposite of that, I don't want to seek attention, in positive language, simplicity. In terms of dressing, in terms of movement, in terms of ornamentation that person is so simple and inconspicuous in a crowd, even though the greatest person in the world he doesn't seek attention. And therefore only the ostentatious, tawdry people seek attention. As the English proverb goes, empty vessel makes noise. A full vessel does not. Therefore दम्भित्वम् means pretension, a दम्भित्वम् means simplicity. All great people are simple.

iii) And then the third one is अहिंसा. अहिंसा means nonviolence, not injuring other living beings. हिंसा means injury or violence and we don't talk about only human beings but all living beings, avoidance of injury and at three करण level, at the level of three instruments, because we have got three instruments which can cause injury. Just like different weapons to hurt others, we already have three weapons to hurt others. You may ask, I don't have any weapon in my hand? Your mere existence is enough, there are inbuilt weapons, three in number. And what are those three weapons? कायिक, वाचिक, मानस. The very body is a weapon which can cause injury to others, hands and legs are there which भगवान् has given with good intention, but we manage to use it terribly. And Similarly, वाक् is another instrument, animals don't have this instrument, therefore animals cannot verbally injure, human beings are the unique ones who have the most wonderful instruments. It can be used or it can be terribly abused, verbal abuse you know is worse than physical ones. So there is तिरुक्कुरल् saying also, that the wound caused by the tongue will not heal easily. And therefore verbal हिम्सा and there is a third instrument called mind, अन्तःकरणम् and that is mentally also हिम्सा is possible through thoughts. Mentally cursing others, 'May he perish!' you think. So mentally cursing others. And remember thoughts are powerful forces and therefore कायिक वाचिक मानस हिम्सा वर्जनम् is अहिम्सा. And why do we say, अहिम्सा is a value to be practiced? In fact, in the योगशास्त्र, अष्टाङ्ग योग, they talk about ten important virtues, I call them the ten commandments of Hinduism. In the form of यम and नियम groups we have seen this in the 6th chapter of the गीता. In the ten commandments of Hinduism, the first commandment is अहिम्सा. अहिम्सा, सत्यम्, अस्तेयम्, ब्रह्मचर्यम्, अपरिग्रहः, शौच, सन्तोष, तप, स्वाध्याय, ईश्वर प्रणिधानानि, I have dealt with in the 6th chapter introduction. I have also separately talked on ten commandments of Hinduism. So, अहिम्सा is supposed to be महा व्रतम्, a major vow. A spiritual seeker has to be committed to. Why do we consider a major व्रतम्? It is another topic which we can deal with on and on and on, but some important features we will see.

a) The first significance is very simple. I should not do what I don't expect others to do to me. Very simple law. I don't want any living being to injure me, even mosquitoes. And if I don't want others to hurt me, it becomes a universal law and it is an instinctive expectation, nobody teaches this, it is instinctive and natural expectation, what is my expectation, nobody should hurt me, which means everybody else has got the same instinctive expectation that I should not hurt him and therefore this becomes a universal law and therefore, only when I follow a universal law, as दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, only when I don't rub against universal law, I can have peace of mind. Any time I am violating a universal law called धर्म, I am hurting myself. दयानन्द स्वामिजि gives a beautiful example, if you want to know, suppose there is an old tree, Tamarind tree or Neem tree and you see the trunk, it has got a very very rugged surface, very very rough and rugged surface. And suppose you go and remove your dress, shirt, banian and all and rub against the trunk of the Tamarind tree or Neem tree. When you rub against the tree, what happens to the tree? Nothing. On the other hand, depending upon the intensity of the rubbing you are hurt, when I rub against a tree, I am rubbing myself, I am injuring myself. धर्म, the universal law, is like Tamarind tree, any time I rub against universal law or violate a universal law, nothing happens to the law but I am hurting myself. And therefore, अहिम्सा is following the universal law. This is one significance.

b) Secondly the whole world is a bank. Whatever I am contributing to the world remains in the world as a deposit. And whatever I have deposited now that alone I can take later, what I deposit that alone I can withdraw. Now, if I am going to contribute हिम्सा, I am depositing हिम्सा in the world, which means in future from the world what I can draw is only हिम्सा. I get from the world what I give to the world. If I give compassion I get that. If I give what you call, sharing, love, I get that, if I am giving हिम्सा I get back that only. And therefore, if I don't want to be injured by the world, I have to deposit what only अहिम्सा, because I get what I give, I reap what I sow. In English there is a saying. If you sow a wind, you reap a whirlwind. So it gets multiplied and comes. Therefore, अहिम्सा becomes important for my own future good.

c) And thirdly this is more important from the angle of psychology and वेदान्त. The tendency to hurt others is impulsive and natural. Our tendency to hurt others is very very natural. When do we hurt others, if you see the psychology behind it, we have got lot of expectations from our set-up. From our family members and from our neighbors, from the government, we have got certain expectations and if these expectations, otherwise called राग-द्वेष, if they are fulfilled very well I am comfortable and happy with the set-up. And most of the time, our expectations are not fulfilled because, the other people behave not according to what I expect, other people behave according to their own free-will. Unfortunately they have a free-will. If भगवान् has given free-will only to me and taken away from others then it would have been fine, but unfortunately they have. And therefore most of the time, my expectations are not fulfilled and the more grown up I am the more the number of expectations are and they become even finer and finer and finer, finer means what when I say I want green color, within the green also, this green and that green and if that expectation is not fulfilled I get into a rage. So when expectations are not fulfilled, the natural consequence is that I am hurt. Non fulfillment of expectation is bound to hurt me. And once I am hurt, the immediate reaction is attacking that object which is the cause of my hurt. The object means, the person who did not behave and the set-up which was not up to the mark, a hurt person reacts causing hurt to others. So the psychology is hurt person hurts others. An injured person injures others. And there is no gap between my injury and my causing injury to others. So the child misbehaves, there is no time gap, immediately giving one, thereafter only we think, or we shout, it is so impulsive. If this natural impulsive हिम्सा should not happen, it is possible only under one condition. हिम्सा is natural when anybody doesn't behave to my expectations I am bound to react and if this natural reaction should stop, it is possible only under one condition and you know what is that condition, my mind should become sensitive. And so sensitive that when I hurt somebody else, the sensitive mind should feel the pain of the other person also. We have to think very well. A sensitive mind is one which feels not only the pain of oneself, it feels the pain of others also. And once I begin to feel the pain of others, what happens, what is the consequence? When in anger I impulsively hurt another person, not only the other person is hurt, what happens, when the other person is hurt I also sense the pain. I also go through the pain like the mother who beats the child and afterwards the mother is never comfortable because the mother goes through the pain which the child goes through. And therefore what happens, for a sensitive mind hurting other person is as good as hurting oneself. For a sensitive person, sensitive mind hurting another person is like self-injury. And we never like to hurt ourselves. So since I don't like to hurt myself, I will never like to hurt others also, because when I am hurting another person I am hurting myself. Can you see the psychology behind it? For once I become a sensitive person, I become incapable of hurting another one because every time I hurt another I go through sleepless nights. How he feels humiliated, how he is disturbed, how she is disturbed, sometime the other persons says, doesn't matter, then also I am so sensitive, that for days together I cannot sleep because my mind registers others pains. And therefore, following the value of अहिम्सा is possible if I make my mind sensitive. Sensitization is required for following अहिम्सा. In psychological language they call it empathy and that has to be developed and therefore following अहिम्सा, makes my mind sensitive and a sensitive mind is required to appreciate the subtle topics of वेदान्त. वेदान्त is so subtle, that I require a sensitive mind. And therefore अहिम्सा means sensitize your mind. Even when you read the newspaper of violence happening somewhere, my mind should feel the pain. If my mind does not feel the pain, that mind is called a gross mind. A Gross mind alone can comfortably hurt others, a gross mind alone can comfortably hut others, a sensitive mind is very much hurt in hurting others. And that is why somebody said, crime itself becomes a punishment for a sensitive mind. Crime itself becomes punishment for a sensitive mind, for a gross mind others are hurt, nothing happens. And therefore, we require what? सूक्ष्म बुद्धिः. So अहिम्सा is a very important value. अहिम्सा परमो धर्म.

iv) The next value is क्षान्तिः. The word क्षान्ति has got several connotations. We will see some of them. One meaning of the word क्षान्ति is mental resistance or immunity so that it is not disturbed when the expectations are not fulfilled. In fact, it is an extension of अहिम्सा. Only when my expectations are not fulfilled I get hurt, when I get hurt my immediate response is हिम्सा. And therefore हिम्सा is only when I get hurt, when my expectations are not fulfilled. क्षान्ति means developing that mental immunity, that the set-up is incapable of disturbing my mind, developing an immunity, so that I am not vulnerable to external fluctuations, weather-wise fluctuations, behavioral fluctuations or economical fluctuations. So many fluctuations are there, all these fluctuations do not disturb me, developing that mental immunity is called क्षान्तिः. Just as if a person has got a physical immunity, what happens? Whatever be the diseases around in the city, if I have the immunity the diseases are around, germs are around, bacteria are around, even tuberculosis. In fact, one doctor said, while giving a talk, TB is supposed to spread when a diseased or sick person breaths or sneezes in front of others and a doctor, he said, that you take 20 people who have not got TB and you call a person who has got the TB in advance condition and you ask this sick person to directly sneeze and breath into the mouth of these 20 people. It is only hypothetical, ok 20 people and he said even though these 20 people directly receive all these twenty will not get because भगवान् has created an immunity. That does mean that you should try. Don't ask 'स्वामिजि, should I try.' An immune system will not be affected, we are physically immune, but what is our mental immunity. If you have mental immunity, you have क्षान्तिः. I don't want to test your mental immunity by going beyond time.

Having talked about the topics of क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः up to verse no.7, now from verse no.8 onwards up to verse no.12, कृष्ण deals with the topic of ज्ञानम् which in this context means those virtues which will make the mind fit for receiving the Self-knowledge. And he gives a list of 20 virtues here, which has to be carefully cultivated by every person. In fact, gaining Self-knowledge really does not take time, it is relatively easier but cultivating these virtues alone involves time and effort. And therefore, this is as important or more important than even Vedantic study. And therefore कृष्ण will deal with this topic again and again. The 16th and 17th chapters are exclusively dedicated to deal with this topic. So we will deal with this again later. And now we have seen some of the virtues mentioned in the 8th verse, अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम् and अहिम्सा. अमानित्वम् is freedom from self-glorification, humility, विनयः and अदम्भित्वम् is simplicity and अहिम्सा is nonviolence at the physical, verbal and even mental level. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now the 4th value mentioned here is क्षान्तिः. क्षान्ति also is a very important virtue, it has got two aspects.

a) The first aspect of क्षान्ति is called तितिक्षा. तितिक्षा means acceptance of all choice-less situations of life. Acceptance without resistance of all choice-less situations of life. Even though as human beings we have a free-will and we have the capacity to control many things, the unfortunate fact is there are many things over which we have no control at all. We are utterly helpless. And all such uncontrollable helpless situations I call choice-less situations and in the 2nd chapter कृष्ण uses the word अपरिहार्ये अर्थे, अर्थ means a situation, अपरिहार्य means over which I don't have a control at all. And since I don't have any control over the situation, I have to only change my attitude in such a way that I welcome, I accept the situation and this acceptance of the situation is called तितिक्षा. And if you look at the life, our entire past life is already over and I have no control over my past.

By regretting over the past I will never be able to change it, even God cannot change the past. Therefore, past comes under choice-less situation and I have to prepare my mind to accept my past as it is, my parentage, my education, my date of birth, all of them, date of birth means age. So by giving a false age you don't become younger. By covering the wrinkles by thicker powder you don't become younger. Accept the age, accept the grey hair, accept no hair. Therefore the past is choice-less. Therefore I accept the past with तितिक्षा. Then the next is present is also choice-less, but present is that which has already arrived. Not arriving. If it has not yet arrived you can send a telegram 'don't arrive,' but the present has already arrived and therefore, I have no choice over the present and therefore I prepare the mind to accept the present which is choice-less. This acceptance of all situations around, all the people around is तितिक्षा.

सहनम् सर्वदुःखानाम् अप्रतीकारपूर्वकम् । ॥ विवेकचूडामणि २४ ॥

Without resistance. The more the resistance is the more you get heated up. And this acceptance is also of two types.

- One is a healthy acceptance and
- Another is an unhealthy acceptance.

What is unhealthy acceptance? Taking to the philosophy that what cannot be cured has to be endured. So there is an acceptance, but the acceptance is with bitterness, the acceptance is with self-pity, the acceptance is with frustration, acceptance is with anger towards the world and God. This unhealthy acceptance is not तितिक्षा, because when I accept with bitterness and self-pity, my mind is not available for any other constructive activity. A mind which accepts the situation with bitterness will dwell upon the situation all the time murmuring, all the time grumbling, why me, why it has happened to me? And not only this person has depression, whoever comes around him this person freely does दानम्, other दानम् whether he does or not, his grief he distributes to others. And therefore in unhealthy acceptance, my resources are not available for any constructive work. I am immobilized. I am a complaining person.

Whereas acceptance that is talked about here is a healthy acceptance wherein I don't allow the choice-less situations to overpower me. I don't allow the choice-less situation to clog my resources. I don't allow the choice-less situations to immobilize me. I ignore that situation and I allow my resources to work in a constructive manner. And often it appears very difficult but it is possible for a person to ignore unfavorable conditions and still go ahead with life and even accomplish things. If you have any doubt, read the biographies of some of the handicapped people who have accomplished greater things than even a non-handicapped normal people. We have the Stephen Hawkins phenomenon, for whom no organ of the body works except the brain. A person can curse himself and take to self-pity, but a person can ignore that and accomplish greater things also. That means I don't allow the situation to overwhelm me and that is called healthy acceptance, तितिक्षा. This is aspect No.1 of क्षान्तिः. This is with respect to the present.

b) Even though past cannot be changed by me because it has arrived already and even though the present cannot be changed because it has already arrived, as far as future is concerned I do have a capacity to change the future. Astrology can perfectly talk about the past. But with regard to the future, astrology can never totally predict the future, because future can be changed by the human will. In fact, astrology itself talks about प्रायश्चित्त कर्माणि, by which we can change the future. And therefore, with regard to future, what I require is not acceptance. I have to accept the past because it is choice-less. I have to accept the present because it is choice-less. But I need not accept the future blindly because future is not choice-less, future is choicefull (if I can use that word). That means what, I can use my free-will, my resources:

उद्धरेत् आत्मना आत्मानम् न आत्मानम् अवसादयेत् । ॥ ६-७॥

I can work for improving and transforming the future. But here also we should remember any transformation requires time. Any transformation, any growth, any change requires its own time. And therefore with regard to transformation I require patience. If I have got some disease, it is not that I have to suffer the disease permanently, medical science is advanced I can take the appropriate remedy but it will take its own time, it may be a week, it may be a month, it may be even years. And when you want to change people, when you want to change people it is almost impossible because you cannot change others unless they want to change and if others want to change we can work on others and try to change, but changing a person requires lot of time, which means with regard to future I require the capacity to wait. And this capacity to wait with regard to the future is the second part of क्षान्तिः, which is called क्षमा. क्षमा means the capacity to wait for the future to unfold, even in front of the traffic signal. There it starts. The red signal has come and it has got its own duration, may be only 1-2 minutes but you can see the lack of क्षमा. Inch, inch, inch almost gone to the other side. And if there are so many rows of cars you can see, even after the green signal has come it will take a minute for your car to move. The first car will take a few seconds, the second car will take a few more, by the time you are able to move it will take a few more seconds, but you can see all the people honking with the horn, no patience. And therefore the second part of the क्षान्ति is everything takes its own time. A child takes ten months in the womb to grow and therefore भर्तृहरि says, Oh Human being,

परिभ्रमसि किम् मुधा ववचन चित्त विश्राम्यताम्

स्वयम् भवति यत् यथा भवति तत्तथा न अन्यथा ।

अतीतम् अननुस्मरन् अपि च भावि असङ्कल्पयन्

अतर्कित-समागमान् अनुभवामि भोगानहम् ॥ वैराग्यशतकम् ६२ ॥

परिभ्रमसि किम् मुधा ववचन चित विश्राम्यताम् – Oh mind, why are you always in a hurry, you want tomorrow to come today itself. You want next year to come this year itself. Ask your mind to wait and be patient. स्वयम् भवति यत् यथा भवति तत् तथा न अन्यथा – the future has to unfold in its own time and you cannot hasten the process. Let the future unfold, you face it when it comes, we will cross the bridge when it comes. अतीतम् अननुस्मरन् अपि च भावि असङ्कल्पयन् – not brooding over the past too much, not getting concerned over the future too much. अतर्कित-समागमान् अनुभवामि भोगानहम् – develop patience in the present. And if I don't have तितिक्षा with regard to present and I don't have क्षमा with regard to future (तितिक्षा means what, acceptance, क्षमा means what, the capacity to wait), if I don't have acceptance and waiting capacity the result is stress and strain in the personality, which is the curse of the modern fast life. Everybody says stress and strain and there are so many programs conducted to neutralize stress and strain. And the organizers are stressed out, this has to work out, money will come or not, etc. In शास्त्र it is called अनायासः – freedom from stress. Learn to sit for some moment daily, just relax. That's why they kept सन्ध्यावन्दनम् at regular intervals so that you learn to sit without stress. And doctors talk about two-fold stress, the physical stress of the body, the muscles are always tensed and there is mental stress. This physical and mental stress accumulates over time and that makes you irritable all the time. The indication of stress and strain is you are all the time at the flashpoint. Somebody has to ask something, flare up, anger at the nose-tip, I am all the time irritable and दयानन्द स्वामिजि says when this irritable father comes home the children run all around. Saying father has come, one goes to this room and another in another room, nobody wants to face the father, the poor wife has to choicelessly deal with him. This irritable condition is due to the accumulated stress and often the children are the victims and previously when father is stressed out mother was there as a cushion, now both of them are working, therefore generally the temperature at home is above 100. And children becomes victims and they also get the internal stress, when they grow out they take it on their wives and spouses and thus we have to got a nuclear family, ready to explode. I was wondering why it is called nuclear family. My explanation is that anytime, at a critical moment ready to explode. Therefore क्षान्ति is an extremely important value to avoid stress. Stress is inflicting injury on myself. And when the stressful person explodes it is inflicting injury on the other people. Therefore a stressed person is always practicing हिम्सा, upon himself and others. Therefore if अहिम्सा has to be followed, क्षान्ति is required. That क्षान्ति: is the only method to develop अहिम्सा. And therefore it is very important value, in the शास्त्र it is called अनायासः. A stress free relaxed mind.

v) Then the next value is आर्जवम्. आर्जवम् means alignment of the three-fold personality, कायिक, वाचिक and मानस. Our personality has three layers or components, one is physical, another is verbal and another is mental and if all of them are in alignment, thought, word and deed are in alignment, that person is integrated personality, harmonized personality, a healthy personality. But when there is no alignment, I think one thing and by the time I speak out it has become different and when I implement it is a third thing.

मनस्यन्यत् वचस्यन्यत् कर्मण्यन्यत् दुरात्मनाम् ॥ सुभाषितानि ॥

When there is no alignment, it is a split personality. And when there is no alignment, there is a strain taking place in the personality. Like any machine with several different parts, when there is a machine with several parts, all of them should be in alignment. Adjustment is required. When you erect a huge machinery, the mechanics have to come and align. Even in a tape recorder the head has to be aligned, there also it is said 'head'. Head has to be aligned and cleaned in regular intervals, otherwise recording doesn't take place. Similarly, your head, not only tape recorder's. And your ears, they all must be aligned, otherwise after one hour if someone asks, "How was the class?" You will say, "It was wonderful." "What did स्वामिजि say?" "That is what I don't know." I don't know what type of wonderful class it is. And therefore alignment is very important. If alignment is not there, you won't feel the strain immediately, but gradual strain is building up. After some time, personality becomes a disharmonious, disintegrated personality and that is why disintegration and destruction are synonymous. Disintegration and destruction are synonymous. When my organs are not integrated, then I am destroyed. Destroyed not in the physical sense, but destroyed in the spiritual sense. I cannot accomplish anything higher. And therefore integrity or uprightness or alignment or harmonization of the personality is important. If you go to a music concert there are so many instruments. There is a मृदङ्ग, घठम्, सारङ्गि, वीणा, kanjira and a musician. You will find that they spend a lot of time aligning श्रुति, will be adjusting the throat, aligning the तम्बुर, etc. If it is a North Indian music concert, they are so particular about श्रुति. According to them, carnatic musicians do not have श्रुति at all. Even the best musicians they don't accept. They are extremely careful. In fact, they take more time to adjust the श्रुति than even the concert period. So if a music concert requires alignment, life is the greatest music which should give happiness to me and which should give happiness to others. There should be no अपश्रुति, that means my thought, word and deed should be harmonized. That is why we have one of the most wonderful Upanishadic prayers - ॐ वाङ् मे मनसि प्रतिष्ठिता मनो मे वाचि प्रतिष्ठिताम् – Oh Lord, let me not have a split personality. Let me not have a multiple personality syndrome. And दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautiful says that रावण shown with ten heads indicate his multiple personality.

a) And the best method to develop आर्जवम् is starting with punctuality. I feel the first exercise in आर्जवम् is punctuality. And that is one thing we don't have at all in India. And if a speaker punctually goes for a public function, he has to start sweeping the room, he has to start from that. Only he has to go and start the program. Out of utter frustration, I dropped all public programs. Because nobody values punctuality. So, first exercise in आर्जवम् is punctuality. And I find another disturbing thing. I want to be punctual. Suppose because of some reason I am not able to be punctual. I have promised someone that I will come at 7 o'clock. And I start at 6 o'clock, because I know it will take one hour to reach. When I start some visitors will come, generally it happens or car doesn't start or phone call comes or something and I am not able to keep up the time; most people keep quiet, I consider आर्जवम् requires informing that person that I have promised to come at 7, I will not be able to come, I will not come or I will come at 8. But I find that many of the people do not have this tendency at all. If they couldn't come they just drop it, we have to phone and enquiry as to what happened. So, first आर्जवम् is being punctual.

b) Second आर्जवम् is informing the person if I am not able to be punctual. If we start with that, we will gradually develop आर्जवम्. I promise someone I will give an information tomorrow at 9 o'clock. I hoped to get the information by tomorrow. But tomorrow by 9 o'clock I didn't get the information. But whether I have the information or not, I should ring up the person and give the information and if I don't have that I should tell, I hoped to get but I didn't get. But all these things people are so gross and insensitive, where is the question of higher things. Therefore, आर्जवम् starts with the word and punctuality. Thereafter bigger things. Even सत्यम् is a subdivision of आर्जवम् only. Truthfulness is a subdivision of आर्जवम् only. This is another important virtue.

vi) Then the next one is आचार्य-उपासनम्. This is another important virtue for a Vedantic student. आचार्य-उपासनम् literally means worship or reverence towards the teacher, आचार्यः. And we should remember when we worship a teacher, a गुरु, really speaking the worship does not go to the person itself. Because as a person, गुरु is as such limited as any other person. Then why do we worship the आचार्य? आचार्य represents the शास्त्रज्ञानम् which is in him. Therefore my नमस्कार to आचार्य is my नमस्कार to the वेदs which are in him. आचार्य is a temple of the scriptures and scriptures represent ईश्वर and therefore through the scriptures the worship goes to the Lord, the reveler of the शास्त्रs. And then the next question is: Why I should worship the शास्त्रम्? Why should I worship the वेद? This is also a very very important thing for us to know. The knowledge that we want to acquire through the शास्त्र is a knowledge which can be acquired through शास्त्र alone. It is not a knowledge which can be acquired through any other source of knowledge. The शास्त्र is like the sixth sense organ. Every sense organ like eye, ears, etc., is capable of giving a unique knowledge which the other sense organs cannot give. Eyes can give the knowledge of color, the other four sense organs cannot give that. Similarly, ears can give the knowledge of sound, the other sense organs cannot give. And वेद is like the sixth sense organ and it gives me a knowledge which cannot be gained through any other means of knowledge. And since it is a unique knowledge, which cannot be gained through other sense organs, other sense organs neither can even confirm that knowledge nor can contradict that knowledge. Other sense organs can never verify the वैदिक knowledge. So we have to accept what वेदs reveal as a new knowledge and this accepting capacity is called श्रद्धा. श्रद्धा means learning to accept the knowledge given by the वेद as a unique knowledge which is not available for any other sense organs to verify. And this श्रद्धा is an extremely difficult thing to develop and one of the methods to develop श्रद्धा is worship, उपासना. Imagine there is a person with only four sense organs. From birth he has got only four sense organs. He doesn't have eyes. He is a blind person from birth. And he has got total faith in these four sense organs. And in between at the age of 50, I give him the fifth sense organ called eye and I tell him eyes are another means of knowledge and the eyes give a unique knowledge which you have to accept as a fact. And suppose this person argues. No, I won't accept. Whatever the eyes reveal I want to verify through the other four sense organs. Because I have faith only in the four sense organs. The fifth sense organ I don't want to accept, therefore I want to verify the color which the eyes reveal with the help of ears. The ears can never confirm the color, ears cannot contradict also. Therefore, I should never attempt to verify the knowledge given by one sense organ with the help of the other sense organ. Then what is my attitude? Every sense organ reveals a fact, which cannot be proved or disproved by the other ones and in our tradition we say that वेद is like the sixth sense organ. And that is why in our tradition right from birth they tried to create श्रद्धा in the वेद, learn to look at the वेद as the sixth sense organ, so that the knowledge received from the वेद I accept as a fact. And suppose a person says, this blind man, he says I will not accept the eyes if it cannot be verified by the other four sense organs and he says I will not accept the eyes. Then who is going to be the loser? If I refuse to accept the eyes only I will not get the new knowledge of color. Similarly, if I refuse to accept the वेद as another instrument of knowledge, I will never get unique knowledge given by the वेद and I will continue to prove the वैदिक wisdom through the sense organs and other means, I will never be able to prove. That is why science is never able to prove God, science is never able to disprove God. Because God can be understood only through the sixth sense organ, called the वेद. And therefore the श्रद्धा towards the वेद should be exactly like my श्रद्धा towards my sense organs. And how to develop that श्रद्धा? It has to come from birth itself and that is why they kept आचार्य-उपासनम् as part of our culture. वेद is another form of eye. वेद चक्षु and therefore आचार्य-उपासनम्, the capacity, the attitude towards वेद as a प्रमाणम्. This is extremely important.

vii) Then the next one is called शौचम्, शौचम् means purity, cleanliness. And purity at different levels.

a) Purity at the level of the surroundings. So therefore house, the street in front, (not to throw our rubbish in the street), my house, they all should be clean.

b) And then coming to my dress, that should be clean. So simple dress does not mean unclean dress. Simple dress means clean but simple dress. Many people connect simplicity with impurity. They think it should not be washed and it should be torned one. Simple dress means it can be clean and simple. Therefore at the level of dress cleanliness.

c) Then comes at the level of the physical body cleanliness. They are all relatively easier. In fact, in India we have problem with external cleanliness itself.

d) And then comes the tougher things, that is आन्तर शौचम्, inner cleanliness. Cleanliness at the verbal level, the words should be healthy words. We will be seeing that later in the 17th chapter, cleanliness at the verbal level. It will be called वाक् तपस्. We will analyze that later.

e) Then cleanliness at the thought level. And that means cultivating all those virtues which will keep my mind healthy. And what are those virtues which keep the mind healthy? अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, अहिम्सा, क्षान्तिः, आचार्य-उपासनम्, etc., they are called mental hygiene, which will lead to mental health. And the opposite of each one of them. Opposite of अमानित्वम् is मानित्वम्. Opposite of अदम्भित्वम् is दम्भित्वम्. Opposite of अहिम्सा is हिम्सा. Wherever 'अ' is not there, add it and wherever it is there, remove it. अनार्जवम् is opposite of आर्जवम्. The opposite of each one of these virtues is mental unhygienic if that word is there, which will cause mental sickness and therefore enjoyment of a healthy mind by cultivating all the virtues prescribed here is called शौचम्.

viii) And the next virtue is स्थैर्यम्. स्थैर्यम् is स्थिरता, willpower, perseverance, commitment is called स्थैर्यम्. When we start any pursuit certainly there will be obstacles and set back. Some of them are actual obstacle, some of them are imaginary obstacles. And because of the actual or imaginary obstacle if I withdraw from my pursuit, it is अस्थिरत्वम्. स्थिरत्वम् means any type of obstacle may come, I will continue.

प्रारभ्यते न खलु विघ्नभयेन नीचैः

प्रारभ्य विघ्नविहिता विरमन्ति मध्याः ।

विघ्नैः पुनः पुनरपि प्रतिहन्यमानाः

प्रारभ्य चोत्तमजनाः न परित्यजन्ति ॥ नीतिशतकम् २७ ॥

भर्तृहरि in his नीतिशतकम् talks about three grades of people.

➤ The lowest category is that who will not start anything at all because they are afraid of failure. They will tell everyone that I have never failed in my life. What did you do? Nothing. This is the first category. Never start anything.

➤ There is a second category, they start but when the slightest obstacle appears they drop. प्रारभ्य विघ्नविहिता विरमन्ति मध्याः, they are mediocre. They start.

➤ And who are the उत्तम जनाः? विघ्नैः पुनः पुनरपि प्रतिहन्यमानाः – come any amount of obstacle they again get up, they have a resilient mind, they may fall but again they get up and continue. As they say, when the going gets tough, the tough gets going. प्रारब्धम् उत्तमजनाः न परित्यजन्ति. And to highlight this value alone we have the story of भगीरथ प्रयत्नम्, which we saw in the 10th chapter. How भगीरथ brought गङ्गा. गङ्गावतरणम् story. I don't want to get into that story. And we have got the story of समुद्र मथनम्. How many obstacles! But until it is achieved the उत्तमजनाः continues and that capacity, willpower is called स्थैर्यम्. This is another virtue, especially in spiritual path.

ix) Then the next one is आत्म-विनिग्रहः. आत्म-विनिग्रहः means self-mastery, self management. Being the master of my own equipments or instruments. We have seen in तत्त्वबोध, we have got seventeen organs - पञ्च ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि five are there, कर्मेन्द्रियाणि five are there, प्राणः five are there, mind (the emotional faculty) and बुद्धिः (the intellectual faculty). Seventeen instruments we have got inbuilt in us and through these instruments alone I have to accomplish any goal in life. And before using any instrument, I have to make sure that instrument is healthy and the instrument is under my control. In कठोपनिषत्, we saw the example of the chariot, the horses and the reins, the driver, etc. The horses are like the sense organs and the reins which control the horses are like the mind and intellect is comparable to the driver. We required an informed driver and we require the controlled steering or reins and the horses must be tamed and obedient, then alone I can reach the destination. In the same way, we have the body, senses, the mind and the intellect. Unless I can manage myself there is no question of managing a company. So in management science what is first lesson? Can you manage yourselves? Can you manage your tongue, the eating tongue, the talking tongue? Can you manage your own emotion? If I cannot manage myself how can I hope to manage anything? And therefore वेदः says start with self-management. And that self-management is called आत्म-विनिग्रहः, आत्मा means स्थूल सूक्ष्म शरीरम्. Not सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा. विनिग्रहः means mastery. And the entire अष्टाङ्ग योग of पतञ्जलि is meant for this purpose. If you take अष्टाङ्ग योग, they prescribe various आसनः. This is to manage your अन्नमय कोशः. Is your body listening to you? If I ask my body to sit for some time, whether it will listen or not? The first problem is the knee joint. Knee joints will be saying I am here, I am here, get up, get up, is class over, is class over.

And Similarly, back. So therefore आसन is the fundamental thing to keep your body obedient to you. It's a very important thing. We think that it is meant for some people to do extraordinary feat. Just to sit in the class for an hour we require a healthy body. आसन is a beautiful system of अष्टाङ्ग योग. Then they have प्राणायाम to get mastery over प्राणमय कोश - प्राण, अपान, व्यान, उदान, समान - the physiological system must be healthy and thereafter they have got प्रत्याहार - mastery over the sense organs. Then they have got धारण, ध्यान and समाधि - mastery over the mind, developing attention span, developing focusing capacity. For that three exercises धारण, ध्यान and समाधि, absorption. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द used to tell that the student must be so absorbed in the class to such an extent that even if the whole ceiling comes down, the student should not know what is happening. Otherwise, if someone comes late we will be watching his movements, what dress, color, etc. That is I should die to the world, that is समाधि. समाधि is not a mystical thing. समाधि is the absorbing capacity, absorption capacity in any action I undertake. Thus यम, नियम, आसन, प्राणायाम, प्रत्याहार, धारण, ध्यान, समाधि, the entire योग system is not for ज्ञानम्. योग never gives ज्ञानम्. Not for मोक्ष. योग gives only आत्म-विनिग्रहः. Then you have to come to गुरु and start learning वेदान्त. योग is not to skirt वेदान्त but योग is a preparation for वेदान्त श्रवणम्. More in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

From the 8th verse of the 13th chapter, Lord कृष्ण has taken up the third topic for analysis. He has already dealt with two topics, viz., क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः and now कृष्ण is dealing with the third topic called ज्ञानम् and we saw that in this context, the word ज्ञानम् refers to a set of virtues which will keep the mind a healthy one. Just as there are certain physical parameters, which will indicate the physical health, like the pressure, the level of cholesterol, the level of hemoglobin, etc., will indicate the physical health, Similarly, there are certain parameters or virtue, which indicate mental health. And this mental health is useful for every human being to enjoy peace of mind and this mental health is particularly required for a Vedantic seeker because only if the mind is healthy, the intellect will be freely available for higher pursuit. If the mind is not healthy, the intellect will be a hostage of a sick mind. You will not allowed to think properly because a disturbed mind will suppress your intellect and that is why when you are mentally disturbed, you can never read anything where intellectual application is required. You cannot hear any discourse where intellectual application is required, intellectual application is possible only when the mind is relaxed. Mind is relaxed only when the mind is healthy. Mind is healthy only when these parameters are handled and maintained. And therefore कृष्ण gives the list. We covered the 8th verse in which some of them have been mentioned, अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, अहिम्सा, क्षान्ति, आर्जवम्, आचार्य-उपासनम्, शौचम्, स्थैर्यम्, आत्म-विनिग्रहः, 9 virtues have been enumerated, now in the next verse we are going to get some more virtues. We will read verse no.9;

Verse No .09

इन्द्रियार्थेषु तैराग्यमनहङ्कार एव च ।

जन्ममृत्युजराव्याधिदुःखदोषानुदर्शनम् ॥ १३-९॥

इन्द्रिय-अर्थेषु तैराग्यम् अनहङ्कारः एव च ।

जन्म-मृत्यु-जरा-व्याधि-दुःख-दोष-अनुदर्शनम् ॥ १३-९॥

इन्द्रिय-अर्थेषु वैराग्यम्, अनहङ्कारः एव च, जन्म-मृत्यु-जरा-व्याधि-दुःख-दोष-अनुदर्शनम्,

x) इन्द्रिय-अर्थेषु वैराग्यम्, these two words together refers to the next virtue, viz., mastering of the sense organs. Sense organs are a set of instruments gifted to us by the Lord and they are very important instruments because through them alone we interact with the world. We have got two sets of sense organs,

a) one set is called ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि, through which we receive the input from the world, they are the entrance gate through which the world enters into us

b) and we have got a set of sense organs called कर्मेन्द्रियाणि, through which we express ourselves, we respond to the external world, therefore, they are exit gates.

So therefore, sense organs are extremely important for interaction with the world and not only for all ordinary interaction, for all the spiritual साधन also you require these organs. And since they are a set of instruments given to us, we have to make sure that they are under our control and we are not the slaves of our sense organs. This avoidance of slavery to the sense organs, otherwise called इन्द्रिय निग्रहः, otherwise called इन्द्रिय जयः, otherwise called दमः, otherwise called प्रत्याहार, that is mentioned by कृष्ण here. And this requires a constant alertness on our part, because the sense organs or generally in contact with the sensory world; we have five sense organs and we have got five segments, शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध, these five sense objects and we have got five sense organs, each one functioning in its own respective fields. And when the sense organs come in contact with any object on a regular basis, unknowingly the sense organs develop an attachment to the sense objects. So every sense organ is prone to develop attachment to any particular sense object, addiction forming nature is there in every sense organ. So you see an object or a person or a particular program in the TV for a few days. Initially you say it is nice, it is wonderful, then gradually the sense organs begin to demand association with the sense object. And when they demand it is for us to decide whether we should fulfill the demand of the sense organ. Exactly like bringing up a child. A child you give something, after some time the child begins to demand, give me chocolate, give me chocolate. The mother gives initially, thereafter, the child gets addicted, then the child demands, it begins to throw tantrums also and the mother doesn't how to handle, to avoid the tantrums and disturbance the mother agrees to give the child the chocolate saying that it is the last time. Then a time comes when the child knows how to make the mother do what it wants. Every sense object is like such a child. Initially you allow the sense organ to function in a field, later the sense organ begins to demand and once you pamper the sense organ you have become an addict or slave. And afterwards you try to master, the sense organs has become now powerful enough and if you say no to any addicted thing, you say no, the sense organs know how to throw tantrums. They will not allow you to do anything. If you go on reading, it is coffee time and one day you say today I won't give you coffee. Then you do anything there is only one जप, even नमः शिवाय will not happen like this. Only coffee जप. It will not allow you to do anything. It can even create headache in some people. That is why कृष्ण said in the 2nd chapter,

इन्द्रियाणि प्रमाथीनि हरन्ति प्रसभं मनः ॥ २-६०॥

Pampered by me, the sense organs can become so powerful that they can even drag the mind to its field. And then the intellect tells this is not good, I should not pamper, I should not become a slave, because I want to attain मोक्ष from the whole creation. And being the slave of a coffee, a cigarette, liquor or something, if I am not a master of even few little small things, how can I become a master of, how can I get the freedom from the whole creation. And therefore the intellect begins to feels the guilt and that is how the tug of war begins, intellect decide I want to get out of the habit and even I give up the habit for a few days and thereafter again he gets addicted. As Mark Twain or somebody said: ‘Who said giving up smoking is difficult. It is not at all difficult I have given up smoking several times.’ Then begins the big tug of war - the intellect says that I am a गीता student and I should be a master, I should not be a weakling and its takes wonderful decision, a few days they are implemented and again gets to the old root called relapse. And then once the intellect fails a few times, intellect doesn’t how to handle the guilt. Then intellect uses another method, because the guilt is really painful at the same time the intellect is not able to find out a way of getting out of the addiction. So what is the best method? If you cannot defeat your enemy, then join. And that joining is called justification. So the intellect knows how to justify every addiction. It will argue, even those manufacturers have to live. If we don’t buy, how will they survive? And therefore we have to help them survive by somehow. Like that person who wanted to show the harm in taking liquor and he did an experiment, he just put an insect inside the liquor and the insect died. In front were sitting a lot of liquor addicts. He showed the experiment and asked them what is the conclusion you arrive at? Because the insect died in the alcohol. Then this fellow got up and said: “Whoever takes liquor will have a clean stomach without any germs.” Because it will all be killed, that means I will have a clean stomach. Do you follow? So therefore regularly take. Any argument you give, the intellect knows how to manipulate. And therefore only the best solution is with regard to any addiction - prevention is always better than trying to cure. And therefore alertness becomes important and that is why they say, once in a while say ‘No’ to anything that you regularly do. So all forms of तपस्, व्रतम् etc., we practice, they are all meant for avoidance of sense-slavery. In योगशास्त्र it is called प्रत्याहारः, in वेदान्त शास्त्र it is called दमः. दमः as in साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, शमः, दमः, उपरति, etc., are said. So इन्द्रिय-अर्थेषु वैराग्यम् means दमः and वैराग्यम् means dispassion, not hatred, you are allowed to enjoy legitimate pleasures without becoming a slave of that pleasure. That is you enjoy the pleasure, you decide what the sense organs should do, the sense organs should not decide what you should do. So that is the next important virtue.

xi) Then the next virtue is अहङ्कारः. अहङ्कार means self-conceit, which we saw before मानित्वम्. And अहङ्कारः means free from self-conceit or humility. Freedom from egoism, arrogance, pride, vanity, any word you can use. Now the question is, अमानित्वम् also means freedom from self-conceit, अहङ्कारः also means freedom from self-conceit. Why should कृष्ण repeat that? After all we have wonderful memory power! Why should कृष्ण repeat? Even though in normal context, अमानित्वम् and अहङ्कारः means the same, in this context, we make a subtle difference between these two. अमानित्वम् means freedom from self-conceit at the thought level. मननम् is thinking, at the thinking level I don't have self-conceit, I don't think I am the greatest person in the world, I very well know my limitations and therefore at thought level freedom from self conceit is called अमानित्वम्, whereas अहङ्कारः means freedom from self-conceit at the verbal level, अहम् अहम् इति करणम् अहङ्कारः. All the time, 'Me Me Me,' you are talking. All the time using only first person singular either अहम्, आवाम्, माम्, मया, or मह्यम्, all the time centered around अहम्. Any subject-matter you talk about, this person of self-conceit will convert into a subject matter relating to himself. You talk about an event in America, he will start when I went to that place, he will convert it into 'I.' Any topic under the Sun, this fellow will intelligently convert into 'I' topic, that is called अहम् करणम् self-propagation, self-proclamation, blowing his own trumpet, that is अहङ्कार. And अनहङ्कारः means freedom from that.

So thus अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, अनहङ्कारः, all the three convey the same idea at three different levels.

- अमानित्वम् means freedom from conceit at the mental level,
- अनहङ्कारः is freedom from conceit at the verbal level,
- अदम्भित्वम् is freedom from conceit at the कायिक level, by pomp and show, dress and body things and all, simplicity.

Therefore, all these are of the similar nature only. Therefore, अनहङ्कारः एव च.

xii) Then the next virtue is: जन्म-मृत्यु-जरा-व्याधि-दुःख-दोष-अनुदर्शनम्. So don't be body-oriented. Don't consider your life as something connected to only to physical existence. Physical existence is only a limited external aspect of yours. You are something other than the physical body. You have got a higher nature different from the body. This body orientation will obstruct your higher pursuit and not only that, this body orientation will lead to a lot of problems also. And what are the problems of body oriented life and especially now-a-days so much importance is given to body, all the beauty parlours for women, even for men, skin care, teeth care, eye care, eyebrow care, hair care, all inch by inch I am particular about how I look. This body orientation can be terrible. Very careful. This should not be misunderstood. वेदान्त never says that you should neglect your body, because body is the instrument, which is required for all spiritual pursuit as well as material pursuits. But what वेदान्त says is body is only a means, it is not an end-in-itself. In fact, it is only an outermost कोश called अन्नमय कोश. And how to get detached from the body? For that कृष्ण says, see the problem of body attachment. दोष-अनुदर्शनम्, अनुदर्शनम् means constantly reminding. Reminding of what? दोष. The various defects, deficiencies, problems involved in देह अभिमान, body orientation. And what are the दोषः? जन्म, मृत्यु, जरा, व्याधि, दुःख. The body is subject to four-fold problems. And what are the four-fold problems?

a) The first one is जन्म, any way fortunately the problem is over, at last we are born. The body has lived in solitary confinement in the womb of the mother for 10 months without any freedom and coming out is also a struggle. Anyway that is over. Now what are the later problems?

b) जरा. जरा means the old age and attendant problems, where I don't have any willpower in deciding my conditions of the body. My willpower will be strong and functioning only in the initial part of my life, as I grow older and older, helplessness becomes more and more in addition to various other problems. जरा means old age.

c) Then व्याधि, व्याधि means what? Diseases. And then finally what?

d) मृत्यु, मृत्यु means मरणम्, leaving everything and being that is near and dear to me, separation. All these problems दुःखम्, all these दुःखम्s are the defect of physical life. And if you remember these दोषः, then you will never be interested in देह अभिमान and therefore, देह अभिमान दोष दर्शनम् is a prerequisite for आत्मज्ञानम्. Continuing;

Verse No .10

असक्तिरनभिष्वङ्गः पुत्रदारगृहादिषु ।

नित्यं च समचित्तत्वमिष्टानिष्टोपपत्तिषु ॥ १३-१०॥

असक्तिः अनभिष्वङ्गः पुत्र-दार-गृह-आदिषु ।

नित्यम् च सम-चित्तत्वम् इष्ट अनिष्ट-उपपत्तिषु ॥ १३-१०॥

असक्तिः, पुत्र-दार-गृह-आदिषु अनभिष्वङ्गः, इष्ट-अनिष्ट-उपपत्तिषु नित्यम् सम-चित्तत्वम् च, xiii) असक्तिः. असक्तिः means mental detachment. Avoidance of mental slavery with regard to any external object, situation or person.

Previously we talked about इन्द्रिय-अर्थेषु वैराग्यम्. Now we are talking about असक्तिः. Both mean detachment only but the difference is previously it is detachment from the standpoint of sense organs, it was इन्द्रिय निग्रहः, here असक्तिः deals with मनो निग्रहः. So previous one is दमः, the present one is शमः. And why does कृष्ण talk about both of them. Mental detachment cannot be easily attained, because mind is a subtler instrument. Therefore taking the mind away from the object of attachment is extremely difficult, whereas sense organs are external instruments, they are grosser instruments and therefore they can be controlled in a relatively easier way. And how can you control the sense organs? By physically being away from the place. If a person has got a tendency to use a particular object, addiction causing object, he can be physically separated. In all the de-addiction centers the object will not be available there. Because if it seen then it will grabbed. The problem is: even when the sense organs the physically separated from the sense objects, the mind can continue to dwell on that. And as long as the mind dwells on that, again re-addiction or relapse is possible. Therefore as long as the person is physically away he will have control. Thereafter when it comes near he will also turns towards it.

So initially you start from sense control and even after sense control, mind continues to have a वासना and therefore we have to handle the mind also. And for that the mind has to be educated of the evils involved in the addiction and once the mind is mastered, thereafter, even if the object of addiction is in front. I have got out of habit of smoking or drinking, if the other person is using that right in front, I can remain there without having a temptation. So that is the higher stage of detachment born out of विवेक शक्तिः. And only when I say 'NO' out of discrimination, it becomes transcending. If I stop them because of the others' pressure it becomes suppression only. Therefore suppression should be converted to transcendence. And that transcendence is inner detachment. After inner detachment, I am not worried about temptation. I move anywhere. रागद्वेषवियुक्तैस्तु. कृष्ण tells all this beautifully in the 2nd chapter, towards the end,

रागद्वेषवियुक्तैस्तु विषयानिन्द्रियैश्चरन् ।

आत्मवशयैर्विधेयात्मा प्रसादमधिगच्छति ॥ २-६४॥

Once the mind is mastered, let this person be in any field, he can never get addicted to anything or temptations. Until that possibility is there, I have to physically get away from the tempting situations and therefore असक्तिः – detachment or dispassion at the mental level.

xiv) And then what is the next virtue. पुत्र-दार-गृह-आदिषु अनभिष्वङ्गः. Those two words should be read together. अनभिष्वङ्गः as one virtue, पुत्र-दार as another virtue should not be taken. These both together is one virtue. That is पुत्र-दार-गृह-आदिषु अनभिष्वङ्गः. अभिष्वङ्गः means overattachment, intense attachment, तीव्र रागः and अनभिष्वङ्गः means absence of overattachment or absence of excessive attachment. Towards whom? कृष्ण gives a list of important things. What are they?

- पुत्र, पुत्र means पुत्री also, पुत्रः or पुत्री means child.
- दार, दार means wife, wife indicates husband also. Therefore we will translate as the spouse. पुत्र means child, अपत्यम् and दार represents spouse.
- गृहम्, गृहम् means our own house. There also difference is there. Rented house means detachment comes. Somebodies house, if anything happens what is there for me! So own house, गृहम्. आदि means etc., a few other close things. You can supply may be the pet, dog etc., like that a few things. With regard to those few things or people with whom you move constantly, with whom you live not merely years but decades and your life is closely intertwined with them. Thus there are a few things and beings with which you are intensely connected.

And with regard to them you can never avoid attachment. कृष्ण admits that attachment cannot be avoided with regards to a few things and beings with which you regularly move. And if you should not have any attachment, it is possible only under once circumstance, you should be परमहंस पारित्राजकाचार्यः, you should never stay with a person regularly, you should never stay in one place regularly, constantly you have to move. Then there is no scope of attachment. But as long as we are living in a set-up, and our live is intertwined with a few people and things, attachment will be there. And therefore कृष्ण says, I don't ask you to avoid attachment, I am only saying, avoid overattachment. Excessive attachment, don't have. A little bit attachment permitted. So this is particularly a concession given to गृहस्थs. Otherwise for whom are the पुत्र and दार? For a monk? It is clear. So one संन्यासि read this. "If I have to follow this virtue, I should to get married!" Because कृष्ण has said 20 virtues you should follow. "I have to follow detachment from the wife, and I don't have one, so let me get married and follow detachment." Idiot. This is with regard to गृहस्थs. Attachment is allowed, but कृष्ण says avoid excessive attachment. Now the next question is: How to differentiate attachment and excessive attachment? Is there a barometer, thermometer, if you keep on the head and if yellow comes, attachment and if red comes, excessive attachment. How do you know? So आनन्दगिरि, who writes a sub commentary on शङ्कराचार्य's commentary, he gives a beautiful explanation differentiating attachment and overattachment. He defines attachment as ममकारः, claiming a thing or a person as mine, he belongs to me, I belong to you, you belong to me. Somebody said: That is how marriage starts, they say "मेरा मेरी, मेरा मेरी" and then after some time, "माय-मायी." In हिन्दि माय-मायी means scuffle, quarrel. So मेरा मेरी means I am for you, you are for me. Therefore ममकार is attachment. And as long as I claim a thing or being as मम, it is only a related object or person which remains even when the object is gone I am very much there, only the object is gone, I am there as a complete person, my life is there, my journey continues. Only associated object or person is gone and my journey has to continue. But when the attachment is excessive, then it is no more ममकार, my identification becomes so complete that I become one with that object and therefore I don't see any difference between that object or person and myself. That means whatever happens to that person I take as happening to myself. And naturally, when that person is dead, instead of saying that person is gone and I continue to survive, I feel that I myself is dead and gone, that means my life appears to be empty. If I think my life has no meaning without another person, it is excessive attachment. If I think my life has no meaning without another person, it is excessive attachment, because the fact is every life has got its own meaning, irrespective of other people being there or not, because we have all come to the earth for the particular purpose of spiritual evolution and every one of us has come independently, we are never born together, we are never going to die together. As विष्णुमयानन्द says: 'Alone to the alone all alone is life.' And therefore we have come here for our spiritual growth and भगवान् has connected a few people so that our growth is helped. And the people will be around as long as there is need of them for my growth and once that purpose is served, thereafter each जीव has to continue its own journey. It is like a train journey. I have entered the compartment in a particular station and I have started the journey. Another particular station another person enters. And then our seats, he is the neighborhood, he is the next number and therefore we enquire, who are you etc., and there is mutual exchange also and thereafter we become friends, but both of us have got our own destination. Either I get down first or the other person gets down first, but the journey has to continue. The whole earth is a compartment alone, we have all come together and we progress and thereafter we have to continue our journey in our own direction. If this is forgotten I think my life is purposeless without another person and once that thought comes, it has become excessive attachment. That means I cannot imagine living without that person. My life is empty. Why should I live, for whom should I live? I will take potassium cyanide and I will go immediately. All this blabbering indicates excessive attachment. कृष्ण says you can cry. Nothing wrong. Attachment will give grief, but you should never forget the fact that everyone is an individual and we have to make our own journey. And therefore not forgetting this fact: what fact, Life is like a train journey. That is called absence of overattachment. ममकारम् let it be there, no harm. Let it not become अहङ्कार, total तादात्म्यम्, especially with regard to these few closer ones. So पुत्र-दार-गृह-आदिषु अनभिष्वङ्गः.

xv) Then the next virtue is: नित्यम् च सम-चित्तत्वम् इष्ट अनिष्ट-उपपत्तिषु. So this gives the essence of कर्मयोग.

सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योः समो भूत्वा समत्वं योग उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

So सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योः समो भूत्वा, सिद्धि असिद्ध्योः इष्ट अनिष्ट-उपपत्तिषु समो भूत्वा समत्वम् योग उच्यते. Same thing कृष्ण tells सम-चित्तत्वम्. इष्ट means favorable situations, अनिष्ट means unfavorable situations, उपपत्तिषु means on their arrival. So उपपत्तिः here means arrival, प्राप्ति. So सम-चित्तत्वम् means freedom from elation and freedom from depression also. Over-excitement in both situation. In a happy situation also don't be carried away, because even that situation is temporary. As in extremely sorrowful situation also don't be carried away, because remember, this will also part away. Even the worst situation will go, even the worst शनि will remain for seven and half years and generally after one or two years we get used to, like our roads, we don't complain about roads at all because we are now accustomed, in fact, if we they all become alright we will become uncomfortable. So any ग्रह and all you will get used to. Therefore whether it is favorable or unfavorable situation learn to maintain the equanimity, not that the mind will not be disturbed at all, we are not machine, mind will be disturbed, but let it not be a violent upheaval, let it be a manageable disturbance. Let it not be a violent carrying away disturbance but let it be a manageable disturbance. And how to do that कृष्ण doesn't say. But learn and practice that. And from this advice we come to know one important thing. कृष्ण says every human being should learn or practice equanimity in favorable and unfavorable situation. From this one idea becomes very clear. What is that? Every human being will have both favorable and unfavorable situations. No शास्त्र gives you a method of making all situations favorable all the time. There is no way for it. Even if you have got प्रायश्चित्त कर्माणि, remedies and all, those remedies are not useless, they can make certain situations favorable, but no human being can make the life hundred percent favorable. And that is why we are asked to read the पुराणस all the time, so that we will come to know that even great kings, even great धार्मिक people like धर्मपुत्र and even अवतारस, all of them have gone through ups and downs. If they themselves cannot avoid opposite experiences, what this ordinary fly, this ordinary human being I,

नल-राम-युधिष्ठिरः ॥ पञ्चदशी १५५ ॥

If there is a remedy for all the problems of life, then नल would not have suffered in life. Being a great king, राम the अवतार would not have suffered, युधिष्ठिरः would not have suffered. The very fact that they suffered indicates that life is a mixture of both. And why did भगवान् keep them? Suddenly philosophical question comes, why did भगवान् keep them. Because according to भगवान् and शास्त्र, spiritual growth requires sufferings also. According to भगवान् and शास्त्र, spiritual growth requires sufferings also. In fact, spiritual growth is more in suffering. Because then only you remember God. Otherwise who will remember God? Therefore opposites are bound to be there.

वेदान्त does not avoid opposites, वेदान्त teaches you how to maintain the equanimity in opposites. And what is the method? There are two methods.

- a) In the first stage, the method is called कर्मयोग and
- b) then the next higher stage is ज्ञानयोगः.

कर्मयोग is like the first aid, ज्ञानयोग is like the ultimate cure. So when a person is bleeding in an accident, first aid is very important. The first aid is not there the person won't survive. Even though first aid is a temporary remedy, he is taken to hospital for serious treatment. Simple administering first aid won't help. He has to be given the permanent treatment also. Similarly, कर्मयोग is the first aid method getting relative peace of mind and ज्ञानयोग is the permanent method of getting permanent peace. What is the कर्मयोग method? I don't want to get into that. C/o the entire 3rd chapter. To put in a nutshell, accept every experience as ईश्वर प्रसाद, भगवान् has specially designed this experience, made to order. Specially designed my experience, which means भगवान् takes special care of me, for my spiritual growth. "You put me in the fire of sorrow that purifies and made me pure, / God tests us through problems to bring out the best in us." So thus प्रसाद बुद्धि helps in सम-चित्तत्वम्. And नित्यम् च. And when should you have this सम-चित्तत्वम्? Morning or evening? So कृष्ण says: नित्यम् – throughout the waking hours, during sleep you need not सम-चित्तत्वम्, because there is no experience. Therefore throughout the waking hours, there should be the attempt to maintain peace and the poise. इष्ट अनिष्ट-उपपत्तिषु. So कर्मयोग. The entire second line is one value. And that value is called समत्वम् through कर्मयोग. Continuing;

Verse No .11

मयि चानन्ययोगेन भक्तिरव्यभिचारिणी ।

विविक्तदेशसेवित्वमरतिर्जनसंसदि ॥ १३-११॥

मयि च अनन्य-योगेन भक्तिः अव्यभिचारिणी ।

विविक्त-देश-सेवित्वम् अरतिः जन-संसदि ॥ १३-११॥

मयि च अनन्य-योगेन अव्यभिचारिणी भक्तिः, विविक्त-देश-सेवित्वम्, जन-संसदि अरतिः,

So in the previous verse it was pointed out that we should maintain equanimity and कृष्ण doesn't give the method and I told you the method. I told you means I borrowed it from the 3rd chapter and that method is what: प्रसाद भावना, प्रसाद means the gift coming from the Lord. And why is it called प्रसादः? The word प्रसादः, I think I have told you before, literally the word प्रसादः means tranquility of mind and when you look upon anything as a gift from the Lord, it gives you tranquility of mind and therefore the object is called प्रसादः. So by implication vadai, peanut, chickpea, why are they called प्रसादम्? They are not literally प्रसादम्. When you receive them as a gift coming from the Lord, because of your devotion you have got a sense of fulfillment and that gives you tranquility and therefore that which produces tranquility is प्रसादः, प्रसाद जनकः प्रसादः इति उच्यते. Therefore I should have प्रसाद भावना, that it is coming from the Lord. And this प्रसाद भावना is possible only if I have devotion to the Lord. Without devotion to the Lord कर्मयोग does not exist. And that is why दयानन्द स्वामिजि repeatedly says, “there is no कर्मयोग separate from भक्तियोग and there is no भक्तियोग separate from कर्मयोग,” because कर्मयोग exists and is possible only for a person who has got devotion to the Lord and therefore कर्मयोग itself is a level of भक्तियोग only because कर्मयोगि must have intense devotion to the Lord and therefore दयानन्द स्वामिजि beautifully says, “there is no question of secular कर्मयोग.” So without touching Lord, if you ask whether you can practice कर्मयोग, the answer is an atheist cannot be a कर्मयोगि. कर्मयोग presupposes faith in God. And of course कर्मयोगि does not know the ultimate nature of God. If he knows he will be a ज्ञानि, so he has got his own concept of God in any form he likes as इष्ट देवता, as एकरूप ईश्वर or अनेकरूप ईश्वर. Remember, एकरूप ईश्वर means Lord as a personal God or God as the विश्वरूप ईश्वर,

जगतः ईशधी युक्त सेवनम् ।

अष्टमूर्तिभूत देवपूजनम् ॥ उपदेशसारम् ५॥

And therefore कृष्ण wants to say without भक्ति कर्मयोग is not possible. And therefore अर्जुन, मयि भक्तिः is the next important virtue. So मयि means in Me. In Me means in ईश्वर and what type of devotion it should be that we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

In this 13th chapter, Lord कृष्ण is now dealing with the topic of ज्ञानम्, from verse no.8 up to verse no.12 and in this context, the word ज्ञानम् has a unique meaning and that meaning is all the virtues of the mind which are conducive to the attainment of knowledge - ज्ञान उपकारक गुणाः, ज्ञान सहायक गुणाः. Can you get the meaning? गुणाः means those virtues, सहायक meaning promoting or favoring, ज्ञान – Self-knowledge. Any virtue which makes the mind eligible for receiving this spiritual knowledge, all of those virtues are called here together as ज्ञानम्.

xvi) We have seen three verses in the group, 8, 9 and 10 and we have entered into the 11th verse, where Lord कृष्ण emphasizes the importance of भक्ति as a very important virtue. Spiritual knowledge is not possible without devotion to the Lord. Only in the atmosphere of भक्ति, ज्ञानयोग is possible and that is why in the 12th chapter we saw कर्मयोग also should take place only in the atmosphere of भक्ति, उपासनायोग also must take place only in the atmosphere of भक्ति and finally, ज्ञानयोग also is possible only when devotion is there and that is the reason in the 12th chapter, we named each योग as भक्तियोगः itself. कर्मयोग itself is called भक्तियोगः stage I, उपासनायोग itself is called भक्तियोगः stage II and ज्ञानयोग is also called भक्तियोगः stage III, because ज्ञानयोग also requires the background of भक्ति, therefore कृष्ण says मयि भक्तिः, भक्तिः means devotion towards Me. Here the word मयि does not refer to कृष्ण as a person, but it refers to the Lord who can be invoked in any form that you like. कृष्ण has already said in the 7th chapter:

यो यो याम् याम् तनुम् भक्तः । ॥ ७-२१॥

Lord does not have any form of his own but the formless Lord can be invoked through any particular form that we like and therefore any form is OK. कृष्ण it can be or राम or गणपति. Therefore here मयि is only उपलक्षण, we should not conclude only कृष्ण भक्ति gives liberation, that is not the idea. And when कृष्ण prescribes भक्ति as a necessary condition, we should ask the question, what type of भक्ति? because in the 7th chapter, कृष्ण has talked about आर्त भक्ति, अर्थार्थी भक्ति, जिज्ञासु भक्ति and ज्ञानि भक्ति. Do you remember? If you remember those four types, naturally the question will be which type of भक्ति is talked about here. Certainly it cannot be a ज्ञानि भक्ति, because this is a साधन for the attainment of ज्ञानम् and therefore it is practiced by an अज्ञानि only. Because here we are talking about the साधन to become a ज्ञानि and therefore at this moment, this person is an अज्ञानि. Therefore ज्ञानि भक्ति is ruled out. And then what are the other three types, आर्त, अर्थार्थी and जिज्ञासु. आर्त भक्त, अर्थार्थी भक्त also is not going to seek Self-knowledge, because the very name shows he is interested in something. आर्त भक्त is a person in crisis, a problem and therefore he will ask for only freedom from that crisis and that भक्ति will not help in gaining knowledge. In fact, he cannot even study वेदान्त properly, because his mind will be which God, what व्रतम्, what invocation if done then problems will go away? So when a person is obsessed with worldly problem he is not going to be interested in Self-knowledge. Therefore आर्त भक्ति is never conducive and अर्थार्थी भक्त is interested only in अर्थ and therefore that also is ruled out. So therefore by elimination three are gone, so only one is left out, what is that, जिज्ञासु भक्ति. The one who considers that the Lord is the goal itself, not that I want to accomplish something through God. In the 7th chapter, I pointed out God can be used as a means for worldly ends or God can be looked upon as an end-in-itself. And the भक्ति talked about is that devotion in which God is the end-in-itself. And if I have to choose God as the end or destination, I should have the maturity enough to understand that everything other than God is perishable and therefore cannot give what I want. Thus, this भक्ति requires वैराग्यम् towards the world, without वैराग्यम् this भक्ति is impossible. Therefore, विवेक जन्य, वैराग्य जन्य भक्ति is a devotion, in which I know God alone can give me पूर्णत्वम्, security, fulfillment, etc. And that भक्ति कृष्ण calls अव्यभिचारिणी भक्तिः – a devotion which is unswerving, unflinching, which is one pointed.

xvii) And अनन्य योगेन – with undivided attention, that is even when the worldly transactions are going and even when the worldly responsibilities are fulfilled, this devotee remembers that my goal is something else. So now and then he should be reminded, like New Year or something like that, what is the purpose of this life. Often people ask what is the purpose of this life? पूर्णत्व प्राप्ति is the purpose of this life. I have to keep on expanding enough to reach a stage beyond which I should not be able to expand, that is possible only in infinitude and that पूर्णत्वम् is the goal. And reminding it off and on is अनन्य योग भक्ति and that is very very important.

xviii) Then the next virtue is, विविक्त-देश-सेवित्वम्. This is also considered to be an important virtue. Resorting to a secluded place, now and then. Developing the habit of going to a secluded place, not with a friend, then it is no more a secluded, resorting to solitude, in which I don't have anyone around. And I don't carry a walkman. Very important. Therefore carrying walkman or runman or anyman, I should be alone. And I should find out whether I can confront myself. So more than facing other people in the society, I should ask a question whether I can face myself, whether I can accept myself, those problems will surface only when I am alone. In fact, seclusion introduces me to myself. And In fact, the fundamental problem of संसार also we come to know only when we are alone, otherwise we try to escape ourselves by various diversions. In fact, a materialistic society is one which provides maximum diversion route. And the more you take to diversion the less you diagnose your problem and if you don't diagnose the problem how will you work for a solution. Therefore, solitude is to know more about myself and my problems. And this solitude has got another purpose also, that one expression of संसार, संसार expresses in different forms, in the form of anxiety, in the form of fear, in the form of security, there are several versions of संसार and one expression of संसार is sense of loneliness. And this problem of loneliness can attack any person at any time in life, because that is one version of संसार. And this can happen in the middle age, when the children leaves the nest, it is called the nest-leaving phase, I enjoyed the company of my children, even though I complained a lot, when the children go out for either studies or they are married and they go, there is a sense of loneliness. Or as we grow old and old, the people who are around close they may leave me. Again sense of loneliness comes. Thus loneliness is a potential problem which can attack any human being at any time. If you have to learn to face it you cannot do that when it comes. Trying to fight loneliness when it comes is like digging a well when the house is on fire. And that too in चेन्नै you try to dig a well. And therefore better learn to be alone, better learn to enjoy solitude. And what is the best method? Once in a while just go for a walk, without walkman. Go for a walk, sit on the beach, don't take any friend or anyone. And find out how you feel. Old age will be wonderful if you have learned to tackle loneliness. It is wonderful because the loneliness can be made use of for Vedantic निदिध्यासन. When we are alone we cannot do much work, because physically unfit. And the people are all busy. They have no time to talk to me at all. Because everyone is working. And they don't have the time to talk also. And they also know our weakness. The moment someone asks you how are you? We start from 1947. Before freedom and we talk on and on and on without full stop, coma, semicolon, dash, hyphen and the person keeps on looking at the watch, out of respect he doesn't walk out and therefore nobody wants to talk also. I am not frightening you, but every one of us has to go through that. So why can't we go through the training rehearsal. To gracefully grow old the best rehearsal is learn to enjoy solitude. Not eternally. Once in a while be alone and see what happens. Who says? Not me, don't get angry with me. विविक्त-देश-सेवित्वम्, विविक्त-देश means secluded place, सेवित्वम् means regularly resorting to, now and then resorting to. You need not go anywhere, even to the terrace you go, it is fine. Many of us have not seen our terrace at all, unless you go to dry the 'Rice Fryums' (Papad Pipes). OK. Otherwise where is time to stand and stare? And therefore विविक्त-देश-सेवित्वम्. Then does that mean that you should not mingle with people at all. कृष्ण says I am not saying that you should hate company of people. What कृष्ण says don't get addicted to people's company. जन-संसद means people's company, neighbors, relatives, etc., and रतिः means getting lost, रतिः is derived from the root, रम् and there is an intoxicant called Rum. So, रतिः, रमणम् etc., means रम् effect, don't carried away by people's company because people's company provides you an ideal condition for forgetting yourselves, forgetting the problems and therefore initially you may go out of necessity. Then you make it a habit, hanging around in the village and all, we are never allowed to remain out after sunset. We have to come back and we have to do our जप, पूजा, etc., but now-a-days the habit is hang around, in the coffee, pizza corner. In the Nungambakkam road they had written in तमिऴ्, pizza corner. I read it as bhixa kornar, भिक्षा kornar. So I thought wonderful, so we have advanced etc. That once in a while for emergency go to भिक्षा kornar! Then only I read the English version. Pizza corner. Therefore, coffee pub and all those things, we hang around till 10 o'clock, 11 o'clock it is revelry, it is wonderful, but we are becoming mentally weak that we are not able to spend time with ourselves. And therefore कृष्ण strongly warns never take to people's company as an addiction or an escapism. And शङ्कराचार्य in his commentary writes a note, 'but it is OK if it is the association with सत्पुरुषः.' So सज्जन संसदि रतिः is OK, because they will guide you properly. Any other place, you should be careful. Therefore, जन-संसदि अरतिः. Continuing;

एतज्ज्ञानमिति प्रोक्तमज्ञानं यदतोऽन्यथा ॥ १३-१२॥

अध्यात्म-ज्ञान-नित्यत्वम् तत्त्व-ज्ञान-अर्थ-दर्शनम् ।

एतत् ज्ञानम् इति प्रोक्तम् अज्ञानम् यत् अतः अन्यथा ॥ १३-१२॥

अध्यात्म-ज्ञान-नित्यत्वम्, तत्त्व-ज्ञान-अर्थ-दर्शनम्, एतत् ज्ञानम् इति प्रोक्तम्, यत् अतः अन्यथा (तत्) अज्ञानम् (इति प्रोक्तम्) ।

xix) Then the next virtue, in the first line second word, तत्त्व-ज्ञान-अर्थ-दर्शनम्. All these virtues or values are prescribed for the sake of ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्ति. And by gaining the eligibility for knowledge what do you accomplish at the end? ज्ञानम् itself. And if I have to have a value for ज्ञानयोग्यता, then I should have a value for ज्ञानम्. When will I value the examination of GMAT, TOFEL, etc? I value all those examinations when I value the benefit or the result of those examinations. I want to join an American university. The more value I have with regard to the end then I will have the value for the means. So the love of the means is directly proportional to the love of the end. And therefore, these virtues I will value if I have a value for ज्ञानम्. Then when will I have value for ज्ञानम्. That I will have only if I know the benefit of ज्ञानम्, तत्त्व-ज्ञान-अर्थ i should understand. तत्त्व ज्ञानम् means the knowledge of तत्त्वम्, the reality, अर्थः means प्रयोजनम् or फलम्. तत्त्व-ज्ञान-अर्थः means ज्ञानफलम्. I should know what will I get out of this knowledge. Otherwise I will wonder why should I study and know. And that is why off and on, कृष्ण gives the benefit of this knowledge while dealing with स्थिरप्रज्ञ लक्षणानि, while dealing with पर भक्त लक्षणानि, He said what is the benefit of this knowledge. And what is the main benefit given in the 2nd chapter. आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. The greatest benefit is I am comfortable with myself irrespective of external conditions.

दुःखेष्वनुद्विग्नमनाः सुखेषु विगतस्पृहः । ॥ २-५६॥

Things may be favorable, may not be favorable. I have got the psychological immunity and therefore I am not vulnerable to the mood disorder, 'I'm not in the mood' we say sometime. दयानन्द स्वामिजि says the one who is given to moods is called मूढः. Correct? So therefore for everything I need mood. If you ask him to read something he will say mood is not there, for coming to the class there is no mood. So therefore I am not vulnerable to the external conditions, I am ever balanced. Imagine that जीवन्मुक्ति state. If I should enjoy that emotional immunity, the only injection that gives you the immunity is ज्ञानम्. The more I appreciate this fact the more I will have value for ज्ञानम्. And the more I have value for ज्ञानम् the more I will have value for ज्ञानयोग्यता. So ज्ञानयोग्यता to ज्ञानम् to जीवन्मुक्तिः. This route I should understand. Therefore कृष्ण tells, regularly remind yourselves that ज्ञानम् gives inner freedom. So that I can tell the people: 'Come what may, on whose credit did I born? Go get lost.' Don't go and tell these things. Why I am telling is I have got that inner freedom, the world cannot blackmail me. So if you see that you will value all these virtues.

xx) And then comes the final and most important virtue that is अध्यात्म-ज्ञान-नित्यत्वम्. So systematic and consistent study of Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent आचार्य. Systematic and consistent study of Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent guide is a must. I say it should be systematic and consistent study, because without that I will get only a stray idea here and there. I have talked about this in the 4th chapter, if you have got a lorry load of bricks which is dumped on the ground, you have got only a heap of bricks which will not be of any use at all. On the other hand, if you arrange those bricks one after the other, well cemented together, then out of those bricks you get a wonderful room in which you can live. So in both conditions bricks are there, one is well arranged and the other is heap. Similarly, when you study वेदान्त in a class like situation, systematically, step by step, we are collecting ideas and arranging it one after the other. What is कर्मयोग, what is उपासना, what is ज्ञानम्, arranged and therefore this knowledge will be like a house which will protect you. Suppose you read one book of one author in 1975 and another book of another author in 1982, then you hear some stray lectures here and there, somebody talked about ज्ञानम्, somebody talked about भक्ति, somebody talked about जप, you gather ideas but they all remain in your head as a heap of ideas without any harmonization. Therefore if the knowledge should be useful, कृष्ण tells it should be systematically studied. It is कृष्ण's advice, not mine. Look at here, अध्यात्म ज्ञानम्. अध्यात्म meaning dealing with आत्मा, ज्ञानम् means here enquiry, श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासन त्रयम् is here called ज्ञानम्, otherwise called विचार, otherwise called मीमांसा and you don't think of this by yourselves. If your intellect speculates what is the truth, you are going to only imagine things, we don't want imaginations, we want scriptural श्रवण, मनन, निदिध्यासन. In fact, the very word श्रवणम् means that there must be a गुरु. Because श्रवणम् means hearing. If you have to hear, somebody must speak. The very word श्रवणम् presupposes the study of scriptures as handled by a competent आचार्य. And that is why in the beginning, in the beginning means in the 8th verse, कृष्ण talked about आचार्य-उपासन, which means शास्त्र and गुरु go together. Without शास्त्र, any गुरु teaches his own philosophy, better avoid it. Because he will be transferring his personal prejudices upon you. And therefore we are not interested in a गुरु who gives out his personal philosophy, गुरु is a गुरु only when he deals through the शास्त्रम्. Similarly, शास्त्रम् will convey the meaning to you only when it is conveyed through or taught by an आचार्य. That is why in गुरुस्तोत्रम्, गुरु is called the Sun for the blooming of the lotus, called शास्त्र.

शास्त्र is closed to an ordinary person, like a lotus but शास्त्रम् will convey the meaning, open up only in the presence of the वेदान्त सूर्यः, i.e., गुरु. Therefore आचार्य-उपासनम् and अध्यात्म-ज्ञान-नित्यत्वम् stands for शास्त्र विचारः. And all the other virtues prepare the mind and this listening to the teaching produces the knowledge. One is preparation, another is production of knowledge, both should go hand in hand. शङ्कराचार्य tells elsewhere, it is like पथ्यम् and औषधम्. पथ्यम् means the discipline to be followed by a patient. So if he has sugar problem, they will say don't eat too much sweet. If you have got pressure problem, they say avoid salt. So they all come under पथ्यम्. But पथ्यम् alone cannot cure the disease, it should go along with औषधम्, medicine. Imagine a patient taking औषधम् without पथ्यम्. Insulin from this side and sweetmeat from that side, in kilos, that will not work. Therefore, पथ्यम् provides the condition, औषधम् cures the disease. शास्त्रिय study is the औषधम् and all other virtues are पथ्यम्. If you follow only virtues and don't study the शास्त्र, it means you are not taking औषधम् at all. पथ्यम् without औषधम् is not पथ्यम्, it is (paityam) psycho. And therefore, अध्यात्म-ज्ञान-नित्यत्वम्. Study, study it is very important. Unfortunately शास्त्रिय study is not emphasized now-a-days. And the more you study you know the uniqueness of the benefit. And if you follow all of them knowledge will definitely take place even if you don't want.

And therefore कृष्ण concludes एतत् ज्ञानम् इति प्रोक्तम्. These 20 or so virtues, including the शास्त्रिय study together is called ज्ञानम्. एतत् ज्ञानम् इति प्रोक्तम् and कृष्ण says anything opposite to that is अज्ञानम्. यत् अतः अन्यथा, अन्यथा means the opposite of these 20 virtues. And how do you find the opposite? Very simple you take every word, अमानित्वम्, what is the opposite? मानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, what is the opposite, दम्भित्वम्, अहिम्सा, i.e., हिम्सा, then क्षान्तिः, अक्षान्तिः, the opposite of all these together is called अज्ञानम्, that means those negative virtues will solidify your ignorance. Ignorance will get more and more knotty and more and more difficult to remove. And that alone in the 16th chapter कृष्ण calls as दैवी सम्पत् and आसुरी सम्पत्. Continuing; Verse no.13;

Verse No .13

ज्ञेयं यत्तत्प्रवक्ष्यामि यज्ज्ञात्वामृतमश्नुते ।

अनादिमत्परं ब्रह्म न सत्तन्नासदुच्यते ॥ १३-१३॥

ज्ञेयम् यत् तत् प्रवक्ष्यामि यत् ज्ञात्वा अमृतम् अश्नुते ।

अनादिमत् परम् ब्रह्म न सत् तत् न असत् उच्यते ॥ १३-१३॥

यत् ज्ञेयम्, यत् ज्ञात्वा (जीवः) अमृतम् अश्नुते, तत् प्रवक्ष्यामि । तत् अनादिमत् परम् ब्रह्म सत् न, असत् (च) न (इति) उच्यते ।

With the previous verse, the topic of ज्ञानम् is over. So how many topics कृष्ण has completed now? Three topics. What are they? क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञः and ज्ञानम्. How many topics अर्जुन wanted to know? Six of them. Remaining three are there. What are those? ज्ञेयम्, प्रकृति and पुरुषः.

4) Of those three topics, now कृष्ण takes up the topic of ज्ञेयम् which is from verse no.13 up to verse no.19. And I have already told you that the ज्ञेयम् is similar to or same as क्षेत्रज्ञः itself. क्षेत्रज्ञः itself is called ज्ञेयम् from another angle. कृष्ण gives the introduction here: हे अर्जुन! यत् ज्ञेयम् तत् प्रवक्ष्यामि – now I shall talk about that which is to be known by everyone. It is one subject matter every human being has to study and know at one time or the other. Every other subject matter is an optional one, you can learn it, you need not learn it, even without learning it you can happily survive. In fact, you may be happier if you don't know that. There are many people who don't know anything about economics, anything about astrophysics, anything about physics perhaps, everybody doesn't know every science, still they are surviving. कृष्ण says that this subject matter everybody has to necessarily know. Why? What will happen if I don't know? कृष्ण gives the answer. यत् ज्ञात्वा अमृतम् अश्नुते. Because this is the one which solves the fundamental problem of every human being and which every human being is struggling to solve. And what is that fundamental problem? The sense of insecurity. As I have often told, the fear of mortality is there all the time right from birth itself. Not only for human beings, even for animals that is there. As a child itself I was struggling with that fear only, as we grow up every action of ours is driven by only the sense of insecurity. Therefore whatever you do, saving money, having extra house, having relation and for many people, children also is a form of investment so that in future hopefully they will take care of, if the arriving spouse is favorable. So therefore this insecurity or mortality is the problem not of a particular person, it is a universal problem. Whether he is a हिन्दु, or a Muslim or a Christian, an atheist or theist, man or women, young or old, there is a constant sense of insecurity and it grows more and more as we are growing. Even the other day in The Hindu they had put that story. One old woman was praying, she was willing to die for someone else. When actually death comes, she says go to that person! Otherwise he was telling, Oh Lord, take my life and give that life to that person who is sick. I am already old and can afford to give up my life. That girl is a young girl. she has to enjoy life, Oh Lord give my life to that girl. And then death comes in the form of a buffalo or a bull, Oh Lord, that girl is already sick, she can afford to die. So when actually it comes, it is frightening. Therefore, who wants freedom from mortality? What will be your answer? Every single person wants freedom from mortality and the fear of it. And if every human being wants every being has to take the medicine and the only medicine is ब्रह्म विद् आप्नोति परम्. And therefore कृष्ण says यत् ज्ञात्वा – knowing which alone, अमृतम् अश्नुते – one attains immortality and freedom from the sense of insecurity. And therefore, अर्जुन, listen to this carefully and what is that ज्ञेयम् to be known by all, कृष्ण says: परम् ब्रह्म – that ultimate thing to be known is called ब्रह्मन्. The word ब्रह्मन् means the infinite one, सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्म we saw in तैत्तिरीय. Infinite means that which is free from three-fold imitations.

- One limitation is called space-wise limitation,
- Another limitation is called time-wise limitation,
- Another is called attribute-wise limitation.

Space-wise limitation is when I am here, unfortunately I cannot be elsewhere. You wish it would have been fine to be in the house and also be attending the class also, but it is not possible, this is called देश परिच्छेद. काल परिच्छेद means I am limited by time, I have got a date of birth and date of death also. We only don't know. But we have and this is called time-wise. Attribute-wise limitation means having certain attributes, if you have a particular attribute, the very presence of one attribute excludes all the other attributes. So if there is particular color, all other colors are not there, if I am a human being, the very humanness excludes cowness and horseness, all the other ness. That is called attribute-wise limitation. And ब्रह्म means that which is free from all the three limitations, देश काल वस्तु परिच्छेद शून्यम् ब्रह्म. And that is therefore called परम् ब्रह्म, which is the absolute. And that परम् ब्रह्म is to be known by all to cross over mortality. And I don't know whether I told you that story, when this Brahmin was crossing the river in a boat, the Brahmin asked "do you know व्याकरणम्?" The boatman asked "व्याकरण से क्या करना (What am I to do with grammar?)" Then the पण्डित said "one fourth of your life is gone." Then the Brahmin asked, "do you know तर्क शास्त्रम्?" He said "No." "So two fourth of your life or half is gone." Then he asked "do you know मीमांसा शास्त्रम्?" He said "I know मीन and मांस. I don't know what is मीमांसा शास्त्रम्?" Then the पण्डित said "three fourth of the your life is gone." As they were talking the boat developed a leak and the water was gushing in and boatman tried to stop that leak and he was not able to, then he asked "Oh पण्डितजी do you know how to swim?" He said "I don't know." "Then your whole life is gone." Thus you might have any number of degrees that will not make the life, the knowledge which can make a difference is this knowledge alone and therefore it is called the absolute knowledge, that ब्रह्मन् is absolute ब्रह्मन्. And what is its nature? अनादिमत् परम् ब्रह्म. Now he begins the description of ब्रह्म. अनादिमत् – that which does not have आदि. आदि means beginning, beginning means both spatial and time-wise and therefore it is अनन्तम् – the limitless one. And न सत् तत् न असत् उच्यते. In this context, the word असत् means कारणम्. Any cause is called असत् and the सत् in this context means any effect or product or कार्यम्. A cause is called असत् because any cause is in potential form and anything potential is not available for our utility. Oil in the seed is potentially there, but I cannot use it. Butter in the milk is there, but I cannot use it, therefore any cause is in potential form, therefore, I cannot use it, therefore it is as though non-existent. Therefore the word used is असत्, seemingly nonexistent, which means potentially existent कारणम्. And न सत्, सत् means कार्यम्, कार्यम् is as good as existent, because it is available for our use. And what is ब्रह्मन्? कृष्ण says ब्रह्मन् is neither कारणम् nor कार्यम्. ब्रह्मन् is beyond the realm of cause and effect. Now it is becoming mind-boggling, because the entire universe you experience is nothing but a flow of cause and effect. Yesterday is the cause for today's condition. Today is the cause for tomorrow's condition. But the entire creation I experience is nothing but cause effect flow. And कृष्ण says ब्रह्मन् is beyond cause and effect. That means it is beyond time. Because, cause and effect wherever they exist, there time is there. How do you know? Because the difference between cause and effect is determined by time. Yesterday's cause is today's effect. Yesterday's Idli is today's body, your blood. Therefore the difference between कारणम् and कार्यम् is determined by काल only. Therefore whatever is beyond कार्य कारण, is कालातीतम्.

नारायणीयम् १-१-१-३॥

Therefore ब्रह्मन् has no form, It has no attribute, It has no time. And स्वामिजि, how will I conceive It? Better don't conceive and deliver later. Therefore it is not a concept to be conceived. And therefore कृष्ण is bringing in the essence of the उपनिषत्s here. From 13th onwards we get उपनिषत् सार. उपनिषत् says.

अशब्दम् अस्पर्शम् अरूपम् अव्ययम् तथा अरसम् नित्यम् अगन्धवत् च यत् । ... ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-३-१५ ॥

ब्रह्मन् doesn't have शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस and गन्ध. So no form, color, taste or touch and therefore you cannot see it, hear it, smell it, taste it or touch it and you are supposed to know that ब्रह्मन्. How to know? That कृष्ण will tell you in the following verses, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 14-15

From the 13th verse of the 13th chapter, Lord कृष्ण is introducing the 4th topic of discussion, which is called ज्ञेयम्. He has already discussed क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञः and ज्ञानम् and now he has introduced the topic of ज्ञेयम्. The word ज्ञेयम् means that which is to be known by everyone. That which is the ultimate truth of the universe which has to be necessarily to be known by everyone, because without that knowledge one cannot attain immortality. And every human being wants to conquer mortality and therefore every human being should necessarily gain this knowledge. And what is that ultimate reality to be known by everyone? कृष्ण names that as परम् ब्रह्म. The absolute ब्रह्मन् is the ultimate reality, the ultimate truth of the universe. And this परम् ब्रह्म alone has been discussed in all the उपनिषत्s and that is why the उपनिषत्s are known as ब्रह्मविद्या, because they deal with this topic mainly. And therefore having introduced ब्रह्मन् as the ultimate reality to be known, कृष्ण wants to give us the essence of the उपनिषत् in a condensed version in this portion, up to verse no.19. So 13 to 19, we get उपनिषत् सार or ब्रह्मविद्या. We will go into the details of this topic. Verse no.14;

Verse No .14

सर्वतः पाणिपादं तत्सर्वतोऽक्षिशिरोमुखम् ।

सर्वतः श्रुतिमल्लोके सर्वमावृत्य तिष्ठति ॥ १३-१४॥

सर्वतः पाणि-पादम् तत् सर्वतः अक्षि-शिरः-मुखम् ।

सर्वतः श्रुतिमत् लोके सर्वम् आवृत्य तिष्ठति ॥ १३-१४॥

लोके तत् सर्वतः पाणि-पादम् सर्वतः अक्षि-शिरः-मुखम् सर्वतः श्रुतिमत् (अस्ति) सर्वम् (च) आवृत्य तिष्ठति ।

In the उपनिषत्s, ब्रह्मन् is revealed as the ultimate substance out of which the whole creation is made up. Therefore ब्रह्मन् is defined as the basic stuff of the universe, basic essence of the universe, the ultimate content of this universe. And all the sciences are also trying to find out only the ultimate substance out of which the world is made. Once upon a time they were talking about a few elements, 110 or 120 and they said the whole universe is permutation combination of these few elements only. Thereafter they want to find out whether there is some fundamental truth or substance out of which the elements themselves are made and they arrived at the molecules, whose combinations are the elements. And thereafter they said, all the molecules are nothing but the combination of atom and the whole universe is atoms in motion. What type of atom, invisible atoms in motions creates an experience of a visible universe. Atom is invisible, but when all of them join together it creates a visible, tangible universe. And they thought that atom was the fundamental substance. In fact, the very word atom means that which cannot be further divided at all. Atom was thought to be the ultimate substance and thereafter the scientists again broke the atom into sub-atomic particles and therefore they said that there are no atoms but only particles as the ultimate stuff. The particles are invisible but when they join together they create an appearance of a tangible universe. Then the particles also they tried to divide further and they said energy, the intangible energy is the ultimate stuff of the universe. Thus they are going deeper and deeper and deeper and their aim is what, to find out what is the basic, ultimate substance. And the interesting thing that we see is as you go deeper and deeper the visible becomes the invisible. The tangible becomes the intangible. The concrete becomes the abstract. Therefore we come to know that the ultimate substance must be intangible formless abstract substance. And what is that final abstract substance, the scientists have not yet arrived at, they are still in the process of enquiry. वेदान्त has analyzed the same subject matter and वेदान्त has arrived at the ultimate substance and वेदान्त calls it ब्रह्मन्. ब्रह्मन् is the basic substance of this creation and being the ultimate substance, It is going to be abstract, It is going to be intangible, It is going to be invisible, अशब्दम्, अस्पर्शम्, अरूपम्, अरसम्, अगन्धम्. And therefore understanding that ब्रह्मन् is going to be a relatively tougher prospect. So we are going to analyze a substance which is not available for seeing, hearing, smelling, touching and therefore this portion is going to be an abstract portion, I am giving you a warning. Therefore it looks like a jumble of words, it appears as though a jumble of words only, because we try to concretely conceive of something, but we are not discussing a concrete tangible thing. But still if you go on dwelling upon this teaching, slowly, the words will begin to make sense but it requires lot of intellectual acclimatization. What I mean is, when you come from the outside world to your house, inside the room, you have come from a brighter spot and as you enter the house it appears as if the whole house is dark. You have to wait a minute or two, gradually the eyes get used to that dimmer light of the room and that is called acclimatization or preparation of the eyes. Similarly, to understand ब्रह्मन् it requires certain acclimatization, therefore, for those students are beginners this topic will look like a bunch of words, but don't be disappointed, slowly if you dwell on it will begin to make sense. How should we approach this topic? Normally, we have seen a lot of substances in the world. So when we see a person, you qualify him and say that this is a tall man and this person is a fat woman, OK, or lean woman. I don't want to disturb by saying fat woman, slender, slim woman and a fair person. We use a noun and an adjective.

- a) An adjective generally refers to a property like tall, short, fat, fair, round, these are all adjectives and in English, adjective refer to properties of an object.
- b) And generally, the noun like the tall tree, the fat man, the nouns like tree, man, etc., refer to substance. Adjectives reveal properties, attributes and nouns reveal substances.

This is where we have to begin. Adjectives reveal properties and nouns reveal substances, this is one thing we generally experience.

Now there is another experience we have, which also we have to notice. When I say a fat man, a tall tree, a round object, etc., this is what I experience.

c) Now I will give you another set of words, I say there is a golden bangle, there is a wooden chair. Golden bangle when I say, what is adjective and what is noun? Golden bangle, when you say, what is the adjective? Golden is the adjective and bangle is the noun. And when I say wooden chair, wooden is adjective, chair is noun. Now in this particular case, when I say golden bangle, the adjective golden reveals a substance or a property. The golden when you say, the word golden does not refer to a property, even though the word is an adjective, here in this unique peculiar case, the word golden refers to the very substance of the bangle. Golden refers to the substance gold and not a property. And when I say a wooden chair, the word wooden is an adjective, but still it is not referring to a property at all, the wooden adjective means the substance is nothing but wood. And therefore in this particular case, adjective reveals a substance and not a property.

d) Whereas when I say a tall person, adjective reveals a property tallness. But when I say golden bangle, adjective reveals a substance. Therefore rule No.1, I want to convey is that: an adjective can reveal either a property or an adjective can reveal a substance. Both possibilities are there. Similarly, when I say golden bangle, the word bangle is a noun, the word bangle is a noun, but the beauty is even though the word bangle is a noun, really speaking, it does not reveal a substance at all, because there is no substance called bangle. Is it not so! There is no substance called bangle, there is only the substance called gold, bangle is a noun, but still it does not reveal a substance. If bangle is not a substance, then it reveals what? It reveals what? If you analyze, gold when it is in a particular form or shape, when the gold is in a particular form or shape, that shape alone is called bangle.

Similarly, when you say golden ring, there is no substance called ring, ring is the name of what? A particular shape. Similarly, when you say wooden chair, there is no substance called chair, chair is the name of a particular shape alone, what is the name of the substance, chair is not the name of the substance, name of the substance is what? Wood alone. And therefore, I find bangle is a form, chain is a form, ring is a form. So even though, bangle etc., are nouns, these are peculiar nouns which are revealing only a form which is a property. Therefore, golden bangle when you say, the adjective is revealing what? Substance. Noun is revealing what? A property. Tall tree, when you say, adjective is revealing property. The noun tree is revealing the substance.

So we have two examples, in example No.1, tall tree, adjective reveals property, noun reveals substance. When I say golden bangle, adjective reveals the substance, the word bangle reveals not a substance but a particular form. That is why when form is changed, bangle is gone. When form is changed, bangle is gone. Therefore the word bangle refers to the property. And therefore what वेदान्त says is adjectives can reveal either a property or a substance. Similarly, noun can reveal either a property or a substance. Should I remind you of the four examples? Adjective revealing property. What is the example? Tall. Adjective revealing the substance. What is the example? Golden, wooden. What is the example for noun revealing the substance? Tree. What is the example for noun revealing the property? Bangle. So now we have come to these four points.

Now having come to this, वेदान्त tells all these! 2,000-3,000 or several thousand years before they have analyzed all these things. Now वेदान्त comes to this world. All this is only example. Now only we are coming to the original. When I experience a world, I say here is a book and here is a fan and there is a wall, there is a man, there is a woman. So when I experience the world, I refer to everyone as there is a man, there is a woman, there is a table, there is a chair. What is common to all of them? It is, It is, It is and the verb “is” refers to the existence of the world. When I say there is a clock, it means clock is ‘existent’. When I say there is a planet, the planet is ‘existent’. Therefore, every object that I experience is what type of object, ‘existent’ tree, ‘existent’ man, ‘existent’ woman. Whatever I experience is, ‘existent’, ‘existent’, ‘existent’. If anything is non-existent then I will not experience. Do you experience my horn? If I say my halo, some of you may say ‘I see a “halo” there.’ That is a controversy statement, that is why I didn’t ask about ‘halo.’ Do you see a horn on my head? You don’t. Why you don’t? Because it is non-existent. Whereas you see my head because it is ‘existent’. Therefore everything that you experience in the world is ‘existent’ object. Everything is ‘existent’. In संस्कृत they say सन् घटः, सन् पटः, सत् पात्रम्, सन् पुरुषः, सन् or सत् means, ‘existent’ object. Now when I say an ‘existent’ tree, an ‘existent’ man, an ‘existent’ woman, etc., what is the noun in this and what is the adjective in this? वेदान्त asks the question. All the philosophers analyze this. तर्क शास्त्र and all, they are experts in these topics. What is the noun here and what is the adjective? When I say ‘existent’ man, ‘existent’ woman, table, chair, sun, moon, stars, etc., the word ‘existent’ is adjective and man, woman, table, chair, sun, moon, etc., are nouns. So the word ‘existent’ is adjective and every object is a noun.

Now वेदान्त asks the question. If the word ‘existent’ is an adjective and if the word man, woman, sun, moon, etc., are noun, tell me what type of adjective it is and what type of noun it is? And why this question, because previously we saw, an adjective can either reveal a property or an adjective can reveal a substance. Example, adjective revealing substance is golden. Adjective revealing property is tall or short. So the word ‘existent’ is an adjective, does it reveal the property of the world or does it reveal the substance out of which the world is made. When you say ‘existent’ word, the ‘existent’ adjective, does it reveal ‘existent’ as a property or attribute of the object or does it reveal the very substance, like what example, the word golden reveals the very substance out of which the bangle is made. Generally, until we come to वेदान्त, our general conclusion is world is the substance and the word 'existent' is an attribute or property, this will be our general assumption. And वेदान्त says that is the handiwork of माया. माया makes you commit a very big blunder. And what is the blunder which is forced by माया? It makes me think that the 'existent' adjective is revealing an attribute and the world is a substance we think, but वेदान्त says that is not correct. If that that is not correct, what should be correct? What is left out? If the word 'existent' adjective is not revealing an attribute, according to वेदान्त, the word 'existent' reveals what? The basic substance just as the word golden reveals the substance. Similarly, the word 'existent' reveals a substance, the substance is called Existence. According to वेदान्त, it is called सत् ब्रह्म. छान्दोग्योपनिषत् begins the teaching with this topic. It is talking Effortlessly, as if talking to an LKG student.

छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ६-२-१ ॥

According to उपनिषत्, the basic substance is Existence and Existence is not an attribute of an object, but It is the fundamental absolute substance. And being the fundamental absolute substance, It is invisible, It is intangible, It is the abstract principle. So this is one part.

Shall we go to second part? Are you surviving? So the word 'existent' reveals the substance called Existence. If the word 'existent' adjective is revealing the substance, then the word world, as we say 'existent' world, the world noun is revealing what? If adjective is here revealing the substance, according to वेदान्त, all the nouns are revealing not a substance at all, every noun is a property. Just as bangle is the name of a property. What property? A particular shape. What is the substance? Bangle is not substance, chain is not substance, ring is not substance, substance is gold alone. The property alone keeps on changing. दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, really you should be naming bangle gold, ringly-gold, chainly-gold, because they are all the forms, gold alone is the substance, that must be used as a noun. What we have done? We have made the noun into an adjective. And therefore according to वेदान्त, the whole world is not a substance at all. Just as chair is not a substance, the desk is not a substance, when I am touching the desk, I am not touching the desk at all, but I am touching what? The wood alone. There is no substance called desk, no substance called table, no substance called chair. Therefore वेदान्त says world is नामरूपात्मकम्.

बृहदारण्यक says the whole world is different names, different forms and different functions, there is no substance called world. Bangle is a name given to a particular form to serve a particular function. If it is a bangle name and form, what is the function, decorating the hand. If it is chain name and function, what is its function, decorating the neck. If it is a ring name and form, the function is decorating the finger. There is no substance called bangle, chain, ring and the substance is gold and how many golds are there, gold is एकम्. Applying this principle, वेदान्त says Existence is the only basic substance and everything else is name, form and functions. So what you are experiencing when you are experiencing a bangle, you are experiencing gold alone, which is the only substance. When you are experiencing the ring, you are experiencing what, the gold alone, the fundamental substance. Similarly, when you are experiencing the world, you are experiencing only one fundamental substance which is inherent in all of them. What is that substance, is, is, is, is. शङ्कराचार्य tells, all these which I have struggled for 35 minutes, in just one line,

When you are experiencing different ornaments, you are experiencing the fundamental substance, the gold, Similarly, when you are experiencing the different object, you are experiencing the basic substance. What? Existence. OK.

Now can we go to the next stage, it is not yet finished. That means what? Wherever I see any object, I am experiencing the basic substance, what is that? Existence. And How I do prove it? My language itself proves, there is a wall, there is a chair, there is a pen, Existence I am experiencing. What is that 'Existence'? ब्रह्मन्. So where do I experience ब्रह्मन्? ब्रह्मन् where do you see? Everywhere. Just as in and through the bangle, chain and ring the basic substance golden, golden, golden, is inherent, similarly, existent, existent, existent I experience everywhere. But in this experience I have a small difficulty. What is that difficulty? Even though I am experiencing the basic substance, what is that? Existence, I am experiencing the Existence, along with different names and forms. Tree name and form, man name and form, chair name and form, Existence is never experienced in pure form, but it is experienced along with some name and form, man is when you say, here the is-ness is associated with man name and form, clock is when you say, the is-ness is associated with clock name and form, Therefore through my sense organs I experience नाम-रूप सहित सत्. Are you understanding? Through my sense organs I am experiencing Existence along with नाम and रूप, because the sense organs are capable of revealing only the नाम-रूप सहित सत्. Now the question is, how can I experience the pure Existence? After filtering out, after removing all the नाम-रूपs. Now, when you remove all the नाम-रूपs, i.e, names and forms. What should be left behind? Pure Existence must be left behind if I remove all नाम-रूप, but the problem is, if I remove all the नाम and रूप, the sense organs can never experience pure Existence. Because sense organs are meant to experience Existence with either with शब्द, or with स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध, the sense organs can reveal only the mixed Existence. So when you come to pure Existence, suppose you remove all the names and form, how do you do that? Close all your sense organs, you close your eyes, all forms and colors are gone, close your ears, all the sound gone, close your nose, you will be all-out. Go to a place where you don't smell, or close your nose and keep your mouth open. Imagine you close all your sense organs, all the नाम-रूपs are gone, what should be left behind? The basic substance without name and form, what should be the basic substance, the pure Existence. Now the question is how can I experience that pure Existence? Can I open the eyes and see? If you open the eyes it will never be the pure Existence. It will be associated with form is, form will come, if you open the ears, sound is mixed. So the pure Existence, how do you experience? छान्दोग्य 6th chapter, this is the most well-known section of the entire Upanishadic literature, because it begins with pure Existence and the student is now eager to know how to experience the pure Existence. The teacher says: Oh Student, you can never experience the pure Existence, because It is never an object of experience. Then the student raises his eyebrows, if I can never objectify the pure Existence, how do I know it is there? You may be bluffing, that your Existence is there? How do you know? Then the teacher gives the well-known statement of the उपनिषत्s.

ऐतदात्म्यम् इदं सर्वम् तत् सत्यम् स आत्मा तत् त्वमसि श्वेतकेतो । ॥
छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ६-८-७ ॥

The pure Existence is never an objectifiable substance, it is nothing but YOU the witnessing Consciousness. सत्, the ultimate substance, you can never see because the ultimate substance is YOU the Seer principle. Therefore to start in सत् and to end in चित्, the Consciousness is वेदान्त. Therefore it says: तत् त्वम् असि. Therefore what is pure Existence? It is nothing but pure Consciousness and what is pure Consciousness, I am. अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. And what is my nature? Existence, Consciousness, सत् चित् आत्मा एव ब्रह्म अस्मि. This is the essence of वेदान्त. Are you understanding anything? You have to go on dwelling. I am the ultimate substance and I am सत् रूपः and I am चित् रूपः and the whole world is नाम and रूप resting upon me.

मय्येव सकलम् जातम् मयि सर्वम् प्रतिष्ठितम् ।

मयि सर्वम् लयम् याति तद् ब्रह्म अद्वयमस्म्यहम् ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-१९

When this is said, it will be very very difficult to swallow. And that is why scientists are not able to find because they are looking for the substance, they are not going to come across the substance, why? Why they are not able to come across the substance? Because the searcher is the searched for object. I am the substance. It is extremely difficult to swallow and to help us accept this truth, the उपनिषत् gives a well-known example and that example is our dream experience. When I am dreaming and seeing varieties of objects giving me happiness, giving me sorrow, giving me fear, in fact, many people chant special prayers before going to bed so that they won't have frightening dreams. That means what? Dream is capable of terribly frightening you. And imagine you are in dream and you are seeing terrible things and in the dream a dream गुरु comes and tells: you don't be frightened of all these things, you are the essence of this dream world, the dream has come out of you, the dream is resting on you, and on waking up the dream will resolve, if he says, in the dream it is unbelievable because it is so realistic. But on waking up, he knows there is no dream river, dream man, dream object, none of them exist separate from me the waker. वेदान्त tells this world is also another dream channel. Different channel. Channel D or something you can name. Now it is unbelievable, it is very difficult to accept that I am the substance, but the ultimate truth is I (not this body, not this body because body is also part of this world only), I, the witness, the साक्षि चैतन्यम्. In dream it is unbelievable that I am the substance of the dream world, similarly, during the time of ignorance, it is unbelievable, it is difficult to accept that I am the substance, but according to वेदान्त, I am the salt of the earth. And that I is ब्रह्मन्, that ब्रह्मन् is 'existent' and that 'existent' ब्रह्मन् alone appears as the world with different नाम-रूपs. And when ब्रह्मन्, the Existence, the only substance, appears with different नाम-रूपs, it is called विश्वरूप ईश्वरः. Whose name is विश्वरूप ईश्वरः? It is the name of ब्रह्मन्, the Existence which is along with all the names and forms. Therefore, ॐ सहस्र शीर्षा पुरुषः सहस्राक्षः सहस्र पात् ।, that substance alone is ब्रह्मन्. The one ब्रह्मन् alone appears with many legs as you, me, that and this, etc. This is the teaching here. Now with this background, let us try to understand these verses. It begins with the सत् and ends with the चित्. This is the essence of वेदान्त. कृष्ण says तत्, तत् means that means that ब्रह्मन्, the Existence-principle, to remember that the Existence is a noun substance and not a property, we write with capital E, you know it is not a property, it is a substance itself. What is the example? Not tall, but golden. The word golden is an adjective but it reveals a substance. Similarly, Existence is the fundamental substance and that Existence सर्वतः पाणि-पादम् – it pervades everywhere. Just as gold is inherent in all ornaments, Existence pervades everything. Imagine anything or just start Existence is there, what is the proof, you say there is a star. Imagine an object, which does not have Existence. You can never imagine an object which does not have Existence because if an object does not have Existence, it will be a non-existent object. And therefore, Existence is everywhere. Between the pillar and the mike, in between you may say nothing exists, there is vacuum only, I ask you the question, what do you say, there is vacuum. What is there in that place? Existence. You cannot think of anything without Existence. Therefore सर्वतः पाणि-पादम् – सत् ब्रह्मन् has got hands and legs everywhere, सर्वतः अक्षि-शिरः-मुखम् – that सत् ब्रह्मन् alone has got अक्षि, अक्षि means eye, शिरः – the head, मुखम्, means the face or mouth, there is only विराट् ईश्वरः who has got all these limbs and सर्वतः श्रुतिमत् लोके – it is everywhere with श्रुति, श्रुति means here it is ears. It pervades everywhere with countless ears and लोके – in this universe, सर्वम् आवृत्य तिष्ठति – it remains pervading surrounding everything. सर्वम् आवृत्य तिष्ठति तत् सत् ब्रह्म. Continuing;

Verse No .15

सर्वेन्द्रियगुणाभासं सर्वेन्द्रियविवर्जितम् ।

असक्तं सर्वभृत्वैव निर्गुणं गुणभोक्तृ च ॥ १३-१५॥

सर्व-इन्द्रिय-गुण-आभासम् सर्व-इन्द्रिय-विवर्जितम् ।

असक्तम् सर्व-भृत् च एव निर्गुणम् गुण-भोक्तृ च ॥ १३-१५॥

(तत्) सर्व-इन्द्रिय-गुण-आभासम्, सर्व-इन्द्रिय-विवर्जितम्, असक्तम्, सर्व-भृत् च एव, निर्गुणम् गुण-भोक्तृ च (अस्ति) ।

All the sense organs are revealing that ब्रह्मन् all the time. For example, the eyes can reveal only colors, they cannot reveal sound, ears reveal only sound and when I experience sound, I don't experience colors, when I experience colors, I don't experience smell. Therefore शब्द, स्पर्श, etc., are mutually exclusive, when शब्द comes स्पर्श is not there, when स्पर्श comes रूपम् is not there, but all the sense organs experience one thing commonly. What is that? Sound is: when you hear, sound is; similarly, when you use the eye, the form is. Therefore all sensory operations uniformly reveal that ब्रह्मन् alone, all sensory operations uniformly reveal that ब्रह्मन् alone in the form of शब्दः सन्, स्पर्श सन्, रूपम् सत्, etc. But the problem is you are attracted by नाम-रूप and you lose sight of what, you lose sight of the inherent Existence in all of them. Therefore, what should you do to experience ब्रह्मन्? What should you do to experience ब्रह्मन्? कृष्ण says, you are experiencing ब्रह्मन् alone every moment. When you say, शब्द is, स्पर्श is, रूपम् is. But because of mix-up, because of the mixing up of नाम and रूप, we are absorbed in नाम-रूप and lose sight of this fundamental truth and therefore we require a sensitive and subtle intellect to appreciate that. More in the next class.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 15-17

सर्वेन्द्रियगुणाभासं सर्वेन्द्रियविवर्जितम्।

असत्तं सर्वभूतैव निर्गुणं गुणभोक्तृ च ॥ १३-१५॥

अर्जुन, in this 13th chapter, had asked कृष्ण for the clarification of six technical words used in वेदान्त क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञः, ज्ञानम्, ज्ञेयम्, प्रकृति and पुरुषः. And Lord कृष्ण is explaining one by one. Of these six terms, three have already been explained and they are क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञः and ज्ञानम्. And now कृष्ण has entered the 4th topic and that is of ज्ञेयम् and the word ज्ञेयम् in this context means परम् ब्रह्म, the ultimate reality and it is known by the word ज्ञेयम् because according to वेदान्त that is the ultimate truth to be known by all, knowing which one will necessarily get liberated. And therefore ब्रह्मन् is also known as ज्ञेयम् here. And in the माण्डूक्योपनिषत् the word विज्ञेयः is used, स आत्मा स विज्ञेयः. And this ब्रह्मन् is explained by कृष्ण from verse no.13 onwards, which goes up to the verse no.19, of which we are seeing the 15th verse and in these verses, कृष्ण is primarily revealing ब्रह्मन् as pure Existence, which is one of the subtlest concepts of वेदान्त. Two important words are Existence and Consciousness. Two most subtle topics and these two words have totally different meaning from what we generally think of. That is why ब्रह्मन् is called सत्-चित् रूपः or सत्यम् ज्ञानम् etc. This word Existence I was explaining in the last class. According to वेदान्त, Existence is the unique, the most unique thing. And all the principles that we talked about for Consciousness, we can extend to the Existence also. With regard to Consciousness we had seen certain fundamental principles. I don't know whether you remember. I had said

- i) Consciousness is not a part, a product or property of matter.
- ii) Consciousness is an independent entity, which pervades and enlivens matter.

iii) Consciousness goes beyond the dimensions of matter or the body.

iv) Consciousness survives even when the body is destroyed.

v) And fifthly and finally, the surviving Consciousness is not recognizable, not because it is not there, but because there is no body-medium for manifesting it. Just as if you don't see light in this point, not because light is absent here, but it is because there is no manifesting medium. The moment I keep the hand here, the light which was not manifest before becomes manifest through the hand. Therefore hand is not a producer of light, but hand is the medium which manifests the light. Similarly, the surviving Consciousness cannot be recognized because the manifesting medium is not there.

All these five principles regarding the Consciousness must be extended to the Existence-principle also. Existence with capital E, because according to वेदान्त, Existence is the same as Consciousness. सत् एव चित्, चित् एव सत्. And therefore all the five principles applicable to Consciousness you have to extend to Existence also. What are the five principles? If we enumerate the principles, assimilation will take lot of time.

i) Principle No.1. Existence is not part, product or property of the body or any object. What is Existence? वेदान्त says Existence is not a part, product or property of any body.

ii) Then secondly, what is the second principle, Existence is an independent entity. According to वेदान्त, Existence is the ultimate substance independent entity, which pervades the body and makes the body existent. Existence pervades the body and makes the body existent.

iii) And what is the third principle? This Existence, which pervades the body extends beyond the periphery or the dimensions of the body, just as the light that falls on my body is not on my body alone, the light extends beyond my body, similarly, Existence is not limited by the boundaries of the body.

iv) Then what is the fourth principle? This Existence survives even after the death of the body. Just as the light that falls on the body will survive even if I remove my hand. Though light is there but there is no reflecting medium. That is why in space travel, when they go beyond our atmosphere, you will have eternal darkness. There is no day night division at all. We are able to have day upon the earth because the earth has an atmosphere which is capable of reflecting the sunlight, that is why blue canopy we are seeing. What is the blue canopy is nothing but sunlight blue color scattered by dust particles. That is blue sky. It is dust particles scattering the blue color of the sunlight. Now you go beyond the atmosphere where the dust particles is not there to reflect, what will you experience is eternal darkness. Even when you see the Sun, between the Sun and you, in space travel, there is nothing, no atmosphere, how will it be then? Only darkness. So if someone asks is there sunlight, what reply one should give, it is but not recognizable. Like that is Existence. So वेदान्त says the Existence survives even after the fall of the body.

v) And what is the fifth and final point? The surviving Existence is not recognizable because of the absence of a manifesting, a reflecting medium. So wherever reflecting media are there you will feel Existence. Wherever reflecting media are not there there will be Existence but you will not recognize and that Existence is the Consciousness.

That Existence Consciousness is ब्रह्मन् and that ब्रह्मन् अर्जुन are you. तत् त्वम् असि. So you have to travel a lot. First you should be able to conceive pure Existence. Then you should be able to appreciate it as pure Consciousness. Then you should claim that the pure Existence Consciousness is I myself. This is तत्त्वमसि. It is not an easy topic. And therefore कृष्ण adopts a method which is used in वेदान्त. What is the method?

a) I want to show you or teach you what the light is. But I am not able to show you the pure light, because light without medium cannot be demonstrated. So what I should I do? I put my hand here. What do I want to teach? Not hand. I want to teach the light. Therefore I introduce my hand and ask you, what do you see? You will say only hand, first you will say like that only.

b) Then I have to tell you that it is not the hand alone, there is something other than the hand and because of that alone you are able to see the hand, etc., if I say for an half hour, you will say that there are two things, what are the two things, hand and the light pervading.

c) Thereafterwards I have to tell you please focus your attention on the light and forget the hand. So I introduce the hand, through the hand I introduce the light and thereafter I quietly withdraw the hand and then I tell you that in that place, where the hand was there continues the formless light principle and what is that formless light principle, it is that because of which the hand is recognized.

So introduce the hand, introduce the light, remove the hand and reveal the pure light. This method of teaching is अध्यारोप-अपवाद न्याय.

- Introducing the hand is called अध्यारोप and
- After revealing the light, removal the hand is called अपवाद.

In fact, this we do all the time. Suppose I ask you, please get me some water and then you went and brought me a cup of water and I get angry with you as गुरु, I have a privilege to get angry. Therefore I tell “what did I ask?” “Water.” “I never asked you to bring the cup. Why did you bring the cup?” Then what will the शिष्य think. I thought गुरु is sane. He seems to have some problem. How can I bring water alone, water requires a container to communicate/transfer. And therefore, for the sake of communication/transaction/transference, we keep the container, so that शिष्य brings water with the container, I also take the water with the container, then when I drink what I do, the शिष्य knows, the गुरु knows, the cup is only used for transferring the water, I take the water part and leave the container. Similarly, pure Existence can never be understood. So you introduce an object and appreciate object plus Existence and having gathered the knowledge of Existence what do you, remove the container and container is the object, नाम-रूप. Mike is minus mike is what? is. Table is minus table is what? is. Therefore, understand Existence with the world, अध्यारोप and then retaining the Existence, remove/dismiss the world, it is called अपवाद. And this method Lord कृष्ण is using here, सर्व-इन्द्रिय-गुण-आभासम् सर्व-इन्द्रिय-विवर्जितम्. This Existence is all the time appreciated by you through all the sense organs. सर्व इन्द्रिय गुण, गुण means what, operation or usage or application. So सर्व इन्द्रिय गुण means व्यापारहः, application, usage, आभासः means manifest. The Existence is manifest, is recognized through every sensory operation. Just as light is recognized, when I see the clip, do I recognize the light or not, it is not pure clip, clip plus what is there, light is there. When I look the clock, what I do I experience, clock plus light. I look at the wall. Wall plus light. In and through every perception light is recognized. Similarly, in and through every sensory operation Existence is recognized. In and through every sensory perception. How do you recognize? When you use the ears you say there is a sound, how do we say, there is a sound, that is is what? Existence. When you use your eyes you say that there is a color or form. Sound is gone, color has come, but what is common to both? There is, there is. Similarly, you use your nostrils smell is, the शब्दः अस्ति, स्पर्श अस्ति, रूपम् अस्ति, रसः अस्ति, that अस्ति is Existence. And therefore कृष्ण says that आभासम् means manifest, what is manifest? Existence ब्रह्मन् through all the sensory operation. At the same time, सर्व-इन्द्रिय-विवर्जितम्. The Existence or ब्रह्मन् is free from all the sense organs or objects. At the same time, the ब्रह्मन् or Existence is free from them, that means they are not the intrinsic nature of ब्रह्मन्. Light is illuminating the hand alright, because of the hand light is visible alright. But you know that the hand is not an intrinsic part of the light. Light is not the intrinsic part of the hand, hand is not intrinsic part of light also, if hand is intrinsic part of light, what will happen? Wherever light is there there will be hand. Wherever you see Congress. Thus you appreciate Existence through the mike, but mike is not intrinsic part of ब्रह्मन्. Thus you appreciate Existence through the world but the world itself is not an intrinsic part of ब्रह्मन्. Therefore ब्रह्मन् is world free. So सर्व-इन्द्रिय-विवर्जितम्, विवर्जितम् means free from all the sense organs. सर्व-भूत् च एव – this Existence ब्रह्मन् accommodates, supports everything. It is सर्वाधारम्. How do you know? Because of that alone everything is 'existent'. Every object enjoys Existence only because of ब्रह्मन्, just as gold alone lends Existence to all ornaments, ब्रह्मन् alone is सर्वाधारम्, सर्व-भूत्. At the same time असत्कम् – ब्रह्मन् is free from all the objects of the world that means those objects are not innate part of ब्रह्मन्, असत्कम् means like आकाश. आकाश supports everything but nothing is an intrinsic part of आकाश. So सर्व-भूत्, असत्कम्, सर्व-भूत् is अध्यारोप, असत्कम् is अपवाद. सर्व-इन्द्रिय-गुण-आभासम् is अध्यारोप, सर्व-इन्द्रिय-विवर्जितम् is अपवाद. Every time you take with the glass, it is अध्यारोप and when you leave the glass after drinking the water, it is अपवाद. Then निर्गुणम् गुण-भोक्तृ च. गुण-भोक्तृ means it is associated with all the properties, all the properties it is associated with, how do you know? Because you say every property is. That is represents association. When you say green color is that is-ness is associated with the property. Therefore गुण-भोक्तृ at the same time निर्गुणम् – the properties are not the intrinsic nature of ब्रह्मन्. So the nearest example you can have is the screen and the movie. All the movie objects are associated with the screen, at the same time, screen is free from all those movie objects. If it is a movie Towering Inferno, the fire in the movie is associated with the screen, but the screen is not affected by the fire, that is why at the end of the movie, screen is still present, as far as screen is concerned there is no fire and suppose you see the movie of Titanic, the ship sinking, throughout the movie, water you have seen on the screen and at the end of every show, do you have a dryer to dry the screen which is wet before the next show. No, the wettest movie will not make the screen wet, the dry screen continues to be driest even when you have water. Similarly, ब्रह्मन् accommodates all, but from ब्रह्मन्'s standpoint, they are not there intrinsically. So निर्गुणम्. That is ब्रह्मन् is said to be निर्गुणम्. Continuing;

Verse No .16

बहिःस्तश्च भूतानामचरं चरमेव च ।

सूक्ष्मत्वात्तदविज्ञेयं दूरस्थं चान्तिके च तत् ॥ १३-१६॥

बहिः-अन्तः च भूतानाम् अचरम् चरम् एव च ।

सूक्ष्मत्वात् तत् अविज्ञेयम् दूरस्थम् च अन्तिके च तत् ॥ १३-१६॥

तत् भूतानाम् बहिः अन्तः च (अस्ति), अचरम् चरम् च एव (अस्ति), तत् सूक्ष्मत्वात् अविज्ञेयम् (अस्ति), दूरस्थम् च अन्तिके च (अस्ति) ।

So the Existence Consciousness ब्रह्मन् is not only in the Body, but it is outside also. It is both within and without. Remember the example, light is upon the hand also, light is beyond the hand also. Then the question will come, how come I see the light only on the hand? What answer will you give? That is because of reflecting medium, upon the hand is light is manifest light, in संस्कृत, it is व्यक्त प्रकाश, beyond the hand the light exists, but in what form, in unmanifest form, in संस्कृत, अव्यक्त प्रकाश. Wherever people are sitting it is व्यक्त प्रकाश. In this fan it is व्यक्त प्रकाशम्, in that fan, व्यक्त प्रकाशम्, in between the two fans it is अव्यक्त प्रकाश. But if you put any object in between it will become व्यक्तम्. Similarly, the उपनिषत् says Consciousness is in this body, Consciousness is in the other body. Between the two bodies also Consciousness is. Similarly, Existence also is here, there, in between also Existence. In fact, even when you say nothing is, there also what we say, nothing is, there also you are talking about is. You can never think of the absence of Existence anywhere. Even when you talk about total blankness, what will you say, there is blankness, there also is. Therefore, बहिः-अन्तः च, बहिः means outside the body, अन्तः means inside. And because this concept is very very subtle only, instead of using the word सत् चित्, etc., in the पुराणाs we use the word राम, कृष्ण, नारायण etc. अन्तर् बहिः च तत् सर्वम् व्याप्य नारायणः स्थितः। When नारायण is said you think with शङ्ख, चक्र, etc. There we can conceive of. But we don't question ourselves, if नारायण is with शङ्ख, चक्र, etc., what do you mean by these inside and outside. Or is he sitting at every place with शङ्ख and चक्र? If you think all these you will have problem. If नारायण has to be both inside and outside, he has to be formless Existence alone. You can never think of an all-pervading नारायण unless you can think of pure Existence. And therefore बहिः-अन्तः च भूतानाम् भूतानि means all living beings. And अचरम् चरम् एव च – it is moving and it is non-moving. See it is confusion over confusion. What a test-trial you say. If anybody has come today only and that too for the first time in this गीता class, I am sure from the next Sunday, you cannot see him!! गीता has got a very few tough portions and one such tough portion is this. So it is moving and it is non-moving. How to understand? If it is moving, it cannot be non-moving. If it is non-moving, it cannot be moving. Both are diagonally opposite. How do you say it is both? The answer is: It is really non-moving, but it is seemingly moving when the medium moves. It is really non-moving, but it is seemingly moving when the medium moves, what is medium, it is not the 'medium' which talks and tells about your forefathers, medium here means anything which manifests that. Let us take the example itself. The all-pervading light does not move at all. Light is all over the hall. It does not move. It cannot move also. But what happens? When I keep the hand here, you are able to see the light here and imagine I am moving the hand, the visible light which was at this point now, the visible light has come to this point now. Again I move to another place, the visible light has moved to that point. As the medium, the reflecting medium moves, it appears as though the light is also moving. There is an aberration, there is a seeming feeling of movement, exactly like when we are coming to चेन्नै after vacation, let us assume that we had gone out for vacation or some of you might have gone or some of you have decided to do justice to 44°C therefore you are here, suppose you go and when you come back, by train or any other medium, what do you say: चेन्नै has come. You are traveling by train, and you have crossed Basin Bridge, as the train was halted, there you were so irritated and when the चेन्नै station comes, you jump to the platform and say at last चेन्नै has come. Does चेन्नै come and go? Doesn't come. The arrival of the train, the movement of the train is falsely transferred to the place चेन्नै. The movement of the earth is transferred to the Sun, you talk about sunrise and sunset. Even now in the newspaper you see, sunrise 6.15, sunset 6.45, etc. You know the Sun never rises or sets. It is stationary. What is happening? The attribute of one thing is transferred to the other. Similarly, what do we do, the movement of the hand is falsely transferred to the light and therefore the light appears to be moving. You will have seen the lighthouse also. I thought that in the lighthouse there are three lights, powerful lights are kept, spot light or something, because we see three beams of light moving, rotating. So I thought that there are there three lights that are moving. And thereafter I read in a book, I think that book is reliable only. They say: three lights are not there, there is only light. And not only that, that one light doesn't move also. So there is one non-moving light, but what is my experience. एकम् is becoming अनेकम्, अचलम् is becoming चलम्. So I read that, later I tried to go and see also. Now-a-days they don't permit because of LTTE problem or so. So what exactly is this? There is only one motionless light in the middle and it seems there is a device around the light and that device has got a wooden or some other fake thing which has got three holes, lights are not three, but there are three holes or slit and that device is moving around. And therefore what do we do, the motion and the number belonging to the device we falsely transfer to the light. All these topics are very elaborately discussed in वेदान्त. This is called धर्म अध्यास, property of one transferred to other. When we feel gloomy, we say today was a gloomy day. Day is the same only. Something is bad with me I say the day is gloomy. Black day, etc. Day is neither black nor white nor gloomy. Whatever I feel I transfer and ascribe it to the day. Similarly, the उपनिषत्s say that the body travels, the mind travels, the जीवराशिस travel, but the Consciousness, the Existence does not travel. But it seems to travel along with the medium. Therefore अचरम् – really motionless, चरम् – but seemingly moving, because of the transference of the property. And दूरस्थम् च अन्तिके च तत्. Second line, last portion. That ब्रह्मन् is far away. दूरस्थम् means far away. Then we will decide, we have to start our journey because we have to go far away and that too वैकुण्ठ, so much distance is there and not only they say it is far away, they say, if you keep two steps forward, भगवान् will keep four steps. All these they tell when they talk about भक्ति and we also enjoy. Five feet we take and करुणामूर्ति takes ten feet and tears roll down our eyes on the compassion of the Lord, etc. It is all OK, as long as you don't use your बुद्धि. If भगवान् has to come near me by traveling, that भगवान् cannot be all-pervading. Daily we will be saying also अनन्ताय नमः, etc. In one place, one direction, we say that भगवान् is all-pervading and at the same time, we thoughtlessly say that भगवान् will keep ten steps when you keep two steps. Therefore दूरस्थम्, we have a wrong concept that भगवान् is far away and therefore कृष्ण says that अन्तिके च तत्. When you say भगवान् is far away, how should you understand? Whenever anyone says that भगवान् is in वैकुण्ठ, what should you do? You add another word, भगवान् is in वैकुण्ठ also. भगवान् is in कैलास, you add in कैलास also. That also means what: he is in वैकुण्ठ also, कैलास also, भूलोक also, Adayar also, विद्या मन्दिर also, the lecture hall also and he is also in the mattress in which I am sitting, which means that He is in your heart also. So दूरस्थम् च अन्तिके च तत्. ब्रह्मन् is far and near, in short ब्रह्मन् is everywhere. शङ्कराचार्य gives another interpretation. For a wise person ब्रह्मन् is nearest, because he knows that ब्रह्मन् is not away from me. Whereas for an ignorant person ब्रह्मन् is far away, because he continues his search, going on and on and on. So for an ignorant person It is far away. For a wise person ब्रह्मन् is nearest, nearest is not the word, He is one with me. Then comes the final question? If ब्रह्मन् is everywhere, how come I don't recognize that ब्रह्मन्? If it is everywhere, how come I don't recognize that ब्रह्मन्, for which कृष्ण answers: सूक्ष्मत्वात्, even though ब्रह्मन् is everywhere it is of the subtlest nature, which means that it is free from attributes, attributes alone help me recognize things. When an object produces a sound, I can recognize through the ears, if the object has got a touch, I can recognize through the skin. If it has got form or color, I can recognize through the eyes. Attribute alone helps me recognize. And ब्रह्मन् is सूक्ष्मम्, सूक्ष्मम् means what, without attributes. And therefore अविज्ञेयम् – extremely difficult to comprehend. Lesser the attributes more incomprehensible a thing becomes. More the attributes the easier to understand. And that is why when you take the पञ्चभूतानि, आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, जलम्, पृथिवी, you will find that पृथिवी, the earth is the grossest thing you can recognize, because it can be recognized through शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस and गन्ध. All the five are there. When you come to water, it has got only four attributes, शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस. Water doesn't have smell. Don't tell, स्वामिजि our corporation water is the smelliest thing. When I say water, I mean pure water. And whatever smell you get in the water, doesn't belong to it, but to whatever is contaminating it. But water is smell-less. Only four attributes, therefore it can be recognized only through four sense organs. अग्नि, three attributes, शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप. अग्नि doesn't have taste. If you have doubt, taste it. You don't have to taste अग्नि, taste only over hot coffee. You cannot taste anything for an hour. So अग्नि has got three elements and three attributes can be recognized through the sense organs. वायु has become still subtler. It has got only शब्द and स्पर्श. That is sound and touch, no form. If you want to teach what is air to a child, you will have a tough time. And when you come to आकाश, it doesn't have स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध, all these things, आकाश is supposed to have only शब्द, means the echoing capacity. And that is why आकाश has only one property and therefore it is very difficult understand. Even now science doesn't know what space is. They are coming up with various theories, sometimes they had the theory of ether, sometimes that it is emptiness, now they say it is a positive thing, particle just come out of space, that means it is not a empty space. So space is a positive matter. Einstein says: not only visible to eyes, it is with curvature and elastic also, space is a curved elastic matter. We are not able to conceive of it at all. Because the lesser the properties, more subtle the thing is and we say ब्रह्मन् is subtler than even आकाश. Therefore comprehending ब्रह्मन् is going to be the toughest job. And therefore कृष्ण says, if you don't understand it is not your mistake, it is the mistake of ब्रह्मन्. Why should ब्रह्मन् come like that? Can't He have come and jumped in front of us. The problem is with ब्रह्मन्! सूक्ष्मत्वात् तत् अविज्ञेयम्. Difficult to comprehend. This is ज्ञेयम्. Continuing;

Verse No .17

अविभक्तं च भूतेषु विभक्तमिव च स्थितम् ।

भूतभर्तृ च तज्ज्ञेयं ब्रह्मिणु प्रभविष्णु च ॥ १३-१७॥

अविभक्तम् च भूतेषु विभक्तम् इव च स्थितम् ।

भूत-भर्तृ च तत् ज्ञेयम् ब्रसिष्णु प्रभविष्णु च ॥ १३-१७॥

तत् ज्ञेयम् अविभक्तम् च भूतेषु विभक्तम् इव स्थितम्, भूत-भर्तृ च ब्रसिष्णु च प्रभविष्णु च (अस्ति) ।

So that ब्रह्मन् is indivisible, like space which cannot be divided, that ब्रह्मन् the pure Existence-Consciousness is न विभक्तम्, विभक्तम् means division, It is indivisible. Therefore he says अविभक्तम् – It is undivided and at the same time, भूतेषु विभक्तम् इव स्थितम् – It is seemingly divided. It is really undivided but It is seemingly divided. why It is seemingly divided, why It is seemingly divided? Consciousness is all-pervading, but we experience Consciousness only where the body-medium is available. So therefore, ‘here’ Consciousness can be recognized, in another living being Consciousness can be recognized, but in between the Consciousness is not recognizable. Therefore what we will conclude is there is one Consciousness here and there is another Consciousness there and therefore how many Consciousnesses are there? So many. Therefore there is a seeming division, but the fact is Consciousness is between in what form? In unrecognizable form, but wherever body is It is recognizable. You can see the light also. Here one, there one. In between there is no light. We therefore might commit a mistake that the light is also divided into two. But what is the real understanding? Divisions belong to the fingers but the division does not belong to the light. Here there is visible light, here there is visible light, between the fingers there is invisible light. Therefore, light is continuously there, in pockets visible, in pockets not visible. And therefore, He says, It is seemingly divided. Again remember the lighthouse example. There is only light, but there seems to be three lights. I think that you might have observed. If not go to the beach and see the three lights going around. But light is एकम्, विभक्तम् इव च स्थितम्. And तत् ज्ञेयम्. And that ब्रह्मन् is जगत् सृष्टि तय कारणम्. Out of that pure ब्रह्मन् alone, all the names and forms of the universe have originated and they exist and they dissolve into that ब्रह्मन्. So प्रभविष्णु means सृष्टि कारणम्, अविष्णु means लय कारणम्, प्रभवः means उत्पत्ति, णु means the cause, प्रभविष्णु means सृष्टि कारणम्, अविष्णु means लय कारणम्, literally अविष्णु means the swallower. लय कारणम् and भूत-भर्तृ means the स्थिति कारणम्. भर्ता means the sustainer. Husband is called भर्ता because he is supposed to be the one to sustain the family by earning and providing for the family. If the husband doesn't work and the wife alone works, she should be called भर्त्री and he should be called भार्यः. These are all कारण names, depending upon their functions, भर्ता, भार्य, etc., are given. So भर्तृ, ब्रह्मन् is सर्व भर्ता, the स्थिति कारणम् also, भूत means all things and beings. In short,

यतो वा इमानि भूतानि जायन्ते । येन जातानि जीवन्ति ।

यत् प्रयन्त्याभिसंविशन्ति । ... ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् ३-१-१ ॥

We will see that in भृगुवल्लि in तैत्तिरीय. Out of that ब्रह्मन् alone all the नाम-रूपस has come. More we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 18-20

In this 13th chapter, from verse no.13 onwards, Lord कृष्ण has come to the topic of ज्ञेयम्, which is the fourth topic of the six topics that अर्जुन wanted to know and Lord कृष्ण made it clear that this word ज्ञेयम् is nothing but परम् ब्रह्म of the उपनिषत्.

अनादिमत्परं ब्रह्म न सतन्नासदुच्यते ॥ १३-१३॥

And having said this much, Lord कृष्ण started the description of परम् ब्रह्म as given in the उपनिषत्s and as I said, this is the subtlest topic of the उपनिषत्s and the subtlest topic of the भगवद्गीता also. In fact, this is the main topic. And the description given was all inconceivable descriptions, परम् ब्रह्म is निर्गुणम्. It is free from all attributes and therefore not available for any kind of sensory perception and while It is निर्गुणम्, It is all-pervading, It exists everywhere, in fact, in the form of the very Existence itself. So, निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म is the very Existence-principle which is everywhere and not only that, It is only one, It is not plural, the objects in the creation are many, but the all-pervading attributeless Existence is एकम्. So निर्गुणम्, सत्-रूपम्, सर्वगतम् and एकम् and this Existence even though It appears to be divided really speaking It is an indivisible principle, It has got only a seeming division. As I gave the example, the light pervading the hall or pervading the fingers cannot be divided, it is all over, but you see the light only on the fingers and in between the fingers you don't see the light and therefore it creates a misconception that one light is on this finger, second light is on this finger, the third is on this, thus there are five fingers and it appears as though there are five lights and in between it appears as though there is no light. But the fact is that it is only seemingly divided light, but the light is continuously there in between the fingers also. Exactly like that, Existence is seemingly divided but It is one indivisible अखण्डम् ब्रह्म. Thus निर्गुणम्, सर्वगतम्, एकम्, अखण्डम्, सत्-रूपम्, all these descriptions Lord कृष्ण gives. Now we know that it is almost impossible to conceive of such a ब्रह्मन्.

That we may almost conclude that It is non-existent and that is why later कृष्ण will point out that you have to train your mind to understand ब्रह्मन् and one of the training suggested in the शास्त्र is meditating upon this space. Trying to understand or conceive of आकाश तत्त्वम्. We very loosely use the word आकाश. When I use the word आकाश, what do I see? I don't see आकाश, I don't touch आकाश, I don't smell आकाश, I don't taste आकाश, even though आकाश is not a perceptible substance, I am able to talk about आकाश. I tell there is space here, come and sit. What do I mean by it? It means that nobody is there. Nobody is there means what? You may say empty space, empty space means what? We use the words, but we have never thought of the meaning of the word space. And if think of space you will know, it is something which is not perceptible or tangible and which is all-pervading, which is only one, how many spaces are there, which is only one, which is also indivisible and it looks as though space means emptiness. But remember, science has proved space is not emptiness or void, but it is a positive substance. So by meditating upon आकाश, in तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् in the भृगुवल्ली 3rd chapter, we will see the उपनिषत् describing आकाश ध्यानम्.

तन्मह इत्युपासीत । महान्भवति । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् ३-१०-३ ॥

आकाश ध्यानम् is prescribed to make the intellect extremely subtle to understand ब्रह्मन्, which is subtler than even आकाश. Similarly, the ब्रह्मन् description creates an impression, that it is an emptiness or void or nothing. कृष्ण says it is a positive entity. Can you see? No. Can you hear? No. Can you touch? No. Can you taste? No. Where is it? It is everywhere. So then it appears it is void. It is positive भाव पदार्थः and therefore we have to make the mind subtler and subtler, ultimately grasping this is our aim. Let it take months, let it take years, let it take जन्मs, ultimately only by knowing this ब्रह्मन् ज्ञेयम् यत् तत् प्रवक्ष्यामि यत् ज्ञात्वा अमृतम् अश्नुते. Knowing this inconceivable ब्रह्मन् or unconceivable ब्रह्मन् is our ultimate goal. And therefore कृष्ण struggles to describe and you should also struggle to understand. I will also struggle to explain. Continuing; Verse no.13;

Verse No .18

ज्योतिषामपि तज्ज्योतिस्तमसः परमुच्यते ।

ज्ञानं ज्ञेयं ज्ञानगम्यं हृदि सर्वस्य विष्ठितम् ॥ १३-१८॥

ज्योतिषाम् अपि तत् ज्योतिः तमसः परम् उच्यते ।

ज्ञानम् ज्ञेयम् ज्ञानगम्यम् हृदि सर्वस्य विष्ठितम् ॥ १३-१८॥

तत् ज्योतिषाम् अपि ज्योतिः (अस्ति), तमसः परम् उच्यते, (तत्) ज्ञानम्, ज्ञेयम्, ज्ञानगम्यम् (अस्ति), सर्वस्य हृदि विष्ठितम् (अस्ति) ।

So here कृष्ण says that सत्-रूपम् ब्रह्म, that ब्रह्मन् which is in the form of pure Existence, formless Existence, is the same as the आत्मा which is the formless Consciousness-principle. सत्-रूपम् ब्रह्म is the same as चित् रूपः आत्मा. And when I use the word Consciousness you have to remember all those points.

- i) Consciousness is not a product, part or property of the body.
- ii) Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body.
- iii) Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body.
- iv) Consciousness survives even after the fall of the body, the surviving Consciousness is not accessible to us, not because it is absent, but because there is no medium for its manifestation.

And that Consciousness is the Existence ब्रह्म and कृष्ण describes this Consciousness by a special word used in the उपनिषत्, ज्योतिषाम् अपि ज्योतिः. कृष्ण borrows the Upanishadic expressions throughout, because whenever the topic of ब्रह्मन् comes, one has to run to the उपनिषत्s. Everybody has to come to that. And in मुण्डकोपनिषत् there is this expression.

हिरण्ये परे कोशे विरजम् ब्रह्म निष्कलम् ।

तत् शुभ्रम् ज्योतिषाम् ज्योतिः तद् यत् आत्मविदुः विदुः ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषद् २-२-९ ॥

And then comes the well know Upanishadic मन्त्र,

न तत्र सूर्यो भाति न चन्द्रतारकम् नेमा विद्युतो भान्ति कुतोऽयमग्निः ।

तमेव भान्तमनुभाति सर्वम् तस्य भासा सर्वमिदम् विभाति ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषद् २-२-१०॥

A मन्त्र which is used in all temples when the दिपाशयन is done. What is the meaning of this word ज्योतिषाम् ज्योतिः? ज्योतिः means light. And ज्योतिषाम् ज्योतिः means the light of all lights. Like in केनोपनिषत्, the eye of the eye, the ear of the ear, the mind of the mind, like that, light of all lights. In वेदान्त, the word light is used in a technical sense, I have told you before, I would like to remind you, in वेदान्त light means that in whose presence things are known or recognized. Light is defined as that in whose presence things are known. And from that standpoint, all the luminaries in the sky are called light. सूर्यः, चन्द्रः, नक्षत्राणि, विद्युत. सूर्यः means the Sun, the moon, the stars, as well as the lightning, all of them are called lights because in their presence we are able to know things. During the daytime, because of the sunlight alone, I am able to know what is in front of me. In the night, in the moonlight I recognize things. And if it is अमावास्य night, then I have to use a fire to know things. Thus सूर्यः, चन्द्रः, नक्षत्राणि, then अग्नि and विद्युत, विद्युत means lightening, even electricity comes under विद्युत only, electricity is called in संस्कृत, विद्युत शक्तिः. All of them are called lights, why? In their presence things are known, in their absence - if the current goes now, you are all there but I cannot know you. Now extending this principle, the उपनिषत् says that every sense organ can also be called light. Every sense organ also can be called light, because in the presence of sense organs things are known, in their absence things are not known. A blind man cannot see anything even if the Sun, moon and electricity everything is there. Similarly, the ears are called light because in the presence of the ears the sound is known, in its absence sound is not known. Similarly, nose is a light, in the presence of the nose smells are known, in their absence they are not known. Thus every प्रमाणम्, every instrument of knowledge is a light. Even logic is a form of light, because through reasoning I come to know things. And then the उपनिषत् says there is a special chapter, section in बृहदारण्यक dealing with this subject matter. It is called स्वयम् ज्योति ब्राह्मणम्, ब्राह्मणम् means section in बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् this श्लोक is based. The उपनिषत् says, even words can be called light. And suppose, there is a visitor in your house and when he enters the power goes. And he doesn't know where is what in your house and you are worried he may hit against anything and then you give a verbal guideline, turn to your right, turn to your left, etc. and now he comes to know of the things in front of him, with what light, not the torch light, not the electric light, not any other light, he cannot even use his eyes because it is pitch darkness but still he is able to guide and what is that light, वाचा अग्निना. बृहदारण्यक(३-१-३) says: words are lights. And coming in this direction, the उपनिषत् says the ultimate light is nothing but the Consciousness-principle, because in the presence of Consciousness alone you can know everything and if Consciousness is not there an inert thing cannot know anything. And therefore the ultimate light in whose presence you can know everything, in whose absence you don't know anything, that light is Consciousness. And if that light of Consciousness is not there, then even the Sun, the moon, etc., become useless, even if the sense organs are there they are useless, even a wonderful brain is there, Einstein's brain is persevered in a bottle, but that powerful brain you go and ask, what is two plus two cannot answer. So therefore the greatest brain, the sense organs, the Sun, moon, all the lights become meaningful, only when the Consciousness-principle is there and therefore Consciousness is called the light of all lights, the light in whose presence alone, the other lights become meaningful. And therefore कृष्ण says ज्योतिषाम् अपि तत् ज्योतिः – It is the light of all lights. And not only that तमसः परम् उच्यते. And this light is a unique light, which light, the light of Consciousness, is a unique light, with which you can illumine or know even darkness. This is a very interesting thing you have to know. If you take local light, that light can illumine everything. So the light can illumine the wall, all your bodies, your head, this mike, the book, the letter, the light can illumine everything, but the light cannot illumine one thing, you know what, it cannot illumine darkness. If you take a torchlight to see darkness, what happens? That is why स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द nicely says: some people went and told सूर्य भगवान् it seems that there is a very beautiful girl, if you want to marry and that girl's name is Miss Darkness or Miss Night, because in संस्कृत language night is feminine gender, निशा, रात्रि, these are all feminine gender. In fact, we have a सूक्तम्, a prayer in वेद, which is called रात्रिसूक्तम्. Have you seen in any other literature like this? A सूक्तम्, a prayer dedicated to रात्रि. So therefore this रात्रि देवता, the night is a beautiful देवता, if you want you can marry. सूर्य भगवान् wanted to go and see Miss Night. And somebody said, she is on the other part of the earth. Miss Night is on the other part of the earth. And therefore Sun started traveling to reach the other side and then somebody said: No No No, she has gone to the other part, in search of Miss निशादेवी (even girls keep that name) सूर्य भगवान् started going round, still he is continuing. He wants to have the दर्शनम् of Miss Night. Thereafter only sunrise and sunset started. So sunlight however powerful it may be it cannot illumine darkness, whereas the Consciousness is the only unique light, which is capable of illumining, making you know what is darkness. In the night, how are you seeing darkness? You don't see the darkness through your eyes. Eyes can never see darkness because eyes stop functioning when there is no light, eyes can function only in the medium of light and how can that I ever illumine darkness, but still we are able to know, experience darkness. So how do we gain the knowledge of darkness? It is by a unique method. The Consciousness alone illumines darkness and therefore all other lights are opposed to darkness, because when light is there darkness will go away, Consciousness is the unique light which can co-exist with darkness. And therefore it is said to be तमसः परम् उत्पद्यते. परम् means unopposed to. Unopposed to and therefore only absolute is the light of Consciousness. And not only that ज्ञानम् ज्ञेयम् ज्ञानगम्यम् हृदि सर्वस्य विष्ठितम्. This सत्-चित् ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of everything. सर्वम् ब्रह्म मयम् जगत्. This formless Existence Consciousness alone appears as this formed universe. A formless Existence Consciousness alone appears as the formed universe. You may ask, how is it possible? Again you have to go back to science alone. Just as formless energy gets converted into formed and tangible matter. Energy is intangible but when energy is converted into matter, it becomes tangible. And when matter is converted to energy, again it becomes intangible. So if intangible energy can appear as tangible matter, वेदान्त says, the non-tangible ब्रह्मन् is the ultimate cause of this universe and that alone appears as the tangible universe. It is जगत् कारणम्. It is in the form of everything. And therefore ज्ञानम्, ज्ञेयम्, that ब्रह्मन् alone is ज्ञानम्, ज्ञानम् means the means of knowledge. So that through which we come to know that means of knowledge is also ब्रह्मन् and ज्ञेयम्, the object that you know is also ब्रह्मन्, so the subject is ब्रह्मन्, the object is ब्रह्मन्, the instrument is ब्रह्मन्, सर्वम् ब्रह्म मयम् जगत्. So ज्ञानम्, ज्ञेयम् and ज्ञान गम्यम्. And through this knowledge, ब्रह्मज्ञानम्, the destination that you want to reach that destination is also ब्रह्मन्. The knower is ब्रह्मन्, the knowing instrument is ब्रह्मन्, the known object is ब्रह्मन् and the destination you want to reach ultimately is also ब्रह्मन्. In short, सर्वम् ब्रह्म मयम् जगत्. And where should you discover that ब्रह्मन्. Even though ब्रह्मन् is everywhere, you have to discover that ब्रह्मन् only in a particular place. Like the electricity is there all over the cable. It runs, it passes through, but if you want to find out whether there is power or not, what do you do, you look at the fan, electricity is not in the fan alone, is all over the cable, but to recognize you look at the fan or you look at the light and suppose there is neither the fan nor the light, where there is a plug point, there the tester is kept and tested. And once I test and identify electricity in the plug point, I know that electricity is not only there, but it is also throughout. In the same way, सत्-चित् आत्मा ब्रह्मन् is everywhere but if you want to recognize you require plug point, what is the plug point, every one of us is one one plug point. Don't ask whether the tester is to be kept on the head! Even though Consciousness is everywhere, you recognize only in your mind. सर्वस्य हृदि विष्ठितम्. हृदि means mind and I recognize Consciousness in my mind, you recognize Consciousness in your mind, I cannot recognize Consciousness in you, that you are conscious people, I cannot see, because when I see a body and a dead body, I don't see the Consciousness in you. I see only the material body. Consciousness is not seen by me. When you nod your head, I assume that you are conscious and that you are aware of the words and somehow you are managing to understand and you are nodding the head out of understanding and not out of dozing, because in dozing also the head shakes. Anyhow, I have to be optimistic that you are not sleeping. Remember I have no way of recognizing the Consciousness in your body. That is why, scientists are struggling to recognize the Consciousness in the brains of people, how Consciousness is happening, any amount of brain research they are not able to understand, because it is not visible. Therefore how do I understand Consciousness? Only in one way. I am a conscious being. For that I hope you want ask for proof. That I am conscious being is self-evident fact. And I am Consciousness in my own mind, in what way? Being conscious of all the thoughts that arise in my mind I am Conscious, the words that are coming from outside, which form thoughts in my mind, I am conscious, whether the words I understand or not, I am conscious. Because you say that you understand, you also say that I don't understand. And when all these thoughts are resolved and the mind goes blank, that blankness of the mind also I am conscious of. What is the proof? I am using the word blank. What I have not experienced, I cannot talk about. The very fact that I am talking about mental blankness or mental blackout, I am able to talk, because I am conscious of that. And that Consciousness is the वृत्ति भाव अभाव साक्षि, the witness of the presence of thought or the absence of thought in the mind is the Consciousness and it is this Consciousness which is in everyone's mind and it is this Consciousness which is in between the living beings also. Thus we have to go a long long way to appreciate. Therefore कृष्ण says सर्वस्य हृदि विष्ठितम्, विष्ठितम् means available, literally it means present, present being accessible, available, recognizable. And अर्जुन this is ज्ञेयम् ब्रह्म. So with this, the 4th topic is also over. And incidentally one point you should remember is the topic of क्षेत्रज्ञः which we discussed in the beginning and the topic of ज्ञेयम् which we have just completed, both of them are ultimately one and the same principle alone. क्षेत्रज्ञः is ज्ञेयम् ब्रह्म, जीवात्मा the क्षेत्रज्ञः is the परमात्मा the ज्ञेयम् ब्रह्म. Then the question is if both of them are one and the same, why do you use two words and confuse us. Normally itself it is difficult to understand, then why do you confuse us by using different expressions also? We say that this is not new to वेदान्त and even in our daily transactions, we have got different words to indicate one and the same substance. In fact, in विष्णुसहस्रनाम thousand names are used to reveal whom, one विष्णु. And if you look at home at itself, one and the same member of family is addressed by different names by different people, one calls mother, another calls sister, another calls wife, another calls granny. So one and same substance can have different names when the point of reference is different. So the reference point from the standpoint of the child the man is father, from the standpoint of the wife the very same man is the husband. Not that the stomach is father, the head is the husband. The whole person is the father and the whole person is the husband, the whole person is the brother. So when the angle differs the नाम differs. This place itself, suppose one person says this is Adayar and another person says this is तमिळनाडु, another person says that this is India, another person says this is Asia. Who is correct? All are correct. When you are talking from the standpoint of local area of तमिळनाडु you call it Adayar. In the context of various states of India you call it तमिळनाडु. When you are discussing different countries you call it India. When the topic is continents you call it Asia. When the topic is planet you call it earth. When the topic is solar system, this is the solar system. When it is galaxy, our galaxy is what, Milky Way. (No milk is seen, it is named Milky Way). Same way, even though Consciousness is all-pervading, when you look at Consciousness from the standpoint of the individual, Consciousness obtaining in the body, the individual, we call it क्षेत्रज्ञः, the जीवात्मा, from microcosmic standpoint, whereas the very same Consciousness as the all-pervading principle, macrocosm, we call it परमात्मा or ज्ञेयम् ब्रह्म. क्षेत्रज्ञम् is only ज्ञेयम् ब्रह्म. इति क्षेत्रं तथा ज्ञानं ज्ञेयं चोक्तं समासतः ।

मत्-भक्तः एतत् विज्ञाय मत्-भावाय उपपद्यते ॥ १३-१९॥

इति क्षेत्रम्, तथा ज्ञानम् ज्ञेयम् च समासतः उक्तम्, एतत् विज्ञाय, मत्-भक्तः मत्-भावाय उपपद्यते ।

So in this verse, Lord कृष्ण is consolidating what he has already taught. कृष्ण tells अर्जुन that I remember all the six topics that you wanted to know, whether you remember or not, I remember. Of the six topics, I have discussed four, two more are remaining. So thus this is a consolidating श्लोक. So this is one of the methods of teaching, when the teacher progresses from topic to topic and that too when it is a tersely developed discussion, it is nice to stay in some place and just look behind and take stock of what has already been discussed and then make sure that the शिष्य is following. Or else, suddenly when you look back no one will be coming with you. And this method is called सिंह-अवलोकन न्याय. The Lion does like that it seems. Just goes forward and makes sure that there is no challenger at all, I am the king of the forest and everybody has to accept me and having gone forward it looks around as having made sure that the portion covered, I have proved myself, then it goes forward. Similarly, the teacher has to give an opportunity to the student to think what has been covered and then go forward. And therefore कृष्ण here says, हे अर्जुन! I have discussed four topics, What are they?

1. क्षेत्रम् and

2. you have to supply क्षेत्रज्ञः, which is not said here, but which goes together and

3. ज्ञानम्, that is the third topic and

4. ज्ञेयम्, fourth topic,

च उक्तम् means I have taught. ज्ञेयम् च all these four उक्तम् I have taught you हे अर्जुन, समासतः – only briefly. If you want to know more details, if your intellect is tickled and stimulated, because two things can happen. Some people it is a challenging topic and therefore their intellect is tickled, therefore they want to know more. And there is another group of intellect who says enough is enough of वेदान्त and let me just stick to कृष्ण राम जप, पूजा etc., and take the chickpea and go home. Who wants all kinds of these hair splitting discussion? So therefore I have given you sample, if you are interested, then C/o the उपनिषत्s. The उपनिषत्s exclusively and predominantly deal with this subject matter alone. And therefore, this is the trailer, next week what are the serials. And two minutes script they show, husband and wife about to fight and ... next week. This person will definitely see that particular episode. Like that कृष्ण shows the trailer here, समासतः, briefly I have taught you and मत्-भक्तः एतत् विज्ञाय –so every seeker who is My devotee will certainly know this. And one of the conditions is what? He should be My भक्त from which कृष्ण indicates भक्ति is an important qualification for gaining Self-knowledge, which कृष्ण has already mentioned मयि च अनन्य योगेन भक्तिः अव्यभिचारिणी. So a Vedantic student should be necessarily a devotee. Vedantic teacher should be a religious person and that is why in all our scriptures, philosophy and religion, philosophy and theology, they are mixed together. Whereas in other systems, especially western and all, philosophy and theology are separated an atheist philosopher is possible, whereas we insist if you want to have the philosophical knowledge, you should start with devotion. The discussion may be of pure formless truth, even though the discussion is the ultimate truth, we keep the photo of the Lord and start with the सहनाववतु prayer श्लोक and we end with prayer श्लोक, because without devotion ज्ञानम् doesn't take place. There is no secular वेदान्त. And even if somehow knowledge takes place for a non-devotee, it remains an academic knowledge, that is called arm-chair philosophy, he will be an expert in the उपनिषत्, but there will be no transformation in his personality. And therefore कृष्ण insists that you should be necessarily a devotee. In fact, at the end of the 18th chapter, कृष्ण even gives a warning to every गीता teacher. The warning to the teacher is never teach गीता to a person who is a non-religious person.

न च अशुश्रूषवे वाच्यम् न च माम् यः अभ्यसूयति ॥ १८-६७॥

अभक्ताय कदाचन इदम् न वाच्यम् – the one who is nonreligious never teach गीता. Therefore कृष्ण says here: मत्-भक्तः, He goes a next step, मत्-भक्तः, he must be My devotee. My devotee means ईश्वर भक्तः. एतत् विज्ञाय – such a devotee will necessarily gains this knowledge and even if he feels that this is too subtle for understanding, his devotion will refine his intellect. Second time he listens, he will understand better. But he will not say he has improved, but he will say स्वामिजि you are teaching better now. Anyway, the teacher doesn't bother who takes the credit, whether I have improved or you have improved, or both have improved. If you understood, good. That is why वेदान्त has to be heard again and again. First time listening certain aspects will be clear, second time some more clear and like that. पौनःपुन्येन श्रवणम् कुर्यात् । आवृत्तिः असकृत् उपदेशात् ।४-१-१। A special ब्रह्मसूत्र is dedicated for this subject. Keep on listening. So एतत् विज्ञाय, my devotee will certainly know this in due course. What is the benefit he will get? Ultimately that is important, what will I get. कृष्ण says, मत्-भावाय उपपद्यते – he will also attain the same nature as Mine. Just as I am ever free, he will also discover the eternal freedom which is his very nature. So मत्-भावः means ब्रह्म-भावः, ईश्वर-भावः, भावः means स्वरूपम्, therefore मत्-भावाय means ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, which means पूर्णत्वम्. Previously he considered himself to be a finite individual, now he doesn't have that problem. He knows I am the all-pervading ब्रह्मन्. There is no sense of isolation. There is no sense of rejection. No feeling of no one is attending me, nobody to enquire about me. I am this old person sitting at home and so many children and nobody has time to ask how are you, they are not bothered about whether I am alive or dead, etc., these are all called संसार. Sense that the children are not loving me, not taking care of me, not talking to me, these are all sense of isolation, sense of rejection. And In fact, it becomes more and more as we grow older and older. Because when we are younger we can forget this संसार by diversion. So go to a beach or go to a movie or move with friends you can be busy and forget संसार, as we grow old we have no escapist route, lying on the bed without able to get up; therefore no fear of that. How wonderful it is. The children are talking, they have time to spend with me, wonderful, if they are busy in their own career may be in America, Russia, Japan, other than India, I never feel lonely. I never feel rejected, because all are existing in Me. मयि एव सकलम् जातम्. This पूर्णत्वम् is the benefit of this knowledge. Therefore कृष्ण says मत्-भावाय उपपद्यते – he will become qualified. Continuing;

प्रकृतिं पुरुषं चैव विदध्यनादी उभावपि ।

विकारांश्च गुणांश्चैव विद्धि प्रकृतिसम्भवान् ॥ १३-२०॥

प्रकृतिम् पुरुषम् च एव विद्धि अनादी उभौ अपि ।

विकारान् च गुणान् च एव विद्धि प्रकृति-सम्भवान् ॥ १३-२०॥

(त्वं) प्रकृतिम् पुरुषम् च उभौ अपि अनादी एव विद्धि । विकारान् च गुणान् च प्रकृति-सम्भवान् एव विद्धि ।

With the 19th verse, Lord कृष्ण has consolidated and concluded the four topics.

5) & 6) Now कृष्ण wants to discuss the last two topics, which he has not discussed, they are पुरुष and प्रकृति. And these two कृष्ण wants to discuss together, because they are closely interconnected principles, just as क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः are closely interconnected. Similarly, these two are connected, therefore together कृष्ण wants to discuss from this verse, i.e., from verse 20 up to verse 24. 20-24 is पुरुष and प्रकृति. And this पुरुष and प्रकृति are very much similar to क्षेत्रम् and क्षेत्रज्ञः. We saw in the beginning क्षेत्रम् represents the matter-principle. And क्षेत्रज्ञः represents the Consciousness-principle. वेदान्त takes Consciousness as an independent principle, because as we have seen, वेदान्त doesn't look upon Consciousness as part or product of matter. It doesn't look upon. And therefore it is enumerated as a separate entity. Remember the example, even though I see one fan functioning there, in my understanding there are two principles, one is the visible fan and the invisible electricity, which is a separate principle, which continues even when the fan stops. Similarly, when I look at you, it is not one principle, but it is a mixture of two, the visible matter-principle and the invisible Consciousness-principle and in the 7th chapter, कृष्ण used the word परा प्रकृति and अपरा प्रकृति, परा प्रकृति being Consciousness and अपरा प्रकृति being matter. Now the same कृष्ण is discussing again in the name of पुरुष and प्रकृति, पुरुष means चैतन्य तत्त्वम्, the independent-Consciousness-principle and प्रकृति means the matter-principle. The fundamental basic invisible matter, which can be compared to energy. Compared to energy. Energy is invisible version of matter only. And these two, कृष्ण is going to talk about in the following verses, details of which we will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 20-22

With the 19th verse of this chapter, Lord कृष्ण has completed four topics out of the 6 topics that अर्जुन wanted to know. The four completed topics are क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञः, ज्ञानम् and ज्ञेयम्. And now from the 20th verse onwards, up to 24th verse, Lord कृष्ण is going to deal with the final two topics, namely, पुरुष and प्रकृति. And since these two topics are very closely connected, कृष्ण is dealing with them parallelly, simultaneously. And for all practical purposes, we can understand the word पुरुष as ब्रह्मन् and we can understand the word प्रकृति as माया and therefore the discussion is regarding ब्रह्मन् and माया of the उपनिषत्. These two words पुरुष and प्रकृति are generally used in साङ्ख्य philosophy, but rarely in वेदान्त also we use the word पुरुष and प्रकृति for ब्रह्मन् and माया. And कृष्ण begins the discussion here saying प्रकृतिम् पुरुषम् च एव विद्धि अनादी उभौ अपि – अर्जुन may you understand पुरुष and प्रकृति as the two basic principles which are beginningless-principles. अनादि means without a beginning and it is in dual number which means पुरुष is also अनादि, प्रकृति is also अनादि. And this पुरुष प्रकृति mixture alone we call ईश्वरः. प्रकृति plus पुरुष is equal to ईश्वरः. ब्रह्मन् plus माया is equal to ईश्वर. And कृष्ण wants to point out that this ईश्वर alone existed even before the origination of this universe. Since the universe has an origination, the world has a beginning and since ईश्वर has no beginning, it is clear that even before the world originated, before the beginninged-world, there was the beginningless ईश्वर, which means even before सृष्टि, ईश्वर existed. And since ईश्वर alone existed before सृष्टि, the सृष्टि must have come out of whom, out of ईश्वर only, because ईश्वर alone was the beginningless principle. And this ईश्वर consists पुरुष and प्रकृति. And if you remember the 7th chapter, it was presented there as परा प्रकृति and अपरा प्रकृति. The same idea you have to bring here. Now from this verse we come to know that पुरुष and प्रकृति have got one common feature. And what is that common feature?

- Both are beginningless. अनादित्वम् is one common feature and
- the second common feature is that both of them together are the cause of the universe. Therefore पुरुष is also cause प्रकृति is also cause, together alone they enjoy causal status, exactly like the father and mother. Father by himself cannot be the cause of a child, mother by herself can never be the cause of a child, father and mother alone can together enjoy the causal status. And that is why

जगतः पितरौ वन्दे पार्वतीपरमेश्वरौ ॥ श्युवम्श/कालिदास ॥

Thus they have got two common features. First common feature is: both of them are beginningless. And the second one is that both are together cause of the universe. And these two principles have got uncommon features also. Common features are two, uncommon features or differences are many and out of many differences, four differences are very important for our study which I had discussed in the 7th chapter, but since years have gone, I forget and therefore I will remind myself.

- i) What is the first difference between पुरुष and प्रकृति?
 - a) पुरुष is चेतन तत्त्वम्, it is Consciousness-principle,
 - b) whereas प्रकृति or माया is अचेतन तत्त्वम्, it is the basic matter-principle. Even if you like to call it energy, I don't mind, matter and energy are one and the same in two different states. That is why they are inter-convertible, whereas Consciousness is neither matter nor energy. Very careful. Consciousness is neither matter nor energy. Thus पुरुष is Consciousness-principle प्रकृति is basic matter or energy-principle, this is the first difference.
- ii) The second difference is
 - a) the पुरुष is निर्विकार तत्त्वम्, Consciousness-principle is not subject to modification or change. It is ever the changeless principle, time cannot influence Consciousness. Time cannot touch Consciousness. Consciousness is not within the field of time. In fact, some scientists themselves are saying this.

b) Whereas प्रकृति or matter-principle is subject to time and therefore subject to modification, in संस्कृत सविकार तत्त्वम्.

So चेतन तत्त्वम्-अचेतन तत्त्वम् is the first difference, निर्विकार तत्त्वम्-सविकार-तत्त्वम् is the second difference. And because of the influence of time alone matter is violently undergoing change, even becoming energy is a form of change, matter becomes energy. In fact, in an atomic explosion, in a nuclear explosion, what is happening is matter is converted into tremendous energy. And therefore, matter is subject to change to energy form, energy is subject to change into matter form and within matter itself, it violently undergoes change, the sun is changing violently, the planets are changing and even the minutest atom is undergoing change. Therefore सविकार तत्त्वम्. And the other one निर्विकार तत्त्वम्.

iii) Then the third important difference or uncommon feature is that

a) पुरुष, the Consciousness-principle is free from all attributes. It is absolutely property-free. Whether you enumerate the properties as सत्त्व रजस् तमोगुण, then we say Consciousness is free from सत्त्वम् रजस् तमस् all these three. If you enumerate the properties as शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस and गन्ध, शब्द means sound, स्पर्श means touch, रूप means form, रस means taste, गन्ध means smell, then Consciousness is free from all these five properties. Or if you are chemistry student, who is used to salt analysis in the laboratory, then we talk about the physical properties and chemical properties. Physical properties and chemical properties determine a chemical as a particular chemical, physical property means the color, etc., chemical property varieties of reactions we do, add hydrochloric acid pass hydrogen sulphide, etc. Therefore we have got a salt analysis. 1st group, 2nd group, 3rd group, etc. And if you are a chemistry student, then we say Consciousness is free from all types of physical and chemical properties. In short, Consciousness is propertyless, attributeless. In संस्कृत निर्गुण तत्त्वम्.

b) Whereas matter is endowed with all the properties. So from one angle, we say matter has got three गुणs, three means सत्त्व, रजस्, तमो गुण, we say or from another angle we say, matter has five गुणs, शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध or from chemistry angle we say matter has got innumerable physical and chemical properties. And therefore to simply, matter is attributed. In संस्कृत we say सगुण तत्त्वम्.

So चेतन-अचेतनम्, निर्विकारम्-सविकारम्, निर्गुण-सगुण (you should not change the order).

iv) And then comes the fourth and final property for our discussion. You can have several but four only for our discussion. This is technical thing which is not very much directly relevant, but for future questions this will be required. And what is that difference?

a) चेतन or the Consciousness-principle has got an independent Existence and therefore it is said to be सत्य तत्त्वम्. The Existence of Consciousness is intrinsic, it is independent, it is unborrowed, that is why we say, चित् एव सत्. And therefore it is सत्य तत्त्वम्,

b) whereas the matter-principle does not have an independent Existence, the Existence of matter depends upon the Consciousness-principle. Even to prove that you are all sitting in the class, I should be conscious of you, what I am not conscious I cannot talk of its existence at all. And therefore the existence of a thing, a material thing, depends upon the Consciousness-principle and therefore matter enjoys or suffers dependent existence. In संस्कृत we call it मिथ्या तत्त्वम्. सत्यम् and मिथ्या. We will keep it aside, which we will deal later.

These are the four fundamental differences between पुरुष and प्रकृति. Such a पुरुष-प्रकृति mixture called God was there even before the origination of the world. And the most interesting thing is that when we say God alone existed before the creation, we cannot even answer the question, where was He located. He and all we cannot say, but we have to say something therefore we say He. Where was He located? Even location of God we cannot talk about because, before creation even आकाश was not there. आकाश comes only after creation. how do you know, C/o तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्. Do you remember by mistake.

तस्माद्वा एतस्मादात्मन आकाशस्संभूतः । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-१ ॥

Even scientists point out that you cannot imagine space at the time of or before the Big Bang. वेदान्त, they say, is coming rightly. And they will say वेदान्त has borrowed from science. Long before science came it has been said. Therefore you cannot conceive of even आकाश, before सृष्टि. Therefore आकाशस्य उत्पत्तेः पूर्वम् ईश्वरः आसीत्. Then if आकाश was not there, (आकाश, आकाश I have been telling in संस्कृत, not understanding what it is don't look at the आकाश!), आकाश means space. So when I talk about God before the origination of space, how can I talk about the location of God, because the concept of location requires space. Therefore don't ask where was He? And such an unlocatable God who is a mixture of पुरुष and प्रकृति was there before सृष्टि. Who says? भगवान् says, पुरुषम् प्रकृतिम् च एव उभौ अपि. उभौ means both. अनादि – both were beginninglessly existed. So when we tell the story, children will ask, then, then, then, ... then the mother gets tired, go and do homework. Similarly, here also, the student asks, then what happened? Of these two mixtures, i.e., पुरुष and प्रकृति, nothing will happen to पुरुष तत्त्वम्, because पुरुष तत्त्वम् is not conditioned by time and therefore पुरुष, the चैतन तत्त्वम् will remain the same. Before सृष्टि, during सृष्टि, after प्रलयम्, all the time, चैतन्यम् is निर्विकारम्, न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचिन् नायं भूत्वा भविता वा न भूयः ।

अजो नित्यः शाश्वतोऽयं पुराणो न हन्यते हन्यमाने शरीरि ॥ २-२०॥

If this निर्विकार पुरुष तत्त्वम् does not undergo any change, then all the changes must happen to only the other one, because only two are there, only the other one can undergo change and what is that: प्रकृति तत्त्वम्, the basic matter or energy-principle. And therefore कृष्ण says at the time of creation, what happens: विकारांश्च गुणांश्चैव प्रकृतिसम्भवान् विद्धि – out of the प्रकृति तत्त्वम् evolves this universe. The matter evolves into the universe just as a seed evolves to become a sprout. Then as time goes, again it evolves into a plant and finally it evolves into a full-fledged tree. Similarly, the universe also, from कारण अवस्था to सूक्ष्म अवस्था to स्थूल अवस्था, this gradual evolution takes place and in this matter-evolution, what are born, विकारान् च, विकारः means कार्यम्, all the products are born out of the basic प्रकृति, otherwise called माया. That is why we call the creation मायिकम्. And what are the materials born out of प्रकृति. Initially, the five basic elements are born, called the five भूतानि, आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः and पृथिवी and later the five elements through varieties of permutation and combination, they mix together, they produce all the other things which we call भौतिक evolution. भूत evolution, then भौतिक evolution. Elements evolve, then elementals evolve. And what are the elementals? All the fourteen लोकs are the combination, then the mountains, the stars, the planets and not only that, according to scriptures, our physical body is also evolved प्रकृति. The physical body also is the प्रकृति's evolute only. What is the proof? How do you prove that? The proof is that the first of all the physical body is matter, it consists of only chemicals. It consists of only elements, elements – you can take two meanings – the शास्त्रिय meaning, आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः, पृथिवी – and if you are chemistry student, elements means what? Aluminium, antimony, barium, bismuth, carbon, etc., so those elements. So all those elements alone have produced the body, body is nothing but a chemical bundle. That is why we call it bio-chemistry. And therefore body being matter, it is born out of प्रकृति. And the second and important proof is body is subject to modification. Does anyone have any doubt? Body is subject to modification, so your food that you have taken, I don't know when, sooner or later, it gets digested and again hunger comes. These all are physical modifications and of course the gross modification we put on weight and join gym and reduce 25 kgs in 10 days and then in the next 30 days add another 30 kgs. You will eat for those 10 diet days, because you consumed only the pumpkin juice all the three times. So this expansion and contraction of the body proves that it cannot be पुरुष तत्त्वम्, because पुरुष तत्त्वम् is निर्विकारम्, body is सविकारम्, therefore body has to be a product of प्रकृति only. Then what about mind? The mind is also material in nature. And that is why the changes in the chemistry of the body changes your mind also. Enzyme changes, hormonal changes, etc., can cause tremendous mood disorders. दयानन्द स्वामिजि calls मूढाः. Mood disorder is mental, but it is caused by what the disorder in the physical hormones. And they talk about HRT – Hormone replacement therapy. All these are possible, because the mind is also matter and it is influenced and changed by material. And not only that, mind is also subject to change. Should one tell it to understand? Mind is violently changing, that also proves that mind is an evolved version of प्रकृति. So world is प्रकृति's evolute, body is प्रकृति's evolute or product, mind is the product of प्रकृति. Only you may get a doubt, if you don't get, I will create that, the doubt may be: if body is a product of प्रकृति, mind is also a product of प्रकृति, both of them must be अचेतन तत्त्वम्, because we have said प्रकृति is अचेतन तत्त्वम्. If प्रकृति is अचेतन तत्त्वम्, body and mind which are its products, they also must be अचेतनम्, अचेतनम् means insentient. But we see body and mind seems to be sentient, not seems to be, if doubt is there pinch and see yourselves, you know it is sentient. So for that the scriptures give the answer, body and mind are प्रकृति only but they are such a fine version of प्रकृति, it means refined clay. So body is refined clay and that is why sometimes the brain also is acting like a refined clay. So being a refined version of matter, they are able to manifest Consciousness, it is not their own intrinsic Consciousness, it is only reflected or manifested Consciousness. Like if my cloth is bright now, visible to you now, light from the cloth is hitting your eyes, you are able to see and when light comes from the cloth, it is not the cloth's own light, but it is the light reflected on the cloth. It is not intrinsic but borrowed. Similarly, body is प्रकृति with borrowed sentiency, mind is प्रकृति with borrowed sentiency. Therefore all these are the creation of प्रकृति. And therefore कृष्ण says, अर्जुन note it, विकारान् च प्रकृति-सम्भवान्, सम्भवान् means born out of, products of प्रकृति only. And not only all the objects are born out of प्रकृति, the various properties of these objects, every object has its own property. It has got a color, form, weight and all these properties also are born out of प्रकृति alone. Because the rule is what: कारण गुणाः कार्ये अनुवर्तन्ते, the properties of the cause will inhere in the effect also. I have told this many times. If gold has got certain combination of other elements, alloys, then the all the ornaments also will have the same proportion of the other elements. And that is why the children also will have the combination of properties or character borrowed from whom? All from the parents. Sometime father dominant, sometime mother dominant and in the olden days interesting things used to happen, in some families they will have 10-11 children or at least 7-8. One looking like father, another looking like mother; even complexion – one will be dark, another will be fair, it will come interchanging. What I want to say is कारण गुणाः कार्ये अनुवर्तन्ते, which means प्रकृति गुणाः प्रपञ्चे अनुवर्तन्ते. And that is why the world also has got सत्त्व रजस् तमो गुणाः and the world also has got शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध. Therefore विकारान् च गुणान् च एव विद्धि प्रकृति-सम्भवान्. And शङ्कराचार्य points out that the even the properties, like रग-द्वेष etc., do not belong to the पुरुष, they all belong to प्रकृति alone. Continuing;

Verse No .21

कार्यकरणकर्तृत्वे हेतुः प्रकृतिरुच्यते ।

पुरुषः सुखदुःखानां भोक्तृत्वे हेतुरुच्यते ॥ १३-२१॥

कार्य-करण-कर्तृत्वे हेतुः प्रकृतिः उच्यते ।

पुरुषः सुख-दुःखानाम् भोक्तृत्वे हेतुः उच्यते ॥ १३-२१॥

प्रकृतिः कार्य-करण-कर्तृत्वे हेतुः उच्यते । पुरुषः सुख-दुःखानाम् भोक्तृत्वे हेतुः उच्यते।

The first line is almost the repetition of the previous verse. Everything in the creation is born out of प्रकृति, which includes the body-mind-complex also. So कार्यम् means the body. It is a technical meaning here, normally कार्यम् means a product in general, but in this context कार्यम् means स्थूल शरीरम्, the physical body. And similarly, the word करणम् in this context means the mind or the subtle body in general. सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is called करणम्. कार्य-करण-कर्तृत्वे, कर्तृत्वे means in the creation. In the creation of the physical and subtle bodies of not only the human beings, but all the living beings, in the origination of them, who is the contributor, प्रकृतिः हेतुः उच्यते, प्रकृति alone does lot of work, highly active; पुरुष is the laziest person. That is why in home also, it so happens, he simply sits and reads the newspapers only. It has begun at the time of creation itself. एवम् परम्परा प्राप्तम्. Because the original पुरुष doesn't do anything. Therefore cooperate with your wives a little bit. कार्य-करण-कर्तृत्वे, in the creation of the body and mind, प्रकृतिः is the हेतु. And there is another reading also – कार्य- कारण-कर्तृत्वे, there also the meaning is almost the same. In the creation of the world, which can be divided into कारणम् and कार्यम्. For example, पञ्च भूतानि is कारणम् and all the भौतिकम्s, elementals are कार्यम्. कार्य-कारण-कर्तृत्वे means in the creation of elements and elementals, or the better reading is this I have chosen, in the creation of body-mind-complex प्रकृति is alone cause. Now comes the basic question. If everything is a product of प्रकृति, where is this blessed पुरुष? Because ईश्वर is a mixture of two. Of these two, one principle we find pervading everywhere, because the पञ्चभूतs are प्रकृतिः and all the other combinations like mountains, rivers, and earth, sun and moon, in short the entire visible universe, experienced universe is प्रकृति, because everything I experience undergo a change, whether it is the minutest atom or the biggest galaxy. So therefore the experienced world is changing, therefore प्रकृति. Then what about the body? Body is also experienced by me clearly, I am experiencing my body, that is why pleasures and pains, hunger and thirst I am able to talk about. What I don't experience, I cannot talk about. And the physical body is also an experienced principle and कृष्ण says that also is प्रकृति because it is subject to change. Therefore experienced world is changing, therefore प्रकृति. Experienced body is changing, therefore प्रकृति. Then what about mind? Mind is also experienced by me, In fact, the mind is experienced by me alone, at least in the case of the body, I am experiencing and you are also experiencing, whereas mind is experienced by me because I am aware of emotions, my calmness, my anger, my knowledge, my ignorance, if there is blankness of the mind, that also. The mind is also experienced and it is subject to change and therefore that is also प्रकृति. So experienced world is प्रकृति, experienced body is प्रकृति, experienced mind is प्रकृति. If everything experienced is प्रकृति, where is this blessed पुरुष? He is not to be seen at all. Where is the पुरुष hidden? Therefore we go on searching. Some people search outside. Whatever they search and find outside what is experienced by them? It is experienceable, experienced changing object, that is not going to be पुरुष. Suppose I look within the physical body, what is there? (don't look inside, but if you look) you see blood, marrow, bone all those things are there. Therefore within also I experience changing प्रकृति. If I look within the mind, within the mind also what do I see is varieties of emotions, all changing thoughts I experience. Therefore, outside also I experience प्रकृति, inside also I experience प्रकृति, everything experienced is प्रकृति, where is the blessed पुरुष? Such a doubt will come, कृष्ण says, don't search for the पुरुष. Because the पुरुष is who? The experiencer I. The basic subject I, the basic conscious-principle. Because I, the experiencer, am conscious or inert? This is a big question. I, the experiencer, am conscious or inert. An experiencer has to be necessarily a conscious sentient principle only. कृष्ण says it is that experiencer, I, the subject, the witness of the world, the witness of the body, the witness of the mind. How to look that, don't ask. The moment you see, it will become an object and again it will be within body, mind, etc. That which is ever the subject of experience and never the object of experience that 'I' am पुरुषः. अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. Who says? कृष्ण says. पुरुषः सुख-दुःखानाम् भोक्तृत्वे हेतुः उत्पद्यते. पुरुषः is not located anywhere as an object, but पुरुषः, the चेतन, निर्विकार, निर्गुण, सत्य तत्त्वम् पुरुषः is I, the very subject, who is enclosed in the material body, who is enclosed in the material mind, the enclosure is प्रकृति, the enclosed Consciousness I, am पुरुषः. And therefore कृष्ण says पुरुषः is भोक्ता. भोक्ता means what? Here भोक्ता means the witness, the साक्षि चैतन्यम्, the subject experiencer principle. The experiencer of what? If पुरुष is the experiencer, he will be experiencer of what? What is there other than पुरुष? प्रकृति. Therefore he is the experiencer of प्रकृति. प्रकृति means the body-mind-complex and not only the body-mind-complex प्रकृति, सुख-दुःखानाम् as well as all the conditions of the body-mind-complex like favorable healthy condition as well as the unfavorable unhealthy condition, all of them belong to what, the object प्रकृति. राग, द्वेष, काम, क्रोध, लोभ, मोह, all are properties of what? Observed प्रकृति; none of them is the property of the observer पुरुष. So this is a very important law in वेदान्त. All the observed properties can belong to only observed objects, all the observed properties can belong to only the observed objects. No observed property can belong to what? The observer subject. I will repeat. All the observed properties can belong to the observed object alone. The observed properties can never belong to the observer-subject. Therefore the observer is always property-free. Therefore I am the experiencer of properties but I am without those properties. And therefore कृष्ण says पुरुषः सुख-दुःखानाम् भोक्तृत्वे हेतुः उत्पद्यते. Therefore in the created world, प्रकृति is available as an object, पुरुष is available as the subject. In the created world, प्रकृति is available as the object, पुरुष is available as the subject and the subject पुरुष is never objectifiable. And remember, I have given you the example before. The eyes can see everything in the world, but the eyes can never see themselves. Maximum the eyes can see its reflection in the mirror, even the reflected eye is objectifiable but the original eye is never objectifiable, perceivable. What a tragedy! You cannot see your eyes with your own eyes. Suppose a person asks: If the eyes can never be seen, what is the proof that there are eyes. Big question, cornering question! You have to call him an idiot. Even though eyes are never seen, you don't require proof for the eyes because every sight of every object is the proof for the existence of the eye. Every perception presupposes the existence of the perceiver, even though the perceiver is never perceived. Every perception presupposes the perceiver. Even though camera is never photographed, every photograph is the proof for the existence of camera. In the photograph camera didn't come. What is the proof that there is the camera?! What to tell such persons? Therefore the subject does not require proof. Subject does not require proof, because the very search for proof presupposes the existence of the subject. The prover need not be proved. Prover does not require a proof. And therefore where is पुरुष? It is like the tenth man story. Where is the पुरुष? I am the पुरुष. What a terrible discovery. What a wonderful discovery. Continuing;

पुरुषः प्रकृतिस्थो हि भुङ्क्ते प्रकृतिजान्गुणान् ।

पुरुषः प्रकृतिस्थः हि भुङ्क्ते प्रकृतिजान् गुणान् ।

पुरुषः प्रकृतिस्थः (सन्) प्रकृतिजान् गुणान् भुङ्क्ते हि । गुण-सङ्गः अस्य सत्-असत्-योनि-जन्मसु कारणम् (अस्ति) ।

Originally, before the creation evolved or the world evolved, the पुरुष was neither the subject, nor the प्रकृति was object, there was no subject-object transaction at all before the creation evolved. Then when did the पुरुष get the subject status? When the universe evolved, naturally the body was also created, the mind also is created and after the creation of the body and mind, the all-pervading पुरुष got enclosed within the body-mind-enclosure. Previously the enclosures were not there, therefore this Consciousness was an all-pervading unenclosed Consciousness, but after the creation of body-mind, we have got what, enclosed Consciousness. Just as we have got an enclosed space, when, after the creation of wall. Before the creation of the wall, space was there or not, it was, but it was unenclosed space. Once the walls are created, it becomes enclosed. Similarly, you create, previously it was plot and then built the walls and why did you build the walls. By building the wall, what are you accomplishing? The open space is converted into enclosed space. And once it becomes enclosed space, it is called a house. What is the definition of house, not the walls, walls do not make a house, then what is a house, enclosed space is a house and once it is enclosed, it becomes a useful transactable thing. In the same way, previously it was unenclosed Consciousness. Now it is body-mind enclosed Consciousness and that becomes what? The subject principle. And then the whole world becomes object. Therefore Consciousness becomes a subject when it is enclosed. An open space becomes a house when it is enclosed. Therefore you never build a house, you build only the walls. What is a house, the enclosed space is a house, because that alone is lending you the place for transaction. Wall is not useful. All your movement, study, etc., is done in what? What houses you is not the wall, what houses you is the enclosed space. Thus, पुरुषः becomes the subject, प्रकृतिः becomes object. Then what happens? Go and do homework.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 22-24

Lord कृष्ण has come to the last pair of topic, viz., पुरुष and प्रकृति and he starts the discussion from the 20th verse which goes up to verse 24. And we saw that पुरुष and प्रकृति are the two basic principles, which existed even before the origination of the world and this mixture of पुरुष and प्रकृति alone we call God. And we also saw that this पुरुष and प्रकृति have got two common features,

- a) One common feature is that both are अनादि or beginningless and
- b) The second common feature is both together become the cause of the universe. पुरुष by itself cannot be the cause, nor can प्रकृति be the cause by itself.

These are the two common features and then we saw they have got four uncommon features.

- i) पुरुष is conscious-principle, प्रकृति is inert,
- ii) पुरुष is changeless principle, प्रकृति is changing principle, पुरुष is without any attribute, attributeless
- iii) Whereas the प्रकृति has all the attributes and
- iv) Finally पुरुष is सत्यम्, प्रकृति is मिथ्या.

So निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम् पुरुष. सगुण, सविकार, मिथ्या, अचेतन तत्त्वम् प्रकृति. निर्गुण निर्विकार सत्य चेतन तत्त्वम् पुरुष. सगुण सविकार मिथ्या अचेतन तत्त्वम् प्रकृति. And then कृष्ण pointed out from this mixture alone creation evolved and in the evolution of the creation, the primary role is played by प्रकृति alone, because प्रकृति alone is capable of evolution, प्रकृति being basic matter and as a result of this प्रकृति's evolution, otherwise called the manifestation, the पञ्च भूतs have come, all the fourteen लोकs have come and all the physical and subtle bodies also are born, which means my own body-mind-complex is an evolute of प्रकृति. And then comes the basic question where is this blessed पुरुष. Because whatever I see outside प्रकृति, how do I prove? Because they are all subject to modification. The very physical body I experience is प्रकृति, because it is subject to change and the very mind that I experience is प्रकृति, because it is violently changing. Thus the world is प्रकृति, the body is प्रकृति, the mind is प्रकृति, where exactly is पुरुष the question comes. कृष्ण said that पुरुष alone is now available behind the body-mind-complex as the very experiencer principle, the साक्षि चैतन्यम्. Which alone we refer to by the word अहम् or I, because the very word I indicates a conscious-principle not an inert-principle. And therefore कृष्ण's conclusion is, I, the subject, the experiencer, the witness, am पुरुष and whatever I experience is प्रकृति. I, the experiencer, am पुरुष. I, the subject, am पुरुष. I, the witness, am पुरुष. Whatever is experienced, whatever is an object, whatever is witnessed is प्रकृति. And we should remember to include the body-mind-complex also in which group? In 'I' group or the प्रकृति group. There alone confusion comes. The body-mind should not join the I-party, the body-mind should not be included in the subject-list, the body-mind also must be included in the object of experience list. But generally there is a confusion because, even though body-mind-complex is an object of experience, it is so intimately associated with me that I use the body and mind as a medium for experience the world and therefore it appears as though part of the subject. I have talked about this before, the spectacles are very much object of experience only. I just take the spectacles and I alone put on the spectacles. The moment I put the spectacles and start using the same as an instrument, it is so intimately associated with the perceiver, that I include the spectacles also as an integral part of I, the perceiver. And that is the reason when I have to enumerate various objects, I enumerate everything, but I carefully forget. I forget to include the spectacles as one of the objects. And therefore what is the cause of the mistake? An object used as an instrument appears as though an intrinsic part of the subject. When you say I am writing a letter, in the word 'I', you are including the pen also. Without pen can you become a writer? When you say I am a writer, unknowingly you have included the pen also in you. Similarly, when I say I am a seer, hearer, etc., the body-mind-complex used as an instrument also is mistaken as the subject. Of course for transactional purposes you can include the body and mind in the subject, but I should always be aware that body is part of प्रकृति. World is matter, body is matter. Similarly, mind is part of प्रकृति, world is प्रकृति, the mind is प्रकृति, whereas I am different from the body प्रकृति, the mind प्रकृति, I am the साक्षि तत्त्वम्. I illumine all of them, I witness all of them, at the same time I am different from them. This is what कृष्ण said: पुरुषः प्रकृतिस्थः हि भुङ्क्ते प्रकृतिजान् गुणान्. The word भुङ्क्ते means witnesses, even though the literal meaning of the word भुङ्क्ते is experiences, the word experiences should be understood as witnesses or illumines whatever happens to the body as well as to the mind and witnessing or illumining the body-mind-complex is not an activity of पुरुष, but in the presence of पुरुष, the body and mind gets illumined. Just like we say, the fire burns the fuel. We use the verb that fire is burning the fuel, but if you analyze, शङ्कराचार्य analyzes, burning is not a willful action done by the fire, if burning is an action done by the fire, the action will have a beginning and the action will have an end. But really speaking, fire does not do the action of burning, fire just exists. When you put your finger in the fire, at that time also, fire does not do any special job. Before putting my finger also fire was fire. After putting my finger also fire is fire. No transformation, no will, no action on the part of the fire, fire exists, my finger gets burned, but I make a statement fire burns the finger. Here is a verb which does not have the verbal meaning. When we say the Sun illumines the earth, it is the same thing, Sun does not will or plan and do the action of illumining. The Sun just exists, in the presence of the Sun whatever objects fall within the range those objects get illumined, before the objects arrive Sun is the same, after the objects arrive Sun is the same, but still we use a verb, Sun is illumining the earth. Here also verb indicates mere सांनिध्यम् only. Similarly, साक्षि does not plan, decide and illumine the body-mind as a positive action, साक्षि like the fire, like the Sun, it just is and in the presence of the साक्षि, body gets experienced or illumined or awared. And therefore we say पुरुषः भुङ्क्ते. The साक्षि experiences, experiences means changelessly witnesses, actionlessly witnesses, will-lessly (without involving a will) साक्षि “experiences” whatever happens in the body-mind-complex. And even when nothing happens in the body-mind-complex and even when the mind is blank, the blank condition of the mind also is witnessed, experienced, known, awared by the Conscious-principle. That Consciousness am I. So पुरुषः प्रकृतिस्थः हि. प्रकृति means शरीरम्. In this context, प्रकृति means products of प्रकृति. प्रकृति कार्यम् is called प्रकृति and what are the two products of प्रकृति to be kept in mind, the body-mind-complex container is called प्रकृति, प्रकृतिस्थः means enclosed within the body-mind-complex. I was telling you in the last class, the enclosed space is useful for living and that is why we build walls, because enclosed space alone is व्यवहार योग्यम्. Similarly, the all-pervading Consciousness when it is enclosed within the body-mind-complex it is called प्रकृतिस्थः पुरुषः, साक्षि चैतन्यम्. And this I, भुङ्क्ते, experiences without action, without will. What does it experience? प्रकृतिजान् गुणान् – all the consequences, all the products of प्रकृति in the form of varieties of thoughts, प्रकृतिज गुण means वृत्ति परिणाम, various thought modifications like pleasure thought, pain thought, राग thought, द्वेष thought, काम thought, they are called प्रकृतिज गुण, certain types of thoughts are called सात्त्विक thoughts, certain other types of thoughts are called राजसिक thoughts, in the next chapter we will be seeing. सुखम् is सात्त्विक वृत्ति, दुःखम् is राजस वृत्ति, मोह or delusion is तामस वृत्ति, all those mental conditions, गुण means condition, the साक्षि experiences, experiences means witnesses. And what attribute the साक्षि has got? The body has got attributes, the mind has got attributes. I, illumine the attributes but I myself don't have any attributes. But the problem is what? When I illumine the attributes, unknowingly I take the attributes as though they are mine. This is called the problem of transference. The transference of body attributes, transference of mind attributes, upon the 'I', the पुरुष, creates all the problems. Exactly like viewing a movie, initially I know very much I am not the hero of the movie. Thus I start the movie as a महाज्ञानि with popcorn in hand. And then as the movie goes on, when the plot is getting thickened and I am almost on the edge of the seat. If there is problem for the hero, why should I sit on the edge of the seat. Hero and villain are fighting and hero is wanting to marry the heroine. We also want that to happen. Therefore, unknowingly the problems of the observed hero are falsely transferred to the observer. And this transference is called अन्योन्य अध्यास. In the case of the movie, we voluntarily do that and we know that it is meant only two-three hours and we know we are going to come out of the movie again as जीवन्मुक्तः and even give compliments to the actor, he wept bitterly. We are able to detach from the hero. But in life the problem is what: our attachment to the observed-body-mind-complex is so permanent and complete that संसार is a continuous process and कृष्ण says that it is not only continuous, it goes to next जन्म also. And therefore he says: सत् असत् योनि-जन्मसु कारणम्. सत् असत् योनि-जन्म means संसार चक्रम्. सत् असत् योनि the word योनि means must be read twice. सत् योनि plus असत् योनि. सत् योनि means good शरीरम्. असत् योनि means inferior body. So सत् योनि means superior body, which means better जन्म, असत् योनि means inferior body which means inferior जन्म. Thus पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्, taking higher birth of देव, taking lower birth of animals, plants and असुर, in short the entire संसार चक्रम्. For this संसार चक्रम् what is the cause? कृष्ण says, गुण-सङ्गः एव अद्य संसारस्य कारणम्. गुण means the attributes of the body-mind-complex, to that attributes which belongs to the प्रकृति I get attached. गुणेन, प्रकृति गुणेन सङ्गः, सङ्गः means identification, तादात्म्यम्, तन्मयत्वम्. Remember the movie, totally identifying with the hero and when the heroine dies, this person also cries as though his wife has died. And his wife has to shake him and say that she is alive, don't cry. So this तादात्म्यम् or अभिमान with प्रकृति is संसार कारणम्, पुरुष by itself does not have जन्म; न जायते म्रियते वा कदाचित्, just as nothing happens to the space when the walls are pulled down, When the walls are raised, आकाश is the same, when the walls are removed, आकाश is the same. Similarly, I the पुरुष, the चैतन्यम्, am the same whether the body-mind walls continue or whether the body-mind walls resolves. But instead of claiming this birth-lessness of पुरुष, I identify with प्रकृति and suffer. Continuing;

Verse No .23

उपद्रष्टानुमन्ता च भर्ता भोक्ता महेश्वरः ।

परमात्मेति वाप्युक्तो देहेऽस्मिन्पुरुषः परः ॥ १३-२३॥

उपद्रष्टा अनुमन्ता च भर्ता भोक्ता महेश्वरः ।

परमात्मा इति च अपि उक्तः देहे अस्मिन् पुरुषः परः ॥ १३-२३॥

उपद्रष्टा, अनुमन्ता, भर्ता, च भोक्ता, महेश्वरः, अपि च परमात्मा इति उक्तः परः पुरुषः अस्मिन् देहे (अस्ति) ।

So Lord कृष्ण is training us. He is giving a training program. What is the training? Learn to dis-identify from the प्रकृति-enclosure and learn to identify with the पुरुष, the enclosed-content चैतन्यम्. So कृष्ण says: अस्मिन् देहे पुरुषः, that पुरुष तत्त्वम्, what type of पुरुष? निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम्, NNSC तत्त्वम्. That पुरुष, don't search anywhere, it is like looking outside for आकाश. You need not search anywhere, that पुरुष is there अस्मिन् देहे. Just as आकाश is in every container, this particular body-mind container also has got the पुरुष in the form of साक्षि चैतन्यम् and don't search for the साक्षि also, because that साक्षि चैतन्यम्, I am the subject. And this पुरुषः, what is its nature? Its nature is quiet opposite to the nature of प्रकृति. In every feature, प्रकृति पुरुष is different from प्रकृति. And what are the great features of पुरुष, I told you only four, कृष्ण adds many, first He says,

1) परः, this container the content-Consciousness is not only within the body, it extends the beyond the container body. First I say the space is within the hall, because of which alone we are all accommodated and later I say the space is not within the hall alone, the space is outside the hall also. And finally I have to say, really speaking the space is neither within the hall nor outside the hall, the hall is existing within space. Everything gets upside down. Similarly, I say Consciousness is inside the body and then I say Consciousness is outside the body, then finally I say Consciousness is not inside or outside, all the bodies are inside the Consciousness and therefore where is Consciousness? The answer is, you should ask a counter-question, where is it not? Therefore it is called परः. परः means free from all limitations.

2) And उपद्रष्टा, go to the first line, this पुरुष, the Consciousness alone is the intimate witness of everything happening inside you. So उपद्रष्टा is a beautiful word. Suppose I say Consciousness is a witness, like the Sun, I give the example of the Sun or light, we commit a mistake, the Sun is the light illuminator, witness alright. And the Sun is existing nine crores miles away. And if I talk about the light illumining the hall, again you will think of the bulb as the light. The pervading effulgence we have to take but light means we think the bulb which is away, Similarly, when I say the आत्मा is the साक्षि, you will think that it is somewhere and looking at everything. So here कृष्ण says आत्मा is a witness, not remaining far away, but उपद्रष्टा, intimately pervading the body-mind-complex, it illumines the body-mind-complex, just as the light illumines the hand, how, by pervading the hand. Bulb is far away, but the light, the प्रकाश, the shining is, the luminosity is upon the hand, therefore it is a proximate illuminator. Proximate illuminator means one who is near, pervading the hand it illumines . Similarly, पुरुष pervades every cell of my body. This inert bundle of chemicals, which doesn't have Consciousness of its own, this inert bundle of chemicals is now sentient and alive only because पुरुष pervades and makes this body experienceable to me. And therefore उपद्रष्टा. Close witness.

3) Then अनुमन्ता च (careful don't take हनुमन्ता, in तमिक् ह is not there, and therefore wherever ह comes they have to write it as अ). अनुमन्ता means that which blesses the activities of the प्रकृति. Consciousness blesses the inert body and mind and because of its blessings alone, body is what it is. Exactly like the electricity blesses the fan without doing anything. In the presence of the electricity the fan is able to do what it is made to do. Electricity doesn't ask the fan to go round. The fan is made to go round. In the presence of electricity the fan does its job. Similarly, in the presence of electricity the mike does its job of amplification. Similarly, every organ is built to do a particular function and all of them do their function only in the presence of Consciousness and therefore it is अनुग्राहक, a blesser. And how does it do that? Not by showing hand and legs. It doesn't have legs and hands, it blesses by सांनिध्य मात्रेण. That is what is said in केनोपनिषत् –

ॐ केनेषितम् पतति प्रेषितम् मनः केन प्राणः प्रथमः प्रैति युक्तः ॥१॥

श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम् मनसो मनो यत् ... ॥ २ ॥

All beautiful मन्त्रs कृष्ण condenses in one word, अनुमन्ता means श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम् मनसो मनो यत्, so it blesses all the activities, when I say all the activities, whether those activities are good or bad, moral or immoral, the Consciousness is not going to discriminate, judge and if there are good actions Consciousness supports them and if there are bad actions Consciousness will withdraw support – no. Whatever be the action Consciousness blesses. Therefore, it is called अनुमन्ता.

4) Then भर्ता, भर्ता means, if you see the dictionary it will be husband and then you will also conclude, that because पुरुष is husband. Here भर्ता should not be taken in the literal sense of a husband, but भर्ता means that which lends existence, स्थिति कारणम्. Because पुरुष alone is सत्यम् having independent existence, प्रकृति is मिथ्या and therefore it borrows existence from पुरुष. And therefore it is भर्ता, the sustainer, कर्ता, प्रदाता.

5) Then भोक्ता and the very same पुरुष, I, the साक्षि is called भोक्ता, the experiencer, from the standpoint of an ignorant person. I am really only the साक्षि and I am the illuminator of the pleasure and pain and envy and all those anger etc., in the mind. Anger belongs to what, the प्रकृति, mind, therefore what should I say: I am the illuminator of the anger of the mind. But instead what do I say, I am angry. When you say I am angry, the anger which is the attribute of the mind, I have transferred to Me, the illuminator. And with the transferred attributes, आत्मा appears as though भोक्ता. भोक्ता means what: seeming भोक्ता, as though suffering from the attribute.

6) Then what is its real nature, महेश्वरः, but really speaking for a wise person, this पुरुषः is महेश्वरः, महेश्वरः means स्वतन्त्रः, the free one, free entity. So body alone is a bound entity because body being प्रकृति, it is affected by the other प्रकृति, we have seen earlier, गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते, body is matter, world is matter, therefore body will be definitely be affected by the world. Nobody can stop. In summer body will sweat, in winter, if there is one, (not in चेन्नै,) the body will shiver. And in old age the body will collapse. It will lose all its faculties. Similarly, mind is also matter, the world is also matter, mind also will be influenced by the matter. If you read some tragic thing like the earthquake, or somewhere children are starving, however great you may be, the mind is going to empathize with that situation. Nobody can stop. And therefore body is bound by प्रकृति, the world, the mind is also bound, but पुरुष, the चैतन्यम् can never be affected by the matter-principle and therefore पुरुषः is महेश्वरः means स्वामि, स्वतन्त्रः, Master. That is why as body you are never free. Not only the world will affect, even the planetary position, गुरु दशा will affect, how many people are afraid, I don't know. And for some people, wonderful things are going to happen. For some other people, certain things are going to happen, they say, the planetary changes which indicate your प्रारब्ध, remember planet is not affecting, planetary changes which indicate your प्रारब्ध, प्रारब्ध will affect the body. Whereas the पुरुषः, महेश्वर. 'What can the days do to me? What can the planet looking for me, do to me?' (श्रीअरुनगिरिनाथर् विरचित कन्दर् अलङ्कारम्). महेश्वर, I am ever free. And when I learn to separate myself from प्रकृति and its attributes, I, the जीवात्मा, will itself get the name परमात्मा. So I am called जीवात्मा when I take on the attributes of the प्रकृति and I talk about my date of birth, my age, my physical condition, etc., the attributed I is am जीवात्मा, but when I take the attributes and understand, they do not belong to me, but they belong to the प्रकृति alone. Handover unto Caesar, what belongs to Caesar. Attributes belong to whom? प्रकृति. Give them to the प्रकृति. Attributeless-I am called परमात्मा. Attributed-I am called जीवात्मा. Whether I am attributed or attributeless will depend upon whether I am ignorant or wise. Therefore ignorant-I is जीवात्मा, wise-I is परमात्मा. Who says: कृष्ण says: परमात्मा इति उक्तः – the very same I am called परमात्मा, अर्जुन. This is a महावाक्यम्. The जीवात्मा is equated to परमात्मा. Therefore this श्लोक is another महावाक्य श्लोक. Previously we had one महावाक्यम्.

क्षेत्रज्ञं चापि मां विद्धि सर्वक्षेत्रेषु भारत । ॥ १३-३॥

This is also another महावाक्यम्. जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्य बोधक वाक्यम्. A statement which reveals the oneness of जीवात्मा and परमात्मा. Continuing;

Verse No .24

य एवं वेत्ति पुरुषं प्रकृतिं च गुणैः सह ।

सर्वथा वर्तमानोऽपि न स भूयोऽभिजायते ॥ १३-२४॥

यः एवम् वेत्ति पुरुषम् प्रकृतिम् च गुणैः सह ।

सर्वथा वर्तमानः अपि न सः भूयः अभिजायते ॥ १३-२४॥

यः एवम् पुरुषम् गुणैः सह प्रकृतिम् च वेत्ति, सः सर्वथा वर्तमानः अपि भूयः न अभिजायते ।

And here कृष्ण points out this clear knowledge about प्रकृति and पुरुष will give a person a very great relief from the burden of संसार. A life which appeared a struggle till now, a life which is very big drag, which is full of cares and worries, that life becomes a very very great relief, if I have made this discriminative knowledge and I have learned to claim that I am पुरुष and all the attributes belong to प्रकृति. This is called पुरुष प्रकृति विवेक ज्ञानेन मोक्षः. So this फलम् he gives. यः एवम् वेत्ति – suppose a person gains this knowledge, the first knowledge itself is that I am a mixture of प्रकृति and पुरुष. I have told you the example, first when you see the hand, you will only say there is a hand, I have to tell you, it is not hand alone, there are two things here and I have to tell you that the hand is pervaded by a light principle, the light falls on the hand, it gets reflected and according to the science, the reflected light travels and hits your retina, therefore it is not one, there are two things. Similarly, when I use the word I, there is a प्रकृति and there is पुरुष. This is my first level of wisdom. Therefore कृष्ण says suppose a person knows this clearly, what? पुरुषम्, पुरुषम् means निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम् पुरुषम् and प्रकृतिम् च – सगुण, सविकार, मिथ्या, अचेतन तत्त्वम्, both of them he distinctly knows. The separation between the light and the hand, we do not physically do, because light cannot be scrapped out of the hand. You need not separate here outside, the separation is an internal affair. It is a cognitive separation, it is not an external event. Similarly, body and आत्मा, physically you need not separate and you cannot separate. It is a cognitive separation. पुरुषम् and प्रकृतिम् वेद. Not only that he also knows गुणैः सह – he also knows that there are many attributes, like fat, lean, old, bald, haired, all these are called physical attributes. There are subtle attributes like anger, envy, etc. They are all internal attributes belonging to सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, स्थूल शरीर गुणs, सूक्ष्म शरीर गुणs, कारण शरीर गुणs. Primarily what? Ignorance. So all the attributes also I should know and how should I know, that all attributes belong to the शरीरम् which is प्रकृति. Whereas पुरुष doesn't have स्थूल शरीर attributes, body is fat, I am not fat. What a relief. Otherwise everybody will ask: Why didn't you go for walking, being obese. That does not mean that tomorrow onwards you should stop your walking. Even though you are not fat, you can keep the body in good condition and therefore you can walk, it doesn't require an अभिमान. Similarly, all the emotions,

न मे द्वेषरागौ न मे लोभमोहौ मदो नैव मे नैव मात्सर्यभावः ।

न धर्मो न चार्थो न कामो न मोक्षः विदानन्दरूपः शिवोऽहम् शिवोऽहम् ॥ निर्वाण षट्कम् ३॥

Thus the one who has understood the difference between प्रकृति and पुरुष very clearly and also one who has learnt, trained his mind to identify with पुरुष. That training is called निदिध्यासनम्. Because for all transactions, you have to identify with प्रकृति. In any application form when somebody asks for your date of birth, you should not write Nil. अहम् न जायते न म्रियते, etc. you should not tell. You should fill application form etc., properly with correct dates. In all व्यवहार-transactions we have to identify with प्रकृति and therefore we have to neutralize that, we have to do प्रायश्चित्तम् for that, and that is निदिध्यासनम्, spend some time daily telling that for व्यवहार purposes, for life's drama to go on. Like the तमिळ् saying, when you put on a beggar's role one should know how to beg, etc. Even though he might be a very very rich person, but when that वैषम् is put he has to do that. Similarly, as a husband or wife or father or son put that वैषम् and laugh or cry. Do all those things but go to the green room once in a while. In the green room learn to say मनोबुद्ध्यहंकार वितानि नाहम् । And once a person knows the whole life is a drama, then what is the advantage, सर्वथा वर्तमानोऽपि. Let him play any role in his life or in her life because life is a series of role playing. You cannot avoid role playing. Whether you like or not the moment you are born, you are related to your parents as a child, you are related to your siblings as a brother or sister and when your brother gets married, whether like it not, you become a brother-in-law or sister-in-law. So life is a series of role playing and it will not be a tragedy, if you are aware of the fact that it is a role playing. When the role becomes serious, as a beggar and take yourself to be a beggar and after the drama is over, if you continue with the begging bowl then there is some problem. Therefore, कृष्ण says: सर्वथा वर्तमानोऽपि. You need not change your role, if you are a ब्रह्मचारि you can continue. If you are a गृहस्थ, you need not change your वर्ण, you need not change the आश्रम, you need not change your profession, no external change is required, only an inner transformation is required. Once the transformation has taken place, any role, सर्वथा वर्तमानः means taking any role, वर्तमानोऽपि, सः भूयः न अभिजायते – such a ज्ञानि doesn't have a rebirth at all. I don't have a पुनर्जन्म. And if somebody asks the question to a ज्ञानि - ज्ञानि ज्ञानि, how do you know you don't have पुनर्जन्म? What is the guarantee that I will not be reborn? ज्ञानि gives a very big smile. Where is the question of rebirth, I have understood I am the आत्मा which doesn't have the first जन्म itself, जन्म is what: What is the definition of जन्म? स्थूल सूक्ष्म शरीर संयोगः जन्म. And what is the definition of मरणम्? स्थूल सूक्ष्म शरीर वियोगः मरणम्. The mind is there, the body is there, now the mind and body are together, at the time of death what happens, the mind and body snap their connection, body is here, mind will go away, saying bye bye. This mind-body separation is called मरणम् and what is पुनर्जन्मम्, this traveling सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, getting associated with another body, new body association is called पुनर्जन्म. Mind is पुरुष or प्रकृति? प्रकृति. Body is पुरुष or प्रकृति? प्रकृति. Therefore प्रकृति one and प्रकृति two; body is one type of प्रकृति and mind is one type of प्रकृति, two forms of प्रकृति coming into contact is पुनर्जन्म, two forms of प्रकृति getting separated is मरणम्. And who am I, which form of प्रकृति I am? I am प्रकृति No.1 or प्रकृति No.2? I am neither प्रकृति one nor प्रकृति two. Why should I bother about countless bodies and mind coming together and getting separated, I don't care, I am the पुरुष, who doesn't have the first जन्म itself, where is the question of पुनर्जन्म. This wisdom is called मोक्षः. Through this wisdom I don't get liberated. Through this wisdom I know or I claim that I was liberated, I am liberated and I will ever be liberated, I am incapable of getting bound, that after this knowledge, even if you want to become a संसारि, you cannot be a संसारि.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 25-28

With the 24th verse of the 13th chapter, Lord कृष्ण completes the last pair of topic, viz., the topic of पुरुष and प्रकृति. He started the topic from verse no.20 and completed in verse no.24 and while concluding he pointed out that this knowledge is a liberating knowledge.

य एवं वेत्ति पुरुषं प्रकृतिं च गुणैः सह ।

सर्वथा वर्तमानोऽपि न स भूयोऽभिजायते ॥ १३-२४॥

A person who knows that the body-mind-complex is प्रकृति and also knows that I am the पुरुष that very wisdom releases him from the cycles of जन्म-मरणम्, because births and deaths are only incidents happening in the plane of प्रकृति. The physical body is प्रकृति, the mind is also प्रकृति, the mind and the body coming together is called birth and the mind and the body separating is death. So when an individual dies, what happens is the mind which was occupying the body quits the physical body and the body becomes an evacuated house as it were and therefore the body perishes. The separated mind goes in search of another physical body and gets the body at the right time according to the कर्म and the association with the new body is called जन्म. So शरीर-मन संयोगः जन्म, शरीर-मन वियोगः मरणम्, शरीरम् is also प्रकृति, मनस् is also प्रकृति and therefore their संयोगवियोग, संयोगम् means association, वियोगम् dissociation, all are happening at the level of प्रकृति. And the ज्ञानि is one who has recognized the fact that I am the पुरुष, in which there is neither संयोग nor वियोग and therefore where is the question of one birth itself? And when one birth itself is not possible, where is the question of re-birth, the second birth? And therefore कृष्ण concluded भूयः सः न अभिजायते – he gets मुक्ति or freedom from the cycles. And with this कृष्ण has completed all the six topics that अर्जुन wanted to know: क्षेत्र, क्षेत्रज्ञः, ज्ञानम्, ज्ञेयम्, प्रकृति and पुरुष. And therefore कृष्ण's task is over now. And therefore he wants to wind-up the discussion in the following verses from 25 up to the 35. We will read. Verse no.25;

Verse No .25

ध्यानेनात्मनि पश्यन्ति केचिदात्मानमात्मना ।

अन्ये साङ्ख्येन योगेन कर्मयोगेन चापरे ॥ १३-२५॥

ध्यानेन आत्मानि पश्यन्ति केचित् आत्मानम् आत्माना ।

अन्ये साङ्ख्येन योगेन कर्म-योगेन च अपरे ॥ १३-२५॥

केचित् ध्यानेन आत्माना आत्मानि आत्मानम् पश्यन्ति । अन्ये साङ्ख्येन योगेन (आत्मानम् पश्यन्ति) । अपरे च कर्म-योगेन (आत्मानम् पश्यन्ति)।

In these 11 verses, 25 to 35, including both verses Lord कृष्ण deals with ज्ञान साधनानि and ज्ञानफलम्. So what are the preparatory disciplines which will lead a person to Self-knowledge and what are the benefits that this person will enjoy. First कृष्ण emphasis the ultimate goal of all spiritual साधनs is Self-knowledge only. Let there not be any doubt in that. The ultimate goal is आत्मनि आत्माना आत्मानम् पश्यन्ति. आत्मनि means in oneself. Because the all-pervading आत्मा is available within one's own body-mind-complex and therefore I need not identify the आत्मा elsewhere. I have to discover the आत्मा in myself. Therefore, आत्मनि means within oneself, as we saw in तैत्तिरीयम्.

यो वेद निहितम् गुहायाम् परमे व्योमन् । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-१ ॥

Therefore, आत्मनि means हृदय आकाशे. So आत्मनि पश्यन्ति and what do they see or know? आत्मानम् पश्यन्ति. आत्मानम् means the सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा. So the first आत्मनि refers to the हृदय आकाशम्, the second आत्मानम् doesn't refer to हृदय आकाशम्, the word आत्मानम् means सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मानम्. Thus, a seeker has to recognize the आत्मा in his own हृदयम्. And with what instrument should a person gain the knowledge. The instrument of knowledge is आत्माना. So three आत्माs are there, confusing. आत्मनि, आत्मानम्, आत्माना पश्यन्ति. 7th case आत्मा, 2nd case आत्मा, 3rd case आत्मा. 7th case आत्मा means within one's own हृदयम्, 2nd case आत्मा means सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा and now we have to see the 3rd case आत्मा, What is the instrument? The instrument is one's own बुद्धि. आत्माना means बुद्ध्या. Because every knowledge is to be acquired only through the instrument of बुद्धि. There is no other instrument which can gain knowledge. So body cannot get knowledge, of course आत्मा by itself cannot get knowledge, any knowledge has to be through the instrumentality of बुद्धि. But what type of बुद्धि? A refined बुद्धि aided by, supported by गुरु-शास्त्र-उपदेश. A refined and गुरु-शास्त्र-उपदेश supported बुद्धि has to gain the knowledge. शङ्कराचार्य uses the expression शास्त्र-आचार्य-संस्कृत अन्तःकरणेन. With the help of the mind, which is supported by गुरु- शास्त्र उपदेश. So with that mind one has to gain आत्मज्ञानम्. And if this आत्मज्ञानम् is the culmination, the ultimate साधन, the question is how many preparatory stages are there for reaching this climax. So what are the preparatory steps a person has to go through for the climax of Self-recognition through the mind within oneself? And these are presented the stages are presented in different ways in different contexts and one type of presentation which is intended here is five-fold stages. A person has to go through five stages to reach this culmination. In each stage one gets rid of one obstacle for Self-knowledge. Each stage helps in removing one one obstacle. प्रतिबन्ध निवृत्तिः. What are the five stages and what are the obstacles removed? I have dealt with this in the 12th chapter also. And also in some other context, I will remind you those five stages, I am not going to elaborate.

1) The first stage is called कर्मयोग stage, wherein the mental impurities are removed. In संस्कृत it is called मल-निवृत्तिः. मलम् means dirt, what are the impurities? राग, द्वेष, काम, क्रोध, लोभ, मोह, मद, मात्सर्यम्, etc. Thus कर्मयोग helps in the removal of मलम् and it refines the mind.

2) Then the next stage of साधन is called उपासना or meditation upon सगुण ईश्वर, the Lord with attributes or glories. And this उपासना helps in the removal of the next obstacle, that obstacle is called विक्षेप, otherwise called बहिर्मुखत्वम्. The restlessness of the mind, the extrovertedness of the mind is the second obstacle, उपासना helps in the mind's focusing capacity. It integrates the mind. It harmonizes the mind. It gives the focusing power and the extrovertedness, the outgoing mind is withdrawn. So therefore the second साधन is called उपासना. What is the obstacle removed? विक्षेप. Therefore विक्षेप निवृत्ति, निवृत्ति means removal.

3) And the third stage is called वेदान्त श्रवणम्. Systematically and consistently studying the Upanishadic or Vedantic scriptures under the guidance of a competent आचार्य, which is called श्रवणम्, which will help in the elimination of अज्ञानम्, Self-ignorance. So the third obstacle is अज्ञानम्, which is removed through श्रवणम्.

So कर्मणा मल निवृत्ति, उपासनेन विक्षेप निवृत्ति, श्रवणेन अज्ञान निवृत्ति, (three steps are over).

4) Then the fourth stage of साधन is called मननम्. Asking myself whether am I convinced of the teaching given by the teacher and the scriptures. Am I intellectually satisfied, because any knowledge should convince the intellect. As long as there are doubts or reservation, that doubt is an obstacle. A doubtful knowledge is as good as ignorance. And therefore मननेन, by raising all questions and finding out the answer, either by my own enquiry or with the help of the आचार्य. Therefore, the fourth stage is मननम् and the benefit is संशय निवृत्ति. Converting knowledge into conviction. Removal of the intellectual obstacle.

5) And then comes fifth and final stage of साधन called निदिध्यासनम्, which is meant to remove my habitual reaction, the removal of वासना, because of my regular unhealthy responses in life I have developed a habit. And habit is developed in-time and habit can go only in-time. This deliberate invocation of the वेदान्त, so that I can get rid of unvedantic reactions in life. Every disturbing reaction is unvedantic reaction. So anxiety, frustration, self-pity, sense of insecurity, fear, attachment, all of them are unhealthy वासनाs. This वासना निवृत्ति or विपरीत भावना निवृत्ति is the fifth and final stage called निदिध्यासनम्.

And everybody has to go through all the five stages. They are not optional things. They are compulsory for all. But suppose, a person has gone through the first two or three stages in this life and then without completing the journey he dies, suppose. Each stage takes long time. And if a person dies without the completion, the advantage is in the next जन्म, the journey need not begin with कर्मयोग, the journey can be like getting transfer certificate from one school and in the next school the child can go to the 6th standard, why in the earlier school, he has passed the 5th and therefore, depending upon a person's spiritual evolution a person should start either from कर्मयोगः, or from उपासना, or from श्रवण, either all the five, one to five, or two to five, or three to five, or four to five. One to five means कर्म, उपासना, श्रवणम्, मननम्, निदिध्यासनम्. Like that. And in the case of spiritual prodigies, extraordinary spiritual prodigies it is different. Spiritual prodigy means the one who has gone through the first four stages in the पूर्वजन्म. Prodigy means that. There is no other specialty. Already the four stages are passed through in the पूर्वजन्म and therefore, in this जन्म, the prodigy has to go through only the fifth stage. श्रवणम् need not be done. There is no need of any गुरु itself. A great relief, it seems! They don't require श्रवणम्, मननम्, all those things. Even from early stage, they feel that they have gone through these stages. For them it is a walk over for them. But seeing those people I should not argue, that I will start doing like that. Because everybody is not a spiritual prodigy. And therefore कृष्ण says: कर्म-योगेन अपरे पश्यन्ति. Some seekers start from कर्मयोग itself, because they require to go through all the five stages. Why because there are powerful राग-द्वेष, काम-क्रोध: obstacle. And here the word कर्मयोग includes the 2nd stage also. कृष्ण doesn't mention, we have to supply, Some other people start from the 2nd stage, viz., उपासना. So कर्मयोग refers to the first two stages. And there are some other people, they come with a refined mind, with an integrated mind and they are naturally not interested in material things, in early childhood itself they are attracted to spirituality. For them, they can start with the 3rd or 4th stage. And that is indicated by अन्ये साङ्ख्येन योगेन. The word साङ्ख्य indicates the 3rd and 4th stages. 3rd stage is what? Forgotten? श्रवणेन, or मननेन, depending upon where they stand. So साङ्ख्य refers to श्रवणम् and मननम् and there are some rare people who have gone through all the four stages in the पूर्वजन्म. This Lord कृष्ण discussed in the 6th chapter of the गीता. Listened to it very long ago? Forgotten the 6th chapter itself? Looks like the पूर्वजन्म. Isn't it?

This person gets संबन्ध with पूर्वजन्म ज्ञानम्. Even he doesn't know how he got the सम्बन्धम्. For those people, they require to go through only the final stage, that is said here, ध्यानेन आत्मनि पश्यन्ति. So ध्यानम् refers to निदिध्यासनम्, the final stage, which is just a reinforcement, reassertion of what they have gathered. In one of the उपनिषत्s i.e., ऐतरेयोपनिषत्, it talks about a ऋषि वामदेव, who declared अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि in the womb of the mother itself.

तदुक्तमृषिणा गर्भे नु सन्नन्वेषामवेदमहम् देवानाम् जनिमानि विश्वा शतम् मा पुर आयसीररक्षन्नधः श्येनो जवसा निरदीयमिति । गर्भे एवैतच्छयानो वामदेव एवमुवाच ॥ ऐतरेयोपनिषत् २-१-७॥

How come the mother herself doesn't know अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि? And in the mother's womb how can वामदेव declare and he cannot do श्रवणम् in the mother's womb, how does it happen if you ask, 95% job over in पूर्वजन्म. Here it is only a little bit left out and therefore for those spiritual prodigies meditation is: what type of meditation? निदिध्यासन meditation is enough and depending upon my level I have to take to five, four, three, two or one साधन. Continuing;

Verse No .26

अन्ये त्वेवमजानन्तः श्रुत्वान्येभ्य उपासते ।

तेऽपि चातितरन्त्येव मृत्युं श्रुतिपरायणाः ॥ १३-२६॥

अन्ये तु एवम् अजानन्तः श्रुत्वा अन्येभ्यः उपासते ।

ते अपि च अतितरन्ति एव मृत्युम् श्रुति-परायणाः ॥ १३-२६॥

अन्ये तु एवम् अजानन्तः अन्येभ्यः श्रुत्वा उपासते, ते श्रुति-परायणाः च अपि मृत्युम् अतितरन्ति एव ।

So here कृष्ण points out that वेदान्त श्रवणम् need not necessarily be the study of the original scriptures themselves. We don't insist that one should study उपनिषत् only, गीता only, ब्रह्मसूत्र only, we don't insist upon the text, we insist upon the teaching part only. Therefore if there is a गुरु who does not teach the गीता, उपनिषत् or ब्रह्मसूत्र or पञ्चदशि etc., but he takes the essence of all these books and presents in a different language, without touching any of these books, in his own language, may be English, may be vernacular, may be Russian, may be Chinese, वेदान्त does not refer to the actual language, वेदान्त refers to the content teaching. As दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, 'You are the Whole' this teaching is वेदान्त, whatever be the language. You are the Whole (whole, what spelling? Put it correctly; hole if you put it will be problem). Therefore पूर्णम् अदः पूर्णम् इदम्, I am full and complete, this wisdom it may be in a South American language, we don't care and therefore कृष्ण says there are some people who don't have access to the originals but still they gather the teaching from other people, from the गुरुs, the गुरुs themselves have the knowledge of the originals. Even if I don't know the original it doesn't matter, I can gain मोक्ष. अन्ये तु – there are some other people, एवम् अजानन्तः – they don't gain the knowledge through the original scriptures, the most original and fundamental scriptures being the उपनिषत्s, they might not study the उपनिषत्s, or प्रस्थानत्रयs, consisting of उपनिषत्s, गीता and ब्रह्मसूत्र, they don't study. एवम् refers to the traditional scriptural study, they don't do, but what do they do? अन्येभ्यः श्रुत्वा – so they go to some आचार्य, who has studied the original and who is capable of paraphrasing, arranging and systematically communicating, in what language? In any language that the student can grasp. That is why in India you can find that in every state Vedantic wisdom is there in vernacular language. Even in the folk songs there is वेदान्त. Whether you take मलयाळम्, one lady sang a laluby, whatever you say, to put the baby to sleep they have some traditional song. And she sang those songs, in which the अवस्था त्रय साक्षि, etc., are coming. And the lady also didn't know what it is and of course the baby also. And after attending the class, she says I never knew that even in the songs for putting the babies to sleep, there is वेदान्त. Similarly, in हिन्दि and all other languages. Similarly, take अभङ्गs of तुकाराम, नामदेव, etc., and see वेदान्त is there. You gain the knowledge through any source. Source is not important, the content is important. If a person knows the content without studying the उपनिषत्, he is liberated, on the other hand, fill up the blanks. Another person who has gone through all the उपनिषत्, but doesn't know the content, he is not liberated. Therefore कृष्ण says अन्येभ्यः श्रुत्वा, in their own mother tongue उपासते – they follow the साधन of understanding and assimilating and कृष्ण says: ते अपि – even those people who are श्रुति-परायणाः – who are committed to the words of the गुरु. They are not exposed to the words of the scriptures, they don't know, but they are committed to the words of the गुरु, so श्रुति-परायणाः means गुरु वाक्य श्रवण परायणाः. Here for श्रुति you should not take वेद. Here श्रुति means the गुरु वाक्य श्रवणम्. In any other language, परायण, committed to that as much श्रद्धा a person has got in the वेद, this disciple has got so much श्रद्धा in the गुरु वाक्यम्, श्रुति-परायणाः, such committed students also मृत्युम् अतितरन्ति एव – they also will certainly cross mortality, finitude, otherwise called संसारः. That means they will also attain मोक्ष. So what a broad vision. And therefore even if in the olden days वेद was not accessible to all people. They kept some of the scriptures secret for some reasons but even though the originals were not accessible to all, the content of the scriptures were accessible to all people at all the times. Whether a person is ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य, शूद्र, ब्रह्मचारि, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ, संन्यासि, male, female, हिन्दु, Christian, or Muslim, anyone, whether the originals were accessible or not, the contents in one form or the other was accessible. What liberates is not the वेदः, what liberates is the content-teaching in the वेदः. Even if one doesn't study वेदs anyone can get liberation, कृष्ण declares. Continuing;

क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञ-संयोगात् तत् विद्धि भरतर्षभ ॥ १३-२७॥

हे भरतर्षभ! यावत् किञ्चित् स्थावर-जङ्गमम् सत्त्वम् सञ्जायते, तत् क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञ-संयोगात् (सञ्जायते इति त्वं) विद्धि ।

In the previous two verses, Lord कृष्ण pointed out that everybody has to go through all the stages of साधन and also he said all the साधनs should culminate in आत्मज्ञानम् आत्मनि आत्माना आत्मानम् पश्यन्ति. That आत्मज्ञानम् everybody has to come to. The purification of the mind through कर्मयोग can be accomplished through different types of activities, we have choice, may be जप, may be पूजा, may be social service, one has a choice there, but everybody ultimately has to go through the door of ज्ञानम्. That is why स्वामि दयानन्द beautiful says, a temple might have four doors, four गोपुरम्s, but the गर्भ गृहम् has got only one door. Four doors are there for the temple, only one door is there to the Lord. Similarly, for preparation many doors are there, but for मोक्ष there is only one door, ज्ञानम्. This कृष्ण mentioned in the previous two verses. Naturally we will have a question, why do we insist on ज्ञानम्? It looks as though we are adamant, as though we are fanatic, why are we so insistent? कृष्ण says it is not fanaticism or adamancy, but that happens to be the fact. If I say darkness can be removed only by light, it is not fanaticism. I cannot have comprise or consideration - I can remove darkness by broomstick, it is not possible, I cannot afford to accept many paths, not because I am narrow-minded, but the fact is that the darkness goes only by light. So if still you charge me with fanaticism, दयानन्द स्वामिजि says: Better I will be a fanatic rather than a lunatic. And why do we say it is a fact. कृष्ण says because संसार is caused by ignorance and error. संसारः is caused by ignorance and error. What is the ignorance and what is the error? I am the पुरुषः, this fact I am ignorant. पुरुषः, not man-woman पुरुष. It's Vedantic पुरुष we saw, that is the 4 things you ought to remember: निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम् पुरुष, पूर्ण पुरुषः अहम्, this fact I am ignorant of. This is called the ignorance problem. And this ignorance has led to an error and what is that error? Since I don't know I am the पुरुषः, I have chosen to identify myself with प्रकृति. When I don't know I am आत्मा, I mistake myself to be अनात्मा. This is what is happening in dream also. When I forget this body of mine during sleep, the ignorance of this body leads to my identification with what? The स्वप्न शरीरम्. Why do I identify with the dream body? Because I am ignorant of this body, which is lying on the bed. And that is why the moment I wake up to this physical body, automatically I dis-identify from the dream body. And therefore, पुरुष अज्ञानम् has led to प्रकृति अभिमानम्. Do you understand? पुरुष अज्ञानम् has led to प्रकृति अभिमान, or to put in another language, क्षेत्रज्ञः अज्ञान has led to क्षेत्र अभिमान. अभिमान means identification. आत्मा अज्ञानम् has led to अनात्मा अभिमान. Or in English Self-ignorance has led to body identification. And therefore कृष्ण says: क्षेत्र क्षेत्रज्ञः संयोगात्, because of the संयोगः, संयोगः means अभिमान, identification of “I” the क्षेत्रज्ञः on what? The body the क्षेत्रम्. So संयोगः means identification, mistaking, in English itself mistake means what? You miss the original and take the wrong one, called miss take. I miss the पुरुष and take the प्रकृति as myself. This is called क्षेत्र क्षेत्रज्ञः संयोग, आत्म-अनात्मा अध्यासः. शङ्कराचार्य, in his most famous introduction to ब्रह्मसूत्र, he writes a भाष्यम् called अध्यास भाष्यम्. Just one and half pages only he writes. The commentators and sub-commentators and sub-sub-commentators they write a huge book on it and you know what is अध्यासः, क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञः संयोगः. I, the चेतन तत्त्वम्, take myself to be the material body. I, the Consciousness, take myself to be the matter. See the great foolishness. But we successfully manage, not only we manage we successfully perpetuate also, I am the body, I am the body. And because of the देह अभिमान, there are two-fold problem, the first problem is: I the immortal पुरुष mistake myself to be the mortal body. Therefore mortality I take to myself. Finitude I take to myself. And once finitude comes, I cannot withstand the limitations in life and therefore start the grabbing project. Bring to me, bring to me, give me, I grab, so that I, the finite can become, the desire is to get rid of finitude. And therefore अपूर्णत्वम् leads to काम, काम leads to कर्म, कर्म leads to पुण्य-पापम्, पुण्य-पाप leads to सुख-दुःख and later to पुनर्जन्म. In fact, entire cycle of birth and death is देह अभिमान. And therefore कृष्ण says यावत् सत्त्वम् सञ्जायते. सत्त्वम् means living being, every living being is born, goes through the cycles of births and death, स्थावर-जङ्गमम्, whether it is a non-moving living being, what is the non-moving living being: the trees are called स्थावर प्राणी and all the other animals etc., human being, they are all called जङ्गम सत्त्वम्. So स्थावर सत्त्वम्, non-moving प्राणी, जङ्गम सत्त्वम्, moving प्राणी, all these go through जायते, birth and death only because of this fundamental mistake, I am the body is the mistake. इति विद्धि. अर्जुन you understand and this body identification is a mistake and every mistake is born of ignorance. Every error is a product of ignorance. And therefore if an error has to be eliminated, you can never attack the error directly, you have to attack the cause of the error. What is cause? अज्ञानम्. If you have to destroy a tree, cutting the branches will not accomplish that. You go on cutting the branches, what happens? It comes again and again. Never destroy the symptom, destroy the disease. An ideal medicine is that which destroys the disease not the symptom. And that is what is indicated through रावण वधम् also. राम destroys the heads of रावण. The heads indicate the errors. And राम keeps on cutting the heads, the head keeps on coming. And then राम is frustrated. Then अगस्त्य comes and does the उपदेश of आदित्य हृदयम्, which is the essence of वेदान्त. And the ब्रह्मास्त्र is meant to strike the हृदयम् देशम्. Don't cut the head which is an error, but in the हृदयम् ignorance is there, by तत्त्वमसि ब्रह्मास्त्रम् destroy the अज्ञानम् here. Then the heads will not come again and again. And therefore ज्ञानम् destroys अज्ञानम् and अज्ञानम् destroys error or अध्यास. With that problems are solved. And therefore अर्जुन ज्ञानात् एव मोक्ष, in which युग? That is also a confusion. In which युग? In which युग darkness goes by light? In any युग if darkness has to be removed, you need light. So in कलियुग भक्ति is the way to मोक्ष, we will never accept. Whether it is कलियुग, त्रेतायुगम्, द्वापरयुगम्, in any युग to remove अज्ञानम् there is only one remedy, ज्ञानम्. So thus कृष्ण talked about साधन in these three verses, 25, 26 and 27. Continuing;

समं सर्वेषु भूतेषु तिष्ठन्तं परमेश्वरम् ।

विनश्यत्स्वविनश्यन्तं यः पश्यति स पश्यति ॥ १३-२८॥

समम् सर्वेषु भूतेषु तिष्ठन्तम् परमेश्वरम् ।

विनश्यत्सु अविनश्यन्तम् यः पश्यति सः पश्यति ॥ १३-२८॥

यः विनश्यत्सु सर्वेषु भूतेषु समम् तिष्ठन्तम् अविनश्यन्तम् परमेश्वरम् पश्यति, सः पश्यति ।

So from this verse onwards, कृष्ण talks about the benefit of this knowledge, ज्ञानफलम्. There are several benefits and कृष्ण enumerates a few of them and the first benefit mentioned here is सर्वत्र सम-दर्शनम्. Seeing one आत्मा, seeing means not with the physical eye, through the eye of wisdom, ज्ञान चक्षुः, being aware of the changeless आत्मा which is in and through all the changing अनात्मा. Body changes, mind changes, thoughts change, all these change, but in and through all of them, the चैतन्य तत्त्वम्, the Consciousness does not undergo a change. Just as there is one water, permanent water, in and through the changing impermanent waves and bubbles, in and through the changing bodies and mind, there is the changeless आत्मा, the wise person does not lose sight of that. Therefore, he says: विनश्यत्सु सर्वेषु भूतेषु. Here भूत means what? The body-mind-complex, which are innumerable. Just as waves are innumerable, there are innumerable, infinite number of भूतम्, भूतम् means body-mind-complex and what type of body-mind-complex, विनश्यत्सु – which are subject to birth and death, like the waves rising and setting and all of them are विषमम् in nature. विषमम् means different. Physically every one of us is different, mentally you don't have to ask, intellectually different, thus there are differences also and amidst this differing, innumerable perishable bodies, समम् परमेश्वरम् – there is one imperishable thing. You call it either सत् principle, the Existence or you call it चित् principle, the Consciousness, that सत्-चित् आत्मा is called परमेश्वर. Here कृष्ण says that परमेश्वरम् is not somebody sitting above the clouds. That are all at LKG, they are the first lessons, but परमेश्वरम् is who? The very changeless आत्मा in everyone.

ईश्वरः सर्वभूतानाम् हृत्-देशे ... ॥ १८-६-१॥

यो वेद निहितम् गुहायाम् परमे व्योमन् । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-१ ॥

देहो देवालयः प्रोक्तः ... ।

Body is the temple and the आत्मा is the Lord, Wise person is one who does not lose sight of the Lord while transacting. So at the level of the conscious mind, I am aware of the impermanent and changing bodies and mind, but in the background the wise person does not lose sight of the आत्मा, that is why our very greeting is what? Not Hi. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द used to say that we used to say Hi to handle the cows and the horses, now the American culture we say Hi. It is not Hi. नमस्ते, नमस्ते means what? The आत्मा in you and the आत्मा in me, both of them are one and the same and to remind that alone we have some indication, either put चन्दन or कुङ्कुम or विभूति or anything that is to remind the presence of the divinity in you and me. And if I am aware of the permanent one, I will not depend upon the impermanent for security. If I am aware of the permanent one, I will handle the impermanent but I will not depend on the impermanent one, just as a drowning man trying to catch hold of a straw. What will happen? He will go down with that. So कृष्ण says समम् सर्वेषु भूतेषु तिष्ठन्तम् परमेश्वरम् आत्मानम् यः पश्यति. One who doesn't lose sight of this आत्मा, that is one who has got सम-दर्शनम्, अद्वैत दर्शनम्, अभेद दर्शनम्, सः पश्यति – he alone has got the right vision, he is called a seer. A sage is called a seer even though we also see so many things, nobody calls us a seer. Why? Because we see all other things except that which has to be seen. So the one who sees the thing to be seen is called Seer. Everybody should become a Seer.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 28-31

Up to the 24th verse, Lord कृष्ण dealt with all the six topics that अर्जुन wanted to know. प्रकृति, पुरुष, क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रज्ञः, ज्ञानम् and ज्ञेयम्. And thereafter, from verse no.25 up to 27th in three verses, Lord कृष्ण talked about the साधनs or preparatory disciplines required to gain this knowledge given in the first 24 verses. And he talked about all the levels of साधन, starting from कर्मयोग, then passing through उपासना, then श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम् and the culmination of the साधन should be only in knowledge. And also कृष्ण pointed out why he is insisting on knowledge, the reason is that the problem of संसार is because of an error with regard to our perception of ourselves. So Self-error or error with regard to Self-understanding is the problem and any error is caused by ignorance alone and therefore without the removal of ignorance, Self-delusion cannot go away. And therefore, knowledge is compulsory and through the knowledge self-delusion goes away and through that the संसार also goes away. Thus the साधनs were talked about in three verses from verse 25 to 27 and then from 28 onwards Lord कृष्ण is talking about the फलम्, the benefit of this knowledge. And this benefit कृष्ण presents in different ways. In the 28 verse, the फलम् that he talks about is right perceptive of the world. The right vision of the world, the complete understanding of the world which we call सम्यक् दर्शनम्, a proper perceptive. And what is this proper perceptive? This is purely based on the teaching, the teaching being that the whole universe is a mixture of प्रकृति and पुरुष, because the whole universe is born out of प्रकृति and पुरुष and therefore the universe will be a mixture of the two. Just as every child will have the features of both the parents, the father and mother, प्रकृति and पुरुष together are like the parents and therefore, the universe is a mixture of both. And our vision will be right vision and balanced vision only if we are aware both the प्रकृति aspect as well as the पुरुष aspect. If we are going to be preoccupied with प्रकृति and lose sight of पुरुष, then also problem. If we are going to be preoccupied with पुरुष and lose sight of प्रकृति, then also problem. A right balanced vision is being aware of both पुरुष and प्रकृति, not only in the entire creation, every living being, every human being is also a mixture of प्रकृति and पुरुष. The only thing is the प्रकृति part of a human being is physically perceptible because it is made up of solid tangible matter. प्रकृति being सगुण, (do you remember), सगुण, सविकार, मिथ्या, अचेतन तत्त्वम्. It is visible to the fleshy physical eyes, whereas the पुरुष being निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम्. It will not be visible to the physical eye but It has to be appreciated through our understanding. Just as when I look at the fan, only one aspect of the fan is visible to the eyes and that is the physical part of the fan, but behind the physical part, there is a non-tangible invisible electricity principle, which the eyes do not see but the ज्ञान चक्षु, physics ज्ञान चक्षु gives me the appreciation. What I see is one, what I appreciate is a mixture of two - the visible and the invisible. Similarly, when I look at every living being, what the eyes see is one, but with the other eye called, शास्त्र ज्ञान चक्षु, which is called the third eye of wisdom, ज्ञान चक्षु has to “see”, what do you mean by seeing? Appreciating and understanding the invisible पुरुष in every one. It is not that the Lord शिव has only got the third eye, we all should acquire the third eye. The two eyes will see the प्रकृति, the third eye at the middle of the forehead and that they say is symbolically indicated by the तिलकम् that we wear. Now nobody wears it, especially the younger generation feels ashamed to put the तिलकम्. Our शास्त्रs say that it represents the third eye of wisdom and why do you put on the forehead. Why not on the face? Why do you put there? Because in the तन्त्र शास्त्र, they talk about various चक्रs, symbolically and there is supposed to be a चक्र called आज्ञा चक्र and आज्ञा means पूर्ण ज्ञानम्, आ means पूर्णम् and ज्ञा means ज्ञानम्. So this third eye symbolized through आज्ञा चक्रम् and तिलकम् is supposed to be the invisible eye, which is aware of the पुरुष also. And of these two principles, the प्रकृति part will be subject to change, सविकारम्, the पुरुष part is not subject to change; प्रकृति part is variable from individual to individual, वर्ण भेद is there, आश्रम भेद is there, लिङ्ग भेद is there, it is विषमम्, whereas पुरुष is समम् in all the people. Therefore, कृष्ण says समम् सर्वेषु भूतेषु तिष्ठन्तम् पश्यति. This eye will be seeing what? विषमम् पश्यति. So the local physical eye, even without the study of scriptures, you don't require a गुरु or a शास्त्र or वेदान्त, without any training the physical eyes are going to see the विषमम् भूतानि, अनित्य भूतानि, the शास्त्र चक्षु should help me in seeing what, विषम अनित्य भूतेषु सम नित्य आत्म दर्शनम्, दर्शनम् not with the physical eyes but with the third eye which represents Vedantic study. And therefore कृष्ण said: सर्वेषु भूतेषु विषम अनित्य प्रकृतिषु समम् पुरुषम्. Here the word परमेश्वरम् indicates पुरुष. Don't imagine a personal God is sitting in everyone. Here, the word परमेश्वर represents निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम् परमेश्वरम्, यः पश्यति. And that doesn't mean in his preoccupation with पुरुष दर्शनम् he loses sight of प्रकृति. It is not so, he sees the प्रकृति also, he is aware of the पुरुष also. Just as I appreciate both the fan aspect as well as the electricity aspect. And according to the context, he emphasizes प्रकृति or पुरुष. As I said, when somebody asks who are you or bio-data, somebody asks, in that context I am निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य चेतन तत्त्वम् you should not say, in that context you can identify with प्रकृति and handle. But there are occasions when प्रकृति creates problems. Mortality frightens. Actions become a burden. Life becomes a bore. And when a person is troubled by life, when it appears noisy, constant activity and becomes a drag, then a person requires a different channel. When this channel creates problem, what should you do? Change the channel. When you look for stability, when you look for permanence, when you for पूर्णत्वम्, then the प्रकृति will not be able to provide, In fact, all the higher needs of human beings प्रकृति will not provide. It is very useful and entertaining in all transactions, but whenever there is a higher need, some time people tell, one lady was telling me, स्वामिजि I have everything but I am missing something. I don't have anything to complain, because wonderful husband, wonderful children, beautiful house, no water problem and the business is going well, I cannot give any complaint at all, but there is something missing. This is called higher spiritual need, when such a need comes, I should be able to withdraw from प्रकृति and own up the पुरुष तत्त्वम्, which alone gives peace, पूर्णत्वम्, security, immortality, stability, etc. And once you are rejuvenated and fresh, then again you are ready for all the activities. Like getting up after sleep. Therefore, that balanced vision of पुरुष and प्रकृति, not losing sight of पुरुष in and through the transaction is called आत्मनिष्ठा. They call it सहज समाधि. सहज समाधि means in and through all the transactions not losing sight of the पुरुष तत्त्वम्. Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing;

Verse No .29

समं पश्यन् हि सर्वत्र समवस्थितमीश्वरम् ।

न हि नस्त्यात्मानात्मानं ततो याति परां गतिम् ॥ १३-२९॥

समं पश्यन् हि सर्वत्र समवस्थितम् ईश्वरम् ।

न हि नस्ति आत्माना आत्मानम् ततः याति पराम् गतिम् ॥ १३-२९॥

(यः) सर्वत्र समवस्थितम् ईश्वरम् समं पश्यन् हि आत्माना आत्मानम् न हि नस्ति, (सः) ततः पराम् गतिम् याति ।

So the previous verse gave the first फलम् and first फलम् is what: right vision, सम्यक् दर्शनम् and which is a very very anti-depression tablet. So once in a while, everybody goes through either serious or mild depression, and anti-depression tablets will create problems, what is the best tablet, this दर्शनम् is the only permanent solution, सम्यक् दर्शनम्. Then in this verse, कृष्ण gives the second benefit of this knowledge, which is अमृतत्व प्राप्ति. Transcending mortality. Or immortality is the second benefit. As the prayer goes –

असतो मा सद्गमय तमसो मा ज्योतिर्गमय मृत्योर्मा अमृतङ्गमय ।

मा means me, please take me from untruth to truth, from darkness to light, from mortality to immortality. The word मा also means 'don't.' You should understand very clearly. If you take that meaning, what will happen? It will mean, don't take me to truth. Let me continue in the untruth. Here मा is not the indeclinable मा, it is declinable द्वितीया विभक्ति, एक वचनम्, take me. That अमृतत्व प्राप्ति is the benefit He gives. समम् पश्यन्. This wise person learns to have the सम-दर्शनम्, in and through the विषम दर्शनम्, which is required for transaction. Transaction requires विषम दर्शनम्. Even at the end of the class when you see several slippers, there you should not say: सर्वत्र सम-दर्शनम्. You cannot walk away with another's slipper. There you should have the विषम दर्शनम्, this is their slipper, this is my slipper, etc. Transaction requires विषम दर्शनम्, but behind, समम् पश्यन् सर्वत्र, सर्वत्र means in and through all the transactions पश्यन्, शृण्वन्, स्पृशन्, जिघ्रन्. Because the moment you lose sight of the सम-दर्शनम्, प्रकृति will frighten you. It is like the dream. The moment you lose sight of the fact that you are lying down on the bed comfortably, that is forgotten, the dream is capable of frightening you. The moment you lose sight of the screen in a movie, the characters become more real than they actually are and the movie can terribly frighten you, not only at that time, afterwards when you go home also. Similarly, the moment पुरुष is lost sight of, प्रकृति becomes a nightmare. And therefore समम् पश्यन् सर्वत्र, in all the states, all the conditions. What does he see? समवस्थितम् ईश्वरम्. Again ईश्वरम् here means पुरुष the आत्मा. It is not एकरूप ईश्वरम् that is talked about here, not even अनेक रूप ईश्वरम्. अनेकरूप ईश्वर was discussed in the 11th chapter, whereas here the word ईश्वर is neither referring to एकरूप ईश्वर nor the अनेकरूप ईश्वर but अरूप ईश्वरम्, free from all attributes. Therefore only समम्, which is same in everyone. And समवस्थितम्, which is very much present as the very अधिष्ठानम्, the support of प्रकृति. Because पुरुष is सत्यम्, प्रकृति is मिथ्या, without the support of पुरुष, प्रकृति cannot exist. Just as without the support of the screen the movie does not exist. Whether you are aware of the screen or not, screen alone supports the movie. Similarly, सम्यक् अधिष्ठानत्वेन अवस्थितम् ईश्वरम् पश्यन् – the wise person sees all the time in all these places. पश्यन् should not be taken as physically perceiving, but appreciating through ज्ञान चक्षुः. And what is the benefit he attains, पराम् गतिम् याति – he attains the highest goal of immortality. अमृतत्वम् याति – he attains immortality. He thereafter doesn't subject himself to mortality. And here कृष्ण presents that in a beautiful way that this ज्ञानि does not destroy himself thereafter. So according to कृष्ण, every अज्ञानि, संसारि is destroying himself. Even though he puts the blame on the world and the people, according to वेदान्त, world does not create any problem because of ignorance we are killing ourselves. We are all Self-destructive people. This is based on the ईशावास्योपनिषत् which says everyone is committing a suicide. Everyone is committing a suicide. How? शङ्कराचार्य explains this in two different ways beautifully: we will see both meanings, interesting. How does a person destroy himself? Because of the Self-ignorance, ignorance of the fact that I am आत्मा, he identifies with the body, the अनात्मा. So ignorance leads to body identification. And once I identify with the body I become a कर्ता. As आत्मा I am not a कर्ता, but once देहाभिमान comes, I become a कर्ता. And as a कर्ता, कर्ता means doer of actions. As a कर्ता I perform varieties of actions earning पुण्य-पाप कर्माणि. And therefore what are my earnings? Whether in the local bank any deposit is there or not, in our other bank we have got a very huge deposit of पुण्य-पाप कर्माणि. And according to वेदान्त, it is these पुण्य-पाप कर्म which are responsible for the creation of the body. And therefore, I create a body for myself by my own कर्म. If in the next जन्म, I am going to acquire a body who is responsible? Not the next जन्म parents. Not God. Not anything. If I acquire a body in the next जन्म, I am responsible for the arrival of that body. Through what? My own कर्म. So therefore, I create a body and then after the body hangs around for some time, when the body perishes, the end of the body is also caused by what? The doctors will give various reasons, heart attack or this attack or that attack, or accidents and various other causes doctors may say, but according to the शास्त्र, it is again the end of the कर्म, प्रारब्ध कर्म, that puts an end to the body. Therefore, body's arrival is because of whom, myself and the body's departure or death is again because of whom? Because of me alone, how? Through my own कर्म. And once that body is gone what happens? That is not the end of the journey. The journey never ends. Therefore, another body I acquire and again that body is again killed by me by my own कर्म. And again another body who creates? I create. And who kills that body? Again I alone. Therefore I alone am responsible for the repeated birth and death of myself, through the arrival and departure of the body. Therefore I am creating myself and I am destroying myself from the standpoint of the body. And therefore, I am self-destructive, I kill myself. And how long this will continue? As long as कर्म's continue. पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्, पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्. I am responsible for my death. So therefore I am a आत्महा, आत्महा means killer of myself from the standpoint of my body. And then शङ्कराचार्य gives another meaning also. From the standpoint of my higher nature also, that is my आत्मस्वरूपम् nature also, because of Self-ignorance I am killing as though my higher nature. I am destroying myself, myself means not the body, but my own higher nature. Then शङ्कराचार्य raises the question: how can a Self-ignorant person kill his own higher nature, the आत्मा, because after all the आत्मा is indestructible, how can you say ignorant person kills the आत्मा? शङ्कराचार्य says ignorant person kills the आत्मा as it were. Figuratively kills the आत्मा. What do you mean by figuratively killing the आत्मा? When I am not aware of my higher nature, I disown my higher nature. Just as a person who does not know the treasure which is lying underneath the ground, his own land, is not going to claim it, he is going to disown it because of his ignorance, similarly, an ignorant person disowns his higher nature and therefore the benefit that he can derive from his higher nature is denied to him. Is it not? When I have got treasure underneath and I am ignorant of that fact, the benefit of the richness that I am going to lose and since I am not enjoying the benefit of my higher nature, it is as though the higher nature is absent. The higher nature is present, but the higher nature is as though absent, why, because I don't derive the benefit of my higher nature, because of sheer ignorance and since the higher nature is as though absent, शङ्कराचार्य says we have killed or destroyed the higher nature as though. If something is destroyed, you don't derive the benefit of that. Similarly, आत्मा is as though destroyed, because I don't derive the benefit of it. And therefore, a Self-ignorant person has "destroyed" his own higher nature, because he doesn't enjoy the benefit of पूर्णत्वम्, अभयत्वम्, etc. And therefore from that standpoint also he is a suicide, he is destroying himself. And therefore every अज्ञानि destroys himself from the standpoint of the body also and every अज्ञानि destroys himself from the standpoint of आत्मा also. And therefore every अज्ञानि is a suicide. And if every अज्ञानि is Self-destroyer, what is the definition of a ज्ञानि? Opposite. Therefore, कृष्ण says a ज्ञानि does not destroy himself, he is not a Self-destroyer. That is said, look at the second line. न हिनस्ति आत्मना आत्मानम् – unlike an अज्ञानि, a ज्ञानि does not destroy himself either by the standpoint of the body or from the standpoint of the आत्मा. And therefore since he is not a Self-destroyer, he has discovered immortality. And that is said in the last portion, पराम् गतिम् याति. पराम् गतिम् means immortality, अमृतत्वम्. Continuing;

प्रकृत्यैव च कर्माणि क्रियमाणानि सर्वशः ।

यः पश्यति तथात्मानमकर्तारं स पश्यति ॥ १३-३०॥

प्रकृत्या एव च कर्माणि क्रियमाणानि सर्वशः ।

यः पश्यति तथा आत्मानम् अकर्तारम् सः पश्यति ॥ १३-३०॥

यः च प्रकृत्या एव कर्माणि सर्वशः क्रियमाणानि (सन्ति इति पश्यति), तथा आत्मानम् अकर्तारम् पश्यति, सः पश्यति ।

The third benefit of the knowledge is given here. We have seen two: first one is सम दर्शनम्, the second one is अमृतत्व प्राप्ति. Now the third प्रयोजनम् is अकर्तृत्व प्राप्ति – discovering the fact that I am अकर्ता. I am not a doer of any action. And this is a very important thing because कर्तृत्वम् alone is the cause of all the problems. Because as long as I am a कर्ता, I can never avoid कर्म and therefore कर्ता will be eternally associated with कर्म. And कर्म will never remain the same, they will gradually ripen. The कर्म will gradually ripen and get converted into favorable and unfavorable conditions. Even now our प्रारब्ध कर्म are ripening. Next year god alone knows how we will be and you cannot stop it, you cannot do anything. The कर्म, whether you like it or not, they are ripening. And when the कर्म ripen, the ripened कर्म-फलम् in the form of favorable and unfavorable situation, they will come back to me alone. What goes as कर्म outside will come back to me as कर्मफल, without any address-mistake. Whether your number is new number or old number, there will be no mistake, it will land properly. Sharp shooter, correctly it will land. When the कर्मफल comes to me and I have to face the music, I become a भोक्ता. Therefore If I am a कर्ता, I can never escape from being a भोक्ता and that भोक्ता status is a choice-less, helpless situation. That is why they say also that somebody was told that he is getting into seven and a half Saturn (शनि दश). This fellow thought that he will escape from that Saturn fellow and therefore he dug a tunnel and after hiding himself closed that also so that शनि will not know that where the hole starts. Then he went underneath at a long distance in a small room he sat to escape from Saturn. How long? 7- 1/2 years. After 7-1/2 years he came out, he called शनि and said ‘you see how I escaped from you.’ शनि said that ‘you sat in that corner underneath without any facilities, proper food, that is my effect. So therefore, you can never escape from being a भोक्ता. If you want to get out of भोक्तृत्वम्, there is only one way, you should get out of कर्तृत्वम्. You will definitely have कर्तृत्वम् as long as you have got देह अभिमान, because देह means कर्म will be there, because there are ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि, there are कर्मेन्द्रियाणि and therefore, प्रकृति अभिमान makes me a कर्ता. And the moment you drop the प्रकृति अभिमान and claim that अहम् पुरुष, that पुरुष owning up alone will take you out of both कर्तृत्वम् and भोक्तृत्वम्. Therefore, कृष्ण says: कर्माणि – all the कर्म's, good and bad actions, are प्रकृत्या एव क्रियमाणानि, they are all done by प्रकृति alone and प्रकृति alone can do कर्म's, because doing कर्म requires modification. To do any कर्म change is required. If I have to talk, my mouth has to undergo change. Even if I have to do a thinking action, there should be thought change. So कर्म means विकारम्. प्रकृति alone can do कर्म, because it is subject to modification. Whereas पुरुष, पुरुष means निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम्, that पुरुष is incapable of doing action and therefore कृष्ण says all the actions by all means, whether it is कायिकम्, वाचिकम्, or मानसम्, whether it is धार्मिकम्, or अधार्मिकम्, all of them are done by प्रकृति. प्रकृति means the body-mind-complex. You can call it शरीर त्रयम् or you can call it कोश पञ्चकम्, but if you don't know what is शरीर त्रयम् and पञ्चकोश, you can understand it as body-sense-mind-complex alone. सर्वज्ञः. And this wise person is very much aware of that. But he doesn't identify with the body-mind-complex. Then he identifies with what? आत्मानम्. He does not say I am doing. He says in my presence प्रकृति does everything. In my presence, प्रकृति does everything, body-mind-complex does everything. Then who am I? अकर्तारम् च पश्यति – I am अकर्ता and therefore I don't have सञ्चितम्, I don't have आगामि, I don't have प्रारब्धम्. Or else how is it possible to experience and finish off the कर्म's? It is impossible for you to exhaust all the कर्म's, because they are all अनन्तकोटि जन्मार्जितानि कर्माणि, you can never experience and exhaust the कर्म's. In one life itself, if you are going to exhaust 2,783 कर्मs (just a number, don't try to find out the meaning), while exhausting you are going to add 27,000. So it is impossible to put an end to the cyclic arrival and departure of कर्मs. The only way out of is you don't stop the cycle, but you get away from the cycle. Like the huge merry go round. Huge one, you know, in that cycle you sit and it goes round. So if it is for one minute or two minutes it is merry go around. But imagine, it is going on and on and it cannot be switched off and the power also doesn't go. Imagine you go round and round and you cannot do anything. So if you cannot switch off the cycle, the only way out is what? Jump out of that cycle, let it continue, you do come out of it. Similarly, प्रकृति cannot be stopped, I transcend प्रकृति, like waking up from dream and therefore, आत्मानम् अकर्तारम् पश्यति.

तत्त्ववितु महाबाहो गुणकर्मविभागयोः । गुणा गुणेषु वर्तन्त इति मत्वा न सज्जते ॥ ३-२८॥

प्रकृति will continue. Let me not identify with that. Of course this verse should be carefully understood. It should not be misunderstood and abused. Suppose a person argues; this is a very very convenient श्लोक, so you do all the अक्रमम्s and say that प्रकृत्या एव च कर्माणि क्रियमाणानि सर्वशः. अहम् the आत्मा am the अकर्ता, अभोक्ता, etc., everything is done by the body. Imagine a criminal who is tried in the court and the judge passes a verdict that he has done a crime and therefore 7 years of rigorous imprisonment. सुख राम might have become दुःख राम. So 7 years of rigorous imprisonment or something verdict was passed and that criminal quotes this गीता verse. “Oh Judge, प्रकृत्या एव च कर्माणि क्रियमाणानि, only the body does all the कर्मs, I the आत्मा does not do any कर्म at all, why are you giving me rigorous imprisonment?” What will the judge say: “My dear, I am not imprisoning you. In fact, I cannot imprison you because you are the all-pervading आत्मा, which cannot accommodated in a prison. In fact, all prisons are existing in you, I am not imprisoning you, because you are अकर्ता and अभोक्ता, you said body only did all the crimes, you know, I am only imprisoning the body.” Tit for tat, OK. So therefore remember वेदान्त should never be used for promoting अधर्म. Whenever we feel like supporting अधर्म through वेदान्त, it means we have not assimilated वेदान्त properly. If वेदान्त is correctly assimilated, it will promote धर्म. In fact, वेदान्त is the best method of promoting धर्म. So whether I have assimilated वेदान्त properly or not, how do I know? If वेदान्त promotes धर्म in my life, धर्म means what, ethical life it should promote, if it is supporting अधर्म then the best thing is keep aside the वेदान्त for some time, follow धर्म शास्त्र after studying it properly and thereafter come to वेदान्त. Therefore वेदान्त is not meant for abuse. This should not be misinterpreted. So thus what is the third benefit of आत्मज्ञानम्? अकर्तृत्व प्राप्ति – discovering the fact that I am अकर्ता. Continuing;

Verse No .31

यदा भूतपृथग्भावमेकस्थमनुपश्यति ।

तत एव च विस्तारं ब्रह्म सम्पद्यते तदा ॥ १३-३१॥

यदा भूत-पृथक्-भावम् एकस्थम् अनुपश्यति ।

ततः एव च विस्तारम् ब्रह्म सम्पद्यते तदा ॥ १३-३१॥

यदा भूत-पृथक्-भावम् एकस्थम् च ततः एव विस्तारम् अनुपश्यति तदा ब्रह्म सम्पद्यते।

So this is a deeper and significant verse wherein several steps of Vedantic understanding are hidden. The understanding of आत्मा has to grow through several stages. And to understand those several stages, we will first take the example of आकाश or space. Initially, I will not understand the space at all, because it is too intangible, invisible. Generally we think space is emptiness and nothingness and therefore we take space for granted.

1) So first I should learn that this hall (for example, or any enclosure for that matter) has got space within. So when I am looking into a hall there are two things. Not hall alone, but the hall with space inside. When space alone is there, generally we think, we say there is nothing. It is not nothing, space is not nothingness but it is a positive substance. Even scientifically space is not emptiness or nothingness, it is a positive substance, a subtle substance. What I understand first? There is space inside.

2) Then later I understand that space is not only within this hall, but the space is inside all the enclosures, big halls, small halls, or even a vessel or our own stomach, everywhere space is there. That is the next stage. Space is not only within one hall, but in all enclosures, next stage.

3) Then the next stage I understand is that even though halls are many and varied, the space within is not many and varied, space is one and the same within every hall. The halls are different but space is not different. This is the next stage.

4) Then the next stage I go through is not only there is one space inside all the halls, but there is space outside the halls also. Space is not only within every hall, but the space is outside, both inside and outside.

5) Thereafter the next stage is (it seems there is no end), really speaking, space is not inside and outside the hall, that is not the right expression, there is only one space in which all the halls are resting. So space is not in the hall, but it is the reverse, halls are within the space (you should not say 'spaces'. If you say spaces then I will say that there is space within). Therefore space is only one. Within one space all the halls exist. So space is the स्थिति कारणम् of all the halls. That is the next stage.

6) And then the final stage is, space is not only the स्थिति कारणम् i.e., the support for the existence of all the halls, according to शास्त्र, all the things in the creation are even born out of space alone. आकाशात् (तैत्तिरीय, do you remember). आकाशात् वायु, from आकाश is वायु, वायोरग्निः । अग्नेरापः । अद्भ्यः पृथिवी । पृथिव्या ओषधयः । From the so called empty space alone everything is born and in the space alone all of them survive and into that space alone all of them resolve.

See how many stages we have seen.

- a) First we said that there is the hall and space.
- b) Then space is in every hall.
- c) Then space is the same in every hall,
- d) thereafter space is not only inside the hall but outside also.
- e) Then really speaking space is not inside, all the halls are in the space and
- f) finally what we said, space is the one which holds all the halls and space is the one from which all of them are born and into all of them resolve.

If you have understood this space, then we have to extend it to the Consciousness. So space should be equated to Consciousness and hall should be equated to the body. Afterwards one has to go through all these steps. What is that?

- i) Within the body there is Consciousness. Then what is the next stage?
- ii) Consciousness is not only in my body but in everybody. Then what is the next stage?
- iii) Even though the bodies are many and varied, Consciousness behind all the bodies is one and the same. Then what is the next stage?
- iv) Consciousness is not only within the body, but Consciousness is outside the body also. Then what is the next stage?
- v) Really speaking, Consciousness is not inside the body, then all the bodies are resting in one Consciousness.
- vi) And then the final stage is not only all the bodies are resting in that Consciousness, they are all born out of that Consciousness, rest in that Consciousness, resolve in that Consciousness and that Consciousness I am.

If you can tell this, you can say अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. This is the essence of this verse. The details in the next class.

CHAPTER 13, VERSES 31-35

Up to the 24th verse of this chapter, Lord कृष्ण dealt with the six topics that अर्जुन wanted to know and from verse no.25 up to the end Lord कृष्ण winds up the present discourse by talking about ज्ञान साधनानि and ज्ञानफलम्. In three verses, 25, 26 and 27, the साधनस were talked about in the form of कर्मयोग, उपासना, वेदान्त विचार, etc. And now from the 28th verse onwards, the ज्ञानफलम् is being talked about. Of that, we have seen up to verse no.31.

i) First फलम् that was mentioned by कृष्ण was सर्वत्र सम-दर्शनम्. Even though superficially, the sense organs continue to see the differences, the eye of wisdom sees the inherent non-duality. The inherent oneness behind this superficial duality, the ज्ञानि sees and this very सम-दर्शनम्, saves him from strong राग-द्वेष. Powerful राग-द्वेष alone is the cause of संसार. राग-द्वेष gets weakened because of the सम-दर्शनम्. This is benefit No.1.

ii) Then the second benefit mentioned was अमृतत्व प्राप्तिः. When a person sees plurality and limitation, finitude and mortality are inevitable. When I see the variety of waves, certainly I will see the birth and death of the wave, mortality is my vision, but when I see the water behind the waves, from the standpoint of the water there is neither birth nor death and therefore, एकत्व दर्शनम् or सम-दर्शनम् leads to अमृतत्व प्राप्तिः that is the second फलम् mentioned.

iii) And the third फलम् mentioned in the 30th verse is अकर्तृत्व दर्शनम्. Recognition of the fact that all the actions belong to the प्रकृति, the matter-principle only and I, the पुरुष who is the साक्षि behind the प्रकृति, who is the क्षेत्रज्ञः behind the क्षेत्रम् that I do not do any action. In my presence actions take place but myself am अकर्ता. This अकर्तृत्व प्राप्ति, freedom from the notion of doership is the third फलम्. सम-दर्शनम्, अमृतत्व प्राप्ति, अकर्तृत्व प्राप्ति.

iv) And then the fourth फलम् which I introduced in the last class, in verse no.31 is ब्रह्मत्व प्राप्ति. I recognize I am ब्रह्मन्, the जगत् कारणम्, the जगत् अधिष्ठानम्. And to assimilate this idea, in the scriptures Self-knowledge is compared to waking up from a dream. Imagine I am transacting in dream, when I am in dream identified with the dream body, I feel I am a small creature, located within dream time and dream space. And within the dream itself I see varieties of things and beings who are all capable of frightening me, giving me राग, द्वेष and even I run away from some of the dream objects. And I run towards some of the other dream objects, प्रवृत्ति, निवृत्ति, all of them are there. Therefore, when I am in dream I feel that I am located within the dream world. I am a creature in the dream-world. But the moment I wake up, what is my discovery? I am not a member within the dream-world, on the other hand, the whole dream-world including the dream-time, dream-space, dream-objects, dream-mountains, stars, my प्रवृत्तिः, my निवृत्तिः, everything is existing within me, the waker. As a dreamer I am a creature within the dream, whereas as a waker I am the creator of the dream. A big reversal, the creature becomes the creator. And this conversion did not require any change at all, it only requires waking up, which is nothing but disidentifying with the dream body and claiming my waker nature. And therefore this reversal is not an impossible thing. What reversal? Reversal from creature to creator. Creature within the dream to creator of the dream. Not only I am the creator of the dream, I am the one who sustains the dream. Not only सृष्टि कारणम् but स्थिति कारणम् and at the time of waking up, the whole dream-world resolves where? It resolves within my own mind. Not only dream-world, even dream-time and space are swallowed by me. I am not within the dream-time, on the other hand, dream-time is within me. I am not within the dream space, but the dream-space is within me. I am not a product within the dream-world, the dream-world itself is a product of mine. But this we will nod our head wonderfully when it is dealing with dream. That is good. What वेदान्त says is: This universe is also another channel of the dream and just as I convert myself from dream-creature to dream-creator, I can convert myself from the waking-world-creature to creator of this world and this conversion is accomplished by dis-identification from the body. Disidentification from the dream body made me waker No.1. Disidentification from this body will make me a higher waker. And as a higher waker, what do I claim? I am the Consciousness-principle from whom this world, this time, this space, including this body is born. Just as I create a special dream-body for myself for transacting in the dream world, this body is also created by me who am the original waker, which is called the Consciousness-principle and therefore, I create this world along with time and space. I sustain this world along with time and space and ultimately I resolve this world into what? Myself. This is revealed in the well-known कैवल्योपनिषत् मन्त्रः

मयि सर्वम् लयम् याति तद् ब्रह्म अद्वयमस्म्यहम् ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-१९

The waker is able to make this statement with regard to the dream creation, a ज्ञानि is able to make this same statement with regard to this creation. What is the statement? मयि एव सकलम् जातम्. Everything is born out of me. Which me? Not this miserable body. Because body is a created thing. I am talking about the creator conscious-principle. And the day I am able to claim this glory. What glory? I am not a कार्यम्, but I am कारणम्. I am not a creature, but the creator himself. कृष्ण says, then and then alone, you can claim अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. These are all wonderful verses giving you the सारम् of the उपनिषत्s. Look at the श्लोक. भूत-पृथक्-भावम् एकस्थम् अनुपश्यति – the wise person sees this following fact. And how does he recognize this fact? Who helps him wake up? Just as for waking up from this dream, some parent mother or father has to wake up the child, like that, the गुरु and the शास्त्रम् shakes me, उत्तिष्ठत जाग्रत प्राप्य वरान्निबोधत. For how long are you going to sleep? For how long are you going to see the dreams? Wake up. So अनुपश्यति. अनुपश्यति means what? Discovers this fact in keeping with the teaching of the शास्त्र. अनु means शास्त्र आचार्य उपदेशम् अनु – supported by the teaching of गुरु and शास्त्र, this wise person sees the fact. What fact? भूत-पृथक्-भावम् – the existence of this manifold universe. भूत means what, the manifold things and beings, भाव means existence, in whom? एकस्थम् – to be located in one आत्मा, which is himself. एकस्थम् means एकस्मिन् आत्मनि मयि स्थितम्. So when the wise person recognizes the fact that this pluralistic universe of things and beings is resting in me, the non-dual Self. That means what? I am स्थिति कारणम् and not only स्थिति कारणम्, ततः एव च विस्तारम्, विस्तारम् means the origination, the emergence. Emergence of what? The pluralistic universe of things and beings. The emergence of the pluralistic universe of things and beings to be from where? ततः एव – from the very same आत्मा. So in me alone the world rests, from me alone the world emerges out. Just as we can say that the dream world rests in me and the entire dream world emerges out of me. But the tragedy is what: the dream comes out of me and the very same dream which I create becomes a nightmarish experience for myself. So it becomes a Frankenstein. I create something and my own creation becomes problem for me. Like sometimes our own children, परम्परा प्राप्तम्. We are the cause, the children are the effect and they themselves become headache for me, not always. sometimes. Thus, this creation is my creation, now it is threatening me, frightening me. ततः एव च विस्तारम् means I am सृष्टि कारणम् also. So एकस्थम् indicates स्थिति कारणम्. विस्तारम् indicates सृष्टि कारणम्, what is left out which we have to supply? त्वं कारणम् also I am. इति यदा अनुपश्यति. When I can make this statement, not merely verbally, but I can make this statement from my own inner heart. I can say it and mean it. When I can do that, then alone I can claim what? अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि. So कृष्ण says, तदा – then and then alone, ब्रह्म सम्पद्यते – a ज्ञानि has become one with his higher nature. Just as the dreamer on waking up has become one with what? His own higher waker nature, fearless waker nature. Similarly, I have become one with ब्रह्मन्, my own higher waker nature.

अदृश्ये अनात्मे अनिरुद्धे अनिलये अभयम् प्रतिष्ठाम् विन्दते । ॥
तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-७-१॥

After waking up, dream is not a problem. In dream, dream is a problem. So what is the fourth benefit? ब्रह्मत्व प्राप्ति. Continuing;

Verse No .32

अनादित्वान्निर्गुणत्वात्परमात्मायमव्ययः ।

शरीरस्थोऽपि कौन्तेय न करोति न लिप्यते ॥ १३-३२॥

अनादित्वात् निर्गुणत्वात् परमात्मा अयम् अव्ययः ।

शरीरस्थः अपि कौन्तेय न करोति न लिप्यते ॥ १३-३२॥

हे कौन्तेय! अयम् परमात्मा अनादित्वात्, निर्गुणत्वात्, अव्ययः (अस्ति, अतः सः) शरीरस्थः (सन्) अपि न करोति, न (च) लिप्यते ।

I said that Self-knowledge can be compared to waking up from dream. Even though there are many similarities between Self-knowledge and waking up from dream, there is one major dissimilarity which we have to remember. So whenever we give an example, the example and the original will have many similarities, but we should remember the example and original will have dissimilarities also. If there is no dissimilarity at all, it will not be an example, it will be original. So ज्ञानम् is comparable to waking but there is a small difference. What is that? When I wake up from dream, the dream totally disappears from my experience. When I wake up from dream, the dream-world physically disappears. But in the case of Self-knowledge, I do wake up from this dream alright, but even after waking up for some time this world continues to appear in front of me. In this respect, there is a difference between waking from the dream and waking up from ignorance. And therefore a ज्ञानि knows I am the कारणम् and the world is my projection only but the world continues to appear and this state is called जीवन्मुक्तिः and you can imagine that a person wakes up from dream and continues to have the dream. Imagine. It is not like that. But imagine the dream world continues. But somehow you have known that this is a dream, you come to know. Thereafter the dream continues. What will happen? You will enjoy the glory of the dream, but you will not be frightened, because of the dreamness of the dream is known to you. Similarly, a ज्ञानि continues to live in the world, continues to be in the body also, but he has the knowledge that the body is like dream and I am like the waker and whatever gain and loss happens in dream will not make any difference for the waker, money loss, money gain, all those things will not make any difference. Similarly, gain and loss in this world also, will not make any difference for me, who is the waker, who has the higher nature. And therefore, कृष्ण says here, अयम् परमात्मा अव्ययः. I the आत्मा my own higher nature of Consciousness is अव्ययः is not subject to any change. निर्विकारः. Just as the waker is not wet by the dream rain, not burned by the dream fire, not wounded by the dream tiger biting, whatever happens in the dream world, the waker is not affected. Similarly, I the परमात्मा am अव्ययः. And what is the reason? अनादित्वात् – because the आत्मा is without a beginning. So जन्म रहितत्वात्. And you should remember तत्त्वबोध, जन्म is one of the six modifications, अस्ति, जायते, वर्धते, विपरिणमते, अपक्षीयते, विनश्यति. Birth is one of the six modifications. If birth modification is not there, all the other modifications are also not there. And therefore, आत्मा is अव्ययः. अव्ययः means निर्विकार. षट्-विकार रहित and निर्गुणत्वात् – and since आत्मा is attributeless, there is no attribute-wise modification also. Modification is two-fold. When milk becomes curd, the modification is substance modification, substantial modification, the milk substance itself has undergone a change. So this is called substantial change. When you are making ornaments out of gold, when gold becomes a bangle, there is no change in the substance. If there is change in substance, nobody will give the gold for making ornaments. So when gold becomes ornaments, what type of change takes place, not substantial change, substance is the change, but the change is only in the superficial form or an attribute. Thus change is two-fold, substantial and attributive change. आत्मा does not have both changes. Being birthless, it doesn't have substantial change; being attributeless, it doesn't have attributive change. To change, some attribute should be there, is it not? So when it is निर्गुणम्, how can there be change in the attribute of the आत्मा. Therefore, it is absolutely changeless. And this आत्मा शरीरस्थः अपि. Even after waking up and knowing that I am the आत्मा, I continue to be in the body, in the body also, शरीरस्थः. But what is the advantage? न करोति न लिप्यते – आत्मा remains अकर्ता, free from actions and न लिप्यते – continues to be अभोक्ता, without the फलम्. The शरीरम् has got action and results, the sense organs have got action and results, the mind has got action and results, but आत्मा does not have कर्म or फलम्. And therefore, what is the next benefit of आत्मज्ञानम्? I know that I am अभोक्ता. We have talked about अकर्ता earlier. Now we are adding अभोक्ता. I have अकर्तृत्वम् and अभोक्तृत्वम्. And remember, संसार is defined as कर्तृत्वम् and भोक्तृत्वम् only, doership and enjoyership is संसार, आत्मा is free from both. Continuing;

Verse No .33

यथा सर्वगतं सौक्ष्म्यादाकाशं नोपलिप्यते ।

सर्वत्रावस्थितो देहे तथात्मा नोपलिप्यते ॥ १३-३३॥

यथा सर्वगतम् सौक्ष्म्यात् आकाशम् न उपलिप्यते ।

सर्वत्र-अवस्थितः देहे तथा आत्मा न उपलिप्यते ॥ १३-३३॥

यथा सर्वगतम् आकाशम् सौक्ष्म्यात् न उपलिप्यते, तथा सर्वत्र देहे अवस्थितः आत्मा न उपलिप्यते ।

In the previous verse Lord कृष्ण said, आत्मा is associated with everything, but not affected by anything. So this is called immanence and transcendence. Immanence means it is associated with everything and transcendence means it is not affected by anything. Just as the screen of the movie is associated with every object in the movie, so when there is the lac-bungalow show in the महाभारतम्, the screen is intimately associated with the fire, but it is not burned. Similarly, when it is a titanic movie, the water is all over, screen is intimately associated with the water, but it not wet by water. Otherwise, after every show they have to dry the screen with a dryer. They don't do it. So its pervasion is called immanence but remaining untainted is called transcendence. अन्तर्यामित्वे सति असङ्गत्वम्. And to assimilate this idea, which idea?, आत्मा is associated with all but not affected by any, कृष्ण wants to give two examples, most well-known example, very widely quoted in the उपनिषत्, कृष्ण borrows from the उपनिषत्s, one example is आकाश, another example is प्रकाश. आकाश means space and remember space is not emptiness, but it is the subtlest form of matter. Space is not nothingness or emptiness, it is the subtlest form of matter. Space is one example and प्रकाश, the light is another example. Space and आत्मा have got several common features. That is why it is an ideal example. What are some of the common features?

- 1) एकत्वम्. Both are only one. आत्मा एकः. आकाशः एकः.
- 2) सर्व व्यापकत्वम्. आत्मा is all-pervading. आकाशः is all-pervading.
- 3) अचलत्वम्. Being all-pervading, आत्मा cannot move from one place to another, आकाशः also cannot move. Space will go to मुम्बई and come? Your body can go. एकत्वम्, सर्व व्यापकत्वम्, अचलत्वम्,
- 4) निर्विकारत्वम्. आकाशः remains the same. It does not get older or younger. It does not get out of shape, all these are for objects in आकाशः, आकाशः itself is निर्विकारः. आत्मा is also निर्विकार.

5) अखण्डत्वम्. आत्मा is partless. खण्ड means part. आकाशः also doesn't have part. आकाशः is indivisible.

6) And आकाश and आत्मा are असङ्गः. This is the main thing कृष्ण is going to talk. आकाशः is associated with everything but आकाशः is not polluted, is not tainted by either the good qualities or the bad qualities, आकाशः doesn't become turbid, it doesn't become fragrant or foul smelling, असङ्गत्वम्.

7) And finally, आकाशः is सर्व आधारत्वम्. It accommodates, supports everything. The whole cosmos is located in आकाशः, therefore आकाशः is विश्वाधारम् and भगवान् is also, आत्मा is also विश्वाधारम्. That is why in विष्णुसहस्रनाम, after विश्वाधारम् what comes, गगनसदृशम्. गगनम् means आकाशः.

And therefore, आत्मा is like आकाशः. आत्मा is not आकाश because, आकाशः is जडम्, अचेतन तत्त्वम्, whereas आत्मा is चेतन तत्त्वम्, therefore it is only comparable to आकाशम्. In fact, next week in तैत्तिरीय class, we will see one meditation - आकाशः ध्यानम्.

8) And one more, सूक्ष्मत्वम्. आकाशः cannot be easily comprehended intellectually. That is why scientists had confusion in determining the nature of आकाशः. For sometime they thought that it is emptiness, for sometime they postulated that it is ether, even now I don't know whether scientists clearly know what this space is. Therefore it is not easily comprehensible, you cannot see, you cannot hear it, you cannot touch आकाशः, see आकाशः, but somehow you conceive of आकाशः. Therefore सूक्ष्मत्वम् is another common feature between आकाशः and आत्मा and therefore कृष्ण gives this example: सर्वगतम् आकाशम् न उपलिप्यते – the all-pervading space is not affected by anything. Because of what? सौक्ष्म्यात् – because of its extremely subtle nature, fine nature, minute nature, it is not affected by anything, तथा – in the same way, आत्मा न उपलिप्यते – the आत्मा also is not tainted by, polluted by anything. सर्वत्र देहे अवस्थितः – even though it is associated with every body - body may be fat, but आत्मा is not fat, you need not slim the आत्मा. body may be lean but आत्मा is not lean, mind may have राग-द्वेष काम-क्रोध, but आत्मा doesn't have. न मे द्वेषरागौ न मे लोभमोहौ. So thus आत्मा is comparable to आकाशः. Then the next example.

Verse No .34

यथा प्रकाशयत्येकः कृत्स्नं लोकमिमं रविः ।

क्षेत्रं क्षेत्री तथा कृत्स्नं प्रकाशयति भारत ॥ १३-३४॥

यथा प्रकाशयति एकः कृत्स्नम् लोकम् इमम् रविः ।

क्षेत्रम् क्षेत्री तथा कृत्स्नम् प्रकाशयति भारत ॥ १३-३४॥

हे भारत! यथा एकः रविः इमम् कृत्स्नम् लोकम् प्रकाशयति, तथा क्षेत्री कृत्स्नम् क्षेत्रम् प्रकाशयति ।

The second example is सूर्य प्रकाशः – the sunlight and I am not talking about the Sun also, Sun is a thing located at 9 crores miles away, we are not talking about the source of the light, but we are talking about the sunlight, the formless light which pervades the entire earth during daytime. And आत्मा is comparable to the sunlight. And here also you can find several common features, many of them similar to the आकाशः example. So here also

- i) एकत्वम् Sunlight is only One, because there is only one Sun (Don't say stars are there; it is from the solar system angle) and
- ii) here also सर्वगतत्वम्, the sunlight pervades the entire earth, at least relatively
- iii) and अचलत्वम्, sunlight does not move because it is already everywhere,
- iv) निर्विकारत्वम्, the light does not undergo any change at all when I move the hand, light is not moving or changing.
- v) And similarly, असङ्गत्वम्, the light does not get polluted even when it falls on my hand. Light falls on my hand but light does not get dirty.

vi) Similarly, अखण्डत्वम्, light is partless. If light has got part - when there is no power supply in the house, a chunk of light can be cut and take it to home. It cannot be cut, अच्छेद्यः, अदाह्यः, अवलेद्यः, अशोष्यः and

vii) finally, the light illumines everything and like the light the आत्मा also illumines. Illumines means what: makes everything known, because of Consciousness alone, things are known or illumined, without Consciousness if matter alone is there in the universe then there will be nobody to know anything. Imagine, without our being present, things like, fan light, etc., are there, then who is conscious of whom? There is no subject object relationship at all. Subject can come only when Consciousness comes and therefore Consciousness is the illuminator of everything like the Sun. And therefore कृष्ण says here, एकः रविः – one sun or sunlight, इमम् कृत्स्नम् लोकम् प्रकाशयति – illumines this entire universe but without getting polluted by that.

viii) And Similarly, सूक्ष्मत्वम्, the light also cannot be touched by me, light is here, I cannot touch it, you cannot taste it, light cannot be smelled, you cannot hear the light, In fact, you cannot even see the light here. I have often told you when the light alone is there without a reflecting medium, the light by itself is incomprehensible. So therefore light is what सूक्ष्मम्. Similarly, आत्मा also cannot be touched, cannot be smelled, cannot be heard, cannot be seen, therefore you cannot say that It is not there, since I cannot touch the आत्मा, therefore आत्मा is not there, one cannot tell that way, since I cannot touch the light, you cannot say that light is not there, you cannot say that. Light is there, even though intangibly. Similarly,

अशब्दम् अस्पर्शम् अरूपम् अव्ययम् तथा अरसम् नित्यम् अगन्धवत् च यत्।

अनाद्य् अनन्तम् महतः परम् ध्रुवम् निचार्य तम् मृत्यु-मुखात् प्रमुच्यते ॥
कठोपनिषत् १-३-१५ ॥

This is the definition of आत्मा given by कठोपनिषत्. Therefore, previous श्लोक compared आत्मा to आकाशः, this श्लोक compared आत्मा to प्रकाशः. And that आत्मा I am and therefore, what is my knowledge. I am like आकाशः and I am like प्रकाशः. This is an aide for meditation. So thus, two brilliant examples कृष्ण gave. They are not original examples of कृष्ण, they are humbly simply borrowed from the उपनिषत्, in कठोपनिषत्.

सूर्यो यथा सर्वलोकस्य चक्षुः न लिप्यते चाक्षुषैर्बाह्यदोषैः ।

एकस्तथा सर्वभूतान्तरात्मा न लिप्यते लोकदुःखेन बाह्यः ॥ कठोपनिषत् २-२-११॥

Verse No .35

क्षेत्रक्षेत्रज्ञयोरैवमन्तरं ज्ञानचक्षुषा ।

भूतप्रकृतिमोक्षं च ये विदुर्यान्ति ते परम् ॥ १३-३५॥

क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः एवम् अन्तरम् ज्ञान-चक्षुषा ।

भूत-प्रकृति-मोक्षम् च ये विदुः यान्ति ते परम् ॥ १३-३५॥

एवम् ये ज्ञान-चक्षुषा क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः अन्तरम् (ज्ञानं) भूत-प्रकृति-मोक्षम् च विदुः ते परम् यान्ति ।

So the final benefit of this knowledge is given here in the form of मोक्ष itself. Freedom. Freedom for whom? The one who has got the discrimination between क्षेत्र and क्षेत्रज्ञः. क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञयोः अन्तरम् एवम् विदुः – the wise people recognize the difference between क्षेत्र and क्षेत्रज्ञः or to put in another language, the difference between पुरुष and प्रकृति or to put in English, the difference between Consciousness and matter. The difference between Consciousness and matter. The wise people recognize. How do they see the difference? ज्ञान-चक्षुषा – with the penetrating, discerning eye of wisdom. So the sense organs cannot differentiate. Just as I cannot differentiate the electricity and fan by this eye, but the differentiation is in terms of my understanding. The light and hand are not physically separated, but intellectually you know the difference between the light and hand. Similarly, brain and Consciousness, they are not one and the same, brain is matter, Consciousness is a separate principle. The one who knows the difference and what are the differences? We saw four differences: One is चेतनम्, another is अचेतनम्, sentient and insentient, one is निर्गुणम् another is सगुणम्, one is attributeless, the other is attributed, one means which one? Consciousness is attributeless, matter is attributed. निर्विकारम्-सविकारम्, Consciousness is changeless, matter is ever changing. And कृष्ण wants to emphasize the 4th difference in this श्लोक, which is the most important and technical difference. Do you remember the 4th difference? चेतनम्-अचेतनम्, निर्गुणम्-सगुणम्, निर्विकारम्-सविकारम्. Then? सत्यम् and मिथ्या. Consciousness alone exists independently, matter cannot exist independently. So Consciousness has got intrinsic existence, matter has got only borrowed existence. Just as the screen exists independent of the movie, but movie characters cannot exist independent of the screen. If screen goes, movie characters cannot be there, if movie characters goes, screen will be there. During interval we see the screen, Isn't so? Similarly, I the Consciousness exist independently, the whole world is like a movie running in me and just as movie cannot taint the screen, the मिथ्या प्रपञ्च cannot affect I, the सत्य पुरुष. Therefore, भूत-प्रकृति-मोक्षम् च. So here मोक्षम् refers to मिथ्यात्वम्. Very careful. Very misleading मोक्ष means the absence of real existence. That means it has got only borrowed existence, like the dream or movie. So मिथ्यात्वम् of what? पुरुष or प्रकृति? मिथ्यात्वम् of what? भूतप्रकृति – the मिथ्यात्वम् of प्रकृति as well as the other inert things and beings. So भूत-प्रकृति-मोक्षम् च. The मिथ्यात्वम् of matter, which indirectly includes the सत्यत्वम् of Consciousness. मोक्षम् च ये विदुः. Those who recognize अहम् सत्यम् जगत् मिथ्या. And therefore world cannot touch me. इति

ॐ तत्सदिति श्रीमद्भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायां योगशास्त्रे श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे क्षेत्रक्षेत्रज्ञविभागयोगो नाम त्रयोदशोऽध्यायः ॥ १३॥

Thus ends the 13th chapter which is titled क्षेत्र क्षेत्रज्ञ विभाग योग or प्रकृति पुरुष विभाग योग.

CHAPTER 13, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 13th chapter. I had pointed out that the 13th chapter is the beginning of the 3rd षट्कम् of the गीता, the 3rd group of the six chapters.

- In the first षट्कम्, consisting of the first six chapters, Lord कृष्ण highlighted कर्मयोग साधन,
- While in the 2nd षट्कम्, the 2nd group for six chapters beginning from the 7th chapter up to the 12th chapter, कृष्ण highlighted उपासनायोग
- And now in the 3rd and final षट्कम्, beginning from the 13th कृष्ण is going to highlight ज्ञानयोग.

And especially in the three chapters, thirteen, fourteen and fifteen, कृष्ण brings out the essence contained in all the उपनिषत्s and therefore all these three chapters are important and among them also, the 13th chapter is considered to be very important from philosophical angle. The entire उपनिषत् सार is given in this chapter and this chapter, like most of the other chapters, begins with a question from अर्जुन which is given in some गीता books. In certain other गीता books this question is not there, but we can supply the question because it is useful and in this question found in the first verse, अर्जुन asked for clarification regarding six technical terms, occurring in the शास्त्र.

एतद्वेदितुमिच्छामि ज्ञानं ज्ञेयं च केशव ॥ १३-१॥

आत्मा. So three we have reduced into one. Similarly, the word क्षेत्रम् and प्रकृति are two words implying the same topic. We can refer to it as अनात्मा. So क्षेत्रम् is equal to प्रकृति: is equal to अनात्मा. Therefore, three topics we have reduced into one, two topics we have reduced into one, put together 5 topics, we have reduced into two. So, thus आत्मा is one topic, अनात्मा is another topic. Then the 6th and final topic that अर्जुन wants to know is ज्ञानम्. And this ज्ञानम् should be separately taken because it doesn't come under आत्मा, it doesn't come under अनात्मा also, therefore ज्ञानम् should be taken as separate topic. Thus 6 topics can be reduced into three, आत्मा, अनात्मा and ज्ञानम्. Now these 6 topics or to put in our present language is 3 topics, आत्मा, अनात्मा and ज्ञानम्. Lord कृष्ण discusses from the 2nd verse up to the 24th verse, verse no.2 to verse no.24, कृष्ण gives these three topics, आत्मा, अनात्मा and ज्ञानम्. Now we will briefly see what is कृष्ण's description. First I will take up the word अनात्मा, which is equivalent, which two words, क्षेत्रम् and प्रकृति put together we are referring to as अनात्मा. And what is अनात्मा as revealed by कृष्ण here? कृष्ण says whatever I experience, whatever I experience in front of me, whatever दृश्य पदार्थ is there, will come under अनात्मा. In संस्कृत, we use the word दृश्यम्, in English we can translate it as anything experienced is अनात्मा. Then what all things will fall under this अनात्मा. The entire universe will fall under अनात्मा, because it is an object of experience. It is an object of experience. It may not be an object in the present, which can become an object of experience. So any objectifiable thing is called अनात्मा. Even the heavens will come under अनात्मा, because even though I don't objectify the heavens now, if I gather sufficient पुण्यम् and go there, then the heavens will become objectifiable. And therefore, we don't say what is objectified, we say what is objectifiable, whatever is experienceable, is अनात्मा, therefore the world is अनात्मा. And then कृष्ण points out the very body comes under the object of experience, because I am able to intimately experience the conditions of the body and therefore the body also will come under अनात्मा. And coming further closer, even the mind is an object of experience, because I am able to intimately feel and know the conditions of my mind, which includes the intellectual conditions also. And therefore, the mind also comes under अनात्मा. And therefore, putting them together, the world plus the body plus the mind along with all their conditions put together is called अनात्मा. And what is the nature of this अनात्मा? If you analyze, the nature of this अनात्मा is

i) No.1, it is अचेतन स्वरूपम्, it is जडम्, material in nature. So the entire दृश्य प्रपञ्च, the अनात्मा is made up of matter and therefore, it is inert in nature. Even though the body seems to be sentient, according to the scriptures the sentiency of the body is not intrinsic or natural sentiency but it is borrowed and that is why at the time of death, this sentient body becomes insentient indicating that sentiency is not the intrinsic nature. So therefore, body even though seemingly चेतनम्, body is also naturally अचेतनम् and extending that कृष्ण says, the mind also is material, only it is made up of subtle matter and therefore mind is also intrinsically अचेतनम्. So therefore world plus body plus mind is equal to अनात्मा and this अनात्मा is अचेतनम्, that is its first feature and

ii) Its second feature is this अनात्मा is full of attributes or सगुणम् endowed with varieties of properties, varieties of attributes. So it is अचेतनम्, it is सगुणम् and

iii) Finally, this entire अनात्मा is subject to constant fluctuations or modifications. So it is सविकारम् in nature, it doesn't remain the same even for one moment. Between one moment and the other everything has undergone a change. And therefore अनात्मा is अचेतनम् and अनात्मा is सगुणम् and अनात्मा is सविकारम्.

And because of its changing nature, it will not remain in this visible condition all the time. Because of its changing nature, it will broadly go through two conditions, one is called the manifest visible condition, in संस्कृत called कार्य-अवस्था, व्यक्त-अवस्था, व्यक्त means manifest or visible condition and very same thing will at the time of destruction it will go back to कारण-अवस्था, अव्यक्त-अवस्था. Just as when you boil the water, the visible water is gone but you know the water is not destroyed, but what has happened to water? The visible व्यक्त-जलम् has become अव्यक्त vapor. Similarly, this cosmos also has got व्यक्त अवस्था called प्रपञ्च and it has got an अव्यक्त अवस्था, when you call it माया. Therefore, माया is also an unmanifest form of matter only. So manifest matter is called universe, unmanifest matter is called माया. So therefore, माया or the universe, including the body, including the mind, all of them come under what? अनात्मा, which is अचेतनम्, सगुण, सविकार तत्त्वम्. So this is the description of अनात्मा. Then we have to go to the description of the next topic, viz., आत्मा. And the word आत्मा refers to three things in the 13th chapter, what are those three? The word आत्मा includes three names, क्षेत्रज्ञः, पुरुष and the ज्ञेयम्, all these three can be referred to by the word आत्मा. Now the question is what is that आत्मा? कृष्ण says if the whole universe falls under दृश्य प्रपञ्च an object of experience, an experienced-universe then an experienced-universe presupposes the presence of fill of blanks. The experienced-universe presupposes the presence of what? An experiencer-subject. Without the experiencer-subject, the experienced-object is never possible. And therefore, every object presupposes the existence of a subject and the unfortunate fact is this subject can never become what? An object. So object is never possible without the subject and the subject is never available for objectification. Remember the example I gave. If I am seeing different colors and forms in front of me, the perception of every form, the perception of every color, presupposes the existence of the eyes, but the unfortunate fact is what? The eyes themselves are not perceivable. But even though the eyes are not perceivable, I can never doubt the existence of the eyes, because the very perception is possible because of the perceiver alone. Thus, extending this principle, we can say, all the experienced object proves the existence of the experiencer, but the experiencer himself cannot become an object of experience. And this unobjectifiable experiencer principle is called आत्मा. The unobjectifiable experiencer is called आत्मा. And since आत्मा is the unobjectifiable experiencing principle, it will be चेतनम् or अचेतनम्? You don't require a PhD to answer this question. The experiencing principle has to be necessarily a चेतन तत्त्वम्. If every दृश्यम् is अचेतनम्, the दृक् has to be चेतनम्. If every object is अचेतनम्, the subject has to be what? Consciousness-principle only. And who is that experiencer principle. Who is experiencing the world? What will be your answer? You will say 'I myself am experiencing.' And therefore आत्मा is I, the Consciousness-principle, which objectifies everything but which itself is not available for objectification. This is the आत्मा. Now the question is, what are the features of this आत्मतत्त्वम्, the चैतन्य तत्त्वम्? We saw the features of अनात्मा? What is it? अचेतन, सगुण, सविकार, etc. Like that, what are the features of I, the आत्मा, the Consciousness-principle? Then as an answer, we have to remember the five points I have repeated several times. What are those five?

1) I, the observer Consciousness-principle, who objectify the body and mind, that I the Consciousness am not a part of the body, not a product of the body, not even a property of the body. So I the Consciousness am neither a part, nor a product, nor an attribute or property of the body. I prefer the word property, because, one can remember easily, P P P. part, product, property.

2) Then the second point I would like you to remember is I, the Consciousness, am an independent entity, who pervade and enlivens the inert body. Because we have said body is inert, I, the independent Consciousness-principle pervade and enliven, just as the electricity, the independent principle pervades and enlivens the fan.

3) Then what is the third point we said? I, the Consciousness-principle, am not limited by the boundaries of the body. Just as electricity is not located in the fan alone, similarly, I, the Consciousness, am not limited by the boundaries of the body, which means I the आत्मा is all-pervading. In fact, one of the meaning of the word आत्मा is all-pervading. The word आत्मा in संस्कृत is derived from four different roots and one root out of which the word आत्मा is derived from √आप् – to pervade. Not the हिन्दि ‘आप.’ But संस्कृत √आप् आप्नोति, सर्वत्र व्याप्नोति इति आत्मा. And therefore what is the third point, I, the observer Consciousness pervade everywhere. The limitations and location belongs to the body which is an object of Consciousness but the subject-Consciousness am not located. So, therefore, I am all-pervading.

4) Then what is the next point which we had seen? That I, the Consciousness-principle, will continue to exist even when the body, the manifesting medium collapses or dies, I will survive and therefore, mortality is a feature of the body, but not of me, the Consciousness pervading the body. So I am सर्वगतः, I am नित्यः, आत्मा सर्वगतः, आत्मा नित्यः.

5) And fifthly and finally, we had seen (we have to remember in this context) what is that? If the body medium dies, I, the Consciousness will continue to survive, but that I will not be available for transaction, not because I am absent but because the medium for transaction is not there. It is exactly as it happens in deep sleep state, the body is not functioning, resting, the mind is not functioning, resting, transactions have ended, but I have not ended. While sleeping, whether the transactions are ending, or I am ending? Thank God, only the transactions end but the transactor I continue to survive. And that I is the आत्मा the चेतन तत्त्वम्.

And to conceive of this Consciousness-principle, कृष्ण gives two beautiful examples later, which we can remember in this context. What are the two examples, Consciousness is comparable to आकाश, the space-principle, is comparable to the प्रकाशतत्त्वम्. Two 'काश'-आकाश and प्रकाश. And that means what? If you want to conceive of Consciousness, we have to see the features of these two examples, then we will get a nearer picture. And what are the features in these two?

i) Both are एकम्. आकाश is one. सूर्य प्रकाश is one. कृष्ण says Consciousness is also one. एकत्वम्.

ii) And then, आकाश is अचलम्, आकाश cannot move from place to place, everything moves in आकाश but आकाश itself doesn't move. Suppose this hall आकाश moves, what will happen? We will be flying? Similarly, सूर्य प्रकाश also. Even this प्रकाश in the hall, the light does not move. My hand moves in light, but the light itself does not move. Exactly like that the Consciousness-principle itself is अचलम्. नित्यः सर्वगतः स्थाणुः अचलः अयम् सनातनः. Like आकाश and प्रकाश, आत्मा is अचलम्.

iii) Next feature is अखण्डः. Space is indivisible. You cannot apportion space. The earth can be divided. Water can be divided and we have quarrels also between कर्नाटक and तमिळनाडु, but the space itself cannot be divided. Similarly, प्रकाश also cannot be cut and therefore both of them are अखण्ड, Similarly, आत्मा the चैतन्यम् is अखण्डम्. So अचलम्, it is अखण्डम्, it is एकम्.

iv) Then next, आकाश is असङ्गम्. Space is everywhere but it is never contaminated by anything. Space is uncontaminable or uncontaminatable. It is unpollutable. Water can be polluted, earth can be polluted, everything else can be polluted, वायु can be polluted, not space. Similarly, प्रकाश, the light is also असङ्गः. It cannot be contaminated by anything. शङ्कराचार्य says whether the light falls on dirty Coovam water or गङ्गा water, the light cannot be polluted by the dirty water and therefore असङ्गत्वम् is the next feature.

v) And आकाशः is सर्वाधारम्. It is the support of everything and similarly, Consciousness is the support of matter. Not vice versa. We think matter is supporting is Consciousness but कृष्ण says, it is not so. Consciousness is not located in brain. All the brains are located in one all-pervading Consciousness. And if it becomes a dead brain, Einstein's brain is preserved it seems, not because Consciousness has departed or gone away, what has happened is that the capacity of the brain to manifest the Consciousness is lost. The medium has lost the capacity like a fused bulb, power is very much there, but the bulb has become fused. If there is any doubt, touch and you get instant realization! So therefore, it is not the absence of electricity but absence of a functioning medium which can manifest. And therefore Consciousness is सर्व आधार like आकाशः and

vi) finally, Consciousness like the सूर्य प्रकाश, the light of the Sun, It illumines everything, because of the presence of Consciousness alone things are known and therefore, सर्व आधारः and सर्व प्रकाश, is that आत्मा and that आत्मा I am.

So this is called आत्म-अनात्मा विवेक ज्ञानम्, discriminating between Consciousness and matter and claiming that I am the Conscious-principle who am functioning through the body but I myself am not the body. So the medium comes, the medium goes, but I never come and go. So these are the features of आत्मा. अनात्मा, आत्मा two topics are over. According to 13th chapter, we have covered 5 topics. अनात्मा means two and आत्मा means three, $2+3=5$. Now lastly one more topic is left. What is that? ज्ञानम्. And we saw that the word ज्ञानम् in the 13th chapter has got a unique meaning and what is that: all those virtues which are required for gaining आत्मज्ञानम्. All virtues, सत् गुणाः, required for gaining आत्मज्ञानम्, the preparatory values or virtues. In short a धार्मिक way of life. This is how ethics and morality enter वेदान्त शास्त्र. People ask the question in वेदान्त philosophy is there any scope for ethics and morality, our answer is there is a scope. What is the scope? Only a mind which has ethics and morality, that mind alone can receive आत्मज्ञानम्. And without these values, twenty values are enumerated by कृष्ण, without these values one cannot understand वेदान्त and even if one understands वेदान्त, it will become an academic knowledge. It will not transform my personality. Value plus study is equal to transformation. Study minus values is equal to information. So do you need information or transformation? The decision is yours. The difference is caused by the presence and absence of morals. And these values alone are generally presented in the वेदान्त शास्त्रs, as साधन चातुष्टय सम्पत्ति. Four Ds. Discrimination, Dispassion, Discipline and Desire. D D D D. Discrimination means the understanding that God alone can give पूर्णत्वम् and security in life. Fullness or peace or security can come only from one source and that is नित्य वस्तु, the ईश्वर तत्त्वम्. And the world, however wonderful, beautiful it might be, you can experience it, you can enjoy it, you can possess it, you can handle it, but the world cannot give peace, security and पूर्णत्वम्. This understanding is called Discrimination. And what is Dispassion? Dispassion is after this understanding, changing the priorities of life between God and World. Which one is primary and which one is subservient? With regard to this, I have to do some reshuffling and in that reshuffling, when world becomes subservient and secondary, that attitude is called dispassion and when God or ब्रह्मन् or नित्य वस्तु becomes the top priority, it is called spiritual Desire. God as priority is called spiritual desire, world being lesser than that is dispassion. Remember not hatred, we don't prescribe hatred. But what we say prioritization must be proper. Then the 4th one is Discipline, the integration of the entire personality. Physical body, the 10 sense organs, organs of action and organs of knowledge, the mind, the intellect, all of them when they are disciplined and organized. And instead of I becoming their slave, I become their master. Then I am the master of my sense organs, when I master of my mind, self-mastery, self-integration is called discipline. Discrimination, Dispassion, Desire and Discipline, these four are called साधन चातुष्टयम्. These four alone have been expanded by कृष्ण into twenty values. So twenty condensed is four. Four diluted is twenty. So in the summary, we will see four. The expansion we will see twenty. That is what it is. So this साधन चातुष्टय सम्पत्ति is here called ज्ञानम्. With this all the six topics कृष्ण has covered. And this is from verse no.2 to 24.

Now from verse no.25 to 35, कृष्ण wants to conclude his teaching by presenting ज्ञान साधनानि and ज्ञानफलम्. What are the stages that one should go through to attain this knowledge? And what is the फलम् that I get out of this knowledge? And कृष्ण presents five stages to attain the knowledge, what are they? कर्मयोगः, उपासनाम्, श्रवणम्, मननम्, निदिध्यासनम्.

a) कर्मयोग is the first stage to remove the impurities of the mind, मल निवृत्ति or to attain purity.

b) The second stage is उपासनाम्, i.e., meditation on Lord with attributes or form and the उपासना is to remove the restlessness of the mind, the extrovertedness of the mind, विक्षेप निवृत्ति, so that the mind becomes tranquil and focused. This is the second stage.

c) The third stage is श्रवणम्, which is consistent (do you remember) and systematic study of Vedantic scriptures for a length of time, under the guidance of a competent आचार्य. It is not a day affair. It is for a length of time. That is why many people say, after 6 years of listening, now I think I am understanding your teaching better! Doesn't matter! So it requires soaking like the pickle. This is called श्रवणम्, which removes ignorance. अज्ञान निवृत्ति is the third.

d) And the fourth one is called मननम्, after comprehensively studying वेदान्त I begin raising my doubt. During श्रवणम्, doubts are not allowed, first you dump all the data and having done श्रवणम् for a length of time, then generally most of the will be cleared, even if some are there, raise the question and answer and it is called संशय निवृत्ति, removal of doubt.

e) And the fifth and final stage is called निदिध्यासनम्. Dwelling upon the teaching. Because I have to change my perspective of myself. Because all the time I have been looking upon myself as the body. The body orientation is the most powerful वासना. And therefore, whatever happens to the body, I take it as happening to myself and therefore, the response is different, that is called संसार and therefore I have to spend some time and tell myself, I am not the body, but I am functioning through the medium of the body. In sleep, I have dropped all the transactions but I continue to exist. Similarly, in death also the body may end but I continue to survive. And therefore, I am not a mortal one, the shift of self-perspective. And when I change my opinion about myself, my opinion about the world also will change. And this process is called निदिध्यासनम् or meditation to remove old orientation. Otherwise we can call deconditioning.

So thus five levels. कर्म, उपासना, श्रवणम्, मनन and निदिध्यासन. At the end of all these five levels of साधन, I own up this fact that अहम् नित्य चैतन्य रूप आत्मा अस्मि. So these are the साधनसः.

Then comes the फलम्. The benefit of this knowledge. कृष्ण mentions a few.

a) First benefit he mentions is सर्वत्र सम-दर्शनम्. Because this person's vision has shifted from अनात्मा-प्रधान to आत्म-प्रधान. So instead of seeing different waves I see one underlying water. Instead of seeing different ornaments I see one underlying gold. I keep the words bangle, ring, chains for transactions, but in and through the transactions I have got what दर्शनम्? Gold दर्शनम्, whatever ornament I transact. Similarly, this person has got the आत्म-दर्शनम् and आत्मा being the same in all it is सम दर्शनम् and the practical benefit is freedom from

b) The next benefit कृष्ण gives is अमृतत्व प्राप्ति. When I took myself as the अनात्मा-body, I concluded I am mortal. When I know I am the आत्मा, now I claim I am immortal. When the wave thought that it is a wave, it was afraid of its mortality. But the moment wave shifted the vision and claims I am the water, the wave is not afraid of mortality, because as water it doesn't die. Therefore, अमृतत्व प्राप्ति, immortality is the second benefit.

c) Next benefit is अकर्तृत्व, अभोक्तृत्व प्राप्ति. I come to know that I am neither a कर्ता nor a भोक्ता, but in my presence matter is interacting. All the changes belong to the matter. I, the Consciousness, am like the Sunlight, I illumine everything but I am not tainted by anything. So this is अकर्तृत्व, अभोक्तृत्व प्राप्ति.

d) Finally कृष्ण says, this alone is called ब्रह्मत्वम् अहम् ब्रह्म अस्मि इति ब्रह्मत्व प्राप्ति. ब्रह्मत्व - Limitlessness. As a wave, I am limited, but once I know I am water, I can claim that I am everywhere.

So these are the benefits, in simple language, जीवन्मुक्ति. जीवन्मुक्ति is the benefit of this knowledge and therefore कृष्ण concludes. हे अर्जुन! gain this knowledge, which makes a difference in your life. All the other disciplines of knowledge will not make any fundamental difference, whereas this knowledge makes a crucial difference, takes you from bondage to liberation. So,

क्षेत्रक्षेत्रज्ञयोरैवमन्तरं ज्ञानचक्षुषा ।

भूतप्रकृतिमोक्षं च ये विदुर्यान्ति ते परम् ॥ १३-३७ ॥

With this, कृष्ण concludes the 13th chapter and the chapter is क्षेत्र क्षेत्रज्ञ विभाग योग, because in this chapter, कृष्ण clearly differentiates Consciousness and matter. क्षेत्रम् meaning matter, क्षेत्रज्ञः meaning Consciousness.

CHAPTER 14, VERSE 01-04

Having completed the 13th chapter, now we will enter into the 14th chapter of the गीता as I had pointed earlier, the 14th chapter also falls within the last षट्कम् or group of the गीता and the last षट्कम् is focusing on ज्ञानयोग or Self-knowledge. And in these six chapters also, the first three chapters, viz., 13th, 14th and 15th mainly focus upon ज्ञानयोग or Self-knowledge and therefore all these three chapters are important and all of them have the essence of the उपनिषत्सु. सर्वोपनिषदो गावो दोग्धा गोपालनन्दनः is said in the ध्यान श्लोक, that means कृष्ण has milked the essence of the उपनिषत्सु from the Upanishadic cows it is mentioned, that Upanishadic essence is there throughout the गीता but especially in these three chapters, 13th, 14th and 15th, we have the Self-knowledge, viz., the knowledge of our higher nature. And in the previous chapter, the knowledge of our higher nature was presented as “I” the क्षेत्रज्ञः or the witness principle. आत्मा is revealed as the दृक्, the क्षेत्रज्ञः, the observer and everything else is presented the क्षेत्रम्, the दृश्यम्, the observed. The differentiation was done based on the observed-observer principle and this method of teaching is called दृक्-दृश्य विवेक. It is a popular method used in the शास्त्र to arrive at my true nature, I go on negating all that I experience. नेति नेति method, whatever I experience, I am not. And if I go on negating everything that I experience, finally there will be only one thing left out and that is the experiencer who can never become an object of experience. And this method of arriving at the subject by negating every object, including the body, mind and the thoughts, this method is called दृक्-दृश्य विवेक, the 13th chapter employed this method. Now in the 14th chapter also कृष्ण is going to deal with the same subject matter, but here आत्मा, my nature is going to be revealed as गुणातीतः, or निर्गुण तत्त्वम् and everything that has got गुणs or attributes, they are all अनात्मा, the object and by negating everything सगुण, what will be left behind is the गुणातीतः, the निर्गुण आत्मा. So what was presented as the observer in the 13th chapter, the same आत्मा is presented here as the attributeless principle. And therefore this chapter is in the form of गुण-त्रय, गुण-अतीतः विभाग योग. The previous chapter is क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञ विभागः, subject-object differentiation, here the topic is सगुण-निर्गुण विभागः, सगुण means with attributes, निर्गुण means without attributes. And the सगुण is going to be here termed as गुणत्रय – the three-fold गुणs. The details we will see in due course. And the निर्गुण तत्त्वम् is called गुणातीतः – that which transcends all the attributes. And we are going to differentiate गुणत्रय and the गुणातीत and we are going to claim that I am the गुणातीत आत्मा, I am not the गुणत्रय अनात्मा. This is going to be the subject matter of this chapter, a small chapter but an important chapter. With this background, we will enter into the chapter proper.

अथ चतुर्दशोऽध्यायः ।

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

परं भूयः प्रवक्ष्यामि ज्ञानानां ज्ञानमुत्तमम् ।

यज्ज्ञात्वा मुनयः सर्वे परां सिद्धिमितो गताः ॥ १४-१॥

परम् भूयः प्रवक्ष्यामि ज्ञानानाम् ज्ञानम् उत्तमम् ।

यत् ज्ञात्वा मुनयः सर्वे पराम् सिद्धिम् इतः गताः ॥ १४-१॥

यत् ज्ञात्वा सर्वे मुनयः इतः पराम् सिद्धिम् गताः, (तत्) ज्ञानानाम् उत्तमम् परम् ज्ञानम् भूयः (अहम् ते) प्रवक्ष्यामि ।

The chapter begins with Lord कृष्ण's voluntary offer to teach further. In the 13th chapter, अर्जुन asked a question and therefore कृष्ण answered, whereas here we don't find अर्जुन raising any question at all. कृष्ण himself out of sheer compassion offers to teach the same thing once again. Why should कृष्ण do that? Is it because He had nothing else to do? Or because He had got a captive audience? Not even audience, only one person, because He has got a captive student or He loves the teaching, what is the reason? शङ्कराचार्य often says when the subject matter is very very subtle, a teacher has to repeat it again and again. When the subject matter is shallow you need not repeat. You know there was one स्वामि, who used to make very very deep and significance sentences and used to say: think. And he will give a half minute gap. Because it is worth thinking. And somebody observed that स्वामि and they found स्वामि is making statements and asking the audience to think and he wanted to imitate that स्वामि and therefore he started a discourse and said “गीता has 18 chapters. Think.” What is there to be thought of? So therefore, we should know where to repeat, where to give a pregnant silence, one should not repeat at each and every place. One should not also be silent at each and every place. Similarly, Lord कृष्ण knows which deserves repetition. And this आत्मज्ञानम् being दुर्विज्ञेयत्वात् अति सूक्ष्मत्वात्, repetition is not a defect. When the subject matter is simple, repetition becomes a दोष, it is called पुनरुक्ति दोषः. But when the subject matter is deep, पुनरुक्ति is not a दोष, but it is an ornament to the teacher. Therefore कृष्ण says हे अर्जुन! what I taught in the 13th chapter or previously is an extremely subtle, you are a good student, you would have understood, but still for my satisfaction I would like to present it again. But if I give the same title, you will be bored and therefore, in another fashion I will present it. Just as the very same ‘Vermicelli’ is presented as Lemon Vermicelli and Fried Vermicelli, etc., so people want different रुचि or taste, similarly, कृष्ण presents from a different angle. Previously it was क्षेत्र-क्षेत्रज्ञ विभागः, पुरुष-प्रकृति विभागः, now it is गुणत्रय, गुणातीतः विभागः. So कृष्ण says here – श्रीभगवान् उवाच. भगवान् voluntarily offers, भूयः प्रवक्ष्यामि – I shall once again give you the same teaching, what? ज्ञानम्, the same ज्ञानम्, आत्मज्ञानम् I shall impart once again and what type of ज्ञानम् it is? परम् उत्तमम् ज्ञानम् – so it is the greatest knowledge in the world. परम् means greatest, उत्तमम् means greatest, so the greatest greatest knowledge I am going to give. So शङ्कराचार्य in his commentary raises a question, परम् also means the greatest knowledge, उत्तमम् also means the greatest knowledge, why should कृष्ण say the greatest-greatest knowledge. Why not say only once? शङ्कराचार्य says there is a subtle difference. The first ‘greatest’ indicate a knowledge which deals with the greatest thing, Reality in the world. In terms of the subject-matter, this knowledge is the greatest, because it doesn’t deal with the ordinary perishable thing, but it is dealing with the greatest Reality, the पारमार्थिक सत्यम् and therefore the first greatest indicates विषय दृष्ट्या उत्तमम्. And then the second greatest means not only the subject matter is the greatest one, that is आत्मा or ब्रह्मन्. The result that we derive out of this knowledge, the फलम् also is the greatest. The first greatest refers to the subject matter, विषय दृष्ट्या उत्तमम्, the second one refers to फल दृष्ट्या also उत्तमम्. Because this is the knowledge which gives the greatest result of मोक्ष whereas all other branches of knowledge can give the result of the perishable अर्थ, perishable काम, perishable धर्म, whereas this is the only knowledge, which gives the result of imperishable मोक्ष. Thus उत्तम विषयत्वात्, उत्तम फलत्वात्, this knowledge is the greatest knowledge. And that is why in मुण्डकोपनिषत्, this knowledge is called परा विद्या. In the 9th chapter, it is called राज-विद्या. And therefore अर्जुन, I shall give you that knowledge which is the greatest among ज्ञानानाम् – all the branches of knowledge. And what is the result that they are going to get, I said मोक्ष. So naturally, we will ask the question what is मोक्ष? So मोक्ष is a technical word and therefore कृष्ण himself explains that मोक्ष फल. यत् ज्ञात्वा – by gaining this wisdom, the greatest wisdom, सर्वे मुनयः – all the seekers and the word मुनि literally means a संन्यासि and the word संन्यासि indicate the detachment and the word detachment indicates साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. Therefore,

इह वेदवेदीदथ सत्यमस्ति न वेदिहावेदीन्महती विनष्टिः । ॥ केनोपनिषत् २-७ ॥

Any other thing you get life is not worthwhile, life is validated, made meaningful only if this knowledge is attained and therefore पराम् सिद्धिम्, the highest accomplishment of मोक्ष, इतः गताः – they have attained while living. Not only while living, even after death they have gained the विदेह मुक्ति also. So इतः means मरणान्तरम्. Liberation while living is called जीवन्मुक्ति. Liberation after death is called विदेह मुक्ति. These people have attained both. Continuing; introduction continues;

इदं ज्ञानमुपाश्रित्य मम साधर्म्यमागताः ।

सर्गेऽपि नोपजायन्ते प्रलये न व्यथन्ति च ॥ १४-२॥

इदम् ज्ञानम् उपाश्रित्य मम साधर्म्यम् आगताः ।

सर्गे अपि न उपजायन्ते प्रलये न व्यथन्ति च ॥ १४-२॥

(य) इदम् ज्ञानम् उपाश्रित्य मम साधर्म्यम् आगताः, (ते) सर्गे अपि न उपजायन्ते, प्रलये च न व्यथन्ति ।

In the previous verse it was pointed out that this ज्ञानम् is superior most, because it deals with the greatest reality and the benefit is also the greatest, which consists of जीवन्मुक्ति and विदेहमुक्ति. Now the next question is what is जीवन्मुक्ति and what is विदेहमुक्ति? कृष्ण briefly defines them, इदम् ज्ञानम् उपाश्रित्य – by taking recourse to this knowledge, by acquiring this knowledge, मम साधर्म्यम् आगताः – the seekers have attained oneness with me. They have also attained ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, dropping their जीवत्वम्. So मम साधर्म्यम् means ईश्वर स्वरूपम्. And what do you mean by ईश्वर स्वरूपम्. ईश्वर has got पूर्णत्वम् and these people enjoy the पूर्णत्वम् even while living. So the first indication of जीवन्मुक्ति is total inner sense of self-sufficiency. Not missing anything in life, as कृष्ण said in the 2nd chapter, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. भगवान् is ever पूर्णः, this ज्ञानि also enjoys पूर्णत्वम्. And the second feature or glory of भगवान् is अभय स्वरूपः. भगवान् is free from the sense of insecurity, whereas जीव is full of insecurity feeling. This ज्ञानम् will remove the sense of insecurity.

अदृश्ये अनात्मे अनिरुद्धे अनिलये अभयम् प्रतिष्ठाम् विन्दते । ॥
तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-७-१॥

So ईश्वर स्वरूपम् means अभयम्, freedom from insecurity, freedom from finitude, freedom from slavery. भगवान् is called स्वामि. स्वामि means what the one who is the master of everything and a संसारि is called भृत्य, दासः, a slave. A slave of what? Slave of people, slave of circumstances, slave of कर्म. A ज्ञानि by this knowledge attains ईश्वर स्वरूपम् means this ज्ञानि also becomes a स्वामि. He is no more a slave of कर्मफल,

इह एव तैः जितः सर्गः येषाम् साम्ये स्थितम् मनः । ॥ ७-१९॥

They are the masters of the situation and mastery means no regret over the past and no anxiety with regard to future. So this स्वामित्वम्, पूर्णत्वम्, अभयम्, आनन्द स्वरूपः, आनन्द, all these are indicated by the word साधर्म्यम् this साधर्म्यम् indicates जीवन्मुक्ति. So even while living they enjoy the glories which belong to the Lord. This is called जीवन्मुक्ति. And then what happens to them after death? After death they attain विदेहमुक्तिः and what do you mean by विदेहमुक्तिः? विदेहमुक्तिः means freedom from पुनर्जन्म. पुनर्जन्म leads to you can easily fill up the blanks. पुनर्जन्म leads to पुनर्मरणम् and पुनर्मरणम् will lead to पुनर्जन्म. पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम् cycle, they are free from. And therefore, विदेहमुक्तिः is defined in the second line सर्वे अपि न उपजायन्ते – they are not born again as miserable individuals and therefore सर्वे means in the next सृष्टि they are not created again. And therefore प्रलये न व्यथन्ति च – they don't come to grief again caused by mortality. So प्रलये at the time of प्रलयम् they don't grieve. They are not afflicted by the pain of death. In short, they are free from जन्म-मरण cycle, which is called विदेहमुक्तिः and therefore अर्जुन, if you want to enjoy this जीवन्मुक्ति and also get the benefit of विदेहमुक्तिः, concentrate on this ज्ञानम्. Continuing;

मम योनिर्महद् ब्रह्म तस्मिन्गर्भं दधाम्यहम् ।

सम्भवः सर्वभूतानां ततो भवति भारत ॥ १४-३॥

मम योनिः महत् ब्रह्म तस्मिन् गर्भम् दधामि अहम् ।

सम्भवः सर्व-भूतानाम् ततः भवति भारत ॥ १४-३॥

हे भारत! महत् ब्रह्म मम योनिः (अस्ति), तस्मिन् अहम् गर्भम् दधामि, ततः सर्व-भूतानाम् सम्भवः भवति ।

The introduction continues. In the first two श्लोकs, कृष्ण introduced the subject matter, subject matter is what: आत्मज्ञानम् and he also talked about the glory of the subject matter, the glory is that it is a liberating knowledge. So having introduced the subject matter, now in these two verses, the 3rd and 4th, कृष्ण summaries the process of creation which he had dealt with in the 13th chapter. So as a reminder, कृष्ण is summarizing the process of creation, because the development of the teaching depends upon the knowledge of the creation. And therefore, as a foundation He reminds that. And what was the creation that He talked about in the 13th chapter. There He said:

प्रकृतिम् पुरुषम् च एव विद्धि अनादी उभौ अपि ।

विकारान् च गुणान् च एव विद्धि प्रकृति-सम्भवान् ॥ १३-२०॥

He said before the creation there were originally two principles known as पुरुष and प्रकृति. And He said both पुरुष तत्त्वम् and प्रकृति तत्त्वम् are अनादि, अनादि meaning beginningless. They are the cause of the creation, but they themselves are not created entity. So thus कृष्ण said both are अनादि. And we talked about 4 differences, if you remember,

- i) पुरुष is चेतन तत्त्वम्, conscious-principle. प्रकृति is अचेतन तत्त्वम्, inert-principle,
- ii) पुरुष is निर्गुण तत्त्वम्, without any attributes, प्रकृति is सगुण तत्त्वम्, with गुणs,
- iii) पुरुष is निर्विकार तत्त्वम्, without any modifications, whereas प्रकृति is सविकार तत्त्वम्, subject to modification.
- iv) Fourthly and finally, पुरुष is सत्य तत्त्वम् having independent existence of its own, whereas प्रकृति, the matter, does not have an independent existence; मिथ्या.

So निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम् is पुरुष, सगुण, सविकार, मिथ्या, अचेतन तत्त्वम् is प्रकृति. In English Consciousness and matter existed from beginningless time. And He also pointed out that this mixture पुरुष-प्रकृति, Consciousness-matter mixture is the cause of the creation. And this mixture alone is called ईश्वरः. So ईश्वर is neither pure पुरुष nor pure प्रकृति, but it is a mixture of these two. And either of them cannot independently become the cause of the creation and to convey this idea, कृष्ण takes the comparison of the father-principle and the mother-principle. The पुरुष तत्त्वम् is compared to the father-principle and the प्रकृति तत्त्वम् is compared to the mother-principle. It is only a comparison, because male alone can produce, female alone can produce a child, male and female together alone can be the cause of the creation and therefore पुरुष is compared to a male and प्रकृति is symbolized as female. It is only a symbolism. Don't extend it too much and ask whether all the ladies are inert!!! When I say females are compared to प्रकृति, it is only a comparison, don't extend it too much, you will have problem. Then why this comparison, only to show that both the तत्त्वम् put together alone can cause the creation. Then कृष्ण wants to point out, if the पुरुष and प्रकृति, i.e., father and mother and that too inseparable father and mother, like what?

वागर्थाविव संपृक्तौ वागर्थप्रतिपत्तये ।

जगतः पितरौ वन्दे पार्वतीपरमेश्वरौ ॥ श्युवम्श / कालिदास ॥

Inseparable like शिव and पार्वती, the अर्धनारीश्वर, inseparable like विष्णु and लक्ष्मी, who is occupying विष्णु's chest, like ब्रह्मा and सरस्वती, who is occupying ब्रह्म's tongue. Similarly, the father-principle पुरुष, the mother-principle प्रकृति put together is called ईश्वर, you may call it अर्धनारीश्वर, i.e., the cause of the creation. And then कृष्ण wants to point out that if this mixture is the cause of the creation, all the products will have the features of both the father and mother. Because the general rule is what, कारण गुणाः कार्ये अनुवर्तन्ते – the features of the cause will inhere, pervade the effect also. If gold is the cause of the ornament, the ornament is also golden in nature. And if the causal gold has a percentage of copper, the ornament also will have a percentage of copper. If the children are born out of the couple, the children will have some features of the father, some features of the mother, both will be there. Only thing is the proportion. One child might have more of the mother and less of the father, another might have more of the father and less of the mother, but the principle you have to note is the causal features will inhere the effect. And therefore कृष्ण wants to extend that principle and say every individual is a mixture of पुरुष and प्रकृति तत्त्वम्. Every individual जीव, whether it is plant or ant or elephant, whether it is a human being, male or female, every one of us is a mixture of पुरुष - father-principle, as well as प्रकृति - the mother-principle. If we don't recognize this nature of ours, which nature, I am a mixture of पुरुष तत्त्वम्, what type of पुरुष तत्त्वम् निर्गुण-निर्विकार-सत्य-चेतन पुरुष तत्त्वम् and सगुण-सविकार-मिथ्या-अचेतन प्रकृति तत्त्वम्, if I don't understand my composition very clearly then I will not know how to handle myself properly. Self-knowledge is required for self-mastery. Anything you want to master, what is the first step, learn to understand. If a disease has to be cured, before finding a remedy for the disease, what is the first step, I have to understand the nature of the disease. What is cancer bug, what is a HIV virus, what is hepatitis, whatever B, A or C. If I should handle myself properly, which is a prerequisite for handling my set-up. If I don't know how to handle myself, how am I going to be the master of my family? Child is not listening. You are not able to obey yourselves. What is the complaint? Therefore, self-mastery requires Self-knowledge. Self-knowledge involves knowing my composition. And कृष्ण wants to say that I am composed of पुरुष aspect as well as प्रकृति aspect. And to show and prove that I am the mixture of both, कृष्ण wants to point that I am the mixture of both, because my cause ईश्वर is a mixture of both. So since कारणम् is a mixture of both, कार्यम् - the जीव is also a mixture. For that only He is introducing the creation. Therefore, कृष्ण says here: हे अर्जुन! I am the पुरुष तत्त्वम् and inseparable from Me is the प्रकृति तत्त्वम्, otherwise called माया तत्त्वम् and माया is comparable to My wife. Therefore I am ब्रह्मन् the husband, पुरुष the husband and माया is like My wife, indicating I cannot create the universe without प्रकृति, the माया. That सौन्दर्य लहरि begins with that.

शिवः शक्त्या युक्तो यदि भवति शक्तः प्रभवितुम् न चेदेवम् देवो न खलु कुशलः स्पन्दितुमपि ॥ सौन्दर्य लहरी ॥

That is why we have an idiom, 'If there is no शक्ति, you have to keep quiet' (In तमिळ्). If प्रकृति is not there, पुरुष cannot do anything. Even now, in many houses, the wife you ask, she will say, I will check up and say. Many houses that परम्परा continues. And therefore कृष्ण says, मम योनिः, योनिः literally means womb, in this context, the word womb means wife, the female principle, i.e., My wife, कृष्ण says, is महत् ब्रह्म. That is a very very misleading verse, the word ब्रह्म here means माया, the प्रकृति तत्त्वम्, the word ब्रह्म in this context means प्रकृति, the matter-principle, the मायातत्त्वम्. And what type of wife she is: महत् ब्रह्म, is a universal mother and therefore महत् means what: infinite, infinitely big, because the pregnancy of the universal mother should be a great pregnancy because the universal mother has to conceive the universe. Therefore कृष्ण says महत् ब्रह्म, infinite माया is My wife as it were and who am I, we have to supply, I, the पुरुष तत्त्वम् am comparable to the father-principle. I, the Consciousness am the father, माया is the mother-principle. And what do I do, when the right time for creation comes, what do I do? तस्मिन् गर्भम् अहम् दधामि – I transfer the गर्भम्, गर्भम् means the life principle, the power to create, power to reproduce I hand over, I transfer to the Mother. Just as at the time of conception, the male transfers the seed of the baby to the female. Similarly, at the time of creation, I bless माया with the power to produce the universe. तस्मिन् गर्भम् दधामि अहम्. And philosophically speaking, गर्भ आदानम् is supposed to be blessing the माया तत्त्वम् with the विदाभास or the reflected Consciousness, blessing the माया is considered to be गर्भ आदानम्. I activate the माया. So तस्मिन् गर्भम् दधामि, I activate माया, I impregnate माया, I give माया the power to evolve itself into a universe. And once the conception has taken place, father, male principle has done the job, female principle has conceived and thereafter the male principle need not do anything, the baby fetus will grow in the body of the mother, perfectly according to the law of nature. Father need not know all the laws. Even the mother need not know all the laws. The conceived baby at every week grows appropriately and whatever transformation is needed in the mother's body, that also will take place, similarly, here also कृष्ण says: once I bless the माया, I need not do anything, माया will evolve into this creation. The subtlest form of matter, which you may call as energy itself, that will evolve like after the Big Bang things evolve perfectly according to the law. Similarly, evolution happens. सर्वभूतानाम् सम्भवः, सम्भवः means origination, emergence. Just as the baby grows in the mother's body and at the appropriate time, 9th month or the 10th month, by the same law of nature emerges:

तस्माद्वा एतस्मादात्मन आकाशस्संभूतः । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-१ ॥

Before Big Bang cannot talk about time and space. Even the concept of time and space is impossible before Big Bang, during the time of singularity (scientists call it singularity) you cannot talk about anything, it is a state of non-information. Singularity they call, it is a state of non-information. In वेदान्त non-information is called माया. It means that you will not understand. This people call it state of non-information. In संस्कृत the very same is called माया. In this place what is there, if we say माया, we will not understand. You have understood माया well, when you know माया is un-understandable.

सन्नाप्यसन्नाप्युभयात्मिका नो भिन्नाप्यभिन्नाप्युभयात्मिका नो ।

साङ्गाप्यनङ्गा ह्युभयात्मिका नो महाद्भुतानिर्वचनीयरूपा ॥
विवेकचूडामणि १०९ ॥

अनिर्वचनीयम् means where information is lacking. At the time of Big Bang, information was not there, but out of that evolved this universe, Similarly, आकाश संभूत, thereafter we can trace how the creation evolved.

आकाशाद्वायुः । वायोरग्निः । अग्नेरापः । अद्भ्यः पृथिवी ।

पृथिव्या ओषधयः । ओषधीभ्योऽन्नम् । अन्नात् पुरुषः ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्
२-१-२ ॥

Everything happens. Therefore कृष्ण says सर्व-भूतानाम्. Here भूतानि means all things and beings, सम्भवः – the origination of all these. ततः भवति, ततः means thereafter and that moment of Big Bang, the inexplicable moment, from that moment everything evolves naturally. भारत, हे अर्जुन! So then what happens:

Verse No .04

सर्वयोनिषु कौन्तेय मूर्तयः सम्भवन्ति याः ।

तासां ब्रह्म महद्योनिरहं बीजप्रदः पिता ॥ १४-४॥

सर्व-योनिषु कौन्तेय मूर्तयः सम्भवन्ति याः ।

तासाम् ब्रह्म महत् योनिः अहम् बीज-प्रदः पिता ॥ १४-४॥

हे कौन्तेय! सर्व-योनिषु याः मूर्तयः सम्भवन्ति तासाम् योनिः महत् ब्रह्म (अस्ति), अहम् बीज-प्रदः पिता (च अस्मि) ।

So कृष्ण said that I am the universal father and माया is the universal mother and we the universal couple, जगतः पितरौ, are comparable to any local couple, there also because of their combination the child is born, the child has the features of both of them. Then what is the difference between the universal couple भगवान् and भगवती and the worldly couple? कृष्ण says even though many things are common, there is one main difference. What is that? If you take any couple in the world, any male and female, humans species, you take, the human couple can produce only what child? Human child. Thank good, if something is born as a monkey, we don't want/expect that, we don't want like monkey, what to talk of monkey itself. So when you take any one couple in the universe that couple is the cause of only one species, whereas the universal mother has given birth to all the species. And therefore कृष्ण says, अहम् बीज-प्रदः पिता, second line, I am the universal father, who activate, who impregnate माया, who enliven माया by blessing it with reflected Consciousness, विदाभास प्रदानेन I bless the माया and therefore I am the universal father and महत् ब्रह्म योनिः, महत् ब्रह्म as we saw in the previous verse, महत् ब्रह्म means the infinite माया. Here also the ब्रह्म means माया, very careful, महत्, the infinite माया is योनिः the mother-principle, comparable to the mother-principle. And blessed by Me, the माया becomes the universal mother not for one species, but for all the species. And therefore कृष्ण says सर्व-योनिषु याः मूर्तयः सम्भवन्ति – so whatever species of living beings is born in the world, whatever we see, the monkey species is there, buffalo species is there, locally the buffalo child is born out of buffalo mother, monkey child is born out of monkey mother, whatever species is born out of the corresponding mother, all of them when you go to the original cause, the original cause is what only one माया, which is the cause of all the monkey species also, buffalo species also, octopus also, snails also, whatever is there. Therefore कृष्ण says, सर्व-योनिषु याः मूर्तयः. मूर्ति means whatever types of body, मूर्ति means here शरीरम्. So whatever bodies or whatever species you experience here, born out of the local mothers, for all of them, the immediate cause may be the immediate mother, but the original cause is that माया only. So, याः सम्भवन्ति – whatever living being is born, तासाम् – for all of them, ब्रह्म योनिः – माया is the universal mother. And therefore we are all children of ब्रह्मन् plus माया, पुरुष plus प्रकृति, Consciousness plus matter, निर्गुणम् plus सगुणम्. And therefore we also will have a mixture of both. This is going to be studied later which we will see from the next class.

CHAPTER 14, VERSE 05

In this 14th chapter, the first 4 verses happened to be introductory verses, in which Lord कृष्ण first mentioned that He is going to deal with Self-knowledge in this chapter also, just as in the 13th chapter He dealt with आत्मज्ञानम्, this is also a chapter on Self-knowledge and He glorified Self-knowledge, as the liberating wisdom and therefore worthy of study by everyone. After giving a brief introduction to the subject matter in the first two verses, in the 3rd and 4th verses, which we saw in the last class, कृष्ण talked about the creation. And the purpose of dealing with this topic is to point out that every product in the creation including every individual is a mixture of two parts, one is the पुरुष part and the other is the प्रकृति part. And for this purpose, He talked about the cause of the creation, as none other than ईश्वर himself, who is a mixture of पुरुष तत्त्वम् and प्रकृति तत्त्वम्, otherwise called ब्रह्म तत्त्वम् and माया तत्त्वम् or to present symbolically, the father-principle and the mother-principle. The पुरुष तत्त्वम् represents the father-principle, प्रकृति तत्त्वम् represents the mother-principle and this is to show that पुरुष cannot create the world without the support of प्रकृति and प्रकृति cannot create the world without पुरुष and therefore whenever we talk of God, it is a mixture of both, father and mother are inseparably there. That is why in the पुराण also, पार्वती cannot be separated from परमेश्वर, because they are अर्धनारीश्वर and लक्ष्मी cannot be separated from विष्णु because she occupies the chest of विष्णु. That is why you keep the pocket here for keeping the money, because विष्णु keeps लक्ष्मीदेवी there and therefore लक्ष्मीदेवी is never separate from विष्णु. And we are also supposed to do the same thing, but not knowing this fact, they are keeping the packet elsewhere, so where to keep money. It is not money to be supposed to be done, because money is लक्ष्मीदेवी, she is not supposed to occupy your back and that too lower back. Thus लक्ष्मीदेवी cannot be separated, विष्णु is called श्रीनिवासः, श्रीया लक्ष्म्याः निवासः स्थानम् He is. Similarly,

सरस्वती cannot be separated from ब्रह्माजि, she occupies ब्रह्माजि's tongue itself. All these are to indicate that पुरुष and प्रकृति are inseparable, this mixture alone is called God. And what कृष्ण wants to point out is since the cause of the creation, viz., the Lord is a mixture of two principles, the effect also must be a mixture of these two because the components of the effect will be exactly the same as the components of the cause. If the Gold has got 6% silver or copper, then all the ornaments also will have the same percentage, because the law is कारण गुणाः कार्ये अनुवर्तन्ते. You can understand easily: कारण गुणाः – the features of the cause will inhere the effect also. And therefore every individual जीव - you and I, is also a mixture of पुरुष तत्त्वम् and प्रकृति तत्त्वम् and therefore to understand oneself thoroughly, we should clearly know how to differentiate/distinguish these two features within ourselves. And therefore for the sake of self-study, कृष्ण is introducing the creation and there we saw in the 4th verse

हे अर्जुन! I am the पुरुष तत्त्वम्. And what is पुरुष तत्त्वम्, do you remember the definition? निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम्. पुरुष means the changeless, attributeless, Consciousness-principle, which is an independent and absolute reality. Whereas प्रकृति तत्त्वम् means सगुण, सविकार, मिथ्या, अचेतन तत्त्वम्, that which has attributes, that which is subject to changes and that which is of the nature of जड, अचेतनम्, inert-principle. In English we can say Consciousness plus matter is equal to ईश्वर तत्त्वम् and ईश्वर, परमात्मा is कारणम्, जीवात्मा is कार्यम्. If कारणम् is a mixture Consciousness plus matter, कार्यम् is also a mixture of Consciousness-principle plus matter-principle. So in me also both are there and therefore, I should understand both these features. And this analysis is going to be the subject matter of the 14th chapter. So you have got the changing feature also and you have got a changeless feature also. You have got a nature which is attributed, सगुण feature also and you have got a निर्गुण feature also and similarly, you are a mixture of matter and Consciousness and you are a mixture of a lower मिथ्या principle and higher सत्यम् principle. And therefore I should thoroughly understand both and that analysis is going to start hereafter. So from 5th verse the analysis is going to begin. We will read verse no.5;

Verse No .05

सत्त्वं रजस्तम इति गुणाः प्रकृतिसम्भवाः ।

निबध्नन्ति महाबाहो देहे देहिनमव्ययम् ॥ १४-७॥

सत्त्वम् रजः तमः इति गुणाः प्रकृति-सम्भवाः ।

निबध्नन्ति महा-बाहो देहे देहिनम् अव्ययम् ॥ १४-७॥

हे महा-बाहो! सत्त्वम् रजः तमः इति गुणाः प्रकृति-सम्भवाः (सन्ति, ते) देहे अव्ययम् देहिनम् निबध्नन्ति ।

Before entering into the analysis proper, I will give you a bird's eye-view of the development that is going to come hereafter. I said भगवान् is a mixture of Consciousness and matter and therefore every one of us is also a mixture of both. And what is the material aspect of the individual? The physical body is material in nature, it is made up of प्रकृति तत्त्वम्, because body is made up of matter and body has got attributes, properties are there, it is fat, it is lean, it is healthy, it is sick, it is सगुण and body is सविकारम् or निर्विकारम्? Subject to change or is it changeless? You clearly know body is violently changing and therefore body comes under the प्रकृति part of the individual, Similarly, the mind also comes under the प्रकृति part of the individual and other than the body-mind-complex, there is the पुरुष तत्त्वम्, which is the Consciousness-principle. And what is that Consciousness? I hope you remember.

- a) Consciousness is not part, product or property of the body,

- b) Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body and
- c) Consciousness-principle is not limited by the boundaries of the body, it goes beyond and
- d) Consciousness-principle doesn't die when the body dies and
- e) Finally, this surviving Consciousness-principle cannot be contacted by us, not because it is non-existent, but because there is no medium of contact.

I have given you the example of light, which is pervading this body and this Consciousness-principle in me which enlivens the body-mind-complex is called पुरुष तत्त्वम्. And in वेदान्त, we use two technical words, I will like to introduce. The pure Consciousness-principle, which is निर्गुण, निर्गुण means attributeless, निर्विकार, which is changeless, that Consciousness is called साक्षि तत्त्वम्. The witness principle, the changeless-witness of all the changes that happen. Now the mind is in peaceful condition, there is a witness of the peaceful state of mind. Next moment the mind is turbulent, the mind changes kaleidoscopically it changes, but there is a changeless witness-Consciousness is aware of the previous condition of the mind, aware of the present condition of the mind. This changeless witness-Consciousness is called साक्षि तत्त्वम्, which is one aspect of mind. This वेदान्त calls my higher nature, my superior nature, my diviner nature, my loftier nature. Then, of course, I have got this body-principle, the mind-principle, which is by itself inert in nature, body by itself is inert in nature, why because it is made up of matter, it is a bundle of chemicals, a bundle of five elements, this body by itself is inert, but even though intrinsically the body is inert, because of the pervasion of Consciousness, the body has got borrowed Consciousness. Just like now my body is shining for you, not because the body has got its own luminosity, now my body is shining because of what? The light pervading the body. Similarly, this body is inert, but because of the pervading Consciousness, body has got borrowed Consciousness, like the hot water. The hot water is not hot because heat is its intrinsic nature but water is hot because it is pervaded by the invisible अग्नि तत्त्वम्. You cannot see it with the visible eyes. If you put your finger you will know. Water looks the same, but the hot water is hot, not because heat is its nature, but it is borrowed from the fire principle. Similarly, this body is now sentient, not because of the intrinsic-sentiency but because of borrowed-sentiency, in संस्कृत we call it, विदाभास प्रतिबिम्ब चैतन्यम् – reflected Consciousness, we had discussed this long before in तत्त्वबोध, OC, RC, RM (original Consciousness, reflected Consciousness, reflecting medium). If you have forgotten better you have to brush through your notes. So now this body has got borrowed sentiency, therefore it is a live body. It is प्रकृति but a live प्रकृति. Similarly, the mind also is made up of subtle matter only, subtle elements only and therefore the mind is also intrinsically-insentient, but the mind has become sentient due to what? Borrowed sentiency which is technically called विदाभास. So thus we have got a live body, with borrowed Consciousness, we have got a live mind with borrowed Consciousness. In short we have a got a live प्रकृति, प्रकृति means the body-mind-complex, with borrowed Consciousness. And in Vedantic parlance, this body-mind-complex, otherwise called प्रकृति, with borrowed sentiency, borrowed Consciousness, this body-mind-complex is अहङ्कारः. अहङ्कारः is equal to body-mind-complex, otherwise called प्रकृति plus borrowed Consciousness, i.e., विदाभास.

So शरीरम् plus विदाभास is equal to अहङ्कार.

प्रकृति plus विदाभास is equal to अहङ्कार.

Matter plus borrowed Consciousness is called अहङ्कार.

And what is the name of the original Consciousness? What is the name of the original Consciousness? साक्षि तत्त्वम्. So साक्षि is the name of the original Consciousness, अहङ्कार is the name of the body-mind-complex, plus the reflected or borrowed Consciousness. And every individual is a mixture of साक्षि and अहङ्कार. Every individual is a mixture साक्षि plus अहङ्कार. When I say साक्षि, you should remember, OC, the original Consciousness, अहङ्कार means the body plus reflected Consciousness. In तत्त्वबोध we used the expression RM plus RC. RM means reflecting medium, what is the reflecting medium, body-mind-complex, RC means the reflected Consciousness. So now let us put the formula. OC is the साक्षि, RC plus RM is equal to अहङ्कार. I hope it is not confusing. And every individual is a mixture of अहङ्कार and साक्षि. Therefore when I use the word I, it has got an अहङ्कार अंश as well as साक्षि अंश. Whenever I use the word I, it has got the अहङ्कार अंश, is equal to body with borrowed Consciousness and also साक्षि अंश, which is the original Consciousness. Of this, if you make a comparative study, the साक्षि अंश is nothing but original Consciousness, which is निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य तत्त्वम्. The साक्षि part of mind, the साक्षि aspect of mind is nothing but attributeless, changeless, real, absolutely real-Consciousness and when a ज्ञानि says अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि, that अहम् refers to which aspect? The साक्षि aspect, the original Consciousness, which is निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चैतन्यम्, whereas when you take the अहङ्कार aspect of mind, what is the nature of अहङ्कार, your mind should shift to the body-mind-complex with borrowed Consciousness. That will be सगुणम् or निर्गुणम्? अहङ्कार being body-mind-complex, body-mind-complex being प्रकृति, अहङ्कार is सगुण. अहङ्कार is सविकार or निर्विकार? अहङ्कार is महा सविकार. अहङ्कार is चेतनम् or अचेतनम्? Confusion will come. अहङ्कार is चेतनम् or अचेतनम्? It is चेतनम् alright, but not intrinsically चेतनम् but it has got borrowed चेतनत्वम्. And कृष्ण wants to say अर्जुन you are a mixture of अहङ्कार and साक्षि. And you should be able to differentiate the गुणातीत साक्षि and सगुण अहङ्कार. You should be able to differentiate the गुणातीत साक्षि, another name for निर्गुण साक्षि and सगुण अहङ्कार. And कृष्ण wants to point out अहङ्कार is your lower nature, it is your individuality, whereas साक्षि is your higher nature. And then कृष्ण wants to point out as long as you are taking yourselves as अहङ्कार, as long as you remain as अहङ्कार only, संसार cannot be avoided. अहङ्कार is vulnerable to संसार and the only way of getting out of संसार is you have to transcend your lower अहङ्कार nature and you have to own up your higher साक्षि nature. And for this purpose, कृष्ण wants to point out, how the अहङ्कार is poison. It is a problem. And why it is a problem? Because it is सगुण. The very सगुण nature of अहङ्कार makes it a problematic aspect of yours. And naturally the question will come, how the गुण or सगुणत्वम्, becomes responsible for संसार. And for that कृष्ण wants to talk about the various गुण of अहङ्कार. And He points out that अहङ्कार has got three गुण, because it is made up of प्रकृति, which has got three गुण. Are you understanding? What is the split up of अहङ्कार? Body-mind-complex plus borrowed Consciousness. Body-mind-complex is पुरुष or प्रकृति? It is प्रकृति. Since प्रकृति has got three गुण, body-mind-complex also has got three गुण, therefore अहङ्कार also has got three गुण. सात्त्विक अहङ्कार, राजस अहङ्कार and तामस अहङ्कार and कृष्ण says all the three अहङ्कार are संसारि अहङ्कार. Wherever you go, you will be in caught, you will be in trouble. And each अहङ्कार is bound in a different way. सात्त्विक अहङ्कार is bound by सत्त्वगुण, राजस अहङ्कार is bound by रजोगुण and तामस अहङ्कार is bound by तमोगुण. And therefore कृष्ण wants to talk about the nature of each गुण and how each गुण binds a person and what are the indications of the presence of each गुण and what will be the consequences of the respective bondage, all these कृष्ण is going to analyze, that is why the very chapter is called गुण-त्रय विभाग योगः. Domination of each गुण binds the अहङ्कार. And in संस्कृत language, the word गुण has two meanings, one meaning is a property or an attribute. And the second meaning is a rope or a shackle. So the very word गुण indicate that it is a rope which will bind you to संसार and which will never allow you to be a free person. Therefore, you have to break the shackles of three गुणs and discover the freedom of मोक्ष. And now, we will briefly see the expressions of each गुण. At the time of creation, in the प्रकृति or in matter all the three गुणs are there, but they are in equilibrium. Equilibrium means what? The same proportion. So before the creation emerges, at the time of प्रलयम्, the condition is गुणानाम् साम्य अवस्था. साम्य means equilibrium. And in equilibrium state, there is no creation. And when the time for creation comes, the गुणs are disturbed, the proportions are disturbed and the creation has got all the three गुणs alright, but not in साम्य अवस्था, but in विषम अवस्था. The proportion will vary, the percentage of these three गुणs will vary. And according to the scriptures, even the most inert object in the creation also has got three गुणs and the plant kingdom has also three गुणs, the animal kingdom also has three गुणs, human beings also have got three गुणs, every one is a mixture of three गुणs, but the differences in a particular thing is because of different proportions in the गुणs. And in the human being, how does the domination of each गुण expressed itself?

कृष्ण points out सत्त्वगुण makes the character or the nature of the individual to be ज्ञान प्रधान पुरुषः. सत्त्व represents ज्ञान प्रधानम्. It makes a person a cognitive individual, an intellectual person interested in or thirsting for more and more knowledge. So in his case, the ज्ञानेन्द्रिय, the five sense organs of knowledge, as well as the controlling intellect will be highly active.

And diagonally opposite is the रज प्रधानम्. In a रजसिक character, it will be कर्म प्रधान, activity oriented. So ज्ञानेन्द्रियs are generally passive, don't ask me what are the ज्ञानेन्द्रियs, the eyes, the ears, nose, the tongue and the skin and the intellect, the analyzing-intellect, the thinking intellect, the judging-intellect that will be active, whereas in a रजसिक personality, it will be कर्म प्रधान which means कर्मेन्द्रियs will be active. वाक्, (will never to silent, rambling can go on non-stop, you can see this in any group, some people not talking at all – the other person will be all the time dominating) वाक् प्रधान and if you don't allow him to talk in a lecture hall or something, वाक् cannot be active, but the hands and legs will not keep quiet. So therefore वाक्, पाणि, पाद, पायु, उपस्थ and behind that the पञ्च प्राणs, the energy is highly active, hyper-active. So सत्त्वगुण is ज्ञान प्रधान, रजोगुण gives a कर्म प्रधान personality.

And तमोगुण will be the suppression of both. Neither ज्ञानेन्द्रियs will be active nor will कर्मेन्द्रियs be active, more inertia will be there. So mainly if you study सत्त्व and रजस्, तमस् you can easily find out, it is the suppression of both of them.

a) And when a person is a ज्ञान प्रधान person, generally that person will be turned inwards, internal oriented, mind a person will have, because a mind which seeks knowledge is always intellectually-active, analyzing, thinking, hypothesizing, theorizing, in fact, intellectuals live in their own world of ideas, they are not even aware of the surroundings. Therefore सत्त्व dominant will express itself in the form of निवृत्ति प्रधान. निवृत्ति means turning inwards or withdrawal.

b) Whereas when रजोगुण is dominant, it will be प्रवृत्ति प्रधान, the person will be highly turned outwards. One is inward, another is outward. When सत्त्वगुण is dominant and a person is thinking, contemplative, etc., naturally that mind will not like to relate itself with the external world of objects, because every relationship or interaction or transaction will make the mind extrovert, whereas सात्त्विक mind being turned inward, it doesn't like सङ्ग, सङ्ग means interaction, transaction, etc., it doesn't like. Therefore, this is असङ्ग- प्रधान.

c) Whereas a राजसिक mind loves turning outward. Socializing, interacting, talking to people. So if you go for a camp or so, you will find that one person will love to be inside the room, the other people will love to go out and socialize, meet, talk and enquire all those things. What makes the difference? One is सत्त्व प्रधान and another is रज प्रधान. One is असङ्ग, the other ससङ्ग.

d) The fourth difference that we can see is that a thinking mind naturally will love a set-up which is conducive for contemplation and therefore it loves silence, tranquility, quietude. It wants निशब्दता, whereas silence is poison for the रजसिक mind, it cannot withstand silence. It will switch on the TV to the top decibel, cannot withstand silence or one has to call someone on the phone. Something or the other or use the walkman something or the other, it likes noisy activity, that is why we say that there is buzzing activity. We never say silent activity. Buzzing activity means lot of noise. Noise will be there.

And तमोगुण is just the opposite, it suppresses both सत्त्व and रजस् and कृष्ण wants to point out that all the three गुणIs are bondage.

All the three गुणIs cause bondage in different ways. How all the three गुणIs cause bondage?

i) A सात्त्विक mind will love a set-up which is quiet and which is conducive for thinking, contemplation, study, etc. And if that set-up is disturbed, by any sound or any visitor, then a सात्त्विक mind is upset. And therefore, it is a दुःख-मिश्रित condition, because as long as the set-up is favorable to me, the सात्त्विक mind enjoys. In fact, many people after studying वेदान्त, they will like to spend more time in study, meditation, etc., at home and they complain, “स्वामिजि, lot of disturbances, irritating disturbances.” And even if no other sound is there, for the sound of the clock this person gets irritated. Or even the lizard says ki, ki, ki, this person gets irritated. A सात्त्विक mind is also a bound-mind because it cannot totally control the set-up, when the set-up is disturbed, it has to दुःखम्. Similarly, a रजसिक mind, of course hates silence and quietude and if there are no people around, that person is upset and disturbed and therefore, he wants to disturb the neighbor. He cannot keep quiet because, he cannot face silence. Therefore a रजसिक mind also will face दुःखम्, pain because, as long as it is able to order the set-up as it wants, it is fine, but when the set-up is disturbed, it is unhappy and तमसिक mind, that also will have problems. कृष्ण will tell the details later, the greatest problem being there is no scope for progress at all. So, therefore, all the three गुणs are mixed with pain or sorrow.

ii) And कृष्ण points out that all the three गुणs cause dependence. A person who loves silence is addicted to silence. And he is not a free person because to enjoy happiness, he requires silence. And therefore he is मुक्तः or बद्धः? सात्विक person is also bound, because he is addicted to silence. What about राजसिक person? That person is also bound, because he is addicted to noise, company he wants. If all the people go out, this person will feel lonely and disturbed. Therefore, बन्धकत्वम्, dependence and bondage, is common to all the people, pain is common to all the people, wherever dependence is there pain is also there.

iii) And thirdly, all the people will have अतृप्तिकरत्वम् (this is said in उपनिषत्s, दुःख-मिश्रितत्वम्, अतृप्तिकरत्वम्, बन्धकत्वम्). अतृप्तिकरत्वम् is also common to all the three. How? A सात्विक person wants to gain more and more knowledge. He has a great hunger for knowledge. And without knowledge, he feels a limited person and therefore he wants to remove the knowledge-wise limitation, which limitation the राजसिक person will never feel. सात्विक person alone will have the unique sense of limitation, what I know is less and therefore, he goes on acquiring knowledge, because he wants to become omniscient, सर्वज्ञ. But to his utter desperation and dismay he finds out any amount of knowledge he gathers, his limitation, knowledge-wise limitation does not go away. In fact, the more you learn the more you know about you don't know. Therefore greater your knowledge the more you know about your ignorance and that is why in every field, he goes on specializing, specializing, specializing and the whole life time is not enough to concentrate on one subject. Take one medicine it has so many parts, whole body is divided into ophthalmology department, ENT department, dentistry and dermatology. स्वामिजि says dermatologists has got skin-deep knowledge. If you go a little deeper, he will say that it is not my department and you have to go to the bone specialist, Orthopedist. Whatever it is. So therefore, as somebody nicely defined, 'a specialist is one who learns more and more about less and less things.' And therefore I am never going to become omniscient in the field of any branch of science and therefore संसार, this is called intellectual संसार. I want to know more about and I am not able to know. Similarly, a राजसिक person also suffers from संसार, not in terms of knowledge but in terms of activity. He wants to do more and more, accomplish more and more. He becomes a workaholic, he says a miles and miles I have to travel and do all these things. And at any time he looks at himself, he is not satisfied. सात्त्विक person travels from finitude to finitude, राजसिक person travels from finitude to finitude, तमसिक person doesn't travel at all, therefore he is from finitude to? There is no from, he continues in finitude. And therefore कृष्ण says all the three गुणIs will bind you.

And therefore all the three forms of अहङ्कार are bondage. सात्त्विक अहङ्कार is also bondage, राजसिक अहङ्कार is also bondage, तामसिक अहङ्कार is also bondage. If you want to transcend bondage, you have to transcend अहङ्कार and own up your higher nature and what is your higher nature? The साक्षि, गुणातीत साक्षि. But कृष्ण wants to point out one important thing, even though the three गुणIs are causes of bondage, for liberation you will have to use the three गुणIs only as stepping stone. Even though they are the causes of bondage, you will have to intelligently use them and transcend them, like a pole vaulter, what does he do, he has got a pole to vault himself. And what does he do, he uses the pole, runs, fixes down and with the help of the pole alone he goes up and cross the bar, thereafter what does he do, he should not say that because of this pole alone, I am on the top now, I should show my gratitude, at this time if I leave this pole, I am not loyal to the pole, therefore I will tightly hold on to it, if someone says, he is a fool. You have to drop. So one person uses the pole, goes up and refuses to drop. He is a Fool No.1. There is another person who says, anyway after reaching up, I have to drop the pole, why take the pole at all,

प्रक्षालनात् हि पङ्कस्य दूरात् अस्पर्शनम् वरम् ॥ महाभारतम् ॥

Therefore he refuses to use the pole. This fellow is damn idiot. An intelligent person uses the pole, goes up, drops the pole and wins the Commonwealth gold medal. Similarly, use the अहङ्कार pole. You require तमोगुण also. If you don't have तमोगुण at all, if you are all the time ज्ञान प्रधान and कर्म प्रधान, you will never go to sleep. And if you have no sleep at all for you and more than that problem for others also, therefore we require तमोगुण for sufficient rest and recuperation, use तमोगुण and you have to use रजोगुण and become a कर्म प्रधान person to follow कर्मयोग. कर्मयोग requires a राजसिक अहङ्कार and thereafter you have to go to ज्ञानयोग and ज्ञानयोग requires what अहङ्कार? सात्विक अहङ्कार. Suppose in the class you have got तामसिक अहङ्कार, what will you be doing? Dozing. If you have a राजसिक अहङ्कार, what will happen? Wandering all over, who all have come, who all are sleeping, etc., you will be watching. There are some people who love to watch who are all sleeping. That is called राजसिक अहङ्कार. So a wandering mind cannot learn, a dozing mind cannot learn, an alert, vigilant and non-wandering mind absorbs the teaching like sponge. And once it gets the wisdom, what is the wisdom, the wisdom is I am not this inferior सगुण अहङ्कार nature, because it is मिथ्या and inferior, my real nature is अहम् गुणातीत साक्षि अस्मि. Thus, we have to know the nature of the three गुणs and how they bind us and we also should know how to intelligently use the three गुणs and become गुणातीतः and गुणातीतः is a liberated person. This is going to be the analysis in the verses beginning from the 5th verse onwards, the details of which we will see from the next class.

CHAPTER 14, VERSES 05-09

For analyzing the three गुणs, Lord कृष्ण has given the introduction and in the introductory portion we saw that every individual is a mixture of two portions, one is called साक्षि अंश, the higher part of the individual and second is अहङ्कार अंश, the lower part of the individual. Of these two portions, the साक्षि portion the higher part consists of only Consciousness which is pure चैतन्यम्, whereas the अहङ्कार the lower part consists of two things, one is the inert body-mind-complex, is part of अहङ्कार and this inert body-mind-complex, enjoys the reflected Consciousness or borrowed Consciousness and because of that, the body-mind-complex has become sentient. Just as a mirror, a non-luminous-mirror becomes a bright-mirror when it has got a reflected sunlight. So when I look at a bright-mirror, I should remember it has got two parts, one is the mirror part and the second is the reflected Sun. In the same way, the अहङ्कार, like the bright-mirror has got two parts, one is the inert body-mind-complex, like the mirror and the second is the borrowed or reflected Consciousness, in संस्कृत we call it प्रतिबिम्ब चैतन्यम् plus the body. And this mixture प्रतिबिम्ब चैतन्यम् plus the body together is called अहङ्कार and what is the साक्षि? साक्षि is neither the body, nor is the reflected Consciousness. साक्षि is different from both the body and the reflected Consciousness and what is that? The original Consciousness. If you remember तत्त्वबोध, $RM + RC = अहङ्कार$. RM means the reflecting medium, the body + RC, the reflected Consciousness is equal to the अहङ्कार. Then what is the साक्षि? It is neither the RM, nor is it the RC, but it is OC. In OC itself our life is running!!! So this OC part is called the higher part, the साक्षि अंश, RC + RM is called the lower part, the अहङ्कार अंश, the साक्षि अंश and the अहङ्कार अंश is together inseparably. When I use the word 'I', it is a mixture of both the साक्षि and अहङ्कार. And of these two अंशs, the साक्षि is the निर्गुण अंश, because it is pure Consciousness, whereas the अहङ्कार contains the body-mind-complex and the body-mind-complex is matter. It is प्रकृति and therefore अहङ्कार is endowed with three गुणs. So अहङ्कार अंश is सगुण अंश, whereas साक्षि अंश is (अंश means aspect, facet or part). So my lower nature is सगुण अहङ्कार and my higher nature is निर्गुण साक्षि. And having said this much, कृष्ण wants to point out that the अहङ्कार can never escape from the three गुणs, because अहङ्कार consists of प्रकृति, it is made up of the प्रकृति and therefore अहङ्कार (when I say अहङ्कार, you should remember body-mind-complex plus the reflected Consciousness) body-mind-complex is born out of प्रकृति principle. You have to remember that always, then only अहङ्कार and सगुण can be understood clearly. Therefore, my lower part, the अहङ्कार अंश can never escape from these three गुणs and the only juggling that I can do is change the proportion of the गुणs. Like some political parties do, they change the ministers to party work and from party work to ministry and then they put to governorship. The party consists of the same type of people. I am not telling whether they are good people or bad people. You can decide the composition! अहङ्कार can never escape from the three गुणs. अहङ्कार can only be dominant in सत्त्वगुण, in which case it will be सात्त्विक अहङ्कार, it can be dominant in रजोगुण in which case it will be राजसिक अहङ्कार or it can be तामसिक अहङ्कार. And कृष्ण wants to say that whether it is सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक, all these three गुणs are bound to bind the individual. Only the type of संसार caused will change, the mode of bondage will change, one may be a golden shackle, another may be silver shackle, another may be an iron shackle, but all the three are shackles. Like in Saudi Arabia, when a member of the royal family commits a crime and they have to behead, they will use a gold sword. What will be difference, when the head will be cut by a gold sword or silver sword? Therefore कृष्ण wants to say that all these three गुणs will bind, therefore you want to be free you have to transcend the सगुण अहङ्कार and you have to own up your higher गुणातीत, निर्गुण, साक्षि अंशः. But one thing that कृष्ण admits is to become a गुणातीत, initially you will have to use the three गुण as a stepping stone, as I gave the example of the pole, used by the pole-vaulter. The pole will have to be used to go above the bar, but having gone above, the pole will have to be dropped. Not using the pole is also foolishness, not leaving the pole is also foolishness, use the pole, cross the bar and leave the pole. Similarly, use the गुण and then drop the गुण, drop means transcend the गुण and become गुणातीत. This is what कृष्ण is going to teach. For that purpose the analysis of the three गुण is started from verse no.5, which will go up to verse no.18. And कृष्ण gave the introduction in 5th verse. There are three गुण associated with अहङ्कार, देहिनम्, देही means the अहङ्कार प्रधान जीवः. And that अहङ्कार, the जीव is associated with all the three गुण in different proportions and निबध्नन्ति – all the three गुण will bind differently. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now Continuing; verse no.5;

Verse No .06

तत्र सत्त्वं निर्मलत्वात्प्रकाशकमनामयम् ।

सुखसङ्गेन बध्नाति ज्ञानसङ्गेन चानघ ॥ १४-६॥

तत्र सत्त्वम् निर्मलत्वात् प्रकाशकम् अनामयम् ।

सुख-सङ्गेन बध्नाति ज्ञान-सङ्गेन च अनघ ॥ १४-६॥

हे अनघ!! तत्र अनामयम् प्रकाशकम् सत्त्वम् निर्मलत्वात् (आत्मानं) सुख-सङ्गेन ज्ञान-सङ्गेन च बध्नाति ।

For the sake of our convenience, this analysis of the three गुण can be divided into five topics.

i) The first topic is the definition of each गुण. In संस्कृत, we call it लक्षणम्, लक्षणम् means the definition. What is the definition of सत्त्व, Similarly, रजस् and तमस्?

ii) Then the second topic that कृष्ण will discuss is the mode or method of bondage. How each गुण binds a person in its own unique way? In संस्कृत we call it बन्धन प्रकारः. बन्धनम् means bondage, प्रकारः means mode or method. This is the second topic.

iii) The third topic is the indication or clue to find out which गुण is predominant in a person. Whether I am a सत्त्व predominant person, having a सात्विक अहङ्कार, or whether I am a राजसिक or तामसिक, how can I know? So we should have some indicator or test that indicator is called लिङ्गम्. So thus सत्त्व लिङ्गम्, रजो लिङ्गम् and तमो लिङ्गम्. लिङ्गम् does not mean शिवलिङ्गम्, here लिङ्गम् means an indicator.

iv) Then the fourth topic is the गतिः. What will be the type of travel taken by, the course of travel taken by a जीव after death? If a person dies, with सत्त्व predominant, which direction he will travel, if he dies with रजस् predominant, which direction he will travel, similarly, तमसः गतिः. So the word गतिः means मरण अनन्तर प्रयाणम्. This is the fourth topic.

v) Then the fifth and final topic is the consequences of the domination of each गुण in this life itself. If सत्त्व is predominant in a person, what consequences we can find here when we are alive. In संस्कृत, we call it फलम्. सत्त्व फलम्, रज फलम् and तमो फलम्. What is the difference between गति and फलम्? गति is the consequence after death, फलम् is consequence before death.

These are the five topics. लक्षणम्, बन्धन प्रकारः, लिङ्गम्, गतिः and फलम्. Of these five topics, first we are going to take up लक्षणम् and बन्धन प्रकारः.

In verse no.6, कृष्ण talks about सत्त्व लक्षणम् and सत्त्व बन्धन प्रकारः. Then in the 7th verse, रजो लक्षणम् and बन्धन प्रकारः and in the 8th verse, तमो लक्षणम् and बन्धन प्रकारः. Now let us look into the verse. तत्र – among these three गुणs of अहङ्कार or साक्षि? साक्षि doesn't have. The अहङ्कार; तत्र, सत्त्वम् – when सत्त्व is predominant in a person, in the अहङ्कार, निर्मलत्वात् – it is called शुद्ध सत्त्वम् or निर्मल

सत्त्वम्. And what do you mean by शुद्ध सत्त्वम् or निर्मल सत्त्वम्? It means when सत्त्वगुण is dominant, the other two गुणs will not contaminate, influence or pollute सत्त्वगुण. If रजोगुण and तमोगुण contaminate or pollute the सत्त्वगुण, it will be called मलिन सत्त्वम्, but when सत्त्व is dominant, रजस् and तमस् will not affect it. And when रजस् and तमस् do not affect, what will be the nature of that सत्त्व? प्रकाशकम् – when तमोगुण influences the सत्त्व, तमोगुण being dullness, तमोगुण being ignorance and darkness and dullness, if तमोगुण pollutes सत्त्वगुण, the mind will be turbulent, like water mixed with particles will be turbid water, will not be bright and pure. So when तमोगुण influences सत्त्व, the mind will be turbid, but when तमोगुण does not influence सत्त्व, it is like a clean filtered water, treated water, zero-B water, the mind will be clear, in thinking there will be clarity. So when will there be clarity in thinking? When सत्त्वगुण is निर्मलम्, that means not influenced by तमोगुण, dullness. तमस् stands for dullness. Therefore प्रकाशात्मकम्, a सत्त्व प्रधान mind will have clarity of thinking. That is why in English also we use the expression, he is a bright boy, bright means clarity of thinking. And similarly, if रजोगुण pollutes the सत्त्व, what will be condition? रजोगुण stands for activity, restlessness, as I said in the last class, extrovertedness etc., therefore when रजोगुण pollutes the सत्त्व, the mind will be restless, wandering, vacillating, wavering, but when सत्त्वगुण is predominant and रजोगुण does not influence, that सत्त्वगुण is निरामयम्. प्रकाशात्मकम् means unpolluted by तमोगुण and निरामयम् means unpolluted by रजोगुण. So निरामयम् means free from tension, free from stress, free from strain, free from restlessness. When रजोगुण pollutes the mind cannot relax. Whereas सत्त्व is predominant it becomes a प्रकाशात्मकम्, bright and calm. And therefore, what is the definition of सत्त्वगुण? It is प्रकाशात्मकम्, it is of the nature of brightness and calmness, quietude, tranquility. And this seems to be a wonderful nature, if the mind is bright and calm, it is capable of learning things, it is capable of obsorbing, it is capable of contemplation, it is capable of self-analysis. So सत्त्वगुण seems to be a wonderful thing, how do you say सत्त्वगुण binds? कृष्ण says: सत्त्वगुण is also bondage because, a सात्त्विक mind seeks always a tranquil atmosphere, a सात्त्विक mind seeks seclusion, a सात्त्विक mind seeks freedom from noise pollution. OK, what is wrong in it? The problem is you can never control the external atmosphere. So if you are addicted to seclusion and quietude, you become a dependent person, dependent on what, quietude and seclusion. And if a situation comes in the family, where you cannot order quietude and seclusion, you become highly disturbed. Nobody allows me to be peaceful even for a short time, people keep on coming, the phone calls, the door bell, etc., you want quietude, quietude becomes a cause of bondage. Whereas a liberated person is defined as a person who does not depend upon even quietude or seclusion for fulfillment and happiness. Any type of dependence is bondage, सत्त्वगुण leads to noble dependence, but noble dependence is also a dependence. And therefore कृष्ण says: सुख-सङ्गेन – the सात्त्विक अहङ्कार seeks seclusion, quietude, etc., and that need becomes a bondage. And unfortunately, in India, with such a big population you go anywhere, one thing you cannot avoid is noise. So many festivals and there is no connection between the cinema song and the festival! And you get irritated and go there, there is one, he switches on and he goes away for tea. So you get highly irritated, because you need tranquility. So सुख-सङ्गेन बध्नाति and second type of bondage is ज्ञान-सङ्गेन च अनघ – a सात्त्विक mind is attached to knowledge. It is an introvert mind which wants to think and know and study and increase the range of knowledge. Just as a राजसिक mind we will see is attached to कर्म, राजसिक mind is कर्मेन्द्रिय प्रधान, a सात्त्विक अहङ्कार is ज्ञानेन्द्रिय प्रधान, it wants to increase knowledge. And both have got greed. There the greed for action, here the greed is for knowledge. OK, what is wrong, if a सात्त्विक अहङ्कार wants more and more knowledge? The problem is any amount of knowledge you gather, you can never become full and complete, because omniscience is impossible. Just as you gather any amount of money, you are finite, you gather any amount of knowledge, you are intellectually finite. And therefore a राजसिक person is dissatisfied with his external possession, a सात्विक person is dissatisfied with his internal possession of ज्ञानम्. And therefore here by ज्ञानम् I mean the material knowledge. I am not talking about आत्मज्ञानम्, I mean अपरा विद्या, he wants to gather more and more. सात्विक person suffers from intellectual संसार. He wants to solve the fundamental problems of science and when he dies incapable of solving a crucial scientific problem, he dies a restless person, because he could not solve that problem. And they think that you can solve all the problem, always there will be some scientific unsolved problem. For knowledge is bound. हे अनय! अनय means अर्जुन and by using the word अनय, कृष्ण indirectly says अर्जुन you have a pure mind. Because he asked for knowledge.

शिष्यः ते अहम् शाधि माम् त्वाम् प्रपन्नम् ॥ २-७॥

So thus in the first line, सत्त्वलक्षणम् is given, in the second line is सत्त्वबन्धन प्रकार is given. What is लक्षणम्? प्रकाशात्मकम्. What is बन्धन प्रकार? सुख-सङ्गेन, attachment to quietude is the bondage. Now we will come to the रजो लक्षणम् and बन्धन प्रकार.

Verse No .07

रजो रागात्मकं विद्धि तृष्णासङ्गसमुद्भवम् ।

तन्निबध्नाति कौन्तेय कर्मसङ्गेन देहिनम् ॥ १४-७॥

रजः राग-आत्मकम् विद्धि तृष्णा-सङ्ग-समुद्भवम् ।

तत् निबध्नाति कौन्तेय कर्म-सङ्गेन देहिनम् ॥ १४-७॥

हे कौन्तेय! राग-आत्मकम् रजः तृष्णा-सङ्ग-समुद्भवम् विद्धि । तत् देहिनम् कर्म-सङ्गेन निबध्नाति ।

First line deals with रजोगुण लक्षणम्. रजः राग-आत्मकम् विद्धि – it is of the nature of attachment and passion, a राजसिक mind is highly extrovert and it always wants to relate with things and people.

The nature of रजोगुण is that the mind is always extrovert and it always wants to have relationship with things and people. If सत्त्व is निवृत्ति प्रधान, seclusion and withdrawal, रजस् makes a person प्रवृत्ति प्रधान, interested in companionship, in people, in relationship, in interaction. And it never loves quietude, all the time it wants to talk to someone or the other. If you put a राजसिक person in a room alone, he cannot survive for five minutes, he will break the door and come out. Whereas if you put a सात्विक person, you will not know that he is there or not. It is just the opposite. Therefore कृष्ण says: रजः राग-आत्मकम्, राग means relationship, attachment, passion. All the time trying to stick to people. And even while sitting there are some people, so much space will be there, they will always like to sit glued to others. In sleep also they have to embrace someone, if nobody is there, then they hold on to pillow. It is the type of mind. I am not saying it is good or bad, I am saying the two types of mind, it is a nonjudgmental observation. We require each गुण to attain liberation. Because कर्मयोग will require activity. पञ्च महायज्ञ will require activity, in which case, we will require रजोगुण and of course the study of वेदान्त will require सत्त्वगुण. Therefore no गुण is good or bad, each गुण plays its own role. In fact, if you see the range of साधन, in each level of साधन, we are making use of one गुण or the other. And therefore रजः राग-आत्मकम् विद्धि means sticky type, of the nature of passion. And naturally, तृष्णा-सङ्ग-समुद्भवम्. Since it is an extrovert mind, a restless mind, a dynamic mind, it has got lot of ambitions and wants to achieve, always wants to achieve something or the other, it is an ambitious mind and therefore it has तृष्णा, तृष्णा means desire for external thing, lot of possession, lot of people, always rambling. And if husband is सात्विक and wife is राजसिक or wife is सात्विक and husband is राजसिक, you had it. One wants rambling and another wants quietude. You have to manage very carefully. So तृष्णा means what? Desire. Of course this desire we will divide into two, either selfish desire or selfless desire, the mind is full of desire by which a person wants to become a workaholic person and not only he wants तृष्णा, काम and after acquiring things, आसङ्गः – he wants to hold on to everything. The old pen, with which he wrote the SSLC examination 3 times. It is not writing now, it is an ink pen, who needs that now: yet he keeps that. Even the disposable cups and bottles all of them he doesn't want to give up anything. Because fashion is there, the gum is there and therefore परिग्रह प्रधान. परिग्रह means possession. Whereas सत्त्वगुण makes a person. अपरिग्रह प्रधान, अपरिग्रह means he wants to drop things. One wants to hold and another wants to drop. And therefore आसङ्गः, sticking to everything. समुद्भवम् means it is the source. What is the source? रजोगुण is the source of desire and attachment. Desire for things not possessed and attachment to things which are already possessed. In fact, you begin to wonder he possesses the object or he is possessed by the object. So this is the रजोगुण definition. What is the definition? राग-आत्मकम्, of the nature of attachment. And how does the रजोगुण bind the individual? हे कौन्तेय! तत् निबध्नाति – रजोगुण also binds, देहिनम् – the individual, कर्म-सङ्गेन – by making him attached to कर्म, all the time. So कर्म-सङ्ग means it makes him a workaholic. And we may argue that कर्म is required for accomplishing things. Even कर्मयोग is required for वित्तशुद्धि, what is wrong in doing कर्म? If you ask, what वेदान्त says is कर्म is required up to a particular stage, after that particular stage one has to shift to ज्ञानयोग. कर्मयोग has to be followed by ज्ञानयोग, but the problem with राजसिक person is, he can never come to ज्ञानयोग. कर्म, कर्म कर्म, कर्म, कर्म, fall dead. So that is called attachment. Therefore कर्म-सङ्गेन, with attachment to कर्म it binds. What about सत्त्वगुण? ज्ञान-सङ्गेन. Here it is कर्म-सङ्गेन. Continuing;

तमस्त्वज्ञानजं विद्धि मोहनं सर्व-देहिनाम् ।

प्रमादालस्यनिद्राभिस्तन्निबध्नाति भारत ॥ १४-८॥

तमः तु अज्ञानजम् विद्धि मोहनम् सर्व-देहिनाम् ।

प्रमाद-आलस्य-निद्राभिः तत् निबध्नाति भारत ॥ १४-८॥

हे भारत! तमः तु सर्व-देहिनाम् मोहनम् अज्ञानजम् विद्धि । तत् (देहिनाम्) प्रमाद-आलस्य-निद्राभिः निबध्नाति ।

So now comes the तमोगुण लक्षणम् and तमोगुण बन्धन प्रकारः. कृष्ण says तमः तु अज्ञानजम् विद्धि – तमोगुण also is born out of अज्ञानम्. अज्ञानम् in the context means प्रकृति. Because प्रकृति is the original source of the creation. From प्रकृति alone सत्त्वगुण also flows, रजोगुण also flows, तमोगुण also. Therefore, this तमोगुण is also equally born out of प्रकृति or माया. And therefore one cannot escape from तमोगुण. But here we are dealing with what problems? The predominance of तमोगुण will cause what all problems, sleeping is not problem, then what is the problem? Continuing to sleep is the problem. Sleeping is not the problem, everyone has to sleep. If one does not sleep, there is some problem, insomnia is a problem, for that person also and more than that for the other people also. Therefore, we don't condemn तमोगुण but we are talking about the predominance of तमोगुण will create the following problems.

a) The first problem is that it suppresses the सत्त्वगुण and रजोगुण. Since सत्त्वगुण is suppressed, there is no clarity of thinking. And therefore one even does not ask what is the purpose of life. Human life is never taken seriously. The precious time is never taken seriously. The young age is never taken seriously. All because of the lack of clarity of thinking.

b) And because of that, मोहन-आत्मकम्, मोहनम् means delusion, मोहनम् is not मोहन राग here, मोहनम् means of the nature of delusion, that means there is no clear thinking and also often there is no goal in life, it is just moving along with the current, there is no goal and even if goals are there, the priorities are not clear. How much money is important, how much health is important, how much knowledge is important, with regard to all these there is no clarity and therefore मोहनम् सर्व-देहिनाम् – it causes delusion for all those people. And therefore what is the definition of तमोगुण? मोहन-आत्मकम्, of the nature of delusion. And there are some people who are so intensely deluded that you try to talk to them and help them out, they are so powerful that they make you also confused. They transfer the confusion to you also. Nothing can be done, except प्रार्थना. Sometime such children are born in our own family, they don't take to study seriously, mother is worried, स्वामिजि, is there any prayer, this boy is not studying at all and in this highly competitive society if he doesn't study properly, in future which girl will marry him, girls are all PhDs, this fellow doesn't want to go beyond SSLC – so therefore, will he get married, will he get a good job, parents are worried, but the child does not know the seriousness of the life itself. Therefore of the nature of delusion, at least for the children if it is up to a particular stage, it is OK but there are people even grown up not clear about life and its goals.

c) And how does तमोगुण bind a person, प्रमाद-आलस्य-निद्राभिः तत् निबध्नाति. प्रमाद means carelessness, negligence with regard to the proper utilization of the body, लब्ध्वा कथंचिन्नरजन्म दुर्लभम् ॥ विवेकचूडामणि ४ ॥

Getting नर-जन्म is very very rare. नरी-जन्म is possible. नर-जन्म is दुर्लभम् and that too we are born in a वैदिक culture which talk about the higher goal and if I don't make use of this wonderful opportunity, 'If I miss out in this life, I don't know what sort of a life I will have?' No guarantee that next जन्म will be मनुष्य जन्म. We don't want, we are all liberated! other people, so प्रमाद. Not तमिक् प्रमाद, it is the संस्कृत प्रमाद, carelessness, negligence, आलस्यम् means laziness or indolence, idling the time and then निद्रा means sleep. Therefore, most of the time, this person is asleep or sleepy. These two अवस्थाs he is aware only. He is not aware of the third stage of जाग्रत् अवस्था at all. Either he is asleep or sleepy with half closed eyes, you think he is meditating, but he is sleeping. For such people, never prescribe meditation. So if you prescribe meditation, they will continue sleeping in sitting posture.

Therefore you have to prescribe कर्म. And therefore, प्रमाद, negligence, laziness and sleep. Through these three, तत् निबध्नाति भारत – तमोगुण binds a person. This person does not acquire पुण्यम् or पापम्. There is an advantage in तमोगुण. This person doesn't acquire पुण्यम् or पापम्, why? पुण्यम् and पापम् are कर्म-फलम् and this person doesn't do any कर्म, if you do कर्म only you get पुण्यम् and पापम्. Therefore the advantage for this person, he will not acquire much आगामि, he will not acquire fresh पुण्यम् and पापम्, but remember that is not a great achievement, animals also do not acquire पुण्यम् or पापम्. If I say I have not acquired any पुण्यम् or पापम्, it means I have been like a buffalo. Is it a credit? Therefore it is perpetuation of bondage. So तत् निबध्नाति भारत. Continuing;

Verse No .09

सत्त्वं सुखे सञ्जयति रजः कर्मणि भारत ।

ज्ञानमावृत्य तु तमः प्रमादे सञ्जयत्युत ॥ १४-९॥

सत्त्वम् सुखे सञ्जयति रजः कर्मणि भारत ।

ज्ञानम् आवृत्य तु तमः प्रमादे सञ्जयति उत ॥ १४-९॥

हे भारत! सत्त्वम् (देहिनाम्) सुखे सञ्जयति, रजः कर्मणि, उत तमः तु ज्ञानम् आवृत्य प्रमादे सञ्जयति ।

In this verse, कृष्ण repeats the topic of बन्धन प्रकारः, even though He has talked about it, He is putting that in a nutshell in this verse, how each गुण binds a person by creating a particular form of addiction. Each one binds by creating a particular form of addiction, which is called सङ्ग. And what are the three addictions? सत्त्वम् सुखे सञ्जयति, सत्त्वगुण causes addiction to quietude, निवृत्ति, withdrawal, silence, addiction to silence is also a form of addiction. So सुखम् means tranquility, quietude, seclusion, etc. So सुख-सङ्ग is the mode of bondage. Whereas रजोगुण causes another form of addiction, कर्म-सङ्गेन, so it causes addiction to कर्म, doing कर्म is harmless, addiction to धर्म is the problem. Enjoying silence is wonderful but addiction to silence is a problem. Liking to do meditation is wonderful, but addiction to meditation is a problem. In fact, वेदान्त goes to the height of saying, even addiction to शास्त्रम् is an addiction. So don't say: I will leave all this now. We have not formed an interest all. So we can think of leaving after some time. So the height is addiction to गुरु, शास्त्र. वेदान्त and it goes up to God: 'Cut asunder the desires, cut asunder the desires, cut asunder even if it be the desire for God' That kind of detachment we need not develop now, but what कृष्ण wants to say is कर्म is OK, कर्म addiction is a bondage. Similarly, तमोगुण binds how? प्रमादे सञ्जयति उत, प्रमाद as we saw before is carelessness, lack of attention. So no job is done wholeheartedly, whatever job he does, there are mistakes, there are corrections required, so प्रमाद-सङ्गः, or you can say, निद्रा सङ्गः also and how does it cause that? ज्ञानम् आवृत्य – by way of covering the clarity of thinking. So by covering the discriminative power, the तमोगुण makes a person addicted to lose jobs all the time. So that means what: you cannot make that person responsible. Whatever job you give you have to stand behind. For that, we can ourselves do, he can never be a responsible person. More we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 14, VERSES 10-13

In the last few classes, we saw that our higher nature known as the साक्षि स्वरूपम् is ever निर्गुणम् and therefore free from the influence of the three गुणs, but our व्यावहारिक nature, our lower nature, which is called अहङ्कार is a mixture of the body-mind-complex, as well as the reflected Consciousness. Untill the अहङ्कार consists of the body-mind-complex, untill the body-mind-complex is born out of प्रकृति, the अहङ्कार can never escape from the three गुणs. And therefore, our body-mind-complex is made up of three गुणs and the अहङ्कार which consists of this body-mind-complex is the necessarily made up of these three गुणs and therefore, we can never escape from them. We have to live with these सगुण अहङ्कार. And once we are forced to live with this अहङ्कार, it is better that we understand the अहङ्कार well, so that we know how to handle it properly. If you have to live with some people at home, if you have no escaping from them, better you try to, whether to succeed or not, understand those people well, because understanding will help in handling anything. Science is able to handle the nature more and more only because science has been able to know nature more and more. Knowledge gives the capacity for better handling. And therefore कृष्ण says: you have to understand your own अहङ्कार very well. For that, you must know what type of अहङ्कार you have, which गुण is dominant, which गुण is in middle, the second place and which गुण is the lowest, better you understand and you also know how these गुणs influence your व्यावहारिक life, both material life, as well as the spiritual life. And therefore कृष्ण strated an enquiry into the three गुणs which we divided into 5 topics. The first topic being the definition of the three गुणs and He gave the definition, सत्त्वगुण is प्रकाशात्मकम् and रजोगुण is रागात्मकम् and तमोगुण is मोहनात्मकम्. By the word प्रकाशात्मकम् it means, their mind will be inclined to gain more and more knowledge, a mind which is predisposed to the pursuit of knowledge. A mind with more and more knowing tendencies, a mind which want to use ज्ञानेन्द्रिय more is called a सात्त्विक mind. Whereas रजोगुण is said to be the रगात्मकम् which means a personality which tends to add more, more than knowing tendency this personality has doing tendency, it is a dynamic mind which want to use the कर्मेन्द्रिय more than the ज्ञानेन्द्रिय. And therefore, कर्म predisposition or कर्म tendency is रजोगुण लक्षणम्, knowledge tendency is सत्त्वगुण लक्षणम्. And तमोगुण is defined as मोहनात्मकम्, which means a personality which is always in doubt, always indecisive, always procrastinating, always not sure what to do. A mind which is in eternal conflict and delusion and procrastination and if you try to help them resolve the conflict, not only you don't resolve their conflict, they will put conflict in your mind also. So powerful is their मोहः. So this constant vacillation tendency is the expression of तमोगुण which we called मोहनात्मकम्. This is the first topic, the definition. Then the second topic that we discussed was बन्धन प्रकारः, how each गुण bind a person which we can easily infer, a सात्त्विक mind has always a knowing tendency, learning tendency, therefore, naturally it is addicted to any infrastructure which is conducive for learning. It always loves learning infrastructure which means quietude, which means seclusion, which means silence, which means withdrawal, which means reduction of relationships, because relationships require extrovertedness. And therefore, a सात्त्विक mind is attached to knowledge infrastructure whereas a रजसिक mind hates a knowledge infrastructure of quietude, withdrawal etc. A रजसिक mind craves for a कर्म infrastructure. It wants to do something or the other, therefore it wants people, it wants gadgets, it wants to go out, i.e., it wants an infrastructure in which कर्मेन्द्रिय can be active. And this is called bondage because it is addicted to such a set-up and if such a set-up is not available, that person is a fish out of water, he is unhappy. And therefore, whether unhappiness is caused by silence, or whether unhappiness is caused by noise, unhappiness is unhappiness and वेदान्त defines मोक्ष as that state of mind, in which there is no unhappiness in noise also, there is no unhappiness in silence also, one which is not bound by either noise or silence. Therefore, सत्त्वम् सुखे सञ्जयति, i.e., called सुख-सङ्ग or ज्ञान-सङ्ग, the bondage and रजोगुण binds through कर्म-सङ्ग, attachment to कर्म and तमोगुण binds to निद्रा and आलस्य, तमोगुण mind is not sure about what infrastructure in wants. It doesn't even know what it wants. Still groping in darkness. And also it doesn't want to decide. Decision making the तमोगुण mind doesn't want, it is attached to vagueness, it is attached to negligence, it is attached to carelessness. So this is प्रमाद-सङ्ग. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now we have to go to the next topic. Verse no.10;

Verse No .10

रजस्तमश्चाभिभूय सत्त्वं भवति भारत ।

रजः सत्त्वं तमश्चैव तमः सत्त्वं रजस्तथा ॥ १४-१०॥

रजः तमः च अभिभूय सत्त्वम् भवति भारत ।

रजः सत्त्वम् तमः च एव तमः सत्त्वम् रजः तथा ॥ १४-१०॥

हे भारत! सत्त्वम्, रजः तमः एव अभिभूय (स्वयम्) भवति, च रजः, सत्त्वम् तमः च (अभिभूय स्वयम् भवति), तथा तमः, सत्त्वम् रजः (अभिभूय स्वयम् भवति)।

For the third topic that कृष्ण is going to deal with is the लिङ्गम् or the indicatory mark to know, whether one is सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक. But before entering into this third topic, कृष्ण is taking a small diversion. So the 10th verse is a diversion verse. Of course, it is a deliberate diversion, because कृष्ण considers this topic, this diversion topic important. And what does कृष्ण wants to say here? He says every thing and being is made up of three गुणs, because every thing and being is born of प्रकृति. From an inert object to the most intelligent human being, every blessed thing in the creation is the product of प्रकृति and therefore, everyone has got all the three गुणs.

But there is only one difference and that difference is even though every thing is made up of three गुणs, the proportion is not uniform. The proportion was uniform before the creation, during the प्रलय अवस्था, the three गुणs were in equilibrium, in साङ्ख्य philosophy, they call it गुणानाम् साम्य अवस्था प्रलय. Once the creation has started, there is no more equilibrium, there is वैषम्य अवस्था, वैषम्यम् means inequilibrium. And therefore in the case of an inert object, there also three गुणs are there, but तमोगुण will be the most dominant one in an inert object and that is why the object doesn't have a learning tendency. You don't find a wall is interested in वेदान्त. Does it mean that the wall doesn't have सत्त्वगुण? The wall also has got that, but तमोगुण is dominant, therefore it doesn't have the learning capacity nor has the wall a doing capacity. Thank God, if the wall wants to do some action, like going for an evening walk, it is a problem, it doesn't do that, it has got inertia. By inertia we mean neither knowing capacity nor doing capacity, because तमोगुण is dominant. And once you come to the plant kingdom, it has got some amount of सत्त्व and रजस्, even though a plant is almost like an inert object only, but the plant has got a little more of सत्त्व and रजस् and it has got some sentiency to feel the environment, which the inert object doesn't have. But it doesn't have the extraordinary सत्त्वगुण, to learn, therefore you don't have schools and colleges for plants, it does have that capacity and similarly, the activities also in the case of a plant is limited, the plant has a limited activity of growing, but you won't see a plant going for a walk. Thank God. Or else the tree on the side of the road will come to the centre, while you are driving!! So it has got more सत्त्व and रजस् than an inert object but it has got only a limited. And when we come to animals, we find सत्त्व and रजस् are still more dominant, their capacity to learn and understand is more than the plant. And also they are not स्थावरs, not stationary living being, but the animals are moving living being, that means रजोगुण is still more, higher grade and once you come to the human beings, सत्त्व and रजस् are still more dominant and therefore human beings have got schools and colleges and books and knowledge goes on increasing going up to ब्रह्मज्ञानम्. Similarly, the number of activities the human beings undertake are also innumerable, many. So thus find a gradual change in the proportion of the three गुणs and then within the human beings themselves, कृष्ण points out that all the human beings do not have the same proportion of गुणs, among the human beings themselves, some of them have got more सत्त्व, some of them have got more रजस्, some of them have got more तमस् and therefore, their स्वभावs, their characters vary. And therefore, a सात्त्विक person is defined as one who has got the predominance of सत्त्व, it does not mean he doesn't have रजस् and तमस्, it only means सत्त्व is dominant and Similarly, in राजसिक person, रजस् is dominant and in a तामसिक person, तमस् is dominant. And तमस् can be so dominant that some people can be closer to animals and some people can be closer to plants and some people can be closer to a wall. As they say why are you sitting like a log of wood. So all these are possible even among human beings. And therefore, कृष्ण points out that सत्त्वम् भवति – in a सात्त्विक person, you have to supply that: in a सात्त्विक person सत्त्वगुण is present, how? अभिभूय – overpowering or dominating रजः तमः च, overpowering रजोगुण and तमोगुण the सत्त्व is dominant in a सात्त्विक person. हे भारत! हे अर्जुन! Then रजः भवति, भवति you have to supply, रजोगुण is present 'in a राजसिक person' also we have to supply. So रजोगुण is present in a राजसिक person, सत्त्वम् तमः च अभिभूय, अभिभूय you have to add, overpowering सत्त्वगुण and तमोगुण the रजस् is dominant in राजसिक people and तमः भवति, in a तामसिक person तमोगुण is present, how? सत्त्वम् रज च अभिभूय, we have to add अभिभूय, overpowering सत्त्वम् गुण and रजोगुण the तमस् is dominant in तामसिक people. Then comes a very very important question. If a person is सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक, is it a fixed character or is it possible for us to change the character of a person? Is it possible for a person to change the proportion of the गुणs? If we cannot change the character of a person, we are doomed, because we are helpless, our future is already decided. Fortunately scriptures point out that the स्वभाव of a person can be transformed. The rate of transformation will defer from individual to individual and the amount of transformation also will defer from individual to individual but transformation is possible. In fact, all the spiritual साधनs are meant to change the proportion only because every साधन requires a particular गुण as a dominant thing. And according to शास्त्र, generally, most of the people are born with तमोगुण predominant only, because as baby what were we doing, only two things, eating and sleeping. We were sleeping for 10, 15, 18 hours and babies' wakes up only for one purpose, for feeding. And after feeding is over, again it goes to sleep. Therefore generally, we are all जन्मना तमः प्रधान and therefore शास्त्रs prescribe the initial साधन to convert from तमोगुण प्रधान person to रजोगुण प्रधान person, the scriptures want us to be active in life and that is why वेद begins not with ज्ञानकाण्डम्, वेद begins with कर्मकाण्डम्. Your life has to start with कर्म or activity. And this कर्मकाण्ड also they divided into two, because a रजोगुण itself is of two types, one रजोगुण is a रजोगुण, which is backed by तमोगुण. That is रजोगुण dominant, say 70% and next one is तमोगुण, say 20% and last one is सत्त्वगुण 10%. So in one रजोगुण, it is backed by तमोगुण and such a रजोगुण will hold the person for selfish activities for the fulfillment of personal desires. वेदs say: Let your life start with selfish activities, you might have, why might have, you all have any number of personal desires and even if you don't have कर्मकाण्ड itself, give advertisement for various types of desires, because the aim of कर्मकाण्ड is to make one get up. Therefore, the वेद tempt a person to fulfill the worldly desires of अर्थ-काम, earn money, buy house, a have TV, computer, car all of them वेद encourages and we don't have time for any service to the society, वेदs say doesn't matter, serve yourselves.

This is called selfishly active type of person, which I discussed in चातुर्वर्ण्यम् context, I don't know whether you remember. And once a person has been selfishly active, वेदs says, gradually change the character of activity. Previously it was RTS (रजोगुण top, तमोगुण middle and सत्त्वगुण bottom) and the composition should be changed to RST, instead of तमोगुण in the second position, let सत्त्वगुण be in the second position and the तमोगुण be the bottom. So when a person converts himself from RTS to RST, a person is active because of रजोगुण, but the activity is self-centered activity. Even though there is selfish activity, it is limited, more and more activities are beneficial to more number of people. So सकाम कर्म to निष्काम कर्म. And once a person has gone through these three stages, thereafter वेदs says that if the रजोगुण is predominant and you are extrovert and active, you can never find time for ज्ञानयोग. And therefore let कर्म continue up to a particular stage, when the mind has become mature and a time should come when your राजसिक tendency should be converted into सत्त्वगुण (you should not tell that I will convert it right now). We have to go out be active because, what कर्म can give, उपासना can never give and what उपासना gives, कर्म can never give. And therefore कर्मयोग is also must, उपासना is also must, उपासना will convert a person from RST to SRT. What is SRT? सत्त्वगुण प्रधान and रजोगुण is in the middle position (or else he will not come to the class even, for that at least रजोगुण is necessary), स्वामिजि, you can come to my house!!! So therefore he will have sufficient रजोगुण to back सत्त्व and of course, तमोगुण is also required. Therefore, inactivity to selfish activity to selfless activity to enquiry. This is our gradual transformation. Inactivity to selfish activity to selfless activity to enquiry is our journey and In fact, if you take the four आश्रमs, ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम, गृहस्थ आश्रम, वानप्रस्थ आश्रम and संन्यास आश्रम, these four आश्रमs also represent the gradual transformation. And when a person a person finally comes to enquiry, even though he is predominantly pursuing knowledge, he doesn't have any regret because, he has already contributed to society through कर्मयोग. After contributing if one withdraws then there will be no guilt. Without contribution if I withdraw, I will always have a guilt. What have I done to the world? And therefore, contribute, withdraw, learn, know and be free. And therefore character can be changed or not? Character can be changed and final character that is required is what: सत्त्वगुण प्रधान character. To use the 4th chapter language, we all should become गुण-ब्राह्मणः, from गुण-शूद्र to गुण-वैश्य, गुण-क्षत्रिय to गुण-ब्राह्मण. गुण-शूद्र is lazy, गुण-वैश्य is selfishly active, गुण-क्षत्रिय is selflessly active, गुण-ब्राह्मण is pursuing knowledge, withdrawn or contemplative. Therefore, अर्जुन you have to understand where you stand and you have to adopt the appropriate साधन and finally come to Self-knowledge. This is an important aside, this is only to change our character, don't apply this to change others. OK. We are not here to study and judge other people unless they are or they are under our care. If they are our children, it is OK. Otherwise our primary concern is how to change our स्वभाव. Now, the next question is how to know where do I stand? Am I a गुण-शूद्र, am I a गुण-क्षत्रिय, am I a गुण-वैश्य or गुण-ब्राह्मण, or to put different language which गुण is dominant in me, how to know? कृष्ण says, I will give you the clue to find out, which is the third topic, गुण लिङ्गानि, the indicator to find out where I stand. What are the indicators we will read: Verse.no 11.

सर्वद्वारेषु देहेऽस्मिन्प्रकाश उपजायते ।

ज्ञानं यदा तदा विद्याद्विवृद्धं सत्त्वमित्युत ॥ १४-११ ॥

सर्व-द्वारेषु देहे अस्मिन् प्रकाशः उपजायते ।

ज्ञानम् यदा तदा विद्यात् विवृद्धम् सत्त्वम् इति उत ॥ १४-११ ॥

उत यदा अस्मिन् देहे सर्व-द्वारेषु प्रकाशः ज्ञानम् (च) उपजायते, तदा सत्त्वम् विवृद्धम् इति विद्यात् ।

So the third topic we are entering - लिङ्गम्, the indication. And in the 11th verse, सत्त्व लिङ्गम् is given. 12th verse gives रजो लिङ्गम्, 13th verse तमो लिङ्गम्. How to know? कृष्ण says: अस्मिन् देहे सर्व-द्वारेषु प्रकाशः उपजायते. Here द्वार means the five sense organs. द्वाराणि means इन्द्रियाणि and they are called द्वारम् or hole because through the five holes alone we gather the knowledge of the external world. शब्द ज्ञानम् comes through श्रोत्र द्वारम्. Similarly, the forms enter through the eyes, Similarly, the smell through the nose, etc., so सर्व-द्वारेषु. And प्रकाशः - means brightness, the absorbing capacity. When all the five sense organs are bright and alert and have got a great absorbing capacity and therefore ज्ञानम् - when they are able to acquire knowledge faster, because when the absorbing capacity is more the rate in which a person gathers knowledge also is high and if we have got such a photographic sense organ, like they have the drill, they will have a few objects, either drawn or the objects themselves are kept, they will ask you to observe for 2 minutes and after that they will close and you have to tell what all items were there, 10 to 13 items, different pictures you can see, or a diagram is there, you can try this exercise, you are asked to observe the diagram for a minute or two and then you have to reproduce that diagram and try to find out how much percentage you are able to reproduce. Or you look at a गीता verse and read slowly. And find out how many times reading is necessary to close the eyes and repeat the verse. If you have to read 10 times, you can read 8 times, you can read 5 times, you can read once and reproduce, then the sense organs are really powerful. The mind is really alert. सत्त्व is really top. And there may be some people who can do that once in a day. That is not enough. Generally itself, if I have that capacity, in short ज्ञानेन्द्रियम्s are very active and efficient, it indicates सत्त्व प्रधान. Therefore प्रकाशः उपजायते. So this is always an experience. Any announcement I give, there are always some people who miss the date? Who miss the month? Who miss the venue? Or for the morning program of 6 a.m. that person will come at 6 p.m. and once we had announced दयानन्द स्वामिजी's ज्ञानम् on a particular date in a particular month, but the mistake they committed was one month in advance. It was the next month 25th was the date. So many people came to the कामराज hall, they have all noted the date, but they have not noted the month. Then only I understood that hereafter if I have to give advertisement then it should be after the particular date of that particular preceding month only, and not before that date. I always do lot of research in announcement, more research than how to teach गीता and my aim is that no student should have doubt. But I have never succeeded. Any way what I wanted to say is: यदा ज्ञानम् प्रकाशः उपजायते, when the sense organs are bright and therefore there is more knowledge acquisition, तदा विद्यात् – then one can judge oneself to be a सात्त्विक person, सत्त्वम् विवृद्धम् इति विद्यात्. OK. If रजोगुण is dominant, what will be the indication? Verse no.12;

Verse No .12

लोभः प्रवृत्तिरारम्भः कर्मणामशमः स्पृहा ।

रजस्येतानि जायन्ते विवृद्धे भरतर्षभ ॥ १४-१२॥

लोभः प्रवृत्तिः आरम्भः कर्मणाम् अशमः स्पृहा ।

रजसि एतानि जायन्ते विवृद्धे भरतर्षभ ॥ १४-१२॥

हे भरतर्षभ! लोभः, प्रवृत्तिः, कर्मणाम् आरम्भः, अशमः, स्पृहा एतानि (चिह्नानि) रजसि विवृद्धे (सति) जायन्ते ।

So when रजोगुण is dominant, लोभः, लोभः means inordinate greed to achieve worldly things, super ambitious person, of course such people accomplish so many things in the society, in fact, a country's material progress is dependent on such people, we should be very careful, we are not criticizing राजसिक people here, because if a nation has to progress, we require lot of activity also. That's why स्वामि विवेकानन्द felt that our country requires more रजस् than सत्त्वम्, because people are तामसिक and to the तामसिक people you prescribe meditation, they will sit and sleep, and therefore he whipped up the people into activity. Therefore activity is very important for material progress, but the problem is there should a limit and after sometime a person should gradually change to सत्त्व प्रधान. So these people are highly ambitious, even at the age of 95. And therefore, scheming, planning, programming endlessly it will go on and naturally when the plannings are many, to implement those plans प्रवृत्तिः – they are workaholic people, all the time running about, they have no time for नित्यकर्म, they have no time for जप, they have no time for पूजा, they have no time for गीता, they have no time to question what is the real goal of life? So therefore, प्रवृत्तिः and कर्मणाम् आरम्भः – initiating many activities without bothering whether they can take care of all of them. They will initiate umpteen projects, but everything after some time will be in idle. Therefore कर्मणाम् आरम्भः. And therefore what is the condition of their mind? अशमः – ever restless mind, ever stressed mind, ever impatient mind, not only they are overactive they expect the same amount of speed from the people around. And then they call someone, they expect the other person should be present without any delay next moment like भगवान्, they should appear, otherwise things will fly. Generally राजसिक people are impatient, generally they are highly irritable, generally they cannot stand other people, they become very very unpopular, they are very high achieving people, but generally people who are close by, they know the problem of working with them. Generally angry, you know, the anger is at the tip of their nose. Anything happens, they are violent. They become violent also. They will be beat also, even though they are grown up. All those things will be there, though they are great achievers, but it is very difficult to live with them. Therefore अशमः, highly restless and short-tempered. And स्पृहा – they have strong attachment to their accomplishment, to their achievement, i.e., highly egoistic, they want place. दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, those people who say “Self-made man” are the most dangerous people. All the time saying “I started from the scratch and have now become a millionaire” and keep on saying that. They will repeat this umpteen times and we have to listen, if we don’t listen, they will get angry. Therefore, highly arrogant. स्पृहा, attached to their egos. And therefore if there is no acknowledgment also of their contribution, again they will get disturbed, therefore they are subject heavy disappointment when the expectations are high, disappointments are big. Therefore, frustrated and therefore they will throw things and run away. And they will come back again after a day or two, so it is highly volatile. But positive side is they are great achievers. They are great achievers but highly volatile people, volcano. And all these things will increase when रजसि विवृद्धे सति – when रजोगुण increases, all these things will also increase. Therefore somebody had written how a राजसिक person will pray to God. Oh Lord! Give me patience, right now!! Or else I will beat you!!! Even prayer is with impatience. Continuing;

Verse No .13

अप्रकाशोऽप्रवृत्तिश्च प्रमादो मोह एव च ।

तमस्येतानि जायन्ते विवृद्धे कुरुनन्दन ॥ १४-१३॥

अप्रकाशः अप्रवृत्तिः च प्रमादः मोहः एव च ।

तमसि एतानि जायन्ते विवृद्धे कुरु-नन्दन ॥ १४-१३॥

हे कुरु-नन्दन! अप्रकाशः, अप्रवृत्तिः च, प्रमादः च, मोहः एव एतानि (चिह्नानि) तमसि विवृद्धे (सति) जायन्ते ।

So the तमसिक person. No problem, no problem for himself as well as others, because he doesn’t take part in living itself. Therefore, अप्रकाशः – all the ज्ञानेन्द्रियs are dull. So even to read a news-item, he will have to read several items, simple news. They have to read several times, just to hear several times, dull ज्ञानेन्द्रियs. Then what about कर्मेन्द्रिय? अप्रवृत्तिः च – कर्मेन्द्रियs are dull, neither ambitious nor contemplative. So अप्रकाशः indicates the absence of सत्त्व and अप्रवृत्तिः indicates the absence of रजस्, absence of रजस् means not that रजस् is absent, but रजोगुण is overpowered by तमस्, सत्त्वगुण is also overpowered by तमस्. And therefore, generally, he doesn't do anything. And if you force him to do anything, you will have to threaten, you will have to go behind and make him do everything or if he does independently invariably you have to rectify. Later you will decide that it is better to do it yourself. So therefore प्रमादः – negligence, all the time oversight problem is there, mistakes are many, therefore प्रमादः, carelessness, मोहः – delusion, conflict, life-long he doesn't know what he wants to do. You just ask that person what do you want, there is no proper answer. He is not very clear about what he wants. At least if he says “you decide,” he will not listen to what we say. Neither he can decide nor he will follow what I ask him to do. Only thing you can do is what: Prayer; you cannot do anything. And if you have to live with such people, not only he requires prayer, you also require lot of prayer. Therefore, मोहः, all the time in conflict, indecisive, procrastinating. तमसि विवृद्धे सति – when तमोगुण is dominant all these expressions will come. From these expressions you can infer the dominance of three गुणIs. शङ्कराचार्य says why do we require inference, inference is required because the three गुणIs are not प्रत्यक्षम्. Where प्रत्यक्षम् don't work, you have to use अनुमान. If I cannot see the fire directly I have to indirectly go for the smoke indicator and through the smoke I have to infer the fire, because the fire is not seen. Similarly, which गुण is dominant in me, I cannot see with the physical eyes, because गुणानाम् अप्रत्यक्षत्वात्. Wherever प्रत्यक्ष प्रमाणम् doesn't work, we have to look for clues, indicators and the indicators are the details of the लिङ्गम् and therefore judge yourself, find out where you stand and choose appropriate साधन, never develop a complex, never compare yourselves with other people, be happy with what you are at present and gradually progress. This is the third topic.

Now we have to enter the fourth topics, which we will do in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 14, VERSES 14-19

Analyzing the three गुणs, Lord कृष्ण has dealt with three topics. The first topic is the definition of each गुण, which we called लक्षणम् and the next topic was बन्धन प्रकारः, how each गुण binds a person and finally कृष्ण discussed the topic of लिङ्गम् the indicator to find out which particular गुण is dominant in us. And there, He pointed out when सत्त्वगुण is dominant ज्ञानेन्द्रियs will be more operational, whereas रजोगुण is dominant, कर्मेन्द्रियs will be more functional, whereas when तमोगुण is dominant, neither ज्ञानेन्द्रियs nor कर्मेन्द्रियs will be operational. I hope you remember the meaning of the word ज्ञानेन्द्रियs - instruments responsible for knowledge, कर्मेन्द्रियs means instruments responsible for activity. So therefore, कृष्ण said in the 13th verse, अप्रकाशः अप्रवृत्तिः च. तमोगुण will suppress the ज्ञानेन्द्रियs and therefore all the ज्ञानेन्द्रियs will have अप्रकाशः, अप्रकाशः means non-bright and not bright means they will be dull. And Similarly, when तमोगुण is predominant, it will suppress the कर्मेन्द्रियs also and अप्रवृत्तिः च, there will be no dynamism and there will be no activity and there will be no ambition also. In fact, they will support वेदान्त very much and they will talk about वैराग्यम्, not because of their evolution or superiority, but because of sheer laziness. And therefore अप्रकाशः अप्रवृत्तिः च प्रमादः मोहः एव च, they will be riddled with conflicts. Every moment will be a conflict or delusion and whatever little do will be full of omissions and commissions. All these indicate the predominance of तमोगुण and as we have seen before, a तमो गुणि should never attempt to directly become सत्त्व प्रधान. From तमोगुण a person can never directly go to सत्त्व and therefore, we should never prescribe वेदान्त to a तमोगुण प्रधान person, we should never prescribe उपासनाs for a तमोगुण प्रधान person, we should prescribe only कर्म. And even among the कर्मs, as I said before, one has to start with सकाम कर्म, because that alone will tempt him and push into activity. Thus, he has to be pushed into सकाम कर्म, then he should graduate to निष्काम कर्म, then he can think of उपासना, then alone he can think of वेदान्त विचार. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now we are going to enter into the fourth topic. What is the fourth topic I said? गतिः. What do you mean by गतिः? The travel after death, मरण अनन्तर प्रयाणम् is called गतिः. If a person dies with सत्त्वगुण domination, predominance, what will be the direction of his travel? If a person dies as a रजोगुण प्रधान person, what will be the direction of the soul's travel (soul means the जीवात्मा)? And if a person dies as a तमोगुण प्रधान, which direction will his soul take? That is the topic we are going to enter into. Verse.no 14.

Verse No .14

यदा सत्त्वे प्रवृद्धे तु प्रलयं याति देहभृत् ।

तदोत्तमविदां लोकानमलान्प्रतिपद्यते ॥ १४-१४॥

यदा सत्त्वे प्रवृद्धे तु प्रलयम् याति देह-भृत् ।

तदा उत्तम-विदाम् लोकान् अमलान् प्रतिपद्यते ॥ १४-१४॥

यदा तु सत्त्वे प्रवृद्धे (सति) देह-भृत् प्रलयम् याति तदा उत्तम-विदाम् अमलान् लोकान् प्रतिपद्यते ।

So सत्त्वगति is talked about in this verse. सत्त्व गतिः means सत्त्व प्रधान पुरुषस्य मरण अनन्तर गतिः, i.e., the topic of this verse. कृष्ण says: यदा सत्त्वे प्रवृद्धे देह-भृत् प्रलयम् याति. देह-भृत् means a जीव, a जीवात्मा, प्रलयम् याति, here प्रलयम् means मरणम्, not the deluge of the whole universe, प्रलयः means मरणम्. Suppose a जीवात्मा dies, when? A यदा सत्त्वे प्रवृद्धे – when सत्त्वगुण is dominant. And here we are talking about what type of जीवात्मा? अज्ञानि or a ज्ञानि? We should be very very careful. What will be direction of ज्ञानि's travel? We have seen a ज्ञानि does not travel at all, all the three शरीरम्s are dissolved here and now, he is one with the all-pervading ब्रह्मन्.

न तस्य प्राणाः उत्क्रामन्ति ब्रह्मैव सन् ब्रह्माप्येति । ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-६ ॥ is the बृहदारण्यक वाक्यम्. His प्राण, his सूक्ष्म शरीरम् does not leave the physical body and travel on the other hand स्थूल शरीरम् will merge into स्थूल प्रपञ्च, सूक्ष्म शरीर will merge into स्थूल प्रपञ्च. Just as an iceberg dissolves into the ocean, Similarly, a ज्ञानि dissolves, a ज्ञानि doesn't have travel and therefore, we are dealing with an अज्ञानि, you should remember. So if a सत्त्वगुण प्रधान अज्ञानि, सत्त्वगुण प्रधान अज्ञानि dies, what will happen to him, अमलान् लोकान् प्रतिपद्यते – that सत्त्वगुण प्रधान अज्ञानि will go to purer लोकs, higher लोकs, purer and higher means, पुण्य प्रधान लोकः. Like भुवर्लोक, सुवर्लोक, महर्लोक, जनलोक, etc. And in that higher लोकs since पुण्य is dominant, that person will enjoy greater levels of happiness, as we saw in तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्,

ते ये शतम् मनुष्यगन्धर्वाणामानन्दाः ।

स एको देवगन्धर्वाणामानन्दः । ... ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-८-१/२ ॥

Better body, better world, better sense objects. And therefore कृष्ण says अमलान् – pure, i.e., पुण्य प्रधान लोकान् प्रतिपद्यते. And these लोकs are generally attained by whom? उत्तम-विदाम् लोकान् – a लोक which is reached by great उपासकs. उत्तम-विदः, उत्तम means ईश्वर and वित् means उपासक and therefore उत्तम-विदः means ईश्वर उपासक. What type of उपासक? सगुण or निर्गुण? Very careful, being an अज्ञानि they will not know what is निर्गुण ईश्वर, उत्तम-विदः are अज्ञानिs, सगुण उपासकाः, these उपासकs will go to higher लोकs, those higher लोकs this सत्त्वगुण प्रधान people also will go. In simple language, ऊर्ध्व गतिः, upwards travel. This is for the सत्त्व प्रधान पुरुष. What about रजः प्रधान? That is said in the next verse no.15;

Verse No .15

रजसि प्रलयं गत्वा कर्मसङ्गिषु जायते ।

तथा प्रलीनस्तमसि मूढयोनिषु जायते ॥ १४-१५॥

रजसि प्रलयम् गत्वा कर्म-सङ्गिषु जायते ।

तथा प्रलीनः तमसि मूढ-योनिषु जायते ॥ १४-१५॥

(देह-भृत्) रजसि प्रलयम् गत्वा कर्म-सङ्गिषु जायते । तथा (सः) तमसि प्रलीनः मूढ-योनिषु जायते ।

So in this verse, the travel of both the रजोगुण प्रधान पुरुष as well as तमोगुण प्रधान पुरुष, both are dealt with. In the first line, रजः प्रधान पुरुष are talked about. प्रलयम् गत्वा, so here also प्रलयम् means मरणम्, so having died, having left this physical body, रजसि, रजसि means रजसि प्रधाने सति, when रजोगुण is predominant. So having died when रजोगुण is dominant this person will be reborn, because he is an अज्ञानि remember and this अज्ञानि रजोगुण प्रधान पुरुषः जायते – he will certainly be reborn, where? कर्म-सङ्गिषु – in a लोक in which people are given to a lot of कर्म, कर्मप्रधान लोक. And in the शास्त्र, कर्मप्रधान लोक is मनुष्यलोकः or भूलोक, because the higher लोकs are said to be the लोकs of only भोग, one cannot acquire पुण्यम् or पापम् in the higher लोकs, they can only exhaust their कर्म. Similarly, in lower लोकs also, one can only exhaust the कर्म, earning कर्म is not possible either in higher लोकs or lower लोकs, only in मनुष्यलोकः it is possible and that is why we say that मनुष्यजन्म is very rare. And therefore कर्म-सङ्गिषु means मनुष्यलोकेषु, they are in the भूलोकः, which is neither in the higher लोकs nor lower लोकs, their travel is neither vertical, it is not up nor down, but it is horizontal travel, सत्त्वगुण person will upwards, तमोगुण प्रधानि will go downwards, रजोगुण प्रधानि will be hovering around the middle लोक called मनुष्यलोक. So कर्म-सङ्गिषु मनुष्यलोकेषु जायते, whereas तथा प्रलीनः – suppose a person dies; प्रलीनः means मरणम् प्राप्य, प्रलयम् प्राप्य, when? तमसि – with तमोगुण predominance when a person dies, then मूढ-योनिषु जायते – then that person is reborn in lower जन्मs or lower planes of existence. The lower planes can be defined as the lower लोकs, सप्त लोकs are talked about, during श्रावणी पौर्णिमा they will say: अतल वितल सुतल रसातल महातल तलातल पातालाख्येषु । seven lower लोकs are there, either the people will go to the lower लोकs or even if they are born in भूलोक, they will not get मनुष्य जन्म

where free-will and बुद्धि are there, but they will be born as animals, they will be born as plants, where also they will never have a free-will to acquire fresh कर्म and that is why they are called मूढ-योनिः, मूढ-योनि means बुद्धि is not evolved. And that is why in the गीता class you don't find any of the animals coming. So they have only भोग, they do not have a free-will to acquire कर्म and therefore मूढ-योनिषु जायते. So thus the गति of the three types of people also has been talked about and that is consolidated later. Continuing; Verse no.16;

Verse No .16

कर्मणः सुकृतस्याहुः सात्त्विकं निर्मलं फलम् ।

रजसस्तु फलं दुःखमज्ञानं तमसः फलम् ॥ १४-१६॥

कर्मणः सुकृतस्य आहुः सात्त्विकम् निर्मलम् फलम् ।

रजसः तु फलम् दुःखम् अज्ञानम् तमसः फलम् ॥ १४-१६॥

सुकृतस्य कर्मणः सात्त्विकम् निर्मलम् फलम्, रजसः फलम् तु दुःखम्, तमसः (च) फलम् अज्ञानम् (इति) आहुः ।

In this verse, Lord कृष्ण comes to the fifth topic and that is the फलम् for the predominance of each गुण. So the previous two श्लोक talked about गति, now this श्लोक talks about फलम्. What is the difference between गति and फलम्? I told you before, do you remember? गति is the consequence after death, whereas फलम् is the consequence in this life itself. So if सत्त्व is predominant, what will be the consequences experienced here and now? Similarly, if रजस् is predominant, etc. All the three are given in this one verse itself. सुकृतस्य कर्मणः फलम् सात्त्विकम् आहुः. We have to read with a small rearrangement. Instead of reading सुकृतस्य कर्मणः फलम् सात्त्विकम्, we will rearrange as सात्त्विकस्य कर्मणः फलम् सुकृतम्. सुकृतस्य you have to read as सुकृतम् and सात्त्विकम् you have to read as सात्त्विकस्य. So सात्त्विकस्य कर्मणः फलम् – when a सात्त्विक person undertakes activities, they are all good and noble activities and therefore, the फलम् is सुकृतम् means पुण्यम्, spiritually elevating, that which will promote peace, balance, tranquility, etc., which is निर्मलम्. निर्मलम् means pure, freedom from stress, freedom from tension, freedom from anxiety. In fact, in the very presence of those people you can tangibly feel the शान्तिः. If you go to certain places you can feel the peace tangibly. If you go to certain other houses you can feel the tension all around. We do not know, when the flare-up will come. It will be uncomfortable. Therefore कृष्ण says when सात्विक people deal with their life interacts, you can see harmony and peace, where the house will be a home. In fact, that is called a Home. There is an understanding, there is love, there is consideration, there is harmony, there is peace, that is called निर्मलम् फलम्. Whereas रजसः तु फलम् – when a person is a रजसिक person, naturally there will be a tremendous amount of activity, but the main problem is what, there is a tension, there is anxiety, there is stress, there is strain, there is irritation, there is intolerance and where there is stress and strain, there is neither the physical health nor is there mental peace. And therefore कृष्ण says रजसः तु फलम् दुःखम् – wherever transactions are taking place among रजसिक people you can find there is stress and strain. And not only that, because of the very tension and irritability, there are flare-ups very often. There is anger, there are angry exchanges and therefore, there is हिंसा involved, each one will be hurting the other member, husband hurts the wife and wife hurts more or other way round, don't get angry with me, wife hurts and husband hurts more. If there are elders, they are also hurt. There is a chain reaction going, nobody is happy, there is no home. This is called a non-functioning home. It is not a home. It is a house only. Where there is harmony, it is home, where there is no harmony, there are walls, there are bricks, there is food, there is kitchen, there is money, but in spite of all these things you cannot have a home. Home means harmony among the members. Even communication, after some time breaks and stops, like living in a hostel each one comes and does his or her job and goes. So therefore, दुःखम्, it is a broken down environment. But there is lot of money, lot of achievement, because dynamism is there, lot of activity is there, material prosperity will be there, but the inner peace and harmony will not be there and therefore, superficially looking, that place is full of riches, but something is missing, you might have heard, everything is there except शान्ति and unfortunately, any amount of money cannot buy even one gram of शान्ति. So then you begin to wonder, what is the use of all these accomplishments? Whereas in the case of सात्विक people, material accomplishments will be lesser definitely, but there is atmosphere of peace and harmony. That is why, there निर्मलम् is said and here दुःखम्. So रजसः तु कर्मणः (कर्मणः we have to supply) फलम् दुःखम्. And तमसः कर्मणः फलम्, wherever तामसिक transactions are going on, which means there is no transaction. तामसिक transactions are going on means one is sleeping in this room and another in that room, there is no दुःखम् at all because one has to be awake to be aware of दुःखम्. But what is the problem if one keeps on sleeping, it is good isn't it, no problem at all? The problem is अज्ञानम् तमसः फलम् – human life is wasted, ignorance will be perpetuated. So therefore, all forms of ignorance including Self-ignorance will be perpetuated, the wonderful advantage of human birth is lost. So अज्ञानम् is the result of तामसिक कर्म. Very careful, when we say ignorance is the result of तामसिक कर्म, ignorance is not produced by that कर्म, ignorance need not be produced by, why? As it is we are very rich in ignorance therefore, ignorance is the result means perpetuation of the ignorance is the result of तामसिक life, exactly like animals, animals don't quarrel like human being, but animals cannot learn anything out of this life. So these are the three फलम्s of सत्त्व प्रधान, रजः प्रधान and तमः प्रधान lifestyles. So with this the 5th topic is also over. Continuing;

Verse No .17

सत्त्वात्सञ्जायते ज्ञानं रजसो लोभ एव च ।

प्रमादमोहौ तमसो भवतोऽज्ञानमेव च ॥ १४-१७॥

सत्त्वात् सञ्जायते ज्ञानम् रजसः लोभः एव च ।

प्रमाद-मोहौ तमसः भवतः अज्ञानम् एव च ॥ १४-१७॥

सत्त्वात् ज्ञानम् सञ्जायते, रजसः लोभः एव च (सञ्जायते), तमसः प्रमाद-मोहौ भवतः, अज्ञानम् च एव (भवति) ।

So the same idea is repeated in this verse also, i.e., the consequence of the predominance of these three गुणs in this life itself. That is त्रिगुण फलम् topic is continued.

a) सत्त्वात् ज्ञानम् सञ्जायते – out of सत्त्वगुण ज्ञान is born, because when सत्त्वगुण is dominant, the ज्ञानेन्द्रियs are all operational and bright and therefore the learning capacity, the absorbing capacity, the retaining capacity, the building up capacity, everything is high. Therefore, knowledge increases in leaps and bounds, whether it is material knowledge or even spiritual knowledge, for both knowledge सत्त्व is required. So सत्त्वात् ज्ञानम् सञ्जायते.

b) Whereas, रजसः लोभः सञ्जायते – when रजोगुण is dominant, लोभः, लोभः means greed, ambition, plans, schemes, till the last breath this person will turn like a top. Therefore लोभः, there is no तृप्ति at all, greed is the result of रजोगुण प्रधान.

c) Then तमसः प्रमाद-मोहौ सञ्जायते – out of तमोगुण are born प्रमादः, प्रमादः I have told, not तमिक् प्रमादम्, this is संस्कृत प्रमादः. In संस्कृत प्रमादः means oversight, forgetfulness, omissions, etc., will come and मोहः, मोहः means delusion or conflicts, indecisiveness, incapacity to decide anything, eternally ‘to be or not to be,’ ‘to go or not to go,’ ‘to eat or not to eat.’ In everything this conflict, that is the तमोगुण फलम् and not only these two increases, अज्ञानम् एव च, अज्ञानम् means the perpetuation of ignorance will also continue because of तमोगुण.

So thus 16 and 17 talk about of the फलम्s of 3 गुणs. Continuing;

Verse No .18

ऊर्ध्वं गच्छन्ति सत्त्वस्था मध्ये तिष्ठन्ति राजसाः ।

जघन्यगुणवृत्तिस्था अधो गच्छन्ति तामसाः ॥ १४-१८॥

ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति सत्त्वस्थाः मध्ये तिष्ठन्ति राजसाः ।

जघन्य-गुण-वृत्तिस्थाः अधः गच्छन्ति तामसाः ॥ १४-१८॥

सत्त्वस्थाः ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति, राजसाः मध्ये तिष्ठन्ति, जघन्य-गुण-वृत्तिस्थाः तामसाः अधः गच्छन्ति ।

So in this verse, Lord कृष्ण is talking about the गति topic once again, which topic we have already dealt with in verses 14 and 15. The same topic is repeated and therefore, the 18th verse should be read along with 14 and 15, because this verse also talks about the गतिः, i.e., the travel after death. How do they travel? सत्त्वस्थाः ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति, you can understand. सत्त्वगुण प्रधानाः – those people in whom सत्त्व is predominant, ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति – they go to higher लोकs - six of them, भुवः, सुवः, महः, जनः, तपः, सत्यम्. Out fourteen लोकs, six are up and seven are down. $7+6 = 13$. Don't ask where the one is missing? six up, seven down plus this one. So, ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति सत्त्वस्थाः. Then what about the राजसिक people? मध्ये तिष्ठन्ति राजसाः – they neither go up nor down, they are in the भूलोक only, in the मनुष्यलोक only and they stagnate. So the plus point is that they have not come down, the minus point is that they have not gone up, therefore both are there. Then जघन्य-गुण-वृत्तिस्थाः – those who continue in the lowest गुण, जघन्य means the lowest, the inferior most गुण. What is the inferior most गुण? तमोगुण. Those who remain in that वृत्तिम्, lifestyle or way of life, those who remain in a तामसिक way of life, तामसाः अधः गच्छन्ति – they go downwards, अधः गति. And of course incidentally we should remember when we say स्वर्गलोक is higher, पाताललोक is lower etc., the word higher and lower do not indicate any spatial location. Lower means this and higher means that side you should not think, because the higher and lower itself is a relative thing. So for the people who are in America higher is different from for those who are in India. Therefore, higher and lower have nothing to do with particular time and space, because according to शास्त्र, each लोक has got a different time and space. So we can never locate another लोक in terms of our time and space. If you have to understand this, it is like our dream objects. So you experience objects in dream, they are all located in which time and space? They are located only in dream time and space, you can never talk about the location of dream object in terms of this particular time and space, dream elephant was on this side or that side, if someone asks, can you answer? You can never locate the objects of one लोक in the time and space of another लोक. Then how do you say स्वर्ग is higher? There the higher does not mean spatial location at all. And similarly, time location also we cannot talk about and that is why in dream, you have got months of experience, but in terms of waking time you have dreamt for 1-1/2 minutes. During that time itself, your grandson has got married and had a children and he also got married, why? Because dream time is different from our time. That is why when we want to offer food etc., for the पितृs or देवs, we don't have to feed them every 3 hours, that is all in this लोक. But the देवs लोक, our one year is 1 day for them. That is why the word higher is not in terms of time and space but in terms of quality. Higher लोक means qualitative superior लोक, which means the body and sense organs enjoyed by them is of a higher refinement. And Similarly, the sense objects also are of higher refinement. Like within the earth itself, in some other countries everything is good, including water. They say in some other countries they can drink water directly from the tap. Here, even if you buy Bisleri, one has to suspect. Why? Because we are in this लोक. So therefore, when we find the refinement relative within the भूलोक itself, what to talk of higher लोक? And therefore ऊर्ध्वम् means qualitatively superior. And location wise, where is it? स्वर्ग is here and now only, you cannot say beyond the cloud, etc. You cannot say that. In fact, you are able to change this body even while here, suppose you can remove this physical body and put on इन्द्र शरीरम्, just suppose, then, here itself you can experience स्वर्ग, therefore the field of experience depends upon the type of medium that you use. So if you have got a dog body then you hear certain sound, which you don't hear now. Now even the normal sound is itself difficult to hear. If you have 'dog-ears', when everybody says it is silent for you it will be very noisy. And therefore remember, different लोकs are different planes of experience. It has nothing to do with our time and space and that is why, by traveling in this लोक you can never reach स्वर्गलोक. Just as by taking the vehicle of the जाग्रत् अवस्था can you travel and reach the काशि of the dream, there is no corridor or road connecting the जाग्रत् प्रपञ्च and स्वप्न प्रपञ्च. By traveling any amount of distance in स्वप्न you cannot reach जाग्रत् अवस्था, by traveling any amount of distance in waking state you cannot reach स्वप्न लोक, there is no corridor connecting these two लोकs. Therefore, don't say that those people who went in the rockets and all to the space didn't they see the स्वर्ग etc. Any amount of travel, you cannot reach स्वर्ग. For reaching स्वर्ग what is the first qualification? You should die. OK. Therefore, "don't mistake me", with this body and this time, this space and this vehicle you can never, because it is totally different plane. Thus ऊर्ध्वम्, मध्ये and अधः, they are all in terms of the quality, not in terms of spatial location. Continuing;

Verse No .19

नान्यं गुणेभ्यः कर्तारं यदा द्रष्टानुपश्यति ।

गुणेभ्यश्च परं वेति मद्भावं सोऽधिगच्छति ॥ १४-१९॥

न अन्यम् गुणेभ्यः कर्तारम् यदा द्रष्टा अनुपश्यति ।

गुणेभ्यः च परम् वेति मत्-भावम् सः अधिगच्छति ॥ १४-१९॥

यदा द्रष्टा गुणेभ्यः अन्यम् कर्तारम् न अनुपश्यति, गुणेभ्यः च परम् (आत्मानं) वेति, (तदा) सः मत्-भावम् अधिगच्छति ।

So with the previous कृष्ण completes the analysis of the three गुणs which He started from verse 5. Through this analysis, He revealed some fundamental point.

a) The first point is that nobody can escape from these three गुणs. The body-mind-complex otherwise called the अहङ्कार, do you remember the definition of अहङ्कार? Very important, अहङ्कार is defined as body-mind-complex with the reflected Consciousness, the विदाभास. The live body-mind-complex is called अहङ्कार, this अहङ्कार, which is my lower-I, which is called the ego, can never escape from these three गुणs. Either I have to be सत्त्व प्रधान or I have to be रजः प्रधान or I have to be तमः प्रधान. You can only reshuffle the गुणs, the अहङ्कार cannot escape from the गुणs. That is point No.1.

b) And the second important point that कृष्ण indicated is whatever be the type of गुण, bondage cannot be avoided. Because each गुण binds a person. And that is why the second topic discussed was what? How does each गुण bind a person? So from that it is clear that each गुण will bind, only difference is what? The method of binding will be different, like a person asking should I kill by shooting or cutting the head, which is better? This is better or that is better, the result is what? Death only. The mode of destruction may vary. Therefore all these three गुणs are going to bind me. How the three गुणs bind we saw. A सात्त्विक अहङ्कार will naturally be addicted to a particular type of environment and if that is not available it will be disturbed. And the environment we seek is that which is knowledge friendly environment. Similarly, राजसिक अहङ्कार is going to seek another type of set-up, it will be attached to, it will be addicted to and if that type of set-up is there it will be happy, if it is not there it is going to be unhappy. You ask him to remain in a room for a long time, that person will break down the wall. Similarly, तामसिक person expects his own environment and therefore all the three गुणs are going to bind.

c) And therefore what is the solution? The only solution is I should transcend the three गुणs. I should transcend the three गुणs, I should become गुणातीतः, that is the only solution. Now the question is: How can I become गुणातीतः? गुणातीतः, is another word for निर्गुणः, remember. Now here alone we face the problem. अहङ्कार is nothing but the body-mind-complex with the reflected Consciousness and therefore अहङ्कार can never become गुणातीतः. So the greatest what you call distressing news is that अहङ्कार can never escape from the three गुणs. अहङ्कार by a process of change can become only a सत्त्वगुण प्रधान to रजोगुण प्रधान to तमोगुण प्रधान, therefore अहङ्कार cannot become गुणातीतः. Now the next question is other than अहङ्कार there is another entity in me. What is the other entity other than the body-mind-complex and the reflected Consciousness? What else is there? Don't say there is nothing. If there should be a reflected Consciousness (if the mirror and the reflected face is there, there must be something other than the mirror and the reflected face. What is that? This fellow is searching. There is one thing. What is that? The original face, without which reflection is impossible). That original one is called the चित्, the original Consciousness which I called साक्षि चैतन्यम्, the higher nature of the personality. And this higher-I, the साक्षि has got what गुण? Consciousness has got what गुण? The Consciousness fortunately or unfortunately is free from all the गुणs and therefore, the higher-I is निर्गुणः and therefore the question is can the साक्षि become गुणातीतः? That is the question. What we asked first? Can अहङ्कार become गुणातीतः? What is the answer. अहङ्कार cannot become गुणातीतः. Now the question is: Can साक्षि become गुणातीतः? What will be the answer. If you say "cannot," it is wrong, if you say, "can," it is also wrong. You cannot say that साक्षि cannot become गुणातीतः, you cannot say साक्षि can become गुणातीतः, because there is no question of becoming गुणातीतः, because साक्षि is already गुणातीतः, therefore it need not become गुणातीतः. अहङ्कार cannot become गुणातीतः, साक्षि need not become गुणातीतः. And therefore who becomes गुणातीतः? Nobody becomes गुणातीतः. Therefore the very question how to become गुणातीतः is wrong. OK. Now I have understood, tell me how to become गुणातीतः? If you insist upon answering that question, I can give you only one compromised version of answer. You become गुणातीतः by shifting your identification from अहङ्कार to साक्षि. You “become” गुणातीतः, “become” in quotations, you “become” गुणातीतः when you shift your identification from the lower-I, the ego to the higher-I, the Consciousness. From अनात्मा to आत्मा, from body to Consciousness, from क्षेत्रम् to क्षेत्रज्ञः. As long as I take myself to be the body-mind-complex, I will be सगुण अहङ्कार. As long as I identify with my body-mind-complex I will be सगुण अहङ्कार and as long as सगुण अहङ्कार I can never escape from संसार. Therefore the only way is what? Shift the identification from the body-mind-complex to the साक्षि चैतन्यम्. Instead of saying I am the body with a साक्षि, instead of saying I am the body with a साक्षि, you have to practice reversing the statement, what is that? I am the साक्षि with an incidental and temporary body given by the Lord. And incidentally for the sake of transaction there is nothing wrong in identifying, but this is done with an awareness, just like an actor identifies with the role with the awareness that I am not the role. You need not tell that in the middle, that I am not the रावण, etc. I am Amitabh bhachan or Rajanikanth. So therefore you need not disclose this outside, but you remember the fact that I am ever the गुणातीतः साक्षि and I am functioning in the world through the सगुण अहङ्कार and as long as I am playing the role, I have to do everything properly and therefore the only solution is knowing about the higher nature and owning up of the higher nature. Knowing and owning.

And therefore, in these two verses, which are the most important verses of the 14th chapter, viz., 19 and 20th, कृष्ण tells you can become गुणातीतः only by knowing your higher nature and it is not enough that you know, but you should learn to identify with your higher nature and look upon the अहङ्कार as a temporary वेष. Make your life into a drama with the अहङ्कार cloak. अहङ्कार is only the वेष. This is going to be said. अहङ्कार आत्मा विवेकः, is going to be said in these two verses. The details of which we will see in the next class.

CHAPTER 14, VERSES 19-21

Lord कृष्ण analyzed the three गुणIs elaborately from verse no.5 up to 18 and pointed out that each गुण binds a person in one way or the other. Because each गुण demands a particular set-up,

- If it is सत्त्वगुण it demands knowledge and a conducive set-up for knowledge,
- If it is रजोगुण it expects activity and an infrastructure for activity,
- If it is तमोगुण it wants to sleep and conducive atmosphere for sleeping.

Thus each गुण is a demanding गुण, asking for a specific set-up and if that set-up is not provided, it throws lot of tantrums and creates lot of mental disturbances. And therefore, I can never accept the set-up as a भोक्ता, if it doesn't suit my particular गुण and therefore there is a struggle either प्रवृत्ति or निवृत्ति, looking for a conducive set-up and getting away from the unconducive set-up. Each गुण leads to lot of प्रवृत्ति and निवृत्ति, प्रवृत्ति means going after a favorable set-up and निवृत्ति is running away from the so-called unfavorable set-up. This favorable and unfavorable classification is determined by the type of गुण. So a particular set-up, सत्त्व will consider as favorable. The very same set-up, रजोगुण will dislike. When a सत्त्व गुणि says that it is silent like an आश्रम, the रजो गुणि will say that it is quiet like a cremation ground. Silence remaining the same, one gets a positive thinking, for another it is a negative thinking. And therefore, as a भोक्ता I divide the set-up into favorable and unfavorable and I want to adjust and fine tune the set-up and therefore, I develop strong राग and द्वेष and to change the set-up I have to become a कर्ता. As a भोक्ता I am not satisfied and therefore I want to change the set-up and to change the set-up I have to do what? I should become a कर्ता. And having done a few things, again I look up at the set-up as a भोक्ता, no satisfaction.

Like a painter painting, going behind and again goes a gives a touch up. And thus goes on adjusting, dissatisfied भोक्ता becomes a कर्ता and again he becomes भोक्ता and again he begins a कर्ता, in short, he is never allowed to think of his higher निर्गुण साक्षि स्वरूपम्. The three गुणs keep this person busy with the body-mind-complex only and that is why कृष्ण said in the 5th verse, निबध्नन्ति महा-बाहो! देहे देहिनम् अव्ययम्. I am the साक्षि चैतन्यम् which is all-pervading, I am never allowed to own up my infinite nature and I am all the time made to identify with the limited body. Thus the three गुणs tie me up the physical body, never allowing me to think of the possibility of something else. All the time throwing tantrums like a baby, in some houses the parents sometimes ask some questions to a visiting स्वामि. And there will be a baby - 3 months or 4 months or something. And keeping that baby on the lap, they ask Vedantic questions to the स्वामि. “What is महावाक्यम्?” And the poor स्वामि tries to seriously explain, and the baby will be crying yaeaa.... The father is sitting, the baby will say I want to go to the father. स्वामि has to wait and then again goes to the father, स्वामि please continue and then when he starts again the baby crying yaeaa.... started. Where is the question of listening to something when there is something else drawing my attention all the time? Similarly, the सगुण physical body, the सगुण mind and the सगुण set-up keeps me so busy all the time, that I can never think of the निर्गुण-I and this is the tantrum thrown by the three गुणs which keeps me in देह अभिमान and therefore कृष्ण said there देहिनम् – the साक्षि-I is tied down to the physical body which means I, the साक्षि is never allowed to think of my all-pervading ब्रह्म स्वरूपम् and I am made to think of my limited अहङ्कार स्वरूपम् only.

वृद्धस्तावत् विन्तासक्तः (baby सक्तः) परमे ब्रह्मणि कोऽपि न सक्तः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७ ॥

This is the called गुण dragging the साक्षि to this अहङ्कार level and by adjusting the set-up you are never going to improve the situation, because there is no such thing called ideal set-up at all. And even if some how you are able to manage the change the set-up you cannot retain the set-up permanently like that. सुखेश्वर says elsewhere it is like balancing an apple on the tip of your sharp nose. Not Japanese nose, it may be possible. Like balancing an apple on the sharp tip of the nose, how it is impossible, the three गुणs are constantly fluctuating and therefore the set-up fluctuates, the body, no question at all, it becomes a pumpkin and then a drumstick. There is constant expansion/contraction and mind (you don't have to ask itself) now सात्त्विक, now राजसिक, now तामसिक and therefore this person is in eternal struggle and this a few people understands and come to the conclusion that the only remedy is transcending the त्रिगुण अहङ्कार. Transcending the त्रिगुण body-mind-complex or अनात्मा. This is the only remedy. And how do you transcend the सगुण अहङ्कार? As I said in the last class, अहङ्कार can never be made निर्गुण. Because अहङ्कार is body-mind-complex and it is made up of प्रकृतिः and therefore the three गुणs are bound to be there. Even the महाज्ञानि will have a सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक mind. निर्गुण mind does not exist at all. A ज्ञानि's mind is सगुण or निर्गुण? Do you have doubt? Mind, ज्ञानि's or अज्ञानि's or even भगवान्'s mind, which is called माया, even भगवान्'s mind माया is त्रिगुणात्मकम्, the mind will be सगुण, body will be सगुण and therefore there is no question of converting अनात्मा into निर्गुण, transcending the गुणs. Then what about the साक्षि? You cannot make the साक्षि निर्गुण, because साक्षि need not be made निर्गुण, because it is already निर्गुण. Therefore the only remedy is switching the identification from सगुण अहङ्कार to निर्गुण साक्षि. This is called आत्म-अनात्मा विवेकः and knowing the fact that I am not the body with Consciousness, but I am the Consciousness with a temporary body. I am not a body, temporary body with permanent Consciousness, but I am the permanent Consciousness with a temporary body. And as आत्मा, the साक्षि, I am ever निर्गुण, I am ever अकर्ता and I am ever अभोक्ता and this ज्ञानम् alone is the solution. And therefore transcending the गुण is equal to आत्मज्ञानम्. And आत्मज्ञानम् means गुरु मुखतः वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्. We have to supply all that, it is not said here, we saw that in the 4th chapter.

तद्विद्धि प्रणिपातेन परिप्रश्नेन सेवया । ... ॥ ४-३४॥

You have to have शास्त्र-गुरु उपदेश and know that I am ever the निर्गुण साक्षि. And that is said here by कृष्ण, गुणेभ्यः च परम् वेत्ति, so this seeker comes to know the साक्षि चैतन्यम्. And what is that साक्षि चैतन्यम्? परम् – which is beyond गुणेभ्यः – the three गुणs, which includes the physical body which is also three गुणs, which includes the mind also which is the three गुणs, गुणेभ्यः परम् means beyond the body-mind-complex, beyond the अनात्मा. So Consciousness is beyond the material body. Now the next question is what do you mean by beyond? Because normally we use the word beyond to convey something which is farther in distance. If I say that particular house is beyond the car and what do you think? What do you understand? Car is here and the house is beyond. A physical distance is understood. Similarly, we may misunderstand that साक्षि is beyond the body as the साक्षि is somewhere sitting in the clouds, etc., and looking for it. So here beyond does not mean physically remote. Then what is the meaning of the word beyond? It is in and through the body-mind-complex, but not related to or affected by the body-mind-complex, just as the light principle is beyond my hand, here beyond means that light is in and through the hands, pervades the hands, but whatever happens to the hand, light is not affected. In संस्कृत it should be translated as असङ्गत्वम्. Thus साक्षि, the Consciousness is in and through the त्रिगुणात्मक शरीरम्, it enlivens the त्रिगुणात्मक शरीरम्, but it is not tainted by:

न पुण्यम् न पापम् न सौख्यम् न दुःखम् ...

न मे द्वेषरागौ न मे लोभ मोहौ । ... ॥ निर्वाण षट्कम् ॥

The diseases of the body do not belong to the Consciousness, the disturbances of the mind do not belong to the Consciousness, this असङ्गत्वम् is said here as परम्. So गुणेभ्यः परम् is the साक्षि चैतन्यम् and that साक्षि चैतन्यम् I am. So अहम् इति वेति, we have to supply this, this person recognizes the Consciousness which is beyond the three गुणIs as himself. यदा द्रष्टा, द्रष्टा means the intelligent seeker, who is tired of adjusting the set-up in keeping with the three गुणIs. You like a particular set-up now, after one week you are not satisfied, change this chair to there and shift the table to here, etc., some adjustment and if that is not possible, cut the hair or start growing the beard, that is the cheap thing, therefore you go on changing, because the mind fluctuates. Your idea of ideal set-up changes, you go on tuning endlessly but only some people understand the problem is not with the set-up, the problem is the way I look at myself. And the day I know my पूर्णत्वम् is not dependent on the set-up that day I stop all my struggles to change the set-up for self-improvement. Changing the set-up for practical purposes is different. If the table is in this place and if you change to the other side as it is convenient for working, that is a different thing, but when I change the set-up to improve my image, then that is called संसार. Once I discover that I am पूर्ण साक्षि, I don't expect a change in the set-up for my improvement. I am perfectly satisfied with myself, whether the set-up is सात्त्विक set-up, or राजसिक set-up or तामसिक set-up. दुःखेषु अनुद्दिग्ध-मनाः, He is going to tell, the one who is not moved by set-up. And therefore द्रष्टा – an intelligent person changes himself rather this set-up. अनुपश्यति – discovers that higher-I, the साक्षि-I, the गुणातीत-I. And here the word is अनुपश्यति, so अनु means in keeping with the teaching of गुरु and शास्त्र. This discovery will never come independently. If I am left to myself, without शास्त्र, I will continue my mistake of changing the set-up, all the time hoping that one day everything will be ideal. Wife will be exactly as I expect her to be, the son will be exactly as I expect him to be, the roads will be exactly as I want to be, he will be the working for the ideal set-up without questioning his pursuit. शास्त्र alone gives a jolt and asks: Did you ask or Did you think whether there is some other method of discovery fulfillment? And that method is adjusting the button inside. And therefore that insight, the शास्त्र and गुरु alone will give. Therefore in keeping with गुरु-शास्त्र उपदेश, यदा अनुपश्यति – so the intelligent seeker recognizes this fact. And also he knows गुणेभ्यः अन्यम् कर्तारम् न पश्यति – and he also recognizes the fact that all the कर्मs belong to the अनात्मा. So गुणेभ्यः means अनात्मभ्यः and अनात्मा means स्थूल, सूक्ष्म, कारण शरीरम्, or the पञ्च कोशs, this अनात्मा will be eternally a कर्ता. There is no retirement for अनात्मा. Retirement is what? Taking up some other work and not only that, if अनात्मा really retires it will become sick also. Therefore, अनात्मा has to be eternally a कर्ता, if you have to transcend कर्तृत्वम्, we have to come to आत्मा alone. So गुणेभ्यः अन्यम् कर्तारम् न पश्यति. Of course, कृष्ण uses a double negative language. What कृष्ण wants to say is अनात्मा is the कर्ता, this is what He wants to say. अनात्मा means the body-mind-complex is the कर्ता. But to emphasize this fact, He uses the double negative language and that language is what there is no कर्ता other than अनात्मा. If you put it in positive language, how will it be? अनात्मा alone is कर्ता. In negative language, there is no कर्ता other than अनात्मा. Both are the same. Do you have doubt? Go home and think. अनात्मा alone is कर्ता is equal to there is no कर्ता other than अनात्मा. And who am I? आत्मा or अनात्मा? I am the आत्मा, therefore eternally अकर्ता-अभोक्ता, इति यदा पश्यति – the day a human being recognizes this fact, only then he will be free from the rat-race called life, the eternal journey of भोक्ता, not satisfied, therefore, becomes कर्ता, improves the status of भोक्ता, improved but not totally satisfied, again become कर्ता, again become भोक्ता and at the time of death also, you ask are you satisfied: You say “I am satisfied, But!” Only one small thing, something or the other will be there. Since the अहङ्कार dies with dissatisfaction, it can never get liberated,

मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-२-२ ॥

The dissatisfied अहङ्कार has to again take to birth and continue the struggle and at the time of death, again dissatisfied, the journey never ends, पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्. This struggle will end like the पूरि (I hope you remember the पूरि example). When they put पूरि in the oil, it will be running about. And as it runs it expands and once it has become पूर्णम्, full, then you will find that it is आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः, it will not be running any more, it will be there itself, why, it has become पूर्णम्. And that is why it is called पूरि, पूरि is shortened form of पूर्णम्. Similarly, the day I discover I am the पूर्ण साक्षि, the running about for पूर्णत्वम् will stop. Thereafter also I may run around, but not for पूर्णत्वम् but it is out of पूर्णत्वम्. If I am acting for पूर्णत्वम् there is eternal anxiety, I cannot sleep properly. If I am acting out of पूर्णत्वम् there is no anxiety. When I am in the bed, I forget the days ups and down the moments my head hits the pillow, snoring can be heard, no anxiety, no tension and therefore कृष्ण says: मत्-भावम् अधिगच्छति – the one who has discovered the साक्षि, he attains ईश्वर भावम्. कृष्ण says मत्-भावम्, कृष्ण being the Lord, it is ईश्वर भावम्, ईश्वर भावम् means ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, ईश्वर स्वरूपम् means पूर्णत्वम्. So any time the inner-most mind says everything is OK. As they say in transactional analysis, “You are OK. I am OK. Everything else is OK.” Or else, always something else is not OK. And therefore मत्-भावम् means पूर्णत्वम्, पूर्णत्वम् means जीवन्मुक्ति, सः अधिगच्छति. The most important point to be noted here is what? कृष्ण says this पूर्णत्वम् is only through knowledge. So the word वेति should be underlined. वेति means the one who knows, discovers पूर्णत्वम्. And therefore how many paths are there for मोक्ष? कर्मयोग, भक्तियोगः, राज योग, हठ योग, कुण्डलिनी योग, etc., so many योगs they say. कृष्ण says nothing doing, even if there are many other योगs, we are willing to accept all other योगs, but they are all for preparation of the mind, ultimate discovery of पूर्णत्वम् is वेदान्त श्रवण, मनन, निदिध्यासन, otherwise called ज्ञानयोग. Continuing. So Very important verse. This verse is also very important. Not only in the 14th chapter, but in the entire भगवद्गीता this is one of the important verses.

Verse No .20

गुणानेतानतीत्य त्रीन्देही देहसमुद्भवान् ।

जन्ममृत्युजरादुःखैर्विमुक्तोऽमृतमश्नुते ॥ १४-२०॥

गुणान् एतान् अतीत्य त्रीन् देही देह-समुद्भवान् ।

जन्म-मृत्यु-जरा-दुःखैः विमुक्तः अमृतम् अश्नुते ॥ १४-२०॥

देही एतान् देह-समुद्भवान् त्रीन् गुणान् अतीत्य, जन्म-मृत्यु-जरा-दुःखैः विमुक्तः (सन्) अमृतम् अश्नुते ।

The ज्ञानफलम् is clearly mentioned here. देही एतान् त्रीन् गुणान् अतीत्य, देही means this जीव, this individual, with the help of the knowledge learns to dis-identify from the three गुणs. अतीत्य means transcending, here transcending is dis-identifying from the three गुणs and the three गुणs represent the three शरीरम्s, the five कोशs, in short, the entire अनात्मा. Instead of claiming I am the body, I say that I have a body, gifted by the Lord for the temporary use. And what is the purpose of this temporary use? Not for eating opulently, the body is given by the Lord, that too the human body is given by the Lord only for gathering this knowledge, what knowledge? I am not the body, I have the body for my temporary use. This is called अतीत्य. In तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्, it was said

एतम् अन्नमयम् आत्मानम् उपसङ्क्रामति ।

एतम् प्राणमयम् आत्मानम् उपसङ्क्रामति । ... ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-८-५

अतीत्य means उपसङ्क्रम्य and all these three गुणIs belong to what? देह-समुद्भवान् so देह-समुद्भवः, समुद्भवः means कारणम् and देहः means body. So देह-समुद्भवः means the cause for the physical body and cause for the body means cause for जन्म. Because जन्म is defined as acquisition of a new body. Therefore the three गुणIs have given me this body and the three गुणIs alone will give me the next body also. And what type of body will be given will depend upon, ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति सत्त्वस्थाः, सत्त्वगुण will give a higher body. Perishable or imperishable? Is there any doubt? Perishable body, रजोगुण will again give body alone and not मोक्ष. Thus all the three गुणIs are the cause of the body, cause of पुनर्जन्म. So देह-समुद्भवः means पुनर्जन्म कारण भूतान्. So these three गुणIs which are the causes of repeated acquisition of bodies, this ज्ञानि dis-identifies from these three गुणIs. And when a person dis-identifies the गुणIs and the body, what happens? विमुक्तः – he is free, free from what? Free from all the problems which belong to the body. When I identify with the body, the body's problems are my problem. When I identify with the car and if it is brand new car, every small scratch is like a scratch on my heart, it is my car, the conditions of the object of अभिमान becomes my own condition. Similarly, the bodily conditions will be my conditions when I identify with the body and therefore when the body is mortal, I don't say body is mortal. The problem is what? I say I am mortal. Body is mortal is not a problem, because hundreds of bodies are mortal and daily dying. Obituary column you read, what happens to you. You read the news-item. Somewhere boat tragedy, 35 people died. You read drinking coffee and you may maximum say: chu chu chu. So sad. Then you have forgotten even. So the mortality of the body itself is not problem. Death itself is not problem, because hundreds and millions of death we are seeing, hearing, etc. The problem is I am mortal is the problem. Mortality is not the problem, I am mortal is the problem. And वेदान्त doesn't remove the mortality of the body, वेदान्त removes the idea that I am mortal. And how does it remove the idea, by teaching me the fact that I am not the mortal body, but I am the immortal-I, behind the mortal-body. And therefore, विमुक्तः, he is free from all the problems of the body. What are the problems of the body? The first problem is जन्म, it is birth, birth itself is a problem in the sense, initially one has to be in solitary confinement, one has to remain in the womb of the mother and coming out is a problem for both the baby as well as the mother and once there is जन्म, the inevitable consequence is what, जातस्य हि ध्रुवः मृत्युः ध्रुवम् जन्म मृतस्य च. मरणम् is the next problem, then there are people who say: स्वामिजि I am not frightened of death. It is a bluff only, but many people say I am not frightened of the death, but only prayer is that I should die instantly. I just should pop-off, preferably in sleep. So those people who say I am not afraid of मरणम्, they are afraid of जरा, जरा means old age. And all the consequent problems I need not describe and remind you all those things and you may not come to the class and जरा and दुःखैः and all other problems and the beauty is what? These are really speaking not problems. The body being born growing, decaying and dying, they are really speaking not problems, they are the nature of the body. Just as heat is the nature of the fire, it is स्वरूपम् of the fire, similarly, the cold is the nature of ice. Similarly, विकारः, अस्ति, जायते, वर्धते, विपरिणमते, the विकार, विकार means modification is the nature of body. And a nature becomes a problem if I refuse to accept the nature of a thing as it is. Resistance to the fact is sorrow. Imagine I complain ‘fire is hot, fire is hot, fire is hot,’ that is foolishness. Similarly, body’s विकार becomes a problem, when I resist the विकारs. And I will resist the modification if I have got strong अभिमान in the body. So अभिमान becomes, अभिमान removes my objectivity. Identification removes my objectivity. I will say let everybody else die, because that is nature, except people from my house. That’s why कृष्णI warned in the 2nd chapter,

तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि ॥ २-२७॥

When I discover the fact that I am the साक्षि, I learn to look at my body objectively. And the moment I get the objectivity I accept this body doesn't have any speciality. Therefore this body is like any other body, therefore it has to grow and it has to go. Thus the साक्षि ज्ञानम् gives me objectivity with regard to my own body. Therefore old age is a fact, it is welcome, even if it is not welcome, at least I have no resistance and along with old age, joint will say that I am here, I am here and the ear will hear less, eye will see less, बुद्धि is always a problem, therefore these things are natural. I objectively see and accept. And once the objectivity comes, the intensity of the problem comes down. This is called अभिभव method, you don't remove the problems of the body, body will have to go through its condition. But you develop a different perspective and from the new perspective problems will not appear to be a major tragedy in life. Like when the Sun rises, what happens to the stars? During the day time, there are stars in the sky or not? There are stars in the sky or not? We know there are stars during the day time also. But what happens? Stars are as though removed, because of the powerful sunlight. So what does the sunlight do, it does not destroy the stars, but it makes the stars as though non-existent by making their light extremely insignificant. Similarly, I am the साक्षि ज्ञानम्, will not change the physical conditions, will not change the family members, will not change the water situation in चेन्नै, all the प्रारब्ध conditions will be there, but I develop new perspective from which they are not worth talking about. That's why they give the example of आज्ञनेय. आज्ञनेय thought that crossing the ocean is big task. But the moment he thought of राम, the ocean became a small pool of water,

गोष्पदी-कृत-वारीशम् ... ॥ श्रीहनुमन्नमस्कारः ॥

The ocean became what? A small pool of water. The ocean did not change its size, but because of the remembrance of the Lord, he got the extra strength and from that standpoint the big ocean became small.

Then what about the powerful राक्षसs. ‘मशकी-कृत-राक्षसम्.’ All the राक्षसs became mosquitoes. Means what? Even if they bite, it is not felt, or for destroying the mosquito, what preparation you require? You don’t require any great effort. You effortlessly destroy. So thus this knowledge gives me a new perspective, from which all the so-called problems are insignificant pinpricks. And therefore विमुक्तः, they are not worth talking about. And this is called जीवन्मुक्ति. So जीवन्मुक्ति is making the lives’ problems insignificant by changing the perspective through knowledge is called जीवन्मुक्तिः. And a result of this knowledge, अमृतम् अश्नुते – not only the mortality of the body is not a serious problem for him and he has also owned up his immortality nature and therefore अमृतम् अश्नुते – he attains immortality. And again what is meant by attaining immortality? The अहङ्कार attains immortality or साक्षि attains immortality? अहङ्कार or body cannot become immortal. आत्मा need not become immortal. Attaining immortality is shifting my अभिमान identification from the mortal body to the immortal आत्मा. This is called जीवन्मुक्तिः. And this is called गुणातीतत्वम्. Therefore, a ज्ञानि is called here गुणातीतः, Continuing;

अर्जुन उवाच ।

कैर्लिङ्गैस्त्रीङ्गुणानेतानतीतो भवति प्रभो ।

किमाचारः कथं चैतांस्त्रीङ्गुणानतिवर्तते ॥ १४-२१॥

कैः लिङ्गैः स्त्रीन् गुणान् एतान् अतीतः भवति प्रभो ।

किम् आचारः कथम् च एतान् स्त्रीन् गुणान् अतिवर्तते ॥ १४-२१॥

हे प्रभो! एतान् स्त्रीन् गुणान् अतीतः (जीवः) कैः लिङ्गैः (ज्ञातः) भवति? (सः) च किम् आचारः? (सः) च एतान् स्त्रीन् गुणान् कथम् अतिवर्तते?

अर्जुन is inspired by the Lord’s teaching. And naturally he wants to know more about that ज्ञानि who becomes a गुणातीतः. And therefore अर्जुन asks the Lord: अर्जुन उवाच.

a) हे प्रभो! एतान् गुणान् अतीतः कैः लिङ्गैः भवति. लिङ्गम् means characteristics, indicators. So what are the characteristics of the indicators of a person, who has transcended the three गुणः successfully? Exactly as he asked in the 2nd chapter: स्थितप्रज्ञस्य का भाषा? Will there be any change in his physical body, whether he will slim or become fat, or will there be a halo around him, because in the pictures you see a halo at ज्ञानि's back. Now you are wondering when you are going to become a ज्ञानि. Daily morning, or at least fresh after the Sunday class, you stand in front of the mirror and look for a halo. The only halo is the bald, that is the only halo getting developed. Will there be any halo or will I develop some extraordinary सिद्धिः? There are some people who believe that a ज्ञानि will automatically get सिद्धिः, like the capacity to read the mind of the other. Ask स्वामिजि, do you read our minds? And we had come with certain questions, you answered exactly that question and that is the proof. Many people think that स्वामिजि reads. Nothing like that. वेदान्त deals with all the questions and therefore what I talk will answer somebody's some question. So therefore the thought reading, सिद्धिः, etc., they expect. अर्जुन also is curious to know whether there will be any such indications. लिङ्गम् means indications. So कैः लिङ्गैः गुणान् अतीतः means गुणातीत ज्ञानि with what indicators does he exist?

b) Second question: किम् आचारः. How does he conduct himself? How does he relate to the people? How does he interact with the people? Because a ज्ञानि also lives in the same society, therefore will there be a change in his language, will he start talking in संस्कृत suddenly? In the 2nd chapter he asked, how will he walk? So therefore will he walk backwards or sideways, etc? How does he eat? All such misconceptions and that is why anybody who is physically different with long beard, a shabby head, he must a ज्ञानि we conclude. Because we have that misconception there should be external change. Or else have a shaven head, some change people want, therefore we have to do something for the others also, there is no other change. The whole difference is here inside. We look for what is over the head, we should look for what is inside the head. There is no other difference other than a clear understanding about what is what? There is no mysticism connected to वेदान्त. Anything mystical belongs to non-Vedantic subject. वेदान्त has no mysticism, not even an iota in it. This confusion even अर्जुन has, therefore how does he conduct himself. This the second question: What are his characteristics, how does he conduct himself?

c) And the third question is कथम् च एतान् गुणान् अतिवर्तते, कथम् च एतान् (don't read चैतान् - there is no शैतान् in गीता. It is च एतान्) How does he transcend the three गुणs? Is it a physical journey? Some people expect some kind of a physical journey for मोक्ष, going to some other लोक, some people expect a transformation in time and some people expect some kind of a sudden flashy event.

So there is no event called liberation, there is no time-wise transformation, there is no spatial journey, it is nothing but a clean understanding of an ever obtaining fact. What is the fact? Fortunately I am ever free. So therefore, he asks the question "How does he transcend the three गुणs?" So this is अर्जुन's question for which कृष्ण gives the answer in the following verses, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 14, VERSES 22-27

After elaborately talking about the three गुणs and also how they bind a human being, Lord कृष्ण pointed out the method of becoming गुणातीतः which is the only means to liberation and that method which gave in the two important verses, 19 and 20, is आत्मज्ञानम् only, because the अनात्मा cannot become गुणातीतः and the आत्मा is ever गुणातीतः and through knowledge I come to know that I am ever the गुणातीतः and using the सगुण अनात्मा as a medium of transaction. And when this much was taught by the Lord, अर्जुन raised a question in the 21st verse, which we saw in the last class. In this question we have three parts, the first part is गुणातीत लिङ्गम्, the second part of the question is गुणातीत आचारः and the third part of the question is गुणातीतत्व साधनम्. गुणातीत लिङ्गम् means what is the indicator by I can know whether I have become गुणातीत or not, so that I can decide whether to attend the next class or not. So the indications to know whether I am गुणातीत. The second is गुणातीत आचारः, the way of the life, or the conduct of the गुणातीत पुरुष or the ज्ञानि. This is the second part. And the third part is: गुणातीतत्व साधनम्, the साधन by means of which one can become a गुणातीतः. So लिङ्ग, आचार, साधनानि, these are the three questions for which Lord कृष्ण gives the answer in the following verses. We will read. Verse.no 22;

Verse No .22

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

प्रकाशं च प्रवृत्तिं च मोहमेव च पाण्डव ।

न द्वेष्टि सम्प्रवृत्तानि न निवृत्तानि काङ्क्षति ॥ १४-२२॥

प्रकाशम् च प्रवृत्तिम् च मोहम् एव च पाण्डव ।

न द्वेष्टि सम्प्रवृत्तानि न निवृत्तानि काङ्क्षति ॥ १४-२२॥

हे पाण्डव! प्रकाशम् च प्रवृत्तिम् च मोहम् एव च सम्प्रवृत्तानि न द्वेष्टि, निवृत्तानि (च) न काङ्क्षति ।

In the first two verses, i.e., 22 and 23, कृष्ण answers the first question गुणातीत लिङ्गम्, then in the next two verses, 24 and 25, कृष्ण talks about the गुणातीत आचारः, the conduct and then in the 26th verse, कृष्ण answers, the last question गुणातीतत्व साधन. So two verses to answer the first question, two verses to answer the 2nd question and one verse the answer the last question. What is the indicator to know whether I am गुणातीत or not, कृष्ण says a गुणातीत is one who is detached from his own body-mind-complex. So गुणातीत is one who is detached from his own body-mind-complex and therefore, he is able to look at his own body-mind-complex as part of the world and therefore he enjoys an objectivity with regard his own body-mind-complex. So this objectivity, freedom from too much worry and anxiety with regard to one's own body-mind-complex is the indication of गुणातीतत्वम्. This ज्ञानि, or this गुणातीत, because of his very course of साधन enjoys a better health at the body and mind level, because he has gone through कर्मयोग साधन, उपासना साधन, etc., and therefore his mind is predominantly a सात्त्विक mind. A ज्ञानि's mind is a predominantly सात्त्विक mind, which he has attained through साधन. And because of the very same साधन, a ज्ञानि has got a strong mind, a ज्ञानि has got a refined mind and a ज्ञानि has a mind which is free from violent reaction. In fact, that is the definition of the सत्त्व प्रधान mind and therefore, the reactions are less to life's situation and even if there are reactions in the mind, they are milder and even if there are milder reactions he has got the capacity to recover by himself quickly. Thus a ज्ञानि enjoys a healthy mind. But a ज्ञानि knows that even if I enjoy a healthy mind as a result of the साधन, there is no possibility of 100% healthy mind at all possible. Just as there is no possibility health at the physical level, no mind can be 100% healthy at the psychological level also. And therefore a ज्ञानि accepts the fact that his mind is generally healthy, but his mind also is subject to the fluctuations of the three गुणस. And when the mind has got sometimes certain disturbances or fluctuations, even towards such a mind a ज्ञानि does not violently react or get upset. And therefore, he has got an objectivity with regard to his own mind and therefore, if the mind has got certain problems, which are generally feeble, with regard to those problems also a ज्ञानि has got a healthy response. What do you mean by healthy response? He is neither too indifferent or inactive, if the mind has certain problems, he is not going to be indifferent. At the same time if the mind has certain disturbances he is not going to be over-reactive also to that situation. Therefore he is aware of the mental situation and he enjoys improving the mind, all the time remembering the fact that the improvement of the mind has nothing to do with my पूर्णत्वम्. I enjoy improving the mind, I enjoy making the mind more and more healthy so that life is good for myself and others, but all the time I remember the fact that the conditions of the mind have nothing to do with my पूर्णत्वम्, because I am the आत्मा who is different from the mind also. And therefore कृष्ण says प्रकाशम् च प्रवृत्तिम् च – a ज्ञानि mind enjoys प्रकाशम् predominantly, प्रकाशम् means सत्त्वगुण, प्रवृत्तिम् च – a ज्ञानि's mind has also रजोगुण and मोहम् एव च, मोहः means तमोगुण, a ज्ञानि's mind also has got सत्त्व, रजस् and तमोगुण, the only difference is a ज्ञानि's mind is dominantly सात्त्विक and रजोगुण is in the middle position and तमोगुण is in the lower position. But he knows his mind is not 100% सात्त्विक. For that matter no mind is 100% सात्त्विक. And therefore his mind is subject to, what you call, the differences in the proportion of the three गुणs and not only there is difference, these proportions will vary also. Vary also means what? There are times when तमोगुण is predominant, afternoon after a good lunch anybody has got what type of mind? Good sleep! Therefore a ज्ञानि mind also has got तमोगुण predominance, a ज्ञानि mind also has got रजोगुण predominance, but if you take the duration, most of the time he is सात्त्विक. And a ज्ञानि is aware of this fact. And because of this the appreciation of this fact, how does he respond? सम्प्रवृत्तानि – when the three गुणs arrive at different times, न द्वेष्टि – he does not hate his own mind when तमोगुण is predominant or रजोगुण is predominant, he does not hate his mind based on its गुण, न निवृत्तानि काङ्क्षति – and when the गुणs go away or recede at particular times, सात्त्विक गुण is receding at a particular time, न काङ्क्षति – he is not attached to the सत्त्वगुण also. So he is neither attached सत्त्वगुण or रजोगुण or तमोगुण nor does he hate सत्त्वगुण, रजोगुण or तमोगुण, he knows these three गुणs are inevitable compositions of everything including my own mind. And therefore he is able to accept his own mind. Accepting one's own body and accepting one's own mind is the indication of गुणातीतत्वम्. Continuing;

Verse No .23

उदासीनवदासीनो गुणैर्यो न विचाल्यते ।

गुणा वर्तन्ते इत्येवं योऽवतिष्ठति नेङ्गते ॥ १४-२३॥

उदासीनवत् आसीनः गुणैः यः न विचाल्यते ।

गुणाः वर्तन्ते इति एवम् यः अवतिष्ठति न इङ्गते ॥ १४-२३॥

यः उदासीनवत् आसीनः गुणैः न विचाल्यते, यः (च) गुणाः वर्तन्ते इति (मत्वा) एवम् अवतिष्ठति, (च) न इङ्गते ।

कृष्ण explains the same idea in this verse also. What do you mean by the acceptance of one's own body-mind-complex or objectivity or objectivity or healthy response? Generally, the problem an अज्ञानि faces is extreme response to situations. One extreme response is total indifference. It is a तामसिक response. When the physical body has got some disease or sickness, imagine I don't treat the body at all, I am not careful at all, indifference or carelessness or inaction is one extreme response, which is called तामसिक response. Then there is another extreme response, the moment the doctor says that you have to go through the blood test, this fellow presses the panic button, and is extremely worried about the body, the moment the body is sick he imagines only the worst disease, is it cancer? Or is it aids, leukemia, this or that? That is called violent reaction, which is called राजसिक response, which causes anxiety, tension, fear, stress, strain, etc. This is one extreme. So one extreme is inaction, another extreme is reaction. What is healthy response? Neither inaction nor reaction, but healthy action to improve the situation. If the body has some problem, there is no panic, at the same there is no complacency also, what is to be done, I do. Similarly, the mind is there, it is not going to be all the time same, the mind will have disturbances, because the mind is a dynamic instrument and therefore disturbances are going to come and when the mind is not healthy, then also I don't panic. After studying the गीता for so many years also my mind is like this and therefore I don't feel guilty or inferiority complex or frustration. I don't get frustrated with my own mind. Then what do I do? Mind has got a problem and therefore I have to handle it, neither inaction nor reaction but whatever can be done to improve. And even when I choose to improve my mind, I remember the fact, the improvement of the mind has nothing to do with my पूर्णत्वम्. The mind can be infinitely improved. There is no question of 100% perfection of the mind, no जीवन्मुक्त has got 100% perfect mind, just as no ज्ञानि has got 100% perfect body, no ज्ञानि has got 100% perfect mind. Mind can be refined eternally and I enjoy refining the mind, not to for liberation, but as a liberated person, as an ever liberated आत्मा I enjoy the game of refining this mind objectively. And therefore कृष्ण says, उदासीनवत् आसीनः – a ज्ञानि appears as though he is indifferent. Because when the body falls sick he does not violently react to the sickness, it appears as though a ज्ञानि is indifferent to his health. But कृष्ण says he is not indifferent, he is as though indifferent, as though indifferent means there is no violent reaction but at the same time there is no inaction also, whatever is to be done he will do to the body. Therefore, उदासीनवत् means he is balanced with regard to his own body-mind-complex. गुणैः न विचाल्यते – so in the fluctuation of the three गुणस he is not disturbed at all. So whether the mind is सत्त्व प्रधान or रजः प्रधान or at times तमः प्रधान, he is not going to be upset because he knows I am not the imperfect mind. That does not mean he let loose the mind. He always tries to keep the mind in a refined condition, but all the time detached. Therefore, गुणैः – because of the three गुणs, न विचाल्यते – he is not shaken. Then what is his attitude? गुणाः वर्तन्ते, everyone, everything in the creation, has the three गुणs in different composition, my own mind has got the three गुणs, no doubt by my साधनs I have made it predominantly सात्त्विक, but even then there are moment when it is राजसिक. And if he is heavily राजसिक and he feels that the mind may hurt others, he will withdraw so that he doesn't disturb others. Therefore, गुणाः वर्तन्ते – these three गुणs will be there and these three गुणs will fluctuate also. इति एवम् – with this knowledge, अवतिष्ठति – he remains balanced without self-criticism, without self-judgment, without low self-image. यः अवतिष्ठति – he remains with a balanced mind, न इङ्गते means he is not disturbed, न विचाल्यते, he is balanced. So this objectivity with regard to one's own body and mind is the indication of the गुणातीत or a ज्ञानि. Continuing;

तुल्यप्रियाप्रियो धीरस्तुल्यनिन्दात्मसंस्तुतिः ॥ १४-२४॥

सम-दुःख-सुखः स्वस्थः सम-लोष्ट-अश्म-कान्वनः ।

तुल्य-प्रिय-अप्रियः धीरः तुल्य-निन्दा-आत्म-संस्तुतिः ॥ १४-२४॥

(यः) सम-दुःख-सुखः, स्वस्थः, सम-लोष्ट-अश्म-कान्वनः, तुल्य-प्रिय-अप्रियः, धीरः, तुल्य-निन्दा-आत्म-संस्तुतिः,

So with the previous two verses, कृष्ण has answered the first question. What is the indication of a गुणातीत? The indication is the objective acceptance of my own body-mind-complex. Now कृष्ण answers the second question in these two verses. The second question is: How does he respond to the worldly situation? And answer is the same. Just as the body-mind-complex is made up of the three fluctuating गुणs, the entire world is also made up of the three गुणs only and therefore you will have to interact with people who are सात्विक, which will be happy interaction and you will have to interact with राजसिक people, all the time tensed and angry and irritable and all and you will also have to interact with buffaloes - those people who will not move at all. After half an hour repetition they will just ask what did you say? And thereafter they will say, oh I'll just do it and then you will have to wait and wait and however much you screw them up they won't move. These three types of people will be there eternally in the world and not only that, one and the same person, himself or herself, will not be सात्विक all the time or राजसिक all the time and therefore the people in your own family will change. And that is why they said with regard to marriage and all: Don't choose based on the character because nobody's character will remain the same. Marriage is धर्म based and not compatibility based according to our शास्त्र, because compatibility is impossible and even if there is a compatibility, husband is also changing, wife is also changing, after a few years, the compatible couple would have changed sufficiently to become a horrible incompatible couple, because one has developed interest in गीता, which was not there at all in the beginning, because the other person doesn't like the गीता/स्वामि at all, etc. There are such chances. Therefore different people are different and people will be different and the situations are also made up of the fluctuating प्रकृति, therefore situations will change. And a ज्ञानि accepts this fact of the creation and the very acceptance gives him a balanced state of mind and therefore समत्वम् is the आचारः - tranquility, balance, poised in all situations. And therefore कृष्ण says धीरः, धीरः means this ज्ञानि, स्वस्थः - a ज्ञानि is one who always abides in his higher nature. स्व means स्वरूपम्, स्वरूपम् means his real nature and what is his real nature, गुणातीत आत्मा and स्थः means abiding. So he always abides in गुणातीत

आत्मस्वरूपम्. And what do you mean by abiding in आत्मा? Does it mean that he is sitting on the आत्मा? Abiding in the आत्मा means not forgetting the fact that I am गुणातीतः. Self-abidance is equal to non-forgetfulness of my nature. Just as a सङ्गीत विद्वान्, whatever song he sings, one corner of the mind is aware of the तम्बुर श्रुति. It is not that 100% he thinks of श्रुति only, then he cannot sing the song properly, it is not that 100% he forgets the श्रुति, then अपश्रुति only will come. In one corner of the mind is aware of the श्रुति and whenever there is a doubt he will go behind and check up. Just as a musician he is aware of the श्रुति, a ज्ञानि is aware of the श्रुति. What श्रुति? वेदः. And what is the श्रुति teaching? I am not the changing गुणः, गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते, body is सगुण, world is सगुण, सगुण body and सगुण world will interact, varieties of situations will arise, but I am different from both the सगुण body and सगुण world. This constant awareness is called स्वस्थः. And because of this awareness what does he enjoy? सम-दुःख-सुखः. There is no resistance to favorable and unfavorable situations which are inevitable in life. So देश, काल and प्रारब्ध, these three things will affect our life all the time. देशः, if you are in a tropical country you are affected in one way, means through weather conditions – droughts will be there, summer will be always there, this is called देश affecting. काल, the time will affect the situation, the body will grow older and older and older and the people around will grow older and older, देश will affect, काल will affect and finally our own प्रारब्ध. So गुरु दशा, शनि दशा, राहु दशा, केतु दशा etc. So the प्रारब्ध also will fluctuate and they are bound to bring सुखम् and दुःखम्. Health and ill-health. Financially better and in an adverse situation, they are bound to happen and when such situations come, सम and what do you mean by सम? Remember, it is not indifference to the situation nor is it overreaction to the situation but whatever can be done to improve the situation, it is done, but all the time poised. Therefore सम-दुःख-सुखः. Similarly, सम-लोष्ट-अश्म-काचनः, लोष्टम् means a clod of earth, अश्म means a rock and काचनः means gold, towards all of them सम, so सम-लोष्ट-अश्म-काचनः. सम means what? There is neither राग nor द्वेष, because things will come, gold will come, gold will go, wealth will come, wealth will go,

मा कुरु धन जन यौवन गर्वम् हरति निमेषात्कालः सर्वम् । ... ॥
भजगोविन्दम् ११ ॥

लक्ष्मीः तोय तरंगभङ्ग चपला जीवितम् विद्युत् चलम् जीवितम् । ... ॥
शिवापराधक्षमापणस्तोत्रम् १३ ॥

लक्ष्मीदेवी is the most fickle woman on earth, who never loves to stay in one place, leaves a place as she thinks, in an instant. Therefore they will all come and go, सम. Then, तुल्य-प्रिय-अप्रियः धीरः, प्रियः means that which gives सुखम्, सुख साधनम् प्रियः and अप्रियः means दुःख साधनम् – the cause of दुःखम्. Previously it was said that he was balanced towards सुखम् and दुःखम्, now He says, he is balanced towards the सुख-दुःख साधनम्s, which is the cause of सुखम् and दुःखम्, pleasant and unpleasant situations and तुल्य-निन्दा-आत्म-संस्तुतिः, निन्दा means criticisms coming from people and संस्तुतिः – praise or glorification coming from people, whatever you do some people will glorify and there will be some other people to criticize. If you want 100% approval from all people, you can never do anything in life. Therefore, approval seeking is an indication of low self-image. And therefore a ज्ञानि whatever be the course of action he has to take, he will see the pros and cons, the demerits and merits and if he has to take opinion from known people, he will take, perhaps he will consult the शास्त्र and thereafter, once he has decided a course of action, he will plunge into that whatever be the opinion of others. And whatever you do, there will be some people, who will question everything. You decide to buy a house, they will threaten. You decide to sell a house, they will threaten. You decide to marry somebody, they will ask, are you going to marry this chap? OK, I wish you all the best, they say. You decide to marry, people will criticize. You decide to take संन्यास, my God! Therefore don't be over-bothered about निन्दा and स्तुतिः, nobody is left out, राम has been criticized, कृष्ण has been criticized, शङ्कराचार्य has been criticized. Nobody can escape the criticism of others and therefore don't be carried away by निन्दा and स्तुतिः. And if somebody criticizes and enjoys in the process, they say you be happy because at least somebody is happy criticizing me. If they are getting some सन्तोषम् out of it, why should I disturb that happiness?

मन्निन्दया यदि जनः परितोषमेति नन्वप्रयत्नसुलभोऽयमनुब्रह्मे मे ।

श्रेयोऽर्थिनो हि पुरुषाः परतुष्टिहेतो वलेशार्जितानि अपि धनानि परित्यजन्ति ॥

I am supposed to give happiness to all the people, here I am giving happiness to others in the cheapest way, I don't do anything, they are happy by talking ill of me, why should I disturb it, let him talk. Once you say that, they will stop talking. That is the world. Therefore, तुल्य-निन्दा-आत्म-संस्तुतिः – one who is balanced in censure and praise.

Verse No .25

मानापमानयोस्तुल्यस्तुल्यो मित्रारिपक्षयोः ।

सर्वारम्भपरित्यागी गुणातीतः स उच्यते ॥ १४-२५॥

मान-अपमानयोः तुल्यः तुल्यः मित्र-अरि-पक्षयोः ।

सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी गुणातीतः सः उच्यते ॥ १४-२५॥

(यः) मान-अपमानयोः तुल्यः, मित्र-अरि-पक्षयोः तुल्यः, सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी (च अस्ति) सः गुणातीतः उच्यते ।

समत्वम् is further explained here. मान-अपमानयोः तुल्यः. Again you cannot escape मानम् or अपमानम्. After all, your own family members, may be your son, daughter, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, सम्बन्धि, all those things. I am a सम्बन्धि and I am not respected, all these things समः. So difference between निन्दा-स्तुतिः and मान-अपमान, I have talked about before, निन्दा-स्तुतिः is at the verbal level, वाचिकम् मान-अपमान is at the कायिकम् level, at the level of action.

So तुल्यः, this ज्ञानि is समः, मित्र-अरि-पक्षयोः, again he is the same towards the friends and foes, enemies. You should not ask whether a ज्ञानि has an enemy. A ज्ञानि doesn't have an enemy, but there are people who look upon ज्ञानि as their enemy. What can be done for that? So therefore, towards both types of people, who look upon me as a friend and who look upon me as a foe, towards both of them तुल्यः, सम, this is समत्वम्. And सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी. आरम्भः means all the binding activities, आरम्भः means बन्धक कर्माणि and परित्यागी means the one who has given up. What do you mean by binding activity? A binding activity is that by the fulfillment of which I consider that will become पूर्णः. When I expect पूर्णत्वम् through an activity, it is a binding activity, because there are expectations. Non-binding activity is one which is done out of पूर्णत्वम्. And therefore the success of the activity and the failure of the activity has nothing to do with my पूर्णत्वम्. At the अनात्मा level activities are going on, but whatever happens at the अनात्मा level, पूर्णम् अदः, पूर्णम् इदम्, अहम् पूर्णः अस्मि. Even the activity to improve your own body mind should not be a binding activity. I should remember I tried to improve the body and mind, but that also has nothing to do with my पूर्णत्वम्. अहम् पूर्णः, whatever be the conditions of the body-mind-complex. With this awareness, I enjoy improving everything, including the improvement of the body-mind-complex. Such a lifestyle is a game. I have told you the example. When they have got a five match series, cricket match series and our team has won three and therefore we have won the series and 4th and 5th match, how do we play? That is called जीवन्मुक्तः. We play very well, because we want to win those two also. But all the time, पूर्णः, पूर्णः, series won, series won, series won. So imagine the state of mind of that team. This is the life of a जीवन्मुक्त. Whole life is a game, both the success and failure has nothing to do with my पूर्णत्वम्. So सर्व-आरम्भ-परित्यागी सः गुणातीतः उच्यते. So with this the आचार part is also over. Two main things are समत्वम् and also freedom from binding activities. Continuing;

मां च योऽव्यभिचारेण भक्तियोगेन सेवते ।

माम् च यः अव्यभिचारेण भक्ति-योगेन सेवते ।

सः गुणान् समतीत्य एतान् ब्रह्म-भूयाय कल्पते ॥ १४-२६॥

यः माम् च अव्यभिचारेण भक्ति-योगेन सेवते, सः एतान् गुणान् समतीत्य, ब्रह्म-भूयाय कल्पते ।

The third question is answered here. What is the third question? गुणातीतत्व साधनम्. What is the means of ‘becoming’ गुणातीतः? In fact, अर्जुन should not have asked this question, because कृष्ण has already answered that in verse no.19 and 20. कृष्ण has answered the question. What is the answer? ज्ञानम् is the only means of “becoming” (becoming within quotes) गुणातीतः, ज्ञानम् is the only part. कृष्ण has already told and therefore अर्जुन’s question must be a reshuffled here. अर्जुन has understood the means of becoming गुणातीत is ज्ञानम् and therefore his present question is what is the means of getting ज्ञानम्? So his question is what? What is the means of becoming गुणातीतः? What we have to do? We have to redefine. The question is how to attain ज्ञानम् by which one can become गुणातीतः. And कृष्ण says the means of ज्ञानम् is भक्ति. So भक्तियोगः consisting of कर्म and उपासना, which we have seen in the 12th chapter, five levels of भक्ति. Do you remember? I don’t want to get into that now. Five levels of भक्ति, कृष्ण talked about in the 12th chapter. That भक्तियोगः is the साधन. Therefore He says: माम् भक्ति-योगेन सेवते. Suppose a person worships me with भक्तियोगः consisting of five levels explained in the 12th chapter and what type of भक्तियोगः, अव्यभिचारेण भक्ति-योगेन – with an unflinching भक्ति-योग, devotion. And what do you mean अव्यभिचार भक्ति? For that you have to go to the 7th chapter, wherein He talked about आर्त भक्ति, अर्थार्थी भक्ति and जिज्ञासु भक्ति. That जिज्ञासु भक्ति is here called अव्यभिचारि भक्ति. A भक्ति through which I seek the Lord and Lord alone. And that is called here अव्यभिचारि भक्ति. Through that the one who worships Me सः एतान् गुणान् समतीत्य – that person will certainly cross over the three गुणs, because he will be going all the levels of साधन consisting of कर्म, consisting of उपासना and the final level of भक्तियोगः is: वेदान्त श्रवण, मनन, निदिध्यासन. This should be kept in mind. By going through all these levels, सः ब्रह्म-भूयाय कल्पते – he becomes fit, eligible to become one with ब्रह्मन्. ब्रह्म-भूयः means ब्रह्म भावः. ब्रह्म भावः means ब्रह्म स्वरूपम्. ब्रह्म स्वरूप means निर्गुण स्वरूपम्, because ब्रह्मन् is निर्गुणम्. निर्गुण स्वरूपम् means गुणातीतत्वम्. Such a person will attain ज्ञान and become गुणातीतः. With this all the three questions are answered. Now कृष्ण concludes the teaching:

Verse No .27

ब्रह्मणो हि प्रतिष्ठाहममृतस्याव्ययस्य च ।

शाश्वतस्य च धर्मस्य सुखस्यैकान्तिकस्य च ॥ १४-२७॥

ब्रह्मणः हि प्रतिष्ठा अहम् अमृतस्य अव्ययस्य च ।

शाश्वतस्य च धर्मस्य सुखस्यैकान्तिकस्य च ॥ १४-२७॥

अमृतस्य अव्ययस्य च ब्रह्मणः, शाश्वतस्य च धर्मस्य, ऐकान्तिकस्य सुखस्य च हि अहम् प्रतिष्ठा (अस्मि) ।

Here कृष्ण says: अर्जुन, that ब्रह्मन् which you want to attain which is गुणातीतम् is none other than I Myself. So I am not an ordinary देवकी नन्दन कृष्ण, I myself am the embodiment of that ब्रह्मन्. अहम् एव ब्रह्मणः प्रतिष्ठा – I am the embodiment of ब्रह्मन्, packed ब्रह्मन् I am, packed in कृष्ण शरीर. What type of ब्रह्मन् I am? The description of his nature, अमृतस्य – which is immortal, अव्ययस्य – which is decay free, which is free from जरा, अव्यय means अपक्षय रहितस्य, which is free from declensions or decay or जरा, etc., and शाश्वतस्य – which is ever changeless, so the three words put together,

आनन्दो ब्रह्मेति व्यजानात् । ... ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् ३-६-१ ॥

So such a changeless and आनन्द स्वरूपम् ब्रह्मन् I am and that I you will reach by following this साधन. So with this कृष्ण concludes the teaching.

ॐ तत्सदिति श्रीमद्भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायां योगशास्त्रे श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे गुणत्रयविभागयोगो नाम चतुर्दशोऽध्यायः ॥ १४॥

Thus is concluded the 14th chapter of the गीता, which is aptly titled गुणत्रय विभागः, the classification of the three गुणs, सत्त्व, रजस् and तमस् and also गुण अतीतम् ब्रह्म. गुण त्रय, गुण अतीत विभाग योगः.

CHAPTER 14, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 14th chapter. The 14th chapter, like the previous chapter, falls within the 3rd षट्कम् of the भगवद्गीता, the 3rd group of six chapters and I had pointed out that in the 3rd षट्कम्, Lord कृष्ण concentrates on ज्ञानयोग. And therefore we find the topic of ज्ञानयोग, the essential teachings of the उपनिषत्s condensed in these chapters, especially the 13th, 14th and 15th. In the 16th and 17th chapters, we will see later, कृष्ण deals with ज्ञानयोग friendly virtues. This friendly word is very very common now. Environment friendly paper, etc., like that 16th and 17th chapter will deal with ज्ञानयोग friendly virtues whereas these three chapters 13, 14 and 15, deal with ज्ञानयोग, the pursuit of Self-knowledge or आत्मज्ञानम्. And these three chapters even though are relatively small, they are very very significant chapters and this is known as गुणत्रयविभागयोगः, because in this chapter, कृष्ण deals with the three गुणs as the stepping stone and through these three गुणs, Lord कृष्ण takes us to the गुणातीत आत्मा. गुणत्रय द्वारा – through the three गुणs as stepping stone, going to the गुणातीत आत्मा is the subject matter of this chapter and therefore, it is called गुणत्रयविभागयोगः.

1) And in the first four verses of this chapter, कृष्ण gives an introduction in which He mentions the subject matter of आत्मज्ञानम् as the liberating wisdom and therefore the greatest knowledge. All the other disciplines of knowledge are called अपरा विद्या, inferior knowledge, whereas this is the knowledge which is called परा विद्या in the उपनिषत् and राज-विद्या in the 9th chapter and this knowledge is the greatest knowledge because this alone releases a person from संसार. All the other disciplines of knowledge will make me only smaller and smaller because the more I study I come to know how little I know. So instead of growing bigger in terms of knowledge, I only feel smaller and smaller as I study more further. Therefore they make me smaller and whereas this is the only wisdom which makes me own the fact that I am ब्रह्म, the biggest. Therefore, कृष्ण says this is a liberating knowledge, which gives liberation while living called जीवन्मुक्तिः and it is also gives liberation after death, which is called विदेह मुक्तिः. And by विदेह मुक्ति we mean freedom from पुनर्जन्म. सर्वेऽपि नोपजायन्ते प्रलये न व्यथन्ति च ॥ One is free from the cycles of births and death. Thus having introduced the subject matter, later कृष्ण gives the foundation for the teaching and in that foundation He briefly mentions the process of creation. While pointing out that God is the cause of the creation and God consists of two aspects, one is the Consciousness aspect and the other is the matter aspect. चेतन अचेतन तत्त्व द्वय विहितः ईश्वरः. In the 7th chapter, चेतन तत्त्वम् was called परा प्रकृति, अचेतन तत्त्वम् was called अपरा प्रकृति. In the 13th chapter, चेतन तत्त्वम् was called पुरुषः and अचेतन तत्त्वम् is called प्रकृतिः. And in the उपनिषत्s, the generally the चेतन तत्त्वम् is called ब्रह्मन् and the अचेतन तत्त्वम् is called माया. These two principles together is called ईश्वर and this ईश्वर is अनादि and from this चेतन-अचेतन मिश्रम् alone the entire universe has originated, including every individual also. And from this we can easily infer that every individual also must be a mixture of चेतन-अचेतन तत्त्वम् because the cause is, so the effect will be. As the parents are (very difficult to assimilate, but the truth is), so the children will be. That is why when the children are very wayward, they ask the question: Whose child is this? So based on the same principle, I, the individual, also am the mixture of पुरुष and प्रकृति, ब्रह्मन् and माया, चेतनम् and अचेतनम्. Otherwise technically called आत्म-अनात्मा मिश्रः I am. And from this we can infer another aspect also. And that is the अनात्मा part of mine which is born out of प्रकृति will have the three गुणs which belong to प्रकृति. So प्रकृति is responsible for the origination of my अनात्मा part and therefore my अनात्मा part will have three गुणs and what is अनात्मा part, the body-mind-complex, otherwise we can call the अहङ्कार part. So the body-mind-complex is equal to the अनात्मा part is equal to the अहङ्कार part is सगुणः, endowed with the three गुणs, because it is a product originating from the प्रकृति. And Similarly, I have got a पुरुष aspect also, the चैतन aspect also, which is called the आत्मा aspect, which is निर्गुणम् in nature and this निर्गुण आत्मा is technically called साक्षि. Therefore सगुण अहङ्कार plus निर्गुण साक्षि. सगुण matter plus निर्गुण Consciousness is the individual. Don't ask me what is सगुण! सगुण means with गुण or properties and निर्गुण means without गुण, the properties or attributes. The pure अहङ्कार also cannot interact in the world. Pure साक्षि also cannot interact in the world. All the interactions are done by the mixture साक्षि + अहङ्कार. And the whole aim of this teaching is I should learn to own up more and more of my higher साक्षि स्वरूपम्, which is the persistent and permanent nature of mine and I should not be over obsessed with my inferior अहङ्कार materialistic nature. Not that अहङ्कार should be neglected, because without अहङ्कार, pure साक्षि cannot transact. So अहङ्कार is needed, but over-importance, undue importance, obsession with अहङ्कार will lead to all types of problem. And therefore instead of seeing myself as अहङ्कार, I should learn to see myself as साक्षि, now transacting through अहङ्कार कञ्चुकम्, अहङ्कार overcoat. For this purpose, the कृष्ण talked about the creation and the essence of this topic is I am also a mixture of सगुण and निर्गुण aspect.

2) And having presented this foundation, Lord कृष्ण begins the teaching from the 5th verse onwards. He talks about the three गुणs of अहङ्कार, to show that all the three गुणs are causes of bondage, if we don't know how to make use of them properly, like anything in the creation. If I know how to handle things it can help me grow, if I don't know how to handle the very same thing will cause problems. You take fire, it is a blessing or a curse? It depends upon whether I know how to handle fire. Electricity is a blessing or curse? By itself it is neither, but if I don't know how to handle, it becomes a curse. Similarly, the three गुणs also. If I don't know how to make use of, they can become गुण.

गुण has got a second meaning, they can become ropes or chains to bind me. And therefore I should have a thorough understanding of the three गुणs. So, from 5th verse up to the 18th verse we get an analysis of the three गुणs which is essentially an analysis of the अहङ्कार. Because अहङ्कार has the three गुणs. And for the convenience of our study, कृष्ण classifies this analysis into five parts. What are those five parts?

- a) First He gives the लक्षणम् or definition of the three गुणs
- b) then He gives the mode of bondage, how each गुण binds if we don't know how to handle (that is always to be supplied) if we don't know how to handle, बन्धन प्रकारः,
- c) then He gives the लिङ्गम्, indication to find out which गुण is dominant in me,
- d) there afterwards, गतिः, गति means post-death travel, the travel after life and
- e) then finally फलम्, the consequences of the predominance of each गुण.

a) First He gives the definition, we have got a chart in our books, we can refer to the chart later. He gives the definition, सत्त्व is प्रकाशात्मकम्, रजस् is रागात्मकम्, तमस् is मोहनात्मकम्. सत्त्व is that disposition of the mind which makes the mind knowledge friendly. (Today I am in the friendly mood.) So सत्त्व makes the mind endowed with that disposition, which is knowledge friendly, which makes the mind a bright mind, in संस्कृत, ज्ञानोन्मुख अन्तःकरणम्. So disposed to the acquisition of knowledge. Whereas रजोगुण makes the mind कर्म friendly, activity friendly, a disposition which is suited for dynamism, lot of work. Whereas तमोगुण makes the mind unfit for, inimical to both, not inimical to one, neither knowledge friendly nor activity friendly. Such a disposition of mind is called सत्त्व, रजस् or तमस्. Propensity based definition.

b) Then the next one is the mode of bondage. How does it bind? When my mind is knowledge friendly, naturally I become a bookworm, all the time interested in operating the ज्ञानेन्द्रियs, not कर्मेन्द्रिय-active person but ज्ञानेन्द्रिय-active person and therefore I look for an infrastructure which is conducive to more and more study. A library atmosphere with lot of books around, bright light (in modern house, it is very very unconducive for reading, only one small bulb in the corner, seems that is the fashion, most unfit for reading and if you put bright tube light, they say is it a shop or what? They think that shop should only be bright and not homes, so it is a knowledge-unfriendly atmosphere, whenever you go to such a place). And therefore the mind seeks books, people who can teach, quiet atmosphere, ideally a desk and a table and pen. In many houses, they will not even have a pen, pencil, rubber, paper, etc. and they will go and buy if I request. After the school life is over, they use the pen only for taking down the phone numbers! And generally that pen will not work also!! So stationeries won't be there. A learning person will first look for those things. And it become a bondage because if such a conducive atmosphere is not there, this person becomes restless and unhappy. That is the bondage caused by सत्त्वगुण. So ज्ञान-सङ्गेन बध्नाति. By creating attachment to a knowledge-infrastructure. Whereas रजोगुण creates attachment to what? It doesn't like library, if you say library it gets angry. It wants to do lot of things and therefore it looks for activity friendly atmosphere and when such an atmosphere is there, that mind is very happy, if that is not there, if you want to punish him, leave him in an आश्रमम्. In three days he will become mad. Not only he will become mad, he will make others also mad. So therefore, ज्ञान-सङ्गेन सत्त्वम् बध्नाति, कर्म-सङ्गेन रजः बध्नाति and तमः, it will look for what? निद्रा-सङ्गेन. This is the three types of बन्धन प्रकारः.

c) Then the लिङ्गम्, the indication of the three गुणs, this is a corollary we get from the previous discussions. When is सत्त्व dominant? When is ज्ञानम् increases, reading increases, study increases, thinking increases it is in the indication of सत्त्व वृत्ति, whereas when lot of activity increases it is an indication of रजो वृत्ति and when sleep and sleepy condition increases it is an indication of तमो वृत्ति.

d) And then the next कृष्ण talked about the गति after death. When a person dies when सत्त्व is predominant one goes to higher लोकs, when a person dies with रजस् predominant he is born in the मनुष्यलोक, because मनुष्यलोक is meant for कर्म, so कर्म-अनुबन्धीनि मनुष्य-लोके ॥ १७-२॥

We will soon see in the 15th chapter. When तमोगुण is predominant after death that person goes downwards. So ऊर्ध्व गति, मध्यम गति and अधो गति.

e) And then finally, the consequences of these three गुणs were also pointed out, which is called the फलम्, the consequences in this life itself. That also we can easily derive. When सत्त्वगुण increases ज्ञान वृद्धि takes place, when रजोगुण increases the ambition and activities increase and when तमोगुण increases निद्रा, प्रमाद, i.e., negligence, that the life will be closer to the animal.

So thus, लक्षणम्, बन्धनम् प्रकारः, लिङ्गम्, गति and फलम्. All these five topics कृष्ण discusses from the 5th verse up to 18th.

3) And then comes the crucial two verses 19 and 20, in which कृष्ण talks about transcending the three गुणs. And for transcending the three गुणs one will have to make use of the three गुणs. Just as a fruit requires the skin and also the stem of whatever it is to connect it to the mother tree, for ripening and once it is ripened it doesn't require the skin and that is why naturally the skin comes out. So skin is required for ripening and after ripening, you cannot say, skin was very much useful and therefore I should be grateful to the skin also, I should not peel the skin and throw away, that is ingratitude and therefore I will eat the banana along with the skin. I don't know whether naturopathy will recommend that. They will say, eat with the skin. Normally we don't do, that does not mean I disrespect the skin. Skin is required up to a particular time and then it has to peel off. Similarly, the entire spiritual साधन a gradual journey from तमः प्रधान life to रजः प्रधान life to सत्त्वः प्रधान life to गुणातीत life. And how does the scripture accomplish that? The scripture prescribes lot of कर्म to a person who is now तमः प्रधान. And what type of कर्म? सकाम कर्म - selfish activities to fulfill worldly materialistic desires. In fact, scriptures encourage desires, just as we have got advertisement now, to generate desires, वेद itself has itself commercials. वेदपूर्व भाग is full of advertisement. Because somehow it wants to inject desires in the तमोगुण person, who is always sleepy and infuses to get up and make him रजो गुणि. So therefore कर्म, what type of कर्म? सकाम कर्म, or selfish activity the scriptures recommend for the initial step. And once a person has got into सकाम कर्म, then the scriptures gradually changes his status, रजोगुण should be maintained but it should be a different type of रजोगुण. The first रजोगुण is तमोगुण tainted रजोगुण is the first phase, सत्त्वगुण tainted रजोगुण must be the next stage. शङ्कराचार्य calls it तमः उपसर्जन रजः is first stage, सत्त्व उपसर्जन रजः is the second stage. What is the difference these two? Both रजोगुण will activate a person. It will make the person extremely ambitious, it will whip up the ambition but the difference will be initially all desires are personal selfish-oriented, that means the beneficiary of my activity will be only, that means, I am the beneficiary or maximum my family. That will be the first stage. Whereas when that रजोगुण is converted to the higher रजोगुण, सकाम कर्म will be converted into निष्काम कर्म which means the beneficiaries of my activity will be more and more. Not my family alone, there is a wider circle, neighbors benefit, the entire community benefit, the temples around benefit, the educational institutions around benefit. Not myself only, as the beneficiaries increase, सकाम कर्म is getting converted into निष्काम कर्म. This is travel from तमोगुण from lower रजोगुण to higher रजोगुण. To use the 4th chapter language, गुण-शुद्ध to गुण-वैश्य to गुण-क्षत्रियः. गुण-क्षत्रियः is a person whose life and activities will benefit the entire community, not only nation but the whole universe itself. Once a person has lived a गुण-क्षत्रियः life, which is otherwise called कर्मयोग, then the scriptures ask you to graduate you to the next stage, सत्त्वगुण प्रधान life, after the peak of activity, gradually one has to withdraw. गृहस्थ आश्रम to वानप्रस्थ आश्रम, you may not physically leave home, but in the lifestyle the orientation is gradually changed. And at this stage alone, the scriptures talk about more of उपासना and less of कर्म. So उपासना is the साधन which makes an extroverted active person into a quiet and withdrawn and Self i.e., आत्मा-oriented person. Thus उपासना साधन makes me a सत्त्वप्रधान पुरुषः. When I become a सत्त्वप्रधान पुरुष, the activities are gradually dropped and one does not feel any guilt because he has contributed to the society sufficiently. He is not a selfish person because of so many years he has contributed. Now he can turn to concentrated spirituality. And not only that, physically also, this person becomes incapable of more activity, when for him getting up and sitting down itself become a project. No other project is required. Sitting is a project and getting up is another project. What work he will do. He requires people to help him out. Therefore even physically it is more conducive for inward directed life. Thus तमः प्रधान to रजः प्रधान to सत्त्व प्रधान he has come, by following कर्मयोग and उपासना. Then सत्त्वगुण to निर्गुण travel alone is a totally different type of travel. There is no corridor connecting सत्त्वगुण and निर्गुण. तमोगुण can be changed to रजोगुण, रजोगुण can be changed to सत्त्वगुण, सत्त्वगुण can never be converted into निर्गुण. If सत्त्वगुण is converted, it will again become तमोगुण or रजोगुण only. There is no corridor connecting गुण त्रय and निर्गुण, or गुणातीतः and therefore the साधन is ज्ञानम्. So after a person becomes a सत्त्वगुण प्रधानः, कर्मयोग is dropped, उपासना is dropped, because they have done their job by making me सत्त्वगुण प्रधानः. In fact, सत्त्वगुण प्रधान person is called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्न अधिकारि. Then what is the साधन? ज्ञानयोग. That कृष्ण tells clearly.

गुणेभ्यश्च परं वेति मद्भावं सोऽधिगच्छति ॥ १४-१९॥

As I said the crucial word in that 19th verse is वेति, he comes to know. And कृष्ण does not say how to get the knowledge, because He has already said that in the 4th chapter. Knowledge does not automatically happen. Whether your mind is a noisy mind or whether your mind is a silent mind, ignorant mind will be ignorant; no knowledge, for that matter, can happen naturally. That's what दयानन्द स्वामिजी beautifully says: If you sit quietly what would have happened is, previously noisy ignorant mind, to quiet ignorant mind. So by stilling the mind or quietly sitting in meditation, knowledge doesn't happen. What should you do?

तद्विद्धि प्रणिपातेन परिप्रश्नेन सेवया ।

ज्ञानयोग means going to a गुरु. श्रोत्रियः ब्रह्मनिष्ठः गुरुः and systematic study of the वेदान्त. Not a casual now and then listening to some सत्सङ्ग here and there and all of them are meant to inspire you, inspiration is different, teaching is different. दयानन्द स्वामिजी says: Preaching is different, teaching is different. And systematic study includes श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्, study of the scriptures for a length of time and there afterwards removing all the doubts by proper मननम् or analysis and thereafter internalization of the teaching. So through श्रवण, मनन and निदिध्यासन, I become गुणातीत. Now the question is: How do I become गुणातीत by श्रवणम्? As I said, the body-mind-complex will be eternally सगुण, it won't become निर्गुण. Then what do I do through ज्ञानयोग? I learn to dis-identify from the body by knowing the fact that body is only an incidental instrument I am using for worldly transaction exactly like the spectacle and when I remove the spectacles, what happens: I am not gone, but I am not able to see the people, Similarly, when the body-mind-complex is not there, I don't disappear, I don't have the medium to interact with the people and we do experience such a situation daily, When? During the deep sleep state. And therefore, body-mind-complex is temporarily used and then it will be dropped, I should take the instrument as myself. Then if I am not the body-mind-complex, who am I? For that alone, कृष्ण gave the answer:

क्षेत्रक्षेत्रज्ञयोर्ज्ञानं यत्तज्ज्ञानं मतं मम ॥ १३-३॥

I am not the body but I am the experiencer of the body, I am not the mind but I am the experiencer of the mind and therefore, all the known attributes belong to the known body-mind-complex only. This is a very important law. You should remember. Any experienced attributes belong to the experienced object. If I see green color, the color belongs to the eye or the object. The seen color belongs to the seen object, does not belong to the seer eye. Whatever color I am seeing, all those belong to what? The objectified-attribute belong to the objectified-substances, no attribute belongs to the objectifier-I. And therefore all the गुणs belong to the body-mind-complex. I am free from all the three गुणs. So you don't contact the गुणातीत आत्मा, you don't become the गुणातीत आत्मा, you own up the fact that I was गुणातीत, I am गुणातीत and I will be गुणातीत. For how many days? I am incapable of becoming सगुण. So this transformation in the 'I' takes place and this knowledge based transformation is called मोक्षः or जीवन्मुक्तिः.

नान्यं गुणेभ्यः कर्तारं यदा द्रष्टानुपश्यति ।

गुणेभ्यश्च परं वेति मद्भावं सोऽधिगच्छति ॥ १४-१९॥

गुणानेतानतीत्य त्रीन्देही देहसमुद्भवान् ।

So after death, will I have ऊर्ध्व गति or मध्यम गति or अधः गति? If I have सत्त्वगुण I will have ऊर्ध्व गति, if I have रजोगुण I will have मध्य गति, तमोगुण I will have अधो गति. If I am निर्गुण, what गति? No गति. अहम् अगतिः अस्मि. {Not तमिक् 'अगति' (refugee).} I am अगतिः, because I cannot move from one place to another, because I am the आत्मा, the चैतन्यम् which is all-pervading, in Me the Consciousness, the सगुण matter appears and in Me the Consciousness the सगुण matter resolves. And I am never affected by the three गुणs. This is called मोक्ष.

4) And naturally अर्जुन is curious to know what will be the lifestyle of such a गुणातीत person and therefore he asked three questions in the 21st verse,

कैर्लिङ्गैस्त्रीन्गुणानेतानतीतो भवति प्रभो ।

किमाचारः कथं चैतांस्त्रीन्गुणानतिवर्तते ॥ १४-२१॥

The three questions are:

- What are the indications of the गुणातीत? Characteristics of गुणातीत and
- then what is the conduct of the गुणातीत: आचारः and
- then the method of becoming गुणातीतः.

And कृष्ण gives the answer.

a. The indication is the very knowledge makes the mind less and less reactive to the situation because the mind has become an enlightened mind and an enlightened mind learns to have the right attitude towards the सगुण creation.

b. And what is the right attitude? The creation will be different. Why different? Because the proportion of the गुणs varies from individual to individual therefore no human being can be like me. And therefore there is no question of compatibility. So looking for compatibility is the worst thing you can do and even if by chance there is any compatibility between two persons, it cannot be for long, because both have dynamic changing mind and therefore differences are natural in अनात्मा. Changes are natural in अनात्मा. Association and dissociation are natural in अनात्मा. Birth, growth, declension and death are natural in अनात्मा. And therefore I cannot change the अनात्मा, I should only change my attitude. And this changing of the attitude takes place gradually only because the old behavior continues. And through निदिध्यासनम्, which is called dwelling upon the teaching, I reduce my reactions gradually. And when the reactions reduce, knowledge does not improve. Knowledge does not become brighter, but knowledge seems to improve, because the reactions are decreasing. Just like on a पौर्णमि day, the moon seems to become brighter and brighter in the evening, but you know that moon is not becoming brighter but as the sunlight recedes, sunlight is an obstacle to the brightness of the moon, as the sunlight recedes the moon seems to be brighter and brighter, Similarly, my reactions come down as a result of the assimilation, as a result निदिध्यासनम्. And as I had said before, we can see the decrease in reaction at three levels, frequency of unhealthy reactions, like frustration, like fear, like insecurity, anger, etc., the frequency comes down. Not that today you got knowledge, tomorrow you are all gems. No, even after study of गीता they all will continue, because habits have to be gradually changed. So don't expect a flashy transformation. It is not going to happen. It is a gradual assimilation. Not only frequency comes down, the intensity of the reactions also come down and how do you know the decrease in the intensity? The most intense reaction is at three levels, मानसम्, वाचिकम् and कायिकम्. That is why when there is extreme reaction, there is butterfly in the stomach. Before writing examination, the stomach upset, therefore, mental, verbal, physical. Therefore अर्जुन got सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि मुखं च परिशुष्यति । ... ॥ १-२९॥

As the intensity comes down, it will be at two levels, physical reactions will come down but mental and verbal will be there, constantly grumbling and making others also upset. And thereafter further reduction intensity, verbal reactions are gone, even physical reactions are gone but in the mind reactions do arise, even after studying वेदान्त for years. But the greatness is that nobody else will know, because there is no physical or verbal reaction, but that person knows the rising of reaction. So this is reduction in intensity and finally there is a reduction in the recovery period also. So previously once I get angry it continues for days and then it comes down to hours, then it comes down to minutes, then it comes down to seconds, so I get a mental resilience to bounce back, even though I violently reacted, I am able to forget that and continue with my life. So thus निदिध्यासनम् converts ज्ञानम् into ज्ञान निष्ठा, reducing the violent reaction. But we should remember, reactions can never become zero. Zero reactions are only in the case of a table, the chair, etc., they don't have it. They don't get angry. So our mind is live mind, therefore we can reduce the FIR (not the police report), frequency, intensity, recovery period, these three we can bring down, but it can never become zero. It will be there, but what happens is once I bring it down sufficiently, thereafter, my meditation or my निदिध्यासनम् becomes slightly different and that निदिध्यासनम् is that I should not be too much obsessed with the mind and its reactions, because to be over obsessed with the mind is again identification with the mind. That is अहङ्कार. And therefore, I reduce the reaction and there afterwards, I learn to distance from my mind and I don't worry too much about the reacting mind. That is reaction to the reaction. Do you understand? First we will react. Then I remember that I am a गीता student and I react a second time. So every गीता student has to face two reactions, one is the natural reaction to the situation and the second is reaction to the fact that I reacted, leading to depression. That I am not progressing at all. I need not come to the class, etc., What is the use? Even if we don't get depression, family members will create. What is the use of going to गीता class? Without attending गीता classes I am better, they will say. That hurts your ego more. This is called the secondary reaction. So after a particular time, I drop my secondary reactions, I am not over-obsessed with the reaction of the mind. And I say that I don't have any reaction because I am the witness of the reacting mind. That you should not start it now but later. First reduce the reactions, then give up the reactions to the reactions. This is called ज्ञान निष्ठा and that कृष्ण tells in the last few beautiful verses 22 to 27. In the 22nd verses, कृष्ण is talking about the absence of reaction to the reaction. In one of the गुरु पूर्णिमा talks, I have dealt with this topic very elaborately. Reaction to the reaction is a greater संसार, a ज्ञानि does not react to the reaction. And thereafter, this is the definition or this is the indication of ज्ञान निष्ठा, I am not obsessed with my mind and its tendencies. And then the second question was how does he conduct himself in life. कृष्ण emphasis one main point, सर्वत्र समत्वम्. समदुःखसुखः स्वस्थः समलोष्टाश्मकाञ्चनः ।

तुल्यप्रियाप्रियो धीरस्तुल्यनिन्दात्मसंस्तुतिः ॥ १४-२४॥

There is an equanimity of the mind, mind is free from violent reactions. And even if there are little bit reactions, he doesn't react to those reactions. So समत्वम् is his आचारः.

c. Final question is how to become गुणातीत. And what is the answer? Knowledge gained with the भक्ति of the Lord. Surrender to the Lord and by the grace of the Lord, may you get ज्ञानम् and that ज्ञानम् is the only solution.

मां च योऽव्यभिचारेण भक्तियोगेन सेवते ।

स गुणान्समतीत्यैतान्ब्रह्मभूयाय कल्पते ॥ १४-२६॥

Through भक्ति you don't get liberation. Through भक्ति you get conducive atmosphere for knowledge and a conducive personality also and then through knowledge you will attain to मोक्षः. So with the answers to अर्जुन's question, the 14th chapter is over.

CHAPTER 15, VERSE 01

Having completed the 14th chapter, now we will enter into the 15th chapter, one of the smallest chapters in the गीता, with only 20 verses, but one of the most important and popular chapters of the गीता and it is often used as a prayer verse before taking food, therefore generally, when this chapter is chanted, people remember the food rather than the Lord, but it is a very important Vedantic chapter. And since it occurs in the last षट्कम् of the गीता, all the three important topics of the last षट्कम् are dealt with in this chapter. The three important themes of the last षट्कम्, if you remember, is ज्ञानयोग as the साधन, जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐव्यम् as the subject matter and the importance of values are सत्-गुणाः as a preparatory step for the ऐव्य ज्ञानम्. ज्ञानयोगः, ऐव्यम् and सत्- गुणाः, these three are the main theme of the last षट्कम् and all these three topics have been well dealt with in this chapter. And this chapter is titled पुरुषोत्तम योगः and in the 15th chapter, the word पुरुषोत्तम means निर्गुण चैतन्यम्. It does not refer to सगुण ईश्वर, neither it refers to सगुण विष्णु, nor सगुण कृष्ण and of course not सगुण शिव, it refers to निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म or निर्गुण चैतन्यम् and this meaning Lord कृष्ण himself gives at the end of the chapter, so there can be no controversy, because कृष्ण himself says पुरुषोत्तम means attributeless Consciousness and योगः a means the subject matter in this contact. So पुरुषोत्तम योगः means the topic of निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, which is the main teaching of this chapter. With this background we will enter into the chapter proper.

Verse No .01

अथ पञ्चदशोऽध्यायः ।

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

ऊर्ध्वमूलमधःशाखमश्वत्थं प्राहुरव्ययम् ।

छन्दांसि यस्य पर्णानि यस्तं वेद स वेदवित् ॥ १७-१॥

ऊर्ध्व-मूलम् अधः-शाखम् अश्वत्थम् प्राहुः अव्ययम् ।

छन्दांसि यस्य पर्णानि यः तम् वेद सः वेदवित् ॥ १७-१॥

छन्दांसि यस्य पर्णानि (सन्ति तं) अश्वत्थम् ऊर्ध्व-मूलम् अधः-शाखम् अव्ययम् प्राहुः । यः तम् वेद, सः वेदवित् (इति उच्यते)।

As the very title of this chapter shows, the topic is निर्गुण ब्रह्म and by the study of this chapter one will get निर्गुण ब्रह्मज्ञानम्. And naturally a person will have a question, why should I get निर्गुण ब्रह्मज्ञानम् at all? Because a person will not go after any knowledge, unless he expects some benefit out of it: प्रयोजनम् अनुद्दिश्य न मन्दोऽपि प्रवर्तते । Any subject we study in the college is from the standpoint of employment and the employment is from the standpoint of, उदर निमित्तम् बहुकृत वेष. So the question will come, why should I get ब्रह्मज्ञानम्? We should remember, कृष्ण is giving here ब्रह्मज्ञानम् as a means of मोक्ष or freedom. So मोक्ष साधनम् ब्रह्मज्ञानम्. Then the next question will come, what do you mean by मोक्ष? What is the price per kilo of मोक्ष? So we say मोक्ष is संसार निवृत्तिः, freedom from संसार. And naturally, the next question will be what? What is संसार? संसार is the varieties of problems that a human being continuously faces and to get out of the problem he continuously runs about. I have told you before, autobiography of an individual is like the biography of an auto; means what? Running about from one place to another, and not only he runs about in this life, but the travel continues, the journey never ends, in the next जन्म also. So संसार means continuously facing problems and running about to get rid of this problem. And this struggle is called संसार. And freedom from that संसार is called मोक्ष and ब्रह्मज्ञानम् is the remedy for that मोक्ष. And according to the वेदान्त, ब्रह्मज्ञानम् is not one of the remedies, it is the only remedy available. And even if we make use of some other remedies, they may or will work for some time, they will serve only a palliative, but they will never serve as a curative, it will not solve the problem. And therefore, ब्रह्मज्ञानम् is for मोक्ष, मोक्ष is freedom from संसार. Now the thing is: I will like to get rid of संसार, only if I think संसार is a problem. Only a person who looks upon संसार as a problem, he alone would love to get rid of this. If a person says I am very very comfortable as a संसारि, In fact, many people laughingly they say: I am a big संसारि. So therefore as long as a person loves संसार, he will not like मोक्ष and as long as he doesn't like मोक्ष, for him ब्रह्मज्ञानम् is irrelevant. And therefore ब्रह्मज्ञानम् is relevant only for those people who have seen and discerned the problems of संसार. So संसार दोष दर्शनम् is required for मोक्ष इच्छा. संसार दोष दर्शनम् is a prerequisite for मोक्ष इच्छा. संसार दोष दर्शनम् means seeing the problem of संसार is the prerequisite for the desire of मोक्ष and मोक्ष इच्छा is a prerequisite to develop interest in ब्रह्मज्ञानम्. And interest in ब्रह्मज्ञानम् is a prerequisite for continuously attending the class. So therefore कृष्ण wants the students to continue and that is possible only if they have diagnosed the problem. Without diagnosing the disease I will never attempt an appropriate treatment. And everybody has got this basic disease called भव योगः. 'Is there any other medicine/remedy to destroy/be rid of the disease of this tedious worldly existence? Please bless me with the ability to meditate on/pray to you, so that the sins/consequences of my past/previous births will not follow me.' So, I have to see this भव योगः or संसार योगः. And that is why they prescribe after 40 years or 50 years, they say, once in a while you should go for a master check up. Whether you benefit or not the hospital will benefit (doctors please don't misunderstand me). What is the purpose of master check up, doing all the scans, the idea is what? If I have a problem I should know what problem I have. And unless I know, how will I attempt to remedy the problem. Similarly, we have do a scanning of our life to discover the disease called भव योगः, then we can go through a treatment program called ज्ञानम् course and therefore कृष्ण begins the 15th chapter with a description of संसार. संसार means the whole life of change, the whole life of birth and death, the old age, disease and death, association and disassociation, this whole transforming life. He talks about in the first 2-1/2 verses. That is the first two verses and the half verse of the 3rd one. And in the 15th chapter, we don't find अर्जुन asking any question. Therefore कृष्ण himself volunteers to continue the teaching. अर्जुन whether you like it or not, I love teaching and therefore I would like to clarify further. And to give a description of this संसार, the changing universe, the changing beings, the changing life, कृष्ण compares this संसार to a huge tree called अश्वत्थ वृक्षः. अश्वत्थः means a peepal tree. There is another tree called वट वृक्षः i.e., banyan tree, we are not talking about the banyan tree here, which has got the secondary hanging stems, we are not talking about but we are talking about the peepal tree, the अश्वत्थ वृक्षः, which is very very huge tree. And this comparative study is not कृष्ण's own original version but this has been already done in कठोपनिषत्. And somehow it appears that कृष्ण loves कठोपनिषत् and so He collects or quotes maximum verses from कठोपनिषत् and in कठोपनिषत् in the last section, last वल्ली, the first मन्त्र is

तदेव शुक्रम् तद्ब्रह्म तदेवामृतमुच्यते ।

तस्मिँल्लोकाः श्रिताः सर्वे तदु नात्येति कश्चन ।

एतद्वै तत् ॥ कठोपनिषत् २-३-१ ॥

कठोपनिषत्, 2nd chapter, 3rd section, 1st मन्त्र. Of course, कृष्ण does not bodily quote. He takes some portion of that मन्त्र and in that मन्त्र, the universe, the changing universe and life is compared to a huge अश्वत्थ tree. And शङ्कराचार्य gives a very very elaborate commentary on this, both in his कठोपनिषत् भाष्यम् as well as the गीता भाष्यम्. शङ्कराचार्य gives an elaborate commentary, in which he studies the common features between the संसार and the अश्वत्थ tree. Because a comparison is possible only when two things have got common features. If you say somebody looks like drumstick and then you look like pumpkin, some common features must be there, in संस्कृत it is called साधर्म्यम्, साधर्म्यम् means common features. At least there must be minimum one common feature to compare. If it is said 'drumstick' it is not that you can eat him, the idea is, one common feature is there that both are slim. But an example becomes a very very significant germane example if there are many common features, the more the common features the better is the example. And शङ्कराचार्य brings out several common features between the universe and the अश्वत्थ वृक्षः. I will just tell you some of the common features, just to appreciate.

1) The first common feature is महत्त्वम्. महत्त्वम् means both of them are very very huge, very very vast, vastness is the common feature. The universe is also very huge and vast and the अश्वत्थ वृक्षः also, not a small plant, it is a huge tree. Hugeness is common feature No.1.

2) The second common feature is आद्यन्त रहितत्वम्. You cannot trace the beginning of both, which is one of the fundamental questions please ask. 'When did the universe start?' is an invariable question. Why am I born, they ask. What answer can I give? To give me problems. What can I say. Anyway jokes apart, I have to tell the simple answer, because of your कर्म, of course my कर्म is there, because of your कर्म you are born. And I think that I have answered your question but if you are intelligent you will ask how did that कर्म come. Then I will say, of course because of your previous जन्म. Then you will not leave me, you will ask the next question, How did the previous जन्म come? Of course because of the previous कर्म and then you get irritated and ask me how did the first जन्म come. Every thinking-intellect will ask this question, how did the first कर्म come or how did the first जन्म come? And then the next question will be why did भगवान् give me the first जन्म? Why did भगवान् create me? Why am I born? All these questions are very natural. Here He says there is no beginning for the creation. Therefore never ask the question how did the first कर्म or first जन्म come. It never came, the universe ever was. So you cannot talk about the beginning and also you cannot, therefore, talk about the end, it is an eternal cycle of कर्म to जन्म, जन्म to कर्म. And the same thing you can see in a tree also. If somebody ask how did the tree come, what will be my answer? Of course because of the seed. Then you will ask, how did the seed come? Of course because of the previous tree. How did the previous tree come? Because of its previous seed. Coconut tree or Coconut? Hen or Egg? Therefore never ask this question because creation is a cyclic phenomenon and for a cyclic phenomenon, आदि and अन्त cannot be talked about. Therefore what is the second common feature? World is also आद्यन्त रहितम्. Tree is also आद्यन्त रहितम्, so आद्यन्त रहितत्वम् is the second feature.

3) The third feature is अनिर्वचनीयत्वम्, inexplicability, logically uncategorizable. In what sense? You can never say a thing is a cause or an effect. You can never pinpoint a thing is a cause or an effect, because from one standpoint a thing is a cause, the very same is an effect from another standpoint. So today is cause or effect. What reply will you give? From yesterday's standpoint it is an effect. From tomorrow's standpoint it is a cause. A person is an effect from the standpoint of his parents and the cause from the standpoint of his children. And that is why fate/free-will question also is eternally unresolved, because you can take any point of time and you can call it fate or you can call it free-will also. If you look at a particular point and see as an effect of the cause, you will call it fate. And if the very same point is seen as the cause of the future, you will call it free-will. You can never pinpoint whether a thing is absolutely fate or absolutely free-will, absolutely cause or absolutely effect or absolutely parent or absolutely child, nobody is absolute parent. And Similarly, am I गुरु or शिष्य? From the standpoint of my students I am गुरु, from the standpoint of my गुरु I am शिष्य. So thus nothing is clearly categorizable, logically classifiable. And therefore the tree is also अनिर्वचनीयम्. The universe is also अनिर्वचनीयम्. That is why we use the word माया. It is a magic. The more you probe into the creation, the more mysterious it becomes. And scientists will say: we are about to solve the mystery of this creation. They have been telling this for several decades. When they solve a mystery, it is replaced by a bigger mystery. Therefore what is the third common feature? अनिर्वचनीयत्वम्.

4) Then the fourth common feature is मूलवत्त्वम्. The tree has got a root. You can never have a tree without a root below. But the peculiar thing is the tree is visible, प्रमाण गोचरम्, whereas the root is underneath, it is not visible to you. But even if you don't see the root, you certainly know that there is a root, because without a root there cannot be tree. Extending the same principle, we say that the universal tree also must have a मूलम्, a root. And that root is called भगवान्, ईश्वरः. And if you argue that भगवान् is not seen, I will tell you that you don't see the root also. Root is also invisible, the root of the universe is also invisible. But one thing, even though I don't see the root, I know that without the root the tree cannot stand. Similarly, I don't see भगवान् around, but I know that the universe cannot stand without a मूलम् and that is भगवान्, विश्वाधारम्. And therefore tree has an invisible root and the world also has got an invisible root called भगवान्. That is why in विष्णुसहस्रनाम, one of the names of the Lord is अधोक्षजः (इन्द्रियातीत). अक्षजः means sensory knowledge. अक्ष means sense organs. जः means born out of, अधः means beneath or beyond, not falling within. So अधोक्षजः means the one who is beyond the sensory knowledge. And therefore the invisible root of the universe is भगवान् and this root is common to both, we call it मूलवत्त्वम्. This is the fourth common feature.

5) Then the fifth common feature is शाखावत्वम्. A huge tree has got many branches, spreading far and wide and some branches are on the top and some branches are in the bottom and some branches are in the middle. So top, middle and bottom branches are there, many for this tree. Similarly, the universe also has got several branches called the higher, middle and lower लोकs. So the higher लोकs and the higher bodies, देव शरीरम् represents ऊर्ध्व शाखाs, the upper branches, मनुष्यलोकs comes under the middle branch and the अतल, वितल, सुतल, रसातल महातल, तलातल, पाताल पर्यन्तम्, all the lower लोकs will come under the lower branches. Thus the universe is a vast tree with the fourteen लोकs as its branches. So शाखावत्वम् is the next common feature.

6) Then the sixth common feature is पर्णवत्वम्. The tree is full of leaves. The tree is full of leaves, and it is so thick foliage that you don't even see the trunk and branches, so many leaves are there and similarly, the universal tree has got the leaves in the form of कर्माणि or कर्मकाण्ड of the वेदs are compared to the leaves of the संसार tree.

So here you will require a slight explanation. Why do we compare कर्मकाण्ड to the leaves of the tree? The leaves are very important for the perpetuation and the growth of the tree. In fact, leaves protect the tree, helps the tree survive. And you know the leave alone have got the chlorophyll, that is why it is green and it does photosynthesis and it cooks food and because of that alone the tree survives. And through osmotic pressure, it absorbs the water. You have all learned and forgotten this in the school. In संस्कृत it is called, छादनात् छन्दांसि. The कर्मकाण्ड of the वेदs is called छन्दस् because it protects the संसार tree like the leaves of the original tree. Now the question is: How does the कर्मकाण्ड protect, perpetuate and help the growth of the tree? You must have inferred by now. कर्मकाण्ड talks about varieties of कर्मा and also tempts all the people to do those कर्मा by promising varieties of results. You do this कर्म, you will get children. You do that कर्म, you will get money. You do this कर्म, you will go to heaven. Full of advertisements. And naturally a person is attracted by कर्मकाण्ड, In fact, ज्ञानकाण्ड is never appealing. If I ask how is माण्डूक्योपनिषत्? You will say it is very dry. You had it, you choose to come! So ज्ञानकाण्ड is generally not appealing, whereas कर्मकाण्ड is the most appealing thing because he asks you to do varieties of कर्मस to get varieties of results. And therefore this person will take to varieties of कर्मस and कर्मस will produce कर्म-फलम्. And कर्म-फलम् means पुण्य-पापम्. पुण्य-पापस as they increase, they will lead to पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्. Thus the संसार cycle of birth and death is perpetuated by कर्मकाण्ड, by tempting the people to do varieties of कर्म. ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति सत्त्वस्थाः, by पुण्य कर्म you will go up. मध्ये तिष्ठन्ति राजसाः, by middle कर्म you will be in the middle, जघन्य-गुण-वृत्तिस्थाः अधः गच्छन्ति तामसाः. While ज्ञानकाण्ड puts an end to the संसार tree, कर्मकाण्ड nourishes the संसार tree. And therefore they are like the leaves of a tree. Therefore पर्णवत्वम्.

7) Then the seventh common feature is फलवत्वम्. Any tree or most of the trees will have fruits, because they have to attract the birds for the perpetuation. Therefore, the tree means फलम् or the fruit will be there and fruits are of three types, some of them are sweet, some of them are sour and some of them are sweet and sour, it is a mixture. Some mangoes, sweet this side and other side is sour. Similarly, the whole संसार वृक्षः also gives us three types of fruit, सुखम् सुखफलम्, मजा-मजा, you are very happy, you glorify God, world is wonderful, because the son got the admission. Only this has happened. You are jumping nonstop. And then comes some news. Another son lost the job and returning from America. Gone and you are flat. Then you begin to curse the world. Why this life at all, I don't want anything, संसार is misery, why should भगवान् create this world? Only criticism. So thus all the time what were you doing, jumping up and falling flat. One is called सुखफलम् and another is called दुःखफलम्, some time मिश्रफलम्, I have told you. Some cry, some laugh and some other cryingly laugh. So, therefore crying and laughing together, मिश्रम्. Thus सुख-दुःख-मिश्र फलवत्वम् for this संसार tree. That is the seventh common feature.

8) Then the eighth common feature is आश्रयत्वम् (two more I will give and stop, don't worry - don't say that this itself has become संसार! because शङ्कराचार्य has given many, therefore I thought that I should tell atleast 10 out of it. If you read the original शङ्कराचार्य's work, you will enjoy the language is highly poetical also. Huge compounds, ह, ह, हु, हु, मुञ्च, मुञ्च, people are shouting leave me leave me. Very interesting poetry there, so I thought I will do some justice. So therefore put up with me; two more are there.) So the eighth feature is पक्षि आश्रयत्वम्. The tree becomes the support for the nest of the birds. So they serve as the nesting site for the birds, which alone will eat the fruit. The tree is not going to eat, only the birds which occupy the tree, they alone enjoy this सुख दुःख फलम्. Similarly, in the vast universe, who are the birds? All the जीवs are the birds. Some जीवs are in the higher branches, means स्वर्गलोक, देव शरीरम्, some of them are in the middle branch, means मनुष्यलोक, मनुष्य शरीरम्, some of them are in the lower branches, means अधः लोक and अधः शरीरम् and therefore it is पक्षि आश्रय, आश्रय means the support. The tree supports the birds. Similarly, the संसार tree supports the जीव birds. And when I say जीव bird, the Upanishadic student should remember, the well-known मुण्डकोपनिषत् मन्त्र.

द्वा सुपर्णा सयुजा सखाया समानम् वृक्षम् परिषस्वजाते ।

तयोरन्यः पिप्पलम् स्वाद्वत्यन्नन्नन्यो अभिचाकशीति ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-१-१ ॥

The जीवात्मा bird perched on the संसार tree, experiences the sweet and bitter fruits. So पक्षि आश्रयत्वम् is the eighth feature.

9) The ninth feature is चलनवत्वम्. The huge tree moves because of the wind, especially when there is powerful cyclonic wind. Even though it is a huge tree, it moves up and down, here and there. In the same way, the whole संसार tree along with all the जीवs are taken here and there by the wind of प्रारब्ध कर्म. So we are all taken to various conditions, various places, various situations, lashed by the wind of प्रारब्ध. People say: wanted to be in चेन्नै, transferred, goes elsewhere and gets transferred elsewhere and our life is governed by the प्रारब्ध wind and therefore चलनवत्वम् is the ninth common feature.

10) The tenth and final common feature (final for us!) is छेदत्वम्. Even though the tree is very very huge, by appropriate effort this tree can be uprooted. It is possible to put an end to this tree and the cycle by using the appropriate axe. Similarly, the huge संसार चक्रम् also can be uprooted by the special axe called ज्ञानम्. In fact, the very word वृक्षः means that which can be uprooted. It is derived from the root √वृश्, वृश्नम् means छेदनम्. शङ्कराचार्य gives in his commentary ओ वृक्षू छेदने. So the धातु पाठ he quotes and वृश्नात् वृक्षः, it is possible to uproot. If it is a small plant, we can effortlessly remove, but if it is अश्वत्थ tree, but not easy. These are the common features, because of which संसार is compared to a tree. And कृष्ण mentions many of these common features and कृष्ण also adds a few more common features, which we will see as the verse comes.

With this background, we look into the first verse. अश्वत्थम् प्राहुः. You have to supply the word संसारम्. So this entire संसार, the life of change is considered to be similar to अश्वत्थ. संसारम् अश्वत्थ तुल्यम् प्राहुः is comparable to अश्वत्थ वृक्षः. What type of अश्वत्थ tree? The description comes. ऊर्ध्व-मूलम् – which has got a root called ऊर्ध्वम्. The word ऊर्ध्वम् has two meanings,

a) One meaning is that which is superior, therefore sacred. And the Lord is superior and sacred because the Lord is the cause, the parent of the universe and the entire universe is the child of the Lord and therefore भगवान्, the cause is the universal father, the superior father, therefore ऊर्ध्वम्, superior. You should not take the literal meaning of the word here. Literal meaning of the word ऊर्ध्वम् means physically or spatially above. It doesn't mean भगवान् is spatially sitting on the ceiling. So we are not talking about spatial aboveness, because the very word above is a relative word. What is above for us, for the Americans it will be below. So therefore here ऊर्ध्वम् means superior. उत्कृष्टत्वम्, ऊर्ध्वत्वम्.

b) And the second meaning ऊर्ध्वम् means that which is beyond our comprehension. And that is why, if you don't understand a talk, take for example माण्डुक्य, you say today's class went above my head! What is meaning of above my ahead? So there 'went above my head' means it was incomprehensible.

Therefore one meaning is superiority, the second meaning is incomprehensibility. In संस्कृत, it is called दुर्विज्ञेयत्वम्. So उत्कृष्टत्वम् and दुर्विज्ञेयत्वम् are the two meanings of the word ऊर्ध्वम् and what is superior and incomprehensible is ब्रह्मन् or परमात्मा. And this superior incomprehensible ब्रह्मन् is the मूलम् of this संसार tree. This superior incomprehensible ब्रह्मन् or भगवान् is the मूलम्. मूलम् means the root of the संसार tree, which I have already talked about. Then the next is अधः-शाखम् – all the branches in the form of the fourteen लोकs are अधः means below and here the word below also has got two figurative meanings. There 'above' I told you superior and therefore 'below' means what? Inferior. So the inferior लोकs are the branches of this संसार tree and the second meaning of the word below is there we said incomprehensible, what is the opposite of incomprehensible? Comprehensible, visible. The perceptible लोक is comparable to the branches. The imperceptible God is comparable to the root. The inferior world is comparable to the branches, the superior God is comparable to the root. And this अश्वत्थ वृक्षा is अव्ययम्, अव्ययम् means eternal whose beginning and end cannot be traced, because it flows in the form of a chain, the tree producing the seed and the seed producing the tree. So in the form of tree/seed cycle or chain, it is अनादि and अनन्त. And similarly, the human life also is a cyclic chain. You can never talk about the beginning of the जीव. Because this जन्म is because of previous कर्म, previous कर्म is because of previous जन्म, previous जन्म is because of its previous कर्म, thus कर्म-जन्म-चक्र रूपेण अव्ययम्. It is eternal. Then छन्दांसि यस्य पर्णानि – /so the protecting sustaining leaves of the संसार tree are none other than the वेद prescribed कर्मसः. छन्दांसि means वेदस्य कर्मकाण्डम्. And कर्मकाण्ड always make the people to always remain in the field of rituals. There are many who love the rituals but they never like गीता, उपनिषत्सः, those topics they don't like at all. They are highly religious people. They go from temple to temple, अभिषेकम् to अभिषेकम्. अतिरुद्रम् to महारुद्रम्, etc. They love the ritualistic portion, they never come to the वेदान्त. That means what? The successfully perpetuate the संसार. Then does it mean that कर्मकाण्ड should be thrown away? Very careful. It does not mean that कर्मकाण्ड is our enemy to be thrown away, what we say is, कर्मकाण्ड must be used up to a particular limit and sooner or later, one should transcend the ritualistic portion and spend more time in philosophical portion. Generally, people tend to go to two extremes. One extreme is people never like religious पूजासः or rituals. One extreme. And their problem is what: they have no way of purifying the mind. पूजा is the only method of purification. Therefore some people get into one extreme. And there is another extreme. They love पूजा, अभिषेक, etc., and their problem is what, they permanently remain there, like saying I love the 5th standard so well, the teacher is also so compassionate, I will sit here itself. That is also not correct. Enter कर्मकाण्ड, purify and come to ज्ञानकाण्ड. So which alone you have done successfully I think. छन्दांसि यस्य पर्णानि. यः तम् वेद – so the one who understands this universal tree. With many branches, leaves, fruits etc., the one who knows this universal tree and शङ्कराचार्य adds, along with the root of ब्रह्मन्, you should know the tree of this universe along with the root of भगवान् or ब्रह्मन्. समूलम् वृक्षम् यः वेद सः वेदवित् – he alone is a wise person, who has understood the scriptures properly. वेदवित् means वेदार्थ वित्, the one who is a ज्ञानि. The details in the next verse which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 15, VERSES 02-04

In the beginning of the 15th chapter, Lord कृष्ण gives a description of संसार, so that a seeker will know what is मोक्षः. Because मोक्षः is defined as संसार निवृत्तिः, freedom from संसार. So if I don't know what संसार is, I will not know what संसार निवृत्ति is. Especially tamilians are to be told what is संसार, otherwise they will think संसार is wife. And only when I know what is संसार, I can understand संसार निवृत्ति रूप मोक्ष and only when I value मोक्ष, I will turn my attention to the मोक्ष साधनम्, the means of attaining मोक्ष. If I don't have a value for the end, the destination, I will never have the value for the means, because the value for the means is directly proportional to the value for the end and therefore we will be committed to this spiritual साधन only when we clearly know what is the साध्यम्, the destination which we are attempting to reach. And therefore we get the description of संसार in the first 2-1/2 verses of this chapter, of which we have covered the first verse in which Lord कृष्ण compared संसार to a huge eternal tree of birth and death. And this tree comparison continues in the next verse also which we will see now. Verse no.2;

Verse No .02

अधश्चोर्ध्वं प्रसृतास्तस्य शाखा गुणप्रवृद्धा विषयप्रवालाः ।

अधश्च मूलान्यनुसन्ततानि कर्मानुबन्धीनि मनुष्यलोके ॥ १५-२॥

अधः च ऊर्ध्वम् प्रसृताः तस्य शाखाः गुण-प्रवृद्धाः विषय-प्रवालाः ।

अधः च मूलानि अनुसन्ततानि कर्म-अनुबन्धीनि मनुष्य-लोके ॥ १५-२॥

तस्य गुण-प्रवृद्धाः विषय-प्रवालाः शाखाः अधः ऊर्ध्वम् च प्रसृताः (सन्ति)

अधः च मनुष्य-लोके कर्म-अनुबन्धीनि मूलानि अनुसन्ततानि (सन्ति)।

In the previous verse Lord कृष्ण has mentioned that God or ब्रह्मन् is the primary root of the संसार tree and the entire visible universe is the trunk as well as the branches and all the कर्मकाण्ड or the ritualistic portions of the वेद are to be taken as the leaves of the tree, which sustains the संसार वृक्ष. Now in this verse, more details about the branches of the संसार tree we get. He says: तस्य शाखाः प्रसृताः – the branches of the huge संसार tree, the tree of life are spread far and wide. And where are they spread? अधः च ऊर्ध्वम् च – some of the branches are up above and some of them are down below and some of them are in the centre or middle. In short all the fourteen लोकs are the branches of the huge संसार tree. There भूः लोक and सुवः लोक etc., are the upper branches and then, अतल, वितल, सुतल, रसातल, etc., are the lower branches and the भूलोक is the middle branch and therefore कृष्ण says, अधः च ऊर्ध्वम् च – down and up the branches are spread. And not only that, in every लोक, in every world, there is a corresponding body also to experience the world. Higher लोकs means the superior body. So देव शरीरम्, गन्धर्व शरीरम्, पितृ शरीरम्, etc., are the superior, more refined physical bodies and these bodies also can be equated to the higher branches. So higher लोकs and the superior bodies are the higher branches of the tree. And Similarly, भूलोक and the middle body, the human body is neither superior like that of the देवs, nor it is inferior like the असुरs or animals and therefore human body is मध्यम शरीरम्. So उत्तम शरीरम् is higher branches along with उत्तम लोकs. मध्यम लोक and मध्यम शरीरम्, शरीरम् means the physical bodies, are the middle branches, and अधः लोकs and अधम शरीरम्, inferior bodies like the animal body, the plant body etc., are compared to the lower शरीरम्. And the जीव is not the body itself because we have seen body is not the individual or जीव, body is the location in which are the tenement or house in which the जीव comes for occupation. And therefore जीव is consisting of what? The definition of जीव you should remember. The सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, the subtle body with the reflected Consciousness is the जीव. And this physical body is मध्यम branch, mediocre branch and this जीव, the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is now occupying the middle branch of संसार and occupying this branch the जीव is experiencing pleasures and pain. And when the कर्मs change, the जीव leaves this branch. So the body becomes a dead, means what,

जीव bird has left the मध्यम शाखा, the middle branch called मनुष्य शरीरम् and the जीव can go to उत्तम शाखा, उत्तम शाखा means what? A finer body. इन्द्र, अग्नि, वरुण, those शरीरम्s or bodies or tenements are the superior branches. So इन्द्र शरीरम् is not the इन्द्र, इन्द्र शरीरम् is only an abode or tenement, even I can occupy the इन्द्र शरीरम्, a body which is superior. So thus the जीव can go to the higher लोकs and get a higher body or if the पापम् is going to be predominant, the जीव leaves this middle branch and takes the lower branch called animal शरीरम् or plant शरीरम्. So we saw in कठोपनिषत्,

स्थाणुमन्येऽनुसंयन्ति यथाकर्म यथाश्रुतम् ॥ कठोपनिषत् २-२-७ ॥

A very important मन्त्र in कठोपनिषत्. A human being need not always progress. It is not uniform linear evolution. It is not that a जीव should always go higher and higher. According to वेद, after मनुष्य जन्म, a person can come down to lower जन्म also, a slip is also possible. And that is why the life is compared to the game of snake and ladder, whereas some theories like the theory of evolution, they say the जीव only goes from upper to upper ranges and then after मनुष्य जन्म it is still higher. They think of uniform progress but वेद does not accept the linear progress. If we do not lead a proper life there is a chance of slipping also. Slipping means what, instead of going through the ladder, (I don't know whether you remember – 'snakes and Ladders' board game) मनुष्य जन्म means you have reached the No.94 and the dice you have to put the number 6. 94 plus 6 = Home, you have reached Home. Home means मोक्षम्. But the problem is what? After 94 three snakes are there in 95, 97, 99. So if you put 5, from 99 you slip to 56 through the snake. There if you put 3, from 59 to 1, another snake. So therefore there is no guarantee that we will go upwards only. We have to be responsible. A very big responsibility it is. And therefore each type of body is also compared to a branch. Now I am occupying मनुष्य शरीरम् branch, in the next जन्म which शरीरम् will be the branch I will perch on I don't know. But our attempt is what? Not going to higher branches or lower branch, leave the tree itself and fly sky high to freedom. We want to be free birds and therefore don't think upper branch or lower branch, no branches, we hope we will succeed in becoming a free bird and therefore, अधः च ऊर्ध्वम् च प्रसृताः. उत्तम मध्यम अधम शरीर रूपेण शाखाः प्रसृताः. And how are these branches, which include the three forms of bodies, how are they generated, how are the देव शरीरम् generated, मनुष्य शरीरम् generated or animal शरीरम्? भगवान् creates different types of body, not according to His whim and fancy, we ourselves give our order to भगवान्. So whatever order we give, accordingly भगवान् will produce the body. If my life is सात्त्विक way of life, I am giving an order to the Lord: Oh Lord, give me सात्त्विक शरीरम्. What is सात्त्विक शरीरम्? उत्तम शरीरम् called देव शरीरम्. What will be my next body is not decided by भगवान्, not decided by fate, but decided by my free-will which I can use or abuse or misuse. So therefore He says: गुण-प्रवृद्धाः – each body is determined by the three गुणs. सात्त्विक जीवितेन उत्तम शरीरम्, राजस कर्मणा मध्यम शरीरम्, तामस कर्मणा अधम शरीरम्. We saw in the 14th chapter.

जघन्य-गुण-वृत्तिस्थाः अधः गच्छन्ति तामसाः ॥ १४-१८॥

And therefore गुण-प्रवृद्धाः. Then, विषय-प्रवालाः – all the sense objects are like all the shoots which are responsible for the branch. Before a full fledged branch comes from the trunk of the tree, initially the branches emerge in the form of a small shoot and that shoot alone, it is called shoot because it shoots forth and this shoot is the rudimentary form of the branch and the shoot alone is gradually nourished and will become a full fledged branch. Similarly, here also, my next body must exist in this जन्म itself in the form of a shoot. I am preparing my next body now itself. By what? A type of activity. And now who is responsible for the type of activity? कृष्ण says the sense objects of the world are responsible for the type of activity I choose. Because these objects alone create a desire in me. Every sense object is the producer of a desire. That is why we have got advertisements. Every time they show something, they want to generate a want in you. And therefore sense objects are responsible for कामः, काम means a desire. Every sense organ is a potential काम. And काम desire leads to what? कर्म, because desires can be fulfilled only by activity. If you see a particular brand of car and you develop a desire. Had he been satisfied with the local Maruti, it would be OK, but he sets his eyes on Benz, or some other expensive car, and he has to start saving now itself. I don't know the cost of the Benz, how many lakhs. So therefore I should start earning and saving. That means विषय leads to काम, काम leads to कर्म, कर्म leads to कर्म-फलम् called पुण्य-पाप, पुण्य-पाप determines next शरीरम्. See the grand connection: Objects to desire, to action, to पुण्य-पाप, to next शरीरम्. And once you get the next body do we keep quiet? There also we do the mischief. In the next body also again I am exposed to the world and काम and कर्म and फलम् and शरीरम्. पुण्येन पुण्यम् लोकम् नयति पापेन पापम् उभाभ्याम् मनुष्य जन्म. And therefore विषय-प्रवालाः, sense objects are the shoots which are responsible for the next शरीरम्. By what path? Remember the step: objects to desire, to action, to पुण्य-पाप to next शरीरम्. Therefore, विषय-प्रवालाः. And not only that, अधः च मूलानि अनुसन्तानानि - for any tree, there will be several roots, one root will be the main root, the primary root called the tap root. But the primary root alone is not sufficient, there will be several secondary roots also spreading all over. Bigger the tree, more the number of secondary roots and more vast it is. In the neighbors' house if there is a huge tree, the roots will come to your house. And in between wall also will be threatened. There will always be often quarrels, big quarrels. And not only one house, some time root can go to 2-3 houses. If the local tree has a primary root and many secondary roots, the संसार वृक्ष also must have primary as well as secondary roots. The primary root has been already mentioned in the first verse. What is the primary root? Do you remember? ऊर्ध्व-मूलम्, ब्रह्मन् or भगवान् is the primary root. What are the secondary roots? कृष्ण says there are many secondary roots spreading all over. He doesn't actually name them but the commentators explain, राग-द्वेष वासनाs are the spreading secondary roots. राग-द्वेष वासनाs, the well entrenched वासनाs, tendencies, in the form of राग, I like these things and I dislike these things. In fact, every experience makes me judge the experience. As I go forward in my life, every experience makes my intellect classify things as this is welcome, this is not welcome. You meet a person for two days or three days, you will classify. Even in the class, if you don't like you will sit elsewhere. In the camp, don't put this person as my roommate. What all I have to undergo, you see? Nobody sympathizes with me. And give this as my roommate and preferably that room. Strong राग and द्वेष in 8 days. And there too most of the time in the class only, in the temple only. In the intermediary time we have managed to develop powerful राग-द्वेष to room and the mates. And if this is the lot in 8 days, then in 80 years should one ask. We have got tons tons of clear slotting or categorization, this is welcome, this is not welcome. And every राग leads to प्रवृत्ति. When I consider something as favorable, I have to chase that object, I have to go after that object. Thus राग leads to प्रवृत्ति: and once I dislike something, द्वेष leads to निवृत्ति:, withdrawal, avoidance. So thus राग-द्वेष lead to प्रवृत्ति-निवृत्ति and प्रवृत्ति-निवृत्तिs are कर्म and कर्म will lead to पुण्य-पाप, पुण्य-पाप will lead to पुनर्जन्म. And therefore He says: अधः च – further down, along with main root, tap root further down, मूलानि, here मूल means the secondary roots, are अनुसन्तानानि – they are spread all over, remember our राग-द्वेषs are not confined to our own house, it spreads to neighborhood, it spreads to the other states in the country, we have got राग-द्वेष. If you watch a tennis match between Australia and American, in five minutes, unknowingly you will start supporting one of them. At least if it is India and श्रीलङ्का, you will have a natural tendency. But even when an Australian and an American plays a tennis match, in the Open, US Open, you watch for 10-15 minutes you will begin to support one of them. That means what? The secondary roots spread all over the world, सन्ततानि. And these secondary roots lead to what? कर्म-अनुबन्धीनि – whose consequences are varieties of कर्म. So अनुबन्धः means consequence. Consequence of राग-द्वेष वासनाs. So the consequence of every राग and द्वेष is कर्म. What type of कर्म? Either प्रवृत्ति रूप कर्म or निवृत्ति रूप कर्म, going after or going away. These two only we have been doing, getting or getting rid. So कर्म-अनुबन्धीनि. And all these are happening where? मनुष्य-लोके. In fact, this is the biography of a human being. प्रवृत्ति-निवृत्ति, one set is over, again next प्रवृत्ति-निवृत्ति, next प्रवृत्ति-निवृत्ति and die. And then again take another body, प्रवृत्ति-निवृत्ति and die and this cycle goes on and on and on and on. Like the huge in England they have got a huge merry go round. Recently they inaugurated, a huge one. Giant wheel and we can come out at will. Suppose you enter that and you cannot come out and the switch cannot be put off and you are sitting there and it is going on and on and now I ask, Is it merry go round? You will scream and say it is sorry go around. Similarly, if you plan to come as a human being and enjoy the life and withdraw at will, it is wonderful, but when you find helplessly stuck and you don't know how to get out of this giant wheel, when you are not able to, it will be wailing experience, wail and go. And therefore कर्म-अनुबन्धीनि मनुष्य-लोके. And why does कृष्ण specifically use the word मनुष्यलोक when there are fourteen लोकs? Because मनुष्य जन्म alone is considered to be कर्म जन्म, whereas in all the other लोकs or other शरीरम्s, it is भोग प्रधान जन्म, there is no question of fresh acquisition of कर्म and since it is कर्म भूमि, that has been mentioned here. Verse No .03

न रूपमस्येह तथोपलभ्यते नान्तो न चादिर्न च सम्प्रतिष्ठा ।

अश्वत्थमेनं सुविरूढमूलं असङ्गशस्त्रेण दृढेन छित्त्वा ॥ १७-३॥

न रूपम् अस्य इह तथा उपलभ्यते न अन्तः न च आदिः न च सम्प्रतिष्ठा ।

अश्वत्थम् एनम् सुविरूढ-मूलम् असङ्ग-शस्त्रेण दृढेन छित्त्वा ॥ १५-३॥

(यथा अयं वर्णितः) तथा अस्य रूपम् इह न उपलभ्यते । (अस्य) अन्तः न, आदिः च न, सम्प्रतिष्ठा च न (उपलभ्यते), सुविरूढ-मूलम् एनम् अश्वत्थम् दृढेन असङ्ग-शस्त्रेण छित्त्वा,

So in the first half of this verse, the description of the संसार continues. I said 2- 1/2 verses. So now we have got one more verse dealing with संसार वर्णनम्. Here कृष्ण conveys a very important technical information and that is when you try to probe into this universe and this life and try to understand what is this creation and what is this life, when did it begin, when will it end, the more you try to probe into this creation, the more mysterious it becomes. So the whole creation is a mystery, a माया. So superficially seeing, it will appear as though you can understand the creation well. The scientists have been thinking that they will have clear explanation to every phenomenon. They are all working for a Theory Of Everything. It is called the TOE. They want a TOE hold. And they solve certain mysteries and find that those smaller mysterious are replaced by further deeper mysteries. And therefore, कृष्ण says here, अस्य रूपम् न उपलभ्यते. रूपम् means what स्वरूपम् or the nature of the universe is not comprehensible. It is अनिर्वचनीयम्. The details we will get in माण्डुक्य कारिका. In the उपनिषत् class, it will be very technical analysis of what is माया and what is अनिर्वचनीयम्. Here कृष्ण casually hints at that. The more you probe, the more mysterious it becomes. If somebody asks, why am I born? I will give an immediate answer, it is because of your कर्म. And if you are associated with me, because of my कर्म also. OK. Both have to be taken. Because of our कर्म we are born. And this person is satisfied. OK, my question has been answered. Why am I born? Our fate. Our कर्म. But you will be satisfied and go home but another question comes: Why I did I do that कर्म? How did that कर्म come? So you come the next day, I say it is very simple, because of the previous

जन्म, some previous जन्म. Then you are satisfied. Because of the previous जन्म the कर्म came and because of कर्म this जन्म came. Then you go home and then comes the tube light, then comes the next question: How did the previous जन्म come? Of course because of previous कर्म. Then you get irritated and ask, how did the first कर्म or first जन्म come? If you get into that logical question, you go to the theory of causation. That is the specialization topic of गौडपाद in माण्डुक्य कारिका, the theory of causation you study, you will get into mind-boggling logical problem. Just to give you one hint, I thought not to tell. When you talk about the beginning of creation, we should remember the question involves the beginning of time. Because time and creation are inseparable. You can never separate time, space and creation, therefore whenever you talk about the beginning of creation, you are talking about the beginning of time, beginning of time is a contradiction. Because to talk about the beginning of time, you require what? Another time. So there must be a particular time, field must be there, 7 o'clock, 8 o'clock, 9 o'clock. And you should say स्वामिजि 9 o'clock the time started. To talk about the beginning of time you require another time to locate the time-wise beginning of the second time. And naturally the question will come, how did the second series of time originate? You will require for that another time to locate the time of time two. You will find that intellectually it will be flabbergasting. Similarly, space. So therefore, you can never talk about the beginning or end of the creation, coconut tree or the coconut ? Which came first? The coconut tree or the coconut? Hen or Egg? Which came first? Even scientifically analyzing, the scientists are telling that perhaps this question can never be answered. Some scientists have still some hope. Many scientists have given up hope and they say it may be an eternal mystery, including Stephen Hawkins. He is putting a big question mark. He says there are religious implications when we are studying cosmology, himself an atheist. So all these things

व्यासाचार्य wrote then itself. He says, अस्य रूपम् – the nature of this universe is incomprehensible. The word we use in our culture is माया. And every Indian is familiar with the word. They will say that everything is माया when they don't understand something. All these are from 15th chapter only. They don't know it is 15th chapter. That is the only difference. अस्य रूपम् इह न उपलभ्यते. And therefore न अन्तः – you cannot talk about the beginning, because beginning of universe is beginning of time. Beginning of time is intellectually non-comprehensible. And not only the beginning cannot be talked about, न च अन्तः. अन्तः means the end also cannot be talked about. So the end of creation is the end of time. And people will ask after the end of time what will happen? Think of that. After the end of time what will happen? In the question itself, can you see the contradiction? After the end of time, that very word after is illogical. Because the very word after refers to time concept, after time is a contradiction, before time is a contradiction. But स्वामिजि we are using the word: you came to the class before time. That before time is different, there before time means before 7 o'clock or before 6 o'clock we are referring to, but try to conceive of before the very time concept itself. It is unimaginable. So न अन्तः न आदिः. Then what about the middle? If you cannot think of the beginning and end, how can you talk about the middle? Suppose I ask you, what is the middle of this hall? If I ask you to mark the middle of the hall, the first thing you do is what? Try to find out both the ends of the hall. Without locating the beginning and end, you cannot pinpoint the middle, therefore, if you don't know the beginning and end, you cannot talk about the middle. And therefore, कृष्ण says न च सम्प्रतिष्ठा. सम्प्रतिष्ठा means the middle, मध्यम्; in this context. Normally सम्प्रतिष्ठा means a support, a substratum, etc., but in this context, the word सम्प्रतिष्ठा means the middle or मध्यम्. In short you don't know these three things. Other than the beginning, middle and the end I know everything, means I know nothing. So this mysterious universe is संसार. Never try to understand this. You only try to remove this संसार by going to the root, you get rid of the संसार. You need not know the details, but only you have to get rid. If the dream is creating lot of problems, what is the solution, instead of struggling to understand what is dream, there are some psychologists who do analysis of dream and they will miss the waking state, you go on studying the dream and waste the precious waking time, the more you analyze the dream, the more mysterious it will be. If dream is causing the problem, what is required is not analyzing, what is required is what? Wake up from the dream. Similarly, here also, you have to get rid of this संसार and the method of संसार निवृत्ति is given from the second line of this verse. So up to the सम्प्रतिष्ठा is संसार वर्णनम्. So the first topic is over.

Hereafter from the 2nd half of this verse, we are entering into the second topic. What is that topic? संसार निवृत्ति उपायः. How to get out of this vicious, terrible, uncontrollable, unpredictable संसार चक्र? And कृष्ण is going to talk about four methods or four disciplines, not optional but all the four are important. And what are those four? First I will enumerate them and we will see the details later.

- a) First one is वैराग्यम्.
- b) The second one is ब्रह्म विचार. वैराग्यम् you know the meaning dispassion. ब्रह्म विचार means enquiry into the root of this संसार वृक्षः.
- c) And the third discipline is शरणागतिः – surrender or devotion. The word used is प्रपत्तिः, which is a very important concept in विशिष्टाद्वैत, वैष्णव सम्प्रदाय. That प्रपत्तिः, otherwise called शरणागति, otherwise called भक्ति is the 3rd.
- d) And the fourth उपाय is सत्-गुणाः- developing a healthy refined mind. Otherwise called values enumerated in the 13th chapter, viz., अमानित्वम् अदम्भित्वम् अहिम्सा क्षान्तिः आर्जवम्. I will call them सत्-गुणाः.

So वैराग्यम्, ब्रह्म विचार, शरणागतिः and सत्-गुणाः, these four उपायs, उपाय means methodology are going to be enumerated.

i) The first one is mentioned here: वैराग्यम्. So कृष्ण says first may you take the sword, the knife or the axe of वैराग्यम् and with the axe of वैराग्यम्, may you learn to reduce your dependence on the world, because the world is constantly changing, because the world is mysterious, because the world is unpredictable, learn to reduce your dependence on the world. It does not mean hatred, from world-dependence may you gradually develop God-dependence. God in any form initially in the form of an इष्ट देवता. And later, when we discover that Lord in our own heart, in the form of our own higher nature, then from God-dependence I will come to Self-dependence, which is otherwise independence. What is independence? Dependence on myself. And therefore turn your attention from world-dependence to God-dependence. And therefore He says, असङ्ग-शस्त्रेण. असङ्ग means वैराग्यम्, dispassion, detachment. शस्त्रम् means the axe or sword, with that दृढेन छित्वा – strongly forcibly may you cut your leaning. And what you should cut? एनम् सुविरूढ-मूलम् अश्वत्थम्. May you cut the dependence on this अश्वत्थ वृक्ष, on this संसार वृक्ष. And what type of संसार वृक्ष? सुविरूढ-मूलम् – which has got a very very strong root. On this well rooted, well entrenched संसार वृक्ष you are leaning upon, which is a risky thing. I have often told you that when there is a card board chair, a well decorated cardboard chair is there, it is so beautiful, so nice, you can keep it in the show case, you can do everything, enjoy it, nothing wrong, need not destroy, only one small thing, what is that? Already you are 95 kilos and you sit on the chair, you fall and break your head. So therefore, except leaning or sitting you can do everything else. Similarly, love people, move with people, show your care, everything you do, it is a gift from the Lord, whatever I have, but when you need stability and security, have the Lord as the source of security. This is stage No.1. What is that? World-dependence to God-dependence. This is called वैराग्यम्. Not hatred, but maturity. So असङ्ग-शस्त्रेण दृढेन छित्वा. Having done that, the sentence is grammatically incomplete, having done that, don't stop with that, there are three more disciplines, which you have to practice. What are those three? That is given in the next verse.

Verse No .04

ततः पदं तत्परिमार्गितव्यं यस्मिन् गता न निवर्तन्ति भूयः ।

तमेव चाद्यं पुरुषं प्रपद्ये । यतः प्रवृत्तिः प्रसृता पुराणी ॥ १७-४॥

ततः पदम् तत्परिमार्गितव्यं यस्मिन् गताः न निवर्तन्ति भूयः ।

तम् एव च आद्यम् पुरुषम् प्रपद्ये । यतः प्रवृत्तिः प्रसृता पुराणी ॥ १७-४॥

ततः यतः पुराणी प्रवृत्तिः प्रसृता तम् एव च आद्यम् पुरुषम् प्रपद्ये, (इति) तत् पदम् परिमार्गितव्यं, यस्मिन् गताः भूयः न निवर्तन्ति ।

ततः means thereafter. Thereafter means whereafter? After getting वैराग्यम्, not suppression, but mature dispassion. Suppression is never correct, it is growing out of the dependence, just as we grow out of the attachment to the dolls and play things we used in our childhood, only thing is the physical growth from childhood is a natural process. You need not do anything, you survive somehow, you will physically grow. And as you physically grow, you will not be leaning upon those dolls, computer games and all things, biscuits you are no more interested in local biscuits, you are interested in gold biscuit, different type of biscuit. So physical growth is natural. But emotional growth requires working on it. That is called विवेक जन्य वैराग्यम्.

ii) We have to study our experiences and learn and after getting that dispassion, healthy dispassion, you have to go to the second उपाय, discipline or साधन, which is परिमार्गितव्यम्, परिमार्गणम् means enquiry, विचारः, searching, seeking. Seeking of what तत् पदम्, पदम् means that ultimate destination of life and also the ultimate substratum of the संसार tree and what is the root or substratum of the tree, ब्रह्मन्. So may you enquire into ब्रह्मन्! Not sitting with closed eyes and asking what is ब्रह्मन्? What is ब्रह्मन्? Enquiry means गुरु शास्त्र मुखेन वेदान्त विचारः ब्रह्म विचारः. ब्रह्मन् enquiry is शास्त्रिय enquiry. शास्त्रिय enquiry involves the guidance of a गुरु. May you enter into वेदान्त विचारः. More we will see in the next class.

In the first part of the 15th chapter, Lord कृष्ण gave a description of संसार, so that a person will get a desire for संसार निवृत्ति or मोक्षः. Because unless one diagnoses the human problem there will never be an attempt to get out of the problem and therefore He gave the description of संसार by comparing the संसार to the huge tree of अवस्था. This was done in the first 2-1/2 verses and thereafter कृष्ण has now entered into the साधनसः meant for संसार निवृत्ति, मोक्षः प्राप्ति साधनानि or संसार निवृत्ति साधनानि. And many disciplines are discussed in the शास्त्रसः and Lord कृष्ण is here highlighting four disciplines which I introduced in the last class.

a) The first one is वैराग्यम्, which कृष्ण called असङ्गत्वम्. And by the word वैराग्यम्, we saw the idea conveyed is deciding to depend upon the Lord more than the world. So shifting from world-dependence to God-dependence is वैराग्यम्. So that later, we can discover that the Lord is none other than my own higher nature. The scriptures do not reveal this fact in the beginning; in the beginning Lord is presented as a third person, other than me. So He is सृष्टि कर्ता, He is स्थिति कर्ता, He is omniscient, He is omnipotent, God is described as a परोक्षवस्तु, as someone different and we are asked to depend upon that Lord in any form we like, in the form of गणेश, शिव, विष्णु, etc. And thereafter alone, we discover the fact that the Lord is not away from me, the Lord is my own higher nature and therefore, God-dependence will later be converted into Self-dependence, which is total freedom. So thus वैराग्यम् means shifting the dependence from the world to the Lord.

b) The next one, the second one that कृष्ण mentions is शरणागति or surrender to the Lord, to pursue the मोक्षः मार्गः. This is based on the discovery of the fact that any human undertaking can be successful only when two factors are favorable. Any human undertaking can be successful only when two factors are favorable, one is my sincere effort called प्रयत्नः. Without my effort nothing can happen. As they say, ten people can take a horse to the water front, but the horse alone has to drink. Similarly, if my effort is not there even God cannot help me. Therefore, प्रयत्न is one factor and the second factor is ईश्वर अनुग्रहः, the grace of the Lord, so that all the other factors are favorable to me. All the hidden factors are favorable to me and to seek this grace of the Lord, I surrender to the Lord. शरणागति or प्रपत्तिः is the second साधन.

c) And the third one is the development of healthy virtues. So सत्-गुण सम्पादनम् because only in the atmosphere of healthy virtues Self-knowledge can take place. Just as in chemistry, when they talk about various chemical reactions, they always specify the temperature and the pressure, in whose conditions alone the reactions can take place. Certain reactions require NTP, chemistry students will know, NTP means normal temperature and pressure; in the case of certain other reactions higher temperature and pressure; in the case of certain other reactions lower temperature and pressure. Cryogenic experiments always take place in very very low temperature. Similarly, they talk about acid medium, alkaline medium, when we have the acidity problem. So when the local events require certain conditions to successfully take place, वेदान्त says that the Self-knowledge also can take place only in certain conditions. And what is that, there should be normal temperature and pressure. Here also we use the expression, lot of pressure स्वामिजि. And also ‘we get heated up’ we say. Therefore the ideal condition of the mind in which Self-knowledge can take place is called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. There you say NTP, here I say SCS – साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. In simple language, healthy virtues. Some of the virtues, कृष्ण will Himself enumerate later, some we have already seen in the 13th chapters. In one word, I will say सत्-गुणः. वैराग्यम्, शरणागति and सत्-गुणः.

d) And the fourth is वेदान्त विचारः – enquiry into the scriptures or scriptural study. Unfortunately, this साधन is not emphasized at all now-a-days. All the other साधनः are highlighted, nobody talks much about the scriptural study, that too systematic scriptural study. Just as we study physics in the college for a length of time, chemistry we study, mathematics we study, वेदान्त is also a systematic शास्त्र requiring a systematic study. And this we call as वेदान्त विचारः, consisting of श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम् and कृष्ण uses the word here परिमार्गणम्, परिमार्गणम् means Self-enquiry, through the instrumentality of scriptures. Just as you enquire into the disease in the body, the doctors use the appropriate instrument. Even to have a master check-up the doctor cannot study your body, your blood, etc., through ordinary eyes and ears, he has got many gadgets. So many scanning, EEG, ECG, brain scan, etc., how many instruments are there. So to make an appropriate enquiry you require an appropriate instrument. Self-enquiry requires the instrument called शास्त्र प्रमाणम्. That is why we always say, Self-enquiry is equal to शान्तिः enquiry, आत्मविचारः is equal to वेदान्त विचारः. Remember the example of the mirror I gave you the other day. If I have to see my face, I have to make use of the mirror. And when I am looking into the mirror, it appears as though I am looking outside, but what I am actually seeing is not outside, I am seeing myself. I see the face on the mirror or in the mirror, but when I apply चन्दन or कुङ्कुम, I don't apply on the mirror, I apply here because I know I see there, but what I see is here. Similarly, the more you get into the शास्त्रs, properly with the right गुरु, greater the शास्त्रिय study, the greater the understanding of myself. The deeper you penetrate into the शास्त्रs, the deeper is your understanding of yourselves. So this is the fourth one, वेदान्त विचारः. वैराग्यम्, शरणागति, सत्-गुणाः and वेदान्त विचारः.

And of these four साधनs, what is the most important one? Of the four, what is the most important one? कृष्ण does not mention, but we should remember that the most important one is वेदान्त विचारः alone. The other three are only supportive causes, because they only prepare the condition of the mind. So just as preparing the condition for a chemical reaction or preparing the condition for a surgery the conditions are important, but what cures the disease is the surgery. You cannot tell the patient to go home after preparing the condition. They are all important. Sugar has to be brought down, pressure has to be handled, all these conditionings are important, but it is the surgery, the treatment which removes the disease and remember, here the virus or bacteria is ignorance bacteria. And ignorance is removed only by knowledge generated by वेदान्त विचारः, शरणागति cannot remove ignorance, all the virtues cannot remove ignorance. If you have all virtues, you will be a virtuously ignorant; previously viciously ignorant, now virtuously ignorant. Virtues cannot remove ignorance, वैराग्यम् cannot remove ignorance. Therefore वैराग्यम्, शरणागति and सत्-गुणाः, they only create the condition, the actual job is done by Vedantic study, which generates the knowledge and in the process removes the ignorance, as I often say, it is ignorance-ectomy. Therefore three are supporting causes and वेदान्त विचारः is the primary cause. All these four are mentioned in the 3rd verse, वैराग्यम् has been mentioned in the 4th verse, कृष्ण is mentioning वेदान्त विचारः and शरणागति.

So look at the 3rd line first, तम् एव च आद्यम् पुरुषम् प्रपद्ये. Every मुमुक्षु must be a devotee of the Lord. Without ईश्वर भक्ति, any amount of intellectual acumen will not bless a person. We do require a sharp intellect, no doubt, but भक्ति is very very important. And that is why we start the class with a prayer, पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम्, whether the mind is in the prayer or not, you will chant with the mouth, अम्ब त्वाम् अनुसन्दधामि भगवद्गीते I surrender. Therefore the last two lines are within quotation, the surrender expressed by the devotee. He address the lord, Oh Lord! तम् पुरुषम् आद्यम् प्रपद्ये – I surrender to that Lord who is called पुरुषः, the word पुरुषः has two meanings, one meaning is the all-pervading one, पूरयति सर्वम् इति पुरुषः. √पूर – to fill or pervade. From that only षष्ठ्यब्दपूर्ति etc., the root is पूर and there is another meaning also, पुरे वसति इति पुरुषः, पुरम् means the body, वसति means the one who dwells, therefore पुरुषः means the one who indwells the body. And that is natural because if the Lord is all-pervading. The Lord will be in my heart or not? The all-pervading Lord has to be pervading this man also. Therefore, that पुरुषः, the all-pervading Lord who is in my heart, I surrender. And what type of Lord He is? यतः पुराणी प्रवृत्तिः प्रसृता. प्रवृत्तिः means the emergence, उत्पत्तिः, the origination. Of what? This creation, beginning from the space onward,

तस्माद्वा एतस्मात् आत्मनः आकाशः सम्भूतः । आकाशाद्वायुः ।

वायोरग्निः । अग्नेरापः । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-२ ॥

Even space originates from the Lord. And when all this starts when does this origination begins? कृष्ण says पुराणी प्रवृत्तिः – the most ancient creation, we do not know when the Big Bang started, billions of years ago, so this ancient origination or creation, प्रसृता, प्रसृता means proceeds, emerges from which Lord, from which source, that original Lord I surrender to. So this is called शरणागति. This is the second उपायः.

iii) And then we will go back to the first line, in which the third साधन is mentioned, viz., वेदान्त विचारः. ततः, ततः means after preparing the mind very well, so after providing the conditions, even a farmer will sow the seed only after preparing the land and after कावेरी water or monsoon comes, unless there is water how can you farm. And therefore, any activity requires the condition and therefore ततः means साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति अनन्तरम्. That is how ब्रह्मसूत्र begins. व्यासाचार्य writes the famous ब्रह्मसूत्र, consisting of 555 सूत्रs, most important Vedantic literature and it begins with अथातो ब्रह्म जिज्ञासा. And शङ्कराचार्य writes an elaborate commentary on the first word, अथ, by reading which itself you get heated up. He analyzes various possible meaning of the word अथ and dismisses all other possible meanings and arrive at the meaning thereafter. For that 1-1/2 page commentary, for which 10 page sub-commentary and for which 100 pages sub-sub-commentary for अथ. And once he establishes the meaning as thereafter, he himself asks the question, thereafter means whereafter, after drinking coffee, is it? So that we will be fresh for ब्रह्मसूत्र. Then शङ्कराचार्य himself answers the question, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति अनन्तरम् - after preparing the mind. In fact, our entire religious life is for this preparation. All our rituals are called संस्कार, the very conception is a संस्कार, गर्भाधान संस्कार, पुंसवन संस्कार, सीमन्त संस्कार, जातकर्म संस्कार, संस्कार means refinement process. Everything that we do in our religion, including नवरात्रि's kolu (arrangement of dolls) and also chickpea, all are meant for refinement of the mind, संस्कार, what a beautiful name! And a mind which is refined is called संस्कृत अन्तःकरणम्. So here the word ततः means अथ of ब्रह्मसूत्र. ततः is equal to अथ, (one should not say अतः). What should you do? परिमार्गितव्यम् - enter into Vedantic study seriously, systematically. Find out what is स्थूल शरीरम्? What is सूक्ष्म शरीरम्? What is कारण शरीरम्? Is there something beyond? If there is something beyond, what is its nature? Very elaborate enquiry. So परिमार्गितव्यम् विचारयितव्यम्. There in the व्याससूत्र it is called ब्रह्म जिज्ञासा. जिज्ञासा means परिमार्गणम्. What do you enquire into? पदम्. पदम् in the last class I explained, it has two meanings. One meaning is the ultimate goal of every human being, which is ब्रह्मन्. So destination. पद्यते इति पदम्; कर्म व्युत्पत्ति. And there is a second meaning also and that is the basis or substratum. And according to the second meaning also, it is ब्रह्मन् only. So ब्रह्मन् which is the destination and ब्रह्मन् which is the substratum of the whole creation, which is the root of the संसार वृक्ष, that ब्रह्मन् may you enquire through वेदान्त. OK. What is the advantage of reaching that destination? Already I have got several destinations in life. I have got a big agenda. So among so many agendas which are incomplete, you are adding one more. This was not there till now and you have added ब्रह्मज्ञानम् also is your goal. So in what way this destination is better? कृष्ण tells that this is the best destination because this is the only destination reaching which further travels are not there. A person has reached Home. So ब्रह्मन् alone is the real Home, where you can feel at home. Any other goal you fulfill, for a day you are fulfilled and relaxed, then the next day you are ready for what next? Education over, what next? Employment. Employment over, what next? Getting settled. It is a figurative expression for getting married. Then, what next? Children. Then, what next? They should be settled. Then, what next? Grandchildren. Then, what next? They should be settled. So I am eternally unsettled, looking for somebody's settlement or the other, I am always unsettled, the agenda never ends. And this has been going on from अनादि काल, the journey never ends. Whereas this is the destination where you feel at home with yourself and thereafter whatever you do, it is not a struggle, but it is a sport or enjoyment. And therefore कृष्ण says यस्मिन् गताः – reaching which destination, i.e., ब्रह्मन् destination, मोक्षः destination, reaching, भूयः न निवर्तन्ति – one does not come back to संसार, which is the perpetual struggle. The perpetual struggle ends once and for all. Remember, the snake and ladder. The moment you reach the परमपदम् (for वैकुण्ठ एकादशि, वैष्णव्स have to play परमपदम्) न निवर्तन्ति भूयः. May you seek that goal through वेदान्त विचार. With this the three साधनs have been talked about. What are the three? वैराग्यम्, शरणागति and वेदान्त विचार. Now the fourth we have to see in the next verse we will read.

Verse No .05

निर्मानमोहा जितसङ्गदोषा अध्यात्मनित्या विनिवृत्तकामाः ।

द्वन्द्वैर्विमुक्ताः सुखदुःखसंज्ञैर्गच्छन्त्यमूढाः पदमव्ययं तत् ॥ १५-५॥

निर्मान-मोहाः जितसङ्गदोषाः अध्यात्म-नित्याः विनिवृत्त-कामाः ।

द्वन्द्वैः विमुक्ताः सुख-दुःख-संज्ञैः गच्छन्ति अमूढाः पदम् अव्ययं तत् ॥ १५-५॥

निर्मान-मोहाः, जितसङ्गदोषाः, अध्यात्म-नित्याः, विनिवृत्त-कामाः, सुख-दुःख-संज्ञैः दृढैः विमुक्ताः, अमूढाः, तत् अव्ययं पदम् गच्छन्ति ।

iv) So the fourth discipline is सत्-गुणाः, cultivation of healthy virtues, वेदान्त-friendly virtues, which serve as a catalyst for the मोक्षः reaction to take place. So what are those virtues? We have already enumerated in the 13th chapter, from verse no.8 to 12, अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, etc., and कृष्ण will again elaborate in the 16th chapter in the form of दैवी सम्पत्ति and later in the 17th chapter also. So here कृष्ण wants to only give certain sample virtues. And what are they? कृष्ण says, निर्मान-मोहाः – first and foremost develop humility, get rid of arrogance, pride, vanity, which unknowingly creep into our personality, a few achievements can easily get into our head. And a few people glorify us, that's all we have lost all our balance. And therefore our scriptures emphasize विनयः or humility as one of the most important virtues required and as I said, I think in one of the classes before, one of the exercises prescribed is learning to do नमस्कार.

i) The very physical prostration has the capacity to develop humility and in our culture left and right, any occasion नमस्कार is there, not only in front of the Lord, नमस्कार to parents, to elders, to teachers. So this is one method.

ii) And the second one is to constantly remember that there are people who are greater than me and superior to me in any field. I am never the greatest one in the creation. If I remember this fact, humility will be automatic and secondly and more importantly I should remember, whatever glories or faculties I have, they are all gift from the Lord, it doesn't take much time to lose them, a wonderful voice can be easily lost with one ice-cream or anything. So any faculty that I have can be lost at any time, remember the 10th chapter of the गीता, everything I possess is भगवान्'s gift. And any glorification I receive, we won't have that problem! Nobody will glorify; it is alright if no one curses! Any glorification I receive, even any नमस्कार I receive, I directly handover mentally to the Lord.

If these two points I remember, first point, that there are people who are superior and greater and second point, whatever I have is भगवान्'s grace. If these two points I remember in my mind and physically I keep doing नमस्कार wherever appropriate, without hesitation, साष्टाङ्ग नमस्कार, if there is a back-ache पञ्चाङ्ग नमस्कार, if I cannot bend at all at least the shortcut नमस्कार, you do. निर्मान is nothing but अमानित्वम् of the 13th chapter, विनयः.

Then the next virtue is निर्मोहः, that निर् should be read twice. निर्मान and निर्मोह, you should not say निर्मान is one virtue and मोह is another virtue. मोह is not a virtue which we have to acquire, because we already have a plenty. So निर्मोहः – freedom from delusion. And that means what? Proper thinking or discrimination. And what is proper thinking? We should remember that every individual is a mixture of a spiritual personality and a material personality. Spiritual personality is the आत्मतत्त्वम् and the material personality is the अनात्मतत्त्वम् personality, every individual is a mixture of spirit and matter. We are both spiritual and materialistic. As दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, even the greatest spiritual person when he is eating food, he is a pucca materialist only, because he is dealing with matter to nourish the matter, there is no आत्मा involved in eating. So we have both the personalities, our growth is balanced growth in which I take care of my material needs and I should also take care of my spiritual growth. And that is why we have divided the पुरुषार्थः into four, अर्थ, काम are also important, धर्म, मोक्ष also are important. There should not be a lopsided approach. That is what कृष्ण said in the 16th chapter, suppose a person says that I will do 24 hour meditation only and no eating food, etc., because it is materialistic pursuit, कृष्ण said it won't work, if you don't eat at all properly and meditate then only idlis and chapattis will come in your meditation. So 100% spiritual pursuit nobody can have. 100% material pursuit is also lopsided. Therefore कृष्ण says, balance. Give time for अर्थ काम, earn well, eat well but at the same time have time for attending the Sunday classes also. No time there, don't say. And therefore मोहः means the misconception that pursuit of money alone will give me fulfillment in life. 'Money alone is God' philosophy won't work. 'Money and also God' is OK. 'Money alone is God' is a problem. So earn money required, but you cannot spend your entire life in earning and entertainment alone, that is why I often say what I have alone is not the criterion for my joy, what I am also should be taken care of. We are taking care of only what I have, but we are never taking care of what I am. And therefore, निर्मोहः means the one who gives equal importance to spirituality also.

And the next virtue, जितसङ्गदोषाः. सङ्ग means emotional slavery, emotional attachment, emotional addiction, emotional leaning upon external factors is a risky proposition, because the external world is constantly changing. So leaning upon a changing support is not a healthy one and therefore use everything but don't lean on anything and if at all you want to lean upon something, lean upon something शाश्वतम्. And that is why I told in the beginning itself, world-dependence to God-dependence. So जितसङ्गदोषाः means those who have mastery, those who are not emotional slaves of people, of situations and of things. So this will take time, but we have to work on that. In fact, all our व्रतम् prescribed in the scriptures are meant to develop that Self-dependence only, whatever we are used to we are asked to give up for a day, for a week. Those people who take व्रतम् for शबरीमतै, for certain number of days they learn to live without those dependencies. See what happens if coffee is not there for a week. You have start from there. So therefore, freedom from slavery.

Then the next one विनिवृत्त-कामाः – not developing new dependence. The previous value is giving up present dependence and there are some people who give up, they say I have given up smoking and what do I do? Chewing. You have left one but replaced by something equal or worse. So many people have got the habit of areca nut, which creates even cancer of the mouth, they say. You ask them to give up it is extremely difficult for them. For some people it is snuff. All the time having चिन्मुद्रा (nickname for snuff). There was one शास्त्री, he takes wonderful Vedantic classes and he is very beautiful, very great scholar, teaches very well, but he takes snuff now and then. Therefore what I am saying is विनिवृत्त-कामाः means don't replace one dependence by another. So विनिवृत्त-कामाः, free from fresh attachments or desires.

Then the next virtue is दृढद्वैः विमुक्ताः – those who can withstand the opposite experiences of life, the capacity to withstand the opposite experiences, which are inevitable in life. So there is prosperity, lot of money and then there is also situation, lot of debts also and health is there, ill-health is also there and gain is there and loss is there, victory is there, failure is there, मान-अपमान, in fact, life is a series of opposites. In संस्कृत we call it दृढद्वम्, दृढद्वम् means pair. And that is why we read पौराणिक stories, reading पुराण is very useful because from the पुराण we come to know that even the greater emperors and even great भक्त and even अवतार have faced opposites. रामायण you read, राम was in the palace and in the forest, धर्मपुत्र was in the palace and in the forest, नल was a great king, lost everything. And thus when we read we come to know that when the great emperors cannot avoid ups and downs, what am I a minuscule man going to do.

तदा दुःखैः न लिप्येरन् नल-राम-युधिष्ठिराः ॥ पञ्चदशी १५७॥

When they had to face choice-less situations, irremediable situations, how can I help? And therefore I have to toughened myself, I have to thicken my skin, that is called shock absorber, through विवेक and भक्ति, discrimination and devotion will give a mind with a shock absorber. Therefore free from reactions towards violent reactions towards. You cannot avoid reactions totally, but the shock absorber will reduce the intensity. I won't go mad, I won't think of committing suicide, I may be upset a little bit, but it is withstandable, manageable condition. And therefore those who are free from violent reactions with regard to adverse circumstances. And what are the adverse opposite experiences, सुख-दुःख-संज्ञैः – in the form of pleasure and pain and others. So when, that well-known proverb you might have heard, when going gets tough the tough gets going. In संस्कृत, we have got a beautiful श्लोक, in which they divide the human beings into two types of balls. One is a wet clay ball, a ball made-up of wet clay and another is a rubber ball. Now you drop both of them down, what will happen? The wet clay ball once it falls, never gets up. Fallen for good. It doesn't have the capacity to bounce back. No resilience, permanently scarred and damaged, whereas the rubber ball the moment it falls immediately it bounces back, in fact, the harder the fall the more is the bouncing.

तथा त्वनार्यः पतति मृत्पिण्डपतनम् यथा ॥ नीतिशतकम् ८३ ॥

You know the meaning. कन्दुकपात means the fall of the regular ball, it has the resilience, it bounces back. The other one is the ball of wet clay. I have to decide whether I am clay or ball. And one who is like a ball is called द्वन्द्वैः विमुक्ताः. OK. this was a tragic condition, one day, two days, three days you cry then start life again. Who has not lost kingdom, lost people, husbands, wives or children, all these things happen. That resilience is the virtue.

And the next and the most important virtue is अध्यात्म-नित्याः, अध्यात्म-नित्याः means regular study of scriptures. In fact, they nourish these virtues. Just as physical health requires the consumption of regular nutritious food, physical health requires regular consumption of nutritious food, not junk food, OK, similarly, mental health requires regular consumption of nutritious food called scriptural study. It is a nutrition for the mind and the intellect. And if you read any other book, say star dust, what will happen? We will go to dust, that is all. That is called junk food, therefore, read गीता, read the sayings of the महात्माs. Remember, that is nourishment to the mind and intellect and therefore कृष्ण says अध्यात्म-नित्याः, नित्याः means regularly committed to, अध्यात्म means spiritual scriptures. So either by reading or writing or sharing, find out one victim and then share. As स्वामि विन्मयानन्द says, invite him and give a hot cup of coffee. So that he cannot go until he completes it, so you get 15 minutes. Next time he may come or may not come. So share whatever you have, that is also scriptural study only.

And if a person follows these virtues along with the other three, other three means वैराग्यम्, शरणागति and वेदान्त विचारः, then अमूढाः – such people who follow all these four साधनs, वैराग्य, शरणागति, विचारः, सत्-गुणाः all the four those who follow, अमूढाः भवन्ति – they become wise people. अमूढाः means a ज्ञानि, ब्रह्म-वित्, स्थिरप्रज्ञः. So they become wise people. And then तत् पदम् गच्छन्ति – they will reach the destination of ब्रह्मन्, the destination of God or the destination of मोक्षः, they will certainly attain, guaranteed. And what type of destination it is? अव्ययम् – which is permanent, which is never lost. Because wisdom is never lost. Money you gain, it gets depleted, exhausted, but knowledge when you share with others it will never get depleted. If it is going to get depleted, as I teach गीता more and more and at the end of the fifth course, my knowledge will be half, by the time I come to the fifteenth course, I would have forgotten. That is not so. The more I teach, the more I know.

विद्याधनम् सर्वधनप्रधानम् व्यये कृते वर्धतेव नित्यम् ।

The more you use your knowledge the more it increases and therefore मोक्षः is permanent benefit. Never lost. More in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 15, VERSES 06-07

After giving a description of संसार in the first few verses, Lord कृष्ण, thereafter, dealt with the संसार निवृत्ति उपायाः, the means or methods for removal of संसार. संसार निवृत्ति means मोक्षः and therefore संसार निवृत्ति उपायाः means मोक्ष उपायाः, what are the disciplines to be followed to attain freedom the above described संसार. And as we saw in the previous classes, four disciplines were highlighted.

- The first one is वैराग्यम् or dispassion,
- The second one is शरणागति, surrendering to the Lord in the form of any इष्ट देवता,
- The third discipline is the acquisition or cultivation of healthy values, which we called सत्-गुणाः, or सत्-आचारः, or in the 16th chapter it will be called दैवी सम्पत्. Cultivating healthy virtues is the third discipline and
- The fourth and the primary discipline is Vedantic enquiry, वेदान्त विचारः, वेदान्त श्रवण मनन निदिध्यासनम्.

And the word कृष्ण uses is परिमार्गणम्. ततः पदम् तत् परिमार्गितव्यम्, that परिमार्गणम् means विचारः, पदम् means ब्रह्मन्, पदम् परिमार्गितव्यम् means ब्रह्म विचारणियम्, ब्रह्म विचारः कर्तव्यः. And enquiry into ब्रह्मन् is possible only through Vedantic scriptures and therefore ब्रह्मन् enquiry automatically means Vedantic enquiry. Of these four, as I said in the last class, the first three are supporting साधन and Vedantic enquiry alone is the primary साधन which alone removes the Self/ब्रह्मन् ignorance. And if a person follows all these four disciplines, what will be benefit that he will attain? That was mentioned in the 5th verse, in the 4th line, which we saw in the last class, अमूढाः. By following these four disciplines the seekers will become wise people. So अमूढाः means ज्ञानिनः. मोहः means अज्ञानम्, मूढः means an अज्ञानि and अमूढः means not अज्ञानि, not अज्ञानि means a ज्ञानि. So अमूढाः भवन्ति, ज्ञानिनः भवन्ति. And by way of becoming ज्ञानिs, what is the benefit they will enjoy? तत् अव्ययम् पदम् गच्छन्ति – they will attain the अव्यय पद known as ब्रह्मन्. अव्ययम् means undecaying, undecaying means not affected by time, not affected by time means कालातीतम्. So they will attain the कालातीतम् पदम्, which is none other than ब्रह्मन्. So thus previously ब्रह्मन् was presented as the root of the world and now ब्रह्मन् is presented as the destination of the seeker. So what is the substratum of the world alone is the destination of the seeker and that is why the word पदम् is a versatile word, it has got both meanings. One meaning is the substratum, the other meaning is the destination. So ब्रह्मन् is पदम्, the support of the world and ब्रह्मन् is पदम्, the destination of the seeker, that ब्रह्मन् they attain. So this ब्रह्म प्राप्तिः alone is called मोक्ष प्राप्तिः. Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing; verse no.6;

Verse No .06

न तद्भासयते सूर्यो न शशाङ्को न पावकः ।

यद्गत्वा न निवर्तन्ते तद्भाम परमं मम ॥ १५-६॥

न तत् भासयते सूर्यः न शशाङ्कः न पावकः ।

यत् गत्वा न निवर्तन्ते तत् धाम परमम् मम ॥ १५-६॥

न सूर्यः, न शशाङ्कः, न पावकः (च) तत् (पदं) भासयते । यत् गत्वा न निवर्तन्ते तत् मम परमम् धाम ।

In the previous verse it was mentioned that the seekers who follow the four-fold disciplines will attain that undecaying पदम्, which is called ब्रह्मन्, which is the root of the universe. Now in this verse, कृष्ण says what is the nature of that ब्रह्मन्, which is the destination of the seekers, which is the substratum of the universe, what is the nature of the substratum, destination ब्रह्मन्. Substratum-cum-destination ब्रह्मन्, what is its nature? So this verse is the ब्रह्म लक्षण श्लोकः. A verse which defines ब्रह्मन्. Wherever ब्रह्मन् is defined that verse is considered important. We call ब्रह्म लक्षण श्लोकः. Yesterday we were seeing तुरीय लक्षण मन्त्र

न अन्तःप्रज्ञम् न बहिष्प्रज्ञम् न उभयतःप्रज्ञम् ... । ॥ माण्डूक्योपनिषत् ७ ॥

That is also definition of तुरीयम्, which is another name for ब्रह्मन्. So here also, we get the definition of ब्रह्मन्. And while defining ब्रह्मन् in this verse, कृष्ण is borrowing from a well-known उपनिषत् मन्त्र. I have often told that the entire गीता is a borrowed teaching, कृष्ण does not give anything original of Himself, the whole गीता is extracted from the उपनिषत्. That is why you should remember the verse,

सर्वोपनिषदो गावो दोग्धा गोपाल नन्दनः ।

पार्थो वत्सः सुधीर्भोक्ता दुग्धं गीतामृतं महत् ॥ ४॥

So this verse is based on a well-known उपनिषत् मन्त्र, which occurs both in the मुण्डकोपनिषत् and कठोपनिषत् and it is so well-known that it is used in all the temples regularly at the time of दीपायन. And you know what that मन्त्र is.

न तत्र सूर्यो भाति न चन्द्रतारकम्

नेमा विद्युतो भान्ति कुतोऽयमग्निः ।

तमेव भान्तमनुभाति सर्वम्

तस्य भासा सर्वमिदम् विभाति ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् २-२-१०॥

It is one of the very important definitions of ब्रह्मन् which we use at the time of आरति. What is the meaning of this definition? The essence is ब्रह्मन् cannot be objectified by any instrument of knowledge. ब्रह्मन् is not objectifiable through any instrument of knowledge. ब्रह्मन् cannot be illumined by anything. And to convey this idea, the उपनिषत् uses the example of light. Light in वेदान्त is that in whose presence things are known. In वेदान्त, light means that in whose presence things are known. For example, this is called light, because in its presence I am able to know you are seated in front. Imagine light goes off, I will not know whether you are continuing to sit or quietly walk off. I won't know. Therefore light is that in whose presence things are known. And keeping this definition, the उपनिषत्s mention or point out that every sense organ can be compared to a light. Every sense organ can be compared to a light, because sense organ is that in whose presence things are known. Therefore ear is a light in whose presence sounds are known, therefore ear become a 'light' (light with quotation, it is figurative expression), nose is a 'light' in whose presence smells are known, tongue is a 'light' in whose presence tastes are known and if you extend further, any प्रमाणम् or instrument of knowledge is called a 'light'. Any प्रमाणम्, any instrument of knowledge is also called 'light', why? because in the presence of instrument of knowledge the objects are known. Thus inference is also a form of 'light', through which you can know things. And even words are a form of 'light'. Even a lecture is a form of 'light'. That is we have an expression in English: Can you throw some 'light' upon that particular topic? When somebody asks me throw some 'light' on a particular topic, what do I do? I give a talk and this person says I am enlightened. See all the words. Throw some light. I am enlightened. Even though what I have done is giving a speech only. Thus even words are a form of 'light' called शब्द प्रमाणम् through which come to know things and the उपनिषत्s says that there are so many lights in the world. Sun is a light, moon is a light, stars are light, fire is light, there are so many lights and there are many sense organs which are also light and in addition to that, there is शब्द प्रमाणम् which is light. Thus there are so many lights and ब्रह्मन् is that which can never be illumined by, known through any 'light'. No 'light' can objectify that ब्रह्मन्. To use a technical language, anything which can be known through a light, an instrument of knowledge, anything that is known through a प्रमाणम् is called a प्रमेयम्. Anything that is objectified, known, illumined through any प्रमाणम् is called a प्रमेयम्. कृष्ण says ब्रह्मन् is that which is not an object of knowledge, It is not a प्रमेयम् at all. Therefore what is ब्रह्म लक्षणम्, अप्रमेयम् ब्रह्म. सर्व प्रमाण अगोचरम् ब्रह्म.

अन्यत् एव तत् विदितात् अथः अविदितात् ब्रह्म । ॥ केनोपनिषत् १-४॥

And then finally, we will have a question. If ब्रह्मन् cannot be objectified through any instrument of knowledge, does that ब्रह्मन् exist at all? If you say that It cannot be seen, heard, smelled, tasted, touched, etc., if It cannot be inferred or described, if It cannot be known through any instrument of knowledge, does It exist at all? Is It a Horse Horn? The उपनिषत्s say that It does exist. So ब्रह्मन् is not an object of knowledge. ब्रह्मन् exists. This is the quiz program. ‘Who Will Become A Millionaire!’ Imagine I am asking you this quiz: “ब्रह्मन् is not an object of knowledge, at the same time, ब्रह्मन् exists. What is that ब्रह्मन्?” You can have only one answer, if ब्रह्मन् exists and if It is not an object, there can be only one answer, what is that? It is the very subject, It is very conscious being, which objectifies everything but which can never be objectified. Which is the experiencer of everything, but which is never experienced. It is this Seer of everything but never seen. The unseen Seer, the unheard hearer, the unsmelled smeller, the untasted taster, the untouched toucher, these are all not my expressions, these are all Upanishadic expressions.

अदृष्टो द्रष्टा अश्रुतः श्रोता अमतो मन्ता अविज्ञातो विज्ञाता । ... ॥
बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ३-७-२३ ॥

This is the definition given in the बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत्. Whenever you don’t know where a particular मन्त्र comes, you don’t know, safely you can say बृहदारण्यकम्. Two reasons. It is such a vast उपनिषत् that all important ideas come in that. Therefore it is true that any idea it comes in बृहदारण्यक. And the second reason is nobody will cross check whether it is true or not. So therefore, अदृष्टो द्रष्टा अश्रुतः श्रोता अमतो मन्ता, this subject which is never objectified and objectifiable is ब्रह्मन्. In short, ब्रह्मन् is the Consciousness-principle. It illumines the inert world, but It is not illumined by the inert world. It illumines matter, but It is never illumined by matter. It knows the matter, but It is not known by the matter. So thus ब्रह्म लक्षणम् is finally चैतन्य स्वरूपम् ब्रह्म. चित् रूपम् ब्रह्म. सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्म, this is the सार of this verse.

And why do we use this मन्त्र at the time of दीपाराधन. We use this मन्त्र to expose our foolishness. Oh Lord! You are the illuminator of everything, I am using the miserable camphor light, miserable because we use 1/4th of a camphor piece, we want to keep it for the entire नवरात्रि. So therefore, the पूजारी says, Oh Lord! I am an idiot. I am trying to illumine You through this fire, but the fact is fire does not illumine You. On the other hand, it is You the Consciousness which is illumining this fire. And that is the significance of such a प्रयोग. Now look at the श्लोक. कृष्ण says: सूर्यः तत् न भासयते – the sunlight does not illumine the ब्रह्म चैतन्यम्, the Consciousness, on the other hand, the sunlight itself is known because of the Consciousness only. न शशाङ्कः तत् भासयते (तत् भासयते you have to repeat) – the moonlight does not illumine that ब्रह्म चैतन्यम् न पावकः, पावकः means the fire-light, the light of the fire, so the fire does not illumine that ब्रह्मन्. On the other hand, ब्रह्मन् illumines the fire, illumines means makes the fire known. In वेदान्त, the word illumine is equal to making something known. So ब्रह्मन् illumines the fire means, ब्रह्मन् alone makes the fire known because ब्रह्मन् is the Consciousness-principle because of which I am conscious of the fire's existence. And in the original मुण्डक मन्त्र, two more are added, तारकम् and विद्युतः, तारकम् means stars, विद्युतः means lightening. Stars do not illumine. Flashes of lightening do not illumine that ब्रह्मन्. And if that ब्रह्मन् is Consciousness, which can never be objectified, I said that ब्रह्मन् has to be the very subject itself. Now the question is if ब्रह्मन् happens to be I, the subject, how many kilometers, I should travel to reach that ब्रह्मन्? This fellow says that I have understood. What? ब्रह्मन् is the subject. Subject means I, the observer, the conscious-principle. In short the very आत्मा. Once I know ब्रह्मन् is the very आत्मा, अहम्; how far should I travel to reach ब्रह्मन्? I need not travel even a millimeter, because by the very knowledge I have discovered the fact that there is no distance between ब्रह्मन् and me. And therefore, we get a very very important idea, we should note. Reaching ब्रह्मन् is not a physical event. Reaching ब्रह्मन् is not a physical event, which requires a time or a process; reaching ब्रह्मन् is an intellectual event. Reaching ब्रह्मन् is an intellectual event. What type of intellectual event it is? It is an event which involves dropping a misconception. Dropping a misconception is that event. And what is the misconception? That there is a distance between ब्रह्मन् and me is my false notion, which was distancing me from ब्रह्मन् or which was distancing ब्रह्मन् from me. Therefore, the distance is not physical, distance is not temporal, distance is notional distance. What notion? ब्रह्मन् is somewhere and I should reach there. All the movies will reinforce our misconception. A भक्त will die (in the movie or the TV serial) and you will see a ज्योति raising from the भक्त, a flame coming out from the body. What is that flame? जीवात्मा flame and that flame will travel, come out of door, (all the modern technology are used to show it), flame will be traveling, traveling and will rise and rise and reach विदम्बरम्, or श्रीरङ्गम्, or वैकुण्ठम्. परमात्मा will be sitting/standing there and जीवात्मा will travel and travel and travel and merge. And the two shall become one. All these things will reinforce my misconception that there is a distance between me and God. But what वेदान्त says is if God is all-pervading, there cannot be a distance between me and God. And if at all there is a distance, it is a distance caused by a false notion that भगवान् is in कैलास or वैकुण्ठ. If the distance is caused by a false notion, how do you remove the distance? By removing the false notion. And how do you remove the false notion? By knowledge. Therefore, knowledge is equal to merger. Other than ज्ञानम् there is no other merger into Lord. Therefore कृष्ण says यत् गत्वा – having “merged” into that ब्रह्मन्, merge within quotation, by dropping the notion that there is a distance between ब्रह्मन् and me and knowing that I was never away from ब्रह्मन् and I can never be away from ब्रह्मन्, having removed the notion, न निवर्तन्ते – there is no question of coming back to संसार once again. When merger is in the form of knowledge, it is permanent merger. If merger is in the form of a physical event, that merger will be temporary, you will merge and remain there for some time, thereafter what will happen? Every union will end in separation. Any physical merger is not permanent. That is why we all have come together between 6 and 7 am. संयोग at 6 o'clock and at 7 o'clock वियोग. संयोग in स्वर्गलोक and afterwards what? वियोग. Any physical merger is temporary. That is why we say if merger is going to वैकुण्ठ, you will go alright, but after some time, come back. If merger is going to कैलास, you will come back. Physical merger is temporary. But Vedantic merger is not physical, it is in the form of ज्ञानम्. And knowledge based merger is permanent, because ignorance once gone is gone for good. And therefore, यत् गत्वा – having merged into ब्रह्मन्, न निवर्तन्ते – that person does not come back again and तत् मम परमम् धाम, तत् – That destination ब्रह्मन् is nothing but, कृष्ण says, My own higher nature, हे अर्जुन! ब्रह्मन् is my own higher nature. So by saying higher nature, कृष्ण indirectly indicates I have got a lower nature also. When you say that person is more intelligent, then it means this person is less. So naturally भगवान् has got one higher nature and lower nature and that has already been described in a previous chapter (I don't know whether you remember, or whether I should give you an assignment, in which chapter the higher and lower natures are discussed), the 7th chapter, परा प्रकृतिः and अपरा प्रकृतिः. परा प्रकृतिः is निर्गुण चैतन्यम्, अपरा प्रकृतिः is सगुण शरीरम् of the Lord. And therefore अर्जुन my body is My lower nature and the Consciousness is My higher nature. And therefore तत् ब्रह्म मम परमम् धाम, धाम means स्वरूपम्, प्रकृति, परमम् means परा, परमम् धाम means परा प्रकृति. And what was the definition of परा प्रकृति given in the 7th chapter? We said: निर्गुण, निर्विकार, सत्य, चेतन तत्त्वम्. And अपरा प्रकृति we defined as सगुण, सविकार, मिथ्या, चेतन तत्त्वम्. Go back and brush your notes, if you have got. I don't want to go into the details. Continuing;

Verse No .07

ममैवांशो जीवलोके जीवभूतः सनातनः ।

मनःषष्ठानीन्द्रियाणि प्रकृतिस्थानि कर्षति ॥ १७-७॥

मम एव अंशः जीव-लोके जीव-भूतः सनातनः ।

मनः-षष्ठानि-इन्द्रियाणि प्रकृति-स्थानि कर्षति ॥ १७-७॥

(अस्मिन्) जीव-लोके मम एव सनातनः अंशः जीव-भूतः (अस्ति, सः) प्रकृति-स्थानि मनः-षष्ठानि-इन्द्रियाणि कर्षति ।

So with the previous verse that particular topic is over. The topic of the मोक्ष उपायाः, the methods or disciplines to be followed for attaining मोक्ष, which is the four-fold disciplines and by following that one will attain मोक्ष, which is nothing but merging into ब्रह्मन्. In the second chapter it was called, ब्रह्म-निर्वाणम्. निर्वाणम् means merger. So with that the first part of the 15th chapter is over. Now from the 7th verse onwards, कृष्ण is entering into another very important topic and that topic is ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of the whole universe. ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of whole universe, which means there is no universe at all other than ब्रह्मन्. Just as saying there are no ornaments other than the gold ornaments are nothing but different names that we use but they are not substances. There is no substance called bangle. The substance is gold alone. There is no substance called chair, the chair is nothing but wood alone. Similarly, there is no substance called world. ब्रह्मन् alone is known by the name world. And this idea has been hinted in the 4th chapter of the गीता. In the well-known verse,

ब्रह्म एव तेन गन्तव्यम् ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधिना ॥ ४-२४॥

And if we chant this verse you will get hungry, because it is used for eating!!! But the idea, the content of this श्लोक is: ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of everything. And to convey this idea, Lord कृष्ण divides the entire world into two parts and one part is the जीव रूप, the जीवs, so the conscious experiencers known as जीवs and the second part is the inert objects of experience, called जगत्. So universe is nothing but जीव plus जगत्. The experiencer plus the experienced; if you remember the माण्डूक्य, the प्रमाता and the प्रमेय are the जीव and जगत्. And कृष्ण wants to say that one ब्रह्मन् alone is appearing in the form of the जीव also and the same ब्रह्मन् is in the form of the जगत् also, the inert world also. And for this purpose, we should know what is the definition of जीवः? What is the definition of जीवः? For this purpose, you should remember तत्त्वबोध, which we have seen long before. And कृष्ण defines जीव as all-pervading ब्रह्म चैतन्यम्, the all-pervading Consciousness, which is reflected or manifest in our body-mind reflecting medium. In संस्कृत, we call चैतन्य प्रतिबिम्बम् जीवः. The original all-pervading Consciousness is called ब्रह्मन् or परमात्मा. In तत्त्वबोध, we used the expression, OC. OC means Original Consciousness. And that original Consciousness when it is expressing through the body, expressing through the mind that reflected or manifest Consciousness is called RC, the Reflected Consciousness. And this body-mind-matter medium, is called the RM, the Reflecting Medium. So OC, RC and RM. And to understand this I will give you an example, which also we have seen before, I am reminding you of that example. Imagine during the daytime there is the original Sun in the sky. We will call it OS. Original Sun. And imagine there is a room down below or a hall down below and because there is roof and also the doors are closed so the room is dark within. There is no light. And original sunlight is not able to illumine the room because there is a roof obstructing the sunlight. And you take a mirror, a दर्पणः, a reflecting mirror. And you open one of the windows of the room and you keep the mirror in a particular angle outside, 45 degrees you keep outside. You know that the mirror does not have a light of its own. Therefore it is not an illumining principle, it is not a luminous principle at all. But when you keep the mirror down below, the original sunlight gets reflected in the mirror. And now the mirror has got RS, the reflected sunlight. And what is the mirror? The mirror is the reflecting medium. Therefore OS, RS, RM. RM is common to both and this RM which is not luminous by itself has now become luminous because of the reflecting sunlight. And not only the mirror has become bright, it is capable of illumining the dark room. Now I ask you a question, what is illumining the dark room - the mirror or the original sunlight? What is illumining the dark room - the mirror or the original sunlight? Suppose you say, the original sunlight is illumining, not the mirror, then I will ask you to remove the mirror and illumining the room, you will find that once the mirror is removed it cannot be illumined. Suppose another person says, the mirror alone is illumining, original sunlight is not required, then I will ask you in the night you try. So it is neither the mirror alone nor the original sunlight alone, but you require the combination of both. You require the combination of both to illumine the dark room. Now in this combination you can focus on any one of them. You can give importance to any one of them, because both are equally important. In a particular context you can highlight, like father and mother. Who is important for the child to be born, both are required, but at some time the mother takes the credit, at some time the father takes the credit. He tells your son. Is this not अद्वयम्? As though he doesn't have a contribution to the tragedy, for whatever event it is. There is a contribution of both. Therefore, you can focus any one of them. Based on this, we have got two ways of presentation. One way is I say the mirror illumines the dark room blessed by the original sun. So in this the importance is given to the mirror, I say the mirror illumines the dark room, but I add quietly blessed by the original sun. But who is the illuminator? The mirror illumines. In this the importance is given to the mirror. Or I can present in a different language also, the Sun alone illumines the dark room, not directly but through the mirror. The sun alone illumines the dark room through the mirror and therefore the credit of illumination goes to ultimately the sun alone. In the same way, our body-mind-complex is like the mirror. The original Consciousness is ब्रह्मन्, the reflected Consciousness is जीव. The body-mind-complex is RM, the reflecting medium, it doesn't sentiency of its own, body is inert matter, mind is inert matter. Just as the mirror is by itself non-luminous and this body-mind-complex has got the reflected Consciousness, we called जीव and the reflected Consciousness is possible because of the original Consciousness called ब्रह्मन्. And therefore we say: ब्रह्मन् alone is available in the body-mind-complex as the जीव. OC-ब्रह्मन् alone is present in the body-mind-complex as the RC-जीव and as the जीव, ब्रह्मन् alone illumines or experiences the dark room. What is the dark room? The entire world is comparable to dark room. And suppose you remove the mirror, what happens? The original sunlight will be there, but since there won't be reflection as mirror is removed, the room will become darker. Similarly, during sleep, what happens? The mind-mirror is removed and therefore the reflected Consciousness is not available and therefore the world becomes what? Dark, that means during sleep there is total darkness. Why there is darkness? Not because ब्रह्मन् is not there, the original Consciousness is, but the reflecting medium the mind has resolved, therefore the world is not illumined. And therefore in these verses, from the 7th up to the 11th, कृष्ण says ब्रह्मन् the OC alone is in the form of जीव the RC, ब्रह्मन् the original Consciousness alone is in the form of जीव, the Reflected Consciousness. Now look at the श्लोक. मम एव अंशः, अंशः means reflection, प्रतिबिम्बः, आभासः, मम means mine, mine means ब्रह्मन्'s. And what is ब्रह्मन्? The original Consciousness - OC. Therefore मम अंशः means the reflection of OC and what is the reflection of OC? RC. मम एव अंशः जीव-भूतः – is in the form of the जीवs and the original sunlight is how many? एकः. Whereas reflected sunlight will be how many? It can be any number. You can have several mirrors. If there are ten mirrors, there will be ten reflections. Similarly, as many bodies are there, so many RCs will be there. Thus OC is one, RCs are many. परमात्मा is one, जीवात्माs are many. And therefore कृष्ण says: जीव-लोके – in the world of जीवs, I, the ब्रह्मन् alone am in the form of reflection and this reflected Consciousness alone makes the body-mind-complex alive and sentient. And once the RC is not there the body will become dead matter. So this is the description, which is going to come, the details we will see in the next class.

CHAPTER 15, VERSES 07-08

In the first 6 verses of the 15th chapter, we saw the first part of the Vedantic teaching. कृष्ण described the nature of संसार, by comparing it to the अश्वत्थ tree and then He talked about the four important disciplines by following which a person will get out of संसार. The disciplines being वैराग्यम्, शरणागति, सत्-गुणाः and वेदान्त विचारः. And by following these four a person attains freedom from संसार, which is otherwise called attainment of मोक्ष. Attainment of मोक्ष is nothing but attainment of ब्रह्मन्, which is the very substratum of the संसार tree and कृष्ण concluded that discussion by defining the nature of ब्रह्मन् through a very important verse, न तत् भासयते सूर्यः, which is paraphrasing the very important उपनिषत् मन्त्र,

न तत्र सूर्यो भाति न चन्द्रतारकम् । ॥ कठोपनिषत् २-२-१५॥

And through this verse, कृष्ण defined ब्रह्मन् as the Consciousness-principle, which objectifies everything but which itself cannot be objectified through any instrument. And then finally कृष्ण added a note pointing out that this Consciousness is My higher nature. I, the Lord have got two natures or features, which was said the 7th chapter as अपरा and परा प्रकृति, the lower and the higher nature, the lower nature is the सगुण ईश्वर and the higher nature is the निर्गुण ईश्वर, which is the Consciousness. And therefore, indirectly कृष्ण tells: हे अर्जुन! Don't look upon Me as a physical body, born the other day as the son of देवकी and disappearing on another day, this visible personality of Mine is only My inferior lower material nature and My real higher nature is the निर्गुण चैतन्यम् which is never subject to birth or death, or even travel. That is why we use the word कृष्ण परमात्मा and that कृष्ण the परमात्मा, the चैतन्य स्वरूपम्, cannot travel from one place to another, because that Lord is all-pervading. And therefore कृष्ण hereafter talks about himself as निर्गुण ब्रह्म चैतन्यम्. This we have to remember because कृष्ण uses the word I, in three different meanings, which has confused many students of the गीता. कृष्ण is very very loose in using the first person singular. In certain context He uses the word I as the physical कृष्ण having a date of birth and a date of death and born as a contemporary of अर्जुन and a friend of अर्जुन. सखा इति मत्वा, भक्तः असि मे सखा च इति रहस्यम् हि एतत् उत्तमम्, अर्जुन you are my friend. When कृष्ण address अर्जुन as his friend, कृष्ण is taking himself to be a personal God, देवकीपरमानन्दम् वसुदेवसुतम् कृष्णम्. So thus the word 'I' sometimes means a एकरूप ईश्वरः. And there are other times when कृष्ण uses the word I, not as a personal localized God, but as the all-pervading विराट् स्वरूपम्. Not with one form, but अनेकरूपम् ईश्वर and where do we get such an expression. You can easily find out, the entire 11th chapter, कृष्ण uses the word I not as Mr. कृष्ण but as the total universe. अनेक-बाहु-उदर-वक्त्र-नेत्रम् पश्यामि त्वाम् सर्वतः अनन्तरूपम्, not एकरूप, but अनेकरूपम्. And there are certain rare occasions, where कृष्ण uses the word I not to represent एकरूपम् ईश्वर, not to represent अनेकरूपम्, but अरूप, निर्गुण चैतन्यम्. And where does कृष्ण use I, the first person singular? In the 9th chapter, in the 7th chapter:

अव्यक्तम् व्यक्तिम् आपन्नम् मन्यन्ते माम् अबुद्ध्यः ।

परम् भावम् अजानन्तः मम अव्ययम् अनुत्तमम् ॥ ७-२४॥

People think I am human being, people think I was born, because people do not know my formless higher nature. मया ततम् इदम् सर्वम् जगत् अव्यक्त-मूर्तिना. I have got an invisible nature which pervades all over. So in such context, the word अहम् means अरूप ईश्वरः. So what are the three?

- i) एकरूप कृष्णः – ईश्वरः,
- ii) अनेकरूप – विराट् ईश्वर,
- iii) अरूप – निर्गुण ब्रह्म चैतन्यम्.

Therefore whenever कृष्ण says, अहम्, मया, मम, etc., we have to enquire and find out is it in meaning No.1, 2 or 3. And many people get confused and they take अरूप in the place of अनेकरूप and अनेकरूप in the place of एकरूप, etc.

सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज । ... ॥ १८-६६॥

Surrender to Me alone, There Me is which Me? एकरूप, अनेकरूप or अरूप? In the 18th chapter it is going to come. I should not open the suspense. If you ask a कृष्ण-consciousness-fellow, such a staunch fanatic कृष्ण भक्त will say माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज, कृष्ण alone you should worship, not राम, not गणेश, never शिव (these people have some sort of द्वेषः towards शिव), only if you surrender to कृष्ण alone you will get मोक्षम्. So शङ्कराचार्य writes a very elaborate commentary, we will see that later, शङ्कराचार्य says their माम् neither means एकरूप nor अनेकरूप, but अरूप, निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म alone can be the meaning there. How? It will be seen there. I will not tell now. It is under suspense. Here in the following portions when कृष्ण says तत् धाम परमम् मम, there मम refers to my own निर्गुण स्वरूपम्. Having said this much in the first six verses from the 7th verse onwards, कृष्ण is entering into the next topic. The next topic is: I, the निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म alone, of course with the help of माया, I alone appear as both the जीव as well as the जगत्. The conscious experiencer in the world and the experienced object, both of them are My own manifestation. Just as in dream, we divide ourselves into two, both the dream-world and the dream-experiencer and we interact. Just as I bifurcate myself in dream, similarly, I the Lord alone divide myself into भोक्ता and भोग्यम्. So अहम् एव जीव रूपेण भविष्यामि, अहम् एव जगत् रूपेण अभिभवामि. And therefore, I alone am everything. This is called सर्व ईश्वर भावः. सर्व ब्रह्म भावः. That is the topic. And there from the 7th verse up to the 11th verse, कृष्ण says that I am in the form of जीव, जीव means the individual experiencers in the world and then from the 12th verse onwards, यत् आदित्य-गतं तेजः onwards up to 15th verse कृष्ण says, I alone am in the form of universe also. And therefore I am all, I am everything. So this is the topic now. So there in the 7th verse, I introduced how भगवान्, the Consciousness alone is in the form of every जीव. And how are we to understand? Every जीव, individual, has got primarily two bodies, the physical body and the subtle body. The causal body is not relevant at this time. Therefore, we will ignore that now, every individual consists of the physical body and the subtle body, we can take as the mind. And according to the शास्त्र, the physical body is also inert, because made up of matter and mind is also inert, because it is also made up of matter. We have seen in तत्त्वबोध that mind is also made up of पञ्च सूक्ष्म भूतानि.

पञ्चज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि पञ्चकर्मेन्द्रियाणि पञ्चप्राणादयो मनश्चैकम्
बुद्धिश्चैकैवम् सप्तदशकलाभिः सह यस्तिष्ठति तत् सूक्ष्मशरीरम् ॥ तत्त्वबोधः १८॥

Where did we see this? In तत्त्वबोध. I don't want to go to the details. The idea is that the mind is made of subtle matter or energy, therefore body is also inert intrinsically, the mind is also inert intrinsically. But now we find the body and mind are sentient, we are experiencing the sentiency of the body and mind. The scriptures point out this sentiency or life in the body-mind-complex is not natural to the body-mind, but it is borrowed from ब्रह्म चैतन्यम्. The original all-pervading Consciousness when it pervades the mind, the mind becomes a live mind. By itself it is dead matter, but pervaded by the Consciousness the mind becomes live. And that Consciousness which pervades the mind is called प्रतिबिम्ब चैतन्यम् or आभास चैतन्यम्. In the last class, I used the word RC, the reflected Consciousness. So when the original Consciousness pervades the individual mind, the mind becomes live. And what does the mind do? It has borrowed life from ब्रह्मन् and out of the borrowed Consciousness, the mind lends Consciousness to the physical body. Loan from the debtor, because mind itself has borrowed from OC. And from that borrowed Consciousness, mind lends Consciousness to the body and therefore now the body is also alive.

Now the body is alive because of what? The mind. The mind is sentient because of what? The OC. At the time of death what happens? At the time of death the mind quits the body. You should not say Consciousness quits, poor Consciousness cannot quit because, it is all-pervading, where can it go? Consciousness does not quit, whereas the mind quits and therefore what happens? The mind is no more available to lend Consciousness to the body. Why can't the original Consciousness lend Consciousness to the body, if you ask, OC cannot directly lend to the body. If OC, the original all-pervading-Consciousness can lend Consciousness to the body, what will be the consequence? Can you imagine what will be the consequences? If OC can lend Consciousness to the body, body will be eternally sentient. We will never die. You may say it is good. Already we have got 6 billion people and imagine nobody dies. So therefore for the good of the world and for the good for the others we all should successful die, which means the mind should quit the body and thereafter the body will become insentient and it will decay and it will cause problem, therefore, people will dispose it off. So therefore, the Consciousness makes the mind sentient, the mind makes the body sentient. Therefore whenever I see a live body, I should remember that behind the live body there is a live mind, even though I don't see the mind. That is why you can escape, you can think of something else also, because I don't see your mind and I don't know whether you are 'here.' I don't see your mind, whether you are listening to me or not. It is my great optimism. But how do I know there is a mind? Because, you are alive, thank God! Therefore every activity of the body is a proof to the presence of the mind, live-mind and the presence of the live-mind is the proof for the original Consciousness. Because without the original Consciousness, lending the Consciousness mind will not be sentient. Therefore body helps me recognize the mind, mind helps me recognize the OC, that is called God. Therefore कृष्ण says, every activity of a live person is a proof for the existence of the original Consciousness called God. Suppose somebody asks the question: Is there electricity in this hall, power is there or not? How do you know? You cannot perceive because electricity is invisible. So if somebody asks whether there is power or not, what do I do. Look at the bulb, the bulb is called स्थूल शरीरम्. So when I see a bright bulb, I know that the bulb does not have brightness of its own, therefore the brightness of the bulb is what? Borrowed brightness. And this brightness of the bulb is given by what? Inside the bulb i.e., स्थूल शरीरम्, there is a सूक्ष्म शरीरम् called the filament, tungsten filament and that filament is very bright and that bright filament alone lends brightness to the bulb. Now the next question is: How is the tungsten filament is bright. Does the brightness belong to the filament itself or is it borrowed? What will be your answer, the filament is not bright by itself, but now it is bright because an invisible power pervades. I don't see but I recognize because I tell other people, there is power. I don't say there is bulb. I am seeing the bulb, I don't say there is filament, even though I see only the filament. My reply is there is power. Power means electricity. How do I recognize? Electricity enlivens the filament, makes it bright and that bright filament makes the bulb bright. And sometimes the bulb is there, power is also there, but it is not burning. Why? Electricity is there, bulb is there, but it is not burning. It doesn't burn, why? You say bulb is fused. That means सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is out, the filament is gone. Similarly, there is a person till yesterday, walking, talking scolding, one day I see the bulb is there, the body is like a bulb (round!) and of course, Consciousness is there everywhere, but no life. Why? The mind filament which borrows Consciousness and lends to the body, that mind has quit this place. Because mind is not all-pervading. And therefore कृष्ण says: whenever you see the activity of a living being, you remember it is the touch of the all-pervading Consciousness called God. You don't require any special तपस् to realize God. One leg standing or standing on two feet or one foot or upside down or downside up, you need not do any तपस्; कृष्ण says, for a mature mind God is realizable in and through every movement. If I am able to talk it is because of God, श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम्, मनसो मनो. Consciousness blesses the mind, the mind blesses the mouth and therefore the mouth speaks. And the Consciousness blesses your mind and your mind blesses your ears and therefore you hear. That I talk that you listen is the most amply evident proof for the existence of God. And कृष्ण says in spite of so much clear evidence, people ask, what is the proof for God. What should be your answer? You are asking this very question because of God, Lord alone. This is the essence, beautiful portion. Now look at the श्लोक. कृष्ण says मम एव अंशः. मम – My, when कृष्ण says my, which my? There are three, does he refer to एकरूप, अनेकरूप or अरूप? Here My means अरूप निर्गुण ब्रह्म चैतन्यम्, and अंशः means reflection or प्रतिबिम्ब. So My own reflection alone is formed in the inert mind of every one. Just as the electricity alone is behind every live bulb, that is why we say the wire is live wire. There also we use the word live wire. I don't see it but I discern, we have to discern. If you cannot discern, touch it then instant realization and विदेह मुक्तिः च. Therefore, He says, मम एव अंशः means प्रतिबिम्ब is there in the जीव-लोके – in the world of living beings, which means in everybody-mind-complex. And what is the name of the reflected Consciousness? कृष्ण says जीवः. The word जीव means प्रतिबिम्ब चैतन्यम् or आभास चैतन्यम्. Both mean the same thing. So जीव is ईश्वर in reflected form. Just as the original sun reflected in the mirror, we get a reflected bright sun, how many? As many mirrors are there. Similarly, as many minds are there so many reflected परमात्माs are there. Each reflected परमात्मा is called the जीवात्मा. So जीव-भूतः and how long this जीव lives? सनातनः – He is eternal. At the time of death also जीव does not die, जीव quits or leaves the body, the death belongs to the physical body alone, because it doesn't have the blessing of the mind with RC and that mind with RC is called जीवः. That जीव doesn't die, that जीव travels. And therefore, that जीव is eternal. When did that जीव begin? अनादि काल प्रवृत्तः, that is why in उपाकर्म सङ्कल्प, we say अनादि अविद्या वासनया, not only the जीव is beginningless, the जीव will continue the journey endlessly also until liberation. And therefore जीव is called सनातनः, during death जीव doesn't die, even during प्रलयम् the cosmos dissolution, जीवs do not die, the mind does not die, the mind goes to dormant condition, as it happens in sleep. In sleep what happens to our mind? Doesn't die, mind goes to dormant state. How do you know it has not died, that it has gone to dormant state? Because we get up with the same worry, if it is a different worry we can say that mind has been switched. But we wake up with the same problem indicating during सुषुप्ति the mind survives, during प्रलयम् also the mind with reflected Consciousness called the जीव will survive, therefore सनातनः. And what does that जीव do at the time of death? He says, at the time of death, that we have to take from the next verse. In the next verse there is an expression यत् च अपि उत्क्रामति ईश्वरः verse no.8, first line, 2nd part, यत् च अपि उत्क्रामति ईश्वरः, that part has to be lifted from that verse and you have to bring it to this verse, यत् च अपि उत्क्रामति means when the जीव leaves the body. What is जीव? Reflected Consciousness. What does that जीव do? इन्द्रियाणि कर्षति – not only the reflected Consciousness goes away but it drags the entire सूक्ष्म शरीरम् also along with that. And what is the सूक्ष्म शरीरम्? All the sense organs, sense organs do not mean the physical sense organ, this is called गोलकम्, the physical sense organ will be there, but behind the गोलकम्, the sensory perception faculty is there, that is called the इन्द्रियाणि, they are taken. That is why in the dead body, physical eye will be there, but cannot see,

एकीभवति न विजानातीत्याहुः । ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-२ ॥

All the physical parts will be there. In short the anatomy will be there, but the physiology will be missing. That physiology that means the power of acting, that is sucked by the RC. So कर्षति, कर्षति means dragged. Not only the sense organs, मनः-षष्ठानि - which includes the mind also. Not only the five ज्ञानेन्द्रिय, but also the mind behind the sense organs. And until death where were they located? प्रकृति-स्थानि. प्रकृति means the physical body, in this context. The word प्रकृति has several meaning, but we have to carefully note, in this verse the word प्रकृति means स्थूल शरीरम्. All our sensory faculties, thank God, are there in this physical body now, but at the time of death they are taken. Who does that? The जीव. Who is the जीव? RC. And what time? You have to take from the next verse यत् च अपि उत्क्रामति, यत् च means यदा उत्क्रामति – when the जीव leaves the body. Then the next incidental question which is not answered in this verse is: When will the जीव leave the body? Suddenly we get frightened. Amidst the class if it leaves then what to do? So what is the criterion for taking it out? Is it arbitrary or does God decide or do the family members decide when does it happen? It is decided by कर्म. So we have got a set of पुण्यम्s and पापम्s to be exhausted through this medium. We have taken this specific medium called the physical body to exhaust our पुण्य-पापम्. And once those पुण्यम्s and पापम्s are exhausted then this medium is left. Then what happens? Next bunch of पुण्य-पापम् is waiting in queue. You remember सञ्चित कर्म is there? Out of the old bunch, the सञ्चित कर्मs, another bunch gets ready and that next bunch of कर्म will determine what should be the type of next body. Whether it should be उत्तम शरीरम्, मध्यम शरीरम् or अधम शरीरम्? And that कर्म guides the जीव to the appropriate environment. And that is called the travel of the जीव. Continuing;

Verse No .08

शरीरं यदवाप्नोति यच्चाप्युत्क्रामतीश्वरः ।

गृहीत्वैतानि संयाति वायुर्गन्धानिवाशयात् ॥ १७-८॥

शरीरम् यत् अवाप्नोति यत् च अपि उत्क्रामति ईश्वरः ।

गृहीत्वा एतानि संयाति वायुः गन्धान् इव आशयात् ॥ १७-८॥

यत् (एषः) ईश्वरः शरीरम् अवाप्नोति, अपि च यत् उत्क्रामति (तत्) वायुः आशयात् गन्धान् इव, एतानि गृहीत्वा संयाति ।

यच्चाप्युत्क्रामति, we have seen already. यच्च means यदा च whenever, उत्क्रामति means the जीव leaves the body and how do you complete the sentence, you go back to the previous verse and complete, when the जीव quits the body, it carries the sense organs and the mind. So the संस्कृत अन्वय will be: यदा जीवः उत्क्रामति तदा प्रकृति-स्थानि मनः-षष्ठानि इन्द्रियाणि कर्षति. Now the next question is: What will the जीव do next? We are all eager to know. Whenever death occurs in the neighborhood or in our own family, you suddenly begin to think of, what happened to that person? Where will that person go, when will he go, how will he go, what will happen? etc., कृष्ण answers that question. He says शरीरम् अवाप्नोति ईश्वरः, ईश्वरः means this जीव who is the Lord of the body, जीवः itself is called here ईश्वरः, we have to carefully note. Why जीवः is called ईश्वरः? Because of two reasons:

i) First reason is ईश्वरः alone is in the form of जीवः when he is reflected, after all जीवः is the reflected version. The problem is that there is some distortion in the reflection, that is the only thing, but the जीवः is ईश्वरः reflected in the mind. Therefore, जीवः is called ईश्वरः.

ii) And the second reason is ईश्वरः means the master, the Lord and जीवः is called ईश्वरः the master, because जीवः is the Lord of the individual body, because only his presence makes the body alive and his absence makes the body dead and therefore ईश्वरः means शरीरस्य स्वामि.

And this स्वामि जीवः, after leaving this body, what does he do? शरीरम् अवाप्नोति – he takes another body, as I said उत्तम, मध्यम, or अधम, there is no rule that human being will take only human birth, there is no rule, human being can become a देव, one of the gods also, human being can become another human being or even inferior जन्मs are possible. Because there are some other philosophers who say that evolution is uniformly from lower to higher only, मत्स्य, कुर्म, वराह, they take it as the Darwin's theory of evolution, first we were monkeys (now also it's doubtful) and then 'ape to man evolution.' We think that from lower forms of life we uniformly go to higher forms but वेद does not accept that, the journey need not be always upwards, that is why we give the example of the snake and ladder. You may take a ladder. So a human being may take a lower जन्म also. Then the next question is, who determines? Is it भगवान्? We want to put the blame on someone. शास्त्रs says don't blame anyone. It is totally dependent on कर्म and कर्म is dependent on कर्ता and you are the कर्ता and therefore you alone determine your next जन्म. And in the 6th chapter, कृष्ण gives a great consolation for us, all the गीता students will never take lower जन्म. So be regular to the classes!!! That is better. So all the गीता students, of course, they will get liberation, no जन्म at all, but if at all they don't get liberation, the next जन्म will be invariably मनुष्य जन्म only. Not my promise, कृष्ण's promise, I don't know whether you will believe me or not, कृष्ण says:

न हि कल्याण-कृत् कश्चित् दुर्गतिम् तात गच्छति ॥ ६-४०॥

And you will start attending गीता classes from younger age itself. Now also you are young, but I mean from still younger age and therefore the next body is determined by पुण्य-पाप कर्म. And the शरीरम् अवाप्नोति. When the जीवः takes another body, what does he do? He has taken all the इन्द्रियs, sense organs from the previous body and all those sense organs, he will place in the respective physical place. Eye, the sense organs must be placed where? Eye the sense organs must be placed in the चक्षुः गोलकम्, चक्षुः इन्द्रियम् must go to चक्षुः गोलकम्, just as when we shift the house, we will have taken the kitchen material, study room material, drawing room material, all of them you pack in a huge package and after opening the package, what do you do? Bathroom items goes to bathroom, similarly, ज्ञानेन्द्रिय are placed in that गोलकम्, कर्मेन्द्रिय are placed in the कर्मेन्द्रिय गोलक, you have opened the package and set the house and start the transactions in the new transferred place. First you look at the neighbor, who is your neighbor, etc. So rebirth is nothing but a transfer. Therefore you need not feel bad about it. Therefore कृष्ण says गृहीत्वा एतानि संयाति, एतानि means what all the sense organs and mind, the जीवः carries along with it, संयाति – travels. And He gives an example, वायुः गन्धान् इव आशयात् वायुः means the wind or the breeze, which is compared to the जीवः and imagine there is a flower, the flower is compared to the physical body, because it is visible and the flower has got the fragrance, the fragrance is compared to the सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, invisible mind. So the invisible वायु, wind, carries the invisible fragrance from the visible flower and travels. And how do you know वायु carries the fragrance. You can feel the smell. Therefore, just as the invisible वायु carries the invisible fragrance, similarly, the invisible जीवः carries the invisible mind from the physical body. आशय means flower, गन्ध means fragrance, वायुः, the wind and the next question they will ask it, how long does it take to take the next body (so that they can stop the श्राद्धम्)? The people are interested in stopping the श्राद्धम् in one way or the other. How long it will take? It all will depend upon the fructification of the next कर्म, it can be one day, one year, or one lakh years, it will vary from individual to individual. Therefore there is no regular rule and secondly, once the जीवः quits this body, another important fact we should remember is, this particular time and space will become irrelevant for the जीवः which has quit this body. You should remember that this time and space are relevant only when you function through this body, that shows how time and space are highly relative. That is why the moment you withdraw from this body and enter the dream body, for your dream experiences you have a different time-space field. So if this is true for your dream experiences, extend it to the other thirteen लोकs. Each लोक is a distinct one like your dream world, which means the present time and space are meaningless. Therefore how can you measure the duration of जीव's travel based on our present time and space? And what is 100 years for us, may be one year or one day. Therefore, we cannot say and that is why शास्त्र says, when you are doing श्राद्धम्, do for three generations, we simply obey that, it is not based on when the जीवः takes rebirth we do not know at all. So वायुः गन्धान् आशयात् इव, ईश्वरः एतानि गृहीत्वा संयाति. And what कृष्ण wants us to remember is (we should not forget our primary topic. What कृष्ण wants to say is): the sentiency of the body is the proof for the presence of the mind and the presence of the live-mind is the proof for the existence of God and therefore, life is the proof for the presence of God and the death is a bigger proof for the presence of the Lord, because when the body becomes dead body. What has happened? The ईश्वर's blessing in the form of reflected Consciousness is withdrawn. Thus when ईश्वरः is there in this body, I am alive, when ईश्वरः has quit this body, ईश्वरः means you should understand, ईश्वरः in the form of विदाभास has quit the body the body becomes dead. So life is the proof for the Lord, death is the proof for the Lord and in the next verse He will say that between life and death, whatever mischief/activities you undertake, they are also the proof for the presence of the Lord. How can you miss that Lord? It is like asking what is the proof that there is electricity? Sitting under the fan, sitting under a light, he says what is the proof for electricity? That he is able to see, that he is able to feel the breeze of the fan, is the proof for the invisible electricity. Details in the next class.

CHAPTER 15, VERSES 08-12

In the first six verses of the 15th chapter, Lord कृष्ण talked about संसार and also the means of crossing the ocean of संसार, otherwise called मोक्ष and He defined मोक्ष as merging into ब्रह्मन्, which happens to be the very root and base of this creation. So, ब्रह्म ऐवय प्राप्ति, otherwise in the 2nd chapter called ब्रह्म-निर्वाणम्, merger into ब्रह्मन् as मोक्ष. And incidentally, we should remember merger into ब्रह्मन् is not a physical event, but it is only dropping the notion that I, the जीवात्मन्, am away from the ब्रह्मन्. Dropping the notion which is purely a cognitive or intellectual event, that is called मोक्ष, that is why in वेदान्त, ज्ञानम् and मोक्ष are treated synonymously, because मोक्ष is dropping the notion, wrong notion and any wrong notion is removed (by right notion we should not say that) by right knowledge. And कृष्ण gave the definition of ब्रह्मन् in the 6th important verse, which is based on the well-known Upanishadic मन्त्र,

न तत्र सूर्यो भाति न चन्द्रतारकम् । ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् २-२-१०॥

And it was presented here as न तत् भासयते सूर्यः..., etc., which essentially means that ब्रह्मन् is the all-pervading Consciousness. चैतन्य स्वरूपम् ब्रह्मन्, which can objectify everything but which itself can never be objectified by any means. Unobjectifiable subject, unobserverable observer, चैतन्य स्वरूपम् ब्रह्म. And having defined ब्रह्मन् in the 6th verse, from the 7th verse onwards कृष्ण introduces two important topics to show that ब्रह्मन् alone appears in the form of everything. Just as gold alone appears as varieties of ornaments, wood alone appears as different kinds of furniture or waker alone appears in the form of the dream universe. Similarly, ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of the universe. This is called सर्वात्मकत्वम्. सर्वात्मकत्वम् means ब्रह्मन् being everything. For the sake of convenience, the entire universe is divided into two parts,

- One is the चैतन जीवs, the sentient living beings and

➤ The other अचेतन प्रपञ्च, the insentient objects.

So the creation is चेतनम् plus अचेतनम्, the sentient जीव plus the insentient जगत्. And in these verses कृष्ण points out ब्रह्मन् alone appears in the form of जीव also, ब्रह्मन् alone appears in the form of जगत् also. जीवः अपि ब्रह्म एव, जगत् अपि ब्रह्म एव, सर्वम् ब्रह्म मयम् जगत्, which is beautifully revealed in all the उपनिषत्s, especially in the well-known मुण्डकोपनिषत् मन्त्र,

ब्रह्मैवेदम् अमृतम् पुरस्तात् ब्रह्म पश्चात् ब्रह्म दक्षिणतश्चोत्तरेण ।

अधश्चोर्ध्वम् च प्रसृतम् ब्रह्मैवेदम् विश्वमिदम् वरिष्ठम् ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् २-२-१२ ॥

Whether you experience a sentient living or you are experiencing an insentient object everything is ब्रह्मन् alone and of this from verse no.7 up to 11, कृष्ण says ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of जीवः. So परमात्मा ब्रह्म एव जीवरूपेण सर्वत्र सर्वम् अनुभवति. This is from verse no.7 to 11. Then from verse no.12 to 15, कृष्ण says ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of the inert universe also. ब्रह्म एव जगत् रूपेण अपि सर्वैः अनुभूयते. Of this we are now seeing the first part. ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of जीवः. And in this particular portion, as I said in the last class, कृष्ण is referring to himself as ब्रह्मन् and therefore the word ब्रह्मन् is replaced by the word I, in the first person singular, therefore whenever we hear the word अहम् or I, we should replace it by the word ब्रह्मन्. Therefore कृष्ण said,

ममैवांशो जीवलोके जीवभूतः सनातनः ।

मनःषष्ठानीन्द्रियाणि प्रकृतिस्थानि कर्षति ॥ १५-७॥

शरीरं यदवाप्नोति यच्चाप्युत्क्रामतीश्वरः ।

गृहीत्वैतानि संयाति वायुर्गन्धानिवाशयात् ॥ १५-८॥

I, the original all-pervading Consciousness, alone am present in every living being as the reflected Consciousness, the विदाभास वैतन्यम् obtaining in the mind. And this विदाभास alone makes the very body sentient and alive. Just as the pervading electricity alone makes the filament bright and the brightness of the filament alone makes the bulb bright, so when I am appreciating the light, my mind has to appreciate the invisible electricity which is expressing as the light in the bulb, as the motion in the fan, as the magnifying power in the mike, as the heat in the ironing machine. So different expressions I experience, but they are all what, the blessings of the one invisible electricity. Similarly, all our physical bodies are like bulbs, very fragile and our subtle body, the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is like the filament and आत्मा or ब्रह्मन् is like the electricity (ब्रह्मन् is electricity, don't say that) ब्रह्मन् is comparable to electricity. Bulb is visible, filament is visible and electricity is invisible. Similarly, body is visible, mind is partially visible, whereas Consciousness is invisible. But the presence of electricity can be discerned through the functions of the bulb, fan, mike, radio, television, etc. Similarly, if all of us are alive and sentient, as तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् says:

को ह्येवान्यात् कः प्राण्यात् । यदेष आकाश आनन्दो न स्यात् ।

एष ह्येवानन्दयाति । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-७-३ ॥

If our breath is going out and coming in, all these are because of the विदाभास obtaining within and विदाभास itself is possible because of the original चित्. And therefore कृष्ण says every function of every organ reveals the presence of ब्रह्मन्. And this is said beautifully in केनोपनिषत्,

श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम् मनसो मनो यत् वाचो ह वाचम् स उ प्राणस्य प्राणः । ॥
केनोपनिषत् १-२ ॥

प्राण is प्राण because of the presence of Consciousness, eye is an eye because of the presence of Consciousness, ear is ear because of That. And this विदाभास alone leaves the physical body at the time of death, after which alone the body which is so sacred, which is so divine, which is very much decorated, bathed and shampooed and painted and lipsticked and all those things we do because it is alive, but the moment that चिदाभास quits (don't say चित् quits, be careful) the moment reflected Consciousness leaves along with the reflecting medium, what is the reflecting medium? The mind is the reflecting medium, the mind leaves the body, the चिदाभास leaves the body, the sacred body has become an impure corpse. शङ्कराचार्य says भार्या बिभ्यति तस्मिन्काये. यावत्पवनो निवसति देहे तावत्पृच्छति कुशलम् गेहे ।

गतवति वार्यौ देहापाये भार्या बिभ्यति तस्मिन्काये ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ६ ॥

It has become अशौचम् and the sooner it is disposed the better it is. What makes the difference between the dead body and live body? The scientists, the doctors can only say that the functions have stopped but they can never say what was responsible for this function and what has left the body, they don't know. They cannot understand what life is, they cannot understand what death is, all others they know. What 'all others' is there? Whatever is there is only two. When the चिदाभास leaves, it takes the all the पञ्च ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि, पञ्च कर्मेन्द्रियाणि and goes to another body and starts its new business in a small shop. And that is said beautifully, शरीरम् यत् अवाप्नोति यत् च अपि उत्क्रामति ईश्वरः. This चिदाभास, the जीवः is called ईश्वरः. Here the word ईश्वरः means the जीवः which is the Lord of the body. And when this जीव leaves this body and शरीरम् अवाप्नोति – takes another body, change of residence, only that much, change of residence for which we make such a big fuss. And the rent is कर्म. पुण्य-पापम् प्रारब्ध is the rent, the local dollars you cannot pay. पुण्य-पापम् प्रारब्ध is the rent, when that is gone, it goes to another body. How does it go? Along with a huge lorry of all the things. And He gave the example, वायुः गन्धान् इव आशयात् – just as the invisible wind carries the fragrance from the visible flower, the invisible चिदाभास carries the fragrance of life. What is the fragrance of life? Not powder snow. The fragrance of body is the very life, so carries the life form the visible body and goes to another set-up. What does it do there? Again start the old business of LKG, UKG, college, get married, get children, get grandchildren, then what? Pop off, then what and again go to another place, LKG, UKG, ... it will go on like that. Continuing;

Verse No .09

श्रोत्रं चक्षुः स्पर्शनं च रसनं घ्राणमेव च ।

अधिष्ठाय मनश्चायं विषयानुपसेवते ॥ १५-९॥

श्रोत्रम् चक्षुः स्पर्शनम् च रसनम् घ्राणम् एव च ।

अधिष्ठाय मनः च अयम् विषयान् उपसेवते ॥ १५-९॥

अयम् (जीवः) श्रोत्रम् चक्षुः स्पर्शनम् च रसनम् घ्राणम् मनः च एव अधिष्ठाय विषयान् उपसेवते ।

So this invisible विदाभास, the reflected Consciousness carries the entire सूक्ष्म शरीरम् and सूक्ष्म शरीरम् includes all the organs, पञ्च ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि, पञ्च कर्मेन्द्रियाणि पञ्च प्राणाः, मनः, बुद्धिः, all the sense organs it carries. Sense organs means not the eye ball. It doesn't carry the eye ball, but behind the eye ball, the perceptive power is there, which is called the sense organ, that is taken. When a new body comes and there also only if the next body is a human body all the five sense organs can be used, but if it is a tree body, the tree does not have the five sense organs, so the tree has got only the skin part only and the other four sense organs are in the tree, but they don't have the physical part for utilization. So therefore this सूक्ष्म शरीरम् of the tree has got all the sense organs but they don't have the physical medium for utilization. Here कृष्ण assumes, the जीवः goes to another human body and in that human body, what does it do? The चक्षुः इन्द्रियम् is placed in the चक्षुः गोलकम्, the श्रोत्रम् इन्द्रियम्, the invisible part is fixed on the श्रोत्र गोलकम्, which is called the physical part; इन्द्रियम् is the invisible part, गोलकम् is the visible part. Similarly, the श्रोत्र, त्वक्, चक्षु, रसना, all of them are placed in the respective slots that is said here. श्रोत्रम् – the ear, चक्षु – the eye, स्पर्शनम् – the skin (invisible organ of touch), रसनम् – the invisible organ of taste, घ्राणम् – the organ of smell, all of them are placed in the respective गोलकs and also

अधिष्ठाय मनः च – all the sense organs have to be backed by the mind and therefore the mind also must be located appropriately and according to the शास्त्र, हृदयम् is the location of the mind, not the brain. According to शास्त्र, हृदयम् is the गोलकम् for the इन्द्रियम् called mind. Which हृदयम्? The physical heart only. The physical heart is the गोलकम्, because गोलकम् should be visible or invisible? गोलकम् must be the tangible part of the body, the tangible physical heart is the गोलकम्, mind is the इन्द्रियम्, which is located there, अधिष्ठाय, अधिष्ठाय means resorting to all these six organs, पञ्च ज्ञानेन्द्रियाणि and plus one अन्तःकरणम्, resorting to all of them. What does the जीवः do? Start experiencing the new environment. If the parents are wonderful parents, the child will have a gala time. If the parents are terrible, the child will have only misery, poor innocent child starts the experiences right from the birth itself. And what determines the type of experience? It is not child's free-will, child was never consulted as to who should be the parents. Spouse can be chosen by स्वयंवरम्, but parents cannot be chosen by स्वयंवरम्, you are already born with parents, therefore the innocent child's life is determined by what? Is it determined by God? No, God cannot determine. It is determined by the पूर्वजन्म कर्म. If it is पुण्य कर्म, wonderful mom, wonderful dad, wonderful siblings, wonderful neighbor, wonderful place, if कर्म's are not good, we are hearing lot of child abuse and all and child cannot even protest, child has to silently suffer. All because of what, पूर्वजन्म पुण्य and पाप. Depending on that विषयान् उपसेवते – the child experiences varieties of sense objects, some children are born with golden spoon, some with silver spoon, some with ever-silver spoon, some with aluminum, some with plastic, some with no spoon, all determined by कर्म. विषयान् उपसेवते. And remember all these are possible, the experience of pleasures or pain, both are possible because of the विदाभास alone. A dead body cannot experience pleasure nor can it experience pain. Therefore every experience reveals the presence of life which is विदाभास, which reveals the presence of ब्रह्मन्, which is the चित्, the all-pervading Consciousness. And therefore कृष्ण says, every moment of life reveals ब्रह्मन् for a discerning mind. Every moment of life reveals ब्रह्मन्. Just as every letter you read in your book reveals the presence of what, the light all over, the presence of light is not revealed at a particular moment, every letter you read is because of the presence of light. Similarly, every word I speak and every word you listen is because of ब्रह्मन्. And a person asks for the proof of ब्रह्मन्. What to say? Like some children. So the mother would have asked. In our house power is not there, please go to the neighbor's house and ask whether power is there or not. And the child is an obedient child, the child enters and sees the fan is on, the light is there, TV is running, all these are, yet it says: My mother asked me to check up with you whether there is current in your house. A child can do that, but if a grown up person asks, you will only laugh. Similarly, an immature person can ask for a proof of God, but for a mature person, the very question is a meaningless, ridiculous question. That is said in the next verse.

Verse No .10

उत्क्रामन्तं स्थितं वापि भुञ्जानं वा गुणान्वितम् ।

विमूढा नानुपश्यन्ति पश्यन्ति ज्ञानचक्षुषः ॥ १५-१०॥

उत्क्रामन्तम् स्थितम् वा अपि भुञ्जानम् वा गुण-अन्वितम् ।

विमूढाः न अनुपश्यन्ति पश्यन्ति ज्ञान-चक्षुषः ॥ १५-१०॥

उत्क्रामन्तम् स्थितम् वा, भुञ्जानम् गुण-अन्वितम् वा अपि विमूढाः न अनुपश्यन्ति, ज्ञान-चक्षुषः पश्यन्ति ।

So the previous verses are the preparatory verses. This is the crucial verse. So here alone कृष्ण says for a discerning mind, ब्रह्मन् is recognizable in every activity of the individual, in every function of the जीवः. Just as the invisible electricity is discerned in every function of the electrical gadgets, in every function of the जीवः, ब्रह्मन् is discerned.

Of course, directly we discern the function, from the functions we discern the चिदाभास, reflected Consciousness and from the reflected Consciousness we discern the original Consciousness, because we know that the original Consciousness alone appears as the reflected Consciousness. When you want to apply कुङ्कुमम् or चन्दन or विभूति, you see the mirror and you see the face upon the mirror in front of you and when you want to apply, you see the mirror but apply the तिलकम्, where? On your face and not on the mirror image, because you know that there is no difference that face and this face. What you see is that face, but what you discern or recognize is this face. And if you find a black dot on your face, but you wipe here. What does it mean? Seeing the आभास मुखम् you discern the original मुखम्. Similarly, I experience the आभास चैतन्यम् every moment, but I understand the original Consciousness and therefore कृष्ण says mature people appreciate God in every breath. ज्ञान-चक्षुषः – people who have the eye of discernment, because it is not the physical eye that sees the electricity. Physical eyes sees only the moving fan but I have got a third eye called ज्ञान-चक्षु and that ज्ञान-चक्षु tells me that behind the visible moving fan there is an invisible electricity blessing it, because I know a fan by itself cannot move. If a fan can move by itself the increase in electricity charges will not affect you. But when the power tariff is increased we are worried because I know that the fan by itself cannot move. Similarly, this body is like fan and I discern through my third eye the invisible Consciousness which touches the body. ज्ञान-चक्षुषः, means the people who have the eye of understanding. And what is the understanding? Body is inert by itself, mind is inert by itself, but both are now as though sentient, because of an extraneous factor. That is called आत्म-अनात्म विवेकः. ज्ञान-चक्षुषः, those people पश्यन्ति – they discern, not through the physical eye, but the eye of understanding. What do they discern? The चिदाभास, the जीवः, which is none other than ब्रह्मन् which has descended down, ब्रह्मन्'s अवतारम् is जीवः. Because the original face alone has descended down on the mirror, similarly, चित् alone is in the form of विदाभास and that ब्रह्मन् they recognize. ब्रह्मन् in the form of विदाभास. And in what all ways that विदाभास is playing in the body? स्थितम् – (first we will take the word स्थितम्, which) is very much present in the body, keeping the body alive. So स्थितम् means residing in the body. What is the proof? What is the proof you are asking, the very question is possible because the विदाभास or ब्रह्मन् is there. And भुञ्जानम् – and this जीवः alone, this Consciousness alone, experiences everything. शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, because my expression is what? I am aware of the sound, I am conscious of the form, and therefore चित् in the form of विदाभास alone experiences . शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध which is called भुञ्जानम्. भुञ्जानम् means experiencing the world. So resides in the body, experiences the world and as even the experience comes, every experience generates a response. So when you hear the crackers there is a response. One who is bursting the cracker. What is the response? Joy, because he has bought only for making the sound, more sound the merrier it is. If you are not able to hear the word, what is your response? Irritation. Sound remaining the same, two forms of response and the responses are broadly divided into three, सात्त्विक response, राजसिक response and तामसिक response. शङ्कराचार्य calls it सुख, दुःख and मोह responses. And that is said here, गुण-अन्वितम्. Here गुण refers to varieties of reactions. Here the word गुण means reactions. What are the reactions? सात्त्विक reactions, राजसिक reactions, तामसिक reactions are called गुणs. अन्वितम् – the जीवात्मा is endowed with these three-fold reactions and every reaction reveals the presence of the ब्रह्मन् in the body. Because in a dead body, because the dead body is burned, they do a होम at the time of creation on the body, the fire is lit, but no response from that person, why? Because there is no जीवः residing in the body. Therefore every response reveals the presence of the जीवः. Therefore गुण-अन्वितम् जीवम्, all these words are adjective to that जीवः, which is an image of what? ब्रह्मन्. And such a ब्रह्मन्, ज्ञान-चक्षुषः पश्यन्ति, mature people recognize. But विमूढाः – the immature people, the indiscriminate people, non-discerning people, न अनुपश्यन्ति. They think that the body has got Consciousness of its own. Their philosophy is that Consciousness is the property of matter, the material body. Such a philosophy is चार्वाक मतम्, the चार्वाक people do not believe in God. They say body has got natural life, God need not enliven the body. That is called materialistic philosophy. What do we say? Body can never have a life of its own, if body has life it is the gift of the Lord alone. Therefore विमूढाः चार्वाकाः न पश्यन्ति, they don't recognize. Continuing;

Verse No .11

यतन्तो योगिनश्चैनं पश्यन्त्यात्मन्यवस्थितम् ।

यतन्तोऽप्यकृतात्मानो नैनं पश्यन्त्यचेतसः ॥ १७-११॥

यतन्तः योगिनः च एनम् पश्यन्ति आत्मानि अवस्थितम् ।

यतन्तः अपि अकृत-आत्मानः न एनम् पश्यन्ति अचेतसः ॥ १७-११॥

यतन्तः योगिनः आत्मानि अवस्थितम् एनम् पश्यन्ति, अचेतसः अकृत-आत्मानः च यतन्तः अपि एनम् न पश्यन्ति ।

So here कृष्ण talks of the two types of people, the discerning, the discriminate विवेकिs and the non-discerning, non-discriminate अविवेकि. Just as I see only one fan, but I have discrimination I know that there are two things; what I see is one but what I understand is two. These two are the invisible electricity and visible fan. They are intimately associated, but they are not one and same, they are separate entities. Even after the destruction of the fan, the visible fan, the electricity continues to be there. Otherwise, as I have told you if one puts the hand inside immediately he will recognize. What I see is one, what I recognize is two. Similarly, what I see in every living being is only one, but if I study वेदान्त I know there is a visible body and an invisible Consciousness. Body will perish, Consciousness will survive.

And Consciousness is, you have to remember, not a part, property or product of the body, it is an independent principle. So कृष्ण says योगिनः, योगिनः means the discriminate people, the discerning people, mature people, एनम् पश्यन्ति – they recognize this ब्रह्मन्, which is present in the body as जीवः. They recognize ब्रह्मन् which is present in the body as जीवः. मम एव अंशः जीव-तोके, they recognize एनम्, this परमात्मा, Where is this परमात्मा? आत्मनि अवस्थितम्. Here the word आत्मा means the body-mind-complex and the परमात्मा resides in the body-mind-complex, अवस्थितम् – residing. In what form? In the form of the reflected Consciousness, in the form of RC the OC is available freely. The OC obtains in the BM complex as RC. Here आत्मा has to be translated as body-mind-complex. And that is why there is a well-known verse, देहो देवालयः प्रोक्तः, परमात्मा is residing in our body as the very जीवात्मा and therefore body is a temple. Mind is the गर्भं गृहम्, the sanctum and the Consciousness is the deity. In fact, before the शिव मानस पूजा we are chanting, there is one ध्यान श्लोक. I didn't introduce that: It is a beautiful श्लोक, आराधयामि मणि-सन्निभम्-आत्मलिङ्गम्.

That परमात्मा is there as the जीवात्मा लिङ्गम् in myself.

आराधयामि मणि-सन्निभम्-आत्मलिङ्गम् मायापुरी-हृदयपङ्कज-सन्निविष्टम्।

And that आत्मा लिङ्गम् शिव is there in the हृदयपङ्कज, the lotus heart, श्रद्धानदी-विमलचित्त-जलाभिषेकैः.

With the pure mind and pure thought a devotee does अभिषेकम् regularly. You can do अभिषेकम् with two types of water, with Coovam water and गङ्गा जलम्, similarly, all our thoughts are doing अभिषेकम् to Consciousness alone, श्रद्धानदी-विमलचित्त-जलाभिषेकैः नित्यम् समाधि-कुसुमैः,

And meditation or absorption in that Lord is the offering of flowers. May I do that अभिषेकम् regularly to get release from अपुनर्भवाय, पुनर्भव means पुनर्जन्म. अपुनर्भव means freedom from पुनर्जन्म, मोक्ष. For मोक्ष, let me worship आत्मलिङ्गम् residing in the body. That is what He is saying here: आत्मनि अवस्थितम् एनम् आत्मलिङ्गम् योगिनः, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्न अधिकारिणः, the qualified people, पश्यन्ति, they recognize. And how do they accomplish that? यतन्तः – by putting the appropriate effort. So the discovery, this recognition through यतन्तः means प्रयत्नम् कुर्वन्तः. And what is the प्रयत्नम्? All the spiritual साधनs are the प्रयत्नम्, which means what? कर्म-योगेन चित्त शुद्धिः, (hope you remember), कर्म-योगेन चित्त शुद्धिः, उपासनेन चित्त एकाग्रता, श्रवणेन अज्ञान निवृत्ति, मननेन संशय निवृत्ति, निदिध्यासनेन वासना निवृत्ति (I will again tell you later in some occasion). In short by going through all the साधनs, including attending the classes, यतन्तः पश्यन्ति, they recognize. Whereas अकृत-आत्मानः – whereas the other people who have not qualified themselves, who have not acquired the required qualification, अकृतम् means impure, कृतम् means संस्कृतम्, अकृतम् means असंस्कृतम्, असंस्कृतम् means unrefined. आत्मा means mind. So अकृत-आत्मा means people of unrefined mind, uncultured mind, untuned mind. Those people, अचेतसः – and therefore only they do not have a discriminating intellect, चेतसः means discriminate intellect and अचेतसः means people without discriminate intellect, unintelligent people, indiscriminate people, एनम् न पश्यन्ति – they never recognize the Lord in their hearts. And that is why every day before doing the पूजा, the पूजा starts with आत्मा पूजा. आत्मने नमः। अन्तरात्मने नमः। परमात्मने नमः । because the Lord is very much in the sanctum, in the Mind and after आत्मा पूजा we invoke the Lord outside and they do बाह्य पूजा. So आत्मा पूजा should be the beginning and the end also should be आत्मा पूजा only. If said now, people will think it is arrogance. With wisdom when I worship myself that worship will go to the Lord only because the Lord alone resides within me. अकृत-आत्मानः न पश्यन्ति, यतन्तः अपि – even though they study the scriptures, if the mind is not pure even scriptural study will not fructify in Self-knowledge, it will become an academic exercise and it will add further to the ego. Already egoistic. Now I have finished गीता also he will say. I have finished गीता, finished उपनिषत्s, finished ब्रह्मसूत्र. So, a pure mind will benefit out of study. An impure mind will not get the benefit and that is why along with शास्त्रिय study, a religious life also should parallelly go. Both are equally important. Continuing;

Verse No .12

यदादित्यगतं तेजो जगद्भासयतेऽखिलम् ।

यत् आदित्य-गतं तेजः जगत् भासयते अखिलम् ।

यत् चन्द्रमसि यत् च अग्नौ तत् तेजः विद्धि मामकम् ॥ १७-१२॥

यत् आदित्य-गतं तेजः अखिलम् जगत् भासयते, यत् च चन्द्रमसि, यत् च अग्नौ (स्थितं अस्ति), तत् मामकम् तेजः (अस्ति इति त्वं) विद्धि ।

With the previous verse, the first topic is over. What is the first topic? ब्रह्मन् alone is present in every body as the विदाभास the जीवात्मा. परमात्मा alone resides in every body as जीवात्मा and that is why in our culture, anybody we see, our method of greeting is not hi, hi. चिन्मयानन्द says that we use that for driving the horses, when we meet the people, Indian method of greeting is नमस्ते, that means, ते नमः, my नमस्कारम् to you, we know very well that person doesn't deserve नमस्कारम्, but we still offer because we know that behind this body-mind what is there is परमात्मा alone in the form of जीवात्मा, behind an unclean body-mind, but परमात्मा, the जीवात्मा is ever शुद्धः. So therefore, परमात्मा or ब्रह्म जीवः रूपेण वर्तते. This is topic No.1. From 12th up to 15th, we are entering the second topic. What is that? ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of the जगत्, the inert universe also. ब्रह्म एव जगत् रूपेण अपि सर्वत्र सर्वैः अनुभूयते. This is the topic. The details we will see in the next class.

CHAPTER 15, VERSES 12-15

After defining ब्रह्मन् in the 6th verse of this chapter, Lord कृष्ण establishes in the later verses that ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of everything. And in संस्कृत, this is called सर्वात्मकत्वम् and here कृष्ण talks as one with ब्रह्मन् and therefore instead of steadying ब्रह्मन् is in the form of everything, He says I alone am appearing as everything, I am everything. He has already talked about this in the 7th, 9th, 10th and 11th chapters. In the fact the very विश्वरूपदर्शनम् is revealing this fact that भगवान् is everything and that सर्वात्मकत्वम् is briefly dealt with in these verses and for this purpose the whole universe is divided into two, the sentient living beings and the insentient objects of the creation. चैतन प्रपञ्चः and अचैतन प्रपञ्चः and कृष्ण says हे अर्जुन, I alone appear in the form of चैतन जीवः, I alone appear in the form of the अचैतनम् जगत् also. Of these we have seen the first part from verse no.7 up to verse no.11. We have seen the first part. what is the first part? I alone am in the form of the चैतन जीवः. now we have entered into the second part from verse no.12, which I introduced in the last class. And this part is I, the ब्रह्मन् alone am in the form of अचैतन जगत् also. So from the 12th verse up to the 15th verse ब्रह्मन् or भगवान् is everything. And in this context, कृष्ण does not give the logic behind this conclusion because the logic has been already been given in the previous chapters. Why do we say that भगवान् is everything? The logic that we give is: भगवान् being the cause of everything, भगवान् alone has to be everything. Remember the example, gold is the cause of all ornaments and therefore gold alone is in the form of all the ornaments. So cause of the ornaments means it is in the form of ornaments, because there are no ornaments other than gold. Wood is the cause of the furniture means wood alone is in the form of furniture, there is no furniture separate from wood. Generalizing, cause alone is in the form of all the effects, extending that ब्रह्मन् or भगवान् being the cause of everything, ब्रह्मन् or भगवान् alone is in the form of everything. In short, there is no creation different from or separate form ईश्वरः and this is the uniqueness of the वैदिक teaching, because that is why we worship the Lord in any form and every form. We worship animals as God, we worship human beings as God, we worship trees as God, we worship rivers as God, we worship even the five elements as God, the reason is these do not exist separate from भगवान् or ब्रह्मन्. And therefore भगवान् is in the form of everything. And therefore कृष्ण has to say, I am the table, I am the chair, I am the pen, I am the book, I am you, I am he, I am mike, if कृष्ण has to enumerate everything in the creation the 15th chapter will not end at all. And therefore कृष्ण wants to take a few important things in the creation and He points out they are My own manifestation. Just a few samples are taken to point out that भगवान् is in the form of them and from that you can extend to everything else also. And what are those few samples that भगवान् takes. They are the fundamental, natural forces that we experience all the time. Which we have not created but they are very much part of this creation. Without these natural power or forces or energy we cannot think of the creation or its survival. What are the natural forces that कृष्ण takes? He takes three of them. One is सूर्य शक्तिः, the solar energy. The solar power called सूर्य शक्तिः and the second one is the lunar power, the चन्द्र शक्तिः. कृष्ण uses the word तेजः instead of शक्तिः, therefore सूर्य तेजः, चन्द्र तेजः, तेजः is शक्तिः, energy, power and the third one is अग्नि शक्तिः or अग्नि तेजः. The power of the fire. So these are the three natural and very very important forces or energy, the more you study their glory the more you admire. The scientists have been studying the Sun for years and decades and centuries they are studying, still they have not completed the glory of the Sun. Put the correct spelling. whether our S O N has glory or not, I don't know, I mean S U N. Therefore, कृष्ण enumerates them first and says I am in the form of सूर्य शक्तिः and I am in the form of चन्द्र शक्तिः and I am in the form of अग्नि शक्तिः. That is said in the 12th verse, which we read in the last class, आदित्य-गतम् तेजः. तेजः means the power, the energy. And even those people who feel that all other sources of energy will be exhausted, they think that ultimately we have to tap the solar energy only. And especially, we the people in the tropical country we have so much, we have got solar battery, solar cells, so many things, solar, solar. कृष्ण says that energy belongs to Me. आदित्य-गतम्, गतम् means located in, present in the Sun, तेजः, that is No.1. Which is अखिलम् जगत् भासयते – which illumines the entire universe. To illumine this particular hall how many lights we require? And how much electricity charges we have to pay which is going on increasing per unit and that too the power goes off and on. And during day time, not only this hall but the entire earth or a portion of the earth is illumined free of cost, how much money we pay. So He says, अखिलम् जगत् भासयते. And the Sun never gets fused out, the energy of the Sun never ends. And यत् चन्द्रमसि, you have to supply the word तेजः and that energy which obtains in the moon, the moonlight or the lunar energy, of course it is borrowed from the sun only. But imagine, the sun is 9 crores miles away. And the moon is 2 lakhs 50 thousand miles or kilometers away. The sunlight is getting reflected in the moon, there a चिदाभास is there. The original sunlight is getting reflected in the moon, that reflected itself is so powerful that on a full पौर्णमि day you can even read a book. Of course if you have normal eyes. What I am saying is that even the reflected light is so powerful and therefore कृष्ण says, यत् तेजः चन्द्रमसि. That means the चन्द्र शक्तिः and what is the third one, यत् च अग्नौ, here also we have to supply the word तेजः, यत् तेजः अग्नौ and that energy which is there, stored in अग्नि, अग्नि means the fire principle, अग्नि शक्तिः, all these three powers belong to me. तत् तेजः – that power मामकम् विद्धि – may you know as My power and that is why in the वैदिक discipline, the day begins with the worship of the Sun. And all the prayers are सूर्य prayers.

ॐ मित्रस्य वर्षणी धृतः श्रवो देवस्य सानसिम् । सत्यं चित्रश्रवस्तमम् ॥

मित्रो जनान् यातयति प्रजानन् मित्रो दाधार पृथिवीम् उत द्याम् ।

मित्रः कृष्टीर् अनिमिषाभि चष्टे सत्याय हव्यम् घृतवद् विधेम ॥

कृष्णयजुर्वेदः, तैत्तिरीय संहिता, ३-४ प्रपाठकः ४, ३-४-११ अनुवाक ११-७

This generally comes in the सन्ध्यावन्दनम्. So this Sun alone sustains the living beings. If the Sun is not there, the planetary motion itself is not there, the earth cannot survive. Sun only exists 9 crores miles away, its very existence sustains the earth. And therefore, मित्रो दाधार पृथिवीम् उत द्याम्. मित्रः means the Sun. Sun alone sustains the earth. In the afternoon, माध्याह्निकम् also,

आ सत्येन रजसा वर्तमानो निवेशयन्न अमृतम् मर्त्यम् च ।

हिरण्ययेन सविता रथेनाऽऽदेवो याति भुवना विपश्यन् ॥

कृष्णयजुर्वेदः, तैत्तिरीय संहिता, ३-४ प्रपाठकः ४, ३-४-११ अनुवाक ११-२

सविता आयाति. The brilliant light and energy and lot of nutrients like vitamin D, etc., in Sunlight vitamin D is there, in Europe and England and other places, they have to crave for the Sunlight and that is why they go to tropical countries, lying down in beach, like dosa they have to turn upside down and downside up, because the skin requires that. And even our sleep and waking is connected to sunlight, there is something melamine or something is there in the skin, that is directly connected to solar light and body's rhythm of activities is connected to Sun. And that is why they say, don't take heavy meal in the night, because everything slows down including digestive power. So the more you study the Sun the more its glory is. Therefore morning begins with the सूर्य नमस्कार and almost all पौर्णमि days, we have got some festival or the other, every month you see पौर्णमि is special for us, because again moonlight we worship. And then of course अग्नि worship is fundamental to वैदिक religion. The ऋग्वेद beings अग्निमीळे पुरोहितम्, why, because सूर्य शक्तिः, चन्द्र शक्तिः, अग्नि शक्तिः, मामकम्

विद्भिः. Don't take them for granted. Now in the following verses, कृष्ण is going to talk about the glory of each शक्तिः. What is the contribution of sunlight? Sunlight - not soap here, but the solar energy. What is the contribution of moonlight? He is going to explain in the following verses. We will read. Verse no.13;

Verse No .13

गामाविश्य च भूतानि धारयाम्यहमोजसा ।

पुष्णामि चौषधीः सर्वाः सोमो भूत्वा रसात्मकः ॥ १७-१३॥

गाम् आविश्य च भूतानि धारयामि अहम् ओजसा ।

पुष्णामि च ओषधीः सर्वाः सोमः भूत्वा रसात्मकः ॥ १७-१३॥

अहम् च गाम् आविश्य भूतानि ओजसा धारयामि । रसात्मकः सोमः भूत्वा च सर्वाः ओषधीः पुष्णामि ।

The first line talks about the contribution of the सूर्य शक्तिः, which is a blessing from the Lord. So कृष्ण says: गाम् आविश्य, regularly the solar energy through the rays of the Sun penetrate or enter onto the surface of the earth,

अथादित्य उदयन् यत् प्राचीम् दिशम् प्रविशति तेन प्राच्यान् प्राणान् रश्मिषु संनिधत्ते ॥ प्रश्नोपनिषत् १-६ ॥

It pervades all the directions and blesses all the जीवराशिस with ओजस् or प्राण शक्तिः. So गाम् आविश्य, having entered the earth, गाम् means पृथिवीम्, भूतानि, the sun rays or the solar light penetrates into every being, that is why we are asked to get up before sunrise and we are supposed to expose ourselves to the morning sunlight. And therefore they go to the rivers for bath (what we can do with having only Coovam), they go to the temple, they do प्रदक्षिणम्, all for exposing our body to the solar energy, which is called Pranic energy. And that is why the pranic healers talk about drawing energy from the Sun and handing over to our प्राणमय कोश. The entire प्राणमय कोश is sustained by the Sun. And therefore, भूतानि, भूतानि means all the living beings, here भूतानि does not mean पञ्च भूतानि but all living beings, धारयामि –

I sustain. Who says? कृष्ण says. I sustain through the solar energy, ओजसा – by blessing the living beings with ओजस्, ओजस् means प्राण शक्तिः, pranic energy, vital force. And this is supposed to be responsible for the health of the अन्नमय कोश. And it is also responsible for the health of मनोमय कोश, directly प्राणमय कोश is blessed, indirectly अन्नमय and मनोमय, that is why one of the most powerful daily prayers is आदित्य हृदयम्. If you don't know, you can learn it and daily chant it morning, it will take care of the अन्नमय कोश health, प्राणमय कोश health, मनोमय कोश health and विज्ञानमय कोश health, those who do not know गायत्री मन्त्र, those who do not chant गायत्री, they can replace their सन्ध्यावन्दनम् with आदित्य हृदयम्, because it is invoking आदित्य शक्तिः. So ओजसा अहम् धारयामि, through pranic energy, I sustain. This is the contribution of the सूर्यः.

Then what is the contribution of the सोम शक्तिः, Moon energy? He says: रसात्मकः सोमः भूत्वा – I myself become the moonlight or lunar energy. And what type of moon light it is? रसात्मकः – which is full of the plant nutrient. According to शास्त्र, the moonlight has got lot of energy or nutrition, which is directly given to the plant kingdom. So here रस means the sap of the plants, the nutritional power of the plant is here called रसः and I become that. And through that what do I do? ओषधीः सर्वाः पुष्णामि – I nourish all the plants. So through सूर्य शक्तिः I nourish the human beings, through चन्द्र शक्तिः I nourish the plant kingdom, that is why they say, some of the farmers they expose the seeds to the moonlight, they say it is very good to expose the seeds to the moonlight before sowing them, it will draw energy from the moon. So रसात्मकः सोमः भूत्वा अहम् पुष्णामि. Thus सूर्य तेजः I am, चन्द्र तेजः I am. Then what is left out? अग्नि तेजः.

Verse No .14

अहं वैश्वानरो भूत्वा प्राणिनां देहमाश्रितः ।

प्राणापानसमायुक्तः पचाम्यन्नं चतुर्विधम् ॥ १५-१४॥

अहम् वैश्वानरः भूत्वा प्राणिनाम् देहम् आश्रितः ।

प्राण-अपान-सम-आयुक्तः पचामि अन्नम् चतुर्विधम् ॥ १७-१४॥

अहम् प्राणिनाम् देहम् आश्रितः प्राण-अपान-सम-आयुक्तः वैश्वानरः भूत्वा चतुर्विधम् अन्नम् पचामि ।

So in this verse, the अग्नि शक्तिः or अग्नि तेजस् or power is talked about. In the शास्त्र, अग्नि तत्त्वम् is divided into two types, one is called बाह्य अग्नि, the external fire principle, which is the popular one, which we see and which we use the बाह्य अग्नि and the शास्त्र says there is another internal fire principle, which is within our stomach, which is called आन्तर अग्नि, the internal fire. This आन्तर अग्निः is known by different names. It is called जाठराग्नि, जठरम् means stomach, जाठरम् means within the stomach. So जठराग्नि, the fire within the stomach. And it is also known by another name वैश्वानर अग्नि and this fire is called the digestive fire, which cooks the eaten food a second time. Before the body assimilates the food, the food should go through two types of cooking, one is the external cooking, another is the internal cooking and in each cooking the food gets transformed. Initially you gather the food in the form of vegetables, grains, cereals etc. and you don't directly eat the grains, normally we don't eat directly and vegetables also generally we don't eat directly unless you are a naturopath and all the time living on salads only. Cooking is banned for them. Eat with the skin is their motto. Skin has got more nutrients than the original fruit. There are some who eat the skin and leave the fruit!! विदुर did like that to भगवान् कृष्ण. But here some people deliberately do that, but generally we don't do that. The first transformation takes place in the external cooking, where the vegetables are converted into variety of foods, so that we have the tastes. There are taste buds for them we have to do lot of 'dressing' so that it becomes eatable. First conversion is to make it eatable, tasty for the tongue. And once you have eaten all the varieties of vegetables, it goes inside. But remember, idlis and dosas, cannot be directly taken.

Second cooking has to take place, wherein the eaten food items will have to go through a second transformation. And after that alone the body can absorb and that is done by the digestive fire, वैश्वानर अग्निः. In science they called digestive juices and the enzymes and acids, we have lot of acid and enzymes, pepsins, amilins, etc., all enzymes are there. That is why if you don't feed your body at regular times, as the acids come out, they are burning acids, if you don't satisfy the fire with प्राणाय स्वाहा, अपानाय स्वाहा then the acid begins to eat your own stomach, which is called ulcer. Therefore you have to feed the internal fire, which cooks the food a second time. And once the second time cooking takes place, all the idlis and dosas have been converted into carbohydrates, proteins, fats, salts, minerals, all these conversion takes place and the body absorbs this converted food alone. So first conversion called cooking outside, the second cooking or conversion is inside, first cooking is done by बाह्य अग्निः, the second cooking is done by आन्तर अग्निः, वैश्वानर अग्निः. And कृष्ण says, that cooking power belongs to Me alone, which is otherwise called समान प्राणः, the digestive power is भगवान्'s power and that is why, before we eat the food we worship भगवान् and consider the food as an offering to the Lord. To which Lord, the Lord who is in your stomach. And what type of Lord he is? वैश्वानर अग्निः. And that is why, that offering is also called another form of अग्निहोत्रम्. According to छान्दोग्योपनिषत्, eating itself is a form of अग्निहोत्र ritual called प्राणाग्निहोत्रम्. So, you can tell everyone, daily I do अग्निहोत्रम्, I am नित्याग्निहोत्रि, but don't tell what it is. So what is नित्याग्निहोत्रम्? The वैश्वानर अग्नि is offered food, that is why they do the परिशेचनम्, प्राणाय स्वाहा, अपानाय स्वाहा and according to the rule, when you are offering प्राणाय स्वाहा, etc., you are not supposed to taste, you have keep on the tongue and directly swallow it, without checking for the taste, why because it has to go to the वैश्वानर अग्नि and therefore कृष्ण says I am that power. In बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत्, there is a special उपासना upon वैश्वानर

अग्नि, you meditate upon your hunger or digestive power as the Lord. Hunger उपासना, have you heard anywhere? And how do you detect your hunger? The उपनिषत् says, when you are hungry within the stomach you hear varieties of noises, kur bur, tur bur, etc., so that noise represents the digestive power, the hunger which is asking for food and therefore meditate upon the sound. As what? भगवान्.

अयमग्निर्वैश्वानरो योऽयमन्तः पुरुषे । येनेदमन्नम् पच्यते ।

यदिदमद्यते । तस्यैष घोषो भवति । ॥ बृहदारन्यकोपनिषत् ७-९-१ ॥

घोष means the internal sound, meditate upon the sound as the digestive power, the Lord, called वैश्वानर उपासना. So कृष्ण reminds us of that, He says, अहम् वैश्वानरः भूत्वा, I myself am in the form of आन्तर अग्नि शक्तिः. The बाह्य अग्नि कृष्ण doesn't talk about here, that we can supply, here He talks about only the internal digestive fire. And where do I reside? प्राणिनाम् देहम् आश्रितः – so I reside in the body of every प्राणि, I occupy the मध्य-प्रदेश, समान अग्नि is here. And residing there, what is my job? चतुर्विधम् अन्नम् पचामि – I cook all forms of food that is offered inside, second cooking. What is the second cooking? Convert the food into the respective nutrients called carbohydrates, fats, etc. So I, digest the food, assimilate the food. What type of food? चतुर्विधम् अन्नम् – the four types of food, which a human being consumes. What is the चतुर्विधम् अन्नम्? Four types of food means what? Normally if he is a South Indian he will say, साम्भर rice, रसम् rice, पायसम् and curd rice!! But remember, that is only the south Indian, when कृष्ण talks, He talks about the universal चतुर्विधम् अन्नम्, what is that? They say all the food consumed all the living beings can be classified into four types, based on the mode of consumption, not-based on the type of food. If it is type of food, there are millions of varieties, within India itself गुजराती food, मराठी food, आन्ध्र food, मलयाळि food, तेलुगु food etc. Here we classify the food based on the type of consumption, method that we used to eat and accordingly we use four types, they are called भक्ष्यम्, भोज्यम्, लेह्यम् and चोष्यम्, these are the four types of eating. What are those four?

i) भक्ष्यम् means those types of food which are masticated, which you bite and masticate and swallow, any solid type of food, which you have to bite and eat, those which are masticated. In संस्कृत, mastication is called चर्वणम्, biting and eating or those types of food, which you cannot eat after certain age are called भक्ष्यम्, easy to understand, which you cannot eat even with false teeth.

ii) The second one is भोज्यम्, those types of food which you directly swallow, liquid type of food like milk or soup or coffee or tea, which are directly swallowed. You don't require to masticate. So to be swallowed, second type called भोज्यम्.

iii) The third one is called लेह्यम्, लेह्यम् means that which has to be licked and consumed, You cannot directly pour into the mouth, like honey, honey you should not directly pour, it is viscous liquid, if you directly take sometimes one will be even dead, you should never do that; it has to be licked or आयुर्वेदिक लेह्यम्, it is derived from the root लिह् – to lick. In English, it has come from लिह् to lick. And all forms of pickles will come under लेह्यम्. This is the third one.

iv) The fourth one is चोष्यम्, which has to be sucked inside, like the sugar cane, etc., you bite and you suck inside, sucking, or modern day example is what, the way you consume the soft drinks with a straw. How do you do that, the head is up, when the head is up, it becomes भोज्यम्, but when the head is down we have got straw, that is called चोष्यम् and in आन्ध्रप्रदेश, there is a mango called रसातु, you press it well and remove the tip and it goes inside. So they all come under चोष्यम्.

So भक्ष्यम्, भोज्यम्, लेह्यम् and चोष्यम्, these are the only four types of eating. Try to imagine the fifth type, there is not. Don't say intravenous, you cannot include that, intravenous feeding, nasal feeding, they are irregular exceptional, a normal healthy human being will use only these four and कृष्ण says all these types of food, I cook or I digest in the form of digestive fire and naturally, the question will come the external fire is kindled by fanning. When they want to do a होम or even in cooking, the fire is kindled by fanning. Now alone gas stove has come, no fanning is required, in the olden days whether it is fire for cooking or whether it is the fire for oblation offering, they will fan or they will use a tube. So if the external fire is kindled by fanning, the question comes how is the internal indigestive fire kindled? कृष्ण says that is also done by fanning alone. You require another type of fanning, प्राण, अपान, breathing in and breathing out is the fanning of the digestive fire and therefore, whenever you do extra activity, which we never do, what happens, breathing becomes faster and when breathing becomes faster, what happens, internal fire is kindled with speed, intensely and therefore वैश्वानरः अग्नि become big, when वैश्वानर अग्नि is kindled you feel hunger, therefore you eat more. When the breathing slows down, hunger slows down and breathing increases, hunger increases, from that it is clear, breathing is the fanning of the digestive fire, therefore कृष्ण say, प्राण, अपान. प्राण means breathing out or exhalation and अपान here means breathing in or inhalation, सम-आयुक्तः means supported by, activated by the breathing, I in the form of वैश्वानर अग्नि digest the food and that is the अग्नि शक्तिः. And therefore, हे अर्जुन! appreciate Me in the creation in the form of सूर्य शक्ति, चन्द्र शक्ति and अग्नि शक्ति. And therefore I am everything. And now कृष्ण concludes that topic.

Verse No .15

सर्वस्य चाहं हृदि सन्निविष्टो मत्तः स्मृतिर्ज्ञानमपोहनञ्च ।

वेदैश्च सर्वैरहमेव वेद्यो वेदान्तकृद्देवविदेव चाहम् ॥ १५-१५॥

सर्वस्य च अहम् हृदि सन्निविष्टः मत्तः स्मृतिः ज्ञानम् अपोहनम् च ।

वेदैः च सर्वैः अहम् एव वेद्यः वेदान्त-कृत् वेद-वित् एव च अहम् ॥ १५-१५॥

अहम् सर्वस्य हृदि सन्निविष्टः (अस्मि), मत्तः (सर्वस्य) स्मृतिः ज्ञानम्
अपोहनम् च (भवति) अहम् च एव सर्वैः वेदैः वेद्यः (अस्मि), अहम् एव च वेदान्त-कृत्
वेद-वित् च (अस्मि) ।

So here concludes the topic, pointing out I am everything, I am in everything, सर्वस्य हृदि अहम् सन्निविष्टः. हे अर्जुन! I, the परमात्मा, reside in the heart of everyone. So every body is like a temple, the heart represents the mind, the mind represents the sanctum or गर्भ गृहम्, देहः देवालयः and mind is the गर्भ गृहम् and in that mind, I, the परमात्मा, am present as the जीवात्मा, witnessing every thought occurring in the mind. Therefore, हृदि साक्षि चैतन्य रूपेण, क्षेत्रज्ञ रूपेण, in the form of the very Consciousness I am in every living being and मत्तः – because of Me, the Consciousness alone, all the functions of the body are going on, मत्तः स्मृतिः ज्ञानम् अपोहनम् च – all the mental faculties are alive because of Me. What are some of the faculties? ज्ञानम्, ज्ञानम् means the capacity to learn, learning faculty is alive because of Me. Then स्मृतिः, learning should be followed by what, remembering or else I have to take the 15th chapter in the next class also. So, स्मृतिः – remembering faculty is because of Me. And some people may say, I don't have remembering faculty, I have got forgetting faculty. Remember forgetfulness we think is a curse, but remember, forgetfulness is also important, we go through lot of painful experiences in life, in due course we have to forget, imagine if you remember all the painful experiences, you will be terrible and that is why we say time is a healer, because in time we forget those things. So remembering is also an important faculty. Forgetfulness is also an important faculty. But the problem is what should be remembered what should be forgotten, there is a small bug is there, all our classes are very successfully forgotten! Somebody did something, he said something in 1953, 'you said that on that day', what a memory power. कृष्ण says what is to be remembered: remember, what is to be forgotten: you forget. Both faculties are a blessing and both of them are My glory alone. And one commentator gives a special meaning for these words, it is a very beautiful thing, not given by शङ्कराचार्य, but by some other आचार्य. He says ज्ञानम् refers to the waking state, because the waking state we are gathering fresh experiences. स्मृतिः represents dream state, because in dream, we don't gather anything new, only what is already registered that is projected again, therefore स्मृतिः indicates स्वप्न अवस्था. And अपोहनम् means forgetfulness and forgetfulness represents सुषुप्ति अवस्था, because in sleep we forget everything. Therefore ज्ञानम् जाग्रत्, स्मृतिः स्वप्न, अपोहनम् सुषुप्तिः, all these three अवस्थाs are because of Me alone. So I am in everyone responsible for their experiences in all the three states. And not only that, सर्वैः वेदैः अहम् एव वेद्यः – I am the subject matter of all the scriptures, because scriptures are dealing with the Lord alone, the वेदपूर्व भाग is dealing with सगुण ईश्वरः, वेद-अन्त भाग is dealing with निर्गुण ईश्वरः. In short the entire वेदः is dealing with ईश्वरः alone. Therefore He says, through all the four वेदs, I am the one to be known. And वेदान्त-कृत् अहम् – and I am the one who is the initiator of the Vedantic tradition, Vedantic tradition includes the वैदिक also, the entire वैदिक tradition, I have initiated. So therefore, what is known through the वेद, I am and the वेदs themselves are nothing but Myself or My creation. Then what about the students of the वैदिक teaching? He says the students are also Myself. So वेद-वित्, वित् means the students, the knower of वेदः. So the knower I am, the known I am, the means of knowledge I am, प्रमाता, प्रमाणम्, प्रमेयम्, the entire त्रिपुटि I am. Therefore I am everything. So with this कृष्ण concludes the second topic also. What is the second topic, I am in the form in the insentient world also. Previously He said I am in the form of the sentient living beings also, therefore, चेतन-अचेतन प्रपञ्च अहम् अस्मि. This is called सर्वात्मकत्वम्. More in the next class.

CHAPTER 15, VERSES 16-20

With the 15th verse, which we completed in the last class, Lord कृष्ण completes the important topic of ब्रह्मणः सर्वात्मकत्वम्. ब्रह्मणः सर्वात्मकत्वम् means ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of everything. सर्वम् ब्रह्म मयम् जगत्. Very careful. We should not say सर्वम् भ्रम मयम् जगत्. भ्रम means confusion. It is ब्रह्म. This is the essential teaching of all the उपनिषत्स. In the मुण्डकोपनिषत् we saw

ब्रह्मैवेदम् अमृतम् पुरस्तात् ब्रह्म पश्चात् ब्रह्म दक्षिणतश्चोत्तरेण ।

अधश्चोर्ध्वम् च प्रसृतम् ब्रह्मैवेदम् विश्वमिदम् वरिष्ठम् ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् २-२-१२ ॥

What is in front is ब्रह्मन्, what is behind is ब्रह्मन्, what is on the right, on the left, above and below, everything is ब्रह्मन्, with different names and forms, which cause only a superficial difference. So the world is superficially different, but in essence the whole world is ब्रह्मन्, there is nothing other than ब्रह्मन्. And कृष्ण has mentioned this in the 4th chapter also:

ब्रह्म-अर्पणम् ब्रह्म हविः ब्रह्म-अग्नौ ब्रह्मणा हुतम् ।

ब्रह्म एव तेन गन्तव्यम् ब्रह्म-कर्म-समाधिना ॥ ४-२४॥

That verse also conveys the same idea. ब्रह्मन् alone is everything. And this topic कृष्ण started from the 7th verse and He concluded this in the 15th verse and we should remember that the ultimate discovery is that सर्वात्मकम् ब्रह्म is nothing but myself. It is not enough that we say ब्रह्मन् is everything, there the साधन is incomplete, I should finally that That ब्रह्मन् I am. Then the statement will be reworded, instead of saying ब्रह्मन् is everything, we say I am everything.

अहम् अन्नम् । अहम् अन्नादः । अहँ श्लोककृत् । ... ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् ३-१०-६॥

अहम् एव इदँ सर्वम्. This is called सर्व आत्मभाव. And that we completed in the last class. Now in the following three verses, 16, 17 and 18, कृष्ण gives the definition of the word पुरुषोत्तम and based on this word alone the very chapter is called पुरुषोत्तम योगः. What is पुरुषोत्तम, who is पुरुषोत्तम, कृष्ण tells in these three verses, we will read verse 16.

Verse No .16

द्वाविमौ पुरुषौ लोके क्षरश्चाक्षर एव च ।

क्षरः सर्वाणि भूतानि कूटस्थोऽक्षर उच्यते ॥ १५-१६॥

द्वौ इमौ पुरुषौ लोके क्षरः च अक्षरः एव च ।

क्षरः सर्वाणि भूतानि कूटस्थः अक्षरः उच्यते ॥ १५-१६॥

(अस्मिन् लोके क्षरः अक्षरः च एव इमौ द्वौ पुरुषौ (स्तः), सर्वाणि भूतानि क्षरः, कूटस्थः च अक्षरः उच्यते ।

First I all give the gist, the essence of these three verses, so that you will get a total picture, then understanding these verses will be easier. To reveal पुरुषोत्तम, Lord कृष्ण divides the whole universe into three portions or three components, अंश त्रयम् is going to be talked about. What are the three portions of the universe?

i) The first portion is the visible universe, which is accessible, perceptible to our sense organs. This sensorially visible, tangible universe is one component and this we can call the manifest matter. Because the universe, this visible universe is made up of matter, we know. Scientifically it has been shown that the world is made up of matter and even scripturally we know that the world is made up of पञ्चभूतानि, आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः, पृथिवी and all of them are matter, inert-matter-principle. Therefore, the first component is what? Manifest matter. And कृष्ण gives a technical for this component and that is क्षरः पुरुषः. This Manifest Matter, shortened MM, manifest matter, कृष्ण calls क्षर पुरुषः and this we have to very carefully note, because normally, matter is indicated only by the word प्रकृति. Normally matter is referred to as प्रकृति तत्त्वम्, but this is an exceptional context in which the manifest matter is called क्षरः पुरुषः.

ii) Then कृष्ण talks about the second component, what is that? When matter is destroyed, what happens to matter? We know scientifically, logically and Shastrically that matter cannot be totally destroyed, by the law of conservation of matter and therefore when matter is destroyed it will get converted into unmanifest form, you may call it energy form, but it goes to the invisible, intangible, unmanifest form and therefore at the time of total destruction of this universe, at the time of प्रलय, the matter will continue but not in the form of manifest matter, but it will survive in the form of unmanifest matter and therefore the second component of the universe is matter in unmanifest form. So Unmanifest Matter which is also inert in nature is the second component. UM. That was MM. This is UM, manifest matter. कृष्ण gives a technical name for this as अक्षर पुरुषः. This is also an exceptionally rare usage because normally, the word अक्षर पुरुषः is used for निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म or Consciousness. That is the general meaning, but in this exceptional context, the unmanifest matter, you may called it energy, is named अक्षर पुरुषः, in other context that alone is called माया, because in वेदान्त माया is unmanifest universe, unmanifest matter and that माया तत्त्वम्, unmanifest matter-principle in this context is called अक्षरम् पुरुषः. So we have manifest matter, unmanifest matter, क्षरः पुरुषः and अक्षर पुरुषः.

iii) Then the third component of the entire cosmos is the Consciousness-principle. Consciousness-principle, चैतन तत्त्वम् is the third component, because according to our scriptures, Consciousness is distinct from matter. Remember, Consciousness is not a part, product or property of matter. Consciousness is a distinct and independent entity, it is neither a part of matter nor a property of matter nor is it a product of matter. Material sciences think that Consciousness is a product or phenomenon in matter, वेदान्त strongly rejects that view and वेदान्त says Consciousness is independent of matter and this independent Consciousness is the third component or part of this universe. And this Consciousness-principle, कृष्ण names उत्तम पुरुषः. This Consciousness-principle, कृष्ण calls उत्तम पुरुषः. So Supreme पुरुषः, SM. OK.

Now if you make a comparative study of these three components we will see certain important differences among them, of these three. What are the three? Manifest matter, unmanifest matter, Consciousness.

a) Of these three, the first two components being matter both of them are अचेतन तत्त्वम्, inert-principle, whereas the third one being Consciousness, it is चेतन तत्त्वम्. First two are inert, the third one is sentient.

b) Then the first two principles being matter or material, it is full of varieties of properties or attributes or qualities. In संस्कृत, we call it गुणः, therefore the first two components are सगुणम् in nature, whereas the Consciousness, according to वेदान्त, is free from all the attributes, therefore निर्गुण तत्त्वम्. 7th chapter I have said, I am just reminding, one is चेतनम्, the other is अचेतनम्, one is सगुणम् and the other is निर्गुणम्.

c) Then the third difference, both manifest and unmanifest is subject to modification, violent changes. Matter can never remain the same. It is constantly undergoing changes. In fact, this manifest and unmanifest matter themselves are interconvertible. Manifest matter can be converted into unmanifest matter can be converted into manifest matter. In scientific language, we say matter and energy are interconvertible. The whole E is MC2 equation is only revealing the fact of the interconvertibility of matter and energy. In fact, at the time of creation, unmanifest matter is getting converted into manifest matter and at the time of प्रलयम् or dissolution, what is happening is the manifest matter is getting converted.

अव्यक्तात् व्यक्तयः सर्वाः प्रभवन्ति अहः आगमे ।

रात्रि आगमे प्रतीयन्ते तत्र एव अव्यक्त-संज्ञके ॥ ८-१८॥

We had seen a parallel idea in the 8th chapter. This same topic has come there also. Therefore the first two are सविकारम्, whereas Consciousness is निर्विकारम्. You cannot say there is manifest Consciousness getting converted into unmanifest Consciousness. You cannot say that. Because if you talk about the transformation of Consciousness itself into manifest and unmanifest, etc., Consciousness also will be subject to change, but it is not so. So अचेतनम्, चेतनम्, सगुणम्, निर्गुणम्, सविकारम्, निर्विकारम्.

d) Then the fourth difference is the matter-principle, both manifest and unmanifest are subject to divisions, they are subject to divisions, it is divisible principle. This body itself can be divided. This carpet can be divided. In fact, our body gets divided, teeth are missing after some years, after some time hair will disappear, one by one it will disappear and we all add also artificial ones, whereas Consciousness-principle is indivisible. One is सविकल्पम् is matter, सविकल्पम् means divisible, निर्विकल्पम् is Consciousness.

e) And finally and most importantly, matter does not have an independent existence of its own, it doesn't have the स्वतन्त्र सत्ता. Therefore it is called मिथ्या. Therefore क्षर पुरुषः and अक्षर पुरुषः both are मिथ्या whereas उत्तम पुरुषः, the Consciousness-principle alone has independent existence and therefore it is called सत्यम् and therefore उत्तम पुरुषः alone lends existence to क्षर and अक्षर पुरुषः. Just as the screen lends existence to the movie drama going. Similarly, the उत्तम पुरुषः lends existence to the क्षरः, अक्षर पुरुषः drama going on which is called creation, destruction. Matter manifests, matters goes to unmanifest form. All these drama is sustained by the screen called उत्तम पुरुषः, the चैतन्यम्.

And therefore of these three components, कृष्ण says that the third component is the supreme one. Why? Because that is सर्व-आधारम्, विश्व-आधारम् गणन-सदृशम् (मेघवर्णम् should not be said here) is उत्तम

पुरुषः. And having said this much, कृष्ण very intelligently says this उतम पुरुषः, the Consciousness alone is My real nature. This चैतन्य तत्त्वम् alone is my real nature and therefore I will like to claim myself not as अक्षर पुरुषः, I will not claim and I won't claim Myself as the अक्षर पुरुषः also, but I would like to claim Myself as उतम पुरुषः, which is चेतन, निर्गुण, निर्विकार, निर्विकल्प तत्त्वम्. And since I am the उतम पुरुषः, in the whole world as I am known as पुरुषोत्तमः, by reversing these two words, उतम पुरुषः reversed as पुरुषः उतम. पुरुषोत्तम. I am पुरुषोत्तम, the निर्गुण चैतन्यम्. This is the सारम्, the essence. Now we will go to the verse. लोके द्वौ पुरुषौ इमौ – in this cosmos, in this creation, firstly there are two पुरुषs. The third one will be introduced later. First He talks about two पुरुषs. And what are they known as? अक्षरः च अक्षरः एव च – those पुरुषs are known as अक्षरः पुरुषः and अक्षरः पुरुषः. And who are they? कृष्ण himself defines अक्षरः सर्वाणि भूतानि – all the things and beings, which are visible matter, here beings and things means the visible material universe. The word 'beings' represent our physical body and the word 'things' represents all the objects, both the body as well as the objects come under visible matter. Remember the body also comes under matter-principle. Because the body is made up of iron, sodium, carbon, nickel, cobalt, etc. You will know it when there is deficiency. They say there is iron deficiency, you should eat of lot of Spinach. It is made of all those things and therefore, सर्वाणि भूतानि – the entire visible matter is अक्षरः पुरुषः and कूटस्थः अक्षरः उच्यते, कूटस्थः means the unmanifest matter. It is a very misleading word, because the word कूटस्थः has come in the 8th chapter and in the 12th chapter. If you don't remember, you are blessed. If you remember by mistake, in those two chapters, the word कूटस्थः has a different meaning. Therefore in this context, the word कूटस्थः means unmanifest matter, माया तत्त्वम्. And since this माया is relatively eternal, it is called कूटस्थः. कूटस्थः means relatively eternal. कूटस्थः the unmanifest matter is अक्षर उच्यते, means it is called अक्षर पुरुषः. So in this श्लोक what has He said, manifest matter is क्षर पुरुषः, unmanifest matter is अक्षर पुरुषः. After that what? Go to the next verse;

Verse No .17

उत्तमः पुरुषस्त्वन्यः परमात्मेत्युदाहृतः ।

यो लोकत्रयमाविश्य बिभर्त्यव्यय ईश्वरः ॥ १५-१७॥

उत्तमः पुरुषः तु अन्यः परम्-आत्मा इति उदाहृतः ।

यः लोक-त्रयम् आविश्य बिभर्ति अव्ययः ईश्वरः ॥ १५-१७॥

उत्तमः पुरुषः तु अन्यः (अस्ति), (सः) परम्-आत्मा इति उदाहृतः यः अव्ययः ईश्वरः लोक-त्रयम् आविश्य (तत्) बिभर्ति ।

अन्यः – so there is a different principle, a third principle other than क्षरः and अक्षरः पुरुषः. Other than the manifest and unmanifest matter, there is a principle which is called चैतन्यम्. Since we used the word Consciousness here, we have to supply; अन्यः means the चैतन तत्त्वम्. How do you know? Because the previous two are अचेतन तत्त्वम्s, so this is चैतन तत्त्वम्. And what is the चैतन तत्त्वम्? उत्तमः पुरुषः is the third component of this creation, which is called उत्तमः पुरुषः. And what is its nature? You have to supply, this उत्तमः पुरुषः चैतन्यम् is निर्गुणम्, निर्विकारम्, निर्विकल्पम् and सत्यम्. That सत्यम् must be remembered very well, should be remembered very well because otherwise you will wonder there are three तत्त्वम्s, how do you talk about अद्वैतम्. Even though we have enumerated three तत्त्वम्s, क्षरः, अक्षरः, उत्तमः, still we say अद्वैतम् because two of them are मिथ्या, मिथ्या means unreal and therefore, those two cannot be counted. सत्यम् is only one. And therefore it is उत्तमः पुरुषः, सत्य तत्त्वम् इति. And this उत्तमः पुरुषः, the चैतन्यम्, is known as परमात्मा इति उदाहृतः – in all the उपनिषत्s this Consciousness-principle is called परमात्मा.

उपद्रष्टा अनुमन्ता च भर्ता भोक्ता महेश्वरः ।

परमात्मा इति च अपि उक्तः देहे अस्मिन् पुरुषः परः ॥ १३-२२॥

It comes in the 13th chapter. परमात्मा इति उदाहृतः. What is the function of this उत्तमः पुरुषः? We know the functions of the matter, manifest and unmanifest matter, its functions we know, because all the sciences are dealing with matter and energy. And all the advancements are in the field of matter and energy. Now the question of what is function and role of the उत्तमः पुरुषः, the परमात्मा? कृष्ण says: यः – this उत्तमः पुरुषः is लोक-त्रयम् आविश्य – pervades all the three universes, all the three worlds. आविश्य means pervades, penetrates, inheres. And here the word लोक-त्रयम् represents क्षरः, अक्षरः पुरुषः. So लोक-त्रयम् आविश्य means pervading the matter-principle, what does the उत्तमः पुरुषः do? बिभर्ति, बिभर्ति means sustains, supports, lends existence, exactly like what? Gold pervades all the ornaments and lends existence, wood pervades all the furniture and lends existence, water pervades all the waves and lends existence. Minus gold, no ornaments. Minus wood, no furniture. Minus water, no wave. Minus उत्तमः पुरुषः, there can be neither क्षरः पुरुषः nor अक्षरः पुरुषः. No matter or energy is possible without Consciousness-principle. Consciousness is the very substance behind matter and energy. And therefore लोक-त्रयम् आविश्य बिभर्ति, सत्ता स्फूर्तिं प्रदाता भवति and अव्ययः – even though the Consciousness pervades the changing matter, even though the Consciousness pervades the changing matter, Consciousness itself does not undergo any change. In the movie, the characters may move, the vehicles may run, but the screen does not run (not doesn't run, but should not run). In fact, in the presence of the stationary screen alone all the movements are possible. Similarly, in the presence of the motionless Consciousness alone all the changes of the universe are possible. That anchor of the universe is Consciousness. Therefore अव्ययः. अव्ययः means changeless. And not only that ईश्वरः, ईश्वरः means this Consciousness even though pervades the changing matter, the Consciousness is not affected by, not tormented by whatever happens in the material universe. The body may be born, it may grow old and it may die at the individual level, upheavals may take place in the cosmos, there may be atomic explosions, whatever happens to matter, Consciousness is unaffected. Therefore it is called master, स्वतन्त्रः. ईश्वरः means master of matter, not the slave of matter. Consciousness is not a slave of matter, that means whatever happens to matter, Consciousness is असङ्गः. 'What can the days do to me? What can the planet looking for me, do to me? What can the results of my past deeds do to me?' All the नवग्रहs may affect the body, नवग्रहs cannot affect the चैतन्य आत्मतत्त्वम् अच्छेद्यः अयम् अदाह्यः अयम्, etc., you have to remember. Therefore, Consciousness is the real God, ईश्वरः. Continuing;

Verse No .18

यस्मात्क्षरमतीतोऽहमक्षरादपि चोत्तमः ।

अतोऽस्मि लोके वेदे च प्रथितः पुरुषोत्तमः ॥ १७-१८॥

यस्मात् क्षरम् अतीतः अहम् अक्षरात् अपि च उत्तमः ।

अतः अस्मि लोके वेदे च प्रथितः पुरुषोत्तमः ॥ १७-१८॥

यस्मात् अहम् क्षरम् अतीतः, अक्षरात् अपि च उत्तमः (अस्मि), अतः (अहम्) लोके वेदे च पुरुषोत्तमः इति प्रथितः अस्मि ।

This third component, viz., the Consciousness-principle is क्षरम् अतीतः. अतीतः means superior to, Consciousness is superior to क्षरः पुरुष, क्षरम् means manifest matter, Consciousness is superior to the manifest matter. And also अक्षरात् अपि उत्तमः – Consciousness is superior to even unmanifest matter. It is superior to even all forms of energy. That is why we should remember, Consciousness is not a form of energy. Consciousness is a principle distinct from and superior to all forms of energy, because energy is only unmanifest matter. Therefore कृष्ण says Consciousness is superior to manifest matter and unmanifest matter. And in संस्कृत, the word उत्तमः means superior most. उत्तमः means superior most. And since the Consciousness is superior to both क्षरः and अक्षरः पुरुषः, it has been given the title उत्तमः पुरुषः. अतः – therefore, therefore means what? Being the superior most प्रथितः – the Consciousness is well-known, as what? उत्तमः पुरुषः or if you reverse it, पुरुषोत्तमः. The Consciousness is well-known as पुरुषोत्तमः, being the उत्तमः पुरुषः. And where is it well-known? लोके च वेदे च – both in the world of people as well as in the scriptures. Both in the world and in the scriptures it is called उत्तमः पुरुषः or पुरुषोत्तमः. But here कृष्ण does a small mischief, instead of saying Consciousness is superior कृष्ण quietly identifies with that Consciousness claiming it as His real nature. And therefore अर्जुन that Consciousness is Myself. Don't look at My body. My body is क्षरः पुरुषः. Don't look at my body. Then who am I? I am the Consciousness-principle behind the कृष्ण शरीरम् and therefore that is My real nature and therefore I would say I am the उत्तमः पुरुषः, superior to क्षरः पुरुषः and superior to अक्षरः पुरुषः. Therefore I am उत्तमः पुरुषः. And therefore I am called पुरुषोत्तमः. Therefore कृष्ण says: अहम् instead of the word 'चैतन्यम्' He uses 'Myself'. Therefore when we say Lord कृष्ण is पुरुषोत्तमः, we are not referring to कृष्ण शरीरम्, we are not referring to सगुण कृष्ण, we are referring to the निर्गुण कृष्ण, who is चैतन्य स्वरूपः. And therefore, I am पुरुषोत्तमः. So with this, कृष्ण concludes the definition of the word पुरुषोत्तमः. And because of this reason alone this chapter is called पुरुषोत्तमः योग and now कृष्ण says the aim of every spiritual seeker is the knowledge of पुरुषोत्तमः. पुरुषोत्तमः ज्ञानम् is the aim of every seeker. So He says,

Verse No .19

यो मामेवमसम्मूढो जानाति पुरुषोत्तमम् ।

स सर्वविद्भजति मां सर्वभावेन भारत ॥ १७-१९॥

यः माम् एवम् असम्मूढः जानाति पुरुषोत्तमम् ।

सः सर्व-वित् भजति माम् सर्व-भावेन भारत ॥ १७-१९॥

हे भारत! यः असम्मूढः माम् पुरुषोत्तमम् एवम् जानाति, सः सर्व-वित् (भूत्वा) माम् सर्व-भावेन भजति ।

So here the Lord says all the intelligent people of the world will not go after क्षरः पुरुषः, they will not go after अक्षरः पुरुषः, they will go after उत्तमः पुरुषः, पुरुषोत्तमः, the निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म. Whereas deluded people alone will be materialistic people. What do you mean materialistic people? Going after manifest matter or unmanifest matter and they are सम्मूढः deluded people, whereas असम्मूढः – a विवेकिः, a साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्नः will go after उत्तमः पुरुषः, पुरुषोत्तमः, by following कर्म, उपासना and ज्ञानयोग. Ultimately what will they do? पुरुषोत्तमम् जानाति – they will come to know पुरुषोत्तम, the निर्गुण, निर्विकार, निर्विकल्प, चेतन, ब्रह्म तत्त्वम् जानाति. So intelligent people know the पुरुषोत्तमम्, and those people सः सर्व-वित् भवति – they are called the omniscient ones, because by knowing ब्रह्मन्, they have known everything because ब्रह्मन् alone is everything. ब्रह्मन् alone is everything and therefore, knowing ब्रह्मन् is knowing everything. एक विज्ञानेन सर्व विज्ञानम्. Therefore, सः सर्व-वित् भजति, पुरुषोत्तमम् ज्ञानेन सर्व-वित् भवति and thereafter he will continue to worship Me, but his worship will be of a higher order. So कृष्ण says सः सर्व-भावेन माम् भजति – such a ज्ञानि will worship Me in totality, wholeheartedly, fully, he will worship me. And what do you mean by wholeheartedly or fully worshipping? शङ्कराचार्य says, the worship will be in the form of the knowledge that that पुरुषोत्तमः is none other than I, the आत्म चैतन्यम्. That all-pervading Consciousness पुरुषोत्तमः is I, the Consciousness, obtaining within my body-mind-complex. And therefore, a ज्ञानि worships in the form of अद्वैत भक्ति. So सर्व-भावेन means अद्वैत-भावेन, अभेद-भावेन. And in the 7th chapter, कृष्ण talked about four layers of भक्ति, आर्त भक्ति, अर्थार्थी भक्ति, जिज्ञासु भक्ति and ज्ञानि भक्ति and there कृष्ण said ज्ञानि भक्ति is the highest भक्ति, that is अद्वैत भक्ति. I don't whether you remember. If you have forgotten, please revise. He enters the अभेद ज्ञानि भक्ति. So सः सर्व-भावेन माम् भजति. Continuing; कृष्ण concludes:

Verse No .20

इति गुह्यतमं शास्त्रमिदमुक्तं मयानघ ।

एतद्बुद्ध्वा बुद्धिमान्स्यात्कृतकृत्यश्च भारत ॥ १५-२०॥

इति गुह्यतमम् शास्त्रम् इदम् उक्तम् मया अनघ ।

एतत् बुद्ध्वा बुद्धिमान् स्यात् कृतकृत्यः च भारत ॥ १५-२०॥

हे अनघ!! इति गुह्यतमम् इदम् शास्त्रम् मया उक्तम् हे भारत! एतत् बुद्ध्वा (जीवः) बुद्धिमान् कृतकृत्यः च स्यात् ।

इदम् उक्तम् शास्त्रम् गुह्यतमम्. This teaching about सर्वात्मकम् ब्रह्म, this teaching about पुरुषोत्तमः, both are one and same, सर्वात्मकम् ब्रह्म or पुरुषोत्तमः are one and the same. This teaching about ब्रह्मन् or पुरुषोत्तमः, this ब्रह्मविद्या or पुरुषोत्तमः विद्या is गुह्यतमम् – the greatest secret not available that easily. You may go all over the world, there may be so many universities giving varieties of courses and there may be additions of newer and newer courses, but all those courses will be dealing with what? Either क्षरः पुरुषः or अक्षरः पुरुषः. All the researches in the world happening, they are dealing with what? क्षरः or अक्षरः, all objective sciences are material sciences, all the material sciences are क्षरः, अक्षरः पुरुषः विद्या and मुण्डकोपनिषत् calls them, अपरा विद्या, they are all inferior sciences, whereas परा विद्या is that which is the study of पुरुषोत्तमः, the निर्गुण चैतन्यम्. In fact, some of the scientists claim and assert that the material sciences can never study Consciousness. Therefore if you want that knowledge, that is very very rarely available अर्जुन and I have told you that secret. So इदम् मया उक्तम्. And why I choose you for teaching? Firstly you asked, that is important and secondly you deserved the teaching also, because you are अनघ, अनघ means what pure minded. अघम् means पापम्, अनघ means पाप रहितः, शुद्ध पुरुषः. Since you are pure one I chose to give you this teaching. एतत् बुद्ध्वा – may you receive this teaching and assimilate this teaching. And how should you assimilate? By practicing that उत्तमः पुरुषः, I am. I am neither the body which is the क्षरः पुरुषः, nor the mind which is also क्षरः पुरुषः, nor even the कारण शरीरम् which is अक्षरः पुरुषः. You can connect to माण्डूक्य also, I am not the प्रथम, द्वितीय पाद, which is the क्षरः पुरुषः, I am not the तृतीय पाद, which is the अक्षरः पाद, but I am the तुरीयम्, which is the उत्तमः पुरुषः. In fact, the word उत्तमः पुरुषः and this is the teaching given in the 8th chapter of the छान्दोग्योपनिषत्. That is the basis for the 15th chapter. So एतत् बुद्ध्वा – may you receive and assimilate and बुद्धिमान् स्यात् – may you become बुद्धिमान्, बुद्धिमान् means wise person. Until now you are बुद्धु man (simpleton). So until now you were बुद्धु-man (Man, English man), may you become बुद्धिमान्, may you become wise person. Then you will ask the fundamental question what will I get out of it? That is the question, कृष्ण says, there is a practical benefit, what is that practical benefit, this knowledge alone will give you fulfillment in life. कृतकृत्यः भव – you will get fulfillment only by this knowledge. Nothing else will give you fulfillment, even if it gives fulfillment it is a fake and temporary fulfillment. Sooner or later, you are again ready for next thing. ‘Then what?’ Therefore the journey of fulfillment ends only when you get this wisdom. Therefore, पुरुषोत्तम ज्ञानेन तृप्तिः भवति. आत्मनि एव आत्मना तृप्तः भवति, हे भारत! हे अर्जुन! So with this कृष्ण completes this teaching, giving the फलम् of this knowledge.

ॐ तत्सदिति श्रीमद्भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायां योगशास्त्रे श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे पुरुषोत्तमयोगो नाम पञ्चदशोऽध्यायः ॥ १५॥

CHAPTER 15, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the fifteen chapter of the गीता, which we completed in the last class. The 15th chapter, titled पुरुषोत्तम योगः, is a very popular chapter. Many people learn it by-heart, because in many places, people have to chant it compulsorily to get food!! Therefore, many people learn it by-heart and some people learn it because it is one of the shortest chapters and therefore useful for regular पाठ्यक्रमम् and some people learn it because it is one of the most significant and complete chapters of the भगवद्गीता. This contains all the important features of the उपनिषत्s. सर्व उपनिषत् सार essence is contained in this chapter and therefore this is a very very significant chapter. And for the convenience of our summarization, I will divide the chapter into five portions and then summarize each portion.

- i) The first topic is संसार वर्णनम्, the description of संसार, transmigration.
- ii) The second topic is मोक्ष साधनानि, the spiritual disciplines leading to liberation.
- iii) The third topic is ब्रह्मणः सर्वात्मकत्वम्, ब्रह्मन् being in the form of everything. ब्रह्मन् as everything. ब्रह्मणः सर्वात्मकत्वम्.
- iv) Then the fourth topic is ब्रह्मणः पुरुषोत्तमत्वम्, ब्रह्मन् being पुरुषोत्तम,
- v) And then the fifth and final topic is ब्रह्मज्ञानम् फलम् च. The knowledge of such a ब्रह्मन् and the benefit of such a knowledge.

These are the five topics of this chapter. We will take one by one and summarize.

- 1) The first topic is संसार वर्णनम् which we get in the first 2-1/2 verses. In this Lord कृष्ण compares the whole universe to a huge अश्वत्थ tree, a huge fig tree or peepal tree, because of several common features between the tree and the universe. And कृष्ण himself mentions several common features between the अश्वत्थ वृक्ष and the whole universe. I don't want to go to the details. I have enumerated several common features. And among several common features, there is one significant feature which we have to note and remember. And कृष्ण has not mentioned that feature in the 15th chapter but we have to borrow that from the उपनिषत्s, because this comparison is not कृष्ण's own invention but it is borrowed from two उपनिषत्s. One is कठोपनिषत् where this comparison is elaborately given.

तदेव शुक्रम् तद्ब्रह्म तदेवामृतमुच्यते ।

तस्मिँल्लोकाः श्रिताः सर्वे तदु नात्येति कश्चन । ॥ कठोपनिषत् २-३-१ ॥

This is a कठोपनिषत् मन्त्र, from which Lord कृष्ण has borrowed this imagery. Also the same comparison comes in मुण्डकोपनिषत् also.

द्वा सुपर्णा सयुजा सखाया समानम् वृक्षम् परिषस्वजाते ।

तयोरन्यः पिप्पलम् स्वाद्वत्यन्नश्नन्नन्यो अभिचाकशीति ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-१-१ ॥

In कठोपनिषत्, the tree is called अश्वत्थ वृक्ष and मुण्डकोपनिषत्, it is called पिप्पलम्, अश्वत्थ and पिप्पलम् means the same. In the मुण्डकोपनिषत्, all the जीवराशिस or living beings are compared to the birds which are which are seated or perched on the संसार tree. If the whole universe is comparable to a tree, all the living beings are comparable to the birds which are seated on different branches of the tree, higher, lower and middle branches. And not only we are the birds seated on the संसार tree, we are constantly consuming the fruits which comes in the संसार वृक्ष and therefore the जीव bird is eating the fruit which comes in the संसार tree. And those fruits produced by the संसार tree, are of two types, one is called सुख फलम् and another is called दुःख फलम्, the fruit of pleasure and the fruit of pain. One is tasty fruit, another is a bitter fruit. And therefore through the imagery, Lord कृष्ण points out that the universe is going to constantly give us pleasures and pains. Just as tasty and bitter fruits are produced by the tree, the world will constantly produce pleasures and pains and as birds, we the जीवs, will have to constantly experience pleasure and pain. Which means nobody can uniformly expect pleasures, nobody need worry about uniform pain also, life will give you a mixture of pleasure and pain. And therefore pleasures and pains are like the two sides of one coin, you can never have one alone. Just as a one-sided coin is impossible, mere pleasures also is impossible, mere pain also doesn't exist. And therefore in life, we have only two options, in life we have got only two options. What are those two options?

➤ Welcome the pleasures and be ready to consume the attendant pains also. Welcome the pleasures, with a readiness to consume the painful experiences also, this is one option.

➤ And the second option is what? Reject all the pains but along with the pains, you have reject or forgo the worldly pleasures also.

Either accept both or reject both. The idea of welcoming one alone and giving up the other, simply is impossible. So accept both or reject both. But the problem is if we have to accept both, or reject both, both options require tremendous mental strength. Whether you choose to accept both or whether you choose to reject both, both options require tremendous mental strength. Because when you are accepting both, you should have the mental strength to withstand the pain. When you reject both, you should have the mental strength to give up the worldly pleasures. Both require mental strength. And the problem of human being is he is weak in his mind. The problem is not with the world, the problem of the human being is, he is weak in mind and therefore neither he is able to accept both nor is he able to reject both. Sometimes he feels like accepting everything, so that he can enjoy a wonderful life and when the pains also come, then he says, स्वामिजि, I feel like to run away leaving everything behind. When he runs away to a quiet place, he cannot stay there for more than a week. That becomes a miserable life, then he feels coming to the city and leaving with everything is wonderful. When in चेन्नै, ऋषिकेश seems to be wonderful, in ऋषिकेश, चेन्नै seems to be wonderful. Problem is neither with ऋषिकेश nor with चेन्नै, the problem is inside. And therefore संसार is because of the mental weakness of the human being, because of which he is neither able to accept both pleasures and pain nor is he able to renounce both pleasure and pain. Neither he is able to take गृहस्थ आश्रम nor is he able to take to संन्यास आश्रम. In गृहस्थ आश्रम, संन्यास आश्रम seems to be better and in संन्यास आश्रम, गृहस्थ आश्रम seems to be better. The problem is not with the आश्रम, the problem is inside. And therefore the solution is not changing the world, because the nature of the world is that it is a mixture of pleasure and pain. Therefore the solution is removing the weakness from the mind and gathering, collecting inner strength. Once I gather inner strength, I can choose any of the option. I will have the strength to give up both or I will have the strength to welcome both, I will be able to remain in गृहस्थ आश्रम or I will be able to remain in संन्यास आश्रम, I will be able to remain in an active life or I will be able to remain in a secluded life. So secluded life is also not better, active life is also not better, problem is neither with activity nor seclusion, the problem is with the mind. And therefore freedom from संसार is freedom from mental weakness. Therefore मोक्ष is transformation of the mind. मन एव मनुष्याणाम् कारणम् बन्धमोक्षयोः. Mind alone is the cause of bondage, mind alone is the cause of liberation. The weak mind is the cause of bondage, strong mind is the cause of liberation. So this idea is indirectly conveyed through संसार वर्णनम्, in the first two and half verses of this chapter.

2) Then comes the second topic from the second half of the 3rd verse up to the 6th verse. Verse no.3 to verse no.6, is the next topic. How do you make the mind strong? What is the method of strengthening the mind, so that I can be in गृहस्थ आश्रम and enjoy the pleasures of the family members and also the problems caused by relationship. Every relationship has two sides. Or I can give up all relationship and take संन्यास and enjoy that state also. How to strengthen the mind, कृष्ण prescribes four-fold disciplines. Four साधनs are mentioned.

i) वैराग्यम्, ii) सत्-गुणाः, iii) शरणागतिः and iv) आत्मा विचारः or शास्त्र विचारः.

वैराग्यम्, सत्-गुणाः, शरणागतिः and शास्त्र विचारः.

1) What do you mean by वैराग्यम्? वैराग्यम् is freedom from addictions, freedom from slavery, with regard to the तामसिक and राजसिक pursuits of life. Freedom from addiction to तामसिक and राजसिक pursuits of life. What do you mean by तामसिक pursuits? Any अधार्मिक activity, unrighteous activity, improper activity, unethical activity or pursuit is called तामसिक pursuit, I have to give up all such addictions and pursuits of improper nature. That is de-addiction No.1. And the second de-addiction is from राजसिक pursuits. And that is धार्मिक materialistic activities are called राजसिक pursuits. I take to धार्मिक activities only but they are all materialistic in nature. They are called राजसिक pursuit. The तामसिक addiction will lead to spiritual downfall, राजसिक addiction will lead to spiritual stagnation. तामसिक pursuits will lead to spiritual downfall and राजसिक pursuits will not lead to downfall, but it will lead to spiritual stagnation and therefore reduction of the अधार्मिक activities and the reduction of धार्मिक materialistic activities is called वैराग्यम्. And how do you remove those two addictions or at least reduce those two addictions? The method is forming a new addiction. You have to remove a thorn with another thorn. Remove addiction with addiction. So, तामसिक and राजसिक addictions are balanced or reduced by forming सात्त्विक addictions, like attending गीता class, I have to make sure that you keep coming. So therefore सात्त्विक addictions are good addictions which will reduce तामसिक and राजसिक addiction. Then you will ask स्वामिजि how to handle सात्त्विक addiction. Let सात्त्विक addiction come first, why are you bothered about handling that now? We will see that when we face it. We do have methods of handling सात्त्विक addictions also later and therefore, सत्सङ्ग as well as शास्त्रीय study, etc., are सात्त्विक addiction, which will promote वैराग्यम्. सत्सङ्गत्वे निरसङ्गत्वम्. This is वैराग्यम्.

2) The second साधन is सत्-गुणाः. Developing वेदान्त friendly virtues. Developing virtues which are conducive to वेदान्त, conducive to spiritual growth. We have already seen a big list in the 13th chapter, from the 8th verse up to the 12th verse. अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, etc., कृष्ण reminds them in this chapter, निर्मान मोह, जितसङ्गदोषाः, निर्मान means अमानित्वम्. Thus developing healthy virtues, moral values is the second spiritual discipline.

3) Then the third one is श्रणागतिः. What do you mean श्रणागतिः? A very important spiritual discipline. It is developing a particular attitude in life. श्रणागति is cultivating a particular attitude. What is that attitude? Whatever choice-less situations I face in life, whatever helpless, choice-less situations I face in life, they are all specially sent by the Lord for me, made to order, specially designed and sent to me by the Lord for the sake of my spiritual refinement and growth. A very difficult attitude but we have to cultivate that. That is why I used the word to cultivate. It will not come easily. You will only get angry with God. Whenever a choice-less situation comes, especially unfavorable choice-less situation. Any unfavorable choice-less situation comes, I cannot change the situation. Why? Choice-less I have said, स्वामिजि how to change the choice-less situation? I have said that it is choice-less, since choice-less situations cannot be changed, work on changing your attitude. Intelligence is working to change what can be changed. Intelligence is working to change on what can be changed. Therefore in all choice-less unfavorable situations, I work on 'my mind', because I can work on my mind only. And what is the direction of the work? Changing the attitude. And what is the attitude? I require that situation. I require that situation. And it is specially designed by the Lord and He has sent it to me. This is very very difficult attitude. If you can develop this attitude, this is called शरणागतिः. This is the third साधन. And also शरणागति includes, seeking Lord's help for the spiritual growth, so that I will convert the choice-less situations into a spiritual ladder. Seeking Lord's help so that I will convert choice-less situations into a spiritual ladder or stepping stone. This is called शरणागतिः. So, वैराग्यम्, शरणागतिः and सत्-गुणाः are over.

4) Then the fourth one is शास्त्र विचारः, study of Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent आचार्य or गुरु is called शास्त्र विचारः.

All these four will cumulatively contribute to the reinforcement of the strengthening of the mind, which will lead to मोक्ष. मोक्ष means freedom from mental weakness.

विसृज्य सशरम् चापं शोक-संविग्न-मानसः ॥ १-४७॥

अर्जुन, the bravest warrior, was tormented by mental pain when a crisis situation arose. And how does this work the four-fold साधन? How does it work? That also कृष्ण said, the four-fold साधन will lead you to ब्रह्म प्राप्तिः. It will take you to ब्रह्मन्, which is the only source of strength in the creation. It will lead you to ब्रह्मन्, which is the only source of strength in this universe, ब्रह्म प्राप्तिः. And of course you should make a note, when we say that it will lead you to ब्रह्मन्, don't imagine ब्रह्मन् is sitting in मुम्बई or कोलकाता or somewhere and it will be taken to; the साधन will lead you to ब्रह्मन्, which is your inner higher real nature. You will fall back to yourself. This ब्रह्म प्राप्ति is called मोक्ष. And then कृष्ण defines that ब्रह्मन् also in an important verse,

न तद्भासयते सूर्यो न शशाङ्को न पावकः ।

यद्गत्वा न निवर्तन्ते तद्भाम परमं मम ॥ १५-६॥

A very important definition of ब्रह्मन् based on the Upanishadic मन्त्र, occurring in कठोपनिषत् and मुण्डकोपनिषत्.

न तत्र सूर्यो भाति न चन्द्रतारकम् । ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् २-२-१०॥

That Upanishadic verse is paraphrased and in that definition कृष्ण points out that the ब्रह्मन् is nothing but the pure Consciousness which is formless all-pervading entity, which Consciousness objectifies everything and which Consciousness cannot be objectified by anyone. Unobjectifiable-subject. That Consciousness, that witness चैतन्यम् is ब्रह्मन्, सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्म. This is the second topic. मोक्ष साधनानि.

3) Now we will go to the third topic, from verse no.7 to 15 and in this Lord कृष्ण points out that ब्रह्मन् alone appears or manifests in the form of the world. There is no world other than ब्रह्मन्. ब्रह्मन् is the only substance. Consciousness is the only basic substance. There is no such thing called matter. And this ब्रह्मन्, this Consciousness alone with different names and forms appears as the material universe. Consciousness plus name and form is equal to space. Consciousness plus name and form is equal to air. Consciousness plus name and form is fire. आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः, पृथिवी and all the elemental products: भूत भौतिक प्रपञ्चः सर्वः अपि ब्रह्म एव. ब्रह्मम् व्यतिरिक्तम् किञ्चिद् अपि वस्तु अणुमात्रम् अपि वस्तु नैव आसीत्, नैव अस्ति, नैव भविष्यति. Are you understanding? So if you think that there is a substance called ornament, it is a delusion, there is no substance called ornament, the substance is only gold, we are wrongly attributing substantiality to ornament. We are wrongly attributing substantially to the furniture. Furnitures are not there. Then what is there? Wood. This the wooden headed fellow does not understand. Clay headed one does not understand that the clay is the truth. Wooden headed fellow does not understand the wood is the truth. Similarly, वेदान्त says that there is only one substance called Consciousness, the formless Consciousness manifests as the formed materials of the creation. The intangible Consciousness manifests as the tangible material universe. So ब्रह्म एव जगत् रूपेण वर्तते. And here also the whole world is नाम-रूप, but in this नाम-रूप also, there are two varieties, there are two varieties of नाम-रूप. What are those two varieties? One variety of नाम-रूप is that which manifests the existence-nature of ब्रह्मन्, सत्-रूपम् of ब्रह्मन् alone it manifests and that is not able to manifest the चित् aspect and therefore that part of the creation exists but it is only inert in nature. But there is another set of नाम-रूप, which is able to manifest, not only the Existence the सत् nature, but also it is able to manifest the चित् or Consciousness nature also. Like the physical body it manifests ब्रह्मन्'s Existence also and also Consciousness. Here सत् and चित् is known outside, but when you look at this mike, only the Existence you are able to appreciate, Consciousness it is not able to manifest. To give an example, suppose you heat a piece of metal and a glass of water. You heat a piece of metal and a glass of water. The heat principle, the fire principle will pervade the metal also, the fire principle will pervade the water also, when it comes in contact with fire. We know the fire has got two attributes. What are the two attributes of fire? Heat is one, light is the other, it has got उष्णत्वम् and प्रकाशत्वम्, the fire pervades the metal also, the fire pervades the water also. But you find interestingly the metal because of the contact with fire, borrows the heat from the fire. Therefore the metal becomes hot, if you have doubt, touch and see. And not only the metal borrows the heat, the metal becomes bright also, shining also, with a red hot metal, glowing metal. Therefore metal manifests उष्णत्वम् and प्रकाशत्वम् of the fire. Whereas what about water? Water comes in contact with fire, but water borrows only the heat part of the fire, water never becomes bright. It doesn't borrow the light. Both are materials, but one is capable of borrowing only one feature, the other is capable of borrowing two features. Similarly, in the universe, some part will borrow सत् अंश, another part borrows सत् and the चित् अंश, wherever सत् and चित् are there, that is called sentient part of the universe, wherever सत् alone is manifest, it is called insentient universe. Thus ब्रह्मन् is manifest in the universe in the form of सत् in some portions, in the form of सत् and चित् and when the चित् is manifest in some portion, it is called the जीवः. When सत् alone is manifest, it is called जगत्. Thus ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of the insentient जगत् also, ब्रह्मन् alone is in the form of sentient जीव also. जीव रूपेण जगत् रूपेण, सत्-रूपेण चित्-रूपेण, the ब्रह्मन् is everywhere. And कृष्ण concludes that portion saying when ब्रह्मन् is manifest in this whole creation, just as gold is manifest in all ornaments, ब्रह्मन् is manifest. If a person misses this ब्रह्मन्, which is evident everywhere, that person must be a very very gross and unrefined person. Like looking at the ornaments and missing the gold. Looking at the electrical gadgets and missing the electricity. Similarly, looking at all living beings, if I miss the Consciousness in everyone,

उत्क्रामन्तं स्थितं वापि भुञ्जानं वा गुणान्वितम् ।

विमूढा नानुपश्यन्ति पश्यन्ति ज्ञानचक्षुषः ॥ १५-१०॥

My capacity to talk is an expression of the Consciousness-principle and your capacity to hear is an expression of Consciousness-principle, minus Consciousness I cannot talk and you cannot hear. And if a person misses this Consciousness it is his problem. And for a person who has prepared the mind, ब्रह्मन् is appreciated everywhere. पश्यन्ति ज्ञान-चक्षुषः. This is the third topic. ब्रह्मन् being चेतन-अचेतन प्रपञ्चः or सर्वात्मकत्वम्.

4) Then the fourth topic from the 16th to 18th verse is ब्रह्मणः पुरुषोत्तमत्वम्, ब्रह्मन् being पुरुषोत्तमः. And to convey this idea, Lord कृष्ण divides the whole universe into three parts, three components. What are those three?

A. No.1, manifest matter, the material universe which is manifest, manifest meaning the visible to the sense organs and

B. The second part is unmanifest matter, that matter which is not sensorially perceptible or tangible. You can call it energy. We will use the word unmanifest matter, MM and UM.

C. And then beyond these two matter and energy, there is the third part, which is the all-pervading Consciousness-principle, which is a distinct entity, which alone we called in तत्त्वबोध, the original Consciousness, OC. MM, UM and OC. OC means the original Consciousness, which is not part of matter, which is not product of matter, which is not property of matter, but it is an independent entity.

The first one is called क्षरः पुरुषः, the second one is called अक्षरः पुरुषः and the third one is called उत्तमः पुरुषः. And कृष्ण says, of these three factors, the third one Consciousness alone is the greatest principle, is the highest principle. The word उत्तमः means the greatest उत्कृष्टतम, उत्तमः. What is the reason? Because matter cannot exist independent of Consciousness, whereas Consciousness can exist independent of matter. Consciousness alone lends existence to the matter. Therefore, क्षरः पुरुषः is inferior, अक्षरः पुरुषः manifest and unmanifest matter and when I say matter, it includes the reflected Consciousness also. Even if I don't say, include it. RC is also included in क्षरः पुरुषः. And in अक्षरः पुरुषः also RC, if you don't know what is RC, I don't want to get into that. Just take it as matter. Matter is inferior, OC the original Consciousness is उत्तमः पुरुषः. And this उत्तमः पुरुषः alone is reversed and called पुरुषोत्तमः. And Lord कृष्ण says this उत्तमः पुरुषः or पुरुषोत्तम is My real and higher nature, which was called in the 7th chapter as परा प्रकृतिः. The उत्तमः पुरुषः of the 15th chapter is the परा प्रकृतिः of the 7th chapter. Therefore अर्जुनः real God is formless Consciousness. The real God is formless Consciousness and He is not (one should not say HE) and that God is not located anywhere. That formless, intangible Consciousness which is the real God is all-pervading. Then all the forms attributed to God in the religious scriptures are temporarily given as a stepping stone to go to the formless god. From the form you go to the formless. Form is the stepping stone to the formless one.

निर्विशेषम् परम् ब्रह्म साक्षात् कर्तुम् अनीश्वराः ।

ये मन्दाः तेऽनुकम्प्यन्ते सविशेषनिरूपणैः ॥ अप्यस्य दीक्षितर् ॥

Every person in the beginning is not capable of appreciating the formless God. The attributeless God everybody cannot understand, because मन्दाः. उपनिषत्s says मन्दाः. For them you give a support: राम form, कृष्ण form and that is why we have no quarrel with any form that you choose. As a इष्ट देवता, you can choose any form, but form is only a stepping stone, the destination is not form. Destination is the formless. And when you reach the destination, formless-विष्णु is identical with formless शिव, who is identical with formless कृष्ण, who is identical with formless राम. Why do you quarrel? That I am शैव, I am वैष्णव. Religious quarrels are meaningless if religion is understood properly. That is why somebody said that we have enough religion for quarrel, but we don't have enough religion to live harmoniously, because it is not understood properly. Thus formless पुरुषोत्तम is the real कृष्ण, who says? कृष्ण says. So where is He? Here itself. So this is the पुरुषोत्तम topic. Very important because of which the chapter is called पुरुषोत्तम योगः

5) Then the last topic end two verses, 19 and 20, कृष्ण talks about ब्रह्मज्ञानम् हे अर्जुन! Everyone has to attain this ब्रह्मज्ञानम् to derive mental strength, so that you can live a life of a गृहस्थ or you can live a life of संन्यासि, without any burden. Therefore ज्ञानम् is the destination of all and the benefit of this ज्ञानम् is कृतकृत्यः च भारत. You will attain total fulfillment. कृतकृत्यत्वम् means total fulfillment in life. You will feel that the life has been a meaningful life. To make the life meaningful, you have to attain this ज्ञानम्. This ज्ञानम् and फलम्, the fifth and final topic of the 15th chapter is over.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय

CHAPTER 16, VERSE 01

Having completed the 15th chapter, now we will enter into the 16th chapter of the गीता. The two chapters the 16th and 17th have got a subject matter, which is different from the main subject matter of the previous three chapters, 13th, 14th and 15th. There is a shift in कृष्ण's teaching. And this shift in the subject matter is based on a very important principle and that principle is the goal of life of a person, a person's goal of life and a person's way of life, both of them are closely related. The way of life and the goal of life, when I say goal, the primary top most goal of life, these two are closely connected, each one will influence the other, the goal of life will influence my way of life and my way of life in turn will influence my goal of life also. Therefore, these two things cannot be separated and therefore, if a person wants to successfully accomplish his goal of life, he has to take into account his very way of life also. One cannot ignore the way of life and fix the goal of life alone. One should pay attention to the way of life and also it has to be made in such a way that there is alignment between the way and the goal. One should align and tune the way of life in such a way that it is conducive to the accomplishment of the goal. This our scriptures, especially the वेदs, consider very very important. You cannot hope to lead any way of life and you cannot hope to accomplish any goal of life which is totally disconnected from the way of life. It is impossible. Just as the environment and the type of plant both are interconnected. You cannot grow any type of plant in any type of atmosphere. It is impossible. Both are interconnected. And therefore, the वेदपूर्व भाग, the beginning portion of the वेदs concentrate upon the way of life and the final portion of the वेद, the वेदान्त concentrates upon the goal of life. So if we do have a particular culture, which is determined by वेद पूर्व, you can understand the significance of our culture only if you keep in mind the way वेदान्त which talks about the goal. Indian culture can never be understood without keeping वेदान्त in mind. And therefore Lord कृष्ण also feels that He has talked about the spiritual goal of life, He has talked about the Self-knowledge as the goal of life, in the 13th, 14th and 15th chapters and कृष्ण feels that His teaching is complete only when He talks about the complimentary part, viz., the way of life, which is conducive to and which will promote the goal that He has presented in the previous chapters. Therefore, previous three chapters deal with the goal, these two chapters, the 16th and the 17th deal with the way of life, because they cannot be separated. And the way of life a person leads is heavily determined by the character that a person possesses. The way of life is heavily influenced by, determined by, controlled by, directed by the character, the personality, the make-up of an individual. Therefore character determines the way of life and the way of life will determine the goal of life. Therefore all these three are interconnected - Character, Way and the Goal. And trying to tamper one alone without taking into account the other two will be a lopsided approach, which will not be successful. All the three we should take into account. And based on this, our scriptures divide or studies the character of the human being. And all possible characters. It is a full-fledged शास्त्र and our scriptures have made a thorough study of the possible human characters, because character will determine the way of life, which will in turn determine the goal. And this human character is divided into several types in different contexts, sometimes they classify into four types, sometimes they classify into three types, sometimes they classify into two types, different classifications are there depending upon the context. And for our study, we will see the three-fold classification of human character. The three-fold classification of human character.

1) The first classification is called द्वेषः प्रधान स्वभावः, a character in which lot of द्वेषः or dislike is predominant. We don't know why, it may be because of पूर्वजन्म, it may be because of present जन्म, it may be because of the childhood experiences, it may be because of the parental upbringing, it may be because of the friendship, whatever be the cause that we don't study now, one type of character is dominantly द्वेषः प्रधान, a character in which I dislike most of the things. I have complaint almost against everything. Almost a cynical character. Complaint against the government system, complaint against family members, complaint against television, complaint against anything, of course, God most complaint against. And this द्वेषः प्रधान character, as he accumulates this द्वेषः, because one is not able to express outside, because of suppression, parental suppression it might be, that saying shut up, shut up, shut up, the child has lot of complaint but could not express, if expressed will get two more. And this accumulated द्वेषः leads to lot of anger suppressed inside. Anger against everything. So द्वेषः प्रधान character is generally क्रोधः प्रधान character and this leads to हिम्सा प्रधान character, a person who is highly short tempered, highly volatile. Doesn't require any great thing. Even the smallest incidents will cause an earthquake or volcano. The शास्त्र class it राक्षस स्वभावः. Why does the शास्त्र call this राक्षस स्वभावः? Because when a person is so volatile and short tempered about to explode all the time, what will be the attitude of other people? Do the other people love to come near him or will try to run away from him? Will try to avoid him by any means. स्वामिजि says that in some houses, when the father comes from office all the children say: father has come let us go inside, as though volcano is coming. In some houses it may be mother also. So therefore, राक्षस स्वभावः is that स्वभावः from which people want to protect themselves, रक्षन्ति जनाः अस्मात् इति राक्षसः. It is derived from the root √रक्ष् to protect, a स्वभावः, from which people would love to run away, avoid, escape, save. This is called द्वेषः प्रधान स्वभावः.

This person is generally insensitive to others' feelings, generally, rude and gross minded and generally, goes on hurting people, often without his knowledge. He is like that porcupine - that one which has got the thorn. Imagine that animal runs amidst people. How will it be? Wherever he goes you get pricked. And this human being is like a porcupine. Wherever he goes, either through his words, deeds or thoughts, his travel is a devastating travel, in the process he keeps hurting people. And the tragedy is he or she doesn't even know. This is character No.1. द्वेषः प्रधान and this character is uncondusive to spiritual growth and still worse, this character brings a person down spiritually. It leads to spiritual retrogression. Not progression. This is No.1, द्वेषः प्रधान स्वभावः राक्षस स्वभावः. When you say राक्षस it need not necessarily have a protruding teeth, etc., it is the name of the character, explosive character.

2) Then comes the second character which we call रागः प्रधान स्वभावः. A स्वभावः which is heavily राग oriented, attachment oriented, which leads to lot of कामः, lot of desires. What type of desire? Desire for name, fame, money, possession, position and revelry, merry making. Life is meant for enjoyment and therefore, have a go. Let-go philosophy. They don't harm others, but they are given to likes, रागः and कामः and this स्वभावः is also supposed to be uncondusive to spiritual progress, because a person doesn't have time or inclination to turn inwards. रागः प्रधान स्वभावः is an extrovert स्वभावः, all the time bothered about these few little things, my status, etc. And this स्वभावः does not lead to spiritual downfall, because this person doesn't harm others. But this person or this character will lead to spiritual stagnation. There is no downfall, but there is no scope for spiritual growth, because generally, these people don't consider religion and spirituality is relevant for life. They wonder, for earning money and enjoying life why do we require God. One lady was telling that she wanted to bring her husband also to these classes, spirituality, वेदान्त, गीता, scriptural study. And that person argues it seems: Religion is meant for the weak minded and sick minded people. I am healthy and fine, I don't have any problem at all. Why are you unnecessarily introducing me to all these things? Most of these people belonging to the second variety, they are harmless, even well-behaved and good mannered but they tend to be नास्तिकाs. They consider religion is not required, वेदान्त is not required to lead a comfortable and happy life. In fact, they may even go one step further and say religion is a problem. Because they read lot of violence here and there and therefore, according to them, religion and spirituality contributes to only problems in society. In fact, if they are banned or abolished, it is better. This is the second variety. Materialistic people, in simple language. They won't negate God often, but they feel God is not relevant to our life. Spirituality is not relevant, scriptures are not relevant, doesn't appeal to them. And in fact, most of our youngsters are tending to this alone. There was an article, somebody gave me, in Indian Express it seems, whether it was fact or fiction we don't know. A couple had visited a family and it is in connection with some marriage proposal and after the visit, the couple had gone back, this girl says, I don't want to get married to this family at all. Why? Because they are all Talibans - afghan muslim fundamentalists. This girl's parents were shocked, why are you calling them Talibans? The reason is that both the parents have come with lot of religious marks on their forehead. Our children don't believe in it. They think that it is religious fanaticism. And that girl argues that because of these clear cut religious marks alone, we are dividing the society as हिन्दुs, Christians, Muslims and it is only causing, division, disparity and quarrel, therefore why do we require. Simple application of the विभूति or कुङ्कुम, the younger generation looks upon as religious fundamentalism. It may be a fiction, but what I want to say is the tendency of the next generation. This is रागः प्रधान स्वभावः and they are not bad or evil or immoral. They are wonderful children, thinking children, but they end up as what, materialistic people, totally away from our culture, which is a non-materialistic culture. This is the second group of people and कृष्ण calls them आसूर स्वभावः. असूरः again does not mean people with tusks and horns and all, it is derived from असुषु रमन्ते इति असूरः. असुः means the sense organs. रमन्ते means revelry. असूरः means a person or a society or a group, which values sensory revelry, noise making, merry making alone. So this स्वभावः आसूर स्वभावः. These people won't fall down spiritually, there is no scope for spiritual growth. Therefore the second character that which leads to spiritual stagnation. First one that which leads to spiritual retrogression or downfall.

3) Then comes the third character, which is ज्ञान प्रधान, which considers spiritual knowledge as the goal. That is why in सन्ध्यावन्दनम् मन्त्र is also, when the child is initiated into the sacred thread and prayers are given and in all of them what is asked for, even before the child understands what it is, what is asked for is knowledge. And knowledge, especially the spiritual knowledge, is symbolized as lamp in our culture and therefore lighting the lamp is the first thing that we do, whatever be the undertaking. Early morning start with lighting the lamp. Any function starts with lighting the lamp. Even the so-called secular functions. Film festivals. They show all violence, but the cinema actors come, nicely dressed, showing all the 32 teeth and they light the lamp, because when India turns materialistic, the spirituality cannot be taken away from India. We cannot destroy spirituality totally, in one form or the other it will come. Therefore, ज्ञान प्रधान, those who consider that ज्ञानम् is the top priority and whatever is required for that ज्ञानम्, that also is top priority. Not that they dislike money or name or fame, it is not they are against them, but they never think of that at the cost of spiritual growth. So, keeping in mind the spiritual growth, whatever can be accomplished, whatever entertainment is there or music, dance, the whole family can go and watch the dance, because the theme is कृष्ण, भागवतम्, रामायणम्. And the जीवात्मा pining for परमात्मा, that is our dance theme and the lyrics also written by saints and sages. There is a scope for art, but it is in keeping with spirituality. Similarly, in dance. There was a program called दीप प्रदक्षिणम्. So there राधा कल्याणम् and all they do. there also overnight they wake up, here also now pubs are coming, pubs and clubs and all those things, you can see them in papers etc., just see but you need not go. It's very interesting to know what is happening around. Because young body has lot of energy and therefore they want to dance, our culture understood and they included दीप प्रदक्षिणम्. If you want to shout: shout स्वामिये शरणम्. For shouting there is scope. For dancing there is scope. In दीप प्रदक्षिणम्, you can violently go around, but what is centre, दीपः. दीपः means ब्रह्मज्ञानम्. Everything there is scope. But it is all centered around this only, ज्ञान प्रधान way of life is the third स्वभावः and कृष्ण calls them दैव स्वभावः. दैव स्वभावः, देवः means light, bright, derived from the root √दिव्, दीव्यति प्रकाशते इति देवः. प्रकाशः and it stands for knowledge, stands for wisdom, stands for brightness.

These are the three स्वभावः देव or दैव, आसुर and राक्षस स्वभावः. All these three characters are compared to a wealth that a person possesses. All these three people possess their own wealth, in the form of these three characters. And these characters are compared to wealth because with that character they can buy, they can accomplish their goals. How? Character decides the way of life. Way of life decides the goal, therefore character purchases your goal. Character purchases your goal. And therefore it is called सम्पत्. Don't think I am going somewhere. I know it is 16th chapter only. दैव-आसुर-सम्पत्. Therefore in the 16th chapter, कृष्ण wants to talk about दैवी सम्पत्, otherwise called दैव स्वभावः, which is the inner wealth of character, which will accomplish a particular type of goal. Then आसुरी सम्पत् or आसुर स्वभावः, the 2nd type of inner wealth or character, which will purchase another type of goal. And the third one is what? राक्षसी सम्पत्, that is named, but we have to include दैव-आसुर-राक्षस-सम्पत्-विभाग-योगः. And having presented the three characters or inner wealth, कृष्ण wants to say that अर्जुन, if your goal is spiritual knowledge or मोक्ष, the only conducive way is दैव स्वभावः. If you don't value spiritual knowledge, I have nothing to tell. I can only say wish you all the best. But कृष्ण says if you value spiritual knowledge, if you value मोक्ष then the way of life which is in alignment, which is conducive to that is दैव स्वभावः. Therefore you have to take into account your way of life, every small or big thing that you do, right from the food that you eat, right from the entertainment that you have, right from the type of magazine that you read, right from the TV programs that you watch, right from the type of the friends you move with, right from the type of the way you spend your leisure time. Every minute thing contributes to the way of life, which is in the long-term going to determine the goal, whether you reach or not. And therefore अर्जुन I have talked about the goal, I will better talk about the way. I have talked about the वेद-अन्त भाग, better let Me talk about the वेद-पूर्व भाग also, because वेद-पूर्व and वेद-अन्त are inseparably interconnected and therefore the 16th and 17th chapters deal with the way of life conducive to the spiritual goal. And the subject matter is picked from the वेद-पूर्व भाग. The previous three chapters are वेद-अन्त भाग. These two chapters are the वेद-पूर्व भाग subject matter. With this background, we will enter into the chapter.

Verse No .01

अथ षोडशोऽध्यायः ।

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

अभयं सत्त्वसंशुद्धिर्ज्ञानयोगव्यवस्थितिः ।

दानं दमश्च यज्ञश्च स्वाध्यायस्तप आर्जवम् ॥ १६-१॥

अभयम् सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः ।

दानम् दमः च यज्ञः च स्वाध्यायः तपः आर्जवम् ॥ १६-१॥

अभयम्, सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः, ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः, दानम्, दमः च यज्ञः च, स्वाध्यायः, तपः, आर्जवम्,

Lord कृष्ण begins the teaching, even without अर्जुन's asking for anything, because कृष्ण feels that this teaching is complete only when he talks about this also. If I have to talk about growing a particular plant, I am wise only when I talk about the conditions in which the plant will grow, because soils are different, clay soil, dark lava soil for cotton, for rice growing what is the soil, what type of water condition it should be, lot of water, limited water, what should be the temperature, what should be the height of land, etc. So when we went to the Yercaud camp and in every camp most of the campers love shopping, वेदान्त is there or not, shopping is an integral and inseparable part of the camp and in Yercaud there is no shopping facility. Therefore they went to some Nursery and there were lot of pots with plants. Yercaud is an elevated place and you know what चेन्नै is. So, many people came back with the pots. It won't work here. So therefore, आत्मज्ञानम् can work only when a particular way of life is also adhered to. That is why culture become very important. And in the olden days, when they glorified our culture and banned our people from mixing with other culture, it is not because we look down upon other culture, every culture is beautiful, but we had values because this culture is designed for a particular goal. Others are designed for a particular other goal. There is no inferior or superior culture, but what do you want in your life and therefore कृष्ण feels the teaching is complete, only when the way of life is also prescribed. Therefore in these three verses, he gives a list of virtues or traits which are conducive to Vedantic study, initially and later conducive to Vedantic assimilation. Both are equally important, reception of knowledge is important, assimilation of knowledge is equally important, only after reception and assimilation, transformation can take place. And therefore he gives a list of virtues which he दैवी सम्पत्. And this is not completely new, कृष्ण has talked about them in the 13th chapter from verse no.8 to 12th.

अमानित्वमदम्भित्वमहिम्सा क्षान्तिरार्जवम् ।

in four or five verses, and कृष्ण even gave a special name to those virtues, you know what was the name (we are the only people without monthly tests) I don't keep because I feel you are coming because there is no test - previously I used to have tests at the end of every chapter and then I found that students take French leave on that day. Then I thought that no more tests, at least let them come to the class regularly! In Yercaud also we had test. So, we had examination at the end and some of them were in the night walking up and down studying and another Lady said that स्वामिजि I went to the bathroom several times, then I said test and all is not necessary; you should enjoy the camp, therefore I dropped the tests. The name given there was ज्ञानम्. एतत् ज्ञानम् इति प्रोक्तम् अज्ञानम् यत् अतः अन्यथा. So the list of virtues.

The first virtue that कृष्ण emphasizes is said अभयम्. अभयम् means courage, self-confidence, faith in myself, faith in God is important, faith in गुरु is important, faith in the scriptures is important, but above all faith in myself that I can follow and accomplish. This self-confidence is important because spiritual life is an adventure. It is a greater adventure than reaching Everest, than going to Arctic Circle or Antarctic Circle. So many adventures are there, but this is the greatest adventure, the most challenging adventure. And therefore, it requires tremendous inner courage, not weight lifting, not using dumbbells, it means the inner strength. मुण्डकोपनिषत् says:

नायमात्मा बलहीनेन लभ्यः । ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-२-४ ॥

A man who doesn't have the inner courage cannot succeed in spirituality and therefore it is an adventure or challenge. And a person can continue with perseverance only when he appreciates its value, which is not that easy. Value of money you can easily appreciate. Even a child knows that. Value of position everybody knows. Value of possessions everybody knows. Value of power everybody knows; for admission. These values anybody and everybody will understand. If I have to perseveringly continue I should know the worth of spiritual goal. And since this requires lot of inner maturity, it is very very rarely understood thing. Most of the people do not know its value, therefore most of the people will not vote for this, कृष्ण said in the 7th chapter, मनुष्याणाम् सहस्रेषु कश्चित् यतति सिद्धये । And therefore, we are in minority. Spiritual seekers all are always in minority and therefore the spiritual journey is often a lonely journey. Therefore it requires tremendous courage to continue. Because people will say that it is better to be in hell with other people rather than alone in heaven. If the neighbors are also coming to नरकः, then I am prepared to go there, it doesn't matter. To travel alone it requires tremendous courage and there are other people always to tease and make fun of गीता. गीता? For गीता class? Are you going to गीता class? Now itself are you going? Then they ask what happened to you? What is wrong with you? Failed in love affair? Lost in business? It means you have to come only when some tragedy strikes. What a tragedy! So therefore, when four people ask we ourselves begin to wonder perhaps I will see whether to go for the next course. Therefore अभयम्, self-confidence, courage to continue this in spite of obstacles and in spite of being in a minority. अभयम्. And how to have that? One is, once I have a value for the goal, I won't mind the obstacles. So the size of the obstacle will depend upon the value for the goal that you have. If the value is lukewarm the obstacles appear bigger and if the value is intense the obstacles will appear smaller. Obstacles don't have a size of its own, the size and the weight is determined by your subjective projections. Everest. There are people who go. Even to walk to the bus stop we hesitate. Little bit rain is there, you will phone and ask स्वामिजि whether the class is there is not, the slightest obstacle is the biggest excuse. Therefore what I am telling is obstacles are obstacles when you lose sight of the goal. Not only applicable to spirituality, applicable to anything. Therefore one method of discovering courage is learning to appreciate the value of the goal. Courage will come from somewhere. The second is of course, surrender to the Lord, seeking strength from the Lord and telling myself: अनन्याः चिन्तयन्तः माम् ये जनाः पर्युपासते । Imagine a person who becomes a संन्यासि, without having a security around and at least now institutions are there for संन्यासि. In those days, institutions were not there, every संन्यासि was a possessionless person on the street, what gave him the courage to deliberately take to that way of life. It is a sheer surrender to the Lord. And therefore through भक्ति and विवेक one has to discover अभयम्, fearlessness.

Then the next virtue is सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः – purity of mind. सत्त्वम् here means अन्तःकरणम्, संशुद्धिः means purity. And what do you mean by purity? Those types of thoughts which will keep the mind healthy. Those which are not toxic to the mind or mental health, just as for the physical body we have got items which are conducive to health and which are not conducive. When those toxins are there inside, they damage the health and lead to physical destruction, extend that to the mind also. In the physical body the toxins are certain types of food items or chemicals. For the mind the toxic ones are certain patterns of thinking, certain types of thoughts like jealousy, hatred, fear, these are all toxic thoughts which if they remain in the mind for longer time, they will cause erosion and make the mind weaker. And therefore सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः means maintenance of healthy thoughts.

Then the next virtue is ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः – in and through all this way of life you should not forget what is the goal or purpose for which this way of life I am following and what is that purpose, spiritual knowledge. And knowledge never happens naturally, knowledge never happens naturally. Many other things happen in time, you need not work for it. Wrinkles, you didn't work, just survive, wrinkles will come. Grey hair, you need not work, it will come. Tooth loss, you don't require a साधन, it will come. Many things will happen in time, knowledge is one thing which can never naturally happen. Any knowledge, physics knowledge, you lead a moral life and what do you what, in due course I want to become M.Sc in physics. I will not go to college, because I lead a moral and ethic life. Fool, moral and ethical life is good, but that will not automatically lead to physics knowledge. It will not lead to chemistry knowledge, it is a separate pursuit you should undertake, you require a physics गुरु and a physics book and you have to study and if required fail a few times also, and then it becomes. Like that, knowledge doesn't happen. The word बोधोदयम् should not be misunderstood. Under a tree बुद्ध got बोधोदयम्, so बुद्ध got enlightenment under बोधि tree and many people sincerely believe that knowledge happens, either a leaf might fall or a fruit might fall, knowledge will not fall or descend down, you have to work and work hard. Therefore कृष्ण says: ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः – committed pursuit of ज्ञानयोग, which means श्रवणम्, consistent and systematic study of the Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent teacher. You might have got bored, I will not get bored and therefore I will repeat. Therefore, श्रवणम्, then मननम्, reflecting over that and understanding and removing doubts and निदिध्यासनम्, internalizing to such an extent that my life and my knowledge there is no disparity. What I know and what I am there is no disparity. So व्यवस्थितिः means commitment, निष्ठा in ज्ञानयोग, श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासन. For that what should you do? Regularly attend the classes, come to the next class also.

As I said in the last class, Lord कृष्ण is dealing with the way of life that a spiritual seeker should lead, so that it is conducive to the reception of spiritual knowledge, as well as the assimilation of spiritual knowledge and this way of life, Lord कृष्ण calls दैव मार्गः. And this दैव मार्गः, the spiritual path, the सात्त्विक path involves the observation of certain virtues in daily life and Lord कृष्ण enumerates those virtues in these verses, which the Lord calls दैवी सम्पत्. In the first three verses, we are getting the list of these virtues. We were seeing the first verse in the last class, अभयम् सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः, ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः. अभयम् means spiritual courage, to cross all the hurdles which come in the way of my spiritual path, the inner courage, सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः is the purity of mind, which is nothing but enjoying the virtues enumerated here, अन्तःकरण शुद्धिः. Then ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः, which means वेदान्त श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासनम्. ज्ञानम् means श्रवण मननम् and योग means निदिध्यासनम्. So ज्ञान plus योग is equal to श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासनम्, I have talked about this before, I hope you remember. And this one is the primary साधन which should go along with the others, without ज्ञानयोग any amount of virtues will remain incomplete. Without morals ज्ञानयोग is impossible, without ज्ञानयोग a moral life is incomplete. It can never lead to liberation, therefore they are complimentary, therefore they should be given due importance. ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः, the word व्यवस्थितिः means committed pursuit. It is निष्ठा, it is a casual pursuit, it is not a lukewarm approach, it is not an amateurish undertaking, but it should be sincere and serious and therefore He uses the word व्यवस्थितिः, commitment. Up to this we saw in the last class. Now we will go to the second line, दानम् or charity is another important virtue highlighted in the scriptures. बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् enumerates three virtues as very important, तमेतम् वेदानुवचनेन ब्राह्मणाः विविदिषन्ति यज्ञेन दानेन तपसाऽनाशकेन ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-२३ ॥

यज्ञ, दानम् and तपस् are considered the most important disciplines and Lord कृष्ण himself borrows from बृहदारण्यक and in the 17th and 18th chapters, कृष्ण highlights these three virtues again. So दानम् means charity. And why do we say दानम् is a very important virtue and also a very difficult virtue, we can follow everything else but दानम् is difficult. Why do we consider this important? दानम् has significance from different angles.

i) The first benefit of दानम् is that it serves as a remedy for a very serious mental problem called लोभः. लोभः is a very serious mental problem, which is caused by the sense of insecurity. One fundamental human problem is continuous sense of insecurity. What will happen to me, what will happen tomorrow, when I get old? This insecurity like the तम्बुर श्रुति, continues all the time. And we do not know why the insecurity is caused and the generally we have a misconception that this sense of insecurity will go away if we hold on to external possessions. We think that a possession is the only remedy for the problem of insecurity, even though there is no truth in that conclusion. Because there are people who have got lot of possessions and continue to be insecure. And there are many people who do not have any possessions and they have full sense of security. From this it is very clear people with possessions continue to be insecure, people without possessions are there with security sense, from this it is very clear, that the possessions and the security have no connection, but even though this is the truth, we have got the strongest मोह that the insecurity will go away as we increase our possession. And this sense of possession is so strong and this alone is called लोभः and this लोभः or sense of possession expresses in two-fold ways, one way is, it wants to grab more and more, get more, get more, get more. This is one expression of लोभः and the other expression is: whatever you get you very carefully hold on to, never give away. Therefore get more and give less. This is लोभः. In English we translate it as greed plus miserliness is equal to लोभः and this greed miserliness problem, लोभः is because of the misconception that the greater the possession the greater is the security. And this लोभः leads to several problems in life. The first problem is that a person wants to grab more and more and therefore unknowingly he begins to compromise with धर्म, because beyond a limit, greed will force a person to cut corners to comprise with धर्म. Thus it will lead to अधर्म, it will lead to पापम्, it will lead to हिंसा, thus लोभः is a very very serious mental problem. And not only this is the problem, this person with लोभः begins to suspect every human being who comes near. Because we don't whether he is coming for me for whether he is coming for my money. Whether he loves me or my money. Thus the eye of suspicion will be there all around, even I look at my family members differently. Thus लोभः is a serious problem and the only remedy for लोभः is gradually developing the sense of charity. दानम् is the only remedy for लोभः disease. And therefore दानम् is important.

ii) And the second significance is, if दानम् is not there in society a person goes on amassing and accumulating without sharing, there will be a big disparity between the rich and the poor and when this gulf increases, then that society will have lot of problems like crime etc. Most of the crimes, economic crimes like kidnapping for ransom, murdering for gain, burglary, all these things will happen when there is a big gulf between the rich and the poor. And when we read such news items more and more in the newspapers, the rich person will feel more and more insecure than secure. The irony he has got lot of money for security, the very money has thus caused insecurity, because of the fear burglary, kidnapping and all those things. And therefore a healthy social order requires people who have should be willingly able to share with who needs. Therefore दानम् takes care of social order.

iii) And the third significance of दानम् is that it is the only touchstone to find out whether I have detachment or not. If I don't have detachment, दानम् will be the most painful affair, even though for social purposes, I give, it will be with a lot of heart burn. If I have got inner detachment, दानम् will be the most happy discipline or साधन that I practice. Therefore दानम् becomes a test for my detachment. And therefore दानम् is significant.

iv) And fourthly, दानम् is considered a very important प्रायश्चित्त कर्म. We all have acquired lot of पापम्s, दुरितम्s, for which we have to do प्रायश्चित्तम्s and varieties of प्रायश्चित्तम्s are mentioned in our शास्त्र and one of the प्रायश्चित्तम् कर्म is दानम् and that is why at the time of death or immediately after death, varieties of दानम्s are given. In fact, we are supposed to do that before we die, but we don't have that heart, we will lose our life rather than losing the purse, remember this. And therefore at least our children are supposed to do that, so that the soul can soar high, rid of the पाप कर्म. 16 दानम्, 18 दानम्, those itself people don't do that. In one rupee all the 16 दानम्s are finished. So, क्षेत्र दानार्थम् अक्षतान् समर्पयामि, गो दानार्थम् अक्षतान् समर्पयामि. For all the दानम्s, we will manage with just water and अक्षता. दानम् is a very very important प्रायश्चित्त कर्म. This is the fourth significance.

v) And fifthly and finally, दानम् is the beautiful साधन, which makes our death peaceful, because death is an event in which everything that I have carefully earned will be taken away from me, whether it is house or bank balance, anything I have earned, sweating and toiling, everything including my physical body. After death, I cannot even own my physical body, everything I have to give back to the world or God Lord, as you look at it. If this release of all my possessions should be comfortable to me, I should have practiced दानम् in my earlier days and if I have enjoyed दानम् during my life, I will look upon death also as a form of दानम्. Till now whatever I had I am giving away. And it will give me pleasure, otherwise I will try to hold on, then यमधर्मराज snatches and painfully I die. Death will be peaceful for a person who has learned to enjoy giving away things because of these reasons. I can tell still more, but the rest is your home work, दानम् is a very very significant spiritual साधन. Initially at least we should give away what we don't want. If you have heart burns even for that, what to do? Even though I don't want, this person cleans the house for पोङ्गल् (मकरसङ्क्रमण) and then keeps away things for disposal. 'After checking I will give' thinking he will keep and after cleaning he will sit in front of them and looking at them 'afterwards can be given' he will put and at the end everything he took out again goes back. Even a match box. Because great grandchild can play with that. My child is not yet married. I am planning for the great grandchild. That is why they said,

वक्ता शतसहस्रेषु दाता भवति वा न वा ॥ संस्कृत सुभाषित संग्रह ॥

Among hundred persons there will be one शूरः, courageous person, सहस्रेषु च पंडितः, there will be one scholar at least among one thousand people, वक्ता शतसहस्रेषु, शतसहस्रेषु means hundred thousand, one lakh, among one lakh people at least you can find one good teacher, वक्ता means गुरु, even though they are rare, दाता भवति वा न वा, a real giver is very very difficult to find. It is difficult, but we have to practice as I said, start giving what you don't want and thereafter we can find whether we can give even those things that we want. If it is useful for somebody else more. Therefore, कृष्ण says, दानम्.

Then दमः, दमः means इन्द्रिय निग्रहः, sense control. Sense control does not mean suppression of sense organs, we never encourage suppression, because any form of suppression is an oppression. It will lead to depression, we never encourage. By दमः what we mean is voluntarily directing the sense organs which are born out of my conviction. I decide what is good for me for my spiritual growth and I decide what is not good for me and with conviction I myself turn away the sense organs. It is called mastery over the sense organs. But when I turn the sense organs away, because of somebody else's enforcement then it is called suppression. The difference between suppression and mastery is what? When I do it for another's sake, it is suppression, when I do it out of my own conviction, it is never a suppression, it is called इन्द्रिय जयः. It is victory. Suppression will lead to mental health problems, mastery will lead to mental growth. Therefore दमः is mastery of the sense organs.

Then the next virtue is यज्ञः. यज्ञः literally means worship of the Lord. यज् means to worship, यज्ञः means the practice of worship and our scriptures talk about two forms of worship, one is the regular ceremonial worship, in the form of पूजा at home or पूजा in the temple etc., which is the regular ceremonial ritualistic formal worship. And there is a second form of worship which is conversion of all our activities themselves into a form of worship. As the well-known saying goes, work itself is a worship and this conversion is brought about by a change of attitude which is called कर्मयोग attitude, भावना परिवर्तनम्, सत्-भावना. And what is the भावना परिवर्तनम्, change of attitude? I look upon every कर्म as an offering to the Lord and therefore I cheerfully do all the कर्मस. Enthusiastically wholeheartedly, sincerely, cheerfully, I do, whether it is mundane action or the most important action. And that is called ईश्वर अर्पण भावना and more importantly I prepare my mind to face any consequences that will come out of my action. It may be good name or bad name, it may be acknowledgment or non-acknowledgment or it may lead to gratitude, people expressing gratitude or they may not be grateful to me. People may reciprocate or not any consequence I accept without resistance as प्रसाद of Lord. This is called प्रसाद भावना, ईश्वर अर्पण भावना with regard to कर्म, प्रसाद भावना with regard to कर्म-फलम् will convert every कर्म into an यज्ञ.

यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदखिलम् शम्भो तवाश्रयणम् ॥ शिवमानसपूजा ४ ॥

In the 9th chapter, यत् करोषि यत् अश्नासि यत् जुहोषि ददासि यत्. So this is an improvised form of यज्ञ. Which यज्ञ is important? Both are equally important, formal पूजा cannot be given up, at home पूजा must be there, only then there will be an atmosphere of auspiciousness. We read in the papers, books and all, there are so many evil forces, people ask: What should be done to ward off evil eye? दृष्टि विनायक is now spreading like wild fire. It's a new invention, not in the वेदs. We are always afraid of evil forces, black magic. We do not know whether such things are there or not. Whether they are there or not, an atmosphere of divinity, lighting the lamp, chanting the prayers, etc., will insulate the house, serve as a कवचम् against all the invisible negative forces. And therefore formal external पूजा is a must and in addition to that, we also require second type of पूजा, what is that, converting every action into worship. कर्मयोग रूप पूजा and in this यज्ञ itself, in the 3rd chapter, I have talked about पञ्च महा यज्ञाः, I don't want to get into those details, you have to remember that topic also in this context. So यज्ञः.

स्वाध्यायः, स्वाध्यायः means scriptural study. So this is waning from our society, previously these things were there, but slowly we are forgetting that, this was called in the 3rd chapter, we named it ब्रह्म यज्ञ. All part of the हिन्दु society, it was all part of वैदिक कर्म. So they had सन्ध्यावन्दनम् and gradually they reduced from 3 to 2, from 2 to one and full सन्ध्यावन्दनम् has been dropped to just गायत्री, etc., and now-a-days they ask whether we have to chant, etc. So therefore, scriptural study is called स्वाध्यायः. This study is two-fold, one is called पाठयण, which is nothing but शब्द आवृत्तिः. पाठयण means recitation, which is considered to be a beautiful कवचम् against any type of evils, including materialism. In fact, whether ghosts are there or not, I consider the most powerful ghost is materialism. It is catching up fast with our society, our culture is eroding, 'Money is God' is coming, money is becoming the only God. If the other ghost is there or not, we don't know, there is one powerful ghost, that is materialism and one of the remedy for that is स्वाध्यायः. Give 15 minutes for some पाठयण. विष्णुसहस्रनाम, everybody may not know सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, some prayer chanting is a must. It is called शब्द आवृत्तिः. And there is another type of स्वाध्यायः, which is अर्थ आवृत्तिः, dwelling upon the meanings of the scriptures. So first one is शब्द प्रधान, the second one is अर्थ प्रधान, the first one is simple recitation, even without knowing the meaning recitation will bless the home, स्वाध्यायः.

Then the next virtue is आर्जवम्. आर्जवम् means integrity, uprightness, enjoying a harmonious personality. We have talked about five layers of personality in तत्त्वबोध, अन्नमय, the physical body, प्राणमय, the pranic personality, मनोमय, the emotional personality, विज्ञानमय, the rational or intellectual personality, all the different layers of my personality, which is normally expressed as the thought, the word and the deed, all of them should be harmonious. So harmonization, integration, concordance of all my personality is called आर्जवम्. ऋजु means one line, आर्जवम् means all my personalities are in one line. I don't have a crooked personality, I don't want the company of persons who talk one thing outside, keeping something else in their minds - रामलिङ्ग अडिगल्.

मनस्यन्यत् वचस्यन्यत् कर्मण्यन्यत् दुरात्मनाम् ॥ सुभाषितानि ॥

You can understand. महात्माs have oneness in the mind, in the word, in action. Whereas for दुरात्माs, what they think is one, what they speak is another and what they do is yet another. And when there is no आर्जवम्, a strain is created in the personality. Because one layer is pulling in one direction, another layer is pulling in another direction. So there is a stress and a strain formed within, it has nothing to do with the external society, I myself am creating a rift, a cleft in my personality. This strain will not be felt initially, but when I need such a hypocritical or double life, the strain gets accumulated and when the strain gets accumulated, goes beyond a limit it creates a rupture in the personality, which comes in the form of all types of ill-health, emotional ill-health, physical ill-health. All types of problems and therefore, integrity is required for my survival as one whole person. Otherwise, I will have holes all over, can you understand the difference? आर्जवम्. So this word आर्जवम् has come in the 13th chapter also, I should not be explaining so much, अमानित्वम् अदम्भित्वम् अहिम्सा क्षान्तिः आर्जवम्. There I have said. Continuing;

Verse No .02

अहिम्सा सत्यमक्रोधस्त्यागः शान्तिरपैशुनम् ।

दया भूतेष्वलोलुप्त्वं मार्दवं ह्रीरचापलम् ॥ १६-२॥

अहिम्सा सत्यम् अक्रोधः त्यागः शान्तिः अपैशुनम् ।

दया भूतेषु अलोलुप्त्वम् मार्दवम् ह्रीः अचापलम् ॥ १६-२॥

अहिम्सा, सत्यम्, अक्रोधः, त्यागः, शान्तिः, अपैशुनम्, भूतेषु दया, अलोलुप्त्वम्, मार्दवम्, ह्रीः, अचापलम्,

The next virtue is अहिम्सा. This also I have talked about elaborately in the 13th chapter, therefore I don't want to go to the details and we also know its importance. अहिम्सा is avoidance of nonviolence at the कायिक, वाचिक and मानस level. And the simple rule is what I give to the world that alone I will get back ultimately. So therefore it is like throwing a ball against a wall, when I throw the ball it hits the wall and comes back to me only. And the force of the ball will be directly proportional to the force with which I throw. And therefore, we should remember that the ultimate truth is what I get will be what I give. From the bank what I can take is what I have deposited in the bank. If I deposit violence in the world bank, world bank is not that world bank, the bank called the world, it will come back to me alone, if not now, later. And therefore for my own peace of mind I have to avoid हिम्सा. Of course, we never say that अहिम्सा is absolute. There may be occasions when हिम्सा becomes a necessary evil. And the best example is what? The भगवद्गीता occasion itself. गीता is a very interesting study. In several places, 2-3 places, कृष्ण says, अहिम्सा, 13th chapter, now here, further also He will tell. Then कृष्ण's conclusion is what, अर्जुन, therefore, fight. How is it? After talking repeatedly about अहिम्सा, तस्मात् युध्यस्व भारत. Is कृष्ण contradicting himself? Here alone we should remember, अहिम्सा is a general value, but every value has got an exception, including अहिम्सा. There are cases when nonviolent methods miserably fail. Just as it failed in the case of दुर्योधन. And when nonviolent methods fail and for the protection of धर्म, the only available means is हिम्सा, then there is nothing wrong in taking. In fact, कृष्ण goes one step further and says: This धर्म युद्ध will not give you पापम्, on the other hand, it will give you पुण्यम्. And therefore, we should not blindly talk about अहिम्सा. Misplaced अहिम्सा will have very very negative consequences. Imagine a doctor who does not want to treat the patient, because it is painful. How will it be? Doctor has to do that and therefore judicious अहिम्सा is a value.

Then the next one is सत्यम्. सत्यम् means truthfulness or more correctly, avoidance of untruth. Because if speaking the truth is going to hurt a person, if speaking the truth is going to hurt a person then we have to follow the value of अहिम्सा and avoid speaking the truth, but that does not mean that we should speak untruth, avoid speaking untruth. So therefore सत्यम् is equal to असत्यवर्जनम्. And suppose you have to tell the truth to correct a person and telling the truth is going to be painful, what to do? We have got धर्म संकट, we have to tell the truth for correcting the person, it is going to hurt a person, it may be your own child, may be your own family member, anyone. Then we say you can do that but you have enough padding's to reduce the hurt caused by speaking the truth. And what is that method? Speak some other pleasant truth, there are unpleasant truths but there are so many pleasant truths, therefore talk about the pleasant truth predominantly and when that person's mind is well-cushioned, and with that cushioning speak the unpleasant truth, and don't dwell upon the unpleasant truth. Speak more of pleasant truth, dwell upon pleasant truth and when the situation is ideal, as they say, strike when the iron is hot, speak pleasant truth, dwell upon pleasant truth and when the situation is ideal just mention the unpleasant truth briefly, don't dwell upon that and you will find that the person will be able to receive and improve. This is the psychology. When we are forced to tell the unpleasant truth. Therefore सत्यम्.

Then the next one is अक्रोधः, अक्रोधः means learning handle the problems of anger. Anger management, anger handling, because anger is a very powerful emotion, which can hurt the angry person and which can hurt the people who are around the angry person. And therefore one has to necessarily learn to handle anger. How to do that? Several methods are there, one of the methods is understanding anger as a form of emotional pain. Understanding anger as a form of expression of mental pain or emotional pain, because anger is the name of a mental condition. We think shouting is anger. No. Anger is an emotion belonging to the mind, shouting cannot be called anger, shouting is a consequence of anger. Hitting is not anger, it is a consequence of anger, anger has nothing to do with the body, nothing to do with speech, it is purely an inner emotional condition and I only know my anger. Others know only the expressions of anger, anger is purely a mental condition, which is a form of pain. And this mental pain is very very similar to physical pain. If you understand the role of physical pain, we can understand the role of mental pain or anger. If you look at physical pain, superficially seeing it is a curse, because pain who will like? It is a curse, nobody will like to have pain because it is a highly unwanted thing, but if you look at the pain from another angle, from medical angle, they will say pain is a great blessing. भगवान् has kept physical pain not with an intention of hurting you, but it has been kept with a noble motive, what is that? Pain is a signal which is meant to report to you that there is something wrong with your system. Any pain indicates that things are not functioning properly, therefore it is red light. So भगवान् wants to say, please check up that location, any pain is a signal, a red light which tells you something is wrong within and therefore take care of that. And how to take care? Not immediately swallowing any tablet available. Once I have decided to take the pain as a signal, I tried to find out what is wrong within or without. The pain can be because of external or internal cause, which means I have to diagnose. Because headache itself 2,000 varieties they say and headache can be a symptom of any problem, it can be because your spectacles are wrong, you will get headache, may be problem with the tooth, it may be problem with stomach, it may be your wife or husband also. This is joke, don't take seriously. Understand joke as joke. Headache can be because of any blessed reason, I should never take a medicine impulsively, pain should not lead to impulsive medication, but I should do diagnosis and I should take the proper medication otherwise it can become counter-productive. If this is understood anger is also a signal in the form of mental pain, it should never lead to impulsive reaction. I should understand it as a signal, mind tells me that something is wrong, somebody's behavior is wrong or the set-up is wrong and I have to find out what is wrong and I should take deliberate steps. And therefore, management of anger is understanding anger as an internal signal. I should intelligently use it to find out a remedy to the cause of that anger, this is called अक्रोधः, so management of anger.

Then the next one is त्यागः, त्यागः means संन्यासः, संन्यासः means renunciation. The moment we say renunciation, everybody gets jittery. So the renunciation is two-fold, one is the external renunciation, which is called संन्यास आश्रम, चतुर्थ आश्रम, taking to a monastic lifestyle. Monasticism is one meaning of त्यागः. And there is another meaning for the word त्यागः, which is not external renunciation, but inner renunciation called detachment, वैशान्यम्. Or detachment is called त्यागः. And what do you mean by detachment? An appropriate attitude towards my possessions. A right attitude. What is the right attitude towards the possession? It is the understanding that I really do not possess anything, I really do not possess anything, everything belongs to the Lord and Lord alone and God, out of his infinite kindness, have provided me with certain possessions for my using them and growing spiritually and I am supposed to use them and grow and it has to go back to the Lord only, I can never hold on to anything, including my own body. So everything belongs to the God and God can choose to take back anything as he wants, he might give one month notice, he might give three months notice, as you give for vacating the house, like that or he may not give any notice. And if God chooses to take away anything from me, I will voluntarily return it to the Lord with a note of thanks. Thank you note. Returned with thanks. This attitude is called त्यागः. You use everything, have house, have car, have people around, have jobs, anything you have, but remember that God can take away anything. I heard that in America and all, your job you might be dismissed from the job at any time and it means they will keep a yellow notice, a yellow slip. In our culture, yellow is मङ्गलम्, but there yellow slip is अमङ्गलम्. Here only 3 months notice, there hire and fire. So I asked some boy he said I have got a safe job, but in America, any job you can lose at any time, not only job, everything. So therefore, this readiness to lose anything is called renunciation. So त्यागः.

Then शान्तिः. शान्तिः means equanimity of mind, freedom from violent emotional disturbances. Balance of mind is called शान्तिः. The details we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 16, VERSES 02-04

In the beginning of the 16th chapter, in the first three verses, Lord कृष्ण is giving a list of virtues which He names दैवी सम्पत् and when a person lives a way of life taking into account these virtues, then it will become conducive to आत्मज्ञानम्. वेदान्त-friendly character is the one in these verses. We completed the first verse in the last class and in the first verse, I had left out one word and I am happy that the students noted the omission and pointed it out to me. First I will take up the omitted word, i.e., the word तपः in the second line, दानम् दमः च यज्ञः च स्वाध्यायः तपः आर्जवम्. If you split it it will be तपस् or तपः. The word तपस् has several meanings. Lord कृष्ण himself will talk about तपस् in the 17th chapter elaborately and He will divided तपस् into three types also, सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक तपस्.

But here we will see one of the meanings of the word तपस्. It is deliberately and willfully going through a painful experience for toughening one's physical and mental personality. Voluntarily, deliberately going through some painful experience, of course, within a limit, in a controlled way, going through a painful experience so that my body and mind will get toughened enough, immunized enough to withstand pain or difficulty. So immunization of the body, toughening of the body is the purpose of any form of तपस्. And we have got many types of तपस्, in the form of व्रतम्s. For example, those who go शबरीमतै, the अय्यप्पा temple in केरल, they take a 41 day or 48 days of vow. Now-a-days they don't do at all and during these days, they willfully give up certain comforts. Certain types of physical comforts are given up and the body is allowed to go through discomfort and similarly, they walk 48 miles through thorns, stones and all those, without wearing a slipper, which is a voluntary invitation of physical pain. Even though now-a-days a person can very very comfortably go through the short route, they do that, sometimes we can see people going even to the हिमालय shrines of बद्रीनाथ and केदारनाथ, etc., it's a higher altitude, it's very very cold, there also people go as a vow without proper covering, without slipper they go, this is a clean invitation of physical pain, but you don't call it suffering. A suffering is a suffering only when it is forced upon me by somebody else. Whereas a suffering becomes a तपस् when I myself voluntarily force on myself for the sake of toughening my body and mind. I have talked about this before, the difference between fasting and starving is purely based on the attitude. When I want to eat food and food is not available, it is starving, but food is available, but deliberately today happens to be एकादशि and in some places, today is वैकुण्ठ एकादशि also. In श्रीरङ्गम् there are people who fast the whole day, even when food is available I deliberately forgo and go through the pang and discomfort of hunger and this voluntary suffering is called तपस् शङ्कराचार्य calls it शरीर पीडनम्, पीडनम् word he is using, but it is voluntary. The benefit, advantage of this तपस् is the body gets a tolerance capacity, tolerance of heat, tolerance of cold, tolerance of pain, so increase of तितिक्षा or tolerance is the benefit. And in वेदान्त, tolerance is considered to be a very very useful साधन. It will help a person in several ways spiritually.

a) One benefit is that if I toughen myself and develop tolerance, later in life when I have to go through choice-less pain, everyone will have to face pain in life, sometimes there are remedies, but there are occasions when a person is forced to go through pain and there is no cure or remedy. Like incurable disease or anything, if I have got tolerance then choice-less pain in life will not disturb me too much. Thus tolerance prepares myself to face choice-less pains in life, which is caused by प्रबल प्रारब्धता. दुर्बल प्रारब्ध, weak प्रारब्ध gives me pain but I have remedy for weaker प्रारब्ध, but there are प्रबल प्रारब्धs, powerful प्रारब्धs which will give me pain for which I can have no remedy. How to face such choice-less pain? There is only one way, I have to raise my level of withstanding power, just as the military people develop that power, so they have to learn to starve for days together, living with whatever available, they have got endurance tests, unimaginable and they should have even though we may not require endurance test to that extent, every human being requires increase in endurance power and therefore तितिक्षा is useful to face choice-less situations.

b) Then the second benefit of the तितिक्षा is, tolerance is, tolerance which is developed through तपस्, the second benefit of तपस् or increase of tolerance is we can avoid impulsive reactions to situations. Any impulsive reaction is because of lack of tolerance. I cannot tolerate nonsense, I cannot tolerate अधार्मिक action, I am extremely sensitive, many people say. When I am sensitive and intolerant, the greatest disadvantage that I face is I impulsively and immediately react to the situation without thinking. Any thoughtless action is reaction and any thoughtless reaction is improper, because we are not even judging whether our actions are right or wrong. The only solution for impulsive reaction is developing the tolerance power, so that even if somebody is doing improper action, I can wait, analyze, think well and react at the proper time. And when I react at proper time deliberately, thoughtfully it is no more a reaction, it is an action. If I have to postpone my reaction and deliberately act, I require तितिक्षा or tolerance and that tolerance comes by practicing तपस्. This is the second benefit.

c) The third benefit of tolerance is this. भगवान् has kept pain in life not merely for hurting us. The role of pain is not merely wounding us, but भगवान् wants to teach certain important lessons through pain also. So sufferings also have a very very important role in human life. And the important role of suffering is teaching, especially spiritual teaching and if I should have the capacity to learn from suffering, I should enjoy an undisturbed mind. If suffering emotionally disturbs me, I will not be able to learn from suffering. I will go through sufferings but will continue to be where I am. So how can I learn from suffering? Only when my mind is calm, I can go through suffering and learn and that is possible only when there is तितिक्षा, there is tolerance. Therefore the third benefit of tolerance is developing the faculty of learning from pain. Learning from suffering. In fact, the very 1st chapter of the गीता is अर्जुनविषादयोगः. So अर्जुन suffering taught a lot, at least he learned that he requires external help to solve the problem of रागः, शोकः and मोहः. And that is how he decided to surrender. Therefore pain also has a role in spiritual growth and I can make use of it only if I have tolerance. Thus तपस् plays a very important role in developing tolerance and therefore it is included in spiritual साधन.

And now coming to the second verse, we saw the word अहिंसा, सत्यम्, अक्रोधः and त्यागः. The word त्यागः, I pointed out, refers to renunciation, renunciation can be either external or internal. External renunciation is taking to a monastic life, internal renunciation is mentally dropping the ownership notion. I don't own anything. भगवान् is the only owner, I am a trustee, I am supposed to only maintain things or maximum use the things for the time being. This freedom from ममकार is called त्यागः, ममकार त्यागः. Up to this we saw in the last class.

The next value is शान्तिः. शान्तिः means the equanimity of mind, poise of mind, tranquility of mind, freedom from stress and strain. Another word they use is अनायास, inner relaxation. And this शान्तिः is a virtue, which we have to try to maintain throughout the day, which कृष्ण called समत्वम् योगः उच्यते. The very कर्मयोगः way of life is to maintain this poise. And why this शान्तिः is important? Only when the mind has शान्तिः, intellect will be active and functional. When the mind is disturbed it will jam the intellect, like in computer and certain other gadgets they use the expression the instrument is jammed, it won't work. Similarly, the intellect will get jammed if the mind is disturbed and a Vedantic student has to do श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्, all the three require an equanimous mind, therefore शान्तिः. We can say, it is the समत्वम् attained through कर्मयोगः. It is otherwise called शमः, previously दमः was mentioned. Now शमः is mentioned.

Then the next virtue is: अपैशुनम्. अपैशुनम् means not publicizing the defects of other people. It is very very enjoyable thing, it is a very very juicy topic to talk about what are the things happening in the neighborhood. Therefore whatever defects are there, whatever deficiencies are there, whatever weaknesses are there, I enjoy talking about and whatever virtues are there I carefully avoid. शास्त्र says it is never correct. If at all you want to talk about others, talk about their virtues. So परगुण प्रकटीकरणम्, परदोष तिरोधानम्. When it comes to our own virtues, that is why it is said परगुण, when it comes to our own virtue, first we should ask the question, do we have virtues, even if by some mistakes some virtues are there, we are not supposed to publicize. आच्छादय स्वान् गुणान्, cover up your virtues, publicize others' virtues. Now also we are doing cover up and publicity, only thing is reversed, we publicize others' weaknesses and we cover up over weaknesses. Therefore He says अपैशुनम्, never talk about the other people's weaknesses.

Then the next virtue is दया भूतेषु. दया means compassion, towards भूतेषु, here कृष्ण uses the word भूत instead of word मनुष्य. भूत means all living beings, human beings, animals, towards all of them compassion, that means learn to look at their suffering by standing on their shoes. Temporarily imagine what will it be if I am in their position. So then certainly it will be impossible for us to injure others. Therefore भूतेषु दया, or भूत दया is considered to be a very very important virtue.

Then the next one is अलोलुप्त्वम्, अलोलुप्त्वम् means not yielding to the temptations of sense objects. So the world is full of माया. And the world is full of temptations, my sense organs can very easily become an addict to anything. So even when such temptations are there, not yielding to them, that self-control is called अलोलुप्त्वम्. Previously we saw the word दमः, दमः is general sense control, अलोलुप्त्वम् is specific sense control, when there are temptations. So, अलोलुप्त्वम्. They say in the advertisement, “say no to drugs”, one thing they write, “say no to drugs”, because there are certain temptations like drug, liquor, cigarette, etc., we have to yield only once, first time it is a deliberate mistake and second time, that object becomes the master and I become a slave. First I am master, the cigarette is slave, second time the cigarette becomes stronger, then third time it will still become stronger, after some time I am so utterly helpless that I can even imagine giving up. That’s why that person said, I was regularly reading the magazine, which says smoking is injurious, ultimately I gave up. What? Reading the magazine, not the cigarette. You will find that once a person becomes an addict it is almost impossible to get out. You have to read the book of Alcoholic Anonymous. They say God alone can help such an addict. For that one has to surrender to God. Even that becomes difficult. And therefore, always say No first. Afterwards we may not be able to and in रामायण, वालि represents that. When वालि comes in front of anybody, he is supposed to get half of his strength. Any temptation is like that, once it is in front of me it takes half of my free-will or three fourth of my free-will, therefore, better not to go in front at all itself and therefore अलोलुप्त्वम्.

Then the next one is मार्दवम्, मार्दवम् means gentleness, in handling people, in handling things, gentleness or politeness in manners, not being rude is called मार्दवम्. It is a beautiful श्लोक which says:

वज्रात् अपि कठोराणि मृदूनि कुसुमात् अपि ।

लोकोत्तराणाम् चेतांसि कः नु विज्ञातुम् अर्हति ॥

The mind of the wise people is very very unique. It has got two opposite virtues. One angle it is stronger and harder than even diamond, वज्रात् अपि कठोराणि and from another angle मृदूनि कुसुमात् अपि, they are tender, more tender than even flowers. How come one mind is both hard and tender? It is said when they are receiving experiences - people insulting, people criticizing, people misbehaving, when they are facing adverse situations, their mind takes the mode of hardness, the mind is so strong that any adverse situation cannot affect it, like the rock of Gibraltar, it will not get affected, but the very same wise people when they are handling other people, when they are talking to other people, their language and behavior is tender than even flowers. So as a कर्ता they have got a tender mind, as a भोक्ता they have got a diamond like hard mind. But the problem of the ignorant person is the other way around. He also has a hard and soft mind. The problem is what? When he faces situation it is too soft, that at the slightest insult he is affected, and when he handles people, it is so rock like and rude, neither he is happy nor the other people around are happy. Gentle in handling other people.

Then हीः, हीः means modesty and also a sense of shame, a healthy sense of shame. There are two types of shame, one is a healthy shame. A healthy shame is defined as that, which obstructs a person from doing wrong actions. Sometimes we feel ashamed to do certain things in front of others, when that shame restrains us from doing अधार्मिक actions, that sense of shame is worthy sense of shame, it has to be cultivated. Shamelessness in that respect is an evil thing. We also say shamelessly you are behaving, therefore healthy shame is called हीः or modesty is called हीः.

Then the next virtue अचापलम्, चापलम् means restlessness expressed at the body level. Restlessness which is primarily a mental condition and when the mind is highly restless, it overflows to the body level and through the body language, the person shows he is uncomfortable. Hands are moving and legs are moving, facing is twitching or he is biting the finger, first nails then finger. They eat pencils and pens, all kinds of things happen, that fidgety character is called चापलम्, where the body does lot of movements purposelessly. Moving the legs purposelessly, moving the hands purposelessly, all of them are called चेष्टा. When we are children, parents used to tell us sit quietly without doing any चेष्टा. That इन्द्रिय चेष्टा is called चापलम्, अचापलम् is freedom from that, so body also is relaxed. Continuing;

Verse No .03

तेजः क्षमा धृतिः शौचमद्रोहो न्नातिमानिता ।

भवन्ति सम्पदं दैवीमभिजातस्य भारत ॥ १६-३॥

तेजः क्षमा धृतिः शौचम् अद्रोहः न अति-मानिता ।

भवन्ति सम्पदम् दैवीम् अभिजातस्य भारत ॥ १६-३॥

हे भारत! तेजः, क्षमा, धृतिः, शौचम्, अद्रोहः, न अति-मानिता (इति एतानि लक्षणानि) दैवीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातस्य (पुरुषस्य) भवन्ति ।

Then next virtue is तेजः. तेजः means not being a victim of exploitation. Goodness, simplicity does not mean idiocracy. Being simple does not mean being simpleton, it is not required. Be gentle, be good, be tolerant, all these virtues are very good, that does not mean that we should become door mats of other's exploitation. If somebody is committing a mistake, if somebody is improperly behaving, it should not mean I should silently suffer and victimize I can certainly take appropriate action. I need not be taken for a ride in the name of being a गीता student. Being a गीता student everyone is cheating me. Don't cheat and don't get cheated. So this uncheatable condition is तेजः. Only thing is when somebody is exploiting, it does not mean I should impulsively react and get angry. It is not necessary, we can study the situation and first we can use nonviolent methods of handling and later, even if we have to take violent steps, by all means take violent steps if that is the ultimate necessary evil. We have got certain necessary evils, including the महाभारत war itself and कृष्ण says you can take steps but let it be thoughtful steps, after exhausting nonviolent methods you can handle, you need not be a victim of अधर्म. So this non-self victimization is called तेजः, because just as we should not hurt others, we should not hurt ourselves also. We have a duty to our own body, our own mind, it does not mean I should unnecessarily suffer, it does not mean I have to put up with nonsense. Need not. So, no nonsense attitude is तेजः.

Then the next virtue is क्षमा. क्षमा is otherwise called क्षान्तिः in the 13th chapter, it is called तितिक्षा, in the 2nd chapter.

मात्रास्पर्शास्तु कौन्तेय शीतोष्णसुखदुःखदाः ।

आगमापायिनोऽनित्यास्तांस्तितिक्षस्व भारत ॥ २-१४॥

And this word क्षमा has several meanings, one meaning is tolerance which we saw before, क्षमा is the benefit gained through तपस्. While explaining तपस् I said, by practicing तपस् a person will get lot of forbearance or tolerance. This is one meaning. But शङ्कराचार्य gives another meaning for the word क्षमा by contrasting it with the word अक्रोधः in the second verse. The second verse there was a virtue mentioned अक्रोधः. And here क्षमा. शङ्कराचार्य takes these two words and contrasts, अक्रोधः means capacity to handle anger. When the anger comes inside, before it is expressed outside, I allow that to go through the filter of discrimination. Before expressing, if I can use my discrimination, discreet expression of anger or discreet non-expression of anger or discreet partial expression of anger, that is the management of anger. This was called अक्रोधः in the second verse, शङ्कराचार्य says क्षमा here means the mind becomes free from anger. Very tough, in the first stage, anger was allowed but it should be under your control, let it be but it should be within your control, but क्षमा means enjoying a mind in which anger does not rise at all. So, non-arrival of anger is क्षमा, management of arrived-anger is अक्रोधः. Is it possible for a person to avoid the rise of anger at all? Looks it is almost impossible.

In fact, even psychologists say anger is a healthy sign, healthy part of a regular mind, psychologists will not accept that, but शङ्कराचार्य says it is possible. But he does not say how; you will get angry with him! You are telling no anger but you are not telling how to do that, I am getting angry with you. We get the clue in the 3rd chapter, we get the clue in the 3rd chapter, there he had mentioned:

कामः एषः क्रोधः एषः रजः गुण-समुद्भवः । ॥ ३-३७॥

There he defined anger is nothing but expectations converted to irritation when it is obstructed, obstructed expectation gets converted to irritation, obstructed expectation gets converted to irritation. And since irritation is the converted form of expectation, if you have to handle irritation you have to handle your expectation. Lesser the expectation, lesser the scope for anger and even if expectations are unavoidable, try to make them into preferences. All of these I have told earlier, even if you cannot avoid expectations, expect, but let it be in the form of preference, preference means if it comes - good, if it does not - OK. If the children behave like this, it will be wonderful, but who knows now-a-days children. Children rights are coming, they are taking away the word obedience from the dictionary. The psychologists are taking away the word obedience, they say it is improper. We should not force the children, so the children need not obey the parents. Even if they disobey you should not give cane treatment, one should smile and go! So therefore, obedience idea is going and therefore everyone wants freedom, and children beyond 13, 14, or 15 they have got their own likes and dislikes, therefore, the parents' expectation may be fulfilled, may not be fulfilled. If it is fulfilled, you are पुण्यवान्, otherwise be ready and therefore reduce the expectation and whatever minimum you have make it non-binding expectation called preference. That is the only way to avoid anger. There is no other remedy. Therefore क्षमा, angerlessness.

धृतिः. धृतिः means fortitude, perseverance or willpower is called धृतिः. The capacity to continue a साधन in spite of obstacles, in spite of hurdles is called willpower. You have the example of समुद्र मथनम्, how the देवs and असुरs continued in spite of varieties of obstacles, until they got अमृतम्. We have heard गङ्गावतरणम्, भगीरथ प्रयत्नम्, how he brought down the गङ्गा from the heavens. All these things indicate the willpower. कृष्ण will talk about the importance of willpower in the 18th chapter and there He will talk about three types of willpower, सात्त्विक willpower, राजसिक willpower and तामसिक willpower. I will not talk about it now, I hope you will have the willpower to continue the classes until the 18th. Therefore, धृतिः, धृ means holding on to. धृ, धारणे; धृतिः means holding power, willpower.

Then the next virtue is शौचम्. This also has come in the 13th chapter, आचार्य-उपासनम् शौचम्. शौचम् means cleanliness and orderliness. We should not stop with cleanliness only, we should include orderliness also, of the surroundings, we should start from our from surroundings. Looking at our streets we can know our condition! We have the best teaching and we have got the least implementation. We have got the best scriptures in the world, but we never implement. And the other countries they don't have such scriptures and they seem to implement. What a tragedy! We have the enclosure for putting the rubbish, but it is put everywhere else except that particular place. So therefore cleanliness of the surrounding, cleanliness of our dress, cleanliness of the body and above all, the toughest is the purity of the mind. I have talked in the 13th chapter and therefore I don't want to go to the details.

Then the next virtue is अद्रोहः, अद्रोहः is अहिम्सा at the mental level, not even desiring to harm others, not even tending to harm others. So they will not even think of हिम्सा. So, अद्रोहः हिम्सा इच्छा अभावः. अहिम्सा means हिम्सा अभाव अहिम्सा. अद्रोहः means हिम्सा इच्छा अभावः, even having the desire, शङ्कराचार्य says, not only you should not hit others, even raising the hand saying that I will hit, not doing that is अद्रोहः, not even intending to harm others is called अद्रोहः.

Then the next one is न अति-मानिता. This is अमानित्वम् of the 13th chapter. Freedom from pride, freedom from superiority complex or positively put humility, humbleness is called न अति-मानिता. This is supposed to be a very important virtue for a spiritual student. Because, a spiritual student has to do the नमस्कार to the गुरु. If I have got arrogance, नमस्कार is the most difficult thing. And that too, नमस्कार to another human being is very very difficult and if a person does not have that humility, knowledge will not flow down, because if something has to flow down it has to be from higher level to lower level. If the knowledge should come I should bend humbly. And therefore न अति-मानिता means विनयः, humility.

All these virtues, भवन्ति सम्पदम् दैवीम् अभिजातस्य. All these virtues will be present in a person who has got दैवी सम्पत्, who is born with दैवी सम्पत्. So दैवीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातस्य – who is born with सत्त्वगुणः, or one who is a सात्त्विक person, he or she will have all these virtues and if these virtues or not there from birth we have to cultivate them. We need not say if they are not there, we need not say. 99% of the case we do not have them. Therefore in वेदान्त, cultivating these virtues alone will take more time. Vedantic study really does not take time, maximum time is getting this दैवी सम्पत्, दैवीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातस्य भवन्ति. Continuing;

दम्भो दर्पोऽभिमानश्च क्रोधः पारुष्यमेव च ।

अज्ञानं चाभिजातस्य पार्थ सम्पदमासुरीम् ॥ १६-४॥

दम्भः दर्पः अभिमानः च क्रोधः पारुष्यम् एव च ।

अज्ञानम् च अभिजातस्य पार्थ सम्पदम् आसुरीम् ॥ १६-४॥

हे पार्थ! दम्भः, दर्पः, अभिमानः च, क्रोधः, पारुष्यम्, एव च अज्ञानम् च (एतानि लक्षणानि) आसुरीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातस्य (पुरुषस्य भवन्ति) ।

So having talked about the दैवी सम्पत्, that is the virtues belonging to a spiritually oriented person, now कृष्ण wants to talk about आसुरी सम्पत्, which is naturally there in a materialistic person. As I said आसुरी सम्पत् does not mean a person who has got the protruding teeth like demon, etc., it is not, materialistic tendencies are here called आसुरी सम्पत् and what are they? कृष्ण is going to enumerate. In this verse, He presents them in a nutshell, संग्रह आसुरी सम्पत्. And later, from the 7th verse, He will elaborate the very same आसुरी सम्पत्. विस्तर आसुरी सम्पत् from 7th verse we will get up to verse no.21. So 4th verse and 7th verse to 21st verse, आसुरी सम्पत्. What is materialism? We get a very very beautiful list. What are they?

दम्भः, दम्भः means pomp and show, exhibitionism of their wealth, their position, their status etc., which is called ostentation, is no.1, दम्भः.

Then the next materialistic tendency is दर्पः. Along with money and power comes arrogance. Disrespect great people, disrespecting elderly people, we have got दुर्योधनs and रावणs in our पुराणs, Therefore दर्पः, arrogance.

Then अभिमानः च. अभिमानः means मानित्वम्, superiority complex, looking upon oneself as पूजा योग्य. One who deserve नमस्कार, honor, reverence, garlanding, if possible पादपूजा, if got it is good. The difference between दर्पः and अभिमान is, दर्पः is externally expressed arrogance, मानित्वम् is unexpressed internally thought. One is at भावना level another is at the कर्म, action level.

Then क्रोधः, क्रोधः you know, क्रोधः means anger, because there is power, because there is position and therefore he doesn't mind ill-treating anyone, क्रोधः means anger.

Then पारुष्यम्, rudeness, harshness, impoliteness, mannerlessness, all are called पारुष्यम्, in language, in action, etc.

Then अज्ञानम्, अज्ञानम् means ignorance and here the word ignorance means ignorance of धर्म शास्त्र. We are not talking spiritual about spiritual ignorance, because we are not dealing with philosophy in these two chapters, 16th and 17th chapters are dealing with ethics and morality and therefore here the word ignorance here means ignorance of ethics, ignorance of morals, धर्म-अधर्म अविवेक. All these are in full measure, he is rich in these characters. Therefore अज्ञानम् च आसुरीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातस्य भवति. These are all naturally there in a person who is born with राजसिक and तामसिक tendencies. Especially if he belongs to a rich family, परम्परा rich family, then they don't know what humility is, what नमस्कार is, becomes a very big obstacle.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदव्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 16, VERSES 05-09

In the 16th chapter of the गीता, Lord कृष्ण is talking about two types of lifestyles,

- One that is conducive to spirituality and मोक्ष and
- The other one non-conducive to spiritual goal.

And these two lifestyles are called दैवी सम्पत् and आसुरी सम्पत्. We can roughly translate as spiritual value system and materialistic value system. And what are the values which are based on this spiritual value system were mentioned in the first three verses, अभयम् सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः, etc. And the materialistic value system, कृष्ण summarized in the 4th verse and he will elaborately deal with that from the 7th verse up to 21st verse later. And before elaborating the आसुरी सम्पत्, कृष्ण points out that if you want to gain मोक्ष then your lifestyle should be governed by दैवी सम्पत्. That is mentioned in the 5th verse, we will read:

Verse No .05

दैवी सम्पद् विमोक्षाय निबन्धयासुरी मता ।

मा शुचः सम्पदं दैवीमभिजातोऽसि पाण्डव ॥ १६-५॥

दैवी सम्पत् विमोक्षाय निबन्धाय आसुरी मता ।

मा शुचः सम्पदम् दैवीम् अभिजातः असि पाण्डव ॥ १६-५॥

दैवी सम्पत् विमोक्षाय, आसुरी (सम्पत् च) निबन्धाय मता । हे पाण्डव! (त्वं) दैवीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातः असि, मा शुचः ।

दैवी सम्पत् विमोक्षाय भवति – the spiritual value system which I gave out in the first three verses will take you towards मोक्ष. It is conducive to Self-knowledge, मोक्षः हेतुः भवति. Whereas the आसुरी सम्पत्, the materialistic value system, निबन्धाय भवति – will keep only in संसार, only in bondage. And naturally अर्जुन is worried to which category he belongs to he wants to know, therefore, कृष्ण pats अर्जुन and says अर्जुन, fortunately you are with दैवी सम्पत् only. मा शुचः – so don't worry, दैवीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातः असि – you are born with spiritual inclination. You have a value for spiritual growth, दैवीम् सम्पदम् अभिजातः असि, which is because of पूर्वजन्म सुकृतम् only. Interest in spirituality is possible only if we have got a little bit spark of spirituality inherited from the previous birth, अनेक-जन्म-संसिद्धः ततः याति पराम् गतिम्. कृष्ण said before, spiritual development takes place through many जन्मs. If we had such a lifestyle in this birth also we will have a natural inclination for religious or spiritual life. अर्जुन, you are born with such an inclination. You have got a सात्त्विक tendency, you are a गुण-ब्राह्मण by birth itself and therefore you can feel happy. And you can nourish that spiritual tendency more and more. Continuing;

Verse No .06

द्वौ भूतसर्गौ लोकेऽस्मिन्दैव आसुर एव च ।

दैवो विस्तरशः प्रोक्त आसुरं पार्थ मे शृणु ॥ १६-६॥

द्वौ भूत-सर्गौ लोके अस्मिन् दैवः आसुरः एव च ।

दैवः विस्तरशः प्रोक्तः आसुरम् पार्थ मे शृणु ॥ १६-६॥

हे पार्थ! अस्मिन् लोके दैवः आसुरः च एव द्वौ भूत-सर्गौ (स्तः तत्र) दैवः विस्तरशः प्रोक्तः आसुरम् मे शृणु ।

So here कृष्ण says, हे अर्जुन! the entire humanity can be divided into two groups. Not merely Indians, not merely the वैदिक people, the entire humanity can be divided into two groups, based on their tendencies, their values. अस्मिन् लोके द्वौ भूत-सर्गौ – two types of human creations are there in this world. दैवः, one group of humanity we can call दैव group, which means naturally having a spiritual tendency. They might be born in a materialistic society, but something pulls them towards spiritual people, spiritual books, spiritual topics, something attracts them, they themselves don't know the reason. And there is another group, आसुरः एव च – utterly materialistic group, down to earth group, as a यमधर्मराज said in कठोपनिषत्.

श्रेयः च प्रेयः च मनुष्यम् एतः तौ सम्परीत्य विविनक्ति धीरः । ... ॥
कठोपनिषत् १-२-२ ॥

यमधर्मराज calls them श्रेयस् and प्रेयस् group. So आसुरः meaning materialistic tendencies, even though they born in a spiritual family, surrounded by वैदs, surrounded by ब्राह्मणs, surrounded by temples, father himself may be a ज्ञानि, but in spite of all these influences there are people who turn towards materialism. Therefore, आसुरः. And of these two, दैवः विस्तरशः प्रोक्तः – I have talked about the दैव group, the spiritual people, who have got a spiritual value system, I have talked about in the first three verses: अभयम् सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः, etc., but I have not elaborately talked about the materialistic value system. And I have briefly mentioned that in the 4th verse, but कृष्ण feels that it should be elaborated. Therefore he says, आसुरम्, the elaborate study of आसुरी सम्पत्, मे शृणु – अर्जुन may you learn from Me, so that you can avoid such a tendency, you can be forewarned. Thus कृष्ण gives an introduction to the आसुरी सम्पत् and hereafter He will elaborate that. Verse no.7;

Verse No .07

प्रवृत्तिं च निवृत्तिं च जना न विदुरासुराः ।

न शौचं नापि चाचारो न सत्यं तेषु विद्यते ॥ १६-७॥

प्रवृत्तिम् च निवृत्तिम् च जनाः न विदुः आसुराः ।

न शौचम् न अपि च आचारः न सत्यम् तेषु विद्यते ॥ १६-७॥

आसुराः जनाः प्रवृत्तिम् च निवृत्तिम् च न विदुः, तेषु च न शौचम्, न आचारः, न अपि सत्यम् विद्यते ।

All the human beings by nature, by birth are materialistic in character. Nobody knows that there is such a goal called मोक्ष. And nobody knows that there is such a thing called धर्म, because धर्म is not visible to our eyes, मोक्ष is also not visible to our eyes. Both of them are called अपौरुषेय पुरुषार्थs, goals not available for our sense organs or even for science they are not available. And since these two goals are not known, every human being has got only two पुरुषार्थs, they are called अर्थ and कामः. अर्थ means money, value for wealth is very natural, even a child has value for money. And the second thing is काम - pleasure or enjoyment, therefore everybody by birth has a value for अर्थ काम पुरुषार्थ and therefore our mind develop its own राग-द्वेषs. रागः means likes and द्वेषः means dislike. Right from birth our life is governed by राग-द्वेषs, our instinctive likes and dislikes, which are again based on अर्थ काम पुरुषार्थ and our scriptures point out that this राग-द्वेष based life is OK in the beginning stages. But once a particular stage comes, that is once we are capable of discrimination and thinking, this राग-द्वेष based life should be changed and a new value system should replace the old value system and the new value system that is prescribed by our scriptures is the spiritual value system. And we do not know the importance of spiritual goals, because we are immature people at that time. And therefore, we should be guided by the scriptures which we look upon as वेद माता. Just as a baby does not know what is good for it and what is bad, a baby surrenders to the mother and the mother decides what is good for the child and what age liquid food should be withdrawn, at what stage semi-solid food should be given and at what solid food should be given, what all injections, in 15th day, 30 days, in 90 days, the child doesn't know anything, the mother decides what is good. And as long as the child goes by the mother's decision, it is ultimately for the good of the baby only. Just as mother decides what is good and bad for us, because we are immature, similarly, वेद is the mother, which decides what is ultimately good for us and the ultimate goal of human life has to be spiritual goal only. Therefore the श्रुति says: you do not know what is good for you. I am deciding what is good for you. And what is good is Self-knowledge. Vouchsafe to listen what I say. You will know the value of Self-knowledge later and if you want to start your साधन in your later stage, you will be 90 years old and therefore follow what I tell you. And the श्रुति replaces the materialistic value system by a spiritual value system. It tells what is good and to be done by us which is called विधि. विधि means a thing which is good for me and निषेध means that which is not good for me. विधि means कर्तव्यम्, निषेध means अकर्तव्यम् or वर्जनीयम् and the श्रुति asks us to replace the राग-द्वेष based life by विधि-निषेध based life. And this transformation from the materialistic value system to spiritual value system is considered the second birth of the human being. This transformation is from प्राकृत पुरुष to संस्कृत पुरुष and it is generally symbolized by the sacred thread ceremony, whether a person wears the sacred thread or not this transformation, this second birth has to take place and कृष्ण says that the आसुराः पुरुषाः are those people who do not go through this transformation of life. Because they do not want to follow the spiritual value system prescribed by the scriptures.

And therefore कृष्ण says आसुराः न विदुः – this आसुरी people who are materialistic people, who are governed by राग-द्वेष, likes and dislikes, they do not know they do not educate themselves scripturally. They are literate materialistically, because they know physics or chemists or economics, they have got M.Sc or PhD, all the degrees they have got, but spiritually they are illiterate. And therefore this transformation does not take place. They continue to be प्राकृत जनाः, even though they are literate otherwise. And therefore what is their problem? प्रवृत्तिम् न विदुः – they do not know what is to be done, the कर्तव्यम् as enjoined by, as prescribed by the scriptures, what is to be done for spiritual growth they do not know.

Similarly, निवृत्तिम्, निवृत्तिम् means अकर्तव्यम् are to be avoided, what is not good for my spiritual growth and therefore to be avoided by me, that also they do not know. They do not have धर्म-अधर्म विवेकः. And therefore what do they do? Whatever they like they do and what do they avoid, whatever they dislike they avoid. And therefore, न शौचम् न अपि च आचारः न सत्यम् तेषु विद्यते. So the वैदिक scriptures give us a daily routine to be followed for spiritual growth. Every minute detail the scriptures give for spiritual growth, right from getting up onwards, everything is given. So the first advice the scriptures give is to get up before sunrise. That itself is a problematic these days. The whole system is late to bed, we had early to bed and early to rise, so they come from office late, 7 o'clock, 8 o'clock or 9 o'clock and therefore late dinner, late TV programs, all TV programs starts at 10 p.m. or clubs and other things start, they go to bed at 1 o'clock or 2 o'clock and wake up at 10 o'clock or 11 o'clock. So शास्त्र says, आचार means wake up before sunrise. सूर्य भगवान् is a प्रत्यक्ष देवता and सूर्य भगवान् is rising to bless us and therefore we should be ready to welcome सूर्य भगवान्, therefore get up early, this is the first spiritual value. आचारः.

And after getting up what should you do? Start the day with spirituality, so that you will be reminded of the spiritual goal, earning, getting married, getting children, educating them, they are all OK, but none of them is 'the goal of life.' Therefore you have to give an auto suggestion in the morning, I am born for some other purpose. I should remind myself and therefore they say start with bath, go through ablutions and thereafter start the day with lighting the lamp and then doing some prayers, apply some तिलकम् and this is supposed to be the greatest protection against materialism. The onslaught of materialism is so powerful that if you have to protect, they say put some कुङ्कुम् or चन्दन or विभूति, if you don't to apply something. When they prepare विभूति, lot of मन्त्रs are chanted during the preparation of विभूति. विभूति preparation is not an ordinary thing, it is a very very elaborate ritualistic process and therefore it is not an ordinary ash, it is an ash with lot of मन्त्रs. And not only it has मन्त्रs spiritual values, even when a person is applying that he is asked to chant the नामs of the Lord. And that is why in वैष्णव सम्प्रदाय it is called नाम. Why do you call it नाम? Why it is called नामम्? When they are applying that they have to chant the नाम of the Lord, therefore it is called नामः. And the ash is called विभूति because when the विभूति is applied, we have to chant the glory of the Lord. विभूतिः means भगवान् महिमा. When you are wearing the विभूति, one has to chant the त्र्यम्बकम् मन्त्र.

ॐ त्र्यम्बकम् यजामहे सुगन्धिम् पुष्टिवर्धनं । उर्वारुकमिव बन्धनान्मृत्योर्मुक्षीय माऽमृतात् ॥

This मन्त्र talks about विभूति, विभूति means glory of the Lord. Since you remember the glory of the Lord, the ash itself got the name विभूति and since this तिलकम् is associated with ईश्वर, it is supposed to protect us from the onslaught of materialism. Therefore get up early in the morning, do स्नानम्, light up the lamp, chant the prayers and remember the Lord and remember the goal of life also. And until you complete all these things, even a drop of water should not be drunk. What about bed coffee, bed tea? No, it is all अनाचार. Not allowed. Whether you follow or not, I am telling what has to be told. Nothing should go, only after completion of this reminder of the spiritual goal. Then you can take up Hindu newspaper, Express newspaper, where you will see so many people dead because of militant attack, all those terrible news may be read later. Start your day with आचार. What is materialistic life? None of them will be followed. Therefore न आचार, न शौचम् – there is no sense of religious purity at all for materialistic people. So they walk with the night dress all over the world, with the half cleaned teeth, with the brush in the mouth, with toothpaste, walking all over with a newspaper. It is certainly not a वैदिक lifestyle. So शौचम् religious purity is not there, आचार is not there. For us even brushing the teeth is a religious rite and there is a prayer मन्त्र addressed to वनस्पति देवता, because in the olden days they used the twigs of the trees for cleaning the teeth and therefore prayer to the twig. Have you heard about this in any other culture? Prayer to the twig: “हे वनस्पते! I am brushing my teeth to remove my दन्त मलः, the impurities of the teeth, along with that, Oh देवता, cleanse my mind also.” And for what purpose? For आत्मज्ञानम्. All these are wonderfully designed by the वेद right from the very very young age to be followed, materialistic people do not believe in any one of them. So न च आचारः न च शौचम्. They don’t have the religious discipline, what about values? न सत्यम् तेषु विद्यते – they don’t believe in the values also. Their argument is “whatever is convenient is value, I will speak truth also,” how’s this? “I will speak truth also when it is convenient.” “You will get पापम् if you speak untruth.” “I don’t believe in पापम्.” “You will go to नरकम्.” “I don’t believe in नरकम्.” “You will not get मोक्ष.” “Who wants मोक्ष?” Nothing, absolute materialism. So न सत्यम् values also they don’t believe. This is the beginning of materialism. Now we can imagine the details.

Verse No .08

असत्यमप्रतिष्ठं ते जगदाहुरनीश्वरम् ।

अपरस्परसम्भूतं किमन्यत्कामहैतुकम् ॥ १६-८॥

असत्यम् अप्रतिष्ठम् ते जगत् आहुः अनीश्वरम् ।

अपरस्पर-सम्भूतम् किम् अन्यत् काम-हैतुकम् ॥ १६-८॥

(इदं) जगत् असत्यम्, अप्रतिष्ठम्, अनीश्वरम्, अपरस्पर-सम्भूतम् काम-हैतुकम् (च अस्ति) अन्यत् किम् (इति) ते आहुः ।

They are totally irreligious people. They don’t believe in any thing connected with religion or spirituality, which is based on the वैदिक scriptures. First they don’t believe in the वेदs. असत्यम् सत्यम् here means वेद प्रमाणम्, असत्यम् means that they don’t believe in वेद प्रमाणम्, even though वेद is like thousand mothers, शङ्कराचार्य tells elsewhere that the वेदs are like

मातृपितृसहस्रेभ्योऽपि हितैषिणा ॥ कठोपनिषत् भाष्यम् २-१-१७ ॥

It is superior to thousand mothers and fathers, it is interested only in our well-being but in spite of that, they don’t believe in वेद प्रमाणम्. They are utterly नास्तिक people. And if they don’t accept वेद प्रमाणम्, अप्रतिष्ठम् ते – they don’t believe in धर्म. प्रतिष्ठ means धर्म, धर्मः means moral or ethical order of the universe. वेदs say धर्म or morality alone sustains the creation.

धर्मो विश्वस्य जगतः प्रतिष्ठा लोके धर्मिष्ठ प्रजा उपसर्पन्ति धर्मेण पापमपनुदति धर्मे सर्वम् प्रतिष्ठितम् तस्माद्धर्मम् परमम् वदन्ति ॥ महानारायणोपनिषत्, अनुवाकः - ७९ ॥

धर्म means that which sustains the universe. धृ means to sustain. धारणात् धर्मः. Moral order alone sustains. Once the morality goes from the society, there will be utter distress and confusion and a society cannot survive for long and therefore scriptures talk about धर्म and these people do not believe in धर्म because धर्म is not visible to our eyes. They believe in the physical order of the universe because it is scientifically provable. They believe in the scientific laws of the creation, like the law of gravitation, like the ecological laws, etc., they believe but the laws of धर्म they don't believe because it cannot be scientifically proved. And therefore they say there is no धर्म or अधर्म, there is no पुण्यम् or पापम् and therefore there is neither previous birth nor next birth. Enjoy this life, following whatever you fell like doing. Therefore, वेदः नास्ति, धर्मः नास्ति. And then who is the creator of this universe? We don't believe in all these things. Who is the creator of the universe? They don't believe in God also. जगत् अनीश्वरम् आहुः – they say the creation can come by itself, the scientists have proved that the Big Bang took place at such and such time, thereafter the world has evolved by itself with the help of chemical and physical laws, we don't see any intelligent principle behind and therefore we don't require a God. He doesn't have any other job and therefore ईश्वरः अपि न अस्ति. ईश्वरः न अस्ति, वेदः न अस्ति. धर्मः न अस्ति. Religion न अस्ति, everything they reject, they believe in only two things, money and entertainment. Therefore five days of a week, earn and two days of a week, go all out. खावो पीयो मजा मजा करो (Eat, drink and make merry). And again start Monday to earn. And enjoy. Earning means अर्थ पुरुषार्थ, enjoyment means काम पुरुषार्थ. Continue that till death.

This is the philosophy of materialistic people. And therefore जगत् अनीश्वरम् आहुः. Whereas what is the belief of the traditional people? We say God is the creator of the world and along with the world God has created the वेदs also. And वेदs are the manuals which are meant to guide our life, so that we can extract the best out of this human life. And the best we can extract is मोक्ष itself. Even though all these are all there they don't accept, however much you try to convince them you cannot change, on the other hand, they will change us. If we talk to them for 10 minutes we will also get doubts. That's why they say never have materialistic friends, until you clearly understand the role of the वेदs, until you thoroughly study and understand the वेदs, until you understand the value of धर्म, until you understand what is the concept of प्रमाणम्, till then avoid materialistic people. Therefore these people argue - no ईश्वर, no वेदs, no धर्म. Then how did this creation come? Very simple. अपरस्पर-सम्भूतम्. If God has not created us, how are we created? Very simple, we are created by our parents. Why is God necessary for that? Very simple. Therefore, because of the male-female union, which is caused by कामः or passion, we are born. And how are our parents born? Because of their parents. And how are their parents born? Because of their parents. Why do we require a God at all unnecessarily? And they will also argue, spending money on temples useless, spending money for अभिषेक etc., useless and can't that money and material be given to the poor and needy, why should we waste on the temples? And when we listen to those arguments, we also start having doubts, perhaps they are correct. Whereas वेदs says spending money on God or धर्म or पूजा etc., can never be a waste, it is like pouring water at the root of the tree. When you pour water at the root of the tree, water directly goes to the root, but in an invisible manner the water goes to all the branches, I don't see but every cell of the tree gets the benefit. Similarly, भगवान् is the root of this creation. Where did we see? In भगवद्गीता. In which chapter? 15th chapter. ऊर्ध्व-मूलम् अधः-शाखम् we saw. अभिषेकम् you do, नैवेद्यम् you do, nothing goes waste, it will be ultimately for the benefit of humanity. But a materialistic person will not accept that. And therefore they argue अपरस्पर-सम्भूतम् – all beings are born out of the union of their parents, अपरः means male, पर means female, अपरस्पर means male-female, means parents, सम्भूतम् means born. All because of what काम-हेतुकम् – which union is caused by काम, desire for children.

Verse No .09

एतां दृष्टिमवष्टभ्य नष्टात्मानोऽल्पबुद्धयः ।

प्रभवन्त्युग्रकर्माणः क्षयाय जगतोऽहिताः ॥ १६-९॥

एताम् दृष्टिम् अवष्टभ्य नष्ट-आत्मानः अल्प-बुद्धयः ।

प्रभवन्ति उग्र-कर्माणः क्षयाय जगतः अहिताः ॥ १६-९॥

एताम् दृष्टिम् अवष्टभ्य नष्ट-आत्मानः, अल्प-बुद्धयः, उग्र-कर्माणः, अहिताः जगतः क्षयाय प्रभवन्ति ।

एताम् दृष्टिम् अवष्टभ्य – these आसुरीक people entertain or hold on to the materialistic philosophy. Their philosophy is whatever the sense organs can see that alone exists. That there can be things beyond our sense organs and which can be known through other means of knowledge, they don't accept. It is like a person with four sense organs. Imagine a person has got only four sense organs by birth. He does not have eyes. He has got ears, tongue, nose and skin. And I talk about a field world called a field of colors, I say that there is a world of colors. He says I don't believe in that, I don't accept that, because I am not able to appreciate the colors with my four sense organs. And I say No. You cannot know that, because the available four sense organs do not have access to the colors. It has to be known through the fifth sense organs, called the eyes, I tell. And this person argues that No, I don't believe the fifth sense organ. I want to prove the colors with the help of the four sense organs, he wants the proof for the colors through the ears, or prove the color through the nose, through the skin, through the tongue, through the available four प्रमाणs if proved he will accept. He is not interested in believing the fifth sense organ which reveals a field not available for these four. Similarly, our culture talks about a sixth sense organ. What is the sixth sense organ? That is called वेदः. And we want to prove that with the help of the available five sense organs, we can only say that the available sense organs do not have access to that, you have to use the sixth. And if a person refuses to use the eyes, which is the fifth sense organ, who is the loser? I will not believe the eyes and will not use it, he is only going to be the loser, neither the eye nor the world of colors. If I should benefit from the world of colors, I should be willing accept a fifth sense organ called the eye, which sense organ can never be proved by the other four sense organs. वेद is the sixth sense organ which can never be proved or disproved by the available five sense organs. You use the वेद प्रमाण and study with faith, you will be opened to a new wonderful field, which is not accessible to science, which is not acceptable to the sense organs. We are going to get an अपौरुषेय प्रपञ्चः, which is beneficial to us only. By rejecting the वेद, वेद is not the loser, not the new अपौरुषेय प्रपञ्चः, I am going to be the loser. But this materialistic people will never understand the significance of the sixth sense organ. They claim that they are rational people, they will believe in only those things which can be through five sense organs. Like the other fool. What does he want, he wants the proof for the color with the help of the other four sense organs. How can I prove it? It is not possible. And therefore the materialistic people will never understand and they are going to be the losers. नष्ट-आत्मानः – they are lost souls, because they are losing a huge chunk of the creation which is accessible to only वेद प्रमाण. The very definition of the वेद is what:

प्रत्यक्षेणानुमेत्या वा यस्तूपायो न विद्यते ।

एनम् विदन्ति वेदेन तस्मात् वेदस्य वेदता ॥ वैदिकसाहित्यम् ॥

वेद is a sixth sense organ as it were, which will reveal a new world which is not accessible to these regular five sense organs. How can you define the fifth sense organ the eye? Eye is a fifth sense organ, which reveals the colors, which are not accessible to the other four sense organs. Similarly, वेदs reveals a completely new field. It is for you to operate or make use of the वेदs, otherwise you are going to be the loser. So नष्ट-आत्मानः, they are lost souls. All because of what? अल्प-बुद्धयः – they don't understand the concept of प्रमाण. What the eyes reveal, the ears can never prove, the ears can never disprove. What the ears reveal, the eyes can never prove or disprove. Suppose I say this is orange color revealed by eyes, suppose the ears want to verify the orange color. No, the ears are great, but the ears can never prove or disprove, because their field is different. वैदिक field is different, scientific field is different. Science has got access only to a particular field, therefore science has no right to prove or disprove the वैदिक teaching. This is the significance of प्रमाणम्. This implication of प्रमाणम् they don't understand. Therefore they try to prove the वेदs scientifically. That is the greatest foolishness. It is like trying to prove the colors with the help of the ears. They will never succeed and when they don't succeed, instead of understanding it is their foolishness, they reject the वेदs. वेदs are unscientific and therefore I won't believe. That is the greatest foolishness to happen. Therefore कृष्ण says: अल्प-बुद्धयः, idiots, they try to prove वेदs through science, अल्प-बुद्धयः नष्ट-आत्मानः एताम् दृष्टिम् अवष्टभ्य – they hold on to a materialistic philosophy and once अर्थ and काम becomes dominant in life, when धर्म is not valued, then compromise with values become natural. Violation of values becomes natural. Telling a lie will become very very comfortable. First it will prick, second lie it doesn't matter, the third lie we are comfortable, thereafter lying become natural, cheating becomes natural, हिम्सा becomes natural, therefore they will be hurting the moral order of the universe. उग्र-कर्माणः – they are people of violence. Violating what?

The ethical or moral order of the creation, violating धर्म which is the health of the universe. It is like violating the rules of health, by following the rules of health, I keep my body fit. If I violate those rules, the body धर्म is disturbed, which becomes sickness physically, similarly, when धर्म is violated, the society becomes sick. अधर्म is the sickness of the society. A sick body cannot survive, a sick society also cannot survive. And therefore उग्र-कर्माणः, they hurt धर्म and the society indirectly प्रभवन्ति and जगतः क्षयाय – they become the cause of the destruction of the humanity and the tragedy is when the scientific knowledge increases and value for धर्म decreases, when scientific knowledge increases and value for धर्म decreases, the scientific knowledge also will be used for अधार्मिक purposes. And science gives enormous power and the increased power will be used for consistent ruckus. If medical science increases and kidneys can be replaced, kidney racket comes. Here all kinds of ruckus going on. Knowledge without wisdom becomes dangerous. Knowledge is material knowledge, wisdom is धार्मिक knowledge. When material knowledge increases without धार्मिक knowledge, that society will have problems. And therefore जगतः क्षयाय – they will cause destruction of universe. Militants will increase, terrorists will increase, train accidents will increase, naxalites will increase. They will have even atom bombs and chemical weapons. Science will become a curse of humanity. Science will be blessing only when it goes along with धर्म. Therefore, these people will become a curse to the society. Therefore अहिताः, अहिताः means they become enemies of humanity. Educated people without धर्म will become enemies. Somewhere it is nicely said: साक्षराः राक्षसाः भवन्ति. साक्षराः means literate people. अक्षरैः, man of letters, अक्षरम् mean letter. स अक्षरः means a man of letters. If साक्षराः do not know what is धर्म, they will be reversed. सा क्ष रा, if you reverse, राक्षसाः. Is it enough? More is going to come.

CHAPTER 16, VERSES 10-14

In our scriptures, they talk about four goals of human life known as पुरुषार्थः, पुरुष meaning human being, अर्थः means goals, अश्नते इति अर्थः. Therefore पुरुषार्थः means human goals. They are called human goals because, human beings alone can fix a goal and work consistently to accomplish that, because fixing the goal and working for that requires a free-will and human beings alone are endowed with this free-will and therefore they alone can have short-term and long-term goals and consistently work for the accomplishment. And since free-will and these goals are unique to human beings, they are called पुरुषार्थः.

Of these four पुरुषार्थs, the first one is well-known and every human being naturally goes after that and it is called अर्थः, अर्थः means material possession, अर्थः means material possessions to make sure that the life is secure. I saw an advertisement in some bus stand, “Life is beautiful, make it secure”, means what, take our policy or something like that, so material possessions for the sake of my security is very natural for even animals and certainly it is instinctive and natural for human beings and all material possessions are called अर्थः, it may be in the form of money, in the form of shares, in the form of landed property, in the form of real estate, that means others are unreal. Why this should only be said real estate, whatever it is I don’t why. So, real estate, unreal estate all of them come under अर्थः.

And the second is कामः, काम means all forms of sense pleasures or entertainment. This is a season of entertainment and therefore people know what entertainment is sense pleasures. This अर्थ and काम are called material pursuits and this is very very natural to human beings. One need not have any special training, we don’t require गुरुs, we don’t require scriptures to train people in these two pursuits.

But वेदs say no doubt that these two are human goals, but don’t stop with these two, there are two more human goals, uniquely human, not available for other animals and the third in that list is called धर्मः, by which we mean inner refinement, refinement of the mind. In संस्कृत we call संस्कारः, चित्त संस्कारः. In fact, we have got several ceremonies from conception to death, 41 such ceremonies are mentioned. Each ceremony is called a संस्कार. गर्भाधान संस्कारः, पुंसवन संस्कारः, सीमन्तोन्नयन संस्कारः, जातकर्म, नामकर्म, चौल, अन्नप्राशन, उपनयनम्, समावर्तन, विवाह, 41 संस्कारs are mentioned, the culmination being the obsequies, the rituals done at the time of and immediately after death. All of them are called संस्कारs because, they are supposed contribute to the inner refinement. And not only the rituals contribute to the inner संस्कार, even a life of values contribute to this inner refinement. All the ethical values are part of the inner संस्कार and not only rituals and values, even healthy attitudes contribute to the inner refinement, our attitude towards the parents, मातृ देवो भव पितृ देवो भव, our attitude towards elders, which is unique to our culture, to elders we are asked to do नमस्कार. नमस्कार indicates our reverence for age, our reverence for experience, experience we respect, because certain type of refinement can come only through experience. Therefore attitude towards wealth, attitude towards people, attitude towards the environment, attitude towards the world in general, they also form part of the lifestyle contributing to inner refinement. This चित्त संस्कार is called धर्मः. Thus the third unique human goal is mental refinement. In वेदान्त it is called सूक्ष्म बुद्धि.

दृश्यते त्वय्यया बुद्ध्या सूक्ष्मया सूक्ष्मदर्शिभिः ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-३-१२ ॥

But unfortunately, this inner refinement is not a gross tangible goal. Money is a tangible goal, people can understand, I can show dollars or rupees, this is goal. And entertainment is tangible, I can switch on and show what entertainment is, but धर्म is an intangible goal. Therefore it takes time for the human beings even to know the value of this goal. Why धर्म is very very important as a human goal? Even to appreciate that it requires a sensitivity. So thus धर्म is inner refinement attained through religious life clubbed with values, not mere values, not mere religious life, but a lifestyle which combines religious life as well as ethics or morality. And this will lead to inner refinement. This is called धर्म पुरुषार्थः or in the language of 16th chapter, दैवी सम्पत्, inner wealth, invisible wealth.

And then the fourth पुरुषार्थः, which is the culmination of these three is मोक्ष, otherwise called spiritual enlightenment, spiritual knowledge. Spiritual wisdom is the fourth पुरुषार्थः, which is called मोक्ष. It is called मोक्ष means it is freedom from ignorance. Knowledge will give me freedom from what? Knowledge will give me freedom from ignorance. And freedom from ignorance means freedom from ignorance caused problems also and according to our scriptures, all human problems are caused by ignorance. And this spiritual knowledge or wisdom is also an intangible goal. I cannot show what मोक्ष is. Keeping a sample of मोक्ष in one glass case and exhibiting it - it cannot be done so. So, धर्म is intangible inner goal, मोक्ष is non-tangible inner goal, but the scriptures say they also must be included. And वेदसः says, even if you don't know the worth of these two higher goals, even if you don't understand what is धर्म, even if you don't understand what is मोक्ष, doesn't matter, you follow the lifestyle that I prescribe, then if you follow that, in due course you will know the value of धर्म and मोक्ष. Like a mother cannot teach everything to the child, because child is too young to understand what hygiene is. Child cannot understand, therefore mother blindly commands: wash your hands before eating, the child does not understand what is the significance of washing, what is infection, what is hygiene, what is bacteria, what is disease, mother cannot teach a small baby, therefore the mother says you will understand what is hygiene later, now vouchsafe to listen what I say, wash your hand. And if the child doesn't do that, the mother pulls and mother herself washes. Even though the child may be unhappy because the mother is forcing too many things, but mother doesn't feel bad because, the motive of the mother is the well-being of the child. Therefore what the वेदs say is: you may not understand the significance of inner growth, you may not understand the significance of a value based life, you may not understand the significance of religious life itself, even if you don't understand follow with faith in the वेदs, with the attitude that वेद is my mother, whatever it tells will be for my good. And even if I don't understand the significance now, as I grow I will understand. Thus धर्म and मोक्ष पुरुषार्थs also should be included when a person is pursuing अर्थ-काम. Such a person is a religious person, a person given to दैवी सम्पत्.

And कृष्ण says the problem with the materialist people is they will value only अर्थ-काम पुरुषार्थः. A materialist person is defined as that person, who looks upon only two goals in life, अर्थ, काम पुरुषार्थः alone. He will not understand what is धर्म, he doesn't want to understand what is धर्म. He will not understand what is मोक्ष, he doesn't want to understand. At least if he blindly follows the वेदs, it will be fine, but he doesn't have faith in the वेदs. So no faith in God, no faith in वेदs, no faith in गुरुs and himself cannot understand also. Just remember our son-in-law, he doesn't know and if someone advices also he doesn't understand. These people, अर्थ-काम प्रधानाः are called materialistic people. कृष्ण is very strongly criticizing these materialistic people. He said, एताम् दृष्टिम् अवष्टभ्य. What is their दृष्टि? Two पुरुषार्थs - earn and enjoy, five day earn, two day enjoy and then die. That is life for them. नष्ट आत्मनः, they don't know the higher possibilities of human life, the wonderful आनन्द born out of धर्म and मोक्ष, they don't understand, नष्ट आत्मनः, spiritually lost, they don't understand what is inner growth, अल्प-बुद्धयः, they are short-sighted people and when I try to talk about धर्म, they only argue. They say I don't value धर्म or ethics, morality or devotion, because look at the world there are many धार्मिक religious people going through all types of problem. Devotees are suffering, ethical people are suffering and all those violators, अधार्मिक people are enjoying. This argument they give. being a भक्त all along what life he got? What did he see? This is the silliest argument because, if you look in this way you cannot accept any law of life. There are so many health rules prescribed in health magazine. They tell these are not good for health and these are all good for health, they talk about these do and don'ts with regard to health. But if you observe, you will certainly find that there are many people who follow all the health rules and they fall sick. They don't smoke, they don't drink, they don't eat non-veg, they do regularly do the exercises and yet they suffer heart attack. There are others who violate all the rules of health and are still hale and hearty. Now can I argue therefore that all the health rules are meaningless? They say cigarette smoking is injurious to health, and it is not a casual statement, after a long research it has been said. There are people who smoke and who are healthy. And there are people who don't even touch a cigarette and have cancer. Therefore can you say that rules of health are meaningless? We can never give such an argument. Similarly, we say धर्म is good, अधर्म is bad. This is based on शास्त्रीय total vision, to argue that धार्मिक people suffer, अधार्मिक people enjoy is the silliest approach like saying that smoking people are health, slum people are healthy, they drink unprotected water and healthier and this man who boils Bisleri water and drinks. Bisleri he buys and at 200 celsius he boils it for 3 hours and gets stomach upset after drinking that. And there are slum people who drink Coovam water and are fit and fine. Therefore would you say that I don't believe in healthy water, protected water, I will drink any water, you don't do that. Because you are concerned about your health, therefore the laws of hygiene you follow. Even though the rules are never seen, there are violations both ways. Similarly, here also, we should not argue, धार्मिक people suffer and अधार्मिक people enjoy. अधर्म is not good for our spiritual health. And धर्म alone protects our spiritual health. And this आसुरीक people will not accept and they argue. What to say to these people? We can only pray for them. Therefore कृष्ण says: नष्ट-आत्मानः, वितण्डावादीs, who only argue. अल्प-बुद्धयः, because they are short-sighted. What will happen to them? प्रभवन्ति उग्र-कर्माणः. Up to this we saw in the last class.

उग्र-कर्माणः प्रभवन्ति, they will take to violent lifestyle, उग्र-कर्म means हिम्सा कर्माणः, because even though हिम्सा is अधर्म, they don't believe in अधर्म, whatever is an obstacle to them they want to destroy, उग्र-कर्माणः and जगतः क्षयाय अहिताः – and they are enemies of the world. As I said in the last class, violation of धर्म will create an imbalance in the cosmic order, imbalance in the cosmic order will cause the destruction of the universe. And therefore they are enemies of the world and they cause destruction. Up to this we saw, continuing;

Verse No .10

काममाश्रित्य दुष्पूरं दम्भमानमदान्विताः ।

मोहाद्गृहीत्वा सद्ब्राह्मणप्रवर्तन्तेऽशुचिव्रताः ॥ १६-१०॥

कामम् आश्रित्य दुष्पूरम् दम्भ-मान-मद-अन्विताः ।

मोहात् गृहीत्वा असत् ब्राह्मणं प्रवर्तन्ते अशुचि-व्रताः ॥ १६-१०॥

दुष्पूरम् कामम् आश्रित्य, मोहात् असत् ब्राह्मणं गृहीत्वा, अशुचि-व्रताः दम्भ-मान-मद-अन्विताः प्रवर्तन्ते ।

दुष्पूरम् कामम् आश्रित्य. There is no limit materialistic desires. Fulfillment of worldly desires can never give total satisfaction. So it is like mirage water, from distance there seems to be water, when I go near it recedes further. And Similarly, we have a false hope that the fulfillment of materialistic desires will give us satisfaction, but we find once one set of desires are fulfilled, the next set is ready, स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द nicely says: Happiness is defined as the number of desires you fulfill divided by the number of desires you have. Suppose you have got 10 desires. You fulfill the first desire and we get 1/10 happiness, you fulfill second desire 2/10, third desire 3/10, happiness is increasing, 3/10, 4/10, 5/10, 6/10 and when you fulfill the 10th desire, the fraction happiness will become one whole happiness 10/10 is equal to one whole happiness and therefore what is our attempt, keep on fulfilling the desire, so that one day we will reach 10/10. But the problem is we only study the increase in the numerator, we are assuming that the denominator, the number of desires will remain stationary. The problem is your fulfillment is one, two, three, four, but the increase of desires is 10, 100, 1,000, 10,000 millions. Therefore by the time you fulfill the 10th desire you discover the denominator has become 10 millions. Therefore you started from 1/10 and at the end you find 10/one million. So, is happiness increased or decreased? You will find that you have fulfilled so many desires, but instead of increasing, the happiness decreases because there is no end to the fulfillment of desires. Therefore कृष्ण says, दुष्पूरम् – nobody is satiated and they say it is like pouring ghee into the fire, you want to subside, you want to quench, the fire by offering ghee it will never be extinguished, it only increases. So दुष्पूरम् कामम् आश्रित्य. दम्भ-मान-मद-अन्विताः – so having fulfilled their petty desires, they have got दम्भ, दम्भ means, we have seen before, pomp and show, ostentation and मान means pride and मद means haughtiness or arrogance, they are full of these negative traits. All because of what? मोहात् गृहीत्वा असत् ब्राह्मन् – all because of delusion. What is the delusion? Finite plus finite is equal to finite only. By effort whatever I achieve in life, that will be limited both in time and in size. Any कर्म-फलम् is परिच्छिन्नम् only. I start as a finite being, by adding any number of finite goals, I only go from finitude to finitude, infinitude will not come. This they don't understand, because of delusion. So मोहात् गृहीत्वा असत् ब्राह्मन्, असत् ब्राह्मन् means false values, that the external objects will give me security is a false value, because the external object itself is insecure. Money is insecure, inflation problem and interest is coming down and the expenditure is increasing, cost of living increases and the interest decreases. What security we have? Therefore money is insecure, property is insecure, people around are insecure, job is महा insecure. So by holding on to other insecure things, how can I find security? But the human beings never think. He has got a security outside the house, I told you outside the house, the security itself is thin and fly and this security is going to give security to this house and that is our sense of security and असत् ग्राहान्, thoughtless values people have, प्रवर्तन्ते अशुचि-व्रताः – they have got all kinds of व्रतम्s, which are all अशुचि, evil resolves. So instead of taking the religious व्रतम्s, शबरीमलै व्रतम्s, etc., in the olden days 41 days, now no व्रतम्, everything in one day. So the idea is under some pretext or other, why can't we follow certain disciplines. They are शुचि व्रतम्s, but these people have got अशुचि व्रतम्s. What is resolve? I will finish that competitor. All negative. अशुचि-व्रताः like the व्रतम्s of the राक्षसs. They also followed religious discipline but for the destruction of the world. Continuing;

चिन्तामपरिमेयां च प्रलयान्तामुपाश्रिताः ।

कामोपभोगपरमा एतावदिति निश्चिताः ॥ १६-११॥

चिन्ताम् अपरिमेयाम् च प्रलयान्ताम् उपाश्रिताः ।

काम-उपभोग-परमाः एतावत् इति निश्चिताः ॥ १६-११॥

(ते) अपरिमेयाम् प्रलयान्ताम् चिन्ताम् उपाश्रिताः काम-उपभोग-परमाः च, एतावत् इति निश्चिताः ।

These materialistic people learn only to depend more and more, depend on more and more on external factors, their very acquisition indicate they want happiness and security depending on external factors. Therefore the number of external factors they depend upon increases gradually. Whereas the वेदान्त tells, reduce dependencies. The fundamental motto of वेदान्त is सर्वम् परवशम् दुःखम्. Dependence on external factors is sorrow. External factors may be person, may be things, may be situation, सर्वम् आत्मवशम् सुखम्. Non-dependence on external factors or Self-dependence or independence is joy. Whereas materialistic society will by repeated advertisements, they will make you buy so many gadgets and therefore we learn to depend upon so many things. Even soap, one for the hand, for the legs, head, five different soaps, everything different, that is consumerist society and the more the number of external factors are the more unpredictable my life will be. Because which factor will fail when I don't know. So therefore, hidden variables will increase, unpredictability increases. Therefore I don't know what will breakdown tomorrow and therefore whether I am happy or unhappy will depend upon perfect functioning of so many gadgets from telephone, from computer, so many things. And therefore the problem is the more the life becomes unpredictable the more the stress will be. Unpredictability leads to stress and strain and the materialistic person depends upon more unpredictable external factors for his comfort and happiness, whereas the spiritual person requires only one thing, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. Fortunately, आत्मा will not break down and therefore, these materialistic people are full of stress and strain. चिन्ताम् अपरिमेयाम्, चिन्ता means worry, anxiety, tension, stress and globalization means what anything happens anywhere. If America decides to start a war with Iraq, the whole global economy will get affected, the indexes, etc., all of them that will go up and down, along with this graph going up and down my happiness also will depend. Bush decides my happiness. Can you imagine? Isn't it true? Because the shares going up and down, the price of oil increase and decrease, all in the hands of Bush, so we are all bushmen only. So चिन्ताम् अपरिमेयाम् च – limitless worry, about what to worry don't know, no sleep in the night, that is another worry. Insomnia. अपरिमेयाम् च. Whereas a devotee who is a कर्मयोगि, a man of दैवी सम्पत्, he says,

यद् यद् भव्यम् भवतु भगवन् पूर्व-कर्मानुरूपम् ।

एतत् प्रार्थ्यम् मम बहुमतम् जन्म-जन्मान्तरेऽपि

त्वत् पादाम्भोरुह-युग-गता निश्चिता भक्तिः अस्तु ॥ मुकुन्दमाला ७ ॥

Let whatever happen what has to happen. Let my peace not depend upon these unpredictable factors, Oh Lord! Because I don't have control over Bush. I don't have control over Bush. Therefore Oh Lord give me the inner strength is the spiritual approach. But this devotion this materialistic person doesn't have. Therefore, swallow tablets for sleeping. So विन्ताम् अपरिमेषाम् च. And how many days he worries? प्रलयान्ताम्. Up to प्रलयम् he worries. That means what? Worry doesn't have an end at all. प्रलयान्ताम् उपाश्रिताः काम-उपभोग-परमाः and when I ask him to surrender to the Lord, he won't believe, he won't accept God, he won't accept कर्मयोग, he won't accept daily prayers. So he is committed to what? काम-उपभोग-परमाः – all the time money ध्यानम्, entertainment ध्यानम्. So परमाः means the highest goal, एतावत् इति निश्चिताः – they think life is only this much. All उपनिषत्s strongly criticize such people.

अविद्यायामन्तरे वर्तमानाः स्वयम् धीराः पण्डितम् मन्यमानाः ।

जड्घन्यमानाः परियन्ति मूढाः अन्धेनैव नीयमाना यथान्धाः ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् १-२-८ ॥

These materialistic people are miserable and unfortunately they convert other people also to materialism, because that is the most tempting philosophy and therefore एतावत् इति निश्चिताः. They think life is only this much. Continuing;

आशापाशशतैर्बद्धाः कामक्रोधपरायणाः ।

ईहन्ते कामभोगार्थमन्यायेनार्थसञ्चयान् ॥ १६-१२॥

आशा-पाश-शतैः बद्धाः काम-क्रोध-परायणाः ।

ईहन्ते काम-भोगार्थम् अन्यायेन अर्थ-सञ्चयान् ॥ १६-१२॥

आशा-पाश-शतैः बद्धाः, काम-क्रोध-परायणाः, काम-भोगार्थम् अन्यायेन अर्थ-सञ्चयान् ईहन्ते ।

So these materialistic people are shackled by countless attachments, आशा-पाश, पाश means strings or shackles, not physical ropes but ropes of attachment. So आशा-पाश-शतैः in hundreds, whereas the दैवी सम्पत् approach is I don't own anything, this is the approach of दैवी सम्पत् person. His attitude is everything belongs to the Lord. I use them with the grace of the Lord. That is why when I build a house, I don't enter without placing the picture of the Lord. The idea is this house also not my house, this is a temple and I am using that house with the grace of the Lord. Therefore a सात्त्विक person disowns everything, whereas the राजसिक, तामसिक materialistic people, they hold on to things. So they are shackled by attachment and काम-क्रोध-परायणाः – they are rich in काम and क्रोध. And unfortunately, a materialistic society praises only these rich people. When there is a humble person who has value for धर्म, society doesn't honor, but when a person gets down from Mercedes or whatever the valuable car, that means what: a society itself can mislead the people. वैदिक society always valued renunciation. If बुद्ध was valued not because he was a king but he renounced everything, value is for

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके ॥ कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

Whereas a materialistic society will value possession and we also get confused, which is more important, inner wealth or external wealth - this is crucial question, so these people काम-क्रोध-परायणाः – given to काम and क्रोध, as the ultimate thing. ईहन्ते – they are busy, they work overtime, 16 hours a day, 18 hours a day, they slog with cell phone running all over, no time for पञ्च महायज्ञ. Do you remember, no time for remembering even what the पञ्च महायज्ञ are, let alone doing that. Seems having heard somewhere, because no time, so ईहन्ते, they are busy workaholics, new word workaholics, अर्थ-सञ्चयान् – they work for amassing wealth, heaps of wealth they want to hoard, they want to possess and they want to own in two colors, wealth in two colors, do you understand, black and white and in north call it 'राम और श्याम.'

OK. Therefore न्यायेन and अन्यायेन. न्यायेन means राम. अन्यायेन means श्याम. कृष्ण was black and therefore श्याम. So all for what purpose? काम-भोगार्थम् – for entertainment. Earning money itself is not bad, I have told about this before. You earn more and own less, you become a blessing to the society. In fact, a कर्मयोगि is one who earns more and owns less. A कर्मि is one who earns more and owns more, because when I earn more and own everything I earn, I have no money to share with others, Rs.1,000 I earn and Rs.1,000 I own, where is the question of sharing. There is another person who doesn't earn also and own also. Therefore another extreme is neither earning nor owning. One extreme is earning and owning. So one is कर्मि, who earns and owns, therefore he cannot do any good work, another is संन्यासि neither earns nor owns, what charity a संन्यासि can give, when he himself is on charity of others. कर्मयोगि is the most important person because he earns plenty and owns less, that means he has a big buffer which is available for पञ्च महा यज्ञाः. Therefore, we are not against earning, but what we are against is earning and owning all. These are the people अर्थ-सञ्चयान्. They earn wealth and they don't give to others. No दानम्. ईहन्ते. इदम् अद्य मया लब्धम् इमम् प्राप्स्ये मनोरथम् ।

इदम् अस्ति इदम् अपि मे भविष्यति पुनः धनम् ॥ १६-१३॥

अद्य इदम् मया लब्धम्, इमम् मनोरथम् (श्वः) प्राप्स्ये, इदम् धनम् (अधुना) अस्ति, इदम् अपि (धनम् च) मे पुनः भविष्यति ।

So generally these people are busy and their philosophy is: Time is money. I told you, one person's table I saw, this is the motto: Time is Money. Therefore don't waste time, utilize all the time to convert into money. This is the philosophy. Therefore generally they don't have free time and even if they have some free time, what do they think? Is it गीता? or Is it हरे राम हरे राम chanting? No. Their thinking is like this. So, in three verses, कृष्ण talks about the thought pattern of the materialistic person. And what is a thought pattern? Calculation of the money that he possesses, in which bank what all is there and what are the interest rates and the next year how much it will increase. And thus go on projecting and day-dreaming, he doesn't have anything else to think of other than अर्थ and काम. And therefore कृष्ण says, इदम् अद्य मया लब्धम्. So they say this person is worth 20 million (just talking), we always calculate the worth of a person not in terms of धर्म or मोक्षः or ज्ञानम्, you calculate the worth of a person in terms of his property and this person also is constantly calculating the self-worth. कृष्ण says इदम्, इदम् means this much wealth मया लब्धम् – has been earned by me, अद्य – today or now. Whereas a कर्मयोगि has to ask, he takes his worth in terms of how much he has given. In fact, भगवान् also measures the worth of a person not in terms of taking but in terms of giving and our value increases not in proportion to earning, but in proportion to sharing, but this the materialistic person doesn't know. Therefore he says this much I have earned and next year how much I will get, calculation using the computer, same calculation again and again, इमम् मनोरथम् प्राप्स्ये – in future I will be able to fulfill these many desires of mine, इदम् धनम् अस्ति, इदम् धनम् भविष्यति, this much money I own now, this much money I will own in future. In short the idea is he also meditates, so meditation is very regularly followed, only difference is the object of meditation is slightly different, instead of विष्णु, he meditates upon लक्ष्मी. He ought to meditate on लक्ष्मी along with विष्णु, but he is doing on लक्ष्मी alone, if he does that, even लक्ष्मी won't accept that. She is such a great women that she says I will come only if you invite me with नारायण. Therefore money ध्यानम्. Continuing;

असौ मया हतः शत्रुर्हनिष्ये चापरानपि ।

ईश्वरोऽहमहं भोगी सिद्धोऽहं बलवान्सुखी ॥ १६-१४॥

असौ मया हतः शत्रुः हनिष्ये च अपरान् अपि ।

ईश्वरः अहम् अहम् भोगी सिद्धः अहम् बलवान् सुखी ॥ १६-१४॥

असौ शत्रुः मया हतः, अपरान् च अपि हनिष्ये, अहम् ईश्वरः, अहम् भोगी, अहम् सिद्धः, बलवान् सुखी (च अहम् अरिम) ।

And once there is inordinate greed, naturally I will see all other people as my competitors. So greed means I see enemies everywhere, as obstructing my goals and therefore शत्रुs increase and in business field, liquidation of the competitors is part of the program and therefore different normal and abnormal methods are used to finish off the other people. So big-big companies swallow the small ones. And there is the cola-cola wars. See the language is what? It is not business, it is called 'wars.' कृष्ण has seen all these then itself, He is talking about the wars only, असौ शत्रुः मया हतः, this rival company, this competitor of my has been finished, sometimes it is figurative destruction, sometimes it is even literal destruction. They use dacoits and even physically liquidate the people, because of inordinate greed, असौ शत्रुः मया हतः, then हनिष्ये च अपरान् अपि, initially there may be some guilt, after some time, the heart gets benumbed that there will be no regret or guilt also. Therefore अपरान् अपि – the others also I shall destroy. One I have destroyed all the competitors I have got the monopoly in that field, I will be number No.1, nobody can come in front of me. अहम् ईश्वरः, a ज्ञानि also says, a ज्ञानि is not an असुर, अहम् ईश्वरः – I am the Lord, the king, I am the No.1, अहम् भोगी – I am the one who will enjoy all the wealth and the सिद्धः – I am the most successful person, but how he attained success is a big question. Over how many dead bodies he has attained success, and he is glorified; all those things happens. सिद्धः अहम् सिद्धः means successful. And बलवान् – I am the strongest person, even the law cannot do anything because police are in my hands, because I know what is their rate, once I know the rate, everybody can be fixed. And politicians no problem. So therefore I hear that all the politicians are in the hands of big big business groups. So therefore, अहम् बलवान्, all are in my hands. And सुखी – and I am the happiest person in the world, thus these people dream their future. More in the next class.

From the 7th verse of the 16th chapter, Lord कृष्ण is talking about आसुरी सम्पत्, which we have to know as an obstacle to spiritual growth and therefore we should take all pains to avoid these traits and आसुरी सम्पत् includes, राक्षसी सम्पत् also. आसुरी सम्पत् means राग प्रधान life, a life in which राग or attachment is dominant, राजसिक राग is dominant and राक्षसी सम्पत् is that in which द्वेष प्रधान behavior, तामसिक behavior is dominant. In राग प्रधान life, one is utterly selfish and द्वेष प्रधान life, a person harms other people. Only difference is when I am selfish I don't directly and immediately harm the people, but in the long run a selfish person affects the society because he takes more and gives less to the society. And therefore this behavior will create a disharmony in the society in due course and it will hurt the society and also the very selfish person himself. But this disturbance is not immediately felt, it is a gradually poisoning of the society. Thus a राग प्रधान person hurts the society very gradually, whereas द्वेष प्रधान person hurts the society immediately, directly. But both of them harm the harmony of the society and both of them harm themselves ultimately. And कृष्ण is describing both आसुरी people as well as the राक्षसीक people, both are included. And we generally call them materialistic people or अर्थ-काम प्रधान people who do not value धर्म and मोक्ष. And we should remember when we criticize the materialistic people or materialism, we are not against the materialism totally. Criticism of materialism must be carefully understood. We are not against materials, because we need them for our living, we require money for food, we require money for shelter. So we are not against money and materials, we don't want to hate money and materials, but what we are criticizing is over-emphasis of अर्थ-काम to such an extent, that this person has no time for धर्म and मोक्ष. And therefore if we are not careful from attachment to money, we may go to the other extreme of hatred of money. If attachment to money is an evil, hatred of money is also equally an evil. And that is why in our culture money is seen as लक्ष्मीदेवी. Please give respect to money, even संन्यासिs has to respect money, because money alone fetches the food that he eats, money alone fetches the dress that he is wearing and if he has an आश्रम money alone runs the आश्रम not गीता and उपनिषत्s. Therefore if attachment is an evil, hatred is an equal evil. A balanced attitude towards money is what we are recommending. And what is balanced attitude? Use the money for spiritual growth, earn the wealth and use it for spiritual growth of yourselves as well as the other people. And these materialistic people do not have this balanced vision and therefore they are obsessed with materialistic thing, they don't understand that behind the matter there is spirit, behind the body there is आत्मा, respect the body, respect the आत्मा also. This is the balanced approach which the आसुरीक people are missing. And therefore कृष्ण is describing their thought pattern, what preoccupies their mind most of the time, they are obsessed with what type of thinking most of the time. Our scriptures point out start the day with thought of the Lord as I said, think of लक्ष्मी, but have some time to think of नारायण also. How can you be so selective concentrating on लक्ष्मी only and miss नारायण? So, these people do not have the balance. And therefore what happens, we were seeing from verse no.13, the pattern of their thinking all the time they are calculative, what all things they have acquired in life and what all things they plan to acquire and how they want to implement those desires and not only they are interested in things, they are interested in wealth also, only for their well being and anybody who obstructs this they consider as a competitor, a rival and they don't have any scruples at all. They want to finish off all those obstacles without any compunction. So कृष्ण said, “असौ मया हतः शत्रुः” these are all within quotation, 13th verse is in quotation, this is the thought pattern of materialistic people, the 14th verse is also within quotation, असौ शत्रु मया हतः – this rival has been finished, liquidated, exterminated and ‘हनिष्ये च अपरान् अपि’ – and all others also I will finish off and once I have destroyed all of them, I am unrivaled master, I have the monopoly in everything. Just as big companies swallow the small companies. They say in globalization, at the end there will be only a few international giant companies and they can adjust the market itself in such a way, because they can afford that all this small people will be swallowed and they will be so powerful that they can even change the government. These are the materialistic people, therefore ईश्वरः –I am the most powerful person, अहम् भोगी – I alone enjoy the power and money, अहम् सिद्धः – the most successful person and अहम् बलवान् – the strongest and अहम् सुखी – given to all types of enjoyment. Up to this we saw. Continuing;

Verse No .15

आढ्योऽभिजनवानस्मि कोऽन्योऽस्ति सदृशो मया ।

यक्ष्ये दास्यामि मोदिष्ये इत्यज्ञानविमोहिताः ॥ १६-१७॥

आढ्यः अभिजनवान् अस्मि कः अन्यः अस्ति सदृशः मया ।

यक्ष्ये दास्यामि मोदिष्ये इति अज्ञान-विमोहिताः ॥ १६-१७॥

आढ्यः अभिजनवान् अस्मि, मया सदृशः कः अन्यः अस्ति? (अहम् यक्ष्ये, दास्यामि, मोदिष्ये इति अज्ञान-विमोहिताः (ते सन्ति) ।

The quotation continues. These are the thoughts of the materialistic people. अहम् आढ्यः अस्मि – I am the richest person and my name occurs in Forbes magazine list. In that magazine my name comes, as one of the richest 20 people in the world, how many heads have rolled भगवान् only knows to come to this status, आढ्यः अस्मि – I am the richest person, अभिजनवान् अस्मि – and I belong a noble family, a noble birth. So therefore he talks his great grandfather, great great grandfather. He will say one is घनपाठि, another is जटा वल्लभ, another is सोमयाजि, he will name all those people. And you ask him what do you know? गायत्री doubtful! So he only talks about the परम्परा strongly, अभिजन is forgotten, he only talks about the great परम्परा, he has not done anything to preserve this wonderful culture, What a culture which has started from millennia before, all of them have been surrendered at the altar of money hunt.

उत्खातम् निधिश्ङ्कया क्षितितलम् ध्माता गिरेर्धातवो

निस्तीर्णः सरिताम् पतिर्नृपतयो यत्नेन सन्तोषिताः ।

मन्त्राराधनतत्परेण मनसा नीताः श्मशाने निशाः

प्राप्तः काण्वराटकोऽपि न मया तृष्णे सकामा भव ॥ वैराग्यशतकम् ३॥

भर्तृहरि in his वैराग्यशतकम् looks back: Oh Lord in search money what all I did, I dug all part of earth hoping to get some wealth from ground, उत्खातम् निधिश्ङ्कया क्षितितलम् ध्माता गिरेर्धातवो, I went in search of all types of ores to extract the metals - gold, silver, etc., I went in search of, निस्तीर्णः सरिताम् पतिर्नृपतयो यत्नेन सन्तोषिताः – I went all round the globe in search of the wealth and for this travel I have to please so many bureaucrats and politicians and counsels and all types of people, I didn't propitiate the देवताs and gods, I propitiated all these arrogant human beings, प्रदक्षिण, नमस्कार and दक्षिणा, and not only that take them to the hotels and gave them all kinds of treats, What all should not be eaten, I eat, all for the purpose of business promotion, मन्त्राराधनतत्परेण मनसा नीताः श्मशाने निशाः, I went to the black magic people to destroy, and eat all kinds of things which are banned in the tradition, तामसिक food, what all should not be drunk, I drunk, what all should not be eaten, I eat, what all should not be done I did in concentrated form. Ok, at least am I happy now? At the fag end of my life, I have not improved anything at all, only losing the culture and tradition is only the thing that happens. You read भर्तृहरि, you will feel like running away, so powerful is his writing.

So He says, अभिजनवान् अरिम – I belong to wonderful family but I did not make use of the advantage that I had, like the fifth set, already I have got two sets and I have got the advantage, I have to hit the last shot properly, win the set and game and match and the cup. That is मनुष्य जन्म upon this wonderful land, I squandered the advantage and rival won and I lost the match and cup, what is the cup? मोक्ष cup. I lost. कृष्ण says, अभिजनवान् अस्मि – he claims but doesn't make use of the advantage, कः अन्यः अस्ति सदृशः मया – he asks everyone who is there in the world equal to me, indicating the height of arrogance. In our tradition, everyone was embodiment of humility and here we find the embodiment of arrogance, he asks who is equal to me and यक्ष्ये, even though he doesn't believe in God or religion, he doesn't believe in the scriptural study or पूजा, but still he wants to certain rituals, not for inner growth, but for the publicity. And therefore he says, I will do big big rituals and make sure that it is captured in the photos and videos so that my name will spread. Even पूजा is done only to pump his arrogance. यक्ष्ये, यक्ष्ये means यागम् करिष्ये, I shall do big पूजाIs just to show off. दास्यामि – and I will give charity but I will make sure that my name appears in the appropriate newspaper in the appropriate magazine. If nothing else, at least on the tube-light (you might have seen in the tube-light in temples. It is already a tube-light, on that the the donors name will be displayed). Why can't we give some clean light, unfiltered light? There also I want to make sure that my name prominently appears. Therefore दास्यामि for publicity. मोदिष्ये – when person after person comes and glorifies, because the other institutions will glorify me because they need my money, and therefore there will be program, felicitation program and they will glorify and all adding to the ego which is the cause of spiritual destruction. More bloated the ego is, less the chances of spiritual growth. इति up to this is the quotation. And कृष्ण says, विमोहिताः – thus all these people are utterly deluded and confused, they don't know they are digging their spiritual grave, not knowing what is good and what is bad they are suffering. In fact, Lord is not angry with those people and Lord only feels pity for them. And Lord has provided methods of avoiding these traps. We have got महात्माs to guide us, we have got the scriptures to guide us from these traps, but the problem is the only guiding factor he doesn't make use of is his arrogance doesn't allow him to go to a महात्मा, his arrogance does not allow him to read a few गीता verses and therefore भगवान् says, medicine is there, but he doesn't make use of. And भगवान् cannot come and force the medicine down his throat. भगवान् has given something called grey matter. Therefore कृष्ण says: अज्ञान-विमोहिताः – deluded by utter ignorance. And as I have often said, ignorance itself is not a sin, because all of us are born with ignorance. In fact, that is our capital, that is the only wealth we all uniformly brought. Therefore ignorance is itself is not sin, but perpetuation of ignorance is the greatest sin, because भगवान् has provided methods for the removal of ignorance, he has provided wonderful प्रमाणम्, but these people do not expose themselves.

अविद्यायामन्तरे वर्तमानाः स्वयम् धीराः पण्डितम् मन्यमानाः ।

जङ्घन्यमानाः परियन्ति मूढाः अन्धेनैव नीयमाना यथान्धाः ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् १-२-८ ॥

मुण्डकोपनिषत् strongly criticizes these people. Therefore अज्ञान-विमोहिताः, deluded by ignorance. Continuing;

अनेकचित्तविभ्रान्ता मोहजालसमावृताः ।

प्रसक्ताः कामभोगेषु पतन्ति नरकेऽशुचौ ॥ १६-१६॥

अनेक-चित्त-विभ्रान्ताः मोह-जाल-समावृताः ।

प्रसक्ताः काम-भोगेषु पतन्ति नरके अशुचौ ॥ १६-१६॥

अनेक-चित्त-विभ्रान्ताः मोह-जाल-समावृताः काम-भोगेषु प्रसक्ताः, अशुचौ नरके पतन्ति ।

अनेक-चित्त-विभ्रान्ताः – lost in, carried away by the above mentioned thought patterns, चित्तम् means thinking pattern, अनेक means varieties. And what are those patterns given in the previous three श्लोकs, 13, 14 and 15, in these thought patterns they are immersed. Our शास्त्र says: ‘at least half a second at Your lotus feet.’ Can you think of the Lord for half a minute? That is great! But this person doesn’t have even half a minute. So विभ्रान्ताः – lost in, मोह-जाल-समावृताः – they are encircled by a network of मोह or delusion or misconception; the misconception being that money and possessions will give the ultimate goal, will give the ultimate security, will give everything that I want. As we have a set of beautiful saying, they say “money can buy a house but it cannot buy a home, money can buy bed but money cannot buy sleep, money can buy people but money cannot buy love. In fact, money can buy many things but all important things in life, like peace, like knowledge, like love, all these things money cannot buy” But that these people do not understand that is what is called मोह. So मोह-जाल-समावृताः. And प्रसक्ताः काम-भोगेषु, a materialistic society will use all its resources only to improve methods of entertainment. That is the indication of a materialist society, whether there is material resources or scientific advancement, all of them will be used to improve sense pleasures improvements and they think that is the growth of the society and that is why, you can find in India any scientific improvement comes first it will be used in religious field, if TV comes then रामायण and महाभारत serials, all स्वामिs will start appearing in TVs. That is our culture, any scientific advancement, we imagine, we think of using for spiritual purpose, that is called a healthy society, a materialistic society will think of improving sense pleasures and these materialistic people प्रसक्ताः – lost in entertainment, काम-भोगेषु – in the enjoyment of sense pleasures, काम means sense objects, भोग means enjoyment, काम भोग means the enjoyment of sense objects, प्रसक्ताः, they are lost in. And even medical advancement, they want to use the body younger and younger so that again that the body can be used for what, not for spiritual साधन, how I can be young at the 90th year. Again for what? I can use my sense organs for sensory pleasures. Even medical advancement is directed towards that, that is the typical materialistic society. Therefore, प्रसक्ताः काम-भोगेषु. What will happen to them? कृष्ण gets so wild, He says, नरके पतन्ति, animals are the only living beings which have got only two पुरुषार्थः – अर्थ and काम, after all animals work for their security, animals work for their enjoyment, animals do not know what is धर्म, animals do not know what is मोक्ष, animals don't require वेद-पूर्व, animals do not require वेद-अन्त. Catch a buffalo and say:

सत्यम् वद । धर्मम् चर । स्वाध्यायान्मा प्रमदः । ... ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् १-११ ॥

all these to the buffalo. It doesn't have four, it has got only two pursuits, अर्थ-काम. If I am going to dedicate my life at the altar of अर्थ-काम, I am telling the Lord that I am as good as an animal and therefore भगवान् notes in the diary, that I have committed a mistake of giving human birth to this जीव, therefore I will correct the mistake, how? Make him an animal so that no guilt or regret or anything, no need to study वेद, धर्म शास्त्र, no need of सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, no prayers, no सत्यम् वद धर्मम् चर talk; without all these things we can wallow. So, this inferior life is called नरकम्. अशुचौ नरके – in spiritually inferior जन्मs called नरक, which are spiritually backward he falls. Continuing;

आत्मसम्भाविताः स्तब्धा धनमानमदान्विताः ।

यजन्ते नामयज्ञैस्ते दम्भेनाविधिपूर्वकम् ॥ १६-१७॥

आत्म-सम्भाविताः स्तब्धाः धन-मान-मद-अन्विताः ।

यजन्ते नाम-यज्ञैः ते दम्भेन अविधि-पूर्वकम् ॥ १६-१७॥

आत्म-सम्भाविताः स्तब्धाः धन-मान-मद-अन्विताः, ते दम्भेन अविधि-पूर्वकम् नाम-यज्ञैः यजन्ते ।

When our धर्म शास्त्रs talk about a धार्मिक way of life, it is a way of life in which I maintain harmony at all levels. It starts with internal harmony, harmony between my thought, word and deed is internal harmony. Even my eating, sleeping, etc., should have a harmony, if you remember 6th chapter,

युक्त-आहार-विहारस्य युक्त-वेष्यस्य कर्मसु ।

युक्त-स्वप्न-अवबोधस्य योगः भवति दुःखहा ॥ ६-१७॥

Even among the various organs of the body there should be harmony. It starts with internal harmony, then I lead a lifestyle in which there is harmony in the family among the various members. There is no stress, strain or tension, I am not uncomfortable I should feel at home. That is why it is called a home, interaction should be smooth, well-oiled, there should not be any friction, there is a window which is not well-oiled, it makes a sound each time it is opened, there is a friction. Then you put oil. Similarly, when in human interactions there is no harmony, what happens? There will be unwanted sounds, i.e., all the time fighting and the only interaction is fighting. And similarly, I should have harmony in the society and therefore social customs, social manners, politeness, etiquettes, all of them are also part of धर्म. धर्म is not mere religious activity but even social interaction must be in keeping with harmony. And therefore every refined civilized society has its own manners and customs, all indicating what? My refined conduct and behavior expressed in my body language. We have got rules, when they talk about etiquettes and manners, now-a-days big thing they talk about is body language. The way you stand, the way you sit, the way you talk, the way you eat, because the body language communicates something and therefore in our culture, they say, we all have as children we have experienced, when some महात्मा or somebody comes, our parents will say sit properly, how you should hold your hands, your head, your legs, therefore these are all body language, which should convey respect, love, humility and not only body language should convey my refinement, even my words should convey my refinement, that in a group I don't dominate by talking all the time. You will find that in any group there will be one, who will never allow others to speak and if I start something interrupting talking so loud that you can hear in neighborhood block, all those things also disturbs the harmony of the set-up. Open contradiction, telling a person is wrong in front of all others, all these things also come under behavior. And Lord कृष्ण says when a materialistic person grows in money and power, chances are he becomes more and more puffed up with power and pride. He becomes more and more gross. He becomes more and more desensitized and he doesn't bother about his behavior, his conduct, his manners, his language, the first causality is humility and the unfortunate thing is when I become a man of power and wealth there will be always a coterie of sycophants around. Because they want to take advantage of my power and money and therefore they will come and they will glorify me, you are great, you are wonderful, they will do अर्चन,

यस्यास्ति वित्तम् स नरः कुलीनः स पण्डित स श्रुतवान् गुणज्ञः ।

स एव वक्ता स च दर्शनीयः सर्वे गुणाः कांचनमाश्रयन्ते ॥ सुभाषितानि ॥

It is a very oft quoted श्लोक. Once you have got money and power, everybody will come and say, that you are beautiful, your language is wonderful, you are cultured and educated, they will do नमस्कार, etc. Already arrogant, these people will pump and my ego gets bloated and bloated, and first humility goes and then devotion to God disappears. Because arrogance and ईश्वरः भक्ति cannot go together. You study the life of all our राक्षसs, whether it is रावण or कंस, or हिरण्यकशिपु, or हिरण्याक्ष, as money and power comes, arrogance comes humility goes, next devotion goes. Once humility and devotion goes, the महात्माs will begin to avoid me, because where there is ego, the great people do not go because where ego is there, God is absent and therefore महात्माs avoid. Therefore my few chances of correcting myself is also gone. If I have at least some great people around, they will tell, सत्सङ्गत्वे निरसङ्गत्वम्. Today it is coming out from भर्तृहरि only:

पापान् निवारयति योजयते हिताय गुह्यानि गूहति गुणान् प्रकटीकरोति ।

आपद्रतम् च न जहाति ददाति काले सन्मित्रलक्षणमिदम् प्रवदन्ति सन्तः

A few cultured and refined people you associate with, they will guide me, but in the case of this person, महात्माs go away gradually and sycophants surround me and they will further see that all my culture, manner, politeness, all of them goes away. As we have read in पुराण, कंस refused to even to get up when Lord कृष्ण came. So these are all the problem. Therefore, कृष्ण says, अहङ्कारम्, every नमस्कार I receive from others can blot my अहङ्कार. That is why there are many people who don't take नमस्कार from others, there are some स्वामिs who don't allow or if at all they do, they say that you don't receive the नमस्कार, quietly hand over to your गुरु, let him handle it and what will your गुरु do, he will give to his गुरु and thus ultimately it will go to God, no problem, because God deserves all the नमस्कार. Therefore, glorification, नमस्कारs etc., are deadly and these people, अहङ्कारम् – they are egoistic, बलम् – they are power hungry, lot of power they have, दर्पम् – arrogance, कामम् – you know desire, materialistic desires, क्रोधम् – full of anger, because they can get away with any form of behavior, because money and power compensates. Therefore nobody will criticize me, nobody will correct me. आत्म-सम्भाविताः – they will be dominating any group. First thing is they will not allow others to talk and if they talk about something noble it is fine, all their talks are dominated by self-glorification. आत्म-सम्भाविताः means they glorify themselves either directly or indirectly. Self-publicity. स्तब्धाः – their body will never bend in नमस्कार to others, stiff bodied and stiff necked, like the person who has got the neck covered because of spondylosis, but these people have got a different type of inner spondylosis or sickness called arrogance, it is impossible for them to do नमस्कार to anyone including God. स्तब्धाः, धन-मान-मद-अन्विताः – full of मदम् i.e., arrogance, मानम् – pride, the difference मान and मद is मानम् is at the thought level, I consider I am the greatest, whereas the मदम् is is at the verbal and action level, all because of दानम्, Money-arrogance, because of wealth, they have these weaknesses, यजन्ते नाम-यज्ञैः ते – they do lot of पूजा alright, but the पूजा should give them more humility, but if पूजा is not approached properly, instead of giving humility that पूजा itself will add to arrogance, he will say that I have done this, I have done that. So, नाम-यज्ञैः, means पूजा is for names sake, there is no heart in the पूजा. दम्भेन – with pomp and show, in any ritual the most important part is the वैदिक part, the मन्त्र part and you will find that in the case of these people they will miss that, so the priest is given least importance, मन्त्रs are given least importance, all the social aspect, crucially when they are going to tie the मङ्गलसूत्र, that video fellow will come and say stop, in the most auspicious moment it is stopped and when these days when the marriages are already in danger, so somehow we see the मुहूर्तम् and all and somehow you want to do, at the crucial time stop he says, because somebody is obstructing. So all the other aspects are given importance, what is important they ignore. That is why it is called दम्भेन – with pomp and show and अविधि-पूर्वकम् – without following any rules and regulations. So there is a मन्त्र in which they have to see the धृव नक्षत्रम् and अरुन्धती नक्षत्रम्, so that there bond will be धृव means strong and firm and अरुन्धती नक्षत्र is just to remind वसिष्ठ-अरुन्धती, how they are the first made for each other couple and this धृव, अरुन्धती नक्षत्रम् they see at 12 noon. How it will be? अविधि-पूर्वकम्. And this person doesn't have time to chant the मन्त्र, because the other visitors are coming and shaking hands and giving gifts and therefore, the priest chants all the मन्त्रs, holding the hand of the bridge-groom. And all the मन्त्रs are what? “Oh Girl you should be nice to me.” Who should chant? Everything is going falsely. So therefore the girl will be nice to the priest and horrible to the husband. So अविधि-पूर्वकम् – violating all the rules and regulations.

अहङ्कारम् बलम् दर्पम् कामम् क्रोधम् च संश्रिताः आत्म-पर-देहेषु (स्थितं) माम् प्रद्विषन्तः अभ्यसूयकाः (ते भवन्ति) ।

So all the refinement in his behavior is the causality, all the social etiquettes, humility, politeness in manners everything goes away, because nobody to correct and he can get away with all those things. Therefore what all things happen? अहङ्कारम् – full of bloated ego, बलम् – power, born out of status, then दर्पम् – arrogance and कामम् – desire, क्रोधः – anger, संश्रिताः – all of these will begin to dominate his life. And gradually this will lead to a नास्तिका स्वभाव also, because it is unconducive to devotion and therefore devotion will gradually get eroded. That is why हिरण्यकशिपु, हिरण्याक्ष, etc., said don't say ॐ नमो नारायणाय, you chant हिरण्याय नमः. So माम् प्रद्विषन्तः – they begin to hate Me. And where am I? आत्म-पर-देहेषु – who am the very life in every one including himself, आत्म देहे, पर देहे च, I am there occupying his own body and blessing him with life and I am in every beings' body and that Lord प्रद्विषन्तः – this person begins to hate and not only he begins to hate the Lord, he begins the hate the scriptures also, he becomes highly critical of the scriptures, which are supposed to be the gifts from the Lord himself. So अभ्यसूयकाः means criticizers, slanderers, degraders, is called अभ्यसूयकाः, Continuing;

तान् द्विषतः क्रूरान् अशुभान् नराधमान् संसारेषु आसुरीषु एव योनिषु अजस्रम् अहम् क्षिपामि ।

So thus religious life disappears from them and you can see at home also, traditional homes you can feel the presence of the Lord, whether it is the pictures are hanging or the पूजा room, all those things you can feel, but you will find all the pictures, now-a-days, are secular pictures, they don't want even to show their religion. So therefore I don't want to go to the details, so religion goes away, religious life goes away, religious practices goes away and of course spirituality also disappears. Therefore कृष्ण says, द्विषतः – they dislike all these things, we can see in India also, in the modern society that is coming, as I said the other day, even they don't want to put the तिलकम्, because that is again declaring their religion that I am a devotee, I am a हिन्दु, why I feel bad to declare that I am a वैदिक, I heard that the शिख् religious people, (not sick) they are all over world, some of them are also in the army of other countries and they have fought with the Government and said that we will keep our turban, our hair and we will keep our 'किरण' and they fought and won the case, they feel so proud to declare that I belong to Sikhism. All people proud, the only people who don't feel pride is we, the miserable हिन्दुs. We don't want to declare to anyone. And even the names are chosen in such a way that you don't know what they are. Original name will be मीनाक्षि, कामाक्षी, रामकृष्ण etc., but they call by nick names which don't have any meaning. They don't want to even reveal their identity. Materialism is overwhelming. Only the Lord can save us. Therefore, द्विषतः – they are haters of religion, God, temple, etc. And they are क्रूरान् – they are very very rude in their behavior, lacking politeness, culture, refinement and नराधमान् – they are the meanest among the human beings and अशुभान् – so they are all representative of अशुभ, अशुभ means deterioration in spirituality, अमङ्गलम्, means धर्म and मोक्ष deterioration, they are representatives of अमङ्गल. And कृष्ण says what can I do, I have to throw them into नरक.

परित्राणाय साधूनां विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् ।

धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय सम्भवामि युगे युगे ॥ ४-८॥

First I try through scriptures and महात्माs hoping that the scriptures and महात्माs will change the society and when the society is so corrupted that even the महात्माs and scriptures cannot change, I will take अवतार and knock their heads.

CHAPTER 16, VERSES 20-24

In these verses of the 16th chapter, beginning from the 7th verse onwards, Lord कृष्ण is dealing with आसुरी सम्पत्, which includes राक्षसी सम्पत् also. आसुरी सम्पत् means that character or lifestyle in which तमोगुण is dominant. And राक्षसी सम्पत् is that character and lifestyle in which रजोगुण is dominant. And when तमोगुण is dominant a person will become द्वेष प्रधान, overpowered hatred and anger towards others and therefore such a person will harm the society and it will spiritually bring him down. And therefore तामसिक lifestyle is that which will bring a person down spiritually. Whereas राजसिक lifestyle is that in which a person is राग प्रधान, more selfish, he does not directly harm the society and therefore, there is no spiritual downfall, but because of his selfish and materialist desires there is no scope for spiritual progress. And therefore a राजसिक person does not spiritually fall down, but he has no scope for spiritual growth, which means there is spiritual stagnation. And spiritual stagnation in human life is a very big loss because human birth is the most precious birth and thereto we have got a very very short productive life.

आयुर्वर्षशतम् नृणाम् परिमितम् रात्रौ तदर्थम् गतम्

तस्यार्धस्य परस्य चार्धमपरम् बालत्व वृद्धत्वयो ।

शेषम् व्याधि वियोग दुःख सहितम् सेवादिभिर्नीयते

जीवे वारितरङ्ग चञ्चलतरे सौख्यम् कुतः प्राणिनाम् ॥ वैराग्यशतकम् ४९

आयुर्वर्षशतम् नृणाम् परिमितम् रात्रौ तदर्थम् गतम् out of the hundred possible years, 50 years gone in the night. तस्यार्धस्य परस्य चार्धमपरम् बालत्व वृद्धत्वयो of the rest of 50 years, 25 years gone in childhood state which we do not know what is good and bad and another part gone in old age, we may know what is good but we cannot implement what we want to. शेषम् व्याधि वियोग दुःख सहितम् सेवादिभिर्नीयते so

50 gone, half of it 12-1/2 years gone and we have got another 12-1/2 years, most of the time, cold, cough, stomach upset, of course सेवादिभिर्नीयते, varieties of service, now-a-days we have to add queue आदिभिर्नीयते, standing in queue for various things. जीवे वारितरङ्ग कचलतरे सौख्यम् कुतः प्राणिनाम् - भर्तृहरि says that our productive precious part of life is very short and if we are in spiritual stagnation this is a very very huge waste. So राजसिक people will waste their life, तामसिक people will destroy their life and therefore कृष्ण strongly criticizes those people and He said in the 19th verse, which we completed in the last class, कृष्ण said that since these people did not make use of this wonderful human life properly, I decide to give them an inferior शरीरम् in the next जन्म. 'Like giving a garland to a monkey' I don't know whether it is prevalent here. If you give a beautiful well arranged garland, flower garland to a monkey, what will it do? It doesn't how to utilize it properly, therefore it will only tear of or eat it. Similarly, these people like monkeys, they have abused this wonderful human body and therefore next birth, I will give them आसुरी योनिः. आसुरी योनिः means a body in which धर्म पुरुषार्थः and मोक्ष पुरुषार्थः are not possible. It may be an inferior human birth or it may be an animal birth or it may be a plant birth or it may be a birth in the lower लोकs, अतल, वितल, सुतल, रसातल, महातल, तलातल, पाताल. So, therefore अर्जुन don't take this life for granted. Up to this we saw. Continuing; verse no.20;

आसुरीं योनिमापन्ना मूढा जन्मनि जन्मनि ।

मामप्राप्यैव कौन्तेय ततो यान्त्यधमां गतिम् ॥ १६-२०॥

आसुरीम् योनिम् आपन्नाः मूढाः जन्मनि जन्मनि ।

माम् अप्राप्य एव कौन्तेय ततः यान्ति अधमाम् गतिम् ॥ १६-२०॥

हे कौन्तेय! आसुरीम् योनिम् आपन्नाः जन्मनि जन्मनि मूढाः (सन्तः) माम् अप्राप्य एव, ततः अधमाम् गतिम् यान्ति ।

And कृष्ण feels pity for these people, these materialistic आसुरीक people. Once they get into the downward slide, they get into a vicious cycle and getting out of that becomes extremely difficult, because when I don't use my free-will properly, when I abuse my free-will and take to a wrong action, two things happen. First thing is the wrong action itself will produce a पापम्. That is one negative point and another worse thing is every action that I do creates a वासना, an inclination in my mind, because the mind has the capacity to form addiction in whatever it does, the mind has the capacity to form a habit of whatever we do, anything you do for a few days you form a habit. As I often say, if you sit in a particular place in the class for a few days, later you begin to claim that it is 'my place' and ask others to get up, you get addicted to that particular place, in that particular pillar if you sit only you will understand गीता. Thus the mind has the capacity to develop शुभ वासना also, it has the capacity to develop अशुभ वासना also. You eat a particular type of food you form a habit, you drink a particular type of drink you form a habit, you come to गीता classes regularly you form a wonderful habit. I have to tell that 'wonderful' or else, you will not come, I have to make sure that you come. So thus we have got the capacity to develop शुभ वासना and अशुभ वासना and once I form a वासना, these वासनाs will begin to govern my life more than my will. And especially, as I grow old, वासनाs take over and if I am going to develop अशुभ वासनाs they are going to become so powerful that they conquer my free-will, my intelligence, my power of discrimination, all of them are overpowered by these वासनाs, that even if I want to change I will not be able to. Don't we say that, I want to do that स्वामिजि, new year decisions are all there in the diary, but they are only in the diary. Why we are not able to do what we want to do even we have a willpower given by the Lord? If we are not able to do, the responsibility is ours, we ourselves have developed certain वासनाs, which become a Frankenstein, our own Frankenstein. And कृष्ण says these आसुरीक people have developed असुर वासनाs and because of the कर्म, वासनाs develop, because of the वासनाs, I repeat the same कर्म. Like any addiction, first cigarette is smoked because of the will and then a वासना - smoking वासना comes, not वासना is smoking. वासना for smoking and the second time there is a वासना which is pulling more, free-will's contribution is lesser and if he has smoked a few hundreds of cigarette in few months or few years, with regard to cigarette his willpower is zero. Simply he will not be able to get out of it even though I tell him he is all powerful ब्रह्मन्, in front of cigarette he is भ्रमन् only and not ब्रह्मन्, he is wonderful in all other places, in this place he will not be able to do anything, it may be drug, it may be liquor, it may be smoke, cigarette, in fact, even our activities are capable of forming addiction and this can be favorably used, the addiction forming capacity can be favorably used by us, how, by developing शुभ वासना.

शुभ-अशुभाभ्याम् मार्गाभ्याम् वहन्ती वासना-सरित् ।

पौरुषेण प्रयत्नेन योजनीया शुभे पथि ॥ योग वसिष्ठ सार संग्रह २-६ ॥

Develop addictions, but let it be noble addictions. कृष्ण says this आसुरीक people have developed आसुरीक addictions, therefore He says, आसुरीम् योनिम् आपन्नाः, these आसुरीक people not only they form additions which enslave them in this जन्म, the वासनाs are carried forward in the next जन्म also. That is why all human beings remaining the same, some human beings are naturally dragged towards noble thing. How do you account for that? Spiritual inclination in young life is because of शुभ वासना developed in पूर्वजन्म. We saw this before in a particular chapter, I don't know whether you remember,

तत्र तम् बुद्धि-संयोगम् लभते पौर्व-देहिकम् ॥ ६-४३॥

Not only we are bringing पुण्यम्s and पापम्s, we are bringing our वासनाs also. बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् says:

तम् विद्याकर्मणी समन्वारभेते पूर्वप्रज्ञा च ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-२ ॥

पूर्वप्रज्ञा means वासना. And therefore these unfortunate आसुरीक people, आसुरीम् योनिम् आपन्नाः – being born in inferior wombs, योनि means womb, here it represents bodies, for having taken to inferior शरीरम्, मूढाः – they continue to be enslaved by their own thinking, मूढाः, they are deluded and not in one जन्म, but जन्मनि, जन्मनि because कर्म is responsible for वासना, वासना is responsible for further कर्म, further कर्म is responsible for further वासना. Thus जन्म after जन्म they come more and more down. And the more they come down spiritually, the more away I am. God is away, scriptures are away, साधुs or महात्माs are far far away. And therefore कृष्ण says माम् अप्राप्य एव – they get farther and farther from Me. The chances of coming to religion and spirituality become more and more rare. And thereafter अधमाम् गतिम् यावन्ति – they go to अधोगति. Up to पाताल they go. They don't go further down because, that is the down most possible, what a tragedy! And therefore, use your free-will in the beginning itself, that is why they say, “saying ‘No’ to any addiction is easier in the beginning.” The first ‘No’ is the easiest. Second ‘No’ is more difficult and therefore they say don't go near it, even friendship you keep only with those people who are धार्मिक, सत्सङ्गः सर्वदा कार्यः, नारद tells in भक्ति सूत्र, सत्सङ्गः सर्वदा कार्यः दुस्सङ्गः सर्वथैव त्याज्यः । ॥ नारदभक्तिसूत्राणि ४३ ॥

Otherwise I feel like experimenting. Also they write in the books, a little bit of liquor is good. As such it is bad, they say that social drinking is OK and all those things, कृष्ण says remain far far away from such things, so therefore, prevention is better than cure. Continuing;

Verse No .21

त्रिविधं नरकस्येदं द्वारं नाशनमात्मनः ।

कामः क्रोधस्तथा लोभस्तस्मादेतत्त्रयं त्यजेत् ॥ १६-२१॥

त्रिविधम् नरकस्य इदम् द्वारम् नाशनम् आत्मानः ।

कामः क्रोधः तथा लोभः तस्मात् एतत् त्रयम् त्यजेत् ॥ १६-२१॥

कामः क्रोधः तथा लोभः इदम् त्रिविधम् आत्मानः नाशनम् नरकस्य द्वारम् (अस्ति), तस्मात् एतत् त्रयम् त्यजेत् ।

Now the entire आसुरी सम्पत् कृष्ण is condensing into basic three problems. So if a human being learns to tackle these three fundamental problems intelligently then he is safe. So what are the three fundamental traits, आसुरी traits? He says, त्रिविधम् नरकस्य द्वारम् – there are three roads, highways to नरक, there are three roads which take a human being to नरकम्. So द्वारम्, द्वारम् means gateways or roads, they are three-fold. And what is नरकम्? Whether नरकम् as a place exists or not we need not bother, He defines नरकम् as anything that obstructs spiritual growth or anything that takes a person spiritually downwards is नरकम्. Therefore कृष्ण defines नरकम् as आत्मनः नाशनम् – which destroy a person spiritually, which blocks the gateway to मोक्ष. आत्मनः नाशनम् – self destruction, spiritual destruction. And what are those three basic things?

- i) काम,
- ii) क्रोधः and
- iii) लोभः.

कामः means desire, क्रोधः, you know we have seen, क्रोधः means anger and लोभः has two meanings, one meaning is greed another meaning is miserliness, not sharing one's resources with others, this non-sharing tendency, this miserliness is also called लोभः, or greed also is called लोभः, both are essentially the same, because in miserliness also I want to possess everything. In greed also I want to possess everything. That possessor-hood is called लोभः and these three are gateways to hell. And therefore अर्जुन what do you do? तस्मात्, therefore, एतत् त्रयम् त्यजेत् – learn to give up these three things, these three roads you avoid. What do you mean by that? Give up काम, क्रोधः and लोभः. And when कृष्ण says give up काम, we should very very carefully understand. शास्त्र itself clearly says total giving up of काम is neither possible nor necessary. We are not taking about total physical renunciation of काम. That is neither possible nor necessary. Then what do you mean by काम त्यागः? काम त्यागः means refinement or transmutation or qualitative change of काम. By qualitative change of काम is mentioned here. And what do you mean by qualitative change? Convert तामसिक कामs into राजसिक कामs, convert राजसिक कामs into सत्त्विक कामs. Remember, even to come to the class, you require what, you should have what? Desire. Desire for what? Coming to the class. Desire for what? Learning गीता. Suppose I say, give up all desires. Next lass, I will be अद्वैति. Nobody will be there. स्वामिजि we gave up the desire to attend the class, what will happen to me. We should understand convert तामसिक काम into सत्त्विक काम. What do you mean by तामसिक काम? Any desire which is illegal, which is immoral, which harms other people, or in short, which will take you spiritually downwards. They are all तामसिक कामs. Destroying other people, cheating other people, all those things will come under तामसिक कामs, give them up straightway. Then what is राजसिक काम? Apply the same principle, there are so many धार्मिक कामs, legitimate desires, but they are all materialistic desires, which will help in the enjoyment of life, like desires for अर्थ and काम, I have desires for अर्थ and काम, अर्थ and काम means money and entertainment and I may desire them in a धार्मिक way without cheating others, they all will come under राजसिक desires, which means legitimate enjoyment of sense pleasures. But in these, in fulfillment of these desires, a person will thoroughly enjoy his life, but there is no scope for spiritual growth, he will be materialistically well off, he will enjoy all the worldly desires, he doesn't harm a single person, but the problem is what, he doesn't work for धर्म and मोक्ष. Therefore राजसिक काम is a काम which will not bring down spiritually but there will be spiritual stagnation. But it is better than तामसिक काम, want to enjoy dance and music and all kinds of entertainments are there and you legitimately enjoy, it is not immoral, it is not illegal and you spend the whole life in that. Certainly, it is harmless, it is धार्मिक only, but the problem is, if the person spends his entire life in these dance, drama, music, etc., only when will he study गीता, when do you think of higher pursuits. Therefore, राजसिक काम is better than तामसिक काम, therefore first is convert तामसिक into राजसिक. Then what is the next change of काम? From राजसिक काम to सात्विक काम, in which desire for अर्थ-काम will gradually recede and in that place I have got desire for धर्म and मोक्ष. I have a desire for वित्तशुद्धि, it is a desire but it will come under सात्विक काम, I want to गुरु प्राप्ति, it is a desire but it is a सात्विक काम, in fact, I want a healthy body to study the scriptures, that desire for health will come what सात्विक desire,

शरीरम् मे विचर्षणम् । जिह्वा मे मधुमत्तमा ।

Oh Give me healthy body, whether other things are healthy or not, let me have a good ears so that I will listen to the शास्त्रs. What purpose? For वित्तशुद्धि, गुरु प्राप्ति, श्रवण प्राप्ति, मनन प्राप्ति, निदिध्यासन प्राप्ति, they are all what desires, सात्विक desires. So convert तामसिक काम into राजसिक काम, convert राजसिक काम into सात्विक काम. And remember all these three कामs are bondages, because if it is not fulfilled, you will be upset, exactly at 5 o'clock a guest comes, in-laws, difficult to manage. You cannot say anything, your mind is in the class, you cannot come, you are upset. So, even सात्विक काम is, as we saw in the 14th chapter, also a bondage only. Through Self-knowledge, the सात्विक काम is converted into बाधित कामः, non-binding desire. सात्विक काम will continue but it will become a preference, a non-binding desire. Once your desires have become non-binding, it is as good as no desire, non-binding धार्मिक desire is as good as no desire. All the आचार्यs in our tradition had a desire to promote our religion, without desire शङ्कराचार्य would not have written commentaries on गीता, उपनिषत्s, ब्रह्मसुत्र, प्रकरण ग्रन्थs, स्तोत्रम्s etc. Without desires how can he do that? He established मठs because of desire. What desire? वैदिक धर्म should spread. But what is the type of desire? If those desires are fulfilled by the grace of the Lord, wonderful, if they are not fulfilled also, ईश्वर प्रसाद. Such desire you can have any amount, even भगवान् has such desires. परित्राणाय साधूनाम् (in संस्कृत when 4th case comes it is desire only), परित्राणाय for the protection of साधुs. This is whose desire? भगवान्'s desire. विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम्, again desire. For what? दुष्कृताम् विनाशाय, धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय, again desire, for धर्म-संस्थापनम्. And for that what does भगवान् do? सम्भवामि, what is that, desire. Desire to appear on the earth and तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् says:

सोऽकामयत । बहुस्यां प्रजायेयेति ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-६-४ ॥

Therefore giving up desire means convert तामसिक into राजसिक, राजसिक into सात्विक and सात्विक into बाधित, it is a technical word, बा (3rd ब, in तमिळ् everything is अद्वैत. In संस्कृत, 3rd ब and 4th) ध, बाधितम् means non-binding noble desires, have any amount. And therefore त्यजेत्. And what about क्रोध and लोभ? Once you handle काम, the other two are handled, because क्रोध and लोभ are only another version of काम. How do you know? कृष्ण himself said this in the 3rd chapter,

कामः एषः क्रोधः एषः रजः गुण-समुद्भवः ।

महा-अशनः महा-पाप्मा विद्धि एनम् इह वैरिणम् ॥ ३-३७॥

He enumerates काम and क्रोध, and He says they are born out of रजोगुण and grammatically He uses singular number. When He has used काम and क्रोध, what should be the number? one plus one two and in संस्कृत there is a dual number, He says रजः गुण-समुद्भवः and uses a singular number. What does it mean? काम obstructed is क्रोध, obstructed desire transforms into anger and therefore if you learn to handle काम, क्रोध also will be changed form तामस anger to राजस anger to सात्त्विक anger to बाधित anger. Similarly, लोभः. Therefore अर्जुन refine these three. Continuing;

Verse No .22

एतैर्विमुक्तः कौन्तेय तमोद्गारैस्त्रिभिर्नरः ।

आचरत्यात्मनः श्रेयस्ततो याति परां गतिम् ॥ १६-२२॥

एतैः विमुक्तः कौन्तेय तमो-द्गारैः त्रिभिः नरः ।

आचरति आत्मानः श्रेयः ततः याति पराम् गतिम् ॥ १६-२२॥

हे कौन्तेय! एतैः त्रिभिः तमो-द्गारैः विमुक्तः नरः, आत्मानः श्रेयः आचरत्, ततः पराम् गतिम् याति ।

So this conversion of काम, क्रोध and लोभ is conversion from आसुरी सम्पत् to दैवी सम्पत्. And a person of दैवी सम्पत् also has desire. What is the desire? My विवेक must be very strong, my वैराग्यम् must be very strong, शमादि षट्क सम्पत्ति I should enjoy amply, मुमुक्षुत्वम् is in trouble it should be adjust. Thus he wants these qualifications in what you call in abundance, but that is a noble desire, therefore दैवी सम्पत् it becomes. And how to do these things? कृष्ण does not say, how to accomplish this conversion. He only says, you have to change from आसुरी सम्पत् to दैवी सम्पत्. He doesn't say how to do that, the religious way of life prescribed in our tradition is meant for that. पञ्च महायज्ञs prescribed and I don't expect you to ask me what are the पञ्च महायज्ञs. So therefore, a religious way of life, which is the वैदिक teaching, the entire वेद-पूर्व भाग only talks about that lifestyle, which will bring about this conversion. And therefore, एतैः विमुक्तः – having been freed from the tyranny of काम-क्रोध and लोभ, what are they, तमो-द्गारैः त्रिभिः – which are the three gateways, which are the roads to नरकम्, you turn away from them very carefully. And once you have turned, you can start the spiritual pursuit, आत्मनः श्रेयः आचरति, you can concentrate more and more on चित्तशुद्धि. So you begin to give importance to internal growth rather than external growth, even though society values the external possession and status only, you are not carried away by the society, they may say they may not respect me if I don't have that status, and I don't develop an inferiority complex also just because society does not respect me, because my values are different from the common values they are prevalent, I value inner growth not external possession, not that they are not required, but they are always subservient to the inner growth and therefore कर्मयोग becomes more dominant in his life, that is called आत्मनः श्रेयः, श्रेयः means here मोक्ष मार्ग. श्रेयः च प्रेयः च मनुष्यम् एतः, previously he was in प्रेयो मार्ग, now the track has been changed, now he is in the श्रेयो मार्गः and ततः, once he has got into this spiritual groove, चित्तशुद्धि is faster and his desire is for leaning the scriptures more and more. His desire is for getting a गुरु to guide. And once this sincere desire is nourished more and more, भगवान् tells it is my responsibility to provide him a proper गुरु. Because that person does not know who is proper गुरु. Therefore I have got a गुरु agency. Like local security agencies, etc., who send people to you, similarly, भगवान् is running a गुरु agency, He will send. And if no गुरुs are available around, He will himself come, as in the case of अर्जुन, भगवान् himself will take the role, you need not worry about that, you do what you have to do, things will happen. It is the law of the universe. Therefore ततः – before long, so he will get चित्तशुद्धि, he will get गुरु प्राप्ति and thereafter श्रवण प्राप्ति, because गुरु cannot give मोक्ष by touching, there is no touch मोक्ष. So that is श्रवणम्, श्रवणम् means consistent and systematic study of the Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent आचार्य. ततः पराम् गतिम् यान्ति, so he will very very smoothly land in मोक्ष, even before he knows he discovers अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि, like the eating of the peeled banana.

न स सिद्धिमवाप्नोति न सुखं न परां गतिम् ॥ १६-२३॥

यः शास्त्र-विधिम् उत्सृज्य वर्तते काम-कारतः ।

न सः सिद्धिम् अवाप्नोति न सुखम् न पराम् गतिम् ॥ १६-२३॥

यः शास्त्र-विधिम् उत्सृज्य, काम-कारतः वर्तते, सः न सिद्धिम्, न सुखम्, न (च) पराम् गतिम् अवाप्नोति ।

On the other hand, these verses from 22nd onwards, this is the conclusion of the teaching, with the 21st verse आसुरी सम्पत् topic is over. It started from the 7th verse and now from the 22nd verse onwards Lord कृष्ण is talking about the further stages. So mere change from आसुरी सम्पत् to दैवी सम्पत् alone is not enough, a good character does not guarantee liberation. A moral or ethical life by itself will not lead to liberation because an ethical life does not remove ignorance. Only difference is now he is an ethically ignorant person. Therefore if ignorance has to go away he has to pursue spiritual साधन. And that he said ततः पराम् गतिम् यावन्ति – he will attain परम् गतिम्, i.e., मोक्ष. And on the other hand, if a person does not change the direction of life what will happen to him? Statutory warning! One side they will say, Every Puff Is A Promise, in big letters, or something like that and down below they write, cigarette smoking is injurious to your health. कृष्ण is doing exactly the same thing. The best thing is to follow My teaching and if you don't follow, the statutory warning, what is that? यः शास्त्र-विधिम् उत्सृज्य – one who does not make use of this wonderful traditional teaching, it has been coming down from time immemorial, thousands and thousands of years, just being born in the society it is available freely. शङ्कराचार्य never asked for intellectual property rights. How much he could have made, शङ्कराचार्य doesn't ask, व्यास doesn't ask, all are freely available, you have to be only born in the society and keep your ears open. You don't have to do any other thing. So, if you don't make use of this wonderful opportunity, उत्सृज्य, then what does he do? वर्तते काम-कारतः – lives a life according to his own राग-द्वेष, he takes to a प्राकृत lifestyle instead of a संस्कृत lifestyle, instead of धर्म-अधर्म based lifestyle, he takes to राग-द्वेष based lifestyle 'should the legs follow wherever the eyes lead to, should the mind follow wherever the legs lead to, should the man follow wherever the mind leads to?’ Like that, going as per one’s whimsies, the one who leads a licentious life, सः सिद्धिम् न अवाप्नोति – he has no chance of getting वित्त शुद्धिः, he has no chance of getting ज्ञानयोग्यता. And ज्ञानयोग्यता itself is not possible, न पराम् गतिम् – where is the question of ज्ञान प्राप्ति. And ज्ञानयोग्यता itself is not there, there is no possibility of ज्ञानम्. When साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति itself is not possible, no ज्ञानम् is possible. And then कृष्ण makes another startling statement, not only he will not get spiritual joy, really speaking, these materialistic people in due course even loose the capacity to enjoy worldly pleasures. So the nature of world pleasures are such that they will be appealing and attractive for a short period of time and thereafter, this person will be incapable of enjoying even विषय सुखम्. Therefore कृष्ण says: न सुखम्, because he will take to over indulgence and will lose the health and mind and everything. Therefore this also gone and that also gone. As they say, first you squander your health in search of wealth and later you squander your wealth in search of health and ultimately loose both. This will be the lot of that person, अर्जुन do you want such a tragedy. And now कृष्ण concludes,

Verse No .24

तस्माच्छास्त्रं प्रमाणं ते कार्याकार्यव्यवस्थितौ ।

ज्ञात्वा शास्त्रविधानोक्तं कर्म कर्तुमिहार्हसि ॥ १६-२४॥

तस्मात् शास्त्रम् प्रमाणम् ते कार्य-अकार्य-व्यवस्थितौ ।

ज्ञात्वा शास्त्र-विधान-उक्तम् कर्म कर्तुम् इह अर्हसि ॥ १६-२४॥

तस्मात् कार्य-अकार्य-व्यवस्थितौ ते शास्त्रम् प्रमाणम् (अस्ति), शास्त्र-विधान-उक्तम् कर्म ज्ञात्वा (तत् त्वं) इह कर्तुम् अर्हसि ।

तस्मात्, therefore. Therefore means wherefore? Because of the idea given in the previous verse. And what was the idea given? If you don’t make use of the शास्त्रिय guidance, if you don’t make use of the शास्त्रीय manual like using any gadgets, you have got a manual to use that particular instrument, it may be television, , it may be computer, it may be anything, along with that the manual comes, if you use the manual and use the instrument, you will get optimum benefit, if you don't follow that it will be waste of money. Similarly, here also, if you give up the शास्त्रीय guidance, you will lose this wonderful opportunity. Therefore, you have to connect like that. Therefore, make use of the वैदिक teaching. तस्मात् शास्त्रम्, शास्त्रम् originally is वेद शास्त्रम् and all other secondary literature also स्मृति, इतिहास, पुराणs, सूत्रम्, प्रकरण ग्रन्थ, all these literatures are there, which are based on the वेदs. शास्त्रम् alone is प्रमाणम्, that means the guidance for you. With regard to what? कार्य-अकार्य-व्यवस्थितौ – with regard to the norms of what to do and what not to do, व्यवस्थिति means the norms, the standard, with regard to the do's and don'ts. कार्यम् means do's, अकार्यम् means don'ts. It is called विधि and निषेध. And here we are talking about विधि-निषेध or धर्म-अधर्म and therefore the word शास्त्रम् must be translated as वेद-पूर्व शास्त्रम् or धर्म शास्त्रम्. With regard to विधि-निषेध, we don't go to वेदान्त. वेदान्त does not deal with धर्म and अधर्म, वेद-पूर्व भाग deals with that. And therefore may you first follow the वेदपूर्व, the धर्म शास्त्र and prepare the mind, ज्ञात्वा and with regard to धर्म शास्त्रम् mere knowledge is not enough, you have to implement what you know. So I know all the योगासनs, suppose, I know what is मयूरासन, I know what is शिर्षासन, सर्वाङ्गासन, there are so many आसनs, I know all of them, how many hours you practice, I know but I don't practice. Knowledge will not bless you, you have to do. In ज्ञानकाण्डम् knowledge itself will bless. In कर्मकाण्ड ज्ञानम् should be followed कर्म, अनुष्ठानम्. Therefore कृष्ण says: ज्ञात्वा शास्त्र-विधान-उक्तम् – first learn what is right and wrong, and don't stop with learning. Then you have to implement that, कर्तुम् इह अर्हसि – you should do what you know. So thus, Lord कृष्ण tells how to change yourselves from आसुरी/राक्षसी सम्पत् to दैवी सम्पत् and then pursue वेदान्त, attain ज्ञानम् and मोक्ष. With this 16th chapter is over.

Thus ends the 16th chapter of the गीता titled 'दैव-आसुर-सम्पत्-विभाग-योगः'.

CHAPTER 16, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 16th chapter. The two chapters, 16th and 17th chapter do not deal with Self-knowledge at all, even though Self-knowledge is the central theme of the भगवद्गीता, कृष्ण deals with a different topic in chapters 16 and 17. The reason is that the scriptures point out and कृष्ण also feels that Self-knowledge can be useful only for a prepared person. For an unprepared person Self-knowledge will not be beneficial at all or sometimes it can be even counterproductive. And this being very very important, all the scriptures uniformly talk about the preparatory steps before talking about Self-knowledge. If you take the वेदs themselves, Self-knowledge is never given in the beginning, Self-knowledge occurs only in वेद-अन्त, the final very very small portion, the bulky beginning portion of वेद-पूर्व deals with only preparation, which is technically called संस्कारः. And if you take the human life itself, of the four आश्रमs that are envisaged, ब्रह्मचर्य, गृहस्थ, वानप्रस्थ and संन्यास, three आश्रमs are dedicated for preparation only. 75% of life, 75 years of life, assuming that we are going to live for 100 years, 75% is allocated for संस्कारः, refinement, only the last संन्यास आश्रम is designed for Self-knowledge. From all these things it becomes very very clear that we should not take the preparation for granted, we should give extreme importance to the refinement of the person. Without refinement, knowledge will not be received, even if the knowledge is received, it will not be retained, even if the knowledge is retained, it will not bring about a transformation if the individual has not refined himself or herself. Before sowing the seeds, the farmer has to prepare the ground a lot and only after that the seed can be sown. Without the preparation of the ground even the best seed cannot sprout or grow and produce the फलम्. Therefore कृष्ण feels that he has to dedicate two exclusive chapters, the 16 and 17th, for मनुष्य संस्कार. संस्कार अनन्तरम् एव ज्ञानम् मोक्ष ददाति. And कृष्ण has elaborately talked about the संस्कार by enumerating those things which are to be very deliberately avoided and those practices which are to be deliberately resorted to: विधि and निषेध, दैवी and आसुरी सम्पत्, कृष्ण enumerated. I don't want to go into each value once again, because we have seen them elaborately. But as a summary, I would like to present the संस्कार, the refinement, in a different format. I am only going to change the format, but the ultimate purpose is human संस्कार, संस्कार means refinement. This refinement of the individual as a preparation for Self-knowledge can be dealt with from four different angles.

i) Refinement of myself, as I, an individual human being, different from animal. I am a human being and as a human being what type of refinement I should bring about. मनुष्य दृष्ट्या.

ii) And then the second दृष्टि is, as a human being endowed with a free-will and choice, I become a कर्ता, a doer of action. Unlike an animal, which leaves an instinctive and programmed life, a human being is capable of taking to deliberate actions by which he becomes a कर्ता. Therefore, as a कर्ता, a doer or a performer, how can I refine myself, this is the second approach. मनुष्य दृष्टि, कर्तृ दृष्टि (in English, performer or doer). And as a कर्ता, I influence the surroundings more, not as a मनुष्य.

iii) And the third angle from which we can look at ourselves, you can guess, once I am a कर्ता, helplessly I am going to become a भोक्ता, a receiver of experiences. I have to face the onslaught of situations, which all the time bang me, I have to face the brunt. This is as a भोक्ता, how can I refine, improve myself.

iv) And finally and most importantly, as a मुमुक्षु, a spiritual seeker, what type of refinement, improvement, I can bring about in me.

As a मनुष्य, as a कर्ता, as a भोक्ता, as a मुमुक्षु. The first three are common to the entire humanity, in fact, every human being requires the first three. First three means मनुष्य, कर्ता, भोक्ता refinement. The fourth one is extremely important for the spiritual seekers like us, I hope we all come under this spiritual seeker variety. So we have an extra responsibility, extra duty, extra discipline. The local person on the road is not a मुमुक्षु. मुमुक्षु means seeker of मोक्ष, he is not. We will briefly discuss each one of them.

A) Let us take the first one, मनुष्य. What are the refinements I should and I can have.

i) The first one is my health. The scriptures repeatedly warn never take your health for granted, without health nothing can be accomplished in life and therefore in all prayers, before every उपनिषत्, even though we are interested in the highest मोक्ष, the scriptures repeatedly say Oh Lord, let me enjoy health, so that I can come to the class and sit for an hour, without back pain for front pain, without top pain or bottom pain, without knee pain or joint pain. Nothing can be accomplished without health. As somebody said, one of the greatest wealth is health and therefore health refinement is No.1. And when we talk about the refinement of health, we only think of physical health but the scriptures strongly warn, health means physical, emotional and intellectual health, of which physical health is known to us all, all magazines talk about health, how to practice योग, how you should be walking, what should be the diet you should be taking, what all you should be avoiding, all magazines talk about health; physical health, everybody knows.

ii) The next one is emotional health, which is nothing but enjoying a mind which is calm, which is peaceful, which is poised. When the physical body enjoys health, the body is my friend, कृष्ण tells in the 6th chapter, when the physical body suffers from ill-health the very same body becomes a burden, the very same body becomes an obstacle, the very same body an enemy to me. Similarly, कृष्ण warns, a mind which does not enjoy शान्ति and समत्वम् is a mind which is a भारम्. अशान्तस्य मनोभारः, my own mind is a burden to me and the mind becomes an enemy to me and the mind becomes the biggest obstacle to me and therefore health means emotional health also. In fact, the entire list of दैवी सम्पत् and आसुरी सम्पत् is given only to enjoy emotional health. All the thoughts which are in alignment with दैवी सम्पत् will contribute to mental health and all the thoughts which are in alignment with आसुरी सम्पत् they will only cause mental ill-health. And therefore emotional health is nothing but enjoying शान्ति, freedom from stress (if we tell this everyone understands) because stress management is the biggest topic now-a-days. Emotional health means managed stress.

iii) And then comes the next layer of health which is intellectual health. Intellectual health is nothing but enjoying an intellect which is capable of learning, which is capable of thinking with clarity, clear thinking and which is capable of communicating clearly. Clear communication is also a virtue of the intellect, because if thoughts are muddled and messed up then the words also be muddled and messed up. You can see many people, I suffer regularly, who come and talk for hours and I don't know what they want to tell, beating about the bush, whether about the family, whether about the government, there is no focusing, there is no crystallization, what exactly they want to communicate and after one hour I have to abstract then I know it could have been communicated in one minute, they will have taken one and half hours. It is all lack of clarity in thinking, which will create problem throughout life because, in life, all the time we are communicating, communicating. And that is why in the olden days, they designed a special शास्त्रम् to train the intellect to clearly think. तर्क शास्त्रम् is specially designed to train the intellect to think with clarity and focus. We find in all the traditional संस्कृत Vedantic works, you can find, certain great people write the footnotes, that the first part is writing footnote, they will present the thought of the original author in one sentence. Whatever you want to communicate, it's a very interesting exercise, even after every class you can try, what I have spoken in one hour you must be able to abstract. In fact, we had in our school, we had something called precis writing, I don't know now-a-days whether it is there or not. And what do we generally do? Four sentences we choose, one from the top, one from the middle and one from the end. We will be thinking that precis writing means making 15 sentences into 3. The teacher doesn't have time also and therefore he also doesn't read and somehow we also get the marks and somehow got the degree also. The teacher also is saved, we are also saved. The capacity to abstract and present a thing in a सङ्क्षेप form. So clarity, capacity to learn, capacity to think clearly, तर्क शास्त्रम् is beautifully designed and we have a beautiful व्याकरण शास्त्रम् of पाणिनि, in सूत्र form he tells, he communicates, whatever I think I should be able to communicate without communication gap. If we communicate gaps are more than what is communicated and I have talked about donkey and that person has understood about a monkey. So therefore, not only physical health, a Vedantic student, in fact, every person, because everytime we have to communicate with children, with wife, with husband, with parents, otherwise all the time people around are hurt. They say I am hurt and you say I did not mean this. It is a constant dialogue, hurting/consoling, hurting/consoling, because I am not careful about the language. So physical, emotional and intellectual health is a form of refinement. And not only health of all the layers of my personality, most importantly, all the organs have to function in integration. This is another important form of refinement, whenever I am in a particular task, whether all my organs are converting to that particular task or body is doing something, sense organs are elsewhere, mind is elsewhere, if they are distracted then the actions are not efficient and therefore integration of this thought, the ज्ञानेन्द्रियम्, the कर्मेन्द्रियम्, the अन्तःकरणम्, because when all the organs converge into one focused field, the power that I enjoy is infinitely higher, like the sunlight which is converged on to a point with the help of a magnifying glass. When an unconverged sun beam cannot burn but when I use a magnifying glass it is capable of burning things. So integration which कृष्ण calls आर्जवम्. In fact, the entire अष्टाङ्ग योग is designed for integration, अष्टाङ्ग योग cannot give Self-knowledge. Many people are not clear about the role of अष्टाङ्ग योग. It should be very clear, अष्टाङ्ग योग is extremely important for the integration but they cannot give knowledge. After integration one has to come to वेदान्त श्रवण, मनन, निदिध्यासन, but from integration angle - अष्टाङ्ग योग (don't ask me, what is अष्टाङ्ग योग. In my 6th chapter introduction I have talked about, in fact, the योगशास्त्रम्). Thus, health and integration are very very important for me as a human being. This is मनुष्य दृष्ट्या संस्कार.

B) Now we will go to the next aspect of my personality. As a कर्ता, as a doer of action, whether it is mundane, worldly actions or whether they are religious actions, sacred or secular, as a कर्ता what do you mean by refinement? The scriptures point out that the first step in refinement is the reduction in the number of impulsive action. As a कर्ता, refinement is impulsive actions, thoughtless actions, mechanical actions, instinctive actions should come down. Because instinctive and impulsive action belongs to animals. Animals can do what they feel like doing. Dog feels like barking, it barks; donkey feels like kicking, it kicks, that it is in the domain of animals. As a human being my progress is reduction in the number of impulsive actions and replacing them with the deliberate thoughtful actions and when I say thoughtful actions, we should include our speaking also, because speech also comes under a form of वाचिकम् कर्म only. And that means whatever actions come out of me at the word level or at the body level, all of them are done by me, deliberately, thoughtfully, after taking into account, all the factors that are to be taken into account, our past experiences have to be taken into account, because past experiences will be useful in doing the present action and the present condition should be taken into account and of course, the future should be taken into account, short-term future, long-term future and I should take into account my own conditions as an individual and I should take into account the surrounding, the family, the community, the environment. So, past factors, present factors, future factors, subjective factors, surrounding factors, in fact, if you plan to take into account all the factors you can never impulsively act, it will take lot of time to do every action. In fact, we cannot even talk. And if I train myself to act deliberately and thoughtfully, initially it will take long time, but भर्तृहरि tells in his किरातार्जुनीयम्, very oft quoted verse,

सहसा विदधीत न क्रियाम् अविवेकः परमा-आपदाम् पदम् ।

वृणते हि विमृश्यकारिणम् गुणलुब्धाः स्वयम् एव हि सम्पदः ॥
किरातार्जुनीयम् २-३० ॥

Never act impulsively. That is your worst enemy. And initially, it will take lot of time and if I practice that, even in small things, thereafter I will be able to do them quickly. Even if I have to decide within one minute, the intellect gets the capacity to quickly scan through the past, present, future, my benefit, others' benefit, after seeing all the time, like the computers, but it requires tremendous training initially. Initially, if you want to learn a राग, they will teach you the आरोहणम् and अवरोहण स्वरः, सा रि ग म प ध नि सा, सा नि ध प म ग रि सा, then they ask you to say सा रि, etc. Where the रि should come, what type of ग, what type of रि what type of म, etc., etc. And I have to very carefully and deliberately say, because otherwise they say this is शुद्ध मध्यमम्, this is not प्रति मध्यमम्, अन्तर गान्धारम्, साधारण गान्धारम्... I have to be very very careful. First I will make thoughtless mistakes, then I will make thoughtful mistakes and before that I have to learn to say सा प सा that itself is exacting and then I learn आरोहणम् and अवरोहण and learn to say quickly, and then they teach me वर्णम्s where I learn to sing शिष्ट स्वरम्s very carefully, not विट् स्वरम्s, शिष्ट means designed by the गुरुs, the आचार्यs. And later I have to go to कल्पना स्वरम् and you can see musicians singing the कल्पना स्वरम्s very fast, but even when they sing very fast, their सा will fall in सा, रि will be exactly रि. Even though they are singing in TN express, the fastest version, how? Because of sheer training, similarly, if I train my intellect, to go through past, present, future, myself and other, initially it will take time, later even within a minute, I can go through them and my actions will be very very deliberate. And therefore refinement of कर्ता is replacement of impulsive actions with deliberate action and the next thing refinement is the wise or noble or सात्त्विक action. Replace the indiscriminate unintelligent actions are replaced by सात्त्विक and wise actions. And how do you differentiate unintelligent and intelligent actions? According to the scriptures, wise actions are those which are beneficial to more and more number of people. An action done keeping in mind the larger good and an unintelligent action is that in which the beneficiaries or lesser and lesser and the worst action is that in which there is only one beneficiary. Who, should I tell, I am the only beneficiary, not even the family members, even they are neglected. And still worse, not only the other people are not the beneficiaries, they are even affected adversely. So wise actions are those, in which the other people are not affected and the other people also benefit, सात्त्विक कर्माणि. So thus संस्कार of the कर्ता is, deliberate and wise action. The more it increases, the more संस्कृत I become. This is the refinement of the कर्ता.

C) Now we have to go to the refinement of the भोक्ता. Very important. Because we are constantly भोक्ताs, भोक्ताs doesn't mean just eating only, भोक्ता means constantly experiences like the waves in an ocean, experiences are constantly lashing us right from the first moment of waking, until we go to bed, experiences after experiences. How can I refine myself as a भोक्ता? भोक्ता requires a tremendous refinement.

i) The first refinement is wisdom. I should be wise enough to know as a भोक्ता, that the experiencer of life, what all I have to experience I never know, my future experiences are unpredictable and even among many predictable experiences most of them are uncontrollable. And therefore choice-less. As a भोक्ता I will have to go through choice-less experiences. Growing old is choice-less, our children's behavior is choice-less, what they will do we don't know. I should clearly know that I can only contribute to the future, I have got only a contributory role, I don't have control over the future. This must be very very clear, choice-less situations are inevitable in life. This awareness is the first step, कृष्ण tells in the गीता, तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि. अर्जुन, you know, that choice-less situations are inevitable in life.

ii) And once this wisdom has come to the भोक्ता, now what is the next step? If the situations are choice-less, I can have only one choice, what is that I have to strengthen myself to go through the choice-less situations with minimum damage or no damage. If I cannot stop the rain, I should know how to put on a rain coat or how to use an umbrella, that is called strengthen, immunizing myself. And therefore the second refinement of भोक्ता is strengthening the mind to go through choice-less situations with minimum damage. So that I can continue with my life, I won't get frustrated, I won't get suicidal thoughts, I won't curse God and the world, I can withstand. So strength is the second refinement, which can be done either by auto suggestion, that I can face, I can face, I can face, you have to go on telling and also with the help of devotion - Lord is there with me, even if others are cooperative or not, I have the Lord with me, therefore I can go through even गुरुणा अपि दुःखेन and the greatest strengthening factor is Self-knowledge. Self-knowledge is the one single factor, which strengthens the भोक्ता infinitely. So this is the second refinement. What is that? Strengthening.

iii) And the third refinement is being skillful. I should become a skillful भोक्ता. Wise भोक्ता, strong भोक्ता, skillful भोक्ता. What do you mean by skillful भोक्ता? Suppose I go through some painful experiences and naturally it is going to affect me, at least to some extent, there is some bitterness, there is some frustration, there is some anger and what happens is, the disturbance of the भोक्ता gets carried to the कर्ता, the disturbance of the भोक्ता gets carried to the कर्ता and the कर्ता's performance is affected when the भोक्ता transfers this to the कर्ता. Imagine a boy has to go to the examination and the boy has learnt very well, he has to write as a कर्ता. Some event happens at home in the morning and it disturbs the mind as a भोक्ता the child is disturbed. And imagine the disturbance is carried to the कर्ता, what happens, that day's examination gone, one day only, there are many children who after the examination they answer very well. So, intelligence is I should be able to keep the भोक्ता separate from the कर्ता, I don't allow the भोक्ता to adversely affect the कर्ता. If the भोक्ता affects the कर्ता, what will happen, I will get into a vicious cycle, भोक्ता affects the कर्ता. Therefore कर्ता's performance is poor and if the कर्ता performs poorly what will happen, it will affect the भोक्ता adversely and the adversely affected भोक्ता will again affect the कर्ता, I will get into a vicious cycle. Therefore a skillful भोक्ता is one, who doesn't adversely affect the कर्ता, the doer. This is the third refinement of the भोक्ता. Wise, Strong, Skillful.

iv) And fourthly and finally and very importantly, if the भोक्ता is a receptive भोक्ता, every experience has a capacity to teach me. In fact, भगवान् has kept experiences only to teach me and good experiences also can teach me, bad experiences also can teach me. In fact, bad experiences can teach more than good experiences, Every adverse experience has got a hidden lesson in it. If the भोक्ता is a receptive to that he can learn and grow. In fact, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति is attained only by learning through life's experiences,

परीक्ष्य लोकान् कर्मचितान् ब्रह्मणो निर्वेदमायात् ॥ मुण्डक उपनिषद् १-२-१२ ॥

An intelligent भोक्ता converts a painful experiences into educative experiences. This I call a receptive भोक्ता, learning भोक्ता and I am not receptive, I will only curse the world, all the time murmuring, grumbling and say that God is giving problems only to me, I will have time only to grumble, I have only time pass on my gloom to other people. One दानम् that we do properly is our gloom and worries we freely distribute to others and because of that, bitterness of the mind, I lose the wonderful chance of learning. Therefore refinement of a भोक्ता is making him a learning भोक्ता.

And therefore what are the four things? Wise, strong, skillful, receptive भोक्ता I have to become. What type of कर्ता I should become? Thoughtful and wise कर्ता. What type of मनुष्य I have to become? Healthy and integrated मनुष्य.

- ❖ Healthy and integrated मनुष्य,
- ❖ Thoughtful and wise कर्ता,
- ❖ Wise, strong, skillful and receptive भोक्ता.
- ❖ And what is the fourth angle I said?
- ❖ As a मुमुक्षु, spiritual seeker, what type of refinement I need? As a spiritual seeker I require faith and association with three factors, faith and association with three factors. What are they?
 - No.1. God.
 - No.2 गुरु and
 - No.3 शास्त्रम्,

i) Faith in God is a must for a spiritual seeker. Without ईश्वर कृपा spiritual journey is impossible. कृष्ण himself will tell in the 18th chapter,

मत्त्वितः सर्वदुर्गाणि मत्प्रसादातरिष्यसि ।

अथ चैत्वमहङ्कारान्न श्रोष्यसि विनङ्क्ष्यसि ॥ १८-५८॥

अर्जुन with my grace and blessing, for you the spiritual journey will be a walkover and therefore faith in God, even though I am not able to give a clear explanation to what God is, even though I don't clearly understand what God is, it is better that I have a faith in God in some form or the other. One great philosopher said that even if God doesn't exist it is worth having faith, because faith is useful even if God is not there. Faith is very very useful to life, even if God is not there, I don't say God is not there, even if God is not there. Faith is useful for physical health, faith is useful for emotional health, faith is useful for intellectual health. Faith in God and association, not mere faith, I should spend some time with God either in the form of prayer or in the form of पूजा, I have to allocate some time for some devotional exercises. स्वामिजि can I tell the prayers while I am traveling in the car, in the train, while I am walking, early morning walk, etc. They are all bonus, but we should be able to exclusively devote some time, may be 10 minutes, may be 15 minutes, doing nothing else, exclusively for that. Then during your walking and bus-ride and all those, in bed also if you want you can do, but exclusive time has to be allocated that I will call as faith and association. Prayer is a form of association with God, which will do immense good for all especially for a spiritual seeker.

ii) Then the next one is faith and association with a गुरु. Faith in the गुरु, that the गुरु will do only good to me and this faith and association with गुरु means learning from the गुरु. Association means not just sitting along with the गुरु, it will be a problem. So it is impractical and problematic to everyone. Association, सत् सङ्ग, गुरु सङ्ग is learning from the गुरु, गुरु उपदेश श्रवणम्, with faith that it will only do good to me. This is the second part.

iii) And finally faith and association, faith in and association with the scriptures that the scriptures will not mislead me, 'Believer shall not perish.' If I feel the scriptures are misleading it is only I don't know how to study the scriptures properly, there is no problem with the scriptures and association with the scriptures means regular स्वाध्यायः, not that I touch the भगवद्गीता only on Sunday evening, between 7 and 8 p.m. In fact, association with the scriptures is more useful because गुरु association will not be available at all time, whereas scriptural association it is in your hands, you can take and try to read your notes, I say try to read because you might have just scribbled, therefore मननम् and निदिध्यासनम् will come under within and association with the scriptures.

So this faith in and association with the ईश्वर, गुरु and शास्त्रम् is the refinement of myself as a मुमुक्षु. And if I take care of these four-fold refinement, as a मनुष्य, as a कर्ता, as a भोक्ता and as a मुमुक्षु then मोक्ष will come to me, even if I don't want. मोक्ष will come. And therefore, one has to give importance to संस्कार, refinement. This is the essence of the 16th chapter.

If I have to classify verse wise, I will tell quickly. Verse no.1 to 3, कृष्ण talks about दैवी सम्पत्, which will positively contribute to spiritual or refinement, refinement of मनुष्य, कर्ता, भोक्ता and मुमुक्षु. So दैवी सम्पत् or संस्कार friendly they contribute to संस्कार.

Then from verse no.4 to 21, कृष्ण talks about all those traits and activities, behavior and conduct which will adversely affect a human being, not only संस्कार will not take place but the person will go down spiritually. So, 4 to 21 आसुरी सम्पत्.

Then from verse no.22 to 24, कृष्ण talks about importance of शास्त्रम् or scriptural study. And in the olden days, in our tradition scriptural study was given extreme importance and in गुरुकुल, during education, compulsorily they had to study the scriptures, not only priest or Brahmins only, everybody has to study the scriptures in the olden days. If you remember, शीक्षावल्ली of तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्:

ऋतम् च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च । सत्यम् च स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च ।

स्वाध्याय is repeated. And then that उपनिषत् says

स्वाध्याय प्रवचने एवेति नाको मौढ्यः । तद्धि तपस्तद्धि तपः ॥ १-९ ॥

The greatest spiritual साधन is systematic scriptural study and after our educational system changed from गुरुकुल सम्प्रदाय to Macaulayan सम्प्रदाय, it seems Macaulay wrote to somebody in England after introducing, he said if the Indians follow my system that I have envisaged then there will not be a single idol worshipper in India. So the hidden agenda was destruction of वैदिक or हिन्दु culture, which he himself writes. And that is what is happening, in this modern educational system there is no scope for scriptural study and elsewhere also people don't emphasize, people think that this is only an intellectual exercise, doing ध्यानम् योग etc., are emphasized but scriptural study is not emphasized. But कृष्ण gives a warning, तस्मात् शास्त्रम् प्रमाणम् ते – अर्जुन never under emphasize the role of scriptural study. You study, of course with the help of गुरु, with the backing of ईश्वर अनुग्रह, you will certainly succeed in your spiritual pursuit, thus importance of शास्त्रम् in the last three verses and since the main topic is दैव and आसुर सम्पत्, the chapter is called दैव-आसुर-सम्पत् विभाग योग. With this, the 16th chapter is over.

CHAPTER 17, VERSE 01-04

In the last portion of the भगवद्गीता, consisting of the last six chapters known as चरम षट्कम्, Lord कृष्ण initially dealt with Self-knowledge. In the 13th, 14th and 15th chapters, Lord कृष्ण predominantly dealt with Self-knowledge, which is the only means of liberation. And having dealt with आत्मविद्या in three chapters, in the next two chapters viz., the 16th and 17th chapters, Lord कृष्ण wants to convey a very important idea. That is a person's lifestyle should be adjusted in such a way that Self-knowledge can be received by the person without any obstacle. Because according to our वेदs, and according to Lord कृष्ण the very lifestyle has got an influence on our capacity to receive the knowledge and also our capacity to retain the knowledge. Just as a particular type of plant can grow only in a particular type of earth and particular type of weather, only in a particular type of lifestyle, वेदान्त friendly lifestyle the knowledge can take place. And therefore the way of life is as important as the committed study of the scriptures. Whereas when you study the other material sciences, like physics or chemistry, your result has nothing to do with your way of life. A person can be absolutely immoral and he can get No.1 rank in his university. So there is no connection between lifestyle and the knowledge of material sciences but when it comes to spiritual knowledge, the very way of life plays a very very important role, we cannot ignore that aspect. And that is why we have got a वैदिक lifestyle itself prescribed in the वेद-पूर्व भाग. The वेद-पूर्व deals with the lifestyle that you lead, वेद-अन्त deals with philosophy or the knowledge that you work for. One is called धर्म शास्त्र, another is called ब्रह्म शास्त्र and in the two chapters, 16 and 17th, Lord कृष्ण is concentrating on the way of life. In the 16th chapter, that we completed just now, कृष्ण pointed out दैवी सम्पत् has to be there in the life that a person follows. दैवी सम्पत् विमोक्षाय that alone will help in receiving and retaining and absorbing the teaching, whereas if आसुरी सम्पत् a person has, he might be academically brilliant and therefore he might be able to understand the logic of the उपनिषत्s. Perhaps माण्डूक्य he can brilliantly grasp and perhaps he can give even a brilliant discourse. So academically he may be sound but it आसुरी सम्पत् goes along with Upanishadic study, the knowledge will remain as an information, it can never bring about a transformation in his life. He will be an educated यक्षसः. साक्षरः यक्षसाः भवति. साक्षरः means educated person. अक्षर means letter, साक्षरः means a man of letters, man of letters means not postman, a man of letters means an educated person. And if a person has education without दैवी सम्पत्, the साक्षरs will be reversed, साक्षरा if reversed it becomes यक्षसा. In fact, they will become worse यक्षसs than the illiterate one, because they know how to mask or cover their यक्षसत्वम् also. Therefore Upanishadic study will be meaningful only if the lifestyle is उपनिषत् friendly lifestyle and that is called दैवी सम्पत् and the opposite is called आसुरी सम्पत्. And this topic being very very important, Lord कृष्ण deals with the same topic in the 17th chapter also. In the 17th chapter also the stress on the way of life, what you know कृष्ण asks us to keep aside, what you practice, what type of lifestyle you lead, how do you treat the people, what type of language you use in your communication. That way of life is being focused in the 16th and also in the 17th chapter. And this chapter is triggered by a question coming from अर्जुन. So अर्जुन asks a question based on the 16th chapter and by way of answering that question कृष्ण deals with a little bit more on the way of life. This is the background of the 17th chapter. With this background, we will enter.

Verse No .01

अथ सप्तदशोऽध्यायः ।

अर्जुन उवाच ।

ये शास्त्रविधिमुत्सृज्य यजन्ते श्रद्धयान्विताः ।

तेषां निष्ठा तु का कृष्ण सत्त्वमाहो रजस्तमः ॥ १७-१॥

ये शास्त्र-विधिम् उत्सृज्य यजन्ते श्रद्धया अन्विताः ।

तेषाम् निष्ठा तु का कृष्ण सत्त्वम् आहो रजः तमः ॥ १७-१॥

हे कृष्ण! ये शास्त्र-विधिम् उत्सृज्य, श्रद्धया अन्विताः (सन्तः) यजन्ते, तेषां तु का निष्ठा? सत्त्वम् रजः आहो तमः ?

So अर्जुन उवाच. अर्जुन asked a question based on the 16th chapter. In the 16th chapter, towards the end, Lord कृष्ण said

तस्मात् शास्त्रम् प्रमाणम् ते कार्य-अकार्य-व्यवस्थितौ ।

ज्ञात्वा शास्त्र-विधान-उक्तम् कर्म कर्तुम् इह अर्हसि ॥ १६-२४॥

In the last verse that is the 24th verse, therein कृष्ण said, if you want to know what is a spiritual way of life, what is a धार्मिक way of life, what is दैवी सम्पत् if you want to know and if you want to diligently avoid आसुरी सम्पत्, the best guide is the scriptures. So शास्त्र प्रमाणम् – शास्त्रम् is the guiding manual, as I have often said, before you operate any costly machine or gadget, it may be a TV, a Radio, a CD player, before you start operating that, first you take the manual or you ask a person who has studied the manual and you know what is to be done and what is not to be done. The do's and don'ts with regard to the operation so that you will get maximum benefit out of the machine. So just as we have a manual with regard to every gadget, with regard to our life also, how to handle the costliest machines, every valve in our body if it has to be replaced, you have to spend 50,000, 60,000, 70,000. A kidney transplant costs 3 or 5 lakhs, a bone marrow transplant costs 7 lakhs or 10 lakhs, I don't know what is the present rate. We have got the costliest machine called the human body, if I don't know how to handle then it becomes as the story goes - "The soul or the jivatma is the mendicant who seeks human birth from the Divine (who is referred to as The Potter), and obtains a 'pot' (which refers to an earthly body) which is formed in around ten months. Without realizing the divine nature of his self and the true purpose of his life, man then indulges in materialistic pleasures and destroys the divine gift that is the human body.” Similarly, we have a wonderful world in front of us and we can use the body and world to accomplish the highest पुरुषार्थ or we can make our life a spoilt one, reduce to rubble. And what is the manual that will guide me, to make the best use of my life, कृष्ण says, शास्त्रम् प्रमाणम्. Because शास्त्र is given out by the Lord himself, यो ब्रह्माणम् विदधाति पूर्वम् यो वै वेदांश्च प्रहिणोति तस्मै तँ ह देवम् ॥

श्वेताश्वतरोपनिषत् ६-१८ ॥ etc.

वेदs has come from the Lord and the गीता has also come from the Lord only and therefore कृष्ण says use the शास्त्र manual, प्रमाणम् means guidelines with regard to कार्य-अकार्य-व्यवस्थितौ – with regard to what is to be done and what is not to be done. This was कृष्ण’s instruction in the 24th verse of the 16th chapter. Now अर्जुन’s worry is this. हे कृष्ण! most of our scriptures or all of our scriptures are in the inaccessible संस्कृत language. वेद is in वैदिक संस्कृत, classical संस्कृत and all our commentaries are in संस्कृत, भगवद्गीता has got many भाष्यs, all best भाष्यs are written in संस्कृत and you want to know more about शङ्कराचार्य, शङ्कराचार्य’s भाष्य, there is a sub-commentary which is in संस्कृत. We have got a sub-sub-commentary which is again in संस्कृत. And therefore अर्जुन says, it is not accessible to all the people. There are many people who have the best intentions, who want to learn the scriptures, but they don’t have the facilities to learn, because of one obstacle or the other and they have got faith in God. अर्जुन says, श्रद्धया अन्विताः – they have got faith in God, they have got faith in prayer, they have got faith in पूजा and therefore they want to do the पूजा but they don’t know what is the right method of doing the पूजा. Therefore अर्जुन says श्रद्धया अन्विताः ये. Suppose there are some people who are scripturally illiterate, that we have to supply, suppose there are some people who are scripturally illiterate and they have not studied the पूर्व

मीमांसा, the कर्मकाण्ड and the कल्प, you know what is कल्प? People don't know even what is कल्प? कल्प is that book which gives the method of doing the rituals and पूजा. How to do आसनम् समर्पयामि, पादम् समर्पयामि, अर्घ्यम् समर्पयामि आचमनम् समर्पयामि, etc. When I say आचमनम् समर्पयामि, whether should I take it or offer it to the Lord, etc. And which comes first and also they talk about varieties of offerings for varieties of deities. विष्णु should not given this, शिव should not be given that, I don't all these things and even in which direction the deity should face, whether east or west or look at the sky, I don't know, I have not studied, but I have got श्रद्धा. अर्जुन says suppose there are such scripturally illiterate but faithful people, devotees. And what do they do? यजन्ते – because of their enthusiasm and love suppose they practice regular पूजा. To which deity? Whichever deity they know of, whichever deity is available, whichever deity they love they choose the deity and they do the पूजा, यजन्ते. What is their problems? शास्त्र-विधिम् उत्सृज्य – because they are scripturally illiterate they don't know what is the right method and what is the wrong method, they don't know how to sit in front of the deity facing it or to sit on the left and offer the things on the right or to sit on the right and offer the things on the left, etc., even that they don't know. And therefore what do they do? Every step they violate the शास्त्रीय rule, शास्त्र विधि means शास्त्रीय injunctions, उत्सृज्य means they violate, they don't follow. Why they don't follow? Because they are scripturally illiterate, but they have got something else, very important, what is that something else they have in plenty, श्रद्धया अन्विताः, emotion is intense. And now हे कृष्ण! what type of devotees they are? तेषाम् निष्ठा का, निष्ठा means their status, their standing, their level, their classification will be what, how will you classify them, because they have a got a powerful plus point, what is the plus point, श्रद्धा, they have got a powerful minus point, what is that, illiteracy and therefore violation of the rules. So what will be their standing, हे कृष्ण!

please tell me, सत्त्वम् आहो रजः आहो तमः, will you classify them under सात्त्विक भक्त or सात्त्विक devotee or सात्त्विक worshippers or will you classify them under राजसिक worshippers or तामसिक or what type of श्रद्धा will be their श्रद्धा? श्रद्धा backed by illiteracy. So he asks, का तेषाम् निष्ठा, निष्ठा here refers to श्रद्धा, is it सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक श्रद्धा. And because the question is regarding श्रद्धा, the very chapter is called श्रद्धा-त्रय-विभाग-योगः, an analysis of the faith of the devotee. This is the अर्जुन's question, for which Lord कृष्ण gives the answer in the following verses.

Verse No .02

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

त्रिविधा भवति श्रद्धा देहिनां सा स्वभावजा ।

सात्त्विकी राजसी चैव तामसी चेति तां शृणु ॥ १७-२॥

त्रिविधा भवति श्रद्धा देहिनाम् सा स्वभावजा ।

सात्त्विकी राजसी च एव तामसी च इति ताम् शृणु ॥ १७-२॥

देहिनाम् (या) स्वभावजा श्रद्धा, सा सात्त्विकी च राजसी (च) तामसी च एव इति त्रिविधा भवति, ताम् शृणु ।

श्रीभगवान् उवाच - the Lord answers. Lord कृष्ण says I cannot give you a one liner answer, I cannot tell you they have सात्त्विक श्रद्धा or राजसिक श्रद्धा, I cannot say. Why? Because if a person's श्रद्धा or पूजा is governed by scriptural injunctions, I can uniformly say that all of them will come under सात्त्विक variety. Because scriptures guide a person towards सत्त्व predominance, therefore any action which is scripture-governed action that will be invariably सात्त्विक, because scriptures take a person gradually towards सत्त्वगुण. Therefore, the rule is any scripture-governed action will be सात्त्विक. But in the case of these devotees, what is the problem? Their पूजा or their activities are not governed by the scriptures. Why it is not governed by the scriptures. Because they are scripturally illiterate. And if the scriptures do not guide their activity, the question will be what will be guiding their activity, what will determine the type of पूजा they do, the type of motive they have, the type of deity they will worship, what will determine the पूजा of an illiterate person? Certainly not scriptures, then what? कृष्ण says that if the scriptures do not determine, it is going to be my own character that is going to determine the type of पूजा. Because a person's activities can be governed either by an external guideline or it is going to be guided by what, his own likes and dislikes, his own वासनाs, his own स्वभावः, his own character. These are the only two possibilities: scripture governed or character governed. And in the case of this particular devotee it is not scripture governed because, he is illiterate. Therefore कृष्ण says it will be governed by their character. Therefore first कृष्ण says देहिन्म् श्रद्धा – the श्रद्धा or the faith of the scripturally illiterate people, देहि means here an अज्ञानि भक्त, here देहि refers to a devotee who is not scripturally literate is देहि and श्रद्धा and his type of पूजा, his attitude, his motive, everything will be स्वभावजा – governed by his personality, his mind-set, his inclination, his पूर्वजन्म वासना. And now the next question is what will be character of a devotee? If the action is governed by character, the next question is what, what will be the character of a devotee. कृष्ण says character of a devotee will not be same in the case of all human beings, because human character varies from individual to individual. I cannot say uniformly all are सात्त्विक, I cannot say all are राजसिक or तामसिक, therefore कृष्ण says, the devotees character is three-fold. What are the three-fold? The three characters, सात्त्विक स्वभावः, राजस स्वभावः and तामस स्वभावः. Devotees themselves are सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक and since the character is three-fold, the character based faith also will be three-fold. And therefore कृष्ण says श्रद्धा त्रिविधा भवति – the faith will be of three types. And what are they? सात्त्विकी च एव – सात्त्विक श्रद्धा. And what is सात्त्विक श्रद्धा? कृष्ण will explain later, therefore we will note this much, a सात्त्विक person will have सात्त्विक faith. What is सात्त्विक faith, have faith in कृष्ण, He will answer. And what is the second one? राजसी – राजसिक devotee with राजसिक faith. And what is the third one? तामसी श्रद्धा – a तामसिक devotee with तामसिक श्रद्धा. And there पूजा will be governed by the सात्विक, राजस, तामस श्रद्धा, it is never governed by the scriptural injunctions. कृष्ण himself says ताम् शृणु – so don't be in a hurry, शृणु, I will systematically step by step I will tell you, only listen patiently.

Verse No .03

सत्त्वानुरूपा सर्वस्य श्रद्धा भवति भारत ।

श्रद्धामयोऽयं पुरुषो यो यच्छ्रद्धः स एव सः ॥ १७-३॥

सत्त्व-अनुरूपा सर्वस्य श्रद्धा भवति भारत ।

श्रद्धामयः अयम् पुरुषः यः यत् श्रद्धः सः एव सः ॥ १७-३॥

हे भारत! सर्वस्य सत्त्व-अनुरूपा श्रद्धा भवति, अयम् पुरुषः श्रद्धामयः (अस्ति), यः यत् श्रद्धः (भवति), सः एव सः ।

So कृष्ण says अर्जुन the श्रद्धा of a person, the faith of a person depends upon his mind or his character. सत्त्वम् here means mind. Very careful, here सत्त्व means अन्तःकरणम्, mind and not सत्त्वगुण, but it refers to सत्त्वगुण कार्य भूत अन्तःकरणम्. And depending upon the type of mind, mind is not the same for all, for one parent if there are three children, त्रिविधम् दुष्ट लक्षणम् they say, if there are different children they have different characters. So श्रद्धा सत्त्व-अनुरूपा भवति – the faith will depend upon the character or the mind of a person. The next question is, is the mind of the children controlled by the parents or not? Or controlled by the genes of the parents or not? Genetic study is there now-a-days, there is a genetic study of all the criminals. And Hitler's genes they are making special study, to find out what exactly causes this particular type of thinking. Therefore what determines if you ask, certainly parents do contribute to the children's character, the parents' lifestyle does contribute, the parents' genes do contribute, but they are all contributory factors, they don't totally determine, because every child comes with a पूर्व वासना also. A हिरण्यकशिपु can have a प्रह्लाद, a ब्राह्मण विश्वस् ऋषि can have a राक्षस रावण, रावण is a ब्राह्मण पुत्रः, but रावणो नाम राक्षसः, it should not be read as नाम राक्षस, it is रावणो नाम राक्षसः. Therefore parentage do not totally determine, the पूर्वजन्म also has a hand. Thus, dependent on innumerable factors every individual is born with a certain inherited character, dependent on that character श्रद्धा भवति, हे भारत! हे अर्जुन! And by addressing अर्जुन as भारत, कृष्ण is saying अर्जुन you are lucky that you are born in the भरत वंश and you all belong to भारत, we are all भारतs. I have told you the meaning of भारत, भा means ब्रह्मविद्या, प्रकाशात्मिका ब्रह्मविद्या – भा. रताः means those who revel, those who value spiritual knowledge more than anything else. So, we are all supposed to value spirituality. India is supposed to be the land of spirituality, even though we are getting doubts now-a-days, but we are supposed to be inheritors of that. Therefore हे भारत! श्रद्धा भवति. And then Lord कृष्ण makes a warning. Don't take this श्रद्धा for granted, because this rudimentary श्रद्धा, the faith of a person which gradually manifests in his younger age that alone determines his future, because as a person thinks, as a person believes so he becomes in future. Therefore श्रद्धा alone moulds a person. Therefore कृष्ण says, अयम् पुरुषः – every adult human being is a product of his childhood values, his childhood heroes, his childhood models (when I say models, don't think of somebody else). It is heroes whom we worship. As children we all have certain heroes and that determines the direction of our journey, they say, the child is the father of man. That means your childhood श्रद्धा will determine what type of adult you are going to be. Child is the father of man has come just now, but this was said by कृष्ण then itself. He says, a beautiful statement, अयम् पुरुषः श्रद्धामयः. मयः means product, पुरुषः means the adult human being. So any adult human being is a product of the childhood श्रद्धा, the childhood value. That is why we always say catch them young. Like a plant, when a tree is in a plant condition it is pliable, it is a plastic, it is flexible, you can direct it in any way you want. And if you neglect the plant and it grows wildly, thereafter once it becomes a tree you cannot change it, you have only two choices, either you allow it as it is or you have to uproot. You cannot change the direction of the hardened trunk of the tree. Similarly, changing an adult is almost impossible whereas changing a child is possible. Therefore कृष्ण says a human being is a product of his childhood values and that is why I said a well-known saying which goes, “watch your thoughts they become your words, watch your words they become your actions, watch your actions they become your habit, watch your habit it becomes your character and watch your character it becomes your future personality.” There is no use of regretting later, better take care in the beginning. Therefore कृष्ण says, यः यत् श्रद्धः – whatever a person values in his early stages of life. That is why parents have to give good values, that is why पौराणिक stories were taught when we were children. So, यः यत् श्रद्धः – whatever a person values in his earlier days, सः एव सः – तत् अनुरूप एव सः, सः एव सः means तत् अनुरूप, in keeping with those childhood values his personality will develop. And that alone is: As a person thinks so he becomes. Thought is pliable and changeable but once it has become crystallized into character, they say स्वामिजि I want to stop that bad habit, but it is not possible, I want to stop that particular trend, I am not able to, even though he tries to use his willpower, all the willpower fails because I have allowed that thought and that character to grow to such an extent, that it has become a Frankenstein, destroying myself and therefore अर्जुन, श्रद्धा is important, यः यत् श्रद्धः सः एव सः. Continuing;

Verse No .04

यजन्ते सात्विका देवान्यक्षरक्षांसि राजसाः ।

प्रेतान्भूतगणांश्चान्ये यजन्ते तामसा जनाः ॥ १७-४॥

यजन्ते सात्विकाः देवान् यक्ष-रक्षांसि राजसाः ।

प्रेतान् भूतगणान् च अन्ये यजन्ते तामसाः जनाः ॥ १७-४॥

सात्विकाः देवान् यजन्ते, राजसाः यक्ष-रक्षांसि (यजन्ते), अन्ये तामसाः जनाः प्रेतान् भूतगणान् च यजन्ते ।

Therefore an illiterate (means scripturally-illiterate) person's श्रद्धा can be either सात्विक or राजसिक or तामसिक, depending upon the character I have come with, I am born with. Now the question is of these three which one is the best, which one is conducive to spiritual knowledge? सात्विक श्रद्धा alone is a healthy श्रद्धा which is conducive to spiritual growth. And therefore my question is how do I know whether I have सात्विक श्रद्धा, राजसिक श्रद्धा or तामसिक श्रद्धा, so that if I have सात्विक श्रद्धा I can nourish it, if I have राजसिक श्रद्धा, I can gradually change it, if I have तामसिक श्रद्धा, I can immediately drop it. How do I know what type of श्रद्धा a person has? कृष्ण says, श्रद्धा or faith is an invisible thing, because it is a mental state, it is not physically perceptible. And since श्रद्धा cannot be perceived, it will have to be inferred through some other thing, whatever is not प्रत्यक्ष गोचरम् we have to know through अनुमानम्. If a person falls sick the doctor cannot know the sickness by seeing the body, because it is not physically visible and therefore he infers by taking the blood sample, etc., which is प्रत्यक्ष, blood is प्रत्यक्ष, he takes the sample and he has got certain parameters and if such a such things are there it must be typhoid, jaundice, kidney problem, pressure, etc. Therefore, श्रद्धा will have to be inferred from the type of activity a person takes to. श्रद्धा will have to be inferred from the type of activity. Any activity we can take, where does he go on holidays, what types of books he reads, what type of friends he has, what type of foods he likes, that also he says, what type of movies he goes to, what type of serials (that is important, I forgot!!) he watches, everything can be used as a हेतु to derive the साध्यम्. But कृष्ण here takes the type of पूजा that he takes to; even from पूजा we can find out what type of श्रद्धा he has. How will the पूजा help in knowing the श्रद्धा of a person? Every पूजा or worship has three factors, every पूजा has three factors and the three factors are

- a) No.1, the object of worship. What type of deity I worship? देवता or object.
- b) And the second is mode of worship. पूजा can be done in several ways, what method of worship I am attracted to naturally. Mode, in संस्कृत means प्रकारः. First one is देवता; to which देवता attraction is there. Second one is which method is attracting.
- c) And the third one is the motive or भावना. Through this पूजा what do I expect to get, what do I say after ममोपात्त, very important, ममोपात्त समस्त दुरितक्षयद्वारा श्रीपरमेश्वर प्रीत्यर्थम्, he will do it and then he will add a list, that list will know what type of motive I have got.

These three things will determine whether the पूजा is सात्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक and whether the श्रद्धा is सात्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक, which कृष्ण is enumerating in these verses. In the 4th verse, कृष्ण talks about the object of worship; the three types of deities. In our वैदिक pantheon, in हिन्दु pantheon of gods, all other religion has got only one God, we have got innumerable deities. People say it is disadvantageous, it is a minus point in Hinduism, the other religion they have got only one God which is not confusing, they say. But I will say Hinduism is great. Suppose you want to purchase a dress, which shop you will choose? One shop which sells only काषाय वस्त्रम्, काषाय alone will be available. But there is another shop, a huge shop, all varieties of clothes from Rs.100 to 10,000 different colors, designer clothes, etc., are available. Which one you will vote for? You say स्वामिजी here there are so many choices. Human beings want choice in everything, human being is choosy. Therefore whatever provides maximum choice is the best one and in Hinduism, there is no problem, we have got thirty three crores देवताs to chose. So animal-god, man-god, woman-god, mixed-god, animal-man, man-woman mixture, animal-man mixture. And all these deities are divided into three groups, सात्विक देवताः, राजस देवताः and तामस देवताः. सात्विक deities are those which will bless the devotee with spiritual growth, with values, with character,

तत् आत्मनि निरते यः उपनिषत्सु धर्माः ते मयि सन्तु

They bless me with values, with inner strength. They are called सात्त्विक deities, they contribute to inner growth. In fact, generally the deities that we worship राम, कृष्ण, देवी, गणेश, अय्यप्पा, which our forefathers have chosen for us, and they are all सात्त्विक deities. And we have got a second group of देवताs called राजसिक deities, who are supposed to bless the devotees with all materialistic well being. यक्ष, किन्नर, गन्धर्व, सिद्ध, उरग, all those देवताs, यक्ष-रक्षादि गणाः like कुबेर; many people like कुबेर, why you know! I have told you when we were going to बद्रीनाथ (I will never forget it!). Somebody gave a coin, I thought he is giving गुरुदक्षिणा but he said स्वामिजी in बद्रीनाथ there is a कुबेर and you have to keep that coin there. And I thought he is going to give it to कुबेर. No, you have to keep the coin there (and I thought he will give it to me afterwards) and bring it back and hand over to me. That money will multiply. So कुबेर is more popular than even poor बद्रीनाथ. So therefore कुबेरादि देवताः are called राजसिक deities. And then we have got तामसिक deities they are called प्रेत-भूत-पिशाच-डाकिनी-शाकिनी-सर्प श्वापद-वृश्चिक-तस्कराद्युपद्रवाद्युपगताः etc, the list is there, डाकिनी, शाकिनी etc., they are used by the black magic people. All ghosts and spirits, which represents evil forces, negative forces, they all represent तामसिक deities, they are not used for my spiritual growth, they are not used even for my material growth, they are used for destroying other people. And therefore कृष्ण says सात्त्विकाः देवान् यजन्ते – people with सात्त्विक श्रद्धा they worship the Lord and ask for

अन्नपूर्णे सदापूर्णे शङ्करप्राणवत्लभे ।

ज्ञानवैराग्यसिद्ध्यर्थम् भिक्षाम् देहि च पार्वति ॥ अन्नपूर्णास्तोत्रम् ११ ॥

What a beautiful prayer! Therefore सात्विकाः देवान्, देवान् means सात्विक देवान् यजन्ते, who will give अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, or who will give दैवी सम्पत्. Then राजसाः यक्ष-रक्षांसि यजन्ते, यजन्ते you have to supply. The राजसिक people means people with राजसिक values, they are religiously materialistic people. Remember religious people themselves can be religiously spiritual people or religiously materialistic people. What is the difference? Religiously spiritual people use religion for spiritual growth, whereas religiously materialistic people will use religion for material growth and therefore राजसाः यक्ष-रक्षांसि यजन्ते. And तामसाः जनाः – the तामसिक people, यजन्ते – they worship, अन्ये – all other deities. Who are they? प्रेतान् – all the प्रेतस, spirits, भूतगणान् – the भूतस्, ghosts, all of them they worship. Spirit, ghost etc., represent negative forces. They यजन्ते, which will come under black magic पूजा, they are called in our tradition, आभिचारिक कर्माणि or अभिचार कर्माणि. And they do that and that is तामसिक श्रद्धा based on the object of worship. Similarly, you can decide the type of श्रद्धा based on the motive as well as the mode of worship which will be explained in the next two verses, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 05-08

The 17th chapter begins with a question from अर्जुन. अर्जुन imagines a भक्त, a devotee who has got faith in the Lord, who has got faith in पूजा as an important religious साधन and therefore he performs पूजा with श्रद्धा. श्रद्धा सहित पूजकः. But the problem is even though he has got faith in the Lord and the पूजा, he does not know the method of doing the पूजा, because he has not studied the scriptures. So he is a scripturally-illiterate person, so अज्ञ-श्रद्धालु-पूजकः, a rare combination, scripturally illiterate but full of faith and he performs the पूजा in any way that he likes. And now अर्जुन's question is under what category will his श्रद्धा come under? It is a श्रद्धा which is mixed with mistaken पूजा, even though श्रद्धा is proper the mode of पूजा is improper, and under what category will his श्रद्धा come. Because from one angle it should be सात्त्विक because it is श्रद्धा, from another angle it cannot be सात्त्विक because it is full of mistakes. So what will be the categorization? This is अर्जुन's question for which कृष्ण gave the answer. When such a faithful devotee worships the Lord, the type of श्रद्धा that he enjoys will depend upon the type of mind that he has, the type of character that he has. And since the mind will vary from individual to individual, the श्रद्धा will also vary. And therefore कृष्ण said the illiterate (scripturally-illiterate) person's श्रद्धा will come under three categories, it can be either सात्त्विक or राजसिक or तामसिक. Now the question is, how will I know whether it is सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक श्रद्धा, because firstly श्रद्धा itself is an invisible faculty. Faith is an attribute of the mind, mind itself being invisible, faith which is the attribute of the mind is also अप्रत्यक्षम्. धर्मिणः एव अप्रत्यक्षत्वे कथम् धर्मस्य प्रत्यक्षत्वम् स्यात्. And therefore श्रद्धा is invisible and if श्रद्धा itself is invisible, whether it is सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक, I have no way of knowing. And therefore, कृष्ण presents an alternative method by which we can infer the श्रद्धा, because what is not perceptibility available can be known through inference. That you have got a great great grandfather, how do I know, certainly not through perception, I know through the inference. If you are there solidly sitting, you must have parents and your parents should have parents, how do I know, through inference and for any inference I require data and the data for your grandparents is you. So your physical presence that I see you and that becomes the clue for the existence of your grandparent. And therefore कृष्ण says that the type of श्रद्धा can be inferred based on three observations. And what are the three observations which will help in inferring the quality of faith? I told you in the last class,

i) one is the type of deity this devotee is attracted to. Because in वैदिक pantheon of deity, in other religion it is not possible as only one is there, but in Hinduism we have got सात्त्विक देवताः, राजस देवताः and तामस देवताः or दुर्देवता. सात्त्विक देवताs contributing to spiritual growth, राजसिक देवताs contributing to material growth and तामसिक देवता contributing to destruction, violence, as I said black magic, etc. And depending upon which deity attracts me, which deity becomes my इष्टदेवता, I can know what type of श्रद्धा I have. So one factor is the object of worship.

ii) And second factor is the motive of worship, which I called सङ्कल्प or उद्देश्यम्. What is the motive of my worship? If the motive is spiritual growth it is सात्त्विक, if it is material growth it is राजसिक and if it is destruction of others it is तामसिक. So the second is motive.

iii) And the third one is the mode of worship and कृष्ण is going to point out later, if the mode of worship involves torture of the body, hurting oneself or others, all such worship will come under तामसिक worship. And therefore the श्रद्धा will come under तामसिक श्रद्धा, the mode of worship will be violent. And if it is a राजसिक mode of worship, it will be a type of worship in which lot of extrovert activities are there, it is heavily ritualistic, it is heavily extrovert, noisy, not only disturbing me but even disturbing the neighborhood. So, that is राजसिक worship, highly physically oriented, highly verbally oriented is राजसिक. And सात्त्विक worship is a worship which is more turned inwards, it is not highly physical and verbal but mostly it is mental and it turns my mind inward. So thus depending upon the mode of worship I can find out the type of श्रद्धा I have.

Of these three factors, कृष्ण has enumerated the first factor in the 4th verse, which we completed in the last class, सात्त्विक people love सात्त्विक deities. In fact, most of the popular deities we have are all सात्त्विक, राम, कृष्ण, शिव, विष्णु, etc., are all सात्त्विक. यक्ष-रक्षांसि किंनर गन्धर्व etc., which we don't worship, are all राजसिक deities. And spirits and ghosts who are invoked by going to the burial ground, cremation ground and oblations involving blood, etc., and generally the time पूजा is midnight, everything is wrong. Such types of worship invoking the deity in the skull, (recently they caught someone) all kinds of those देवताs will come under तामसिक deities. Up to this we saw. Continuing; Verse no.5;

Verse No .05

अशास्त्रविहितं घोरं तप्यन्ते ये तपो जनाः ।

दम्भाहङ्कारसंयुक्ताः कामरागबलान्विताः ॥ १७-५॥

अशास्त्र-विहितम् घोरम् तप्यन्ते ये तपः जनाः ।

दम्भ-अहङ्कार-संयुक्ताः काम-राग-बल-अन्विताः ॥ १७-५॥

In these two verses, Lord कृष्ण talks about the राजसिक and तामसिक forms of worship based on the mode and the motive. कृष्ण does not segregate them, you have to classify appropriately. अशास्त्र-विहितम् – राजसिक and तामसिक worship involve violation of all the शास्त्रीय injunctions. So, अशास्त्र-विहितम् violations of all the scriptural rules and regulations and घोरम्, घोरम् means terrible, frightening even to hear. You would have seen people in which they torture the body, putting hooks all over the body and शूलम् through the tongue and all kinds of things you cannot even see, how can you imagine doing that and in the पुराणs, we hear people cutting their own body, cutting the hands and offering, cutting the head (if there are many heads!) and offering and if you go to हिमालयs and all, you can see all kinds of terrible things. One स्वामि we saw on the way of बद्रीनाथ, he never sits or lies down, all the time standing and he has got a wooden plank hanging from a tree branch and keeping his hand on it. So, everything he does sleeping also, he has to keep his hand over that wooden plank and he has been standing there for days and months together and his legs have swollen so much and he is doing तपस्. For whom, what benefit? All ignorance and illiteracy regarding religion and spirituality and people also are illiterate. If anyone does anything extraordinary, they consider it is very great and of course in front a cloth has been spread, you know for what purpose, everybody puts Rs.5, Rs.10, Re.1, etc. This is clean torturing of the body and staying there up in the हिमालयs without proper clothing and remaining in the cold Ganges waters. All these things many people mistake as तपस्, but they are all घोरम् and तामसिक. And therefore, घोरम् तपः जनाः तप्यन्ते. And all these they do for what purpose? दम्भ-अहङ्कार-संयुक्ताः – because of their publicity seeking, for pomp and show, to tell the public that I am a great तपस्वि, so दम्भ and अहङ्कार, pride and vanity संयुक्ताः and काम-राग-बल-अन्विताः – their desire is not मोक्ष at all, their desire is worldly name or fame or money, so काम means desire for worldly things, राग means attachment and बलम् means power. You will see in the पुराणs most of the राक्षसs begin with तपस् only and if you read the तपस् it will be घोरम् and after several centuries or even thousands of years, ब्रह्मा or विष्णु or शिव will come and they will say, in TVs also you can see such things and they will say: I am pleased with your devotion. What boon do you want? And invariably they ask for certain powers. At the very outset they say ‘I should not die,’ then the deity will say not possible and they will ask for something and the moment they get the power, the first thing they do is go to heaven, dethrone

इन्द्र and take all रम्भा, उर्वशी and kidnap all of them. तपस् for this! So they are all devotees, they are all religious people and they are so great devotees that भगवान् they saw प्रत्यक्षम्. So seeing the Lord प्रत्यक्षम् does not make a person spiritual, a person can have ईश्वर दर्शनम् and still he can be a महा materialistic or he can use even god to threaten other people and there are some राक्षस who threaten the very Lord who gives boon. Like भस्मासुर. On whosoever's head I put my hand, that person should die. And शिव, आशुतोषि, we don't want to say, namby-pamby, because that is not correct. He is आशुतोषि, therefore He just gives, recklessly he fulfills the desire of the devotee and भस्मासुर says I want to try to somewhere, nobody around, therefore I will keep it on your head itself, he said. Therefore, remember, religion need not make a person spiritual. Materialistic religious people are also there, राक्षसीक religious people are also, Vedantic religious people also are there. Therefore here these people are full of काम-रग and बलम्, brutal strength रावण had, हिरण्यकशिपु had, शिशुपाल had. They were all worshippers of the Lord. This will come under राजसिक and तामसिक variety. And not only that कर्षयन्तः शरीरस्थं भूतग्राममचेतसः ।

मां चैवान्तःशरीरस्थं तान्विद्ध्यासुरनिश्चयान् ॥ १७-६॥

कर्षयन्तः शरीरस्थम् भूत-ग्रामम् अचेतसः ।

माम् च एव अन्तः-शरीरस्थम् तान् विद्धि आसुर-निश्चयान् ॥ १७-६॥

दम्भ-अहङ्कार-संयुक्ताः काम-रग-बल-अन्विताः ये जनाः अशास्त्र-विहितम् घोरम् तपः तप्यन्ते, अचेतसः च (ये) शरीरस्थम् भूत-ग्रामम् अन्तः-शरीरस्थम् माम् एव कर्षयन्तः तान् आसुर-निश्चयान् विद्धि ।

Continuation of राजसिक and तामसिक form of worship. कर्षयन्तः – tormenting their body, starving their body too much, depriving the organs of the body of the required nutrition. Body is a gift from the Lord, I should not pamper the body alright, but I should not torture the body, both extremes are equally dangerous. One person pampers and the other tortures. And therefore कर्षयन्तः means making the body weak by over-fasting, it is never good for the system. Initially he can do all these, but later his health is shattered and with a shattered health, what type of religious or spiritual साधन he can do? Therefore destroying the body is never the aim of any type of पूजा or व्रतम् or तपस्. It is a controlled austerity that is talked about so that I am not a slave to the body. Torture is not the intention, mastery is the intention. Once in a while, monthly once एकादशि उपवासम् very good. But for days together I don't eat, it is dangerous. Similarly, one day मौनम् is good, avoid noise pollution and others also will get some peace of mind, but there are people who have not talked for 10 years and then you have to struggle to communicate, making gestures, showing hands, writing notes, etc. भगवान् has given us the mouth for communication. If I don't use that properly, भगवान् will think human birth is not what you require. One person went to the doctor and said I have problem. The doctor asked, what is the problem? The man said that I will not tell it, you are the doctor and you have to find it out. Then the doctor gave a letter and asked him to go and see the other doctor and the other doctor was a veterinary doctor. Naturally. Is it not? When you have mouth, why can't you clearly use it for communication. Once in a while मौनम् is very good. In fact, if you don't abuse our organ of speech, that is the best मौनम्. Anyway, we are going to deal with वाक् तपस् later. So कर्षयन्तः, over austerity. भूत-ग्रामम् means all the organs. Each organ requires a particular nutrition, calcium, potassium, sodium, etc. If I don't give the food properly, in ऋषीकेश you will find all the स्वामिs take food from क्षेत्रम्, क्षेत्रम् means there are certain places where they give food to साधुs and there are only two types of food, रोटि and दाल् and only variety is दाल् and रोटि, this is the only change. Only order is changed and there also दाल् will be floating here and there little bit and they live on that for a few years, initial stages it will be fine. Thereafter all साधुs have got varieties of health problems. And that is how स्वामि शिवानन्द went and served those साधुs. Before स्वामि शिवानन्द went, they didn't have even treatment, they all suffered and died of sickness. With a sick body, what type of साधन one can practice? That's how he went and served. So, the body requires nutrition. The body need not be pampered but body has to be taken care of. So this person in the name of तपस्, what does he do, भूत-ग्रामम्, ग्राम means group, भूत means organs, भूत-ग्रामम् means the group of organs, like heart, lungs, kidney, pancreas, brain, etc., all of them they torment. अचेतसः, all because of what? They don't know the importance of the body. As they say, If the wall is not there, how can one cannot draw pictures. Without body nothing can be done, शरीरम् आद्यम् खलु धर्म-साधनम्. When पार्वती does तपस् to get Lord शिव as husband, in one of her अवतारs, she is doing तपस् and Lord शिव himself comes and he talks to पार्वती and कालीदास in that particular portion says:

अपि क्रिया-अर्थम् सुलभम् समित्-कुशम् जलानि अपि स्नान-विधि-क्षमम् ते।

अपि स्व-शक्त्या तपसि प्रवर्तसे शरीरम् आद्यम् खलु धर्म-साधनम् ॥
कुमारसम्भवम् ७-३३ ॥

Do you have good water? शिव asks do you have good water, do you get all the things needed, अपि स्व-शक्त्या, do you have enough health and strength to practice your साधन? And why? There He says शरीरम् आद्यम् खलु धर्म-साधनम्. Body is the first instrument of धर्म. Therefore अचेतसः means unintelligent people, neglect the physical health and by doing that, माम् च एव कर्षयन्तः, कर्षयन्तः you have to repeat again, not only they are tormenting themselves, but they are tormenting, wounding the Lord also. Insult to the body, is insult shown towards the Lord. Therefore कृष्ण says they are indirectly hurting me. Why do we say, they are hurting the Lord? Two reasons, firstly when the temple is ill-treated it is as good as ill-treating the Lord. देहो देवालयः प्रोक्तः जीवो

देवः सनातनः । It is ill treatment of the Lord and the second reason is ill-treating the body is violation of the duty given by the Lord in the scriptures. Lord has given in the scriptures our duty and one of the duties is taking care of the body. Insult of the Lord. Therefore माम् च एव अन्तः-शरीरस्थम् who is seated in their own body they are hurting. तान् – all such devotees are आसुर-निश्चयान् – they are devotees of आसुरीक resolve, negative resolve, violent resolve; it will come under राजसिक and तामसिक श्रद्धा. So with this the three types of श्रद्धा topic is over and you have to add the motive also, कृष्ण has not said here, we have to add. Any type of पूजा for spiritual growth is सात्त्विक, for material benefit is राजसिक, for harming others is तामसिक. Continuing; Verse no.7;

आहारस्त्वपि सर्वस्य त्रिविधो भवति प्रियः ।

यज्ञस्तपस्तथा दानं तेषां भेदमिमं शृणु ॥ १७-७॥

आहारः तु अपि सर्वस्य त्रिविधः भवति प्रियः ।

यज्ञः तपः तथा दानम् तेषाम् भेदम् इमम् शृणु ॥ १७-७॥

सर्वस्य प्रियः आहारः अपि तु त्रिविधः भवति, तथा यज्ञः, तपः, दानम् (च सर्वस्य त्रिविधं भवति, त्वं) तेषाम् इमम् भेदम् शृणु ।

With the previous verse, Lord कृष्ण has answered अर्जुन's question and therefore really speaking, the 17th chapter must be over, even the title is श्रद्धा-त्रय-विभाग. अर्जुन asked about श्रद्धा, कृष्ण has answered, ॐ तत् सत् must have come. But कृष्ण himself voluntarily chooses to add some more items, some more topic He chooses to discuss, for which कृष्ण gives an introduction in this verse. He says, हे अर्जुन! I will talk about four more topics, which are very very relevant for a spiritual seeker. What are those four items? आहारः – the food that a person consumes is also of three types, त्रिविधः भवति. त्रिविधः means सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक categories are there, in the type of food that we eat, सर्वस्य, a person eats and the यज्ञः – the type of पूजा that a person performs. Even though कृष्ण has talked about पूजा before, it is from the standpoint of श्रद्धा that is talked about before. Here directly कृष्ण wants to talk about पूजा, therefore यज्ञः, worship is also त्रिविधः, three types, सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक. Then तपः, means austerity, penance is also of three types. Then finally, दानम्. All these four are very very important for a spiritual seeker. दानम् means charity. Charity is very good, but even in charity there are three types, सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस दानम् and तेषाम् भेदम् शृणु – may you know their classification, their category. And the general rule is a सात्त्विक person will be naturally attracted towards सात्त्विक food and सात्त्विक यज्ञ and सात्त्विक तपस् and सात्त्विक दान, because as your mind is so will be your desire. Therefore what is सात्त्विक food? Very easy definition is whatever food a सात्त्विक person is attracted to is सात्त्विक food. But the problem is who is सात्त्विक person? Similarly, what is सात्त्विक यज्ञ? Whatever be the type of यज्ञ a सात्त्विक person is attracted to. Therefore कृष्ण says त्रिविधः प्रियः भवति – a person depending upon the temperament is attracted towards one of the three types of food. And from that description, I will be able to know where I stand and also I can regulate my life. And therefore कृष्ण introduces them, शृणु, may you carefully listen to them. So hereafter, we will get three types of आहार, in the same order He will say, three types of यज्ञः, three types of दानम् and three types of तपस्. This is to going to be topic of the following verses. We will see Verse no.8;

Verse No .08

आयुःसत्त्वबलारोग्यसुखप्रीतिविवर्धनाः ।

रस्याः स्निग्धाः स्थिरा हृद्या आहाराः सात्त्विकप्रियाः ॥ १७-८॥

आयुः-सत्त्व-बल-आरोग्य-सुख-प्रीति-विवर्धनाः ।

रस्याः स्निग्धाः स्थिराः हृद्याः आहाराः सात्त्विक-प्रियाः ॥ १७-८॥

आयुः-सत्त्व-बल-आरोग्य-सुख-प्रीति-विवर्धनाः, रस्याः स्निग्धाः स्थिराः हृद्याः आहाराः सात्त्विक-प्रियाः (सन्ति)

So in these three verses 8, 9 and 10, Lord कृष्ण deals with सात्विक राजसिक and तामसिक foods respectively. One of the greatness of our वैदिक tradition is, in this tradition even our natural and instinctive activities are elevated to the level of spiritual साधन. In addition to the special spiritual साधनs, there are many special spiritual साधनs, but one uniqueness is even our natural activities, even our instinctive mundane worldly activities, our scriptures elevate into spiritual साधन by appropriate modification. One of the most instinctive activities is what? Most fundamental and instinctive activity is an activity which starts at the time of birth and an activity which will continue up to death and which is an activity maintained throughout the life, (can you guess what is that activity? Even in sleep you continue) that is breathing. And it is not only an instinctive activity of the human being, in fact, it is the most fundamental activity of all the living beings, that is why they are all called प्राणी. प्राणी means what? प्राणीति इति प्राणिन्; 'प्राण + इन् = प्राणाः सन्ति अस्य' इति प्राणिन्. And the glory of our scriptures is they point out that if you deliberately practice this instinctive operation, you deliberately practice in a regulated manner and with a proper attitude, even this breathing can become a spiritual साधन. Can you think of it anywhere else? If you deliberately in a regulated manner, with a proper attitude you do the most fundamental action of breathing, even that becomes a साधन, which is called प्राणायामः. प्राणायाम is transmutation of instinctive activity into spiritual साधन. You deliberately breathe in and hold it for some time and you deliberately breathe out. In fact, only when you start प्राणायाम, you know you are doing something called breathing. Many people do not know that they are breathing and when it stops also, only others will know. There is no chance at all. So this deliberate regulated breathing is one of the most beautiful disciplines invented by the वैदिक tradition and they say it is one of the most wonderful disciplines for health. In readers digest there was an article a few months before, the title of the article is “Health under your nose” and he has talked about the glory of प्राणायाम and then at the end he has written this wonderful discipline has been (written by an American, if they say only we listen) and he has said that this has been invented by the Indians centuries before and there also they prescribe प्राणायाम only for physical health, whereas in our tradition, प्राणायाम is converted to even a religious and spiritual साधन. In the 4th chapter, while कृष्ण enumerates the varieties of यज्ञs or पूजाs, one of the पूजा is

अपाने जुह्वति प्राणम् प्राणे अपानम् तथा अपरे ।

प्राण-अपान-गती रुद्ध्वा प्राणायाम-परायणाः ॥ ४-२९ ॥

It is converted into a यज्ञ called प्राणायाम यज्ञः and if you change your attitude by chanting the name of the Lord, which is called सगर्भ प्राणायाम, 4th chapter I have told, ॐ भूः, ॐ भुवः, ॐ सुवः ...or यम, यम, यम, कृष्ण, कृष्ण, कृष्ण or नमः शिवाय, नारायण, something then that becomes a type of पूजा and in our scriptures for some types of पापs or sins, प्राणायाम itself is prescribed as a type of प्रायश्चित्तम्. Especially for संन्यासis, they don't have money to do प्रायश्चित्त कर्मs and the संन्यासि cannot do rituals also, so ritualistic प्रायश्चित्तम्s are not possible, so for many of the violation of the संन्यास आश्रम धर्म, (he has no other job and he can sit catching the nose), so therefore, the प्रायश्चित्तम् prescribed for some of the slips from संन्यास आश्रम धर्म is प्राणायाम; three times, eleven times, 108 times, etc. What I want to say is that the most natural कर्म is converted. What is the next most natural activity, after breathing? Eating is the next most natural and universal activity of all living beings, the glory of our tradition is they have converted even eating into a form of spiritual साधन, if it is practiced deliberately with proper attitude. Eating becomes a यज्ञ and in the 15th chapter we saw

अहम् वैश्वानरः भूत्वा प्राणिनाम् देहम् आश्रितः ॥ १५-१४॥

Lord is in my stomach as वैश्वानरः and whatever I am eating is an offering, then the eating is called प्राणाग्निहोत्रम्. Breathing becomes प्राणायाम deliberately done, eating becomes प्राणाग्निहोत्रम्. And even bathing which is the next natural activity, which not only human beings practice, even many animals have the habit of bathing, that bathing also is converted into an यज्ञ in our tradition, it is अभिषेकम् of the Lord who is seated inside, that is why we chant,

गङ्गे च यमुने चैव गोदावरि सरस्वती । नर्मदे सिन्धु कावेरि जलेऽस्मिन् सन्निधिम् कुरु ॥

We deliberately take bath and look upon the water as गङ्गा or यमुना and we pour water uttering the name of the Lord; स्नान is one of the नित्य पूजा कर्म, because it purifies not only the physical body, but it also purifies the mind. So thus वेद converts our natural activities into यज्ञ and आहार यज्ञ is one of the important types of spiritual साधन. And therefore कृष्ण divides them into three categories. This categorization of the food can be from different angles. We can take four factors into account to determine the type.

i) One is the source of food. Our tradition gave lot of importance to the very source of food from where it comes and who cooks the food and what is the attitude, is it for commercial purposes, or it is done out of love and compassion, who cooks, what is the attitude with which it is cooked and who serves the food and what is the attitude, etc., what attitude, all these things we give importance because according to शास्त्र, when the food is received, depending upon the source we are receiving the invisible vibrations or पुण्य-पापम् also. We are not only receiving the physical nourishment, we are receiving the spiritual nourishment also depending upon the source. And if the source is negative, it is going to add पापम् to me and that पापम् is called असत् प्रतिग्रह पापम्, असत् प्रतिग्रहम् means, असत् means what: a person or a source which is impure is called असत्; प्रतिग्रह means receiving. So असत् प्रतिग्रहम् means taking food from an impure source. And that is why in those days, they generally avoided taking food from outside. Now-a-days eating out is a very very big thing, everybody considers it as very important and that is why any number of hotels you go, you will see that all are full and they generally avoided, because you don't know how it is cooked, who is cooking and the attitude will be not 'service' and done with a grumbling attitude and out of commercial interests, not cooked with love and respect, the very owner has got only a commercial motive and therefore they said पराब्जम् प्राणसङ्कटम्. Therefore avoid eating outside, if you can, but if that is possible, from angle they say, असत् प्रतिग्रह can pollute. So therefore one factor is what, source and therefore in the next day bathing, they say if you utter the name of the Lord, not only the water will wash your body, असत् प्रतिग्रह पापम् is washed if you chant the नाम of the Lord. There is an अधमर्षणसूक्तम्,

अत्याशनादतीपानाद् यच्च उग्रात् प्रतिग्रहात् । तन्नो वरुणो राजा पाणिना ह्यवमर्शतु । सोऽहमपापो विरजो निर्मुक्तो मुक्तकिल्बिषः... ॥ अधमर्षणसूक्तम् ७९- ६०॥

उग्रात् प्रतिग्रहात्, all junk food from all sources, soft and hard drinks, all things, let वरुण wash off all the पापम्s {so that I can take fresh things today (not in that meaning). Anything you can abuse, be careful!} And in the daily सन्ध्यावन्दनम् also,

असताम् च प्रतिग्रह स्वाहा ॥ महानारायणोपनिषत् ॥

असत् प्रतिग्रह is considered to be a पाप. So therefore source.

ii) The second factor is the quality of food; first is the source, the second is the quality of food. There also they talk about सात्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक; कृष्ण is going to elaborate that, but generally we consider the type of food that has been coming down in our tradition is well designed. Therefore, normal regular vegetarian food comes under सात्विक. Therefore, any serious spiritual seeker should be a vegetarian according to our शास्त्र. And not only that, any food that is offered to the Lord will be सात्विक in quality. These are the two general rules, vegetarian food, which comes after offering to the Lord. This is quality. The other details कृष्ण will tell, we will see that later.

iii) The third one is the quantity, very important, quantity of the food, this I have discussed in the 6th chapter and I don't want to go again into the details. So the first rule is eat only when you are hungry, food is not a sense pleasure, food is meant for removing the hunger and suppose you ask, स्वामिजि if I am not hungry, how much I should eat? How is this?! Like that person, the doctor said, in the night eat only two chapattis, then this person asked after dinner or before dinner. The doctor said during dinner. Therefore, if you are not hungry, to save yourselves and the society, don't eat and if you are hungry, how much to eat? Sufficient to remove the hunger, in fact, according to शास्त्र, a little bit hunger should be there. If you eat one more dosa then stop at that time. Three साधनs they tell in तमिळ्.

- a) A little bit of hunger should be there constantly,
- b) Learn to be alone for some time daily,
- c) Be alert or otherwise I will be sleeping or sleepy. Only two अवस्थाs will be there,

So therefore, the next one is quantity.

iv) Then the last one is mode of eating, mode or manner of eating, we will use appropriate manner, if we remember that eating is a form of यज्ञ. It is a form of पूजा, therefore I reverentially approach the process of eating. First rule is I do the पूजा sitting. It has to be started from there, I do the पूजा sitting, therefore I am supposed to eat not running, not standing, buffet, one has to stand and walk, all those things, because that is not the method in which I do the पूजा and also the attitude. The attitude is what: that it is an offering going to the Lord inside and therefore

अन्नम् न निन्द्यात् । अन्नम् न परिचक्षीत । ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् ॥

Reverentially approach, at the time of eating also, I am not supposed to indulge in any other activity. Imagine you doing the पूजा while talking on the phone or to the neighbor, etc. How will it be, what is more insulting than this!! Therefore, during पूजा we are not supposed to simultaneously do anything. Similarly, I don't say that you should not talk at all, at least the content of the talk, like scolding someone, etc., it is not supposed to be good; reverentially approach. Details in the next class.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 08-11

Lord कृष्ण answered अर्जुन's question regarding श्रद्धा by categorizing श्रद्धा into three types, सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक, based on the mental make-up of a person. When a person uses his श्रद्धा to the Lord and scriptures for spiritual progress, then it is called सात्त्विक श्रद्धा, when a person uses his faith in the scriptures and God for material benefits, it is called राजस श्रद्धा and when a person uses the faith in the Lord and scriptures for the negative result or harming other people, then it is called तामस श्रद्धा. And there are differences also in the mode of worship, these people resort to and also the type of देवताs these people are attracted towards. And with this कृष्ण concludes his श्रद्धा analysis and without अर्जुन's asking, कृष्ण himself voluntarily promises to discuss four more topics for which he gave the introduction in the 7th verse and the four topics are आहारः – food, यज्ञ – worship, तपः – austerity and दानम् – charity. And कृष्ण himself divides them into three types, सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस and कृष्ण discusses them in the same order as he has introduced in the 7th verse and in that order the first topic is आहारः, or food and in the three verses – 8th, 9th and 10th, Lord कृष्ण talks about सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक food respectively. And we should remember that according to our scriptures, the food that we eat has got a great influence in the individuality. As I said, they talk about

- The source of food and its influence in the person and
- The second is the quantity of food and its influence and
- The third is the mode of eating and its influence and
- Finally the quality of food and its influence.

I talked about the source, if it is a सात्त्विक source, then it will influence us positively and therefore they generally avoid taking food from unknown sources as much as possible, of course it may not be possible for all, because of the type of profession, but if there is a choice, they say, they take food from a known source and when it is cooked at home itself, there is no risk at all and also we have a tradition when the ladies cook the food, if they cook (I don't know) when they cook the food, they have the habit of chanting the श्लोकs, I don't know whether you have experienced or whether it is diminishing now-a-days, many श्लोकs they know by-heart. While cooking they chant, two-fold benefit, one is they know it and they can keep in their memory and the other is with the Lord's नाम food is cooked, then it is the most सात्विक food imaginable, because the person is a well-wisher, after all the mother, the heart is clean, the motive is good and with Lord's नाम in the mouth it is cooked, the children can be but सात्विक only, it will have a tremendous influence. So therefore source of food they insisted, असत् प्रतिग्रह, they generally criticize. And the second is quantity I said, moderation in the amount of intake and also in the frequency, how many times, if at all there is a gap given, if there is no gap you cannot say, how many times. So moderation in quantity and frequency is the second rule we saw in the 6th chapter. The third aspect is the mode in which we eat and the scriptures point out the approach should be such that the very eating should be taken as a form of ritual, a ritual in which the food is offered to the वैश्वानरः Lord who is inside our stomach, अयमग्निवैश्वानरो योऽयमन्तः पुरुषे । येनेदमन्नम् पच्यते । यदिदमद्यते । तस्यैष घोषो भवति । ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ५-९-१ ॥

In बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् a special उपासना is prescribed upon the वैश्वानरः Lord who is seated in our stomach, digesting the food and therefore eating is looked upon as प्राणाग्निहोत्रम् and if eating is a form of ritual, it is reverentially approached, beginning of eating is prayerful and the process of eating is prayerful and the conclusion of eating is also prayerful. It starts with अमृतोपस्तरणमसि. I spread with अमृतम्. And then after the food is covered with अमृतम्, अमृतापिधानमसि. First you spread with अमृतम्, then again you close it with अमृतम् with such a prayerful attitude food is taken and not only the mode is sacred, whatever is served in the leaf or plate that is also looked upon as the Lord himself. So अन्नम् ब्रह्मेति व्यजानात्,

अन्नम् ब्रह्मेति व्यजानात् । अन्नाद्भयेव खल्विमानि भूतानि जायन्ते ।

अन्नेन जातानि जीवन्ति । अन्नम् प्रयन्त्याभिसंविशन्तीति ॥
तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् ३-२-१॥

अन्नम् ब्रह्म रसो विष्णुः भोक्ता देवो महेश्वरः ।

इति सञ्चिन्त्य भुञ्जानः अन्नदोषैः न लिप्यते ॥ श्रीलटकन तनय
श्रीमन्मिश्रभाव विरचिते भावप्रकाश - पञ्चमं दिनचर्यादिप्रकरणम् - १३१॥

There will neither be spiritually poisoning, nor there will be physically poisoning, if a person approaches eating in a prayerful manner. The source is important, then the quantity is important, frequency is important, the mode of eating is important and above all, most importantly the very quality of food कृष्ण wants to highlight in these verses. Because according to the scriptures,

आहार शुद्धौ सत्त्व शुद्धिः ॥ छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ७-२६-२॥

छान्दोग्योपनिषत्, 7th chapter, भूमविद्या, at the end of the ब्रह्मविद्या teaching, the उपनिषत् says that आहार शुद्धौ सत्त्व शुद्धिः, if the food is pure, it will make the mind pure, सत्त्व शुद्धौ ध्रुवा स्मृतिः, if the mind is pure a person will be able to receive the knowledge, Self-knowledge and also retain it, ध्रुवा स्मृतिः and स्मृतिलभ्ते सर्वब्रन्थीनाम् विप्रमोक्षः, when a person gets a steady knowledge, that is liberation. And thus there is a connection between the food and liberation and therefore don't take it for granted. We don't say, food itself will give liberation, then you won't come to the next class, food also is an important contributory factor in spiritual pursuit and then in the 6th chapter of छान्दोग्योपनिषत्, the teacher says, the food that we consume has got three layers, स्थूल भाग, मध्यम भागः and सूक्ष्म भागः. The स्थूल भागः, the gross part of the food will only cater to the taste and it will be evacuated as a waste, that is called स्थूल भागः, the gross part, then there is a मध्यम भाग, the middle portion, which is supposed to cater to the physical nourishment, in the form of carbohydrates, fats, minerals, salts, etc. The मध्यम भाग does not contribute to the taste, but they contribute to the physical nourishment. And then the शास्त्र says, there is a सूक्ष्म भागः and the सूक्ष्म भाग, the subtle part of the food will contribute the nourishment of the सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, the type of mind that we enjoy, whether we have a calm, spiritually friendly mind, or whether we have a highly restless and extrovert mind and similarly, our sense organs are alert or dull, all the subtle 17 organs of सूक्ष्म शरीरम् are nourished by the सूक्ष्म भागः,

अन्नमशितम् त्रेधा विधीयते तस्य यः स्थविष्ठो धातुस्तत्पुरीषम् भवति यो मध्यमस्तन्मांसम् योऽणिष्ठस्तन्मनः ॥ छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ६-७-१॥

So whatever you consume, स्थूल, मध्यम and सूक्ष्म भागः cater and if a person is interested in the nourishment of the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् also, which is very very important for spiritual साधन he should choose सात्विक diet which will be good for सूक्ष्म शरीर growth also, if he consumes राजसिक or तामसिक food, it may nourish the physical body, but it will be working against the subtle bodies, spiritual growth. And therefore सात्विक diet is supposed to be conducive to spiritual growth. And then the next question is what is सात्विक, what is राजसिक and what is तामसिक diet and as I said we can have a general rule, generally the vegetarian diet is सात्विक, which is in our वैदिक tradition. परम्परा food is सात्विक, non-veg food and drinks like alcohol etc., they are all considered to be highly राजसिक and तामसिक and therefore a serious spiritual seeker should avoid them and confine to vegetarianism. And of course within vegetarian food itself there say सात्विक, राजसिक, तामसिक food, we need not go to that, because now the vegetarianism itself is in problem, I don't want to go into further details, if people become vegetarians, especially spiritual seekers and that too serious spiritual seekers, if they give up meat and alcohol it is a very very important step in spirituality. And thereafter कृष्ण gives certain general rules regarding the diet; in the 8th verse, सात्त्विक diet is defined, what is that? He says, आयुः-सत्त्व-बल-आरोग्य-सुख-प्रीति-विवर्धनाः, सात्त्विक diet will nourish all these, what are they, आयुः, आयुः means longevity, सात्त्विक diet will increase the longevity. Then सत्त्वम्, सत्त्व means मनो बलम्, the strength of the mind is called सत्त्वम्, mental strength, mental resistance, mental immunity to violent emotions is called सत्त्वम्. Then बलम् is physical strength, then आरोग्यम् – health, so generally vegetarians are more healthy, the chances of diseases are very very very low in vegetarianism. Of course vegetarian congress people are there, books and books are written on vegetarianism, I don't want get into that, we can read books. They have clearly scientifically and statistically proved that all organs are generally healthy in vegetarianism. Therefore आरोग्यम्, then सुखम्, सुखम् means what: the internal relaxation, comfort, physical and mental comfort, freedom from tension, stress and strain, etc., are called here सुखम्, long-term comfort in life, then प्रीति, प्रीति means comfort and happiness, even at the time of eating. So प्रीति stands for the comfort at the time of eating, सुखम् refers to the comfort after. Because in राजसिक and तामसिक variety, one may enjoy the food at the time of eating, spicy and chilly, next day you will understand in the bathroom, so later problems will be more. They will eat then, but suffer later, therefore, सात्त्विक diet means while eating and later also, there is a lightness in the body and lightness in the mind also. So सुख-प्रीति-विवर्धनाः, all these things increase if it is a सात्त्विक diet and रस्याः, रस्याः means delicious, it is only we have to develop the habit, a person who is not used to that he will say, what is in vegetarian diet, but if a person develops a taste, it is very very delicious and also रस stands for sweet. Sweet is generally considered to be सात्त्विक in a limited quantity, very careful, one kg sugar don't consume in the home, saying it is सात्त्विक. Sweet in limited quantity is called सात्त्विक, रस्याः, means sweet and delicious, then स्निग्धाः, food which are not very dry, that is sufficient oil or ghee is there, ghee is also supposed to be a सात्विक dish. Again be careful, within moderation, according to शास्त्र, ghee is very good in moderation, so सिग्धः, which is not too dry, then स्थिरः, which are nourishing physically also. Not only it should help me in nourishing my सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, it should take care of my physical need, there is a very big misconception that the vegetarian food will not give all the required nourishment and they have medically and scientifically proved that all the nourishment we can happily and comfortably get through vegetarianism. Therefore वेद prescribes that only, स्थिरः, means physically nourishing and हृद्याः, हृद्याः means even visually pleasing, therefore सात्विक food not only it should be good for the tongue, according to शास्त्र, even by seeing that one should feel that one should consume it. Therefore हृद्याः, even pleasing to the sight, such foods are सात्विक foods and if a person is सात्विक person, he will be naturally attracted to such foods. And therefore कृष्ण says सात्विक-प्रियाः. All सात्विक people naturally like this food. This is सात्विक आहारः. Then what about राजसिक diet, कृष्ण gives,

Verse No .09

कट्वम्ललवणात्युष्णतीक्ष्णरूक्षविदाहिनः ।

आहारा राजसस्येष्टा दुःखशोकामयप्रदाः ॥ १७-९॥

कट्वम्ल-लवण-अति-उष्ण-तीक्ष्ण-रूक्ष-विदाहिनः ।

आहाराः राजसस्य इष्टाः दुःख-शोक-आमय-प्रदाः ॥ १७-९॥

कट्वम्ल-लवण-अति-उष्ण-तीक्ष्ण-रूक्ष-विदाहिनः दुःख-शोक-आमय-प्रदाः
आहाराः राजसस्य इष्टाः (भवति) ।

So राजसिक food कृष्ण defines here, he says, other than the sweet, because sweet is considered सात्विक, other than the sweet, all the other tastes, of षड्रसम् all the other five रसs in excess is considered राजसिक. What are they? अति कटु, in the श्लोक it is difficult to read, it should be split like this, कटु-अम्ल-लवण-अति-उष्ण-तीक्ष्ण-रूक्ष-विदाहिनः, in that अत्युष्ण there is अति, that अति should be added to everyone, अति-कटु, अति-अम्ल, अति-लवण, अति-उष्ण, अति-

तीक्ष्ण, अति-रूक्ष, अति-विदाहिनः. Even as you pronounce you can see it is kada bada, see the reading of the राजसिक, even the reading is not सात्विक, so अति-कटु means what extremely bitter, अति-अम्ल – very sour, अति-लवण – too much saltish and अति-उष्ण – very hot, hot is here temperature, very very hot and they don't talk about very cold, because perhaps in India we don't have that problem, we should add extremely sub-zero ice-cream, problem. Therefore extreme cold and extreme heat also is not good, the food should be closer to the body temperature and therefore अति-उष्ण, then अति-तीक्ष्ण, here तीक्ष्ण means very hot in the sense of chilly hot, अति-तीक्ष्ण means too much chilly, too much mango pickle, too much chutneys, if you don't know, take any Andhra chutney, instantly you will know what is the 7th heaven, immediate experience and water will come out of all the holes, nose, ears and eyes, I am talking from experience, somebody gave some chutney and I only touched with the tip of my finger and touched and immediately I was affected, they say generally they neutralize it with lot of ghee, generally they say it is not good, अति-तीक्ष्ण, chilly hot makes you angry, therefore you become, that is why angry person, hot tempered we say. तीक्ष्ण, then रूक्ष, रूक्ष means very very dry, with no oil, no ghee, nothing, very dry food and विदाहिनः, any type of food which burns or eats up or corrodes the inner tender organs, certain types of food are supposed to corrode the inner lining of the stomach, like the mustard etc., some people like the mustard, as they pick and eat it with interest. They say too much of mustard is also not good, it will come under विदाहि, that which it eats inner tender organs, all these come under राजसिक food and a राजसिक person generally likes that food only. If you give him सात्विक food, he will say: this is only bland, give me some chillies and they will eat chilly directly. Chilly, garlic and mustard oil combination, they will enjoy, anyway राजसस्य इष्टाः, they are liked by राजसिक people and they cause दुःख-शोक-आमय-प्रदाः. These types of food will have adverse effect, short-term as well as long-term. So दुःखम् stands for short-term adverse effect, like what: the eyes' tears coming and शोक is long-term, the system also will get spoiled, so long-term adverse effect and also आमय-प्रदाः, it will give, cause varieties of diseases like ulcer, etc. But these people will be highly active, so if it has got a advantage or plus point, they are so dynamic, it will make the person highly active, he can work 20 hours a day. That is the plus point, but the minus point, highly un-conducive for spirituality, because that person cannot sit an hour for वेदान्त श्रवणम्. Or he cannot sit for 15 minutes for जप or पूजा and therefore spiritually disadvantageous, materially may be advantageous, therefore दुःख-शोक-आमय-प्रदाः, this is राजसिक food. Then comes the तामसिक one in the next one,

Verse No .10

यातयामं गतरसं पूति पर्युषितं च यत् ।

उच्छिष्टमपि चामेध्यं भोजनं तामसप्रियम् ॥ १७-१०॥

यातयामम् गत-रसम् पूति पर्युषितम् च यत् ।

उच्छिष्टम् अपि च अमेध्यम् भोजनम् तामस-प्रियम् ॥ १७-१०॥

यत् यातयामम्, गत-रसम्, पूति, पर्युषितम् च उच्छिष्टम् अपि च अमेध्यम् भोजनम् (तत्) तामस-प्रियम् (अस्ति) ।

So तामसिक food is defined here, यातयामम्, means undercooked or uncooked food. In the tradition they say cooking is important, अग्नि सम्बन्ध is important, because अग्नि also is looked upon as a deity and therefore that brings about a change, not only it removes all the bacteria and other things, they say water also has to be boiled, milk has to be boiled, cooking will remove not only physical toxins, it is supposed to remove spiritual toxins also, therefore salad and all in trouble now. Therefore, it is cooking is considered important. So यातयामम् means under cooked or uncooked food will come under तामसिक variety, then गत-रसम्, over cooked food, it is cooked so much that all the nourishment has evaporated or it got mixed with water and the water they throw away the vegetable they keep, it has no nourishment at all and therefore over cooked food also comes under तामसिक variety, गत-रसम्, nutrient-less, nourishment less food, then पूति means the food which has become foul smelling by keeping for a long time, so पूति means दुर्गन्ध युक्तम्, foul smelling, पर्युषितम्, food that is kept overnight, outside the fridge or inside the fridge, any food which is kept overnight is considered to be तामसिक food. Ladies will get very very angry if I tell all these, because I hear that now-a-days they cook for 7 days at one go, I don't know, therefore even dates are marked and then it is kept, micro oven, heat and eat, heat and eat, every time. And the primary reason that is not accepted is it is said that the food is cooked not only for our eating, the food is cooked for offering to the deity at home, we may say the food is not spoilt and I like it and I can eat, but they said that should not be done because you cannot give the micro oven food to भगवान्. Since the Lord at home cannot be given yesterday's and last week's or last month's or last year's; now last year's things also they can keep, they say. I don't want to dwell on that, therefore पर्युषितम् means kept overnight. The idea is daily something has to be cooked to offer to the Lord, because we look upon the Lord as the live Lord and therefore that Lord has to be worshipped only then the home will be a temple and minus that cooking, it is no more a temple, it become some kind of lodge or building and if you have to convert home into a temple, these things are important, but now-a-days I don't know how far such things are feasible, because everybody is working, cooking is not there at all, fast food has taken over. As somebody said the best wife is one who knows the best foods liked by her husband and also the hotels which supply them! Can you understand, therefore fast foods have come, if I talk, they will say that I am still in the 17th century, etc., therefore at least out of academic interest it is nice to know the वैदिक concept of daily cooking, supposed to be important. And therefore पर्युषितम् च यत्, उच्छिष्टम् means what:

the left over half दोसा I ate in the morning, other half I keep for the night, that is called उत्छिष्टम् and अमेध्यम्, अमेध्यम् means a food which is not offered to the Lord. Because in our tradition, food has to be offered to the Lord, when I am eating yesterday's or last week's food, I will never be able to offer it to the Lord and if it is not offered to the Lord, food is no more a प्रसाद,

यज्ञ-शिष्ट आशिनः सन्तः मुच्यन्ते सर्व-किल्बिषैः । ... ॥ ३-१३॥

In the 3rd chapter, कृष्ण said that when the food is offered to the Lord and eaten, that food is called यज्ञ-शिष्टम् or यज्ञ-प्रसाद. यज्ञ-प्रसाद purifies the mind, but when it is not offered to the Lord, it is called अमेध्यम्. मेधः means यज्ञः, so मेध्यम् means sacred, which is fit for यज्ञ, अमेध्यम् means unsacred food, which is not fit for offering and that which has not been offered to the Lord. अमेध्यम् is also considered to be तामसिक food and you can find generally, wherever such habits in whichever family, such habits grow up, generally religion will go away from that family. Spirituality will go away from that family. It will become an embodiment of materialism. You can watch these things, these are all truth, materialism will become predominant, God will disappear, religion will disappear, because if you have to offer to the Lord, you have to get up early in the morning, early morning getting up is itself disappearing and early morning taking bath is a big question, early morning waking up is going, early morning स्नानम् is going, early morning cooking is going, early morning prayers are going, you will find a typical house will be an embodiment of materialism in play. If we want to make it a religious spiritual centre, all these things are inevitable. We have to change our very way of life, if it requires going to bed early, we have to change that habit also. But everything is changing, people come from office at 10 p.m. and therefore relaxed eating is only in the night. In office only stuffing, therefore, generally best cooking is done in the night and eating itself is at 11 p.m. and generally night show in TV is at 11 p.m. Then see all that till 12 – 12.30 p.m. and sleep, then when you get up, it will only be सूर्यास्तमनम् what you will be seeing. Somebody said when the sunlight falls on my face, I wake up. Wonderful! Then only we knew that the window was on the western side!! OK. उत्छिष्टम् अपि च अमेध्यम् वैदिक lifestyle is unfortunately disappearing, something very unfortunate, but it is happening. भोजनम् तामस-प्रियम्, this is generally liked by तामसिक people. These are three types of food. And शङ्कराचार्य adds a note, if you want to change your character, you have to change so many things, which includes the change in food habits also, we don't say the change in food habits alone will make all the things, that is one important factor to be taken into account, along with so many other factors also. Thus change your character by changing your food habits. Thus त्रिविधः आहारः topic is over. Now कृष्ण enters into three types of यज्ञ.

Verse No .11

अफलाकाङ्क्षिभिर्यज्ञो विधिदृष्टो य इज्यते ।

यष्टव्यमेवेति मनः समाधाय स सात्त्विकः ॥ १७-११॥

अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः यज्ञः विधि-दृष्टः यः इज्यते ।

यष्टव्यम् एव इति मनः समाधाय सः सात्त्विकः ॥ १७-११॥

अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः (पुरुषैः) यष्टव्यम् एव इति मनः समाधाय विधि-दृष्टः यः यज्ञः इज्यते, सः सात्त्विकः (यज्ञः मतः) ।

So three types of यज्ञ are being talked about, the 11th verse defines सात्त्विक यज्ञ, 12th राजस यज्ञ, 13th तामस यज्ञ. What is सात्त्विक यज्ञ? According to वेद, we are involved in varieties of activities, physical, verbal, mental activities galore and the more advanced the society is, the more the number of activities are and a spiritual seeker should do certain activities which are meant for the inner spiritual growth also, we do require lot of activities for physical nourishment. In fact, right from LKG onwards our education is meant for what. Now-a-days nobody thinks of inner growth, the very purpose of education is what: where do you get the best job and job is meant for what? Maximum money, money is meant for what? For taking care of the physical and other material needs, it is required, वेद is not against that, but वेद asks what type of education and activities do you have for the sake of your inner growth, for your spiritual growth. For साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, what are you doing? And the scriptures say, you have to allot, you have to dedicate a part of the day exclusively for this inner growth which alone, we saw in the 3rd chapter as पञ्च महायज्ञ, which are called निष्काम कर्माणि. They will not contribute to our material growth, they will not give me, they will not give me name and fame, they will not give me status in society, they will not improve my material environment, they purely contribute to my inner growth, for that I should definitely do some कर्म, beginning from देव यज्ञ in the early morning, before we start our earning work, let the day start with those activities which are meant for spiritual growth. Because morning time is supposed to सात्विक time. And as the sun rises and the heat of the sun increases, the body becomes more and more राजसिक. Therefore the later time is ideal for राजसिक activities, ब्राह्म मुहूर्त is fit for वेद प्रधान, spiritual activities. And then as the evening set, the sun sets, the सत्व goes away, रजस् goes away and along with the setting of the sun, तमस् takes over. So the body clock, the body cycle is सत्व to रजस् to तमस् and therefore the scriptures prescribe spiritual activities in the morning and for what purposes, i.e., meant for only inner growth and therefore कृष्ण says, यज्ञः, that यज्ञ or कर्म or activity, विधि-दृष्टः, which has been prescribed by the scriptures for your inner growth, morning prayers, morning जप, morning पूजा, morning temple visit, all those have been prescribed in our culture for what if you ask, meant for inner growth, विधि-दृष्टः, just as they prescribe morning walk is the विधि given by the modern medical people, and whether people like or not you can find now beach walkers association, or park walkers, even if you don't want to walk, you would like to walk because health requires that. Just as a person forces himself in the physical walking because, it is good for my physical health. Similarly, the scriptures prescribe certain inner exercises, which are meant for the spiritual health of the person. And therefore विधि-दृष्टः, prescribed by the spiritual doctor called the ऋषि. ऋषिs were the spiritual doctors taking care of our spiritual health, विधि-दृष्टः and अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः and when they do the morning walk, what money do they get. They are not getting any money because they are not working anywhere, even though they do not get any money or increase in salary or position or name or fame, still they allot that time. Busiest executives are walking, even they don't get any money, because they know the value of the physical health. Similarly, the spiritual people who know the value of the spiritual health, they follow these rites, without expecting any material benefit. No money, no promotion in job, they don't expect anything, अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः, फलम् means material benefit, आकाङ्क्षिभिः means desirous, अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः means without desiring any material benefit, they follow these rituals like सन्ध्यावन्दनम् or morning जप, purely for spiritual benefit, they are called निष्काम कर्माणि, they are called सात्त्विक कर्माणि, they are called नित्य नैमित्तिक कर्माणि. And the world, the materialistic people will tease them, they don't feel bad, they don't have any complex, because they know the value of spiritual health. Just as the walkers know the value of physical health, you can see in the beach, they do the exercise, they don't bother about what the other people think, wearing the half pant and they are coming to the class with the same half-pant, because only place where dress code is not there is the class. After the beach walk, they take the दूर्वा extracted juice and directly come to the class. Anyway it is OK, if they come to the class. Therefore, they don't bother about their dress, or what they do because they have a value for physical health, they don't bother about what others' think. Similarly, those people who value they don't bother about what the society thinks, they do what they value. So therefore how do they do, यष्टव्यम् एव. I have to necessarily practice these things, for my own benefit, not whatever the society says or thinks. It is not done for others' sake, it is done because I value this. यष्टव्यम् it has to be done under all circumstances and how it is done, मनः समाधाय, with concentration, with application. So any पूजा, any जप, any ध्यानम्, anything practiced with total commitment for inner growth is called सात्त्विकः यज्ञः. In short the कर्मयोग of the 3rd chapter is called the सात्त्विकः यज्ञः. नियतम् कुरु कर्म त्वम् कर्म ज्यायः हि अकर्मणः । That is सात्त्विक कर्म. More we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 11-14

By way of answering अर्जुन's question, Lord कृष्ण first dealt with three types of श्रद्धा, three types of faith. Thereafter the Lord himself voluntarily promised to talk about four more topics, viz., आहारः, यज्ञः, तपः and दानम्. Food, worship austerities and charity. And then the Lord himself explains each one of them, by dividing them into three varieties, सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस आहार, similarly, सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस यज्ञः, etc. Of these four topics, we have completed the first topic, viz., the three types of आहार, which was dealt with in verse no.8, 9 and 10. And now we have entered into three types of यज्ञः in the three verses, 11, 12 and 13. I introduced the 11th verse in the previous class, in which सात्त्विकः यज्ञः is being talked about. The scriptures prescribe varieties of कर्म for human benefit and all these कर्म are called यज्ञ, because in all these कर्म, indirectly or directly, worship of the Lord is involved. In the वैदिक tradition, there is no secular कर्म separate from sacred कर्म, even secular कर्म are converted into sacred कर्म by entertaining the भावना of dedicating the action to the Lord and once we develop that भावना, all the कर्म are called यज्ञः. As I said in the other day, even the most mundane activity of eating becomes a यज्ञः, bathing becomes a यज्ञः, walking becomes a यज्ञः. And these यज्ञs or scriptural कर्म are divided into several types and there are certain types of कर्म, which are meant exclusively for spiritual growth, there are certain कर्म which are meant primarily, I will not say exclusively, but primarily meant for spiritual growth. And these कर्म primarily meant for spiritual growth are called नित्य and नैमित्तिक कर्म or विहित कर्म or नियत कर्म or पञ्च महायज्ञ. And all these कर्म are in the form of some form of contribution to the others' in the society, contribution to the Lord, contribution to the nature, fellow human beings, other living beings, contributory कर्म are called नित्य-नैमित्तिक कर्म. They are primarily meant for spiritual growth and separate from these नित्य-नैमित्तिक कर्म, they are many other कर्म which are meant for material benefit. They are all called सकाम कर्म or काम्य कर्माणि. And as far as काम्य कर्म are concerned, Lord need not give publicity to them, because all the people will naturally go after काम्य कर्म. Because human beings are riddled with desires and they have got umpteen desires, they will go to different people, they will read different books and they themselves will find out, what कर्म will lead to health, what कर्म will lead to wealth, what कर्म will give admission for my son and what कर्म will get my son married. So these कर्म, भगवान् need not publicize, people themselves will go after that कर्म, but the कर्म which are meant for spiritual growth people will never give importance. Because if I have to do कर्म for spiritual growth, I should know first what is spiritual growth and I should develop a value for spiritual growth and generally people never develop value for spiritual growth throughout the life, or if at all they develop the value, it is at the fag end of the life, or 90th of 95th year. By the time, they are unfit for that. And therefore वेदs are worried, भगवान् is worried, how can they make the human being perform the कर्म for spiritual growth and what is the best method, वेद tells these कर्म are compulsory. If they are given as optional कर्म, nobody will do that कर्म and therefore वेद commands, “You have to do these कर्म.” Like certain traffic rules meant for our own safety, they are meant for our safety, but still we are so immature, that we don’t want to follow those rules, even it is going to hurt ourselves. So what should the government do? Even though the government is not going to lose anything by our violation, government has to make those rules compulsory and not only compulsory, government has to threaten, if you don’t follow the rules, there will be अपराधम् fine they have and the government has to do for what purpose, not for their benefit, but because of the consideration for our own health. Similarly, the scriptures want all of us to grow spiritually also and spiritual growth takes lot of time and therefore the journey should start from the earliest period. And therefore what do these scriptures do, they make the पञ्च महायज्ञs, compulsory. And not only they make them compulsory, they warn, if you don't do these कर्मs, you will have पापम्, fine. What is the fine given by the scriptures, special पापम् and the fine पापम् is called प्रत्यवाय पापम् and the वेदs threaten this प्रत्यवाय पापम् will take you to special hell, प्रत्यवाय नरकम्. The idea is at least out of fear the person will do that कर्म and unknowingly, that person is reaping the spiritual benefit. Therefore the first method the scriptures use is what? Frightening, you have to do this कर्म. Then the next method the scriptures use is this: The scriptures point out all these compulsory actions have got two-fold benefit, all these compulsory actions like daily morning prayer, etc., or कर्म for पितृs, like श्राद्धम्, etc., or daily पाशयणम्, etc., for all these compulsory कर्मs, two-fold benefits are prescribed. And what is that? They can be used for material benefits also if you want, the very same सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, if it is not performed it will produce पापम्; if you don't do श्राद्धम्, it will produce पापम्, which is called पितृ शापम्, it is not that पितृs do शापम्, but the idea is the पापम् born out of omission of the duty. So if you don't do them it will produce पापम्. On the other hand, if you do them you will get the benefit and the benefit is of two types, which benefit you want you can choose and one benefit is material benefit, it will give you lot of money, promotion, name and fame and after death, स्वर्गलोक also. Doing सन्ध्यावन्दनम् gives you स्वर्ग definitely they said. This is the material benefit. On the other hand, suppose a person is mature enough and he has understood the value of spiritual growth, then the वेद points out you do those compulsory action without seeking material benefit, then those very compulsory कर्मs will produce spiritual benefit called अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, अहिम्सा, क्षान्तिः. All the दैवी सम्पत् mentioned in the 16th chapter will automatically come to you if you perform those compulsory actions. And therefore कृष्ण talks about them in this 11th verse, यष्टव्यम् एव, you look upon those actions as compulsory and also be afraid of प्रत्यवाय पापम् and नरकम् and at least to avoid पापम् and नरकम् and at least to avoid the fine from the policeman obey the traffic rule. If you are not mature enough to understand the principle of traffic rules, at least follow them out of fear. Therefore, यष्टव्यम् means I have to compulsory do them. May you develop that attitude and once you have decided to do that like daily prayers, once you have decided to do that, you have two options. What are those options? You can use those prayers for material benefit, or you can use those prayers for spiritual growth, but you cannot choose both of them. And therefore कृष्ण says: अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः, if you refuse to use those कर्मस for material benefit and if you are interested in spiritual growth, use those daily कर्मस for what: चित्तशुद्धि. Therefore अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः, it should be done by those people who are not interested in material benefit. Here फलम् means material benefit, but they have a desire for फलम्. But what type of desire? Desire for ज्ञानयोग्यता, desire for साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. Oh Lord! I should develop ज्ञानयोग्यता, so that माण्डूक्योपनिषत् can be understood, I heard somebody was telling, स्वामिजि, two people were talking at the end of the class, nothing is understood, so this is the conversation, the whole माण्डूक्य seems to go above the head, so I require a lot of ज्ञानयोग्यता and this is only वैतथ्य प्रकरणम्, the 3rd chapter is still tougher, be ready. If we have to understand such subtle teaching, we require a special type of mind, Oh Lord!, माण्डूक्य ज्ञानयोग्यताम् देहि, do सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, do daily prayer. That is called ममोपात्त समस्त दुरितक्षयद्वारा श्रीपरमेश्वर प्रीत्यर्थम्. Therefore, अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः, these people want only spiritual growth. And विधि-दृष्टः and they follow all the instructions given in the scriptures. विधि means rules and regulations given in the scriptures, with regard to time, etc. and when they do that, what is their attitude, it is not, just a compulsory duty, but with मनः समाधाय, with sincerity, the time is not wasted, even though I spend time for my daily prayer, I won't get any money out of it, but I should know a subtle benefit is accrued to me. Even one second is not a waste. If I have that conviction, I will put my heart and soul in those activities. Therefore, मनः समाधाय means whole heartedly, sincerely, मनः समाधाय यः इज्यते, when those पञ्च महायज्ञs are done. I am not spending my time on पञ्च महायज्ञ. If you don't remember, go back to the 3rd chapter and revise. Generally, it is activity in the form of contribution to others. We are very good in activities which will benefit us, selfish activities nobody need prescribe, that is natural, but activities of contribution, scriptures have to tell that and they are called पञ्च महायज्ञs and such a यज्ञ is called सात्त्विकः यज्ञः. Then what is राजसः यज्ञः, those activities which are most common and natural to us. The scriptures need not ask us to do, we will naturally do it, because they are selfish activity. कृष्ण defines them:

Verse No .12

अभिसन्धाय तु फलं दम्भार्थमपि चैव यत् ।

इज्यते भरतश्रेष्ठ तं यज्ञं विद्धि राजसम् ॥ १७-१२॥

अभिसन्धाय तु फलम् दम्भार्थम् अपि च एव यत् ।

इज्यते भरत-श्रेष्ठ तम् यज्ञम् विद्धि राजसम् ॥ १७-१२॥

हे भरत-श्रेष्ठ! फलम् तु अभिसन्धाय, अपि च दम्भार्थम् एव यत् इज्यते, तम् यज्ञम् राजसम् विद्धि ।

So राजसिक यज्ञ all these सकाम कर्माणि. All the activities done for external growth. Therefore, फलम् अभिसन्धाय, फलम् means external benefits, gross benefits, tangible benefits like name, fame, money, status, position, possession, power, influence, pull, all kinds of benefits here are all called फलम् अभिसन्धाय, that is kept in mind all the time. 'What will I get out of these activities?' with that meditation all the time. If I don't expect any money out of it, the next thing I expect is name and fame, acknowledgment in the souvenir book my photo should appear preferably in the front page and in the vote of thanks, my name should be mentioned, therefore, दम्भ, name and fame, अपि यत् कर्म क्रियते, whatever action is done, इज्यते, तत् राजसम् विद्धि. So the main difference between सात्त्विकम् and राजसम् is: in सात्त्विक कर्म I concentrate on what I give, in राजस कर्म I concentrate on what I get. Give-oriented कर्म is सात्त्विकम्, get-oriented कर्म is राजसम्. And when I take the balance sheet at the end of my life, suppose I think that I have got more and given less, from materialistic angle it is called success. What is success from materialistic angle? I should have got more in life and I should have spent less. This is material success whereas spiritual success has got a totally different balance sheet. What is that? In life, if I have taken less and if I have given more to the society, that is the measure of success. This is the basic difference between a सात्त्विक कर्म and राजस कर्म; सात्त्विक and राजसिक person. So, हे भरत-श्रेष्ठ! अर्जुन, when it is done with this attitude, तम् यज्ञम् राजसम् विद्धि. Selfish activity is राजसिक activity. Then what is तामसिक activity?

Verse No .13

विधिहीनमसृष्टान्नं मन्त्रहीनमदक्षिणम् ।

श्रद्धाविरहितं यज्ञं तामसं परिचक्षते ॥ १७-१३॥

विधि-हीनम् असृष्ट-अन्नम् मन्त्र-हीनम् अदक्षिणम् ।

श्रद्धा-विरहितम् यज्ञम् तामसम् परिचक्षते ॥ १७-१३॥

विधि-हीनम् असृष्ट-अन्नम् मन्त्र-हीनम् अदक्षिणम् श्रद्धा-विरहितम् (च) यज्ञम् तामसम् परिचक्षते ।

So तामसिक यज्ञः is a worship or a पूजा or a rite, in which everything is negative. What is that? विधि-हीनम् – all the scriptural injunctions are violated to our convenience, so विधि-हीनम्, violating all the rules; असृष्ट-अन्नम् – all the यज्ञs are an opportunity to share my possessions with the other people. It is a natural socialism, voluntary socialism. The very purpose of the यज्ञम् is I take it as an opportunity to share my possessions with others, because at the end of every यज्ञ, दानम् is an integral part, वस्त्र दानम्, अन्न दानम्, धन

दानम्, गो दानम्, क्षेत्र दानम्, दानम् is kept as an integral part, so that I get an opportunity to share. And in this तामसिक यज्ञ this person does not give any दानम्, or this person gives minimum दानम्, because शास्त्र has given various options, they say if you want to give a cow, you can give and if you cannot give a cow, you can give a coconut. If you cannot give a coconut, you can give Rs.1.25 (what is the calculation, the Lord alone knows!) and three options are given and this person chooses this 1.25. But शास्त्र has given this option, not for all, but for those people who cannot afford. But the person who can afford, doesn't give and he thinks, he is smarter, do you know what भगवान् does, भगवान् is smarter, when I can afford and I don't give, भगवान् makes my position such that in due course, I will not be able to afford that. He will make me incapacitated. And therefore, असृष्ट-अन्नम्, there is no दानम्, I have told you before, for everything अक्षतान् समर्पयामि, वस्त्रार्थम् अक्षतान् समर्पयामि, उपवीतार्थम् अक्षतान् समर्पयामि, आभरणार्थम् अक्षतान् समर्पयामि and in the end दक्षिणार्थम् अक्षतान् समर्पयामि, if you say, the priest will not agree. That he doesn't want. अक्षत is only in extraordinary cases, if you use the excuse in a wrong way, you will get the negative result, so असृष्ट-अन्नम्, without दानम्; मन्त्र-हीनम्, without chanting the मन्त्रs properly. So it is said श्रीराम राम राम रामेति रामेति रामे रामे मनोरमे । सहस्रनाम तत्तुल्यं रामनाम वरानने ॥ What does that this मन्त्र mean? That three times you chant राम and it is equal to entire श्रीविष्णुसहस्रनाम. Wonderful, from tomorrow onwards I will just chant राम, राम, राम and I will run away. शास्त्र is very considerate, but we should not abuse the options given in the शास्त्र. Thus, मन्त्र-हीनम्, violating the मन्त्रs; then अदक्षिणम् – nothing should be taken free, nothing should be taken free, that is the rule, as they say, there is no free lunch, so whether the other person gives you free or not is not the question, I cannot take anything free, whatever I get free, I compensate proportionately and here also दक्षिणा is important for the priest. Even if the priest does not ask, he is not supposed to ask, he is not supposed to fix the दक्षिणा, a ब्राह्मण is supposed to be satisfied with whatever दक्षिणा comes, असन्तुष्टो द्विजो नष्टः, a discontented ब्राह्मण is spiritually lost. This is the law of the शास्त्र. Therefore a ब्राह्मण should not fix the दक्षिणा, he should receive whatever दक्षिणा is offered, but what do these people do, because ब्राह्मण doesn't fix, he says that my great grandfather gave Rs.2-1/2 as दक्षिणा and I will also give the same, that is the tradition. After all a very very very obedient follower of the great great great grandfather! Then what will the poor ब्राह्मण do. Therefore, now-a-days he fixes contract. Do you want उपनयनम् of A type, B type, C type? For everything A, B, C types. And depending upon that he fixes and we complain, but he is forced to do that, because when a person does not voluntarily give, the other person becomes commercial, they are driven to become commercial. If everybody voluntarily gives, this will not be required. वैदिक society is based on voluntary growth, there should be no rule at all, they say a perfect society is one in which rules are minimum. If we require more and more rules, it means that we are more and more gross. वैदिक society had minimum rules, but now rules are required. This much दक्षिणा. गीता course program दक्षिणा Rs.7,000. Don't worry, I am not going to ask. That is not supposed to be done, that is the वैदिक society rule. What a beautiful society! अदक्षिणम्, in तामसिक यज्ञ, this person doesn't do that. Like the King wanted to do a रुद्राभिषेकम् and he wanted one glass of milk from every member in the village and a huge Vessel was built. So many villagers, they have to come and so you cannot see, because it is a huge container and therefore a ladder was kept and everybody had to climb and pour his contribution of glass of milk. And the first person came, he was very intelligent, when everybody is pouring milk, if I pour one glass of water, it will go unnoticed. Therefore we went and poured a glass of water, the second villager also did the same thing, the third villager also and the next day, the whole Vessel was full of water only!! So thus everybody think, let somebody else contribute, then that society cannot survive, I should know that I am the part and I should voluntarily contribute. तामस यज्ञ is that in which voluntary contributions are not there. अदक्षिणम्. And श्रद्धा-विरहितम् and there is no श्रद्धा. What is the guarantee that these पूजा will benefit, how do you know that the श्राद्ध will go to the forefathers, you say that पुनर्जन्म is there and therefore they will have been reborn already!! So why should I do श्राद्ध, primary mistake we commit is we think that the श्राद्ध is meant for the forefathers, we should remember, श्राद्ध is not primarily meant for the forefathers, this must be clearly grasped. The primary benefit of the श्राद्ध is for the performer, the forefather might not be there, he might have been even liberated, but we are not giving to him, that कर्म gives me चित्तशुद्धि, like offering नैवेद्यम् to the Lord. Lord does not depend upon our miserable banana, is He going to fill his stomach by eating this small banana you give! If He has to depend upon our banana, he would have become emaciated long before. So remember, we are offering to the Lord not because the Lord wants, our offering is going to give us चित्तशुद्धि. Similarly, whether your offering goes to your grandfather or not, we don't care. Even if it goes, it is only a by-product or secondary benefit, श्राद्ध is one of the पञ्च महायज्ञ, पञ्च महायज्ञ is meant for my चित्तशुद्धि and if I value चित्तशुद्धि, I have to do that and how the चित्तशुद्धि will come, I should have श्रद्धा, and if that श्रद्धा is not there, that यज्ञ will become तामस यज्ञ, that is why the ritual itself is called श्राद्धम्, श्रद्धया कृतम् श्राद्धम्. It benefits me, full stop. Spiritually. So श्रद्धा-विरहितम् यज्ञम् तामसम् परिचक्षते, that is तामसिक यज्ञ. And what are we supposed to learn from these three verses? The lesson that we should learn is तामस यज्ञs should be given up straightaway. If you are a spiritual seeker, तामस यज्ञs you give up straightaway, राजस यज्ञs, let the proportion become gradually lesser, let the selfish activity become lesser and lesser gradually and let the selfless activity meant for the benefit of others increase gradually and that is called कर्मयोगः. कर्मयोगि is one who gives more to the society and take less from the society. They give the example, we have seen in the 3rd chapter, they give the example of the tree.

सञ्चरणम् अन्वेषणम् छायामन्यस्य कुर्वन्ति तिष्ठन्ति स्वयमातपे ।
फलान्यपि परार्थाय वृक्षाः सत्पुरुषा इव ॥ सुभाषितसङ्ग्रहः ॥

They stand under the hot sun and they give shade to others and whatever fruits also they generate, they are all meant for others, the trees are like कर्मयोगिs and therefore they say let there be more and more trees and I should live such a life, that the society must be interested in my survival, now it is the other way round. I want to survive and the society is praying for my death, society is praying for my quitting. We should become other way round, I should not mind quitting and the society must do its best to keep me going, because the society considers my existence to be useful to the World. सत्पुरुषाः वृक्षाः इव. That is the definition of कर्मयोग, so कर्मयोग is सात्त्विक यज्ञः. Continuing;

देवद्विजगुरुप्राज्ञपूजनं शौचमार्जवम् ।

ब्रह्मचर्यमहिम्सा च शारीरं तप उच्यते ॥ १७-१४॥

देव-द्विज-गुरु-प्राज्ञ-पूजनम् शौचम् आर्जवम् ।

ब्रह्मचर्यम् अहिम्सा च शारीरम् तपः उच्यते ॥ १७-१४॥

देव-द्विज-गुरु-प्राज्ञ-पूजनम्, शौचम्, आर्जवम्, ब्रह्मचर्यम्, अहिम्सा च (इति) शारीरम् तपः उच्यते ।

With the previous verse, three types of यज्ञ topic is over. Of the four promised topic, आहार and यज्ञ are over, now we have to see तपः and दानम्. तपस् means austerity. And with regard to तपस्, कृष्ण makes a division of तपस्, based on two different angles. In previous case, आहार, श्रद्धा, यज्ञ etc., all these three were divided based on the three गुणs, सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस, but with regard to तपस्, कृष्ण is going to divide, based on two different norms, one is three types of तपस्, based on the instrument of तपस्, based on the organ with which you practice the तपस्, organ-based classification. And this classification is three, what are they:

- कायिकम्, वाचिकम् and मानसम्. कायिकम् means physical austerity, austerities undertaken by the physical body.
- The next one is वाचिकम् तपः, austerities undertaken at the verbal or oral level, वाक् इन्द्रिय दृष्ट्या, वाक् तपस् and
- The third one is मानसम् तपः, the austerities based on the mind or the thought level.

And after dividing तपस्, based on these three, कृष्ण will later talk about सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस. So first करण दृष्ट्या त्रिविधम् तपः. And in the 14th verse, कायिकम् तपः is talked about, 15th talks about वाचिकम् and 16th मानसम्. What is physical austerity? कृष्ण says, पूजनम् – all types of rituals will come under physical तपस्, all types of rituals come under physical तपस्, they are wonderful set of disciplines. We should know the importance of rituals, many people strongly criticize rituals unfortunately, but we should know the importance of rituals.

- Firstly rituals are important to remove the तमोगुण or laziness from the body. The greatest problem is laziness.

आलस्यम् हि मनुष्याणाम् शरीरस्थो महान् रिपुः ।

The greatest enemy for an individual, especially at the body level is laziness and the modern scientific developments promote laziness. You need not get up at all, for everything switches are there. At least to change the channels of the TV set we had to get up and walk, now that is also not required, everything is remote-controlled. Now that is causing varieties of problem like cholesterol, obesity etc., and you know what is the latest advice given, Readers Digest says, 'hide your remote.' First they give you the remote and they tell you hide the remote, because let at least the minimum activity be walking from the chair to the TV. So rituals are wonderful because, all the rituals प्रदक्षिणम्s are there, we have to do. In the olden days, temples are very huge, one प्रदक्षिणम् will be 3 kms and all our नमस्कारs are सत्सङ्ग नमस्कारs and if one does that itself, all the cholesterol, everything will go away, therefore it is a beautiful medicine against तमोगुण. That is No.1.

b) And the second thing is the rituals are most beautiful method of reviving our relationship with the Lord. One of the most beautiful and important relationship in our life, is our relationship with the Lord. We are primarily related to God, because we are born of, sustained by and ultimately go back to the Lord only. And that is the primary relationship because that is the universal relationship. All of us are uniformly related to the Lord in the form of कार्य-कारण संबन्ध. So it is universal and not only it is universal, it is eternal also, because in every जन्म, I am related to the Lord. So therefore, it is eternal relationship and it is universal relationship and therefore, that is the primary relationship, whereas all the other relationship with the other people and other pets and other things, they are all only temporary. Any relationship that you have with any other human being, how long it will last? 50 years, 60 years, 70 or 80 years and in the next जन्म, where are we going to go and where are they going to go, who knows, we may not be even human beings, one may be a cockroach and the other may be a octopus. What is the relationship between the cockroach and the octopus? Is it Uncle? No. So we are over obsessed with the incidental relationship and we are carried by the incidental relationship and we are forgetting and missing the primary relationship and according to वेदान्त, all the human problems are because the fundamental relationship being overshadowed by incidental relationship. So we have to find out some method by which we can invoke the fundamental relationship and any relationship is invoked only by physicalization.

Because relationship is an invisible thing and how do you express your feeling to the other person, feelings or thoughts, thoughts are invisible and therefore you have to express through some physicalized action, so you have to smile, that is a physical action or you have to shake hands or you have to do नमस्ते or you have to say honey, honey, etc., you have to give valentine card or else प्रलय will come in the house, you forgot my/our wedding day. He says in his mind, I am trying to forget that bad day! This is only a joke, you have to keep on telling, 'I have married you, I have married you, I have married you,' how to tell that, give the card regularly. What are these things? These are all rituals. If you give up traditional rituals you will have to replace them with new rituals, rituals cannot be replaced or avoided and the complaint they give is all our rituals are meaningless, the complaint is all the rituals are meaningless. No ritual is meaningless, every ritual has a meaning, every मन्त्र has a meaning, see the wonderful मन्त्रs of the विवाह मन्त्र, I put a book, संन्यासि should not have put that book, anyway, so विवाह मन्त्र अर्थ. See that how beautiful मन्त्रs are. So anything will be meaningless, if I don't learn the meaning. Even Valentine day is meaningless, if I don't know the meaning. I don't know whether it is good or bad, I am not saying anything on that, I have not enquired on that, any ritual is meaningless, if I don't attempt to know it. So the deficiency is not in the ritual, deficiency is in me. So if you take all the varieties of offerings, they all mean it.

हं आकाशात्मने पुष्पाणि समर्पयामि । यं वाय्वात्मने धूपमाग्रापयामि । रं वह्न्यात्मने दीपम् दर्शयामि । वं अमृतात्मने अमृतम् निवेदयामि । सं सर्वात्मने सर्वोपचारान् समर्पयामि ॥

Everything that we offer in rituals represents one one element, आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः, पृथिवी. And I am telling the Lord, Oh Lord! you have given me all these wonderful five elements. And of course I am polluting them and spoiling them, that is a different issue, but you have blessed me with all these things, for that I am giving my thanks, I acknowledge your contribution. What a beautiful ritual! And when I do the नमस्कार, it is total आत्म निवेदनम्, in which I want to tell even my body I cannot claim, because very cell of the body is taken from the अन्नरसेनैव भूत्वा अन्नरसेनैव वृद्धिम् प्राप्य ... ॥ तत्त्वबोध ॥

It has come from the five elements only, therefore, even my physical body is not mine, it is Your gift, I want to remind myself and acknowledge.

Thus the rituals is a very very meaningful thing to revive my relationship with the Lord and therefore the first कायिकम् तपस् is what, पूजनम्. So पूजा is a very very important part of spiritual religious discipline and also ritual helps for the family members to join together. Now family life is disintegrating, because every member has got his own or her own activities, they come at different times and they take everything from the fridge, heat it, eat it and go and thus every member does and walks off, they enter the house at different times, they don't even meet in the house, they don't have time even to say hello. Now-a-days to keep the family together, modern psychologists are suggesting invent rituals and invent such rituals in which all the family members will be together, so that there will be togetherness and if you cannot invent any rituals, at least make it a point that you eat at least one time a day with all, together. Now we had wonderful rituals and ceremonies and rites, it is an opportunity to bring the family members together and in bigger rituals, we can bring even other people, remote relations also and if there is some strain in relationship, it becomes an opportunity for them to forget all misunderstanding, let us have a fresh beginning, it is a wonderful social unification method and once in a while they will have महारुद्रम्, अतिरुद्रम्, etc., where all the members of the community will join together. Thus you can write pages and pages on the glory of the पूजा, micro as well as macro, therefore पूजनम्. Worship of whom? देव-द्विज-गुरु-प्राज्ञ, देवः means God, God in any form, God is really formless, God is all-pervading, but you cannot offer worship to the all-pervading Lord, because where will you offer flowers, it is not possible, so we create an alter. Not because वेदs think that God is this height, वेद knows God is formless, knowing well वेदs have invented idols, as स्वामि दयानन्द says, we are not idol worshippers, we are worshippers of the Lord represented by the idol. We don't worship the idol, we worship the Lord, represented by the इष्ट देवता, in any form you like; then द्विज, द्विज means those people who know the scriptures and follow the scriptures, द्विज represents शास्त्रम्. So द्विज, those people who know the शास्त्र and follow the शास्त्र and the values mentioned, द्विज literally means twice born. So the first birth is before the study of the शास्त्र and the second birth after the study of the शास्त्र, from a wild life to a refined life, whoever follows a refined way of living, worship them, if you see a respectable person, do नमस्कारम्, it is a beautiful tradition, thus you don't develop an ego. Therefore द्विज पूजनम् and then गुरु पूजनम्, worship all your गुरुs, whether they are teachers in the L.kg. or whether they are teaching you music or mathematics, any गुरु, of course including ब्रह्मविद्या गुरु, so therefore गुरु पूजनम् and finally प्राज्ञ, प्राज्ञः means a ज्ञानि. So previously द्विज means one who is a धार्मिक person, may not be a ज्ञानि, whereas प्राज्ञ means not only he is a धार्मिक person, he has got the ब्रह्मविद्या also. All these पूजनम्, that is कायिकम् तपः No.1. Minimum benefit is cholesterol reduction.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 14-15

Of the four topics that Lord कृष्ण promised to discuss, two topics have been completed, viz., त्रिविधः आहारः and त्रिविधः यज्ञः; आहारः means food, यज्ञः means worship. And now कृष्ण has come to the third topic viz., तपस्. The word तपस् has two meanings one is a general meaning another is a specific meaning. Here it is used in a general meaning, the specific meaning of the word तपस् is willful self-denial to establish my mastery over my own organs of the body. Willful self-denial. Whatever I have been giving to my organs, whatever comfort I have been giving to my organs and to the body, once in a while I say No. To find out whether I am the master of my sense organs or whether the sense organs are my master. Initially I might have been the master and I would have allowed the sense organs to enjoy something, but in due course, the sense organs become addicted to them and after some time, they begin to demand those things. And I would have thought I am the master, capable of saying no to the sense organs and often I discover that is not the fact, the sense organs have become so powerful, that when I say No to the sense organ, they begin to protest and the protest of the sense organs is in the form of creating mental turbulence. The eyes will say I want that or otherwise I will not allow you to do your work. The tongue will say that I need that cup of coffee and if you don't provide me, I will not allow you to do any anything and if you sit on meditation, you will be meditating on coffee. Once the sense organs are capable of creating mental turbulence, it means they have become my master. To find out whether this conversion is taking place, what conversion? Instead of I being the master of sense organs, whether the sense organs are becoming my master, to find out, once in a while, I say No to whatever the sense organs have been doing regularly. And this voluntary self-denial is a तपस्. A forced self-denial is a suffering, it is a suppression, it is bad to mental health. Therefore तपस् should never be enforced by other people, but I should myself decide on शिवरात्रि, I will not eat, suppose I say, it should be my own decision and based on my volition, when I say No, certainly I will go through certain discomfort. If I don't eat on an एकादशि day or a शिवरात्रि day, hunger is certainly a discomfort, but I willfully go through the discomfort to establish my willpower, my धृति and this willful self-denial will give me this inner strength and therefore तपस् becomes a spiritual साधन. And therefore शङ्कराचार्य defines तपस् as शरीर पीडनम्, voluntarily giving discomfort to the body. One day there is no fan, see what happens. Let me see what happens if AC is not there, one day pillow is not, one day slipper is not there. In fact, all our vows associated with various ceremonies, all the vows are different forms of तपस् only. So this willful self-denial is the first specific meaning of the word तपस्. Then there is another general meaning for the word तपस् and that is the meaning to be taken in this context and that general meaning is any form of discipline. Any form of discipline, especially religious or spiritual discipline that I practice can be called तपस्. महानारायणोपनिषत् gives:

ऋतम् तपः सत्यम् तपः श्रुतम् तपः शान्तम् तपो दमस्तपः शमस्तपो दानम् तपो यज्ञम् तपो भूर्भुवः सुवर्ब्रह्मैतदुपास्वैततपः ॥ महानारायणोपनिषत् १०-१ ॥

Can you follow? ऋतम् तपः, सत्यम् तपः, श्रुतम् तपः, शान्तम् तप, दम तपः, शमस्तपो, दानम् तपो, any साधन that you practice can be called तपस्. Sense control, is a तपस्. Regularly attending the class (I have to tell this regularly), it is a तपस्. Thus सत्यम्, speaking truth is तपस्. पारायणम् is तपस्. Getting up regularly at a particular time is a तपस्. Thus the second meaning of the word तपस् is what: any discipline and it is in this meaning the word तपस् is used in this 17th chapter. And this तपस्, कृष्ण divides in two different ways. One is तपस् based on the instrument with which I practice the discipline, viz., physical discipline, verbal or oral discipline and the third is mental discipline –

कायिक, मानस तपः. This is करण दृष्ट्या त्रिविधम् तपः. And कृष्ण will later talk about तपस् from another angle and this is गुण दृष्ट्या त्रिविधम् तपः – सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस तपः. Of these two, first we are seeing करण दृष्ट्या तपः, करणम् means instrument and later, गुण दृष्ट्या division will come, the 14th verse is कायिक तपस्, 15th वाचिकम्, 16th मानसम्, then 17th will be सात्त्विकम्, 18th राजसम्, 19th तामसम्. This is how the development is going to be, of which we have completed half of the 14th verse, in which physical discipline is talked about. And what is the first physical discipline? Any type of ritual that I regularly practice, any type of physical ritual that I practice is कायिकम् तपः, देव, द्विज, गुरु, प्राज्ञ पूजनम्. So in our tradition, people take up one type of पूजा or another type regularly, so that for the sake of पूजा, he will have to get up early in the morning. Therefore, getting up will become automatic, because पूजा has to be done and पूजा you cannot do with night dress, you will have to take at least a काक स्नानम्, some kind of स्नानम्, so thus, you will be forced to get up early, which is a wonderful discipline or you decide to go to a few temples or at least one temple, you have to walk, they say walking is the best exercise and you do प्रदक्षिणम्, you do नमस्कार, you have सूर्य नमस्कार, all these things will come under physical पूजनम्. So देव, द्विज, गुरु, प्राज्ञ पूजनम्. And I make sure that all the नमस्कारs are not the shorter ones, we have several नमस्कार, just moving the hand, instead of taking to the shorter ones, take to the longer साष्टङ्ग नमस्कारम्, so that tummy will go a little inside. So पूजनम्. Up to this we saw in the last class. The next one is शौचम्. Physical purity or physical cleanliness is a form of कायिकम् तपः. Taking regular bath, even though in चैत्रे, it may be a little bit difficult, taking regular bath and make sure that the hands are clean, the legs are clean, the nails are cut properly, (many people are even unaware of the existence of nail cutter) and hand nails they cut, legs nails they don't cut, all those things are kept clean and not only the physical body, the clothes that I wear and the place that I live and the surroundings they are clean and hygienic. कृष्ण has to teach us even hygiene. See that. These are all supposed to be normal things, but कृष्ण, out of compassion chooses to talk about even these basic disciplines and the tragedy is we have got all these scriptures talking about hygiene and what I hear is in the entire world, one of the most unhygienic countries is ours. That is what I hear. We have got गीता, but in practice we are zero. Anyway what to do. Therefore शौचम्. And in many countries, for Indians separate place, even to get out of the airport for them separate door. Not because of greatness, separate door not for VIP, it is IP and in certain countries even if you see the street, you can identify as Indian street, so very very tragic, unfortunate thing we hear, with wonderful गीता, which has been written 5,000 years before and we have successfully managed not to practice it. That is a great thing!! Therefore शौचम्. Then आर्जवम्. आर्जवम् means making sure that all the physical actions are in alignment with my thought and word. All my physical actions are in keeping with my thought and word, this alignment is called आर्जवम् and I consider the most important alignment is punctuality. When we plan to go to a place at a particular time or when we tell someone that we will come at a particular time, if we keep up that, it is आर्जवम्. And often because of reasons, various unavoidable reasons, we may not be able to keep up our timing, but the tragedy that I see is, if a person is not able to come at a particular time, the next best thing that he can do is inform the person concerned. I consider that as more important than punctuality. If I am not able to be punctual, there can be reasons unavoidable, but I see greater tragedy is, nobody thinks of informing, “I have told you I will come at such and such time, I am not able to come,” they will not tell. Out of experience I am talking. A person says I will come on Tuesday and such and such time and he doesn’t come at all and doesn’t inform he is not able to come. And even next day, there is no information and then again when he meets me he tells, I could not come, next week I will come and again next week same thing happens and that person doesn't even feel something grave is happening in his behavior, this awareness itself is not there, which is still tragic I feel. We may not be able to keep up the timings, but at least more importantly I should be able to tell. Now-a-days everyone has cell phones and even in traffic jams one can use it to inform about the delay. Or at least after going home one can call and inform that I got caught up in the traffic jam, etc. This information giving that discipline is lacking in our culture, neither punctuality nor informing the other person nor regret or apology, nothing exists, this is a very very serious problem, serious spiritual problem, I consider. And therefore कृष्ण says आर्जवम्. Spirituality is not doing great things, but spirituality is doing small things in a great way. You need not climb the Everest. Even climbing the bus is difficult for us, what to talk about Everest! We need not climb. These small things go a long way towards spiritual progress, आर्जवम्. ब्रह्मचर्यम् – in the case of a गृहस्थ, ब्रह्मचर्यम् means chastity. And in the case of the other three आश्रमस, i.e., ब्रह्मचारि, वानप्रस्थ and संन्यासि, ब्रह्मचर्यम् means celibacy. This ब्रह्मचर्यम् or celibacy or chastity is the physical discipline. Then अहिम्सा, अहिम्सा we have seen often, nonviolence. Of course nonviolence at all the three levels, but in this context, since we are talking about physical discipline, अहिम्सा means physical nonviolence. Physical nonviolence not only of people, even of things, even the way we handle the book. One can understand by seeing the book the way it is handled. Book cover is somewhere, pages are folded... Remember, nonviolent handling of even any book and particularly, the spiritual books, if you go and ऋषिकेश and watch those संन्यासि, they have got a special cloth, काषाय वस्त्रम् to keep गीता, उपनिषत्, etc. And they very very carefully tie it and carry. They never keep the book on the ground. And before we study, before we start the ब्रह्मसूत्र class, the student has to carry the ब्रह्मसूत्र book on the head and go round the आश्रम and a special पूजा is done and in certain आश्रमस, every day the class starts after पूजा to that particular page, suppose if it is 38th page today, you start doing पूजा to that page, that means I learn to handle even the books properly. Now, what we are doing? If one of the legs of the table is shorter, then any of the उपनिषत्s or गीता book we keep, as a height adjuster. I have seen it, therefore I am saying this, otherwise how do I know that such things can happen, because गोरखपुर ईशावास्योपनिषत् book is only twenty paise and we can buy another copy!! Or if you have got a coffee and there is no cover for the coffee and after getting no plate, I use the गीता book as a coffee cup cover. So even things are to be handled properly. Therefore अहिंसा. All these things will come under शारीरम् तपः उच्यते. Continuing;

Verse No .15

So now comes वाक् तपस्, verbal discipline or oral discipline. First we have to understand the importance of वाक् इन्द्रियम्. There are 10 sense organs for us. Five ज्ञानेन्द्रियs are there, श्रोत्रम्, त्वक्, चक्षु, रसना, घ्राण – eyes, ears, nose, tongue and skin and we have got five कर्मेन्द्रियs, वाक्, पाणि, पाद, पायु and उपस्थ. Of these ten sense organs, कृष्ण is specifically choosing one कर्मेन्द्रिय. He doesn't talk about the other four कर्मेन्द्रियs. He doesn't talk about the other five ज्ञानेन्द्रियs. Why should the scriptures choose the वाक् इन्द्रियम् only for separately dealing with its तपस्? From that itself it is clear, out of the दश इन्द्रियाणि, the most powerful इन्द्रियम् is वाक् इन्द्रियम्. First we have to assimilate this fact. And then alone we can appreciate the significance of वाक् तपस्. Generally, when we talk of superiority of human beings, how the human beings is superior to all other animals, generally we enumerate or mention only the intelligence or बुद्धि as the main faculty, which differentiates, distinguishes the human being from all others. Animals do not have great intelligence, of course they have got some intelligence, especially some of the animals like gorilla, or dolphins or some animals may have some intelligence, but compared to human intelligence animals have got very very very inferior intelligence, human beings have a very very great superior intelligence. So generally, we talk about the intelligence faculty only, but we should remember, as important is the intelligence faculty is the importance of the organ of speech, which makes the human vastly different from all animals and especially the speaking organ, the animals can produce maximum certain sounds, but human species can have highly developed language, highly developed grammar and to understand the superiority of वाक् इन्द्रियम्, you imagine that we don't have the organ of speech. Imagine. Imagine only. Though we have. But let us imagine. We have got this same superior intellect. But imagine only the organ of speech is not there, it is very good to think of the consequence. What will be the type of world that we have, if we have got the same level of intelligence, but no organ of speech. In fact, you can ask your children to write down what will be the condition. The first things will be, all the schools and colleges will have to be abolished, because they are all based on written words and spoken words, both written and spoken words are possible only because of organ of speech. You may wonder for written words, why organ of speech is required? For written words, you require only hand and book. Remember, written words are only symbols of spoken words. Written words are only visual symbols of, representative of spoken words. If I cannot use the words table, you cannot write t a b l e, it will not mean anything. Therefore, all the spoken and written words will go away, all the schools are gone, all the colleges are gone, all the books are gone, all the radio program will disappear and the television programs will be like the old dump movie, all the postal services gone, courier services gone and all the phones useless and the greatest tragedy will be what you know? Every human being will have to discover the scientific laws independently. Now we need not discover the same scientific laws because what the scientists have discovered he transfers to me through words. Therefore I need not separately work for it, I can stand on the shoulders of another scientist and progress further; now the progress will be completely gone, because every will have to gain the knowledge for himself or herself, all developments in arts, science, music, economics, in all fields it will disappear. And the peace of mind that we derive by sharing our problems with others will go away, all the counseling, etc., will become meaningless. In fact, we can go on and on and on. In fact, if you wonder whether intellect is more important or speech is more important, you will know that both of them are equally important, we can benefit from the superior intelligence only if we have the organ of speech. We can benefit from the superior intelligence, only if we have the organ of speech. In fact, ultimately, मोक्ष itself is possible through श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्. Where is श्रवणम्, without the organ of speech? If you say that I will do the मननम्, even if श्रवणम् is not there, what will you do मननम् on? Therefore the more you study, you will find that the organ of speech is an extremely powerful instrument, this I have to analyze first and assimilate. Then once I understand the power of speech, then I have to understand the power of words which come out of my mouth. We generally take the words for granted, because it is easily manufactured and let out and there is no tax also and we have got in our constitution, freedom of expression. स्वामिजि says: if you go to some Gulf countries, you will know. स्वामिजि says if you have got dental problem, they have to reach through your ears, because you cannot open your mouth. Only then we will know the importance of freedom of speech. So the words that are coming out of my mouth are extremely powerful. They can spread like the smoke, they can spread and the words are capable of destroying the people, destroying the families, destroying the society, destroying the country, the words can do. At the same time, the words which are spoken properly and intelligently, the words can give even immortality and peace of mind. So my words can be like the smoke of the incense stick, which spreads and gives happiness to others or my words can be like the cigarette smoke, making all the other people passive smokers, the words can harm others also. Since the words are capable of harming others also, I should be a very very responsible speaker. This is the second thing I have to assimilate. Recently, you saw in the newspaper how all the bottled waters are polluted, with insecticide or pesticide. So much furor was created, even in other countries this news spread, because foreigners are very very particular. It has become a very very issue because, the water that comes out of the factory can affect the people and we consider it as very very important, but we don't think. Similarly, the words which are manufactured in my brain and which are let loose in the society can damage, cause havoc to other people. Therefore, being a responsible speaker means, before letting out the words outside I have to make sure that it has the quality check. Now the government is putting condition that so many parameters should be checked. Here we have got some Institute, the water has to be checked before it is allowed. Similarly, shouldn't I be responsible before letting the words outside, because these words can cause greater destruction than even the water. Water may not kill, but words can even kill a person. A sensitive person insulted through words may even commit suicide, we are seeing. And therefore, the second lesson that I have to think and assimilate is I have to be a responsible speaker, which means I have no right to allow loose words to go out. Before every word comes out, it should go through the intellect and the ISI certificate must be there. The stamp must be there. This is the second lesson that I have to learn and assimilate, before thinking of वाक् तपस्. The first lesson is that the speech is the most powerful organ and the second lesson is I have to be a responsible speaker, because my words can destroy. I may not contribute positively, but I have no right to contribute negatively. Every gossip is a destruction. Every rumor is a destruction. Every sentence made based on incomplete information is a destruction, because it spreads from person to person to person. Then the third lesson I have to understand and assimilate is if I have to produce quality words, if I have to produce quality words out of my mouth, the quantity must be limited. Because, when the quantity is unwieldy, quality check becomes poorer. Any company, any organization, you can see, quality will be good initially and the demand increases, because the news spread, that quality is good, quality is good and then their customers increase and gradually you will find that the quality comes down. It is a natural law because, it is very difficult to maintain the quality, when the quantity is unwieldy. Therefore, if I want to be a responsible speaker, I have to reduce the quantity of my speech. Without quantity control, quality control is impossible. Now the question is how to control the quantity? There are several methods, but we have to only follow one rule, the easiest method of quantity control: I will talk to only those people who are interested in listening to me, one small law, I will talk to only those people who are interested in listening to me and once I decide to apply this law, I discover a startling fact. Why are you laughing? You seem to have already discovered. The truth is nobody is interested in listening to us. Nobody is interested in listening to us. If you have not discovered this fact yet, you can try. Whenever you are in conversation, you study the body language of the person, we can see his rejection, restlessness, etc., he will look this side, that side, see the watch and will be thinking that when this man leaves me alone, etc. The body language will show the restlessness and you can see that that person wants to either go away and he is not interested in talking to you. He has come not for listening, but for talking. How do I know? From experience. People come to listen to me and they declare स्वामिजि I want your valuable advice, they talk for one hour and say thank you for your advice. I have not opened the mouth and they go away. Because of observing this principle, I never found an opportunity to talk. In fact, my head would have burst, but it doesn't because I have some classes, where I can talk without interruption. And if you are still not able to understand from the body language, don't give long talk, after two minutes talk wait for a moment and see, you will see the other person was waiting for the break, the moment you give a break after two minutes, you watch, either he will go or he will start talking endlessly. In fact, the only occasion when the other person will listen to you is when you have juicy gossip or about the neighbors. That is the only condition; you can try that. So tell that person, I have to tell you something important and look around here and ask, I hope others are not here and say then kindly don't tell anyone and then you see the attention of the person, निर्विकल्पक समाधि. Who says निर्विकल्पक समाधि is difficult? And the best way is after giving such an introduction, you try telling, 'Why gossip and all, why should I say, forget it, etc. I am not saying.' I tell you that person will die on that spot. Other than that any other topic nobody is interested in listening. And therefore, have this one principle, I will talk only to a listener, quantity will come down. This is the third lesson, we have to learn. Reduce the quantity. Know the value of speech, and be responsible and understand that quantity has to be reduced. And fourth lesson is what are the parameters to check the quality of the words, just as for water they have the parameters, good water means what all should be the chemical composition and what are allowed in so many ppm, .. parts-per-million...Similarly, for air quality, for food quality parameters are prescribed, based on those parameters I check the quality, norms in industry they talk about TQM, Total Quality Management. But we never think of TQM at the level of speech. They are four parameters which have to be observed before allowing the words to come out of the mouth and कृष्ण gives us those four parameters. So if you are a responsible speaker and if you check these four parameters before speaking out, you are observing वाक् तपस्. And society will be far better, many quarrels in the family can be avoided, many problems in the companies can be avoided, many problems can be avoided. What are the four parameters or norms? कृष्ण gives in this श्लोक.

i) The first parameter is अनुदेगकरम्. First understand that the words are capable of hurting other people. Words can hurt other people, words can do हिम्सा to others and the verbal हिम्सा is generally deeper than physical violence. What is that तिरुवकुरल् that you know? 'A wound caused by Fire will eventually heal. But a wound caused by the tongue leaves a scar that never heals.' ... you know better, just note it, enough. The scar, the physical scar may go away, but the deep scar caused in the heart through loose words can never go away and we should remember, हिम्सा is a पापम्, हिम्सा is a पाप कर्म and हिम्सा will bring me down spiritually, पाप कर्म means what, for a spiritual seeker पाप कर्म means, he spiritually falls down every time he commits a हिम्सा. Therefore अनुदेगकरम् means make sure that the words won't hurt or injure the other person. And of course, people ask, sometimes we have to use strong words in व्यवहार, in transaction, we have to use words; स्वामिजि, you have to come to our house and see. And if you are going to use goodie, goodie words, with the servants and other people, they will sit on our heads and squeeze, etc., you may say. We do accept that the value of अहिम्सा is not absolute, हिम्सा may be required, but शास्त्र gives a warning that हिम्सा must be only as a last resort, after exhausting nonviolent methods of speaking. So now that Iraq issue is going. America is feeling the itch to attack Iraq. And all the world countries are warning strongly, that war must be last resort, this is not in politics, even in शास्त्रम्, after साम, दान, भेद only दण्डम् comes. We can use verbal violence only after making sure that nonviolent methods have been exhausted. That means what. I should be very very deliberate. My conscience should be clear that I have tried all other methods, so अनुद्वेगकरम्. The words should be non-hurtful.

ii) Then the next parameter is सत्यम्. सत्यम् means truthfulness, truthfulness is defined as the alignment of the speech with the thought or the mind. Harmony of speech and mind, harmony of thought and word is called सत्यम्, avoidance of a divided personality. So what do you mean by harmony. The thinker I and the speaker I, should be in harmony. What I know and what I speak should not have a division, because the universal rule is that divided we become weak, united we become strong. Haven't you read this slogan or the proverb? 'Divided we fall, united we stand.' A divided family will perish soon. A divided country will perish soon. A divided political party will perish soon. Anything divided will perish, anything united will be strong. This is not only empirical truth. Even in वेदान्त, द्वैतम् makes me suffer from संसार, अद्वैतम् is आनन्द. If it is true at all those levels, that is true at the level of my personality also. All my organs must be united, then I am strong enough to attempt मोक्ष. If I have a split personality, if I have a multiple personality syndrome and if I am a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, if I know something and say something else, I am weakening myself at all levels. Therefore, असत्यम् is the greatest obstacle to spiritual growth. Untruth is the greatest obstacle. Not only it is obstacle, every untruth brings me down spiritually. Every truth supports me spiritually. Therefore, सत्यम् is the second parameter to be checked. We have a special वैदिक prayer for that: ॐ वाङ् मे मनसि प्रतिष्ठिता मनो मे वाचि प्रतिष्ठितमावीशवीर्म एधि । A beautifully शान्तिपाठ, Oh Lord! When I talk, let my mouth be rooted in my intellect. Let there not be any disparity in my thinking and speaking. And मनो मे वाचि प्रतिष्ठितम्.

Let my thoughts be in harmony with the words. This is another very important value. And how to practice this value? स्वामिजि, in this age, in कलियुग, is it possible? So the implementation of this value is first, we take a list of our lies, we need not tell others, you need not show me also, take the list of untruth. So many pages you may require in the beginning. Then, by looking into your conscience, divide them at them into avoidable untruths and unavoidable untruths and to your surprise you will find there are many avoidable untruths. And first I start attacking the avoidable lies which itself is big and then it will come down. And if I am sincere, you will find the list-number changes and even the unavoidable untruth will come down. But for that I should start with what? Avoidable untruths. It is a very interesting experiment, which every seeker can practice with advantage. सत्यम्. And for every unavoidable untruth we utter, प्रायश्चित्तम् is a must. For every unavoidable untruth I utter, प्रायश्चित्तम् is a must, प्रायश्चित्तम् – either verbal or physical or mental, I have to do. More in the next class.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 15-16

In this 17th chapter, after completing the topic of श्रद्धा, आहारः and यज्ञः topics, now Lord कृष्ण has come to the topic of तपस् and as we saw before, तपस् is viewed from two different angles, one is from the standpoint of the instrument and the other is from the standpoint of the गुण and from instrumental angle – कायिकम्, वाचिकम् and मानसम् तपः, He deals with. Of these, कायिक तपः or physical discipline topic is over in the 14th verse, now in the 15th verse, which we are seeing, कृष्ण is dealing with वाचिकम् तपः, oral or verbal discipline and as I said in our tradition, the organ of speech is highly respected, because the more you think of organ of speech, the more you will understand its power and it is as great as the intellect itself. And that is why for the intellect, the presiding deity is ब्रह्मा and for the organ of speech, the presiding deity is सरस्वती, just as ब्रह्मा and सरस्वती are together contributing to the growth of the universe, my बुद्धि and वाक् should be together contributing to my growth. Therefore, in the वेद, there are several सूक्तम्s glorifying ब्रह्मा and सरस्वती, सरस्वती is given a very very high ranking position in वैदिक literature. In fact, when the child is born and when the mother gives milk to the baby, immediately after the birth, the baby's father is supposed to chant a मन्त्र, when first time the baby sucks milk from the mother,

यस्ते स्तनः शशयो यो मयोभूर्येन यो रत्नधा वसुविद्यः सुदत्रः । येन विश्वा पुष्यसि वार्याणि सरस्वति तमिह धातवे कः ॥ उर्वन्तरिक्षमन्वेमि इति । ॥ ऋग्वेद, शुक्लयजुर्वेद, अथर्वणवेद ॥

The first when the baby is taking the milk, सरस्वती देवी is invoked and the prayer is that both the speech nourished by the milk of the mother and also the brain nourished by the milk of the mother, both of them should contribute to the well-being of the baby as well as others. And सरस्वती is invoked, सरस्वती is requested to occupy the mother's body when the milk is given. Thus the more you think of the organ of speech, the more we will understand its importance along with the intellect and any powerful organ can function both ways, it can be a great blessing also and being powerful it can be a great curse also. And because it can create a hell in a family, a man of uncontrolled speech can create hell in a family, and therefore वाक् तपस् is considered very important. And as I said, first we should know the importance of वाक् तपस्. And later we should know that the quality of speech can be improved only when the quantity is decreased and once I have decreased the quantity and decided to improve the quality, कृष्ण says you have to take into account, four parameters, four factors to determine the superiority in the quality and those four parameters are enumerated in the first line of the verse.

i) So the first parameter to be taken into account is अनुदेगकरम्, make sure that you don't cause verbal violent, verbal violence is a powerful हिम्सा and हिम्सा is a महापापम् and therefore make sure that the words do not hurt other people. Which means I should be sensitive enough to know what are the words which will hurt others, general norm and this we can easily find out, whatever words used by others hurt me, I should note those words, such a language the other person speaks, hurts me, therefore, I should carefully avoid those words. Thus, I should have a general knowledge of the सामान्य hurting words and thereafter there are particular words which will hurt particular people, विशेष hurting words and if we are regularly interacting with family members or office members, I should know what are the sensitive issues which can hurt. Every married person should know that criticizing his spouses' family will create a very very big turmoil in the family. Don't drag my father into this. Whatever you say, you tell anything about me, but don't criticize the parents. Thus, I should know what are the taboo area. Similarly, for everyone I have to note and be alert and of course there may be occasions when we will have to use strong words, violence cannot be absolutely avoided, शास्त्र allows strong words, firm words when they are necessary but the warning is before using them, make sure that all nonviolent methods have been exhausted. That means what, I cannot afford to be impulsive, before I use hurting words, I should have scanned and made sure that the other words have failed and only after the failure of nonviolent words, then alone I have a right to use stronger hurting words and that too to the limited extent required. Therefore the first norm is nonviolent words.

ii) Then the second norm is सत्यम्, सत्यम् means truth and I was talking about truth in the last class, that truth is a condition in which my organ of speech, i.e., I, the speaker and I, the knower, there is no disparity. The thinker 'I' and the speaker 'I' must be in harmony, every time I am telling a lie, I am creating a rift, I am creating a friction, I am creating a division in my personality. And division is disintegration, when they are in harmony, it is called integrity, when they are not in harmony, it is called disintegration and in English language itself, disintegration means destruction. Disintegration literally means when the parts are separating, that is called dis-integration and it is a synonym of destruction. Therefore, every time I am lying, I am causing a rift or disintegration in my personality, that means spiritual disintegration is taking place, spiritual destruction is taking place, invisibly I am slipping down spiritually. This awareness must be intensely there, I must make my mind sensitive enough to intensively feel the spiritual hurt that I am causing to myself. And I should become so sensitive that I should feel the hurt every time I am telling a lie. And it should be so sensitive that I should lose sleep for days together for every life. Now my life is like what? Better not said! Therefore, the mind should become so sensitive that I should feel the hurt. Therefore, सत्यम् means integrity, non-divisiveness and that is अद्वैतम् in व्यावहारिक plane. अद्वैतम् in व्यवहार is harmony among the members. At the पारमार्थिक level, अद्वैतम् means absence of a second thing, in व्यावहारिक plane, अद्वैतम् is not absence of a second thing, but in व्यावहारिक plane, अद्वैतम् means harmony of things. And when many things are in harmony, I am in अद्वैतम्. When my whole system is functioning in harmony, even though organs are many, people take me as one individual. Why they are taking me as one individual, when I have got several parts? It is only because it is a system in which there is an organization, integration and if there is no harmony, there is no अद्वैतम्, it is a broken system. When there is no harmony in the family it is called a broken family and psychologists call it nonfunctional family. Similarly, when the बुद्धि and speech, बुद्धि is husband and speech is wife or the other way round also, when there is disharmony between बुद्धि and वाक्, it is a non-functional system. In non-functional family, the children will not grow well. In a non-functional individual there will not be the growth of spirituality. Therefore, सत्यम् is considered a very very important thing. In मुण्डकोपनिषत्, we have the word सत्यम् एव जयते, सत्यम् alone wins. Wins what? That is not said; Wins मोक्ष. There may be material failures by speaking the truth, there may be material disadvantages, but the उपनिषत् declares spiritual victory depends upon सत्यम्. Therefore, सत्यम् is important.

iii) Then the next one प्रियम्, when we are using our organ of speech, certainly it is meant for communication. Communication means what transferring information from one head to another. Like copying the cassette from one cassette to another. Similarly, it is transference of information from one brain to another. But communication is not mere transference of information. There are so many other factors involved when I am speaking with another person. First there is a body language, which is now becoming so important, they are studying that so much. Even in management sciences they have included. When Vajapeyi and Musharaff met in आग्रा or somewhere, they were interpreting even their body language. Lot of study going, therefore my body language communicates pleasantness or unpleasantness, love or hatred, my facial expressions convey things. They are all called non-verbal communication. Along with every verbal communication I am communicating a lot, non-verbally, through my body language, through my facial expression, through my eye contact, or absence of it. In communication science, they say, eye contact is very important and the communication becomes powerful when there is eye contact. That is why दयानन्द स्वामिजि always tells, never listen with closed eyes, eye contact won't be there and not only that, the teacher will not know whether the student is in meditation or asleep. Now-a-days they give a very great importance to eye contact. That is why a live गुरु becomes more important than a non-live गुरु. In theosophy they talk about invisible masters, we don't recommend invisible masters floating in the sky. We don't give importance to distance communication, i.e., physics, chemistry, economics, OK. But it is always said that spiritual communication should have a live गुरु, then alone the role of eye contact can play its role, it can be materialized. And therefore body language, facial expression, eye contact, then the pitch, then the choice of words, the manners like politeness, etc., they always write the power of thank you and the power of please, two words, they say, they are very important. In western, what you call, children, they are taught, every time you receive something say Thank You, say Please. Even when they get a banana from a स्वामिजि, they say thank you. Otherwise the parents scold, therefore pleasant manners, so many other non-verbal communications are there. And here कृष्ण says the non-verbal communication should be such that the other person must feel comfortable. Therefore, प्रियम् means the receiver of the communication must feel comfortable. In English, they say pleasing manners. Whatever be the content of the verbal communication, irrespective of the content of the verbal communication, the non-verbal communication should be pleasing. And if that is kept pleasing, the beauty is even when the content is unfavorable, an unfavorable content can be communicated pleasantly and when it is pleasantly communicated, the sting of the unfavorable content will come down. And therefore प्रियम् means once a person talks to me, he must feel like talking to me again, whereas we know some other people, whom we won't like to meet in life for the second time. The people feel should feel comfortable. And that is called प्रियम्. I remember, I was in Bangalore giving a series of talk. I was giving a talk in one school and the school is founded by one great शास्त्री and he is a learned person, respected person, very powerful person and very philanthropic also, he has a set of institutions and he is very old also and he also gives his school for any good cause without any charge and he also cooperates and the whole staff is available for that. And at the end of my talks, we had a get together and that person could not attend the lectures even though he loves it, and for the last day get-together he came and they had told me that he wants to meet you and he has come and then I met him, he is very old 95, 96 years. He came straight in front of me staring at me. I was petrified, I thought I have violated something. Then next he said: स्वामि and he was showing the finger also, स्वामि (I got scared), you are doing a great work, you should never take this as my school, it is your school and you should not come here only once every year, you should come very often (goodness gracious). Content is wonderful, but no प्रियम्. It is not that he had negative motive, perhaps he has been the head therefore, all the time got used to commanding. What I am telling is, good content you can convey in an unpleasant manner, a negative content we can be convey in a pleasant manner also and that is also an equally important, प्रियम्.

iv) Then the fourth one is हितम्. Whenever you are communicating, there are two people involved, the speaker and the listener. Sometime people speak without a listener also. That we are not taking into account normally. There is a speaker and a listener. And we should remember the best communication is that in which both the speaker and the listener are beneficiaries. When the speaker also benefits, of course the speaker will benefit or else he will not speak, the speaker benefits and the listener also benefits, it is a twice blessed gift in which the giver and receiver are beneficiaries. That is उत्तम communication. And the मध्यम communication is that in which speaker bothers about only his benefit, he doesn't bother about the listeners', even time availability, whether can he spare some time, especially when you call a person on phone, our general tendency is call and bombard. Shouldn't we ask in what condition the other person is, especially on phone I don't know whether he is busy or not. Therefore Shouldn't I consider the other person's condition? If I don't take that into account, if I am only an utterly selfish person, only telling what I want to say, that is मध्यम communication and अधम communication is that where neither the speaker, nor the receiver gets any benefit. All the gossips, spreading the rumor all these will come under अहितम् for both the speaker and listener, useless for both. After one or two hours, if I ask what did I get out of taking about different family people, neighbors. What do I get? Only I have spread rumors, unconfirmed information I have spread which only causes havoc in the society. Therefore कृष्ण says, when I speak, I should ask the question: Will it benefit the listener also? I may benefit that is not enough; will it benefit the listener also and such a speech is called हितम्.

So अनुद्देशकम्, सत्यम्, प्रियम्, हितम्, all the four factors must be taken care of. And शङ्कराचार्य in his commentary says that they are not optional conditions. Not any four, any three, any two, any one, as in school. Like that person - that would be son-in-law was interviewed, so this would be father-in-law asked the question. Do you smoke, do you drink, etc., various questions he asked to find out the character of that youngster. For everything he said, No No No No. He was so happy that my daughter is going to get the best husband in the world. Then he was curious, any bad habit I asked, you said Not there. Now you tell me do you have any bad habit, then the youngster said, only one bad habit – I tell lies. Therefore, all the four are equally important, शङ्कराचार्य emphasizes. Then sometimes people ask, स्वामिजि, when we speak certain truths, they are truths alright and it may be even for the well-being of another person, we talk about constructive criticism and all, it may be सत्यम्, it may be हितम्, but it will not be प्रियम्. In English, we use the expression unpalatable truth. So when सत्यम् is अप्रियम्, what am I to do? When telling the truth is going to be unpleasant, my motive may be good, my intention may be good, I want the other person to learn and grow, like the opposition criticism in the Parliament, intention is supposed to be good, if at all constructive criticism should be done, but now-a-days the problem is whatever the other people do you have to criticize. Now what are we to do, when सत्यम् and हितम् are अप्रियम्? What is the solution? There is only one solution, when we talk about unpalatable truth, we should remember that there are many palatable truths also. We only talk about unpalatable truths, we should remember that there are palatable truths also. So before talking about unpalatable truth, I ask a question, do I ever speak a palatable truth? If a person has a good virtue, do I talk about that and congratulate and praise and glorify. Our general problem is we want to talk about only the unpalatable truth. When a person speaks of only unpalatable truth then it becomes a problem. So a person should develop a habit of speaking palatable truths first. Whether it is with regard to children, if they do some good thing we should practice praising that and if I generally speak palatable truth, which the other person likes and enjoy, when I am speaking unpalatable truth it will be taken in a proper spirit. Unpalatable truths hurt only when unpalatable truths alone are spoken. Develop the habit of speaking palatable truths also, then unpalatable truths will not hurt or the hurt will be far far less, motive will be misunderstood and therefore bad unpalatable truths with palatable truths. So to praise in the beginning, then one criticism, followed by two praises, even three or four, minimum two praises, before and after, in between one criticism. In that also we do like this. Two praises we finish in half a minute and criticism we dwell upon. Another important law is don't dwell upon the unpalatable truth. If you love dwelling upon, dwelling upon palatable truth, virtues, which is truth. So, therefore, it is possible to communicate unpalatable truths also. All these four parameters should be taken into account before I open my mouth.

Then you will ask, स्वामिजि, if that be the case, we cannot speak at all! I think you will have to observe मौनम् only and that too when there is a conversation, when there is an exchange, quarrel, etc., where is the question of time to think, because I have to immediately answer in exchange, where is the time to take into account all these four factors, it appears impossible. But remember, it is possible, because शास्त्रम् will never teach what is impossible, ऋषिः are never impractical, they are practical. How it becomes practical? If a person trains himself to look into these factors sincerely, because of sheer training he gets a facility and he will be able to do these things quickly. Initially it will take time, but in due course a person can do all those things quickly, like operating a machine, driving a cycle, driving a car, initially, you have to take into account so many accessories, to see this and that etc., it looks impossible, but you go on operating a machine, then you get the facility that even in the nick of a moment you are able to do several thing, otherwise when there is a car coming in front, how does a driver put a brake, does he start thinking which is the clutch, which is the brake, etc? While learning to drive he often gets confused, which is which. But by sheer practice in a nick of moment he is able to do, I give the example of the divers in the sports, when in the Olympic games or Asian games and all, you would have seen the diving, if you have not seen, better you see it, he jumps from a few meters and before entering the pool of water, how much time he has? Maybe a few seconds. But within that seconds, he is able to do so many somersaults in perfect harmony and they show it in slow motion, even in slow motion it won't be one minute. How is he able to control the body and do all these things within a few seconds? It is sheer practice. If that is possible, in our case, suppose if we fall, before we know we are falling we are on the ground. So if I ask you to do all these things, you will ask whether all these are possible, but it is possible. Similarly, observing all these factors, when we are conversing appears to be an impossible task. It only requires sincerity and practice. And when in music, they have the कल्पना स्वरम्s, initially singing the वित स्वरम् itself is difficult, but the musician within the तालम् range, he is able to sing that स्वरम् and the throat has to produce that री, that ग, that म, how does he do? Sheer practice. And therefore, it requires practice and which means it requires a value for that. And if a person values spiritual growth is not easy, all these are part of spiritual growth. Therefore, अनुदेगकरम्, सत्यम्, प्रियम्, हितम् च वाक्यम्. वाक्यम् is not the fifth factor. वाक्यम् means the speech, the other four words are the adjectives. अनुदेगकरम् वाक्यम्, सत्यम् वाक्यम्, प्रियम् वाक्यम्, हितम् वाक्यम् यत्. That is called वाक् तपस्. And that is why one सुभाषितम् nicely tells: whatever a wise person speaks casually, even those casual words are golden words. A wise person's casual words are golden words, which means what? There are no casual words. They appear to be casual words, but even they are thoughtfully uttered, whereas in the case of an unrefined person, even thoughtful words are worthless words. What a beautiful सुभाषितम्!

सद्भिस्तु लीलया प्रोक्तम् शिला-लिखितम्-अक्षरम् ।

असद्भिः शपथेन अपि जले-लिखितम्-अक्षरम् ॥ सुभाषितानि ॥

सद्भिस्तु लीलया प्रोक्तम्. Can you understand? When great people speak even casually, you can walk with a tape recorder and record and you can learn, लीलया प्रोक्तम् means casually spoken words are शिला-लिखितम्-अक्षरम् – they are so valuable words, whereas असद्भिः शपथेन अपि – an unrefined person, when he speaks शपथेन – strongly, swearing, that is also जले-लिखितम्-अक्षरम् – like the words written in water, they are valueless words. Therefore अनुद्वेगकरम्, सत्यम्, प्रियम्, हितम् च यत् वाक्यम् तत् is सात्त्विकम् वाक्यम्. And स्वाध्याय-अभ्यसनम् च एव, स्वाध्याय-अभ्यसनम् means scriptural study. स्वाध्याय-अभ्यसनम् means study of scriptures or reading of scriptures, स्वाध्यायः means शास्त्रम्, so पारायणम् is also called स्वाध्याय, but in this context, स्वाध्याय means शास्त्रम् and अभ्यसनम् means पारायणम्. So स्वाध्याय-अभ्यसनम् means शास्त्र पारायणम्, is also considered to be a वाक् तपस्, वाङ्मयम् तपः उच्यते. Continuing;

Verse No .16

मनः प्रसादः सौम्यत्वं मौनमात्मविनिग्रहः ।

भावसंशुद्धिरित्येतत्तपो मानसमुच्यते ॥ १७-१६॥

मनः-प्रसादः सौम्यत्वम् मौनम् आत्म-विनिग्रहः ।

भाव-संशुद्धिः इति एतत् तपः मानसम् उच्यते ॥ १७-१६॥

मनः-प्रसादः सौम्यत्वम्, मौनम् आत्म-विनिग्रहः भाव-संशुद्धिः इति एतत् मानसम् तपः उच्यते ।

So now comes मानसम् तपः. This is the toughest, because कायिकम्, the physical body is the grossest instrument and therefore physical discipline is easier, because it belongs to the स्थूल शरीरम्, वाचिकम् तपस् is more difficult, because वाक् इन्द्रियम् is a subtle organ belonging to the subtle body, therefore it is more difficult and still more difficult is मानसम् तपः – mental austerity, because mind is an internal instrument, whereas वाक् is an external instrument, वाक् is बाह्य इन्द्रियम्, मनस् is अन्तर इन्द्रियम्, therefore it is more difficult. And what are the mental disciplines? The first one is मनः प्रसादः, मनः प्रसादः means a mind which is free from stress and strain, freedom from mental stress is the first mental discipline, freedom from stress, अशान्तिः – restlessness of the mind is called मनः प्रसादः, because of worry about the future, what will happen tomorrow? What will happen tomorrow? भर्तृहरि tells in his नीतिशतकम्, addressing the mind, once in a while address your own mind, परिभ्रमसि किम् व्यर्थम् क्वचन चित विश्राम्यताम् स्वयम् भवति यद्यथा ततथा नान्यथा । अतीतमपि न स्मरन्नपि च भाव्यसङ्कल्पय-

न्नतर्कितगमनाननुभवस्व भोगानिह ॥ भर्तृहरिवैराग्यशतकम् ३-६२ ॥

Oh Mind! Why are you wandering all over and by your wandering is the future going to be influenced? Planning for the future is a deliberate action, it is great, it is wonderful. But wandering, worrying, concerned, anxious mind is not doing a deliberate action. It is a reaction to the future. Planning for the future is action, worrying about the future is reaction. Therefore he asks, by such reaction is tomorrow going to change. So why are you unnecessarily going round and round, not only it is not going to improve the future, your efficiency in the present is affected. Planning improves efficiency, worrying decreases efficiency. Worrying causes deficiency, planning causes efficiency. We are not against planning, but we are against the worrying business. Why are you worrying too much? स्वयम् भवति यत् यथा भवति न अन्यथा, what has to happen tomorrow let it happen. We have entered the super six, one good news is shared, cup may come or not, what are they going to do, therefore why are you worrying too much about that, स्वयम् भवति यत् यथा भवति न अन्यथा. अतीतम् न स्मरन् – don't brood over the past. Similarly, brooding is different from learning from the past, recollecting the past and learning adds to my present efficiency, nothing wrong in recollecting the past and learning lessons. But brooding over the past reduces my efficiency. Remember the past for learning, think of the future for planning, that is healthy, remembering the past for brooding and thinking of the future for worrying, both are unhealthy and therefore अतीतमपि न स्मरन्नपि च भाव्यसङ्कल्पय- न्नतर्कितगमनाननुभवस्व भोगानिह. So face the present, which alone is available in front. This relaxed condition of the mind is called मनः प्रसादः, stress free mind. Then सौम्यत्वम् – gentleness of the thought, gentleness of the thoughts is called सौम्यत्वम्, you may ask what do you mean by gentleness of thought? Thoughts gentleness means what, we should remember, thoughts alone gets crystallized into words, thoughts alone get crystallized into action and therefore rude words and rude actions originate in the mind alone and therefore rude thoughts are those thoughts which lead to rude words and actions. Gentle thoughts are those thoughts which will lead to gentle words and actions. Therefore, कायिक, वाचिकम् तपस् is really possible only if the mind is also handled properly. Therefore, सौम्यत्वम्, let your thoughts be gentle. Then मौनम् – learn to remain silent for a few minutes, at least daily, it may not be possible for long time, but daily for a few minutes, when you do your prayer at the end of the prayer learn to be free from deliberate thinking. Thoughts may occur, because of the वासनाs and habits, thoughts may occur, but just remaining without judging the thoughts, without labeling the thoughts as good or bad, just being aware of the thought. If good thoughts come you need not congratulate, if unhealthy thoughts come you need not feel guilty and reject, you need not do, just learn to have; this is called साक्षि भाव, it is a wonderful experience. There is a group called विपश्चना (विपश्यना) group. They have a meditation. It is a buddhistic meditation and they have camps. For 10 days or so you are not supposed to speak, you are not supposed to read, you are not supposed to write, you are not supposed to listen, nothing doing, you are just asked to watch, for 10 days. I am not asking you to do such rigorous thing, not even one day, I am suggesting the simplest version, five minutes just being the साक्षि of the mind. That is called मौनम्. It is not thoughtlessness, freedom from deliberate thinking or joining the thought pattern, मौनम्. Then आत्म-विनिग्रहः, आत्म-विनिग्रहः means the direction of the thoughts. So directing the thoughts in such a way, that positive thoughts are encouraged, unhealthy thoughts are discouraged. दैवी सम्पत् is encouraged, आसुरी सम्पत् is discouraged, that is called आत्म-विनिग्रहः. Here आत्मा means mind, विनिग्रहः means disciplining. Disciplining the mind is disciplining the thoughts, disciplining the thoughts is non-cooperation movement with regard to unhealthy thoughts. Unhealthy thoughts will come, hatred will come, but I refuse to cooperate, that is called आत्म-विनिग्रहः. More in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 16-20

Lord कृष्ण is dealing with the topic of तपस् which in this context means any form of discipline and this तपस् he divides into three types. First from the angle of instrument and later from the angle of the three गुणs. Now we are seeing the कारण दृष्ट्या तपस् topic. Of these three, physical discipline, i.e., कायिक तपस् has been talked about in the 14th verse, then वाक् तपस् has been talked about in the 15th and now मानसम् तपः, mental discipline is being talked about in the 16th verse, which we were seeing in the last class. The first mental discipline that कृष्ण mentions is मनः-प्रसादः – enjoying a relaxed mind, enjoying an equanimous mind, enjoying मनश्शान्ति. That means developing a capacity to retain the poise of mind in and through the ups and downs of life, कृष्ण does not mention here how to achieve that, because कृष्ण has already talked about it in the 3rd chapter in the form of कर्मयोग, He defined कर्मयोग as समत्वम् योगः उच्यते. And there we have talked about how to develop an appropriate attitude towards action and appropriate attitude towards the results of action, if we have a healthy attitude towards these two, equanimity is a natural consequence, Thus मनः-प्रसादः essentially means follow कर्मयोग, read 3rd chapter once again and practice, that is मनः-प्रसादः. Then सौम्यत्वम् – gentleness at the thought level, so that it will reflect in both the words as well deeds, if the thoughts are not gentle, words and actions cannot be gentle, because the character of thought alone flows down to the words and action. Thought is like a seed, word is like a plant and action is like a tree, if you take care of at the thought level, at the seed level, the tree will take care of itself and that is सौम्यत्वम्, gentleness. Then मौनम्, मौनम् means silence, generally the word मौनम् refers to verbal silence. Naturally the question will come, मौनम् is a discipline at the वाक् level, how come कृष्ण is using मौनम् in मानसम् तपः? Is it the tongue of the slip or the slip of the tongue, that मौनम् is put in this verse, the doubt may come, so therefore शङ्कराचार्य gives a particular meaning in this context, primarily मौनम् means वाक् तपस् or verbal silence only but to practice that verbal silence, a mental control is required because वाक् is controlled by the mind. And therefore शङ्कराचार्य says मौनम् means that mental control by which one is able to silence the वाक्, that mental control by which one is able to silence the वाक्. That is the meaning of मौनम् according to शङ्कराचार्य or you can take another meaning also, मौनम् means mental silence, freedom from mental noise, a noisy mind is a disturbed mind and therefore मौनम् can be taken as freedom unwanted thoughts. It is not freedom from thoughts totally, freedom from unwanted thoughts, because unwanted thoughts alone become noise of the mind. So when it is a deliberate healthy thought, we don't look upon it as a disturbance. You don't say one hour between 7 and 8 we have mental disturbance caused by स्वामिजि. Even though you are supposed to receive thoughts from me, I hope you are receiving and certainly your mind is entertaining thoughts in keeping with my words, but we don't look upon it as disturbance. So thought itself is not a disturbance. A thought which is unhealthy that alone is disturbance and therefore मौनम् means freedom from unhealthy thoughts, like jealousy, etc. So मौनम्. Then, आत्म-विनिग्रहः, आत्म-विनिग्रहः means management or mastery of the mind, so that mind will be my instrument rather than I being the instrument of the mind. Here the word आत्मा means mind, not सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, here आत्मा means mind, विनिग्रहः means directing the mind properly, in the healthy field, is आत्म-विनिग्रहः. Up to this we saw in the last class.

Now coming to the 2nd line, भाव-संशुद्धिः. भावः means motive, संशुद्धिः means purity. So भाव-संशुद्धिः means purity of motive, freedom from hidden motive, expressing one motive outwardly but having a hidden agenda. In newspaper, we constantly hear of hidden agenda. So not having a hidden agenda, my heart must be available to openly see by any one. That open heartedness is called भाव-संशुद्धिः. All these things will come under तपः मानसम् उच्यते, all of them is मानसम् तपः, mental discipline. So with this division of तपस् based on instrument, i.e., the organ based division is over. From the next verse, कृष्ण is going to divide तपस् once again based on the गुणः. That is सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस. 17th verse deals with सात्त्विकम् तपः, then 18th राजसम् and 19th तामसम्. We will read:

Verse No .17

श्रद्धया परया तप्तं तपस्तन्निविधं नरैः ।

अफलाकाङ्क्षिभिर्युक्तैः सात्त्विकं परिचक्षते ॥ १७-१७॥

श्रद्धया परया तप्तम् तपः तत् त्रिविधम् नरैः ।

अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः युक्तैः सात्त्विकम् परिचक्षते ॥ १७-१७॥

अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः युक्तैः नरैः परया श्रद्धया तप्तम् (यत्) त्रिविधम् तपः, तत् सात्त्विकम् परिचक्षते ।

So what is सात्त्विक तपस्? कृष्ण defines, त्रिविधम् तपः नरैः तप्तम्. When these three-fold discipline is practiced by people, three-fold means कायिक, वाचिक, मानस तपस् mentioned in the previous three verses, when a person practices any one of them, how does he practice, what is his attitude towards this तपस् and what is the value that he has. Based on the mode of practice, कृष्ण wants to name it. कृष्ण says परया श्रद्धया तप्तम्, this is practiced not for the sake of others, not because of pressure from the scriptures, not because of pressure from some स्वामिः or गुरुः, not because of some threat of health, it is not because of any of those reasons, परया श्रद्धया – because of great reverence, value for this discipline. When they are voluntarily practiced, out of value and regard, so परया श्रद्धया तप्तम् and अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः – without expecting any result for this तपस्, आकाङ्क्षा means expectation, फलम् means reward or benefit, फल-आकाङ्क्षि means one who expects a reward, अफल-आकाङ्क्षि means without expectation of any reward, i.e., without asking if I follow this तपस् what will I get? Will I get money? Will I get promotion? Will my business run in a better profit? What will I get out of it? Because human being is always a utilitarian. Therefore, whatever I prescribe the first question asked is what will I get, if nothing, I should at least say, पुण्यम् you will get or I should say स्वर्गम् will get. So, some result or the other a person asks, कृष्ण says, अफल- आकाङ्क्षिभिः – without expectation of any result. This is repeatedly said in the गीता, right from 2nd chapter you will find कृष्ण uses this word repeatedly, योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय, so, don't expect result, don't expect result is an oft-quoted expression, this is confusing thing. People will ask, If I don't expect any result, what will be my motivation to practice that? The very motivation is I should be promised of some reward. So what is the significance we should understand. When we ask what is the benefit I get out of this तपस् or any साधन for that matter, I want to look upon this तपस् as a means and through this means I am asking for some end. Therefore, when I am asking for some benefit out of these values, actually it means, I am looking upon all these values as a means and I look upon something else as an end, means what profit in business, or name, or fame, or पद्मभूषण or भारतरत्न or Magsasay award, or I don't know, some award. So what the शास्त्र says, as long as you love something, or you follow something as a means, your love is never true love. When you follow anything as a means for some other goal your love is never true love, because love for the means is never true, because a person loves the means not for the sake of the means, a person loves the means only for the sake of the end and that means what: love for the means is nothing but love for the end transferred to the means, it means it is a borrowed love, it is a fake love. When I say, I love you because you are rich, what does it mean? It is very clear that I don't love you; I love your riches. My love for you is fake, it is my love for the money transferred to you. That means I will love you as long as you have the riches, the moment you lose the wealth, I will drop you like a hot potato. Similarly, if you are going to follow सत्यम्, तपस्, etc., for the sake of business success or money or credibility or name or fame, that means you really don't have a value for them, because you look upon them as a means and therefore कृष्ण says, never ask what will be the benefit out of it, that means don't look upon it as a means for some other end, and therefore, without looking for some other benefit you practice this. Then the question comes, if I am not promised any benefit, I will not have a motive to follow that, what will be the motivation to tell the truth. कृष्ण says you should follow them, at the same time, it should not be a means for some other end. You should follow them, follow them means तपस्, धर्म, सत्यम्, all of them, but you should not treat it as a means for any other end. How is it possible? This is a quiz, you have to follow them, you should not treat them as a means for some other end, what does it mean? It means you should value them so much that they themselves should become an end-in-itself, धर्म should not be a means for money, धर्म should not be a means for profit, धर्म should not be a means for material success, धर्म should not be a means for name and fame, you should value धर्म so much, that it should become an end-in-itself and धर्म will become an end-in-itself, only when you know its value. This is what दयानन्द स्वामिजी repeatedly says, you have to know the value of every value and you will know the value of धर्म only when the mind becomes mature and therefore कृष्ण is asking us to become more sensitive, more mature, so that you will follow धर्म as an end-in-itself and you will never treat धर्म as a means for some worldly benefit. And even if some worldly benefit comes for you, you should not look upon them as the benefit, it should become an incidental by-product. Money should become not an end achieved through धर्म, money if at all it comes, it should be a by-product of धर्म, that even if that by-product of money doesn't come, I should not feel I have failed. I should become so happy that I have been able to follow धर्म, because following धर्म itself I value as an end. In fact, for a mature person धर्म makes a person a human being, a human being enjoys human status only when धर्म becomes a naturally valued thing, he doesn't ask the question, what will I get if I follow values, or a person complains, स्वामिजि, I followed all of them, I only suffer as a consequence of that. As long as a person complains धर्म doesn't pay, as long as a person asks what will be the result of धर्म, it means he is an immature person, प्राकृत पुरुष. कृष्ण says, you grow up from animal-man to man-man, प्राकृत पुरुष to संस्कृत पुरुष. That means धर्म must be an end-in-itself. That is why in the four पुरुषार्थs, धर्म is given not as a means for अर्थ, धर्म is never given as a means of काम, धर्म is given as an end-in-itself. Therefore, when कृष्ण says don't expect any result, कृष्ण says, kindly don't go down to the level of treating धर्म as a means, seeking an end. Raise your emotional maturity level and treat all these तपस् as an end-in-itself. And once it is an end-in-itself, you don't ask what is the benefit, because for an end there is no benefit. For a means alone there is benefit. And therefore, अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः means by mature people who value this तपस् as an end-in-itself and when they practice and enjoy the very practice itself. Somebody said: "The problem of being punctual is there is no one to appreciate your punctuality." Can you understand what it is? Everybody comes late and that when you are punctual, there is no one to acknowledge and reward you. That means what: even for punctuality you want somebody to reward you. For attendance in schools they want some reward. I should enjoy my very attempt to practice all of them, that means I am a सात्त्विक person. So, अफल-आकाङ्क्षिभिः, by mature people who have converted this as an end-in-itself and युक्तैः – those who are integrated, that means they don't externally follow, intellectually they have a value for that. It is practiced out of conviction, not because of any external compelling factors. Therefore युक्तैः, people of integrity. यत् तपः तप्तम् – that तपस् which is practiced, that is सात्त्विकम् परिचक्षते – such a तपस् is called सात्त्विक तपः. And शङ्कराचार्य tells elsewhere that you should not practice धर्म even for the sake of मोक्ष, that is wrong to say. Even though sometimes we say, if you follow धर्म you will get चित्तशुद्धि and it will give you enough पुण्यम् and that you पुण्यम् will give you गुरु, पुण्यम् will give you शास्त्रम्, even those carrots we dangle, the carrot of मोक्ष, the carrot of गुरु, the carrot of शास्त्र, शङ्कराचार्य says in his commentary, you should not follow धर्म even for the sake of मोक्ष, you should value धर्म for the sake of धर्म only. That is maturity. So, सात्त्विकम् परिचक्षते. Continuing;

Verse No .18

सत्कारमानपूजार्थं तपो दम्भेन चैव यत् ।

क्रियते तदिह प्रोक्तं राजसं चलमधुवम् ॥ १७-१८॥

सत्कार-मान-पूजार्थम् तपः दम्भेन च एव यत् ।

क्रियते तत् इह प्रोक्तम् राजसम् चलम् अधुवम् ॥ १७-१८॥

सत्कार-मान-पूजार्थम् दम्भेन च एव यत् तपः क्रियते, तत् इह राजसम्, चलम्, अधुवम् प्रोक्तम् ।

So this is the तपस् practiced by the immature people. They are interested in the reward that will come through सत्यम्. They say if you speak truth you will have credibility in society. People will have trust in you, then naturally, they will give more and more orders, that means you will get plenty of profit, therefore tell truth so that you will get such and such result, you have reduced सत्यम् to a means, which again means the value of सत्यम् is made lesser than the value of something else. Because remember, means love is always lower love, it is a fake love, it is a temporary love. That means what: if I can get the profit without telling the truth, I will vote for that, why struggle? So therefore, an emotionally immature person practices all these values, but he says if I practice I will get either अर्थ, अर्थ means what: profit, or काम, i.e., worldly pleasures, which is the result of wealth again, or I will get पुण्यम् so that after death I will go to स्वर्ग. With some motive of other, because of the emotional immaturity, he practices, but one thing is there, he practices them, तपः यत् क्रियते – तपस् done by those immature people who don't look upon तपस् as an end-in-itself, but they look upon it as a means, means for what: सत्कारः, सत्कारः means praise or glorification, they want to be known in the society as a धार्मिक पुरुषः. So they want that VIP treatment in the elite circle and therefore सत्कारः means स्तुतिः or प्रशंसा or मानम्, मानम् means honor. Honor means front seat even if you are late, if you are a VIP you have to go late. That is one of the qualifications required, I didn't know, I was caught up many times by going early. So if you are a VIP, you are supposed to go late and that late VIP will be brought through the middle of the crowd and putting a chair at front, cleaning the chair and will ask him to sit. So, मानम् for VIP treatment. Then पूजा, पूजा means worship like पाद पूजा, garland etc., for getting all these elevations a person practices धर्मः, पुण्यार्थम्, इह अमुत्र फल भोगार्थम् a person practices, and also done with दम्भः – since he wants recognition from the society, he wants to make sure that whatever he follows is known by the society. So if it is done without others' knowledge, how will I get that recognition? And therefore, publicity becomes very very important, therefore दम्भेन, with all form of publicity, pomp and show, whatever तपस् is practiced that is called राजसम् तपः. And which will certainly produce worldly result, but the problem is the materialistic or worldly result for तपस् has got two disadvantages, one is अध्रुवम् – it is indefinite, sometimes recognition comes, often recognition doesn't come. How many people complain, I have been doing, working, but the other person applied butter to the boss and he was promoted, I do all the job and that person does only some extracurricular services to bosses' wife. Therefore, he gets something for the home and therefore he is promoted and I feel cheated, because I want to do my job properly for the sake of promotion and you are never guaranteed of promotion even if you work well. Therefore, he says, अध्रुवम्, reward and recognition and promotion is indefinite and not only that even if it comes, चलम् – even if you are elevated, even if you are getting some other benefit, some extra money you will get, that is चलम्, चलम् means fleeting, it is perishable, it is subject to end. So such a तपस् is राजसम् तपः. Thus, in सात्त्विक तपः, तपस् is an end, in राजसम् तपः, तपस् is a means for selfish, materialistic benefit. Then what is तामसम् तपः? कृष्ण says:

Verse No .19

मूढग्राहेणात्मनो यत्पीडया क्रियते तपः ।

परस्योत्सादनार्थं वा ततामसमुदाहृतम् ॥ १७-१९॥

मूढ-ग्राहेण आत्मानः यत् पीडया क्रियते तपः ।

परस्य उत्सादनार्थम् वा तत् तामसम् उदाहृतम् ॥ १७-१९॥

मूढ-ग्राहेण आत्मानः पीडया परस्य उत्सादनार्थम् वा यत् तपः क्रियते, तत् तामसम् उदाहृतम् ।

For a तामसिक person also तपस् is only a means. He doesn't know the value of तपस् and therefore he uses it for inferior ends, just as a person using the sandalwood as a fuel. Will anybody use sandalwood as a fuel? Because he doesn't know its value. Here this person मूढ-ग्राहेण यत् तपः क्रियते – that तपस् which is practiced with false notion, false resolve, unhealthy resolve, inferior resolve for revenge, etc., you will find in पुराण, many people practice तपस् to get power for the sake of revenge. In fact, the whole महाभारत is a series of tit for tat. Somebody does a huge याग to get a child, धृष्टद्युम्न is born, just for the sake of destroying द्रोण. Can you imagine? And for that तपस् is practiced. अम्बा practiced तपस् to be reborn to take revenge on भीष्म. So, such false and mean and lower resolve, that is also resolve, there is also willpower, but the willpower is negative. Therefore ग्राहः means resolve or vow, मूढ means born out of delusion, delusion based false resolve is behind this तपस् and आत्मनः पीडया and invariably such तपस् will involve torturing the body, etc., which शास्त्र never recommends, because body is a sacred gift from the Lord, we should not pamper the body, but we cannot injure the body, but these people take to extreme torture. So, आत्मनः, here आत्मा is not सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा can never be tortured, here आत्मा means शरीरम्. शरीरस्य पीडया, how one word आत्मा has so many meanings, two verses before we saw. आत्म-विनिग्रहः, there we said आत्मा is mind and here we say आत्मा is body, according to context we have to take. So, आत्मनः पीडया क्रियते. Not only that, the motive also is negative, परस्य उत्सादनार्थम्, it is for the destruction of other people, destruction of the competitor in the business, destruction of the enemy, like black magic, etc., all of them come under तामसम् तपः, परः means a शत्रु, whom I look upon as my enemy, उत्सादनम् means destruction, whatever तपस् is practiced, in our पुराणs all the राक्षसs performed तपस् and Lord came and Lord asked, oh devotee! I'm pleased by your तपस्, ask for the boon. This is an invariable regular routine. First they will ask for immortality. Lord will say No and then they will get some powers and the first thing they do is to go to स्वर्गलोक, arrest इन्द्र and kidnap all the अप्सराs, women. This is the next step. Here also तपस् is involved, but what a motive! So परस्य उत्सादनार्थम् वा whatever तपस् is done, तत् तामसम् उदाहृतम् – that is तामसिक तपस्. Thus with that verse, three types of तपस् based on गुण is also over. करण दृष्ट्या त्रिविधम् तपः, गुण दृष्ट्या त्रिविधम् तपः. So now how many topics कृष्ण has covered? कृष्ण promised four topics, what are the four topics:

आहारस्त्वपि सर्वस्य त्रिविधो भवति प्रियः ।

यज्ञस्तपस्तथा दानं तेषां भेदमिमं शृणु ॥ १७-७॥

That is what he said before. आहार, यज्ञ, तपस् and दानम्, Of the four, आहार, यज्ञ, तपस् are over, what is left out is दानम्. Now the topic of दानम् comes from the next verse, we will read.

Verse No .20

दातव्यमिति यद्दानं दीयतेऽनुपकारिणे ।

देशे काले च पात्रे च तद्दानं सात्त्विकं स्मृतम् ॥ १७-२०॥

दातव्यम् इति यत् दानम् दीयते अनुपकारिणे ।

देशे काले च पात्रे च तत् दानम् सात्त्विकम् स्मृतम् ॥ १७-२०॥

दातव्यम् इति यत् दानम् देशे च काले च पात्रे (च) अनुपकारिणे दीयते, तत् दानम् सात्त्विकम् स्मृतम् ।

I had pointed out before that among all the spiritual साधनs, the scriptures consider three साधनs as very important and significant and they are specially mentioned in the उपनिषत्s, in बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत्, there is a very famous statement:

तमेतम् वेदानुवचनेन ब्राह्मणाः विविदिषन्ति यज्ञेन दानेन तपसाऽनाशकेन ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-२३ ॥

A person spiritually progress through three significant disciplines and बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् enumerates यज्ञः, तपः and दानः. And कृष्ण borrows these three from the उपनिषत्s, after all भगवद्गीता is उपनिषत् सारम्. सर्व उपनिषदो गावः दोग्धा गोपाल-नन्दनः (do you feel familiar? I've not told in tune, this is गीता ध्यान श्लोक) If उपनिषत् is taken as a cow, गीता is the milk extracted from the Upanishadic cow and three साधनs are highlighted in the उपनिषत्s they are यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः. कृष्ण repeats them often. In the 18th chapter also he repeats,

यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम् कार्यम् एव तत् ।

यज्ञः दानम् तपः च एव पावनानि मनीषिणाम् ॥ १८-७॥

Thus these three are very significant. Of them two we have seen, the third significant साधन is दानम्. दानम् is very much highlighted in our scriptures, दानम् has got several multifacets are there to दानम्.

i) Firstly, दानम् is a very very powerful medicine to remove certain unhealthy traits in our personality. We have got certain unhealthy traits which are great obstacles to spiritual growth, which are all born out of ignorance, Self-ignorance born problems. What is that problem? Right from birth we feel that we are insecure by ourselves, a sense of insecurity is inborn in every human being, because of Self-ignorance and this insecurity is expressed right from birth, the child clings on to the mother, even within a few weeks the baby is able to differentiate mother's face from others and somebody else comes, the baby turns the face and clings to the mother strongly. The sense of insecurity is an instinctive problem and because I feel insecure, I seek security from external factors either in the form of things or in the form of possessions or in the form of wealth or in the form of relationship. So I turn outwards and I expect security from the external world. Thus my fundamental conclusion is I am insecure and world has to give me security. And वेदान्त says this is the greatest delusion of the human being, it is the basic मोहः. Why it is मोहः? Because both these ideas are wrong. Both these ideas means which ideas? I am insecure by myself is basically wrong, because according to वेदान्त, my real nature is आत्मा, which doesn't require any security, because आत्मा can never be affected by anything.

अच्छेद्योऽयमदाह्योऽयमवलेद्योऽशोष्य एव च । ... ॥ २-२४॥

That I am insecure is delusion no.1. And the greater delusion is I will get security from the external world. This is a greater delusion because no object outside is secure in itself. No object outside is secure in itself, because everything outside is perishable. And when that object itself is insecure, how can an insecure thing give me security. But unfortunately, I never question this assumption. I take this assumption for granted, I am insecure by nature and I have to get security from outside. This is first unhealthy trait called मोहः and this मोह will further unhealthy traits.

ii) The next unhealthy trait is what: Since I think security should come from outside, I go on a spree of acquisition. There is a greed in acquisition, because it is based on the delusion "I am insecure and acquisition is required for my security" and this is called लोभः. The hoarding tendency, the accumulating tendency, greed is the result of मोहः.

iii) And not only I go on acquiring more and more, I never like to part with anything. I want to cling to everything, even an empty match box. You can see all the disposable coffee cups, people wash and bring home after the train journey, we don't want to dispose of even the disposables. I don't want to part with anything. This stinginess of the mind is called कार्पण्यम्. I cling on to everything, because according to my calculation, giving means becoming insecure. Because possession, I have equated with security, this possession I have equated to insecurity, since I don't want insecurity, I have to cling on to everything until death, remember, 'Even if I give up my life I won't give up the key.' We will not leave. So that is called miserliness, called कार्पण्यम्. So मोहः is unhealthy trait is one, लोभः is unhealthy trait is two, miserliness, कार्पण्यम्, is unhealthy trait three.

iv) And above all, constant fear of losing, because all these have to give me security, I am worried about their loss, I am worried about their insecurity. So by possessions, what have I achieved, if you ask, previously I was worried about my security and for the sake of my security, I have a few people and possession around, now I am worried about their security. And you look at the security guard in houses, generally, 75 years, only khaki shirt, who will fly if blown and keep him as the security and that person will sleep in the night. How are you going to feel secure with the insecure security? Therefore the fourth unhealthy trait is constant fear of losing people, losing things.

All these four are based on delusion. What is the delusion? I am insecure by myself and I need security from others and therefore I hold on to. वेदान्त says as long as you hold to things, your insecurity will only increase, learn to part with things and see for yourselves. Thus दानम् is the first powerful spiritual discipline to break these four-fold unhealthy traits. The मोहः, the लोभः, the कार्पण्यम् and the भयम् I have and that I get only by dropping my hold, like a child, who is holding on to mother's hand, will never discover independence. If the child wants to be independent, the child has to drop mother's hand and mother also should allow the child to walk, the child will fall a few times, then the child will find strength and security on its own feet. Similarly, if I have to discover security and strength in myself, I should try sharing or giving, at least initially want I don't want. What I don't want, I can't give up, thinking my great grandson may require to play. Therefore, first start parting with the unwanted thing, then gradually try to share other things also. Thus दानम् is a very very powerful and significant साधन to break the unhealthy trait. This is significance No.1, then some more significances are there, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 20-22

In these verses, viz., the 20th, 21st and 22nd verses of the 17th chapter, Lord कृष्ण is dealing with the final topic, that he had promised before, viz., the significance of दानम् and कृष्ण divides दानम् into three types, सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस दानम् and in the last class, I was pointing out that दानम् is considered to be a very very important spiritual साधन. In addition to various worldly and social benefits, there is a great spiritual benefit also, I was discussing. The first benefit of दानम् is removing our erroneous pattern of thinking. We are in a grip of an erroneous pattern of thinking, which is the cause of all संसार and the pattern is I have concluded that I am insecure by myself. Because of the sheer ignorance of my nature, आत्मस्वरूपम् अभय स्वरूपम्, I have wrongly concluded that I am insecure by myself. And this wrong conclusion is called मोह and because of this wrong conclusion, naturally I am forced to seek security from external sources, even though the fact is that no external factor can give me security, because they themselves are perishable and therefore insecure in themselves, an insecure object cannot give security. Therefore because of ignorance I have got into this मोहः or delusion and because of this delusion, I am in a spree of acquiring more and more, accumulating more and more, amassing more and more, however much I amass, I never feel secure in myself. This लोभः or greed for accumulation is the third pattern of thinking and finally, however much I accumulate and amass, I don't feel like sharing anything with other people, even with my own brothers and sisters. In many families there is a very big problem, whether daughters can inherit the property of the parents. In the olden days, the daughters are not given anything. I don't want to say whether it is right or wrong, but that is the fact, conventional. Now legally they can claim inheritance. Now the problem is the son wants to go by the present law by everything, but when it comes to sharing the wealth, they don't want to include their sisters and the sisters are in very big dilemma, should I fight with my brother for money. It is a big problem and they come ask स्वामिजि; that's why I know. How do you think the story is coming? Should I pretend magnanimity, should I pretend magnanimity and forgo or should I claim my legitimate rights, these are all the issues. Should not the bothers feel nice enough, after all they are not sharing with anybody else, but even sharing with their own direct sisters, they feel the pinch and pain. All because of what, again insecurity, miserliness reaches such an extent, thus अज्ञानम्, मोहः, लोभः and कार्पण्यम्, कार्पण्यम् means miserliness. This is the vicious pattern of human thinking and this itself is संसार, the constant continuous sense of insecurity is संसार. And if this pattern of thinking should be shaken a little bit, it cannot be removed totally, आत्मज्ञानम् alone will remove it totally, but if this erroneous thinking should be shaken, दानम् will help a little bit. So therefore the first benefit is shaking wrong and deluded pattern of thinking.

And second pattern of second benefit or significance of दानम् is in दानम् alone, I am in harmony with nature. If I study nature, I find everything in nature functions in the form of give and take. Everything functions in the form of give and take, which means everything is a cyclic process. See how the carbon dioxide or oxygen or nitrogen or anything is maintained in the creation, it is because of the cyclic process of receiving and giving. That means nothing in the creation, whether it is a plant or animal or inert thing, nothing in the creation keeps anything with itself, it receives and immediately it gives. It is a constant flow of receiving and giving, the rivers get water from the mountains and they give it to the ocean. Ocean receives the water and during summer it gives up the water and it goes to the sky. The clouds do not keep the water to themselves, in the form of rains it gives to the mountains, mountain again gives to the river. There is a beautiful water-cycle, it is possible only because of give and take. Since I am an integral part of the creation, I can never think of holding on to anything. What I receive, I should pay back or give abck to the creation. Only then, I will be maintaining the cyclic pattern, otherwise there will be stagnation. If there is a stagnant pool of water and if there is a flowing river, which water is healthy water? We always say, take bath in the flowing water, we know anything stagnant is unhealthy. Even the food that we take is an input I receive from the world and suppose I only eat which is called input and there is no output at all, just sitting is called couch potato. Haven't you heard, all the time lying on the sofa, and you have got stretching something called the lazy boy, it seems. OK. It is coming from US. And you sit there and go on eating and watching cricket match, I don't say that you should not watch. There is input, but there is no output. And you go to the doctor and say there is a problem of obesity or cholesterol and therefore you have to spend your energy. Spending energy means what: whatever you are taking, you have to give out, otherwise, what is the definition of obesity, you remember. Excess food gone to waste. The waste has two spellings – one minute it will take to understand, excess food gone to w a i s t and excess food gone to w a s t e also. Then all kinds of diseases come, that means you have to give out at least, proportionate to what you take in and when I do that, whether it is energy that I am consuming or water, excess water I drink, again nature itself balances, the water has to go out also, so that the balance is maintained or in the form of sweat it is removed and in the same way, possessions or money or knowledge, anything when it is flows through me, rather than remains with me then I am in harmony with nature, that is health. In दानम्, I am in harmony, therefore I have physical health and I have mental health also. Therefore दानम् is very very important.

Then the third benefit is social benefit, only when the rich people voluntarily share their wealth, should not be forced, but because of sheer maturity, when the rich people voluntarily share their wealth, only in that society the gap between the rich and poor is lesser. When the rich refuses to share, the rich becomes the richer and the poor becomes the poorer. In that society, all forms of crime increases, daylight robbery, all forms of crime increase, when there is such a gap between rich and poor and therefore they said instead of forcibly parting, voluntarily part. When it is forced there is pain, when it is voluntary there is joy and therefore दानम् is important from the standpoint of social order. And finally and most importantly, दानम् is a rehearsal for ultimate संन्यास, the fourth and the most important significance of दानम् is that it is the rehearsal for the ultimate संन्यास. संन्यास is not a physical action of giving up your family and going to another place. संन्यास is a mental stage, in which I don't own anything, संन्यास is a mental state, in which I relinquish the idea of ownership with regard to everything I use. I look upon everything that I possess as only things that I use, but I do not own anything, there is only one owner of everything and that is the Lord and I only use the things and when I do not own anything there is no question of losing anything. And since there is no question of losing anything, there is no question of fear of loss. In fact, संसार is nothing but the fear of losing things and a संन्यासि alone can totally get out of all forms of fear, because he is not going to lose anything, because in his mind he doesn't own anything to lose. And even his own physical body, he doesn't claim as his possession, it is a gift from the Lord for me to use for some time and attain मोक्ष. And once I have utilized it properly, I have to give it back to the Lord. If I have to relinquish the ownership of everything, I should initially start relinquishing the ownership of a few small things. At least a few rupees, a few minutes of my time, if I learn to relinquish the ownership of a few, small, little things, later I can hope to relinquish the ownership of everything. And भर्तृहरि tells in his वैराग्य शतकम् only a संन्यासि can be totally fearless, because he cannot lose anything, because he doesn't own anything. As long as you have ownership in anything, भयम् can never be avoided. He writes a beautiful श्लोकः

भोगे रोगभयम् कुले व्युतिभयम् वित्ते नृपाताद्भयम्

माने दैन्यभयम् बले रिपुभयम् रूपे जराया भयम् ।

शास्त्रे वादिभयम् गुणे खलभयम् काये कृतान्ताद्भयम्

सर्वम् वस्तु भयान्वितम् भुवि नृणाम् वैराग्यमेवाभयम् ॥ वैराग्यशतकम् ३१॥

You can understand, भोगे रोग-भयम् – when you want to have भोग, there is a constant fear of रोग. Any भोग can lead to indulgence and any indulgence can lead to ill-health, any indulgence including eating, भोगे रोग-भयम् कुले व्युति-भयम् – if you have got a अभिमान in your कुलम् or family, that I belong to घनपाठी family or दीक्षित family, this family, that family and you want to preserve the glory of your family and you want to preserve the कुल सन्तति, you are always afraid of your children, because you want to choose your son-in-law or daughter-in-law in keeping with your कुलम्. And the son or daughter is in America and you plan the spouse, after जातकम्, which family, etc. and the son is going to come on 21 days leave and you have fixed a few girls and he has to see all the girls, fix up and get married, like a hawk he should swoop and take the girl and go to America, this is the arrangement. And the son comes and tells, oh parents! I didn't want you to give that trouble, I have fixed my own, because the present generation considers that choosing the spouse is not the job of the parents, because parents are not marrying, but I am going to marry and therefore it is ridiculous that somebody else chooses and I have to live life long, therefore it is my right. In the West, marriage is an individual's activity or decision, in Indian culture, marriage is between two families and their aim is to preserve the कुलम् and when such a news comes, the parents are shattered. How do you know? Come to स्वामिजि. He has fixed a Chinese American girl, स्वामिजि. I have nothing against Chinese American girl, but what I am saying is as long as you have children of marriageable age, be always prepare for this news to come; if it doesn't come, you are a महापुण्यशालि and if it comes, it is the natural thing now-a-days. Every parent should be forewarned now. This is called कुले व्युति-भयम्, व्युति means fall from the कुल परम्परा and then you are worried whether your son can do श्राद्धम् for you, you are still alive, but you are worried about post-death scenario. Whether he will do it or not is a different matter. So, कुले व्युति-भयम् काये कृतान्तात् भयम् – if you are attached to the body, if you own your body यमधर्मराज is the greatest source of fear; माने दैन्य-भयम् – if you are a man or women of reputation, you are always worrie about, afraid of your reputation being tarnished. Anybody can spread any rumor, which is not in your hand and my name and fame may get tarnished. When there is मानम्, there is दैन्यम्, दैन्यम् means helplessness with regard to the preservation of my reputation, माने दैन्य-भयम्; बले रिपु-भयम् – if you are a king of a country with a powerful army, you are always worried of another country, which has got a more powerful army, example America. America is always afraid Iraq, Iraq, this is only worry, बले रिपु-भयम्, we don't have, because he has army, power, etc., रूपे जराया भयम् – if you are proud of your physical beauty, (whether it is there or not), good skin, wonderful hair, shining teeth, as they show in advertisement, then you are frightened of growing age. So the skin losing the smoothness, the wrinkles attacking, therefore रूपे जराया भयम्. That is why the industries - youthful looking industries, industry which deals with youthful look is growing. Why? People are so conscious of their रूपम्. They want to cover up their age. That is why somebody said you cannot cheat every one except a staircase, because when you use it you will know the age, रूपे जराया भयम्; शास्त्रे वादि-भयम् – if you are a scholar, you are always afraid of another scholar, who will question you, who will argue with you; गुणे खल-भयम् – if you are a गुणवान्, who values religion and scriptures, all of them, you are always afraid of the materialistic people, who will make fun of you. You are going to गीता class! Therefore गुणे खल-भयम्, noble people are always afraid of the wicked ones, who criticize, make fun. That is why our children, now-a-days, don't even want to apply तिलकम्, why because other people will make fun. They remove before they go out, because others will make fun of. गुणे खल-भयम्, even भक्ति I have to keep secret, I cannot declare that I am a हिन्दु. दयानन्द स्वामिजि says हिन्दुs feel inferior to claim that I am a हिन्दु, in India. That is the tragedy of our country, you don't want to show that we are proud वैदिकs or हिन्दुs. Anyway, गुणे खल-भयम् and वित्ते नृ-पालात् भयम् – when there is lot of wealth, I am always afraid of tax, नृ-पाल means king or the government. Whatever you possess, there is a threat. Therefore, he concludes, सर्वम् वस्तु भयान्वितम् भुवि नृणाम् – anything you possess is a source of fear. Then what is the source of fearless? Possession of one thing, only possession of one thing is the source of fearlessness, what is that: वैराग्यम् एव अभयम्, वैराग्यम् means detachment, detachment means I use everything, everything belongs to the Lord only. That is the ultimate state, but before that, I start with small दानम्, so that I can discover सर्व सङ्ग परित्याग, spiritual साधन.

Now कृष्ण is going to talk about three types of दानम्. First one is सात्त्विक दानम् in this verse. यत् दानम् दीयते – when charity is made, दातव्यम् इति – with the understanding of the importance of दानम्, its spiritual relevance, its importance in social harmony, with that understanding when I give as a value, voluntarily, without any external force or threat, दीयते – whatever charity is made out of maturity and अनुपकारिणे – even to a person, who may not reciprocate my दानम्, who may not express gratitude, who may not be grateful to me in future, even the children when we take care of the children and give everything, how to we know what they are going to do in old age and parents are not doing all these things with an expectation of return, then they are not true parents at all and therefore that which is done without expecting anything in return, that means, I don't use दानम् as a means for some future benefit. If I look upon दानम् as a means that indicates that I am not mature enough. For mature सात्त्विक person, दानम् itself is an end-in-itself. And if I am mature enough, to see it as an end itself, the very दानम् gives me joy, it is not a means for future joy, but the very practice of दानम् is आनन्दः and that means this person has understood the value of दानम् and therefore his mind is सात्त्विक and mature mind and अनुपकारिणे – for a non-reciprocating person what is given, देशे काले पात्रे च – a gift given at the right place. So, if you want to gift a shawl in चेन्नै, that too in summer when the temperature is 43°, you give shawl; in बद्रीनाथ, केदारनाथ it will be useful. So देश – at the at the right place and काल – at the right time and पात्रम् – to the right and deserving person. पात्रम् here means a deserving person, यत् दानम् दीयते तत् सात्त्विकम् स्मृतम्. People ask, many people come and ask for charity, how do I know whether that person is deserving or not and now Police department has given a warning also, when unknown people come don't even open the door, let alone give anything. How do I know whether it is a deserving person or not? Certainly we have a right to enquire, whether that person is deserving or not and if we don't know the credentials, there is nothing wrong in not giving दानम्. Then that means I think that is why I am not giving दानम्! Because I find nobody deserves!!! No No No! दानम् is important, if the people who are coming to you, you have no method of finding out, you go and find out some appropriate institution, which is making use of the money for good and noble causes. There are so many wonderful institutions, which are doing service for charitable work, if I don't have time to enquire, I can always make it a point to give to some institutions, they will take care of it properly. The idea I should include दानम् as a part of my साधन. If I don't have money for दानम्, I can have time दानम्, service दानम्, knowledge दानम्, if nothing, smile दानम्. And according to the people who know about the anatomy of the body, they say, in smile you have to use lesser number of muscles, than frowning. Thus, even smile is economical gift than frown. Minimum you can do that. Therefore, देशे काले च पात्रे च तत् दानम् सात्त्विकम् स्मृतम्. Continuing;

Verse No .21

यत्तु प्रत्युपकारार्थं फलमुद्दिश्य वा पुनः ।

दीयते च परिविलाष्टं तद्दानं राजसं स्मृतम् ॥ १७-२१॥

यत्तु प्रति-उपकारार्थम् फलम् उद्दिश्य वा पुनः ।

दीयते च परिविलाष्टम् तत् दानम् राजसम् स्मृतम् ॥ १७-२१॥

यत्तु प्रति-उपकारार्थम्, फलम् उद्दिश्य, वा पुनः परिविलाष्टम् च दीयते, तत् दानम् राजसम् स्मृतम् ।

In the previous verse, we saw सात्त्विक दानम् is a दानम् in which the giver looks upon दानम् as an end-in-itself. Therefore the very दानम् gives him joy. And therefore if there is acknowledgment or gratitude from others, that is only a bonus. Gratitude is not an expectation, it is only a bonus. Because already I have benefitted in the very process of दानम्, because of my value for it. Whereas in the case of राजसिक दानम्, the person is not mature enough to see the दानम् as an end-in-itself, he looks upon दानम् as a means for some other worldly benefit, कृष्ण says, doesn't matter, at least he looks upon as a means. It is better at least he looks upon it as a means and therefore naturally, he always expects something in return. प्रति-उपकारार्थम्, so he says, if I do something to the neighbor now, tomorrow they will also help me. That is always there behind, this is called प्रति-उपकारः – expectation or फलम् उद्दिश्य – he expects पुण्यम् for this दानम्, because according to शास्त्र, when you give दानम्, even though your material possession is getting depleted, your पुण्यम् bank balance is increasing. So externally you are losing, but your पुण्यम् balance is increasing and because of the पुण्यम् in your next birth you are going to get in return for whatever you have given. Anything you give, by the same law of cyclic process, whatever you deposit in the world, world is like a bank, at the right time in the next जन्म, you will get the return from World Bank, the world which itself is like bank and that is why it is said,

आदानदोषेण भवेत् दरिद्रो दारिद्र्यदोषेण करोति पापम् ।

पापादवश्यम् नरकम् प्रयाति पुनर्दरिद्रः पुनरेव पापी ॥ सुभाषितानि ॥

A frightening श्लोक! आदानदोषेण भवेत् दरिद्रः – if you don't give anything in this जन्म, in the next जन्म you will not get anything, because whatever you have deposited alone you can draw later. Only name is देना Bank (there is a bank called देना bank), suppose I just ask for Rs.1,000, I will only get beating. Remember, every देना (lending) bank is first लेना (borrowing) bank. But they won't write लेना, they will write only देना, that is marketing strategy. If I don't give to the World Bank in this जन्म, I won't get anything in the next जन्म, I will be born a दरिद्र, आदानदोषेण भवेत् दरिद्रः. And दारिद्र्यदोषेण करोति पापम् – when there is poverty the tendency to violate धर्म is more. It requires tremendous self-restraint to avoid corruption in poverty. Therefore, the chance of the दारिद्र्य does पापम्. दारिद्र्यदोषेण करोति पापम्. पापात् अवश्यम् नरकम् प्रयाति. पाप leads to नरकम् and again he becomes पुनः दरिद्रः, पुनः एव पापी. If you want to get out of this cycle, you start दानम् at least a little. So therefore, फलम् उद्दिश्य वा – at least for the sake of पुण्यम् and better birth in the next जन्म. You do that दानम्, even though it is राजसिक and inferior दानम् and दीयते च परिविलाष्टम् – a दानम् which is given with reluctance. Because he doesn't know its value. In the case of a सात्त्विक person, he knows the value, therefore he enjoys the gift, but this person has not fully appreciated the value, he gives out of fear rather than maturity and therefore inside there is a ban. परिविलाष्टम् with reluctance when दानम् is given, तत् दानम् राजसम् स्मृतम्, it is called राजसिक दानम्. So in सात्त्विक दानम्, दानम् is the end. In राजसिक दानम्, दानम् is a means.

सात्त्विक दानम् is a निष्काम दानम्. राजसिक दानम् is सकाम दानम्.
Then what is तामसिक दानम्?

Verse No .22

अदेशकाले यद्दानमपात्रेभ्यश्च दीयते ।

असत्कृतमवज्ञातं ततामसमुदाहृतम् ॥ १७-२२॥

अदेश-काले यत् दानम् अपात्रेभ्यः च दीयते ।

असत्कृतम् अवज्ञातम् तत् तामसम् उदाहृतम् ॥ १७-२२॥

यत् दानम् असत्कृतम् अवज्ञातम्, अदेश-काले अपात्रेभ्यः च दीयते, तत् तामसम् उदाहृतम् ।

You can understand. यत् दानम् दीयते – that charity which is given, अदेश-काले – at the wrong place, at the wrong time, and अपात्रेभ्यः – to a wrong person, all those who come in the traffic signals, they are all अपात्र people. First of all, it is illegal; secondly, it is risky and also there is a news that the children are maimed for the sake of money, they are borrowed, they are inflicted injury etc., and therefore if some such people come, there is nothing wrong in saying no and not encouraging such wrong दानम्. So अपात्रेभ्यः means traffic signal ‘beggarebhyah’, अपात्रेभ्यः च दीयते, which is given and असत्कृतम् – even when it is given to a deserving person, when the gift is given by ill-treating or not respecting the person properly, that deserving person may be a poor person, does not mean that I have to look down upon him. That is why they say look upon the person as नारायण and it is an opportunity for me, I am in a position to share and that person needs, therefore without looking down upon the receiver, without insulting the receiver, without making him to roam, means come tomorrow at 8 a.m., and tomorrow he comes, you are not there at all. Then he comes another day, you say you have without appointment so come on Sunday and on you say that you are busy etc. And after 35 days, in fact, for his travel itself he has spent what you are going to give. Therefore, without अवज्ञा, without insulting and without disrespecting it should be given, when there is insult and disrespect done to the receiver, because the receiver naturally feels small, this is always a bad feeling when I have to beg, I have to stretch my hands in front of someone is always a smallness. That is why भगवान् himself when he had to beg for something from महाबलि, even he had to become small, that smallness is the smallness that we feel in the mind, already the receiver is feeling bad, how can I add insult to injury, apply salt to the wound. In fact, I should make the receiver comfortable and when the receiver is insulted, तत् तामसम् उदाहृतम्, such a दानम् is a तामसिक दानम्. And what कृष्ण wants to say is, सात्त्विक दानम् is the best, राजसिक दानम् is intermediary, तामसिक दानम् is the lowest one. And the people who are at the तामस दानम् level, they have to gradually improve themselves to राजस दानम् level. Once I am at that level, I have to raise myself to सात्त्विक दानम् level. And remember, even तामस दानम् is better than ... fill up the blanks, no दानम्. When we criticize तामस दानम्, the aim is not to stop the दानम्, because तामस दानम् to अदानम् is sliding down, when we criticize तामस दानम्, the aim of the criticism is to elevate the person from तामस to राजस, not bring down from तामस to अदानम्. Like when I criticize mechanical सन्ध्यावन्दनम् is bad. This fellow says स्वामिजि I have stopped सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, why because why do mechanically. Mechanical सन्ध्यावन्दनम् is bad when someone says, it means that we have to do it consciously. So therefore, तामस दानम् is better than अदानम्. With this all the four topics कृष्ण has concluded. आहार, यज्ञः, तपः and दानम्. And naturally ॐ तत् सत् should have come, but कृष्ण is introducing one more topic and that topic is the significance of ॐ तत् सत्. That is going to come, in the next few verses, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 17, VERSES 23-28

With the 22nd verse of the 17th chapter, which we completed in the last class, Lord कृष्ण has dealt with all the four topics that he promised in the beginning. After answering अर्जुन's question regarding श्रद्धा, कृष्ण himself promised four topics – आहारः, यज्ञः, तपः and दानम्, all those topics are completed with the 22nd verse. Now in the following verses, 23rd up to the end, Lord कृष्ण is dealing with the significance of the famous मन्त्र ॐ तत् सत्. This ॐ तत् सत् मन्त्र is a very famous मन्त्र, because it is associated with all religious activities and especially at the time of conclusion there is an expression, ॐ तत् सत् ब्रह्मार्पणम् अस्तु, or कृष्णार्पणम् अस्तु, रामार्पणम् अस्तु, the expression ॐ तत् सत् is used. Even in the भगवद्गीता, at the end of every chapter we say, ॐ तत् सत् इति श्रीमत् भगवद्गीतासु. So कृष्ण wants to deal with the significance of this मन्त्र in the following verses, which we will see now. Verse no.23;

Verse No .23

ॐ तत्सदिति निर्देशो ब्रह्मणस्त्रिविधः स्मृतः ।

ब्राह्मणास्तेन वेदाश्च यज्ञाश्च विहिताः पुरा ॥ १७-२३॥

ॐ तत् सत् इति निर्देशः ब्रह्मणः त्रिविधः स्मृतः ।

ब्राह्मणाः तेन वेदाः च यज्ञाः च विहिताः पुरा ॥ १७-२३॥

ॐ तत् सत् इति ब्रह्मणः त्रिविधः निर्देशः स्मृतः तेन ब्राह्मणाः वेदाः च यज्ञाः च पुरा विहिताः ।

Dealing with the significance of the मन्त्र, ॐ तत् सत्, कृष्ण gives certain important points in these verses, first I will enumerate those points independently, then we can see the verses.

The first point that कृष्ण mentions is that ॐ तत् सत् is a powerful made up of three names of God. It is a powerful मन्त्र made up of three names of God, viz., ॐ is one name, तत् is another name, सत् is the third name. And the meaning of the word ॐ is the protector of the World. The word ॐ is derived from the root √अव्, अवति, रक्षति, पालयति and ॐ means रक्षण कर्ता, पालन कर्ता, the protector of everything, especially the devotee. This is the meaning of the word ॐ. The meaning of the word तत् is that Lord who is beyond all the instruments of knowledge, the Lord who is सर्व प्रमाण अगोचरः, one who is incomprehensible, one who is unobjectifiable, one who is not available for all the six प्रमाणs. In simple language अप्रमेयः is the meaning of the word तत्. And the meaning of the word सत् is the eternal principle, the one who ever exists in the form of the very Existence itself. Literally the word सत् means the Existence and by extension it means the eternal principle, because Existence exists always. Why? Existence. Therefore, ॐ तत् सत् means, the eternal incomprehensible protector of the universe. And this मन्त्र is here said as ब्रह्मणः निर्देशः, the three names of ब्रह्म, ब्रह्म means God. This is the first point कृष्ण highlights.

The next point He gives here is this powerful मन्त्र has been used by the creator ब्रह्माजि himself, when he undertook his job of creation. This powerful मन्त्र, ॐ तत् सत् has been employed by साक्षात् ब्रह्माजि, the creator himself, when he undertook the most important job of his, what is that: the creation of the world, because of which alone, he could successfully bring out a wonderful universe. Therefore, the second significance is मन्त्र ॐ तत् सत् has been utilized by ब्रह्माजि, the founder of the universe. This is the second point.

The third point कृष्ण highlights is because ब्रह्माजि uttered this powerful मन्त्र, this has become a convention later. Among all the spiritual seekers to chant the same मन्त्र during their spiritual साधन. Because ब्रह्माजि used this मन्त्र during his activity, it became the convention of all the later spiritual seekers to chant the very same मन्त्र, when they take to their spiritual activity. Like the inventor or the discoverer of the telephone, you might have known this, when the telephone was invented, first time when the inventor wanted to test whether it works or not, you know what the word he used, he used the word hello, there is no derivation or meaning for that, that word came to his mind at that time and he used that. Once the founder used that word, that become the convention of all the people all over the world even now to use the expression, whether knowingly or unknowingly, learned or not, everybody says Hello. It is the tradition. Similarly, ब्रह्माजि the founder used the word ॐ तत् सत्, thereafter like hello, hello has no meaning, ॐ तत् सत् became a meaningful and conventional expression, especially among the spiritual seekers to use it in their spiritual activity. Either they use in the beginning of their activity or they use the मन्त्र at the end of their activity, ॐ तत् सत् ब्रह्मार्पणम् अस्तु they say. This is the third point कृष्ण highlights.

The fourth point that कृष्ण highlights is, since this मन्त्र is a very powerful मन्त्र, by its utterance one can convert all the राजसिक and तामसिक activities into सात्विक activities. This मन्त्र is so powerful that even a तामसिक कर्म or राजसिक कर्म will get converted into सात्विक and spiritual कर्म and if it is already a सात्विक कर्म, then this मन्त्र will make it more सात्विक. And therefore, this मन्त्र can be used with advantage by all spiritual seekers. This is the fourth point that कृष्ण mentions.

The fifth incidental point we find here is with the help of this मन्त्र, ब्रह्माजि has created a very very beautiful, wonderful, orderly, rhythmic, glorious, vast rule-abiding universe. And Lord कृष्ण says, even in this wonderful creation, there are three creations which are the greatest by the ब्रह्माजि. Whole creation is wonderful, but even within this creation, there are three products or three creations of ब्रह्माजि which are very very significant. And what are those three creations? कृष्ण enumerates. ब्राह्मणाः and यज्ञाः and वेदाः. These are very very significant creations of ब्रह्म. Now the question is why do we say, these three are significant? The reason is the word यज्ञः means that intelligent lifestyle by employing which or with the help of which, the humanity will use all the superior knowledge and power constructively. Thus यज्ञः means that lifestyle in which the humanity wisely uses or employs the superior knowledge and power for constructive purposes. If this यज्ञ way of life is absent, the superior knowledge and superior power will cause only human destruction. You know that now we have got enough weapons which can destroy the earth several times. We have got (we means humanity and not the Indians), we, the humanity have got enough weapons, some of them we can see in Iraq now, we have got enough weapons to destroy the earth several times, that means what: the superior knowledge of humanity and the superior power of humanity can become constructive or destructive. यज्ञ is that wisdom by which the humanity converts the knowledge and power to ensure the peace, the prosperity and all round progress of life. Therefore, यज्ञ alone can sustain the universe. And when I say यज्ञः, I mean the पञ्च महा यज्ञाः, which is the wise way of living, which we saw in the 3rd chapter. I don't use the word यज्ञ in the limited sense of वैदिक ritual, here the word यज्ञ means the पञ्च महा यज्ञाः, a constructive, healthy and intelligent way of life. So यज्ञ alone can sustain the creation and therefore यज्ञ is very very important. Then why do we say, वेद is important. वेद is important because from the वेद alone we learn the यज्ञ way of life. That यज्ञ way of life, the harmonious way of living, we learn from the वेदs and therefore, वेदs become important to understand what wisdom is. And therefore वेद alone promotes यज्ञ, यज्ञ alone can sustain the creation. So यज्ञ is significant and वेद is significant. Then why do we say ब्राह्मणः is important. Here the word ब्राह्मण means any human being, irrespective of the caste, we are not referring to Brahmin caste here, any human being who preserves and promotes the वैदिक teaching. Any human being, whether he is a ब्राह्मणः, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य or शूद्र by birth, whether the human being is male or female, whatever be the profession, any human being who preserves and promotes the वैदिक teaching. How does he preserve and promote? Both by his teaching and by his living, through precept and practice, whoever preserves the वेद is called ब्राह्मण. The very word ब्राह्मण is derived from the word ब्रह्म and ब्रह्म means वेदः. ब्रह्म, वेदम् जानाति इति ब्राह्मण. The one who learns, the one who lives and the one who shares the वैदिक wisdom is called ब्राह्मण. Thus ब्रह्मण sustains the वेदs, वेद sustains the यज्ञ way of life and यज्ञ sustains the creation, therefore ultimately, the sustenance of the creation requires three factors. If there are no ब्राह्मणs, the वेदs will die. ब्राह्मण, again I mean, not the जाति-ब्राह्मण. ब्राह्मण means the promoter of the वेदs; if ब्राह्मण is not there, वेद will die; if वेदs dies, यज्ञ will die and if यज्ञ dies, the harmonious way of life will die. And there will be only wars and wars. Imagine a powerful country, which has got all the weapons in the world, attacks another country, even though three fourth of the humanity is not in favor. Even the United Nations is not able to do anything. All the scientific advancement, all the technological advancement are used for the systematic destruction of an area of the earth, even though it is not endorsed by significant part of the humanity. Now we can imagine, what can happen if such a thing continues. If science is not advanced, we can only fight with stick, the damage will not be that much. But when there is scientific knowledge, but without धर्म, i.e., called यज्ञः. So scientific knowledge minus यज्ञ will mean selfishness. One country will become selfish and will be interested only in their survival. They won't bother about the humanity and even humanity cannot do anything, except giving certain protest statements. France will give its statement. Germany will give its statement, Russia will give its statement and of course India will also give its statement, we will become utterly helpless, this is the result of knowledge and power without यज्ञः. And therefore, this wonderful creation including ब्राह्मण, यज्ञ and वेद has emerged from ब्रह्माजि only after the utterance of ॐ तत् सत् मन्त्र. Therefore it is significant. This is the essence of the following portion.

Now look at the श्लोक. ॐ तत् सत् इति निर्देशः. So the word ॐ, तत् and सत्, these three are त्रिविधः निर्देशः, the three-fold नाम, निर्देशः means नाम, of ब्रह्मन्. Here ब्रह्मन् means ईश्वर. These are the three-fold ईश्वर नाम and ईश्वर has got several नामs, names why should कृष्ण mention only these three नाम, because He says: तेन, with the help of these three नामs or names, i.e., chanting these three नामs, विहिताः these three wonderful creations have been made. These three wonderful creations called यज्ञः, यज्ञः means the wise way of life, constructive way of using knowledge and power is called यज्ञः, i.e., one beautiful creation, वेदाः, the वैदिक scriptures, which teach us the यज्ञः way of life, we saw this in the 3rd chapter,

सह-यज्ञाः प्रजाः सृष्ट्वा पुरा उवाच प्रजापतिः । ... ॥ ३-१०॥

So वेदs were created by ब्रह्माजि and ब्राह्मणाः, so the preservers and promoters of the वेद are called ब्राह्मणाः, गुण- ब्राह्मणाः, कर्म- ब्राह्मणाः, those who are dedicated to the preservation and promotion of वेदs, all these three have been created by ब्रह्मणा, by Lord ब्रह्माजि, all these three have been created पुरा – long before and therefore ॐ तत् सत् is a sacred मन्त्र.

Verse No .24

तस्मादोमित्युदाहृत्य यज्ञदानतपःक्रियाः ।

प्रवर्तन्ते विधानोक्ताः सततं ब्रह्मवादिनाम् ॥ १७-२४॥

तस्मात् ॐ इति उदाहृत्य यज्ञ-दान-तपः-क्रियाः ।

प्रवर्तन्ते विधान-उक्ताः सततम् ब्रह्म-वादिनाम् ॥ १७-२४॥

तस्मात् ब्रह्म-वादिनाम् विधान-उक्ताः यज्ञ-दान-तपः-क्रियाः ॐ इति उदाहृत्य सततम् प्रवर्तन्ते ।

So since ब्रह्माजि initiated this tradition. What tradition? Utterance of ॐ तत् सत्, like the hello tradition, ॐ तत् सत् tradition was initiated by the founder of the very universe itself and therefore all the ब्रह्म-वादिनाम्, ब्रह्मवादिs means the वैदिक followers, especially the spiritual seekers, सततम् ॐ इति उदाहृत्य – always they also utter this मन्त्र, ॐ तत् सत्, fully, or partially, by uttering the word ॐ. Either all the three नाम, or any one of the नाम, like ॐ, ॐ इति उदाहृत्य, ब्रह्म-वादिनाम् सततम् – always, their activities प्रवर्तन्ते – proceed. And what all activities? विधान-उक्ताः – all the activities prescribed in the scriptures meant for spiritual growth. I do not know, which activities will contribute to spiritual growth, my activities are decided based on material growth, all our activities when we judge. As I said before, the very education is based on what, which degree will get me good salary, so our line of thinking is what will help me in material growth, what will help in spiritual growth we will know from the scriptures, therefore, विधान-उक्ताः – so the activities prescribed in the वेद विधि, वैदिक teaching. Like यज्ञ-दान-तपः-क्रियाः, which we saw in the 17th chapter, all the यज्ञs like पञ्च महायज्ञ, all types of दानम् and all types of तपस्, you remember, कायिक, वाचिक, मानस तपस्, all of them the spiritual seekers perform uttering ॐ तत् सत् or merely ॐ.

Verse No .25

तदित्यनभिसन्धाय फलं यज्ञतपःक्रियाः ।

दानक्रियाश्च विविधाः क्रियन्ते मोक्षकाङ्क्षिभिः ॥ १७-२५॥

तत् इति अनभिसन्धाय फलम् यज्ञ-तपः-क्रियाः ।

दान-क्रियाः च विविधाः क्रियन्ते मोक्ष-काङ्क्षिभिः ॥ १७-२५॥

मोक्ष-काङ्क्षिभिः तत् इति (उदाहृत्य) फलम् अनभिसन्धाय विविधाः यज्ञ-तपः-क्रियाः दान-क्रियाः च क्रियन्ते ।

So मोक्ष-काङ्क्षिभिः क्रियन्ते. Some other spiritual seekers use the मन्त्र, तत् only, as I said all the three words can be used together, or any one of the three नाम also can be used. In the previous verse, ॐ was highlighted; in this verse the word तत् is highlighted; but now-a-days, we don't choose anyone, we generally chant all the three. What is the difference, between ॐ and ॐ तत् सत्? Now-a-days we chant all the three. So some spiritual seekers, use the name तत् of the Lord, in विष्णुसहस्रनाम also one of the नाम is तत् तस्मै नमः, यस्मै नमः, all these come. तस्मै नमः means the Lord who is तत्. मोक्ष-काङ्क्षिभिः some spiritual seekers utter the word तत् and practice यज्ञ दानम् and तपः. This was described in the 17th chapter before, some other seekers use this word and when they practice these activities, their primary goal is मोक्ष, material benefit they look upon only as a by-product. Therefore, फलम् अनभिसन्धाय, they look upon the internal growth as primary, the material benefit as required and incidental, they are called सात्त्विक people, they are spiritual seekers, not that they neglect money, but for them, money is subservient to inner purity and spiritual growth. They can never think of money at the cost of spiritual growth, because it is a bad bargain according to them. That is why they are called मोक्ष-काङ्क्षिभिः, they are so mature, therefore they consider धर्म मोक्ष as superior to अर्थ काम. Therefore फलम् अनभिसन्धाय, without being obsessed with material results, here फलम् means अर्थ काम, अनभिसन्धाय means without being obsessed with, if at all they have an obsession that is with their inner growth rather than external paraphernalia. Continuing;

Verse No .26

सद्भावे साधुभावे च सदित्येतत्प्रयुज्यते ।

प्रशस्ते कर्मणि तथा सच्छब्दः पार्थ युज्यते ॥ १७-२६॥

सत्-भावे साधु-भावे च सत् इति एतत् प्रयुज्यते ।

प्रशस्ते कर्मणि तथा सत् शब्दः पार्थ युज्यते ॥ १७-२६॥

(ज्ञानिभिः) सत् इति एतत् सत्-भावे च साधु-भावे च प्रयुज्यते, तथा हे पार्थ! प्रशस्ते कर्मणि सत् शब्दः युज्यते ।

So some spiritual seekers use the नाम ॐ, which was said in verse no.24, some other spiritual seekers use the नाम तत्, that is said in the 25th verse, now we have to supply, there are some other spiritual seekers who use the नाम सत् along with their यज्ञ-दान-तपः. Of course, it is not these three alone, along with all the activities, but कृष्ण enumerates these three, because they are considered to be important activities of a human being. And when कृष्ण comes to the word सत्, suddenly कृष्ण remembers that I have introduced the word but I have not given the meaning of the these three words, only I gave you the meaning. कृष्ण never said, what is the meaning of ॐ. He didn't give the meaning of तत् (he might have forgotten, whatever be the reason, or व्यासाचार्य did not know), कृष्ण here gives the meaning of the word सत्. And I gave you the meaning of the word सत् as eternal, so here कृष्ण gives five meanings for the word सत्. Compensation for leaving the other two words! For the third word He gives five meanings. What are the five meanings of the word सत्?

First meaning is साधु-भावे सत् इति एतत् प्रयुज्यते – the word सत् is employed, is used, साधु-भावे – in the meaning of nobility, goodness, good conduct, good behavior is called साधु-भावे, that is why noble people are called सत् पुरुषाः or सन्तः, in the North India also they use the word सन्त तुकाराम, सन्त नामदेव, there the word सन्त means the धार्मिक पुरुषः. Therefore, one meaning is good conduct. साधु-भावे means good conduct. साधुत्वम् means goodness. That is why in North India a संन्यासि is called साधु. Therefore any noble one is called साधु. साधु-भावे means good conduct, धार्मिकत्वम्.

The second meaning is the सत्-भावः means Existence, in the philosophical context the word सत् means eternal Existence, that is why in छान्दोग्योपनिषत्,

सत् एव सौम्य इदम् अब्र आसीत् एकम् एव अद्वितीयम् ॥
छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ६-२-१ ॥

सत्-भावः means pure Existence. साधु-भावः means good conduct.

Then the third meaning is प्रशस्ते कर्माणि. Any good कर्म is also called सत्. सत् कर्म. This also we use often. So, प्रशस्ते कर्माणि, any great noble action is also called सत्. What is the difference between साधु-भाव and प्रशस्त कर्म. साधु भाव refers to noble behavior or conduct, it is in the context of character, here it is in the meaning of action, three meanings have been given. सत् शब्दः पार्थ युज्यते – हे अर्जुन! The word is used in these three meaning. Then two more meanings कृष्ण gives:

Verse No .27

यज्ञे तपसि दाने च स्थितिः सदिति चोच्यते ।

कर्म चैव तदर्थीयं सदित्येवाभिधीयते ॥ १७-२७॥

यज्ञे तपसि दाने च स्थितिः सत् इति च उच्यते ।

कर्म च एव तत्-अर्थीयम् सत् इति एव अभिधीयते ॥ १७-२७॥

यज्ञे तपसि दाने च स्थितिः सत् इति च उच्यते । तत्-अर्थीयम् च एव कर्म सत् इति एव अभिधीयते ।

The fourth meaning of the word सत् means perseverance or commitment or willpower, स्थितिः. With regard to what? यज्ञे तपसि दाने च – with regard to the practice of these three spiritual disciplines. Commitment to यज्ञ, commitment to तपस् and commitment to दानम्, this निष्ठा is also called सन्निष्ठा, so सत् भावना – good character, सत् कर्म – good action, सत् निष्ठा – good commitment. In all these context the word सत् is used, in addition to eternal Existence. Four meanings are over.

The fifth meaning, He says: कर्म च एव तत्-अर्थीयम् – any other activity, any other secondary activity, satellite activity, which will promote यज्ञ, दानम् and तपस्. So previously we said यज्ञ, दान, तपस्, the primary activities are called सत्, now all the other activities also, even mundane activity also, which is meant to promote यज्ञ, दान, तप. Suppose I do a business and I earn lot of money, it is a pucca commercial activity. But suppose I earn money and use the money for any noble purpose – यज्ञ, दानम् or तपस्, then that business activity will become सत्. Similarly, before doing any noble कर्म – a पूजा is going to take place, I am cleaning that room, that cleaning is the grossest activity, but even that activity will become or before the class you are spreading the carpet, or at the end of the class you are removing the carpet, removing the chair, some students do the voluntary activity. That is not यज्ञ, दानम् or तपस्. Even though it is a mundane simply activity of removing the chairs or carpet, even that is a सत् कर्म because, it is meant to promote गीता class, therefore even that is सत् कर्म only. Therefore, कर्म च एव तत्-अर्थीयम्, any कर्म, even the meanest कर्म, not in the negative sense, the grossest कर्म, which is a satellite of supportive कर्म for यज्ञ, दान, तपस्, that is also called सत् कर्म इति अभिधीयते. These are the five meanings of the word सत् and you have to add one extra sentence. There are some spiritual seekers who use the word सत् when they are doing their activities. Thus you can use ॐ, or तत् or सत्, by which all your activities will be transmuted to सात्त्विक, spiritual कर्म. And that is why in our tradition at the end of all rituals, that ॐ तत् सत् is there. Even they jocularly say if anybody asks about the cricket match, when they lose they say ॐ तत् सत्. Even jocularly we say ॐ तत् सत्, that means what, even the defeat becomes a spiritual activity for वैराग्य प्राप्ति. OK. Concluding कृष्ण says:

Verse No .28

अश्रद्धया हुतं दत्तं तपस्तप्तं कृतं च यत् ।

असदित्युच्यते पार्थ न च तत्प्रेत्य नो इह ॥ १७-२८॥

अश्रद्धया हुतम् दत्तम् तपः तप्तम् कृतम् च यत् ।

असत् इति उच्यते पार्थ न च तत् प्रेत्य नो इह ॥ १७-२८॥

हे पार्थ! अश्रद्धया हुतम् दत्तम्, तपः तप्तम्, यत् च कृतम्, तत् असत् इति उच्यते, (तत्) प्रेत्य, इह (अपि) च न (फलप्रदं) नो (भवति) ।

So with the previous verse, कृष्ण has concluded the topic of the significance of ॐ तत् सत् मन्त्र, the significance is that it can convert any कर्म into सात्त्विक कर्म and not only that, while performing the कर्म, if inadvertently I have committed mistake. Suppose I have not chanted the मन्त्र properly, because I don't know संस्कृत and I have written all the मन्त्र in तमिळ् script. Is anything more required? In

तमिक्, there is only क, for क, ख, ग, घ, for four words only one letter, तमिक् is अद्वैतम्. च, छ, ज, झ. the rest of the four is not there, like that only प फ ब भ. So imagine I have written everything and the most interesting thing is at the end of ritual, they have got a beautiful prayer which says

मन्त्र लोपे तन्त्र लोपे क्रिया लोपे श्रद्धा लोपे नियम लोपे काल लोपे नैवेद्यादि

विहित लोपे च सत्यम् सत्त्वम् यथा प्रोक्तम् यथा शास्त्र अनुष्ठितम् पूर्णम् भवतु.

There is a prayer. This prayer means whatever लोप has happened, लोप means deficiency, in नैवेद्यम् or in chanting or in using the right time, right place, etc., whatever लोप has happened Oh Lord! You make it complete. This they would have written in तमिक्. लोप means what: deficiency and they read, मन्त्र लोभे, तन्त्र लोभे, क्रिया लोभे. लोभ means greed. So we are asking, for deficiency there should be rectification. But in the prayer itself there is deficiency, so deficiency-rectification-prayer is chanted deficiently, for that you require another deficiency-rectification-prayer. So therefore it happens. Suppose such mistakes happen, if you chant ॐ तत् सत्, all those deficiencies are rectified by the Lord because Lord Knows संस्कृत. Thank God! Therefore He will make the appropriate correction. This is the significance of ॐ तत् सत्. Now in this 28th verse, कृष्ण wants to conclude and in this conclusion, He wants to remind the beginning of the 17th chapter, which we might have forgotten. What is the beginning of the 17th chapter? श्रद्धा. Therefore कृष्ण reminds us of श्रद्धा also here, He says, अश्रद्धया हुतम् – any spiritual activity or religious activity done without श्रद्धा, without sincerity, हुतम् means offered into the fire, any oblation made without श्रद्धा, then दत्तम् – any charity made without श्रद्धा, without sincerity and तपः तप्तम् – any austerity practiced without श्रद्धा, devotion and faith, or यत् च तत्तम् – or any other, even worldly activity if we do without sincerity, especially the profession that we take to, imagine I have a job

I don't like, I have to be in the office for 10-12 hours and not one day but 5 or 6 day a week. That means what: more than 50% of my waking hours I am doing that job and imagine I don't like it, that means Friday comes I am so happy and Sunday night comes I am so unhappy, because Monday is coming. If there is no sincerely, there is a split personality that in the long run it will adversely affect the physical and mental health, that is called stress and strain, doing a job without love. Therefore कृष्ण gives a warning, anything done without your heart in it, अश्रद्धया हुतम् दत्तम् तप्तम् कृतम् and all such कर्मs are called असत् कर्म. Even if it is a noble कर्म, it will become असत् because there is no heart in that. Therefore कृष्ण says, असत् इति उच्यते – opposite of सत्, oh पार्थ! And by practicing such असत् कर्म, you will not get material benefit also, spiritual benefit also, you won't get any benefit in this life also and you won't get any benefit in the hereafter also. So तत् नो इह. Will not give any worldly benefit, because with a stressed mind you cannot enjoy even material pleasures. And therefore इह लोक सुखम् अपि न अस्ति and नो प्रेत्य, there is no परलोक सुखम् also, पर लोक फलम् also. And therefore the most important thing is let there be श्रद्धा. If you cannot get a job that you like, because of employment problem, if you cannot get a job that you don't like: Learn, train yourselves to like any job that you have got. That is the only remedy and therefore श्रद्धा is very very important. So with the significance of श्रद्धा, कृष्ण concludes the 17th chapter.

ॐ तत्सदिति श्रीमद्भगवद्गीतासु उपनिषत्सु ब्रह्मविद्यायां योगशास्त्रे श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे श्रद्धात्रयविभागयोगो नाम सप्तदशोऽध्यायः ॥ १७॥

Thus is concluded the 17th chapter of the गीता which is titled 'श्रद्धा-त्रय-विभाग-योगः' because it begins with the topic of three-fold श्रद्धा by way of answering अर्जुन's question.

CHAPTER 17, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 17th chapter of the गीता. We had seen before that Lord कृष्ण concentrated on the topic of Self-knowledge in the three chapters, 13th, 14th and 15th and this Self-knowledge is capable of giving liberation and this Self-knowledge alone is capable of giving freedom from संसार, संसार being dissatisfaction with oneself. Self-inadequacy, the tendency to become different from what I am now. Because I am not satisfied with myself as I am, I want to change myself, either financially or educationally or physically or cosmetically or emotionally or intellectually, some -lly, at one level or the other I go on struggling to change so that I will be comfortable as I am, I will be at home with myself. This struggle to be different is called संसार and this struggle will go away only by knowledge and that knowledge कृष्ण dealt with in three chapters, 13th, 14th and 15th. But कृष्ण wants to convey an important idea that even though Self-knowledge is powerful enough to destroy संसार, the Self-knowledge requires lot of preparation, it requires a prepared mind. In fact, preparation is more difficult than the actual acquisition of knowledge. And therefore, कृष्ण wants to deal with a prepared mind in the next two chapters, viz., 16th and 17th. Therefore in these two chapters, the topic is: What is a prepared mind and what are the preparations required? In संस्कृत, we give different names, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति is one name, ज्ञानयोग्यता is another name, गुण-ब्राह्मणत्वम् is another name or a सात्त्विक mental makeup, a सात्त्विक state of mind. So I will use the word सात्त्विक state of mind is alone a prepared mind. And कृष्ण wants to point out that a सात्त्विक state of mind is that which naturally follows the values of life. It is naturally धार्मिक, it is naturally ethical, it is naturally free from stress and strain, it is naturally relaxed, it is naturally open, it is naturally receptive, such a receptive, open, ethical, stress-free, relaxed, wonderful, quite mind will lap up the knowledge, absorb the knowledge, like sponge absorbing water. If such a सात्त्विक state of mind is not there, one will not be able to absorb the knowledge, there will be a tremendous resistance and this knowledge will not be even appealing to oneself. It will not attract oneself and it will not look relevant for our life. In fact, if you feel वेदान्त is relevant for life, a person has got a reasonably सात्त्विक mind and if an unprepared mind exposes to the teaching, it will not receive the knowledge and even if by some mistake or by the grace of the गुरु or by the power of communication or the skill of transference, even if somehow the knowledge is given, the unprepared mind cannot retain the knowledge and an unprepared mind cannot assimilate the knowledge, the knowledge will become non-functional, it will not deliver the expected results. And therefore कृष्ण wants to give a very very strong warning, as much importance you give to Vedantic study or more than the importance that you give to Vedantic study give for a सात्त्विक state of mind. And therefore, कृष्ण dedicates two chapters. In the 16th chapter, He differentiated the prepared and unprepared mind in the form of दैवी सम्पत् and आसुरी सम्पत्. And the same differentiation he is doing in the 17th chapter also with a different name, a prepared mind is called a सात्त्विक mind and an unprepared mind is called a राजसिक and तामसिक mind. And therefore, अर्जुन if you are interested in liberation and if you interested in knowledge better look into your mind, study your mental biography. Instead of being aware of what your lifestyle is physically, study your mental biography, if required have an inventory of your emotional thought pattern. Therefore, these two chapters are very important and if a person concentrates on a सात्त्विक mind, developing a सात्त्विक mind, the beauty is even without Self-knowledge, a सात्त्विक mind can enjoy 90% liberation. Even if one does not get Self-knowledge, by sheerly enjoying a सात्त्विक state of mind a person can have 90% peace. On the other hand, if a person has studied वेदान्त 100% and if the mind is either तामसिक or राजसिक, then the Vedantic study doesn't guarantee much benefit other than the claim that you can make, I have finished गीता. He has finished गीता. I have finished उपनिषत्s. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द nicely asks, you have gone through ten उपनिषत्s. Fine. How many उपनिषत्s have gone through you? And therefore, these two chapters extremely important, even if 13th, 14th, 15th are forgotten doesn't matter, these two chapters are important, not for mere study but for implementation in life, the gap between the 16th and 17th chapters and my life should become lesser and lesser. And therefore, both these chapters are important and we will just see the essence of this chapter. The chapter begins with a question from अर्जुन based on कृष्ण's statement in the 16th chapter. In the 16th chapter, कृष्ण said the scriptures are the guidelines in directing your life. Because scriptures alone invariably take care of both the spiritual growth and material need parallelly. Without the scriptural guidance there will be a lopsided development, either a person concentrates on spirituality and neglects the family or a person takes care of the material growth but spiritually becomes a failure, but the scriptural guidance is so balanced, that it will take care of the material needs as well as spiritually need. लक्ष्मीदेवी is important, सरस्वती also is important. You cannot neglect either of them and also पार्वती. पार्वती stands for health and fitness. लक्ष्मीदेवी stands for the material well-being and सरस्वती is required ultimately for मोक्ष. The balanced pursuit of सरस्वती, लक्ष्मी and पार्वती is the scriptural approach. Therefore, कृष्ण said, तस्मात् शास्त्रम् प्रमाणम् ते कार्य-अकार्य-व्यवस्थितौ, in the 16th chapter. Therefore, अर्जुन asked a question, suppose there are people who are scripturally illiterate and they take to religious life of पूजा, जप, etc., because of faith in religion, because of faith in God. In India, even now, millions of people are religious and faithful and they are illiterate about the scriptures. So अर्जुन's question was what will be the nature of, state of such people and कृष्ण answers that, that is the trigger for the 17th chapter. Now the chapter can be divided into three portions:

◆ The first portion is from verse no.1 to verse no.6, wherein कृष्ण answers अर्जुन's question, regarding faith. श्रद्धा-त्रय-विभागः. And based on this alone, the chapter itself is called श्रद्धा-त्रय-विभागः and this is the first topic. First I will enumerate and then summarize.

◆ Then the next one is from verse no.7 to 22. Here we have four bonus topics. Even without अर्जुन's request, कृष्ण himself voluntarily offers to deal with four topics, आहार, यज्ञः, तपः, दानम्, food, worship, discipline and charity. These four-fold आहारादि चतुष्टयम्, is the second portion, 7 to 22.

◆ Then the third topic is 23 to 28 which deals with the significant of the famous मन्त्र, ॐ तत् सत् ॐ तत् सत् significance. This is the third and final topic.

i)Now going back to the first topic, कृष्ण says that श्रद्धा, faith of every person can be divided into सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक, based on the type of worship that he undertakes, based on the deity, based on the method and based on the motive – deity, method and motive will determine the type of faith.

➤ If a person has सात्त्विक faith, he will be attracted to सात्त्विक deities; if he has got राजसिक faith, राजसिक deities, materialistic and if he has तामसिक faith, he will be attracted to तामसिक deities. So depending on the deity of worship you can know the faith.

➤ Then depending upon the method of worship. If it is a सात्त्विक faith, the method of worship will be सात्त्विक. That means it will be quite and turned inward. मनः-प्रधानः. It is more mentally oriented and it is less physical and extrovert is सात्त्विक. And in the case of राजसिक faith, the worship will be more physical and extrovert. Want to have to lot of things, lot of activities, lot of running about, more physical and extrovert is राजसिक. And तामसिक is all forms of violent type of worship, in which there is violence to one's own body and violence towards the other's outside also. This the method of worship determines the type.

➤ And finally the motive. A सात्त्विक type, will have a सात्त्विक motive, which means one is interested more in the inner growth rather than external. So when the motive is internal growth, it is सात्त्विक state. When the motive is external growth in terms of possession and money and other paraphernalia, it is राजसिक. When the motive is harming other people, like black magic, etc., that will come under तामसिक state. Thus the deity, method and motive of worship will indicate whether one has सात्त्विक, राजसिक or तामसिक श्रद्धा. This is the discussion from verse no.1 to 6.

ii) Then कृष्ण introduced 4 topics.

a) He said that आहार, the food that you consume also is a contributory factor towards your spiritual growth. We don't say that it is the only factor. We don't say that it is the prime factor, but is one of the factors, which will determine your mental state. And कृष्ण divided the food into सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक. I don't think one should go into too much details, because then the whole day you will be thinking of what is सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक and there will be no time for गीता. Therefore over obsession with the choice of diet can sometimes or oftentimes become an obsession. Therefore for all practical purposes, we can follow certain simple rules with regard to आहार. Simple rules I will suggest is:

- ❖ rule no.1: Avoid non-vegetarian diet,
- ❖ rule no.2: Avoid all forms of intoxicant,
- ❖ rule no.3: Avoid of all forms of tobacco products,
- ❖ rule no.4: Avoid over-eating,
- ❖ rule no.5: Avoid in between eatings. Between breakfast and lunch and between lunch and evening snack and between evening tea and dinner and thereafter! So therefore breakfast, lunch, snack and dinner and in between also.

So therefore five rules, avoid non-vegetarian food, avoid all forms of intoxicants, avoid all forms of tobacco products, avoid over eating, avoid in between eating, then you are taking सात्विक आहार. Because in our culture, what is traditionally prescribed is सात्विक only. Stick to that, that is enough, this is with regard to आहार.

b) Then with regard to यज्ञ. Our activities are also divided into सात्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक. With regard to religious activities, the division is: any religious activity used for internal growth is सात्विक; any religious activity used for external material growth is राजसिक; any religious activity used for harming others, is तामसिक. This is the rule with regard to religious activity. With regard to secularly worldly activities, how to divide? Any worldly activity in which the beneficiaries are more in number is सात्विक. Any worldly activity in which the beneficiaries are less, less and less and ultimately one and who is that one? Whether one should ask, it is myself! Lesser the beneficiaries, more राजसिक it is, greater or more the beneficiaries, the सात्विक the activity is. And any activity, which harms others, hurts others, all those activities are तामसिक activities. We can take this as the general norms to divide our secular and sacred activities, called यज्ञः by कृष्ण.

c) Then the next one is तपस् तपस् means discipline. कृष्ण talks about the discipline at the organ level, i.e., कायिक, वाचिक or at the मानस and also discipline at the गुण level, सात्विक, राजस and तामस तपस्. I don't want to go to the details, I want you to only remember this significance of a disciplined life. So that if you don't understand the significance, discipline will be misunderstood as curtailment of our freedom. It will be misunderstood as suppression. But when I voluntarily follow, it becomes a discipline, when the very same thing is enforced by गुरु or शास्त्र, it become suppression. And it is significant to understand, we have to remember the portion which occurs in कठोपनिषत्, wherein the teacher यमधर्मराज gives a beautiful analogy or example, in which life is compared to a journey and in this journey we are using a vehicle called our own body,

आत्मानम् रथिनम् विद्धि शरीरम् रथमेव तु । बुद्धिम् तु सारथिम् विद्धि मनः प्रग्रहमेव च ॥

इन्द्रियाणि हयानाहुर्विषयास्तेषु गोचरान् । आत्मेन्द्रियमनोयुक्तम् भोक्तेत्याहुर्मनीषिणः ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-३-३ ॥

The body is like a vehicle. And all the sense organs are like the wheels or the horses which draws and the mind is like the reins controlling the horses or the steering (modern example) controlling the wheels and the intellect is like the chariot driver, who controls the horses through the reins or the driver who controls the wheels through the steering. So car is like the body, senses are like the wheels, mind is like the steering, driver is like the intellect and the यजमान, the owner who wants to travel and he is seated, not on the self-driven car, but chauffeur driven car and the यजमान sitting behind is the जीवात्मा, and we have started our journey long back and right from the moment from the birth the journey is there. And if the life's journey should be successful, what are the conditions one should remember? The car must be in good condition, the wheels or the tyres must be in proper condition. The steering must be in proper condition. Imagine I turn into the right and the wheels go to the left, what will happen? And imagine either doesn't know the destination or he knows but only drunk. That is it! So if you have to reach the destination, the vehicle must be travel worthy. So before you start your spiritual journey, ask the question: Is my personality spiritual-travel worthy? And what we find generally is that we have started our journey even without checking up. Check up so many parameters, whether it is the aircraft or the car. Most of the accidents happen because the check up is not done properly. And therefore what are the conditions required? Body must be healthy. Are you taking care of your health? And then the sense organs must be healthy and the mind should be emotionally calm and sound, so the EQ, the emotional quotient must be healthy. And then the intellect should be capable of learning. Because our approach to मोक्ष involves a systematic study of scriptures. There are many other groups following scriptures, for them मोक्ष is through some other methods, they say भक्ति gives मोक्ष, they say कुण्डलिनी rising gives मोक्ष, study is not involved. And there are some other people who accept ज्ञानम्, but they say knowledge comes through intuition in meditation. Thus most of the group in spirituality, they don't believe in systematic study, they believe in meditation, they believe in intuition, they believe in devotion, but our approach involves, वेदान्त श्रवण, मनन. Therefore emotional health is not enough, one should have a sound thinking capacity also. If you come to माण्डूक्य class, you know how it is, lot of thinking is involved, because knowledge means understanding and understanding means doubts are bound to come, therefore you have to lot of reasoning, lot of logic and therefore intellect also must be sound, which means informed and capable of rational thinking, which requires an educated intellect, a sharp intellect. Thus body, sense organs, the mind, the intellect, all the four must be fit and not only they must be fit, they all also must function in coordination. Like a music program, I have told before, there is the best vocal musician is there, violinist is the top one, mridangist is top one, but each one is doing his own favorite. He is singing शङ्कराभरणम् रागम् and violinist likes तोडी and the song is in आदितालम् and the mridangist is doing in रूपक तालम् solo. What kind of music concert you will have? Even though all the three are great, individual greatness is not enough, there must consonance. Similarly, physical fitness alone is not enough, emotional fitness alone is not enough, intellectual fitness alone is not enough, they all must have the concerted effort, otherwise I will be able to sit here for one hour without any movement, he will be a great योगि, he would have practiced the योगासन very well, therefore he sat in the पद्म आसन at 6 a.m. and he keeps the body straight also and for one hour physically he is here and but only thing is mind is all over, what is the use? Therefore आसन takes care of only the body. And therefore fitness plus integration is equal to तपस्. Fitness plus integration of the physical, the emotional and the intellectual personality. In fact, we include even the pranic personality, even the प्राणमय कोश must be healthy. All should be fit, this is discussed in तपस्. आहार यज्ञ तपस्.

d) And finally दानम् is the fourth bonus topic. And दानम् we saw, I don't want to go into the details and दानम् is sharing whatever I have. दानम्, we generally think only in terms of money, we are not taking only money only, money wise also it is required, if our religion has to survive, if our religious institutions have to survive. This is all because of the contribution of the people only. Previously, there was no threat to our religion because, it was the only religion available, others have come later, but now all the other religions are striving with concerted effort to propagate and there is push from all over. One side Christianity is pushing and the other side Islam is pushing and we cannot go down, because ocean is there only. We only have to jump. So therefore we should be aware of our responsibility to our community, our temples, our religion, our culture, our scriptural books, all of them and therefore दानम् is also important. With this the second portion is over, from 7 to 22 four bonus topics. OK. Don't ask whether in कृष्ण's time bonus was there. It is voluntarily offered.

iii) Then comes the last portion. 23 to 28. Significance of ॐ तत् सत्. This मन्त्र consists the three नामs of the Lord and even though all the names of the Lord are equally sacred, these three are considered significant, because these three are supposed to be used by ब्रह्माजि in the beginning of the creation, don't ask how do you know. Lord कृष्ण says ब्रह्माजि started his activities with this मन्त्र. therefore it has got a conventional sanctity. Remember the example, like the Hello.

At least Hello has no religious or spiritual significance, this has got spiritual significance also. And the primary significance of this मन्त्र is very important it is capable of converting राजसिक and even तामसिक actions into सात्विक. And that is why वेद said even if there are people who are used to eating non-vegetarian, liquor consuming, etc., even to bring them to our fold, what did the वेद do? They said first preference is that you should not use it, but if you cannot give it up immediately, you consume them, but before consumption offer to the Lord. Even liquor doesn't matter. Don't use the first advice. But if it is going to take time to give up, whether it is meat or liquor, the शास्त्र said doesn't matter, even that you offer and भगवान् will manage it. Gradually, your aim is to reduce and get out of it, that is why even animal sacrifices were permitted, because if there is a group which consumes, how to bring to our fold. Allow them to do what they do and request them to offer that to the Lord and win their trust. Once we win their trust, gradually, reduce this, reduce this, etc. and we can take them out slowly. Therefore, ॐ तत् सत् can convert even राजसिक and तामसिक कर्म into सात्विक कर्म. मधुसूदन सरस्वती calls it साद्रूप्यं संपादनीयम्, सद्रूप्यम् means सत्त्वगुणत्वम्. सम्पादनम् means transformation, from तमस् and रजस् to सत्त्व transformation and therefore ॐ तत् सत् is important. You can chant any of them or you can chant all the three words, you can chant in the beginning or you can chant at the end also and that is why we have the convention, even at the end of every chapter, we have ॐ तत् सत् and whatever ritual we do we conclude with ॐ तत् सत् कृष्णार्पणम् and ब्रह्मार्पणम्, etc. This is the last topic, 23 to 28.

And I would like to discuss one more topic, which is outside the 16 and 17th chapters, but I would like to add that topic in this context. If you study these two chapters, कृष्ण enumerates healthy virtues. What is दैवी सम्पत्, He gives the list. अभयम् सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः ज्ञानयोग-व्यवस्थितिः, etc. He gives a list and He says: You cultivate, nurture and nourish the healthy virtues. And He gives a list of unhealthy non-spiritual friendly virtues also or vices also He gives and He says eschew them. But peculiarly enough कृष्ण doesn't say how to cultivate the virtues. He only dumps the responsibility on our head and how you cultivate it is left to you, but you have to. So naturally, the question will come I want to develop virtues. But tell me how? This is not discussed in both the chapters and therefore, I thought I will briefly include that topic, how to develop virtues and how to gradually grow out of this unhealthy tendencies? And this is not my invention, these are all discussed in the scriptures in various places, these methods are strewn all over the scriptures. And these strewn methods, I have collected and classified into five methods. Therefore I will briefly discuss the five methods to develop दैवी सम्पत्. Five methods to make the mind सात्त्विक. I will go from easy method to difficult method.

1) प्रार्थना: The first method is प्रार्थना or prayer. Prayer is one of the efficacious methods of acquiring the virtues. Prayer works in two-fold ways, one is I ask the Lord: Oh, Lord! give me healthy virtues. Even when we were children, the parents will tell: Do नमस्कार and pray for सुबुद्धि, सुबुद्धि means सात्त्विक mind. So all the Upanishadic prayers if you take. भद्रम् कर्णेभिः शृणुयाम देवाः ... वाङ् मे मनसि प्रतिष्ठिता आप्यायन्तु ममाङ्गानि वाक्प्राणश्चक्षुःश्रोत्रम् ... all the prayers in शीक्षावल्ली – शरीरम् मे विचर्षणम् । जिह्वा मे मधुमत्तमा. वाक् तपस् is beautifully mentioned there. May my tongue be honey coated tongue. Not that you take honey and coat. May my words be such that whoever interacts with me verbally should feel like coming to me again and again. Now if anyone meets once, they will never come near me such a sharp and sword like tongue I have. जिह्वा मे मधुमत्तमा. what a wonderful prayers! In prayer since I ask for virtue, I can ask and भगवान् will give. And the second method the prayer works is भगवान् is the embodiment of virtues. And by the law of association, when the mind is in contact with भगवान्: रामो विग्रहवान् धर्मः, if you read the रामायण, in the beginning you get a huge list of virtues enjoyed by राम. वाल्मीकि asks, is there a person with these virtues, he gives a list and then नारद tells that not only these, some more I will add, राम is embodiment of that:

कः नु अस्मिन् सांप्रतम् लोके गुणवान् कः च वीर्यवान् । धर्मज्ञः च कृतज्ञः
च सत्य वाक्यो धृढ व्रतः ॥ चारित्र्येण च को युक्तः सर्व भूतेषु को हितः कः नु
अस्मिन् सांप्रतम् लोके गुणवान् कः च वीर्यवान् । विद्वान् कः कः समर्थः च कः च एक प्रिय दर्शनः ॥ वाल्मीकिरामायणम् ॥

When I dwell upon some principles which is embodiment, unknowingly, my mind also assumes that thought and therefore, prayer is one method of developing virtues, wherein I look upon Lord as the embodiment of virtues. In वैष्णव सम्प्रदाय, they say सर्व कल्याण गुण गणैक निलय, भगवान्'s name. सर्व कल्याण, कल्याण means positive, मङ्गलम्. मङ्गल गुण एक निलयः. Therefore method no.1. prayer. Then when you do prayers daily, asking for money and all is OK, it is not wrong, but ask for सत्बुद्धि. Add that also in the list. Method one.

2) सत्सङ्गः The second method is association with the virtuous. Association with the virtuous, because by the law of association, I develop the virtues of the person that I move with. A materialistic person I move with, I will also develop that. So therefore सत् सङ्ग is considered to be very very important, सत्सङ्गत्वे निरसङ्गत्वम्. And that is why, they said, संन्यासि should live on भिक्षा. It is a beautiful method, if संन्यासि have to live on भिक्षा, they should live in the society only. भिक्षा is not got in the forest. When I move with such people, at least I know that we can be happy without possession. So every time I see a simple person having nothing, but all आनन्द, at least my delusion goes - happiness requires money - that delusion goes. Survival may require money, that is a different thing; happiness does not require money. Comfort may require money, but happiness does not require money. Comfort is external, happiness is internal. These important values I learn by observing the lifestyle of महात्माs. Therefore सत्सङ्ग is another one, in the morning class, उद्धव गीता, we are seeing the significance of सत् सङ्ग. This is the second.

3) सङ्कल्पः Then the third method is सङ्कल्प, which is especially a method to develop positive virtue. I pick up any positive virtue, which I feel I am lacking. Suppose I don't have the habit of talking about the good virtues of other people or good actions of other people, I don't talk about. Normally we love to talk about the weakness of others, their mistakes. We analyze that. Many good actions, we are silent. Suppose I want to develop, I make it a point, every day if there are people with whom I am regularly associating I just tell a nice point about another person. One nice point about another person. Even if you eat, tell them this item was excellent, (whether it is good or bad), in western societies, they are telling us to tell Thank you. Here we silently eat and go but in the end we say that there was no salt or less salt in a particular item. So anything, tell if it is a subordinate, his mistakes we point out, but do I balance it by talking about at least one thing well done, so it is one virtue, if I want, I can take a सङ्कल्प, I will do that for sometime until it becomes natural. Like that any number of virtues, सङ्कल्प means auto suggestion. This is with regard to virtue I want to nurture, cultivate. This is the third method.

4) प्रतिपक्ष भावनाः The fourth method is a method especially important to give up the unhealthy tendency. The third one is to nourish healthy one, the fourth one is to gradually eliminate the negative one, that is called प्रतिपक्ष भावना, प्रतिपक्ष भावना. So any cynical, negative thinking, I deliberately neutralize by the corresponding thought pattern. Suppose my tendency is to tell everything is bad in the society. Society is deteriorating. Values are coming down. There are people with utterly cynical, five minutes you give, they comment negatively about anything. Just say Television. They will talk about the negativities of television. Say Newspaper, they will talk about the negativities. Science, they talk about the negative. Why can't we think of the positive side of science? Positive side of television. Good things are also there in it. If my tendency is to criticize, if the tendency is to criticize, I deliberately practice glorification. This is called प्रतिपक्ष भावना. Similarly, if I don't know the motive of a particular person and if a person said that he will come today and he did not come, I don't know the reason, therefore I have got a free hand to imagine any reason, but what will we imagine, everyone is like that, no one will keep up their words, we will only attach negative motive to that person, after all we don't know, why can't we positively think, maybe some important work came or somebody came, any positive reason can be there, thus whenever there is a tendency to negatively think, I deliberately neutralize it, it must be a genuine reason. Until it is proved otherwise, why can't we at least develop a positive thinking? Thus, if there is a hatred, neutralize by love; if there is criticism, neutralize by praise; if there is selfishness, neutralize by selflessness. This is called प्रतिपक्ष भावना. This is the fourth.

5) The fifth and final and the toughest is educating the mind, विवेकः, emotional education. I should have a knowledge about emotions. What are the various emotions in my mind? What is the nature of anger? What is the nature of jealousy? What is the nature of generosity? So many wonderful books are coming on each emotion, a big book on anger, similarly, jealousy, similarly, hatred. I understand the cause of emotion, nature of emotion and the consequence of every emotion. The cause, the nature and the consequence, I have to understand because I am interested in emotional health. Just as I am educating myself for retaining my physical health. Magazines contain it, if there is blood pressure, what is the cause, what is its nature, what is the consequence, diabetics, what is the cause, what is the nature, what is the consequence, in newspapers, magazines they are coming. Why are we studying, because I am interested in my physical health, similarly, I should educate myself regarding emotional health, which is called विवेकः. That is cognitive therapy, I should have knowledge about my mind and my emotions. And if I know I will follow healthy emotions and try to avoid the unhealthy ones. This is called विवेकः. If I follow प्रार्थना, सत्सङ्ग, सङ्कल्प, प्रतिपक्ष भावना and विवेक, then I can become सात्त्विक and make वेदान्त work for me.

Having completed the 17th chapter of the गीता, now we will enter into the 18th chapter. This is the final chapter of the गीता and the biggest chapter consisting of 78 verses. Lord कृष्ण started his teaching to अर्जुन from the 2nd chapter onwards, the entire 1st chapter was devoted to prepare the ground in which अर्जुन, the soldier was converted into अर्जुन, the disciple and कृष्ण, the driver was converted into कृष्ण, the गीताचार्य. The entire 1st chapter was devoted for this conversion and the actual teaching began from the 2nd chapter and that too from the 11th verse onwards. Thus we have seventeen chapters of the गीता teaching. And here, Lord कृष्ण uses the well-known method of teaching, which I had often referred to and the method of teaching is संक्षेप विस्तराभ्यम् बोधनम्. First give a bird's eye-view, first give a capsule form of the whole teaching so that the student will know what he or she is in for. This initial summarization of the teaching is called उपक्रम संक्षेप or उपक्रम संग्रहः, nutshell teaching in the beginning and this Lord कृष्ण did in the 2nd chapter of the गीता. The 2nd chapter contains the essence of the entire गीता teaching and thereafter this summary, this capsule version was magnified in the chapters from the 3rd up to the 17th, fifteen chapters, 3rd to 17th, fifteen chapters are the magnification, the elaboration, the विस्तर of the summary given in the 2nd chapter. And after elaborating in fifteen chapters, from the 3rd to the 17th, कृष्ण summarizes the whole teaching once again. This is the 2nd summarization done at the end, we call it उपसंहार सङ्क्षेपः. Thus mini version, maxi version and again mini version, mini-maxi-mini. Don't think of anything else? I mean the teaching. So mini-maxi-mini teaching is the method that is to be adopted and I have given you the example of the news also. They start the news reading by giving you the headlines first and then it is elaborated and then it is concluded again with the main news, संक्षेप विस्तर संक्षेप. Now the 18th chapter happens to be the final summary of the elaborate teaching given in the fifteen chapters of the गीता, from the 3rd to the 17th. And in these fifteen chapters, Lord has dealt with mainly 9 topics, about which also I have mentioned, but I would like to remind. The first three important topics are: साधन त्रय विचारः, the three-fold spiritual disciplines which are to be compulsorily followed by every seeker to attain spiritual freedom, the three-fold साधनs being,

- कर्मयोग साधन, for purification of mind,
- उपासनायोग साधन for the integration of the mind and,
- ज्ञानयोग साधन for the enlightenment or for the removal of ignorance.

Thus साधन त्रयम् in the form of कर्म, उपासना, भक्तियोग, these are the three main topics that कृष्ण discusses. Thereto the first six chapters concentrate on कर्मयोग and the second six chapters from the 7th to 12th chapter, it is उपासनायोग प्रधान and from the 13th to the 17th is ज्ञानयोग प्रधान. These spiritual disciplines were discussed. Then we get another three important topics. We will call it, पदत्रय विचारः, analysis of the three significant words occurring in the महावाक्यम्, the central teaching of the वेदान्त, the महावाक्यम् known as the great equation, तत् त्वम् असि. It is called महावाक्यम्, because it is the central teaching and this महावाक्यम् has got three words, तत् referring to ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, त्वम् referring to the जीव स्वरूपम् and असि referring to the ऐक्यम् or oneness. Thus तत् त्वम् असि declares the essential oneness of God, the macrocosmic Self and the individual, the microcosmic Self, the individual Self and the universal Self identity. And the first six chapters of the गीता focus on the जीव स्वरूपम्, त्वम् पद विचारः, the next six chapters, 7 to 12th is तत् पद विचारः, ईश्वर स्वरूपम् and the last six chapters असि पद विचारः, the ऐक्यम् or oneness. Thus पदत्रय विचारः, विचारः means analysis is contained in the गीता Teaching. Then we have got another three important topics, which deal with the factors which are required for any success in life, especially spiritual success. Three factors play prominent role for attaining any success, especially spiritual success, I will call them, घटकत्रय विचारः. घटकत्रय means three important factors contributing to success. And those three important factors are:

i) No.1 individual effort, प्रयत्नः, one's own application of the mind, प्रयत्नः is factor No.1, we can call it effort or appropriate employment of the free-will that is given to us, which means I should accept that I have a free-will. There are many people who do not accept a free-will at all. कृष्ण says spiritual success requires first the acceptance of a free-will and having accepted the free-will I should employ it appropriately, that is factor No.1, contributing to success.

ii) Then the second prominent factor is प्रसादः. प्रसादः means the grace of the Lord. You may call it पूर्वजन्म पुण्यम्, but we generally call it ईश्वर प्रसादः, ईश्वर अनुग्रहः or दैवम्. Thus प्रसाद is a second important घटक, factor.

iii) And the third and equally important factor is the character. Unless a human being has a healthy character, consisting of healthy values and healthy attitudes, success is impossible, especially spiritual success. Now new analysis is showing that even material success requires character. New management studies and new books which are arriving, they are coming to the conclusion that even huge corporations require character for long-term success. If an institution compromises with values, they may get short-term success, but long-term success requires character and it is coming from the west; if it comes from the West, we will accept. If गीता says, we will not accept. There is one Stephen Covey who has written a book, 7 Habits of Highly Effective People and he comes to the conclusion, after making the statistical study of all the big companies, that character is very important.

Whether it is material or spiritual success, character is the third factor. प्रयत्न, प्रसाद and सत्-गुणाः.

And in the भगवत् गीता, the first six chapters focus on the प्रयत्न part and the next six chapters focus on प्रसाद part, the last six chapters focus on सत्-गुणाः. That is why the 16th chapter and the 17th chapter, two full chapters were exclusively dedicated for character building, In the name of दैवी सम्पत् or in the name of सत्त्वगुणः, character is technically called सत्त्वगुण or दैवी सम्पत्. Thus साधनत्रयम्, then पदत्रयम् and घटकत्रयम्, these are the nine topics which are covered in the fifteen chapters of the गीता, viz., from the 3rd to 17th. 2nd and 18th chapters are the summary of this teaching. And therefore when we are studying the 18th chapter, कृष्ण will assume that we have gone through the previous chapters and he will only remind us the topics discussed before and therefore it will not be elaborated. So I will also assume that you are in touch with the previous chapters we studied, and I will not take too much for granted, I will explain a little bit also. I will have a balanced approach. With this background, we will enter into the 18th chapter.

Verse No .01

अथाष्टादशोऽध्यायः ।

अर्जुन उवाच ।

संन्यासस्य महाबाहो तत्त्वमिच्छामि वेदितुम् ।

त्यागस्य च हृषीकेश पृथक्केशिनिषूदन ॥ १८-१॥

संन्यासस्य महा-बाहो तत्त्वम् इच्छामि वेदितुम् ।

त्यागस्य च हृषीकेश पृथक् केशि-निषूदन ॥ १८-१॥

हे महा-बाहो! हे केशि-निषूदन हृषीकेश ! (अहम्) संन्यासस्य त्यागस्य च तत्त्वम् पृथक् वेदितुम् इच्छामि ।

In spite of so many chapters of clear teaching and that too coming from the साक्षात् नारायण himself, अर्जुन manages to have questions and doubts. So you can imagine how knowledge is not that easy. It involves elaborates dialogue, one cannot give knowledge just like that, it is a material to be handed over, it requires consistent teaching for a length of time. And every statement leads to newer and newer questions called अनुप्रश्न and the teacher will have to clarify, it will remove the doubt, but will produce another, that is why we said knowledge takes place through consistent and systematic dialogue. And in spite of this elaborate dialogue, at least the version we get, अर्जुन manages to have a doubt and now this is the last question raised by अर्जुन, which is the seed for the entire 18th chapter and the अर्जुन's question is regarding संन्यास or renunciation. Renunciation is one topic which has been bugging अर्जुन's mind and अर्जुन has special interest in संन्यास in this context. In fact, everybody will get interest in संन्यास at certain moment. What moments? When there are problems. When everything is fine, nobody talks about renunciation, no hotchpotch, but when there are problems around people think of ऋषिकेश, people think of आश्रमस and अर्जुन also when he was actually in the forests, he never talked about संन्यास. In fact, that was the ideal place, he should have stayed there. So at that time, he very badly wanted to get back his kingdom, but now in the battlefield, when his duty happens to be a bitter duty, wherein he has to kill his own kith and kin, with whom he has got intense attachment, the duty is very very unpalatable and he wants to escape from the duty and he wants some justification for that and the ideal justification is what: संन्यास. Therefore, even at the end of the first chapter, we saw अर्जुन dropped his bow and arrow and he even said a life of संन्यास is better. And then because of some पुण्यम्, he surrendered to Lord कृष्ण and asked for the teaching, hoping that कृष्ण will prescribe संन्यास. Many times we go to स्वामिs with questions, but we don't want स्वामिs' answer, we want a particular answer coming from स्वामि, so that my answer is validated, most people come for validation rather than clarification and until you give the answer that they want, they will be repeating the question. They will present in this way and that way and the moment they get an answer which they want, they will say ‘स्वामिजि you are absolutely correct,’ they give certificate to स्वामिजि. So therefore, अर्जुन wanted संन्यास and he was waiting for कृष्ण to endorse संन्यास and if अर्जुन is smart, कृष्ण is smarter, because कृष्ण knew अर्जुन is thinking of escapist संन्यास. Escapist संन्यास will never work, if you have problems. Never take संन्यास when there is problem, solve the problem and when everything is fine, then take संन्यास, if you want to. So therefore, कृष्ण never wanted to talk about संन्यास, therefore कृष्ण gave a new definition to संन्यास, which is totally different from the traditional conventional definition. What is the conventional definition of संन्यास? A monastic life in which a person gives up everything and leaves home and snaps ties with everyone and everything. This monastic lifestyle is the conventional संन्यास. And it is talked about in the scriptures and it is an elaborate ritualistic procedure and it is called वैदिक संन्यासः, it is called आश्रम संन्यासः. This is the conventional meaning and it is this संन्यास that अर्जुन wanted. So that he can get out of this war. Because संन्यासि should not fight. But what does कृष्ण do? Instead of giving this traditional conventional definition, कृष्ण gives a new definition and that definition is what: कर्मयोग itself is the real संन्यास. Thus, the कर्मयोग way of life followed by a गृहस्थ is संन्यास.

अनाश्रितः कर्मफलं कार्यं कर्म करोति यः ।

स संन्यासी च योगी च न निरग्निर्न चाक्रियः ॥ ६-१॥

यं संन्यासमिति प्राहुर्योगं तं विद्धि पाण्डव ।

न ह्यसंन्यस्तसङ्कल्पो योगी भवति कश्चन ॥ ६-२॥

In the 6th chapter, in the first two verses, कृष्ण said this monastic person is not a real संन्यासि. Mere काषाय-wearer is not a संन्यासि. Then he said a गृहस्थ who gives up strong राग-द्वेष. A गृहस्थ has a tendency to develop strong attachment and aversion to things and people around, avoidance of this राग and द्वेष is संन्यास. So संन्यास is राग-द्वेष renunciation remaining in गृहस्थ आश्रम is संन्यास, He said. Thus, what is संन्यास? कर्मयोग in which राग-द्वेष are renounced is संन्यास. And even though this is an ingenious wonderful definition, अर्जुन is not happy because this definition does not suit him, because he cannot escape and take to monastic order. And therefore अर्जुन is repeatedly asking about this only, he questions कृष्ण again and again, assuming that at least one time कृष्ण will prescribe the monastic संन्यास, the life of a monk. And in the 18th chapter beginning is the last desperate attempt of अर्जुन and once again he asks Lord कृष्ण, “कृष्ण please tell me what is संन्यास?”, as though कृष्ण has not talked about this, कृष्ण has talked about several time, as I said in the 6th chapter itself, he has talked about, but अर्जुन wants to get his definition from कृष्ण’s mouth, like reporters want to take out statements from politicians. Like that अर्जुन wants to take out and therefore he asks the final question. So हे महा-बाहो! अर्जुन addresses Lord कृष्ण, Oh Lord! with powerful arms, संन्यासस्य तत्त्वम् वेदितुम् इच्छामि – I would like to know the true meaning or significance of the word संन्यास. And the literal meaning of the word संन्यास is giving up. सम् plus नि plus √अस् is the root from which the word has come, the root is √अस्, अस्त्यति is to throw away, सम् plus नि are prefixes, two prefixes are there, सम् and नि. सम् न्यास् means total and appropriate renunciation. Not partial renunciation of inconvenient things. Total renunciation of all possessions, all relationships, all bank balances, all the titles - स्वामि so and so MA, somebody had put, he had left everything but not MA. पद्मश्री स्वामि! Very difficult to give up title, so, therefore, सम् means total and permanent, not for one month and coming back after that. It is total and नि अस्, नि means proper, there is a ritualistic method just as joining a company is done in a formal manner and you resign from the company also in a formal manner, one month before and two months before and you have to make sure that somebody else takes over, there is a formal method, therefore when I take up duty it is formally done, when I give up that also must be formally done, this formal and complete renunciation is called सम् नि अस्, formal complete renunciation. This is the dictionary meaning of the word. अर्जुन wants to know the significance of this term. अहम् वेदितुम् इच्छामि. Then हृषीकेश, he addresses the Lord Again, Oh Lord! the Lord of Senses, हृषीकम् means इन्द्रियाणि, ईश means the Lord, who blesses the sense organs because Lord is the चैतन्यम्,

श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम् मनसो मनो यद् ॥ केनोपनिषत् १-२ ॥

He alone enlivens all our organs therefore, He is called हृषीकेश and another सम्बोधना, केशि-निषूदन, Oh Lord! who is the destroyer of the राक्षस known as केशि. केशि is the name of a राक्षस who appeared with the false face, false faced असुर. And that असुर, Lord killed and therefore He is called केशि-निषूदन. So Oh Lord! त्यागस्य च तत्त्वम् वेदितुम् इच्छामि. Second time you have to read. I would like to know the meaning of the word त्याग also, which is another significant word used in the scriptures. So संन्यास is one word, त्याग is another word.

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः । ... ॥
कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

That is used.

वेदान्त विज्ञान सुनिश्चितार्थाः संन्यासयोगाद्यतयः शुद्धसत्त्वाः । ... ॥
कैवल्योपनिषत् १-४ ॥

So संन्यास is one word and त्याग is another word. And what is the meaning of the word त्याग. From the dictionary, word त्याग also we know, it is derived from the root √त्यज्, to give up. The other is derived from the root √अस्, अस्यति to give up and here त्यज्, त्यजति to give up, त्यागः means what, again renunciation. Do both the words convey the same meaning or is there a shade of difference in these two words? And therefore, I would like to know the meaning of these two words. How? पृथक् – distinctly, I would like to know. So अर्जुन's last ditch attempt. So if कृष्ण says त्याग is monastic life or संन्यास is monastic life, take to काषाय and run away and also ऋषिकेश is near दिल्ली, near कुरुक्षेत्र, (not near चैन्नै,) so it is very close by. This is अर्जुन's question. कृष्ण is going to answer.

Verse No .02

श्रीभगवानुवाच ।

काम्यानां कर्मणां न्यासं संन्यासं कवयो विदुः ।

सर्वकर्मफलत्यागं प्राहुस्त्यागं विचक्षणाः ॥ १८-२॥

काम्यानाम् कर्मणाम् न्यासम् संन्यासम् कवयः विदुः ।

सर्व-कर्म-फल-त्यागम् प्राहुः त्यागम् विचक्षणाः ॥ १८-२॥

कवयः काम्यानाम् कर्मणाम् न्यासम् संन्यासम् विदुः, विचक्षणाः (च) सर्व-कर्म-फल-त्यागम् त्यागम् प्राहुः ।

भगवान् begins to give his answer from this verse. In the 2nd and 3rd verses, Lord कृष्ण gives the opinion of some sages or some scholars. These two verses are within quotation. These are not the views of the Lord, but these are the view of some scholars and Lord कृष्ण is going to disagree with them, at least partially, therefore from the 4th verse we will know the clear answer, but here कृष्ण gives the answer according to some other scholars. Renunciation is primarily associated with कर्म or action. Even though renunciation is associated with all things, including possession and relationship, generally renunciation is associated with कर्म or activity. In fact, that is the toughest job also, because not to do anything is the toughest thing. An idle mind is a devil's workshop, कृष्ण himself said before:

न हि कश्चित् क्षणम् अपि जातु तिष्ठति अकर्मकृत् । ... ॥ ३-९॥

Something or the other we have to do, that is why retirement becomes a very very big headache, not only for the retiring fellow, but for the other family members also and therefore they also suggest take up another job, it suits everyone. Very difficult to remain quiet. When to get सुखम् by keeping quiet and doing nothing. Very difficult. Therefore, generally, renunciation is associated with कर्म and in the शास्त्र, कर्म's are divided into five types, which I have talked about before, but you can briefly note here,

No.1 is called विहित कर्म, compulsory duties,

No.2, काम्य कर्म or सकाम कर्म, optional activities to be taken to if you want to, optional activities,

No.3 निषिद्ध कर्म, prohibited activity.

No.4 is प्रायश्चित्त कर्म, प्रायश्चित्त कर्म, i.e., remedial activities, an action done to remedy a निषिद्ध कर्म, प्रायश्चित्त कर्म becomes relevant when निषिद्ध कर्म is done and

No.5. नैमित्तिक कर्म, occasional duties when the situation arises. So the when children are born, what are the duties, which will not be relevant if the children are not there. If the children are grown up, what are the duties, which will not be relevant when they are babies. If grandchildren are there, what are the duties, thus they come under occasional duties.

So विहित कर्म, काम्य कर्म, निषिद्ध कर्म, प्रायश्चित्त कर्म, नैमित्तिक कर्म. Five types of कर्म's are there. Based on that, some people differentiate संन्यास and त्याग. What is the differentiation? Some scholars say काम्यानाम् कर्मणाम् न्यासम् संन्यासम्, renunciation is giving up of four types of कर्म, other than the first type. What is the first type? विहित कर्म, compulsory duties, keeping that only and giving up of all other कर्म's, what are they: काम्य कर्म, प्रायश्चित्त कर्म, निषिद्ध कर्म. So giving up of काम्य कर्म and the other etc., is understood, is called संन्यासः according to some scholars. That means one should retain the नित्य कर्म and even नैमित्तिक कर्म is considered to be compulsory. So two has to be kept. 1 and 5 are compulsory, and 2, 3, 4 can be given up. Giving up of 2, 3 and 4 is called संन्यास, retaining 1 and 5 – विहित and नैमित्तिक. विहित is sometimes called नित्य also, नित्य and नैमित्तिक कर्म are retained, काम्य, निषिद्ध and प्रायश्चित्त कर्म are given up. This कर्म renunciation is called संन्यास. Then what is त्याग? According to those scholars, सर्व-कर्म-फल-त्यागम्. After giving up 2, 3 and 4, I hope you know, this person retains 1 and 5, viz., नित्य and नैमित्तिक, occasional duties and compulsory regular duties and they say when these duties are performed they can be done for material benefit or with a motive of spiritual growth. When we do our compulsory duties, like raising children, we may do our duty with two different motives, one motive is that those children will compensate when I am old. Keeping account of all things, how much capitation fee have I given, some people keep a contract also, when you start earning you have to repay to me. So when I do my duty towards my children, expecting material benefits, that is materialistic motive. When I do my duties without expecting anything, other than my inner growth, I don't expect anything. If they do their duty towards me, I am lucky. If they don't do their duty towards me, that is my प्रारब्ध. What to do? They may send me to old age home. So when a person does नित्य, नैमित्तिक कर्म without expecting even acknowledgment or compensation, that renunciation of materialistic result, कर्म-फल-त्यागः. कर्म-फलम् of 1 and 5. So, 1 and 5 कर्म should be done and giving up of the result of that कर्म, non-expectation is called त्यागः, according to these people. So कर्म त्यागः is संन्यास and कर्म-फल-त्यागः is त्यागः. So, सर्व-कर्म, here सर्व means, सर्व 1 and 5 कर्म, all the 1st type and the 5th type कर्म are done, without expecting any award or reward, that is called त्यागः. According to whom? कवयः विचक्षणाः. कवयः means learned people, विचक्षणाः means enlightened people or experts in the शास्त्र, शास्त्र कुशल. So, this is not कृष्ण's view but this is the view of some scholars. What is कृष्ण's view? We will see from the 4th verse onwards. Verse no.3;

Verse No .03

त्याज्यं दोषवदित्येके कर्म प्राहुर्मनीषिणः ।

यज्ञदानतपःकर्म न त्याज्यमिति चापरे ॥ १८-३॥

त्याज्यम् दोषवत् इति एके कर्म प्राहुः मनीषिणः ।

यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम् इति च अपरे ॥ १८-३॥

एके मनीषिणः कर्म दोषवत् (अस्ति तस्मात्) त्याज्यम् इति प्राहुः, अपरे च यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम् इति (आहुः)।

Another two opinions are brought in here. In the previous verse, it was pointed that three types of कर्म are to be renounced, काम्य, निषिद्ध and प्रायश्चित्त and with regard to the renunciation of those three there is no controversy. But there is a controversy, regarding the 1st and 5th type of कर्म, compulsory regular duties and compulsory occasional duties, compulsory regular duties are called विहित or नित्य कर्म, compulsory occasional duties are called नैमित्तिक कर्म. With regard to नित्य and नैमित्तिक there is a debate. What is the debate? Whether a spiritual seeker can give up नित्य, नैमित्तिक कर्म at all? Whether a spiritual seeker can give up कर्म No.1 and 5 at all? For 2, 3, 4 no controversy is there. One and five, one can drop or not? And कृष्ण says, there is also difference of opinion. There are two groups of people, one for and one against. Just like in America, Pro-Life and Anti-Life. So what are the two debates? One group of people say, कर्म त्याज्यम्, all कर्मs should be given up, which means No.1 and No.5 also, not only काम्य, निषिद्ध, प्रायश्चित्त, but even नित्य and नैमित्तिक कर्म should be given up. Only when you give up all the कर्मs, you can pursue spirituality totally, thus some scholars say. Therefore, कृष्ण says मनीषिणः एके, there are some scholars, learned people who say, कर्म त्याज्यम्, any कर्म is to be given up. Why? दोषवत्. Because wherever कर्मs or duties come, there will be stress and strain in the mind. Duty means first of all conflict and secondly tension and we don't whether we will be able to completely it or whatever duties we have taken, you complete and better get out of it, otherwise when you will take up वेदान्त, the other duties will obstruct. You will be trying to meditate, चित्-आनन्द रूप शिवोऽहम् शिवोऽहम्, but only all the other things will hover around. You will never get a relaxed mind at all. Who says? Some scholars say. You may agree or you may not agree, I am not asking your opinion. Some scholars say that duty means tension, worry. Therefore, दोषवत् – it is full of दोष, दोष means stress and strain and tension and therefore what should you do, give up whatever you have taken, you complete, not in the middle and later don't take any fresh one. Generally we take first generation duties, i.e., first baby sitting, thereafter we have got second generation duties, called second baby sitting - grandchildren baby-sitting and thereafter, third generation duties - great grandchildren baby-sitting. Where is the end for all these? Can one take bath in the sea, after the waves have subsided? This is their (not Mine) argument. एके मनीषिणः प्राहुः. Therefore what is their conclusion? Even नित्य-नैमित्तिक कर्म should be given up. This is their view. Whereas there is another group which says, यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम्. The 1st and the 5th one, 1st and 5th means विहित कर्म and नैमित्तिक कर्म, generally called नित्य, नैमित्तिक कर्म, your family duties, your personal duties, your social duties, they should never be given up. And especially they are called यज्ञः, दानम्, तपः, those activities which are meant in the form of service to others, so your service to family, service to society, in short पञ्च महायज्ञs are compulsory and then दानम्, first thing we would like to renounce is what? दानम्. So therefore this group says दानम् and then तपः, तपः means what? We have seen before discipline or moderation. These three कर्म, known as नित्य-नैमित्तिक कर्म or पञ्च महायज्ञs, न त्याज्यम् you should never give up. In the name of वेदान्त, don't give up your पूजा, especially माण्डूक्य कारिका, we are criticizing उपासना, you have to continue any पूजा because that alone takes care of ईश्वर प्रसाद factor. I said प्रयत्न, प्रसाद and character. Lord's grace flow must be there, until we get the knowledge completely and if your duties are creating tension, find out methods of neutralizing the tension, never give up the duties, neutralize the tension caused by duties. How to neutralize tension? All these we have seen in the गीता.

अनन्याः चिन्तयन्तः माम् ये जनाः पर्युपासते ।

तेषाम् नित्य-अभियुक्तानाम् योग-क्षेमम् वहामि अहम् ॥ ९-२२॥

Therefore this group says, you continue in गृहस्थ आश्रम and continue to do your duties and if you get tension, you learn how to neutralize that and remaining in duties attend Sunday classes. That is the right method. This is the opinion of another group. So what are the two opinions? Duties should be given up is one. Duties should never be given up is the second opinion. इति दोषवत् कर्म त्याज्यम् एके मनीषिणः, मनीषिणः means learned people declare and अपरे – some other scholars say that these should never be given up. Consolidating what are the views we have got? Previous verse we said, giving up of कर्म is संन्यास, giving up of कर्म-फलम् is त्याग. And in the giving up of कर्म also, partial giving up is संन्यास, according to some people. Total giving up of कर्म is संन्यास, according to second group. These are the various opinions, but even if we don't understand it doesn't matter, because it is the opinion of other people. What is the important thing that we have to understand is कृष्ण's view. And what is कृष्ण's view? That is given from the 4th verse, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 04-07

The 18th chapter of the गीता begins with a question from अर्जुन dealing with topic of renunciation, which is sometimes called संन्यासः, which is sometimes called त्यागः and अर्जुन wants clarification with regard to this term, because throughout the भगवद्गीता, कृष्ण has avoided giving the real meaning of the word संन्यास or त्याग. In the वैदिक tradition, there is a traditional संन्यास, which every हिन्दु knows, the moment I use the word संन्यासि, you will get that idea very clearly, even an illiterate person on the road knows what is or who is a संन्यासि. And that traditional meaning of the word संन्यास is physically giving up everything, by going through a religious ritual and taking to monastic life or becoming a monk. And by taking to such a lifestyle, a person is free from all the worldly duties. No more family duties, community duties or social duties, the scriptures give him a special exemption. And the scriptures give him the special exemption, for the sake of one purpose and the purpose is that person is going to exclusively pursue वेदान्त श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासन. Only under that condition, what condition, he should spend the rest of his life only in the spiritual pursuit. And if he has attained spiritual enlightenment, thereafter also he dedicates his life for the spread of the spiritual knowledge. So for the sake of study, or for the sake of teaching, study of the spiritual teaching or spreading the spiritual teaching, an exclusive lifestyle, शास्त्र allows and it is this संन्यास, a monastic order, called आश्रम संन्यास, this is the popular and correct meaning also. But this संन्यास is allowed only for those people who have initially performed the duties and purified the mind. Performance of duties, plays a very important role in spiritual purification, discharging my duties to the family, it is called ऋणम् – देव ऋणम्, पितृ ऋणम्, ऋषि ऋणम्, etc., we have duties to family, the forefathers, the society, the scriptures, the gods and initially a person has to discharge the duties which will purify the mind. After the purification of the mind and only after the purification of the mind, such a monastic lifestyle is allowed in the tradition. And if a person doesn't have the purified mind, our scriptures conclude that a monastic lifestyle will become disastrous. Without the purification of mind if a person becomes a संन्यासि, it will be harmful to himself, it will be harmful to the society and it will be harmful to the very order and sanctity of संन्यास and it will be harmful to the very काषाय वस्त्रम्. And therefore, the scriptures' approach is: Do the duty, purify the mind and after the purification of the mind, if you want, you can take to monastic lifestyle. But before the purification of the mind, one should not talk about संन्यास. And कृष्ण views अर्जुन as an unfit person for the monastic order, because कृष्ण feels अर्जुन requires the performance of the duty for some more time and thereafter only if at all we can even think and therefore कृष्ण doesn't want to talk about the regular संन्यास in the form of monastic order and therefore he gives a figurative compromised definition of संन्यास. And compromised definition is doing the duties, giving up the राग-द्वेष. So the new definition of संन्यास is not the renunciation of the duty, but the renunciation of राग-द्वेष, attachment and aversion. And this कृष्ण has been doing all the time, but अर्जुन is not able to swallow this new definition, because the traditional definition he has heard. And therefore, अर्जुन once again makes a final attempt and asks for the definition of these two words and first कृष्ण gives the definition according to some other scholars and that definition was given in verse no.2 and 3, which we saw in the last class. And according to those scholars, संन्यास is renunciation of कर्म is संन्यास. Renunciation of action is संन्यास and renunciation of कर्म-फलम् is त्याग. So the definition and the differentiation according to some other scholars is कर्म renunciation is equal to संन्यास, कर्म-फल renunciation is equal to त्यागः. And having agreed with this differentiation, they make a further study on संन्यास. What is संन्यास? कर्म renunciation. What is त्याग? कर्म-फल renunciation and when they debate further, they are able to agree with the definition of त्याग, there is consensus. But with regard to संन्यास, there are two groups. Even though they agree that कर्म renunciation is संन्यास, their further debate is whether कर्म renunciation should be total or partial. They agree कर्म renunciation is संन्यास, but their internal debate is whether कर्म renunciation should be total or partial and there they have got two groups. And the first group says, total कर्म renunciation is संन्यास. And the second group says, No No No, not total कर्म renunciation, but only partial कर्म renunciation is संन्यास. There is no problem with regard to त्याग, in कर्म-फल renunciation there is no problem. But they have an issue in कर्म renunciation; partial - according to one group, total - according to another group. And when the second groups says that partial कर्म renunciation is संन्यास, the question comes which part? So they say spiritual कर्म should not be renounced, non-spiritual कर्म renunciation is संन्यास. Spiritual and non-spiritual कर्म renunciation is संन्यास, that is the definition according to the total group. The partial group says you retain spiritual कर्म and non-spiritual कर्म renunciation is संन्यास, and कर्म-फल renunciation is त्याग. Thus there is lot of debate going on. And having introduced the opinions of others, now कृष्ण comes forward and gives his verdict, the supreme court, previous ones are local high court. Now कृष्ण wants to give His verdict, which comes in the following verses. We will read verse no.4;

Verse No .04

निश्चयं शृणु मे तत्र त्यागे भरतसत्तम ।

त्यागो हि पुरुषव्याघ्र त्रिविधः सम्प्रकीर्तितः ॥ १८-४॥

निश्चयम् शृणु मे तत्र त्यागे भरतसत्तम ।

त्यागः हि पुरुष-व्याघ्र त्रिविधः सम्प्रकीर्तितः ॥ १८-४॥

हे भरतसत्तम! तत्र त्यागे मे निश्चयम् शृणु । हे पुरुष-व्याघ्र! त्यागः हि त्रिविधः सम्प्रकीर्तितः (अस्ति)।

हे भरतसत्तम! कृष्ण is addressing अर्जुन, सत् means a noble person, सत्तमः is the superlative degree, सत् ततः, ततमः. And what is the superlative degree of noble? Noble, nobler, the noblest and the noblest among whom: भरतसत्तम, हे अर्जुन! who is the noblest among the descendants of भरत वंश. शृणु – may you carefully listen to, what: मे निश्चयम् – My verdict with regard to संन्यास and त्याग. And the first verdict that कृष्ण wants to give is an implied verdict. The most important verdict is implied in this verse. शङ्कराचार्य brings out the implication, we have to supply. What is that implied verdict? There is no difference at all between संन्यास and त्याग. According to कृष्ण, संन्यास and त्याग are synonymous and therefore, कृष्ण disagrees from the previous group of people, because the previous group differentiated these two. How they did differentiate? Renunciation of कर्म is संन्यास, renunciation of कर्म-फलम् is त्याग, such a shade of difference they made. According to कृष्ण there is no shade of difference, संन्यास is equal to त्याग, त्याग is equal to संन्यास; both mean renunciation. Then the next question what is the definition of this renunciation, which is called संन्यास, which is also called त्याग, what is the definition of that renunciation? कृष्ण says, this renunciation is three-fold, हे पुरुष-व्याघ्र! So हे पुरुष-व्याघ्र means the greatest among human beings. व्याघ्र means what? Tiger. He is Tiger in Mathematics. Like that व्याघ्र means a gem, a great one, पुरुष-व्याघ्र means a great one among the human beings. So हे अर्जुन! the greatest one, त्यागः त्रिविधः सम्प्रकीर्तितः – renunciation is three-fold and here त्याग you should equate to संन्यास also, because according to कृष्ण, त्याग and संन्यास are synonymous. Therefore, how should you read? त्यागः त्रिविधः, which means संन्यासः त्रिविधः, three-fold. Now it has become complicated. He wanted to know only the difference between these two. Now कृष्ण has replaced the two by three. There are three types of renunciation. Now अर्जुन is curious to know what are the three types of त्याग, otherwise called संन्यास? And before defining these three types of renunciation, कृष्ण wants to pass a general important remark and based on that only he is going to build-up his opinion on renunciation. Therefore, अर्जुन, before understanding renunciation, you should know one basic principle. What is the basic principle, that he gives in the next verses. Next two verses 5 and 6 कृष्ण gives a very very important general principles, worth remembering, which is one of the corner-stones of वैदिक teaching. We will read verse no.5;

Verse No .05

यज्ञदानतपःकर्म न त्याज्यं कार्यमेव तत् ।

यज्ञो दानं तपश्चैव पावनानि मनीषिणाम् ॥ १८-५॥

यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम् कार्यम् एव तत् ।

यज्ञः दानम् तपः च एव पावनानि मनीषिणाम् ॥ १८-५॥

यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम् तत् कार्यम् एव । यज्ञः दानम् तपः च (एतानि) मनीषिणाम् पावनानि एव (सन्ति) ।

Before talking about renunciation, the first thing we have to observe is who is listening to the definition, so that teaching of संन्यास will depend upon the audience. So the वेद itself approaches this topic in two-fold ways, depending upon the level of the student and scriptures divide the entire humanity into two types, broadly: one type is those people who have got ज्ञानयोग्यता. You may call it a mature mind, a purified mind, a prepared mind, which can take to a life without any relationship. A human mind, the emotional mind generally looks for relationship. And the health of the emotional mind is heavily dependent on the relationship. If certain healthy relationships are absent, then the human mind can go crazy. It wants companionship. It wants to claim some people as mine, you belong to me and it wants some people to claim that I belong to you. So, it wants relationship, companionship. Without that the mind feels lonely and it will get into several type of psychiatric problem. In fact, generally the psychiatric people will say that संन्यासिs will have several psychological problem. You talk to a psychiatric privately and he will say that all संन्यासिs will have psychological problems, because human mind requires companionship, relationship. A mind which doesn't have a strong bonding with someone or the other, that mind will face lot of problems and therefore the scriptures say you should talk about संन्यास only to those people whose minds are ready. This कृष्ण has said in the 5th chapter itself.

संन्यासः तु महाबाहो दुःखम् आमुम् अयोगतः । ... ॥ ५-६॥

Taking काषाय is easier. Running away from house is easier. दयानन्द स्वामिजि always says, before he took संन्यास he want to हिमालयs and met so many संन्यासिs and he expressed his desire to become संन्यासि and most of the संन्यासिs there, they were strongly advising स्वामिजि against taking संन्यास. We did mistake and we are like the monkey who lost the tail, kindly don't commit that mistake and the unfortunate thing is any other आश्रम you can enter and if it doesn't suit you, you can come out. From ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम you can go to गृहस्थ आश्रम, from गृहस्थ आश्रम to संन्यास आश्रम. But from संन्यास आश्रम, you cannot come back, it is a one way traffic and therefore, there are many many miserable संन्यासिs not happy with the life they lead, because mind wants change, wants to talk to four people, and generally what happens, if you go to बद्री or केदार and if you want to meet some संन्यासिs, you are the rare audience for them and you will find they will never leave you and they will go on talking and you will be observing the watch on and off, because you have come with a next train to catch, etc., because they don't have even somebody to talk. There is no variety in dress, morning काषाय, evening काषाय, next day काषाय, no designer cloth, no different hairstyle. What style can a shaven head have? And regular भिक्षा is rice and दाल् or दाल् and रोटी, that is the only भिक्षा. It ia all fine for a day or two, for a week or two; it requires a type of mind and therefore the tradition will talk about संन्यास only after making sure that person is ready. That is why in the उपनिषत्s alone, the real संन्यास is talked about. But if the person is not ready and majority of humanity is not ready, then the definition will change. And कृष्ण is addressing the majority group now. Therefore, the following definition of संन्यास is in keeping with the majority of humanity, which is not mature in mind. And therefore कृष्ण addresses the अशुद्ध अन्तःकरण people, अशुद्ध अन्तःकरण people means what? People who are not yet ready. And what should they remember? कृष्ण says यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म न त्याज्यम्. Never think of renouncing the religious way of life, it is a very important support for the emotional mind. If you want to avoid drugs, if you want to avoid liquor, if you want to avoid all the other practices and if you want to enjoy a sane mind, a religious lifestyle is useful. In fact, in India, if majority of people is reasonably sane, it is only because of religion, because in all other respects we are big zero. Poverty is so high, no water, nothing is available. According to the principles of sociology, either we should have gone crazy or there must have been a revolution in India. But no revolution happens. And we are reasonably sane, means even in slums people are smiling, it is the religion that is keeping the sanity of Indians. And therefore, कृष्ण says here यज्ञ-दान-तपः-कर्म, there are three basic religious disciplines, never give them up. What are those three religious disciplines? यज्ञ, worship of the Lord in some form or the other, even now you go to temples and especially during प्रदोषम्, you will find people forget all their problems, road problem, water problem, food problem, corruption problem, etc., and going there they will blissfully pray forgetting everything. Then दानम् – sharing, even now India is a country which has got a high level of charity in spite of poverty. There was an article some time back. They have calculated the amount of money that is given in charity in India. It runs 2,200 crores or something. Even a villager who has got Rs.100, if a संन्यासि goes, he has an idea that he has to give दक्षिणा. One स्वामि was telling that he went to a slum area, where people are extremely poor, they don't have any possession, by the time he went around in front of many huts, he had received so many 5 paisa coins and 10 paisa coins, they don't have money, but even out of that meager amount they want to give. A rich man giving Rs.100 is not a great thing, but a slum person giving 5 paisa that is because of दानम्. That स्वामि says I felt like shedding tears, because they don't know from where the next meal comes, still they value ochre robed person. And if that स्वामिजि had said I will not receive that money, because you are poor, they would have felt offended. And In fact, they will curse themselves that they are not fortunate enough that he is accepting my donation and they will still feel bad and therefore, he said I received that money. And the interesting truth is of the 2,200 crores दानम् or so, 60 or 70% is from the village. Richest people are in the city, but the poorest charity is in the city. Why they are giving is because it is a वैदिक value. If you get 5 paisa income, then 1 paisa has to go to charity. This is the वैदिक injunction,

तमेतम् वेदानुवचनेन ब्राह्मणाः विविदिषन्ति यज्ञेन दानेन तपसाऽनाशकेन ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-२३ ॥

And therefore कृष्ण reinforces the बृहदारण्यक injunction दानम्. Whatever little you share with others. And the next one is तपस्, we have seen तपस् in the previous chapter, three types of यज्ञः. In the 17th chapter, three types of दानम् we saw and तपस् also करण दृष्ट्या and गुण दृष्ट्या तपस्, austerity and these three religious practices you should never give up. You may choose to settle in New York, but never give up these three practices. So, यज्ञ-दान-तपः. कर्म is not the fourth item, कर्म is the common factor to be added to all these three, यज्ञ-कर्म – the discipline of यज्ञ, दान-कर्म – the practice of दानम्, तप-कर्म – the practice of austerity or simplicity, न त्याज्यम् – never give up. On the other hand, कार्यम् एव it has to be done, whichever part of the world you live. Why you should do them? Because these are the three prominent disciplines which will prepare you for spiritual knowledge. If you value spiritual knowledge you should value the preparation also and if you value the preparation you have to value these three. Therefore कृष्ण says यज्ञः दानम् तपः च एव – these three fundamental religious practices are पावनानि. पावनानि means purifiers of the mind. And what do you mean by purification? Removal of all the emotional obstacles to Vedantic study. And the first and foremost obstacle is what? Whether वेदान्त is required or not, is the basic obstacle. Is there any relevance to वेदान्त? When there are impurities in the mind, our conclusion will be वेदान्त is not required. For what purpose? We are going to jobs, we are earning, we are able to have children, we are able to educate them and we have got food, why religion, why temple, why scriptural study and there are some people who argue those people who have got fear they require God. Therefore, religion is for the weak mind, this is the conclusion of many people. We say religion is not for a weak mind. Religion is for a mature mind. When the mind becomes mature, we know the importance of God, we know the importance of spiritual knowledge and if we don't feel the relevance, it is a very very unfortunate obstacle, we call it a type of पापम्. Even though that person is very rich, people will say he is पुण्यवान्, because money is there, but वेदान्त calls, वेदान्त tells that he has पापम्, because he has not yet understood the relevance of spiritual pursuit. And therefore यज्ञः दानम् तपः च एव, all these three are purifiers. For whom? मनीषिणाम् – for the intelligent human being they are all very valid. And therefore शङ्कराचार्य adds a note, which कृष्ण wants to avoid, but शङ्कराचार्य adds as a footnote, you are allowed to renounce all these three. कृष्ण doesn't want to say that, but शङ्कराचार्य adds a note, you are allowed to renounce all these three, after ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्ति. And this Lord कृष्ण also agrees in the 66th verse of this chapter, सर्वधर्मान् अपि परित्यज्य, धर्मान् means यज्ञ-दान-तप कर्माणि, you can renounce after acquiring the eligibility. Till that no opening the mouth, reasonably be religious, start from the applying the विभूति. No need to do big and big practices, just applying some religious mark itself is a very very big step. Now we are feeling very bad to declare our religiosity. Continuing;

Verse No .06

एतान्यपि तु कर्माणि सङ्गं त्यक्त्वा फलानि च ।

कर्तव्यानीति मे पार्थ निश्चितं मतमुत्तमम् ॥ १८-६॥

एतानि अपि तु कर्माणि सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा फलानि च ।

कर्तव्यानि इति मे पार्थ निश्चितम् मतम् उत्तमम् ॥ १८-६॥

अपि तु एतानि कर्माणि सङ्गम् फलानि च त्यक्त्वा कर्तव्यानि इति, हे पार्थ! मे निश्चितम् उत्तमम् मतम् (अस्ति) ।

Therefore, अर्जुन remember, these three basic religious activities one has to do. एतानि कर्माणि, these three important religious disciplines. What are they? यज्ञ-दानम्-तपः; कर्तव्यानि – you have to necessarily practice. And when you practice them, what should be your attitude? सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा – don't get attached to even the religious कर्म. Because later after purification you have to renounce them, that is important, you should follow them initially, but after some time there are people attached to rituals, they won't come to वेदान्त. Two extremes. One group never enters यज्ञ-दान-तपः, and there is another group which enters, but they never come out of them. What is intelligence? Enter, purify and get out. And after getting out what should you do? वेदान्त श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासन. Therefore, religious activities are important, but don't get attached even to them. Treat them as a साधन, not an end-in-itself. Therefore, सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा, without attachment and फलानि च, according to the scriptures, यज्ञ दानम् and तपः, these three religious disciplines can produce two types of पुण्यम्, यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः, they can produce two types of पुण्यम्. One पुण्यम् is called spiritual पुण्यम्, another पुण्यम् is called material पुण्यम्. What do you mean material पुण्यम्? You can understand, material पुण्यम् is that which will provide you with all material things. Big house, 24 hours running water, (this is important) and all electricity, A/c, car and all those things, if you have to enjoy the material comforts, you require some पुण्यम्. So यज्ञ, दानम् and तपस् can produce material पुण्यम् and the other is what, spiritual पुण्यम्. What do you mean by spiritual पुण्यम्? Spiritual पुण्यम् will not give you material benefit, on the other hand, it will produce internal benefit like अमानित्वम् अदम्भित्वम् अहिंसा क्षान्तिः, (in which chapter? 13th chapter and in the 16th Chapter,) अभयम् सत्त्व-संशुद्धिः, which we call दैवी सम्पत्, thus यज्ञ, दानम् तपः can give you inner transformation. And not only it will give you पुण्यम्, in the form of साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति and it will give another type of spiritual पुण्यम्, which will provide you with a competent गुरु. For that you need पुण्यम्. So the पुण्यम् that gives you a bungalow is different from the पुण्यम् that gives you a वेदान्त गुरु, both need पुण्यम्, but the quality of पुण्यम् is different. And it is not enough that you get a गुरु, you should have the facility to come to the class regularly. For that also you need पुण्यम्. Without any obstacles, Sunday after Sunday, if you have to come, health must cooperate, traffic must cooperate. So many things are there, they all require पुण्यम्, remember, if you are attending these classes, don't take it as a joke, in your पुण्यम् bank you have a got a very big balance. Or else you will not be able to come. Something will stop you. Therefore, when you do these यज्ञ-दान-तपः, you can choose which type of पुण्यम् you want, bungalow-car giving पुण्यम् or गुरु शास्त्र श्रवणम् you have to choose, because one of the two will be given, you can't ask for both. कृष्ण says you have to choose between the two and therefore कृष्ण advises: Don't choose material पुण्यम् फलानि च त्यक्त्वा, फलानि means material पुण्यम्, you don't ask for. Don't encash for the worldly benefit, that will come and go and you can earn and so you encash यज्ञ, दानम् and तपस् for what? These spiritual पुण्यम्, सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा फलानि च कर्तव्यानि. So दुर्लभम् त्रयमेवैतत् देवानुग्रहेतुकम् । मनुष्यत्वम् मुमुक्षुत्वम् महापुरुषसश्रयः ॥ विवेकचूडामणि ३ ॥ शङ्कराचार्य tells in विवेकचूडामणि. Being born a human being requires a पुण्यम्, there also developing interest in spirituality requires till greater पुण्यम् and having a conducive atmosphere to fulfill your spiritual urge that requires tremendous पुण्यम्. You may be in a city where roads are fine, everything is well provided, but everywhere you don't give an opportunity to study शास्त्र and therefore, may you do, यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः कर्म for this sake. इति निश्चितम् मतम् उत्तमम् – this is my considered verdict, निश्चितम् मतम्. What is my considered verdict? One should not give up these three, not only he should follow these three, he should utilize these three for spiritual purposes, rather than material. It is like a piece of sandalwood, can be used for burning or cooking the food or you can use the sandal wood for rubbing and applying. चन्दन तरु काष्ठम् इन्धनम् कुरुते. Who will use the sandal log for burning and cooking? Similarly, यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः should be used for spiritual benefit. So having made this general observation, कृष्ण is now going to talk about three types of renunciation. Verse no.7;

Verse No .07

नियतस्य तु संन्यासः कर्मणो नोपपद्यते ।

मोहात्तस्य परित्यागस्तामसः परिकीर्तितः ॥ १८-७॥

नियतस्य तु संन्यासः कर्मणः न उपपद्यते ।

मोहात् तस्य परित्यागः तामसः परिकीर्तितः ॥ १८-७॥

नियतस्य कर्मणः तु संन्यासः न उपपद्यते । मोहात् तस्य परित्यागः तामसः परिकीर्तितः ।

Thus three types of संन्यास कृष्ण is talking about are सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस संन्यास and all these three are from the standpoint of a person who is not yet ready. कृष्ण is keeping in mind an unprepared person and giving this teaching and the order in which he treats these three is तामस संन्यासः first, then राजस संन्यासः and सात्त्विक संन्यासः. Normally, in the 17th chapter, we saw the order is सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस. Now he reverses the order and when I talk about सात्त्विक संन्यास, you should understand कृष्ण doesn't make a difference संन्यास and त्याग, therefore, सात्त्विक संन्यास is the same as सात्त्विक त्याग. Similarly, राजस संन्यास is राजस त्याग. So in this 7th verse, तामस संन्यास is defined, 8th verse deals with राजस and the 9th सात्त्विक. So कृष्ण says here first - अर्जुन remember: कर्मणः संन्यासः न उपपद्यते – never renounce these three basic spiritual disciplines. Under no circumstances, you should renounce or you should never renounce these three, which three? यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः and whenever I say यज्ञः, the पञ्च महायज्ञs of the 3rd chapter you should remember, I am not going to those details. Those three together कृष्ण calls in नियत कर्म, नियतम् means compulsory, just as now-a-days they say physical exercise is compulsory for every human being for maintaining physical health. Therefore, now-a-days early morning you can see people walking with shoes. Because every other magazine is writing, you may diet, you may not diet, you may do anything, one thing inevitable for physical health is physical exercise, aerobic exercise. And they also show in the breakfast TV, but the problem is we regularly watch that, watching is not doing, you put on more weight. Just as physical health requires physical exercise compulsorily, कृष्ण says spiritual health requires these three compulsorily and therefore they are called नियत कर्म, नियतम् means compulsory. And if somebody argues, what will happen if I give up my regular exercise. So the consequences will not be suffered by the doctor, not by the newspaper. Not by the magazine, if I don't do the consequences will be suffered by me. Similarly, if I give up यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः, कृष्ण will not suffer, वेदः will not suffer, गीता will not suffer, स्वामिs will not suffer, I will have to pay very dearly. And therefore कृष्ण says नियतस्य. नियतस्य कर्मणः is equal to यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः कर्मणः संन्यासः न उपपद्यते. And there are some people who give up these compulsory religious activities, like people not doing physical exercise, giving one excuse or the other, including the स्वामिs, we also are doing the same thing. That is why we end up becoming गुरुs. गुरु has two meanings. One is गुरु and the other is heavy. We all face this problem. One side भिक्षा, only sweet; other side, no exercise. You get into problem. So therefore, if a person doesn't do the compulsory exercise, it can be because of any reason, due to several reasons. कृष्ण says some people do not practice them because they don't know their value. Just there are many illiterate people who do not understand the importance of exercise, that is why awareness is to be created, teaching is to be done, what happens if you don't move your muscles, they have to teach you. And therefore कृष्ण says there are some people who renounce them due to ignorance, ignorance of what? Ignorance of their value. So मोहात् तस्य परित्यागः – there are some people who gives them up out of delusion, out of ignorance, ignorance of their value. And ignorance is caused by which गुण? तमोगुण and therefore such a renunciation which is caused by ignorance, that is called तामस संन्यासः. So what is तामसिक renunciation? Renunciation of basic religious activity out of the sheer ignorance of their importance in maintaining my spiritual health, that is called तामस संन्यास. The details we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 07-10

In the beginning of the 18th chapter, अर्जुन asked a question to Lord कृष्ण, requesting the Lord to clarify the meaning of the two words, संन्यास and त्याग, both of them literally mean renunciation. And कृष्ण gave the opinions of different scholars and thereafter कृष्ण has started giving his own verdict or opinion. And according to कृष्ण, संन्यास and त्याग are both synonym. There is no shade of difference in the meaning, संन्यास is equal to त्याग, त्याग is equal to संन्यास, both mean renunciation. Thereafter, He divided this renunciation into three categories, सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस and He has started defining each one of the three. And instead of going in the normal order, कृष्ण has taken the reverse order. In the 7th verse, which we completed in the last class, कृष्ण has defined तामस संन्यास, later He will define राजस and सात्त्विक. And before giving such a definition, कृष्ण wants to make the context very clear, when the scriptures address an audience, what type of audience is kept in mind should be very clearly known, because the advice of the scriptures will depend upon the spiritual maturity of the audience. If this is not kept in mind, our scriptures will appear to be full of contradictions. In one place, scriptures will encourage the seeker to do actions and the very scriptures will encourage the student to renounce actions elsewhere. In one place the scriptures will say get married, in another place, the very same scriptures will say, get out of the house. In one place, the scriptures will say पूजा is very glorious, in another place, as we are seeing in माण्डूक्य, it says that every worshipper is an unfortunate person. Therefore, the scriptures will appear to be full of contradictions if the level of the student is not kept in mind. Broadly the students are classified into two levels, those students who already have purified the mind, the pure-minded-ones and in संस्कृत, we use the word ज्ञानयोग्यः or साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्नः. I will use the simple expression, the prepared-student. And another set of students, the scriptures keep in mind is the unprepared-student and the advice will depend upon whether the student is prepared or not. And कृष्ण wants to make it very clear, that now He is going to define संन्यास keeping in mind the unprepared-student. If He is addressing the prepared-student, His definition of संन्यास would have been totally different. So now He is keeping in mind those students who are full of राग-द्वेष, काम-क्रोधः, लोभ-मोहः, मद-मात्सर्यः, etc., (it is not finished, therefore etc., - my breath will last only up to that limit), etc. And this He made very clear by making one statement, अर्जुन, you should remember, all the unprepared students should remember that कर्म is extremely important for spiritual progress. An isolated, secluded, withdrawn life should not be thought about by an unprepared student. That person must be in the society and He should lead a busy life of कर्म. And the only thing he has to take care of is the कर्म should be chosen in such a way that they will promote spiritual growth. And the कर्मस are divided into three सात्विक कर्माणि, राजस कर्माणि and तामस कर्माणि, we saw in the 17th chapter. पर उपकार कर्माणि is सात्विक कर्माणि, those activities which will benefit more number of people. They are called परोपकार कर्माणि or सात्विक कर्माणि, they will contribute to spiritual growth predominantly; material growth they may contribute or not, spiritual growth is definite. The medium कर्मस, the राजस कर्माणिs are those which are called पर उदासन कर्माणि, those activities in which one does not take into account others at all. He lives only his personal blinkered life, he doesn't bother about even the existence of the society, he ignores the society; he neither does good to the society nor does he do any harm also. This is पर उदासन कर्माणि, उदासन means ignoring and these are called राजस कर्माणि, they will not contribute to spiritual growth also, they will not lead to spiritual downfall also, because he doesn't do any harm also, neither good nor bad, therefore, neither spiritual growth nor spiritual regression; spiritual stagnation takes place. He will neither go up nor down, he will be static like त्रिशङ्कु. They are called पर उदासन कर्माणि. Then the third lowest type of कर्म is पर अपकार कर्माणि, तामस कर्माणि, which are harmful to others and these are the lowest because, they lead to spiritual regression or downfall. Thus spiritual progression, spiritual stagnation, spiritual regression. सात्त्विक कर्माणि elevates, राजस कर्माणि maintains, तामस कर्माणि pulls you down. And a spiritual student's aim is to increase the proportion of सात्त्विक कर्माणि, to reduce the proportion of राजस कर्माणि and to eliminate तामसिक कर्माणि. On percentage basis, with 60% सात्त्विक कर्माणि one can progress faster and faster upwards and 35 % राजस कर्माणि, तामस कर्माणि should become minimum, if possible zero. This changing the proportion is going towards कर्मयोग level. And therefore, कृष्ण wants every unprepared student to remember the significance of सात्त्विक कर्माणि in spiritual growth and those कर्म alone कृष्ण calls यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः कर्म. Now in the 7th verse, कृष्ण says suppose an unprepared student renounces the कर्म, what कर्म? Even सात्त्विक कर्म (renouncing तामस कर्म is good, renouncing राजस कर्म is also good). Suppose an unprepared student (that idea is very important) renounces सात्त्विक कर्म also, by taking to संन्यास, giving up the society, family, whatever little good he was going he gives up and goes to an आश्रम or a secluded place, because the mind is not totally purified, he is unfit for वेदान्त. And therefore he will not be able to grasp the Vedantic teaching and the only purifying possibility of कर्मयोग also he has left behind. That person will be in a disastrous situation and कृष्ण says suppose an unprepared student renounces सात्त्विक कर्माणि. And this renunciation can happen due to two reasons: one reason is sheerly because of ignorance regarding the importance of सात्त्विक कर्म, how सात्त्विक कर्म will contribute to my purification or my daily पूजा, सन्ध्यावन्दनम्, or जप, or temple visit, or some दानम्, or some service to the society, how significant they are, this person does not understand, because the benefit of the सात्त्विक कर्माणि is non-tangible and abstract. Spiritual benefit is not quantifiable in terms of money or name or fame. चित्तशुद्धि is not a concrete thing and therefore some unprepared student out of ignorance, they renounce सात्त्विक कर्मs and take to even संन्यास without qualification. And दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, the danger is not only for the person, the danger is for संन्यास itself. The संन्यास institution gets contaminated, the काषाय वस्त्रम् gets contaminated, when it is taken by someone who doesn't deserve that and this wrong misplaced renunciation of सात्त्विक कर्मs by an unprepared student due to ignorance is called तामस संन्यास. So मोहात्, मोह here means what? अज्ञानम्. That is why it is generally said that whether I am fit for संन्यास or not it is better my गुरु decides. Because we will not know whether we are really mature or not or we may choose to take संन्यास, because situations are not favorable. Problems are there so I have taken संन्यास. Therefore, I can cheat myself, just as अर्जुन also was asking for संन्यास, because the duty is very very bitter and therefore, they say, even if you want संन्यास, go to a महात्मा, live under him for some time and let that महात्मा decide, whether this person is ready or not. Invariably गुरु alone decides. And शिष्य must be, of course, willing to accept. Or else when the गुरु talks of संन्यास, the शिष्य runs away and mulls over 'let me change the गुरु.' गुरु must suggest and शिष्य must be willing to accept and then alone it will work, otherwise, तामसः परिकीर्तितः, it is तामसिक संन्यास and there can be a second reason also for the renunciation of सात्त्विक कर्म by an unprepared (you should remember the context of the unprepared) student. What is the second reason? That is said in the next verse no.8;

Verse No .08

दुःखमित्येव यत्कर्म कायक्लेशभयात्यजेत् ।

स कृत्वा राजसं त्यागं नैव त्यागफलं लभेत् ॥ १८-८॥

दुःखम् इति एव यत् कर्म काय-क्लेश-भयात् त्यजेत् ।

सः कृत्वा राजसम् त्यागम् न एव त्याग-फलम् लभेत् ॥ १८-८॥

(यः) दुःखम् इति (मत्वा) एव यत् कर्म काय-वलेष-भयात् त्यजेत्, सः राजसम् त्यागम् कृत्वा त्याग-फलम् न एव लभेत् ।

So the second type of person. This person is also an unprepared student. He really requires सात्त्विक कर्म, but what does he do, he renounces सात्त्विक कर्म. What is the reason for renunciation? It is not ignorance. This person knows the significance of सात्त्विक कर्म, he has heard the भगवद्गीता and he also tells everyone सात्त्विक कर्मs are important and they are required to purify the mind, he knows thoroughly and he can give lectures also, but the problem is he won't do. Like many people who knows the significance of exercise. Not because of ignorance, they know and they don't do, what can be the reason, कृष्ण says the reason is because of their attachment to the body and the bodily comfort, they don't want to strain the body, they want to lead a comfortable life, if I have to go for a morning walk, no doubt, morning walk is very great, it will reduce cholesterol, he says I know, but I have to get up early and I have to walk, thus he doesn't want discomfort to the body, which means he has got attachment to the body. Attachment is रजोगुण, ignorance is तमोगुण. Here this person has no ignorance problem, the problem is bodily attachment. Therefore he doesn't want to take any pains. Even the नमस्कार also he doesn't want to do properly, you know there are different नमस्कारs, सत्सङ्ग नमस्कार, पञ्चाङ्ग नमस्कार and we have got the shortest cut नमस्कार and we always choose the shortest. Why? One has to bend and the back will pain, etc. Therefore कृष्ण says, काय-वलेष-भयात् – because of his concern for the body and because of his discomfort caused to the body, because of the fear of physical strain, काय means body, वलेष means strain, because of the fear of the physical strain. And unfortunately or fortunately, all our religious activities involve physical strain, प्रदक्षिण, सत्सङ्ग नमस्कार, then get up, then again नमस्कार, etc., etc., they have voluntarily kept so that you will not have देह अभिमान, the very aim of ritual is देह अभिमान त्याग, your laziness and attachment to the body should go away. Therefore, काय-वलेश-भयात् त्यजेत्. And what is his attitude towards कर्म? दुःखम् इति – with the notion that every कर्म is a strain. Every कर्म, every small कर्म and you ask him to go शबरीमलै, then he will say, ‘there is a temple near Santhome locality, I will go there.’ Why can’t you do तिरुवन्नामलै प्रदक्षिणम्, he will say ‘I will do it mentally. So any physical activity he has got wonderful excuses, because when tummy becomes bigger, excuses become more, as in the विनायक, सुब्रह्मण्य stories. When there was a competition to go round the world to get the mango, सुब्रह्मण्य being thin, immediately he went round the world. For विनायक, why round the world even round the कपालीश्वर temple is impossible. Therefore, his बुद्धि worked. What is that? Mother and father are as good as the whole world. And therefore, he did प्रदक्षिणम् to them. Therefore mind gives excuses, so दुःख इति कर्म त्यजेत्. सः कृत्वा राजसम् त्यागम् – such a misplaced renunciation of सात्त्विक कर्म, because of physical attachment is called राजस संन्यास. By doing such a renunciation, कृष्ण gives a warning that this person will not get any benefit, because even if he goes to an आश्रम, he will not able to study because the mind is not yet prepared. Therefore, त्याग-फलम् न एव लभेत् – he will never get the benefit of renunciation. This is a राजस संन्यास. And both of them कृष्ण doesn’t want people to take. So never renounce the सात्त्विक activities. Then what is सात्त्विक संन्यास? That is the one कृष्ण wants the people to take. That is defined in the 9th verse.

Verse No .09

कार्यमित्येव यत्कर्म नियतं क्रियतेऽर्जुन ।

सङ्गं त्यक्त्वा फलं चैव स त्यागः सात्त्विको मतः ॥ १८-९॥

कार्यम् इति एव यत् कर्म नियतम् क्रियते अर्जुन ।

सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा फलम् च एव सः त्यागः सात्त्विकः मतः ॥ १८-९॥

हे अर्जुन! कार्यम् इति (मत्वा) एव यत् नियतम् कर्म, सङ्गम् फलम् च एव त्यक्त्वा क्रियते, सः त्यागः सात्त्विकः मतः ।

Whereas a सात्त्विक person is one, who knows that I am not yet prepared. This is very important. I should clearly know where I stand, because the scriptures talk about various साधनs for students of different levels. Therefore, it is for me to decide where I stand, and this सात्त्विक person knows what I want is मोक्ष, मोक्ष requires ज्ञानम्, ज्ञानम् requires चित्तशुद्धि, चित्तशुद्धि requires सात्त्विक कर्माणि. See the clarity. I want मोक्ष, मोक्ष requires Self-knowledge, Self-knowledge requires purity of mind, purity of mind requires सात्त्विक कर्माणि. This clarity he has got. He doesn't suffer from the problem of ignorance. He has knowledge. Even if he has got knowledge, if he is attached to the bodily problem, he will say I know, but I won't do, whereas this सात्त्विक person doesn't have the problem of bodily attachment, he knows physical कर्मs involve physical strain. He won't call it a strain because he sees it as a necessity. And he sees the positive benefit coming out of that strenuous action and therefore this strain will not appear as strain, like the people who stand in तिरुपति queue for 14 hours, 16 hours, 24 hours, it may be a strain, but they value the दर्शनम्, this strain will not appear strain. Any means will appear as a strain if the end is lost sight of. Any means will appear as a pain when the end is lost sight of. When the end is kept in mind, the means will never be seen as a pain and therefore this सात्त्विक person, how does he think, कार्यम् इति एव, I have to do कर्म, पञ्च महायज्ञs. सात्त्विक कर्माणि I have to resort to, not for pleasing the गुरुs or gods or scriptures, for my own spiritual growth I require. That is why we say awareness is very very important. Action governed by awareness alone will stand. Any other amount of other people telling you to do exercise, one won't, but I should be educated and I should know the value of it. And therefore, कार्यम् – I have to do. इति नियतम् कर्म क्रियते – this person takes to activity and his aim is what, increasing the proportion of सात्त्विक कर्मs and certainly he has got so many selfish desires, he wants to buy a house, he wants to do this, he wants to do that. There are राजसिक selfish कर्मs also, not that they come to zero, but the thing is they are lesser compared to सात्त्विक कर्मs and the तामस कर्मs, harmful activities, he deliberately reduces. Even in the business that he takes to. When such a person gets lot of profits, there are so many industrial houses, every संन्यासि will pray for the success of the those industrial houses, you know why, because their profit are utilized for the benefit of the society. It is not they want to use all the money for their luxurious things. Their fund is used for schools, hospitals, वेद पाठशाला, आश्रमs. Society will pray for the profit, even संन्यासिs will pray for their profit. Therefore, doing business is not a materialistic action, if the business also contributes to पर उपकारम्. And therefore, नियतम् कर्म means सात्त्विकम् कर्म, यज्ञ-दान-तपः कर्म. पञ्च महायज्ञ कर्म, here is called नियतम्. Spiritually elevating activities this person does. Then if he is performing the कर्म, how can you categorize that into a type of संन्यास at all. We are talking about what? सात्त्विक संन्यास and सात्त्विक संन्यासि is not renouncing कर्मs, he is performing the कर्म, he has not renounced anything, then how can you call it as संन्यास. कृष्ण says this person renounces something else, he doesn't renounce the सात्त्विक कर्माणि, but he renounces something else, What is that? सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा – he renounces his attachment to those कर्मs. So सङ्ग means attachment to those कर्मs, because remember, even the सात्त्विक कर्मs are valid only until वित्तशुद्धि is attained. सात्त्विक कर्मs are meant for वित्तशुद्धि or ज्ञानम्? These are fundamentals, one should not forget. सात्त्विक कर्मs will never produce ज्ञानम्. They will produce वित्तशुद्धि, therefore until the purification of the mind, सात्त्विक कर्मs are valid, after purification I should be ready to either renounce or reduce the सात्त्विक कर्मs. And therefore don't get attached to even कर्म, even सात्त्विक कर्म. Later कृष्ण will say, सर्वधर्मान् अपि परित्यज्य. Therefore, never get attached to anything.

One great तमिऴ् saint says, ‘Cut asunder the desires, cut asunder the desires, cut asunder even if it be the desire for God.’ That we don’t say, because first one has to have इच्छा towards ईश to cut asunder! First let the इच्छा come, then cutting can be thought. The idea is ultimately I should not depend upon any external factor. Therefore, use the सात्त्विक कर्म as a means, don’t get attached to them as an end. Similarly, फलम् च एव. These सात्त्विक कर्मs have got two-fold benefit, the primary benefit is the spiritual benefit, the inner growth. That is the primary benefit for सात्त्विक कर्म. And there is a secondary benefit, a by-product, a spin-off, that is the material name and fame. The society will say he is a great परोपकारी, he has done good works, he should be given पद्मश्री, a reward should be given, a precious-cloth will be given, name and fame will come when a person does पर उपकार कर्माणि, but the one who practices the सात्त्विक कर्म, he should not be aiming at those by-products. If you are going to aim at by-product, if you are aiming at the by-product then they are no-more by-product, a by-product is a by-product only when you don’t aim it, as a bonus let it come or let it not come, I am doing it for my own inner spiritual growth. Thus, for सात्त्विक कर्मs, there is one मुख्य फलम् and there is अवान्तर फलम्. The example given is when you plant a mango tree for the sake of mangoes, mango fruit is primary benefit and there are so many secondary benefit for a mango tree. First water harvesting it will retain the water, the temperature will come down, because one tree retains so much ground water, so cooling is a by-product, shade you get is a by-product, and mango leaves, if you want to invite a स्वामि, for पूर्णकुम्भ mango leaves are readily available, and of course twigs will be available, in olden times it was used for fuel. All those things are called अवान्तर फलम्. सात्त्विक कर्मs have got spiritual growth as primary benefit, material spin-offs as the secondary benefit, a कर्मयोगि should not focus on the अवान्तर फलम्, that is called फलम् त्यक्त्वा. Don’t work for name, fame, recognition and climbing the corporate ladder. I thought at least this year I will get the promotion but could not get and the other person who joined the company after me, he has got, Why? Because he knows how to apply butter, he knows what are the real qualifications, working is a secondary qualification, for promotion you require other qualifications that he takes to; don't do like that. Therefore सङ्गम् फलम् च एव त्यक्त्वा, फलम् means अवान्तर फलम्, the material spin-off don't aim at. And such a renunciation, सत् त्याग, where I do noble कर्म the beauty is when I do it with understanding the very कर्म gives me joy, the very performance is the फलम्, like a good musician or like a good teacher even, a good teacher enjoys the teaching and if the student understands it is their पुण्यम्, if they don't understand some obstacles maybe there, the very teaching gives him the joy, for a musician the very singing gives him the joy, a कर्मयोगि enjoys as a कर्ता itself, he doesn't want to enjoy as a future भोक्ता. And if he enjoys as a future भोक्ता, it is a bonus for him because he has already enjoyed as a कर्ता. Enjoying as a कर्ता is कर्मयोग, doing कर्म for the sake of enjoyment as a future भोक्ता is called कर्म. For कर्मयोगि फलम् is instantaneous. For कर्मि there is an unpredictable future फलम्. Therefore कृष्ण says सङ्गम् फलम् च एव त्यक्त्वा यः यत् कर्म क्रियते, सः सात्त्विकः त्यागः. This is called सात्त्विक संन्यास. OK. From this श्लोक, we get a very important corollary. कृष्ण has defined सात्त्विक संन्यास as performing the कर्म, without being concerned about the material benefit; if it comes, good, if it doesn't come, OK. I am growing spiritually. And if by chance you remember the 3rd chapter, difficult, because this is 18th chapter, in which जाम्बवान्'s era we learned it! If by chance you remember the 3rd chapter or 2nd chapter कृष्ण has given the same definition for कर्मयोग,

योगस्थः कुरु कर्माणि सङ्गम् त्यक्त्वा धनञ्जय ।

सिद्धिं असिद्ध्योः समः भूत्वा समत्वम् योगः उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्याध्यात्मचेतसा ।

निराशीर्निर्ममो भूत्वा युध्यस्व विगतज्वरः ॥ ३-३०॥

The peculiar thing that we find is कर्मयोग of the 2nd and 3rd chapter, कृष्ण has presented now as सात्त्विक संन्यास. See the mischief, old wine in new bottle! May not be a nice example in the गीता class, but that is also a 'spiritual' example! OK. So कृष्ण wants अर्जुन to take to कर्मयोग. अर्जुन is refusing. Therefore now कृष्ण is presenting the same कर्मयोग as सात्त्विक संन्यास and therefore a कर्मयोगि is as good as a संन्यासि. Figuratively he is a संन्यासि, that alone in शास्त्र we call गौण संन्यास, which means figuratively he is a संन्यासि only, because whatever peace of mind a monk enjoys, whatever a peace of a mind a monk enjoys, a monastic person enjoys, the very same peace of mind this कर्मयोगि will enjoy because even though he has so many responsibilities, he is willing to accept the future as ईश्वर प्रसाद. So why should he worry; 'let it come I will accept.' Therefore he enjoys संन्यासि's peace of mind. Therefore, सात्त्विक संन्यास is equal to कर्मयोग is the most important corollary that we have to learn. So with this कृष्ण has defined all the three संन्यास. And we should also note, सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस संन्यास is the same as सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस त्याग, because in कृष्ण's vocabulary, संन्यास and त्याग are synonymous. Continuing;

Verse No .10

न द्वेष्ट्यकुशलं कर्म कुशले नानुषज्जते ।

त्यागी सत्त्वसमाविष्टो मेधावी छिन्नसंशयः ॥ १८-१०॥

न द्वेष्टि अकुशलम् कर्म कुशले न अनुषज्जते ।

त्यागी सत्त्व-समाविष्टः मेधावी छिन्न-संशयः ॥ १८-१०॥

(सः) त्यागी सत्त्व-समाविष्टः मेधावी छिन्न-संशयः (च भवति सः) अकुशलम् कर्म न द्वेष्टि, कुशले (च) न अनुषज्जते ।

So in these verses, 10, 11 and 12, कृष्ण is talking about the glory of कर्मयोग, which he has named presently as सात्त्विक संन्यास. So सात्त्विक संन्यास महिमा or कर्मयोग महिमा is talked about. A कर्मयोगि is one, who understands that he has duties in life, duty is the tax that one has to pay for living. For mere living, we have got certain duties, duty to myself, (What is duty to myself? Eating. We cannot say I don't like eating. Once you regularly eat, excretion becomes natural, you cannot stop that, that is also a part. पूजा room also is required, dining room also is required and toilet also is required, all are important and you have to bathe the body, you have to exercise the body. These are all duties to myself. If I fail in these duties, I have to pay the price in the form of physical sickness. There is no escape. You cannot cheat God, cheat the natural law.) Similarly, I have duties to the family in which I am. So if there is a set-up, children are there, for them if examinations come then the parents will have examination also! We have to tutor them. We don't know, because now-a-days children's lesson we have no learned at all. Therefore you have to study हिन्दि and you have to keep awake and regularly you have to give tea also, and all those things and work for admission. Now-a-days, the rule is every husband has to share domestic duties also. It is the new law, equality, gender equality means men have to cut vegetables, once in a while dish-washing, changing baby's diaper etc. So, whether you like or not, if you are married meditate for 7 days on these things and say I will accept. Or else only quarrels start between the husband and wife. Similarly, if I am in a country I have to pay taxes. You cannot say that you forgot to pay. One minister did so 'for 10 years I was busy serving the country that I forgot to pay the taxes.' One minute claimed it seems. I cannot do like that. Living means doing the duties. Certain duties are pleasant and there are many duties which are not that pleasant. कर्मयोगि means the first job that he does is he removes this division. Never call a duty as pleasant or unpleasant, tagging the duty as pleasant or unpleasant makes your life miserable, because you cannot escape from the duty. So, physically you do, mentally you reject. Internal rejection, external performance, there is a strain in the personality. Because there is a split, I don't want to do, but I have to do. A कर्मयोगि, what does he do, he cannot renounce the duty, so only way of avoiding this strain is I accept this as part of life. If I become a संन्यासि, visitors will come. I should not say, 'visitors are coming, so much hassle.' Should not be said like that. Why because that is occupational hazard. Every occupation has got its own hazards, in india they will gate crash. No appointment seeking habit. You cannot complain 'I want privacy.' संन्यासि and privacy will never go together. So thus every आश्रम has got its own duties, therefore कृष्ण says, त्यागि, त्यागि means सात्त्विक संन्यासि, कर्मयोगि, कृष्ण has quietly changed the word संन्यासि to त्यागि. From that it is very clear that from कृष्ण's vision, संन्यासि and त्यागि are synonymous. Here he is talking about a सात्त्विक संन्यासि, alias कर्मयोगि, अकुशलम् कर्म न द्वेष्टि – he does not hate any duty that comes in his way, he never complains, either internally or externally, because he knows that will cause stress and strain, it will affect the health in the long run. Even the job that I have taken, if I have joined a work, which I don't like, purely for the sake of salary. I had this example, anyway just an aside. In one school the principal wanted all the teachers to know our culture. The intention of the principal and the founders is that if the teachers know the values, they will impart the same to the children, so that the future of India will be wonderful because teachers have influenced. Therefore, they called me and they said that I should teach the teachers भगवद्गीता and they had kept after the school hours, because the regular classes should not be disturbed, from 4-5 or from 5-6 p.m it was arranged. And that was one of the worst experiences of my life, all the teachers were waiting for me to finish. Because many of them had taken the teachers job only to add to the income of their husband, because one person's earning is not enough so both have to earn and I can only become a teacher sheerly for the sake of salary (I don't say all the teachers, but many have done that) and therefore, their body language, their facial expressions. One poet sang a song, अरसिकेषु कवित्वनिवेदनम् शिरसि मा लिख मा लिख मा लिख ॥

सुभाषितसङ्ग्रहः ॥

Oh Lord, I am ready to accept any kind of शिरसि लिखितम्. But one thing I don't want, I have to share something with the people, who are not interested in receiving. He is a poet, he says I have to share my poetry with those people who are not interested, अरसिकेषु कवित्वनिवेदनम्. Oh Lord! don't put prescience of the volitions of such thing on me. Similarly, I had to pump भगवद्गीता and even Russian iron wall would have been thinner. This people had such powerful resistance. Anyway I managed somehow and because of that पुण्यम् only I got wonderful students! Like you! अकुशलम् कर्म न द्वेष्टि – he doesn't hate unpleasant duties. कुशले न अनुषज्जते – when there are pleasant duties, he doesn't get attached to them also. This is a सात्विक संन्यासि. And what will happen to him? In due course, after the vacation, he will be sufficiently grown up to receive the knowledge. Details in the next class.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 10-12

We are seeing the 18th chapter of the गीता, which begins with a question from अर्जुन, regarding the words संन्यास and त्याग. अर्जुन wants to know the significance of these two words and also whether there is any difference in these two words. And Lord कृष्ण answers this question and that is the topic in the first twelve verses of the 18th chapter. Verse no.1 to 12 – the topic of renunciation. Lord कृष्ण first gave different opinions of other ऋषिs and later He gave His own teaching and according to Lord कृष्ण, संन्यास and त्याग are synonymous, there is no difference at all in these two words, both mean renunciation. Thereafter, He talks about three types of renunciation named सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस संन्यास, which are the same as सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस त्याग. And while defining these three types of संन्यास, Lord कृष्ण deviates from the conventional definition. Because in this context Lord कृष्ण is dealing with a spiritual seeker, who is not yet refined. The definition of संन्यास will depend upon the person who is asking the question. Suppose a person has followed a religious life, taking to यज्ञ, दान and तपः and by following them for quite some time, if the person has refined the mind, to that person the definition of संन्यास will be different. What will be definition of संन्यास? We will address him: Oh Seeker! you have followed the rituals enough, you have gone to pilgrimage, you have done दानम् and you have lead a religious life and you have got the full benefit of those religious rituals, which is in the form of mental purification. And after the purification of the mind, spending time in rituals is redundant, it is like eating food after one has eaten and filled his stomach. For a person of purified mind, religious rituals are redundant and they become even an obstacle. And therefore to such a purified person, the definition of renunciation will be what? Giving up all the conventional religious activity and totally dedicating to वेदान्त श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्. सर्वधर्मान् परित्यज्य माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज ॥ १८-६६॥

Such a religious person does not require religious activities. For him renunciation will be what, यज्ञ, दानम् and तपः त्यागः, giving up of them. This is the definition given in the उपनिषत्. Suppose a person is not yet refined, which is the case of 95% of humanity. The mind is saturated with राग, द्वेष, काम, क्रोधः, लोभः and for such an impure mind, a religious lifestyle is inevitable. Because पूजाs alone will purify the mind. Rituals are required. जप is very much required, service to the society is inevitable. So for such an unrefined mind, the definition of renunciation will be different. कृष्ण says, if an impure person renounces religious rituals, if an impure person renounces religious rituals, that renunciation is inferior renunciation. And कृष्ण calls such a renunciation as तामस संन्यासः. So what is तामस संन्यास? Renunciation of rituals by an impure person or it will be called राजस संन्यासः, which also means improper renunciation and therefore अर्जुन, you also are of inferior variety, majority of humanity is unrefined, therefore if they give up religion, such a renunciation will be dangerous and therefore, don't give them up, because it is तामस and राजस संन्यास. Then what is सात्त्विक संन्यास for an unrefined person? For an unrefined person, सात्त्विक संन्यास is कर्मयोगः. And therefore, in the 9th verse, which is a very important verse, कृष्ण says for an impure person, सात्त्विक संन्यास is in the form of कर्मयोग, which means he should not renounce a religious way of life, यज्ञः is very important in the form of पञ्च महा यज्ञाः. 'Just because you have taken up the वेदान्त course, you should not stop पूजाs or visiting the temples or जप' कृष्ण is warning. It is a fake arrogant approach because, "I am अकर्ता, I am अभोक्ता, I am beyond all these things." But the next crisis comes at home, this so-called ज्ञानि is flat on the ground. As long as the worldly experiences continue to disturb me, as long as strong राग-द्वेष sway my mind, I should know I am not yet ripe, therefore let me be aptly and properly continue my devotion to इष्ट देवता, यज्ञः is important, दानम् is महा important, very important, तपस् is also required. And what do you mean यज्ञ-दान-तपस्? C/o 17th chapter, which we are supposed to have completed and which we are supposed to have revised during the vacation. Then the next question is if सात्त्विक संन्यास is called कर्मयोग, what is the basis for calling it a संन्यास? Because in कर्मयोग, a person is not renouncing यज्ञः, not renouncing दानम् or तपस्, he is performing all these three and if he is performing all these three, how do you call it renunciation? Because to name it renunciation one has to renounce something. And कृष्ण gave the reason and the reason is what, a कर्मयोगि renounces anxiety regarding future. A कर्मयोगि renounces anxiety regarding future. In fact, one who renounces anxiety is called a कर्मयोगि, then what does he do, according to his designation in family, according to his designation in the company, working place, according to his designation in the society, he keeps on doing what is to be done. As a father what I have to do, I do, I can contribute to the future of my children, but I can never control the future of my children. It is very very important. We can only contribute to the future of the children, but we can never control their future, we cannot control even their thoughts. We can create an atmosphere at home and hope that such a spiritual atmosphere will spiritually influence the children - we can hope only, we don't know what all MTV programs are doing to the children. And in schools and colleges, what all things are happening and how many classes they are cutting and going to movies etc., who knows. This is only with regard to children. Similarly, with regard to our own health in future, financial conditions, I do the best, as a कर्ता, I enthusiastically, deliberately, discriminatingly act, as a भोक्ता I am ready to accept.

यत् यत् भव्यम् भवतु भगवन् पूर्वकर्मानुरूपम् ॥

Oh Lord! according to the present कर्म and the past कर्म, what all have to happen in future I don't know, where is the question of controlling. I may get a some, a little bit limited idea, when the शनि दशा takes place, I may get some idea about what is in store, that too a rough idea only.

Only शनि भगवान् knows what is going to happen. So therefore, कर्मयोगि renounces anxiety. And second thing he renounces is the attachment to even religious activities. Religious activities are wonderful, he must sincerely do them, but even to them he should not have attachment in the sense, they are also a means not an end-in-itself. So any means we should take to the means, but overattachment to the means is also not correct. Imagine, the children say that the school is are wonderful, the teachers are wonderful so I will stay in the school itself, no parent will love that, it is nice to love the teacher and school, but a time should come when one has to transcend them. So this is called सङ्ग त्यागः and फल त्यागः. In simple English giving up a concern for the future, that is called कर्मयोग otherwise called सात्त्विक संन्यास. In the case of which person? An unrefined person, context should be clearly understood, in the case of unrefined person सात्त्विक संन्यास is कर्मयोग. And then in the 10th verse, which we completed before vacation, कृष्ण said what will happen to such a कर्मयोगि or called सात्त्विक संन्यासि, what will happen to him that was said,

न द्रष्टव्यकुशलं कर्म कुशले नानुषज्जते । ... ॥ १८-१०॥

कर्मयोगि is one who keeps on doing whatever has to be done, without grumbling, without grumbling thought, without murmuring. So in family life, we will have to do several things, you will have to stand in queue for school admission and for college admission, if we have to send them abroad we have to do so many things, then you get them married, lot of things are involved, for having got married and having got children we should not complain that those responsibilities are burdensome. Who asked you to marry? 'If you marry a devil you have to climb the drumstick-tree' So therefore, think before marrying, but once you marry you have to go along with every आश्रम. Don't think that संन्यास आश्रम is wonderful. That I alone know! Therefore संन्यास आश्रम has got its own problems. No आश्रम is wonderful. So they said that there is peace only in the graveyard. Life means plus and minus will be there, therefore, he doesn't categorize the duties as pleasant duties and unpleasant duties. Stop this categorization, then duties are duties. Never add an adjective, adding adjective is inviting stress and strain. And therefore अकुशलम् कर्म न द्वेष्टि – he doesn't hate an unpleasant duty and कुशले न अनुषज्जते – he doesn't get attached to a pleasant duty. He just does what he has to do. Who? त्यागि, त्यागि means कर्मयोगि, who is in this context called सात्त्विक त्यागि. So त्यागि means the सात्त्विक त्यागि, otherwise called कर्मयोगि. And to enjoy such an attitude, what type of mind he should have? सत्त्व-समाविष्टः. If my mind is predominantly राजसिक, I will never develop attachment to the duties and if my mind is predominantly तामसिक, I shirk or give up my duty. So neither attachment nor hatred, that balanced attitude is called सात्त्विक अन्तःकरणम्, कृष्ण said in 2nd chapter 45th verse:

त्रैगुण्य-विषयाः वेदाः निस्त्रैगुण्यः भव अर्जुन । निर्द्वन्द्वः नित्य-सत्त्वस्थः ...
॥ २-४५॥

Remaining in सत्त्वगुण means avoidance of both hatred and attachment with regard to the duties and therefore सत्त्व-समाविष्टः. What will happen to him? Soon he will get all the Vedantic qualification. The unrefined mind through कर्मयोग will become refined mind, unrefined mind through सात्त्विक संन्यास, कर्मयोग and सात्त्विक संन्यास are synonymous, through कर्म or सात्त्विक संन्यास, unrefined mind will become refined mind and after the refinement of the mind he can reduce यज्ञ, दानम् and तपस्. Until refinement, these three must be performed, after the refinement of the mind, not necessary. The question is 'how do I know?' You just tell and get away. Refinement is like a test. Refinement meter. You keep on the head, if red light flashes - unrefined, if green light - refined; like that third umpire in the cricket or yellow means in between. How do you know? The indication of refined mind is two things. First we see the relevance of वेदान्त in our life. Only if the mind is refined, वेदान्त will appear to be relevant, otherwise वेदान्त will appear to be mere intellectual gymnastics, mere scholarship only, it will appear, especially माण्डूक्य, when we are doing the 3rd chapter, you will ask, 'why all these' that too in वेण्वै with 45° C. So what is the connection between the creation and ब्रह्मन् and our water problem? So an unrefined mind will never see connection between Self-knowledge and our day-to-day life, as mind gets refined that mind will understand Self-ignorance is the problem. So first indication is what? Seeing the relevance of वेदान्त. The second consequence indication is what? When I see the relevance, वेदान्त will become an interesting subject. Otherwise वेदान्त will be an example for any dry subject, normally if we don't understand, we say why are you talking वेदान्त. Normally वेदान्त is used as a synonym for a dry subject. For a refined mind वेदान्त will be relevant, for a refined mind वेदान्त will be appealing and consequently, for a refined mind वेदान्त can be understood. So therefore, see how वेदान्त appeals to you. That is an indication of where we stand and that is called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्न. In the 6th chapter, कृष्ण calls that person योग-आरूढः:

यदा हि न इन्द्रिय-अर्थेषु न कर्मसु अनुषज्जते ।

सर्व-सङ्कल्प-संन्यासी योग-आरूढः तदा उच्यते ॥ ६-४॥

Other pursuits in life there is an appeal, but वेदान्त appeals better than, more than every other thing in life, that is the acid test for साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. And once a person has got such a refined mind, as I said, कर्म can be reduced, जप can be reduced, I am using the word reduced, not given up and then after reducing them we save some time and that saved time should be used for what, watch TV? No. The saved time you do more of श्रवणम्, more of मनन and more of निदिध्यासन and when a person spends more time, he need not even become a संन्यासि. Physical संन्यास is not compulsory, with a refined and detachment mind, when a person studies the उपनिषत्s, he will become what? A मेधावी, not illiterate मेधावी, but literate मेधावी. One who has done श्रवणम् and one who understands अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि, for him it is not some Upanishadic statement. For him अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि is as much a fact as चैन्नै summer is, it is a clear fact for him and he becomes a मेधावी through श्रवणम् and छिन्न-संशयः – free from all doubts through मननम्, it means he will get doubtless knowledge through ज्ञानयोग. So through कर्मयोग he gets the योग्यता and through ज्ञानयोग he gets ज्ञानम्. So कर्मयोग does not directly lead to liberation, कर्मयोग leads to ज्ञानयोग, ज्ञानयोग leads to liberation. Continuing; Verse no.11;

Verse No .11

न हि देहभृता शक्यं त्यक्तुं कर्माण्यशेषतः ।

यस्तु कर्मफलत्यागी स त्यागीत्यभिधीयते ॥ १८-११॥

न हि देह-भृता शक्यम् त्यक्तुम् कर्माणि अशेषतः ।

यः तु कर्म-फल-त्यागी सः त्यागी इति अभिधीयते ॥ १८-११॥

देह-भृता अशेषतः कर्माणि त्यक्तुम् न शक्यम्, यः तु हि कर्म-फल-त्यागी सः त्यागी इति अभिधीयते ।

Previously we said that an impure person should not give up religious activities, spiritually purifying activities in the form of यज्ञ-दान-तपः. He should not renounce कर्म, we said. In this verse, कृष्ण says one cannot renounce कर्म. Earlier it was one should not, now one cannot also, because as long as one is alive, कर्म or activities are inevitable. No human being can totally renounce कर्म, because even mere survival requires कर्म. So one requires food, for the sake of food he has to go for भिक्षा, which is a कर्म. He has go and ask, भवती भिक्षाम् देहि minimum and then he has to keep the body fit as long as the body is there, therefore स्नानम् etc., are also required, therefore nobody can renounce the कर्म totally. So the body will become free from कर्म only under one condition, can you guess? Death. When a particular body becomes free from all the कर्म including breathing, then कर्म will start for the people around to dispose off the body. Therefore, कृष्ण gives a warning: कर्माणि अशेषतः त्यक्तुम् न शक्यम् – perhaps you can change the type of कर्म or you can reduce certain कर्मs, but total renunciation of कर्मs is not possible. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द also beautifully puts, as long as I am living for every moment of my life, I am getting benefit from my surrounding, I am taking oxygen from the world, I am taking food from the earth, I am taking water and not only that, so many people have contributed for the food that I am eating. For the cloth that I am wearing, that means for every moment of life, I am indebted to some many. Not only human beings, even animals and plants contribute. So if I am taking benefit from the world, I have a duty to pay back to the world, I have a ऋणम् for every moment of breathing. So I should ask a question, what am I doing in return to my very survival? And therefore, I should be aware of my देव ऋणम्, ऋषि ऋणम्, पितृ ऋणम्, every person who is alive is a ऋणि. And you can remove the ऋणम् only by doing something according to your capacity. If I am benefitting from the गीता, we are indebted to व्यासाचार्य, because he wrote with great difficulty, we are studying now; we are indebted to अर्जुन, because अर्जुन cried गीता came and Lord कृष्ण taught. Not only that our forefathers preserved this system of teaching. What am I doing in return for that? Everybody need not become a teacher and propagate, I have to do something to the society in return. Therefore, कृष्ण says: अशेषतः त्यक्तुम् न शक्यम् – it is impossible. Therefore what is the best way? Do कर्म. But when I do कर्म, I get anxiety about the result. Therefore कृष्ण says: Do the कर्म, give up the anxiety regarding the result. So कर्म-फल-त्यागी भव, do the कर्म but renounce the anxiety. How to renounce? स्वामिजि you can tell, but only I know my anxiety. All these कृष्ण assumes that we remember, because in the 2nd chapter, 3rd chapter and the 9th chapter, and all कृष्ण has given that method. What is that method?

कर्मण्येवाधिकारस्ते मा फलेषु कदाचन ।

मा कर्मफलहेतुर्भूर्मा ते सङ्गोऽस्त्वकर्मणि ॥ २-४७॥

मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्याध्यात्मचेतसा । ... ॥ ३-३०॥

अनन्याः चिन्तयन्तः माम् ये जनाः पर्युपासते । ... ॥ ९-२२॥

What is the solution? Whatever comes takes it as a प्रसाद from the Lord. And whatever भगवान् gives is for my spiritual growth. Materially I may come down, physically I may be a loser in life, but it will contribute to the inner growth, भगवान् will give only what is required for my inner growth, even the worst suffering is meant for my inner growth. ‘You put me in the fire of sorrow that purifies and made me pure, / God tests us through problems to bring out the best in us.’ So this प्रसाद भावना is the only solution. Therefore, यः तु कर्म-फल-त्यागी – the one who gives up the anxiety regarding the fruits of कर्म, सः त्यागी – he alone is a सात्त्विक त्यागी, otherwise called कर्मयोगि. Continuing;

Verse No .12

अनिष्टमिष्टं मिश्रं च त्रिविधं कर्मणः फलम् ।

भवत्यत्यागिनां प्रेत्य न तु संन्यासिनां क्वचित् ॥ १८-१२॥

अनिष्टम् इष्टम् मिश्रम् च त्रिविधम् कर्मणः फलम् ।

भवति अत्यागिनाम् प्रेत्य न तु संन्यासिनाम् क्वचित् ॥ १८-१२॥

अनिष्टम्, इष्टम्, मिश्रम् च (इति) त्रिविधम् कर्मणः फलम् प्रेत्य अत्यागिनाम् भवति, संन्यासिनाम् तु क्वचित् न (भवति)।

If a person refuses to become a कर्मयोगि, what will be the adverse consequences? If a person doesn’t become a कर्मयोगि, what will be the adverse consequence, कृष्ण tells, one who is not a कर्मयोगि is called a कर्मि and all the regular people of the world, who do not know this कर्मयोग, ईश्वरार्पण and प्रसाद भावना, they are all going to be concerned about the future, the very fear make them compromise with values. Why does a person compromise with values and follows अधर्म? It is only because in the future he doesn’t want unfavorable situations, so by following धर्म if he cannot secure the future then he tends to compromise with values. A कर्मि will have stress and strain, he will be worried about his future security and this very fear and worry will make him compromise with values and therefore all his कर्मs will produce three-fold results. What are the three-fold result this कर्मि will have? अनिष्टम्, which means पाप-फलम्, because often he compromises and he justifies the comprise as a necessary evil in कलियुग and we are very intelligent in justifying any अक्रमम्. So therefore, अनिष्टम् means पाप-फलम्, इष्टम् means पुण्य-फलम् and मिश्रम् means मिश्रम्, पुण्य-पाप मिश्रम्. So these are the three types of results which are responsible for three types of पुनर्जन्मs. So अनिष्टम् – the पाप-फलम् will give inferior जन्म, इष्टम् – पुण्य-फलम् will give superior जन्म and मिश्रम् will give मनुष्य जन्म. We all fall under मिश्रम्. And all the three types of जन्मs will come under संसारः. So कर्मि will have पुण्य, पाप, मिश्र फलम् and therefore he will have पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्.

ऊर्ध्वम् गच्छन्ति सत्त्वस्थाः मध्ये तिष्ठन्ति राजसाः ।

जघन्य-गुण-वृत्तिस्थाः अधः गच्छन्ति तामसाः ॥ १४-१८॥

All these संसार are for whom? त्रिविधम् कर्मणः फलम्, these are the three types of संसार and all these three will come, for whom: अत्यागिनाम् भवति, त्यागि means कर्मयोगि, अत्यागि means one who is not a कर्मयोगि. Not a कर्मयोगि in this context, what does it mean? Don't say ज्ञानयोगि. In this context, not a कर्मयोगि means कर्मि, ignorant. So a कर्मि, अत्यागिनाम् कर्मिणाम् अकर्मयोगिनाम् त्रिविधम् फलम् भवति, these three types of पुनर्जन्म cannot be avoided. When? प्रेत्य, which means after मरणम्. So he will get the three-fold result in this जन्म also, in the form of सुखम्, दुःखम् and मिश्रम्, I have given you example for मिश्रम्. So in the cricket match, one fellow hits a century, which he had been missing 98 out, 97 out, and he hits a century and therefore very happy, but in the match his team got defeated in spite of century. Now you ask him 'are you happy or unhappy?' What will be his answer? Some cry, some laugh and some other cryingly laugh. He is happy that he hit a century but he is unhappy that his team lost. So in this जन्म also सुख-दुःख मिश्रम् will come, but after प्रेत्य, मरण अनन्तरम् also he will have three-fold result, either upper travel or lower travel or horizontal travel. Whereas संन्यासिनाम् न भवति, संन्यासि means सात्त्विक संन्यासि, otherwise called कर्मयोगि. So कर्मयोगिनाम् त्वचित् न भवति – पुनर्जन्म will not come, he will not get higher जन्म, lower जन्म or middle जन्म. Why? Because कर्मयोगि will get चित्तशुद्धि. So, his कर्म will produce पुण्यम् or पापम्? कर्मयोगि's कर्म will produce चित्तशुद्धि and चित्तशुद्धि will lead to what: गुरु प्राप्ति. गुरु प्राप्ति will lead to what: ज्ञान प्राप्ति. ज्ञान प्राप्ति will lead to what: मोक्ष प्राप्ति. I am using संस्कृत words, I hope you know. कर्मयोगि will get purity of mind, mental purity will bring him to a गुरु at the appropriate time and गुरु means the one who gives knowledge, the गुरु gives him opportunity for श्रवणम्, श्रवणम् will give मोक्ष. Therefore, कर्मयोगिनाम् परम्परया मोक्षः भवति. कर्मयोग will not directly give liberation directly, but through purity, गुरु, श्रवणम्, ज्ञानम्, मोक्ष. So thus, with this 12th verse, कृष्ण concludes his answer to अर्जुन's doubt regarding संन्यास. And what is कृष्ण's answer? संन्यास is equal to त्याग, is equal to कर्मयोगः. In this context, for an unrefined person and by taking to such a संन्यास, अर्जुन, if you want to become a संन्यासि, it is not going away to ऋषिकेश, because for you संन्यास is कर्मयोगः. And for you कर्मयोग is doing your duty and for you doing the duty happens to be what, महाभारत war, therefore, take your bow which you dropped in the first chapter, take back and start your महाभारत war. So with this one topic is over. Now hereafter from the 13th verse, कृष्ण is going to explain ज्ञानयोग up to the 17th verse. So 1st to 12th verse is कर्मयोगः in the name of सात्त्विक संन्यास, 1 to 12 to कर्मयोग in the name of सात्त्विक संन्यास. From 13th to 17th, ज्ञानयोग is being highlighted, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 13-15

In the first 12 verses of the 18th chapter, Lord कृष्ण answered अर्जुन's question regarding संन्यास and while answering that, He divided संन्यास into three categories, तामस, राजस and सात्त्विक संन्यास and He pointed out that सात्त्विक संन्यास is nothing but कर्मयोग itself. For the majority of people who are immature, who are spiritually immature, सात्त्विक संन्यास in the form of कर्मयोग is a compulsory साधन. And this सात्त्विक संन्यास, otherwise called कर्मयोग will take a seeker to the next stage of spiritual साधन, namely ज्ञानयोग. Thus कर्मयोग becomes a means and ज्ञानयोग becomes the end of कर्मयोग and thereafter one has to seriously pursue ज्ञानयोग, which will lead a person to liberation. Thus the entire spiritual journey consists of two stages, first stage is कर्मयोग, which makes me fit for ज्ञानयोग, then I go to ज्ञानयोग, which gives me liberation. Of these two stages, the कर्मयोग part is over with the 12th verse, but the कर्मयोग has been named as सात्त्विक संन्यास. So Packet is different, the content is the same only. Having dealt with कर्मयोग up to the 12th verse, now from the 13th verse, कृष्ण is going to deal with ज्ञानयोगः, the spiritual discipline of the pursuit of ज्ञानम्, the second and final stage of spiritual साधन, this will be dealt with from the 13th verse up to the 17th verse. So now we are entering ज्ञानयोग from 13th to the 17th verse. This is of course a condensed version of ज्ञानयोग, because we should remember, 18th chapter is only a condensation of the entire गीता. ज्ञानयोग has been elaborately dealt with in the 2nd chapter from verse no.12 to 25. In the 2nd chapter, ज्ञानयोग was dealt with, in the 4th chapter from verse no.18 to 25 ज्ञानयोग has been dealt with, in the 5th chapter from verse no.13 to 31, ज्ञानयोग has been dealt with. In short, ज्ञानयोग has been analyzed in several occasions and कृष्ण is giving a सार in these five verses, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17. Now we will enter into that.

Verse No .13

पञ्चैतानि महाबाहो कारणानि निबोध मे ।

साङ्ख्ये कृतान्ते प्रोक्तानि सिद्धये सर्वकर्मणाम् ॥ १८-१३॥

पञ्च एतानि महा-बाहो कारणानि निबोध मे ।

साङ्ख्ये कृत-अन्ते प्रोक्तानि सिद्धये सर्व-कर्मणाम् ॥ १८-१३॥

हे महा-बाहो! सर्व-कर्मणाम् सिद्धये कृत-अन्ते साङ्ख्ये प्रोक्तानि एतानि पञ्च कारणानि मे निबोध ।

As we have seen before, by ज्ञानयोग what we mean is gaining the knowledge of oneself. Even though the word ज्ञानम्, generally means any knowledge, whether it is physics knowledge or chemistry knowledge, any knowledge is generally called ज्ञानम्, but in the भगवद्गीता context the word ज्ञानम् means आत्मज्ञानम्, the knowledge of oneself. And dealing with this topic, कृष्ण had pointed out before, that every individual consists of two portions, one is called the inert अचेतन अंश. And the other is the चेतन अंश, the sentient or Consciousness part, every individual is a mixture of चित्-अचित् अंश, चेतन-अचेतन अंश. So every individual is a mixture. But generally we don't recognize the mixture, because the inert part alone is visible, tangible, whereas the चेतन अंश, the Consciousness-principle is invisible and therefore we don't acknowledge its presence. Just as the bulb is burning here. If the bulb is illuminating this room, you know that there are two portions in the bulb, one is the visible bulb portion and you know other than the bulb there is an invisible principle, because of which alone the bulb is an illuminator. And what is that invisible principle? You know the electricity. Therefore, whenever I say the bulb, the illuminator, there is electricity - invisible अंश and bulb - visible अंश, both together alone is called a lamp. Thus, every lamp has a visible and invisible portion. Similarly, every individual is like a lamp, consisting of the visible body and also the invisible portion, which makes the body alive and sentient. Just as the electricity makes the bulb bright, this body is alive and active, because of another invisible principle, that invisible principle is called आत्मा-अंश and the visible part is called अनात्मा. So Self-knowledge involves first the recognition of these two parts known as आत्म-अनात्मा विवेकः. And thereafter we should understand the nature of the Consciousness, which also we had elaborately seen before. So the five features of Consciousness, (do you remember)

- i) Consciousness is not a part, a property, or a product of the body,
- ii) No.2 Consciousness is an independent principle which pervades and enlivens the body,
- iii) Thirdly consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body, therefore it is all-pervading and the invisible like आकाश, this is the 3rd feature,
- iv) Fourth feature is consciousness continues to survive even after the death of the body, parallelly remember, the invisible electricity survives even if you break the bulb,
- v) Fifth and final point is the surviving consciousness is not available for transaction, because for transaction Consciousness requires a medium.

And this Consciousness-principle is called आत्मा and Self-knowledge is understanding that I am a mixture of आत्मा and अनात्मा. And once I have understood this part, the next stage is gradually identifying more and more with the आत्मा part and gradually dis-identifying with the अनात्मा part, the inert material aspect. Why should we do that, what can't I identify with the body more, why do you say that you should dis-identify with the body. The reason is: we know that the body is not the permanent part of me. Just as a dress, I can use only for some time and thereafter I will have to discard. Similarly, the body also I am allowed to use only for a few years or few decades, depending on the प्रारब्ध, there afterwards I will have to hand over the body to the source, the Lord himself. Therefore, if I am attached to the body too much, it will lead to lot of sufferings later and therefore as a precaution, I learn to look at the body as a temporary medium which is a gift from the Lord and parallelly, I learn to own up the आत्मा part as myself. This is the second stage of spiritual साधन.

- i) First stage is recognizing the two parts,
- ii) The second stage is changing the loyalty from the perishable part to the imperishable part.

And for this purpose, I have to practice श्रवणम्, which means listening to the scriptures more and more, because the scriptures focus on the imperishable You. And not only I have to do श्रवणम्, which is possible only once a week or twice a week. I have to continue it with मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्. निदिध्यासनम् means owning up meditation and in this meditation, whatever be the feature of Consciousness, I should claim as my nature. Until now we have been claiming I am a mortal individual, identifying with the body. We have developed this habit. I am born on such and such a date and I am growing old and I am greying and I am going. So, growing, greying and going. And the more I think of that, the more the fear overwhelms me and therefore I have to kick the habit of claiming the mortality, I should develop the new habit of claiming the immortality nature. And therefore I should daily practice “I am the Consciousness-principle, which is not confined to the body, but I am the all-pervading Consciousness-principle.” I am not the body, but I pervade the body. I pervade the body, but not confined to the body. And even after the death of the body, I will continue to survive, blessing other bodies and thus the various features of आत्मा, I have to own up. And among the various features of आत्मा, the most important one is considered to be अकर्ता, अभोक्ता. This कृष्ण has talked about in the 2nd chapter:

वेद अविनाशिनम् नित्यम् यः एनम् अजम् अव्ययम् ।

कथम् सः पुरुषः पार्थ कम् घातयति हन्ति कम् ॥ २-२१॥ and 3rd chapter also he talks about,

प्रकृतेः क्रियमाणानि गुणैः कर्माणि सर्वशः ।

अहङ्कार-विमूढ-आत्मा कर्ता अहम् इति मन्यते ॥ ३-२७॥

तत्त्ववित् तु महाबाहो गुण-कर्म-विभागयोः ।

गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते इति मत्वा न सज्जते ॥ ३-२८॥

in the 4th chapter also,

कर्मणि अकर्म यः पश्येत् ... ॥ ४-१८॥

in the 5th chapter also,

पश्यन् शृण्वन् स्पृशन् जिघ्रन् ... ॥ ५-८॥

Almost in every chapter कृष्ण has emphasized that You are the Consciousness-principle, which is neither a कर्ता nor a भोक्ता. What is the meaning of the word कर्ता? I am taking for granted, कर्ता means doer of action, भोक्ता means the reaper of the result, experiencer of the कर्म-फलम्. So the performer of कर्म and the receiver of the कर्म-फलम्. And according to कृष्ण, ‘as long as I am कर्ता and भोक्ता, I am going to be a संसारि.’ Because as a कर्ता, I can never be totally satisfied with myself. Why I will not be totally satisfied, as a कर्ता, कर्ता means doer, I can never be a perfect doer of actions and therefore I will always have guilt. This could have been done a little better, right from the school stages, “how did you do the exam?” “I have done well but left the 2 marks question.” So, a कर्ता consequently feels guilty, guilt is one of the powerful overpowering emotions. In fact, as we grow older and older, our past life (not the previous life), in this life itself the past 50-60-70 years, what all we have done, all of them the recorded messages go on. तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् says this:

किमहं साधु नाकरवम् । किमहं पापमकरवमिति ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-९-१ ॥

Why I treated my parents like that – one worry, why I treated my spouse like that – another worry, why I brought up my children like that – another worry, why I chose such a son-in-law or daughter-in-law – another worry and if you come to गीता-उपनिषत् class, why I didn't learn संस्कृत; that also. So thus older we grew more the guilt overpowers. कर्ता cannot avoid guilt because, no human being is perfect, भगवान् alone can be free from guilt, because whatever He does it is perfection because, भगवान् is omniscient, whereas our problem is even for omniscient we don't know the spelling properly, whether it is 'tient' or 'cient' or 'scient' or all the three! So it is with this limited knowledge you are acting, we don't know which action is in the right direction, at least you have to get married, or if you have to get your children married, it is worrisome, scary; especially now-a-days and how they are going to come, how long they will be together itself is a big question mark. Therefore कृष्ण says संसार means कर्ता. And what is the second संसार? भोक्ता, भोक्ता means reaping the result of the action, as a भोक्ता also, I can never be relaxed because which कर्म-फलम् is going to hit me when I don't do. I know my life is governed by the प्रारब्ध कर्म to a great extent, no doubt, I do have a free-will and choice but it is not purely free-will, my life is governed by fate also, fate being my प्रारब्ध कर्म and the unfortunate truth is प्रारब्ध कर्म is invisible. So which प्रारब्ध is going to strike me when, I don't know. How I am going to get up tomorrow and whom I am going to face when I get up, no one knows; getting up itself is a big question! Whose face comes thereafter. Thus, we are living in utter darkness as it were and therefore as a भोक्ता also, anxiety, concern, fear cannot be avoided and therefore कृष्ण says, भोक्ता means संसार. कर्ता means guilt, भोक्ता means anxiety. कर्ता produces guilt, भोक्ता produces anxiety. Our life is a series of guilt and anxiety and all other emotions are the products of these two only. And therefore if I have to be liberated, there is only one way – I should not be a कर्ता or भोक्ता. Only by negating the कर्तृत्वम् and भोक्तृत्वम्, I can be a free person and I can negate my कर्तृत्वम् and भोक्तृत्वम्, (कर्तृत्वम् means doership, भोक्तृत्वम् means enjoyership) and these two I can get rid of only when I own up my higher nature, that आत्मा, अकर्ता, अभोक्ता. Therefore, in these five important verses, कृष्ण points out that आत्मा is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता, neither a doer nor a enjoyer. And to establish that आत्मा is अकर्ता or अभोक्ता, कृष्ण points out that all the actions are done by अनात्मा only. What does he want to establish, आत्मा is अकर्ता, अभोक्ता and how does He establish? By showing that all the actions are done by अनात्मा only, which means, आत्मा doesn't do anything. Like the light in the hall. The light does not do any job. I am doing lot of jobs, speaking, moving my hands and legs, etc. So actions are done here at the body level, the light illumines the actions, but light does not do any action. Similarly, the Consciousness does not do anything, only अनात्मा performs. This कृष्ण has said in the 3rd chapter.

प्रकृतेः क्रियमाणानि गुणैः कर्माणि सर्वशः । ... ॥ ३-२७॥

And this अनात्मा, अनात्मा means what: the material part of the individual, the inert part of the individual, अनात्मा, कृष्ण divides into five portions, अनात्मा consisting of five portions or five aspects, पञ्चात्मक अनात्मा, पञ्चात्मक प्रकृतिः, that alone does everything, आत्मा doesn't do. This is the essence of these five verses.

Now look at the 13th verse. हे महाबाहो! महाबाहो is addressing अर्जुन, Oh अर्जुन! the strong armed one, powerful warrior अर्जुन, मे निबोध – may you learn from me, निबोध means, know, understand, learn, ascertain, मे means from me, मे is 6th case, normally 6th case is translated as 'of', in this context it should be translated as पञ्चमी विभक्ति 'from.' And what should you learn from me? पञ्च एतानि कारणानि – the five factors which are responsible for action, कारणम् means factors, ingredients, accessories are here called कारणानि, पञ्च. And what are those five? एतानि – which are going to be enumerated hereafter. So, may you know the following five factors, which do the actions and all the five factors are what? अनात्मा only. Then where are these factors enumerated? कृष्ण says, अर्जुन I have got all this information from the उपनिषत्. So कृष्ण wants to acknowledge the source of this knowledge. So in magazines and all, they write courtesy such and such magazine, otherwise it will be called plagiarism. Plagiarism and research somebody said, it is an aside thing, ‘when you borrow from one book it is plagiarism, when you borrow from many it is called research.’ OK. Here कृष्ण doesn’t want to do the plagiarism, therefore He says, अर्जुन, this is not My invention, even before I was born, (कृष्ण belongs to which युग? द्वापरयुग,) वेद has been existing and in the वेद, वेदान्त has been existing and in the वेदान्त, this information is there, I am borrowing from वेदान्त. Therefore he says, साङ्ख्ये कृत-अन्ते प्रोक्तानि, this five factors has been enumerated प्रोक्तानि means enumerated, where: साङ्ख्ये, साङ्ख्यम् means वेदान्त. What is वेदान्त? The final portion of the वेद and this final portion वेदान्त has another name also, what is it? उपनिषत्. Don’t say I want to learn वेदान्त and उपनिषत्s. So I want both वेदान्त and उपनिषत्s, we cannot say. वेदान्त is उपनिषत्. So साङ्ख्ये, वेदान्ते and where does वेदान्त come, कृत-अन्ते, at the end portion of कर्मकाण्ड, कृतम् means कर्मकाण्ड, अन्तम् means at the end, at the end means immediately after कर्मकाण्ड, कर्मकाण्ड means the first portion of the वेद and what do you mean कर्मकाण्ड, the ritualistic portion, therefore, कृत-अन्ते means immediately after the ritualistic portion comes the philosophical Vedantic portion and in that Vedantic portion all these five factors are enumerated. And all are meant for what? सर्व-कर्मणाम् सिद्धये, सिद्धिः means accomplishment, performance, implementation, सिद्धये means for the sake of performance of what: सर्व-कर्मणाम् – all the activities. For the performance of all the activities these five factors are necessary, inevitable. That is the introduction. Now we are curious to know what are the five factors, that कृष्ण himself will tell later. Continuing;

Verse No .14

अधिष्ठानं तथा कर्ता करणं च पृथग्विधम् ।

विविधाश्च पृथक्चेष्टा दैवं चैवात्र पञ्चमम् ॥ १८-१४॥

अधिष्ठानम् तथा कर्ता करणम् च पृथक्-विधम् ।

विविधाः च पृथक् चेष्टाः दैवम् च एव अत्र पञ्चमम् ॥ १८-१४॥

अधिष्ठानम्, तथा कर्ता च, पृथक्-विधम् करणम् च, विविधाः पृथक् चेष्टाः, अत्र दैवम् पञ्चमम् एव (भवति)।

What are the five factors? कृष्ण first enumerates, the four factors in the form of the four कोशs, known as अन्नमय कोश, प्राणमय कोश, मनोमय कोश and विज्ञानमय कोश. And I hope you all remember the कोशs, which we saw in our introduction in the तत्त्वबोध. अन्नमय कोश corresponds to the anatomical part of the personality, अन्नमय, the anatomical part, the physical, visible part is called अन्नमय. Then प्राणमय कोश means the physiology part consisting of the bodily functions, mere anatomy does not make a living being, dead body also has got all the anatomy, the physical part is there, but the physiological functions have ended, you keep your hands in front of the nostrils to find out whether breathing is functioning, that is the physiological thing and similarly, pulse and digestion, circulation, they all come under physiology, so प्राणमय कोश means the physiological part. If physiological is there without anatomy, one cannot function, if anatomical parts are there without the physiological function, then also it will not be. And therefore imagine a person has got asthma, though his only activity is breathing, for that he has to struggle. Therefore only when breathing is normal you can think of doing something else. Otherwise if someone asks what are you doing and you have to just reply: breathing, life requires physiology, प्राणमय. Then मनोमय कोश corresponds psychological or emotional personality, consisting of love, compassion, jealousy, hatred, anger. In fact, it is these emotions which are driving us into a lot of activities. Therefore मनोमय कोश is the third factor. The fourth factor is the विज्ञानमय कोश, the rational faculty, the thinking faculty, which we all are supposed to have, sometimes it will be doubtful, but we are supposed to have! So when our boss is criticizing us or getting angry with us unnecessarily, then the मनोमय gets wild and angry, I feel like shouting at my boss, then विज्ञानमय कोश tells, 'if you shout, job out!' So therefore, you feel and then quietly swallow. मनोमय कोश, overpowered by विज्ञानमय कोश, because I have to retain my job, I have a family. So, what we do is we curse in the mind, let him go to hell, etc. So in the mind you tell but you swallow the whole thing. In fact, we have got so much internal pressure because of that only. That is why it seems in Japan the directors' statue is kept in one of the rooms it seems and whenever the employee is unhappy, he can go to that room and he can do whatever he wants to the statue. At least some relief, like effigy burning. Anyway, that is all aside, let us come to our topic. अन्नमय, प्राणमय, मनोमय, विज्ञानमय, anatomical, psychological, emotional and rational. These are the four कोशs required for every action. What is the fifth one? Don't say आनन्दमय कोश! Because once I have said four, immediately without asking you will say आनन्दमय कोश is the fifth one, आनन्दमय कोश should not be included because when आनन्दमय कोश is active, कारण शरीरम् is active, we become passive, go to sleep. Therefore, the fifth factor is दैवम्, known as the अधिष्ठान देवता. According to the scriptures, every organ has got a presiding deity, which also we saw in तत्त्वबोध, for the eye the presiding deity is सूर्य, for the mind the presiding deity is moon, for the hand the presiding deity is? (monthly test should be kept!) हस्तयोः इन्द्र. All the presiding deities put together is called दैवम्. So without the blessing of god no organ can function. Therefore, four कोशs plus the presiding principle, known as हिरण्यगर्भ तत्त्वम्. Now look at the श्लोक, अधिष्ठानम् means अन्नमय कोश, the anatomical personality. Then in the 2nd line, पृथक् चेष्टाः means प्राणमय कोश, the physiological function, which are many and varied, पृथक् and विविधाः, पृथक् and विविधाः means many and varied physiological functions known as प्राणमय कोश. Then पृथक्-विधम् करणम् means मनोमय कोश, consisting of the mind and the sense organs. So पृथक्-विधम् means different types of organs – the eyes, the ears, the nose, the skin, all of them, so मनोमय कोश. Then कर्ता, which means विज्ञानमय कोश, the thinking, rational, deciding authority. Intellect alone has to decide what I should do and what I should not do. Therefore कर्ता represents विज्ञानमय कोश, which we saw in तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत्,

विज्ञानम् यज्ञम् तनुते । कर्माणि तनुतेऽपि च ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषदत् २-७-१
॥

In ब्रह्मानन्द वल्ली, we saw. So, four कोशs are the four factors. And what is the fifth one? दैवम् च, दैवम् च अत्र पञ्चमम् – so, दैवम् the divine principle without whose grace these organs cannot function, that factor. So these are the five factors in this context.

Verse No .15

शरीरवाङ्मनोभिर्यत्कर्म प्रारभते नरः ।

न्याय्यं वा विपरीतं वा पञ्चैते तस्य हेतवः ॥ १८-१७॥

शरीर-वाक्-मनोभिः यत् कर्म प्रारभते नरः ।

न्याय्यम् वा विपरीतं वा पञ्च एते तस्य हेतवः ॥ १८-१७॥

नरः शरीर-वाक्-मनोभिः न्याय्यम् वा विपरीतं वा यत् कर्म प्रारभते, तस्य एते पञ्च हेतवः (सन्ति) ।

So these five factors are compulsorily required for all human activities, why human activities, of all living beings, all the activities require these five factors, whether they are noble activities, sacred activities or whether they are secular activities, or even whether they are evil activities, every action requires that. Therefore, शरीर-वाङ्-मनोभिः यत् कर्म प्रारभते – whether they are physical activities, शरीरम् कर्म means physical activities generally called कायिक कर्माणि, or वाङ् कर्म the verbal or oral activities known as वाचिक कर्माणि like जप,

पारायणम्, etc., they are all sacred verbal activities, but even when we are transacting in our business, that is also what: वाचिक कर्म alone. So, कायिक, वाचिक. मनोभिः कर्म – or whether it is an activity done with the mind, mental activity, all types of meditations or उपासनाs will come under mental activity and even planning your day-to-day activities, that also involves, mental, thinking. यत् कर्म प्रारभते – whether it is कायिकम्, वाचिकम् or मानसम् कर्म done by नरः, human beings. Even though animals also do a lot of activities, we generally don't call them कर्म. In the scriptures, the activities of the animals are not called कर्म, they are only called चेष्टा, only human activities are called कर्म. This is just an incidental but important information. Why? Because the activities of the animals are not deliberately thought over, planned and implemented. When a dog is running across the road, suppose a TV person goes and interviews the dog, “Where are you going? Do you have any important meeting, dog meeting? What is your future plans?” It will only bark. They are all programmed activities, instinctive activities, they are not deliberate and thoughtful and therefore they don't incur कर्म-फलम्. Animals do not get पुण्यम् also, animals also do not get पापम् also. Suppose a buffalo crosses the red signal, if the policeman goes and fines, we will call policeman also another buffalo. So we don't fine the buffalo, if you want charge you charge the owner assuming he is a human being. So therefore, animals' activities are not called कर्म, they never acquire आगामि पुण्यम् or आगामि पापम्, whereas when human beings does that, even when he violates a rule and claims that I don't know the rule, he will not be let off, because we are supposed to know the rule as a citizen of the country, ignorance cannot be an excuse and that is why कृष्ण says नरः. नरः here means a human being in general, which includes both male and female. When you say नरः, it is not only male but both male and female. And न्याय्यम् वा विपरीतम् वा – whether those activities are धार्मिक, न्याय्यम् means righteous, धार्मिक, legitimate, legal, or विपरीतम् वा, विपरीतम् means the opposite. The opposite of legal is illegal, illegitimate, improper, unrighteous, अधार्मिकम् वा. In all those activities, the involved factors are the same five factors only. Therefore, कृष्ण says पञ्च एते तस्य हेतवः, तस्य means for that कर्म. For that कर्म means कायिक, वाचिक, मानस, धार्मिक, अधार्मिक, any कर्म for that, एते पञ्च – the five factors enumerated in the previous verse, एते means these five factors, mentioned in the previous श्लोक alone are हेतवः – they are the contributory factors. And what is कृष्ण's intention in enumerating them? His intention is, He wants to point out that all these will come under अनात्मा only, they are all made up of matter only, Consciousness is not one of the factors. Consciousness has to be present, the presence of Consciousness is required, but Consciousness does not do any action. So if an important program is going on in the hall, the presence of light is required but the light does not perform any action, therefore light is neither कर्ता nor भोक्ता and therefore Consciousness is neither कर्ता nor भोक्ता and अर्जुन you are that Consciousness. Therefore learn to claim that अकर्ता अभोक्ता आत्मा as yourselves, instead of identifying with the miserable body. It does not mean you should neglect the body, utilize the body, well maintain the body, but don't identify with that, like the car or scooter or your screw driver, they are all instruments to be maintained but remember, you are not a screw driver, a big revelation! I am not a screw driver. But when I talk of screw driver, we are all wise, but when it comes to the body-mind-complex, we are otherwise! Therefore, कृष्ण tells body-mind-complex are finer screwdrivers. Use, but don't identify. This crucial idea कृष्ण will tell in the next श्लोक which will see in the next class.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 16-18

In the first 12 verses of the 18th chapter of the गीता, Lord कृष्ण presented the कर्मयोग साधन, by way of answering अर्जुन's question. The only difference here is that कर्म साधन is presented here with a new name and the new name given to कर्मयोग, in this context, is सात्त्विक संन्यासः. And this कर्मयोग साधन is extremely important for all the spiritual seekers, because this alone prepares the mind for spiritual knowledge to take place, कर्मयोग alone gives ज्ञानयोग्यता, योग्यता means eligibility, fitness, preparation to use a technical word, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. Once a person has attained the qualifications reasonably, then he has to gradually increase his focus on ज्ञानयोग साधन. It is not a water tight compartment. Not that initially 100% कर्मयोग and later 100% ज्ञानयोग it is not, it is a gradual shift in the focus and also the time spent. In the initial stages also, one has to expose oneself to ज्ञानयोग, वेदान्त, otherwise we will even not know what वेदान्त is. So in the initial stages life is कर्मयोग प्रधान, but the Vedantic study is there, but gradually, the percentage importance is shifted and more and more time and attention is given to ज्ञानयोग साधन. And what is that ज्ञानयोग साधन is given from verse no.13 up to 17. And of these five verses, 13 to 17, we saw up to the 15th verse and in this portion, Lord कृष्ण wants to point out that knowing one's own real nature is ज्ञानयोग साधन. And we saw that while analyzing one's own nature, one discovers the fact that one is a mixture of two principles, the अचेतन शरीर तत्त्वम् and चेतन शरीरी or आत्मतत्त्वम्, the inert body-principle is there and the pure Consciousness-principle is there, every individual is a mixture of these two. And thereafter Lord कृष्ण points out that all the actions that an individual performs belong only to the body part, the inert material part alone is involved in कर्म and therefore the कर्म-फलम् also will come to the inert material part alone. The Consciousness-principle is neither involved in कर्म nor is it connected to कर्म-फल. And therefore the essence of this portion is देहः

कर्ता, आत्मा अकर्ता। And to convey this idea, कृष्ण divided the inert-material part into five portions, अन्नमय, प्राणमय, मनोमय, विज्ञानमय and (don't say आनन्दमय!), दैवम्। If you have revised the portion, you will remember. So अन्नमय, प्राणमय, मनोमय, विज्ञानमय and दैवम्, दैवम् means the cosmic set-up or environment. That also comes under अचेतन अंश only, दैवम् does not refer to Consciousness here, but it refers to समष्टि environment, even for this class to take place, we require air in the atmosphere. Suppose I conduct a साधन camp in the moon, it won't happen, but let us imagine, not only we have to carry everything but we have to carry air also, because in the moon, atmosphere is not there. Therefore all individual actions require the cooperation of the totality of environment, which is indicated by the दैव तत्त्वम्, द्विष्यगर्भ तत्त्वम्, you may call it cosmic force. These five factors are involved in every action and what कृष्ण wants to highlight is all the five factors are अचेतन, जड तत्त्वम् and as far as the चैतन्यम्, the Consciousness is concerned, by its mere presence it makes all the activities possible, but itself is not involved in any activity. I gave you the example of the light pervading the hall and imagine some tennis match or volleyball match is going, lot of movement and activity, imagine some game is going, all the people are violently moving and this game is possible because of the light, but the light itself does not do anything. In संस्कृत, it is called सांनिध्य मात्रम्। Can you understand this word? सांनिध्य मात्रम् means mere presence. And because of this reason only, when one team wins the game and other team is defeated, the credit goes to the winning team and the credit or discredit goes to the defeated team, as far as the light is concerned, it doesn't have either, you don't congratulate the light or criticize the light, it doesn't play any role, but at the same time, its presence is inevitable. And कृष्ण says a spiritual साधन is learning to shift our identification from the changing material vesture to the changeless Consciousness-principle, the shift of the identification is spiritual training. Naturally now we are identified with the growing, graying, going. So we are now instinctively, naturally identified with mortal body and therefore we have a constant sense of insecurity, spiritual साधन is shifting the identification from the mortal physical body to the immortal non-physical spirit. And instead of saying I am the mortal body with Consciousness, I have to train myself saying I am the immortal Consciousness functioning through the temporary mortal body. The body has to arrive and the body has to depart one day, but its arrivals and departures have nothing to do as far as I am concerned. And during its presence and survival, the body has to do lot of action, body has to be कर्ता and भोक्ता, but I am अकर्ता, अभोक्ता. So this spiritual training is ज्ञानयोग साधन; this is the idea कृष्ण emphasizes. Looking at the verse no.16;

Verse No .16

तत्रैवं सति कर्तारमात्मानं केवलं तु यः ।

पश्यत्यकृतबुद्धित्वान्न स पश्यति दुर्मतिः ॥ १८-१६॥

तत्र एवम् सति कर्तारम् आत्मानम् केवलम् तु यः ।

पश्यति अकृत-बुद्धित्वात् न सः पश्यति दुर्मतिः ॥ १८-१६॥

तत्र एवम् सति यः तु केवलम् आत्मानम् कर्तारम् पश्यति, सः दुर्मतिः अकृत-बुद्धित्वात् न पश्यति ।

So every one of us is a mixture of अचेतन अंश and चेतन अंश. A ज्ञानि is also a mixture of both of them, an अज्ञानि also is a mixture of both of them, the difference is only in the perspective. And the अज्ञानि's perspective is given in the 16th verse and ज्ञानि's perspective, perspective of whom? Himself, how he looks at himself. And ultimately the way you interpret the world depends upon the way you look at yourselves. That is why somebody said, ultimately, the world is a mirror, what you see in front is only your own personality, if you are a strong physically oriented personality, all the time bothered about the height, and weight, and figure, and the complexion, if you are a physical personality, whenever you look out you look for the physical personality of others, that alone registers. On the other hand, if I am a thinker or a scientist or a philosopher, I look for that personality in others. If I am too much dress-conscious, I look at what are the different dresses a person has put. So as I look at myself, so I look at the world and अज्ञानि's unfortunate perspective is given in the 16th verse by कृष्ण, He says दुर्मतिः, so दुर्मतिः means what? An ignorant person whose mind is polluted by ignorance and because of ignorance, wrong notion and the wrong notion being I am अन्नमय कोश is wrong notion No.1, I am प्राणमय कोश is wrong notion No.2, I am मनोमय कोश No.3, each कोश identification gives me one one wrong-limited-individuality, different colored-egos are born through that अभिमान, therefore दुर्मतिः means अज्ञान-अध्यास-युक्त-मतिः. To remember the माण्डूक्य expression: “अब्रह्म-अन्यथाब्रह्मण” अब्रह्म-अन्यथाब्रह्मण-युक्त-मतिः means दुर्मतिः, an ignorant person. What does he do? पश्यति – he wrongly looks at himself. And how does he look at? केवलम् आत्मानम् – even though his real nature is pure आत्मा, he is not perishable incidental body, his real higher nature is केवल आत्मा, (केवल आत्मा careful, not तमिक् केवलम्; in संस्कृत,) केवलम् means शुद्धम्. शुद्धम् means कर्तृत्व-भोक्तृत्व रहितम्. An आत्मा which is not polluted by कर्तृत्वम् and भोक्तृत्वम्, that आत्मा this ordinary person does not recognize. So he is afflicted by Self-ignorance and because of Self-ignorance he has got a misconception. What is the Self-misconception? कर्तारम् पश्यति – he looks at himself as a कर्ता, कर्ता means a doer. And why does He look upon himself as a doer? Because of the strong well entrenched identification with the कोशs or the अनात्मा. So, तत्र एवम् सति – the fact being so, the fact being so means what, only the five-fold अनात्मा is the कर्ता, आत्मा is not the कर्ता, is the fact, but this दुर्मतिः, the confused person, is ignorant of अकर्ता आत्मा and mistakes himself as कर्ता. And all because of what? अकृत-बुद्धित्वात् – because he has not spiritually refined himself, through scriptural learning. Because scriptures alone rectify this mistaken notion. The study of chemistry does not bring about a correction in Self-knowledge, the study of economics does not make a self-correction. I don't say that you don't study economics, very careful, they are useful in its own way, but Self-ignorance and Self-misconception can go by only Self-knowledge, which has to be done assisted by गुरु and शास्त्र and this दुर्मतिः has not exposed himself or herself to the systematic spiritual training. He says: I don't have time and he thinks Vedantic study is time pass, like eating popcorn. When I was traveling in train, they were telling, time pass, time pass, etc. I didn't know what it is, I see only various eatables, that means what: when your time is not passing, you have to eat. Similarly, many people think that वेदान्त and life has no connection at all. When you are busy with your family duties you need not study वेदान्त they think and only when you have completed all the so-called duties, I don't know whether it will be completed, only when you have completed all of them and all the organs are dilapidated and nothing functions, then resorting to गीता, he says, let me have a good nap. Because at home TV is playing, therefore I have to get out and go somewhere. 'No No No', कृष्ण says, Vedantic study brings out a self-correction. Self-correction brings about the correction in the way you look at the world. And if there is a change in the way you look at the world, there is a change in your response to life's situation. In fact, संसार is wrong response to life's situations. Wrong response is calling the situations problems. In fact, most of the problems we call problems are what: situations. Summer is hot – is it a problem or situation? Will summer be cool? Summer will be hot only. Winter will be cold only. When you get old, all the joints will be quivering only. So most of the complaint that we give are simple natural situations in life, why this wrong response, again, correction is not there and therefore अकृत-बुद्धित्वात्, the one who does not find time for Self-knowledge. So अकृत-बुद्धि means असंस्कृत-बुद्धि, unrefined intellect, spiritually uneducated person, spiritual illiterate is called अकृत-बुद्धि, materially he has got many doctorates, but what कृष्ण says is he is a spiritual illiterate, because of that न पश्यति, he doesn't see the fact. शङ्कराचार्य tells in his भजगोविन्दम्,

पश्यन्नपि च न पश्यति मूढः उदरनिमित्तम् बहुकृतवेषः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् १४ ॥

The eyes are open but he doesn't see, what is to be seen. So कृष्ण tells, सः दुर्मतिः न पश्यति – such a spiritually illiterate person is a blind person because since he has not rectified his vision and since he has got only a wrong perception, wrong perception is as well as no perception. Seeing mistakenly and not seeing are both same. And therefore कृष्ण says: सः दुर्मतिः न पश्यति. And मुण्डकोपनिषत् goes one step further, even though he is blind and seeing wrong things and the scriptures are willing to rectify the vision, this person doesn't want to come.

अविद्यायामन्तरे वर्तमानाः स्वयम् धीराः पण्डितम् मन्यमानाः ।
जडघ्न्यमानाः परियन्ति मूढाः अन्धेनैव नीयमाना यथान्धाः ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् १-२-८ ॥

Their arrogance does not allow them to come to the scriptures and गुरु. What a tragedy! कृष्ण wails. On the other hand, there are some humble discriminate people, who come to the गीता class. They are really great. Who says? कृष्ण. Look at the श्लोक.

Verse No .17

यस्य नाहङ्कृतो भावो बुद्धिर्यस्य न लिप्यते ।

हत्वाऽपि स इमाँल्लोकान्न हन्ति न निबध्यते ॥ १८-१७॥

यस्य न अहङ्कृतः भावः बुद्धिः यस्य न लिप्यते ।

हत्वा अपि सः इमान् लोकान् न हन्ति न निबध्यते ॥ १८-१७॥

यस्य अहङ्कृतः भावः न, यस्य बुद्धिः न लिप्यते, सः इमान् लोकान् हत्वा अपि न हन्ति, न निबध्यते ।

Contrasting the wise person with the ignorant person, this 17th verse talks about a ज्ञानि. Who is a ज्ञानि? First the one who has exposed to the systematic spiritual teaching which clearly divides the individual into अनात्मा अंश and आत्मा अंश, अचेतन अंश and चेतन अंश; the body Consciousness discrimination he has done through श्रवणम् and मननम् and not only he has done this discrimination, he has practiced long निदिध्यासनम्. And what is long निदिध्यासनम्? Training the mind to identify with the आत्मा part, the higher part and not being obsessed with the perishable material part. Body is important alright, as long as we live body has to be taken care of alright, but a ज्ञानि knows after all body is born out of पञ्चभूतs, I will have to give back the body to पञ्चभूतs. It is a means but it is not an end-in-itself. This right perspective of the body is called freedom from अहङ्कार. Therefore यस्य, यस्य means what? For the ज्ञानि, for the संस्कृत-बुद्धि. In the previous verse, अकृत-बुद्धि was mentioned, now the opposite of अकृत-बुद्धि is कृत-बुद्धि, कृत-बुद्धि means संस्कृत-बुद्धि, संस्कृत-बुद्धि means spiritually refined and trained person. And what does he do? यस्य – for him, अहङ्कृतः भावः न अस्ति – he doesn't have too strong an identification with the body, he gives sufficient importance to the body, but he doesn't give over importance to the body. We have seen this topic before. गुणाः गुणेषु वर्तन्ते, इन्द्रियाणि इन्द्रिय-अर्थेषु वर्तन्ते. He knows the physical body is part of this creation. It is not an isolated entity. And therefore the body is influenced by देश and काल. Even if कृष्ण has a body, even कृष्ण's body has to grow older in time and therefore he knows body is part of the universe, therefore bound by देश and काल and therefore as the changes take place, I cannot resist, I have to accept. As कृष्ण said: तस्मात् अपरिहार्ये अर्थे न त्वम् शोचितुम् अर्हसि. Don't resist to choice-less situations. Corresponding bodily change also, in summer sweat will be there, saying 'sho sho sho' will not help bringing down the sweat. In fact, if you look at it, sweating system is the most wonderful system created by भगवान् to maintain the temperature of the body. Therefore, every time sweat comes meditate upon ईश्वर विभूति, upon the trickling water, it's a beautiful meditation. So a ज्ञानि looks at the situation with the right perspective. Therefore, अहङ्कृतः भावः means 'I am the body' notion is not there. Extending that अहङ्कृतः इति भावः अपि न अस्ति. अहङ्कृतः भावः means कर्तृत्व भावना. And similarly, यस्य बुद्धिः न लिप्यते. If कर्तृत्व भावना, भावना means misconception or notion, if कर्तृत्व भावना is not there, naturally the भोक्तृत्व भावना also will go away, therefore कृष्ण says बुद्धिः, ज्ञानि's mind न लिप्यते – is not tainted by, not polluted by, not tormented by what? The wrong notion, अहम् भोक्ता. He doesn't ask the question why भगवान् is going on testing me. He doesn't complain against भगवान् because he knows that प्रारब्ध कर्म which I have done in the past, that प्रारब्ध कर्म has to be exhausted and for the exhaustion of the प्रारब्ध कर्म, भगवान् has to find some medium. Because कर्म cannot directly give you pleasure and pain, therefore कर्म has to function through some medium, it may be mosquito. So everything that we go through is what our own प्रारब्ध कर्म being exhausted through different pipelines. Even family members if they are giving trouble, don't complain, the family members are also pipelines only, my own कर्म comes through the pipeline called spouse. If the spouse is wonderful, it is your पुण्य कर्म coming through. If he/she is terrible, it is a papa कर्म coming through. So प्रारब्ध has to be accepted. Therefore, there is no Why Me. He calls every ordeal as a साधन. A small change in the perspective is required. All परीक्षा's should be viewed as साधन. साधन means a spiritual discipline to develop तितिक्षा. Therefore, India is ideal country to develop तितिक्षा. In other countries, there is no scope for developing तितिक्षा because, the moment one problem comes they immediately rectify. How तितिक्षा will come. If there is a pit in the road for more than six months, then only we get तितिक्षा. They say in Singapore and all, if they dig, they immediately complete it and close, by evening if the work is not over, they close and go and the next day again they open and rectify. So then how to look at the situation? भगवान् has given a beautiful ground for developing तितिक्षा. Like that, यस्य न लिप्यते, you have to supply the word भोक्तृत्वा भावेन न लिप्यते. सः – such a ज्ञानि, इमान् लोकान् हत्वा अपि – he will perform his duties as long as he is in the world. A ज्ञानि also has got the duties, as long as he is in the world, depending upon his social designation. If he is a संन्यासि, संन्यासि आश्रम धर्म is there; if he/she is a householder, then family duties are there, children are there, they are to be educated, old people are there, they have to be taken care of, duties are there and if one is a क्षत्रिय, then he will have the duties of fighting a war also and as in the case of अर्जुन, duty may involve even killing one's own kith and kin. But when a ज्ञानि performs such duties, whether it is pleasant duty or unpleasant duty, he doesn't identify with that and for the better performance of duties, if the society praises him, extols him, that praise also he doesn't take. If you take praise, भोक्तृत्वम् has come, then कर्तृत्वम् will also come, therefore neither he takes कर्म as his own nor does he take the फलम् as his own. So सः – such a person हत्वा अपि – even though he kills the people, इमान् लोकान् – all the people, कृष्ण must be showing the hand towards the army there. Here killing represents what? Performance of duties; it does not mean a ज्ञानि goes on killing everyone. In this context, it is killing, performing the duty. And that means what? Where punishment is the only method of rectification, where साम, दान, भेद all nonviolent methods have failed and only violent method is there available as remedy, a ज्ञानि will not hesitate to use हिंसा also. Just as कृष्ण is asking अर्जुन to kill भीष्म. Remember, a ज्ञानि has compassion, but a ज्ञानि doesn't have misplaced compassion. He is very objective and balanced, he will not unnecessarily use violence, but if हिंसा is the only way, 'beat the animal so that it doesn't go offbeat', if that is the only method that also he will use appropriately and when he does that, न हन्ति – he does not become a killer, that means he doesn't become a कर्ता and न निबध्यते

– he is not bound by the कर्म-फलम्, he doesn't become a भोक्ता also. And it is this shift in identification which is called ज्ञानयोग. And if and when a person makes the shift will he get liberation or not, is the question. When I make the shift, will I get liberation? After making the shift I don't get liberation, but after making the shift, I discover the fact that I have been, I am and I ever will be free. Thus, ज्ञानयोग gives मोक्ष. Continuing;

Verse No .18

ज्ञानं ज्ञेयं परिज्ञाता त्रिविधा कर्मचोदना ।

करणं कर्म कर्तेति त्रिविधः कर्मसङ्ग्रहः ॥ १८-१८॥

ज्ञानम् ज्ञेयम् परिज्ञाता त्रिविधा कर्म-चोदना ।

करणम् कर्म कर्ता इति त्रिविधः कर्म-सङ्ग्रहः ॥ १८-१८॥

ज्ञानम्, ज्ञेयम्, परिज्ञाता इति त्रिविधा कर्म-चोदना (अस्ति) । करणम्, कर्म, कर्ता (इति) त्रिविधः कर्म-सङ्ग्रहः (अस्ति) ।

With the previous verse, the ज्ञानयोग topic is also over. So from Verse 1 to 12 कर्मयोग topic, from verse 13 to 17, ज्ञानयोग topic. In fact, these are the only two main साधनs of a human being. Any साधन that you do to purify the mind is called कर्मयोग, it may be जप, it may be पूजा, it may be योग, it may be social service, it may be pilgrimage, it may be दानम्, it may be भजन, whatever you do to purify the mind is called कर्मयोग. And whatever you do to understand I am ever-free, whatever intellectual exercise you take up to understand I am ever-free, that process is called ज्ञानयोग. If you are listening to the class, it is ज्ञानयोग and after the class, you try to summarize what has been taught, that is ज्ञानयोग; any exercise you do, which is intellectual and which is trying to receive the knowledge, what knowledge? I am ever free, that is called ज्ञानयोग. The entire spiritual साधन consists of only these two. Purify, Know and be Free. Thus गीता has been beautifully summarized in these 17 verses. Now from the 18th verse, कृष्ण summarizes the भगवद्गीता once again in a different pattern, the previous 17 verses are one type of summary and this portion from 18th verse up to the 40th verse, 18th to 40th is once again summarization. And in this कृष्ण is going to take up seven topics and then divide each topic into three categories. Seven topics are going to be taken and each one is going to be divided into three varieties. The moment I say three, you must be able to imagine, सात्त्विक, राजसिक, तामसिक. And if you know these seven topics with this three-fold subdivision, you have understood the essence of the गीता. This is going to be the approach for which कृष्ण gives an introduction in this verse. And in this introduction, कृष्ण makes an important and interesting observation. All the human activities can be broadly classified into two – one is called knowing process, another is called doing process, in संस्कृत, ज्ञान व्यवहारः and कर्म व्यवहारः. So throughout life, you are doing only these two things, either learning or doing. And of these processes, ज्ञान व्यवहारः is the first process. All these activities begin with knowing. So जानाति. Once you know a object, a person, a thing, or anything for that matter, you develop either a like for the object or a dislike. An unknown object you never like or dislike, so once you know an object you develop a like or dislike; once you develop a like, your activity begins to go after the object, प्रवृत्तिः, that person is nice, I will like to meet that person regularly or all the time, like to talk to that person, that place is very nice, I will like to go, कोडैकानल is cold, if summer comes I would like to go. For ज्ञानम् produces either राग or द्वेष, when it is रागः, like, your activities are called प्रवृत्ति, going after and if you dislike that object or person, your attempt is what? when that person is coming here, here itself you change the route. So going after or going away; going after is called प्रवृत्ति, going away is called निवृत्ति. All born out of what? राग-द्वेष. राग-द्वेष is born out of what? The knowledge of the object. If you don't know then you are not going to like or dislike. Hundred years before, two hundred years before, you would not have gone after a television. Why? Because it was not there. You would never have gone for air conditioning, you would have gone after a fan, because of lack of knowledge. Most of the things that we go after now they did not go after, because they didn't know. Therefore, what is the mechanism? जानाति, इच्छति, यतते. I have talked about: Knows, Desires and Goes after. The whole life is what? Knows, Desires, Goes after. And that is why all the companies are spending lakhs and lakhs of money for commercial advertisement. Wherever you look advertisement. Why? When the object is in front of your eyes, you come to know that and the moment you come to know that, their optimism is what? (They are successful, that is why they spend so many money also.) You begin to desire. First you say I don't want it, I don't want it, then perhaps I will have it, later you end up having. So, जानाति, इच्छति, यतते. And then कृष्ण here tells this ज्ञान व्यवहारः involves three factors and कर्म व्यवहारः involves three factors. What are those three factors? They are famously known as त्रिपुटि, meaning the subject, the object and the instrument. Any ज्ञानम् involves three factors – subject, object and instrument and similarly, any action also involves the subject, object, instrument. Now look at the श्लोक. ज्ञानम् – knowledge, ज्ञेयम् – the object of knowledge, परिज्ञाता – the knower, the subject. So, knowledge, the object and the subject, त्रिविधा – this three-fold group or triad, is कर्म-चोदना – this group is the promoter of कर्म, these three through knowledge will make a person more and more active. In village life, they did not know most of the thing, therefore they did not have any desire and therefore they had a very very leisurely life. I don't say that is better or this is better. My idea is not comparing, but what I say is in those days they didn't know, summer holidays you can think of an European tour, because you know it is there, that tour and this tour and even now a moon tour is coming. So, the more you know the more you desire, the more you desire the more you are pushed into activity, not only you are active, for all these things you require what? Money. And therefore, you have to go on earning and even if you are a गीता student and therefore you have वैराग्यम्, the children will ask for that, you have to provide and if you don't do these things, you become a black sheep. Because when all the peers, the friends, they are doing all these things, if I don't do to my children, they feel bad, therefore what happens? कर्म, कर्म, कर्म, कर्म, there is no time to stand and stare. This is our life busier, busier and busier. And even if you go to some place for resting, cell phone you have to carry. I heard in the class also, some time cell phone rings, I am waiting for some more time and thereafter regularly we have to make an announcement to switch off. Better switch off your cell phones. That means what? Holiday cut short. Some activities have come. Therefore He says, ज्ञानम् ज्ञेयम् परिज्ञाता – this triad is the promoter of कर्म, but here we have to make a note when we say ज्ञानम् generates desire and action, we should understand it is the knowledge of everything in the world except Self-knowledge. We should not include Self-knowledge here. All the other material knowledge, all the other अपरा विद्या creates desires, whereas परा विद्या is not a creator of desire, on the other hand, it is the one which removes the desire because I find, I am happy as I am.

Even if I have some desires, they are not going to drive me crazy. And therefore, these three are कर्म-चोदना, चोदना means promoters, they push and then करणम् कर्म कर्ता इति – there is another triad consisting of three factors, which is required for कर्म व्यवहारः. And what are those three factors? करणम्, करणम् means instrument, कर्म means object and कर्ता means the subject, subject-object-instrument, this त्रिविधा, this triad or group of three is कर्म-सङ्ग्रहः – is the framework within which all the actions take place. So one triad required for ज्ञान व्यवहारः, another triad required for कर्म व्यवहारः and कृष्ण is going to select some of them from here and he will divide each into three types.

The details of which, we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 19-22

In the first 17 verses of the 18th chapter, Lord कृष्ण summarized कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग which are the main spiritual disciplines to be undertaken by all the spiritual seekers. And there is no choice with regard to these two disciplines. Everybody has to go through both of them compulsorily. Of them the first discipline of कर्मयोग is a preparation for ज्ञानयोग and the second discipline of ज्ञानयोग will directly give freedom. This is whole teaching of the गीता. And these two stages of spiritual साधन are not invented by Lord कृष्ण, but these two stages have been in the वेदs themselves. The वेद-पूर्व भाग focuses upon the कर्मयोग part of the साधन and the वेद-अन्त भाग focuses on ज्ञानयोग part. Thus the entire वेद is dealing with the gradual pursuit of these two stages of साधन only. And now from the 18th verse up to 40th verse of this chapter, कृष्ण is taking up seven topics and in each topic he makes a classification of three – the सात्त्विक, राजसिक and the तामसिक variety and if we can understand the classification of these seven topics, we have understood the essence of the whole गीता. And कृष्ण is introducing those seven topics in the verses 18 and 19, of which the 18th verse we saw in the last class. In the 18th verse कृष्ण pointed out that all human transactions can be divided into two – one who is the knowing transaction and the other is the doing transaction. In fact, the first 20-25 years of our life as children, as students, we don't accomplish anything, we don't do anything, even we don't contribute anything to the family. In fact, we are only an expenditure for the family, because those 20-25 years, we have only one form of transaction, what is that? Education. No implementation, but knowing. We call ज्ञान व्यवहारः and this transaction involves three factors - the knower, the known and the knowledge. ज्ञानम्, ज्ञेयम् and ज्ञान. Once we have got the knowledge or education, then we will get an idea of doing. That is why the moment you complete or you are about to complete, people ask: what are you going to do? So that is called कर्म

व्यवहारः, because that knowledge decides our ambition, our desires. ज्ञानम् produces the desire and once the desire has come, it is impossible to remain with a desire, because desire is a bug in everyone. Nobody can be comfortable with a desire. Therefore our aim is to fulfill the desire and the desires can be fulfilled only by one method, normally and that method is what? Fulfillment. How to fulfill? Start working, start earning, get a credit card and go on purchasing and then life-long installment, I told you. So this person gave the last installment for the cradle, cradle for the child, last installment he paid and the person who received the last installment asked him, how is the baby? Then that the man said, I am that baby. Did you understand? So therefore, start working, get the credit card and go on and on and on. Why? Because जानाति, इच्छति, यतते. Life is knowing, desiring and fulfilling, knowing, desiring and fulfilling and at the time of death you ask the person, have you fulfilled all your desires, he will say bring at least 300 page notebook, I will write the unfulfilled items and he dies with unfulfilled desires, in fact, these unfulfilled desires alone decide the next type of जन्म also. मुण्डकोपनिषत् tells this:

कामान् यः कामयते मन्यमानः स कामभिर्जायते तत्र तत्र । पर्याप्तकामस्य कृतात्मनस्तु इहैव सर्वे प्रविलीयन्ति कामाः ॥ मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-२-२ ॥

So this person dies with unfulfilled desires and those desires determine the next जन्म and again the story continues. So thus ज्ञान व्यवहार with त्रिपुटि and कर्म व्यवहार with त्रिपुटि, this is human life. And this cycle will be broken only when he comes to spiritual knowledge. Any other knowledge can only produce desires, any other knowledge can only produce desires and increase the कर्म flow. There is only one knowledge, which can destroy all the desires and that is the आत्मज्ञानम्.

प्रजहाति यदा कामान् सर्वान् पार्थ मनोगतान् ।

आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः स्थितप्रज्ञः तदा उच्यते ॥ २-७७॥

Therefore, except that Self-knowledge, all others keep the cycle going. Of these six factors, six factors means three belonging to ज्ञानम् and three belonging to कर्म. And the three referring to subject, object and instrument. कृष्ण is going to take up some of the factors for analysis. And what are those factors? They are enumerated in the 19th verse, which we will read now.

Verse No .19

ज्ञानं कर्म च कर्ता च त्रिधैव गुणभेदतः ।

प्रोच्यते गुणसङ्ख्याने यथावच्छृणु तान्यपि ॥ १८-१९॥

ज्ञानम् कर्म च कर्ता च त्रिधा एव गुण-भेदतः ।

प्रोच्यते गुण-सङ्ख्याने यथावत् शृणु तानि अपि ॥ १८-१९॥

ज्ञानम्, कर्म च कर्ता च त्रिधा एव गुण-भेदतः गुण-सङ्ख्याने प्रोच्यते, तानि अपि यथावत् शृणु ।

Of the six factors, कृष्ण first takes up three factors for analysis. Therefore He says: हे अर्जुन! ज्ञानम् कर्म and कर्ता, ज्ञानम् means knowledge, कर्म means action. In this context, the word कर्म means action. In the previous verse, कर्म means an object, but in this context the word कर्म means क्रिया or action. Then the third factor taken for study is कर्ता. कर्ता means an actor, (don't think of someone else) a doer. So knowledge, action and the doer, these three factors त्रिधा एव – each one is subject to three-fold classification, त्रिधा means three types or three-fold and classification on what basis? गुण-भेदतः – based on the difference of three गुणs, viz., सत्त्व, राजस् and तमस्, which means we have सात्त्विक ज्ञानम्, राजस ज्ञानम् and तामस ज्ञानम्; similarly, सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस कर्म and सात्त्विक राजस तामस कर्ता; totally nine items we have got. Then we may wonder where do we get all these topics? कृष्ण again says अर्जुन, they are all not My inventions, they are all discussed in the वेदान्त शास्त्र and in the साङ्ख्य philosophy. So He says, गुण-सङ्ख्याने प्रोच्यते, गुण-सङ्ख्यम् means the साङ्ख्य system of philosophy, which specializes on the study of the three गुणs. In वेदान्त also, we study the three गुणs, but the साङ्ख्य philosophers are specialists in this analysis and therefore कृष्ण says we will borrow from them. So this is a very very interesting thing to be noted. We never refute any system of philosophy totally, we never reject any system of philosophy totally, whatever is logical, whatever is in keeping with the वेद, श्रुति-युक्ति-अनुभव अनुसारेण, whatever is good we are willing to take. So we are not fanatic, we don't blindly reject anyone; accept anything beautiful from anywhere. Similarly, people who analyze the East and West. We can find people, there are some who criticize everything that is Western and they accept everything that is Indian or Eastern and we have got another set of people, who glorify anything western and criticize anything eastern. Our शास्त्रs says: Never blindly accept or reject any system. Then what should you do? Analyze, use your thinking and wherever good things are there, follow them. If the Westerners have got certain wonderful disciplines, why can't we learn? Why should we blindly criticize them, they are materialistic, they are materialistic, etc., and spend more talking about their materialism and we have no time to study spirituality. So कालीदास tells,

पुराणमित्येव न साधु सर्वम् न चापि काव्यम् नवमित्यवद्यम् । सन्तः
परीक्ष्यान्यतरद्भजन्ते मूढः परप्रत्ययनेयबुद्धिः ॥

Never be a blind judgmental person. Anything comes analyze.

युक्तियुक्तम् वचो ब्राह्मम् बालादपि शुकादपि । युक्तिहीनम् वचस् त्याज्यम् वृद्धादपि शुकादपि ॥

If an illogical statement is coming from a boy or even from शुक महर्षि, you reject it. Just because he is a महर्षि with a longer beard, स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द says, longer the beard the greater must be your doubt, don't blindly accept anyone because of the status or the आश्रम or even popularity. That is our tradition. And युक्तियुक्तम् वचः ब्राह्मम्, what is reasonable you should accept, whether it is coming from a boy or शुक, शुक has two meanings, parrot and शुक महर्षि. Similarly, here कृष्ण/

व्यासाचार्य is borrowing ideas from the साङ्ख्य. So, गुण-सङ्ख्याने साङ्ख्य शास्त्रे प्रोच्यते this idea is given. तानि अपि शृणु – may you listen to that also, यथावत् – as presented by Me. So this is the introduction. We start with the three topics, ज्ञानम्, कर्म and कर्ता. Totally seven topics are there. First we are starting with these three topics. Continuing;

Verse No .20

सर्वभूतेषु येनैकं भावमव्ययमीक्षते ।

अविभक्तं विभक्तेषु तज्ज्ञानं विद्धि सात्त्विकम् ॥ १८-२०॥

सर्व-भूतेषु येन एकम् भावम् अव्ययम् ईक्षते ।

अविभक्तम् विभक्तेषु तत् ज्ञानम् विद्धि सात्त्विकम् ॥ १८-२०॥

येन (जीवः) विभक्तेषु सर्व-भूतेषु अविभक्तम्, एकम् अव्ययम् भावम् ईक्षते, तत् ज्ञानम् सात्त्विकम् विद्धि ।

Of these three topics, knowledge, action and doer, कृष्ण is taking up the first topic, viz., ज्ञानम् or knowledge and He divides knowledge into three, the 20th verse defines सात्त्विक knowledge, the 21st verse deals with राजसिक knowledge and the 22nd verse deals with तामसिक knowledge. And that too knowledge about oneself. How do I understand myself? Who is a जीव? Who am I? So based on the way I look at myself, I can say I have तामसिक, राजसिक or सात्त्विक. First I will summarize these three types of knowledge independently. Then we will go to the verse. Initially when a person looks at himself, he sees only the physical body, I experience my physical body alone. Other than the physical body I don't see anything, and therefore I take myself to be the mortal body. And the date of birth of the body I take as my date of birth and the parents of this body I take as my parents and the children born out of this body I look upon as my children. And when the body is growing old I say I am growing old and when body will die I consider that is the end of myself. So this typical perspective is called देह-आत्म बुद्धि. Looking upon oneself as the mortal body. And this notion is further reinforced by the scientists also. The scientists who analyze the individual, he looks upon the individual only as the body. And you ask a scientist, is there anything other than the body? Is there a soul? He will say 'I believe only in one sole,' that is s ... o ... l ... e. Maximum 2 soles (because two legs are there) or maximum four, because the shoe also has got sole. Other than s..o..l..e., a scientist does not believe in anything other than the body, which can survive the death of the body. You ask him what is the mind, he will say mind is nothing but the brain with its neuronal connection. This is called चार्वाक philosophy, materialistic philosophy, I am the body, the body's birth is my birth, body's death is my death and therefore I am a mortal जीव. Not only I look upon myself as a mortal जीव, I say there are many mortal जीवs. This is how I look at myself and कृष्ण says this wonderful knowledge, which is so widely accepted, this is called तामस ज्ञान. What we consider most rational, brilliant, scientific knowledge, शास्त्र says तामस ज्ञानम्. This is delusion. And then what is राजस ज्ञानम्? A person having entertained such a notion, he begins to study the scriptures. He himself gets a doubt, whether I am the body only, or whether there is something more than the body. Whether this is the only birth or do I have a future birth and did I have a past birth, this doubt begins to come and even he reads in the newspapers, some people remembering the past birth, many books are coming. Some child recollecting the past birth. In the शास्त्र they are called जातिस्मर. Because that is a rare case. Normally we don't remember past birth. Why past birth, last Sunday class is our problem, that is our problem and not only that, if we don't remember the last birth, it is good also. But there are some who remember and there are people who explore and they go to that village and find out it is true also. And again we find prodigy. In the fifth year they have knowledge of music and they sing well, I have been studying for 15 years, स प स itself is doubtful, but this child gets, how do you explain this phenomenon and when I enquire, the शास्त्र, the वेद-पूर्व भाग tells, I am not the body, but I am someone different from the body. From स्थूल शरीरम्, I go to identify with my सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, the astral body or the mind-principle. And now my knowledge about myself has changed. Now I look upon myself as a जीव different from the body, I have taken millions of past birth and in normal course I will take millions of future births. Why I said normal course? Because we are all ज्ञानिन्, therefore we are all special cases, means for the normal person there are millions of future births, the physical body is not me, but it is only a temporary house. And these parents are not my eternal parents, these are the parents only with regard to this particular body. In the past birth, I had a different set of parents, in its past birth, different set of parents, if I have a future birth, there will be another set of parents, need not be human parents even, may be buffaloes. Thus, I have evolved myself to know that I am the owner or tenant of the body, I am not the body. And mind is not the brain, brain is only the hardware, brain is only the instrument, through which the mind is expressing, just as the bulb is only a medium through which the electricity is expressing. So the bulb may break or get fused out, you may remove the bulb, but the electricity continues. Similarly, I am the सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, I am the mind, even after the body falls dead I believe that the individual survives and not only survives that जीव travels. We saw in the 15th chapter,

मनः-षष्ठानि-इन्द्रियाणि प्रकृति-स्थानि कर्षति ॥ १७-७॥

शरीरम् यत् अवाप्नोति यत् च अपि उत्क्रामति ईश्वरः ।

गृहीत्वा एतानि संयाति वायुः गन्धान् इव आशयात् ॥ १७-८॥

I am the सूक्ष्म शरीर जीव who travel from body to body, लोक to लोक, body is mortal, but the सूक्ष्म शरीरम् doesn't die. Mind does not die, the mind of my previous जन्म is the mind of the present जन्म. The same mind continues in the future जन्म also along with the वासना,

तम् विद्याकर्मणी समन्वारभते पूर्वप्रज्ञा च ॥ बृहदारण्यकोपनिषत् ४-४-२॥

We come along with the वासना. That is what we call as aptitude. And कृष्ण says, this knowledge that I am immortal as the mind, I am the immortal mind which survives the death of the body, which is invisible and which travels from one body to another body, वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय, like removing the dress, I keep on removing the body and travel. So I am immortal. The सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is also many in number, because there are so many minds. So previously I was telling, I am जीव, the body, now I am telling, I am जीव, the mind. In fact, in India, most of the people believe in the survival of all of us. That is why they are worried about श्राद्धम्, तर्पणम्, etc., because they strongly believe that they will survive and they go to different लोकs and the children are giving oblations, offerings and that will help my forefather. So this knowledge, कृष्ण calls राजस ज्ञानम्. So mortal and many जीवs, identified with the स्थूल शरीरम् is तामस ज्ञानम्. When I identified with the mind and claim that I am immortal and there are many immortal जीवs from the standpoint of the mind, this is called राजस ज्ञानम्. And this राजस ज्ञानम् comes from वेद-पूर्व भाग, तामस ज्ञानम् comes from worldly books, राजस ज्ञानम् comes from वेद-पूर्व भाग. And after remaining in this knowledge and having done lot of तर्पणम्, श्राद्धम्, पुनरपि जननम् and पुनरपि मरणम्, then he goes to वेद-अन्त भाग and from वेदान्त he improves that knowledge further and he knows I am neither the body, nor am I the mind, the traveling mind, the mind which is कर्ता भोक्ता, the mind which has got वासनाs, the mind which has got सञ्चित आगामि प्रारब्ध, even that mind I am not. Then who am I? I am the Consciousness-principle which enlivens the body-mind-complex and what type of Consciousness?

- i) Consciousness is not part, product, or property of the body,
- ii) Consciousness is an independent entity which enlivens the body-mind-complex,
- iii) Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body-mind-complex,

- iv) Consciousness survives even after the fall of the body,
- v) And that surviving Consciousness cannot be recognized, it is without transaction, but it exists.

And how many such Consciousnesses are there? That all-pervading Consciousness is one. So when I come to वेदान्त, I claim I am not the body, I am not even the mind which travels after death, but I am the Consciousness which blesses not only this mind in this body, I am the Consciousness which is behind all the bodies and all the mind. And that Consciousness is एकः, अकर्ता, अभोक्ता, this is the culmination of Self-knowledge. Self-knowledge has to grow in three levels, I am body level - level one, I am the mind - level two, I am the Consciousness - level three. The first level is called तामस ज्ञानम्, the second level is राजसिक ज्ञानम् and the third and final is सात्त्विक ज्ञानम्. कृष्ण is starting from the सात्त्विक level. Now look at the श्लोक. विभक्तेषु सर्व-भूतेषु एकम् भावम् ईक्षते, that knowledge by which one sees one Consciousness I, भावम् means reality, here the reality refers to the चैतन्यतत्त्वम्, आत्मतत्त्वम्, सत् principle. And how many Consciousness are there? एकम् भावम्. And what type of Consciousness it is? अव्ययम्, the body continuously changes, अस्ति, जायते, वर्धते, विपरिमते, अपक्षीयते, विनश्यति. The mind also continuously changes and when the body is growing old, the mind also becomes weaker. That is why, we say, in those days I used to remember everything. And now I am not able to remember anything. So along with the body, the mind also undergoes change, but this Consciousness-principle is अव्ययम्. अव्ययम् means निर्विकारम्. So that knowledge by which a person sees that one Consciousness which is present in सर्व-भूतेषु – present in all the bodies, bodies are many, minds are many, but Consciousness is one, like bulbs are many - स्थूल शरीरम्, filaments are many - सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, that's why it gets fused we say the person is perished, so the filament is the सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, get fused and the bulbs are many, filaments are many, electricity is only one. So सर्व-भूतेषु, here भूत means all the bodies, शरीरेषु. What is the nature of the body? विभक्तेषु – which are all divided, which are many and varied, here is one body and another body is separated by space, therefore the bodies are divided, means separated, but Consciousness is not divided. I have given the example before, light is upon this finger also, light is upon this finger also, in between the two fingers, light is there or not? What will we say? Light is there, but you cannot see it. How do you know light is there? Put a finger in between, you will see the light. By light I don't mean the bulb, I mean that light spreading. So just as the visible light is in finger one, visible light is on finger two, in between two fingers the light is, but in invisible manner, similarly, Consciousness is in your body, Consciousness is in my body, Consciousness is in between also, but we are not able to recognize. In संस्कृत we say, here it is व्यक्त चैतन्यम्, in the other body it is व्यक्त चैतन्यम्, व्यक्त means manifest, in between it is अव्यक्त चैतन्यम्. Therefore Consciousness is not a separated entity, not a divided entity, not a pluralistic entity and that is why it is compared to आकाश. Therefore, अविभक्तम् – indivisible like space. And this 'I' that I am that आत्मा, I am the space like Consciousness, the one who knows he alone has got सात्त्विक knowledge. It is the toughest challenge to say that I am the space like Consciousness. Easiest is to say I am the body, next tougher one is I am not the body, but I am the mind which survives the death of the body, which is tougher, but I am the Consciousness is the toughest and that is called सात्त्विक ज्ञानम्. So कृष्ण says तत् ज्ञानम् सात्त्विकम् विद्धि. In short अद्वैत ज्ञानम् is सात्त्विक ज्ञानम्. Continuing;

Verse No .21

पृथक्त्वेन तु यज्ज्ञानं नानाभावान्पृथग्विधान् ।

वेति सर्वेषु भूतेषु तज्ज्ञानं विद्धि राजसम् ॥ १८-२१॥

पृथक्त्वेन तु यत् ज्ञानम् नाना-भावान् पृथक्-विधान् ।

वेति सर्वेषु भूतेषु तत् ज्ञानम् विद्धि राजसम् ॥ १८-२१॥

यत् ज्ञानम् पृथक्त्वेन सर्वेषु भूतेषु तु पृथक्-विधान् नाना-भावान् वेति, तत् ज्ञानम् राजसम् विद्धि ।

राजसिक knowledge is the intermediary one, this person does not take the body as himself. So there is a slight progress, he is a not a चार्वाक, चार्वाक is the materialistic philosopher, who looks upon the body as himself and such people will not believe in पुण्यम्, they will not believe in पापम्. So you cannot frighten them also, if you do अधर्म you will go to hell,' no way to tell, because he will say, who believes in hell. So it is very difficult to talk to a materialistic person, because he doesn't believe in पुण्यम् or पापम्, he doesn't believe in स्वर्ग or नरक, very difficult; whereas this person believes in a surviving mind. So therefore, he has progressed from body to mind. And when he comes to the mind, he is going to claim that I am कर्ता and भोक्ता, because mind has that capacity to do, it has got a willpower and therefore it becomes a कर्ता and भोक्ता. And once I identify with the mind, there are many minds and therefore I am in द्वैतम् only. Even though I have progressed but still I am in द्वैतम्. Previously I said there are many bodies, now I say there are many minds, that is the only difference. Therefore, कृष्ण says, यत् ज्ञानम् – that knowledge by which पृथक्-विधान् नाना-भावान् वेति – one knows or accepts many and varied जीवात्माs. So भाव here means the जीवs, नाना-भावाः means many जीवs, not based on the body but based on the many minds, so नाना जीवs and each जीव is different from another, one has got more पुण्यम्, another जीव has more पापम्, another जीव has got 50-50, thus he sees नाना-भावान् पृथक्-विधान् पृथक्त्वेन वेति. Where? सर्वेषु भूतेषु behind every physical body. So साङ्ख्य philosopher talks about the plurality of जीवs, the न्याय philosopher talks about the plurality of the जीवs. It is because they have mistaken the mind as ourselves. And तत् ज्ञानम् – such a knowledge is राजसम् विद्धि, राजसिक knowledge. Now what is तामसिक knowledge? कृष्ण tells in the 22nd verse, we will read.

Verse No .22

यत्तु कृत्स्नवदेकस्मिन्कार्ये सत्तमहैतुकम् ।

अतत्त्वार्थवदल्पं च तत्तामसमुदाहृतम् ॥ १८-२२॥

यत्तु कृत्स्नवत् एकस्मिन् कार्ये सत्तमहैतुकम् ।

अतत्त्वार्थवत् अल्पम् च तत्तामसम् उदाहृतम् ॥ १८-२२॥

यत्तु एकस्मिन् कार्ये कृत्स्नवत् सत्तमहैतुकम् अतत्त्वार्थवत् अल्पम् च, तत्(ज्ञानं) तामसम् उदाहृतम् ।

So the third type of knowledge is held by an utterly materialistic person and therefore he accepts the physical body only, he doesn't believe even in a mind other than the brain. And therefore in his vision, when the body dies, that is the end of the individual. And if you argue that this is only the external vesture, behind the body there is some जीव, you call it सूक्ष्म body, astral body, when we talk about that जीव's traveling, this person asks, what is the proof? Isn't it a blind belief? And he says if I have to accept, you should show that to the sense organs. So the conclusion of a materialist is he believes only in the sense organs. And whatever is not available to the sense organs, he does not believe. And we cannot do anything with those people, because the subtle body cannot be shown to the sense organs. That is why somebody wanted to find out the weight of the soul and therefore they wanted to take the weight of the individual before death and weight of the individual after death and whatever be the reduction in the weight must be the weight of the soul, scientific experimentation. And they found weight increases after death, so what happens "The soul must have a negative weight!" The शास्त्र very clearly says that there are things in the creation which are not available for sense organs. As I have said before, imagine a person who has got only four sense organs and he doesn't have the eye, suppose he is blind, I am telling that there are colors and forms in the world, which can be known only through the fifth sense organ called the eye, this person says: "No, I won't accept. If I have to accept colors and forms, you should prove it through the four sense organs I have got, I will use the ear and you have to show color. I will use my tongue, I will use my skin." He accepts to use the available four sense organs, and he is asking me to prove the color, I am saying your available four sense organs cannot prove the color, if you want a proof for the color, you have to accept the fifth sense organ called the eye and you have to operate. Similarly, the tradition says, there are things which are not available for the five sense organs, we have to go to the sixth sense organ called शास्त्रम्, शास्त्र चक्षु is the sixth sense organ, either you accept to operate it or I cannot help you. So therefore any amount of scientific experiments will not help, because those sense organs are incapable of objectifying. वेद itself makes it very clear, वेद introduces itself, I am here to teach you things which are not available for sense organs. We won't lend our ears to that. वेद tells, I am here to teach you things, which are not available for sense organs and this fellow says, I will accept if you show that to the sense organs. What to say?

प्रत्यक्षणानुमित्या वा यस्तूपायो न विद्यते । एवम् विदन्ति वेदेन तस्मात् वेदस्य वेदता ॥ वैदिकसाहित्यम् ॥

The very definition of वेद is it is the sixth sense organ. And what is available for the वेद will not be available for the other five sense organs. In fact, what is available for the eyes will not be available for the other four, what is available for the ears is not available for the other. What is the definition of a sense organ? Sense organ is that which reveals a unique thing, which is not available for the other sense organs, without understanding this, a materialistic person argues, सूक्ष्म शरीरम् is not available for sense organs, not available for scientific experimentation. Therefore nobody survives, therefore our forefathers are going to different लोकs, they are all cock and bull stories, I don't believe in श्राद्धम्, I don't believe in तर्पणम्, they are all hotchpotch. कृष्ण says, better don't argue with them, their problem is that they don't know what is sense organ. This topic is called epistemology. Therefore, वेद says such persons doesn't know what is proof, what is knowledge, etc., he doesn't understand therefore he is called a तामसिक person, he wants to see something through a sense organ for which it is not available. What to tell him? He wants to see the sound through the eyes. Therefore He says, यत् ज्ञानम् – that knowledge एकस्मिन् कार्ये सक्तम्, which identifies with only the physical body. Here कार्यम् means स्थूल शरीरम्. Very carefully note, in this श्लोक, the word कार्यम् refers to the gross body, that materialistic knowledge which identifies with the gross body, कृत्स्नवत् – as though that is the total I. शास्त्र says body is the most superficial layer of your personality and अन्नमयम् is the superficial layer and that superficial layer he takes as the ultimate, he doesn't come to प्राणमय, मनोमय, विज्ञानमय; to आनन्दमय he comes for sleeping. When he is going to come to आत्मा? Never argue with a materialistic person. We can only say: 'You be happy with what you consider, I will go by what I consider as the source of knowledge,' कार्ये सक्तम्; अहेतुकम् – which doesn't have any logic. So the materialistic people are the most illogical people, they say प्रत्यक्षम् alone is प्रमाणम् and if प्रत्यक्षम् alone is प्रमाणम्, source of knowledge, they cannot believe even their back. We can say that, 'you don't have a back, because you have never seen your back.' Therefore, the silliest philosophy, अहेतुकम्, illogical, अतत्त्वार्थवत् – it doesn't have the ultimate truth in it, it means that knowledge, तामसिक knowledge doesn't have the ultimate reality. And अल्पम् च – it is the meanest form of knowledge, अल्प means अल्प प्रयोजनम्, it doesn't take a person far and such a materialistic knowledge is called तामसिक knowledge. So I am the body is तामसिक knowledge, I am the mind is राजसिक knowledge, I am Consciousness is the सात्विक knowledge.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 23-25

After summarizing the two principle साधनs, कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग in the first 17 verses, now from the 18th verse up to the 40th verse, Lord is taking up seven topics and in each topic, He talks about three types based on the three-fold गुणs. And of those seven topics कृष्ण has introduced the first three in the 19th verse and those three topics are ज्ञानम्, कर्म and कर्ता. ज्ञानम् meaning knowledge, कर्म meaning action and कर्ता meaning a doer. And then in the next three verses, 20, 21 and 22, कृष्ण talked about सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस ज्ञानम् and all these three-fold knowledge is the knowledge about oneself. How does a person look at himself and this is very important because, the way I look upon the world heavily depends upon the way I look at myself. And of these three, the तामसिक and the most natural knowledge every living being instinctively have is the idea that I am the physical body. This is the universal conclusion of most of the thoughtless people and this is the conclusion of many materialistic philosophers also - I am the physical body. And therefore they don't believe in rebirth, they don't believe in past birth, they don't believe in future births also and if you ask them, how do you account for various geniuses in different planes, how do you explain the child prodigy, they will say it is just chance only. You cannot even say that it is genetics, because in the same family one child is a music prodigy, another child is musically deaf. You know musically deaf, he doesn't understand even what is the श्रुति. Thus, you cannot give genetics as reason, they have to believe all the differences in the human beings are because of chance only. Thus, these people are called लोकायतिकs, चार्वाकs, who say I am the body. And naturally they have to conclude, I am a mortal human being, the fear of mortality cannot be escaped by them. And then after some time, when a person comes to religion and scriptures there is a revision with regard to the knowledge about oneself, one begins to accept the fact that I am not the body, but I am a tenant who is using this body as a temporary rented house and I have been taking many rented houses. In the past, I have lived in several bodies and this happens to be just another rented body and I will kick off this body also and will take up another body also, thus, I am something else other than this body, I am the mind or I am the सूक्ष्म शरीरम्, different from the body. And when the person elevates himself to that knowledge, one advantage is the fear of death goes, because I know that I don't disappear from the world. Because I believe in past births and because I believe in future births, I know that I am not going to disappear, only the medium of transaction is going to change. In the past birth, I transacted through one type of body and in this birth, I am transacting through this body, in the next birth, this body will not be available; the contact number is different, after all our phone numbers are changing very often. From six digits to seven digits to eight digits, Similarly, the phone numbers are changing, the change in phone number is not a change in the owner. The change in the phone number is not a change in the owner. Similarly

वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय नवानि गृह्णाति नरोऽपराणि ॥ २-२२॥

For a religious person, fear of mortality is very very less. And that is why, in those days, they could think of capital punishment as a form of punishment. For a materialistic person, capital punishment is unthinkable because in capital punishment you are not reforming the person, why because in materialistic philosophy, capital punishment is the end of the individual, where is the question of reforming? But if I believe in पुनर्जन्म, I can accept capital punishment, because in capital punishment, the जीव doesn't die. The जीव doesn't die because the body alone is hanged to death, not the जीव and therefore, death is not an end of the individual, therefore, death also can be a form of treatment, a form of reformation. It is possible in this philosophy. And therefore, I now know that I am a surviving individual and I look upon myself as a कर्ता and I am a भोक्ता and I have got सच्चित्, आगामि and प्रारब्ध and according to the कर्म, I will travel from body to body. Death is not my end. This gives a lot of relief. But here also there is a problem. The problem is I know that I will survive, even after death and I know that I will travel and go to different लोकs, but my fear is what will be the type of लोक I will go to later? What type of body I will get? For a materialistic person that fear is not there, because death is the end of him. But for this person, there is a fear because I should not be born in unfavorable circumstances. Therefore, we enter into the third level of knowledge. What is that knowledge? I am not the body also which will die, I am not the mind also which will travel from लोकs to लोकs, but I am the Consciousness which is अकर्ता, अभोक्ता, which illumines everything but is not affected by anything. And when I get this आत्मज्ञानम्, that alone is the highest knowledge, in which I am free from fear of mortality and I am also free from the fear of a wrong rebirth. The fear of an unfavorable rebirth is a serious fear and especially people want to avoid unfavorable rebirth by getting श्राद्धम् through their children, because it is said in the scriptures that if the श्राद्धम्s are not done, they won't get a favorable rebirth or they will be hanging somewhere. Many people are afraid of hanging around or afraid of being reborn, some नरक or some place and this special नरक is also said, called पुत्र नरकम्. Many parents are worried that I may go to पुत्र नरकम् if my children don't do श्राद्धम्, serious fear. So once I know I am अकर्ता, अभोक्ता, the fear of नरकम् also goes away, whether I have children or not, whether the children are male or females or not and whether the male children believe in श्राद्धम् or not and whether the believing children will perform or not or whether the priest will be available for that श्राद्धम् or not. So much fear. Because they say स्वामिजि, we want to do, but the priest who has promised, he never comes. Many people are getting वैराग्यम् towards श्राद्धम् because of the priest's behavior. All these are there. When I know I am अकर्ता, अभोक्ता, I don't bother about mortality or rebirth and therefore that is the highest knowledge. I am body - तामसिक knowledge, I am mind - राजसिक knowledge, I am all-pervading Consciousness - सात्विक knowledge. These are the three types of ज्ञानम् we saw. Now we are going to enter into three types of कर्म. We will read verse no.23.

Verse No .23

नियतं सङ्गरहितमरागद्वेषतः कृतम् ।

अफलप्रेप्सुना कर्म यत्तत्सात्विकमुच्यते ॥ १८-२३॥

नियतम् सङ्ग-रहितम् अराग-द्वेषतः कृतम् ।

अफल-प्रेप्सुना कर्म यत् तत् सात्विकम् उच्यते ॥ १८-२३॥

अफल-प्रेप्सुना यत् नियतम् कर्म-सङ्ग-रहितम् अराग-द्वेषतः कृतम्, तत् सात्विकम् उच्यते ।

Now begins the three types of कर्म and here the word कर्म means action. I am emphasizing this because sometimes the word कर्म refers to any object also and in that meaning that word was used in verse no.18, the word कर्म meant object, but here the word कर्म should be taken as action and in this verse 23, सात्विकम् कर्म is defined, then in 24, राजसम् कर्म and in 25 तामसम् कर्म. What do you mean by सात्विकम् कर्म? कृष्ण says, नियतम् कर्म सात्विकम्, नियतम् कर्म means specially prescribed actions in the scriptures. नियतम् means specially prescribed action. What do you mean by specially prescribed action? The scriptures prescribe certain special actions, exclusively for the sake of spiritual growth, exclusively for the sake of inner maturity, exclusively for the sake of developing value. We have seen in the 16th chapter, that Self-knowledge is possible only in a mind which enjoys the values of life and the values were enlisted as दैवी सम्पत् in the 16th chapter. So only when such values are there, the mind is fertile for the आत्मज्ञानम् crop. For different types of crop, different types of soils are conducive. Coffee or tea cannot be grown in चैन्नै, in चैन्नै nothing can be grown that is a different matter. It requires a particular type of soil. Similarly, the mind requires a particular type of condition, which was enumerated as दैवी सम्पत् विमोक्षाय. And, all the values can be developed, if a person performs those specially prescribed कर्मs, they are called सात्त्विक कर्माणि, they are called निष्काम कर्माणि or they are called विहित कर्माणि or they are called शोधक कर्माणि, शोधकम् means purifying कर्म. They are not meant for giving any worldly, materialistic benefit, they are specially designed for inner growth. If a person is interested in materialistic benefit, scriptures do prescribe special activities for those benefits also. We have got an आवहन्ति होमम्, which we studied in the तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् शीक्षावल्ली, it is a special होम for getting money. Thus scriptures do prescribe rituals and activities for materialistic benefits and scriptures do prescribe for inner growth and that inner growth oriented कर्मs are called नियत कर्माणि. And what are they? We have elaborately studied them in the 3rd chapter of the गीता, this is supposed to be a summarizing chapter or reminder chapter. What are the कर्मs that we saw, I will only remind you, पञ्च महायज्ञs. They are all कर्मs in which I contribute to the well beings of the various segments of the society, they are such activities in which my very living upon the earth will become beneficial to others, whether my living benefited anybody in any way to others or have I been a sheer burden to the society. So the greater my life is beneficial to others, greater will be the purity and the society was divided into five segments and contributions to each segment we called one यज्ञ and पञ्च महायज्ञs were mentioned, all of them will come under नियत कर्माणि and they will purify the mind quickly, therefore नियतम्. Then the next condition for सात्त्विक कर्म is सङ्ग-रहितम्. Even when a person does noble कर्मs, सात्त्विक कर्मs, service type of कर्म, contributory type of कर्म, one should remember that कर्म or action is not an end-in-itself. Our ultimate aim is systematic Vedantic study. One should not forget that, service to the society is wonderful, but that is not an end-in-itself, because when a person serves the society, no doubt he purifies the mind, but he doesn't have an opportunity to learn about the real nature of oneself. And therefore one has to come to systematic study of वेदान्त, वेदान्त श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासनम्, Saturday/Sunday classes are compulsory for all. Therefore, if a person is service oriented, कृष्ण says you serve serve and serve, but in due course, you should learn to withdraw gradually and learn to spend more time in Self-enquiry. Therefore don't fall in love with कर्म, use the कर्म, purify yourselves and gradually reduce the कर्म. Therefore सङ्गम् रहितम् means not getting attached to rituals. There are many ritualistic people, they are great after all rituals are wonderful but they never come to वेदान्त, they die as a ritualist only. Therefore कृष्ण is warning, you should know how to transcend that. That is called सङ्ग-रहितम्. Then the next condition for सात्त्विक कर्म is अराग-द्वेषतः कृतम्. These सात्त्विक कर्मs are performed without राग and द्वेष, without राग and द्वेष which means without any worldly motive. These कर्मs are not done for changing the external world. The difference between सात्त्विक कर्मs and राजस कर्मs is, in राजस कर्म, I want to gain happiness by changing the set-up. My philosophy is: "if I change the set-up, I will be happier. If I change the family members, I will be happier." Many people invite स्वामिजि to give advice to their family members. They don't want to change, because they are sure they are perfect. So if we tell, they will not listen, therefore स्वामिजि you advice them. In fact, that is the fundamental difficulty for वेदान्त. Therefore राग-द्वेष oriented कर्म is राजस कर्म. राजस कर्म is based on the fundamental misconception that my improvement is based on change of the surroundings. Whereas सात्त्विक कर्म is based on the fundamental philosophy that my happiness depends upon transforming myself, my knowledge, my attitude towards myself, my attitude towards the world, because the world cannot be changed by us. And in fact, when we are trying to change the world, the others are busy trying to change us! And therefore कृष्ण says a कर्मयोगि is interested in transforming himself, he doesn't have a complaint against the set-up.

And if at all he has a complaint, the complaint is against whom? I am having some problem, problem lies in me. As स्वामि दयानन्द beautifully says, “Problem is You, Solution is You.” कर्मयोगि wants to transform inwardly. Therefore अराग-द्वेषतः कृतम्, it is not based on the राग-द्वेष with regard to the set-up. And therefore only अफल-प्रेप्सुना कृतम् – it is done without the expectation of any external benefit. What he expects, if at all there is an expectation, is a self-transformation or ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्ति is the expectation, but he doesn’t have any external materialistic expectations, even though the scriptures promise कर्मयोग will bring certain worldly benefits also, as a by-product. कर्मयोग is supposed to bring worldly benefits also, as a by-product, but a कर्मयोगि should not aim at that by-product. If you aim at by-product, it will no more be a by-product, it will become the main thing. And therefore, अफल-प्रेप्सुना. The first by-product is better health, a कर्मयोगि will have better health. In fact, all the doctors are prescribing कर्मयोग for heart patients, without naming it कर्मयोग, they say take life easily, don’t have too much stress or strain, then it will increase your pressure, then you will require another by-pass, you will have problem, therefore be relaxed, What is that? That is called कर्मयोग, it is another name. And they prescribe for what purpose? Preventing heart attack. Better health, reduction of chances of heart attack is a by-product of कर्मयोग and therefore अफल-प्रेप्सुना, it is done by a person, अफल-प्रेप्सु is the name of the person, सात्त्विक कर्मि is talked about. सात्त्विक कर्म is done by a person, who is not desirous of material result. And यत् तत् कर्म – such an action is called सात्त्विकम् कर्म. And this is possible only when a person is sufficiently enlightened to understand that the problem is only with me. That requires to become a कर्मयोगि itself, a person requires the fundamental understanding that the problem is not with the world, the problem is with me, therefore the change required is not outside. Like a person repeatedly falling sick, later discovers the problem is my immunity is less. And therefore, immunize yourself that is the solution required. So, कर्मयोगि is reasonable enlightened. Continuing;

Verse No .24

यत्तु कामेप्सुना कर्म साहङ्कारेण वा पुनः ।

क्रियते बहुलायासं तद्राजसमुदाहृतम् ॥ १८-२४॥

यत्तु काम-ईप्सुना कर्म साहङ्कारेण वा पुनः ।

क्रियते बहुल आयासम् तत् राजसम् उदाहृतम् ॥ १८-२४॥

पुनः यत्तु काम-ईप्सुना, साहङ्कारेण वा बहुल आयासम् कर्म क्रियते, तत् राजसम् उदाहृतम् ।

So in the previous verse, we saw सात्त्विकम् कर्म is कर्मयोग only. Now कृष्ण defines राजसम् कर्म. राजसम् कर्म is a कर्म which is done with बहुल आयासम् क्रियते. It is a कर्म, which involves tremendous stress and strain, the person is heavily stressed, heavily strained, there is tremendous tension, which tells upon his life in different ways. There are some people who suppress the tension, because the business ethics and business etiquette requires certain external smile, some वैषम्यम् is required and therefore he suppresses his tension and externally pretends to be a relaxed and relieved person. Therefore one problem is it tells upon the body in due course, varieties of psychosomatic diseases survive. So राजसम् कर्म is that which increases tension and which surfaces in the form of varieties of diseases. Or another problem is a person doesn't know how to handle this tension and anxiety and therefore he expresses this in front of the other people. Therefore, he is a highly irritable person, short tempered. All the time irritable and the victims are often the family members, the children will have to bear the brunt of that executive. The wife will have to face all the scoldings and anger. Therefore he becomes an angry person. This is another expression. Or still verse problem, he doesn't know how to cope with stress and strain and therefore he tries to release through various other addictions like drinking, he has to go in the evening to release his tension, going to club, or smoke or he takes to varieties of habits and after some time, all of them won't work. He becomes a wreck, his family becomes a wreck and even family breaks up. And especially now-a-days when the life is becoming faster and faster, this becomes the price that we have to pay. And when he cannot lead even an ordinary peaceful life, where is the question of studying the scriptures, a tension ridden mind will not have the inner relaxation either to pray or to spend some time with family members or attend a गीता or उपनिषत् class. All these are not possible at all, becomes a very very unfortunate the tragic life. In fact, he will be climbing the corporate ladder, he has become vice-president, president etc. From one side he has climbed the corporate ladder and he earns per month Rs.2-3-4 lakhs, but he has money, but no peace and not only he doesn't have peace, even the family members don't have peace. This is a typical राजसिक कर्म way. So कृष्ण says: बहुल आयासम्, आयास means stress and strain, tension, anxiety, inner volcano, when will it burst is not known. That is why स्वामिजि says when such a father comes from the office, even the children say father has come, father has come each one goes to different rooms, nobody wants to confront that father. Because they know that he may burst at any time and the poor wife cannot escape, if he doesn't come also problem, therefore the very life becomes a hell, family becomes a hell. Money is there, status is there, position is there, but no life, no family, no religion, no spirituality. कृष्ण says are you interested in that? Wish you all the best. Therefore, बहुल आयासम् क्रियते – actions with tremendous strain and काम-ईप्सुना क्रियते – it is done by a person who has got materialistic desires, like power, he hankers after power, position, name, fame, status. So there is lot of competition in the corporate world, therefore I want to have that status, therefore he is fighting for that, even if he is not interested, the family members constantly taunt him, 'you see your brother, you are a simpleton don't know anything. He has got two cars, and he has got one house in कोडैकानल and another in चेन्नै and you are the foolish one, keeping an ambassador you are living. So, even the family members taunt the person to go higher and higher. Therefore काम-ईप्सुना. And what is the fundamental misconception? All those statuses, name, fame and position will give peace of mind, this is the misconception. They do not know that peace of mind has no connection to any of these things. We can have enough example in which a person has all of them without peace and we have got equal number of examples in which a person doesn't have any one of them, but still he is contended person. कुचेल, if you read भागवतम्, he didn't have any one of them, and he was happy and contended, but only the other people sent him to Lord कृष्ण to ask for money. And we have to read the dialogue in भागवतम् कुचेल means the one who does not have designer clothes, that is the definition of कुचेल, चेल means dress (not हिन्दि one, which means disciple; in संस्कृत चेल means dress). कुचेल means who doesn't have the costly dresses, but he doesn't consider himself to be inferior because of that; he is happy. Therefore, काम-ईप्सुना कर्म क्रियते – action done by a person who is interested in all these externals and साहङ्कारेण – one who is highly egoistic, he wants his value increases because of the position that he occupies and therefore he wants to stick to that position, stick to that status, because he values that and he thinks that his glory is because of that particular status or position and therefore he holds on to that. So साहङ्कारेण means attached to the external insignias, external symbols of status and position; साहङ्कारेण. And therefore he demands also. So, in a function, even in a spiritual discourse also he is very particular about the row he is allotted. Even though the गीता will be the same, whether you listen to from the 1st row or the 3rd row, but he is very particular and not only that even if he comes, he wants to see what the other person is allotted. If the other person in the front row and I am in the 3rd row, there will be big row, big row he will create. Why have you given me like this? Status conscious. All typical egoism case, राजसिक case. And therefore, साहङ्कारेण, action done by an egoistic person who is interested in external and who is always in tension, such a कर्म is राजसम् उदाहृतम् is राजसिक कर्म. Continuing;

अनुबन्धं क्षयं हिंसा मनवेक्ष्य च पौरुषम् ।

मोहादारभ्यते कर्म यत्तत्तामसमुच्यते ॥ १८-२५॥

अनुबन्धम् क्षयम् हिंसां मनवेक्ष्य च पौरुषम् ।

मोहात् आरभ्यते कर्म यत् तत् तामसम् उच्यते ॥ १८-२५॥

अनुबन्धम् क्षयम् हिंसां पौरुषम् च मनवेक्ष्य यत् कर्म मोहात् आरभ्यते तत् तामसम् उच्यते ।

Now कृष्ण defines तामसिक कर्म and he points out any thoughtless action, any action done without proper thinking, proper planning is तामस कर्म. वेदान्त or कर्मयोग insists upon proper planning. Many people get confused regarding planning for the future and worrying about the future. This is a very big confusion. Planning is a deliberate action. If I am planning a pilgrimage, I have to decide when I am starting, which should be the first place I go, which should be the second place and how I go, if I have to book the ticket, I do it in advance, if I have to book a hotel for staying that I have to do; planning makes a person efficient in the present. Planning with regard to the future make me efficient in the present and planning is a deliberate action. And वेदान्त strongly recommends planning, that is सात्त्विक कर्म, that is intelligence. Whereas worrying is a totally different thing. After booking the ticket, suppose you worry whether the train will run or not, after all India! you don't know which strike will come when and which track will have derailment, especially when you read the news item, every other day some derailment or the other is there. You can think or worry about such things and that worry is not a deliberate action, but it is something that happens without our thinking. How do you know the difference between planning and worrying? Since planning is a deliberate action, you can choose the time and fix. Suppose you want to undertake a pilgrimage in December, you can decide to plan next month or next to next month. You can allot the time and you can even sit together with all others, planning is a deliberate action, therefore you can choose the time of planning. What about worrying? Do you choose that I want to worry about my son some day. Therefore tomorrow between 5 and 6, I will worry about my son. And day after between 7 and 8, daughter. Next week, Wednesday between 12-1, the daughter-in-law. And next to that between 2-3, the grandchild. Can you plan and worry? You can never do, it happens. So what happens without your permission at any time, even in the middle of the class sometimes, that is called worry. Worry regarding the future does not give you efficiency in the present, the worry saps up your efficiency, it weakens you. Plan strengthens you, worry weakens you. Plan is also with regard to future, worry is also with regard to future, one is healthy because it strengthens you, another is unhealthy because it weakens you. सात्त्विक कर्म involves planning, whereas तामस काम, there is no planning. I felt like doing and therefore I did. Therefore कृष्ण says पौरुषम् अनवेक्ष्य. पौरुषम् means the human capacity, personal capacity, personal resources, physical capacity, intellectual capacity, financial capacity. Even if I am choosing a particular course of study, I should know whether I have the capacity to undertake that course. Intellectual resources, emotional resources, physical resources, financial resources, I have to take all of them into account. Otherwise, as they say in तमिळ्, I over-stretched my leg. And in English there is a proverb, biting more than one can chew. Biting a big morsel of banana, neither you can spit it because other people are there nor you can swallow because there is no space to munch - as big as your mouth. So, how will it roll it in the mouth. Or you have to run to another room and take it out. And therefore, even while eating you should know how big should be the morsel. A तामसिक person, or in तामसिक कर्म, proper plans will be lacking. So, अनवेक्ष्य means without taking into consideration individual capacity. Then the next thing is अनुबन्धम्. An action done without considering the consequences. Without considering the consequences, if an action is done. So, if in the office the boss shouts at me and I get angry, I feel that it is an illegitimate shouting and therefore I shout back to him. And next day I lost my job. I should know whether I am dependent on the company or the company is dependent on me. Without knowing who is depending on whom if you act, you will be in trouble. So therefore, before verbally expressing, before physically expressing, before starting anything, I should know the consequences. अनुबन्धम् means consequences. Then क्षयम्, which means the loss or the expenditure, nothing can be attained free. Whatever you have to accomplish in life, you have to proportionally spend or expend. It maybe expenditure of your physical energy, if I am taking up a job with requires 12 hours of slogging or if I have to get involved in night shift working, I should know whether my body can take it. So physical expenditure, financial expenditure, all types of loss or expenditure, I should calculate. So therefore क्षयम् or loss and then हिंसाम्. I should know whether any damage will be caused by my action. Whether any damage will be caused, when we have got nuclear energy there is a proportional damage also, when there is an advancement in the city, roads and all of them, there is a damage in the form of pollution. Any action I do, there are favorable consequences and equal number of unfavorable consequences, generally we downplay the unfavorable consequences. This is the general habit, because we have one problem in a particular house or particular job, the problem at present always looms large, it appears bigger. Therefore I want to jump out of it. And I look at the other situation and I find that the other situation this problem is absent. Like from rented house to own house, but own house has got its own problem. That is why it is called owned house. As I have said ownership flat means there is ownership and you are flat. So in a new set-up, this particular problem is absent and we want to get out of this particular problem. And we see that this particular problem is absent, but we don't see that it is replaced by some other problem. And we don't want to see it because we want to quickly get out of this and we get into that English proverb situation. What is that? From the frying pan I jumped out and fell into the fire, which is worse. Therefore whatever I have, action I take, there are favorable, there are unfavorable situations also. There is no decision which is uniformly positive. Even संन्यास taking also. I won't tell you what are the minus points; anything the first thing that we have to do is: am I ready and prepared to face the unfavorable. To think favorable everyone does. An intelligent person asks: Am I aware of and am I prepared to face the unfavorable. First I am aware of and if I not prepared, better I prepare and jump into that and in तामसिक कर्म, I don't do that. So then what do I do? Now also I am crying, then also. So constant crying will be the problem.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 26-28

After summing up the topics of कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग in the first 17 verses, Lord कृष्ण from the 18th verse onwards takes up seven topics for cryptic analysis and in each topic he deals with the सात्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक variety. This is the topic from 18th up to the 40th verse. And the seven topics taken up are ज्ञानम्, कर्म, कर्ता - ज्ञानम् means knowledge, कर्म means action and कर्ता means doer, - then बुद्धिः and धृतिः, बुद्धिः meaning intellect or intelligence, धृतिः means willpower and then finally सुखम्. सुखम् means happiness. Totally we have only 6 topics. You have to include the three types of संन्यास which he has talked before. So excluding the three types of संन्यास, we have got six topics from the 18th verse, ज्ञानम्, कर्म, कर्ता, बुद्धिः, धृतिः and सुखम् and in each one, कृष्ण talks about सात्विक, राजस and तामस variety. And indirectly what Lord कृष्ण wants to convey is the तामसिक variety should be given up at the earliest, because it is damaging to the spiritual personality. However, advantageous it may be materially, we should give up the तामसिक variety, whether it is तामस कर्म, तामस कर्तृत्वम्, तामस सुखम्, तामस धृतिः, in all these seven, तामसिक variety should be given up if you are a spiritual seeker. Remember the entire गीता is taught assuming that the student is ultimately interested in spiritual destination. If a person does not have spiritual value then we will carefully avoid introducing गीता to him. Therefore, throughout you should remember that गीता is a मोक्ष शास्त्रम्. And शङ्कराचार्य specially tells this in the introduction itself, गीता is मोक्ष शास्त्रम्, because अर्जुन in the 1st and 2nd chapters pointed out that I am not able to get peace of mind in spite of materialistic success. He said even स्वर्ग, the heaven which is the height of materialist accomplishment, even that heaven will not remove my sorrow. So from that it is very clear that the student of the गीता has understood the limitations of materialistic accomplishments. And therefore in and through all these discussions we should remember that

मोक्ष is kept in mind and if मोक्ष is my absolute goal, any pursuit which brings me down spiritually, I am to give up even though it is materially beneficial and therefore all the तामसिक type should be given up at the earliest, including तामसिक आहार or food, which was mentioned in the 17th chapter. Then as far as राजसिक variety is concerned, one has to slowly transcend the राजसिक variety, we are not in a hurry to give up the राजसिक variety, it cannot be given up immediately and it need not be given up immediately also, because the राजसिक variety will not pull me down spiritually. Greatest saving grace is the राजसिक ज्ञानम्, राजसिक कर्म, राजसिक सुखम्, all of them will not pull me down spiritually, the problem with राजसिक variety is it will keep me in spiritual stagnation. It will not pull me down, but it will slow down the spiritual growth. And since it will not pull me down spiritually, you can gradually transcend the राजसिक variety and also we should remember, any राजसिक pursuit will also have its initial advantage. Even कर्मयोग requires रजो गुण, therefore I should initially accept रजो गुण and राजसिक lifestyle because to perform कर्मयोग, to serve the society, I need रजो गुण and only after the purification of mind, I have to gradually withdraw from राजसिक pursuit, therefore since रजो गुण is initially useful, we need not be too much antagonist to रजोगुण, a little bit is OK. Therefore be in the world, earn money well, be active, contribute something to the society also, because they are all useful for purification of the mind, but at least a little गीता class is required, at least once in a while you have to devote. And therefore तामसिक variety give up at the earliest, राजसिक variety gradually transcend, सात्विक variety is the one you should attempt to come to, because this सात्विक ज्ञानम्, सात्विक कर्म, सात्विक धृतिः, सात्विक सुखम्, the सात्विक variety is the stepping stone which will take you to ultimately मोक्ष. And this indirect teaching you should remember throughout. कृष्ण has talked about three types of ज्ञानम् and कृष्ण has talked about three types of कर्म, we have completed two topics from verse no.20 to 22 we had three types of ज्ञानम्, from verse no.23 to 25 we had three types of कर्म. Now we have to enter into three types of कर्ता. We will read verse no.26.

Verse No .26

मुक्तसङ्गोऽनहंवादी धृत्युत्साहसमन्वितः ।

सिद्ध्यसिद्ध्योर्निर्विकारः कर्ता सात्त्विक उच्यते ॥ १८-२६॥

मुक्त-सङ्गः अनहं-वादी धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः ।

सिद्धि-असिद्ध्योः निर्विकारः कर्ता सात्त्विकः उच्यते ॥ १८-२६॥

मुक्त-सङ्गः, अनहं-वादी, धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः, सिद्धि-असिद्ध्योः निर्विकारः कर्ता सात्त्विकः उच्यते ।

These three verses 26 to 28, कृष्ण is dealing with three types of कर्ता - this verse defines सात्त्विक कर्ता, 27th verse defines राजस कर्ता and 28th तामस कर्ता. Really speaking, कृष्ण need not talk about three types of कर्ता at all, because he has already talked about three types of कर्म, if you know the three types of कर्म you yourself can define three types of कर्ता. One who knows what is सात्त्विक कर्म, naturally knows about सात्त्विक कर्ता. Who is सात्त्विक कर्ता? The one who performs सात्त्विक कर्म is सात्त्विक कर्ता. The one who performs राजस कर्म is राजस कर्ता. So we ourselves can know it, but still कृष्ण feels there will be some बृहस्पति who will not understand and therefore separately He defines three-fold कर्ता. So, who is a सात्त्विक कर्ता? मुक्त-सङ्गः – the one who uses कर्म as a temporary means to transcend the कर्म. The one who uses कर्म or action only as a temporary means to transcend the कर्म, because कर्म is very very useful up to the attainment of चित्तशुद्धि, कर्म is extremely useful up to the attainment of mental purity, after the attainment of mental purity कर्म becomes an obstacle. Why कर्म is an obstacle? Two reasons – the first reason is कर्म or activities makes you extrovert and you will not have the time or mind to look within to study your real nature. So the first problem with कर्म is it makes a person extrovert and even restless and such a person cannot quietly study the शास्त्र, शास्त्रीय study requires a non-extrovert quiet mind. Therefore, कर्म is an obstacle to Vedantic study after a certain level. And the second reason is कर्म will only invoke my कर्ता nature. The more I am involved in कर्म the more the कर्तृत्वम्, I am the doer notion is reinforced, whereas the ultimate truth is I am अकर्ता. So since कर्म invokes the कर्ता, कर्म is an obstacle to the discovery of I am अकर्ता truth and therefore we should remember, I have to use कर्म for some time, purify the mind and thereafter सर्व-धर्मान् अपि परित्यज्य. That is why when a संन्यासि comes the गृहस्थ reminds him,

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः । ... ॥
कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

And a कर्मयोगि is one who knows this fact. And therefore, he doesn't get attached to any type of कर्म, because he remembers I have to do this and later I have to drop this. Like entering into a college is not for becoming permanent student, you have to enter, graduate yourself and then you have to leave, because next generation of students require place. Therefore मुक्त-सङ्गः means the one who is not attached to any profession, one who is not attached to even service activities, because he knows their limitation, such an enlightened person is a कर्मयोगि. He is a सात्विक कर्ता, so मुक्त-सङ्गः. Then the next definition of a सात्विक कर्ता is अनहं-वादी – the one who does not allow his कर्म and especially his successful कर्म to get into his head. When I have got a superior profession, when I am a vice-president of a company, when I do certain noble activities, there is a chance that it causes अहङ्कार in me and I come to know that I have a status in society as long as I have such a designation, I have a got a status in society as long as I am a secretary of this Rotary Club, and Lions Club, and this mission and that mission, the more I have got certain designation and status there is a possibility that I begin to enjoy that status. And once I fall in love with that particular position and role, I will never like to leave this, because attachment, like the politicians who will not like to give up their position, I will refuse to give up my presidentship, secretaryship, that ship and this ship and that will again become an obstacle. There are many people, who say I am involved in so many organizations स्वामिजि, President of this, Secretary of that, because of that no time for गीता class. Thus the very ego and the very attachment to status and position will ultimately become an obstacle and therefore कर्मयोगि avoids the अहम् वादः, अहम् वादः means अहङ्कार, attachment to the position and the status and even when somebody glorifies, he doesn't take the glory, he hands the glory over to the भगवान् and says that everything happened because of the कृपा of the Lord. It is not our accomplishment or it is not our success, no doubt we did our might, but ultimately, the glory belongs to the Lord. Therefore कर्मयोगि never claims success, कर्मयोगि avoids ममकार. Therefore अनहं-वादी, the one who has got अमानित्वम् and often we think we are humble, but arrogance unknowingly get into our head. How do we know that, how do we know? When the people do not acknowledge our contribution, when our name is not read in vote of thanks list, when our photo does not appear in that souvenir, when we don't get the garland on the stage, we begin to get hurt and the hurt is the indication of अहङ्कार coming up; कर्मयोगि will never allow that to happen. Therefore अनहं-वादी. So in short सात्त्विक कर्ता is a कर्मयोगि. And at the same time, धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः. Whether people recognize or acknowledge, whether people reciprocate or not, whether the people have gratitude or not, this person is enthusiastic in his action, धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः. धृति means the one who has perseverance, that means one whose enthusiasm is not dampened by failure. If his attempt in any field fails, he will not withdraw, again he will do, again he will do. कृष्ण himself will talk about this willpower later, there we will see the details. धृतिः means willpower, perseverance being like a rubber ball. An example for this is of a wet clay ball and a rubber ball. Put both of them down, what will be the difference? The wet clay ball, once it has fallen on the ground, never comes up, flat, whereas the rubber ball comes up again. Similarly, a person who withdraws once there is a failure, he is lacking धृति. धृतिमान् is one who repeatedly attempts in spite of failures. So therefore धृति-समन्वितः, perseverance. And उत्साह-समन्वितः, उत्साहः means enthusiasm or cheerfulness, the one who is pessimistic, the one who is not negative in his approach, the one who is not critical, the one who is always positive and optimistic. That cheerful tendency is called उत्साह. Not only he is cheerful, any gloomy person who comes around he converts even the gloomy person into cheerful person. But there are some powerful gloomy people, they will convert even a cheerful person and after talking with him for some time you will also start seeing the whole world as negative thing. You can always see there are some people you talk to them for fifteen minutes, they will say values have gone, people are not sensitive at all, this and that, cheating, they will only talk of negative news. And a positive person is one who will talk about all positive things that are happening in the creation, creation has got positive events and negative events, your world depends upon what you think, the world remaining the same - mixture of positive and negative, you talk of positive events you are surrounded by positiveness, if you talk of negative events you are surrounded by negative things. Therefore the world that you confront depends on what you think and what you speak. And you can take a vow that I will talk of only positive things. And it makes a very big difference for you as well as the people in the family, a सात्विक कर्ता has only positive news to talk about. धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः. In TV there are so many programs, they always talk about the negative aspect of TV, but why can't you think that there are so many wonderful things also. So many स्वामिs you are able to see, otherwise on a गुरु पूर्णिमा day going to an crowded आश्रम is difficult, but you can see स्वामिs in your drawing room. And so many temple कुम्भाभिषेकम्s which you cannot watch and you can very nice see in TV and wonderful animals are shown,

कैलास मानसरोवर you can nicely see sitting in the room, why can't you see the positive aspect of TV. You don't see all that, they go on complaining that TV has spoiled everything, this is called राजसिक and तामसिक attitude. See the positive side in everything. Therefore धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः. Then सिद्धि-असिद्ध्योः निर्विकारः – the one who enjoys a balanced mind, whatever be the consequence of his undertaking. Whether my activities are going to be fruitful or not I cannot decide, because कर्मण्येवाधिकारस्ते मा फलेषु कदाचन, I can undertake projects but how the consequence will be I cannot decide, because there are innumerable unknowable and uncontrollable factors, therefore सिद्धि success and असिद्धि failure they are not in my hands, but how I should respond to them, the response is in my hands and सात्विक कर्ता is one who has trained his mind to maintain the balance whatever be the consequence. Therefore निर्विकारः means the one who maintains poise, the one who is not seriously affected by, the one who is not overwhelmed by positive result also, the one who is not overwhelmed by negative result. Remember heart patients gets heart attack because of positive news also. 26 times failed in election, 27th time he won he himself could not believe, and he was so happy that he got heart attack and died. Elation also is harmful to physical and mental health, we should know it well, elation is also harmful to physical and mental health, depression is also equally harmful. सात्विक कर्ता is one who has निर्विकारः, means balanced mind. It does not mean that he is emotionless, very very careful, वेदान्त never says you should not have emotions, वेदान्त doesn't want to make you a rock, that is not the aim, वेदान्त doesn't want to abolish emotions and वेदान्त cannot abolish emotions also. What वेदान्त says is emotions should not cloud your discriminative power. Discrimination is our real wealth and that power should not be clouded, have emotions but don't allow it to overpower your discrimination. That's alone is called निर्विकारत्वम्, balanced mind. And how to maintain the balance कृष्ण doesn't say that here, because this is 18th chapter, supposed to be summary and therefore you are not supposed to ask such questions. If you ask such questions, you have to go back to the 3rd chapter, where कृष्ण has given the answer. What is the answer? When you do the कर्म, offer your कर्म to the Lord with what भावना, ईश्वरार्पण भावना and even when you offer, you tell your intellect, 'I have offered the कर्म to the Lord, कर्म-फलम् is to be decided by the Lord and whatever कर्म-फलम् भगवान् gives, that is appropriate.' भगवान् is omniscient, he is never unfair, unjust, therefore whatever experience comes to me as a result of my action is what is just and proper. And since it is coming from the Lord, I should not react to that I should accept that without resistance. This ईश्वरार्पण भावना and प्रसाद भावना prepares the mind to face the world with equanimity. And therefore सात्त्विक कर्ता is one who has got ईश्वरार्पण प्रसाद भावना, that means a सात्त्विक कर्ता must be a भक्तः, you can never be a सात्त्विक कर्ता without devotion to God. Therefore, कर्मयोग presupposes faith in God, कर्मयोग presupposes surrender to God. And therefore such a निर्विकारः सात्त्विकः कर्ता उच्यते. So thus सात्त्विक कर्ता is another name for कर्मयोगि. रागी कर्मफलप्रेप्सुर्लुब्धो हिंसात्मकोऽशुचिः ।

हर्षशोकान्वितः कर्ता राजसः परिकीर्तितः ॥ १८-२७॥

रागी कर्म-फल-प्रेप्सुः लुब्धः हिंसात्मकः अशुचिः ।

हर्ष-शोक-अन्वितः कर्ता राजसः परिकीर्तितः ॥ १८-२७॥

रागी, कर्म-फल-प्रेप्सुः, लुब्धः, हिंसात्मकः, अशुचिः, हर्ष-शोक-अन्वितः कर्ता राजसः परिकीर्तितः ।

सात्त्विक कर्ता has an important attitude which राजस कर्ता doesn't have. According to सात्त्विक कर्ता, successes and failures in life are both capable of teaching me valuable lessons. Therefore, we need not try to avoid failures in life, because of two reasons, first reason is failures cannot be avoided. Failures cannot be avoided is one important thing and the second important thing is failures need not be avoided, because failures are also useful for learning and growing. And therefore if I use failures for learning and growing, that inward growth is a real spiritual success. So if I use failure for inner growth, in the vision of वेदान्त, it is a successful failure. If you can convert failures for learning and growing inwardly, because you have grown up inwardly, you have attained spiritual success and therefore why should I try to avoid failures in life. No doubt, I will work for success, but I am not totally against failure. Therefore according to वेदान्त, the real success in life is using the external successes and failures for inner growth. You have to meditate on this very well. According to वेदान्त, the real success in life is converting external successes and external failures for/as inner growth or inner learning. It is like a person playing a tennis game for physical fitness. Now imagine this example it is beautiful. When two people are playing tennis, there are two-fold results, what are the two results? One result is out of the game one person becomes victor and the other person is defeated, vanquished, he loses the game. This is one result, either I get victory or I fail and lose the cup – Wimbledon cup, either I am Federer or Philippoussis, these are the two possibilities. Both cannot get the Wimbledon cup. Cup is the result No.1. The second is: the very play gives me physical fitness, therefore imagine, two people are playing game and as far as the physical fitness or exercise is concerned, that benefit will come to whom? The successful person or failure? Both people will get one benefit, what is that? They are getting exercise and physical fitness. If I am playing for physical fitness, I am going to get that benefit anyway, whether the cup comes or not, becomes what, a secondary, if I am playing the game for exercise. Similarly, in life, any कर्म can give two-fold benefit. One benefit is success or failure, that is one thing. And the other is whether I get success or failure, all the कर्मा help me for mental fitness or mental purification. Successful action also will help in mental purity and failure also will give mental purity. In fact, failure gives better purity, because you get toughened. In failure alone you get opportunity to toughen yourself. कर्मयोगि is interested in this inner growth, which is definite whether the कर्म is successful or failure, therefore कर्मयोगि is ever successful. Just as the tennis play gives me physical fitness, whether the result is success or failure, a कर्मयोगि is always successful because whether he is materialistically successful or failure, he is growing inwardly. Whereas a non-कर्मयोगि, a कर्मि is one who does not know how to learn and grow inwardly. Therefore, he is attached to material successes in life and once you are attached to external success, you have always problems because, external successes are not definite. Whether you will succeed or not is not definite, if you get success you are on the top of the world and if you don't get you are shattered, you are going to face problems ultimately, even if you are going to get success, until success comes tension cannot be avoided. Therefore, stress and strain are unavoidable for a कर्मि and such a कर्मि who is always in stress and strain, कृष्ण calls राजस कर्ता. Now look at him. रागी – the one who is attached to material success, interested in external success, full of attachment and कर्म-फल-प्रेप्सुः – the one who values the external possessions more than the internal growth. Because he doesn't know the fundamental principle that Peace, Happiness And Security, do not depend upon on what I have (I have told you earlier), but they depend upon what I am. This difference this कर्मि doesn't know. Therefore, he thinks the externals will determine his peace of mind. Therefore कर्म-फल-प्रेप्सुः, the one who is after name, fame, possession, position, status, etc., कर्म-फल-प्रेप्सुः, then लुब्धः – extremely greedy, the one who has got tremendous ममकार and therefore he is committed to one way traffic, which means everything must come to me and nothing must go from me. Money should go on coming, should not go at all. So such a greedy-cum-miserly person, लुब्धः is the one who is the mixture of these two. Greediness, which means he wants to get more and more and miserliness means the one who wants to give less and less, such a person is called लुब्धः because of this misconception that possessions give security. Then the next one हिंसात्मकः. Once greed comes, he will be a threat to the society, so he will start violating धर्म, because by legitimate earning you cannot amass wealth, therefore initially you work for legitimate earning, but gradually we will go in for compromise also, as कृष्ण said in the 3rd chapter,

महा-अशनः महा-पाप्मा विद्धि एनम् इह वैरिणम् ॥ ३-३७॥

A greedy person will start compromising with धर्म and that is हिंसा, हिंसा means harm to the society. हिंसात्मकः and अशुचिः, अशुचिः means the one whose thoughts are detrimental to himself, he will start losing faith in the other people. Everyone around, every partner he begins to doubt. ‘What to do if he takes away everything and go’ - he will not have trust in anyone, he would like to keep the money under the pillow, therefore jealousy comes and doubt comes. Thus the mind is always restless, therefore अशुचिः, tension ridden and हर्ष-शोक-अन्वितः – so the one whose mind goes through violent ups and downs, हर्ष means elation and शोक means depression. And therefore his mind is all the time restless and because of that also he becomes हिंसात्मकः, he is terribly irritable person, he loses patience and he becomes a volcano as everybody he whips up; all problem, living around him, not only he is tension ridden, people around also will become tensed up. स्वामिजी said, whenever he comes the children father has come, father has come each one goes to different rooms, because he comes with anger, and the wife also cannot go inside because somebody has to face, so all the time irritable. Therefore हर्ष-शोक-अन्वितः कर्ता राजसः परिकीर्तितः is राजसिक person. Continuing;

अयुक्तः प्राकृतः स्तब्धः शठो नैष्कृतिकोऽलसः ।

विषादी दीर्घसूत्री च कर्ता तामस उच्यते ॥ १८-२८॥

अयुक्तः प्राकृतः स्तब्धः शठः नैष्कृतिकः अलसः ।

विषादी दीर्घ-सूत्री च कर्ता तामसः उच्यते ॥ १८-२८॥

अयुक्तः, प्राकृतः, स्तब्धः, शठः, नैष्कृतिकः, अलसः, विषादी दीर्घ-सूत्री च कर्ता तामसः उच्यते ।

तामस कर्ता is defined in this verse. अयुक्तः – the one who does not have an integrated personality. युक्तः means a person whose personality, whose various layers of personality work in harmony. We have seen अन्नमय कोश, प्राणमय कोश, मनोमय कोश, विज्ञानमय कोश, five layers are there, when all the five layers work in uniformity there is a reinforced effect. So when I look at the deity and also when my mouth is chanting the नाम of the Lord and when the mind is also focused, the effect is much more like a lens converging the rays of the Sun and it becomes more powerful. Whereas this तामसिक person has never attempted to integrate the personality, because integration of the personality requires lot of effort. First starting with a symbol discipline, whatever I talk, I will think and talk, I will deliberately talk, I will not impulsively use words. If you try this one lesson, you will know how it doesn't work; generally we think after talking. Thereafter we regret also – this could have been avoided or saying sorry. Very simple discipline that every word that comes out of my mouth will be deliberate, deliberate means remember the 17th chapter, अनुद्वेगकरम् वाक्यम् सत्यम् प्रियम् हितम् – four factors I will take into account before a word comes out of my mouth. Practicing this simple discipline is योगः and thereafterwards at the sensory level, at the body level, when there is convergence, that discipline is called योगः and the one who has practiced this successfully is called युक्तः. And तामसिक person is a अयुक्तः. And why? Because he is lazy, because it requires effort. I felt like talking therefore I talked, that is easy. I felt like saying this word, but at the last moment it has come up to the tip of my tongue, then I decided not to talk. It requires tremendous self-control and especially when arguments begin, disagreements begin, differences of opinion begin and it is getting heated up and my words are getting out of control, at that time I am able to note things are going out of control, and if I can say 'things are out of control, therefore let us stop, we will take up this issue tomorrow,' if I can do that, it indicates tremendous sense control. It requires tremendous सत्त्व गुण and a तामसिक person can never imagine such things, so he is अयुक्तः. And therefore only प्राकृतः, प्राकृतः means uncultured person, because he doesn't filter his words, therefore what is proper word, what is improper word, all those filtering he cannot do, he is a wild, uncultured and unrefined person and I hear even those people who study गीता for years, sometimes some members in the family say, that this person uses all those unutterable words when he is angry. And I am not able to imagine such words can come out of 22 years old (not agewise), age is 72 years, but 22 years of studying गीता that too three times the course has been completed. But in anger what all words come, unprintable, unutterable words, that means what, no control. So, remember गीता study is not for writing notes, I should be able to monitor every moment of my life, that requires tremendous alertness and this person doesn't have that alertness in life. Attending गीता requires only one hour but alertness is not for one hour, not for two hours, not for three hours, it is throughout the waking period, it is throughout the waking period, what a responsibility a गीता student has and तामसिक person cannot imagine, so he is not a संस्कृत पुरुष, he is a प्राकृतः पुरुष, he is an animal-man, not a man-man. When an animal feels like doing something, it doesn't think whether it is right time or wrong time. When the dog feels like barking, it is not going to think, गीता class is running near and I will bark after 7 p.m. No. Whatever it feels like doing, it does. Whether it wants to go for No.1 or No.2, it does anywhere. मनुष्य is not supposed to do that. Roads are used for those things, we are supposed to know what is proper and what is improper, if I don't have that control, I am called a प्राकृतः पुरुष. In fact, मोक्ष can be seen later, first we have to convert ourselves from प्राकृतः पुरुष to संस्कृत पुरुष. A self-restrained human being is the first growth, there afterwards only अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि and all we can see later. Therefore प्राकृतः. And स्तब्धः and if even there is somebody willing to help the person refine, I will give exercises for refinement. In fact, the entire religious life is for the conversion of प्राकृतः पुरुष to संस्कृत पुरुष. Religion is to convert a प्राकृतः पुरुष to संस्कृत पुरुष. Right from getting up in the morning, we should decide when to get up. Today at 10 a.m. I feel like getting up and after waking up take coffee and again go to sleep. Whenever I feel like sleeping, I sleep. Whenever I feel like getting up, I'll get up. Even sleeping and waking up, I have to have self-control. And then eating, whenever you don't want, you eat, there is a right time, there is something called hunger. Many people don't know what is hunger, because there is no opportunity to know. Because constantly time-pass. Whenever nothing else to do, go on munching. So you don't know that there is something called hunger. Therefore start discipline in three levels – कामचार, कामवाद, कामभक्ष, you give up. When he takes the sacred thread, he has to do that. Now 7 o'clock and I have to restrain my tongue. Details in the next class.

After talking about three types of ज्ञानम् and three types of कर्म, now Lord कृष्ण has come to the topic of three types of कर्ता, कर्ता means a doer. A सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस कर्ता are defined. Of them we have already seen the सात्त्विक कर्ता in the 26th verse and we saw that a कर्मयोगि is a सात्त्विक कर्ता. One who makes use of his कर्म as a means for spiritual growth and thereafter in the 27th verse, राजस कर्ता was talked about, he is one who does not know the importance of spiritual growth and therefore the one who considers material accomplishments alone as the ultimate thing in life. This confused person, this person for whom the priorities are not clear, such a कर्ता is राजस कर्ता. And then in the 28th verse, the तामस कर्ता is defined which I introduced in the last class. We will see the meaning of this verse no.28. तामसः कर्ता उच्यते. तामसिक कर्म is of the above description. And what is the description? अयुक्तः, which means the one whose different layers of personality are not integrated. योगः means integration, harmonization and we have different layers of personality, viz., अन्नमय कोश – the physical personality, प्राणमय कोश – the pranic personality, मनोमय कोश – the emotional and sensory personality, विज्ञानमय कोश – the rational intellectual personality, these different personalities put together is the individual. If all these layers are functioning in harmony, I will be able to succeed in whatever I undertake, otherwise these different layers of personalities will work at cross-purposes. Whatever one personality plans and implements, the other personality will neutralize and therefore I will not progress anywhere, like riding a stationary horse. Lot of things will be done, but I am where I am. And therefore this integration of personality is a very important thing and this integration does not take place automatically. Physical growth is an automatic consequence, if you survive and eat properly. The weight will increase gradually in spite of us, in fact, we will not be able to stop. The physical growth is a natural consequence, whereas the integration of personality is not a natural thing, we have to work hard to achieve this. The entire अष्टाङ्ग योग prescribed by पतञ्जलि is meant for the health and integration of personality and अष्टाङ्ग योग practice requires initiative and a तामसिक person is one who lacks initiative, who lacks motivation, who is an embodiment of laziness. And that is why कृष्ण says later, अलसः. In fact, we have to take the word अलसः first, which means lazy. And because of his laziness there is no motivation, there is no initiative and therefore he doesn't work for the attunement of his personality. Therefore अयुक्तः, not an integrated person, not a whole person, w h o l e, he is full of holes. Because of that he cannot plan for his future. Life involves planning, we should be clear about the immediate goal as well as long term goal, this person either doesn't have goal or he doesn't know how to work for the goal. So planning is zero, implementation is also zero, either planning is there, there is no implementation, or there is implementation without planning. How it will be? Directionless work, or he lacks both neither planning nor implementation. Such a directionless person is called अयुक्तः. And you ask that person what do you want in life, he is not sure and he has survived 70 years and that is the great, still he is not sure what he/she wants in life. Such a person is called अयुक्तः, because of अलसत्वम्. Then प्राकृतः, प्राकृतः means one who is unrefined person, the one who doesn't have refinement in social interaction, social interaction requires refinement, in our tradition, we call it आचार अनुष्ठानम्. In modern language, they call it etiquette and manners. If you say आचार and अनुष्ठानम्, people will look down upon it, people will criticize, especially youngsters, they laugh at आचार and अनुष्ठानम्. If we give up our आचार and अनुष्ठानम्, we will have to learn the western etiquettes and manners and what is etiquettes and manners, आचार and अनुष्ठानम् and therefore you have to take a course – how to eat? what are the table manners? where to put the cloth? Whether to put on the head or on the face or on the lap? And when there is something struck in your mouth and you cannot swallow and you want to bring out, what is the right manner, can you spit there or what should I do? Books and books are written on table manners and all our youngsters who criticize आचार अनुष्ठानम्, they are lapping up those manners. How to attend an interview? How to attend a business meeting? And if you want to address someone, how to address? Should you call by the first name, second name, or third name? Should I say Mr? Should I say Mrs? How to address? And if you want to introduce five people, who must be introduced first, rules are there. And Indian आचार अनुष्ठानम्, they will say पापम् will come, but there they say, you will lose your business, both are same. If you have to be a successful businessman, you should learn all these things. I don't know whether you are reading the letters coming in the newspapers. How to take a phone and if there is a person on the other side, to senior how to address, to junior how to address, this is called आचार अनुष्ठानम्. Otherwise you are supposed to be a mannerless person. Not only we talk about verbal language, they talk about body language also, how to sit in front of your boss, sitting manners, talking manners, sneezing manners, for every sneezing you have to say sorry, everything is आचार अनुष्ठानम्, because it is supposed to be social lubrication. Every society has got its own आचार अनुष्ठानम्, some of them have got logical basis, for many of them utterly there is no logic, it is a sheer custom. Similarly, we also had our own customs and manners, man will have to learn and follow. A तामसिक person is one who doesn't know those manners, those etiquettes and such a person is called uncultured, unrefined person, प्राकृतः. And one who knows is called संस्कृत पुरुषः and तामसिक person is प्राकृतः. And next is स्तब्धः, which means the one who is absolutely impolite. So in manners they talk about polite manners, how loud you are supposed to talk, how you are supposed to talk in front of elderly person, all those things they prescribe. In our धर्म शास्त्र also, in front of our parents, what should be the body language, exactly like western system, we have got our own system, whether to keep the hands in front or back, this is the big problem and in front of your गुरु, what should be the right manner. And what is politeness, what is humility, what is reverential attitude, our धर्म शास्त्र elaborately talks about manners and etiquettes. And this person is absolutely ignorant of it and doesn't follow also, therefore स्तब्धः means the one who doesn't have reverential attitude or polite manners. One who is arrogant or impolite. Then शठः, शठः means one who has got two motives in all his activities, one is expressed motive and the other is hidden motive, parallelly two motives go, always expressed motive is one and behind an expressed motive there is a hidden motive also, a split personality, a hypocritical personality is called शठत्वम् which is considered to be a great disadvantage for spiritual growth, because it weakens the individual, there is a tremendous strain in the person. Therefore शठत्वम्; मायावित्त्वम्, वक्रता is called शठत्वम्. Then नैष्कृतिकः, नैष्कृतिकः means the one who is harmful, one who is a hindrance to others' pursuit of their goals. This person doesn't have any goals. This person doesn't have any direction. Therefore all the time he is available for rumors and gossips. OK. He will be an obstacle to other, he will just enter into another's room when he is busy and especially in India, we don't have respect for another's time. I had some leisure time, so I thought that I should come and see you, and he doesn't ask whether you have time or not, it is taken for granted. Even even in phone, whenever you feel like talking you just go on and go on without any full stop. Not only he wastes his time, he wastes another's time also. Thus one who is a hindrance to others' pursuit, one who obstructs another's pursuit नैष्कृतिकः. Then अलसः, अलसः I have already told the one who is lazy, the greatest enemy to spiritual growth is laziness. I have talked about this before, आलस्यम् हि मनुष्याणाम् शरीरस्थो महान् रिपुः ।

In everybody's body laziness is inbuilt and that laziness comes to play right from getting up in the morning, there the struggle begins, the body tells sleep some more time, sleep some more time, only 8 a.m. why to get up now itself? Only 8 a.m.!! So early in the morning why are you getting up? Whereas our culture says you have to welcome the Sun god when he comes. Therefore, laziness is the biggest obstacle for spirituality and all rituals are kept for driving away laziness. All शारीर कर्म is meant for driving away तमोगुण at the body level, even though it is logically true that मानस कर्म is more efficacious, mental पूजा, mental जप, that is supposed to be efficacious, but still our scriptures say for some time you will have to do physical पूजा, you have to go to temple, why because only then the तमोगुण will go away. And this तामसिक person is against rituals, rituals are extremely important to develop सत्त्वगुण. Therefore this person is अलसः. Then the next one विषादी. विषादः means gloom, despondency, depression, etc. An active life is considered to be antidote for depression. Psychologists or counselors also they say, if you get depression often, they say you take up some activity, even if you don't have to earn money, at least take up some service activity, because work is supposed to be an antidote to depression, pessimism, negative attitude. A तामसिक person doesn't have work or at least he doesn't work and therefore the mind often gets depressed, विषादी means embodiment of gloom. And the unfortunate thing is not only he is gloomy, but he freely distributes that gloom to others also. Even a cheerful person talks to him for some time, you also pull a long face. So विषाद is an attendant problem of तमोगुण, so विषादी. Then दीर्घ-सूत्री and when you try to change the character of this तमोगुणि, you ask him to take up some work, because तमोगुण has to be converted first into रजोगुण. From तमोगुण you can never directly go to सत्त्वगुण. Therefore don't talk about संन्यास to him, because already he is a संन्यासि doesn't do any work, don't talk about meditation, in the name of meditation he will doze further. Therefore, never talk about सत्त्वगुण, you talk about रजोगुण and whip him into activity. Give him lot of worldly desires, don't talk of वैश्वानर to तमोगुणि, you have to talk of कामः, let him develop worldly desires, give him desires. In fact, वेद-पूर्व भाग prescribes lot of desires for तमोगुण people. In fact, we start with तमोगुण. That is why वेद-पूर्व भाग is full of desires and action to fulfill them and the problem with तामसिक person is he will listen to you and he will say wonderful plan, I will implement from January 1st. It is extremely difficult to push him into activity, he is the greatest procrastinator. Any work you give, he will say that now it is राहु कालम् or गुलिक कालम् or यमगण्डम् or Tuesday or something or the other, he is the greatest procrastinator in the world. And by the time he implements somebody else will come, he will pass it on to others. Very very difficult, therefore कृष्ण says, दीर्घ-सूत्री, procrastination is an indication of तमोगुण and all these things who has got he is called तामसिक कर्ता. So with this, three types of कर्ता is over. Now कृष्ण enters into the next topic. Verse no.29;

बुद्धेः भेदम् धृतेः च एव गुणतः त्रिविधम् शृणु ।

प्रोच्यमानम् अशेषेण पृथक्त्वेन धनञ्जय ॥ १८-२९॥

हे धनञ्जय! बुद्धेः धृतेः च एव गुणतः त्रिविधम् भेदम् अशेषेण पृथक्त्वेन प्रोच्यमानम् शृणु ।

In the 19th verse, कृष्ण promised three topics. In the 19th verse कृष्ण said ज्ञानं कर्म च कर्ता च त्रिधैव गुणभेदतः, अर्जुन I will talk about three types of ज्ञानम् and three types of कर्म and three types of कर्ता and all those nine items कृष्ण has completed with the 28th verse. Now कृष्ण introduces another two more topics. Totally how many topics we have seen, we started with three types of संन्यास, that was topic No.1, then we talked about three types of ज्ञानम्, कर्म and कर्ता, so four topics we have seen. Now कृष्ण introduces two more topics, what are they? बुद्धेः भेदम् means division or classification of बुद्धिः. बुद्धिः means intellect or the intelligence. The intellect of a human being or the intelligence of a human being can be classified into three. On what basis? गुणतः त्रिविधम् – based on the three गुणs, which means सात्त्विक बुद्धिः, राजस बुद्धिः and तामस बुद्धिः, I will talk about, Not only three types of intellect, धृतेः च एव, धृति means willpower, perseverance. So willpower is an extremely important qualification to sustain any pursuit until the goal is accomplished. Because when we take to any pursuit to accomplish the goal, there are bound to be obstacles, there is no pursuit without obstacles, unless willpower is there obstacles will be too big for me, the moment I see the slightest obstacle three miles away, I withdraw here itself. When we learn to ride cycles, when we have learnt fresh, if there is a horse cart, not even a bus, if there is a cycle rickshaw or a cart one furlong away we get down here itself, because of fear. Similarly, a person without willpower cannot pursue anything until success, therefore willpower is a very faculty. And कृष्ण says that this willpower is also three-fold, सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस धृतिः. Even to come to the class regularly, in spite of obstacles, requires tremendous willpower, otherwise slightest excuse class is dropped. Day before yesterday I had one sneeze. Some excuse or the other. So, the first casualty is what? गीता class. Food will be taken timely without a miss. So, willpower is required, which you have amply. You all are having willpower. So धृतेः च एव गुणतः त्रिविधम् शृणु. This is also divided based on the three गुणs, प्रोच्यमानम् अशेषेण – so these six items, त्रिविधा बुद्धि, त्रिविधा धृति, these six items are going to be explained by me. प्रोच्यमानम् – going to be explained by me. प्र √वच् धातु, present passive participle. They are going to be told by me, अशेषेण – in totality. Not that I am going to tell two or three and leave the rest for your home work. No homework at all, all the six items I myself will teach you. What a compassion? Because कृष्ण knows that we have no time to do homework. So अशेषेण प्रोच्यमानम्. And that all also पृथक्त्वेन – very distinctly, clearly they are going to be taught by me. Your job is giving your mind and ears to me, give your mind and ears to me. I shall enlighten you, हे धनञ्जय! हे अर्जुन! Thus this is an introduction to the next six topics. That is the next two topics divided into six items. We will see one by one. Verse no.30;

Verse No .30

प्रवृत्तिं च निवृत्तिं च कार्याकार्ये भयाभये ।

बन्धं मोक्षं च या वेति बुद्धिः सा पार्थ सात्त्विकी ॥ १८-३०॥

प्रवृत्तिम् च निवृत्तिम् च कार्य-अकार्ये भय-अभये ।

बन्धम् मोक्षम् च या वेति बुद्धिः सा पार्थ सात्त्विकी ॥ १८-३०॥

हे पार्थ! या बुद्धिः प्रवृत्तिम् च निवृत्तिम् कार्य-अकार्ये भय-अभये च बन्धम् मोक्षम् च वेति, सा सात्त्विकी (मता)

First कृष्ण takes up the topic of बुद्धि or intellect. And he classifies that into three, the first one is सात्त्विक intellect, verse no.30 defines a सात्त्विक intellect, then 31 will deal with राजसिक and the next तामसिक. In our scriptures, our intellect is given a very very important place, because intellect is the one which has to be very clear about what is the ultimate goal of life and what are the incidental goals and what the ultimate goal is. Clarity regarding the destination must be there for the intellect, just as before taking your vehicle and driving, you should know where you want to go. Suppose you say I am taking the car, you should know where you are going. Before you start, whether the car should turn to the right or left, will depend upon what destination you have, not only destination must be very clear, the path also must be very clear. Clarity with regard to the means and the end is extremely important for success in life. And that is why in our tradition, not only they taught various occupations in life, they also discussed what is the ultimate goal of life, they discussed what is धर्म, काम, अर्थ and मोक्ष, the चतुर्विध पुरुषार्थs, the four-fold human goals are introduced in the ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम itself and when a student comes out of the education, he knew the immediate goal and he also knew what is the ultimate goal. And that is why in the कठोपनिषत्, बुद्धि is compared to the driver. The driver must be informed and also the driver must be sober. Informed drunken driver's information is useless, not only he must be informed, information is intellectual qualification and he should not be drunken driver means, it is an emotional qualification. I should have a high IQ and I should have a high EQ also. Emotionally balanced and intellectually enlightened person with regard to the goals and the means is important. And therefore कृष्ण says, सा बुद्धिः सात्त्विकी – सात्त्विक intellect is that या वेति – which is well informed regarding the following items, following factors, an intellect which is well informed with regard to the following factors. What are those factors? No.1 प्रवृत्तिम् च, प्रवृत्ति means कर्म मार्गः, what can you accomplish through a life of activity, through a life of activity you can accomplish many things and through a life of activity you cannot accomplish many things. What कर्म can achieve, what कर्म cannot achieve, this clarity must be there. Otherwise, I will not intelligently utilize कर्म. After all, कर्म is a means, I will use a means properly only if I know what this instrument can do and what this instrument can't do. That clarity should be there. Similarly, निवृत्तिम् means ज्ञान मार्गः, the path of knowledge. By knowledge we mean knowledge regarding the truth of oneself, regarding the truth of the world and the truth of God. This ज्ञान मार्ग one should know the power of knowledge. Therefore निवृत्ति means ज्ञान मार्ग. So, clarity should be there with regard to what कर्म can give, what कर्म cannot give, what ज्ञानम् can give, what ज्ञानम् cannot give. Then the next one कार्य-अकार्ये. Once I have chosen कर्म मार्ग, there also the scriptures talk about two types of कर्म. One type of कर्म or activity which will take you towards spirituality more and more, spiritual friendly कर्म. So कर्म which will take you towards spirituality more and more, a lifestyle by following which you will gradually develop interest in the scriptures, gradually develop interest in the गीता, gradually develop interest in संन्यासि, you need not develop interest in संन्यास, at least interest in संन्यासि, that कर्म which takes you towards spiritual knowledge is one type of कर्म, there is another type of कर्म which will take you more and more away from spirituality. You get and more and more steeped in materialism. So therefore, spiritual unfriendly कर्म,

कृति महोदधौ पतनकारणम् । फलमशाश्वतम् गतिनिरोधकम् ॥ उपदेश सारम् २ ॥

That कर्म which takes you towards spirituality is called कर्मयोगः. That योग suffix indicates you are involved in such activities which is making you more and more spiritually oriented and I should have a clear knowledge regarding what is spiritual friendly कर्म and what is spiritually unfriendly कर्म, I should know. So therefore, कार्य-अकार्ये, कार्यम् means that which is to be done for spiritual growth and अकार्यम् means that which should be avoided if I am interested in spiritual growth. There are many कर्मस which will help me earn a lot of money, there are many कर्मस which will help me earn a lot of money, which will give me status in society, which will give me power, name, respect and all of them, but they are unfriendly, they are obstacle to spiritual growth. I should be able to identify them and avoid them, however tempting they may be, which requires knowledge and conviction. And therefore कार्य-अकार्ये. And then भय-अभये. One of the things that every human being instinctively seeks is security. There is a fundamental sense of insecurity right from birth, because of which alone we held on to the mother's saree. Whatever happens we held on to it, and there are some children, even though the mother is away, child keeps the bit of saree or it sucks the thump. That thump sucking is an indication of that, it feels the mother is around. So this insecurity is one thing and unfortunately or fortunately, what happens is we accomplish many things in life, but the insecurity continues. Previously

I was worried about my security, now I am worried about the security of my possessions, that is the only difference. In fact, I accomplished acquired those things for the sake of my security. Now I am worried about the security of those possessions or security of those people who are supposed to give me security. That means insecurity seems to be lingering through out, even in old age that continues. That means what? We are not clear regarding what is the source of security and what is the cause of insecurity. What will give me security I don't know clearly. Many things I thought to be source of security, but I find it is not. What is सात्त्विक intellect? सात्त्विक intellect knows what is the source of security. And it also knows what cannot give security. So भय-अभये, भयम् means that which is not a source of security, that which is a source of insecurity and अभयम् means which is a source of security. सात्त्विक intellect knows these two, the other one is not clear. Therefore, lifelong it is groping in darkness and experimentation. Then the next question is what is source of security? Whatever is secure in itself that alone can give me security. An insecure person can never give me security. One cowardly custard says don't be afraid, don't be afraid, etc., and that too his teeth are quivering. How can an insecure person give security? Therefore the only source of security is the ever secure one and the ever secure one is the immortal, infinite one alone, which we either call God in religious language, or ब्रह्मन् in philosophical language. ब्रह्मन् or God alone can give security and other than that any blessed thing can never give. आब्रह्म-भुवनात् लोकाः, कृष्ण said in the 8th chapter, you go to ब्रह्म लोक as ब्रह्माजि, the creator himself, even that will not solve the problem of insecurity, because he also has to vacate his post one day. And once the retirement age comes, even before two-three years something happens. What will happen to me after retirement, I will lose my respect, even in family respect will go,

यावत् वित्तोपार्जनं सक्तः तावन्नित्यं परिवारो रक्तः ।

पश्चाज्जीवति जर्जर देहे वार्ताम् कोऽपि न पृच्छति गेहे ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७ ॥

I don't want to frighten you by going into the details. So let us remember God is the only source of security, world can never give security. This clarity the one who has got has got a सात्त्विक intellect and that is called भय-अभय ज्ञानम्. Then बन्धम् मोक्षम् च. बन्ध means cause of bondage. It is almost the same of भयम्. And मोक्षम् means the cause of liberation. So what is the cause of bondage, what is the cause of liberation? Our misconception is dependence on external factors will give me strength, happiness, freedom, therefore we travel from dependence to more dependence, attachment to more attachment, द्वैतम् to more द्वैतम्, we think that is liberation and the fact is द्वैतम् and dependence on external factors is bondage. Therefore our aim in life is learning to reduce dependence. Therefore learning to drop things, not to hold on to more things. More the crutches greater the bondage, lesser the crutches lesser the bondage, no crutch no bondage, I should be able to say 'Let the passions and bonds pass-by'.... 'Whom did I trust in when I was born? So go away.' When the world blackmails me, I should not be victimized, you are around or not, I am free. त्याग gives me freedom, not acquisition, लाभ doesn't give freedom, त्याग gives freedom.

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः । ... ॥
कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

Materialistic people think possessions give security, spiritual teachings say that renunciation gives strength. I am not asking you to drop all these things, what I am saying psychologically I should be able to drop attachment. Therefore बन्धम् मोक्षम् च या वेति सा बुद्धिः सात्त्विकी बुद्धिः. At least there is clarity regarding the goal. Continuing;

Verse No .31

यया धर्ममधर्मं च कार्यं चाकार्यमेव च ।

अयथावत्प्रजानाति बुद्धिः सा पार्थ राजसी ॥ १८-३१॥

यया धर्मम् अधर्मम् च कार्यम् च अकार्यम् एव च ।

अयथावत् प्रजानाति बुद्धिः सा पार्थ राजसी ॥ १८-३१॥

हे पार्थ! यया च (बुद्ध्या जीवः) धर्मम् अधर्मम् च, कार्यम् अकार्यम् च, अयथावत् एव प्रजानाति सा बुद्धिः राजसी (मता)।

राजसिक intellect is that which is riddled with doubts. So which doesn't have clear knowledge about anything, it has got lot of information regarding lot of things. Even in spiritual life, the intellect is informed about lot of साधनs, but there is no knowledge which साधन is meant for which साध्यम्. We know a lot about जप साधन, meditation is a साधन, pilgrimage is a साधन, study of scriptures is साधन, so many things are there, but what will lead me to what destination, there is no clarity or there is confusion. And therefore कृष्ण says a confused intellect, a doubting intellect, an intellect with doubt is राजसिक intellect. And doubts with regard to what? धर्मम् अधर्मम् च. धर्म means a lifestyle which will lead to spiritual growth, धर्म is a stepping stone to मोक्ष and अधर्म is that which takes me away from spiritual growth, अधर्म may give me lot of money, अधर्म may give me position, power, but अधर्म takes me away from spiritual growth. Therefore, an intellect which doesn't know what is धर्म and अधर्म and कार्यम् च अकार्यम् च, कार्यम् means what is to be done and अकार्यम् means what is not to be done, the do's and don'ts. धर्मम् and अधर्मम् are do's and don'ts from scriptural angle, कार्यम् and अकार्यम् are do's and don'ts from the common sense angle. Even by using common sense we can know what is to be done and what is not to be done. And a राजसिक intellect is confused with regard to शास्त्रीय कार्य-अकार्य and लौकिक do's and don'ts. With regard to both there are infinite doubts. अयथावत् प्रजानाति. Why there is doubt? Because there is half knowledge. Total knowledge is also bliss, total ignorance is also bliss, total knowledge is also bliss, that is the bliss experienced by a ज्ञानि, because he has total knowledge, total ignorance is also bliss, it is the one which is experienced by whom, the one who sleeps. When I am in sleep, I have total ignorance, that is why sleep is bliss, but what is problem, half knowledge and half ignorance is problem. And therefore अयथावत् means incompletely it knows everything. And such an intellect, सा बुद्धिः हे पार्थ, हे अर्जुन! is राजसी बुद्धिः. And next comes the तामसिक intellect, which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 31-34

Lord कृष्ण talked about three types of ज्ञानम् or knowledge, three types of कर्म, action and three types of कर्ता, doers of action. And having classified them based on the three गुणs, now कृष्ण has introduced two more topics for analysis and they are बुद्धिः or intelligence and धृतिः willpower and this human intelligence also can be divided into three, based on the गुण and then the willpower also can be divided into three and these two topics कृष्ण introduced in verse no.29. And from the 30th verse, He has taken up the three-fold intelligence, in the 30th verse, He talked about सात्त्विक intelligence and He defined सात्त्विक intelligence as that which has clarity about everything, clarity about human life, how the human being is different from all other animals, human beings alone can have goals in life and human beings alone can work to fulfill those goals. And therefore, I should be clear about what I want in life and a person of सात्त्विक intelligence knows what is the ultimate goal of life and what are the intermediary goals with regard to that he has clarity and he also knows what are the means by which one has to accomplish both the intermediary as well as ultimate goal. And the scriptures do talk about varieties of साधन. जप is talked about, service is talked about, पूजा is talked about, meditation is talked about, scriptural study is talked about. So many साधनs are talked about, a सात्त्विक intelligence knows which साधन is meant for which साध्य or destination. Clarity regarding the means and ends. And not only there is clarity regarding the means and ends, what should be the chronological order in which the साधन should be followed. Should कर्म be the first साधन or should we start with meditation or should we start with scriptural study and if we have to study the scriptures, कर्मकाण्ड first or ज्ञानकाण्ड first, even the order must be clear. And therefore the scriptures make it very clear, कर्म or an active life alone has to be the first stage of life. Nobody can start with Vedantic study and nobody can start with meditation, one has to start with active life and gradually progress to उपासना, by which time he would have contributed to the world sufficiently and by उपासना he can gradually turn the mind inwards and then alone he can enter into serious Self-enquiry. The order of the साधन also must be clear. Otherwise he will practice everything topsy-turvy. कृष्ण said in the 2nd chapter,

व्यवसायात्मिका बुद्धिरेकेह कुरुनन्दन ।

बहुशाखा ह्यनन्ताश्च बुद्धयोऽव्यवसायिनाम् ॥ २-४१॥

A clear intellect knows what one wants. This was defined in verse no.30. And now, in the 31st verse, which I introduced in the last class, कृष्ण talked about the राजसिक intellect and He says it is an embodiment of confusion. If I don't know anything about spirituality then no confusion (something should be known for confusion). Ignorance is bliss, but this person has read so many books written by so many masters and so many religious books, this book and that book and lots of ideas are floating in the mind and therefore confused what should I do when. And therefore when he reads a book, he is inspired by that book, which talks about meditation and therefore he serially starts five hour meditation session. And then by that time another book he happens to read which says, serving the society is spiritual साधन, then the meditation is dropped and he starts service activity and then somebody introduces कुण्डलिनी rising and therefore he goes into कुण्डलिनी and by that time, somebody says in कतियुग नाम जप is the only thing:

कलौ कल्मष चित्तानाम् पापद्रव्योपजीवनाम् । विधि क्रिया विहीनानाम्
गतिर् गोविन्द कीर्तनम् ॥

वेदान्त is confusing, गीता is confusing, गौडपाद कारिका महा confusing and therefore all these are not necessary,

हरेर्नामैव नामैव नामैव मम जीवनम् । कलौ नास्त्येव नास्त्येव नास्त्येव गतिरन्यथा ॥ पाण्डवगीता ५३ ॥

very appealing, therefore he starts नामजप. And then somebody says, गीता class is going on. Then he starts. So there is confusion galore, he doesn't know what to do. And this intelligence is राजसिक intelligence. Therefore कृष्ण defines धर्मम् अधर्मम् च अयथावत् प्रजानाति – what is धर्म, which is prescribed by the scriptures and what is अधर्म, which is prohibited by the scriptures, with regard to that, there is confusion. Because in the scriptures themselves, because there are seemingly confusing statements. Because in one place कर्म is glorified, in the other place कर्म is criticized. In the भगवद्गीता itself कृष्ण tells in the 3rd chapter,

स्वधर्मे निधनम् श्रेयः परधर्मः भय-आवहः ॥ ३-३७॥

Even death is ok when you are practicing स्वधर्म, धर्म is glorified and in the 18th chapter, the same कृष्ण says, सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य. Confusion. Should I follow धर्म or renounce धर्म? Should I do कर्म or renounce कर्म? Should I continue a गृहस्थ or become a स्वामि? Everything he has got half knowledge, enough to get confused and not only with regard to scriptural action, कार्यम् च अकार्यम् एव च – even with regard to worldly activities, which has nothing to do with scriptures, even with regard to with लौकिक कर्माणि, धर्म means शास्त्रीय कर्माणि, कार्यम् means लौकिक कर्माणि, both with regard to scriptural activities as well as mundane, worldly activities, everywhere he has got what? Half cooked knowledge and therefore confusion. So कार्यम् च अकार्यम् एव च अयथावत् प्रजानाति, अयथावत् means incomplete knowledge. That is in माण्डूक्य कारिका, we saw the example when there is a rope lying down in front of me, if that place is very very brightly lit, I will have no problem, I will clearly know there is a rope, total knowledge there is no problem, it is bliss. And if it is total darkness, I don't see anything at all, then also no problem at all. In fact, even if there is a real cobra, I am not worried because, I don't see anything. In total knowledge there is no problem, in total ignorance there is no problem, but when there is partial lighting up and partial darkness, I know there is something lying down, but I don't know what exactly it is. This is called half-knowledge or partial knowledge; partial knowledge creates a lot of problem. Therefore कृष्ण says अयथावत्, partial knowledge he has got, that is because of the power of रजोगुण, तमोगुण is bliss, total ignorance; सत्त्वगुण is bliss, total knowledge; रजोगुण is problem. This is राजसिक intellect. Now कृष्ण goes to तामसिक intellect.

Verse No .32

अधर्मं धर्ममिति या मन्यते तमसावृता ।

सर्वार्थान्विपरीतांश्च बुद्धिः सा पार्थ तामसी ॥ १८-३२॥

अधर्मम् धर्मम् इति या मन्यते तमसा आवृता ।

सर्व-अर्थान् विपरीतान् च बुद्धिः सा पार्थ तामसी ॥ १८-३२॥

हे पार्थ! या तमसा आवृता (बुद्धिः) अधर्मम् धर्मम् सर्व-अर्थान् विपरीतान् च इति मन्यते, सा बुद्धिः तामसी (स्मृता) ।

So here कृष्ण defines a तामसिक intellect, which does not have any doubt at all. Though it appears as though the तामसिक intellect is a wise intellect, because तामसिक intellect or intelligence does not have a doubt. Then what is the problem? Why do you call it तामसिक intellect? It is very definite about the wrong conclusions it has made. So तामसिक intellect has got wrong knowledge or विपरीत knowledge or विपर्यय ज्ञानम् and in that wrong knowledge, the तामसिक intellect strongly holds on, assuming that this is the right thing and therefore अधर्मम् धर्मम् इति, exactly as अर्जुन had in the 1st chapter. अर्जुन wrongly concluded that महाभारत war is अधर्म, at the end of the 1st chapter, अर्जुन wrongly concluded that the महाभारत war is अधर्म and he never had any doubt, he was very sure that he has got the right vision, even he thanks his stars, at least in the battlefield he has got a good बुद्धि, so he thinks he has got the right knowledge, and not only that, he so inspired by his wrong knowledge that he gives a long lecture to Lord कृष्ण also, कुलक्षये प्रणश्यन्ति कुलधर्माः सनातनाः. And this तामसिक intellect is firm, regarding its false knowledge and therefore the problem is what? You can never correct a तामसिक person, because a तामसिक person is very sure about his wrong knowledge as the right knowledge, he will never try to improve his knowledge, he will never try to learn from anyone, because as मुण्डकोपनिषत् (१-२-८) says, अविद्यायाम् अन्तरे वर्तमानाः but स्वयम् धीराः पण्डितम् मन्यमानाः. So they think they have the right knowledge, therefore अधर्मम् धर्मम् इति मन्यन्ते, because of what? तमसा आवृता – covered by the तमो गुण. And if it happens in one particular issue, we can call it an aberration, it is an exception, but in the case of a तामसिक person, in each and every case he has got wrong knowledge. So with regard to कर्म he has got wrong knowledge, he will say कर्मणा एव मोक्ष. Similarly, with regard to worldly pursuit also. Therefore कृष्ण says: सर्व-अर्थान् विपरीतान् च, सर्व-अर्थ can be taken as all the subjects in the world, with regard to every objective in the world or we can take अर्थ as the पुरुषार्थ, with regard to each पुरुषार्थ there is a confusion. How much importance money must be given? Confusion. Either he doesn't give any importance at all, that is also wrong, because without लक्ष्मीदेवी nothing happens, that is why we worship लक्ष्मीदेवी as goddess. So, one misconception is money is not at all important and another misconception is what? Money can get everything including peace and happiness. Both are misconceptions, just with regard to knowledge, there are misconception, with regard to धर्म, अर्थ, काम and even मोक्ष. And many people think मोक्ष is only for old people and therefore why should we attend गीता class, when we are young? We can attend when we become old, that is another misconception. With regard to everything they have misconception. सा बुद्धिः – such an intellect is a तामसिक intellect. I had talked about the four types of people. Somebody nicely classified, do you remember?

i) He who knows not and knows not, he knows not (knows, k...n...o... w... s, not nose). He who knows not means doesn't know), he who knows not and knows not he knows not, he is ignorant and he is ignorant that he is ignorant. He is a fool, shun him. Type No.1.

ii) The second type is: He who knows not and knows he knows not. Better; he doesn't know and knows that he doesn't know, I know that I don't know. That person is ignorant, teach him. Because he knows he is ignorant, so he is willing to learn. So what is the second type? He who knows not and knows he knows not. He is ignorant, teach him.

iii) The third type is: He who knows and knows not he knows, he is a very learned person but he doesn't know his glory (आज्जनेय had this problem, somebody had to tell him that he can achieve thing). He who knows and knows not he knows. He is asleep, wake him, wake up the giant. This is the third type.

iv) What is the fourth type? He who knows, you can fill up, he who knows and knows he knows. He is wise, follow him.

He who knows not and knows not he knows not; he is a fool, shun him.
He who knows not and knows he knows not; he is ignorant, teach him.
He who knows and knows not he knows; he is asleep, wake him.
He who knows and knows he knows; he is wise, follow him.

These are the four types that person said. The वेद adds the fifth one, मुण्डकोपनिषत् adds the fifth variety: He who knows not and thinks he knows (where to classify, this is विशेष variety). So the उपनिषत् says: अविद्यायाम् अन्तरे वर्तमानाः – steeped in ignorance, but स्वयम् धीराः पण्डितम् मन्यमानाः, what to do with these people? So here the तामसिक intellect is the fifth variety, he doesn't know but thinks he knows and therefore he doesn't want to learn from the elders, he criticizes the parents, he criticizes the teachers, he criticizes the संन्यासिs, he criticizes the scriptures, as though he has got sufficient wisdom to pass judgement on all these things and we can never do anything with regard to such people, because even if you want to improve them, they must be available for listening to you. You can do only one thing with regard to those people, what is that? You cannot communicate, because they are not going to listen, like रावण, how many people tried to correct him, never listened. Even at the last moment, राम said, Go back and come tomorrow, at least according to कम्ब रामायण, then also रावण didn't. कंस also didn't change, therefore we can never do anything with regard to such people and when such people are around in our family, lot of प्रारब्धम् will get exhausted, OK, lot of प्रारब्धम् will get exhausted if such people are there in the family and you have got only one solution: भगवान्, may I have the strength to tolerate this person who is around, other than प्रार्थना nothing can be done. One good news is our पाप will quickly get exhausted. Therefore, it is a good news only. So, सर्व-अर्थान् विपरीतान् च बुद्धिः सा पार्थ तामसी. With this the three types of intellect are over. Now कृष्ण wants to enter into the willpower topic from the next verse, we will read:

Verse No .33

धृत्या यया धारयते मनःप्राणेन्द्रियक्रियाः ।

योगेनाव्यभिचारिण्या धृतिः सा पार्थ सात्त्विकी ॥ १८-३३॥

धृत्या यया धारयते मनः-प्राण-इन्द्रिय-क्रियाः ।

योगेन अव्यभिचारिण्या धृतिः सा पार्थ सात्त्विकी ॥ १८-३३॥

हे पार्थ! (नरः) यया अव्यभिचारिण्या धृत्या मनः-प्राण-इन्द्रिय-क्रियाः योगेन धारयते, सा धृतिः सात्त्विकी (अस्ति) ।

For spiritual success, clear intellect alone is not sufficient, one requires a strong willpower also and therefore will is very important faculty and also since कृष्ण deals with the topic of willpower, it is very clear that the human beings do have a free-will. Many people have got misconception that everything is determined by fate and already things are written on our forehead, the शनि दशा and गुरु दशा have already determined our future and we cannot do anything at all, we are only puppets in the hands of the fate. This is the unfortunate misconception of many people and they think that our scriptures are teaching fatalism.

कृष्ण makes it very clear that we don't say fate is not there, fate is nothing but our own प्रारब्ध कर्म which we have done in this life as well as in the past life. So we do have fate, fate does influence our future, but what the scriptures say is fate is not the only factor. Fate is one of the factors determining, there are other factors also and the most powerful second factor is our own will and with willpower we can do प्रायश्चित्त, we can do साधन and we have the capacity to deflect or the change the course of the fate. I have talked about this elaborately and if the fate is very very powerful, then the free-will may not be able to conquer it, but it can reduce the impact of the fate and when the fate is medium, it is neither too powerful nor too weak, by our effort we can manage and keep the fate under check and when the fate is feeble, we do have the capacity to completely wipe out the effect of the fate. I have the given the example of three types of diseases. In the case of certain diseases, the doctor will say, it is terminal, you can pray, nothing can be done. In the case of certain other diseases, doctor will say, you cannot cure it, but you can keep it under control, like pressure, sugar, etc., by eating tablet, regular walking you can keep them under control and in the case of certain other diseases, we can take medicine and completely cure also. Fate is not uniform, fate is graded, because fate consists of our own कर्मs. Since the कर्मs have different intensity, fate also have got different intensity, therefore by using willpower we can change our course of life and therefore the basic assumption is a गीता student believes in willpower. If a गीता student does not believe in willpower, if a गीता student does not believe in free-will, all these verses will be meaningless verses. You can choose your ultimate goal of life. And if we are intelligent enough, our ultimate goal will be मोक्ष. And what is मोक्ष? Emotional independence. Emotionally I should not depend upon any external factor to be comfortable. This emotional independence is मोक्ष, this must be the ultimate goal. And if I need that goal, I have to accomplish, I know that Self-knowledge is the only means - I should have that clarity. If you want मोक्ष, you must have आत्मज्ञानम्, there is no other choice. Then the next clarity is आत्मज्ञानम् requires a prepared mind, a refined and subtle and focused mind is required, which we call योग्यता. So for मोक्षम्, ज्ञानम् is necessary; ज्ञानम् requires योग्यता and that योग्यता can be attained only by leading a धार्मिक lifestyle which is called a religious lifestyle by the scriptures, it is nothing but a धार्मिक life. So I have to lead a life of कर्म, wherein my value for अर्थ and काम, money and sense pleasures, they are always subservient to moral values. I will choose only those pleasures, I will choose only that material goal or even money, which is within the धार्मिक field. So I have to follow that life not for a year or two, but it is a long-life. It may require decades, that is why we have four आश्रमः, ब्रह्मचर्याश्रम, गृहस्थाश्रम, वानप्रस्थाश्रम and संन्यासाश्रम. In short, what I want to say here is, spiritual life is a long drawn life. There is no crash program in spirituality and if you take to any crash program, I have told you before, that will crash after a week, that is why it is called crash program. There is no crash program, it is a long drawn thing which means I require perseverance, I require focus, I require steadfastness and there will be obstacles and in spite of obstacles, I should have the necessary resilience to go forward. Even if I fall, I should be able to get up and again walk, instead of lying down permanently. And this willpower by which a person keeps मोक्ष as the goal and all his actions are directed towards that ultimate spiritual goal, that is called सात्त्विक willpower. So in this verse 33, कृष्ण defines सात्त्विक willpower. What is that? धारयते. So, this person sustains the spiritual साधन, at which level? At the level of every sense organ. So the mind is aware of that मनः, प्राण-इन्द्रिय-क्रियाः all the ten sense organs, sense organs of knowledge, sense organs of action, in short, what all activities he undertakes, even the books that he reads or how he spends his spare time, all these are going to influence the mind. What type of TV program that I watch, every small thing is influencing my mind. And therefore मनः-प्राण-इन्द्रिय-क्रियाः, मनः means mind, प्राण means the पञ्च प्राणs and इन्द्रिय means the ten इन्द्रियs, sense organs, क्रियाः means their function. That means what? A spiritual life is not something practiced for one hour a week, spiritual life is not something that is practiced for one hour a week. On Sundays between 6-7 I am spiritual and at other times, I am spiritual (can you understand!). That won't work out. Every moment, every word, every thought should be spiritual friendly, वेदान्त friendly. Spiritual life is not a joke, it is not a time-pass, it is not a casual thing, it is a responsible and the serious decision that one has to make. And therefore मनः-प्राण-इन्द्रिय-क्रियाः, धार्यते, which means there must be regular introspection, which direction I am going, I am going forward or I am stagnant or I am going backward. Now we also do that, we do study, but the problem, we study another person's progress. And we tell the other person, you are गीता student and you are like this, you are like that, etc., we are never supposed to criticize others. If there are two students of गीता in one family, alas! constantly they will tell you are गीता student and you are doing this. Never tell that, I have to look at myself and see whether there is progress or stagnation or retrogression, which means regular introspection is required. स्वामि शिवानन्द used to talk about writing a spiritual diary. दैवी सम्पत् and आसुरी सम्पत् are talked about in the 16th chapter and how does a दैवी सम्पन्न person behaves, how does असुर behaves, it has been listed, I have to tally and watch, whether I am going to देव side or असुर side. So, monitoring and regular introspection is required. And if I have got certain pronounced weakness; everyone has got weakness, nobody is perfect except God and one good news is everybody has got imperfection so we need not feel bad about it; certain weakness are pronounced, but certain others are not that pronounced, so those weaknesses may require special attention and therefore I look into them and I pay special attention to them and perhaps in the early morning, I just sit for 5-10 minutes and focus on that weakness and take a decision, today during my transactions I will be aware of that aspect of my personality. If it is weakness at the level of using the language, (everyone has this in abundance, vomiting whatever comes to the mouth), if that is the problem, any particular problem, so early morning auto suggestion and night introspection. This has to continuously go on and if any adjustment is required, I have to do that necessary adjustment. And therefore, कृष्ण says: अव्यभिचारिण्या – without deviating from the goal, without losing sight of the goal, without getting lost in the mundane worldly pursuits, because we have to go in search of money, as I said, money is very important, but my whole life cannot be dedicated for earning only. Human mind requires entertainments, nothing wrong, शास्त्रs excepts that you cannot be all the time serious, you require some recreation, relaxation, but the whole life cannot be dedicated for recreation; five days money, two days recreation! Five days I earn money and two days I thoroughly enjoy. Where is time for spirituality? And by the time I retire all faculties are gone, so what is the use. Therefore I should ask do I give enough importance to spiritual activities also, at least for weekly गीता class and once you have achieved that, can I allot some time for revision or else you will touch the गीता book only the next week, whether you will touch or search for the गीता book is a big question! Either you search for the गीता book or you take the गीता book. In between, just for half an hour see what it says, that is the next progress. Anyway, I don't want to create too much guilt in you. Therefore अव्यभिचारिण्या, अव्यभिचारिणी means undeviating focus, without deviation and how to you do that? योगेन – by the practice of योग and especially the अष्टाङ्ग योग, the पतञ्जलि's योग is a wonderful system for focusing the mind. In fact, the very definition of योग given there is चित्त वृत्ति निरोधः. Many people translate निरोधः as stopping the thought, but we don't believe in stopping the thoughts, चित्त वृत्ति निरोधः means directing the thought, if my thoughts are well directed, my words are well directed, if my words and thoughts are well directed, my actions are well directions, because actions and words are born out of thoughts only. Thus योग directs the thoughts, it is a beautiful system, by the practice of योग this person has developed the capacity of keeping the life in the route of मोक्ष. So मोक्ष मार्गे we have to supply. मोक्ष मार्गे धार्यते. And such a willpower is called सात्त्विक willpower. Then what is राजसिक willpower?

Verse No .34

यया तु धर्मकामार्थान्धृत्या धार्यतेऽर्जुन ।

प्रसङ्गेन फलाकाङ्क्षी धृतिः सा पार्थ राजसी ॥ १८-३४॥

यया तु धर्म-काम-अर्थान् धृत्या धार्यते अर्जुन ।

प्रसङ्गेन फल-आकाङ्क्षी धृतिः सा पार्थ राजसी ॥ १८-३४॥

हे अर्जुन! यया धृत्या प्रसङ्गेन फल-आकाङ्क्षी तु (सन्) धर्म-काम-अर्थान् (नरः) धार्यते, हे पार्थ! सा धृतिः राजसी (अस्ति) ।

Now comes the next willpower of a राजसिक person. This person also has a tremendous willpower. But the willpower is utilized for material success. Either he doesn't know about spiritual success or he doesn't believe in spiritual goals or he doesn't value spirituality. His philosophy is happiness depends upon material accomplishments, Money is God! There was a cinema in the bygone days, "Money is God." 'A pocket until the body is in the casket', In the back of autorikshaw many good slogans are written, one such slogan is: "A pocket until the body is in the casket." Casket means the cremation ground or burial ground. That is until cremation you require pocket, money. They will constantly remind you money is important, money is important, money is important, etc. We don't question that statement, it is very very true alright, but money alone is life is a very very unfortunate conclusion, the राजसिक person believes only in material success, climbing the corporate ladder, we have plenty of such idioms, I have to climb the corporate ladder, higher and higher position, more and more salary, and salary in dollars, all those things and he is so responsible and all the time walking with cell phone that there is no time, 'at least half a minute in your lotus feet', even for half a minute he doesn't have to think of God. Whether full सन्ध्यावन्दन is required or only गायत्री is enough and गायत्री full or three times is enough, time is there for everything, no time for पूजा, no time for temple, no time for ध्यानम्, no time for गीता study, no time for anything. So this person is successful from the worldly angle, because majority of the world measures success only in terms of material gain - How big is the house, car is there or not and if car is there, what brand it is, Ambassador or Benz, so many such things are there, which car he has and how many of them, does he have an extra house in महाबलिपुरम् or preferably in कोडैकानल or उटी, these are all the parameters of success in life and most of the people fall for this and therefore, to show them as people of status and success, they run after the mirage water of material success. Therefore he says, धार्यते – they are busy, running, running, running and they also maintain all their activities for what purpose, not for मोक्ष but for धर्म, अर्थ, काम, so they are interested in more and more money and material possessions, called अर्थ, in the name of security. In fact, he has money for five generations, still not satisfactory and if money is there enough, next is what, entertainment. So, for holidays you are not supposed to go उटी or some place but to Switzerland, if you can go for world tour then only you are a reasonably successful person, like that all these values are there. So काम – entertainment oriented, money oriented and then धर्म – he does want पुण्यम्, he does want पुण्यम् and he does take to religious activities also, but the problem is even the पुण्यम् that he acquires he wants to encash in the form of material gain, because पुण्यम् is two-fold, when you lead a religious life, do rituals, prayer, etc., you will get पुण्यम् and that पुण्यम्, religious merit (it is difficult to translate पुण्यम् in English, in English we don't have an exact translation for the word पुण्यम्, the nearest translation is religious merit). Now he does get, this पुण्यम् can be encashed in two different ways. One is you want to convert that into material pleasures. By पुण्यम्, I want to get a better house, by पुण्यम् I want to get स्वर्ग लोक, by पुण्यम् I want to get this अर्थ and कर्म, that is called material पुण्यम्. There is another type of पुण्यम् by which I want opportunity for continuing in my spiritual path. I should have sufficient health to come to the class regularly, I should not have any obstacles in the pursuit and I want to convert the पुण्यम् into वित्तशुद्धि, गुरु प्राप्ति, श्रवण प्राप्ति, etc., that is called spiritual पुण्यम्. So a सात्त्विक person will seek spiritual पुण्यम्, a राजसिक person will seek material पुण्यम्. Therefore here धर्म means material पुण्यम्, काम and अर्थ he pursues relentlessly. And how? प्रसङ्गेन – with intense attachment, because he knows that the society will respect only if he can maintain a certain standard of life. And he is interested in society's respect and therefore I have to keep that position; once the position is gone, respect is gone, स्थान भ्रष्टः न शोभन्ते दन्ताः केशाः नखाः नराः ॥

There are four things which are valued only when they are in a particular position. When the position is changed, their value will go, there are four such things, what are they?

No.1. Tooth. As long as it is in the mouth, you give all the respect - regularly brush and gloss and go to the doctors and all kinds of things, spend thousands of rupees. Dentistry is very costly thing. But the moment it has fallen, you have to take bath if you touch, you are not supposed to even touch it. Tooth remaining the same, when it is in the appropriate position, respect.

No.2. What is the second item? केशाः –hairs. As long as it is on the top of the head, it will get all respect, hairdos are there, beauty parlors are there, coloring, etc., are there, putting spring, etc. So therefore all kinds of treatments when it is on the head, the moment it has fallen it is the most dangerous thing. If you find hair in the food, you have to throw it away, so केशाः.

Next one is नखाः – nails, when the nail is on the hand, how much respect, manicure, pedicure, polishing, stick nail, etc., (all useful for the class at least). So, all kinds of things you do, when it is on the finger, the moment it has fallen it is अशौचम्. These three things have the value when they are in the proper position.

You know what is the fourth item? Human being. When a human being has got a position in life, a status in life, everybody respects; once that is gone,

यावत् वित्तोपार्जनं सक्तः तावन्नित्यं परिवारो रक्तः ।

पश्चाज्जीवति जर्जरं देहे वार्ताम् कोऽपि न पृच्छति गेहे ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७ ॥

Therefore for earning social respect this राजसिक person is conscious of his status in society. Whereas a सात्विक person doesn't even bother about the status in society and if the people in the society and family don't enquire about me, in fact, it is better, I can spend more time in गीता. They will not bother me. He will take it as an advantageous but a राजसिक person wants recognition and therefore प्रसङ्गेन, attached to the post like the ministers, stucked to their posts with fevicol, like that he wants to get stuck, फल-आकाङ्क्षी – and he is interested only in the materialistic result of his action, he works in the world not for inner growth. A spiritual person works in the world not for recognition, it is a by-product, may or may not come, money is a by-product, may or may not come, I work in the world, I contribute primarily for my own inner growth, but a राजसिक person doesn't know that, therefore फल-आकाङ्क्षी is attached to the material results, such a person has राजसिक willpower. He also has willpower but it is राजसिक will. And what is तामसिक will? In the next class we will see.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 35-38

As a part of summarization of the entire भगवद्गीता, Lord कृष्ण is taking up seven topics and he classifies them into three groups based on the three गुणस and if we understand these seven topics and the three-fold classifications, we will have a fairly good idea of the entire गीता teaching. These seven topics are beautifully chosen, they are important topics and the classification also has been clearly done. So if a person understands these seven topics with their classifications, the entire भगवद्गीता, even the entire वैदिक teaching is reasonably well-understood. And of those seven topics, we have seen five, first he talked about three topics of संन्यास by way of answering अर्जुन's doubt.

- So the first topic is त्रिविधः संन्यासः, सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस संन्यासः,
- Then he talked about त्रिविधम् ज्ञानम्, three types of knowledge,
- Then he talked about त्रिविधम् कर्म, three types of action,
- Then he talked about त्रिविधः कर्ता, three types of workers, doers,
- And then he talked about त्रिविधा बुद्धिः, three types of intellect or intelligence,

Thus we have covered five topics. संन्यास, ज्ञानम्, कर्म, कर्ता and बुद्धिः. Now we are in this 6th topic, viz., three types of willpower, which are discussed in verse no.33, 34 and 35. In the 33rd verse we saw सात्त्विक willpower is defined, in the 34th verse, which I have introduced in the last class, कृष्ण is talking about राजसिक willpower. सात्त्विक willpower is that which keeps a person in spiritual path until he attains success. So perseverance until spiritual success is सात्त्विक willpower. Whereas राजसिक willpower also involves perseverance, commitment, etc., but not for the sake of spiritual success, the same willpower is used for the sake of material success. Both are willpower only. And therefore, कृष्ण said in the 34th verse, that willpower by which a person pursues धर्म, अर्थ and काम. He is not very much interested in मोक्ष, but he is interested धर्म-अर्थ-काम, धर्म means पुण्यम्, even the पुण्यम् that he is interested in is material पुण्यम्, as I said in the last class, material पुण्यम् is that पुण्यम् which he wants to encash as material benefits. Sufficient पुण्यम् so that I will get lot of money, sufficient पुण्यम् so that I will get a big house, sufficient पुण्यम् so that I will have many cars, that is called materialistic पुण्यम्. Not पुण्यम् for Vedantic study, not पुण्यम् गुरु प्राप्ति, or ज्ञान प्राप्ति, he wants to encash the पुण्यम् for worldly benefit, that is called राजसिक willpower, प्रसङ्गेन फल-आकाङ्क्षी, प्रसङ्गेन means with extreme attachment, craving, yearning, craze. So, here प्रसङ्ग means प्रकर्षेण सङ्ग, प्र means intense, सङ्ग means attachment and फल-आकाङ्क्षी, फलम् means the material benefit, he craves for and he continues that pursuit until he attains success. As I said the other day: he wants to climb the corporate ladder, then become the vice-president of the world-wide organization. Such a willpower by which he pursues that and attains that, is राजसिक will. And here we should make a note, we are not totally against राजसिक willpower. Because in the initial stages of life, a person has to follow कर्म and therefore, every seeker requires राजसिक will initially. And everybody is born with worldly desires, everybody wants to enjoy sense pleasures, everybody seeks अर्थ and काम initially and वेद itself encourages that and prescribes many methods of acquiring them. Therefore we should never criticize राजसिक will totally, because we all have to earn and enjoy but as time goes, the राजसिक will should get more and more refined. I have talked about this before, initially my desire is to earn more and also own more, earn and own. This is the philosophy of the राजसिक willpower in the initial stages, which means I will earn and own everything, I will not part with even a single paisa that I earn. Such a lifestyle is the lifestyle of a कर्मि. And this कर्मि has a राजसिक willpower and this राजसिक willpower has to get refined more and more and the कर्मि should get converted into कर्मयोगि. And this कर्मयोगि has got a राजसिक will, he wants to earn a lot, he wants to get lot of money, but the refinement is that he wants to earn, but he doesn't want to own everything he earns. He is राजसिक enough to earn or acquire, but सात्विक enough to share whatever he owns with the society, he is ready to keep a part of his possession for the sake of पञ्च महायज्ञ. पञ्च महायज्ञ requires lot of money, because if I don't earn money, how can I do देव यज्ञ, how can I do पितृ यज्ञः, how can I do मनुष्य यज्ञ, how can I do भूत यज्ञ, all the पञ्च महायज्ञ which are part of कर्मयोग, require money, require earning, therefore require कर्म, therefore requires राजसिक will. A person who is extremely सात्विक, he doesn't own anything, alright, because he doesn't have desire, but the problem is when a person is over सात्विक, he doesn't earn also. There are two extremes. Look at the three types of people:

➤ One person neither earns nor owns, he doesn't own and he doesn't earn, therefore, he cannot contribute anything to the society. How to do दानम्? He himself lives on दानम्. Therefore he cannot do दानम्, which is an integral part of कर्मयोग. A person who neither earns nor owns, can never practice कर्मयोग, which involves दानम्.

➤ And there is another extreme, who earns wealth and owns everything, therefore he also doesn't give a single paisa. He earns well and will not give even a paisa.

➤ Therefore the one who neither earns nor owns cannot help the society, the one who earns and owns also cannot help. The one who earns a lot and owns a little and is willing to spend the rest of the earning for the sake of the social upbringing, otherwise called पञ्च महायज्ञ, he also requires a राजसिक willpower.

Therefore, every कर्मयोगि requires a राजसिक willpower and he uses that willpower for contribution to the society and for getting वित्तशुद्धि.

So this is the second type of will. Now we have to go to the third willpower, which is तामसिक willpower. What is that? We will read verse no.35;

Verse No .35

यया स्वप्नं भयं शोकं विषादं मदमेव च ।

न विमुञ्चति दुर्मेधा धृतिः सा पार्थ तामसी ॥ १८-३५॥

यया स्वप्नम् भयम् शोकम् विषादम् मदम् एव च ।

न विमुञ्चति दुर्मेधाः धृतिः सा पार्थ तामसी ॥ १८-३५॥

हे पार्थ! दुर्मेधाः (नरः) यया स्वप्नम्, भयम्, शोकम्, विषादम्, मदम् एव च न विमुञ्चति, सा धृतिः तामसी (मता) ।

So the तामसिक willpower is that by which a person fanatically avoids कर्म, that also requires willpower. So therefore, यया स्वप्नम् भयम् शोकम् विषादम् मदम् च न विमुञ्चति – he also holds on to certain things staunchly. What are the things he holds on to? स्वप्नम्, which means day-dreaming. Night dreaming everybody does, but this person, स्वप्नम् न विमुञ्चति, that means he does not act in the world, but he only knows how to dream, building castles in the air. Therefore either he is sleeping or he is sleepy. Apart from these two अवस्थाs he doesn't know a state called जाग्रत् अवस्था, he has only two अवस्था, either dreaming or sleeping. स्वप्नम् न विमुञ्चति; refuses to work and especially, if that person has inherited property, finished, because he will get food timely or there is a earning parent, who out of sheer wrong attachment, misplaced attachment does not drive the son to activity, he will say poor me! poor me! pamper him and they spoil him, such parent are also there. So therefore स्वप्नम् न विमुञ्चति, doesn't work at all. If I have inherited wealth and if I don't need money, it does not mean I should not work. In fact, I can happily work for the benefit of the society, which will in turn benefit me by giving चित्तशुद्धि, but this person does not do that, स्वप्नम् न विमुञ्चति and भयम् न विमुञ्चति – he does not undertake anything, because of fear of failure, he does not want to fail in life, he wants only success, but unfortunately nobody can get success straightaway the first time itself, if you get success the first time then it means something is wrong. Anything we have to go through a few failures and this person doesn't want and therefore what does he do, only if I undertake something there will be failure and therefore I will not undertake anything. And he tells everyone: "I have never failed in life." "What have you done anything?" "Nothing." Therefore भयम्. He avoids failure. And शोकम्, since कर्ता is not active, भोक्ता is very very active. We have two personalities, one is the कर्ता personality, the one who does action in the world; the other is भोक्ता personality, the one who faces experiences in the world and the experiences often brings sorrows/problems. But many of our worries can be overcome if we have an active life, because activity is a wonderful medicine for sorrow, activity is wonderful medicine for anxiety, activity is wonderful medicine for depression, but this तामसिक person refuses to be active, therefore every experience will only cause sorrow for him and therefore most of the time he complains about someone or the other, because whole time is available for what, sitting, eating and till he gets sleep make some complaints or other and if nothing is there to complain then complain about the food. Salt is less, sour is more, something or the other, therefore this तामसिक person never gives up sorrow. All the time sorrowful. Then विषादम्, विषादः means depression, lack of motivation, all the time in low moods, anytime you ask, no mood, I have no mood to do that. So therefore this moody people, दयानन्द स्वामिजी calls them मूढाः, those who are always waiting for the mood to come, today didn't come to the गीता class, because mood was not there and what logic you can give, mood has no logic, therefore all the time there is no motive at all, sense organs are not active, neither ज्ञानेन्द्रिय nor कर्मेन्द्रिय, शङ्कराचार्य calls it अवसन्न भावः, all the time this person in a low. That is called विषादः, depression. And मदम् – if at all he takes to some activity, that is only sensory addiction, all these action-less people, it happens in the villages, those people who have landed property, who do not get educated also, many people went through that phase, no education. Because they were all Brahmins, therefore they were not getting the regular education, at least वेदs they should have learned, but the वैदिक tradition also gone and some landed property is there and what do they do, there is a raised platform, sitting there and eating betel nuts and speaking incoherent words and playing cards. All these things many Brahmins, they just spoiled their life, because of that they lost everything, and village houses also they had to sell and all kinds of problems. Neither spiritual study, nor this study, neither did they go to the school, nor the वेद पाठशाला and what did they do, ate betel nuts and played cards. Doing like this they were given to addiction, कृष्ण calls it मदम्. So, मद means sensory addiction, may be smoking, may be drinking, may be tobacco, something or the other they take to because there is no goal in life. Even if मोक्ष goal is not there, at least some material goal is there you can work for that, neither material goal nor spiritual goal. स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द always said, Human beings should have some goal or the other to work for, even if मोक्ष goal is not there, at least have some relatively worldly goal. For the तामसिक person, no धर्म, no अर्थ, no काम, no मोक्ष, no goal is there and therefore मदम्, takes to addictions. And न विमुञ्चति and when you talk to him and tries to create some enthusiasm, his intellect is such that it will argue in favor of his laziness, he will say how those companies survive if I don't consume the products. The intellect is such, it will always argue in favor of your addiction. Any addiction becomes so powerful that intellect will start supporting it and therefore कृष्ण says दुर्मेधाः – this perverted intellect you can never convince them and not only that, if you talk to them for some time, they will begin to convince you, you will also say that I will also play a round of cards. So powerful they are, unless you are strong they will pull you down. So their दुर्मेधाः, perverted intellect argues in terms of that, they will say why do you practice sense control all these things, we have got one life and we can enjoy only when you are young, What is the use of all these self-denial, “make hay while the sun shines,” चार्वाक philosophy they will talk and establish and such a willpower, हे अर्जुन! हे पार्थ! is तामसी. That is तामसिक willpower. With this three types of willpower is over. And what is the aim of a person? First give up तामसिक willpower, straightaway you need not go to सात्त्विक willpower, you cannot, have राजसिक willpower, have some material goals, at least for the sake of earnig have some goals and start activity. Then once you have earned enough, have a goal of दानम् and gradually have the goal of ज्ञानम् and मोक्ष, this gradual shift from तामसिक to राजसिक to सात्त्विक willpower should be the goal. Now comes the seventh and final topic in the following verses, we will see.

Verse No .36

सुखं त्विदानीं त्रिविधं शृणु मे भरतर्षभ ।

अभ्यासाद्रमते यत्र दुःखान्तं च निगच्छति ॥ १८-३६॥

सुखम् तु इदानीम् त्रिविधम् शृणु मे भरतर्षभ ।

अभ्यासात् रमते यत्र दुःखान्तम् च निगच्छति ॥ १८-३६॥

हे भरतर्षभ! इदानीम् तु त्रिविधम् सुखम् मे शृणु, यत्र (सुखे जीवः) अभ्यासात् रमते, दुःखान्तम् च निगच्छति ।

So कृष्ण introduces the seventh topic in this verse. So हे भरतर्षभ! अर्जुन, इदानीम् त्रिविधम् सुखम् शृणु. Now may you listen to three-fold happiness, सुखम् means happiness. त्रिविधम् means three-fold, again based on the गुणs – सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस सुखम्. And we all know every human being instinctively craves for happiness. Our craving for happiness is not a learned desire, it is an instinctive desire and here, what कृष्ण says is everybody wants happiness, but there is a choice for human being with regard to which type of happiness he should choose. With regard to choosing the happiness there is no choice. Everybody wants happiness, but there is a choice with regard to the type of happiness, an intelligent person chooses the right brand of happiness. In food, that you have to eat food there is no choice, everybody has to eat food, because that is an instinctive desire. So, in desiring for food, there is no choice, but what type of food I should eat - vegetarian, non-vegetarian, in vegetarian which variety, there I have a choice. There is no choice on whether you want सुखम् or not; but what kind of सुखम् one needs to experience, we do have a choice. And therefore अर्जुन may you listen. And there is one truth. What is that? You can train your mind to enjoy any one type of pleasure, it is something from taste that you develop by practice. So you can develop a taste for a particular type of food, first time you may not like, chappathi for instance, you eat and slowly you develop a taste and you start liking, Even this movie music dabba, first it will be jarring, you keep on listening then you also slowly begin to murmur and then in the bathroom you start singing that song. So what you hated you can train to love, it is sheer अभ्यास. Therefore by अभ्यास by training you can learn to enjoy सात्विक, or राजसिक, or तामसिक. Anything, good or bad, food habit, dress, anything, it is a training. So since mind can be trained, why can't you train your mind for a good brand of happiness. Proper brand why can't you have. Therefore कृष्ण says, अभ्यासात् रमते यत्र – by sheer practice and training the mind begins to revel in that, enjoy that, यत्र रमते and once you start enjoying, the other people will start wondering, what juice is there in this, like when the children enjoy the other music, you wonder what is there in it, but they are thrilled to hear. While going you can see, the car doors are closed, but outside you can hear the sound, dum, dum, dum, that means what, in the closed car what is played if you can hear outside, how much louder it might be inside? And their eardrum is enduring, sheer training. So therefore कृष्ण says, अभ्यासात् रमते – and not only one revels, दुःखान्तम् निगच्छति – and one seek the end of sorrow, all the three सुखम् can put an end to sorrow, सात्त्विक सुखम् also will end in sorrow, राजस सुखम् also will end in sorrow, तामस सुखम् will also end in sorrow, anyone you can train. Then what is the difference among these three सुखम्s? कृष्ण is going to define. So 37, 38 and 39 deal with सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस सुखम्s respectively, in that order. 37 is सात्त्विक सुखम्.

Verse No .37

यत्तदब्रे विषमिव परिणामेऽमृतोपमम् ।

तत्सुखं सात्त्विकं प्रोक्तमात्मबुद्धिप्रसादजम् ॥ १८-३७॥

यत् तत् अब्रे विषम् इव परिणामे अमृत-उपमम् ।

तत् सुखम् सात्त्विकम् प्रोक्तम् आत्म-बुद्धि-प्रसादजम् ॥ १८-३७॥

यत् अब्रे विषम् इव, परिणामे अमृत-उपमम् तत् आत्म-बुद्धि-प्रसादजम् (अस्ति), तत् सुखम् सात्त्विकम् प्रोक्तम् ।

So here कृष्ण defines सात्त्विक सुखम् as pure spiritual आनन्द, an आनन्द that you can derive from following a spiritual way of life, not at the end of the journey but even as you travel there is an आनन्द. Right from the level of कर्मयोग there is an आनन्द, at the level of उपासना there is आनन्द, when साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति is developed there is an आनन्द. And the beauty is that आनन्द comes from inside, he doesn't seem to derive the आनन्द from external sources, in fact, he doesn't go after the external source of joy. In fact, the other materialistic people think that the spiritual person is deprived of आनन्द, not going to cinema, when somebody says I don't go to movie, I don't go to this, I don't go to that, I don't go for disco, clubs parties, etc., the others will wonder what आनन्द this person will be experiencing. So the other people will sympathize with this person. But this person only knows what is the unique inner आनन्द and the height of this आनन्द is आत्म-ज्ञान-जन्य-आनन्द, which is called विद्या आनन्द, आनन्द born out of sheer knowledge of my nature, the sheer knowledge of the nature of the world and the knowledge of the nature of God. जीव-जगत्-ईश्वर-स्वरूप ज्ञानेन, you don't require anything else, the sheer understanding generates a fullness, generates a peace, it is a 'peace that passeth all understanding' as they say in the Bible, it is a unique form of fullness. And the glory of that आनन्द is knowledge is never subject to loss, everything else is subject to loss, money may be lost, position will be lost and when money and position go away, respect from the society, not only from the society, even from the family that will be lost, relationships will be lost, other than knowledge name anything, it is subject to loss, knowledge is the only thing which is neither lost, not only that it increases in due course, in terms of its clarity,

न चौरहार्यम् न च राजहार्यम् न भ्रातृभाज्यम् न च भारकारि । व्यये कृते वर्धत एव नित्यम् विद्या धनम् सर्व धनात् प्रधानम् ॥ सुभाषितानि ॥

A unique wealth which cannot be stolen by the robbers, न च राजहार्यम् – it cannot be taken by the government through extra tax, न भ्रातृभाज्यम् – brothers will not come for share. Any other property they will ask for their share. Nobody can ask for knowledge, even if people ask and you give your knowledge it will never get depleted. Suppose I teach one गीता course. Is it lost as it is taught to the students? So, in the next गीता course, I have to sit there and I have to earn. No, I would have taught 15 courses of 20 courses of गीता perhaps, knowledge has never decreased, it only increases, व्यये कृते वर्धत एव नित्यम् विद्या धनम् सर्व धनात् प्रधानम्. Since knowledge is not subject to loss, knowledge based आनन्द will be life-long. Knowledge based peace of mind will be life-long. There is no anxiety, therefore कृष्ण says, that is called सात्त्विक pleasure. Spiritual joy is सात्त्विक joy. So he says आत्म-बुद्धि-प्रसादजम्. आत्म-बुद्धि means आत्मज्ञानम्, here the word बुद्धिः means ज्ञानम्, आत्म-बुद्धि means आत्मज्ञानम्. प्रसादः means tranquility, relaxed condition, a stress free state of mind, a de-stressed mind (be careful, not distressed mind). Previously it was distressed mind, now it has become de-stressed mind, that is called प्रसाद and this प्रसाद is the result of what, आत्म-बुद्धि, thus आत्म-बुद्धि प्रसाद means the tranquility of mind born out of Self-knowledge and this tranquility generates an आनन्द, the very tranquility generates an आनन्द, you know that आनन्द comes from where, it comes from आत्मा, because आत्मनः स्वरूपम् is आनन्दः. Therefore आत्मानन्द manifests in a calm mind. So therefore आत्म-बुद्धि-प्रसादजम् means a joy which is born out of tranquility, which itself is born out of Self-knowledge, that विद्यानन्दः is सात्त्विक आनन्द. But कृष्ण gives a warning. What is that? It is a great आनन्द, not even great but the greatest आनन्द, most wonderful आनन्द, you need not take any insurance against that आनन्द, for everything else you have to take insurance, for this you need not take at all, such a wonderful आनन्द it is, but you have to work hard to gain it. It is not easily attainable, you have to go through a long winding spiritual साधन, start with कर्मयोग, which is nothing but reduction of सकाम कर्म and increase of निष्काम कर्म. The headache begins there, thus कर्मयोग, you have to start with purification of mind, then you have to go through उपासना, turn the extrovert mind inwards and then you have to gain all the values, अमानित्वम् अदम्भित्वम् अहिम्सा क्षान्तिः (16th chapter), आसुरी सम्पत् has to be weeded out, दैवी सम्पत् has to be carefully nurtured and nourished, it all requires attention, it requires a deliberate committed life, it is an uphill task. Therefore it will appear to be painful initially, it will appear to be painful initially, but if you remember the goal it will not appear painful, like people going to मानसरोवर, there the temperature is so low, there is a risk involved, there can be land slide and there can be oxygen deprivation and all those things will be there, etc. But then why do people go and you have to spend how many thousands, why people go and take the pain, because they see what they are going to get at the end, that makes them forget the price that they are paying. Similarly, if you see the advantage of this आनन्द, you won't mind it, but you should be aware of that and therefore कृष्ण says अत्रे विषम् इव, this spiritual joy or the spiritual path appears to be poison in the beginning, poison means painful in the beginning, because it involves discipline and any person who has succeeded in any field it is because of hard work, whether it is tennis or cricket or music or dance or violin or anything, if a person is effortlessly doing that. You ask him, he will say I got up in the morning, and five hours I did साधन, seven hours I did साधन, etc., you have to pay the price for anything, spiritual growth also is not natural, it requires effort, so it appears to be painful. But what is the great thing, परिणामे, which means at the end, अमृत-उपमम् – you enjoy. It is like अमृतम् or nectar, once you have started seeing the benefit. So परिणामे अमृत-उपमम्. तत् सुखम् – such an आनन्द, which is born out of साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति itself will give an आनन्द, later the आत्मानन्द, विद्यानन्द, that आनन्द is called सात्त्विक pleasure. An intelligent person chooses सात्त्विक आनन्द. Then what is राजसिक आनन्द? कृष्ण defines.

Verse No .38

विषयेन्द्रियसंयोगाद्यतदब्रेऽमृतोपमम् ।

परिणामे विषमिव तत्सुखं राजसं स्मृतम् ॥ १८-३८॥

विषय-इन्द्रिय-संयोगात् यत् तत् अब्रे अमृत-उपमम् ।

परिणामे विषम् इव तत् सुखम् राजसम् स्मृतम् ॥ १८-३८॥

यत् विषय-इन्द्रिय-संयोगात् अब्रे अमृत-उपमम्, तत् परिणामे (च) विषम् इव (अस्ति) तत् सुखम् राजसम् स्मृतम् ।

So राजसिक pleasure कृष्ण defines as all those pleasures, which are born out of sensory contact. So we have got five sense organs and the world consists of five sense objects, शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस and गन्ध and we have got the five sense organs and because of their association, like nice music, nice picture, nice form, nice smell, nice taste, nice touch, all of them will certainly give an आनन्द, contact born आनन्द called संस्पर्शज भोग. And certainly they are wonderful. But कृष्ण says you have to note the statutory warning. What is that?

Any contact is not permanent. Any contact is not permanent and therefore contact born pleasure is also not permanent. And therefore it will go away and when it goes away, there are two problems, one is a vacuum is generated and the other is a depression or sorrow is generated. So, vacuum and depreciation or sorrow, these are inevitable consequence of राजसिक सुखम्. You can choose whether you want राजसिक सुखम् or not, but you note the statutory warning. Therefore he says, विषय-इन्द्रिय-संयोगात्, विषय means sense objects - शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस, गन्ध and इन्द्रिय means sense organs, संयोग means contact, the contact is not natural, we have to work for that contact and create an atmosphere in which there will be no disturbances around. I should enjoy that contact without disturbance. If you have that, you will have आनन्द, अमृत-उपमम् – you get a joy which is like अमृतम्, the best food that you eat is certainly अमृतम्, when you order and eat, but कृष्ण adds a clause, अग्रे, means in the beginning. Suppose you like ice-cream, you ate the first one and I say eat the second one and then I command him to eat the third and force him, first it was request, then force him to eat the fourth, fifth or sixth, let us assume twenty, a time comes when he has eaten to his fill, that the very sight of this create a nausea, he will run away. Law of diminishing return. You buy a cassette, how many cassettes you have at home, which are now lying with full of dust. First when you buy you want to regularly listen, then daily listen, then once in two days, then once in a week, then once in a month, then you will forget that it is there, you have lost interest whether it is music or anything you take, sensory pleasures are wonderful only in the beginning. Therefore अग्रे अमृत-उपमम् and even if you enjoy them all the time, you cannot hold any object permanently, कालम् brings a separation. Whether you like or not, time which brings things together, the very time separates things. So संयोग is also because of काल, वियोग is also because of काल. And when that वियोग comes, it is going to be painful and the pain will be directly proportional to the pleasure that it could give, we won't like to think about it, because the very thought is disturbing, as अर्जुन in the 1st chapter thought of losing भीष्म, द्रोण, etc., that time itself it was सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि मुखम् च परिशुष्यति, etc., the very thought gives pain then what to talk of event. Therefore कृष्ण says: परिणामे – the consequence of all the sensory pleasures is विषम् इव – it is like poison and when that pain comes, they say I need not have chosen this at all. Therefore परिणामे विषम् इव, it is like poison. तत् सुखम् राजसम् स्मृतम् – such a pleasure is राजसिक pleasure. Therefore, either you give up राजसिक pleasure and even if you don't want to give up राजसिक pleasure, you have them, but keep सात्विक आनन्द has a back up. राजसिक pleasure is like our electricity broad or corporation water, if you want to use corporation water you can use, but have a back up - a bore well, like that you can have sense pleasures, I mean, moral sense pleasures if you want to have, but at least have विद्यानन्द so that when the sense pleasures are there you can enjoy, if that goes away, nothing to worry, automatically आत्मानन्द, uninterrupted आनन्द supply, UAS, not UPS, uninterrupted power supply, therefore have people around, have money, keep all comforts but also have आत्मानन्द. So that there is no anxiety, when power is there use it or automatically, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः, but relying exclusively on राजसिक pleasure is a risky thing. Either exclusively rely upon सात्विक आनन्द and leave aside राजसिक pleasure, or have राजसिक pleasure, nothing wrong, but at least have सात्विक आनन्द as back up. This is the warning that कृष्ण gives. I If you don't have back up and totally depend upon the world, that is called संसार, which is the riskiest proposal. This you will understand when you think. An intelligent person will understand even by projecting but otherwise, a person has to get thrashing. Like you give the example of the monkey, when the monkey does lot of mischief, they want to punish it. What do they do? It seems is, they have a vessel with a short neck which is fixed on the ground, the vessel is on the ground fixed and there is a short, narrow neck is there and inside they put some groundnuts and this monkey what it does it do, it puts the hands because it loves and takes one fist full of groundnut. Once it is fistful, the hand has become big and then it tries to take the hand out, it is not able to, then this fellow who want to teach the lesson, gives left and right. What should the monkey do, if it were intelligent? How will the monkey know if you yourselves don't know, we are also monkeys! It has to drop attachment or get thrashing, drop and take out the hand nicely and get out, but the monkey doesn't have बुद्धि, why, that is why it is monkey and therefore it holds on to it on one side and gets thrashing on the back. Similarly, all the people of attachment will get thrashing and when thrashing they get, little by little बुद्धि will come and then alone they start seriously what is भगवद्गीता. Come to the next class.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 39-41

Lord कृष्ण talked about three types of ज्ञानम्, three types of कर्म, three types of कर्ता, three types of बुद्धिः and three types of धृतिः. ज्ञानम्, कर्म, कर्ता, बुद्धिः, धृतिः, all these five items he classified based on the three गुणs and he has come to the final topic of सुखम्, even though happiness experienced is one and the same, based on the way that we gain our happiness, it is divided into three types - सात्त्विक, राजस and तामस सुखम् and there we have seen सात्त्विक and राजसिक सुखम् in verse no.37 ad 38. And of this, सात्त्विक सुखम् is the best and ideal, even though it is difficult to gain the सात्त्विक आनन्द. It is the ideal one because, in सात्त्विक आनन्द, I learn to gain आनन्द and शान्ति from within myself. It is an आनन्द, in which I don't depend upon external factors, having known the unpredictability of external factors, having known the uncontrollability of the external factors I consider it wise to depend upon myself. Just as every country, works for self-sufficiency in every field, here the individual works for self-sufficiency in the field of peace and happiness. And to discover that one has to refine oneself, both in terms of maturity as well as understanding. A lot of understanding is required with regard to world and myself and therefore Lord कृष्ण said tapping सात्त्विक सुखम् is initially difficult, but once a person has to learn to be happy with himself or herself, thereafter there is no threat at all. Then he defined the राजस सुखम् in the next verse, we completed in the last class, here a person gains आनन्द from external conditions, he works hard to set-up an appropriate condition, he works for an ideal infrastructure and he works for even ordering the human beings around and by creating those conditions, he derives happiness from the set-up. And that happiness is also wonderful alright, but कृष्ण said that there are inherent problems. And what is the inherent problem? A set-up is not totally under my control. Any set-up is highly fragile, highly fluid. What change will happen where and when I don't know. The weather changes, the economic conditions change, the political order changes, in business one need not ask, in stock market the things are fragile and the people's behavior it is highly unpredictable and my own family members how they will behave I don't know, previously we had atleast a few trustworthy relationship, now the modern materialistic society is such that every relationship has become fragile. Whether it is brother-brother relationship, whether children-parent relationship, whether it is husband-wife relationship, one student was telling the other day, स्वामिजि, when I went to the Court for some purpose, I see every day thousands of couples are coming. Big crowd it seems, you know for what? Separation! That too in thousands. And not per month or per year, but per day. So there is no relationship which seems to be trustworthy, reliable or permanent. This is supposed to be in our tradition, the most sacred and also the prayer is until death, all the विवाह मन्त्रs you read, the prayer is we should grow old together. This is the prayer and my mind and my thinking should be in keeping with your mind, मे हृदयम् तव हृदये, तव हृदयम् मे हृदये, (what is the use of I remembering these मन्त्रs!) Wonderful मन्त्रs are there, everything gone and therefore no relationship is reliable and no set-up is reliable, no job is reliable and therefore a peace and happiness which depends upon a fragile set-up will be in trouble, this is the inherent disadvantage in राजसिक सुखम्, because it is set-up based. And that is why I told you before, when set-up is reversed, it become what, upset. So whenever you say you say you are upset, what is your complaint, the set-up is not to my expectations. Therefore राजसिक सुखम् is highly expectation based. And any expectation based आनन्द will have lot of problems. स्वामि विन्मयानन्द nicely said, a person who keeps appointments with future will often face disappointment. Because the future is not in my hands. And therefore we have only one way, either we have to relinquish राजस सुखम् and go after सात्विक सुखम्, that is one method or the other method as I said is, go after राजस सुखम्, nothing wrong, of course in a moral, legitimate and proper way go after sense pleasures, nothing wrong, but always keep सात्त्विक सुखम् as a back up like the UPS or generator, so that I am fine when the set-up is fine and I am fine when the set-up is not fine also. This development of self adequacy is the solution. This is राजसिक सुखम् which we saw in the last class. Now we have to go to the तामस सुखम्. Verse no.39;

Verse No .39

यदग्रे चानुबन्धे च सुखं मोहनमात्मनः ।

निद्रालस्यप्रमादोत्थं ततामसमुदाहृतम् ॥ १८-३९॥

यत् अग्रे च अनुबन्धे च सुखम् मोहनम् आत्मानः ।

निद्रा-आलस्य-प्रमाद-उत्थम् तत् तामसम् उदाहृतम् ॥ १८-३९॥

यत् अग्रे च अनुबन्धे च आत्मानः मोहनम् निद्रा-आलस्य-प्रमाद-उत्थम्, तत् सुखम् तामसम् उदाहृतम् ।

So तामसिक सुखम् is based on the philosophy, ignorance is bliss and the sleep is bliss and laziness is bliss, based on that philosophy, a person who continues to be lazy and enjoys that आनन्द, that is called तामस सुखम्. So He says, यत् सुखम् निद्रा-आलस्य-प्रमाद-उत्थम्, निद्रा means sleep, which is a source of आनन्द, आलस्य means laziness or non-working, indolence and प्रमाद means negligence or carelessness, let anything happen, whatever happen, let anything happen, whether राम rules or रावण rules, whether धर्म is there or अधर्म is there, these people will be generally fatalistic people. Fatalism is an ideal argument which supports and promotes laziness, because in fatalism I don't accept a free-will and I don't believe that I can take charge of my future. I have concluded that everything is predetermined. भगवान् has already written everything on the forehead,

हरिणापि हरेणापि ब्रह्मणापि सुरैरपि । तलाटलिखिता रेखा परिमार्ष्टुम् न शक्यते ॥

He readily quotes such श्लोकs. What is already written on the forehead cannot be erased. परिहारम् will not work, we don't have free-will at all, future is not in our hands, we are all puppets in the hands of the Lord, therefore whatever happens let it happen. Fatalism is an ideal philosophy for this तामसिक person, whereas a राजसिक person believes future prosperity is in my hand and is an ambitious person and at least materialistically he works hard. Because he wants to earn money and a सात्विक person also puts forth efforts, because he is interested in साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, चित्तशुद्धि, गुरु प्राप्ति, ज्ञान प्राप्ति, सात्विक person uses free-will, राजसिक person uses free-will and तामसिक person doesn't believe in free-will and even if he accepts he doesn't use it and therefore his life is spent on निद्रा-आलस्य-प्रमाद, another beautiful verse says:

काव्य शास्त्र विनोदेन कालो गच्छति धीमताम् । व्यसनेन तु मूर्खाणाम्
निद्रया कलहेन वा ॥

Noble people spend their life in the study of काव्यम्, शास्त्रम्, etc. That is the आनन्द they get, but these मूर्खs, the तामसिक people, व्यसनेन – either they are addicted to something or they are busy complaining about things or they go on sleeping or they quarrel with people. This is how तामसिक people spend their time. Therefore निद्रा-आलस्य-प्रमाद, उत्थम् सुखम्. And what is the nature of this happiness? This happiness being तामसिक happiness, it will dullen our intellect, no doubt sleep gives joy, because in sleep we are free from our ego. Just as a ज्ञानि is free from अहङ्कार, in sleep also one is free from अहङ्कार. Therefore there is joy, but the problem is the intellect becomes more and more dull. And therefore आत्मनः मोहनम्, मोहनम् means deluding, thinking power deteriorates, discriminating power deteriorates, आत्मनः, आत्मा here means the mind, or specifically intellect it deludes and when does it delude the intellect? अग्रे च अनुबन्धे च – before enjoying तामसिक pleasure, during the enjoyment of तामसिक pleasure and after the enjoyment of the तामसिक pleasure, throughout it deludes a person and such a deluding आनन्द is तामसिक आनन्द. And in his case, he might have lead a happy life alright, but the greatest tragedy is the entire human life becomes a waste, animals also enjoy तामसिक pleasure but they are forced to enjoy तामसिक pleasure, because they don't have a free-will, but when I am endowed with a free-will and I don't use the free-will and enjoy a तामसिक life, the human life becomes equivalent to animal life and भगवान् decides that even after giving human body he is living like an animal, so next birth we will not create such a conflict, directly an animal body will be given. So now he is like a buffalo, next जन्म, we will make a proper authenticated buffalo. So this is तामसिक सुखम्. And what is the aim of a human being? From तामसिक सुखम् gradually go to राजसिक सुखम्. वेद allows sense pleasures, वेद never considers sense pleasures as पापम्. All sensory enjoyments like music or good food, everything you can enjoy, but वेद only puts a condition when you enjoy the worldly pleasures, let them be धार्मिक in nature. धर्म अनुसारि राजस सुखम् you enjoy and when you enjoy राजसिक pleasure in keeping with धर्म, gradually we will be ready for the सात्विक सुखम्. Thus the journey is from तामसिक to राजसिक to सात्विक and the height of सात्विक सुखम् is आत्मज्ञानम् जन्व आनन्दः, आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः. With this three types of सुखम् also are over. Now we will enter into the next topic, verse no.40;

Verse No .40

न तदस्ति पृथिव्यां वा दिवि देवेषु वा पुनः ।

सत्त्वं प्रकृतिर्जैर्मुक्तं यदेभिः स्यात्त्रिभिर्गुणैः ॥ १८-४०॥

न तत् अस्ति पृथिव्याम् वा दिवि देवेषु वा पुनः ।

सत्त्वम् प्रकृतिजैः मुक्तम् यत् एभिः स्यात् त्रिभिः गुणैः ॥ १८-४०॥

यत् सत्त्वम् एभिः प्रकृतिजैः त्रिभिः गुणैः मुक्तम् स्यात्, तत् पृथिव्याम् वा दिवि वा पुनः देवेषु (वा) न अस्ति ।

In this verse, Lord कृष्ण winds up the discussion of the सात्विक, राजसिक, तामसिक division. He had taken up six topics as I said in the beginning, ज्ञानम्, कर्म, कर्ता, बुद्धि, धृति and सुखम्. Now in this concluding verse, Lord कृष्ण says I have taken these six topics as sample topics. Really speaking, anything in the creation can be divided into three types. Don't go with the conclusion that only these six items are three-fold, anything you see, they divide even plants into सात्विक, रजसिक and तामसिक. Animals they divided into सात्विक, रजसिक and तामसिक, anything in the creation you can divide into three because the whole creation is born out of these three गुणs only. If you remember the 14th chapter, there the Lord कृष्ण said the entire material universe is born out of माया or प्रकृति, which is the material aspect of the Lord, from that प्रकृति or माया alone the creation has come and माया is made up of three गुणs and therefore all the products of माया also will be made up of three गुणs, because the law is whatever be the constituents of the cause that will be the constituents of the effect also. If everything is made up of these three गुणs and how come there are so many differences in the creation if you ask, कृष्ण answered in the 14th chapter, the differences are caused by the proportion of the three गुणs. If you take an inert object, it also has got three गुणs, but the thing is, inert objects are तमो गुण dominant and therefore they are inert. And from the inert object you come to the plant kingdom, the plants are also almost like inert object, because plants do not move from one place to another. Imagine the road side plants starts walking, they don't move. So they are like rock or mountains, they are stationary, they are अवल, therefore they are तमो गुण predominant, but they have got a little bit more सत्त्व and रजस्, that is why plants are live beings. And from the plants when you come to the animals, you find तमोगुण is lesser, रजस् and सत्त्वगुण becomes more dominant, they are more aware of the environment and some of the animals are more intelligent also. Like gorillas, or dolphins, etc., they are more intelligent also and from animals you come to human beings, there सत्त्व and रजस् still more dominant and among the human beings themselves, there सत्त्व very dominant beings are there and the whole creation is three गुणs in different proportions and therefore कृष्ण concludes saying this threefold classification you can do with regard to everything, what I have done is a sample to show how to do that. Therefore he says: त्रिभिः गुणैः मुक्तम् सत्त्वम् न अस्ति. सत्त्वम् means an entity, living or non-living, sentient or insentient, here the word सत्त्वम् in the second line does not mean सत्त्वगुण, the word सत्त्वम् in the second line means any entity, त्रिभिः गुणैः मुक्तम् न अस्ति is not free from the three गुणs. Any entity in the creation or no entity in the creation is free from three गुणs. That means double negative, no entity is free from three गुणs means every entity has got three गुणs, therefore even the inert clip is made up of three गुणs only, but the only difference is here 99.9999% is तमस्, therefore it is almost a तामसिक वस्तु only and that is why Consciousness is not reflected in this matter. So therefore from inert thing to the highest human being. so त्रिभिः गुणैः मुक्तम् सत्त्वम् न अस्ति. And what are the three गुणs? प्रकृतिजैः गुणैः – these three गुणs which are carried from the original cause of the creation called प्रकृतिः. So how every entity has got three गुणs if you analyze, the immediate cause is the पञ्चभूतs. And the पञ्चभूतs are the five elements also have got three गुणs, the सात्त्विक, राजस, तामस आकाश, सात्त्विक राजस तामस वायु, similarly, त्रिगुणात्मक अग्नि, जलम्, पृथिवी, so the five elements have got three गुणs and therefore their products also. And if you find out how the five elements have got three गुणs, you will find their cause is माया or प्रकृति, therefore the ultimate source of three गुणs is प्रकृति or माया. Therefore कृष्ण says प्रकृतिजैः त्रिभिः गुणैः मुक्तम् वस्तु न अस्ति. Then कृष्ण says this is not only true with regard to the earthly beings, this is not only true with regard to the earthly entities, it can be extended to all the fourteen लोकs. Therefore He says पृथिव्याम् वा – whether the entity belongs to the पृथिवी, i.e., the भूलोक, or दिवि देवेषु वा – you take the heavenly beings in the upper लोकs consisting of six लोकs, भुवर्लोक, सुवर्लोक, महर्लोक, जनलोक, तपोलोक, सत्यलोक, all the upper लोकs and you can extend it to even the lower लोकs, everywhere. Moment you are in a world, there are also सात्त्विक, राजसिक तामसिक will be there, so दिवि देवेषु वा, त्रिभिः गुणैः मुक्तम् तत् सत्त्वम् न अस्ति. And from this कृष्ण says every human being is also governed by the three गुणs and which means you as an individual साधक also, your thoughts, your actions, your words, your activities, your behavior, everything is governed by the three गुणs. So if you understand the three गुणs, you can guide your life appropriately. This knowledge is useful for spiritual साधन also. Thus with the 40th verse, कृष्ण concludes the classification of six items into three गुणs. Now कृष्ण is going to enter another topic, we will see that verse no.41;

Verse No .41

ब्राह्मणक्षत्रियविशां शूद्राणां च परन्तप ।

कर्माणि प्रविभक्तानि स्वभावप्रभवैर्गुणैः ॥ १८-४१॥

ब्राह्मण-क्षत्रिय-विशाम् शूद्राणाम् च परन्तप ।

कर्माणि प्रविभक्तानि स्वभाव-प्रभवैः गुणैः ॥ १८-४१॥

हे परन्तप! ब्राह्मण-क्षत्रिय-विशाम् शूद्राणाम् च कर्माणि स्वभाव-प्रभवैः गुणैः प्रविभक्तानि (सन्ति) ।

In the following verses, Lord कृष्ण wants to summarize the two central themes of the भगवद्गीता once again. He has talked about the two main themes of the गीता already in the beginning of the 18th chapter, but since they are very important, he summarizes them once again in the light of our गुण knowledge. And what are the two important topics of the गीता? I said कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. कर्मयोग is that life-style in which one dedicates his life to various contributory activities to purify the mind. In simple terms, a religious lifestyle to prepare or purify the mind for gaining ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्तिः. It is an extrovert life, active life, otherwise called प्रवृत्ति. And everybody has to go through this lifestyle and everybody has to contribute to the creation because every moment I live, I am taking from the creation. Every moment I live, I am breathing oxygen, I am drinking water, I am eating food, I am indebted to the creation for every moment of my living. So I should ask a question what is my compensation or contribution. This is required, only then we will feel that we have lead a purposeful life. In fact, our self-esteem, which they are talking about so much now, our self-esteem and image will increase only when we feel I have done some purposeful contribution to the creation. Any time you do something to the creation, you will find that day you have a sense fulfillment. Not big work necessary, even guiding a person to the appropriate address. Not guiding to the wrong address is itself a great help. Even guiding a person, a nice thing you do, you feel a sense of mission, I have lead purposefully. Therefore कर्मयोग, leading a purposeful useful life is required for the initial stage of growth. This involves an extrovert life. And the second stage is ज्ञानयोगः. The second stage of growth is निवृत्ति, where the कर्म is reduced and even if you don't want to willfully reduce, your body will not allow you to do कर्म. You want to do a lot of thing and even to get up - you quickly get up and fall. Then only you know, mind works faster, but the body does not work as fast as the mind, you will take some time to understand this. Therefore भगवान् has kept the body also for निवृत्ति after the first fifty-sixty years so that we will spend time in ज्ञानयोग. So the second stage of life is what, निवृत्ति or ज्ञानयोग प्रधान life, कृष्ण has talked about this before, कृष्ण wants to condense that once again. So, verse no.41 to verse no.49 is summary of कर्मयोग, emphasizing स्वधर्म. And here कृष्ण says we all have to contribute to something to the creation, it is not enough that we measure our success in terms of what we have gained. Material growth is measured in terms of what we have gained, external growth is measured in terms of what we have gained, but spiritual growth or inner growth is measured in terms of what we have given. External growth depends upon your possession, internal growth depends upon your dispossession, External growth depends upon your भोग and internal growth depends upon your त्याग. What you have renounced?

न कर्मणा न प्रजया धनेन त्यागेनैके अमृतत्वमानशुः । ... ॥
कैवल्योपनिषत् १-३ ॥

That is why somebody said, what is the सार of गीता? They said reverse the two letters and read, if you reverse what is that गीतागीतागी तानि ता नि, तानि means त्यागि. Therefore becoming a त्यागि from भोगी to योगि to त्यागि, that is the destination. If you are going to remain भोगी, भोगी, भोगी, you will end up a रोगि, that is not the aim. Now the next question is once I have decided to contribute something, in which field I will contribute. Because there are so many fields, कृष्ण says you cannot contribute in every field, because you don't have the capacity and if you try to contribute in every field, there will be only confusion, choose one field and contribute according to your capacity and let the field be chosen by your inclination and aptitude. Based on your गुण, whether सत्त्व is dominant, रजोगुण is dominant or तमोगुण is dominant, based on your गुण or character or inclination or aptitude choose any field of work and do something. And कृष्ण divides the entire humanity into four types as we have seen in the 4th chapter, I don't know whether you remember, SRT, RST, RTS and TRS.

- a) So SRT means सत्त्वगुण is dominant, रजोगुण is next and तमोगुण is least, this is a person of one type, who is relatively quiet, not highly active, contemplative minded person.
- b) And the second one is रजोगुण प्रधान, सत्त्वगुण second, तमोगुण third –RST, these are active people, but selflessly active people.
- c) And third one is RTS, रजोगुण dominant, next is तमोगुण, least is सत्त्वगुण, there are also active, but selfishly active.
- d) And the fourth one is TRS, तमोगुण प्रधान and therefore minimum active, because तमोगुण is dominant, they don't have discriminative power, therefore they take up unskilled activity.

And you can choose what type of field you would like to and based on these four गुणs, कृष्ण talks about four types of कर्म also and these four groups are called in the शास्त्र as गुण-ब्राह्मणः, गुण-क्षत्रियः, गुण-वैश्यः or गुण-शूद्रः. गुण-ब्राह्मणः is the SRT variety, गुण-क्षत्रिय is the RST type, गुण-वैश्य is the RTS group and गुण-शूद्र is the TRS, 4th chapter, I think the 13th verse, we have dealt with it.

चातुर्वर्ण्यम् मया सृष्टम् गुण-कर्म-विभागशः ॥ ४-१३॥

There I dealt with it in two classes, therefore I don't want to go to the details. And therefore कृष्ण introduces these four people during his summary and remember, here the division is based on character and not based on birth, when the division is based on birth, it is called जाति-ब्राह्मण, जाति-क्षत्रिय, जाति-वैश्य and जाति-शूद्र, that is called the caste system. Caste system is birth based division, कृष्ण is talking about गुण based division and he says it is better to choose a profession based on your aptitude. So now look at the श्लोक, ब्राह्मण-क्षत्रिय-विशाम् शूद्राणाम् च. There are four categories of people known as ब्राह्मणाः, क्षत्रियाः, विशः means वैश्य and शूद्राः, again not based on birth but based on गुण, a person may be a जाति-ब्राह्मण, but he may be गुण-शूद्र, or गुण-वैश्य or गुण-क्षत्रिय or a गुण-ब्राह्मण, we are talking about जाति or character or aptitude. And for these four groups of people, कर्माणि प्रविभक्तानि – four types of professions are allotted by the वेदs themselves, four types of fields of activity, four types of fields of service, four slots are given. So that through that profession, I can contribute to the society and feel fulfilled. Therefore कृष्ण says कर्माणि, कर्म means profession, प्रविभक्तानि – have been allotted. By whom? By the वेदs or since the वेदs are given out by the Lord himself, this has been done by the Lord himself. Where is it said in the वेदs, in the well-known पुरुषसूक्तम्,

ब्राह्मणोऽस्य मुखमासीद् बाहू रजन्यः कृतः । ऊरू तदस्य यद्वैश्यः
पद्भ्याम् शूद्रो अजायत ॥

There the पुरुषसूक्तम् says: an individual himself has got four organs which can be equated to the four groups. So therefore the head is like the ब्राह्मण, taking care of the knowledge activities, सात्त्विक activity and the hands are like क्षत्रिय, taking care of the defense activity and other types of activities and the thighs are like वैश्य, which supports the individual to stand, economy has to grow well for the country to survive and then the legs are there comparable to शूद्र, the legs carry the individual from one place to another place and by this comparison, the वेद says, all the four activities are equally sacred. The activity of the head, the activity of the hands, the activity of the thigh and the activity of the leg, all four professions are equally sacred, never say one profession is superior and therefore कर्माणि प्रविभक्तानि. If all professions are equal, on what basis should I choose my profession? This is the basic issue, I have to choose some profession, because profession is the field through which I contribute to the society, what profession I should choose is the biggest problem. What to take after +2 in college, whether IT, whether CA, etc. The parents discuss and the child says I want to be Tendulkar, I want to be a cricketer. The parents want to compare, all kinds of problem. What should be the basis of choosing the profession? There are three possibilities, there are three possibilities or norms in choosing the profession.

a) One norm can be the profession that you love, that in which you have got an inclination, an aptitude, this is called गुण based choice of कर्म or profession.

b) And the second norm is birth based choice of profession, hereditary profession. If father is businessman, in many businesses it happens, the child also, they just get some education and they start going to the business with the father and slowly he also learns the trick of the trade, how to tell lies! (just joke), what to do and what not to do, learning the tricks of the trade, he moves with the father and takes father's profession. In India, even politicians take. The son becomes the leader of the party or the wife becomes the leader of the party even if she is a foreigner, the congress came saying quit India to the foreigner and the very same congress is inviting a foreigner also, I don't want to enter into political field. So what I am telling is you choose the hereditary profession; this is the second.

c) And the third option is what? Go by money! Which profession pays me well, in which one can earn more, this is the third option.

According to our tradition, they say the best norm is गुण norm, going by स्वभाव is the best, because the advantage is when I love what I do, I enjoy doing that, I put my heart and soul, I will not be even bothered about the salary very much, I won't even bothered about other people's acknowledgment, please ask me, स्वामिजि you have been teaching गीता again and again, are you not bored? I love teaching, whether you love or not, if you get bored, you don't come. So when you love it the very very profession is fulfillment, as a कर्ता you get the फलम्, you don't wait for the future consequence, you don't want to become a भोक्ता to enjoy, as a कर्ता itself from the first moment of your action, Joy Joy Joy. In fact, you look forward to Monday, otherwise you look forward to week end. And by the time week end comes you are weakened. And Sunday comes you start grumbling – tomorrow I have to go for work; you don't enjoy. Imagine 25 years you are in a field which you don't enjoy, the personality is shattered. Therefore ideal is going by गुण.

But the problem is for many people they don't know how to determine their गुण, they are confused. स्वामिजि, in the morning, I seem like सात्विक; in the afternoon, I feel I am राजसिक a little bit; in the evening तामसिक, embodiment of तमस्, day-to-day it varies like weather, therefore I am not able to determine, I am confused and therefore they say if you don't know how to go by your गुण, the next best is go by hereditary. Because the advantage you are brought up in the environment of family profession, the environment helps you develop the capacity, therefore this is the second option. In both of them, competition is also not too much, because when ब्राह्मण takes only ब्राह्मण profession hereditarily there is no competition, because क्षत्रिय will not come to ब्राह्मण profession, वैश्य will not come ब्राह्मण profession. In the first two norms, the advantage is competition is very less, therefore the शास्त्र grades in this manner - go by गुण or by जाति.

And what is the third possibility? Money, money, money and शास्त्र says if it is money based, then there will be lot of problems because all the people will be running after one profession and for certain professions there will be no people at all and especially for the preservation and propagation of the scriptures nobody will come. So there will be nobody for the scriptural protection, all the ब्राह्मण also will take to क्षत्रिय, वैश्य, शूद्र job, क्षत्रिय will also take to क्षत्रिय, वैश्य, शूद्र jobs and वैश्य will also take to these jobs and शूद्र will also take to these jobs and the greatest tragedy will be what, the scriptural teachings will gradually be forgotten. This will be the problem, therefore money based profession is not healthy, गुण based is the best, therefore कृष्ण says स्वभाव-प्रभवैः गुणैः – based on one's गुण, character, which is स्वभाव-प्रभवैः – which is born out of प्रकृतिः. Here the word स्वभाव means प्रकृति, प्रभव means born out of, so based on your गुण, which is born out of the प्रकृतिः or माया, based on that गुण, कर्म are allotted and do that कर्म and be proud of whatever profession you take up. Don't compare with other person's profession, be contented with that and love that and do your best, you can make your life and get fulfillment in any field. Even a traffic police gets prize sometimes, he does that with satisfaction, any profession you can excel, learn to excel in whatever you do and learn to enjoy the कर्म rather than waiting for कर्म-फलम्. कर्म-फलम् based enjoyment is risky, because कर्म-फलम् is not in your hand, कर्म-फलम् based enjoyment is risky because कर्म-फलम् is not in your hand, promotion is not in your hand, another person may apply butter to the boss, without doing any work but by helping the boss's wife, he gets the promotion, i.e., 'mother's line.' And this person who works well, he is disappointed as he is not considered for promotion, because it is risky. कर्म based joy no risk at all because, it is in my hands.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 42-44

In the first part of the 18th chapter, Lord कृष्ण has summarized the entire गीता teaching, consisting of the two primary spiritual साधनs, viz., कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग and कृष्ण has not presented them as two optional साधनs, but कृष्ण has presented them as two compulsory साधनs for all the people, but to be practiced in two stages, like graduation and post graduation, they are to be followed in two stages. The first stage being कर्मयोग प्रधान and the second stage is ज्ञानयोग प्रधान. कर्मयोग साधन prepares the mind for ज्ञानयोग and ज्ञानयोग gives the spiritual knowledge and liberation, this is the essence of the गीता teaching. Even though कृष्ण has summarized this in the first part, being very important, कृष्ण repeats these two topics once again in the following verses also but from a different angle. From the 41st verse, which I introduced in the last class, Lord कृष्ण introduces कर्मयोग साधन again, giving importance to स्वधर्म and in this part, Lord कृष्ण says every being has to take up some profession or the other and has to contribute to the creation. Initial growth of every human being takes place through contribution. Even though through profession we may earn money, that earning money is only an incidental by-product. Spiritually, from spiritual angle, we should look upon the first stage of life as a contribution to the society, through any profession in which you are adept and through this contribution to the creation, this very giving should be looked upon as a worship of the विश्वरूप ईश्वर, because in वैदिक teaching भगवान् and world are one and the same. As we have seen in the 11th chapter, भगवान् alone appears as the world, therefore contribution to the creation is a form of offering to the Lord, as we are chanting the prayer verse.

यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदखिलम् शंभो तवाश्रयनम् ॥ शिवमानसपूजा ४ ॥

जगतः ईशधी युक्तं सेवनम् । अष्टमूर्तिभृत् देवपूजनम् ॥ उपदेशसारम् ७॥

Which means we all have to take up some profession or the other. So the question will come, what type of profession I should take. Lord कृष्ण says all professions are equally great. There is no superior profession or inferior profession, because all professions are like the different functions of the different organs of the body. In an organism, just as there are different organs doing different functions, the whole society is like a huge organism and any group of people taking any type of profession is an organ of the society, the huge organism. And since all professions are equally sacred, the question will come which one I should take. कृष्ण says the primary criteria should be your स्वभाव. According to your स्वभाव, according to your गुण or inclination choose the profession, because if the profession and your स्वभाव are in alignment, you will love the very profession. It will not be a strain in your personality, you will not hate your profession, you won't look forward to the week end, you will look forward to the week days. And therefore स्वभाव based choice of profession is the best. And if you are not able to do that, if you are confused and you don't know what your स्वभाव is, that is my स्वभाव if he says, what is that, doubting, doubting is my स्वभाव and what is the doubt? What is my स्वभाव is the doubt? What to do? And I feel today I am सात्विक, tomorrow I am राजसिक, today doing business is good, tomorrow working under someone is good, all confusions and then we say if you are not able to choose, go by hereditary and whatever has been the traditional profession you take to that, because you have an environment created by your parents and grandparents. So either स्वभाव based or जाति based hereditary. Of course, later जाति based profession became prominent in our society, once upon a time Brahmins by birth took to priesthood, क्षत्रिय by birth took to administration, वैश्य by birth took to business, but now again that system is going, but the idea is स्वभाव norm is the best, therefore कृष्ण said स्वभाव-प्रभवैः गुणैः, based on the गुण which are born out of the प्रकृति, कर्माणि प्रविभक्तानि professions are categorized. And all these professions are broadly classified into four types, ब्राह्मण कर्म, क्षत्रिय कर्म, वैश्य कर्म and शूद्र कर्म. And what are those four professions कृष्ण is going to define in the following verses, we will read verse no.42;

Verse No .42

शमो दमस्तपः शौचं क्षान्तिरार्जवमेव च ।

ज्ञानं विज्ञानमास्तित्वयं ब्रह्मकर्म स्वभावजम् ॥ १८-४२॥

शमः दमः तपः शौचम् क्षान्तिः आर्जवम् एव च ।

ज्ञानम् विज्ञानम् आस्तित्वम् ब्रह्म-कर्म स्वभावजम् ॥ १८-४२॥

शमः, दमः, तपः, शौचम्, क्षान्तिः, आर्जवम्, ज्ञानम्, विज्ञानम्, आस्तित्वम् एव च (इति) स्वभावजम् ब्रह्म-कर्म (अस्ति) ।

So what is ब्राह्मण कर्म? कृष्ण says ब्राह्मण कर्म is preservation and propagation of the scriptural wealth of our tradition. Especially the वैदिक tradition has got huge scriptural wealth, they call it चतुर्दश विद्या स्थानानि or अष्टादश विद्या स्थानानि. They say:

अङ्गानि वेदाश्चत्वारो मीमांसा न्यायविस्तरः पुराणम् धर्मशास्त्रम् च विद्या ह्येताश्चतुर्दश ।

चत्वारः वेदाः, the four वेदs themselves are voluminous and in those days, they didn't have books, therefore they have to retain in the mind, therefore they have to constantly do पाठ्यम् to retain it. If you are not chanting the गुरुस्तोत्रम् for four days you will forget; now itself you are in trouble - after तस्मै श्रीगुरुवे नमः, what is the next one somebody else has to start. Fourteen श्लोकs remembering we are struggling. Remember the entire वेदs, they were learning and propagating, so चत्वारः वेदाः. Then षट् अङ्गानि, six वेद-अङ्गs are there - शिक्षा, कल्पम्, व्याकरणम्, निरुक्त, छन्दः, ज्योतिषम्. शिक्षा – the science of pronunciation, कल्प – the science of rituals then etc., etymology, grammar all of them we saw in the मुण्डक उपनिषत्s. Four plus six is ten. Then मीमांसा न्यायविस्तरः, मीमांसा means the methodology of analyzing the वेद. There is a key to open the वेद, you cannot see the dictionary meaning, there is a special grammar called वैदिक व्याकरणम् and वैदिक grammar is different from the conventional grammar and therefore मीमांसा, then न्यायविस्तरः, न्याय means the science of logical thinking, the science of reasoning, that is important न्यायविस्तरः and for each one, we have got hundreds of books, commentaries, sub-commentaries, sub-sub-commentaries, sub-sub-sub-commentaries, thus it flows down and पुराणम्, 18 पुराणम्s and 18 उप पुराणs, even for reading one life is not enough and there are people who have written commentaries. श्रीधर स्वामि has written a commentary on the 18,000 verses of भागवतम्. One नीलकण्ठ has written commentary upon on the one lakh verses of भारतम्. It all requires time, therefore there must be some people committed exclusively to the in-depth study of all these, therefore पुराणम्s, then धर्मशास्त्रम् च, the science of values, what is ethics, what are the common values, सामान्य धर्म, what are the विशेष धर्म, what is ब्राह्मण धर्म, क्षत्रिय धर्म, वैश्य धर्म शूद्र धर्म, ब्रह्मचारि धर्म, गृहस्थ धर्म, वानप्रस्थ धर्म, संन्यासि धर्म, पुरुष धर्म, स्त्री धर्म (it has all got mixed up, it has got mixed up even in the dress itself, then what about the धर्म). It is a huge science. And you have to deal with varieties of धर्म संकटs conflict. So when a person has a duty to wife and mother and wife and mother are quarrelling and wife tells you decide whom do you want, whether mother or me, you decide. See the धर्म संकटम्, who is important, I won't tell you know, why should I get caught here? So thus we have got several role, each role giving you a particular धर्म and if they are mutually reinforcing, no problem, but when they are conflicting how to handle. So धर्म शास्त्रम् is a vast subject, विद्या हि एताः चतुर्दश, these are the fourteen विद्याs and if you add the four उप वेदs, like गान्धर्व वेद, आयुर्वेद, स्थापत्य वेद, etc., fourteen plus four is eighteen, on each there are commentaries, lifelong you will have time only to study and teach and therefore we require an exclusively dedicated group of people who can spend their life time in their study and also condense it and present it to other people who don't have time. Because all the books are in संस्कृत and if you have to study the original, one has to study first the संस्कृत and if you come to study संस्कृत you will get वैराग्यम्, detachment when you come to संस्कृत. They will start with सन्धि rule, which is difficult to understand. So when are you going to complete the संस्कृत grammar and enter the original and read the commentaries, sub-commentaries, etc. So it is not possible for all the people and therefore we require an exclusive group, committed to learning and teaching. And the next thing if my teaching has to be valid and should produce the necessary effect, I should try to follow what I teach. Teaching will never create an impact, if my percept and practice are incongruence. Imagine सत्यम् वदः, सत्यम् वदः telling in class and then outside you do सत्यम् वधः (killing सत्यम्), how will the words of such a hypocritical teacher will enter into the brain of a student and therefore a ब्राह्मण not only has to learn and teach, he should learn to practice also, that is why आचार्य is defined as

आविनोति च शास्त्र-अर्थान् आचारे स्थापयति अपि । स्वयम् आचरते यस्मात् तस्मात् आचार्य उच्यते ॥

If he wants to request the other people to follow धर्म, first he must follow धर्म, then alone he can boldly ask others to follow. And therefore he should be intellectually learned and also he must take to a life of कर्म and the one who does that and also once a person has dedicated to learning and teaching the life must be simple. Only a simple life will contribute to high thinking and a luxurious life is an obstacle to the study.

सुखार्थी चेत् त्यजेद्विद्याम् त्यजेद्विद्याम् विद्यार्थी चेत् त्यजेत्सुखम् । सुखार्थिनः कुतो विद्या कुतो विद्यार्थिनः सुखम् ॥

So सुखार्थी त्यजेत् विद्याम् If you are interested in a luxurious life, you will not get opportunity to learn, because you will be busy providing and maintaining the infrastructure for pleasure. That is why in all गुरुकुलम्s, in those days, life was simple, even a क्षत्रिय king when he goes to गुरुकुलम्, he had a simple life and ordinary food. And therefore ब्राह्मण profession means simple life, study of scriptures, following what is said in the scriptures and teaching the other people the essence of scriptures and serving as a model, what type of model? धर्म can give happiness even without a luxury. A ब्राह्मण has to be a model to teach the society. That धर्म itself will give happiness, धर्म itself will give peace, धर्म itself will give security, even though luxuries are not around. Luxury is not a necessity for a happy life, this is a great teaching of the वेद. Luxury is not required for a happy life, luxuries can give physical comfort, happiness has nothing to do with physical comfort, happiness is an inner state. This has to be taught to the society, not mere verbally, but through his very lifestyle a ब्राह्मण has to teach and therefore ब्राह्मण's profession requires voluntary poverty, I mean in those days, ब्राह्मण कर्म required voluntary poverty and simplicity. In fact, a ब्राह्मण's lifestyle was very very close to a संन्यासि's lifestyle. And that is why for such a ब्राह्मण, entering संन्यास आश्रम was not a very big difference because even as a ब्राह्मण taking to ब्राह्मण profession he had lead a simple life, दयानन्द स्वामिजि says that the only thing he has to renounce is the उपवीत, there is no other possession to renounce because he has lead a simple life. This is ब्राह्मण कर्म and unfortunately now-a-days the number of people who are voluntarily coming to ब्राह्मण कर्म is heavily dwindling. That is the tragedy of the वैदिक society. Now look at the definition of ब्राह्मण कर्म. Brahmin's profession first requires शमः. शमः means, we have seen in तत्त्वबोध, शमः means calmness of the mind, शान्तः, a person who takes to ब्राह्मण profession must practice शान्ति, quietude, then दमः, दमः means sense control, he should not indulge in excessive sense pleasures, if he chooses the ब्राह्मण profession, he should ask himself am I willing to give up or reduce sensory pleasures. Therefore दमः, not as a संन्यासि, but even as a गृहस्थ he has to follow शमः and दमः. Then तपः, तपः means an austere life, in which possessions are kept minimum, comforts are kept minimum and austere life, a simple life of अपरिग्रह and practicing this will become highly useful when he chooses to pursue spiritual knowledge. That is why for a person who takes to ब्राह्मण profession, pursuit of ज्ञानयोग will be a walk over, because as a गृहस्थ he has practiced, therefore it is simple, therefore तपः means austerity, simple life. Then शौचम्, शौचम् means purity, so simple life does not mean that he should clean the dress, place, simple life is not dirty life, you can be clean and simple. We think cleanliness should go with luxury, it need not be. A simple and clean life is possible. शौचम्, purity, more than external purity, inner purity is important. I should be extremely careful about the words I use. If you read the मनुस्मृति and look at the conditions presented for ब्राह्मण profession, we will shudder to enter that. So what are the rules and regulation, what to talk and what not to talk, even in provocation he should not utter certain words, so much physical discipline, so much verbal discipline, so much intellectual discipline. In fact, the three threads of the sacred thread represent only the discipline, therefore purity. Then क्षान्तिः, when a person leads an austere life, naturally physical comfort will be less, because if you don't want to have possessions, if you choose to lead a simple and austere life, comforts will be minimum. That means I should be physically and mentally tough to face a life of discomfort. Therefore क्षान्तिः means physical and mental preparedness to withstand external discomfort, to withstand heat, to withstand cold, to withstand humidity, to withstand sweat, it requires a person who is used to comfort, he cannot stand without AC for even five minutes and he will burn out. Therefore it is wonderful to have external comfort, in fact, it is a material progress to order the external condition, but the greatest disadvantage we face is we become intolerant, we want all conditions to be perfect, if any external comfort is missing, we get highly irritated, irritation is the price that we pay for a life of comfort. Whereas a ब्राह्मण who has chosen a life of simplicity, he practices क्षान्तिः, even if for some time the comfort is not there, he is OK with it. Anyway, क्षान्तिः. Then आर्जवम्, a ब्राह्मण has to follow a life of integrity, he should avoid a split personality, he should avoid hidden motives, hidden agenda. So therefore that should be minimum, वाक्, काय and मनस् should be in one straight line, in consonance. आर्जवम्, we have seen this before in the 13th chapter, अमानित्वम् अदम्भित्वम् अहिम्सा क्षान्तिः आर्जवम्, this is to be supposed to be summary I am not supposed to deal with it. Then ज्ञानम्, this is important, since his profession is to preserve and propagate the scriptural wealth of the वैदिक society, he has to learn. For a क्षत्रिय learning is minimum, just the basic knowledge of scriptures to know what is धर्म and अधर्म, he is not going to teach, he has got some other profession, वैश्य need not learn too much, minimum to conduct his life, but a ब्राह्मण has to dedicate his entire life, like any teacher whoever takes to teaching profession, he has to learn how long, a teacher has to learn life-long. And therefore ज्ञानम् and not only he should learn, the material sciences, or अपरा विद्या, he should be an expert in परा विद्या also. Therefore विज्ञानम् means आत्मज्ञानम्. So ज्ञानम् विज्ञानम्, अपरा विद्या and परा विद्या. Then आस्तिक्यम्, आस्तिक्यम् means faith in the वेद as a means of knowing the spiritual world, a ब्राह्मण is supposed to have two eyes as it were, one is the प्रत्यक्ष प्रमाण, the five-fold sense organs, this प्रत्यक्ष प्रमाण the five-fold sense organs reveal the material world and the वेद is the second प्रमाण, instrument which will reveal the spiritual world. प्रत्यक्ष can never reveal the truths of supra-sensuous world, because our sense organs do not have access to that, therefore if you close your eyes, What will happen, you are going to miss the world of colors and forms, we have been provided with the eyes, if I choose to close the eyes, I am going to miss the world of colors and forms, who is the loser, I am the loser, वेद is the sixth sense organ which reveals a totally different field which is the non-material field or spiritual field, अपौरुषेय field and if I refuse to use the वेद, I am going to be deprived of a totally different field or world, i.e., the world of spirituality. And a ब्राह्मण is one who accepts वेद, the 6th sense organ.

And the one who uses the sixth sense organ, the वेद, is called आस्तिकः and he has to teach the humanity that by accepting the sixth sense organs, the वेद, I am going to be the beneficiary. By rejecting the वेद, वेद is not going to miss anything, ऋषिः are not going to miss anything, God is not going to miss anything, by rejecting वेद, I am going to lose something great, a ब्राह्मण has to be an आस्तिक and he has to convert the society into आस्तिकs. And how should he do that? Only by one method, he should become a model for others and how should he become a model, by making use of the वेद his personality must be transformed to such an extent, that the society should wonder what is the secret of his peace, what is the secret of his contentment. All the materialistic people are struggling in the society, caught up in rat race, they are rich, alright, but without peace of mind, here is a ब्राह्मण, doesn't possess anything.

सुर मन्दिर तरु मूल निवासः शय्या भूतल मजिनम् वासः । सर्व परिग्रह भोग त्यागः कस्य सुखम् न करोति विरागः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् १८॥

Here is a ब्राह्मण, no comfort, no possession, even his future is bleak, but still he is an embodiment of peace and contentment and that should attract the society. And they should ask him what the secret is, then this ब्राह्मण will introduce and become आस्तिक, I will open a new world for you, which will give you शान्ति and तृप्ति. Thus a ब्राह्मण should become a model for the society to teach that peace and happiness are possible without external things. Therefore आस्तिक्यम् is very important. ब्रह्मकर्म – this is the ब्राह्मण profession, a professional ब्राह्मण should follow all these things. Then how should he earn his livelihood? How should he earn his livelihood? When he shares his wisdom, the society is supposed to protect him by providing whatever he needs and whatever society gives he should be happy with that. He should not put conditions, 'if I have to teach रुद्रम्, Rs.100.' 'If I have teach रुद्रम् and पुरुषसूक्तम्, Rs.150,' I should not put a price or condition, I enjoy sharing the wealth and the society will take care, because the society benefits from such a group of people. It is a great profession, which a person can be proud, but unfortunately, dwindling, endangered species. Later you will have to put in a glass case, ब्रह्मकर्म. But one thing, if you have to follow that, it should be voluntary, you should enjoy and love that lifestyle. It should not be enforced poverty, enforced poverty is a suffering, voluntary poverty is simplicity and enjoyment and therefore कृष्ण says स्वभावजम् – one should be naturally interested in that. Continuing;

Verse No .43

शौर्यं तेजो धृतिर्दाक्ष्यं युद्धे चाप्यपलायनम् ।

दानमीश्वरभावश्च क्षात्रं कर्म स्वभावजम् ॥ १८-४३॥

शौर्यम् तेजः धृतिः दाक्ष्यम् युद्धे च अपि अपलायनम् ।

दानम् ईश्वर-भावः च क्षात्रम् कर्म स्वभावजम् ॥ १८-४३॥

शौर्यम् तेजः, धृतिः, दाक्ष्यम्, युद्धे अपि च अपलायनम्, दानम्, ईश्वर-भावः च (इति) स्वभावजम् क्षात्रम् कर्म (अस्ति) ।

When स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द established an institution for spiritual training and propagation, स्वामिजि invited interested youngsters for this lifestyle. And then everything during the spiritual training course is absolutely free, there is no capitation fee, there is no Rs.12,000 advance, everything free, food, clothing, shelter, medical, whatever it is, everything is provided, all the books are provided and the wealth of the scriptures were presented in front and then at the end of the training course also, there is no question of enforcing, because this is a lifestyle which cannot be enforced, so again choice is given, if you feel to dedicate your life for the revival of the scriptures, wonderful, otherwise, you can go back and again join the society, earn your money, get married. दयानन्द स्वामिजि used to tell, when you are studying, study well, don't too much worry about your future, afterwards, even if you want to get a job, I will get a job for you, if you want to get married, I will find a girl also for you, now study sincerely.

Then even after the students showed interest, they were asked to live such a life for a few years with yellow dress, like an apprentice course or something like that and only afterwards, if they are convinced and they enjoy, they were given संन्यास. संन्यास is the most wonderful thing, if you love it and संन्यास is the greatest hell if your mind is not tuned towards that and it is a greatest hell because form संन्यास there is no return. It is one way traffic. So what I want to tell is ब्राह्मण profession should be chosen out of love and it will be greatest joy, a different type of joy. Now कृष्ण comes to क्षत्रिय कर्म. Everybody cannot take to ब्राह्मण कर्म, Lord कृष्ण knows. भिन्न रुचिः लोक. Everybody cannot take to same profession. Then कृष्ण says if you love something else, take to that, that can be क्षत्रिय कर्म and what is क्षत्रिय कर्म. He says: शौर्यम् तेजः धृतिः दाक्ष्यम् क्षत्रिय means a ruler, a king or a soldier who has to maintain the law and order of the society and he has to protect धर्म and he has to punish the अधार्मिक people and if required he should be ready for entering the battle field also. Naturally, he must be a man of धैर्यम् courage. If he is going to run away, seeing a cockroach, how can he come to this profession, he should be शौर्यम् – courage, valour, heroism, must be there for क्षत्रिय profession, तेजः – not being overwhelmed by the strength of the enemy, not being cowed down upon, the capacity to overpower the enemy is तेजः – power; धृतिः, धृतिः means perseverance, धृतिः – willpower, all these we have seen earlier, three types of willpower and then दाक्ष्यम् – resourcefulness, the capacity to take quick decisions, so sometimes we will get enough time to think and act, but when crisis comes I cannot say I will think and act, when the neighboring country is attacking, he should not say after one month I will decide what to do, he himself will not be there, problem will be solved for good, so there are crisis situation. In fact, for a ruler, every moment, any administrator, even a company head, globalization situation change all the time. I should have the resourcefulness to take quick decisions, it is called प्रत्युत्पन्न

मति, that is called दाक्ष्यम्. Then युद्धे च अपि अपलायनम् – not running away from the battlefield, before entering the battlefield, he should think well, but once he had entered, he should fight it out and even if death comes, he should welcome it, he should not run away and कृष्ण is very much particular about using this word you know why, what is this book, you should not forget this, this is भगवद्गीता and in भगवद्गीता, who is teaching whom, Lord कृष्ण is teaching अर्जुन, where he is teaching, not in विद्यामन्दिर, He is teaching in the battlefield and अर्जुन is about to run away and therefore कृष्ण is taunting अर्जुन, running away from the battlefield is never befitting a क्षत्रिय, युद्धे च अपि अपलायनम्. Then दानम्, a क्षत्रिय, a ruler has to give grants to all the people, all the artists are patronized by the king in the olden days. Artists, scientists and even the ब्राह्मणs who don't have any learning, for their infrastructure, गुरुकुलम्s, etc., क्षत्रिय has to visit the गुरुकुलम् and provide whatever is necessary. Now the government has got variety of grants, what they are doing is not known, that provision is there, a क्षत्रिय has to promote all sciences, arts, culture, everything and therefore दानम्. Then ईश्वर-भावः च means leadership. To be in the forefront, so he should be in the forefront and lead, he should not sit under the chair in a corner, any situation comes he must have the magnetic personality, even physically he should have that imposing personality is required. That is why even in आहार or food for क्षत्रिय strong food meat, everything was allowed. If he were to eat only ladies finger and eggplant, he will be like a drumstick and he will fall when blown by the enemy. He should have muscles and be a body builder, etc., but that is not required for a ब्राह्मण and it is not possible also. Because ब्राह्मण leads a life of austerity, for a क्षत्रिय it is required, therefore ईश्वर-भावः means leadership qualities, they are all क्षात्रम् कर्म, क्षात्रम् कर्म means that is the profession of a क्षत्रिय. And स्वभावजम् also is born based on his स्वभाव or character. If the personality is not there, what is the use of giving all the weapons to him, he should have that tendency. So स्वभावजम्. This is क्षत्रिय कर्म. Then what is वैश्य शूद्र कर्म.

Verse No .44

कृषिगौरक्ष्यवाणिज्यं वैश्यकर्म स्वभावजम् ।

परिचर्यात्मकं कर्म शूद्रस्यापि स्वभावजम् ॥ १८-४४॥

कृषि-गौरक्ष्य-वाणिज्यम् वैश्य-कर्म स्वभावजम् ।

परिचर्या-आत्मकम् कर्म शूद्रस्य अपि स्वभावजम् ॥ १८-४४॥

कृषि-गौरक्ष्य-वाणिज्यम् स्वभावजम् वैश्य-कर्म (अस्ति) अपि (च) शूद्रस्य परिचर्या-आत्मकम् कर्म स्वभावजम् (अस्ति) ।

So वैश्य profession is commerce or business. So distribution of materials, whether you take a factory or whether you take a farm, all things are not produced in one and the same place, in different places different things are produced. Naturally, we require distribution of the produced and that profession is वैश्य कर्म, कृषि, कृषि means agriculture, we can include industry also, because that also does production, then गौरक्ष्यम्, गौरक्ष्यम् means cattle rearing, because that was important in those days, cattle played an important role in economy. Even now it is playing, so गौरक्ष्यम्, then वाणिज्यम्, वाणिज्यम् means commerce or business or exchange, all these are वैश्य कर्म, taking care of the economic well-being. So, क्षात्रम् कर्म is defense, वैश्य कर्म is economy. Which is important for the country? All are important, imagine business is running and there is no defense at all, means like in 1962 China came, we were going with batons, it seems, they had come with guns and we didn't have anything, because we said हिन्दि-चिनि भाइ-भाइ, so we could not defend and they took अरुणाचल प्रदेश and again they voluntarily stopped, we could not do anything, कारगिल we know, so we require defense and if all the people join defense, then also it is useless, economy of the country is to be taken care of, that is also important and in all these professions, we require people who have to take important decisions. All these three professions involve skill and leadership. King also should have discrimination and leadership. ब्राह्मण of course should have discrimination and leadership in his field, वैश्य business person should have that leadership and discrimination. Then there are people who do not have leadership qualities. They cannot lead, they can only follow. They will do what they are told, not one thing more. They are the unskilled people and they are called शूद्र by character, we are not talking about birth here, that शूद्र गुण whoever has got, since he doesn't have leadership, let him serve the other three groups of people. Either do service to a ब्राह्मण in his ब्राह्मण profession, when he does a big याग he requires assistance, be an assistant, or be an assistant to a क्षत्रिय, or be an assistant to a वैश्य, that is शूद्र कर्म, which is called परिचर्या, परिचर्या means service in which decision making is not involved, decision making is not that easy. There are many people, even simple thing, even the dress they cannot decide. What to buy, this or that, doubt everything, how can they be leaders, therefore you take to service, परिचर्या-आत्मकम् कर्म शूद्रस्य स्वभाव and स्वभावजम् कर्म and what is the most important thing to be noted is all the four professions are equally important for the society organism. If you take society as an organism, all these four groups are like the four organs of the society, never look down upon any profession.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 45-47

From the 41st verse onwards, in this 18th chapter, Lord कृष्ण is condensing the two main topics of भगवद्गीता, viz., कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. Of these two topics, कर्मयोग is being summarized in these verses from 41st to 49th. And here Lord कृष्ण is emphasizing स्वधर्म, कर्मयोग in the form of offering one's own profession or one's own occupation or occupational work as a worship to the Lord. We know the worship of the Lord in the temple and in the पूजा room, where the Lord is invoked upon as an idol and varieties of उपचारs are done, that type of worship is known to all. Here Lord कृष्ण says converting the very life and every activity that we undertake into a form of offering to the lord is the best form of कर्मयोग, this कृष्ण has clearly mentioned in the 9th chapter,

यत् करोषि यत् अश्नासि यत् जुहोषि ददासि यत् ।

यत् तपस्यसि कौन्तेय तत् कुरुष्व मत् अर्पणम् ॥ ९-२७॥

It is a very important in the 9th chapter and in the 3rd chapter also, Lord कृष्ण has emphasized this:

मयि सर्वाणि कर्माणि संन्यस्याध्यात्मचेतसा ।

निराशीर्निर्ममो भूत्वा युध्यस्व विगतज्वरः ॥ ३-३०॥

Thus कृष्ण has mentioned this in several chapters that He emphasizes in this summary portion. And as part of that, He talked about four types of professions possible. One is the teaching profession called ब्राह्मण कर्म and when we talk about the teaching in our tradition, we refer to that teaching which refines the student internally. Educating a student in physics or chemistry is important, but according to our tradition, that is only a by-product, learning certain skills in certain fields is only a by-product, the primary education of the child is internal molding or character building, making the child a humane human being. Because if that internal transformation is not brought about, whatever education he gets he will abuse that education for cheating the society, for exploiting the society. Even a doctor, if he doesn't have character but doctoral or medical knowledge, he can run a kidney racket in his medical profession. So he is a knowledgeable person, perhaps he went through a college and got education in the field of medicine, but more important than education is the character building, if character building takes place, any skill will be used for serving the society. If the character is not built, any skill can be used for abuse or cheating. And therefore in our tradition, primarily education means character building, internal molding and along with that I learn some other skills also, may be engineering or medicine or economics or art or anything for that matter. And since teaching primarily involves the moral and spiritual growth of a child, the teachers play a very very very very (you can put any number) important role in the society and therefore teachers are called ब्राह्मणाः who are in alignment with the वेदs. Because a teacher is supposed to use the वेद for the moral and spiritual evolution of the child. And therefore ब्राह्मण कर्म is considered to be teaching, along with secular skills the teacher has to help the student grow morally and spiritually. And therefore ब्राह्मण कर्म is important profession and a society which respects the teachers will be a healthy society. In fact, we can measure the internal health of the society from the respect the society gives to the teachers. In the वैदिक society, the teachers are the ब्राह्मणs enjoyed a very very high status. Even in daily prayers, गोब्राह्मणेभ्यः शुभमस्तु नित्यम्, why they prayed for the well-being of the ब्राह्मणs, because they are the molders of the next generation, the children. Thus ब्राह्मण profession it may be, which is teaching profession or क्षत्रिय profession, administration and defense or वैश्य profession, agriculture and commerce, or शूद्र profession, assisting the other three groups and कृष्ण says all these four professions are equally sacred, they are like the four organs of the body called the society, just as every organ is equally sacred in the body, every profession is equally sacred, therefore you need not feel any complex, whatever be your profession, feel proud, feel proud of yourselves, whatever be your profession, without comparing yourselves with others. And once you have learned that profession, the next stage is what? Converting that occupation into a form of worship and therefore your पूजा is not half-an-hour a day but entire working hours is a continuous पूजा and if you are taking OT, over-time, you are doing extra पूजा. And if your profession has to be converted into a worship, there must be a transformation in your attitude, converting your occupation into a पूजा, happens by a conversion, a transformation in your attitude and what is that attitudinal transformation, हे अर्जुन! I will teach you. In fact, कृष्ण himself is a great teacher. So he is going to teach अर्जुन how it is to be done in the following very very important verses. All these verses are beautiful, दयानन्द loves these verses, he can go on and on and on commenting upon these verses. We will read verse no. 45.

Verse No .45

स्वे स्वे कर्मण्यभिरतः संसिद्धिं लभते नरः ।

स्वकर्मनिरतः सिद्धिं यथा विन्दति तच्छृणु ॥ १८-४५॥

स्वे स्वे कर्मणि अभिरतः संसिद्धिम् लभते नरः ।

स्वकर्म-निरतः सिद्धिम् यथा विन्दति तत् शृणु ॥ १८-४५॥

स्वे स्वे कर्मणि अभिरतः नरः संसिद्धिम् लभते । स्वकर्म-निरतः (नरः) यथा सिद्धिम् विन्दति, तत् शृणु ।

To convert कर्म into कर्मयोग, you don't have to change your profession. First कृष्ण says whatever be the profession in which you are, you don't have to change at all. You have to only change the attitude with which you undertake those activities and therefore first कृष्ण emphasizes, continue in your profession. स्वे स्वे कर्मणि अभिरतः – remain in your own profession, once you have chosen a profession, don't go on changing it, because you develop skill and excellence in any field only by long practice. As they say, practice makes a man a perfect, it requires time and practice. If I keep on changing the profession, I will never get excellence in any field. Therefore take your own time to choose the profession, but once you have chosen, stick to it, whatever be the comments of the society, society will have its own comment, society will look upon certain professions as prestigious at a particular time, that means what: more girls will be ready to get married to that boy, prestigious means you will get girls. And as the society changes, the value also changes. Therefore don't be enamored by the prestige attached to it by the fluctuating society, you choose either by heredity or by your स्वभाव, choose a profession and thereafter continue in that and your aim to excel in that field and therefore कृष्ण says, स्वे स्वे कर्मणि – in one's own chosen profession, अभिरतः – one should learn to be fully involved, fully dedicated. You do more and more research in improving the quality, in improving the facility. If you are a teacher, you can try to learn more and more the subject you are teaching and in any subject, there is infinite scope for learning, learn more and more, you should know minimum ten times more than what you are teaching, minimum ten times. And if you can make it hundred times more than what you teach, wonderful, thousand times more than what you teach, still wonderful, in that particular field itself you can work to excel and not only that if you are teacher or a head or leader, most important faculty required is communication. Every leader has to communicate to the subordinate, whatever be the field in which you are working and therefore communication skills you can do research, so that there is no gap, you tell something to the subordinate, he understands something and he does something and you keep shouting. And therefore in any field, you can try to put your heart and soul, i.e., the meaning of the word अभिरतः. 'रम्' means reveling, enjoying, अभिरम् means intimately enjoying, which means putting your heart and soul in whatever you are undertaking, अभिरतः, by taking to that, संसिद्धिम् लभते नरः – by changing the attitude and by doing it properly you can gradually grow spiritually, even the most worldly activity can contribute to inner growth, if it is properly handled, therefore संसिद्धिम्, संसिद्धि means चित्त शुद्धिः, very careful, संसिद्धि means चित्तशुद्धि and चित्त शुद्धिः means purity of mind, or to put in technical language, साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति or to put in another language, ज्ञानयोग्यता or to put it in another language, more and more interest in spiritual knowledge. So interest in spiritual knowledge should increase, that is the indication of successful कर्मयोग. Therefore नरः, नरः means a being human, संसिद्धिम् लभते. And how to achieve that, he says: स्वकर्म-निरतः यथा सिद्धिम् विन्दति तत् शृणु. In the next following verses, I will teach you how कर्म will produce चित्त शुद्धिः, how remaining in worldly action, you can attain चित्त शुद्धिः, that methodology I shall teach you in the following verses, तत् शृणु – may you listen to carefully. This is conversion of कर्म into कर्मयोगः and what is that: read verse no. 46, the crucial verse.

यतः प्रवृत्तिर्भूतानां येन सर्वमिदं ततम् ।

स्वकर्मणा तमभ्यर्च्य सिद्धिं विन्दति मानवः ॥ १८-४६॥

यतः प्रवृत्तिः भूतानाम् येन सर्वम् इदम् ततम् ।

स्वकर्मणा तम् अभ्यर्च्य सिद्धिम् विन्दति मानवः ॥ १८-४६॥

यतः भूतानाम् प्रवृत्तिः (अस्ति), येन इदम् सर्वम् ततम् (अस्ति) तम् (ईश्वरं) स्वकर्मणा अभ्यर्च्य मानवः सिद्धिम् विन्दति ।

Very important verse. If कर्म, by which I mean your profession, whatever be your occupation, if it has to be converted into a worship, you have to change your attitude towards three factors, there are three important factors involved and towards all the three, you have to discover and develop a very very healthy attitude. Those three factors are:

a) No.1 कर्म, your attitude towards your own actions.

b) No.2, कर्म-फलम्, whatever you do is going to produce a consequence, it may produce success, it may produce failure, the people around may praise you, the people around may criticize you, people around may acknowledge your contribution, the people around may not acknowledge, all these are consequences of your action, which we call कर्म-फलम्. People around may be utterly ungrateful to you. Ingratitude of others is also a कर्म-फल, No.2 is कर्म-फलम्. You do the work and somebody gets the promotion, you do the motion and others get the promotion, another कर्म-फल, this is the second factor.

c) No.3: the third and most important factor involved is ईश्वरः, the कर्म-फल धाता. The result of every action is determined by ईश्वर, the cosmic judge, who knows all the laws of कर्म and who produces the result according to the laws of कर्म and gives me what I deserve, not what I desire or expect, sometimes rarely what I desire and what I get coincide but that coincidence is very very rare, most of the time, my expectation and the actual consequence, there is a very very big gulf and the producer of the कर्म-फलम् is called कर्म-फल धाता, ईश्वरः.

So what are the three factors, कर्म, फलम् and धाता, धाता means KP धाता, कर्म-फल धाता, initial you put properly KP धाता, कर्म-फलम् and धाता, develop a healthy attitude if you want कर्म to become a worship. And what is the attitude towards कर्म? constantly remember that this कर्म is going to be an offering to the Lord. Whether I like it or not, all the कर्मस I do will have to go into the hands of the Lord, because Lord has to generate the फलम्, or whether you like it or not it is going to go to god, then why can't you make it an offering and once you look upon the कर्म as an अर्पणम् or offering, then my attitude towards कर्म should be healthy. First I learn to enjoy the कर्म, however gross the कर्म may be, I learn to enjoy धृति-उत्साह-समन्वितः, learn to cheerfully do, don't do for somebody else's sake, don't do with a gloomy face, cheerfully do whatever you have to do. Therefore first thing is what: learn to enjoy and the next attitudinal change is since it is going to become an offering to the Lord, I should try to improve the quality of the कर्म. Not for the sake of the boss, not for the sake of the promotion, not for the sake of an award, let them be a by-product, I tried to excel in my actions, because it is going to the Lord. Therefore always learn to excel or improve the quality of action, even if you are writing in your letter pad, many doesn't know how to tear the paper in the pad, haphazardly they tear, tearing some here and tearing some there, etc. You have to watch स्वामि विन्मयानन्द doing it, every small action he expects excellence. He will not like if you do it haphazardly. And when you fold that, they fold as they like; it should be correctly with the corners touching each other, and when you put in the cover, put it properly and when you paste, don't paste all over, put the gum properly and for affixing the stamp, the eternal source water is the tongue and he doesn't like that, properly apply and stick it properly. People say I don't have time, स्वामिजि विन्मयानन्द was one of the busiest person in the world, but still he maintained excellence in every small thing he did, including folding his own kerchief and putting in the pocket, that also he does perfectly, you can do it, you should do it. So, excellence in whatever you do, because it is an offering to the Lord. That is healthy attitude towards the कर्म. Then the next thing is what? Attitude towards कर्म-फलम् and I should remember, that कर्म has gone to the hands of the Lord, because Lord is the कर्म-फल धाता and since the कर्म has gone to the Lord, whatever फलम् comes is coming from the Lord's hand and therefore it is a just result. There is no unfairness on the part of the Lord, we have no right to judge the कर्म-फलम् as fair or unfair, because our knowledge of laws of कर्म is heavily limited. With a limited knowledge what right I have to judge the कर्म-फलम् as just or unjust, remember when I am receiving the कर्म-फलम्, not only my actions of present जन्म have to be taken into account, भगवान् has to take into account, the कर्म's of the past जन्म also and therefore I accept it as a प्रसाद from the Lord for my own learning. Therefore the attitude towards कर्म-फलम् is प्रसाद भावना, this is the second important thing, अर्पण भावना in कर्म, प्रसाद भावना in फलम्. And the next important thing is attitude towards God, because in the beginning, we look God as a person located in the पूजा room, or located in the temple, or still worse located in some वैकुण्ठ लोक or कैलास लोक, that attitude is OK for the sake of पूजा. For पूजा purposes I have to locate the Lord, otherwise how can I offer flowers, therefore Lord is located for पूजा purposes but I should know that Lord is not a located-individual but Lord is an all-pervading principle. And therefore कृष्ण says in the first line, यतः प्रवृत्तिः भूतानाम् – Lord is the source, प्रवृत्ति means उत्पत्ति, उत्पत्ति means origin or source of भूतानाम् – of all the things and beings, learn to look upon God as जगत् कारणम्. Lord is not a person in the world. God is not a person within the world, but God is the very cause of the world, who existed even before the emergence of the world. And once I look upon God as कारणम्, next thing that I should remember is cause pervades all the effects, cause pervades all the effect, just as gold pervades all the ornaments, wood inheres all the furnitures, clay pervades all the earthen wares. So if God is the कारणम् and the world is a product, where is the Lord? Lord inheres. आकाश, वायु, अग्नि, आपः, पृथिवी, not only पञ्च भूत, but also the पञ्च भौतिक प्रपञ्च, everywhere the Lord pervades. If the Lord as a cause pervades all over, what will be the form of the Lord? All pervasiveness and form don't go together. Simple logic. If there is a form, it is not all-pervading; if it is all-pervading, it cannot have a form. The space is all-pervading, the space does not have form, God is all-pervading, God cannot have the form. Therefore कृष्ण says, येन इदम् सर्वम् ततम्. येन means by God. यतः means from God the creation has come and by God the creation is formlessly pervaded in what way the Lord pervades, as the harmonizing intelligence principle. Just as your physical body is pervaded by intelligence or life principle, चेतन तत्त्वम् pervades your body, similarly, the entire material cosmos is pervaded by an intelligent principle. My eyes see your body but the sentiency of your body, the intelligence pervading your body, my eyes don't see. If there is a dead body and a live body, eyes cannot see the difference, even though the live body is pervaded by a life principle. Similarly, the cosmos is pervaded by a live, sentient, intelligence, harmonizing principle that I learn to appreciate as ईश्वर, I continue to worship my इष्ट देवता, but I look upon the इष्ट देवता as the symbol of the formless intelligence. इष्ट देवता is not God. इष्ट देवता is a representative, a symbol for the formless organizing intelligence, this awareness may you develop. Just as we appreciate formless love, we do talk about love, what is the form of love, we are able to appreciate, we are able to appreciate anger, what is the form of anger, it is formless, we are able to appreciate beauty, even though it doesn't have a particular form, so a sensitive mind can sense formless thing, that is called transcending the form. You should sensitize the mind to appreciate the formless intelligence and whatever you do mentally visualize as an offering to formless intelligence, 'He is in the pillar also, He is in the speck of dust also,' He can't be seen through the bare eyes because It is formless intelligence and That pervades the universe, therefore change the attitude towards the Lord. दयानन्द स्वामिजि uses the word Order. Learn to look upon the Lord as the Order in the universe. And a scientist will understand order as the cosmic laws, which govern the universe. Therefore appreciate It as intelligence, appreciate It as Order, sensitize your mind to see the Lord everywhere, then the whole universe becomes a temple and thereafter for worship, you don't require a special temple, you don't require a special flower, you don't require a special आसनम्, भगवान् is present at any place and what is the flower, whatever you do is a flower and in fact, that is the prayer we chant every day before the class,

आत्मात्वम् गिरिजा मतिः परिजनाः प्राणाः शरीरम् गृहम्

पूजा ते विषयोपभोगरचना निद्रासमाधिस्थितिः ।

संचारस्तु पदोः प्रदक्षिणविधिः स्तोत्राणि सर्वा गिरो

यद्यत्कर्म करोमि तत्तदखिलम् शंभो तवाराधनम् ॥ शिवमानसपूजा ४ ॥

Every word I speak also, I should learn to look as an offering to the Lord, then you will be careful in maintaining the quality of the word, if it is an offering, you will not talk meaningless words, you will have quality control, therefore कृष्ण says, यतः प्रवृत्तिः भूतानाम् येन सर्वम् इदम् ततम् – God is the causal intelligence pervading the universe, look at God as the all-pervading one and तम् अभ्यर्च्य – worship that all-pervading God, who is in your office also, whatever be the office that Lord is present in your office also and how do you worship, don't look for flowers and नैवेद्यम् स्वकर्मणा – in the office every letter you write or every file you clear or if you a doctor every patient you treat, everything that you do make it as an offering to the Lord. कृष्ण uses the word, स्वकर्मणा – by your own duty you worship the Lord. And what will happen as a result? सिद्धिम् विन्दति मानवः – this will even without your knowledge it will refine you, it will purify you, because when the result comes you don't resist the result, you don't criticize God, you only ask a question, what lesson can I learn from this experience. The भोक्ता is converted into a learner. In संस्कृत, a learning person is called a प्रमाता. भोक्ता does not look for joy from कर्म-फल, he doesn't look for joy from कर्म-फल, he only asks a question, what do I learn from this कर्म-फल? And he derives joy not from कर्म-फलम्, he derives joy from कर्म itself. Normally what do we do? We expect आनन्द from कर्म-फलम्. कृष्ण says that is dangerous, because कर्म-फलम् is not under your control. Therefore if you expect happiness from कर्म-फल, you will have tension all the time, because you don't know whether कर्म-फलम् will be to your expectation and most of the time it is not to your expectation, therefore you will have unhappiness. Therefore कर्मयोगि doesn't expect happiness from कर्म-फलम्, he derives happiness from कर्म itself and from कर्म-फलम् what does he expect? Not happiness, but learning, education. In fact, sorrowful experiences contains maximum education. Just as snake's poison contains medicine also, if you go to snake park, you will find, they extract medicine from poison. Similarly, if you have a learning mind, you can learn from happy experiences, in fact, you can learn more from painful experiences also. Thus कर्मयोगि is that person who gets joy from कर्म and learning from कर्म-फलम्. And that learning will lead to what? सिद्धिम् विन्दति मानवः – that learning will lead to चित्त शुद्धिः and such a learner alone is called मानवः, मानवः means an intelligent person, a man of discrimination is one who learns from experiences, a man of indiscrimination reacts to the कर्म-फलम् and a reacting mind cannot learn. A reacting mind wastes valuable experiences, a कर्मयोगि maintains समत्वम् and learns from experiences. Continuing;

श्रेयान्स्वधर्मो विगुणः परधर्मात्स्वनुष्ठितात् ।

स्वभावनियतं कर्म कुर्वन्नाप्नोति किल्बिषम् ॥ १८-४७॥

श्रेयान् स्वधर्मः विगुणः पर-धर्मात् स्वनुष्ठितात् ।

स्वभाव-नियतम् कर्म कुर्वन् न आप्नोति किल्बिषम् ॥ १८-४७॥

विगुणः स्वधर्मः स्वनुष्ठितात् पर-धर्मात् श्रेयान् (अस्ति), स्वभाव-नियतम् कर्म कुर्वन् (नरः) किल्बिषम् न आप्नोति ।

The normal tendency of human mind is when it has taken to one type of profession, it always compares that profession with the other profession, human mind tends to compare, not only profession, anything whether it is dress or food or house or anything we tend to compare and always it appears the other one is better than what I have. ‘Distant pastures are greener’, there is an English proverb. ‘The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence’. Therefore our tendency is to think that the other profession is better. When I take to ब्राह्मण कर्म then क्षत्रिय, वैश्य, शूद्र कर्म will appear better, when I take to क्षत्रिय कर्म, the others will appear better, कृष्ण says don’t compare and keep on changing. You will never perfection in any field and therefore try for perfection in whatever you have taken. Therefore he says, स्वधर्मः श्रेयान् – for you the best profession is your profession, whatever profession you have taken to, learn to look at it as the best and you can excel in any field and therefore स्वधर्मः श्रेयान् and this is very important, because अर्जुन is now trying to change स्वधर्म. Because it is uncomfortable and inconvenient, therefore he argues with कृष्ण, भैक्ष्यम् अपि श्रेयः, I think it is better to do तपस् in the forest. So कृष्ण gives a strong warning, it all will appear so many people who are in the city, when they go to an आश्रम or ऋषिकेश, they say, they say they want a flat on the bank of गङ्गा and wants to stay there and it will be better, etc., do some service, it will be better, many people say. I give them a strong warning, don't make it a firm decision, you go there and stay for a few months and see, equally vehemently you will feel चेन्नै is better than ऋषिकेश. Any doubt, try. Don't ask me whether you have tried or not, you try. There are many people who are in the आश्रमस struggling to get out. That is why somebody went to the आश्रम and asked where is that स्वामिजि, the head of the आश्रम, the reply was that he has gone to the next आश्रम for peace of mind. All these are stories, remember in every profession in every place, there are plus points and minus points and therefore कृष्ण argues स्वधर्मः श्रेयान्, be where you are and enjoy it. पर-धर्मात् श्रेयान् – it is better than somebody else's profession, until you choose you can adjust a little here and there, but you should decide and stick to that and विगुणः अपि – even though you have not reached perfection in your profession it doesn't matter, even if you are not that skilled in your profession doesn't matter, because if you are at it wholeheartedly, you can learn any skill. Therefore, He says विगुणः अपि – even though you are not perfect now, in due course, you can make it perfect. Make it perfect means what: there is no such thing called perfection, there is scope for infinite refinement, including cooling the coffee, that requires a skill, many people even don't know how to drink. You can work in any field. Then what do you do? स्वभाव-नियतम् कर्म कुर्वन् – take to a profession, either in keeping with heredity or in keeping with your स्वभाव or inclination, you do it, enjoy it, be cheerful and try to improve it, never be stagnant in a particular field, कुर्वन् किल्बिषम् न आप्नोति – and sometimes, as अर्जुन's profession is the profession involves हिंसा, even though हिंसा or violence is supposed to be unhealthy, when a person takes to certain professions, हिंसा becomes part of it, if the profession is army or police, he will have to use Baton once in a while, you cannot help it and अर्जुन has to fight that involves killing. Therefore even if it involves हिंसा, that हिंसा which is part of your duty, हिंसा is not done for the sake of violence, but it has been taken to for the sake of धर्म, that violence will not create पापम्. Therefore, कृष्ण says: अर्जुन even if you kill people, it will not be a पाप कर्म at all and imagine the hangman's duty, hangman you know, those who have to give the capital punishment, somebody will have to implement that, professional killer, what to do, even if hanging is converted into lethal injection, even if that is given, somebody has to do that, therefore even if there is violence as part of स्वधर्म, it will not harm you, because your motive is not violence, but धर्म रक्षणम्. And therefore किल्बिषम् न आप्नोति. Then in the next verse कृष्ण says every profession has plus and minus points called occupational hazards, even for a संन्यासि, they are there. Therefore don't look at the negative points, they will be there, you have to learn to ignore that. Those details we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदत्त्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 48-51

Lord कृष्ण is giving a summary of कर्मयोग in these verses beginning from the 41st verse up to 49th verse and we were seeing 47th verse in the last class and Lord कृष्ण points out that कर्मयोग is worshipping of the Lord through any profession that a person undertakes. Through any profession a person chooses, he directly contributes to the world, the benefits of the society. Social benefit is the direct outcome, but to convert it into a religious worship one should have the attitude of offering that action to the Lord and Lord कृष्ण points out any type of profession is OK. And as we were seeing in the last class, the profession can be chosen based on our own स्वभाव or inclination, aptitude or it can be based on the heredity also and Lord कृष्ण points out that whatever profession you choose, learn to enjoy that, have commitment, never compare your profession with another's, because ultimately any type of profession has got its own plus points and minus points. We have an expression: occupational hazard, occupational hazard means whatever occupation you take, you will have problems, if it is a traveling job, plus points and minus points are there, non-traveling job plus and minus points, if you are running your own company, plus and minus points, if you are working under someone, plus and minus points, if you are working for an American company from India, there are wonderful plus points and terrible minus points also and कृष्ण says learn to accept the minus points also and don't keep on changing. So, He says:

श्रेयान् स्वधर्मः विगुणः परधर्मात् स्वनुष्ठितात् ।

One's own धर्म chosen based on heredity or स्वभाव, that is श्रेयान्, the best and स्वभाव-नियतम् कर्म कुर्वन्. So by taking to an occupation which suits one's स्वभाव, किल्बिषम् न आप्नोति, a person doesn't attain किल्बिषम्, because he is dedicating it to the Lord. And Lord कृष्ण is emphasizing this here in the गीता context because अर्जुन's स्वधर्म happens to be a स्वधर्म in which he has to take to violence for the sake of धर्म. And nobody likes war, nobody can recommend violence and especially when it involves killing thousands of people and all of them are his own kith and kin and it also involves even भीष्म, द्रोण and others, who are fatherly figures, that स्वधर्म is certainly सदोषम् अपि स्वधर्म, a स्वधर्म which involves blood-shedding. कृष्ण says even though it involves violence you cannot afford to get out of it, because somebody or the other has to join army also. Everybody cannot do business, everybody cannot become Brahmin, everybody cannot be a servant somewhere, we require army also, police also and therefore it will not give you पापम्, even violence will not give पापम् if it is meant for धर्म रक्षणम् and as one's own धर्म. Up to this we saw in the last class. Continuing; Verse no.48;

Verse No .48

सहजं कर्म कौन्तेय सदोषमपि न त्यजेत् ।

सर्वारम्भा हि दोषेण धूमेनाग्निरिवावृताः ॥ १८-४८॥

सहजम् कर्म कौन्तेय सदोषम् अपि न त्यजेत् ।

सर्व-आरम्भाः हि दोषेण धूमेन अग्निः इव आवृताः ॥ १८-४८॥

हे कौन्तेय! सहजम् कर्म सदोषम् अपि न त्यजेत्, धूमेन अग्निः इव हि सर्व-आरम्भाः दोषेण आवृताः (सन्ति) ।

Almost the same idea as given in the previous श्लोक, every occupation has its own plus and minus points. Seeing the minus points, don't give up your occupation, सहजम् कर्म न त्यजेत् – may you not give up your स्वधर्म, which has born along with you. Whether you are choosing the occupation based on स्वभाव or whether you are choosing based on heredity, either way the धर्म is born along with you, because your स्वभाव is also born along with you. So whatever be the basis of choice the occupation is born along with you. And therefore सदोषम् अपि, even though it has certain minus points, न त्यजेत्. And the minimum minus point that every profession has is boredom. When you take to one particular job regularly, first it is exciting and after one week, the same thing you get bored, any job. So suppose you see the priest in the वेङ्कटाचलपति temple and you are waiting in the queue for hours and at the end you get the दर्शनम् for few seconds, whatever be the time and definitely you will feel how nice it will be for the priest, because all you are struggle is for that half a minute and the priest is all the time there, what a lucky person he must be, in fact, it is better that I take up his job, but you look at him, the moment he gets a gap he comes out and he looks for some fresh air, so that means what, you envy him, he wants to come out of that. Therefore boredom is a natural consequence one has to find out one's own method of fighting boredom and the only method is innovation of one's own profession, whether it is mechanical or skilled profession, we have to find out our own method of creativity and innovation, otherwise like a baby throwing the toy every moment, this person also will for one week do something and another week something else, he will never stick to anything. And when a person doesn't stick to anything, there is no possibility of growth at all. And therefore कृष्ण gives here a strong warning, सदोषम् अपि न त्यजेत् – even though it has disadvantages don't give up. And what is the reason? Because सर्व-आरम्भः, आरम्भः in this context means कर्म, the regular dictionary meaning of the word आरम्भः is beginning, but in this context आरम्भः means कर्म, we can translate as occupation or profession. So सर्व-आरम्भः means any profession, ब्राह्मण कर्म or क्षत्रिय कर्म or वैश्य कर्म or शूद्र कर्म, all the कर्मs are आवृताः – associated with, enveloped by दोषेण – its own minus points. There is no perfect profession at all, it is your attitude which makes any profession enjoyable, there is no enjoyable profession, it is a mind which makes the mind enjoyable and if the mind does not have the skill of enjoying, any profession will become dull and therefore change your attitude. This is the uniqueness of वैदिक tradition, they never ask you to change the set-up. Materialistic approach is what, always change things, if you bored with a particular type of dress, there are varieties of dress changing, therefore, science advances to cater to your whim and fancy, they produce varieties of clothes. If you bored with hairstyle, they discover umpteen varieties so that you can change. So materialism talks about successful change of the surrounding, वेद talks about the successful change of the attitude, so that you can be contended with any set-up that you are in. And therefore सर्व-आरम्भाः any set-up or any profession is surrounded by दोषः, minus point, like what, धूमेन अग्निः इव – just as fire is enveloped by smoke, just as fire is enveloped by smoke, similarly, every profession has got its own minus points. Continuing;

Verse No .49

असक्तबुद्धिः सर्वत्र जितात्मा विगतस्पृहः ।

नैष्कर्म्यसिद्धिं परमां संन्यासेनाधिगच्छति ॥ १८-४९॥

असक्त-बुद्धिः सर्वत्र जित-आत्मा विगत-स्पृहः ।

नैष्कर्म्य-सिद्धिम् परमाम् संन्यासेन अधिगच्छति ॥ १८-४९॥

सर्वत्र असक्त-बुद्धिः जित-आत्मा, विगत-स्पृहः (नरः) परमाम् नैष्कर्म्य-सिद्धिम् संन्यासेन अधिगच्छति ।

So what will be the consequence of a कर्मयोग way of life? Up to which stage कर्मयोग will take a person and beyond that stage what should a कर्मयोगि do that is being said. And here we should remember कर्मयोग will prepare the mind alright, but कर्मयोग can never give liberation. कर्मयोग can never give Self-knowledge also. So one has to follow कर्मयोग up to साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्तिः, preparation and that is said here, असक्त-बुद्धिः. So first He defines the कर्मयोगि. कर्मयोगि is one who is सर्वत्र असक्त-बुद्धिः – one who is not attached to any external factor. The one who gradually grows out of external attachments, by discovering the fact that the world is neither a source of joy nor a source of sorrow, world is neither a source of joy nor a source of sorrow, so world cannot be blamed for our problems nor should the world be dependent for our joy, this can easily be understood by applying a little logic. If any external factor is a source of happiness, all the people who have that external factor, they must be happy. If money is source of happiness, all the rich people must be happy. But we find there are many rich people who are very miserable, in fact, commit suicide also and there are many poor people who are happy without wealth also. So from this it is very clear that money cannot be responsible for either. Similarly, if wife is the source of happiness, all the people who have wives must be happy. But you find that everybody is busy now-a-days. You see the paper, everybody is kicking out, that is more and more, somebody divorces and somebody is waiting for marriage. So from that it is clear, wife is not the source of joy nor sorrow. Similarly, everything. Therefore, the world is not the cause of joy or sorrow, then who is the cause, if world is not the cause and I do experience joy and sorrow, other than the world there is only one thing, what is that, I who am confronting the world, that I alone must be the cause of sorrow and also the cause of happiness. Then वेदान्त says that is true, I am the cause of joy and I am the cause of sorrow also, therefore the change required is not outside, but in myself and what type of change is required, वेदान्त says when 'I' is misunderstood, I don't have a clear knowledge of 'myself' and when I have a misunderstanding about my 'real nature', the misunderstood 'I' becomes the cause of sorrow. अज्ञात अहम् is दुःख कारणम् and the very same I, when it is properly understood that I is the cause of joy, अज्ञात-अहम् दुःख कारणम्, ज्ञात-अहम् सुख कारणम्. Therefore if I want to convert sorrow into joy, I have to only convert what the misunderstood 'I' into the understood 'I', that is called Self-knowledge. In छान्दोग्योपनिषत्, नारद the most popular person comes to सनत्कुमार and he tells to सनत्कुमार: "I have got all the qualifications, I have got so many miraculous powers also and I am the most popular person, I am the त्रिलोक सञ्चारि, without passport or visa, diplomat passport I have and I am the best musician also and सोऽहं भगवः शोचामि ॥ छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ७-१-३ ॥

Still I am missing something in life, I don't know what is lacking, but I have heard one thing,

“तरतिशोकमात्मवित्” इति आत्मविच्छूतं ह्येव मे भगवत् दृशेभ्यः ॥
छान्दोग्योपनिषत् ७-१-३ ॥

So नारद tells सनत्कुमार, that Self-misunderstanding is the cause of sorrow I have heard and therefore Self-knowledge will take me across संसार. To understand this one has to do कर्मयोग for minimum 50 years, to understand that my problem is non-understanding, to understand that my problem is non-understanding of what? My real nature. It will take years to get this maturity. That is what He says, असक्त-बुद्धिः, this कर्मयोगि is no more attached to the set-up, because he knows set-up has nothing to do with one's pleasure and pain and therefore he is a man of detachment and विगत-स्पृहः and he doesn't have a desire for a new set-up, not attached to the present set-up, not craving for a new set-up, so विगत-स्पृहः. स्पृहः means desire, सक्ति means attachment. What is the difference between attachment and desire? Attachment is towards something which I have and desire is for something which I don't have. कर्मयोगि has transcended both राग and काम. And how? By the practice of कर्मयोग. And not only he has practiced कर्मयोग, parallelly he has practiced उपासना also. उपासना is also an integral part of कर्मयोग which is सगुण ईश्वर ध्यानम्. Meditation upon सगुण ईश्वर. That is why in our tradition, that is also kept as an integral part of daily prayer, any पारायणम् you want to do, in the beginning stage, we have

अथ ध्यानम् । क्षीरोधन्वत् प्रदेशे शुचिमणि विलसत् सैकते मौक्तिकानाम् । ॥ श्रीविष्णुसहस्रनामस्तोत्रम् ॥

If you want to chant ललितासहस्रनाम,

अथ ध्यानम् । सिन्दुररुन विग्रहम् त्रिनयनम्

You want to chant रुद्रम्,

अथ ध्यानम् । आपाताल-नभःस्थलान्त-भुवन-ब्रह्माण्ड-माविस्फुरत्

Any daily prayer you want to do, ध्यानम् is inbuilt, but only thing that also we chant in express speed, अथ ध्यानम् means now meditation. That श्लोक also we chant kada-bada and finish it off. They are all meant for visualizations, so that you get a control over your sense organs. Through ध्यानम्, you get शरीर निग्रहः, because 15 minutes you have to sit, body control you will get and sensory control you get because you take the sense organ away from the external world. Then मनोनिग्रहः, thus through उपासना, one gets self-mastery, self-integration, self-organization, self-control. Therefore कृष्ण uses the word, जित-आत्मा, here the word आत्मा means body-mind-sense-complex, here the आत्मा doesn't mean सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा, careful. Here the word आत्मा means the body-mind-and-sense organs, जितम् means mastered, अष्टाङ्ग योग is also a typical discipline for that, daily पूजा, etc., are the disciplines. Because we learn to sit for some time without distraction. So all these benefit of what, कर्मयोग, he becomes असक्त-बुद्धिः – free from attachment, विगत-स्पृहः – free from desires, जित-आत्मा – master of his own equipments, सर्वत्र – under all circumstances and this alone is technically called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति. Is this an end-in-itself? No. Hereafter alone, the crucial साधन has to begin, which is called ज्ञानयोगः. Therefore कृष्ण mentions that in the next line, संन्यासेन, संन्यास literally means renunciation and according to tradition, संन्यास is the lifestyle of a monk and that lifestyle is designed for वेदान्त विचार. Very description of संन्यास आश्रम is meant for systematic वेदान्त श्रवण, मनन and निदिध्यासनम्. Therefore, the word संन्यास represents ज्ञानयोगः. So whether a person becomes a संन्यासि or not, external संन्यास is not relevant, if a person takes external संन्यास and does everything else other than वेदान्त विचार, it is useless. On the other hand, even if you continue in गृहस्थ आश्रम, if you systematically do वेदान्त विचार, you are all संन्यासि only. Therefore don't worry, संन्यासेन is equal to ज्ञानयोगेन, by the practice of ज्ञानयोग, नैष्कर्म्य-सिद्धिम् अधिगच्छति. नैष्कर्म्य-सिद्धि is the name of मोक्ष or Self-knowledge, आत्मज्ञानम् or मोक्ष is called नैष्कर्म्य-सिद्धि, the literal translation of this word is the state of actionlessness, सिद्धि means the stage or state or the goal and नैष्कर्म्यम् means actionlessness, that is the literal meaning and here it has got technical connotation, you should not literally take that it is a state where you drop all the actions, it is not so. State of actionlessness means the state of knowledge, wisdom, that I am ever the actionless आत्मा. This wisdom is called actionlessness. The mind also will continue to be active. But through ज्ञानयोग, I discover the fact I am not the active body, I am not the active mind, but I am the Consciousness-principle which is ever actionlessness, ever actionless. And what is the definition of Consciousness, do you remember? If you remember that only you will understand this.

- i) Consciousness is not a part, product or property of the body.
- ii) Consciousness is an independent entity, which pervades and enlivens the body.
- iii) Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body and
- iv) The Consciousness survives even after the fall of the body.

These four facts about आत्मा the चैतन्यम् he knows and not only he knows these facts, he has trained his mind to claim that I am not the changing body, I am not the changing mind, I am not the changing sense organs, but I am this Consciousness which blesses all these activities. And it this is the goal one has to attain through the practice of वेदान्त श्रवण, मनन and निदिध्यासन. Therefore कृष्ण says: ज्ञानयोगेन नैष्कर्म्य-सिद्धिम् परमाम्, which is the ultimate destination, purification of mind is intermediary destination, Self-knowledge is the ultimate destination, that this person attains. Verse No .50

सिद्धिं प्राप्तो यथा ब्रह्म तथाप्नोति निबोध मे ।

समासेनैव कौन्तेय निष्ठा ज्ञानस्य या परा ॥ १८-५०॥

सिद्धिम् प्राप्तः यथा ब्रह्म तथा आप्नोति निबोध मे ।

समासेन एव कौन्तेय निष्ठा ज्ञानस्य या परा ॥ १८-५०॥

हे कौन्तेय! सिद्धिम् प्राप्तः (मानवः) यथा ब्रह्म आप्नोति, तथा मे समासेन एव निबोध, या (च इयं ब्रह्म-प्राप्तिः) (सा) ज्ञानस्य परा निष्ठा (वर्तते) ।

With the previous verse, कृष्ण concludes the topic of कर्मयोग which started from verse no.40 and at the concluding verse that is the last verse, कृष्ण said अर्जुन you cannot end your साधन with कर्मयोग, you have to go through the ज्ञानयोग also to attain liberation. And when कृष्ण referred to ज्ञानयोग, कृष्ण assumes that अर्जुन remembers what is ज्ञानयोग, because he has discussed ज्ञानयोग in the 2nd chapter, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 13th, 9th, 14th chapter, in all these chapters, कृष्ण has discussed ज्ञानयोग and therefore कृष्ण assumes that अर्जुन remembers. But अर्जुन's look at कृष्ण is so strange, that when he was speaking about the four points of Consciousness, he seems to think that he has not heard it before! Then only कृष्ण remembers, Oh! अर्जुन has forgotten. Therefore out of his infinite compassion, without asking the student to write imposition, or to stand-up on the bench, कृष्ण condenses ज्ञानयोग in these verses, from 50 to 55. 50 to 55 is ज्ञानयोग condensation. And as I said ज्ञानयोग consists of three stages, श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्. What is the definition of श्रवणम्? Consistent and systematic study of the Vedantic scriptures for a length of time under the guidance of a competent teacher, a non-forgetful teacher!! Even if the student forgets but a teacher should not forget, that is why competent teacher. This is श्रवणम्. And मननम् is not confining to श्रवणम् alone, doing at least some home work, going back and trying to recollect what is the definition of आत्मा, what is the definition of अनात्मा, this is called मननम्. And finally निदिध्यासनम् is dwelling upon the teaching so that it becomes my own second nature. It is not enough that I know that Consciousness is different from the body, I have to regularly practice, I am not the body, body is only a temporary medium for me, I am the Consciousness-principle who am transacting through the body. Only then I will be free from the fear of death, after some time the body will go away, the mortality of the body is not my own mortality, body may go away and the transaction may end, but the end of transaction is not my own end. So thus my real nature, I have to regularly claim which requires quality time. And therefore Lord कृष्ण suggests, allot some quality time for Vedantic meditation, in which you can temporarily become a संन्यासि, not external संन्यासि, internal संन्यासि you can become, you can forget your father role, your mother role, your husband role, wife role, employer role, employee role, you forget all your roles and become a sincere Vedantic seeker and dwell upon your real nature. Thus कृष्ण here emphasize the importance of Vedantic meditation. Without Vedantic meditation, श्रवणम् is incomplete. Remember the example I give, when you add sugar to your coffee, you may put two spoons or three spoons and you drink the coffee, there is no sweetness at all. And you wonder why it is not sweet coffee, milk or anything and then what you do? Add two more spoons and drink, no sweet at all, not sweet at all and you add some more, any amount you add, it will not give sweetness. What is important is adding should be followed by mixing. So adding is important or mixing is important? Which is important? Suppose I say mixing is important, this fellow doesn't add sugar at all, and go on mixing, nothing will happen and another person goes on adding, no mixing. These are the two types of students: one type of student does श्रवण, but doesn't do निदिध्यासनम्. They are adders, not mixers and there is another type of student, who says I won't attend classes. Attending the class is adding the sugar, I will do only Vedantic meditation, आत्म ध्यान. What is आत्मा? If you ask, he says he doesn't know. How can you do आत्मध्यानम्, without listening to आत्मा? Without श्रवण, निदिध्यासनम् is impossible, without निदिध्यासनम्, श्रवण is incomplete (you should not say: impossible). Shall I repeat?

Without श्रवण, निदिध्यासनम् is impossible, without निदिध्यासनम्, श्रवण is incomplete. Therefore all are important, श्रवण, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्. In these verses 50 to 55, कृष्ण is highlighting the निदिध्यासनम् part, otherwise called Vedantic meditation. In the भगवद्गीता, Vedantic meditation has been very elaborately discussed in a particular chapter, do you know the chapter in which Vedantic meditation is thoroughly, comprehensively and totally discussed? One important chapter, that is the 6th chapter of गीता, titled, ध्यानयोगः or आत्म-संयम-योगः, कृष्ण has elaborately studied. The 6th chapter is condensed in these verses. Now look at the श्लोक. He says, सिद्धिम् प्राप्नोति – a seeker attains सिद्धिः, सिद्धिः means purity of mind, ज्ञानयोग्यता or साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति or Vedantic qualification, preparatory qualifications are called सिद्धि and it is attained by following what? By कर्मयोग, that we have to supply that. By कर्मयोग, a seeker attains preparatory qualification and after that, सः ब्रह्म आप्नोति, we have to supply through ज्ञानयोग, through कर्मयोग he has attained सिद्धि, which is preparatory qualification and through ज्ञानयोग ब्रह्म आप्नोति, ब्रह्म means ब्रह्मन्, he attains ब्रह्मन्, because through ज्ञानयोग he gains the knowledge that ब्रह्मन् is not different from me at all. It will be a very great revelation, because through ज्ञानयोग he comes to know that whatever I have been seeking outside they are not available outside. That is first startling discovery, whatever I am seeking outside, that is not available outside, peace will not come from outside, आनन्द will never come from outside, whatever आनन्द seems to come from outside is a fake आनन्द, real आनन्द never comes from outside, security will never come from outside, this is the first startling discovery and the next startling discovery is all of them are already my nature, शान्ति is my स्वरूपम्, security is my स्वरूपम्, आनन्द is my स्वरूपम्. Thus he attains them through knowledge and ज्ञानस्य निष्ठा, not only he attains ज्ञानम्, by the practice of ज्ञानयोग he attains ज्ञान निष्ठा. So ज्ञान निष्ठा, निष्ठा means spontaneity, ज्ञाननिष्ठा means spontaneity in knowledge. And what do you mean by spontaneity in knowledge? By spontaneity what we mean is whenever in life a difficult situation come, whenever a crisis or problem comes in life, वेदान्त must be available to help you without any difficulty, it must be easily and effortlessly accessible to you. So I will define spontaneity as effortless accessibility of this knowledge whenever there is crisis in family, like people say I want to have some fluid money in hand, for what purpose, because whenever I need for emergency, it must be available or else it will be in some bank, in some fixed deposit and today is holiday because of विनायक चतुर्थी, etc. Therefore what is the use of having money if it is not readily accessible, therefore every intelligent householder what does he want, some cash should be there, why he wants? Because he wants that to be effortlessly accessible when there is crisis. Just as you want to local money to be effortlessly accessible, similarly, the Vedantic wisdom should be available when? not in the विद्यामन्दिर class on Sundays between 6 and 7. What is the use, when the problem arises in the house, there is crisis, financial crisis, health crisis, children do some mischief or big mischief they do, when situations come to me, this knowledge must be there. I may first ask 'What' and in two minutes, वेदान्त should come to my rescue and I should say 'So What'? Only one minute allowed to ask What, the next moment वेदान्त should surface and you should be able to say even for the worst tragedy So What? This if you are able to do then वेदान्त has worked, that is called ज्ञान निष्ठा. So therefore through ज्ञानयोग, one attains ब्रह्मन्, one attains ज्ञाननिष्ठा, ब्रह्म प्राप्ति and ज्ञाननिष्ठा प्राप्ति both are one and the same. They are not different at all and हे अर्जुन! I shall tell you how through ज्ञानयोग one will attain this निष्ठा and He says, समासेन निबोध मे, I am going to summarize this ज्ञानयोग, it is going to only brief, because 18th chapter is supposed to be not a teaching chapter, it is supposed to be reminding chapter, so I will teach you in brief. So listen. Continuing;

Verse No .51

बुद्ध्या विशुद्धया युक्तो धृत्यात्मानं नियम्य च ।

शब्दादीन्विषयांस्त्यक्त्वा रागद्वेषौ व्युदस्य च ॥ १८-५१॥

बुद्ध्या विशुद्धया युक्तः धृत्या आत्मानम् नियम्य च ।

शब्दादीन् विषयान् त्यक्त्वा राग-द्वेषौ व्युदस्य च ॥ १८-५१॥

विशुद्धया बुद्ध्या युक्तः, धृत्या आत्मानम् नियम्य च, शब्दादीन् विषयान् त्यक्त्वा, राग-द्वेषौ च व्युदस्य,

As I said before, ज्ञानयोग consists of three parts, श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्. कृष्ण wants to deal with निदिध्यासनम् more than श्रवणम् and मननम्. And therefore he presents श्रवण and मनन in three words, विशुद्धया बुद्ध्या युक्तः. May you go through श्रवणम् first, that is study the उपनिषत्s or study वेदान्त very clearly, it is exactly like college education. Vedantic study is not different from any other study because there also there is a syllabus and it is covered in a systematic manner. वेदान्त is also a thorough शास्त्रम् and it is to be studied in a systematic manner. There are how many topics? There are certain important topics:

- a) जीव स्वरूपम् – the nature of individual,
- b) the ईश्वर स्वरूपम् – the nature of God,
- c) जगत् स्वरूपम् – the nature of the world,
- d) बन्ध स्वरूपम् – the nature of संसार,
- e) मोक्ष स्वरूपम् – the nature of मोक्ष and
- f) साधन – the method by which you go from bondage to liberation.

How many topics? 6 topics. जीव स्वरूपम्, ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, जगत् स्वरूपम्, बन्ध स्वरूपम्, मोक्ष स्वरूपम् and साधन. That is the systematic spiritual discipline by which you go to from बन्ध to मोक्ष. And each topic has to be very thoroughly studied. When you go to individual, अन्नमय कोश, प्राणमय कोश, अवस्था त्रयम्, शरीर त्रयम्, very big topics. And if you talk about world, पञ्च भूत सृष्टि, पञ्चीकरणम्, very big topics. Then when you come to भगवान् निमित्त कारणम्, उपादान कारणम्, it is a very big topic. And suppose you study जीव स्वरूपम् for one month and then one decade gap, (to remember in the next week itself is a big problem!!) and then you study जगत् स्वरूपम्. By that time, you forget जीव स्वरूपम्, by the time you come to ईश्वर, जीव and जगत् are forgotten, you have to keep all of them in mind, because we are trying to understand all of them in a comprehensive manner. Therefore just as physics requires a systematic and consistent study, to become a physics graduate you have to go through 20 years of education. In normal course, if you fail in between it will increase, just as chemistry requires 20 years of regular and systematic study, वेदान्त is much more comprehensive शास्त्रम्, therefore that also requires a thorough study. People think spirituality is just sitting for भजन् or ध्यानम्. They think that is sufficient. People forget that spirituality involves thorough study, it is an education which requires all the involvement. That is why also I tell that at least you try to summarize the class by writing notes or find out some victim outside and share, catch hold of someone, try to teach. They will surely run away if they see you again. Try to find out some method to remember and assimilate. Therefore कृष्ण says through श्रवण and मननम्, you should gain doubtless knowledge of your real nature. Doubtless knowledge is called विशुद्ध बुद्धिः. विशुद्धम् means clear, doubtless, बुद्धिः means knowledge or intellect you should have a doubtless knowledge or a doubtless intellect, both are the same, an intellect which has got knowledge without doubt and this is possible only through systematic श्रवण and मनन. And once you have done that, now श्रवण is not compulsory because the teaching has been received, so what is compulsory is what, sugar has been added, you have to stir and how to do that, spend some time alone and try to bring the knowledge to your intellect and look at yourselves as revealed by the शास्त्र, replace the अहङ्कार-I, which is the familiar-I and replace it by the साक्षि-I, the higher-I, the आत्मा-I. And that is going to be discussed in these verses, the details of which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 51-53

In this 18th chapter of the गीता, which happens to be a summary of the entire भगवद्गीता, Lord कृष्ण repeatedly talks about the two main योगs or साधनs in the form of कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. कर्मयोग itself कृष्ण summaries, three times in this chapter itself and ज्ञानयोग also he summaries twice in this chapter. First He summarized ज्ञानयोग from the 13th verse up to the 17th verse, wherein the emphasis was given to the systematic study of the scriptures under the guidance of an आचार्य, otherwise ज्ञानयोग in the form of श्रवणम् was highlighted before. Now once again कृष्ण talks about ज्ञानयोग but now highlighting the role of निदिध्यासनम्. From verse no.50 up to verse no.55, we get the second summary of ज्ञानयोग, emphasizing निदिध्यासनम्. And as I had said in the last class, the primary or the only purpose of निदिध्यासनम् is to assimilate the knowledge that we have received, निदिध्यासनम् is not meant for acquiring knowledge, निदिध्यासनम् is not meant for validating this knowledge, निदिध्यासनम् is only meant for the assimilation. And this निदिध्यासनम् we were seeing in the माण्डूक्य कारिका also, same topic is parallely going. I said निदिध्यासनम् primarily consists of dwelling upon the teaching, which we have already received from the आचार्य. Even though we know the essence of the teaching, we dwell upon it so that it enters it to every cell of our personality, remember the example adding sugar is not enough, whether it is milk, coffee or tea, you have to mix it with every droplet of the liquid. Otherwise you will be adding sugar but it will not make any difference at all. And therefore श्रवणम् is like adding the sugar, in निदिध्यासनम् alone we are mixing the sugar called शास्त्र ज्ञानम्. And as we saw yesterday, we can dwell upon this teaching in several ways. The mind has to dwell on the teaching that is important, it can be accomplished by any method and I gave you the example even repeated listening can be a form of निदिध्यासनम्. When you listen for the first few times, you are gaining knowledge, but after gaining knowledge, you continue to listen, you are not gathering any new information, but you are only digesting it. Therefore repeated hearing is a form of निदिध्यासनम्, repeated reading of the शास्त्र is a form of निदिध्यासनम्, repeated writing of the content is a form of निदिध्यासनम्, repeated discussions among the students, that discussion is also a form of निदिध्यासनम् and finally when a person shares this knowledge with another person, that sharing or teaching is also a form of निदिध्यासनम्. In all these forms of निदिध्यासनम्, we give importance to the mind dwelling on the teaching, we are not particular about the physical posture. We don't insist that you should listen to the class only sitting in पद्मासनम्. If I say that, next class, half the hall will be empty, sitting itself is difficult and not only that, somehow you struggle and put the पद्मासन and somebody should help you to pull out the leg once the class is over. Here we don't insist on your physical posture, because वेदान्त is primarily associated with the mind receiving the knowledge. Therefore you hear it in any posture, you lying down and hear, doesn't matter, as long as you avoid dozing off. Thus reading, writing, hearing, discussing, teaching, whatever be the physical posture, is a form of निदिध्यासनम्. And in addition to all these forms of निदिध्यासनम्s, we have got another version of निदिध्यासनम् in which we give importance to the physical posture also. And this form of निदिध्यासनम् is also accepted in the शास्त्र. A person can take to that form of निदिध्यासनम् and if it is inconvenient or impossible, a person need not take to that form of निदिध्यासनम्, it is an optional version, in which the यौगिक methods of meditation are employed. Even though it is not compulsory, the mind alone has to dwell on the teaching, just to assist the mind, to give support to the mind, we can take care of the external postures also and therefore in this version of निदिध्यासनम्, we make use of the पतञ्जलि's अष्टाङ्ग योग stages. And when such a form of निदिध्यासनम् is practiced, it is called समाधि अभ्यासः and this समाधि अभ्यासः of निदिध्यासनम्, कृष्ण himself has talked about in the 6th chapter. And in this version of निदिध्यासनम्, you give importance to your external layers of personality also. And six stages are mentioned in पतञ्जलि योग, they are आसन, प्राणायाम, प्रत्याहार, धारण, ध्यान, समाधि. आसन means sitting in an appropriate and comfortable posture. I don't want to go into the details, C/o the 6th chapter, this is supposed to be a summary. Therefore you sit in an appropriate comfortable posture and make sure that your body, head and neck are in one straight line, समम् काय-शिरः-ब्रीवम् धारयन् अवलम् स्थिरः etc., आसन. And then प्राणायाम you practice, so that the pranic flow in the physical body is also smooth and well harmonious, because the flow of प्राण and the calmness of the mind are interconnected. When pranic flow is disturbed, the mental harmony is disturbed and therefore पतञ्जलि says that you practice प्राणायाम, which कृष्ण also accepts and mentions.

स्पर्शान् कृत्वा बहिः बाह्यान् चक्षुः च एव अन्तरे भ्रुवोः ।

प्राण-अपानौ समौ कृत्वा नास-अभ्यन्तर-चाश्रिणौ ॥ ५-२७॥

This comes at the end of the 5th chapter, He says, before you start dwelling upon the Vedantic teaching, make sure that your breathing is also normal. Just as in the Olympic weight lifting, what he wants to do is the lifting the weight, but you can see that he stands in front of the weight for some time and closes the eyes and takes a few breathing, after all he is going to lift with the hand, because they have found that they are all interconnected. Thus आसन is given importance, प्राणायाम is given importance, in fact, before all our वैदिक rituals प्राणायाम is made compulsory because concentration in rituals, concentration in जप, concentration in ध्यानम्, all can be achieved by प्राणायाम. Therefore immediately after शुक्लाम्बरधरम्, ॐ भूः, catch the nose, they don't know what is प्राणायाम, so आसन, प्राणायाम, then, प्रत्याहार, deliberate withdrawal of all the sense organs which is called प्रत्याहार, this is the third stage in meditation and then धारण, the mind is withdrawn from all the अनात्मा विषय, all the objects consisting of the world, the body and even the mind. So the mind is withdrawn from everything else and the attention is focused upon the साक्षि चैतन्यम्, the witness-Consciousness-principle, because of which I am aware of all these things and this turning the mind and fixing upon the आत्मा is called धारण and then comes of practice of ध्यानम्, in which I try to retain my attention upon the आत्मा itself for a length of time. are you able to see the difference between धारण and ध्यान? Fixing is धारण, retaining is called ध्यान and up to ध्यानम् the willpower is involved, effort is involved, struggle is involved, because the mind tends to run away like a baby or a monkey. And once a person has deliberately dwelt on the आत्म चैतन्यम्, अहम् चैतन्य रूपोऽस्मि, नित्योऽस्मि, शुद्धोऽस्मि, असङ्गोऽस्मि, etc., after some time, the mind gets naturally absorbed in the thought and once the mind gets sucked into the state of absorption, it is spontaneously abiding in the teaching, that no willpower is required, this natural or spontaneous absorption in the आत्मा is called समाधि. And all these कृष्ण has elaborately discussed in the 6th chapter, wherein He said

आत्म-संस्थम् मनः कृत्वा न किञ्चित् अपि चिन्तयेत् ॥ ६-२७॥

यतः यतः निश्चरति मनः चञ्चलम् अस्थिरम् ।

ततः ततः नियम्य एतत् आत्मनि एव वशं नयेत् ॥ ६-२८॥

यथा दीपः निवातस्थः नेङ्गते सोपमा स्मृता ॥ ६-१९॥

To the absorbed mind, कृष्ण gives an example for this mind, like a flame which is kept in a protected enclosure. Just as the flame does not flicker at all, it is steady, similarly, the mind of a person in समाधि is also absorbed, absorbed in what, अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि or अहम् शरीर विलक्षण अस्मि, any teaching that is given at the time of श्रवणम्. From this it is clear that a निदिध्यासनम् can be practiced only after successfully listening for some time. If you call a person and ask him to do आत्मध्यानम्, he will ask what is आत्मा, therefore, आत्मध्यानम् is possible only for a person who has systematically studied the scriptures and have done अवस्थान्नय विवेक, पञ्चकोश विवेक, शरीरत्रय विवेक, I am the witness of the waking state, I am the witness of the dream state, I am the witness of the sleep state and I am not affected by the events happening in these states. If you have studied all these through Vedantic texts what he has already learnt he can dwell upon. In fact, Vedantic meditation is nothing but re-living the Vedantic class. श्रवणम्, replayed is निदिध्यासनम्. There is no difference between श्रवणम् and निदिध्यासनम् at all. In श्रवणम् the recording player is functioning and in निदिध्यासनम् the replay is functioning. And suppose you don't record and you want to replay. What you will get? You can only play if recorded, therefore श्रवणम् is the mental Vedantic activity with the assistance of a गुरु, निदिध्यासनम् is the same mental Vedantic activity without the assistance of a गुरु, गुरु पूर्वक वेदान्त चिन्ता is श्रवणम्, गुरु रहित वेदान्त चिन्ता is निदिध्यासनम्. And when a person remains absorbed in the teaching for a length of time, वेदान्त becomes my own second nature and that is called ज्ञान निष्ठा and only when the teaching is assimilated, it will be available during crisis, during the problems, during loss of things, during loss of people, during loss of health, during loss of youth or during the शनि दश, राहु दश, all these are coming, during that if it has to be useful, you have to spend time. There is no shortcut, you have to give time for the teaching and that too quality time. Who says: Not me, Lord कृष्ण is saying, we have seen the introduction in the 50th verse and now we are seeing the 51st where he talks about the importance steps of निदिध्यासनम्, Vedantic meditation, समाधि अध्यासः. And what is the first stage, कृष्ण said, बुद्ध्या विशुद्ध्या युक्तः, if you have plan of Vedantic meditation make sure that you have studied वेदान्त, make sure that you have gone through श्रवणम् and मननम्. Therefore विशुद्ध बुद्धि means an intellect which has got clear knowledge of the Vedantic teaching. And what to do you mean clear knowledge? Is there something called unclear knowledge? Yes, there is unclear knowledge called vague knowledge.

Therefore clear knowledge means a knowledge which is free from all doubts. वेदान्त talks about three important factors which are intimately associated with our life: one is the world, what is this world? Then it talks about myself who am confronting the world, who am constantly affected by the world and its happenings. Therefore, 'I' वेदान्त talks about, 'the world' वेदान्त talks about and 'God as the cause of both,' जीव जगत् कारण भूत ईश्वर - all these three basic things वेदान्त talks about and the interesting thing is what वेदान्त teaches is totally different from what we have understood about ourselves. I think I am mortal, वेदान्त says that you are immortal, I think the world is real, वेदान्त says that there is no world at all and I think God is far away and totally different from me. वेदान्त says, God can never be away or different from you. With regard to each thing, what वेदान्त says is diagonally opposite to my conception, and therefore a thorough study is required to clearly assimilate ब्रह्म सत्यम् जगत् मिथ्या, जीवः ब्रह्म एव न अपरः and this reception of thorough knowledge is accomplished by श्रवणम् and मननम्. That is what कृष्ण says, विशुद्ध्या बुद्ध्या युक्तः, after thorough study of Vedantic scriptures with a clear knowledge. Then धृत्या आत्मानम् नियम्य च, if you have to spend time upon Vedantic teaching, you should feel worth, because the mind is very very economical, especially with regard to time, the mind is economical, if the mind feels that something is unimportant, it will go away from that subject matter. Suppose you chant विष्णुसहस्रनाम, because the mouth knows how to chant, because I know it by-heart, ॐ विश्वम् विष्णुः-वषट्कारो, then kada kada, kada, for the 20-30 minutes the mouth can chant, then the mind beings to think that this 15-20 minutes can be used better, for chanting my attention is not required, therefore why I can't utilize these 20 minutes of विष्णुसहस्रनाम chanting for something else. And mind happily runs all over, where the mind considers is very important. If there is an important talk in office, office is important for me, विष्णुसहस्रनाम is not important, because a mechanical mouth can do that work, therefore the mind does that, so the mind knows only one language, what it values there the mind goes. So the absorption is directly proportional to the value we attach, we never lack concentration, we all have got plenty of concentration, but concentration is directed towards the things which we consider important and if Vedantic meditation should naturally happen, वेदान्त must be a thing that I value. And once I have value, then even in office you think of वेदान्त, because whatever I value the mind goes, a scientist wherever he goes he will think of only that, a chess player wherever he goes he thinks of chess only. Therefore, धृत्या – by the willpower, you discover the value of वेदान्त and turn your mind towards the teaching. So धृति means बुद्धि निश्चय, that this 15 minutes of Vedantic meditation will be useful to me, this निश्चयम् should be there. So धृति means conviction regarding the worth of Vedantic meditation. Therefore धृत्या आत्मानम्, here आत्मा means the mind and sense organs, नियम्य means turning away from worldly thoughts. Then शब्दादीन् विषयान् त्यक्त्वा – turn the sense organs from the relevant sense objects, शब्द, स्पर्श, रूप, रस and गन्ध, may you drop at least at the time of meditation, for 15-20 minutes turn the sense organs away, to use the पतञ्जलि language, it is called प्रत्याहार, प्रति आहरति, आहरति means withdraw the sense organs. Then राग-द्वेषौ व्युदस्य च – make sure that you have handled the problem of रागः and द्वेषः, because the mind will only go to such things where you have रागः or द्वेषः. There are hundreds of people walking on the road, they are all neutral people, you are neither attached to them nor do you hate them. What happened in so many countries and you read the news item, you are not worried at all. Suppose something happens in New Zealand, for many people it doesn't register at all, it never disturbs at all, but suppose some member of the family is there in New Zealand, then in meditation that thought comes. Why? Because I have got a रागः in that particular thing. Therefore रागः and द्वेषः are responsible for dragging the mind towards the thing. And therefore learn to transcend your राग-द्वेष. In fact, this must have been practiced at the level of कर्मयोग itself, I should not tell here at all. At कर्मयोग level itself we must have done. But कृष्ण knows that we all have come to वेदान्त through backdoor and therefore we have come to निदिध्यासनम् like an M.Sc. Maths students, 4+5 is equal to 10 or 11 is the only doubt. Like that, निदिध्यासनम् we are talking about. राग-द्वेष we have not handled at all. So कृष्ण reminds that you have to handle. व्युदस्य means transcend, don't allow them to disturb you in meditation. So these are all not actual निदिध्यासनम्. These are only preparatory step, we gave a special title for this preparatory step in the 6th chapter of the गीता. I don't know whether you remember, those preparatory step were called अन्तरङ्ग साधनानि. In the 6th chapter whatever we saw, अन्तरङ्ग साधनानि, बहिरङ्ग साधनानि, ध्यान स्वरूपम्, ध्यान फलम्, ध्यान प्रतिबन्ध परिहारम्. And in the अन्तरङ्ग साधन itself, I talked about 8 steps, all those things we have to recollect here. Continuing;

Verse No .52

विविक्तसेवी लघ्वाशी यतवाक्कायमानसः ।

ध्यानयोगपरो नित्यं वैराग्यं समुपाश्रितः ॥ १८-५२॥

विविक्त-सेवी लघु-आशी यत-वाक्-काय-मानसः ।

ध्यान-योग-परः नित्यम् वैराग्यम् समुपाश्रितः ॥ १८-५२॥

विविक्त-सेवी, लघु-आशी, यत-वाक्-काय-मानसः, नित्यम् ध्यान-योग-परः, वैराग्यम् समुपाश्रितः (च), कृष्ण doesn't give all these instructions in an orderly manner. In the 6th chapter also he did not maintain an order. Here also he doesn't maintain an order. We only have to reshuffle. First we have to take care of अन्नमय कोश, then gradually we should come to प्राणमय कोश and then we come to मनोमय कोश and there also sense organs first, then the mind, then we come to विज्ञानमय कोश, it is a gradual process. कृष्ण does not here concentrate on the order. So विविक्त-सेवी, choose a relatively secluded place where the external disturbances will be minimum. So विविक्तः means secluded place. And elsewhere He will say एकाकि, preferably be alone, going for group meditation and doing all other things except that! Therefore, try to be एकाकि. Not only that, it will be a nice training also to leave alone, it is very very important faculty we have to develop, because ultimately we have come alone and when we are facing serious problems also, we are alone, because others can never understand the problem and in the old age, we have to be alone and especially in the night, when we don't get sleep and all others are snoring away. You have to face yourselves alone and suppose in the hospital, ICU unit, let us hope such things don't happen, but who knows, only doctor says: I See You. Doctor will see you. Nobody will see you, others say I don't see you. So it is a fact that we are traveling alone, we are born alone and we have to die alone. Since this is an inevitable fact of life, why can't we learn to spend some time alone, this meditation will help that and therefore कृष्ण says, विविक्त-सेवी and alone means don't go with the walkman, gone, it is a talkman or go with a cell and go on talking, what is the use, don't take anything, just be yourselves, it is an important lesson, everyone of us has to learn. I told you when स्वामि चिन्मयानन्द conducted the साधन camp in सिध्वरी, हिमाचल प्रदेश, he used to tell every साधक, the camper should go out and spend some time alone. Because in that area, there is a vast area, where a person can stay alone. There it is possible, not in चैन्नै. You know what the campers do? They know स्वामिजि is around and he may be watching and they all go alone and they have an understanding that they will meet there and in every place there will be two or three persons together, दयानन्द स्वामिजि says that the greatest tragedy is we cannot face ourselves, being alone is facing myself, being alone is facing my own mind, being alone is facing my own anxieties and concerns, face courageously. So विविक्त-सेवी, सेवी means the one who resorts to aloneness, not once in lifetime, as often as possible. Then लघु-आशी – eating in a regulated manner, eating in a limited measure, लघु-आशी, eating in moderation, all these we have seen, because only when the stomach is not full, the mind will work, if the stomach is too full, all the blood circulation will go to the मध्य-प्रदेश and उत्तर-प्रदेश (the head) will doze off. Therefore लघु-आशी. Then यत-वाक्-काय-मानसः and learn to master all your organs, so this is a repetition, which He has said in the last verse, वाक् means organ of speech, काय means the physical body, मानसम् means the mind, all of them are यतम्, यतम् means withdrawn from the external world and वैराग्यम् समुपाश्रितः – taking to, resorting to or invoking detachment and कैवल्योपनिषत् gives a beautiful tip, it says at least mentally become a संन्यासि at the time of Vedantic meditation, don't be afraid, only mentally and only 20 minutes and thereafter you can take all. So at the time of meditation, you tell, I am not a husband, I am not a wife, I am not a father, I am not a grandfather, I am not an employer, I am not an employee, all these roles invoke a सङ्ग and every association will cause its own type of disturbance, tell yourselves, I am not related to anything and ultimately that is the fact because all the worldly relationships are temporary and incidental. They were never there before the birth and they will never be there after the death, it is for a few decades that is there, only permanent relationship is with the Lord alone, because ईश्वर संबंध was in every जन्म, whereas मनुष्य संबंध is not in every जन्म, in the last जन्म whether I was a मनुष्य or not is itself doubtful or whether I was a buffalo. So drop all the incidental relationships and invoke only three relationships: ईश्वर संबंध, गुरु संबंध and शास्त्र संबंध. कैवल्योपनिषत् gives this tip. Therefore वैराग्यम् समुपाश्रितः and if you are worried about your family members, who will take care of them after me, if that worry comes you tell yourselves, nothing to worry, भगवान् will take care of all of them in a better way, in fact, they are praying for, when this person will 'leave.' We think that we are protecting them, they want to protect them from us, this is the truth, therefore hand over all the responsibilities to the Lord with this prayer,

अनन्याः चिन्तयन्तः माम् ये जनाः पर्युपासते ।

तेषाम् नित्य-अभियुक्तानाम् योग-क्षेमम् वहामि अहम् ॥ ९-२२॥

अहम् means not me, but कृष्ण. Hand over the charge, everything will be perfectly fine, everything will be better without me. Therefore वैराग्यम् समुपाश्रितः. Then, ध्यान-योग-परः. Now you have got a free body, free sense organs, free mind and free intellect, use that time for dwelling upon the शास्त्रम्. Therefore कृष्ण says परः. परः means be committed to, be sincerely wholeheartedly diligently committed to ध्यान-योग – the साधन of Vedantic meditation. If a person has not studied वेदान्त, then also he can practice meditation, but before Vedantic study the meditation is called, उपासना, which is meditating upon our own इष्टदेवता, in the form of राम, कृष्ण, etc. But here we are talking about meditation after Vedantic study, therefore what is the substance of meditation, there is one truth, behind God, behind the world and behind this body-mind-complex and that one truth is I the सत्-चित्-आनन्द आत्मा,

I, the Consciousness, am the substratum of this body, this world and even God's body, so dwelling upon this truth is called ध्यान-योग-परत्वम् and we should very carefully note, Vedantic meditation is not a thoughtless state. Thoughtless state is the meditation prescribed in the पतञ्जलि's योगशास्त्र, we the Vedantins defer from पतञ्जलि's योग, we accept his आसन, प्राणायाम, प्रत्याहार, all OK, but our meditation is different from the पातञ्जल योग, we dwell upon अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि.

It is a thought which I have to deliberately entertain. And this is called सजातिय वृत्ति प्रवाहः. May you, हे अर्जुन! Practice that. Not now, after महाभारत war. Or else, अर्जुन will sit there itself, as it is he wants to avoid the war. Therefore, you have to add, after महाभारत war you should practice. Continuing;

अहङ्कारम् बलम् दर्पम् कामम् क्रोधम् परिग्रहम् (च) विमुच्य, निर्ममः, शान्तः, (नरः) ब्रह्म-भूयाय कल्पते ।

And during the practice of the Vedantic meditation, several emotional disturbances can happen. And they do happen and if they happen it is because of the traces of आसुरी सम्पत्, which I have enumerated in the 16th chapter of the गीता. So कृष्ण talked about certain traits which will disturb the mind and therefore they have to be weeded out. In the शास्त्र, it is called दुर्वासना क्षयः. So certain unhealthy patterns of thinking will certainly disturb the mind and therefore you have to carefully weed them out, as we were seeing in yesterday's class,

उत्सेक उदघेयद्वत्कुशाग्रेणैकबिन्दुना । मनसो
निग्रहस्तद्वेदपरिखेदतः ॥ माण्डूक्य कारिका ३-४१ ॥

Lots of weeds are there in the garden called the mind. We have to weed out that first, check it. And what are some of the weeds, not all, some of the weeds? Here by weed I mean unhealthy pattern of thinking. No.1 अहङ्कारः, अहङ्कार means अनात्म अभिमान. This strong identification with the body. A Vedantic student should never encourage that, he has to repeatedly remind the body has come from the पञ्चभूतs, it is a temporary gift given for Vedantic study, not for eating, it is given for Vedantic study and after using the body, I have to return it to the पञ्च भूतs and that is why repeated reminder is given by applying the ash, so that you will be told that the body will be reduced to what, ash alone or if he is a वैष्णव, ऊर्ध्वपुण्ड्रम्, therefore, whether it is called limestone soil or ash, don't get attached to your body. You have to protect the body, but you cannot get attached and this देह अभिमान is called अहङ्कारम्. Then बलम्, बलम् means power, holding on to the power and position, either in an organization or in any particular institution or in the family itself, I don't want to give up my power, even though the next generation has come and they have to take over, son is growing up, daughter-in-law has arrived, grandchildren are there, they themselves want gradually take over and the शास्त्र says, become a guest in your own house, but this person wants to interfere with everything and everything that happens he must be informed. Nobody should go out without telling me, 85 years old and any moment he may pass away and still he wants to hold on to that power. So, बलम् means attachment to power, holding on to power, remember what I say: 'Even if I give up the body I won't give up the key.' That is called attachment. So बलम्. Then दर्पम्, दर्पम् means arrogance, if I have accomplished something in life, I have got a few awards or degrees or I am a self-made man, दयानन्द स्वामिजि, says he is the most difficult man, constantly he will say I am a self-made man, I started from scratch and now I have become a millionaire all the time talking about his biography only. So he says give up your arrogance, self-aggrandizement. Then कामम् – materialistic desires, which are endless, I don't want to dwell upon them, because we have seen in the 3rd chapter, कामः एषः क्रोधः एषः etc. Then क्रोधम् – wherever काम comes, the क्रोधम् is bound to come, काम means expectation, when expectations are there I am an irritable person, higher the expectation higher the irritability, because when the expectations are not fulfilled, I will shout at those people. Therefore, काम and क्रोधम् go together, therefore handle them. Then परिग्रहम्, परिग्रह means possession. वेदान्त always values a simple life, bigger the possession or more the possessions, greater the distraction and therefore अपरिग्रहः or simple life is always prescribed, especially for a spiritual student. And if a person cannot practice that in earlier stages, at least gradually you reduce things, right from dress onwards, 73 dresses are there, what to do? We require a few dresses and again other things also, therefore drop or reduce your possessions and शङ्कराचार्य will say take संन्यास. Whenever he gets a loophole he will say take संन्यास. I am not going to tell you that; reduce the possessions. Then निर्ममः – not only give up the देह अभिमान, also give up the अभिमान towards the possessions, ममकारः. So अहङ्कार and ममकार. So the difference between अपरिग्रहः and निर्ममः is: अपरिग्रहः means reducing the possessions but even if I reduce the possessions, I will have to hold on to minimum possessions. Some minimum possessions even a संन्यासि cannot avoid, towards those possessions what should be the attitude and that is here presented as निर्ममः, even towards the minimum possessions, don't develop too much ownership, always be a trustee of even those possessions, all these belong to the भगवान् and I am using it. Then what will happen, शान्तः – the mind will be naturally tranquil. The details we will see in the next class.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 53-56

In these verses, beginning from the 50th verse up to the 55th verse of the last chapter of the गीता, Lord कृष्ण is summarizing the ज्ञानयोग साधन, which consists of these stages. The first stage being श्रवणम्, which is systematic study of the Vedantic scriptures and the second stage is मननम्, through which we clear all the doubts with regard to the teaching and make the knowledge into a conviction, a doubtless knowledge and the final stage of साधन, which is the most important stage also and that is the internalization or the assimilation of this wisdom. And this is extremely important because the assimilated wisdom alone will help me, just as digested food alone will help in the nourishment of the body, it is not the amount of food that I consume, but it is the amount of food that I digest that is going to nourish my physical body. Similarly, if my spiritual personality is to be nourished, the food for the nourishment of the spiritual personality is the Vedantic teaching, ज्ञानम् is the आहारः, the food for the nourishment of the spiritual personality and it is not the amount of teaching that I receive that matters, but it is the amount of teaching that I digest. Therefore even though receiving the teaching is very important, the assimilation of the teaching is equally or perhaps more important and therefore Lord कृष्ण emphasizes the साधन of निदिध्यासनम् or assimilation and as I said the primary साधन of assimilation is dwelling upon the teaching as often as possible and also leading an alert life to make sure that my way of life and the teaching that I have they are closer. There is no big divide between what I know and what I am, which will be a spiritual hypocrisy. Talking of वेदान्त and doing all अक्रमs, so that cannot be there. Therefore I have to constantly monitor my thought, word and deed and make sure that there is no gap between what I know and what I am. So thus an alert life is part of निदिध्यासनम्, dwelling upon the teaching is part of निदिध्यासनम्. And here कृष्ण presents Vedantic meditation or समाधि अभ्यास, which we are seeing in the माण्डूक्य

कारिका, this Vedantic meditation is also a form of निदिध्यासनम्. In Vedantic meditation, I turn my mind away from all other things and exclusively dwell upon the teaching. And कृष्ण talked about the various stages of preparation in these verses, 51 and 52 and 53. How one should be seated in a comfortable posture, how one should withdraw from external disturbances and how one should die to the relative worldly roles of life, which are only incidental, which are only वेषम् that we have and removing all of them, I invoke my real I. And कृष्ण said having observed all these conditions, ध्यान-योग-परः भवेत्, that is the crucial thing, ध्यान-योग-परः means one should be committed to the meditation upon the teaching. परः means it is not a casual hobbish approach but one should be sincere and serious. परः means तात्पर्यवान् and ध्यान-योग, शङ्कराचार्य divides these two words and ध्यानम् and योग and he translates योग as समाधि. Thus ध्यान-योग-परः means one should remain totally absorbed in this teaching, at least for some time, as often as possible. Up to this we saw in the last class. And in the 53rd verse, we are seeing the second line, विमुक्त्य निर्ममः शान्तः if a person practices this Vedantic meditation for a length of time, then ब्रह्म-भूयाय कल्पते, he learns to dis-identify from his superficial personality called अहङ्कार. अहङ्कार is the inferior I, the lower-I, the changing I, consisting of the physical body-mind-complex. And this person learns to dis-identify from this finite I and learns to identify with the higher-I, which is nothing but the चैतन्य तत्त्वम्, the Consciousness-principle. And what is Consciousness? Do you remember? Consciousness is not a part, product or property of the body, (only if you do निदिध्यासन, you will remember it) it is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body, it is not limited by the boundaries of the body, it survives the death of the body. And when you practice meditation, you don't use the word it for Consciousness, now what is the mistake we are doing, whenever we refer to Consciousness, we are referring to as 'third person singular.'

And when it comes to the body, we spontaneously take as ourselves using the first person. In निदिध्यासनम्, what do we do, instead of using the word it, you train yourselves using the word 'I.' I am not part, product or property of the body, I am an independent formless Consciousness, which pervades and enlivens this body, (you have to say "this" for the body) and I am not limited by the boundaries of the body and I continue to survive even after the fall of the body, the surviving-I will not be accessible through this body, this phone No. is dead, I the surviving-Consciousness am not accessible through this body, but I continue to be accessible through innumerable other bodies, thus I am space-like all-pervading, formless, all accommodating Consciousness-principle. This I have to drill into my mind, until it becomes spontaneous to me. Of course, when I transact with the world, you need not tell this and confuse the people and somebody ask you, who are you? You say "I am not part of the body, product or property of the body" etc. You keep this in the mind and there you can give biography, date of birth and all those things, but in the background, let the तम्बुर श्रुति be there, I am behind the body, I am not the body and the moment I learn to identify with the formless Consciousness-principle, I can very very boldly claim 'अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि', until I spontaneously identify with चैतन्यम्, I will not be comfortable with अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि. When dis-identification from the body is natural and identification with Consciousness is spontaneous, I can very boldly say अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि. Who says? Lord कृष्ण. Look at the श्लोक, ब्रह्म-भूयाय कल्पते, such a meditator, कल्पते – is fit to become one with ब्रह्मन्, such a person is fit to become one with ब्रह्मन्, 'to become one with ब्रह्मन्', not that I become ब्रह्मन्, I own up the fact that I am the Consciousness which is ब्रह्मन्, after all the word ब्रह्मन् means what: boundless and from Consciousness standpoint I don't have boundaries, what is the difficulty in owning up that fact, as body if I say I am all-pervading, it is confusion, but as Consciousness if I claim I am all-pervading, where is the aberration. Therefore such a person will comfortably say अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि. Therefore ब्रह्म-भूयाय, भूय means भावः, so ब्रह्म-भूय means ब्रह्म भावः, ब्रह्म भावः means ब्रह्म ऐवयम्, ब्रह्म ऐवयम् means oneness with ब्रह्मन्. So in निदिध्यासनम् alone, one owns up the teaching and therefore निदिध्यासनम् alone can produce the benefit of Vedantic study. श्रवणम् is an incomplete ज्ञान साधन, therefore through श्रवणम् one cannot hope to get the complete benefit of वेदान्त. If I want to get complete benefit, it requires निदिध्यासनम्. How many minutes? People want crash programs, because people are in a hurry. It is not minutes or hours or days, weeks or months, we have identified with the body for how many decades and how many जन्मs, therefore I am the body notion is so entrenched deep into the mind and therefore if I have to de-condition my mind it requires lot of time and that is why in the 6th chapter, भगवान् said that tirelessly one has to practice निदिध्यासनम्. In fact, if you ask, शङ्कराचार्य will go one step further and he will say, drop everything and take संन्यास and do निदिध्यासन. I am not asking too much from you, you need not go to that extent, but as often as possible dwell upon the teaching. Continuing; Verse no.54;

Verse No .54

ब्रह्मभूतः प्रसन्नात्मा न शोचति न काङ्क्षति ।

समः सर्वेषु भूतेषु मद्भक्तिं लभते पराम् ॥ १८-५४॥

ब्रह्म-भूतः प्रसन्न-आत्मा न शोचति न काङ्क्षति ।

समः सर्वेषु भूतेषु मत्-भक्तिम् लभते पराम् ॥ १८-५४॥

ब्रह्म-भूतः प्रसन्न-आत्मा (सन्) न शोचति, न काङ्क्षति, (च) सर्वेषु भूतेषु समः (भूत्वा) पराम् मत्-भक्तिम् लभते ।

So निदिध्यासनम् helps in the assimilation of the teaching and when the teaching is assimilated, it is called ज्ञाननिष्ठा or it is called स्थिरप्रज्ञ or it is called आत्मनिष्ठा, निष्ठा means spontaneously abiding in this knowledge, spontaneously abiding in one's own higher nature. And how do you define spontaneity? स्वामिजि, have I spontaneity or not how to know? As I said the other day, spontaneity means the knowledge must be accessible to me effortlessly whenever I face problems in life. So like the money available in ready cash form, this knowledge must be easily accessible to me, whenever there is a threat or a problem for me and therefore it is called आत्मनिष्ठा, ब्रह्मनिष्ठा, ज्ञाननिष्ठा, स्थिरप्रज्ञ or जीवन्मुक्तिः. This is called freedom, even when one is alive. Now the question is how can I measure or how can I understand this जीवन्मुक्ति. In what way the जीवन्मुक्ति will be indicated in my life and that कृष्ण talks about here, the जीवन्मुक्ति फलम् He points out. What is that? प्रसन्न-आत्मा, the indication of जीवन्मुक्ति is general quietude of the mind. Like a शान्तः समुद्रः, a calm ocean, a calm lake, the mind is predominantly शान्तः. So मनः शान्तिः is the first indication of जीवन्मुक्ति. Therefore, He says प्रसन्न-आत्मा, here the word आत्मा means the mind, so प्रसन्न-आत्मा means मनः शान्तिः. And what is indication of संसार? It is the opposite, general stressful condition of the mind. If you read the हिन्दु supplement today, in the health feature, they have dealt with the modern problem of stress, the constant stress is the indication of संसार, the general शान्तिः is the indication of मोक्ष. And not only that, न शोचति – a जीवन्मुक्त mind is not easily disturbed, not pained, not overpowered by sorrow. So शोकः or sorrow caused by the events in life also will come down, so न शोचति means he or she does not grieve, he is able to accept the situations calmly. Remember what I said the other day, even if he says What in a shock, in two minutes, he will say, So What? That, ‘What?’ to ‘So What?’ is from संसार to मुक्तिः and this alone कृष्ण said in the beginning of the गीता teaching,

अशोच्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं प्रज्ञावादांश्च भाषसे ।

गतासूनगतासूंश्च नानुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः ॥ २-११॥

ज्ञाननिष्ठाः न grivanthi. They don’t grieve. OK. And न काङ्क्षति, another indication of जीवन्मुक्ति is a sense of fulfillment in life. I am at home with myself, I don’t lack anything in life, I don’t miss anything in life, the freedom from self insufficiency is another indication, positively presented it is called पूर्णत्वम्. Remember the पूरी example, when the पूरी is put in the oil, it runs about all-over and in the process it is expanding, struggling to become पूर्ण, through various कर्मयोग, उपासना, ज्ञानयोग and when it has become a fully bloomed पूर्ण पूरी, it doesn't run about. Why? आत्मनि एव आत्मना तुष्टः, no more struggle, therefore, न काङ्क्षति, freedom from binding desires and if at all there are desires thereafter, that desire is not born for the sake of पूर्णत्वम्, it is a desire to contribute to the people born out of पूर्णत्वम्, it is not a desire to get but it is a desire to give. Like in the कर्नाटक, when there is sufficient water and it is overflowing and their dams are threatened, what do they do, give to तमिळनाडु. Why? पूर्णः. So पूर्णः they are and therefore it is not out of consideration and all, they are overflowing and therefore they helplessly share, in fact, every ज्ञानि helplessly shares, sharing is natural to him. Therefore desire to take is संसार, desire to give is not a संसार, desire to take is struggle, desire to give is तीला, like भगवान्'s अवतारम्. Therefore, न काङ्क्षति – he doesn't expect even gratitude from the society for what he is doing, because whatever he does is not even for the sake of gratitude, not even for the sake of acknowledgment, not even for the sake of पाद पूजा, nothing, because brimful, therefore share. न काङ्क्षति. And समः सर्वेषु भूतेषु, he enjoys a mind which looks upon everyone objectively. Subjective colorations are removed. When I look at the world from अहङ्कार standpoint, from individuality standpoint I become judgmental, I never live in a public world, I am living in a private world, judging every situation from the standpoint of what benefit I will get, but since a ज्ञानि doesn't judge the situation from अहङ्कार standpoint, he doesn't have a coloration. To use a technical language, he is no more in a जीव सृष्टि, he is no more in a private colored world of his own, but he looks at the world as ईश्वर सृष्टि and when I look at the world objectively, there is no question of राग, द्वेष, all those things fall down. Therefore सर्वेषु भूतेषु समः, समः means राग-द्वेष रहितः. All these things we have seen before,

विद्या-विनय-सम्पन्ने ब्राह्मणे गवि हस्तिनि ।

शुनि च एव श्वपाके च पण्डिताः समदर्शिनः ॥ ७-१८॥

सम-दुःख-सुखः स्वस्थः सम-लोष्ट-अश्म-काचनः ॥ १४-२४॥

सुहृन्मित्रार्युदासीनमध्यस्थद्वेष्यबन्धुषु ॥ ६-३॥

सर्व-भूतस्थम् आत्मानम्, in the 6th chapter. Every chapter कृष्ण has talked about. Here He briefly mentions, because this is supposed to be summary chapter. Therefore सर्वेषु भूतेषु समः and what is his attitude towards God? What happens to his भक्ति? Because generally there is a misconception that वेदान्त and ज्ञानम् are opposed to भक्ति, ज्ञानम् will displace भक्ति, there is a fear, so कृष्ण wants to remove that, कृष्ण tells ज्ञानम् is not opposed to भक्ति. On the other hand, ज्ञान refines the भक्ति and not only it refines भक्ति, ज्ञानि's भक्ति alone is the highest form of भक्ति. Who says? कृष्ण says. पराम् भक्तिम् लभते, he attains the highest form of भक्ति. In the 7th chapter of the गीता, it was called ज्ञानी भक्ति, आर्तः जिज्ञासुः अर्थार्थी ज्ञानी च भरतर्षभ ॥ ७-१६॥

And otherwise it was called अद्वैत भक्ति, अद्वैत भक्ति is said to be the highest भक्ति. It is generally expressed in the form of closeness. Can you say, that person is very close to me? That means what: we have got such an understanding, we love each other so much, therefore love is indicated by closeness. We express that way also. And not only that, when two people love so much, what do they do, they don't like the distance between them and they embrace tightly, therefore, as the love increases, distance decreases. Distance is inversely proportional to love and अद्वैत भक्ति is the highest form of भक्ति because in अद्वैतम् alone, the distance between God and the भक्त, the ज्ञानि has become minimum. In fact, minimum is not the word, it is zero distance. And therefore the अद्वैत भक्ति is the highest भक्ति. Therefore कृष्ण says, सः पराम् मत्-भक्तिम् लभते, शङ्कराचार्य writes, ज्ञानिम् भक्तिम्, चतुर्थीम्

भक्तिम् लभते, चतुर्थीम् means you should remember the 7th chapter. And this is called what, जीवन्मुक्तिः. Therefore how to find out whether something is happening to us, by the study of गीता, how to check that, you have got certain indicators, the शान्ति should become dominant, शोक should become less, काङ्क्ष becomes less, objectivity increases, these are all the indicators, I used the expression, F I R. Do you remember?

F means the Frequency of mental disturbances comes down, the number of occasions, causes that disturb me has to come down, that is frequency reduction.

The second is Intensity of reaction. How to measure that? When the reaction is extremely intense, it expresses at three levels - mental, verbal and even physical. सीदन्ति मम गात्राणि मुखं च परिशुष्यति. When the intensity comes down, physical expressions will come down, but mental and verbal, one will be cursing always, so verbal and mental continues and when it comes down still further, verbal reactions come down, physical reactions come down, but mental reactions continue, thus gradually, three to two to one. This is reduction in the intensity.

And final difference is what? Indicator is what? R. Recovery period. After getting mentally disturbed, how much time I take to come back to normalcy. The resilience quotient, like IQ, EQ, so is RQ, resilience quotient. Are you able to forget it and continue? स्वामिजि people reserving the seats in the class, we are disturbed, very big problem, they come at 4.30 and put the kerchiefs. Can the गीता students behave like this? Is this right or wrong? Use भगवद्गीता to get out of all these disturbances. These disturbances come at the beginning of the class and if you forget it, it is OK. But after that you don't listen to anything at all. For some people disturbance is from 6 to 7 p.m. class is out. That means resilience is not there. Get disturbed doesn't matter, after the class starts, forget. I have told all that has to be told!! Continuing;

Verse No .55

भवत्या मामभिजानाति यावान्यश्चास्मि तत्त्वतः ।

ततो मां तत्त्वतो ज्ञात्वा विशते तदनन्तरम् ॥ १८-५५॥

भवत्या माम् अभिजानाति यावान् यः च अस्मि तत्त्वतः ।

ततः माम् तत्त्वतः ज्ञात्वा विशते तत् अनन्तरम् ॥ १८-५५॥

यावान् यः च अस्मि, (तं) माम् तत्त्वतः भवत्या अभिजानाति, ततः तत्त्वतः माम् ज्ञात्वा तत् अनन्तरम् (माम्) विशते ।

In the previous श्लोक, कृष्ण completed the topic of meditation with the फलश्रुति. What is the फलम्? जीवन्मुक्ति. What is जीवन्मुक्ति? Reduction in FIR. FIR you should remember always; not the police station FIR. Vedantic FIR. So Frequency, Intensity, Recovery period should get reduced with regard to the disturbances in life situations, this is called जीवन्मुक्ति and this is a gradual process, not that suddenly from 100 count FIR it will come to 0. It is not, it will gradually come down, ज्ञानम् you may get quickly, relatively quickly, but the assimilation and transformation is a gradual process, because of that alone in some Vedantic scriptures, they grade the ज्ञानिs also. Even though the ज्ञानिs should not be graded, because all the ज्ञानि's knows अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि, the grading is done based on the FIR level. So ब्रह्मवित् and ब्रह्मवित् वरः and ब्रह्मवित् वरीयान् and ब्रह्मवित् वरिष्ठः So, 20% less वित्, 40 % वरः, 60% वरीयान्, 80% वरिष्ठः, not exactly written like that, I am giving an example. It is a gradual process. Having talked about निदिध्यासन फलम्, now in this 55th verse, कृष्ण summarizes that निदिध्यासनम् topic. This is a consolidating verse. So कृष्ण says in this manner, हे अर्जुन! भवत्या – by the practice of निदिध्यासनम्, the word भक्ति in this context means निदिध्यासन रूप भक्ति. I had told in the 12th chapter of the गीता, the word भक्ति can be used in the meaning of any spiritual साधन. भक्ति is a word which can be used to any spiritual साधन, कर्मयोग is also called a form of भक्ति, उपासना is also a form of भक्ति, Vedantic श्रवणम् is also a form of भक्ति, it is called ज्ञानयज्ञ, it is considered to be a form of पूजा, ज्ञानयज्ञ it is called. चिन्मयानन्द, used to name all his lecture series as ज्ञानयज्ञ, because this is also a यागः, in which the fire of knowledge is kindled and the fuels are nothing but the ignorance, the ego, the misconceptions, all these are the fuels that you offer, therefore that is also a form of पूजा only, therefore कर्म is form of a भक्ति, उपासना is a form of भक्ति, scriptural study is a form of भक्ति and even Vedantic meditation is a form of भक्ति, शङ्कराचार्य tells this in the विवेकचूडामणि,

स्वस्वरूप-अनुसन्धानम् भक्तिः इति अभिधीयते ॥विवेकचूडामणि ३१॥

Vedantic meditation is also a form of devotion. And by this भक्ति in the form of Vedantic meditation, what फलम् a person gets, माम् अभिजानाति – a person gets ईश्वर ज्ञान निष्ठा. जानाति means he gets knowledge, अभि means the ज्ञानम् will get converted into निष्ठा. अभिजानाति finally means assimilate this teaching. The teaching about whom? माम्, माम् means भगवान्, about ईश्वर ज्ञानम्, he assimilates and when a ज्ञानि gains the knowledge of ईश्वर, कृष्ण says both the higher form of God as well the lower form of God. ईश्वर in his higher nature called परा प्रकृति and ईश्वर in his inferior nature called अपरा प्रकृति, do you remember these two words, परा प्रकृति is in the 7th chapter, higher nature means the Lord without form, the absolute God who transcends all the attributes. And what is the inferior nature of the Lord? The very Lord obtaining in the relative world, endowed with all the superior virtues, सर्वज्ञत्वम्, सर्वकारणत्वम्, सर्वसृष्टिकारणत्वम्, सर्वपूज्यत्वम्. All these are सगुण ईश्वर स्वरूपम्, therefore यावान् means the सगुण स्वरूपम् and तत्त्वतः यः means निर्गुण स्वरूपम्, तत्त्व means the absolutely real nature, चैतन्य स्वरूपम्. So thus a निदिध्यासक assimilates the knowledge of God both in his higher and lower nature. In the relative field, भगवान् and the भक्त are not one and the same, भगवान् is the total, the macrocosm, I the devotee am the microcosm, in the relative field there is a difference, but at the absolute level, there is neither micro nor macro. There is only निर्गुण चैतन्यम्.

इति अभिजानाति – that person knows and ततः माम् तत्त्वतः ज्ञात्वा – of these two, which one is more important, the knowledge of the higher nature is more important, which is called विज्ञानम्. In the 7th chapter, knowledge of the lower nature is called ज्ञानम्, the knowledge of the higher nature is called विज्ञानम्. And why do we consider the higher nature as superior, निर्गुण ज्ञानम् as superior? The reason is only at निर्गुण level one transcends the time, only at निर्गुण level one transcends division, one transcends space, one transcends time and only when one transcends time, one can transcend mortality, मृत्योर्मा अमृतङ्गमय, अमृतत्वम् is possible only in निर्गुणम्. In सगुणम्, you will not get अमृतत्वम् at all. Why? सगुण means relativity, relativity means time-space-mortality. Therefore कृष्ण emphasizes that, ततः माम् तत्त्वतः ज्ञात्वा – having known Me in my higher nature, तत् अनन्तरम् – as a consequence of that निर्गुण ईश्वर ज्ञानम् माम् विशते – he enters into Me, again “enters”, because once I transcend the time and space and come to the चैतन्यम्, the Consciousness which is beyond time and space, there is nothing to divide me and God. Therefore अहम् एव सः, सः एव अहम् अस्मि, this is called merger. Merger into the Lord is dropping the notion of division caused by ignorance. Ignorance based division dropping. Ignorance based division, what division, भगवान् is there and I am here, that division that is ignorance based and that ignorance based division dropping is figuratively called merger, there is no question of physically traveling, traveling, like train journey, train shunting and joining with a thud sound. Don’t imagine such things, it’s a very silent affair, because it is in the form of understanding. Like the one who wakes up, merges into the waker, the dreamer on waking merges into the waker, which is a pure silent affair, this is also like that. All these are important verses, शङ्कराचार्य writes a very elaborate commentary. And some of the brilliant commentaries in the गीता are found in these verses, especially the commentary on the verse 55 is a very beautiful commentary. Continuing;

मत्प्रसादादवाप्नोति शाश्वतं पदमव्ययम् ॥ १८-५६॥

सर्व-कर्माणि अपि सदा कुर्वाणः मत्-व्यपाश्रयः ।

मत्-प्रसादात् अवाप्नोति शाश्वतम् पदम् अव्ययम् ॥ १८-५६॥

मत्-व्यपाश्रयः सदा सर्व-कर्माणि अपि कुर्वाणः मत्-प्रसादात् शाश्वतम् अव्ययम् पदम् अवाप्नोति ।

With the previous verse, the ज्ञानयोग topic emphasizing निदिध्यासनम्, निदिध्यासनम् प्रधान ज्ञानयोग topic is over, which started from verse no.50. Now listening to this निदिध्यासनम् and giving up of अहङ्कार अभिमान and owning up of our higher nature and sitting in meditation for long time, hearing all these things, some of the seekers may feel that all these are beyond our reach. It is all too high, I don't think it is for me, this inferiority complex is so powerful and कृष्ण might have found in अर्जुन's face also some such expression - me? leaving this देह अभिमान? possible? feasible? स्वामिजि what are you talking! So many people may feel श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासन is too high, even श्रवणम्-मननम् they may not mind, because one has to just come to the class and sit and others are talking. There we don't have to do anything, we have to make sure that we are present. In between you can go out also mentally and come back. In श्रवणम् student plays a relatively passive role, it is the teacher's headache to keep the attention of the student, which is the toughest task. So, getting the attention of a person for sixty minutes, it is a real solid work. I know how difficult it is, when I start ॐ पूर्णमदः, Hearing that पू like a sting of a scorpion they jump and rush. So much impatience is there and I wonder how I made them sit for one hour and therefore I pat myself!! So there the responsibility is for the teacher. In निदिध्यासनम्, the teacher is not available, therefore it may appear tougher, so कृष्ण out of compassion comes down, हे अर्जुन! or any seeker for that matter, if you consider that you are unfit for ज्ञानयोग, don't worry, concentrate on कर्मयोग, just keep coming to the class, nothing wrong, but focus on कर्मयोग साधन. Thus from verse 56 कृष्ण again comes down, like the game of परमपदम् (snake and ladder). So through ladder he climbs straight to ज्ञानयोग and he comes down through the snake to कर्मयोग. So from verse no.56 up to verse no.62 again coming down to कर्मयोग. And this कर्मयोग कृष्ण has already talked about from verse no.41 to 49. Again he is coming, but he makes a slight shift in the emphasis. Previously when he talked about कर्मयोग, he emphasized स्वधर्म. Always be aware of your responsibility, repeatedly all the politicians and PM is telling, people are always talking about the rights, people generally don't remember the responsibility. Our society is responsibility based society, we don't talk about rights at all. Because our approach is if everybody does his duty, the other person's rights are taken care of, husband does the duty to wife, wife need not go for women's liberation and women's right, etc. Similarly, father does his duty to the children and the children do their duty to their parents. It is duty प्रधान. But generally we tend to go to the right प्रधान. So कृष्ण said, forget your rights and all, concentrate on your duty and enjoy discharging the duty. Thus स्वधर्म was highlighted in that portion. Whereas in this portion, कृष्ण is highlighting the attitude of भक्ति. There are many people who are very much aware of their responsibility and they do discharge them perfectly well, but they forget the other dimension of कर्मयोग and that is ईश्वर भक्ति. Without devotion to God, कर्मयोग doesn't exist, as दयानन्द स्वामिजि repeatedly says, There is no secular कर्मयोग. कर्मयोग means Lord has to come, I may not know the highest निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, I do not know, I need not know, I can have my own concept of ईश्वर, as the creator of the world or the ultimate truth of the creation and I can symbolize the formless God with any particular form, which we call as इष्ट देवता भक्ति, which is very very useful. And this ईश्वर भक्ति, at the time of कर्मयोग, should express in two-fold ways, which we have seen several times, one is ईश्वर अर्पण भावना and the other is प्रसाद भावना. That is every contribution of mine, whatever I do, I take it as an अर्पणम् to the Lord. And then whatever be the consequences - favorable, unfavorable, neutral, any consequence that comes, I take it as प्रसाद. This ईश्वरार्पण प्रसाद भावना – कर्माणि अर्पण भावना, कर्म फले प्रसाद भावना – this is extremely important and that is going to be the highlighted in these verses. The details of which we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 56-60

Lord कृष्ण gave the summary of ज्ञानयोग in six verses beginning from the 50th verse up to 55th verse. And this ज्ञानयोग is the final साधन that a person has to go through and this ज्ञानयोग alone liberates a person from संसार and this ज्ञानयोग has three stages of साधन, that is श्रवणम्, मननम् and निदिध्यासनम्. And Lord कृष्ण highlighted the निदिध्यासनम् or the Vedantic meditation part of ज्ञानयोग. And hearing this, a seeker may feel diffident, that I am not at all ready for this level of ज्ञानयोग, because कृष्ण talks about withdrawal from all activities, learning to live alone, वित्त-सेवी and लघु-आशी, कृष्ण is asking us to reduce eating, which is very very difficult, therefore hearing all these things, a speaker may feel that these are all too high for us and we are all ordinary people not yet ready. Thus some seekers may feel that, but I am sure that you will not feel that, because you are all advanced seekers, but there may be some people who feel diffident with regard to ज्ञानयोग and to such people कृष्ण comes back to the topic of कर्मयोग once again. In fact, कृष्ण has talked about कर्मयोग several times, but being extremely important, he repeats this once again. Previously while talking about कर्मयोग, कृष्ण emphasized the importance of स्वधर्म अनुष्ठान.

स्वे स्वे कर्मणि अभिरतः संसिद्धिम् लभते नरः ॥ १८-४७॥

स्वकर्मणा तम् अभ्यर्त्य सिद्धिम् विन्दति मानवः ॥ १८-४८॥

Previously while talking about कर्मयोग, धर्म was emphasized and that too स्वधर्म was emphasized. And everyone has to follow स्वधर्म, according to one's own designation in the society. People ask the question, what is स्वधर्म? Fundamental doubt, what is स्वधर्म? The simple definition of स्वधर्म is that whatever be the set-up in which you are, you make sure that you don't disturb the set-up, that is the first स्वधर्म and if possible positively contribute to the happiness and well-being of the set-up. This is the simplest definition of स्वधर्म. If you are a member of a family, which you are, your स्वधर्म means your life should be such that by your life, first family doesn't come to suffer, that is the first thing and the next positive thing is by my existence, the family must benefit or to put in another language, what I take must be lesser than what I give and extend it to other set-up also, if I am part of an organization, if I am an employee of a company, if I am a citizen of the country, as somebody nicely said, don't ask what the country has done to you, have you ever asked what you have done to the country. Therefore स्वधर्म means living in harmony with the set-up and contributing to the harmony and the growth of the set-up and it can be extended to the religion also, I claim myself to be a हिन्दु, what do I do to my religion, that also I should ask, all these things will come under स्वधर्म, my contribution to the family, to the country, to the society, to the environment, to the religion, all these are called स्वधर्म. And कृष्ण said कर्मयोग means offering the स्वधर्म, doing the स्वधर्म to the surroundings. And how do you do that, in the form of worship of the Lord. स्वकर्मणा तम् अभ्यर्त्य सिद्धिम् विन्दति मानवः. This is the कर्मयोग discussed before, where the emphasis is on your effort and your action. Now कृष्ण is going to discuss कर्मयोग from another angle and that angle is success in कर्मयोग not only depends on your effort, it also depends upon the grace of the Lord. Don't lose sight of ईश्वर अनुग्रहः. I have often said the पुरुषार्थ, the individual effort and ईश्वर अनुग्रहः, the grace of the Lord are like the two wings of a bird. Just as a bird can fly, only with the help of both the wings. Similarly, spiritual growth requires not only our effort, but also ईश्वर अनुग्रहः and therefore, in this part of कर्मयोग, the ईश्वर अनुग्रहः is highlighted. And how do you reap ईश्वर अनुग्रहः? कृष्ण says, it is by taking shelter or surrender unto to the Lord. Thus ईश्वर शरणागति or ईश्वर भक्ति is an integral part of कर्मयोग and therefore from 56 up to 62, which I introduced in the last class, कृष्ण talks about कर्मयोग emphasizing शरणागति and अनुग्रहः. And of course, we should remember, a कर्मयोगि does not have ब्रह्मज्ञानम्. If he is a ब्रह्मज्ञानि, he is no more a कर्मयोगि. Remember कर्मयोगि is trying to purify the mind and after purification, he has to follow ज्ञानयोग, after ज्ञानयोग, he has to gain ज्ञानम्, after ज्ञानम् alone, he is going to become a ब्रह्मज्ञानि, a कर्मयोगि is an अज्ञानि. This one should remember. कर्मयोगि is a pucca अज्ञानि. He is working towards knowledge, for knowledge, he doesn't have knowledge. Since he doesn't have knowledge of ब्रह्मन् of ईश्वर, totally, at the time of कर्मयोग he only appreciates God in the form of an इष्ट देवता. He doesn't have the knowledge ईश्वर स्वरूपम् and he doesn't know अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि. He knows there is someone called ईश्वर, because scriptures talk about God and that ईश्वर is the निमित्त कारणम्, ईश्वर is the उपादान कारणम्, ईश्वर is omnipotent and omniscient but he doesn't know the essential nature of God. Therefore as a कर्मयोगि, he only visualizes God as a person and that is called इष्ट देवता भक्ति. And therefore a कर्मयोगि has इष्ट देवता भक्ति and he surrenders to that Lord and seeks the grace of the Lord. And how does he do that, कृष्ण explains, मत्-व्यपाश्रयः – first take shelter in Me, व्यपाश्रयः means शरणम्, shelter, refuge. That means what? First tell yourselves that my ultimate source of strength and the security is God alone. You can have your relations around, you can have your people around, you can love them, you can take care of them, but if somebody asks who is your ultimate support, who is your ultimate support, our general tendency is to name someone in the family. कृष्ण tells us to drop that practice. You need not push them away, but learn to say that my ultimate support, my ultimate security, my ultimate source of strength is भगवान् alone. Which means भगवान् will take care of me, though he may not come directly, through someone or the other. Even if all the family members are all over the world (that is the present condition), in India no child is around, one is Canada, another is in America, another is in Europe and this old husband and wife stuck in चेन्नै. We don't feel like going there, because one has to get stuck in the house, what to do? How do I know who is going to come to my rescue in my old age. And even if I send email to them, by the time they plan and get the passport renewed as his passport is expired, before this person's expiry, who knows who is going to come to our rescue, better learn to draw strength from ईश्वर and if ईश्वर's grace is there, somebody will come and if ईश्वर's grace is not there, nobody will be around also. Remember, दशरथ's example, he had four children, all gems and ultimately, when he had to die nobody was around. Who decides? I am not frightening you, what I am telling is train your mind to draw strength from ईश्वर and this is called मत्-व्यापाश्रयः. And how to do that? Invoke the इष्ट देवता in the heart and remember that the Lord is in the heart all the time and it is Vedantically also true,

यो वेद निहितम् गुहायाम् परमे व्योमन् ॥ तैत्तिरीयोपनिषदत् २-१-१ ॥

That is why, when we do the पूजा in the morning, I have told you before, after the पूजा there is यथा स्थानम् प्रतिष्ठापयामि. यथा स्थानम् प्रतिष्ठापयामि means what, I am sending the Lord back to his own place, why because there is accommodation problem. How can I keep the Lord permanently here. Therefore invite the Lord for the पूजा and send back, even गायत्री, गच्छ देवी यथा सुखम्. गायत्री will be sent. Now the question is what do you mean by यथा स्थानम् प्रतिष्ठापणम्? I think that the Lord is sent back to His place which is somewhere else, you should remember, the Lord's original place is what? Our own हृदयम् only. For the sake of पूजा, we keep outside. Otherwise we have to put अभिषेक on our head! God is here inside. You cannot put on your head. For the sake of एकादश द्रव्य अभिषेक, you intelligently keep Him outside and then after the पूजा is over, you put back here (heart), what is the idea? That refuge, Lord is in my heart all the time. This is the meaning of मत्-व्यापाश्रयः. This is the first meaning. There is a higher more important meaning also. Taking refuge in God also means taking refuge in God's teaching. Taking refuge in the Lord means taking refuge in God's teaching. Like taking refuge in a doctor means whatever instructions he gives for my physical well being, I should follow. What is the use of taking refuge in doctor and violating every instruction he gives. Taking refuge in doctor is following his instructions. Similarly, मत्-व्यपाश्रयः has a second meaning, i.e., शास्त्र-व्यपाश्रयः, taking shelter in भगवान्'s teaching, which is in the form of वेद and which is also in the form of गीता. And therefore take shelter in गीता, how, by following the lifestyle prescribed. Then the next question is what is the lifestyle prescribed in the वेद and गीता? सर्व-कर्माणि अपि कुर्वाणः – perform all the actions you want to do, whether it is worldly actions or religious actions, लौकिक कर्म or वैदिक कर्म, you can do all those actions, but what is the prescription of the गीता, offer all of them as a नैवेद्यम्, oblation to the Lord. स्वकर्मणा तम् अभ्यर्च्य सिद्धिम् विन्दति मानवः, you offer flowers at the time of पूजा, but later, every action is an offering, therefore सर्व-कर्माणि अपि सदा कुर्वाणः, you have supply the word, ईश्वर अर्पण भावनया कुर्वाणः, may you perform. And then what will happen? मत्-प्रसादात् – by my grace and receiving every consequence as ईश्वर प्रसाद, gift from the Lord, मत्-प्रसादात्, ईश्वर-प्रसादात् आप्नोति, you will certainly attain your goal. What is that goal? पदम् आप्नोति, पदम् here means मोक्ष पदम्, the goal of liberation. And what type of goal it is? शाश्वतम् पदम्, which is eternal and also अव्ययम् पदम्, which is undecaying. So, this eternal undeclaring permanent goal of मोक्ष you will attain. But here we should be very careful, every श्लोक we should be alert. So by following this कर्मयोग regularly will मोक्ष automatically come. No No No. Because we have repeatedly said, without ज्ञानम् मोक्ष is not possible. Therefore we have to supply an expression that you will attain मोक्ष gradually by going through the various stages and what are the stages, purity of mind, thereafter the ideal condition for वेदान्त श्रवण, thereafter attainment of ज्ञानम् and thereafter attainment of मोक्ष. चित्तशुद्धि, गुरु प्राप्ति, श्रवण प्राप्ति, ज्ञान प्राप्ति द्वारा you will attain मोक्ष. Therefore you start कर्मयोग properly. Continuing;

Verse No .57

चेतसा सर्वकर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य मत्परः ।

बुद्धियोगमुपाश्रित्य मत्त्वितः सततं भव ॥ १८-५७॥

चेतसा सर्व-कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य मत्-परः ।

बुद्धि-योगम् उपाश्रित्य मत्-चित्तः सततम् भव ॥ १८-५७॥

(त्वं) सर्व-कर्माणि चेतसा मयि संन्यस्य, मत्-परः (सन्), बुद्धि-योगम् उपाश्रित्य, सततम् मत्-चित्तः भव ।

This is explained further, बुद्धि-योगम् उपाश्रित्य – may you to take to the discipline of बुद्धियोग, which is another name for कर्मयोगः and it is called बुद्धियोग because it involves two important attitudes. So कर्मयोग involves two important भावना, here the word बुद्धि means भावना. And what are those two important भावना? As a कर्ता, I take every कर्म as an offering to the Lord and therefore I don't hate any कर्म. So a कर्मयोगि who has got ईश्वरार्पण भावना should treat every कर्म as offering to the Lord, therefore whatever he has to do, there is no question of you like it or dislike it, I love to do whatever I have to do. But it is little difficult, it's boring. There is no question boring, etc., any कर्म you have to do, learn to love and enjoy. And this is very important for अर्जुन, because now अर्जुन has what a terrible duty, which involves bloodshed. Therefore whatever you have to do, in office, you are under the control of the boss, whatever you are supposed to, there is no question of liking or disliking or you will lose the job. Where is the question of like and dislike when I am an employee. And at home, this person has to be an obedient husband, therefore, whatever the wife asks, the other way around also, I have to do several things, it is not my राग-द्वेष based. Therefore don't judge the action based on your राग-द्वेष, I have to do and therefore I learn to love to do, and I enjoy, even if internally you are not enjoying at least have a pleasant face. This is called भावना No. 1. which is called बुद्धि No.1. And the second thing is what? Every experience that comes to me is coming from the Lord, therefore I never judge any experience based on राग-द्वेष. The moment I judge an experience based on राग-द्वेष, I will classify it as pleasant, unpleasant and thereafter I will begin to react. And here कृष्ण says, never judge whatever has come is welcome. This welcome भावना, आगते स्वागतम् कुर्यात्, is भावना No.2. Therefore कृष्ण says बुद्धि-योगम् उपाश्रित्य. Accept every कर्म that you have to do, accept every experience that you have to go through, accept the choice-less, accept the choice-less and unfortunately, in life, 75% is choice-less, 75% is choice-less. You know why, past is choice-less. Why? Over. You cannot change the past. Present is choice-less. Why? It has already come. So past is choice-less, present is choice-less. What about future? In future, because of our free-will, perhaps we do have some choice. But in future also, many of the things we don't have choice. Our age will increase or decrease, you may give a smaller figure, last year you said 50, now you say 49. You may give a different figure but age increases. Therefore, most of the situations are choice-less, acceptance of the choice-less is the main thing. Therefore the बुद्धि can be called समत्व बुद्धियोग also. So ईश्वर अर्पण प्रसाद भावना रूप बुद्धियोग or समत्व बुद्धियोग, समत्व बुद्धि means accept, don't react. And with this बुद्धियोग or कर्मयोग, what do you do? सर्व-कर्माणि मयि संन्यस्य, here the word संन्यस्य means dedicating. Normally the word संन्यस्य mean renouncing, but, very careful, in this particular context the word संन्यस्य is not renouncing but offering or dedicating, dedicating what? सर्व-कर्माणि – all the actions that you do. So मयि संन्यास. How do you do that? चेतसा – by your attitude or भावना, ईश्वर अर्पण भावनया संन्यस्य. When you are doing all these things, you must be very clear about the goal, because this is very important, because कर्मयोग is relevant only if the goal is spiritual. For a materialistic person कर्मयोग cannot be relevant because a materialistic person gives importance to external factors, because his strong belief is happiness depends upon external factors. Whereas a spiritual seeker is one, who is strongly convinced that happiness does not depend upon external factor but it depends upon the internal growth. Therefore to be a कर्मयोगि, my main aim should be internal growth only. Keeping the goal as God. So God is the goal or मोक्ष is the goal or ज्ञानम् is the goal, or चित्तशुद्धि is the goal, you may say, that is the immediate goal. So the goal must be चित्तशुद्धि, गुरु प्राप्ति, ज्ञान प्राप्ति, मोक्ष प्राप्ति. Therefore मत्-परः – keeping Me as the goal. Then what about materialistic things? It is not that कर्मयोगि neglects them. But he considers them as an incidental needs in life, but he never looks upon them as the primary thing. They are by-products, not the goal. This is very important. मत्-परः सन् बुद्धि-योगम् उपाश्रित्य – taking to कर्मयोग; मत्-चित्तः सततम् भव – never forget Me. I should never get out of your Mind. So सततम् means always, मत्-चित्तः भव, If you are working, God is there in what form? ईश्वरार्पण भावनया, I offer, therefore God is involved, if I am going through any experience, then also God is involved, in what form? God is giving me the experience, therefore I accept it, as a कर्ता also ईश्वर plays a pivotal role, as a भोक्ता also ईश्वर is important for me. And all the time, I am either a कर्ता or a भोक्ता. The only time you are not a कर्ता or भोक्ता is when? Doze, when you are sleeping. But at that time, कृष्ण doesn't ask you to remember God, because you cannot. Therefore, during all the waking hours, either I am a कर्ता or a भोक्ता. Either way it is ईश्वर centric lifestyle. Continuing;

मत्चित्तः सर्वदुर्गाणि मत्प्रसादात्तरिष्यसि ।

अथ चेत्त्वमहङ्कारान्न श्रोष्यसि विनङ्क्ष्यसि ॥ १८-५८॥

मत्-चित्तः सर्व-दुर्गाणि मत्-प्रसादात् तरिष्यसि ।

अथ चेत् त्वम् अहङ्कारात् न श्रोष्यसि विनङ्क्ष्यसि ॥ १८-५८॥

(त्वम्) मत्-चित्तः (सन्) सर्व-दुर्गाणि मत्-प्रसादात् तरिष्यसि । अथ त्वम् अहङ्कारात् न श्रोष्यसि चेत् विनङ्क्ष्यसि ।

Such a कर्मयोगि, who has an ईश्वर centric life, wherein ईश्वर is involved, whether a person is कर्ता or भोक्ता, will learn from every single experience of life, every single experience has something to teach. Only if I have a relaxed calm mind, I have got a learning capacity, a disturbed mind can never learn from any experience and therefore he will repeat the same mistake again and again. As somebody nicely said, committing mistake is the privilege of a human being, that privilege God doesn't have. Poor God cannot commit mistakes. You know, we are greater than God. One thing God cannot do, we can do? What is that? The privilege of committing mistakes and we all do commit mistake and we need not feel bad about it. But what the scriptures say is repeating the mistakes is foolishness. So an intelligent person commits mistakes, alright, but he learns. Why does he learn? Because कर्मयोग helps him enjoy a सम-बुद्धि,

सिद्धि असिद्धयोः समः भूत्वा समत्वम् योगः उच्यते ॥ २-४८॥

When the mind is calm, the intellect is bright and when intellect is bright, from every single experience I learn, that is called maturity. And when I learn and grow mature, I discover the fact that Self-knowledge alone will solve the human problem. And here every experience will teach me and painful experiences teach more than pleasurable experiences. So even pain has got a message. So भगवान् gets two things done through pain: one is exhausting the कर्म, through pain alone we exhaust कर्म and भगवान् does another important thing and what is that? Educate a person through that experience. And that is why those planets which generally give troubles and difficulties, if you ask the astrologer, they will say that they are the planets which are ज्ञान कारकन्, ज्ञान कारकन् mean those who give ज्ञानम्. When the world says, that those planets are givers of trouble, शास्त्र says they give maturity. But if I have to learn from pain, it is possible only when my mind enjoys समत्वम्. And a कर्मयोगि enjoys समत्वम् and he learns very fast from every pleasure and pain. Just as even snake's poison contains medicine in it, even the worst pain has got education, valid lessons. This is the inner growth achieved by कर्मयोगि. And not only that कृष्ण says, in the spiritual path certainly there will be obstacles. Anything will have obstacles and better the thing more the obstacles, श्रेयान्नि बहु विघ्नानि भवन्ति महतामपि ।

Any good कर्म you want to do obstacles will come. Whenever you plan to come to the गीता class obstacles will be there. आध्यात्मिक, आधिभौतिक, आधिदैविक obstacles are bound to come. कृष्ण says, if you are a कर्मयोगि, by the grace of the Lord those obstacles also you will also circumvent. So He says: मत्-चित्: – keeping Me in your mind, with the help of My grace, i.e., ईश्वर अनुग्रहः, मत्-प्रसादात्, प्रसाद means अनुग्रहः – by My अनुग्रहः, सर्व-दुर्गाणि तरिष्यसि. Here the word दुर्ग means obstacles, not दुर्गा लक्ष्मी सरस्वती. You cannot take that दुर्गा here, that दुर्गा is आकारान्त स्त्रिलिङ्ग. Here the दुर्गम्, दुर्गम् means obstacles, दुर्गाणि plural number. All the obstacles, either coming from yourselves in the form of ill-health, diseases, wandering mind; imagine I am here, but I don't hear! Not because deaf, my ears are so powerful that my neighbors talk I can very well hear. There is no hearing problem. But मनस् is not under my control. That is called आध्यात्मिक obstacles or surrounding obstacles or any other obstacle, त्रिविध दुर्गाणि तरिष्यसि – अर्जुन you will cross. And now कृष्ण gives a warning. In spite of all these advertisements and all these incentives and all these encouragements if you refuse to follow कर्मयोग it will lead to your spiritual downfall. Therefore He says, अथ न श्रोष्यसि चेत् – on the other hand, if you don't listen to my sincere advice, because of what? अहङ्कार, because of your ego, ego will always come to the forefront, why I should follow somebody else's suggestion, after all I am a human being, I have freedom, I have got right to do whatever I want, I will follow my own path, if that ego comes, अहङ्कारात् – because of your ego न श्रोष्यसि चेत् – if you refuse to listen to me, विनङ्क्ष्यसि – you will perish. Here the word perish does not mean physical death, but here the word perish means spiritual destruction. You will get the benefit of being born a human being, benefit of being born a human being is मोक्ष प्राप्ति, that unique benefit you will lose. Continuing;

Verse No .59

यदहङ्कारमाश्रित्य न योत्स्य इति मन्यसे ।

मिथ्यैष व्यवसायस्ते प्रकृतिस्त्वां नियोक्ष्यति ॥ १८-५९॥

यत् अहङ्कारम् आश्रित्य न योत्स्ये इति मन्यसे ।

मिथ्या एषः व्यवसायः ते प्रकृतिः त्वाम् नियोक्ष्यति ॥ १८-५९॥

यत् अहङ्कारम् आश्रित्य 'न योत्स्ये' इति मन्यसे, (तत्) एषः ते व्यवसायः मिथ्या (एव अस्ति), प्रकृतिः त्वाम् नियोक्ष्यति ।

So in this verse, कृष्ण is explaining further, what He said in the previous श्लोकs, न श्रोष्यसि विनङ्क्ष्यसि is explained here. What is कृष्ण's advice? कृष्ण says: अर्जुन, you are a राजसिक person, you are born क्षत्रिय, you are an embodiment of रजोगुण, therefore you have to lead an active life at least for the time being and now if you refuse to go by your रजोगुण and give up this war and decide to go to forest in the name of संन्यास or in the name of spiritual साधन, you go there and try to withdraw from actions, it will miserably fail because, that is not your nature. Therefore if a person has high सत्त्वगुण, then that person doesn't have a tendency to be active, then it will be a nice to go to an आश्रम and do ध्यान and study the वेदान्त systematically etc., but the problem is you are रजोगुण personified and if you give up the war and go to forest, what will happen? You should be studying वेदान्त, श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासन and you will feel highly uncomfortable after the initial few days, then you look around and meditate for 10-15 minutes and then you begin to look around and see some people and gather all of them. If there are many संन्यासिs, form an association called SWO – 'sannyasi Welfare Organization' and start working for them and if they don't have कुटिया, you will build them, you do this and do that and fly to दिल्ली, representation, seat reservation, something or the other you will work for. Because sitting quiet is not easy. So whenever people say, स्वामिजि, I will go and settle in an आश्रम for the rest of life. I generally don't criticize the आश्रमs and साधुs, generally I tell them don't decide it for good, go and stay there for some months and then decide. If everything is fine, you continue, otherwise you come back. So many people give all the money to the आश्रम, all their money and earning and they get some house or some कुटिया there. And they would have given in writing also, that after my life, the कुटिया belongs to the आश्रम and all my money also belongs to the आश्रम and after 2-3 months comes varieties of problems, because everywhere people are there, people means राग-द्वेष, I don't like him, this group and that group, etc. and thereafter you will feel चेन्नै was better. Everything is: 'The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence', never decide permanently. If you have any such plans, nothing wrong with that plan, but I will suggest that go, don't give all the money, keep it in the bank and stay there for some time and mostly you will come back, OK. All these have to be deleted, I think. These are all fads. अर्जुन, it is not all that easy to withdraw and when people withdraw without maturity, politics, when you withdraw with maturity, you dwell on the शास्त्रs. When you withdraw without maturity, you dwell on the other's lifestyles. What that स्वामि does, why is he keeping the door closed always. Is he sleeping always? Even the window curtains are closed always, I want to see what is happening inside, etc. Mind will not remain quiet. Therefore अर्जुन, listen to me, यदि अहङ्कारम् आश्रित्य – if you hold on to your अहङ्कार and न योत्स्ये इति मन्यसे – if you refuse to fight out of sheer adamancy. If you refuse to listen to me, एषः ते व्यवसायः – this resolve of yours, मिथ्या – will be in vain, will not work for you, your withdrawal from activity will not work for you, maximum you will withdraw from this activity and it will be replaced by another activity. You may give up here some computer business or so and there you will start some रुद्राक्ष business, because from Indonesia you get cheap रुद्राक्षम् and in India रुद्राक्षम् is costly. So you import and you sell and live. You will think, therefore business mind रुद्राक्ष or स्पटिक माला business the mind will go. Instead of that, be here and do your business with धर्म and attend the Sunday class and it is very nice to get मुक्ति here and now. Who says? Lord कृष्ण. So, एषः व्यवसायः मिथ्या, it will not work and why it will not work, प्रकृतिः त्वाम् नियोक्ष्यति – your राजसिक nature will not allow you to remain quiet. So here प्रकृति means स्वभाव and स्वभाव means राजसिक nature. Therefore the rule is: Go by your nature. Continuing;

स्वभावजेन कौन्तेय निबद्धः स्वेन कर्मणा ।

कर्तुं नेच्छसि यन्मोहात्करिष्यस्यवशोऽपि तत् ॥ १८-६०॥

स्वभावजेन कौन्तेय निबद्धः स्वेन कर्मणा ।

कर्तुम् न इच्छसि यत् मोहात् करिष्यसि अवशः अपि तत् ॥ १८-६०॥

हे कौन्तेय! (यतः) स्वभावजेन स्वेन कर्मणा निबद्धः (त्वं) यत् मोहात् कर्तुम् न इच्छसि, तत् अवशः (सन्) अपि करिष्यसि ।

So अर्जुन remember the rule, everybody has a स्वभाव, either you are सत्त्व प्रधान or रजः प्रधान or तमः प्रधान. Whatever lifestyle you choose must be in harmony with your स्वभाव, then alone there will not be a strain in your personality. Otherwise you cannot survive in that for long time, you will kick that and change your profession or remain in that and change your activity, something you will do. Therefore he says: स्वेन कर्मणा निबद्धः – everyone is bound by his own type of कर्म, a particular type of कर्म or activity, everyone is bound and this कर्म is determined by what, स्वभावजेन – it is determined by the स्वभाव and this स्वभाव will not go away even after ज्ञानम्. A very interesting thing that you can watch, even ज्ञानिन्स have got their own स्वभाव. No doubt they have gained the knowledge, I am not the body, I am not the mind, I am the आत्मा which is निर्गुण, but even though they know I am

निर्गुण आत्मा, they possess a body-mind-complex which has got a particular स्वभाव. And this स्वभाव will decide what the ज्ञानि, even ज्ञानि does after ज्ञानम्. So there are so ज्ञानिs who are withdrawn, their nature is withdrawal, therefore they don't want to remain in the society, they go ऋषीकेश, they go to उत्तरकाशि or they go to गंगोत्रि, there are some स्वामिs who live round the year they live in गंगोत्रि only. In fact, for six months in a year, that place is not even inaccessible, surrounded by six feet snow and yet they remain there. You cannot see a single human being for six months, you will get mad, you will not be able to talk to even a single person or else you will talk in the sleep. So we have to talk to someone, but there are some स्वामिs like that and there are some other ज्ञानिs, they are ज्ञानिs all right but still their स्वभाव is they would love to be in the society and they would love to be active and there are स्वामिs and स्वामिs who have travelled round India, they have travelled the world, in fact, they have been busier than the most busy executive. What makes one ज्ञानि active ज्ञानि and one ज्ञानि a passive withdrawn ज्ञानि, even that is decided by स्वभाव and therefore कृष्ण here says: You are bound the activities by स्वभाव and कर्तुम् न इच्छसि – if you don't want to do that action, which is governed by स्वभाव. मोहात् – it is because of your delusion, you are trying to avoid what cannot be avoided and what is that you cannot avoid, your स्वभाव and स्वभाव based lifestyle you cannot avoid and if you try to escape from that, it is मोहः, it is delusion and will not succeed in that, you go anywhere, your स्वभाव will push you into activity. You change from ब्रह्मचर्य to गृहस्थ आश्रम; imagine a person who is highly सात्त्विक and you send him to गृहस्थ आश्रम, he will be misfit in गृहस्थ आश्रम and it will be a trouble for the wife, always to push him out of the house for activity. Therefore, if संन्यास स्वभाव is there and you put him in the गृहस्थ आश्रम, it is problem for all and कर्म स्वभाव is there, if you put him in an आश्रमम्, it will not work, it is impossible and therefore कृष्ण says, करिष्यसि – you will take to that action which you tried to avoid, you will take to that action, अवशः अपि – helplessly. A राजसिक person will be busy, whether one is ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम, गृहस्थ आश्रम, वानप्रस्थ आश्रम, or even संन्यास आश्रम and why don't you accept your स्वभाव and take to a lifestyle in harmony with स्वभाव. Therefore don't take to संन्यास, be here and do your duty, get the wisdom and be free. This is कृष्ण's advise. The details in the next class.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 61-64

In this 18th chapter of the गीता, Lord कृष्ण is summarizing the entire गीता teaching, which mainly consists of two-fold साधन, कर्मयोग, the first one and ज्ञानयोग, the second one. And कर्मयोग contributes to the preparation of the mind, which we called ज्ञानयोग्यता प्राप्ति and ज्ञानयोग is the primary साधन through which we have ज्ञानप्राप्ति: and ज्ञानम् alone gives liberation. This is the main teaching. And any other spiritual साधन that we know will have to fall within one of these two alone. If somebody talks about pilgrimage, going to बद्री, केदार, रामेश्वरम्, etc., it will have to come under कर्मयोग, if a person practices प्राणायाम, etc., it will come under कर्मयोग, if a person does a variety of social service, it will come under कर्मयोग, if a person sings भजन्s, it will come under कर्मयोग, if a person performs a variety of वैदिक rituals it will come under कर्मयोग only. All the other साधनs will come under कर्मयोग and any साधन which will indirectly help in ज्ञानप्राप्ति, that all will come under ज्ञानयोग. If you are studying संस्कृत language, generally people won't come near and even if they come, they will get वैशग्यम् at the shortest time. Even though it is not directly the study of the scriptures, when you are studying language to help you in ज्ञानयोग, that will be a part of ज्ञानयोग, equipping yourselves intellectually. You study, तर्क शास्त्र, मीमांसा शास्त्र, all for understanding original text or शङ्कराचार्य भाष्यम्, they all come under ज्ञानयोग, because it helps you in gaining ज्ञानम् and if you are studying the गीता text by-heart or उपनिषत् text by-heart that also will help you in doing this enquiry. Therefore it will come under ज्ञानयोग. In short, all the साधनs should fall under these two alone. That is why Lord कृष्ण said in the 3rd chapter:

लोकेऽस्मिन् द्विविधा निष्ठा पुरा प्रोक्ता मया नम ।

ज्ञानयोगेन साङ्ख्यानां कर्मयोगेन योगिनाम् ॥ ३-३॥

He only mentioned these two योगs. And in the 12th chapter, I talked about भक्तियोग and there I mentioned भक्तियोग is not an independent or separate साधन, but it is a common name given to कर्मयोग plus ज्ञानयोग. The beginning stage of भक्तियोग is called कर्मयोग and the advanced stage of भक्तियोग is called ज्ञानयोग, there is no भक्तियोग as a separate योग I said and therefore the essence of गीता is कर्मयोग plus ज्ञानयोग is equal to liberation. And since भगवद्गीता is a teaching borrowed from the original scriptures known as the वेदs, that you should not forget, वेदs are the original scriptures, गीता has borrowed from the वेदs. So when I say गीतासार, it is also वेदसार, essence of वेद also is the same, what is that कर्मयोग plus ज्ञानयोग is equal to liberation. कर्मयोग dealt with in वेद-पूर्व and ज्ञानयोग dealt with in वेद-अन्त भाग. And since these two are the primary साधनs, in the 18th chapter, कृष्ण is talking about these two repeatedly. कर्मयोग itself He talks three times and ज्ञानयोग also He repeats and towards the end also, He is again and again summaries these two only. And from verse no.50 to 55, we saw the summary of ज्ञानयोग, emphasizing the Vedantic meditation or निदिध्यासनम् and now कृष्ण reverts back to कर्मयोग topic once again from verse no.56 to 62. Previously from verse no.41 to 49, He talked about कर्मयोग, He is repeating that from 56 to 62, with only a slight difference, there He emphasized स्वधर्म here emphasizing भक्ति or the attitude of devotion. And there we saw verse no.60 in which कृष्ण said अर्जुन you will have to do कर्म in life because कर्म alone contributes to the purification of the mind, you have to contribute to the society through some form or the other form of कर्म and since you cannot escape कर्म, better choose a कर्म which will suit your personality and that is why depending upon सत्त्व प्रधान or रज प्रधान, you choose one profession or the other. If you don't know how to choose, go by heredity, जाति-wise you choose कर्म, जाति means heredity or गुण-wise you choose your कर्म and in this 60th verse, कृष्ण emphasized स्वभाव or गुण based choice of profession, by गुण we mean your aptitude or your inclination. And as I said, we emphasize the inclination because only then you love your profession. If you choose a profession merely for the sake of money, your life is something and your profession is something, there is a constant strain in the personality and as I said, you always look for the week end, because by Friday you are weakened, you will be tired because whenever you do something which you don't like, in one hour you will be tired. Whenever you do something you don't like, you will be tired in one hour, when you do something you love even 18 hours a day you don't feel that. And therefore कृष्ण tells अर्जुन, your गुण is रजोगुण and if you go to हिमालय cave and try to meditate, it won't work, therefore don't unnecessarily try to run away. So स्वभावजेन स्वेन कर्मणा निबद्धः – you are bound by a profession which is born out of your स्वभाव, therefore don't try to go against your nature. Remember, this argument should not be abused and a thief should not argue, my aptitude is in picking the pocket, etc. Then the police will say our aptitude is putting you in jail, therefore remember, whatever aptitude which falls within धर्म, if I tend to love anything which is अधार्मिक, then even if it is my inclination, I have to change. As long as it is a धार्मिक one, you can choose a profession which is धार्मिक and which is also in keeping with your life. मनुस्मृति beautifully says, आत्मनः प्रियम् च, any profession you choose you should like also. And if you say, I got a job I don't like, because the employment market, getting the job is itself difficult, where is the question of choosing, if you get a job that you don't like, what to do: I have told you the method, learn to love the job you got. In fact, you can like anything. As दयानन्द स्वामिजि says, even cockroach you can like. Anything, you can change your mind to like. Therefore, अर्जुन, your profession has to be क्षत्रिय profession and if you try to escape from that, you will not be able to do that, अवशः अपि तत् करिष्यसि – helplessly you will fight, instead of in कुरुक्षेत्र, in the forest you will fight with somebody or the other. That you do it here itself. Up to this we saw. Continuing; Verse.no 61;

Verse No .61

ईश्वरः सर्वभूतानां हृद्देशेऽर्जुन तिष्ठति ।

भ्रामयन्सर्वभूतानि यन्त्रारूढानि मायया ॥ १८-६१॥

ईश्वरः सर्वभूतानाम् हृत्-देशे अर्जुन तिष्ठति ।

भ्रामयन् सर्वभूतानि यन्त्र-आरूढानि मायया ॥ १८-६१॥

हे अर्जुन! यन्त्र-आरूढानि सर्वभूतानि मायया भ्रामयन् ईश्वरः सर्व-भूतानाम् हृत्-देशे तिष्ठति ।

So once you have chosen a profession or any work through which you have decided to serve the society, because purity is only by giving, by taking mind can never be purified, त्यागेन एव चित्तशुद्धि, त्यागेन एव मोक्षः also, any kind of spiritual growth requires giving. Therefore through any type of profession you contribute to the society and that will be called कर्म, but it is not enough that you do कर्म, it has to be converted into योगः. And how do you convert कर्म into कर्मयोग? That method कृष्ण gives in these two verses and that method is converting that कर्म into an offering unto the Lord. The very profession should become a type of flower and your performance should become an offering to the Lord. And if you convert it into an offering, two things will happen. The first thing is you should not do it with curse, because it is going to the Lord and therefore it should be done sincerely and wholeheartedly. And not only that, it should be done cheerfully also. An indication of कर्मयोगि is cheerfulness and sincerity. You should not say that for the salary they give, this kind of work is enough! Salary is incidental, we don't say salary is not required. Three times or four times or many times a day we get hungry. Therefore nobody says money is not required. The quality of the work should never be tied to the compensation, because compensation is looked upon as अवान्तर फलम् or a by-product, the primary purpose is worship of the Lord, therefore be sincere and be cheerful, whatever be the profession and if I have to offer to the Lord to which temple I should go, in office there is no picture of the Lord etc., if you say, Lord कृष्ण says, you need not go in search of any shrine or temple, because the original residence of God, you know what, you will say वैकुण्ठ or कैलास, बद्रीनाथ, or रामेश्वरम्, Lord कृष्ण says that the original residence of the Lord is your own heart and in the heart which is otherwise called the mind, the original Lord is there in the form of साक्षि चैतन्यम्.

सत्यम् ज्ञानम् अनन्तम् ब्रह्म । यो वेद निहितम् गुहायाम् परमे व्योमन् ॥
तैत्तिरीयोपनिषत् २-१-१ ॥

All the other residences are not the real residences of the Lord. The only place is your own heart, therefore कृष्ण says: हे अर्जुन! Note this very clearly, ईश्वरः हृत्-देशे तिष्ठति – to practice कर्मयोग and to offer your कर्म to the Lord, you don't require idols or pictures or shrines or temples, we are chanting daily before the class, आत्मा त्वम् गिरिजा मतिः सहचराः प्राणाः शरीरम् गृहम्, शरीरम् is the गृहम्, देहो देवालयः प्रोक्तः body is the temple, जीवो देवः सनातनः the very जीवात्मा is none other than the परमात्मा. Therefore हृत्-देशे, हृदय देशे, why कृष्ण says हृदयम्, because according to the scriptures, हृदय is the place of the mind. The location of the mind, according to the शास्त्र is not the brain, but it is the heart, which heart, right side or left side? One heart you have. That heart only is the स्थानम्. Then the question will come, the Lord resides in the heart of only महात्माs and ज्ञानिs, I should have a महात्मा or a ज्ञानि around. That doubt may come. कृष्ण says, No No, Lord resides in the heart of everyone, सर्व-भूतानाम् हृत्-देशे – whether one is a saint or a sinner, a criminal or a scholar, in everybody's heart the Lord is there, the only difference in the case of a saint, he has purified the mind and therefore Lord's presence more manifest, whereas in the case of people, whose minds are full of impurities, Lord is not absent, but Lord's presence is not manifest. It is like a gold which is old one, old-gold and also the gold that has been refurnished, that gold has extra shine, there is no difference in the gold, in one place the gold is manifest because it has been cleaned, in the other it is not not. Therefore कृष्ण says in your heart also, God is fortunately there. हे अर्जुन! हृदय देशे, is equal to अन्तःकरणे, in what form He is there? साक्षि चैतन्य रूपेण – in the form of witness-Consciousness, witness of what? The witness of the presence of thoughts as well as the witness of the absence of thoughts, every thought is known by Me and even the absence of thought is known by Me, it is known because of which awareness, that awaring Consciousness is ईश्वरः तिष्ठति. What does the Lord do? He says: सर्वभूतानि भ्रामयन् – enlivening all the living being, remaining in the heart the Lord enlivens every living being. By enlivening we mean the Lord lends Consciousness. Because the physical body by itself is inert-principle, it doesn't have a life of its own, that is what we see after death the body is decaying matter, the mind doesn't have Consciousness of its own, the sense organs are also made up of subtle matter and all these material vestures are now live and sentient, because of borrowed Consciousness, if they enjoy borrowed Consciousness, there must be somebody to lend. So कृष्ण says here the One who lends Consciousness is called आत्मा, therefore भ्रामयन् means what: enlivening, energizing, activating, which alone, we beautifully read in केनोपनिषत्,

श्रोत्रस्य श्रोत्रम् मनसो मनो यद् वाचो ह वाचम् स उ प्राणस्य प्राणः ॥
केनोपनिषत् १-२ ॥

Eye is eye because of Consciousness, ears are ears because of Consciousness and if that Consciousness or life is absent, the ears are there but no hearing, eyes are there but no seeing, the doctor opens the eye lid and uses the torch and see and no response at all. Therefore भ्रामयन्, भ्रामयन् means activating all the भूतानि, here भूतानि means what: स्थूल, सूक्ष्म शरीराणि, which are जड by themselves. And how does the Lord activate? An example is given, यन्त्र-आरूढानि इव, you have to supply the word इव, like the dolls which are activated by a machine inside, like dolls which have been activated by a machine or battery, just wind and then leave the doll, it will talk, walk and do everything or even the robots, like that they don't have life of their own, but because of the battery inside, the fan doesn't have the power of its own, but there is the electricity inside, similarly, the bodies are activated by the Lord. But here a doubt may come, once we give the puppet example it can be misunderstood. There is a chance of misinterpretation if one does not pay proper attention. So, स्वामिजि you say all of us are puppets and भगवान् is making all us active, therefore all the bad कर्मs that are done by the individuals, who must take responsibility? भगवान् is only making the thief do the thievery. Then who should be imprisoned? Doubt will arise. Therefore very careful, I have analyzed this elaborately in the 11th chapter. I have discussed, निमित्त-मात्रम् भव सव्य-साचिन्, we should remember, भगवान् is only lending general life or Consciousness to us, but the type of action that we do is not determined by भगवान्, but it is determined by our free-will only. And what is the example that we give? Like the petrol in the car, petrol energizes the car and gives the power to the car for its running, but petrol does not determine the direction of the running, it is determined by the driver, भगवान् is not the driver, भगवान् is like the petrol who enlivens, but whether I should do good or bad actions, who should decide, I should decide. Therefore भगवान् is called सामान्य कारणम्, our free-will is called विशेष कारणम्. So this verse is talking about भगवान् as the सामान्य कारणम्. He is like the petrol who enlivens all the vehicles. And how does भगवान् do all these things? मायया – because of His माया शक्ति, भगवान् is not only able to create all the world and the body, but He is able to enliven also, because of His माया शक्ति. Continuing;

Verse No .62

तमेव शरणं गच्छ सर्वभावेन भारत ।

तत्प्रसादात्परां शान्तिं स्थानं प्राप्स्यसि शाश्वतम् ॥ १८-६२॥

तम् एव शरणम् गच्छ सर्व-भावेन भारत ।

तत् प्रसादात् पराम् शान्तिम् स्थानम् प्राप्स्यसि शाश्वतम् ॥ १८-६२॥

हे भारत! (त्वं) तम् एव सर्व-भावेन शरणम् गच्छ । तत् प्रसादात् पराम् शान्तिम् शाश्वतम् स्थानम् (च) प्राप्स्यसि ।

And what should you do? Since that Lord is there in your heart enlivening your body and mind, you offer all the कर्मs to that Lord and also take the support of the Lord in your spiritual progress. That Lord alone has to give you वित्तशुद्धि through your कर्म. Because भगवान् is the कर्म-फल-धाता, every कर्म can produce two types of पुण्यम्, one is called spiritual पुण्यम् and another is called material पुण्यम्. Material पुण्यम् is that which will give you all the material benefit, house, family, etc. and again spiritual पुण्यम् means what: opportunity to study the गीता. And also the capacity to come here, if you are coming here, it is because of what: पुण्यम्, may be of this जन्म or your earlier जन्मs (if you have any doubts of this जन्म), some time we have done. So the Lord has to give you वित्तशुद्धि, therefore surrender to the Lord by saying, ममोपात समस्त दुरितक्षयद्वारा, let राग-द्वेष काम-क्रोधs all go away. Therefore कृष्ण says, तम् एव शरणम् गच्छ – may you take refuge in that Lord by offering all the कर्मs to that Lord, तम् एव – that Lord. What is meant by that Lord? The Lord described in the previous श्लोक. Who is the Lord described in the previous श्लोक? The heart residing Lord, the Resident of the heart; to that Lord may you offer. तम् एव शरणम् गच्छ. And what type of surrender it should be? सर्व-भावेन – wholeheartedly, sincerely, with श्रद्धा and भक्ति may you offer. Whether that कर्म will give you material benefits or not we don't know, but if you offer the कर्म to the Lord spiritual growth is definite, material successes and failures are dependent on so many other factors. That is why in spite of our शरणागति also failures come materially. स्वामिजि, I broke the coconut to the Lord and then only started, yet I failed. Material results may come or may not come, because we don't how powerful is the obstacles, but spiritual growth is not a doubtful thing, it is definite,

न इह अभिक्रम-नाशः अस्ति प्रत्यवायः न विद्यते ।

स्वल्पम् अपि अस्य धर्मस्य त्रायते महतः भयात् ॥ २-४०॥

In the 2nd chapter भगवान् said. Therefore सर्व-भावेन, भाव means what: भक्ति or reverential attitude, सर्व-भावेन means wholeheartedly (if you are writing wholeheartedly, be careful about the spelling, it is w.. h.. o.. l.. e, not h..o..l..e, there should not be a hole in the heart!). So, wholeheartedly you surrender to me and तत् प्रसादात् and once you hand over the responsibility to the Lord, Lord will take you step by step. He will give विवेकम् in good measure, all the वैराग्यम् that are absent will be given and replenished, He will give शमादि षट्क सम्पत्ति, then मुमुक्षुत्वम्. All the qualifications will be given, at the appropriate time गुरु will be given, opportunity for knowledge, everything भगवान् will give, you are in safe hands. तत् प्रसादात् – by ईश्वर अनुग्रहः. And even if you don't know what is the next step, भगवान् knows like purchasing the right ticket and getting into the right train, you need not know what are the stations to be crossed, the driver will take you through the appropriate stations, भगवान् will accompany and take you. So, तत् प्रसादात् – by His grace you will reach the destination. What is the destination? शाश्वतम् स्थानम् प्राप्स्यसि – the permanent or the infinite goal of मोक्ष, the destination of मोक्ष, the eternal, you will attain. And what is the indication of मोक्ष? Whether it has come or not, how will you know? Will there be any color change in my skin? कृष्ण says the indication of मोक्ष is पराम् शान्तिम् – spiritual progress is indicated by abiding relaxation, abiding peace, abiding poise, abiding equanimity is the indication of मोक्ष. Therefore कृष्ण says: पराम् शान्तिम् प्राप्स्यसि. How? By going through all the necessary steps which is चित्तशुद्धि, then गुरु प्राप्ति, is the next step, then श्रवण प्राप्ति, means listening and then it should lead to ज्ञान प्राप्ति, which will lead to मोक्ष प्राप्ति, these are the various stations that you will go through. With this कृष्ण concludes the कर्मयोग summary, which he started from verse no.56. Continuing;

Verse No .63

इति ते ज्ञानमाख्यातं गुह्याद्गुह्यतरं मया ।

विमृश्यैतदशेषेण यथेच्छसि तथा कुरु ॥ १८-६३॥

इति ते ज्ञानम् आख्यातम् गुह्यात् गुह्यतरं मया ।

विमृश्य एतत् अशेषेण यथा इच्छसि तथा कुरु ॥ १८-६३॥

इति गुह्यात् गुह्यतरं ज्ञानम् मया ते आख्यातम्, एतत् अशेषेण विमृश्य यथा इच्छसि तथा कुरु ।

Now कृष्ण wants to formally conclude the गीता teaching in these four verses 63 to 66. He is formally concluding, because he has repeated कर्मयोग three times. He started 18th chapter with कर्मयोग, but with a new name (I don't know whether you remember), and that name was सात्त्विक संन्यास and thereafter he summarized कर्मयोग a second time, from 41 to 49 and third time, he summarized from 56 to 62. Three times He has given कर्मयोग summary. Then ज्ञानयोग also He summarized twice, from verse 13 to 17, He summarized one time and then from 50 to 55, He summarized again. Now he feels summary itself I have repeated several times and अर्जुन is intelligent enough and therefore it is not necessary again to repeat, thinking so कृष्ण Himself concludes with इति – thus, in this manner, ज्ञानम् ते आख्यातम् – I have given you the गीता teaching. So very valuable important गीता teaching I have imparted to you, which started from 2nd chapter 11th verse, इति should be taken as beginning from the 2nd chapter 11th verse, what is the verse? अशोच्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं up to the previous verse i.e., 18th chapter 62nd verse, I have very elaborately taught you the गीता शास्त्र, which is the सार of the वेदs. And don't take this teaching for granted, just because I have so easily given to you and also I have not charged you, for anything uncharged the value is less!! so therefore just because I have not charged you and just because I have immediately accepted to teach you, the moment you said शिष्यस्तेऽहम् I started अशोच्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं, therefore don't take this teaching for granted, this is the rarest teaching, गुह्यतरम् ज्ञानम्, गुह्यतरम् means greatest secret, there are so many secrets in the world and in the मन्त्र शास्त्र also the मन्त्रs are not revealed, all those secrets are there, but this आत्मज्ञानम् is more secret than all other secrets. Therefore गुह्यात् गुह्यतरम् – rare teaching I have given to you and ultimately I don't want to tell you what you should do. अर्जुन's question was what, should I fight or should I not?

तत् एकम् वद निश्चित्य येन श्रेयः अहम् आप्नयाम् ॥ ३-२॥

Here कृष्ण says: I don't want to tell you, do this or do that, because you are a thinking human being, you should not lead your life based on other people's advices. If you have to live by other people's advices, then why should I give you बुद्धि, I would not have given you बुद्धि. Since I have given you intellect and the thinking power, you draw information or knowledge from all sources, you use the other people to learn but every decision ultimately you yourself should make, you should be responsible for your life. We are not like dogs, so you are not a puppet or a dog, you are a thinking human being and not only that, if I take decisions for you, you will ultimately depend upon me for every small thing, including, what dress I should wear today. In India it happens, age is above 60, षष्ट्यब्दपूर्ति is over, but even for small decisions, I have to consult my mother and father, they will say, that is not the correct thing, up to a particular age when I cannot think and decide I can go by others' advices, but beyond that age I have to decide. Then does that mean that I should not listen to other people? Listen to others, elders are there, parents are there, गुरुs are there, शास्त्रs are there, listen to all, gather input from everyone but you should decide and also you should face the consequences of your decision and generally our problem is we don't have the courage to face the consequences. Therefore we always blame someone. Here कृष्ण says: अर्जुन, I am not going to decide for you. My aim is educate you and not to command you and therefore एतत् अशेषेण विमृश्य – whatever I have taught, you analyze and you find out where you stand in spiritual ladder, because the decision will depend upon the spiritual level of the person. Until चित्तशुद्धि, कर्म is important. After चित्तशुद्धि, one has to gradually reduce कर्म. Whether I should do more कर्म or more Vedantic study is not a uniform advice, since the level of the student varies, for one person he should increase कर्म for another person he has to decrease कर्म. So how can we give uniform advice? A doctor cannot say that all the people with the headache should take aspirin, that is dangerous because, headache can be caused by 2500 causes, including family members, the spouse itself can cause headache. So how will aspirin help? Therefore, remember, there is no uniform spiritual advice, for one श्रवणम् is more important, for one कर्म is important, for one जप is important. Therefore you should understand what is the role of every साधन and I should introspect and see where I stand and accordingly I have to decide. Therefore कृष्ण says, एतत् विमृश्य – understand this very well by analysis and thereafter यथा इच्छसि – whatever you decide as the appropriate course of action for you, according to your need. यथा इच्छसि तथा कुरु, so this is the job of every elderly person. So there are many people dependent on us for their decision, we can certainly help others in taking decisions, but ultimately, they should not depend on us, they should be able to decide by themselves, because we are not going to be permanently there, our children cannot eternally ask us for everything, they must be able to decide. Giving independence to others is appropriate education, but if I have to give independence to others, I should be strong enough, because we are dependent on others depending on us. Do you understand? I will repeat. We are dependent on others depending on us. So our son regularly was asking, now after marriage he is not consulting us, but his wife, previously he was asking the mother for advice, now he is asking the wife. The mother gets angry, angry with the daughter-in-law, until her arrival he used to ask my advice for everything, now she feels neglected because of the daughter-in-law. Our problem is we want others to depend upon us. Wanting to be wanted is a form of संसार. Wanting to be wanted by others is a form of संसार and as long as I want to be wanted by others I will keep them under my control, for each and every thing you should ask me and do, thus we order. कृष्ण says: That is not at all correct, gradually help them to become independent of you. Healthy parenting is making the children independent of the parent, healthy teaching is making the student independent of the teacher. कृष्ण says I am a true teacher, therefore I am not going to command you, यथा इच्छसि तथा कुरु. Continuing;

Verse No .64

सर्वगुह्यतमं भूयः शृणु मे परमं वचः ।

इष्टोऽसि मे दृढमिति ततो वक्ष्यामि ते हितम् ॥ १८-६४॥

सर्वगुह्यतमम् भूयः शृणु मे परमम् वचः ।

इष्टः असि मे दृढम् इति ततः वक्ष्यामि ते हितम् ॥ १८-६४॥

सर्वगुह्यतमम् परमम् वचः मे भूयः शृणु । मे दृढम् इष्टः असि, इति ततः ते हितम् वक्ष्यामि ।

So कृष्ण gave freedom to अर्जुन in the previous श्लोक. And that means what? Now अर्जुन has to use his free-will and remember free-will is that which can be used or which can be abused also. In fact, स्वामि दयानन्द describes free-will as that which can be abused. And therefore कृष्ण gave the freedom, but still out of compassion, कृष्ण is worried, अर्जुन after learning all these 18 chapters, thoughtfully he may choose the wrong course. Like that example, the ceiling is very low, the door is very low therefore, they said, be careful, ceiling is very low, therefore you have to bend your head and this person wanted to be careful, so he bent his head from here itself and then what did he do? Exactly when he came under the room, he raised his head and got bumped. So there are two mistakes, one is called thoughtless mistake, other is called thoughtful mistake. So, कृष्ण is worried, अर्जुन may after 18 chapters may decide wrongly, therefore once again, He doesn't want to command, 'you fight' He doesn't want to say, therefore he says once again I will summarize the गीता; everything is over. मङ्गलम् has been sung. He says, 'once again.' Therefore भूयः – once again, सर्व-गुह्यतमम् शृणु – the greatest secret of this teaching, परमम् वचः – My greatest words, my supreme words, which is the rarest one, मे शृणु – listen to Me, hear from Me. And why कृष्ण is repeating again and again? Does कृष्ण wants to be wanted or will कृष्ण be affected by अर्जुन's wrong decisions? When we try to give freedom to our children, what is our problem, we are willing to give freedom but our worry is what, if they make a wrong decision, we are going to be hurt, that is why we are hesitating to give freedom, I can give freedom to the children only when my heart is ready, I will not be affected when the children make wrong decisions. Similarly, the गुरु can give total freedom to the disciple, only when the गुरु is not going to be affected by the wrong decisions. Therefore कृष्ण says here that not because I will be affected by your wrong decision, whatever you take decisions I will not be affected, but still I am repeating because इष्टः असि – because of My compassion towards you and also you have taken refuge in Me. Therefore I feel responsible, therefore मे इष्टः असि and that too not ordinarily दृढम् – you are very very dear to Me and therefore, not because I will be affected by your decision, भगवान् will never be affected by anybody's right or wrong decision, He has given us all freedom, He says you do what you want, but be ready to face the consequences. I have given you the correct warning, I have written correctly in the board, you take the decision and face the consequences. ततः ते हितम् वक्ष्यामि – I am telling you what is good for you. And what is that? He is going to summarize once again, the entire गीता.

Verse No .65

मन्मना भव मद्भक्तो मद्याजी मां नमस्कुरु ।

मामेवैष्यसि सत्यं ते प्रतिजाने प्रियोऽसि मे ॥ १८-६५॥

मत्-मनाः भव मत्-भक्तः मत्-याजी माम् नमस्कुरु ।

माम् एव एष्यसि सत्यम् ते प्रतिजाने प्रियः असि मे ॥ १८-६५॥

मत्-मनाः, मत्-भक्तः, मत्-याजी (च) भव, माम् नमस्कुरु (एवं कृत्वा त्वं) माम् एव एष्यसि । (इति) ते सत्यम् प्रतिजाने, (यतः त्वं) मे प्रियः असि ।

These two verses are the final final final summary of the गीता, considered to be one of the important श्लोकs, both 65 and 66 are very important. The 65th verse summarizes कर्मयोगः and 66th verse summarizes ज्ञानयोगः. So, previously he had several verses to summarize to कर्मयोग and several verses to summarize to ज्ञानयोग, but now here one verse summary of कर्मयोग and one verse summary of ज्ञानयोग. That means these two verses contain the entire गीता! So even if you forget the गीता, which you should not, even if you forget then these two verses are सार सार. And in this कर्मयोग summary, कृष्ण tells a God-centered lifestyle is कर्मयोग. An active God-centered lifestyle in which I contribute to the society, which is the first stage of life, an active God-centered lifestyle in which I contribute to the society is कर्मयोग. Then what will be ज्ञानयोग? A withdrawn knowledge-centered lifestyle will be called ज्ञानयोग, in the next verse. So this is the essence. The exact meaning of the verse, we will do in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णत्पूर्णमुदव्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 65-66

Up to the 64th verse of the 18th chapter, Lord कृष्ण summarized the entire भगवद्गीता teaching consisting of two main साधनs, viz., कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोग. He summarized कर्मयोग three times in this chapter and He summarized ज्ञानयोग twice in this chapter and Lord कृष्ण feels satisfied with his summary and therefore He told अर्जुन that I have told everything that I wanted to say. I don't want to impose any idea upon you, I don't want to impose any decision upon you, you have to make your decision based upon My teaching. Therefore कृष्ण said विमृश्य एतत् अशेषेण यथा इच्छसि तथा कुरु, I am only a गुरु to enlighten you but I am not here to take decisions on behalf of you. And after saying this much, कृष्ण is still worried in a corner of His mind. Even though predominantly He feels confident that He has taught him well, but still कृष्ण feels a little bit diffidence, after hearing all the 18th chapters perhaps अर्जुन may take a wrong decision and therefore once again कृष्ण feels like summarizing the entire गीता, for which He gave in the introduction in the 64th verse, सर्व-गुह्यतमम् भूयः शृणु, even though I have completed My teaching, but still on parting I will summarize the whole teaching once again, which कृष्ण wants to give in the next two verses, i.e., the 65th and 66th verse, which is going to be the final summary of the भगवद्गीता and as I said in the last class, the 65th verse is the summary of the कर्मयोग and the 66th verse is the summary of the ज्ञानयोग. Both are very important verses, we will see now. Verse no.65;

मन्मना भव मद्भक्तो मद्याजी मां नमस्कुरु ।

मामेवैष्यसि सत्यं ते प्रतिजाने प्रियोऽसि मे ॥ १८-६५॥

So in this verse, Lord कृष्ण summarizes कर्मयोग which is nothing but a religious way of life, a God-centered way of life. And this religious way of life which कृष्ण has been teaching in all these chapters, begins with two main साधनs, the religious way of life begins with two main साधनs.

➤ One साधन is allotting its exclusively some time daily for prayer, allotting daily exclusively some time for prayer. So prayer is the first साधन for religious life. Depending upon the convenience it may be half an hour or one hour or three quarter of an hour, it is compulsory for a religious way of life. No excuses are allowed. And preferably, the time allotted should be in the morning, so that the impact of the prayer will continue throughout the day. So if one can allot time twice a day, wonderful, but if it is only once, preferably in the morning and that too preferably before or during the sunrise, which means we have to get up early. So watching TV till 1 a.m. HBO or AXN and then getting up 10 a.m. in the morning, that business won't work out. Get up either before or during the sunrise and allot some time for prayer, it can be in the form of पूजा, if one knows or it can be in the form of पाठ्यणम्, reading the scriptures or it can be in the form of जप and if the नाम जप is done mentally, it becomes a form of ध्यानम् also. जप itself is ध्यानम् when it is done mentally. So this is one important साधन, I will call it prayer.

➤ The second important साधन of religious life which people do not emphasize now-a-days is a thorough study of the भगवद्गीता, which is called the स्वाध्याय, which is called ब्रह्म यज्ञः, we are supposed to study the original वेदs themselves. But, since the भगवद्गीता is the essence of the वेदs, one गीता book thorough, complete, comprehensive study, by study I don't mean learning to chant, I mean the learning of the meaning of the शास्त्र is second, compulsory and important religious साधन.

So prayer and study of the गीता,

गेयम् गीता नाम सहस्रम् भगवद्गीता किञ्चिदधीता ।

शङ्कराचार्य tells in भजगोविन्दम्, everyone of you should study the गीता. So prayer and गीता study is the beginning of religious life. And if a person begins with this, sooner or later, a person finds a big transformation in life. Because by the study of the scriptures, one begins to know more about oneself, more about the world and more about God - जीव, जगत्, ईश्वर are understood more clearly and which brings about a total transformation in our perspective or outlook and not only there is a transformation in the outlook, there is a transformation with regard to our perspective of life and its goal. For what purposes we live, what should we achieve. With regard to life and its goals also there will be a transformation in the outlook. This is the next stage of religious life.

And when a person continues these two, which two? Prayer and study, which are compulsory throughout, like the तम्बुर श्रुति it should be there, not only there will be a transformation in perspective, God enters the life of that person. God is no more someone distantly present beyond the cloud, God becomes an integral part of this life. God becomes a companion or partner in his or her life and God in the form of इष्ट देवता, in the form of राम or कृष्ण becomes an integral part, his regular prayer includes:

वनमाली गदी शार्ङ्गी शङ्खी चक्री च नन्दकी ।

श्रीमान् नारायणो विष्णुर्वासुदेवोऽभिरक्षतु ॥श्रीविष्णुसहस्रनामस्तोत्रम् १०८॥

God is my primary companion and help. Other people may be available, may not be available, my primary companion and my primary relationship is God alone, in the form of my इष्ट देवता. This is the entry of God as a partner or companion, this is the next stage.

And if a person continues to the religious life, sooner or later, he discovers God is not only my companion in my life, the scriptures point out that God is the ultimate goal of life also. Previously I considered God is only a companion in accomplishing worldly goals, God was never considered a goal at all. Goals are different. God is only a companion to help me in achieving the goal, but sooner or later, God is discovered not only as a companion and a help, but God occupies the list of my goals of life. There are so many goals, 7847 goals are there (just a number, you can put any number) and in that list, previously God was not included, God is only a help in fulfilling these goals, but now God is not only a companion but God enters the list of my goals. The moment enters the list of my goals, God gets a new name, God as a goal is called मोक्ष. The moment God enters the list of goals, God is given a new name. What is the name of God now? मोक्ष. And once God or मोक्ष has entered my list of goals, I am called a spiritually religious person. Until now, I am only an ordinary religious person, not spiritually religious. An ordinary religious person is converted into spiritually religious person, when? When God is no more a mere companion, God is my goal also. When God or मोक्ष is one of the goals, I am called a मुमुक्षु. So this religious person has now become a मुमुक्षु, the moment God has become one of the goals of life and still he will continue the fundamental religious साधन. What are the two? Remember, prayer and study, that should be continued. Then what happens?

God was occupying my list of goals as one of the goals of life and in the list, it was occupying some remote position. If there are 7847 goals, God occupied the 7847th position and if this religious life continues, the ranking of God improves. Poor God also is ranked by us. So from 7847th, it become 46th, then 45th God climbs the ladder, as my rating of God as human goals increases. And after several months or years or decades or perhaps जन्मs, God reaches the top of the list. So instead of being one of the goals of life, God becomes the top primary goal and as a मुमुक्षु also, he has evolved from मन्द मुमुक्षु to मध्यम मुमुक्षु, मन्द मुमुक्षु to मध्यम मुमुक्षु. What is the difference? For a मन्द मुमुक्षु, God is one of the goals, somewhere down below, but for a मध्यम मुमुक्षु, spiritual seeker, God occupies the topmost position, it is the greatest पुरुषार्थ. And still he should continue the religious life, consisting of two things. What are those two things? Prayer and study, which should not be left out. Then what will happen?

Once God-desire occupies the top goal of life, gradually the God-desire gets stronger and stronger and stronger, the religious life nourishes the God-desire and as it is nourished, what will it do? The God-desire begins to eat up the other desires. God-desire begins to eat up the other desires. How many? 7847 (till this class finishes I will keep that number), 7846 down below are there, what will it do? This desire becomes so significant and all-consuming and obsessive that slowly, other worldly desires will begin to appear smaller and insignificant, just as for a grown up person, desire for toys will gradually drop and you don't have any regret also, you do have any regret, in those days I had desire for toys, now that desire is gone, not only it has gone, you don't have any regrets, in fact, even you don't publicize it everyone, "you know, I don't have toy desire.? If you publicize, it means some problem is there. So this is called transcendence or growing out of finite and smaller desires and all of them are consumed by what? मोक्ष इच्छा, ईश्वर इच्छा or मुमुक्षुत्वम् and a time comes when all other goals disappear and in the entire list there is only one goal and what is that? God or मोक्ष. And when it is only one goal, can you call it the topmost goal? When you say topmost, there should be a list, then only top or bottom comes. There is no list at all, there is only one. From topmost goal to only goal. How is the progress? One of the goals to topmost goal to only goal.

When God is one of the goals, the person is called मन्द मुमुक्षु. When God or मोक्ष is the topmost goal, is called मध्यम मुमुक्षु. When God becomes the only goal, he/she is called, उत्तम मुमुक्षु. Thus कर्मयोग or a religious way of life, will gradually nourish him and will take this person up to what? उत्तम मुमुक्षु and this उत्तम मुमुक्षु is called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्न अधिकारि. This is the height of कर्मयोग. And once a person has reached this stage, wherein there is only one goal in life and that is मोक्ष, कर्मयोग has done its job. Now he is ready for what? The next level of साधन called ज्ञानयोग. So the first level is presented in this श्लोक, मत्-मनाः भव, etc. and this verse is almost the repetition of the last verse of the 9th chapter. In the 9th chapter last verse, कृष्ण has said the same thing, I will give the running meaning of this verse. And I am not going to elaborate each word, C/o 9th chapter 34th verse. So what is this running meaning of this religious way of life? मत्-मनाः भव – keep Me in your mind, let your life be God-centered life, may you not forget the role of God. मत्-भक्तः भव – may you become My devotee, may you develop a devotion towards Me. Initially as a companion love Me, later as one of the goals of life you should love Me, later as the topmost goal of life you should love Me and finally as the only goal of life you should love Me. Thus your nourish your love and devotion to Me, मत्-भक्तः भव. Then मत्-याजी भव – may you worship Me, which alone I pointed out as the first religious discipline, allot some time however busy you may be, preferably in the morning, time for worship and prayer and even those doctors who are talking about stress and strain, even they are talking about some time for prayer and meditation and therefore मत्-याजी भव mean may you worship Me. And initially you allot exclusive time for worship and later you convert your very regular life into a form of worship, यत् यत् कर्म करोमि तत् तत् अखिलम् शंभो तव आराधनम्. So, two types of worship, one is exclusive worship which is direct worship and the second is indirect worship. And what is indirect worship? Converting your very life into a form of worship. Which is important? Both are important, both direct and indirect worship should be there, मत्-याजी भव. माम् नमस्कुरु – may you surrender unto Me, may you take refuge in Me for facing the challenges of life, for facing the crisis of life, for facing the failures of life, for facing the losses of life, every moment of life is a challenge, if you want a shock absorber, may you have Me. मत्-चित्तः सर्व-दुर्गाणि मत्-प्रसादात् तरिष्यसि and if you follow this, माम् एव एष्यसि – you will reach the goal of life, which is Myself, मोक्ष. So, माम् एव एष्यसि, not directly, but coming through ज्ञानयोग, which is the next stage of life, so through ज्ञानयोग you will reach Me. सत्यम् – this is 100% guarantee, I am giving you a guarantee card, not 3 months valid or 6 months valid, eternally valid and ते प्रतिजाने – I am promising to change, You see the transformation in yourself, here the peculiar problem that the human being faces is only if he sees the transformation he will study the गीता and only if he studies the गीता he will see the transformation. Marry to get rid of madness, on curing insanity another mad will marry him/her. Therefore this is a catch 22 situation. He says I will study गीता if You promise transformation and I say I will promise transformation if you study गीता and people are not willing to see the transformation. Somewhere you have to begin, therefore experiment and see. प्रतिजाने – I am not promising, कृष्ण is promising, you see the change in your life and this promise also is not a commercial promise, प्रियोऽसि मे – you are dear to Me, therefore I will never give you a false promise, therefore it is reliable, believe Me, start your religious life. This is the first stage called कर्मयोग. Now कृष्ण is going to present the second stage of ज्ञानयोग,

Verse No .66

सर्वधर्मान्परित्यज्य मामेकं शरणं व्रज ।

अहं त्वा सर्वपापेभ्यो मोक्षयिष्यामि मा शुचः ॥ १८-६६॥

सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज ।

अहम् त्वा सर्व-पापेभ्यः मोक्षयिष्यामि मा शुचः ॥ १८-६६॥

(त्वं) सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज, अहम् त्वा सर्व-पापेभ्यः मोक्षयिष्यामि, (त्वं) मा शुचः ।

So this is the final ज्ञानयोग summary of the गीता and this is also the final teaching verse of the गीता, the later verses are only winding up verses and therefore this is called the चरम श्लोक, चरम श्लोक means the final teaching verse. The teachings started from the 11 verse of the 2nd chapter and the teaching is concluded in the 66th verse, therefore this is called चरम श्लोक and therefore considered to be a very important श्लोक. And even though this is a summary of ज्ञानयोग, कृष्ण does not directly mention ज्ञानम् anywhere in the verse. If you look at the whole verse, nowhere the word ज्ञानम् or enquiry or teaching or वेदान्त or विचार, no such word is used. Therefore ज्ञानयोग is hidden in this verse, implicit in this verse, it is not explicitly available. This is last mischief of कृष्ण. Can't he say openly? This verse contains ज्ञानयोग in implicit form. And therefore by superficial study, we will not be able to see any ज्ञानयोग in that. And not only ज्ञानयोग is not evident, superficially seeing this verse can be a confusing verse also, subject to different interpretations. If you look at this simple translation of this verse it will be startling, कृष्ण says, सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य – renounce all धर्म, धर्म means virtues, ethics, morals, पुण्य कर्मs whatever be the translations, literally the sentence means give up all the धर्मs. In fact, throughout the गीता कृष्ण has talked about the importance of धर्म. In fact, he told in the 4th chapter, My very arrival, My very अवतार is for what purpose, do you remember the श्लोक,

परित्राणाय साधूनां विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम्।

धर्मसंस्थापनार्थाय सम्भवामि युगे युगे ॥ ४-८॥

‘My purpose of अवतार or the very purpose of My arrival is the promotion of धर्म’, He said in the 4th chapter. And how does कृष्ण promote धर्म? By saying, “all of you do धर्म, सत्यम् वद, धर्मम् चर,” isn't it? But here mischievous कृष्ण says, “give up all धर्मs.” How confusing it is. And He had said when धर्म comes down, I will take अवतार and the same कृष्ण says: all of you give up धर्म and that too not one or two धर्म, सर्व-धर्मान्. And this is the most comfortable line also. In कलियुग, all the immoral people, all those people who compromise with values, all unethical people can say that I follow the central teaching of the गीता, which कृष्ण has given in the चरम श्लोक, “give up all the values” कृष्ण has said, that is what I have been doing all these years and after reading this श्लोक, I don’t have guilt also. Earlier I had some guilt, but now that is also not there. So this is confusion no.1. How can कृष्ण say renounce धर्म?

The next confusion is what? In the latter part He says: माम् एकम् शरणम् ब्रज – you approach Me as the only refuge or shelter, you approach Me as the only refuge or shelter, माम् means Me and शरणम् means refuge of shelter, एकम् means the only shelter and therefore this also creates the confusion. What is the confusion? Only कृष्ण is the ultimate refuge. He says, “if you come to Me only you will get protection.” What does it mean? All the कृष्ण भक्तs declare and in fact, all the वैष्णवs declare and the हरे कृष्ण people declare “कृष्ण alone is the real God, कृष्ण alone is the protector” and therefore don’t worship any other God. शिव will not come to protect, गणपति will not come to protect, even राम they don’t accept. They even change the हरे राम मन्त्र, reverse it, normal मन्त्र is what: हरे राम हरे राम, राम राम हरे हरे, हरे कृष्ण हरे कृष्ण, कृष्ण कृष्ण हरे हरे, is the मन्त्र. They say you should not say like that, because primary God is कृष्ण, therefore you should chant like this: हरे कृष्ण हरे कृष्ण कृष्ण कृष्ण हरे हरे. This is another big confusion. People refusing to go to शिव temple, even they will not say the name, because they read this line कृष्ण has said, “you will get मोक्ष only if you come to Me.” This is another confusion. Just this श्लोक read superficially, not only it does not bring out the implicit ज्ञानयोग meaning, but it also confuses a person.

And therefore शङ्कराचार्य comes to our rescue and brings out the ज्ञानयोग meaning. Now we will see how this conveys the ज्ञानयोग, step by step. Let us take the first quarter, what is that? सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य, the word धर्म, शङ्कराचार्य tells in this context, must include अधर्म also. कृष्ण does not mention that because it has been all the time talked about before, all the scriptures repeatedly say, you have to give up अधर्म, unethical activities and since it is very evident, even without गीता study, everybody knows, कृष्ण does not mention, therefore your first job is to add अधर्म also in the list and therefore you should read, सर्व-धर्म-अधर्मान् परित्यज्य. Then the next question is what do you mean by the word धर्म? Different people give different meanings by studying the संस्कृत dictionary. In the संस्कृत dictionary if you see the word धर्म, you will get a 108 meanings. How to do you which one should be the meaning? Here the word धर्म has a technical meaning, it is all पुण्य कर्माणि, all the विहित कर्मs are called धर्म, all the proper activities, ethical activities prescribed in the शास्त्रs, in the form of कायिक कर्माणि, proper physical activities, वाचिक activities, proper verbal activities and मानस कर्माणि, proper mental activities, all put together we will call पुण्य कर्माणि. Then naturally the word अधर्म will mean the opposite of that, all the unethical improper activities, कायिक, वाचिक, मानस पाप कर्माणि. So धर्म is equal पुण्य कर्माणि, कायिक, वाचिक, मानस पुण्य कर्माणि and अधर्म means कायिक, वाचिक, मानस पाप कर्माणि and the word सर्व means all पुण्य-पाप कर्मs. In short, all कर्मs. कर्म means what activities. Because all कर्मs should come under either proper and improper activities, therefore the literal meaning of the first quarter is, “renounce all activities,” renounce all actions is the literal meaning.

Now the problem is: How can a living being renounce all the actions? It is impossible for a living being to renounce all the actions which कृष्ण himself has declared before: न हि कश्चित् क्षणम् अपि जातु तिष्ठति अकर्मकृत् ॥३-१॥ in the 3rd chapter And in the 18th chapter, कृष्ण said न हि देहभृता शक्यं त्यक्तुं कर्माण्यशेषतः । ... ॥ १८-११॥ No living being can give up all the activities totally, and in the 5th chapter कृष्ण said, Even the survival requires certain basic minimum activities, even the greatest संन्यासि who has given up all कर्मs will have to do the minimum activity of eating, drinking (drinking means water, not something else, you have to be careful), cleaning, all these activities are there. Total activities can be given up only at the time of death, when other people will become more active to dispose of the body. Therefore the first mischief we find here is that कृष्ण is giving an improper impossible advice, what is that? Give up all the कर्मs. Now we have to find out what is the significance of this statement and the significance of this statement you can understand only if you remember the teachings contained in all the previous chapters, because this is supposed to be summary. Therefore कृष्ण assumes that you remember the teachings said before. And what is the teaching given by कृष्ण? कृष्ण said in the previous chapters that all the कर्मs or actions belong to the body-mind-complex alone. It is a very important teaching that कृष्ण gave, all the कर्मs belong only the body-mind-complex,

प्रकृतेः क्रियमाणानि गुणैः कर्माणि सर्वशः ॥ ३-२७॥

In तत्त्वबोध language, the शरीरम् alone has got कर्म and therefore, as long as I am identified with the body-mind-complex, as long as I am identified with the body-mind-complex, all the actions of the body-mind-complex will belong to me alone and the identification with the body-mind-complex is called देह अभिमान or अहङ्कार,

अहङ्कार-विमूढ-आत्मा कर्ता अहम् इति मन्यते ॥ ३-२७॥

When I have अहङ्कार, when I have got देह अभिमान, identification with the body-mind-complex, then all the कर्मs belonging to them, will become what? My कर्मs. Therefore, if you have to give up all the कर्मs, it is possible in one way and in fact, it is possible only in one way and what is that? Give up your देह अभिमान, identification with the body-mind-complex, which means the notion that I am the body, I am the mind. Identification with body-mind-complex means what? The notion, the idea that I am the body, I am the mind. Therefore कर्म त्याग is equal to देह अभिमान त्यागः. Again you see where He is going, very technical verse, कर्म त्याग means देह अभिमान त्याग, देह means body-mind-complex, अभिमान means identification, identification with what, the notion that I am the body and the mind.

Then the next step is: I can give up the देह अभिमान, I can give up the body-mind identification only if I know that I am someone different from the body-mind-complex. I can give up देह अभिमान only if I know that I am someone different from the देह, which is called देही. In the 2nd chapter itself, from the 12th verse up to the 25th verse, कृष्ण takes lot of pains to teach that you are not the body, you are not the mind but you are the देही, different from the देह. Then who am I? I am the आत्म चैतन्यम्, the Consciousness-principle and what type of Consciousness, which is not part, product or property of the body, which is an independent entity which pervades and illumines the body, enlivens which is the limited by the boundaries of the body and which survives even after the fall of the body. (Very good: 100% marks) Therefore I am the आत्मचैतन्यम्, which is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. So this is called आत्मज्ञानम्. And when I get आत्मज्ञानम्, what is the consequence? I give up the देह अभिमान and when देह अभिमान is given up, then all the कर्म's of the body, that अभिमान also I give up, as said in the 5th chapter,

पश्यन् शृण्वन् स्पृशन् जिघ्रन् अश्नन् गच्छन् स्वपन् श्वसन् ॥ ५-८॥

अहम् न एव किञ्चित् करोमि. Therefore, remember the three steps, कृष्ण asks you to give up

- सर्व-कर्म,
- कर्म त्याग is accomplished by देह अभिमान त्याग,
- देह अभिमान त्याग is accomplished by आत्मज्ञानम्, which is called जीवात्मा स्वरूप ज्ञानम्.

Therefore सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य means gain the knowledge of the जीवात्मा स्वरूपम्. सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य means gain the जीवात्मा स्वरूप ज्ञानम्. What is the knowledge? No कर्म belongs to me, all the कर्म's belongs to the body-mind-complex and I have no connection with the body-mind-complex. This is the first stage of ज्ञानयोग, which is called जीवात्मा स्वरूप ज्ञानम्, in technical language, त्वम् पदार्थ ज्ञानम्.

Then the next stage of ज्ञानयोग is परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम्, which will come in माम् एकम् शरणम् ब्रज. माम् एकम् शरणम् ब्रज is परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम्. सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य is जीवात्मा स्वरूप ज्ञानम्, माम् एकम् शरणम् ब्रज is परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम्. How do you say so? That we will see in the next class.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 66-69

In the verses 65 and 66 of the 18th chapter, Lord कृष्ण gives the final summary of the गीता teaching, 65th summaries the कर्मयोग साधन and the 66th verse summarizes ज्ञानयोग साधन and with the 66th verse, the actual teaching part of the गीता is over. From the 67th verse onwards, we get only some concluding verses talking about the glory of the teacher, student, the teaching, etc. and since the 66th verse is the final teaching verse, it is called चरम श्लोक and because of the expression शरणम् व्रज occurring in this verse, it is also called शरणागति श्लोक. शङ्कराचार्य points out that through this शरणागति श्लोक, Lord कृष्ण is talking about ज्ञानयोग साधन and in this verse,

- The first line talks about ज्ञानयोग and
- The second line talks about ज्ञानयोग फलम् viz., मोक्ष.

ज्ञानयोग consists of two stages and the two stages are presented in the two quarters of the first line, सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य is the first stage of the ज्ञानयोग and माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज is the second stage of the ज्ञानयोग.

- a) सर्व-धर्म परित्याग is stage one,
- b) ईश्वर शरणागति is the stage two.

And I explained the stage one in the last class, सर्व-धर्म परित्याग ultimately means knowing the real nature of the जीवात्मा, जीवात्मा स्वरूप ज्ञानम् alone is सर्व-धर्म परित्याग. How do you say जीवात्मा स्वरूप ज्ञानम् is सर्व-धर्म परित्याग? I explained in the last class, सर्व-धर्म परित्याग literally means renunciation of all the noble कर्मस, सर्व-धर्म परित्याग literally means renunciation of all the noble कर्मस and here we should not take it literally and the give up the noble कर्मस, doing noble कर्मस itself is little difficult and if at all someone is doing somehow if that also is dropped then what to do? Therefore सर्व-धर्म परित्याग should not be literally taken, but it should be understood in the figurative language. What is the figurative meaning? Let the body-mind-complex continue to do पुण्य कर्म, they should not drop the पुण्य कर्म, because धर्म alone will save the society, an अज्ञानि has also to perform धर्म, noble actions, even a ज्ञानि should perform noble कर्म, लोक-सङ्ग्रहम् एव अपि सम्पश्यन् कर्तुम् अर्हसि ॥ ३-२०॥

कृष्ण said in the 3rd chapter: धर्म, पुण्य कर्म, noble कर्म should not be given up whether one is an अज्ञानि or a ज्ञानि. Let the body-mind-complex continue the धर्म. Then what do you do? You gain the knowledge of your true nature. And when I gain the knowledge of my true nature, I know that I am not the body, I am not the mind also, but I am the साक्षि चैतन्यम्, which is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. And when I gain the knowledge that I am अकर्ता and अभोक्ता, what does it mean? I am neither a doer nor an enjoyer, at once I know that all the कर्म belong to अनात्मा, no कर्म - पुण्य कर्म or पाप कर्म is related to me, the real-I. So a ज्ञानि will continue to do noble कर्म, but a ज्ञानि will never claim “I am doing noble कर्म.” Then what will a ज्ञानि claim? In my presence, in the presence ‘me’, the अकर्ता, अभोक्ता आत्मा, the body-mind-complex is performing the action. This disowning of the action, this dis-identification from the action is called ज्ञान कर्म संन्यास. And this topic has been particularly discussed elaborately in the 4th chapter. The entire 4th chapter you have to revise, because this is the summary to understand how a ज्ञानि does धर्म but doesn’t claim I am doing the धर्म, I am the साक्षि चैतन्यम्. So सर्व-धर्म परित्याग means अकर्तृ स्वरूप ज्ञानम्, जीवात्मा स्वरूप ज्ञानम्. This is the first part of the ज्ञानयोग.

Now we will go to the second part of the ज्ञानयोग. What is that? माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज. माम् व्रज means approach Me. व्रज means approach, come or reach. माम् means Me. And who is making this statement? The Lord, Lord कृष्ण. Therefore माम् व्रज means approach the Lord. Now the question is what is the meaning of approaching the Lord? What is the meaning of the word Lord or ईश्वर? And this also we have analyzed throughout the गीता and I would like to remind that the word ईश्वर has three different meanings according to the context. The word ईश्वर or God has three different meanings according to context.

The first meaning is एकरूप ईश्वरः – God as a personal ईश्वरः, as राम or कृष्ण or विनायक, a finite personal god is the meaning of ईश्वरः. The first meaning, whenever Lord कृष्ण says that I am born on such and such time and I have destroyed such and such असुर and I am a friend of अर्जुन, etc., there 'I' the Lord means the एकरूप ईश्वर, देवकी पुत्र ईश्वर, V. कृष्ण, V means Vasudeva's son. V. कृष्ण, personal-localized-finite-god subject to arrival and departure. अष्टमि and नवमि. कृष्ण अष्टमि and राम नवमि, that is the first meaning of God.

The second meaning of ईश्वर or God is अनेकरूप or विश्वरूप ईश्वरः, whose description we saw in which chapter? एकादशोऽध्यायः. Lord said, I am the all-pervading universe and all forms are My forms, this is called अनेकरूप ईश्वरः.

The third meaning of God is the highest nature and in fact, the real God (if this is real god, what about the other two, I am not telling). So the third meaning is the real God, real ईश्वर, which is neither एक रूप nor अनेकरूप but अरूप ईश्वरः, निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, which was presented as परा प्रकृति in the 7th chapter (I will give the reference of respective chapter and you can do the home work) परा प्रकृति it was mentioned. Therefore when कृष्ण says that you should approach Me, in this context the question is which Me कृष्ण is referring to एक रूप, अनेकरूप or अरूप? We conclude in this context, माम् refers to the अरूप ईश्वर, the highest nature of God, which is called निर्गुणम् ब्रह्म, कृष्ण the परमात्मा or कृष्ण परमात्मा, who is all-pervading सत्-चित्-आनन्द स्वरूपम्, मया ततम् इदम् सर्वम् जगत् अव्यक्त-मूर्तिना ॥ ९-४॥

He said in the 9th chapter. So माम् means कृष्ण परमात्मानम् ब्रज and that is why, कृष्ण uses an adjective एकम्, एकम् means without a second, that which is only One and that which is अद्वितीयम्, that which is without a second, therefore it means the infinite ब्रह्मन्. सजातीय

विजातीय स्वगत भेद रहितम् परम् ब्रह्म. Upanishadic expressions. If you understand it is OK, otherwise leave it. Only remember this much, माम् एकम् refers to infinite formless कृष्ण परमात्मा. And माम् एकम् ब्रज – approach the all-pervading परमात्मा.

Now the question is how will the जीवात्मा approach the all-pervading परमात्मा? How will the जीवात्मा approach all-pervading परमात्मा? If you analyze, the very word approach is a wrong word. Why it is a wrong word? You can approach someone who is far away from you. If the Lord is in one place in वैकुण्ठ or कैलास, in the name of शरणागति you can travel, travel and you can go to the Lord and reach him. But if the real कृष्ण is all-pervading, where is the question of traveling and reaching. And therefore here the word ‘reaching’ is also a figurative expression. Just as ‘धर्म परित्याग’ is only figurative, ‘reaching’ the Lord is also figurative because the all-pervading Lord can never be reached because the all-pervading Lord is never away from Me. And if the Lord is never away from Me, what do you mean by ‘reaching.’ By ‘reaching’ what we mean is at this moment, we have a notion, we have a false notion, that the Lord is different from me and away from me. At this moment, we have a false notion that परमात्मा is different from me and परमात्मा is away from me, both this difference and distance are false notions. And therefore ‘reaching’ परमात्मा is the dropping the false notion, that I am different from परमात्मा and that I am away from परमात्मा. These two wrong notions dropping is reaching the Lord.

Now the question is: How do you drop these two false notions? What are the two false notions? Division and distance between जीवात्मा and परमात्मा are the two false notions. And how do you drop these two false notions? The answer is: any false notion is dropped by right knowledge. And therefore I have to drop these two false notions by the right knowledge. What is the right knowledge? Between जीवात्मा and परमात्मा, there is neither a division nor a distance. Between जीवात्मा and परमात्मा, there is neither a division nor a distance and this knowledge is called जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐवय ज्ञानम्. Therefore what is ultimate शरणागति? There are people who give different meanings to शरणागति, but the ultimate शरणागति is nothing but जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐवय ज्ञानम्, by which I drop the idea that I have to reach परमात्मा and this is called माम् एकम् ब्रज. And this जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐवय ज्ञानम् alone is called महावाक्य ज्ञानम्, the knowledge of the वैदिक teaching, तत् त्वम् असि. And when the वेद teaches तत् त्वम् असि, how does the student receive the knowledge? Student should not say तत् त्वम् असि to the गुरु, the student should convert तत् त्वम् असि into अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि. This ज्ञानम् is शरणागति. And how do you gain this knowledge? वेदान्त श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासन द्वारा. And how do you do श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासनम्? With the help of a गुरु. And who has said this? Lord कृष्ण himself,

तद्विद्धि प्रणिपातेन परिप्रश्नेन सेवया ।

उपदेक्ष्यन्ति ते ज्ञानं ज्ञानिनस्तत्त्वदर्शिनः ॥ ४-३४॥

Therefore may you gain this knowledge, अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि.

And what is the advantage of this knowledge? What is the benefit of the knowledge, अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि? Lord कृष्ण says: माम् एकम् शरणम् परमात्मा alone is the ultimate refuge from संसार. If you want to save yourselves from संसार, परमात्मा alone is the ultimate refuge, because परमात्मा alone is beyond time and space. Other than परमात्मा, anywhere you go, any 'where' you go, it is a place, any 'where' I go, it may be वैकुण्ठ or कैलास or ब्रह्म लोक, anywhere you go, it is a particular place and place means time also will be there. Therefore wherever you go, you cannot escape from time. And Time is called संसार, because time alone is responsible for birth, decay, disease, death, separation, etc. Therefore by going elsewhere you don't save yourselves, but by recognizing the timeless, spaceless, formless, attributeless ब्रह्मन् alone, by recognizing that ब्रह्मन् alone, you will save yourselves from संसार. Therefore शरणम् ब्रज, come to ब्रह्मन् as your ultimate shelter. So with this ज्ञानयोग summary is over.

Now in the second line कृष्ण gives the ज्ञानफलम्. If you gain this knowledge, what will happen? अहम् त्वा मोक्षयिष्यामि, I shall give you the फलम् for your knowledge, because भगवान् is both कर्मफल धाता and ज्ञानफल धाता. He alone gives the फलम् for all your साधनs, whether it is in the form of कर्म or whether it is in the form of ज्ञानम्, भगवान् alone will give the फलम् for all your साधनs, therefore कृष्ण says I will give you the ज्ञानफलम्. And what is the फलम् of ज्ञानम्? सर्व-पापेभ्यः मोक्षयिष्यामि – I shall release you from all the पापम्s - सञ्चित पापम्, आगामि पापम्, प्रारब्ध पापम्, from all the पापम्s I will release you. And according to वेदान्त, पुण्यम्s also will come under पापम् only, only difference is पापम् is iron chain, पुण्यम् is golden chain, but both are shackles only. पुण्यम् is also considered a shackle because पुण्यम् also is responsible for पुनरपि जननम्, पुनरपि मरणम्. Neither पुण्यम् will save you from birth death cycle nor पापम् will save you from birth-death cycle, both of you will keep you within संसार. Therefore if you want मोक्ष, you have to transcend both पुण्यम् and पापम्.

तदा विद्वान् पुण्यपापे विधूय निरञ्जनः परमम् साम्यमुपैति । ॥
मुण्डकोपनिषत् ३-१-३ ॥

मुण्डकोपनिषत् beautifully says, a ज्ञानि transcends both पुण्यम् and पापम्. So सर्व-पुण्य-पापेभ्यः सञ्चित आगामि प्रारब्ध कर्मेभ्यः त्वाम् मोक्षयिष्यामि, I shall release you. And therefore मा शुचः – do not grieve, there is a solution for the problem of संसार.

And thus शङ्कराचार्य in his commentary points out that शरणागति, the ultimate, is the only ज्ञानम् and there is no शरणागति, other than ज्ञानम्. And this शङ्कराचार्य elaborately establishes in his commentary by giving various reasons also. Why do we interpret शरणागति as ज्ञानम्? Because generally we think शरणागति means doing नमस्कारम् and lying down itself or we think शरणागति is नामजप, various meanings various people give, how dare शङ्कराचार्य give the meaning of ज्ञानम्. And शङ्कराचार्य gives reason. It is not my interpretation, but that is the correct meaning. And why do we say that it is the correct meaning? शङ्कराचार्य says firstly we should know that all the वेदs uniformly mention that ज्ञानम् alone will give मोक्ष. So, wherever मोक्ष फलम् is mentioned, you should understand the साधन mentioned is ज्ञानम्. This is the declaration in the वेदs, not once or twice, hundreds of times.

तमेवम् विद्वानमृत इह भवति । नान्यः पन्था अयनाय विद्यते । ॥
पुरुषसूक्तम् १७ ॥

ज्ञानम् alone will give मोक्ष, nothing else. ज्ञानम् is not even one of the paths, this is the only path. Not only that, in one place the उपनिषत् beautifully says that ‘without ज्ञानम् you can get मोक्ष, if you fulfill one condition’ And what is the condition? The उपनिषत् says, ‘you have to roll the sky like a mattress.’ Are you able to comprehend? You have to go to the eastern, western or northern end, and there is blue sky like a canopy and you have to roll it like a mattress and bring it and then you will get मोक्ष without ज्ञानम्. Means what? You cannot roll the sky and therefore you cannot get मोक्ष by any other method. If कृष्ण says शरणागति gives मोक्ष, शरणागति is equal to ज्ञानम् alone, because वेद repeatedly says that ज्ञानेन एव मोक्ष. This is one important point to be noted. And then in the भगवद्गीता itself कृष्ण himself has repeatedly said that ज्ञानम् alone gives liberation:

अशोक्त्यानन्वशोचस्त्वं प्रज्ञावादांश्च भाषसे ।

गतासूनगतासूंश्च नानुशोचन्ति पण्डिताः ॥ २-११ ॥

ज्ञानिs alone will get liberation. This is the very beginning of the गीता and later कृष्ण talks about varieties of साधनs like कर्म, भक्ति, etc. There also कृष्ण says कर्मs, all types of कर्मs, will not give you liberation, all your कर्मs have to culminate in आत्मज्ञानम्. कर्मs themselves will never give ज्ञानम्, never give मोक्ष. कर्मs should take you to ज्ञानम् and ज्ञानम् alone will give liberation,

सर्वम् कर्म-अखिलम् पार्थ ज्ञाने परिसमाप्यते ॥ ४-३३ ॥

If you don't come to ज्ञानम्, any amount of कर्म will not give liberation. Who says? कृष्ण has said and even when he comes to भक्ति in the 7th chapter, कृष्ण clearly says that all the भक्तs are wonderful and great but I want to assert one thing, only that particular भक्त is the greatest one and who is that particular भक्त? That भक्त who has come to ज्ञानम्,

उदाहृतः सर्वे एव एते ज्ञानी तु आत्मा एव मे मतम् ।

आस्थितः सः हि युक्त-आत्मा माम् एव अनुत्तमाम् गतिम् ॥ ७-१८॥

You may practice varieties of भक्ति, but the ultimate level of भक्ति is what, वेदान्त श्रवण-मनन-निदिध्यासनम् and through that the अज्ञानि भक्त has to convert himself into a ज्ञानि भक्त and a ज्ञानि भक्त alone will be liberated. कृष्ण says in the 7th chapter, in the 9th chapter, in the 12th chapter and therefore, you may practice any form of कर्म, any form of भक्ति, any form of शरणागति, but the ultimate शरणागति is अहम् ब्रह्मास्मि इति ज्ञानम्. कृष्ण also endorses that teaching. And therefore शङ्कराचार्य concludes that सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य is ज्ञानयोग as the ultimate means of liberation. And with this final summary कृष्ण concludes the entire गीता teaching and from the following verse we get some other aspects of the गीता teaching. We will read.

Verse No .67

इदं ते नातपस्काय नाभक्ताय कदाचन ।

न चाशुश्रूषवे वाच्यं न च मां योऽभ्यसूयति ॥ १८-६७॥

इदम् ते न अतपस्काय न अभक्ताय कदाचन ।

न च अशुश्रूषवे वाच्यम् न च माम् यः अभ्यसूयति ॥ १८-६७॥

इदम् ते न अतपस्काय, (च) न अभक्ताय, न च अशुश्रूषवे, न च यः माम् अभ्यसूयति (तस्मै) कदाचन वाच्यम् ।

In this verse Lord कृष्ण talks about four qualifications required for गीता study. If these four qualifications are there, गीता study will be highly beneficial and if the qualifications are lesser and lesser, proportionately the benefit also will be lesser and lesser. And if this qualification is zero, the benefit also will be zero, perhaps the benefit may be for the other members of the family, as for some time he will be out of the house, so they tell in their houses, why can't you go the गीता class and why are you cutting our necks by staying here itself, giving us trouble, give some trouble also to the स्वामिजि! So what are the four qualifications? Qualifications are presented in different ways. In तत्त्वबोध, it was presented as साधन चतुष्टय सम्पत्ति, but here कृष्ण presents in a different form. What are those four?

1. तपस् or discipline, especially religious or spiritual discipline is the first qualification.
2. The second qualification is भक्ति, reverence or devotion to God and गुरु. So भक्ति to God and गुरु, the उपनिषद् says:
यस्य देवे परा भक्तिः यथा देवे तथा गुरौ ।

तस्यैते कथिता ह्यर्थाः प्रकाशन्ते महात्मनः ॥ श्वेताश्वरोपनिषद् ६-२३ ॥

The one who has got ईश्वर भक्ति and गुरु भक्ति, he will get the knowledge, it is said, therefore भक्ति is a second qualification.

3. The third qualification is शुश्रूषा, deep interest in the study of the गीता, a desire for knowledge, which is called जिज्ञासा. So शुश्रूषा, normally the word शुश्रूषा is used in the meaning of service, गुरु शुश्रूषा, पितृ शुश्रूषा, मातृ शुश्रूषा पति शुश्रूषा (in olden times! I will not tell that now.) varieties of शुश्रूषा. Now you can say पत्नी शुश्रूषा, serving the husband, serving the wife. So, शुश्रूषा is generally translated as service, but the real meaning of the word शुश्रूषा is: श्रोतुम् इच्छा, the root √श्रु means to hear, to listen and the suffix, षा means desire. So, शुश्रूषा means desire to listen to गीता teaching. So that is शुश्रूषा. And if that desire is not, even if you come and sit here, you will be here but you won't hear. This is what happens when you force someone from your family and bring to the class. So somebody comes as a guest, you cannot leave them and come and so you bring them here, but that person is not interested and he will be suffer. So शुश्रूषा means desire for study must be there.

4. And the fourth qualification is: अनसूयः. अनसूयः is a non-critical mind, never approach the scriptures with a motive of criticizing or finding fault with the scriptures, just as the atheistic people, just as the नास्तिकs, just as the DMK or the DK people will study the वेदs, the गीता, their aim is to find fault with them. Never approach that attitude, you will be the loser and therefore अनसूयः means a healthy attitude of श्रद्धा. The scriptures are valid and if I reverentially approach I will be benefited, the scriptures are valid and if I approach reverentially, the scriptures will bless me. That positive attitude is called अनसूयः. This is not only required for गीता, for any pursuit in life, even when you approach a doctor, if you don't have faith in the doctor, even the best medicine will not cure and if you have got faith in the doctor, even if he gives a dummy medicine, water injection, 'I am cured instantly if this doctor gives,' that attitude is called श्रद्धा. These are the four important qualifications.

And Lord कृष्ण instructs all the गीता teachers, so Lord कृष्ण addresses all the गीता teachers and says: Oh गीता teachers note it: if there is anyone who doesn't have these four qualifications and if he wants to study गीता, don't teach, just avoid them. It will not bless, it will only be a waste of time. Therefore he says इदम् ते – this गीता teaching which I have given to you, ते प्रोक्तम् (you have to supply) – which has been given to you, imparted to you, हे अर्जुन! न वाच्यम् – should never be given to the following people, never be given to the following people. And who are the people whom it should not be given? अतपस्काय न वाच्यम् – the one who doesn't have discipline and that too religious and spiritual discipline and if you ask me what is religious and spiritual discipline, the answer is C/o 17th chapter. In 17th chapter, three types of आहार, three types of यज्ञ, three types of तपस् also, कायिक तपः, वाचिकम् तपः, मानसम् तपः, not only that, सात्त्विकम्

तपः, राजसम् तपः and तामसम् तपः, six types of तपस् were mentioned in the 17th chapter. Those people who at least attempt to follow that, may not be able to follow 100%, at least there must be a sincere attempt to follow those disciplines, through those people, those who do not even attempt, never give the गीता teaching. Similarly, न अभक्ताय वाच्यम्, (add अ to everything) अभक्ताय न वाच्यम् – never give this गीता to an atheistic person, अभक्त means who is a non-devotee, who is a नास्तिका, that person also you don't give, कदाचन – at any time; he will only criticize. Somebody asked, कृष्ण advises all the people to be humble, never to be arrogant, never to talk to of oneself, अमानित्वम्, अदम्भित्वम्, never glorify yourselves, be humble, He says and in the entire गीता कृष्ण is talking about His Glory only, (this angle I didn't know, how they think) So, कृष्ण is all the time talking about His glory only, that means कृष्ण is the most arrogant person in the world. In the 10th chapter throughout He talks about his विभूति, 11th chapter He talks about himself, therefore कृष्ण is arrogant, therefore you should not study गीता. Thus if he has got a perverted mind, anything you can interpret wrong. In fact, after I say this you also may get that idea and say that it is correct. What is wrong? कृष्ण is arrogant. Remember, when you talk about your glory identifying yourselves with ब्रह्मन्, I, as ब्रह्मन्, you talk the glory, it is a fact, it is not arrogance. But identified with the body-mind-complex, as an Individual अहङ्कार if you talk about your glory, it is arrogance. We should know the difference between what is fact and what is arrogance. Therefore अभक्ताय न वाच्यम् and न च अशुश्रूषते वाच्यम् – never give this teaching to one who is interested in learning, not only it is true for गीता for anything if a person doesn't have interest how can you talk to that person. In fact, if you forcibly talk, next time, he sees you from a distance, he will take a different route, even if it means taking one mile extra. Therefore never talk to one who is not interested in listening and ultimately, यः माम् अभ्यसूयति – that person who criticizes, finds fault with Me and My teaching, he is also unfit to listen to गीता, therefore these four people you never teach. On the other hand, those who have तपस्, भक्ति, शुश्रूषा and अनसूय, you give this knowledge. Continuing;

Verse No .68

य इमं परमं गुह्यं मद्भक्तेष्वभिधास्यति ।

भक्तिं मयि परां कृत्वा मामेवैष्यत्यसंशयः ॥ १८-६८॥

यः इमम् परमम् गुह्यम् मत्-भक्तेषु अभिधास्यति ।

भक्तिम् मयि पराम् कृत्वा माम् एव एष्यति असंशयः ॥ १८-६८॥

यः इमम् परमम् गुह्यम् (ज्ञानं) मत्-भक्तेषु अभिधास्यति, (सः) मयि पराम् भक्तिम् कृत्वा, असंशयः (सन्) माम् एव एष्यति ।

In the following श्लोक, कृष्ण is glorifying three types of people by saying that all these three groups of people are dear to me. Even though everyone is dear to the Lord, these three groups are very dear. Who are they?

No.1. Anyone who teaches भगवद्गीता to other people is dear to Me. A गीता teacher, a गीता गुरु is dear to Me. Now you will be jealous of me! Don't worry, three groups are there.

Next one He says is a गीता student is very dear to Me. Every गीता student is very dear to me, this is the second group.

And the third group is even a casual गीता listener is dear to Me, that means one who just comes and sits in the class, whether he understands or not, the one who even casually sits in the class even that person he is dear and great and will get benefit.

Therefore, teacher, the student and a casual listener all the three are glorified here and of these three also, who is the dearest one? Unfortunately or fortunately कृष्ण says a गीता teacher is very very dear to Me, because he is doing the work which I want to do. In fact, I took अवतार for spreading and reviving the वैदिक wisdom and since all the गीता आचार्यs are assisting Me in the preservation and propagation of the सनातन धर्म, which is the aim of the Lord, कृष्ण says they are all My group and therefore they are very very dear to Me. Look at the श्लोक, यः इमम् परमम् गुह्यम् अभिधास्यति – suppose a person teaches or shares this most secret wisdom, so now and then कृष्ण will say secret secret, because when one says secret, we are curious, that is the human tendency and therefore to generate the interest He says secret. Therefore परमम् गुह्यम् – the great secret of Self-knowledge, what is secret is sacred also, the most sacred spiritual wisdom, suppose a person shares with whom, मत्-भक्तेषु – with the people who have got the four qualifications, भक्त represents all the four - भक्ति, तपस्, शुश्रूषा and अनसूय, to those people suppose a person shares and how does he shares, भक्तिम् मयि पराम् कृत्वा – with great reverence. Indirectly कृष्ण is instructing every गीता आचार्य, when you share this knowledge don't be arrogant, remember that it is a teaching of the Lord, therefore, with that reverence a teacher should impart. Not only शिष्य should have भक्ति, गुरु also should have भक्ति. Therefore पराम् भक्तिम् and गुरु's भक्ति is of which type of भक्ति, out of the four - आर्तः, अर्थार्थी, जिज्ञासु, ज्ञानि? The fourth type of भक्ति, i.e., ज्ञानि. Therefore पराम् भक्तिम्, चतुर्थीम् भक्तिम्, अद्वैत भक्तिम् कृत्वा, suppose a person shares, माम् एव एष्यति असंशयः – he is definitely liberated and he will become one with Me. That means he will attain जीवन्मुक्ति and विदेहमुक्ति. Continuing;

Verse No .69

न च तस्मान्मनुष्येषु कश्चिन्मे प्रियकृतमः ।

भविता न च मे तस्मादन्यः प्रियतरो भुवि ॥ १८-६९॥

न च तस्मात् मनुष्येषु कश्चित् मे प्रिय-कृतमः ।

भविता न च मे तस्मात् अन्यः प्रियतरः भुवि ॥ १८-६९॥

मनुष्येषु च कश्चित् तस्मात् प्रिय-कृतमः मे न (अस्ति), तस्मात् अन्यः भुवि प्रियतरः च मे न भविता ।

And in this verse, कृष्ण places a गीता teacher or गीता instructor as the greatest and the dearest person. Therefore He says, मनुष्येषु सः प्रिय-कृतमः, सः means what? Whoever preaches or shares the गीता wisdom with other people, he is मनुष्येषु – among all the human beings, प्रिय-कृतमः – he is the dearest person to Me, because he is doing the dearest work of Mine. भगवान् does many things, but among various अवतार कर्मs, the dearest job for the Lord is perpetuation of the वैदिक tradition, because perpetuation of this teaching alone is the perpetuation of धर्म, perpetuation of harmony, perpetuation of peace and therefore he is doing a work which is dearest to Me and therefore he himself is dearest to Me and not only he is dearest, He says in the future also, there will be no one in the future dearer to Me than a गीता आचार्य, therefore भविता च – in future also there will not be अन्यः – anyone else, प्रियतरः – who will be dearer to Me than the गीता आचार्य. From this you can also get a note. What is that? If there is a chance catch hold of some victim, some one, pray for him first and share whatever knowledge you gather, you share with other person. It is ब्रह्म यज्ञ and भगवान् will be very very happy. स्वाध्याय प्रवचने च, these two are our duties, only then the knowledge will be perpetuated. Therefore भुवि – in this world, there is no one who is dearer to Me. Hereafter the student has to be glorified, which we will do in the next class, so that you will come.

परित्राणाय साधूनां विनाशाय च दुष्कृताम् ॥ ४-८॥

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

CHAPTER 18, VERSES 70-78

With the 66th verse, सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य of the 18th chapter, Lord कृष्ण has formally concluded His गीता teaching to अर्जुन. And from the 67th verse onwards we are getting some winding up verses consisting of four topics.

- a) Firstly, कृष्ण talks about the संप्रदाय विधिः, the rules for teaching the गीता and the learning of the गीता. What are the conditions for the successful transference of गीता from a गुरु to a शिष्य. In short qualifications for गीता study. We call it संप्रदाय विधिः, this is one topic.
- b) Then the next topic is the glorification of गीता आचार्यः, the teacher of the भगवद्गीता, गुरु स्तुतिः.
- c) Then the next topic we get is not only the गुरु is great, as I said in the last class, the शिष्य s are also really great, therefore शिष्य स्तुति, the glorification of the student.
- d) And finally उपसंहारः, the conclusion in which सञ्जय comes and completes the discourse formally.

Of these four topics, we have completed the first topic, viz., the qualifications required and Lord कृष्ण mentioned four of them in the 67th verse and they are तपस्, भक्ति, शुश्रूषा and अनसूयः. And after that, in the two verses, 68 and 69, Lord कृष्ण glorifies the गीता teacher, whoever dedicates his life for the transmission of or the propagation of the गीता teaching, these two verses also we completed in the last class. And Lord कृष्ण said that the गीता teacher will get two-fold result: one is of course he will attain liberation, he will merge into Me. And the second is even while living, that गीता teacher is the dearest to Me, प्रिय-कृतमः. This is the glorification of the गीता teacher. Now we have to see the glorification of the student, which is more important for you. Therefore I will not dwell upon the teacher glorification too much, I will come to the student glorification, which you are all waiting for. Verse no.70;

Verse No .70

अध्येष्यते च य इमं धर्म्यं संवादमावयोः ।

ज्ञानयज्ञेन तेनाहमिष्टः स्यामिति मे मतिः ॥ १८-७०॥

अध्येष्यते च यः इमम् धर्म्यम् संवादम् आवयोः ।

ज्ञान-यज्ञेन तेन अहम् इष्टः स्याम् इति मे मतिः ॥ १८-७०॥

यः च आवयोः इमम् धर्म्यम् संवादम् अध्येष्यते, तेन ज्ञान-यज्ञेन अहम् इष्टः स्याम् इति मे मतिः ।

These two verses 70 and 71 are शिष्य स्तुति or शिष्य महिमा. And Lord कृष्ण divides the students into two categories. One is a qualified and serious student of the गीता. Serious does not mean 102 degree temperature. Serious means committed student, who is the उत्तम variety, serious qualified student and the second type of student is unprepared and therefore only a casual student. So the one whose approach to the गीता is a casual approach, such a student is the inferior, the second one. And the study of the qualified student, कृष्ण calls अध्ययनम्, and the study of the unqualified student कृष्ण calls श्रवणम्. So, अध्ययनम् means serious systematic committed study, श्रवणम् means casual hearing, let some noble thoughts fall on my ear, we may get some good points, at least one or two jokes I'll get, etc. So that is also another approach - casual, hobbish approach. And कृष्ण says both types of students are great and both are going to get great results. And you know what are the results? The higher students will get मोक्ष itself and the casual student will get स्वर्ग. Definitely you will come to the class!!! Whatever be the type of student, minimum promise is स्वर्ग. Wonderful! And maximum promise is मोक्ष. Any one of them is sure to get. कृष्ण says, look at the श्लोक, यः इमम् संवादम् अध्येष्यते – suppose a qualified and a serious student studies the भगवद्गीता carefully, with attention and what is this गीता, आवयोः संवादम् – which is in the form of a dialogue between कृष्ण and अर्जुन. And what type of dialogue it is? धर्म्यम् संवादम्, धर्म्यम् means that which is based on the वैदिक teaching, any teaching of the वेदs is called धर्मः and धर्म्यम् means that which is in keeping with the वैदिक teaching and the भगवद्गीता is not an independent philosophy of कृष्ण, कृष्ण himself has repeatedly admitted, हे अर्जुन! I don't have a new philosophy, the वैदिक wisdom has now deteriorated, I am only reviving, resuscitating the वैदिक teaching in the new name of भगवद्गीता. Therefore धर्म्यम् means that which is in keeping with the वैदिक teaching. Such a great dialogue whoever seriously, systematically, regularly studies अध्येष्यते and what is he practicing, ज्ञान यज्ञेन – he is practicing a great यज्ञ, a great याग called ज्ञान यज्ञ, where the fire is not the local fire, but it is the fire of knowledge. In the गीता class, what we are kindling is not the local fire, but we are kindling the ज्ञान-अग्निः, we saw in the गीता itself,

ज्ञान-अग्निः सर्व-कर्माणि भस्मसात् कुरुते तथा ॥ ४-३७॥

And therefore this is called ज्ञान यज्ञ, in which the oblation is ignorance, we are not offering the local oblations, but our own ignorance is offered, ignorance based confusions are offered, ignorance based अहङ्कार, the ego is offered and every student is practicing ज्ञान यज्ञ. And in the 4th chapter Lord कृष्ण said ज्ञान यज्ञ is the greatest याग,

श्रेयान् द्रव्यमयात् यज्ञात् ज्ञान-यज्ञः परन्तप ॥ ४-३३॥

Compared to all the other यागs that people do, this ज्ञान यज्ञ is the greatest यज्ञ and every serious student is practicing ज्ञान यज्ञः and कृष्ण says through that ज्ञान यज्ञ every student is worshipping the Lord. Even though there is no photo, even though there is no idol, even though there is no picture, in this class also we are all worshipping the Lord alone. Therefore कृष्ण says अहम् इष्टः, इष्टः means पूजितः – I am worshipped. It is an invisible form of worship, because materials are not offered, the invisible ego is offered. And not only he is practicing the greatest यज्ञ, for this यज्ञ the फलम् is मोक्ष itself, that मोक्ष फलम् is not mentioned in this verse, we have to add that, not only such a student worships Me, Lord कृष्ण says, for that ज्ञान यज्ञ he is going to attain both जीवन्मुक्ति as well as विदेहमुक्ति. Thus every serious गीता student is a मुक्त पुरुषः and whether you are a serious student or not, you have to decide, I don't want to pass a judgment on you. Now कृष्ण is going to talk about the next level of the student, the casual and unprepared student. What will happen to him? कृष्ण says:

Verse No .71

श्रद्धावाननसूयश्च शृणुयादपि यो नरः ।

सोऽपि मुक्तः शुभान् लोकान् प्राप्नुयात्पुण्यकर्मणाम् ॥ १८-७१॥

श्रद्धावान् अनसूयः च शृणुयात् अपि यः नरः ।

सः अपि मुक्तः शुभान् लोकान् प्राप्नुयात् पुण्य-कर्मणाम् ॥ १८-७१॥

श्रद्धावान् अनसूयः च यः नरः (इदं) शृणुयात् अपि सः मुक्तः (सन्) पुण्य-कर्मणाम् शुभान् लोकान् अपि प्राप्नुयात् ।

Suppose there is a casual student, who doesn't have all the qualifications, who is not very serious about मोक्षः itself. There are many people who openly confess, स्वामिजि, I want to make it clear that I am not interested in मोक्ष, etc. Thus there are many people who have not understood or looked into the full significance of मोक्ष and therefore they are not interested in the ultimate spiritual goal, but they come to गीता for some practical worldly benefits or at least to some efficiency in their profession, because गीता promises that also, योगः कर्मसु कौशलम्, they will all quote that, there are many people who prescribe गीता for lowering the blood pleasure also. For what not all they are using the गीता! Therefore, those people who do not have मुमुक्षुत्वम् and who have got a casual approach, such a student suppose listens, but even though he is casual in his approach, he has got श्रद्धा and अनसूय, otherwise he cannot even come to the class, he may not be interested in मोक्ष, but he has got a reverence for the गीता and the Lord. Therefore कृष्ण says this person is casual, but श्रद्धावान्, he has faith in the efficacy, in the validity of the गीता and अनसूयः च – one who doesn't approach the गीता critically, with the motive of finding fault, that अनसूयः, suppose such a person शृणुयात् अपि यः नरः – he is only casually listening and not even fully, listens to 10 minutes and then travels all over the world, mentally, not physically, suppose such a casual listening takes place, कृष्ण says: सः अपि – even for such a student, I have told you before how one old आन्ध्र तेलुगु lady regularly attending my गीता classes without knowing one single English word. But she could regularly come because her faith is that the गीता sound even if it falls on the ears, it is पुण्यम्. And I knew that she did not understand English, when one day she brought to me a safety pin and I enquired for what? And she said that you are adjusting your अङ्गवस्त्रम् on and off, why can't you put a safety pin. Because she doesn't understand the language and therefore she has been watching what all भरतनाट्यम् मुद्राs I am doing. And therefore even for that तेलुगु lady, anyone who sits here and even sleeping in this class doesn't matter, no problem, सः अपि मुक्तः – he will be freed from all the पापs from this पुण्य कर्म. Such a श्रवणम् will not come under ज्ञानयोग, it will come under कर्मयोग or पुण्य कर्म and for that पुण्य कर्म which he does, मुक्तः – he gets rid of his पापम् and शुभान् लोकान् प्राप्नुयात् – after death he will get a better next जन्म, शुभ लोक means superior लोक, पुण्य लोक. And what type of लोकs they are? पुण्य कर्मणाम्, which higher लोकs can be attained by doing big यागs, सोमयागम्, रुद्रैकादशिनी, अतिरुद्रम्, महारुद्रम्, for all those big big rituals, whatever higher लोक will come, the same higher लोक you can get without doing any ritual if you are listening to गीता. Who says? कृष्ण. Don't ask me, कृष्ण himself promises. Therefore स्वर्ग is the फलम् for casual श्रवणम्. Thus in these two verses 70 and 71, शिष्य स्तुति has been done.

Now Lord कृष्ण is curious to find out which category of student अर्जुन is and कृष्ण must be very curious, because he has only one student! 18 chapters and only one student and अर्जुन is left off, nobody to listen even. Compared to that my lot is far better. Therefore कृष्ण is asking अर्जुन what category you are:

Verse No .72

कच्चिदेतच्छ्रुतं पार्थ त्वयैकाग्र्येण चेतसा ।

कच्चिदज्ञानसम्मोहः प्रनष्टस्ते धनञ्जय ॥ १८-७२॥

कच्चित् एतत् श्रुतम् पार्थ त्वया एकाग्र्येण चेतसा ।

कच्चित् अज्ञान-सम्मोहः प्रनष्टः ते धनञ्जय ॥ १८-७२॥

हे पार्थ! त्वया एतत् एकाग्र्येण चेतसा श्रुतम् कच्चित्? हे धनञ्जय! ते अज्ञान-सम्मोहः प्रनष्टः कच्चित्?

So हे पार्थ! अर्जुन, did you listen to my teaching sincerely as an उत्तम अधिकारि? एकाग्र्येण चेतसा श्रुतम् कच्चित्? प्रश्नार्थे कच्चित्. Did you listen to My teaching एकाग्र्येण चेतसा – With one pointed mind, with total attention, wholeheartedly did you listen to My teaching? And if you have been a serious student, then the result that you get will be अज्ञान नाशः ज्ञान प्राप्ति and therefore कृष्ण asks, as a serious student did you destroy your Self-ignorance. अज्ञान-सम्मोहः प्रनष्टः कच्चित्? Here also कच्चित् is question mark. Did your ignorance and ignorance caused conflicts destroyed. And what is the basic conflict अर्जुन had? I hope that you have not forgotten the first chapter, whether to fight or not to fight, so ignorance and ignorance based conflict, did all of them प्रनष्टः – end, हे धनञ्जय! हे अर्जुन! I know that you are going to get definitely स्वर्ग फलम्, but a true teacher doesn't want a student to get an inferior स्वर्ग, but the teacher wants the student to get the साक्षात् मोक्ष itself. अर्जुन are you a मुक्त पुरुष? In short, otherwise, am I a qualified teacher? Remember, it partly reflects upon the efficiency of the teacher also. Therefore कृष्ण is concerned about Himself as the जगत् गुरु, गीताचार्य. Therefore अर्जुन, I am yearning to know whether you are मुक्तः or not. Then अर्जुन has to answer, for a change, कृष्ण is very curious. All ears on what अर्जुन is going to tell and thank God अर्जुन says कृष्ण I am a superior student and You are a great teacher and the communication has been successful and my ignorance is gone and conflict is also gone. And thank God अर्जुन tells that, if अर्जुन doesn't tell that, Chapter 19 will have to start, OK. Whether Chapter 19 is required or not wholly depends on अर्जुन's answer.

Verse No .73

अर्जुन उवाच ।

नष्टो मोहः स्मृतिर्लब्धा त्वत्प्रसादान्मयाच्युत ।

स्थितोऽस्मि गतसन्देहः करिष्ये वचनं तव ॥ १८-७३॥

नष्टः मोहः स्मृतिः लब्धा त्वत् प्रसादात् मया अच्युत ।

स्थितः अस्मि गत-सन्देहः करिष्ये वचनम् तव ॥ १८-७३॥

हे अच्युत! त्वत् प्रसादात् (मे) मोहः नष्टः, मया स्मृतिः लब्धा, (अहम् गत-सन्देहः स्थितः अस्मि, (इदानीं) तव वचनम् करिष्ये ।

In this verse अर्जुन gives the crucial answer for which कृष्ण is eagerly waiting, and कृष्ण's curiosity अर्जुन knows. So he says, "Gone is my delusion." He could have said: "My delusion is gone." But if he says my delusion, still कृष्ण has to wait for another extra second, because the answer can be "My delusion 'is not gone" Also. Therefore knowing कृष्ण's impatience perhaps, अर्जुन instead of saying delusion is gone, he says gone is my delusion, just as आञ्जनेय said. Had he said, सीताम् दृष्टः, then राम will be suffering one extra second, because after saying सीताम् either it could be seen or even not seen. And therefore he says, दृष्टः सीताम्. Like that there it is दृष्टः, here it is नष्टः. नष्टः means is gone. What is gone? मोहः – both my delusion as well as ignorance, अज्ञानम् and delusion, in technical language मोहः is called अध्यासः, अज्ञानम् and अध्यासः, both of them are gone for me. And how did the ignorance go? Ignorance can go only by one method, what is that? By the arrival of knowledge. Darkness can go only on the arrival of light, similarly, ignorance cannot go by the practice of शिर्षासनम्, so that the ignorance can be crushed, so when you stand on your head, the ignorance gets crushed, it won't work, perhaps because of extra blood circulation, ignorance may get more nourished. Remember, ignorance can go only by knowledge. So, स्मृतिः लब्धा – knowledge has been gained by me. Whenever we say knowledge, remember, जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम्. In the context of वेदान्त, ज्ञानम् means only जीवात्मा-परमात्मा ऐक्य ज्ञानम्, that is called स्मृतिः. Normally the word स्मृतिः means memory, in this context, स्मृतिः means knowledge. And then अर्जुन is worried, if he claims that he has gained knowledge and ignorance is gone and it may lead to arrogance, विद्या गर्वः can be the worst type of ego or arrogance. All other arrogance has got a cure, but arrogance born out of knowledge, there is no cure. Therefore अर्जुन is worried it may lead to arrogance, therefore he adds, हे कृष्ण! if I have gained knowledge and my delusion is gone, by Your grace. And what do you mean by the grace of the Lord, in the भगवद्गीता? The grace is only in the form of systematic teaching, there are so many other types of grace, चाक्षुष अनुग्रह, स्पर्श अनुग्रह, blessing through touch and blessing through sight, varieties of प्रसाद or अनुग्रह are mentioned, if knowledge has to come, the प्रसाद or grace has to be only in the form of systematic teaching. As I have repeatedly said, if knowledge can be transferred by touch, कृष्ण could have done that in the battle field itself, which is very convenient, touching the head like भस्मासुर and कृष्ण did not touch, कृष्ण did not give knowledge through sight. From that it is clear, ज्ञानम् can be transferred only by systematic teaching. Perhaps the powers can be transferred, सिद्धिः can be transferred, ज्ञानम् can never be transferred. If such a shortcut is there, in all the colleges the physics teacher can ask all the physics students to stand in a line and keep the hand on the every head and say over. It is not happening. Our problem is in spite of teaching, one doesn't understand, how can just 'seeing' give you knowledge. Therefore remember, गुरु अनुग्रह is teaching. Therefore त्वत् प्रसादात् is equal to त्वत् उपदेशात् or त्वत् बोधनात्, it has gone, my ignorance and delusion have gone and therefore स्थितोऽस्मि गत-सन्देहः. Now I don't have any doubt whether fighting is धर्म or अधर्म. That was his doubt,

पृच्छामि त्वां धर्मसम्मूढचेताः ।

यच्छ्रेयः स्यान्निश्चितं ब्रूहि तन्मे ॥ २-७॥

I don't have any conflict, therefore I have decided to fight this righteous war. Therefore अर्जुन says: तव वचनम् करिष्ये, I shall follow your instructions. If I am an अज्ञानि, to do my duty for the वित्तशुद्धि, if I am a ज्ञानि, I have to do my duty for I don't know whether you remember, we saw in the 3rd chapter, a ज्ञानि has to continue to do his/her duties for लोक संग्रहः. Either way, you cannot escape from the duty. कृष्ण has taught and therefore अर्जुन says: I will fight this war, even though the duty happens to be unpleasant duty. And when this was heard कृष्ण got liberation a second time as it were! Even though कृष्ण is already liberated, He was in great आनन्द on hearing this, My effort has fructified. So with this कृष्ण also became silent, because कृष्ण has nothing to teach, अर्जुन also become silent because अर्जुन has no more questions. If both of them become silent, what to do? सञ्जय, the master of ceremonies, comes and concludes the गीता संवाद.

Verse No .74

सञ्जय उवाच ।

इत्यहं वासुदेवस्य पार्थस्य च महात्मनः ।

संवादमिममश्रौषमद्भुतं रोमहर्षणम् ॥ १८-७४॥

इति अहम् वासुदेवस्य पार्थस्य च महात्मनः ।

संवादम् इमम् अश्रौषम् अद्भुतम् रोम-हर्षणम् ॥ १८-७४॥

इति अहम् वासुदेवस्य महात्मनः पार्थस्य च इमम् अद्भुतम् रोम-हर्षणम् संवादम् अश्रौषम् ।

So now the scene has changed, we are no more in the battlefield, now we are in front of धृतराष्ट्र and सञ्जय, because सञ्जय is reporting the whole thing to the blind धृतराष्ट्र. Therefore सञ्जय says: हे धृतराष्ट्र! हे राजन्! not only अर्जुन was fortunate enough to receive the गीता teaching, indirectly, I was also blessed enough to receive this teaching, because व्यास had given a special telepathy by which सञ्जय could know everything that is happening. Not only what is happening in the battlefield, what is happening even in the mind of अर्जुन, सञ्जय could see. And therefore सञ्जय expresses his gratitude, इति – in this manner, इमम् संवादम् अहम् अश्रौषम् – I heard this beautiful sacred dialogue which took place between वासुदेवस्य पार्थस्य च, between वासुदेव – Lord कृष्ण and पार्थ – अर्जुन. And what type of अर्जुन and वासुदेव? महात्मनः – the great one, the glorious one and this महात्मनः adjective can be added to both कृष्ण and अर्जुन, कृष्ण is of course महात्मा, the great one. Now अर्जुन is also महात्मा because, he was fortunate enough to receive the teachings straight from the Lord. Straight from horse's mouth, Straight from हयग्रीव – horse-headed Lord. Here कृष्ण was not horse-headed, just used that expression because in English we have that idiom, straight from the horses' mouth. And what type of dialogue it is? अद्भुतम् – there are no words to describe it, it is wonder of all wonders, most wonderful and also रोम-हर्षणम् – it is so wonderful that even my physical body feels the thrill and my hairs on the body are standing on end, they say horripilation is taking place to indicate the extent of his feeling. So this thrilling and wonderful dialogue I also overheard. And how could I get this capacity? सञ्जय says I am indebted to व्यासाचार्य, because of whose grace alone, I developed this extraordinary power, ESP – Extra sensory perception I got.

Verse No .75

व्यासप्रसादाच्छ्रुतवानेतद्गुह्यमहं परम् ।

योगं योगेश्वरात्कृष्णात्साक्षात्कथयतः स्वयम् ॥ १८-७७॥

व्यास-प्रसादात् श्रुतवान् एतत् गुह्यम् अहम् परम् ।

योगम् योगेश्वरात् कृष्णात् साक्षात् कथयतः स्वयम् ॥ १८-७७॥

व्यास-प्रसादात् स्वयम् योगम् कथयतः योगेश्वरात् कृष्णात् एतत् परम् गुह्यम् अहम् साक्षात् श्रुतवान् ।

व्यास-प्रसादात् अहम् श्रुतवान् – I could hear this dialogue only because of the grace of व्यासाचार्य who blessed me with दिव्य चक्षुः. Just as कृष्ण blessed अर्जुन with दिव्य चक्षुः in the 11th chapter, व्यास has blessed सञ्जय with this दिव्य चक्षुः. Therefore by व्यास's grace, श्रुतवान् – I could hear. What? एतत् परम् गुह्यम् – this supremely secret knowledge, because it is not easily available, all types of courses are available all over the world, you name a science it is available, but ब्रह्मविद्या is the rarest teaching and such a rare teaching, which is secret and therefore only sacred, the उपनिषत् says:

श्रवणायापि बहुरभिर्यो न लभ्यः ॥ कठोपनिषत् १-२-७ ॥

many people are yearning for this teaching, because of some obstacle or other they are not able to, and I always observe one interesting feature wherever I take class, the immediately surrounding students don't come, generally, exceptions are there. I was taking class in some quarters, they will come from so many places, including from काच्चीपुरम्, but people from that colony will not come, at least to see whether chickpea, vada is available or not for that they won't come. Even if it is closely available, we should have the mind to make use of. Just as they say: the one who lives on the shores of गङ्गा, rarely takes bath in it. Therefore सञ्जय says: I was blessed enough to get this sacred and rare teaching and I have got extra good fortune because I didn't hear from a local human being but I listened from साक्षात् भगवान् himself, योगेश्वरात् कृष्णात् – from Lord who is the Lord of the all the योगIs, all the teachings, I heard this योगम्. This word योगम् should be connected with गुह्यम् परम् of the first line, एतत् परम् गुह्यम् योगम्, योग here is the teaching, I heard and साक्षात् कथयतः – it is not an indirect teaching, but it is the direct teaching from the Lord and why did अर्जुन get the teaching? Not भीष्म, द्रोण, कर्ण, धर्मपुत्र, people have big debate to find out why अर्जुन got the teaching, Patti mandram (village court). And they look for extraordinary and rare reasons. But the reason is very simple, अर्जुन got the teaching because he asked for it, only that, शिष्यस्तेऽहं शाधि मां त्वां प्रपन्नम्. I am surrendering, please teach me, he said. So you ask, it will be given. So साक्षात् स्वयम् कथयतः That is why पार्थाय प्रतिबोधिताम् भगवता नारायणेन स्वयम्, that has said here.

Verse No .76

राजन्संस्मृत्य संस्मृत्य संवादमिममद्भुतम् ।

केशवार्जुनयोः पुण्यं हृष्यामि च मुहुर्मुहुः ॥ १८-७६॥

राजन् संस्मृत्य संस्मृत्य संवादम् इमम् अद्भुतम् ।

केशव-अर्जुनयोः पुण्यम् हृष्यामि च मुहुः मुहुः ॥ १८-७६॥

हे राजन्! (अहम्) केशव-अर्जुनयोः इमम् पुण्यम् अद्भुतम् च संवादम् संस्मृत्य संस्मृत्य मुहुः मुहुः हृष्यामि ।

सञ्जय says हे धृतराष्ट्र! when I look back and think of my good fortune, I am extremely ecstatic about that. मुहुः मुहुः हृष्यामि – I feel the ecstasy, extreme happiness, when I look back to the teaching that I received, संस्मृत्य संस्मृत्य, when I bring to my mind again and again. What? इमम् अद्भुतम् पुण्यम् संवादम् – this wonderful and sacred dialogue, when I go through flashback, the more I think of it, the more I feel thrilled. And what type of dialogue? केशव-अर्जुनयोः – the dialogue which took place between Lord कृष्ण and अर्जुन, अहम् हृष्यामि – like people having the reminiscences, so if you have gone to कैलास मानसरोवर or बद्रीनाथ or केदारनाथ or a world tour even, when you look back and enjoy, same thing reminiscence सञ्जय provides here. Then one question that people ask is if you like the भगवद्गीता very much, tell me among the 18 chapters, which one you like the most? Everyone has this question. Like in a movie, which scene you liked the most, similarly, here also, सञ्जय tells, I liked all the chapters, but सञ्जय's choice is the 11th chapter, which is said in the next verse.

Verse No .77

तत्त्व संस्मृत्य संस्मृत्य रूपमत्यद्भुतं हरेः ।

विस्मयो मे महान् राजन्हृष्यामि च पुनः पुनः ॥ १८-७७॥

तत् च संस्मृत्य संस्मृत्य रूपम् अति-अद्भुतम् हरेः ।

विस्मयः मे महान् राजन् हृष्यामि च पुनः पुनः ॥ १८-७७॥

हे राजन्! हरेः तत् च अति-अद्भुतम् रूपम् संस्मृत्य संस्मृत्य मे महान् विस्मयः (भवति), (अहम् पुनः पुनः हृष्यामि च ।

हे राजन्! धृतराष्ट्र, when I look back into every chapter, of course कृष्ण did not teach in the form of chapters, remember, when कृष्ण taught अर्जुन, He didn't say प्रथमोऽध्यायः or द्वितीयोऽध्यायः etc., it is व्यासाचार्य who compiled and presented in this form, for the sake of communication I am using that expression, when I look back into the entire teaching, हरेः अति-अद्भुतम् रूपम् संस्मृत्य – what strikes my mind, what is well itched in my mind is हरेः अति-अद्भुतम् रूपम् – the wonderful विश्वरूपम् of the Lord, which the Lord is the limitless one, consisting of all forms and names, that alone comes to my mind. And when I think of this विश्वरूपम् महान् विस्मयः मे – I am wonderstruck, I am stunned, I am thrilled, I am stupefied, I am overwhelmed, I have no words to describe. So विस्मयः means आश्चर्यम् हे राजन्! धृतराष्ट्र and हृष्यामि च पुनः पुनः – I bring that vision to my mind again and again and I enjoy again and again. So with this सञ्जय also has expressed his feelings. Now सञ्जय concludes the whole गीता in the last verse.

Verse No .78

यत्र योगेश्वरः कृष्णो यत्र पार्थो धनुर्धरः ।

तत्र श्रीर्विजयो भूतिर्ध्रुवा नीतिर्मतिर्मम ॥ १८-७८॥

यत्र योगेश्वरः कृष्णः यत्र पार्थः धनुर्धरः ।

तत्र श्रीः विजयः भूतिः ध्रुवा नीतिः मतिः मम ॥ १८-७८॥

यत्र योगेश्वरः कृष्णः यत्र धनुर्धरः पार्थः, तत्र श्रीः, विजयः, भूतिः, ध्रुवा नीतिः (च इति) मम मतिः (अस्ति) ।

So here सञ्जय says the गीता teaching is alive even now, at all times the गीता teaching is alive, wherever Lord कृष्ण is remembered and wherever अर्जुन is remembered, their remembrance, by the law of association, will bring the गीता teaching. Therefore यत्र योगेश्वरः कृष्णः – wherever कृष्ण is there as the गीता आचार्य, as the ब्रह्मविद्या गुरुः, as the teacher of वेदान्त, योगेश्वरः means ब्रह्मविद्या गुरुः and यत्र पार्थः धनुर्धरः – wherever अर्जुन is there wielding his bow, धनुर्धरः means wielding the bow. Bow represents स्वधर्म अनुष्ठानम्, because for अर्जुन, स्वधर्म is धर्म रक्षणम् and धर्म रक्षणम् requires the bow and arrow. And therefore wherever there is a person following the स्वधर्म, so wherever such a student and such a teacher are there, there the गीता wisdom will be there, it will never die. So many thousands of years are gone, even now the गीता is alive and kicking. What is the proof? We are still studying. Our very class is the proof the glory of the गीता and कृष्ण says wherever गीता teaching is there, all these benefits also will be there. What are the benefits? The primary benefit is मोक्ष, but कृष्ण does not mention that because many are not interested in that. मोक्ष they don't want. Therefore कृष्ण enumerates the other worldly benefits, श्रीः means wealth, विजयः – success, भूतिः – prosperity, all other forms of prosperity and नीतिः – justice or fairness, all these things, wealth, prosperity and success and all of them will be there, इति मे मतिः – This is my verdict, this is my observation and all these will not be there for a short period, but ध्रुवा – they will be permanently present. Therefore even if you don't want मोक्ष, you are interested in money, better read गीता, if you want to pass your examination better read गीता, if you are attending an interview better read गीता, (just reading गीता is not enough, you have study what is required for the interview also), read गीता also and prepare also, success is yours. This is my verdict, Who says? सञ्जय tells and therefore गीता is ever valid. With this the entire भगवद्गीता teaching is over.

श्रीकृष्णार्जुनसंवादे मोक्षसंन्यासयोगो नाम अष्टादशोऽध्यायः ॥ १८॥

Thus, ends the 18th chapter of the गीता, which is titled मोक्ष-संन्यास-योगः.

CHAPTER 18, SUMMARY

Today I will give you a summary of the 18th chapter of the गीता. In the भगवद्गीता, the 2nd chapter and the 18th chapter are considered to be very important chapters, because Lord कृष्ण summarizes the entire गीता in these two chapters. In the 2nd chapter, Lord कृष्ण summarizes the whole गीता as an introduction. It is an introductory summary, उपक्रम संक्षेप. And this summary given in the 2nd chapter, भगवान् magnifies from the 3rd chapter onwards up to the 17th chapter. 3rd to the 17th is the elaboration of the 2nd chapter and then at the time of conclusion, the Lord summarizes the entire गीता once again in the 18th chapter. It is the concluding summary, उपसंहार संक्षेप. Thus introductory summary, expansion and concluding summary. This is the style of the गीता. I have talked about this before also. When you hear the news in the radio or television, they start the news with the summary and then they elaborate the initial summary and then at the time of conclusion, they recapitulate again. Thus summary, expansion, summary is the method of any teaching. And भगवान् adopts the same method and therefore the 18th chapter is considered to be a very important chapter and it is the biggest chapter also, consisting of 78 verses. And this chapter is called मोक्ष-संन्यास-योगः, the chapter dealing with संन्यास or renunciation. It is called मोक्ष संन्यास योगः to differentiate this chapter from the 5th chapter, the 5th chapter is also called संन्यास योगः. So, to avoid confusion, the 5th chapter is called कर्म संन्यास योगः and the 18th chapter is called मोक्ष संन्यास योगः. But only we should be careful in understanding the meaning. कर्म संन्यास योगः, we know the meaning, the chapter dealing with the renunciation of कर्म and then what is मोक्ष-संन्यास-योगः? The chapter dealing with the renunciation of मोक्ष? मोक्ष has not come, where to renounce? We have to be careful in translation, कर्म संन्यास is renunciation of कर्म, मोक्ष संन्यास is renunciation 'for' the sake of मोक्ष. There you cannot use 'of' but for the sake of मोक्ष. This is the 18th chapter. With this background, we will enter into the summary of the chapter. I will divide the entire chapter into five portions for the convenience of our analysis. First I will enumerate those five portions, thereafter I will summarize each part.

◆ The first portion is संन्यासः or renunciation, संन्यास, this is from verse no.1 to 12.

◆ Then the second part is from verse no.13 to 17, in which कृष्ण deals with आत्मस्वरूपम्, the nature of the real Self or the real nature of the Self, the nature of the real Self or the real nature of the Self or the real nature of the real Self, whichever way you want to call it, आत्मस्वरूपम् is the second topic.

◆ Then from the 18th verse up to the 40th verse, 18 to 40, कृष्ण analyzes six topics, six topics for analysis or analysis of six topics, What are those six topics? I will explain later, this is just seeing the division.

◆ Then the fourth topic is from verse no.41 to 66 and in this portion Lord कृष्ण summarizes कर्मयोग and ज्ञानयोगः, the two योगs which happen to be the central theme of the गीता, the two योगs, कर्मयोग plus ज्ञानयोग, this is the fourth topic from 41 to 66.

◆ Then the fifth and final topic is the conclusion, उपसंहार, winding up of the 18th chapter, as well as the entire गीता dialogue. This is from verse 67 to 78.

Thus संन्यास, आत्मस्वरूपम्, analysis of six topics, two योगs and conclusion, these are the five portions of the 18th chapter. Now I will take up each one and give you the gist of the Lord's discussion.

i) The first portion is संन्यास. Lord कृष्ण is forced to discuss the topic of संन्यास, because अर्जुन wants a clarification regarding संन्यास. So the chapter begins with अर्जुन's question in which अर्जुन asked the Lord, हे कृष्ण! is there a difference between the words संन्यास and त्याग? Because dictionary-wise संन्यास also means renunciation, त्याग also means renunciation. So अर्जुन asks, are they different or the same and what is the significance of the words. In short, what is संन्यास or renunciation? Lord कृष्ण explains that terms by way of answering अर्जुन's question. Here, we have to note that the word संन्यास and त्याग according to कृष्ण are both one and the same, they are synonymous. संन्यास is equal to त्याग is equal to renunciation. Then the question is what is meant by renunciation? And this word renunciation has two meanings, one is the primary meaning and the other is the secondary meaning. One is called मुख्य संन्यास and the other is called गौण संन्यास, primary renunciation and secondary renunciation, there are two. Primary renunciation is prescribed only for those people who have attained all the qualifications for Self-knowledge, evolved students, purified students, refined students, prepared students, who are called साधन चतुष्टय सम्पन्न अधिकारि - for those prepared students the scriptures talk about primary renunciation, otherwise called मुख्य संन्यासः. And this primary renunciation is in the form of leaving the family, leaving the society, breaking all the relationship with everyone in the society and dropping all the possessions, all these are the meaning of primary renunciation. What does it mean, leaving the family, leaving the society, leaving the job, you have to leave the job when you leave the society, society includes job. Leaving the family, society, job, breaking all relationships and giving up all the possessions, not even extra dress, no bank balance, this total physical giving up is called मुख्य संन्यास. This is accepted and permitted for those who are advanced spiritual students. And according to Lord कृष्ण, अर्जुन is not an advanced student, which is proved from the 1st chapter, he could not even think of imaginary separation from kith and kin, where is the question of renunciation for अर्जुन, when अर्जुन cannot even withstand imaginary separation from भीष्म and द्रोण. Therefore, अर्जुन, according to कृष्ण, is not ready for primary renunciation. Therefore कृष्ण does not discuss primary renunciation in the 18th chapter. In this संन्यास portion, कृष्ण quietly avoids a discussion of मुख्य संन्यास. It is called आश्रम संन्यास, it is called काषाय वस्त्र संन्यास. That कृष्ण avoids and कृष्ण deals with the second संन्यास, which is the secondary संन्यास, compromised version, figurative संन्यास, in संस्कृत it is called गौण संन्यास. And therefore Lord कृष्ण in this portion strongly advises अर्जुन, अर्जुन you should not give up your family. You should not give up your कर्म. You should not give up anything, if you give up your कर्म, it will be a wrong renunciation in your case, because you are not ready for renunciation, without being ready if you renounce things, it will come under तामस संन्यास and राजस संन्यास. Improper renunciation by an immature person is called राजस तामस संन्यास. Improper renunciation by an immature person which is an escapism, कृष्ण calls राजस, तामस संन्यास. Therefore अर्जुन never take to that, be in कुरुक्षेत्र and do your duty. And if you remain in गृहस्थ आश्रम and do your duty and renounce your राग-द्वेष, which are binding expectations from the society. When we are in the family, in the आश्रम, in the society, our greatest problem is expectations from others, these binding expectations alone are responsible for mental turbulence. If you renounce your सङ्कल्प, which are in the form of binding expectations, building castles, fantasizing future, how my son is going to become, that fantasizing you give up, plus 2 itself is doubtful and we go on building dreams. Avoid the सङ्कल्प and that is called सात्त्विक संन्यास, which is the संन्यास required for immature people. सात्त्विक संन्यास, which is remaining in the society, doing the duty and avoiding binding expectations and thus Lord कृष्ण says अर्जुन give up your राग-द्वेष, fight this war, you are a सात्त्विक कर्म संन्यासि.

भवत्यत्यागिनां प्रेत्य न तु संन्यासिनां क्वचित् ॥ १८-१२॥

And if you act in this manner, whatever be the outcome of the महाभारत war, you will be willing to accept the outcome without anxiety, without fear or worry, this समत्वम् alone is the संन्यास, which is required for you. So thus सङ्कल्प त्याग पूर्वक स्वधर्म अनुष्ठानम्, Lord कृष्ण prescribed from verse no.1 up to verse no.12. This is first topic, संन्यास in the secondary sense of the term.

iii) Now we will go to the second topic, which is from verse no.13 up to 17, in which Lord कृष्ण talked about our real nature, our higher nature, which we do not know by ourselves and because of which ignorance alone, we are suffering from problems and this higher nature is called आत्मस्वरूपम्. And this आत्मस्वरूपम् is none other than चैतन्य स्वरूपम्, pure Consciousness. And what is the nature of the pure Consciousness? For my satisfaction I will quickly enumerate,

- a. Consciousness is not a part, property or product of the body,
- b. Consciousness is an independent entity which pervades and enlivens the body,
- c. Consciousness is not limited by the boundaries of the body, therefore it is all-pervading like space,
- d. then fourthly and finally and importantly, this Consciousness does not perish even when the body disintegrates.

So first note the presence of that Consciousness in that body, if you have any doubt, pinch your body and see whether you are conscious of the pain and instantaneous realization of the pain means that you are conscious of the pain. And having identified this Consciousness, I have to learn to identify with that Consciousness which means instead of claiming the body as myself, I have to start practicing, body is a dress which I am temporary wearing,

वासांसि जीर्णानि यथा विहाय (local dress we wear for a day or a half a day), this dress I have been wearing from the date of birth and there is a wear and tear and one day this dress I will discard, cast off. How can the arriving departing body be myself? I am the formless Consciousness, who am operating through this temporary body, body comes, body goes, I ever am. And then Lord कृष्ण says अर्जुन, that is not enough, you have to note another very important nature of this Consciousness and that is the Consciousness is अकर्ता and अभोक्ता. I, the Consciousness, neither act in this world, nor does this I, the Consciousness reap the result of the action, because anything all-pervading cannot perform any action. This space does not perform any action, the space does not and cannot act, similarly, I am अकर्ता and अभोक्ता, in my presence the material factors consisting of five components that alone performs

अधिष्ठानं तथा कर्ता करणं च पृथग्विधम् ।

विविधाश्च पृथक्चेष्टा दैवं चैवात्र पञ्चमम् ॥ १८-१४॥

तत्रैवं सति कर्तारमात्मानं केवलं तु यः ।

पश्यत्यकृतबुद्धित्वान्न स पश्यति दुर्मतिः ॥ १८-१६॥

यस्य नाहङ्कृतो भावो बुद्धिर्यस्य न लिप्यते ।

हत्वाऽपि स इमाँल्लोकान्न हन्ति न निबध्यते ॥ १८-१७॥

These are very very important श्लोकs, from 14 to 17. कृष्ण says the various पञ्च कोशs are performing the action, कोश means the material factors, the material body, the material प्राण, the material mind, they perform the actions in my presence, but I myself do not do any action, just as the light is pervading the hall, we do actions in the presence of the light, but the light itself does not perform any action. My hand is moving, light which illumines the hand does not move at all. Similarly, I am अकर्तृ, अभोक्तृ चैतन्यम् अस्मि and this knowledge is extremely significant because once I know I am अकर्ता, अभोक्ता. I know the सञ्चित, आगामि, प्रारब्ध, none of them belongs to me. Because सञ्चित, आगामि, प्रारब्ध, all of them are what, कर्म-फलम्. When कर्म itself does not belong to me then how come will its results? You reap what you sow. So the one who does alone has to reap, I am neither a doer or a reaper, receiver of the कर्म-फल, which means I am नित्य मुक्त स्वरूपः, पुण्य-पाप अतीतः, सञ्चित, आगामि, प्रारब्ध वर्जितः, उत्तम, मध्यम, अधम

जन्म रहितः. Even जन्मs do not belong to me, because जन्मs are determined by कर्मs. When कर्मs are not there, how will जन्म take place? OK जन्म is not there, will पुनर्जन्मम् will come? How will that be, when जन्म is not there? Therefore I am ever free, this knowledge is called आत्मस्वरूप ज्ञानम्. This Lord कृष्ण has elaborately dealt with in the 2nd chapter, from verse no.12 to 25, कृष्ण has highlighted this and therefore he summarizes this topic in five verses 13 to 17. This is the 2nd topic, आत्मस्वरूपम्.

iii) Then from 18th to 40th verse, I said Lord कृष्ण analyzes six topics which will give a comprehensive picture of the entire गीता teaching. कृष्ण has ingeniously chosen six topics. If these six topics are understood properly, the entire गीता teaching is clarified. What are those six topics? ज्ञानम्, means knowledge, कर्म – action, कर्ता, means the doer, बुद्धिः – intellect, धृतिः – willpower and सुखम् – happiness. ज्ञानम्, कर्म, कर्ता, बुद्धिः, धृतिः, सुखम् – knowledge, action, doer, intellect, willpower and happiness. These are the six topics He takes and each one of them कृष्ण divides into सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक varieties, in each of them it is divided into three and if we can understand this division, then we have got clarity regarding the भगवद्गीता teaching. I am not going to elaborate each of them, then it will not be summary, it will be re-teaching of the 18th chapter. But we can have a general understanding of this classification. I have pointed out this before. Whatever contributes to spiritual growth is सात्त्विक variety. The criterion for classifying something as सात्त्विक is that which promotes spiritual growth, the inner growth is called सात्त्विक, whether it is food, whether it is action, whether it is relationship. Anything in the world, if it contributes to the growth, it is सात्त्विक, spiritual growth. Then what is तामसिक? The opposite of it, whatever contributes to the spiritual downfall, whatever contributes to spiritual downfall, spiritual slip, spiritual retrogression is called तामसिक variety. Whether it is food, whether it is dress, whether it is even relationship, you can classify into सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक. So these are the two opposites. Then what is राजसिक variety? Whatever contributes to material growth, but leads to spiritual stagnation. A lifestyle in which there is material growth, I am becoming richer and richer, I have got more and more number of industries and several houses and any number of cars, thus materially I am growing, but I am so much materially involved that there is no time:

बालस्तावत् क्रीडासक्तः तरुणस्तावत् तरुणीसक्तः

वृद्धस्तावत् विन्यासक्तः परमे ब्रह्मणि कोऽपि न सक्तः ॥ भजगोविन्दम् ७

I am the richest person but there is no time for religion, no time for spirituality, no time for जप, no time for पूजा, no time for गीता class. And the society looks upon him as a successful person. Thus that which makes a person materially successful but spiritually the one who is stagnating, that person has got a राजसिक lifestyle. So thus, anything which leads to spiritual growth is सात्त्विक, spiritual stagnation is राजसिक, spiritual downfall is तामसिक. Stagnation means he will neither go up or comes down, he remains in the same position, spiritually. If we remember this norm, we can adjust our life in such a way that first we make sure that we don't go down spiritually. First see to that, whether you are earning gain or not, see that you are not losing the capital. Because spiritually we have come up to this level, at least we are human beings, that is a great accomplishment. So, see to it that you don't go down and then gradually trying to go upwards. This is the hint Lord कृष्ण gives through these six topics from 18 to 40. And you should remember that even happiness कृष्ण divides into सात्त्विक, राजसिक and तामसिक. There also a pleasure which contributes to spiritual growth, a pleasure which contributes to spiritual stagnation and certain types of lowly pleasures, they are all pleasures and kicks alright, but they lead to spiritual downfall. All immoral pleasures are pleasures, but spiritually slipping down. This is the third portion of the 18th chapter.

iv) Now we will go the fourth part, which is from verse no.41 to 66. In this portion alone, which is important and central part of the 18th chapter, कृष्ण summaries these two main spiritual disciplines, viz., कर्मयोगः and ज्ञानयोगः, the entire spiritual journey can be divided into these two.

And what is the definition of कर्मयोग? We have seen this often, proper action plus proper attitude is कर्मयोगः, proper action plus proper attitude is कर्मयोग. And what is proper action? Lord कृष्ण defines स्वधर्म अनुष्ठानम्, performance of one's own duty. Duty to oneself, duty to the family, duty to the society, duty to the religion and duty to the environment. I am born with many duties. No doubt I would like to enjoy life, our scriptures say you can enjoy life, but you have to fulfill your duties also. And the next question is how to determine my duty? How to do it? In those days, the duties were determined based on वर्ण and आश्रम,

कर्माणि प्रविभक्तानि स्वभावप्रभवैर्गुणैः ॥ १८-४१॥

Depending upon your वर्ण - ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय, वैश्य or शूद्र. Similarly, depending upon your stage of life, whether you are a student, householder or monk, a संन्यासि, you have to do your duty. And if the वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म basis you don't accept, because now वर्ण-आश्रम धर्म is declining, nobody follows that, then the next option is what, according to your nature contribute to others, your life should involve giving, your life should involve contribution. That I have to take things from outside, scriptures need not teach. Why because we are experts in grabbing. So therefore कृष्ण does not talk about that, कृष्ण says you can take but more important than taking is, you have to give also. According to शास्त्र, your contribution must be more than your consumption, only then it is spiritual success. There is a difference in the definition of spiritual success and material success. What is the definition of material success? When the contribution is less than the consumption. When I take more and give less, I am considered to be a successful person, this big book, just Rs.10, I just purchased, what is inside I don't know! So we always judge success in terms of getting a bigger share and giving the lesser. This is the definition of material success. The definition of spiritual success is contribution is more than consumption, in terms of your knowledge, your energy, your time, your capacity, your good wishes, your smile. Contribution of smile, do we contribute smile, cheapest contribution is contribution of smile, even there we are very very stingy. So this is the proper action. What is proper action? Any action in which I contribute. Then what is proper attitude? Which is the second part of कर्मयोग. The proper attitude is whatever you do see it as an offering to the Lord and whatever be the consequence accept it as the प्रसादम् from the Lord. Any blessed action, you look upon as offering, it is called ईश्वर अर्पण भावना and whatever you receive, you have प्रसाद भावना,

स्वे स्वे कर्मण्यभिरतः संसिद्धिं लभते नरः ।

स्वकर्मनिरतः सिद्धिं यथा विन्दति तच्छृणु ॥ १८-४७॥

यतः प्रवृत्तिर्भूतानां येन सर्वमिदं ततम् ।

स्वकर्मणा तमभ्यर्च्य सिद्धिं विन्दति मानवः ॥ १८-४८॥

Whatever you do, do it as an अर्चन to the Lord. This is the proper attitude. Thus proper action plus proper attitude is equal to कर्मयोग and what is the benefit of कर्मयोग? Purification of the mind.

Having condensed कर्मयोग in these portions, Lord कृष्ण condenses ज्ञानयोग साधन also, which is the next stage, which everyone has to go through. They are not optional courses, everybody has to go through, both कर्मयोग as well as ज्ञानयोग. And ज्ञानयोग consists of three-fold exercises.

➤ The first exercise or part of ज्ञानयोग is consistent and systematic study of the Vedantic scriptures for a length of time, under the guidance of a competent teacher, called श्रवणम्. Study गीता properly and regularly. This is part one.

➤ The second part of ज्ञानयोग is whatever I have received, I dwell on it and make sure that it is acceptable to my intellect, whatever I receive I make sure that it is acceptable to my intellect, so that there are no doubts. This is called मननम्. श्रवणम्, मननम्.

➤ And then the third part of the ज्ञानयोग is called निदिध्यासनम्. Even after conviction, I have to remain in that knowledge for a long time like the pickled mango in that salt-soaked container. Similarly, in the भगवद्गीता teaching each one of us should become a pickle and it should through osmosis enter every cell of my personality that whatever I do this knowledge is there to help me out. This internalization is called निदिध्यासनम् and Lord कृष्ण in this portion emphasizes निदिध्यासनम्.

विविक्तसेवी लब्धवाशी यतवाक्कायमानसः ।

ध्यानयोगपरो नित्यं वैराग्यं समुपाश्रितः ॥ १८-५२॥

अहङ्कारं बलं दर्पं कामं क्रोधं परिग्रहम् ।

विमुक्त्य निर्ममः शान्तो ब्रह्मभूयाय कल्पते ॥ १८-५३॥

You have to assimilate. It is not for a day or two. A week or two a month or two or a year or two, it has to be for decades, that in स्वप्न also I should see myself as a free person. Thus कृष्ण summarizes ज्ञानयोग, highlighting the निदिध्यासनम् part. Then he concludes His whole teaching in the most important 66th verse:

सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज ।

अर्जुन give up, सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य. We saw giving up धर्म is nothing but giving up of the देह अभिमान, because all धर्म, अधर्म etc., belong to the body alone, therefore धर्म परित्याग is देह-अभिमान-परित्याग, give up your body identification. After that, माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज, choose to identify with the देही, आत्मा which is the real कृष्ण. So dis-identify from the body is सर्व-धर्मान् परित्यज्य, identify with the आत्मा is माम् एकम् शरणम् व्रज. And if you do this, अहम् त्वा सर्व-पापेभ्यः मोक्षयिष्यामि. Then you are instantaneously free. Thus Lord कृष्ण concludes the teaching with the 66th verse. This is the fourth topic.

v) Now comes the fifth topic, from verse no.67 to 78, in which व्यासाचार्य winds up the whole 18th chapter as well as the भगवद्गीता. And in this four qualifications are mentioned for the study of the गीता. And what are those four qualifications? तपस्, भक्ति, श्रद्धा and अनसूय. तपस् means life of discipline, भक्ति means devotion, then श्रद्धा means deep faith in the validity of the भगवद्गीता and then finally शुश्रूष, शुश्रूष is desire for learning. Thus discipline, devotion, deep faith and desire for learning, these four are important qualifications. And then Lord कृष्ण glories the गीता teacher as well as the गीता student. He said the teacher will get मोक्ष and the teacher is dearest to Me and the student depending upon what type of student he or she is, either he will get the minimum स्वर्ग or maximum मोक्ष. Therefore better continue your गीता study. And then Lord asks अर्जुनः अर्जुन which type of student you are and अर्जुन answers I am the best student and has grasped Your teaching and I have got knowledge and I am free from all the conflicts,

नष्टो मोहः स्मृतिर्लब्धा त्वत्प्रसादान्मयाव्युत ।

स्थितोऽस्मि गतसन्देहः करिष्ये वचनं तव ॥ १८-७३॥

And then सञ्जय comes and gives his final remarks, addressing धृतराष्ट्र he says: Oh राजन्! Not only अर्जुन was fortunate, I was also fortunate to listen because of the grace of व्यासाचार्य, I got this ESP or telepathy, that I overheard the भगवद्गीता and I also enjoyed this teaching and सञ्जय says that the best chapter I liked is the 11th chapter of विश्वरूपदर्शनम् and then सञ्जय concludes with a remark:

यत्र योगेश्वरः कृष्णो यत्र पार्थो धनुर्धरः ।

तत्र श्रीर्विजयो भूतिर्धुवा नीतिर्मतिर्मम ॥ १८-७८॥

The benefit is not only अर्जुन and सञ्जय, whoever invokes Lord कृष्ण and whoever invokes the अर्जुन in him, the real seeker in him and whoever invokes the गीता teaching, he will have all success in life - material as well as spiritual success. With this concluding remark of सञ्जय, the 18th chapter as well as the entire भगवद्गीता is over.

ॐ पूर्णमदः पूर्णमिदम् पूर्णात्पूर्णमुदच्यते । पूर्णस्य पूर्णमादाय
पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.

Greatness Of The गीता

Our culture, that is the Indian culture, is based upon the वैदिक scriptures and therefore we can look upon the Indian culture as the वैदिक culture itself. And वैदिक culture happens to be a religious culture. A lifestyle which is based on वैदिक culture can never be separated from religion. Life and religion are inter-twined. So Indian culture is वैदिक culture. वैदिक culture is a religious culture and a religious culture means a God-centered culture. And therefore in our culture, God plays a very very important role, our day begins with the remembrance of the Lord; not with bed coffee. That is the materialistic culture, which we are tending to borrow from outside, Indian culture, वैदिक culture, religious culture means that the day has to start with सुप्रभातम्, सुप्रभातम् is सुप्रभातम् only when it is associated with the Lord. And not only our day begins with the Lord, throughout the day also, everything is intimately associated with the Lord, even when we brush the teeth we are supposed to pray to the देवताs presiding over the tree, because they use the twig from the tree to brush the teeth. Now only plastic has come, we require plastic देवता, in the olden days it was the twig from the tree, therefore वनस्पति देवता i.e., god associated with the tree is prayed to and the prayer is Oh Lord! when you remove the dirt from my teeth, don't stop with that, remove the dirt from my mind also and thereafter the स्नानम् involves the remembrance of the Lord. We look upon the स्नानम् as an अभिषेकम् done to the Lord who is within us and thereafter wearing the cloth involves prayer to the presiding deity of the clothes called रेवती देवता, wearing cloth is associated with the Lord, thereafter eating is associated with the Lord, in fact, right from the waking up up to going to bed, even before going to bed, we remember or we are supposed to remember the Lord. And not only from the beginning of the day up to the end of the day, our entire life right from conception starts with the remembrance of the Lord. The very conception of baby happens with the chanting of the वैदिक मन्त्र and the parents themselves are supposed to remember the Lord, so that the conceived baby will be well refined and cultured, thus the conception is associated with the Lord and ultimately the cremation also is a याग in which we offer our very physical body into the होमकुण्ड. The fire, the cremation fire is अग्नि देवता, until now, we are offering varieties of things to अग्नि देवता, at the time of death, we offer this very body, of course we won't be there to offer, our relations, children or somebody offers the very body to the Lord. Thus from conception to cremation, our life is God-centered life, from waking up up to sleep our life is called God-centered life. And why do the वैदिक scriptures prescribe a God-centered life? The reason is according to the scriptures, our primary relationship is with the Lord alone, God is our creator and we are the created beings, God is the cause and we are the effect and therefore in the form of the parent and child, in the form of the कारणम् and कार्यम् we are related to the Lord in every जन्म, not only in this जन्म, but in every सृष्टि, in every जन्म, we are related to the Lord as the cause and effect. And all our other relationship with the people of the world, they are all only temporary relationship. The longest relationship with any individual can last only for one life. Our relationship with our parents and mother can maximum last only for one life, because in the previous life we had some other parents, may be buffalo parents, who knows and in future life, if there is one, (because we are all liberated!), we will not have the same parents. That means any human or other relationship is only incidental/temporary empirical and relative. Whereas the primary and fundamental relationship is only with the Lord and therefore the वेदs repeatedly remind us, never forget the fundamental relationship. In your worldly interaction, you are busy forming other relationship and nourishing other relationship, that is all wonderful but it should not be at the cost of that fundamental relationship. And therefore the वेद gives a very strong warning, the moment you lose sight of the fundamental relationship with God, your life becomes directionless, your life will have varieties of problems, it is like a rudderless boat, a directionless boat, because you have forgotten, you have lost that fundamental relationship and therefore our scriptures give a warning, real prosperity in life is nothing but the non-forgetfulness of the fundamental relationship with the Lord. And if that fundamental relationship is forgotten, even if you become very very rich materially, even that materially prosperous life will be full of problems. Even richness will create problems, the moment that original संबन्ध is forgotten, therefore the scriptures remind us

सम्पदो नैव सम्पदः विपदो नैव विपदः ।

विपद् विस्मरणम् विष्णोः सम्पद् संस्मरणम् हरेः ॥

Tragedy is forgetting the Lord, prosperity is remembrance of the Lord. The material prosperity is not real prosperity and the worldly tragedies are not real tragedies, but the real tragedy is losing sight of this fundamental relationship and therefore the वैदिक life involves understanding this fundamental relationship, preserving this relationship between me and God and also nourishing this basic relationship. Understanding, preserving and nourishing my relationship with the Lord is a religious God-centered lifestyle. And for this purpose our वैदिक culture, our religious culture prescribes varieties of religious practices. Because any relationship can be maintained only when you spent some time to preserve the relationship. Now they are writing articles how to preserve husband-wife relationship. Previously we never knew this problem because once married, you are booked for good, there is no choice. It is God-created relationship. Therefore in the olden days, they never had to struggle to maintain the husband-wife relationship. But now-a-days, one important thing exercise in life, how to keep my wife husband has to bother all the time and how to keep my husband, the wife has to worry. And they prescribed several exercises and one of the exercises they prescribe (I shouldn't be reading all these, but anyway), how to preserve a wife? Why should a संन्यासि read? I read for your sake, so that I can share it in the class. So one of the exercises they prescribe is give quality time with the husband, quality time with wife, quality with children, they say, unless you spend quality time a relationship cannot be preserved, cannot be nourished and the वेदs knew this principle and therefore वेदs prescribed to preserve and nourish the relationship with the Lord also, we should regularly have quality time and exclusive time. Don't talk keeping the TV on. That is not quality time, you have to switch off the television, we can see TV serial later. Quality time means exclusive time, not doing any other jobs at that time and being with that relative at that time and sharing exclusive with that relative, that only will preserve the relationship. Similarly, the relationship with the भगवान् can be preserved only by giving quality time and therefore they prescribed varieties of religious practices, which are much much more in our religion. In other religions, it is a weekly business or yearly business, whereas for us it is very very repetitive and regular. And once there are the religious practices, we should know the theory and principle behind any religious practice. Any practice will be meaningful, any practice will be purposeful only when you understand the principle behind the practice, only when you know the theory behind the practice. Without the knowledge of the principle, without the knowledge of the theory, any practice will become empty ritual, it will become meaningless, mechanical practice. Anything I do without the knowledge of the theory, that will become mechanical, empty, meaningless mumbo jumbo ritual and when any practice is mechanical, sooner or later, it will drop off from one's life, because we will lose interest in those practices. And therefore anything you want to practice, the first step is learning the theory. Theory, knowledge should precede any practice. Whether you want to sing, you want to practice music, there is the study of theory. They will teach you आरोहणम्, अवरोहणम्. What is स प स? What is आदि ताल? What is रूपक ताल? Otherwise everything will become a बेताल. So you have to learn what are the तालम्s involved, what are the रागs involved, what are the स्वरम्s involved, the more sound your knowledge of theory is the more polished and refined will be your music. Similarly, if you want to practice art, you have to study the theory, you never practice anything without the study of theory. Even for playing tennis, after all I thought you have to hit the ball with the racket, that is tennis, you have to hit the ball, but they say you have to go to the coaching camp, paying Rs.10,000 to 15,000 rupees, how to hold the racket, how to place the foot, how to toss the ball, how to hit the ball. Coaching is involved, study of theory is involved. Anything you want to practice, you can do it well only when you have the sound knowledge of theory. If that is so, all the religious practices also will be meaningful, purposeful, only when I understand the principles behind those religious practices, only when I have the sound knowledge of the theory behind it. And therefore religion involves two things, one is the thorough study of the principles and theory and the other one is practicing whatever principles are theory I have learned. Theory is incomplete without practice. I know how to do every योग, what अर्धमत्येन्द्रासनम् is, what शिर्षासनम्, कुवकुटासनम् is, all आसनम्s, etc. I have gone and studied. How many hours you practice if you ask, He says Nil. So, theory is incomplete without practice, practice is mechanical and empty without the knowledge of the theory. Theory and practice both of them play a very very important role in everything. If that is true in everything, it is true with regard to religion also, every religious practice should be preceded by a thorough study of the theory, principles, philosophy, behind those religious practices. Otherwise even ॐ भूः, we don't know why we are catching our nose and therefore he does like that, like some भरतनाट्यम् मुद्रा, why are we keeping like that, etc., one doesn't know. So everything that I do, I should know the meaning, purpose, principle, etc. And therefore in वैदिक culture, they prescribed two exercises, first one is the thorough study of the principles behind the religious practices and these principles are enshrined in our religious scriptures. And therefore scriptural study is a compulsory and important and preliminary step. Only if the scriptures are studied, one will know the principles and the philosophy and the theory behind every practice that we do. And this theory must be followed by practice also. Thus study and practice, both of them are equally important, of which the study must be the first thing and the practice must be the later thing. And therefore all our आचार्यs said that everyone has to compulsorily study the scriptures. To understand the theory and principles behind our religious life, स्वाध्यायः अध्येतव्यः and when in the वैदिक tradition everybody went to गुरुकुलम्, whether he is a ब्राह्मण, क्षत्रिय वैश्य or शूद्र, he studied various skills for his livelihood, but all of them uniformly studied, the principles behind a religious life. Therefore the वैदिक study was compulsory for all and in the गुरुकुलम् it was incorporated. And having studied the theory behind the religion in गुरुकुल, when he came out to the society and got married, no doubt, he struck many relationships, but in and through all the relationship, he knew that I should never forget the fundamental relationship with the Lord. Therefore, गृहस्थ lifestyle also became an आश्रम lifestyle, it becomes an आश्रम only when it is God-centered, otherwise it will be श्रम. Whether the married life will be श्रम, श्रम means tension, anxiety, fight and quarrel, whether married life should be श्रम or आश्रम, will depend upon whether it is God-centered or not, it will be God-centered only if I have studied the principles behind the religious life, in ब्रह्मचर्य आश्रम. And later they found the thorough study of our scriptures is an extremely difficult project because our scriptural literature is very vast. 14 sciences or 18 sciences are there, in our scriptures,

अङ्गानि वेदाश्चत्वारो मीमांसा न्यायविस्तरः पुराणम् धर्मशास्त्रम् च विद्या ह्येताश्चतुर्दश ।

14 branches of science are there in our traditional scriptures. Before वेदs, they themselves are voluminous, along with the commentary. Then the षड् अङ्गानि – the six अङ्गs are there, मीमांसा शास्त्र is there, तर्क शास्त्र is there, पुराणs are there, धर्म शास्त्रम् is there, totally fourteen branches are there. And later if you add the four उपवेदs, like गन्धर्व वेद etc., our literature is too voluminous. And therefore in the भगवद्गीता, Lord कृष्ण tells in the 4th chapter, that our scriptural literature is very vast and the people don't have time to study the scriptures, because we are all busy, right from the morning we have to rush to the office and our time has to suit with America time, because business is with America and you are given a cell phone which you cannot switch off even in the गीता class. So busy and tight and fast is our life, where is the time to study,

अनन्तशास्त्रम् बहु वेदितव्यम् अल्पश्च कालो बहवश्च विघ्नाः ।

यत्सारभूतम् तदुपासितव्यम् हंसो यथा क्षीरमिवाम्बुमिश्रम् ॥

अनन्त शास्त्रम् – scriptures are many, बहु वेदितव्यम् – plenty to study, अल्पश्च कालः – time is very limited and बहवश्च विघ्नाः – the obstacles are too many and therefore यत् सारभूतम् तत् उपासितव्यम् – if you don't have time to study all our scriptures, at least you should study the essence of our entire scriptural literature, just as the swan takes the milk out of a milk water mixture, similarly, at least we have to study the सार of our scriptures. That essence has been given in the form of भगवद्गीता, which Lord कृष्ण himself tells:

सः एव अयम् मया ते अद्य योः प्रोक्तः पुरातनः ।

भक्तः असि मे सखा च इति रहस्यम् हि एतत् उत्तमम् ॥ ४-३॥

शङ्कराचार्य in his introductory commentary says, that people are busy and extrovert, that शङ्कराचार्य said this 1200 years ago, that they are extrovert and their materialistic desires have increased, शङ्कराचार्य complains during 8th century, कामs means desires have increased, because we have to complete world tour, so many things in the list. And therefore भगवान् कृष्ण has taken the essence of all the शास्त्रs and given in the form of the भगवद्गीता and this one text book is enough to comprehensively understand our entire scriptural literature, to understand what is religious culture, to understand what is वैदिक culture, to understand what is God-centered living, to understand the principles behind every religious practice of ours. And therefore I feel and all our आचार्यs feel that every Indian, every हिन्दु must compulsorily study at least the भगवद्गीता. Thoroughly and systematically, not casually, , thorough and systematic study verse by verse of at least one भगवद्गीता is compulsory. Whether one is a spiritual seeker or not, to understand India, which is our mother land, to understand our culture in which we are born, whether we are materialistic or spiritual, भगवद्गीता study is compulsory for all. If you are a spiritual seeker you can add the उपनिषद्, even if you are not a spiritual seeker, भगवद्गीता study is required, otherwise our religious practices will become mechanical, they will all look empty and gradually we will drop one by one, पञ्च महायज्ञs all are dropped, अग्निहोत्र dropped, उपासना dropped. At least one गायत्री they asked us to hold on to, even the गायत्री मन्त्र is disappearing from our culture and once the religious culture goes away, India will be overpowered by materialistic culture and in materialistic culture we will have everything, but the heart will be empty. In religious culture, materially we may be empty, but the heart will be full. But in materialistic culture, we will be surrounded by a palatial house and all the modern gadgets may be there, but inside there will be emptiness, because materialism is माया, माया is मिथ्या, worthless. Spiritual culture alone will give us fullness. And in the गुरुकुलम् there was an opportunity to study, but now-a-days we don't have the गुरुकुल संप्रदाय and therefore we don't have an opportunity to study even the गीता and that is why we are trying to at least conduct extra classes on the भगवद्गीता so that the Indian society, the हिन्दु society will have at least a thorough knowledge of the भगवद्गीता, which requires a systematic verse by verse study of the गीता and unfortunately many people do not understand the significance of the study, institutions and organizations are mushrooming and they are prescribing newer and newer practices, all varieties of practices are prescribed, but nobody is highlighting the thorough study of scriptures. Scriptural study is never emphasized by those organizations. We are in the minority group. We are only emphasizing the importance of the study because only then we will know the significance of our हिन्दु way of life. And therefore, if a person understands the importance of the study, that person is indeed blessed and it requires lot of effort and therefore I have to appreciate all those students who have managed to come, class after class after class and in Besant Nagar, we used to run to one temple or the other and somehow or other, some of you or most of you preserved the interest in गीता study and came for so many years and successfully completed the गीता course, I will say it is not only the grace of the Lord, of course it is there, it also is because of your interest and commitment and the value that you had attached and therefore I have to congratulate all of you and congratulate me also. I need not congratulate me, because I don't have any other job. So it is a not a great thing, but you amidst all the other busy schedule, you managed to come and successfully complete, it is a very great achievement, but I want to tell you, perhaps warn you, that the गीता study is not complete by just attending the class only. What you have studied has to be internalized, it has to be assimilated and it has to reflect in your day-to-day life. गीता is not merely for studying, गीता is meant for the living. And they say

पादम् सब्रह्मचारिभ्यः पादम् कालक्रमेण च ॥

By attending the classes you gather only 1/4th of the knowledge contained there, 1/4th you get by attending the class. The next 1/4th you have to gather by going back and revising, पादम् शिष्य स्वमेधया. And the next quarter you get by sharing with other people, either in the form of discussion or in the form study group or in the form of teaching, in one form or the other, sharing gives you the next quarter. And पादम् कालक्रमेण च, the last quarter you will gather only by alert living and watching and constantly asking yourselves, “is my life in keeping with the गीता teaching?” So how a गीता student should live, भगवान् कृष्ण has prescribed in several chapters, I have to keep those values and I have to regularly match my life and try to make my life and try to make my life closer to the knowledge. Knowing is called ऋतम्, following is called सत्यम्, ऋतम् and सत्यम् both are important, information and transformation both are important and therefore I would like to tell all of you that don’t think that it is like school books, school books you write the examination, after that, somebody said new तिरुवकुरल्, कर्क कसडर कर्पवै कट्रपिन् निर्क अदकु तग.

(Lore worth learning, learn flawlessly, Live by that learning thoroughly).

Original कुरल् is: कर्क कसडर – thoroughly study you, then कर्पवै कट्रपिन् निर्क अदकु तग – don’t stop with learning, live according to your knowledge; don’t stop with theory, you practice. This is the original कुरल्, somebody modified it, कर्क कसडर कर्पवै कट्रपिन् विर्क, एडैवकु तग.

विर्क means sell those books according to the weight. OK, you can do that to your physics, economics and chemistry books, etc., please don’t do that to the गीता book. And therefore in the गीता माहात्म्यम्, it is repeatedly said that you have to regularly study the गीता, it will give you everything in life, material as well as spiritual riches it will give.

And they say if you are not able to study the meaning thoroughly, at least do the पाठायणम् of the गीता regularly, chant 18 chapters regularly, if you cannot do that 9 chapters or 6 chapters or 3 chapters or one chapter or 1/4th of a chapter, or one verse, or at least half a verse. So at least daily do पाठायणम् because many people think गीता is part of महाभारतम् and therefore if you keep that book at home, there will be a quarrel, as though there is no quarrel now. It is not at all true, महाभारतम् or भगवद्गीता पाठायणम् will do no harm and there the माहात्म्यम् tells that all the देवताs will be at home, all the sacred rivers will be at home, even if there are evil forces they will not touch you or your family members and finally the गीता माहात्म्यम् says that even if you cannot chant the गीता श्लोकs, at least repeat the word गीता even that will be very good and if even that you cannot do, they say at least buy a गीता book, in रामकृष्ण मठ and गोरखपुर edition, you get it at low price. And keep at least the book at home, it will do all the good for you and the family. Therefore my request is that you have to continue to study and also share so that you will get the full benefit of the गीता. And with this I will like to conclude my talk.

पूर्णमेवावशिष्यते ॥ ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥ हरिः ॐ.
